U. S. GETS READY

Gigantic Fund For Defenses Is Approved

Uncle Sam Throws His War Machine Into High Gear

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 11—The House appropriations committee recommended an additional $1,706,053,908 outlay for national defense today to prepare this country for what the army chief of state called "all manner of possibilities in the western hemisphere."

The huge increase, submitted one day after Italy's entrance into the war, would boost defense appropriations for this session to $5,021,619,622, would add 95,000 enlisted men to the regular army, provide 3,000 new warplanes for the air corps and permit the navy to start work on 68 additional warships.

More G-Men

The measure also carried $3,358,800 to give the Federal Bureau of Investigation 500 additional agents to deal with espionage, sabotage and other national defense activities.

Among other items in the bill were $1,000,000 for the national defense council and its recently appointed advisory commission; $47,500,000 for acquisition of strategic minerals and materials, and $32,000,000 additional for the Civil Aeronautics authority to give primary, secondary and "refresher" training to a total of 87,000 civilian airplane pilots.

No Invasion Of U. S.

In publishing testimony heard in considering the legislation, the committee disclosed that the army was devoting all its plans for expanded personnel to the problems of the western hemisphere, rather than the continental United States.

General George C. Marshall, army chief, was recorded as saying:

"This plan is entirely devoted to the problems as we visualize them in the western hemisphere. . . . We do not visualize any invasion of this country. An air raid or something of that sort is possible but, frankly, at the present moment we do not see it in the offing. But we see all manner of possibilities in the western hemisphere."

Of the bill's total, the army would get $777,502,047 in direct appropriations and $254,176,761 in contract authorization, for which funds would have to be appropriated later. The navy's share would be $504,963,170 in cash and $63,560,000 in contract authorization.

Although the bill was $319,731,-

$50,000,000 Asked To Aid Red Cross

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 11—Reporting its telegraph wires "swamped" with messages approving President Roosevelt's speech of last night, the White House announced today he would reinforce his declaration of material support for the Allies with an immediate request to Congress for $50,000,000 for refugee relief.

Mr. Roosevelt made the declaration of support in an address at Charlottesville, Va., and as a parallel course to that of Allied support, the president told his audience at the university and millions both here and abroad who listened by radio that "we will harness and speed up" the use of the nation's resources to provide equipment and training "equal to the task of any emergency and every defense."

Funds Recommended

Today, the House appropriations committee recommended an additional $1,706,053,908 for national defense to prepare the country for what the army chief of staff had described to the committee as "all manner of possibilities in the western hemisphere."

A series of presidential proclamations last night which named Italy as a belligerent subject to "cash and carry" neutrality restrictions provided the official postscript to a strongly-worded pronouncement on foreign affairs by the chief executive.

The Italian government, Mr. Roosevelt said in a historic address at Charlottesville, Va., had rejected the opportunity for peaceful negotiations of its differences with France and England.

Leche Facing 10-Year Term

(By The Associated Press)

ALEXANDRIA, La., June 11 — Former Governor Richard W. Leche today was sentenced to serve ten years in federal prison on his recent conviction of using the mails to defraud the state of $31,000 in a deal involving purchase of state highway trucks.

Federal Judge Ben C. Dawkins sentenced the corpulent Leche, who was the state's chief executive from 1936 until June 26, 1939, when he resigned under fire, to serve two five year sentences consecutively under two counts of his conviction.

Sentence Suspended

He was sentenced also to five years imprisonment on a third count but the sentence was suspended.

Leche was convicted on June 1, after two others had pleaded guilty under the same indictment, which alleged that Leche profited from a kick-back from a motor dealer who sold trucks to the state highway department at an excessive price, and then paid back part of his unearned profits.

Leche was granted appeal and re-

Plants Shift To High Gear

(By The United Press)

LOS ANGELES, June 11—Southern California's huge aircraft industry, which figures vitally in President Roosevelt's plans for material aid to the Allies, is shifting into high gear, a survey showed today.

Douglas Aircraft is working 18,000 men in three full shifts to cut down a backlog of $140,000,000 — mostly orders for bombing and pursuit planes. Lockheed Aircraft is working 9,000 and adding about 40 men daily. A spokesman said the company probably would be operating shortly on an overtime basis.

New Men Are Hired

Vultee is hiring 50 men daily to rush a $3,000,000 order for U. S. army trainers and a $9,000,000 contract for Swedish pursuit planes which probably will be turned over to the Allies.

Three shifts are working day and night in the big North American aircraft plant, which has concentrated on training planes but is now reported working on a new super pursuit ship. The plane would be driven 450 miles an hour by a 2,000 horsepower, liquid cooled motor, according to reports.

Bombers To Britain

Northrop Aircraft is working a part shift at night and has announced that 24 patrol bombers it has been building for Norway will be turned over to Great Britain.

Consolidated Aircraft near San Diego is hiring 1,000 men a month and expects to reach peak production by midsummer on a $70,000,000

Liner Is Given Ten Minutes To Be Abandoned

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 11—The U. S. liner Washington, carrying 1,020 passengers and a crew of 570, was threatened with torpedoing by an unknown submarine off the north Portuguese coast early today, but was permitted to proceed after a brief exchange of signals in the darkness.

The Washington, lights blazing on American flags painted on her sides, was one of three large liners recently assigned to bring Americans home. Germany had sent official notices asserting it had information that her enemies would try to sink one or more of these ships and blame her.

The ship had left Lisbon yesterday and was en route to Galway, Ireland, to pick up additional Americans. It encountered the submarine at 5 a. m., Greenwich time, (midnight, EST). The news was relayed to the U. S. Lines' office in New York by Capt. Harry Manning. The line advised the state department.

Ten-Minute Deadline

Manning's report said that the submersible appeared on the surface and twice ordered him to abandon ship. The 10-minute deadline was given after the second order, he reported.

Passengers and crew had been ordered to lifeboats and some of the lifeboats were actually being swung over the side for launching.

Manning, however, kept his blinker signal going, advising the submarine that the Washington was an American ship. Finally after several minutes of silence, the submarine ordered Manning to proceed on his course.

Ordered To Go On

"Thought you were another ship," the submarine commander at last signalled. "Please go on. Go on."

Manning said the Washington, shortly after the first encounter last midnight (EST) had sighted another submarine of unknown nationality but that the second undersea boat had not stopped him.

The text of the department's announcement:

"The S. S. Washington sailed from Lisbon at 5 p. m., June 10, with 1,020 passengers and 570 members of the crew bound for Galway, Ireland, on repatriation services. It carried no mail or cargo and traveled without convoy.

Notices Are Given

"Accordingly, notices were given by the United States government to each of the belligerents.

"The course she sailed had been previously notified to the belligerents.

"At 5 a. m. today, Greenwich mean time, she was stopped by an unidentified submarine at 12 degrees 50 minutes west 42 degrees 12 minutes

French Armies Are Reported As Destroyed

Nazis Claim Allied Troops Are Trapped And Facing Death

As The Germans Tell It

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, June 11 — The German army has reached the Marne river at one point, an authorized source declared tonight.

Exactly where on the historic French defense line the Germans were striking, however, he declined to say.

Authoritative information earlier had the Germans operating in the vicinity of the river, where the French, in September, 1914, turned back a German army swiftly approaching Paris.

Lower Seine Crossed

The same informed source said the lower Seine had been crossed by the Nazi forces at various places.

The Seine valley is one of the natural paths to Paris.

Although the daily official war communiques have been very chary about giving concrete information, indications that the German advance on the French capital was developing into a great encircling movement were becoming clear.

Spread In Great Arc

The reliable Dienst Aus Deutschland, describing the Nazi advance as a semi-circular movement, said the German right wing which moved down the coast consists of strong tanks and motorized columns which already control the lower Seine.

From this position in the west, the paper said, Germany's army is spread in a great arc north of Paris. Troops have crossed the Oise river northeast of the capital, the paper said, and are operating in the Marne region.

Farther east in the Champagne area, Dienst Aus Deutschland said, German operations were "progressing on schedule and continually bending back the north wing of the Maginot line."

In this way, it continued, the danger of French troops of the Maginot line pressing the Germans from the rear was eliminated.

Two entire French armies already have been destroyed in the new Nazi offensive, informed sources declared today as the Germans raced southward to slice France in half

Dies Is Urged To Visit City

Numerous telegrams were sent from Lubbock today urging Congressman Martin Dies, chairman of the House committee on un-American activities, to address an all-West Texas patriotic rally in Texas Technological college stadium at his convenience, preferably some time in July.

Official sponsor of the proposed meeting is Allen Bros. post of the American Legion, and the message was dispatched this morning following the monthly business session of the post Monday night.

Telegram Is Quoted

The telegram, which followed a letter a few days ago to Dies, was signed by A. I. Glassman, post commander, and Grady West, adjutant, and read:

"The Allen Bros. post of the American Legion renews its invitation to speak to West Texas at your convenience in the month of June or July. Enthusiastic comments on our invitation from throughout the area, We promise a full Texas Tech stadium at night or afternoon, with people from every section of West Texas. West Texas is on the Mexican border and needs your inspiration. All West Texas wants you."

Representative of other telegrams was one from DeWitt Landis, manager of KFYO:

Mrs. John B. Green Dies In City Today

Mrs. John B. Green, 85, who lived here even before the city of Lubbock was established, died at 11:20 o'clock this morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. I. L. Hunt of 1420 Avenue K.

She had been an invalid eight or nine months.

Mrs. Green and her husband, who died in 1929, operated the old Nicolett hotel soon after they came here in 1890.

She was born in Tennessee. She lived in Parker county several years after coming to Texas.

She was an active member of the Broadway Church of Christ many years. She was known as "Aunt Nan."

Survivors include the daughter; two sons, E. B. and J. O. Green, both of Lubbock; one sister, Mrs. W. N. Green of Lubbock, and 10 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Broadway Church of Christ, with Elder Liff Sanders officiating. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Henry Ford Says 1,000 Planes Daily Will Be A Simple Task

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, June 11 — Mass production of high-speed pursuit planes for the United States army—at least 1,000 a day within six months — not only will be a simple task, Henry Ford said today, but they can be rolled off his assembly lines without interruption to normal output of automobiles.

The 76-year-old Ford made this assertion in an interview after he and his engineers had thoroughly inspected yesterday the type of plane the United States war department believes would be "most needed in an emergency." It was a Curtiss P-40, single-engined machine with a top speed of 367 miles an hour.

"But remember," said Ford, who has held a life-long hatred of war, "they are to be for defense only; that's the bargain all the way through."

Ford, disclosing that he had been working on a new airplane motor for some time, indicated he was ready to get under way as soon as a go-ahead order is received from the war department. Today Edsel Ford, his son, along with two other members of the Ford staff, were in Washington for further conference with representatives of the war department.

Uprising By Ethiopian Warriors Hinted

Thousands To Battle Italy

LONDON, June 11. (U.P.)—Experts on Ethiopia asserted today that the country was eager to revolt and that Italy's entrance to the European war might lead to an uprising by more than 200,000 well-armed warriors.

Emperor Haile Salassie of Ethiopia came to London from his villa at Bath as soon as Italy declared war, and remained at a hotel here in conference with his advisers.

It was intimated that Great Britain might supply Ethiopian warriors with arms and ammunition through Kenya and the Sudan.

Resistance To Be Effective

"It is safe to assume that the resistance of tribesmen against the Italians will increase considerably and that if they have the opportunity of getting arms and ammunition from outside it would be effective to a very high degree," a British spokesman said. The hope is that the Ethiopians will not be over-eager and launch a campaign precipitously without proper organization.

Well informed sources reported that some 30 tribal chieftains, under the leadership of Abebe Aragi, former chief of police of Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital, were actively organizing anti-Italian action.

Cow-Testing Group Has Been Organized

R. L. Burdette of Lubbock has been named chairman of a newly organized Lubbock County Cow-testing association which will attempt to obtain services of a man to test their herds, according to report Monday by C. C. Jobson, county farm agent.

B. C. Wells was chosen vice-chairman and Clayson Fuller, secretary-treasurer. Gle:. Blackmon of Shallowater and Sam J. Paschall were named directors to serve with the officers. Other members include Frank French, Texas Technological college, Curtis L. Boyd and Ben Jenkins.

The members have approximately 375 cows for testing. Seven of them belong to the Central Plains Herd Improvement association. Their average butterfat production is 423 pounds a year.

From one ton of coal, a British gas works is now producing 15,000 cubic feet of gas, one ton of coak, 25 pounds of sulphate of ammonia, four pounds of sulphur, three pounds of toluene explosives, two-and-a-half gallons of benzole, 10 gallons of tar.

Italian Paper's Head Is Saddened By War

DALLAS, June 11 (AP) — A sorrowful little man read the news reports today and shook his head.

"Italy's in the war," he said. "No more Italian language in my newspaper."

He is L. E. Adin, editor of La Tribuna Italiana, published weekly in Dallas since 1913 and which has subscribers scattered throughout the southwest.

Much of the paper has been printed in Italian because it goes primarily to Italian homes.

Adin also resigned as Italian vice-consul in Dallas and began wrapping a little package to be sent to the king of Italy. The package contained the crown of cavaliere, a decoration which Adin received from the king several years ago for meritorious service to Italian people.

As a leader of the state's Italian population Adin has campaigned for many years urging them to become naturalized American citizens.

Employers Urged To Offer Cooperation

AUSTIN, June 11. (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today urged employers of Texas national guardsmen to grant the civilian-soldiers three weeks vacation with pay for intended training with regular army troops beginning Aug. 3.

The governor's statement, in part, said:

"It is vitally important that all employers, large and small, realize the significant part that our peace-time soldier, the national guard, plays in our national security.

"As governor of this state I want to urge that every firm and individual employing a Texas national guard officer or man make it known to them immediately that this three weeks training period will be granted them with full pay."

Fine Wire Pushed Into Human Arteries Now Said To Be Saving Lives Of Many

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, June 11—Scores or hundreds of feet of fine wire pushed into human arteries and left there are saving lives in a new way.

This technique was demonstrated to the American Medical association today by Arthur H. Blakemore and Barry G. King of the Presbyterian hospital, New York.

The wires are used for aneurisms, which are big bulges in arteries, resembling tire tubes just before they blow out. These aneurisms are always fatal.

Insert Hollow Needle

The New York doctors insert a slender, hollow needle into the artery at the bulge and through the needle feed in many feet of hair-like wire. The wire is coin silver, drawn very fine and insulated.

The wire coils inside the bulge, filling the great "blister" with a fine network. Then an electric current heats the wire to 144 degrees Fahrenheit. This temperature coagulates the proteins of the blood so that they stick on the wire.

As a result a solid blood clot forms, filling the bulge but leaving the main artery channel open. The current is shut off, and the wire left in place to anchor the clot permanently.

In 5 years 32 persons have been "wired" in this way and 16 are still alive. One of the latter is a girl with an aneurism in her brain.

Coyotes Are Trapped In Crosby Section

CROSBYTON, June 11.—Two U. S. biological survey trappers working in Crosby county trapped 44 coyotes and a bobcat in May.

H. W. Fite trapped 27 and A. D. Woodsy, 17. Woody also trapped a bobcat.

Fite recently dug into a coyote den and captured 14 pups. Last year he captured 15 pups.

French Will Continue Fight Even Though Paris Is Taken

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Someway I have a feeling that Italy's entrance into the war isn't the straw that's going to break the camel's back.

Please don't misunderstand. I'm not underestimating the undoubted increase in the danger to the Anglo-French Allies, whose peril already is great.

Still, it has yet to be demonstrated that Mussolini can throw his weight to such advantage that it will crush the already overburdened French armies.

French Must Collapse

That is Hitler's sole business in life at the moment — to crush France. The success or failure of his plans for also overthrowing the British empire are premised on the collapse of the French. Hitler's business must be Mussolini's business from now on.

Hence, Berlin's jubilation over the Duce's action in rushing in for the kill at a moment when the epic resistance of the poilu is causing the Germans a terrific loss of life and irreplaceable supplies. We shouldn't forget that neither Germany nor Italy can stand a long war because of lack of resources. That's their own great danger.

We must wait to see what Mussolini's line of attack is before being able to estimate the damage. But to return to my opening figure of speech, we mustn't make the mistake of assuming in advance that the camel's back is necessarily going to be broken by this straw or any other.

Air Force Greatest Danger

It is true that the Italo-German hook-up may force the French to surrender. But it may not.

I should say that the greatest immediate danger to France is the powerful Italian air force. The French could take a lot of knocking about in their African possessions or Corsica, for instance, without being laid out in continental France. But if Mussolini should drive his bombers at the heart of France the position would be much more grave.

So far as invasion of Italian troops from the south is concerned, Mother Nature has done mighty well for France in the chain of Alps which run between the two countries.

On the coast at the foothills of these great mountains, the French have created artillery bases, tank pits and cement pill-boxes for machineguns. Back in the range some, if not all, of the strategic peaks have been fortified. These command the valleys.

Paris Is Big Worry

France's big worry of the moment, of course, is the holding of that terrific German drive on Paris. The big danger spot, to my mind, is the French left wing which is being rolled back from the coast along the Seine.

Over the rest of the long battle-line the French high command claims to be holding, though the Germans assert that the enemy is withdrawing. The Allies have been standing off odds which at best have been perhaps two to one and in many instances must have run to ten to one against them.

The left flank, however, has continued to give, thereby not only increasing the danger to Paris but threatening to encircle the French wing. Isolated tanks even are reported to have raced through to the outskirts of Paris, though the main lines are many miles away.

And what if the German army reaches the capital? Does this mean the end of French resistance?

Nazis May Take Paris

I'm sure that question must have been in your minds often, and in view of the gravity of the situation the time has come for us to examine that contingency. In doing so we needn't forget that the first German onslaught in the World war wasn't stopped until it hit the banks of the Marne, almost at the gates of Paris.

The Allied armies had been retreating two weeks and their envelopment looked like a certainty. But they flung the Germans back.

We needn't forget that, though we needn't bank on history repeating itself. The Nazis may capture Paris.

Whether this would cause the capitulation of France would, in my mind, depend on whether the French army of the north was at the same time smashed and put out of commission. If Weygand can save his troops and equipment one would expect him to carry on in some other position.

What his strategy would be must depend on circumstances If he attempted to defend the city itself there would be grave danger of its destruction by bombing.

A Different Problem

It will be recalled that Paris was besieged by the Germans for more than four months in the Franco-Prussian war. The invaders' guns did much damage but three years later the city was as spic and span as ever. These days of air bombing, however, present a different problem.

In any event, there are various lines of resistance to which Weygand could withdraw south of Paris for a stand until Britain could organize resistance. There is, for instance, the valley of the Great Loire river which cuts well across France from the west coast. A stand might be made there.

South of this line would be both agricultural and industrial areas to support the effort. St. Etienne is the center of the greatest munitions manufacture of all France. It lies in a coal basin that is second in production only to the fields of the north.

I don't know where Weygand would make a stand, but there are places available, and Premier Reynaud has declared that the French will fight to a finish.

Delegations Are To Attend Two Rodeos

Lubbock will be represented by delegations at rodeos in Spur and Seminole this week, members of the good neighbor committee of the chamber of commerce decided Monday afternoon.

Ray Farmer was named chafrman of a committee to attend the Spur rodeo Friday. Farmer said he hoped to get at least 30 persons to make the trip, spending the afternoon in the Dickens county metropolis. Last week a group from Spur visited Lubbock advertising the second annual rodeo. It is a two-day affair.

On Saturday Earl B. Collins will head another group of 30 or more persons, to attend the Seminole third-of-a-century celebration and rodeo which opens Frday.

Details of the trips will be announced later. Chairmen urged persons who could make either or both trips to get in touch with the chamber of commerce office.

A few drops of kerosene added to water makes an excellent wash for windows, mirrors, and picture glass.

Charles Fike And Elton Plowman Are To Appear In Fine Arts Recital Fri

Harmony Club Is Sponsor

Appearing under auspices of the Senior Harmony club, Charles Fike, pianist, and Elton Plowman, tenor, are to be presented in concert Friday night at 8:30 o'clock in the east ballroom of Hotel Lubbock. Admission is fifty cents.

Mr. Plowman is expected to arrive in Lubbock Thursday from New York City where he studied the past winter. Mr. Fike is visiting his parents Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Fike of Denver City. He was graduated with a master of arts degree from Columbia university early this month.

Is Graduate Of Tech

Mr. Fike is a graduate of Texas Technological college and is former coordinator of music in the elementary schools. Recently he was presented in program at Columbia and was presented in public concert by Francis Moore, his teacher. During the winter he played professionally in New York on a number of occasions.

Mr. Plowman, also a graduate of Texas Technological college, was presented this spring by the New York Singing Teachers association. He took a leading part in the opera, "La Boheme," which was repeated because of its phenomenal success.

Both young men have received encouraging criticism on their talents from New York critics. Friends here have expressed the desire to hear them since their year's study in the east and a benefit program was arranged by the harmony club. The program is open to the public.

Mitchell-Haney Wedding Is Read In Crosbyton

CROSBYTON, June 11 (Special)—Miss Ruth Haney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Haney of Crosbyton, and R. C. Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Mitchell of Lockney, were married Sunday morning at 7 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Noel V. Guice, Baptist minister of Crosbyton, officiated with a single ring ceremony.

The bride wore a navy taffeta frock with picture hat. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Reception Held

A reception was held following the service. Garden flowers and lighted tapers decorated the house. The bride cut a three-tiered cake which was served with coffee to the guests.

Those attending were John Haney, Mr. and Mrs. Al Ray Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Truitt McEachern of Lubbock.

Mrs. Mitchell is a graduate of West Texas State Teachers college and has taught at Groom.

Mr. Mitchell is a graduate of Texas Technological college and has attended Iowa State college. While at Tech he took part in campus activities and was a member of Kemas social club. He is vocational agriculture teacher in Crosbyton High school.

Immediately following the reception the couple left for Fort Collins, Colo., where Mr. Mitchell is to attend Colorado A. and M. college.

Piano Pupils Appear In Recital Sunday Night

Gilmore-Peach Marriage Read In Fort Worth

DALLAS, June 11—Miss Elberta Peach, daughter of Mrs. Nellie Peach of Dallas, and Wilson Gilmore of Abilene, son of George Gilmore of Wichita Falls, were united in marriage Saturday morning at a ceremony read in Fort Worth University Christian church, Rev. Perry Graham officiated.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Christian university and has been instructor in physical education in the Dallas Public schools for the past two years. Mr. Gilmore is a graduate of Texas Technological college and was the football coach at Galveston High school for the past year. They will be at home in Abilene following a wedding trip.

Two Lubbock Women Are Hostesses In Amarillo

Of interest in Lubbock is announcement of the approaching marriage of two Amarilloans, Miss O'Leta Benton and Lewis Smith, which will take place June 25.

The date was told at a recent garden party given in the Panhandle city at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert G. Dalby. Hostesses were Mrs. Dalby and Mrs. Allen Benton and Miss Hazel Benton of Lubbock.

Giles Dalby of Lubbock assisted the hostesses in the presentation of a gift shower. Mrs. Frank Lanotte of this city was numbered among the guests.

PROPHETIC OF FALL—If this girl would come in out of the wind, you'd see she's wearing a straight-lined dress, prophetic of narrower skirts for fall. It's white crepe with bright red corsage. Note the covered-up look—the long sleeves, the not-so-low neckline—it's the trend to modesty.

Storm Sewer For Seminole Started

Work has been started on a $52,000 sanitary storm sewer system in Seminole, according to report this morning by Harry N. Roberts of Lubbock, who prepared plans for the system and is supervising engineer during construction.

Contract for the work, he added, is held by Shook-Owen Construction company of Seminole and calls for completion of the work within 90 days.

Rotarian of the earth was first actually demonstrated in 1851, by means of a giant swinging pendulum in the Pantheon of Paris.

Sorority Has Ceremony

An installation of officers and a book review given by Mrs. Sam J. McFarland featured a dinner meeting of the Kappa Gamma sorority Monday night at the Hilton hotel. Dr. Pauline Miller, retiring president, presided.

Spring flowers were table decorations.

Installed were: President, Miss Ruth E. Ford; vice-president, Mrs. Lucile Smith; treasurer, Miss Fredda Fite; secretary, Miss Margaret Prewitt.

Other retiring officers are: Vice-president, Miss Maurine Jons; treasurer, Miss Edith Henderson; secretary, Mrs. E. L. McCrory.

Committees were read by Miss Ford as follows: Social, Miss Bonnarea Stephens, chairman, Misses Dorothy Levey, Evelyn Raybon and Magdalen Dederick; membership, Mrs. J. Floyd Dunn, chairman, Miss Frances Conley and Mrs. Kenneth Frazier; publicity, Miss Marguerite Whipp; telephone, Mrs. Dan Etheridge, chairman, Miss Roberta Raybon and Miss Louise Chance; cheer, Miss Ruth Gosdin; music, Mrs. Lottie Hilton, chairman, Miss Doris Copeland; yearbook, Mrs. Winnie Wheat, chairman, Misses Henderson, Helen Hart, Jons, Gene Bragg and Mrs. McCrory.

Mrs. McFarland reviewed Osa Johnson's book "I Married Adventure."

Others present were Misses Ann Kelly, Anna Bass Arnett, Elizabeth Brooks, Pearle Baird and Miss Doris Darks, a guest.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Deering and son, Tommy, of Pampa have recently moved here and are living in their new home at 1903 Twenty-second street. Mrs. Deering is the daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. Tom Abel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hobbs, Miss Isabel Thompson and Miss Ima Moore returned Monday night from an extended trip to California. They visited in Redlands, Los Angeles, Catalina island and other points of interest along the way.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. High and family of Los Angeles are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fulton of 2207 Tenth street. Mr. High was one of the first students to enroll at Texas Technological college in 1925.

Mrs. W. H. Waln, chairman of the child welfare committee in the American Legion auxiliary, recently compiled a report of activities of that group since last June. It included:

Christmas baskets, $61.31; food and clothing, $59.73; hospitalization and medicine, $39; boarding in homes, $20; donations to needy families, $119.95.

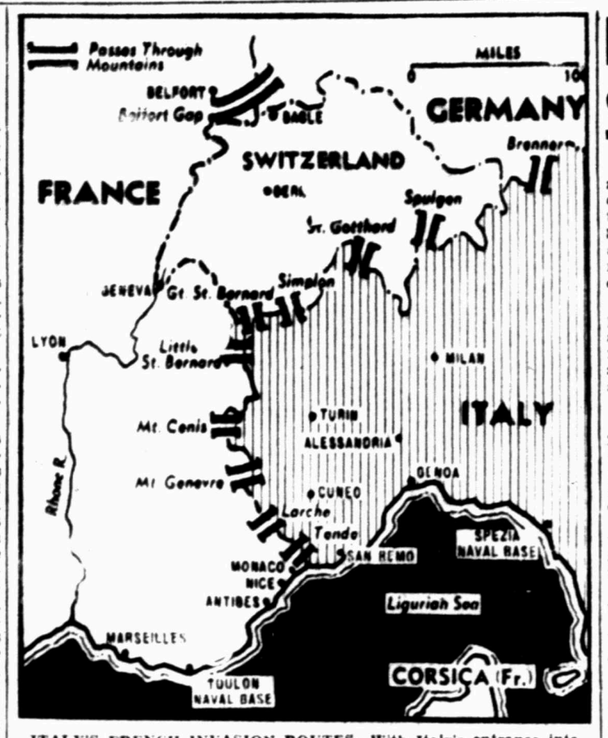

Bluebonnet Club Lesson Is On Broiling Meats

It is recommended that the same temperature be used for the cooking period for broiling meat. The temperature should be a moderate one, around 350 degrees, members of the Bluebonnet Home Demonstration club learned Monday afternoon at a meeting with Mrs. E. N. Baker.

Meat for broiling should be cut at least an inch thick since a thin steak may become dry and hard in the broiling period, Miss Clara Pratt, agent, told the group.

The club will meet June 24 with Mrs. Hubert Sandel.

Miss Maretta Holloway was a visitor. Members attending were Mesdames Millard Bowers, J. W. Haralson, O. C. Markham, Sandel, G. E. Scoggins and E. G. Underwood.

ITALY'S FRENCH INVASION ROUTES—With Italy's entrance into the war many routes for Il Duce's army into France appear to be opened. This Telephoto Map shows the mountain passes through which Italy's "10,000,000 bayonets" might be brought to bear on dying France.

Brief Bits Of News . . . .

Three To Dickens—Three peace officers from Lubbock planned to attend the West Texas Law Enforcement association meeting in Dickens today. They were, Sheriff Tom Abel, Chief of Police Don Reeder and Capt. W. W. Legge of the state highway patrol. Several others had planned to attend but last minute duties prevented their making the trip, it was said.

Attend Kiwanis Game—B. Sherrod and A. C. Jackson represented the Lubbock Kiwanis club in a special Kiwanis benefit baseball game Monday night at Big Spring when the Lubbock Hubbers whitewashed the Big Spring Barons, 11 to 0. Others attending from Lubbock included Wes Youngblood and C. W. Ratliff.

Services Arranged—Announcement was made this morning that funeral services for Woodrow Robert Woodward, 23, of 2006 Eighteenth street would be conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Idalou Baptist church, and burial would be in Idalou cemetery. The young man was fatally injured in an automobile accident at Shallowater Friday night. Sanders Funeral home will direct burial.

Shows Improvement—I. M. Robinson of 2419 Twenty-seventh street, who underwent a major operation late Monday in West Texas hospital, was reported this morning as showing a slight improvement.

New Shrine Office—Khiva Temple of the Mystic Shrine will have a new office in Amarillo after July 1, it is announced. The office will be on the ground floor of Amarillo hotel.

Griffin Is A Director—Meade F. Griffin of Plainview, well known South Plains attorney and former district attorney of the 64th judicial district, has been elected director of the state bar association of Texas for the 19th district, according to word from Austin. He was unopposed for the place. District Judge Few Brewster of Temple was named president. Griffin is a former service man and is well known in Lubbock.

Custody Transferred—The sheriff's department this morning said it had transferred custody of a man who had been held in Lubbock county jail for Bosque county authorities on a charge of swindling by worthless check.

Posts Bond—Burlie Owens, charged with theft of a trailer valued at more than $50, had posted bond, the sheriff's department announced this morning. Two other men, similarly charged, had not made bail, it was said.

Appeals Case—Birdie Lemacks, charged in justice of peace court, precinct 1, place 2, with operating an automobile improperly licensed, perfected appeal to county court, records showed this morning.

Brother Critical—Emmett Galloway, counsellor for Downtown Boys club, learned that a brother in Los Angeles was critically ill this morning of a malignant ailment. He had not decided whether to go there.

Application Forms Sent—Application forms for 14 days' active duty training have been sent to second lieutenants in the army engineering reserve who received their commissions in the commencement service at Texas Technological college last week, it was revealed here this morning. The forms were sent by Major Arthur Pickens, infantry, instructor in the San Antonio reserve sector.

Registration Ends—Registration for the first summer term at Texas Technological college will be closed at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The total enrolled up to this afternoon's final registration period was 1,480.

Only 10 men since George Washington have been general of the U. S. Army, and Gen. George C. Marshall, present chief, is one.

Town People May Enroll In Recreational Classes

Children and adults still may enroll for recreational activities sponsored by the women's physical education department of Texas Technological college, Mrs. George Langford, department head, said this morning.

The activities are open to students and non-students. Numerous inquiries had been received by the department asking whether rhythm and sports classes could be opened to downtown residents as well as students. Response, however, has not been as great as had been expected on part of persons other than students and faculty members.

The classes will meet four days weekly, Monday through Thursday, through the first term of summer school. The first term will end July 15.

Small Fee Is Charged

Fee is $1.50 for each activity. The fee may be paid in the business office. The receipt will admit a person to the activity of his choice.

The schedule follows: 10 to 10:45 a. m., rhythms for children 5 to 9 years; 4 to 4:45 p. m., rhythm for adults, designed to afford exercise for women; 7 to 8 p. m., ballroom dancing and badminton for men and women, to music by a nickelodeon; 7:30 to 8:15 a. m., archery and badminton for women; 10:45 to 11:30 a. m., tennis for children 9 to 15 years; 4:45 to 5:30 p. m., tennis for men and women.

Last Camp Of Scouts Held

Fifty-one Boy Scouts and leaders are enrolled in the fourth and final one-week encampment comprising the summer camping program of South Plains council in Camp Post, according to report received this morning from Rev. Gordon Voight of Floydada, camp director.

He advised that one of the important events of the week will be a campfire court of honor Friday night. Parents and friends of the scouts are invited to be present, he added.

New Campers Initiated

The "Yant'see Indians" of troop 22, sponsored by Lamesa American Legion, of which Joe N. Spikes is scoutmaster, conducted the campfire lighting and initiation of new campers Sunday night, Spikes reported.

Those in the camp, the troop of which they are members, the troop sponsors and the towns from which they come follow:

Troop 32, Crosbyton Lions club—Gene Nowlin.

Troop 33, Ralls Rotary club—Ralph Edd McLaughlin, Cecil Reese, Samuel Scales and Dennis Tilliman.

Troop 57, Floydada American Legion—Joe Arwine, Johnnie Collins, Donald Cornelius, Edgar Gound, Johnnie Hammonds, Emmitt Hinson, Gene Loran, Virgil Williams, Kenneth Johnson, Carl Minor, Randolph Rutledge, James Wester, Ed Wester and John Farris, assistant scoutmaster.

Troop 64, Floydada Lions club—D. I. Bolding, jr., R. S. Daniel, Raymond Fogerson, O. W. Harris, jr., Dale King, Homer Kennamer and Jim Bob Rafferty.

Troop 80, Lamesa Rotary club—Dan Boone, James Boone, Walter Boyd, Paul Britt, Billy Haworth, Buster Driver and Wayne Roberts.

Troop 89, Roaring Springs—Earl Freeman, Malcolm Dodson, Leon Duncan, George Frye and Dalton Hall.

Troop 59, Lockney—Charles Baker, Joe Norman, James Taylor and Leroy Handley.

Highway Survey To Be Made In Area

Harry N. Roberts, Lubbock consulting engineer, has been designated by Julian Montgomery, state highway engineer, to render a studied opinion of highway classifications in the South Plains and Texas Panhandle, according to announcement this morning.

The opinion has been sought, it was explained, following traffic counts made under highway supervision on highways throughout the entire area.

The area in which Roberts is to make his investigation extends from the south line of Andrews county to the Oklahoma border and from the 100th meridian to the New Mexico boundary.

Purpose of the opinion, according to the announcement, is to attempt to forecast what the future highway improvement and construction needs will be. The work program of the highway department within the territory probably will be based in large part upon the findings.

Conferences Are To Be Held This Week

Conferences with railroad employes of Slaton and Lubbock areas are planned Thursday and Friday when J. A. Livingston, field representative of the federal railroad retirement board, visits Slaton.

His headquarters will be the lobby of the Panhandle and Santa Fe division office building, and his hours each day will be from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. and from 5 to 8 p. m., the announcement said.

Appointments will not be necessary, he advised, but he suggested that those interested call early so that personal conferences can be arranged when needed.

Purpose of the visit, according to the announcement, will be to discuss with railroad employes their rights under the railretirement and unemployment insurance acts, to clear up questions and problems arising out of those acts, and to expedite the handling of claims.

Since last July 1, he advised, unemployment insurance claims of railroad employes in this region have been adjudicated and paid in the office at Dallas. Recently, that office has been given the added job of helping railway employes file and develop claims to annuities.

Young Business Men Will Be Organized

SLATON, June 11 (Special)—Plans for a young business men's organization were made at a meeting in the community clubhouse here Monday night.

A committee of six was appointed to draw up a constitution and a list of nominees for the next gathering, possibly a week from tonight. Members of the committee include: Leo Johnston, named temporary secretary, Dick Lewis, Howard Hoffman, Dr. E. Toomis, Paul Stevens, and Willard Donald.

The new organization will be something on the order of a junior chamber of commerce, said a spokesman.

CROPS ARE EARLIER

LITTLEFIELD.—With crops more than half planted, it is estimated the territory is from 20 to 30 days ahead of normal at this season. Only a small amount had to be replanted until rains this week, which did more damage.

Army Recruits Leave Lubbock For Posts

Report was made Monday by Lieut. George T. Coleman, district recruiting officer, that 14 army recruits left during the week-end for Camp Ord, Calif., and one for Fort Bliss near El Paso.

Stewart H. Felton of Floydada, was assigned to the 82nd field artillery, Fort Bliss. For Camp Ord, for the 39th engineers, were, G. C. Dial and Emmanuel Z. Baxter, Claude; Jacob C. Myers, of 1811 Avenue H; Eugene D. Marquart of 1637 Eighth street; L. L. McElfresh, of 709 Avenue F; Boyd O. Roberts of 402 Avenue C; Samuel C. Baker of 610 Fifth street, all of Lubbock; J. Paul Whitaker, Meadow; A. L. Price, jr., route 2, Snyder; Frederic W. Johnson, McLean; Dana B. and Luther D. Minter of Plainview and Bernice and J. C. Bowling of Post.

Brownfield Employes Give Pledge To Flag

BROWNFIELD, June 11.—In the presence of Mayor Clyde C. Coleman City Councilmen Marion Craig, Tom Cobb and C. J. Smith, 27 employes of the city of Brownfield took a pledge to support the American flag and the constitution of the United States.

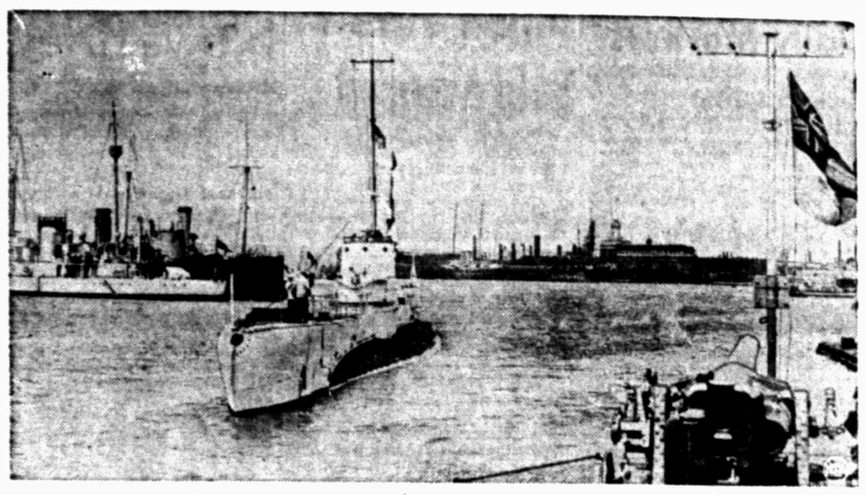

Mayor Coleman read the pledge and those present raised their hands. City Secretary Roy Herod assisted in the ceremony.

The day before all county employes went through a similar ceremony.

Isn't This Why You Are Constipated?

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? White bread, meat, potatoes? It's little wonder you're constipated. You probably don't eat enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It's a kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a movement. If this is your trouble, may we suggest a crunchy toasted cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran—for breakfast. All-Bran is a natural food, not a medicine—but it's particularly rich in "bulk." Being so, it can help you not only to get regular but to keep regular. Eat All-Bran regularly, and drink plenty of water. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Italians Believe That United States Entry Into War Is Inevita

Dictators To Try For Victory Before America Can Be Ready

ROME, June 11 (UP)—Authoritative Italian circles today said they regarded President Roosevelt's speech at Charlottesville, Va., last night as the gravest criticism of Italy ever received from the head of a state which was not at war with Italy.

President Roosevelt had characterized Italy's action in entering the war a dagger thrust in the back of a neighbor and had promised to give all material aid to the Allies.

Described As Insult

In Fascist political circles, where the speech was heard over the radio, the feeling was prevalent today that any hope the Italians had of maintaining friendly relations with the United States had vanished.

Some quarters described Mr. Roosevelt's reference to "stabbing in the back" as an insult to the Italian people.

The conviction in Italian circles is that the United States' entry into the war is inevitable.

Apparently, the Italian-German plan is to move swiftly and conclude the war before the United States can get underway in the program of "full speed ahead" in war material production for the Allies.

Russia Holds Key To Turkish Action

By The Associated Press

ANKARA, Turkey, June 11 — Soviet Russia holds the key to Turkey's fulfillment of her mutual assistance treaty with Great Britain and France, it was acknowledged in informed quarters today.

The cabinet met throughout the afternoon and its stand was reported to depend on a response from Russia as to the Soviet attitude in case Turkey should join the Allies in fighting Italy in the Mediterranean.

Ready To Fight

Ulus, the official newspaper, declared that Turkey possesses "the might and capacity to accomplish the national task" and was ready to fight any power infringing her rights but did not mention the pact with the Allies.

The war, it predicted, will be long, and as it develops, Turkey's "task and importance will be increased."

Deputy Hussein Diahid Yaltchin said today that Turkey is at the side of the Allies "with all her heart and she wishes for their success."

This was the first public declaration concerning Turkey's position from an official quarter since Italy's entry into the war on the side of Germany.

Writing in the newspaper Yeni Saba, Yaltchin, who is an important political figure, said that Premier Mussolini had picked the wrong horse and would lose.

Will Not Hesitate

As the cabinet met in day-long session to weigh the consequences of Italy's decision, the official newspaper, Ulus, asserted the Turks are "not seeking war but will not hesitate to go to war with all our might if we must face war."

All Turkish attention turned toward the cabinet at Ankara but it was believed there would be no immediate consideration of actual entry into the war.

Yaltchin expressed belief that "the theatricals which Italy has put on for the past nine months" have come to an end.

"Italy," he declared, "enters the war as the enemy of Britain and France, which saved her from the German heel after Caporetto."

(Caporetto was the scene of a disastrous Italian defeat in the World war.)

German Army Is On Marne

and join Italian forces.

Nazi sources estimated that the armies contained between four and five hundred thousand men.

A new "sack" is being thrown around Dieppe by a German thrust southward along the English channel, informed sources said, and Allied troops trapped in it will be treated as were the encircled armies in Flanders.

The exact location of the two armies reported destroyed was not given but the high command communique today said large sections of the Allies had been cut off and faced with destruction.

As the vast Nazi army of nearly two million men and machines of all kinds thundered southward, the high command asserted that "the enemy's power of resistance is visibly waning because of severe bloody losses, the great number of prisoners and the capture of all kinds of material."

Paris Is Endangered

A German military spokesman said "no uniform French defense line any longer exists" on the northern front, and that Paris is being "immediately threatened."

The Allied retreat has been impeded, the high command said in a morning communique, by the German air force's successful destruction of a number of Marne and lower Oise bridges.

Fighting was going on along the whole front, the communique said and was particularly fierce between Reims and the Argonne forest.

Ships Are Damaged

It added that German airmen had destroyed some locks at Le Havre, and had sunk a destroyer and damaged other ships including two 10,000-ton transports.

Powerful wedges have been driven through the French lines at numerous points, completely severing connections between the individual French army corps, the spokesman declared.

The German air force was said to be lending extensive aid to the ground forces with a view to forcing a decision as quickly as possible.

England Is Kept Busy

England also is being kept busy by the Nazi air force, the spokesman said, for "psychological reasons."

Jubilant over the success of the German drive toward Paris and Italy's entrance into the war, Nazi leaders boldly proclaimed that France's fate is sealed.

Official circles which described the position of the French capital as "precarious," remained silent about the war moves of Premier Mussolini, but it was generally expected he would strike a swift blow along France's southern frontier.

Military dispatches indicated that German troops already less than 35 miles from Paris, gradually were closing a semi-circle of steel around the capital.

Spokesmen said the Nazi battle-flags were moving forward on the entire front extending from the English channel to the Meuse river.

They estimated that within five days the German drive has netted gains ranging from 56 to 62 miles along a front now given as 220 miles long.

"A Caesar has cast the dice," declared the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, commenting on Italy's entry into the war. "It is an hour of great world and historic significance — with greater to follow."

German spokesmen associated themselves with Mussolini's conditional assurances that the neutrality of Switzerland, Yugoslavia, Greece, Egypt and Turkey would be respected.

The inference was that the conduct of these states would determine whether they would be swept into the conflict.

Lamesa Group

the Lamesa chamber of commerce invited Lubbock to attend the rodeo. He said $1,800 in prizes would be given away. A cowgirl contest is one feature.

Enroute to Lubbock the party stopped at O'Donnell, Tahoka, Post, Southland and Slaton to deliver invitations. After leaving Lubbock stops were planned at Ropesville, Meadow, Brownfield, Seagraves and Seminole. The group ate lunch in Lubbock.

Dr. W. S. Brumage Is Speaker At Course

Dr. W. S. Brumage of Brownfield, director of a four-county health unit, spoke on typhoid fever before the class of public health workers and sanitation officers at Texas Technological college today.

J. H. Murdough, director of the course, said 16 persons now are enrolled. Louis Eubank from Truscott, who was graduated from Tech last week, and Mrs. J. M. Stockton from San Antonio, wife of a sanitarian enrolled for the course, have registered since announcement of a previous list.

Jack Wyatt from Amarillo is to speak Wednesday.

Bills Hiking Naval Strength Approved

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP) — The House completed congressional action today on bills permitting the navy to have a total of 10,000 planes and 16,000 pilots and to build 22 new combat vessels.

Both pieces of legislation now go to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature.

In addition to the fighting ships, the fleet increase measure would permit construction of a similar number of auxiliary vessels.

Specifically, the bill permits a 11 per cent increase in the navy's surface tonnage.

Condition Of Girl Is Said Improved

Fourteen-year-old Lottie Margaret Atkinson of Lubbock was in critical condition in Seymour this morning but a telephone call early this afternoon indicated her condition was slightly improved, friends said.

Dr. F. B. Malone and C. Fred Litton returned this morning after a trip to Seymour. Ruth Hereford, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Hereford, has returned to Lubbock. The injured girl is in Baylor County hospital, where she was taken after she was injured early Monday morning when en route to Baltimore with Dr. and Mrs. Hereford and their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Atkinson of 2201 Fourteenth street, parents of the injured girl, went to Seymour Monday.

She suffered concussion, with evidence of tearing of some blood vessels. There has been considerable hemorrhage. There was no evidence of fracture.

ORDERLY RALLY SEEN

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP) — Stocks swung into an orderly rally today as rearmament spending hopes countered further adverse war news as a market influence.

Gains of 1 to more than 8 points were widely distributed at the final hour when prices were around the day's tops. Light selling crept in occasionally, but quotations in most cases were near the best at the close.

Transfers approximated 800,000 shares.

Steels were well in front throughout, followed closely by aircrafts, motors, oils, coppers and specialties.

Prominent on the upside were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, General Motors, Chrysler, Standard Oil of N. J., Anaconda, Kennecott, Norfolk & Western, Great Northern, Allied Chemical, Loft, Westinghouse, Dow Chemical, Dupont, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester and Montgomery Ward.

Bonds were mixed, but commodities pushed up with stocks.

Allied Victory Said Assured

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, June 11.—President Roosevelt's assurances of material aid from the United States insured an Allied victory in the war against Germany, Clement R. Attlee told the House of Commons in a war report today.

"From across the Atlantic has come the answer of a great democracy," Attlee said.

"It was as though day had followed night when, only a few hours after the dictator of Italy had made his dastardly announcement before the serried ranks of the blackshirts the president of the United States delivered to the youth of his country a message worthy of a great and free republic sending the whole of America's sympathies to those nations who are giving their lifeblood in combat against the forces of hate."

Attlee said Roosevelt had "vitally inspired the free peoples of Europe. His assurance that the material resources of his great nation would be placed at the disposal of the Allies makes it inevitable that however hard the road the cause of civilization will in the end prevail."

The house resounded with cheers.

Hitler and Mussolini have united to destroy democracy, he said, but "democracy will answer the challenge."

Attlee said "this new attack does not cause us dismay."

"It makes no difference to our stern resolution to defeat all our enemies or to our confidence in our ability to withstand all attacks and achieve victory."

Replying to a question as to why the scheduled secret session had been postponed today, Attlee said "in the face of the new development in the war the prime minister and the service ministers are very heavily occupied."

Substituting for Prime Minister Churchill, who was absent, Attlee told the house Britain had already seized 14 Italian ships. Ten others are in British ports, he said.

He accused Mussolini of using "jackal" tactics in entering the war.

night entry into the European war on Germany's side.

Shortly before 10:30 a. m. (3:30 a. m., C. S. T.) the high command in its regular morning communique said that French troops on the Albine front were "in position" but they had not yet been attacked.

Attempt Scythe Blow

The French army, staging a desperate battle against a powerful German right wing attempting to strike a scythe blow at Paris from the west, checked Nazi attempts to advance beyond the Seine river, the high command said.

Last night it reported the Germans had crossed the Seine at several points, but today's announcement indicated the invaders had been unable to push farther in this bold attempt to swing around the capital and take it from the rear.

As the day dawned Paris was covered by a strange acrid smoke that obscured the sun and hung over the city like a pall. It first began to appear early last night. Some reports said it was from fires in the outskirts.

Tanks Are In Area

German tanks, operating alone, were reported to have reached the environs of Paris already although the main front was no nearer than 35 or 40 miles.

Paris was but a shell as the government established headquarters at Tours and other vital agencies packed up and left. As most ministers went to the south, Premier Paul Reynaud left to join the French army, the ministry of information said.

Civilians moved southward in streams.

The hour was one of gloom for Paris and for France, with Italy adding her strength to Germany's against the Allies. The nation turned for comfort to the words of Reynaud last night in an address made after Premier Mussolini anhounced Italy would go to war.

Allies Are Strong

"The Allies are strong," he said. "France has been through even greater difficulties and it has always been at that moment that she has astonished the entire world."

The tanks reported in the Paris region were said to have penetrated the French lines in isolated raids.

While to the northeast the Germans pushed across World war battlefields and approached the Marne and Chateau-Thierry, on the west they pushed beyond the 1914 line.

The French high command's communique of last night, issued from "somewhere in Paris," acknowledged the Germans had crossed the Seine at certain lower points.

Pressure Is Increased

"From the sea to the Oise," said the communique, "the enemy has increased his pressure between the route from Amiens to Rouen and from Amiens to Vernon, as far as the lower Seine at certain points where some elements have crossed the river.

"The enemy is held everywhere by vigorous counter-attacks."

Rouen is 70 miles west of Paris on the Seine and Vernon is 40 miles from the capital. Some German units were reported to be in this vicinity, only 35 miles from Paris.

The line north of Paris ran through the central sector of the Oise valley. After taking heavy losses here, the Germans were holding back their infantry and sending dive bombers out to blast away the French resistance, French reports said.

Much of Paris' population, normally 3,000,000, had left.

The capital's broad boulevards were almost empty of automobiles. The usual crowds had changed to occasional passersby. Armed policemen and little groups of dirty, weary families fleeing from the northern war area were about all to be seen in the streets.

These refugees were so tired they sat on their bundles along the sides of the streets.

Six Approved For Flight Training

Six young men have been approved as enrollees in the summer Civil Aeronautics authority flight training program to be offered to Texas Technological college students and former students, Robert P. Vail announced this morning.

The following have been approved: Prather Standefer, Clifton; J. L. Sims, Plainview; J. R. Sublett, Merkel; J. I. York, Dallas; Ralph Havis, Lubbock, and Gary P. Nicholson, Fort Stockton.

Thirty-nine others are to be appointed in the next day or two, Vail said. The training official said the program would open Saturday. Ground school instruction will be offered from 7 to 8:30 a. m.

Vail and Hollie Cross will offer the ground school instruction. J. F. Dagley and Clent Breedlove are the flight operators.

One hundred applications have been filed.

Water Consumption Sets New Record

All water requirements during the month of May in the history of Lubbock were broken during that past month, according to tabulations announced in the city engineering department today.

The report disclosed that water pumpage during May, 1940, totaled 136,757,000 gallons, comparing with 102,902,000 in May, 1939. Peak day was May 15, when consumption totaled 6,337,000.

The demand during the month, officials reported, has been exceeded by that of only three months in the history of the city. The present all-time record was set at 154,000,000 gallons in June, 1939.

Former Tech Student Claimed By Death

Mrs. Georgia Chapman Slaton, a former student at Texas Technological college in the division of home economics, died June 1 in Morenci, Ariz., after a short illness and burial was in the cemetery there, according to word received here.

A graduate of Texas State College for Women, Mrs. Slaton had done graduate work in Texas Tech. She was married to John O. Slaton, who died in November, 1938. Two children survive, Jackie and Georgia Ann, and her mother, Mrs. M. A. Chapman of Amarillo.

Five sisters and two brothers also survive: Mrs. Fred W. Reed of Vernon; Mrs. J. R. Turner of Center Point; Mrs. B. L. Morgan and Misses Catherine and Emma Chapman of Amarillo; T. P. Chapman of Laredo and L. W. Chapman of Floydada.

Man With Stubble On Face Hunted

Two frightened girls ran into a cafe at Main street and Avenue X Monday night and asked that police be called to arrest a bearded man who, they claimed, had made indecent exposure before them and improper solicitations.

Police said they had been informed of the burglary of three residences in Plainview. Chief of Police Hoyt Curry of Plainview said a watch was taken in one residence, a Mexican silver dollar in another and an 1844 penny in the third.

N. C. Gaither of 422 Avenue Q reported several tires, tubes and wheels had been stolen from him.

Window peepers were reported at 1918 Dixie drive, and a call from 2323 Sixteenth street reported someone trying to break into a garage.

Two girls reported missing from near Petersburg were sought here. One is 11 and slim, wearing a red dress. She was described as "almost blind." The other is 13, stocky and wearing a gray skirt and striped sleeveless jacket. They left when their parents were milking, said relatives to police.

SIMLA, India, June 11 (AP)—Lord Linlithgow, viceroy of India, today proclaimed that a state of war exists between India and Italy.

Gigantic Fund For Defenses

898 above President Roosevelt's budget recommendations, chiefly on account of the increase to build the regular army up to an authorized strength of 375,000 enlisted men, the committee cut out $2,290,000 which the chief executive requested. This included $1,900,000 for establishment of a naval seaplane base on Canton island in the southern Pacific and $300,000 to start construction of three dirigibles.

Division Of Funds

The army's share of the funds would include $329,800,000 for the 3,000 new planes, their equipment, armament and ammunition; $53,440,000 for anti-aircraft artillery and ammunition; $99,334,000 for mounted guns, tanks, armored carriers, ammunition and other equipment; $23,700,000 for research and development in the air corps, signal service and ordnance department.

A separate $200,000,000 fund solely for expediting construction of munitions also was recommended by the committee for expenditure subject to approval of the defense council and the president.

In addition to funds for the 68 new combat ships, the navy would get funds to recommission 35 destroyers and 36 submarines which would place in operation all existing combatant naval tonnage. It would get $61,437,000 to complete manufacture of 400 new quadruple mounts and 1.1-inch anti-aircraft guns and $8,360,000 to increase the anti-aircraft defenses of all battleships, cruisers and aircraft carriers. Another $6,000,000 was included for the acquisition of three maritime commission vessels for conversion to naval use.

The 68 new ships to be started included three aircraft carriers, 13 cruisers, 22 submarines and 30 destroyers. This would mean a total of 160 combat vessels under construction.

The bill carried $60,300,000 for a far flung system of new naval air bases and expansion of others.

The coast guard would get $10,721,816 to provide for 2,500 additional men and equip its vessels with depth charges, new guns, searchlights and listening devices for detection of submarines.

Former Instructor At Tech Receives Award

Paul D. Voth, 35, former instructor at Texas Technological college, was one of three faculty members receiving $1,000 prizes today from the University of Chicago for outstanding teaching of undergraduate students, the Associated Press reported from Chicago.

Voth is an instructor in botany at the university. He is a native of Gotebo, Okla.

He received a bachelor of arts degree from Bethel college in 1929 and a master of arts degree from the University of Chicago in 1930. He was an instructor in biology at Texas Tech from 1930 to 1932, then returned to the University of Chicago, where he obtained a doctor's degree. In 1938 he went to Panama for research work in the canal zone. He has succeeded Dr. R. A. Studhalter, head professor of biology, botany and zoology at Tech, as secretary-treasurer of the Sullivant-Moss society, which is interested in rare plants.

Hearing Of Suit Started Today

Hearing of a suit for an injunction and debt, brought by T. O. Murphey of Lubbock against Sinclair Refining Co., was begun before a jury and Judge T. Whitfield Davidson in United States district court this morning after an agreed judgment had been given in the case of L. E. Franklin against Osage Drilling Co.

Judge Davidson told the rest of the panel to report Wednesday morning at 9:30 oclock.

Franklin was given a judgment of $1,000, agreed upon by counsel for both sides. John J. Watts of Crane and J. B. Cotton of Seagraves represented Franklin and Tom Milam and Crenshaw, Dupree and Milam the defendant.

Watts announced a motion for a new trial in the case of E. B. Peddy against Employers Liability Assurance corporation. He based his motion on a statement by defense counsel, George W. Dupree, to the jury. The court indicated he would hear the motion later.

Eddie Leo Austin was awarded an out of court settlement of $4,000 against Osage Drilling Co., said Watts, attorney for Austin.

W. H. Evans of Bean, Evans & Bean is attorney for Murphey. Alfred McKnight and Sloan Blair of Fort Worth represent the refinery. Suit is over a contract between Murphy and the company.

Aid To Allies

has struck it in the back of its neighbor," he added sternly, interpolating the sentence into his prepared manuscript.

The president delivered his speech to the graduating class of the University of Virginia — which included his son, Franklin, jr.—but to his immediate audience he added the nation and most of the world by radio.

America In Peril

Speaking forcefully and with unwonted emotion, he declared that the widening theater of Europe's war imperiled this country's way of life.

"Once more," he exclaimed, "the future of the nation, the future of the American people is at stake."

Mr. Roosevelt summoned the United States to intensify its preparedness for "the task of any emergency and every defense."

An outside world "dominated by the philosophy of force," he said, would mean for the United States the "helpless nightmare of a people without freedom, a people lodged in prison, handcuffed, hungry, and fed through the bars from day to day by the contemptuous, unpitying masters of other continents.

"It is natural also that we should ask ourselves how now we can prevent the building of that prison and the placing of ourselves in the midst of it.

Pursue Two Courses

"Overwhelmingly we, as a nation, and this applies to all the other American nations, we are convinced that military and naval victory for the gods of force and hate would endanger the institutions of democracy in the western world — and that equally, therefore, the whole of our sympathies lie with those nations which are giving their lifeblood in combat against those forces. . . .

"In our American unity, we will pursue two obvious and simultaneous courses:

"We will extend to the opponents of force the material resources of this nation and, at the same time, we will harness and speed up the use of those resources in order that we ourselves in the Americas may have equipment and training equal to the task of any emergency and every defense."

U. S. Shifts Role

The reaction of official Washington was that President Roosevelt had, in effect, served notice on the world that the United States was shifting its role of neutrality to one of non-belligerency.

Members of Congress were either enthusiastic in their approval or apprehensive that the speech increased the danger of the nation being drawn into the war. Most of those who offered comments endorsed the stand Mr. Roosevelt took, but there were some who, like Rep. Rogers (R-Mass), said "the speech sounded like a prelude to a declaration of war."

Two aspirants for the Republican presidential nomination were critical. Frank Gannett, Rochester, N. Y., publisher, called the address "an inflammatory utterance . . . likely to promote our getting into the war." Thomas E. Dewey, New York prosecutor, said that "the words may be the words of a neutral but the voice is the voice of a belligerent."

To Drive Forward

Mr. Roosevelt made it plain he intended to drive forward with all energy toward the twin objectives of full material aid to the Allies and a formidably armed America.

"All roads leading to the accomplishment of these objectives must be kept clear of obstructions," he asserted.

"We will not slow down or detour.

"Signs and signals call for speed—full speed ahead. . . .

"I call for effort, courage, sacrifice, devotion. Granting the love of freedom, all these are possible.

"And the love of freedom is still fierce, still steady in the nation today."

The chief executive returned at once to Washington where he issued the neutrality proclamations late in the evening.

New Health Idea
thousands are adopting
LEMONADE WITH MEALS
at least once daily

Sounds enticing, doesn't it? A big glass of zestful lemonade instead of water with your lunch or dinner.

That zip and tang of lemons makes food taste better. Children especially eat more heartily. But note the dietary benefits.

5 Health Advantages!

Lemons aid digestion. Lemonade makes it easier to consume the amount of liquid nutrition authorities suggest.

It gives you additional vitamin C—as well as B₁. These two vitamins are not stored in the body. You need them daily for the best of health. And lemons are the only known source of citrin (the newly discovered vitamin P). This may explain many of their special health benefits, scientists say.

Start Today

So order a dozen Sunkist Lemons today. Then start serving a big pitcherful of tart lemonade with meals. Make eating more joyful and beneficial. See if your whole family doesn't applaud your new idea.

NOTE—NOT A SUBSTITUTE FOR MILK. But lemonade is excellent with milk. The combination of lemon juice and milk is often used in infant feeding to make milk more digestible.

Lubbock's Unpredictable Hubbers Will Entertain Amarillo's Gold Sox Tonight

Blasting Bats Baffle Barons Monday Night

Continuously jumping from one extreme to another, Manager Charlie Engle's cellar dwelling Hubbers tonight entertain the current cream of the crop—Amarillo's mighty Gold Sox machine—in the initial game of a two-night stand.

And for the second time in as many starts, pitching probably will decide whether the mark goes in the won or lost column for the hapless twice-in-a-row champions who flit from triumph to defeat and back again with the nonchalance of a school boy.

Record Impressive

Missouri's Mel Kramer, who believes in showing 'em as well as seeing for himself, makes his debut of the season with the Hubbers tonight when the helium city nine trots onto the field for the opener. Young Kramer won 16 and lost 10 last season, one of the better hurling records on the club and among the best in the entire circuit.

Game time is 8:30 oclock. And a goodly crowd is in prospect—a cinch no matter the contest when Amarillo and Lubbock athletic teams are mixing it up.

Clovis In Lamesa

Over the rest of the circuit, they swap opponents, also, the scene of action changing to the southern half for the next few nights. Following is the lineup for the next two-game stand: Borger invades Big Spring to take on Manager Tony Rego's crew. Pampa tackles the double tough Cowboys in Midland and Clovis heads into two rough nights of competition in Lamesa.

Hurling meant the difference between another setback and the most impressive triumph, with one possible exception, in the league last night for the Hubbers. Big Pat Ralsh was in top form to toss himself a five-hitter and handcuff the Big Spring Barons in the club's series finale, 11 to 0, another one of the few times this season that Hub hitters and pitchers have swung out together.

Niedziela Hitting Star

Batting honors easily went to Steve Niedziela, peppery third baseman for Lubbock and one of the leading hitters of the loop, who smashed out four base blows, one of them a homer, in five trips up. His night's stick work accounted for three tallies. Furnishing him competition in the hitting department were Chester Hajduk and Vince Castino.

The other top triumph of the night found Clovis' Shirley tossing a two-hit masterpiece to shut out the Borger Gassers, 3 and 0. While Shirley was unwinding with his near hitless special, his mates were jumping Hausman for 10 base blows, counting once in the third, fourth and seventh stanzas.

Sox Win Thriller

Amarillo's loop leaders whetted their appetites for more action by nudging Pampa's Oilers in their series finale last night, 5 to 4, in the last of the eleventh. Errorless play afield gave the Sox added advantage as well as the 13 to 10 edge in base blows. Pampa was charged with three miscues. Held scoreless until the eighth frame and trailing 0 to 3 at the time, the helium city nine came back with characteristic Sox power to knot the count in the eighth, tie it again in the tenth and forge into the close decision that was theirs in the eleventh.

Down at Midland, the Cowboys jumped and rode Dave Byington for 14 hits and as many runs to saddle Lamesa's loboes in the teams' last game, 14 to 6. A burst of home runs couldn't even save the night for the Dawson county lads. Malcolm Stevens sweeping out with a couple and Eddie Guynes coming through with another. A seven-run attack in the sixth stanza broke the Loboes' back and clinched the contest for Midland.

Major League Pennant Races Are Tight

Cleveland Fans Already Are Conceding Pennant To Yanks

LUBBOCK EVENING JOURNAL
PAGE EIGHT —LUBBOCK, TEXAS, TUESDAY, JUNE 11, 1940

BY HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 11 — A few sport divots sliced out en route home from Cleveland:

While I think the U. S. G. A. was forced to abide by its rules and was technically justified in disqualifying Ed Oliver for starting before his scheduled time in the National Open, that august body now should make certain at least one official remains in the starting tent at all times to prevent repetition of such a mistake in the future. The officials were lunching when Oliver teed off, but as Gene Buck expressed it, "the U. S. G. A. should give up pie al a mode so that the Oliver tragedy never happens again." . . . Bobby Jones said the U. S. G. A. did the only right thing, but added that Oliver's loss of a chance in the play-off was the most unfortunate golfing occurrence of which he ever had heard. . . .

Pennant To Yanks

The citizens of Cleveland are a peculiarly unenthusiastic lot. Although their Indians are only a step out of first place in the American league, the fans have already conceded the pennant to the New York Yankees . . . Cleveland can't believe the Indians are capable of halting the Yank drive . . . And speaking of the Indians, President Alva Bradley passes along the following story about young Bob Feller . . . During winter training most of the players took one afternoon off and left Feller alone on the field. An hour later a coach came by and was horrified to find Feller sliding into third base again and again with no concern for his million dollar arm. The young pitcher calmly explained that he wanted to make sure that if ever he hit a triple he wouldn't be thrown out because he didn't know how to slide! . . .

When Jack Dempsey signed for a 10-round bout with Wrestler Cowboy Luttrell in Atlanta he wasn't so much attempting a comeback as keeping a pledge . . . Years ago Dempsey vowed he never would hit a man outside the ring. Now the only way he can settle with Luttrell for the latter's supposedly slurring remarks is to take his gloves down off the wall and swing his punches in legal, Queensberry manner . . . Arturo Godoy says he will discard his bob-bob-bobbing style when he meets Joe Louis again this month . . . The Argentine will come out of his patented tortoise shell crouch and attempt to knock the champion out . . . Godoy has a good left hook, but an even better straight uppercut butt . . . Which should inspire sports writers to say they pick Louis—butt . . .

Lawson Little has shipped his dad, an army colonel stationed at San Francisco's presidio, the ball he holed out to whip Gene Sarazen on Sunday . . . Lawson also sent along the cup he received for his triumph . . . Clarence Budington Kelland is desperately trying to buy, borrow or filch the gold mashie awarded Grantland Rice . . . Kelland claims that no golfer in the world would ever "look up" while swinging a gold club . . . Evidently Dizzy Dean has been informed that the best defense is a good offense. Dizzy's pitching in his first minor league start wasn't too good, but the big right-hander won the game with a single and a run . . . Sort of a case of good hit, no pitch . . .

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 11—Broadway books have started Joe Louis out at 1-6 over Arturo Godoy . . . And only two weeks ago Lawson Little was telling Boston pals he was as rusty as a tin dipper . . . Consensus in the pubs around here is that the U. S. G. A. brass hats gave Ed Oliver a raw deal particularly since Walter Hagen violated the same rule and got away with it.

Take-A-Bow Dept.

So far as we know, Ralph Trost of the Brooklyn Eagle is the only expert who picked Lawson Little to win the open . . . And our ole pal, Pete Norton of the Tampa Tribune picked Sarazen and just missed cashing in.

Tony Galento's announcement that he'll train in secret for Max Baer is only Tony's quaint way of saying little or no training will be done.

Up to yesterday Dolph Camilli had hit six homers, each in a different park. He hadn't played in Pittsburgh and failed in Boston . . . Babe Ruth hasn't seen the Yanks since opening day.

Today's Guest Star

Bus Ham, Oklahoma City Oklahoman: "Time marches on, only Walter Hagen hasn't learned about it yet . . . There's only one Haig, for which the starters are truly grateful, but he's ever a welcome guest."

Reds Front Office Is Somewhat Irked

CINCINNATI, June 11 (AP)—The front office of the Cincinnati Reds, who are defending and hoping to enlarge upon a National loop championship, reported itself today as somewhat irked by sarcastic comment to the effect the Brooklyn Dodgers are what they are because of an infiltration of American league cast-offs.

The Dodgers are the major immediate obstacles to the Reds' progress. Those who subscribe to the view that the American is the only major loop in the country point to an impressive lot of ex-American leaguers and say "That proves it."

"That," said Traveling Secretary Gabe Paul of the Reds, "is a lot of hoop-la."

Gabe picked up the box scores in the morning papers and found just as many one-time National league men now were bolstering up one and all teams in the junior circuit.

Among the random discoveries were:

1—(Inevitable) Zeke Bonura, once the New York Giants problem child, now defending first base with might and main for Washington.

2—Dick Bartell, ex-Chicago Cub, now doing all right at short for Detroit.

3—Rollie Hemsley, ex-Red and reformed playboy of the Western world, catching very well for Cleveland.

4—Mike Kreevich, ex-Chicago Cub, outfielding for the other Chicago team.

5—Roy Cullenbine, not good enough for the Dodgers but now putting some life in the St. Louis Browns.

Three Battles Booked Today

With only one undefeated, untied team remaining as the fifth week of rattling base hits and high scoring progresses, the Business-Professional twilight softball loop this afternoon continues with a three-game card booked.

On Field No. 1, the Courthouse crew and Doctors tangle; on Field No. 2, the Federals and Christians clash, and on Field No. 3, the Lions and Carpenters meet in the only National division game of the day.

Jaycees Are Upset

The week started off with a bang yesterday afternoon, the Asbury ten, which seems to be up to stay, turning in the surprise performance of the National division campaign with a 10 to 8 upset of the Jaycees, hitherto undefeated. Mick James tossed and Frank French caught for the winners. Murphy and Hugh Dunlap pitching and catching, respectively, for the losers. Homers by Garrison, and Eddleman and the defensive play of Foy were tops for Asbury; Ralph Trolinger, White and Dunlap homering for the losers.

In wild hitting and scoring spree, Tech Faculty kept its record intact with a 26 to 17 triumph over Horn. Mule Dowell and Emmett Hazlewood were the winning combine for Tech; Bob Cooper and Watson Wilson, who was relieved by Payne for the losers. Dowell, Henry Moseley and Ollman homered for Tech, Wills and Sasser for Horn.

The only other game reported saw the Baptists cracking down to "edge past" the Lawyers, 16 to 13. Batteries were Bailey, Wells and Haygood for the winners; Ralph Brock and Bert Collard for the Lawyers. Shelby Boling slammed out a four bagger for the Lawyers, and Howard Patterson retaliated with two on for the Baptists.

National Loop Is Right Back In Big Mess

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The major league pennant races are tighter than a new pair of shoes and just as fancy to look at. But they don't seem to be going anywhere.

The National league struggle is right back in the complicated spot it got into on May 27.

Dodgers Push Up

Brooklyn's baffling Dodgers pushed past the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-7 yesterday and into first place in the percentage standings of the senior circuit by a single point. They have won 29 games and lost 13 for .690. The Cincinnati Reds, who were idle yesterday, have won 31 games and lost 14 for a .689 percentage.

What's more the Reds are half a game in front on won-lost reckoning—the tangle these same clubs were in a couple of weeks ago.

The American league squabble is nearly as bad, the Boston Red Sox holding only a small percentage margin over the Cleveland Indians with whom they are even in games won and lost. The Detroit Tigers are only a single game behind and the fourth place New York Yankees three.

Status Quo Preserved

The status quo of the junior circuit leaders was preserved by the weatherman yesterday. In the only game that was played the St. Louis Browns spanked the Washington Senators 7-4 and moved into sixth place in the standings.

The two games played in the National league were hitting exhibitions.

There were 25 hits in Brooklyn's 8 to 7 win over Pittsburgh and 28 in the one at St. Louis in which the Boston Bees crushed the Cardinals 12-2.

Lubbock's Golfers Beaten At Tahoka

With an eye set on sweeping into the win column, Broadview linksmen today are priming for further inter-city invasions.

Tahoka now holds a 13 to 10 decision over the Lubbock delegation by virtue of a series of matches played over the Lynn county layout Sunday afternoon. The Tahoka crew is to return the series in the near future. Meanwhile, the Broadview golfers are seeking other opposition.

Following are the results of the contests (Lubbock golfers named first each time):

C. E. Boyd dropped Charley Townes, 2 and 1; Manson Allen whipped Wynne Collier, 4 and 3; W. E. Edwards lost to Pete Edwards, 1 up; O. A. Terry was defeated by Fred Bucey, 2 and 1; N. L. Ball lost to Prentice Walker, 3 and 1; W. T. Rogers was defeated by Buddy Stewart, 4 and 3; Archie Foster went down before Clyde Hundley, 1 up on the 19th, one of the better matches of the day; Carl Nail and Dr. Sinclair did not get to finish their match as Dr. Sinclair was called away; Jim Stoh was nudged by Bugs Woosley, 1 up.

Fenley Drops Robinson

Frank Nichols swept another point in for Lubbock with a 3 and 2 decision over W. T. Bovell; Dick Stalcup dropped his engagement to Frank George, 4 and 3; J. D. Duncan edged past Roy Tillery, 2 and 1; Sid Oglesby rumbled over E. S. Evans, 2 up; C. W. Goodgion took W. C. Wharton, 1 up; Troy Peeples was swamped by Lawrence Evans, 5 and 4; Buford Lankford lost to G. A. Edwards, 3 and 2.

Dan Fenley took a 1 up triumph over L. E. Robinson; Whacker Barton smothered Eldon Carrol, 7 and 1; E. K. Henderson dropped before Lloyd Edwards, 5 and 4; J. D. McCampbell registered a 1 up decision over Jack Welch; Jack Sims lost to Wade Holland, 1 up; Thomas Jay won over Ray Weathers, 1 up; Sled Allen lost to Johnny Applewhite, 4 and 3; and Bobb Collie and Edwing Rogers halved their match.

Longview And Tyler Tied For Loop Lead

(By The United Press)

The East Texas league, which had financial troubles in two cities and was forced to reorganize and start the season over again, now is having weather worries.

Losing Palestine and Jacksonville, the loop forgot about the games played in the spring and began anew last week. But then it began to rain and thus far only two games have been played by each team. Rains caused postponements of all games last night for the second straight night.

Longview and Tyler, with two wins each, are tied for the league lead.

Reno, Nevada, is about 100 miles closer to Asia than is Los Angeles, California.

Smyer Gets Chance To Prove Ability

The Lorenzo Larruper — smiling Sonny Smyer — tomorrow night gets his chance to prove that what a lot of folks said about his last appearance here isn't so.

When Smyer last fought before Lubbock fans, he took a disputed decision from Kid Leva, the Dallas Latin, in the bloody semi-final go of the Max Baer-Babe Ritchie fight card last summer, one of the supporting matches that helped save the big show.

At the time, there were many, Leva among the most rabid, who firmly believed that Smyer lost. The decision in the wild battle was awarded Smyer, who also packs a wallop famous for clean cut kayoes. Leva claims that the decision should have been his and tomorrow night is out to show why.

Babe Hunt vs. Balaban

They meet over the eight-round distance tomorrow night just before a couple of heavyweights named Babe Hunt and Mickey Balaban take the ring for a ten-round main event. Hunt is the same fellow who used to challenge, and [illegible] whip, any heavyweight [illegible] he was on the road to [illegible] makes his home in [illegible] having moved from [illegible] and at 32 years of age [illegible] lot of fight left in him.

Gold Sox Here For T[illegible]

By Collier Parris

THOSE ROLLICKING, dashing, hell-for-leather Hubbers come home today to play a few games in their own cellar after biting the dust and sometimes rising to heights in ball parks north and south.

They clubbed the hapless Big Spring Barons into insensibility last night at Baronville, and thus ride home on the wings of a shutout victory.

And, who knows? They might win another. They have been known to win as many as three at a stretch. All they have to do now is take the league leading Amarillo Golden Stockings.

Incidentally, the Hubbers have won as many games from the Hose as the Sox have won from Lubbock this season. If they could say as much for their engagements with the other clubs of the loop, they'd be riding well in the top division.

There's one thing for sure: If the Hubbers have any designs on first place, or even a place in the top division, by July 4, they'd better get a'going and keep a'going, along the lines they cut out for themselves last night. They can look so good at times, so horrible at other times. Inconsistency, that's what it is.

It is to be hoped that the current visit of Billy Webb, general manager of the White Sox farms, will result in brighter days and warmer nights for the Hubbers. That genial gentleman is having his headaches, and Lubbock is just one of them. Waterloo, the Sox agency in the Three-I league, is Webb's biggest problem child right now.

Lubbock isn't the only team in this league having its troubles, to be sure, but there's nothing wrong with the Hubbers that a half a dozen pitchers and a couple of infielders couldn't cure.

One of the pitchers may be "found" tonight when Mel Kramer takes the hill for his first appearance since rejoining the club. Kramer won 16, lost 10 for the pennant winning Hubbers last year. He may be the spark the pitching staff needs.

Several teams in the league, four at least, are having their financial difficulties. One of them, identification of which is not quite ready for publication, is putting out feelers for a new home, and any day now you may hear that Odessa will be in the league. The city of Odessa has had the proposition put squarely up to it, and if the town comes through with the proper cooperation in advance, one of the Southern clubs will move in.

Water can be seen pouring through three of the 50-foot gates across the dam, and it also is coming through overflow conduits near the top and about down on the big concrete barrier. Size of the dam is indicated by comparison with man in left. Cranes atop the spillway are used to control the overflow gates and other machinery.

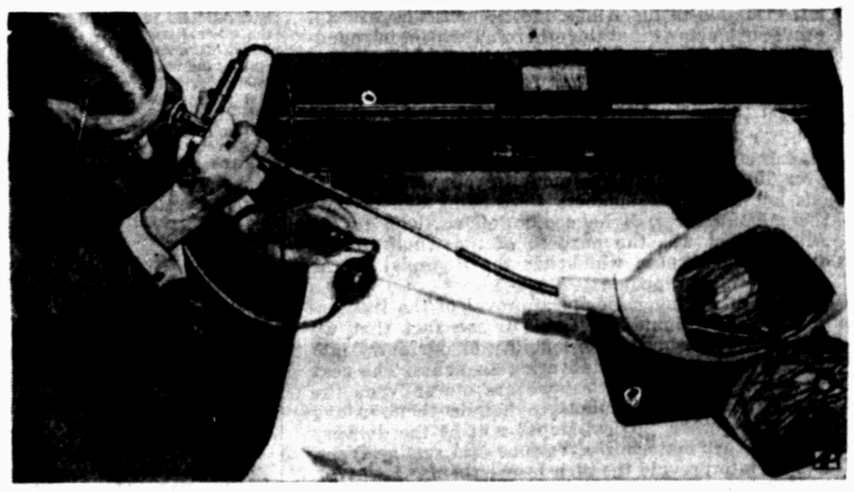

O-O-OOOMPHA GIRL—Amid all the speculation about what it is that makes an "oomph" girl, the students of Ernest Williams Music School in Brooklyn came up with a formula all their own and elected Alma Adams (above) as their "Ideal Oomph Girl." Alma does her "oomphing" on the big bass tuba in a popular all-girl orchestra, and she really rings the bell.

SOCIAL SWIM—One of the first to get her feet wet as the beach season opened for metropolitan socialites was Miss Peggy Jennison (above) of New York and Tampa, Fla., shown between dips at Atlantic Beach club on Long Island.

CHICKEN WITHOUT DRESSING—This is "Adolescence," newest addition to the works of Grant Wood, Iowa City, Ia., painter who has raised many an aesthetic storm with his bold canvases of Mid-western life in America. "Adolescence" was completed only recently, after the artist returned from a trip to Hollywood, and it soon will go on display at a New York show of the Associated American Artists Galleries. A tour with ten other works of contemporary American artists will follow.

IT'S ALL DONE WITH MIRRORS—With this 13-inch "gastrascope," about as big around as a fountain pen, Dr. Walton P. Smith demonstrates to a meeting of specialists in New York how he can peek inside a man's stomach and find hitherto unknown ulcers. The instrument contains 51 lenses and prisms to flash what it sees up through the esophagus and mouth to the doctor's view.

MILES TO EAT—As far as the eye can see, this reaches two miles through the trees. It's for non-Californians who attended the "All-state Picnic" at Ontario, Calif. They drank 10,000 gallons of orange juice, too.

HIP-HURRAY—Dimple Causey, 17-year-old high school girl named "Miss Houston" in a Texas beauty contest, leaped for joy when she arrived in New York on cruise celebrating inaugural of direct passenger ship service between the two ports.

Another Triple Bill In Softball League

With the quality of play improving steadily, Lubbock Softball association tonight swings out with another triple bill at Fox Park, scene of three fast contests opening the week's 14-game schedule last night.

In tonight's 7 o'clock opener, Southwest Products, one of the better tens in the league, mixes it up with Lubbock Poultry and Egg, playing its second game in as many nights. The second encounter sends Robinson Grocery against Central Labor and the finale finds Citizens National challenging Sherrod's.

Laundry Drops Dalby

The Eggers inaugurated Monday night's proceedings with a decisive 11 to 2 decision over Home Lumber. And to make the program complete, Hub Laundry continued its dominating ways with an 8 and 2 triumph over the classy Dalby machine and Lubbock Sash and Door allowed Sherrod's only two counters while running up five.

Smith took hitting honors for the Eggers with a double and homer in three trips to the plate. Burrus the newly acquired hurler for P. & E. limited the lumber lads to four hits.

Hitting power for the Hub crew in their more or less upset win was Arnold with a double and single. Red Amonett collected a single and double to lead the losers.

Garnering a double and two singles in as many trips to the plate Smith led the hitting for the Sash and Door ten. Sherrod could gather but four hits off Graham.

Line score:

Lubbock P&E	262	010	x—11 9 2
Home Lumber	000	110	0— 2 4 3

Burrus and Morton; Grochowsky and Cox, E. Ferrell.

Hub Laundry	000	520	1—8 7 2
Dalby	001	000	1—2 5 5

Branch and S. Price; McKnight and White.

Lubbock Sash	010	040	x—5 6 3
Sherrod Hardware	101	000	0—2 4 2

Graham and Springfield; Walthall and Yell.

Reservations Urged For Club Luncheon

Reservations for the ladies day luncheon at Lubbock Country club at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday must be made by 5 o'clock this afternoon, those in charge of arrangements have announced.

Hostess for the day will be Mrs. M. K. Dean. Reservations may be made either by calling her or the club house.

Competition over the back nine will be used as a basis for awarding prizes for the afternoon.

The following threesomes have been announced:

Mesdames Homer Hall, Cliff Widener and J. H. Stiles; W. L. Morrison, Wright Kerr and J. W. Hellhecker; E. A. Henry, K. L. Riggs and M. M. Brown; F. L. McRee, C. I. Wall and Lee Hubby; T. E. Patterson, Bob Crawford and Guy McAfee; C. E. Dean, Charles Akey and W. F. Eisenberg; Ford Benham, M. K. Dean and George Langford; C. L. Dean, Fenner Tubbs and Gordon Cranmer; M. L. Waldrop, jr., W. F. Helwig and Miss Ruth Ford.

NEVER IN CENSUS AT 73

ANTIOCH, Cal. (U.P.)—At the age of 73, Joel H. Ford has yet to be included in a U. S. census. He says census takers have contrived to miss him and his family each decade since 1870.

Pressure Now Off For Buff Hurler

(By The Associated Press)

The pressure is off—at least for a while—for youthful Howard Pollet in his try for a marathon pitching mark in the Texas league.

Pollet had won twelve straight for Houston without a defeat until the Buffs went up against the spurting Shreveport Sports last night.

The Sports, who haven't lost a series in weeks, beat him 2-1 behind the seven-hit pitching of Hugo Klaerner.

Shreveport is the current sensation with 15 victories in 21 games while climbing out of the cellar into third place.

Only one other game was played in the league last night. Beaumont trimmed San Antonio 3-1. The Dallas-Oklahoma City and Fort Worth-Tulsa engagements were postponed by rain.

Rhode Island was organized in 1775.

Lynn County Leaders Will Explain System

TAHOKA, June 11.—Three leaders, two men and one woman, in a cooperative cold storage program for Lynn county, have been selected by the county land use planning board to go to College Station in July to tell of the systems here and how they work.

B. J. Emmanuel, E. J. Cooper and Mrs. R. W. Barton were named.

Lynn county has the largest number of cold storage plants of any county in Texas. They are located at Tahoka, Wilson, New Home and O'Donnell.

In Italy, where the best catgut is made, it was found that ill-fed lean sheep yield the toughest gut.

IT AIN'T fair. It just ain't fair.

About this time of every year, newspaper columns written by women and magazine articles, ditto, are filled with advice to June brides. But nobody ever thinks about tipping off the forgotten man—the June groom—regarding the various problems of matrimony.

Always the champion of the under-dog, The Plainsman, in his small way, wants to help the June groom.

With that idea in mind he has canvassed some of our more successful husbands here-abouts and herewith presents his findings in the form of instruction to youthful male spouses:

1. (And this is the cardinal commandment) Be sure to tell your wife, promptly, of any discretion you have committed which you are reasonably certain she'll find out anyway.

2. Don't expect the bride of today to run a house under her own power, like your mother did. It just ain't being done and, anyhow, the modern bride couldn't stand up to it. She wasn't prepared for the job.

3. If your wife doesn't want to get up at the same time you do each morning, cook your breakfast and eat it along with you, don't gripe about it, because no amount of griping will help. She won't do it, anyhow. Just climb out of bed, dress and rush off to Hamburger Joe's for your breakfast. (Such action will come in handy when you need a martyr's role to assume in self-defense.)

4. Let your wife check on your bank account. She'll do a lot of checking at the start, because the experience and power will be new to her. But after awhile, it won't be so appealing and the fact that she can get money when she wants it will preclude her worrying you to death for money every day.

5. At the very start of your honeymoon, make a deal with your wife regarding work around the house. She'll agree to anything then—and you can hold her to it later by reminding her of the bargain. If you're an editor, for instance, tell her right off the bat that you won't ask her to help with the editing and, in turn, she needn't ask you to help with the housework! (This is a swell dodge and is heartily recommended to all new husbands.)

6. Steel yourself in the beginning to realize that no woman can go to town with as much as a dime in her pocket without buying something—usually something she doesn't need. No amount of howling can stop the practice, so get inured to it from the start.

7. The fewer conveniences your wife has had in her father's home the more she will demand in her own. If she hasn't had them all her life, she'll insist upon buying all the mechanical housekeeping gadgets on the market and there's nothing you can do but grin—and pay for 'em.

8. Don't buy a new razor before going into double harness. Buy two of 'em, and give the spare to your bride. Otherwise, she'll be using yours to shave her legs and it's surprising the amount of damage a weak female can do to a razor.

9. Just grin and say, indefinitely, "Oh, pretty soon." when you start to town at night and your wife asks you "When are you coming home?" Even if she knows you're going to behave yourself; even if she knows you're going to spend the time moving pianos, she'll ask you when you're coming home every time you leave. That's just the woman in her and you might as well know it in advance.

And 10. Remember, in the arguments, disagreements and fusses that you're bound to have if you're human, the best defense is a snappy offense! If you know your wife is going to raise hob with you about something you deserve to be scolded for, beat her to the punch! Scold her first. That will put her on the defensive and—what is more important—will change the subject!

So there you are, June grooms, with our compliments!

We hope this advance information will stand you in good stead when you need it most—when the waves run high on your Sea of Matrimony!

There's always a bright side to everything. The Nazi bomb that dropped, a dud, within six feet of U. S. Ambassador Bullitt saved him about 75 cents. He was just about to sit down to lunch when the bomb dropped, but after it hit the floor, he wasn't hungry!

That Man on Avenue Q says an optimist is a person who thinks he can spend a quiet vacation at home.

If you don't think short words are more expressive than long ones, try seeing how many cuss-words you know that are more than one syllable.

APPEARING originally in The Rotarian magazine, and recently reprinted in Readers Digest is an article by William Moulton Marston titled "Put Your Mind On The Spot." Its subject matter fits nicely onto the jigsaw pattern of every-day life in the United States today.

The article discusses human concentration, without which man cannot do anything exceedingly well. It points out that today, more than ever concentration is essential both to the full enjoyment of pleasures and to effective work, because this is an age of interruptions by phone by friends, by noise, by scares and by our own flightiness. More than ever before, work must be done under conditions which do not make for concentration, says Author Marston, yet never before in the life of man has success depended on ability to concentrate.

That the article is factual, there is no doubt.

As The Plainsman perused the article, he could not but wonder what war in Europe is costing the American nation through loss of concentration upon the every-day work at hand.

Statisticians and economists will never be able to answer that question exactly, because no group of either can effectively plumb the reactions of every person in the land.

But we all know that war talk, war scare and the actual, domestic problems arising out of Europe's war have taken American minds—collectively and individually—off the tasks and the pleasures at hand.

Although we are not actually combatants, the war has cost us plenty—not counting what we're spending and what we're going to spend on preparations, armaments, war relief, etc.

FOR the past three weeks, especially, salesmen in many lines have reported their inability to transact normal business by virtue of the fact that customers could not, or would not, given their undivided attention to their needs. And when sales fall off, so does industry supporting those sales.

Merchants testify that customers insist upon talking war with clerks, and vice versa, to the extent that it takes the shopper longer to buy, hence makes it impossible for the same number of clerks to serve the usual number of patrons per day. Further, some storekeepers are of the opinion that many patrons are buying less because they are not as alert to bargains, or even their immediate needs as they usually are. The war has done, to a greater degree, to retail business what horse racing did in the towns where the tracks were running.

In short, people aren't concentrating on their business, their needs, their pleasures.

"C'est la guerre!"

Then, of course, there are those who, fearsome of the future, have stopped making investments.

Some have even become so panicky as to avoid making purchases of materials and labor.

These people doubtless will calm down shortly, and pursue their customary way.

But the period of time in which they have purposely frozen their assets will have passed into the limbo of the past. It will never return.

FOR all these reasons, The Plainsman says the European war already has cost the nation a great deal of money—not to mention an acute case of the jitters.

Of course, we'll see a period in which industry will be stimulated because of our defense program and sales of materials to the Allies, and that will, perhaps, more than balance the losses due to the war's interference with concentration.

But the fact remains that the war has cost us money that we'll never get back, no matter how prosperous the future may be.

YESTERDAY: Rose Cornwall, a sophisticated divorcee, rents the extra room. She tells Jan she wants to use her money to join the Surf Club where she hopes to find a rich husband.

Chapter 14
The New Roomer

After dinner Norma and Lance and Frank, Derek and Jan, formed a warm, contented circle around the big stone fireplace in the living room, watching red-yellow flames lick over the driftwood. Outside it was dark and cold. The shades were down but through an open window came the salt and fish smell of the sea, the incessant boom of the surf.

Jan, sitting cross-legged on the floor, squirmed self-consciously in the flowered silk dress she'd worn home from school two years before. It was a becoming dress with ruffles about the neck and short sleeves, but she had accustomed herself so long to slacks and sweaters and shorts that she felt like a plow horse on Sunday parade. Her taffy curls, used to riotous unrestraint, balked at the confining white satin ribbon, and her usually clean, scrubbed face felt heavy with powder and lipstick. This metamorphosis, she admitted wryly to herself, was directly attributable to Rose Cornwall's advent. For Rose's groomed loveliness had made her gloomily aware of her own careless appearance. Of course Derek's evident interest in Rose had nothing to do with it — of course not!

She looked at Derek, sprawled full length beside her, his hard jaw propped on his hands, his deep eyes brooding into the fire. His long, well muscled legs protruded from beneath the robe of towelling Jan had provided until his clothes, which he had grumblingly but thoroughly scrubbed, were dry. She watched the flickering flamelight play over his lean, burned face and copper hair. How close his ears hugged his shapely head — if only she dared to reach over and run her fingers through that red thatch of hair.

"I hurt all over," he said ruefully, "but at least I've stopped smelling like a mackerel."

"How you gettin' along with Cap?" Frank asked.

"He seems to think little of my ability." Derek's tone was dry and non-committal. "Have you all met the new roomer?"

Lance stirred drowsily in his wheel chair. "No. From Jan's description I gather we've captured a bird of paradise."

They all heard the door upstairs open and shut. "Here she comes." Norma whispered excitedly. "I'm dying to see her! Do turn on a light, Jan."

"I will." Frank pulled the tasseled cord of a floor lamp.

"Oh, don't stare," Jan begged. "She's very pleasant and friendly."

No one heeded her, however, and when Rose, wearing a white flannel suit topped by a white lamb coat, a sweeping white hat pulled over her eyebrows, rounded the newel post she saw judgment awaiting her. Drawing on white gloves, holding a cigarette between her heavily roughed lips, she looked at them with evident amusement.

"Hello, everybody," she smiled, coming into the room, taking the cigarette in her fingers. "What is this, a shadow box lineup?"

"I should stand up, but I'm much too comfortable here." Derek greeted her lazily over his shoulder.

She laughed, a rich, generous, throaty laugh. "What is this? A fisherman with manners and a continental accent! You intrigue me, young man."

"I won't for long," he mocked. "I don't own a suit of clothes and I haven't a dollar."

"And I'm no fairy god-mother," she said.

Their eyes met challengingly. His said: "I suspect your game, beautiful!" Hers said: "Just what are you doing here?"

Unhappy Norma

Jan saw this interchange and misinterpreted it. Rising to her feet, she introduced Rose to the other four by the fire. Rose, exuding an aura of expensive, tantalizing perfume, stepped close and offered her hand to Lance. He looked up at her with hungry eyes.

"I'm glad you're staying here," he said. "I hope you'll come in and talk to me sometimes. It gets terribly dull."

"I will," she promised. Her glance rested a moment on Norma, flicked over Frank, passed on indifferently. "May I have a key?" she asked Jan. "I'm dining at the Club and I sincerely hope I don't come home until the wee sma' hours."

"You won't," Derek murmured, turning his face back to the fire.

When Jan handed her a key she suggested, "if you are afraid to walk over alone from the garage late at night, I'm sure Johnny will be glad to drive home with you. I told him about you when he left and suggested he might be of service."

Rose smiled her thanks and started toward the door. Just before she went out she turned and called to Derek, "Goodby, fisherman!"

"Lord, she's beautiful," Lance muttered, entranced. "I can't figure why she ever chose this place to live."

"She told me she had to choose between cheap rent and cheap clothes," Jan explained.

"Nothing cheap about her clothes," Frank remarked. "And did you get a look at those wristloads of jewelry?"

"Fakes," Derek stated.

"It'll be nice having her here," Lance went on. "Perhaps she'll take you over to the club with her occasionally, Jan. They have a marvelous pool over there."

The excited interest in his tone

OUR INCREASING INTEREST IN WAR

Not many Americans will be critical of the active government policy of making essential war materials available to the Allies. Most Americans will approve such acts as that the other day which, in roundabout fashion, will enable the Allies to buy 50 of our navy dive bombers.

Of course, the argument can be offered in support of the deal that it was a good business transaction for our navy. It delivered 50 bombers to the manufacturer, and the manufacturer agreed to deliver 50 bombers of later model to our navy. Everyone knew that the bombers were being delivered to the manufacturer so he could deliver them to the Allies. That was the purpose of the whole deal—and it is a purpose which has the approval of the majority of our people.

But, in voicing majority approval of the transaction, let's not blind ourselves to the fact that we thus are increasing the probability of our entry into the war. Today we are delivering airplanes. The next logical step will be, unless we are eternally on the alert, to provide the pilots to handle them. Along with those other "logical steps" will be the delivery first of other materials of various and sundry types, and then to provide the men to use them.

We grant that this is not a happy prospect, but it is a prospect just the same. In permitting ourselves to be fore-warned of the danger that exists, we become fore-armed against the possibility of permitting it to happen.

Today's Thought

For thou hast delivered my soul from death: Wilt thou not deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of the living?—Psalm 56-13.

AL DONAHUE tells about the musician in the night club band whose wife suddenly said: "Guests are coming for dinner, better go out and hustle some steaks" . . . . "But," he butted, "this is Sunday, no butchers are open!" . . . "That's your problem," she told him, "hurry up."

After an hour of searching for a butcher shop he found one, with shades drawn. He rapped on the door. Finally, someone opened it, and Our Hero noticed five butchers chopping meat madly . . . "We're closed!" growled the man at the door, "come around when we're open. This is our day off!"

"But," pleaded the musician, "give me a break, please. I've got to bring back some meat—you're all working, anyhow!"

"We ain't working," was the retort, "we're having a jam session!"

The Yale boys dropped back stage at M. Todd's Music Hall (at the Fair) to inform Gypsy Rose Lee that Ann Sheridan had placed first and that she had placed 2nd in the Yale men's annual popularity poll.

WINCHELL

"What do you think of Sheridan?" they asked Gypsy.

"I think," she stiffly replied, "he was a swell General" . . . Leave it to the column's favorite heroine, Mrs. Mefoofsky, to be indifferent to Mr. Hitler and all the other Nazis.

Mrs. M. and some pals were discussing the war, but she seemed uninterested. "How can you be like dis?" they asked her. "What weel heppen ven Heetler vins de wurr and he comes over here—hah?"

"So vot?" replied Mrs. Mefoofsky. "I'll chench my name!"

ROURKE MacCormack says he actually heard the argument in a restaurant between two waiters. One, a German, was taunting a French co-worker about the Nazis' success "Look how great the German army is," he loud-mouthed, "they could capture hell itself!"

"Why not?" replied the Frenchman, "look at the tremendous Fifth Column they'd have!"

War talk took the floor last night at the Ruban Bleu. "All this talk about America ever being in danger of getting into a war," grumbled one ringsider, "is just a fairy story" . . . "Yes," replied another grimly, "and the fairy story begins: Once upon a time there were six countries. Their names were: Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Denmark, Norway, Holland and Belgium!"

MENU Mentions: The chile con carne at the two by four counter (El Rancho) at 7th Avenue and 47th. Ask for rice . . . The tops in chow-mein: Far Low's at 23 Pell Street. Without rice. You can't get a seat late Saturday night . . . . The tastiest shrimp cocktail: Paul's at Nostrand and Flatbush Avenues, B'klyn. Ditto lobster, ersters, etc. . . . Not many competitors can make the New Orleans gin fizz better or even as good as the Gold Rail at 111th and Broadway (best mixed drinks uptown) . . . For plank steaks in the Broadway area: Pat's Chop House at 48th, between B'way and 6th, where the actors show up for lunch at 4 o'clock . . . American food at its best: Canary Cottage, 8th Street at 6th Avenue, Greenwich Village. Canaries are chirping entertainers and the waitresses rival the uptown choruses . . . For big time malted milks try Irving's Delicatessen on 44th between B'way and 6th . . . . It is the headquarters for cab drivers, storekeepers, stagehands, etc . . . The waiters are as hard to understand as the spaghetti is delicious at the Balilla, Bleecker near East Broadway . . . For Italian egg plant with Parmesan cheese, try Del Pezzo, 89th Street and 6th Ave. . . If it's French food you have a yen for, try the Champlain, where onion soup is a specialty . . . Leonello's at 330 West 45th: Better food than at the Italian Pavilion, according to many. The kitchen is glass enclosed so the patrons can be awed by its cleanliness.

A Japanese newspaperman was asked why there is an office in New York City called: "The Imperial Japanese Army" . . . He smiled and replied: "Buying and Spying" . . . A Commy official in Greenwich Village boasts: "We have most of the census information for New York City" . . . Unemployed sailors around the San Francisco shipyards are being asked if they can handle machine guns . . . An unchecked rumor is that FDR is supposed to have appointed Carl Byoir to a board of five men in event of war. To handle publicity and propaganda! . . . A messenger boy reports that he saw this sign in Byoir's office on Monday: "Winchell For President!" . . . This is how the working press feels about Hitler: A city editor left a message for the man coming in to relieve him. It read: "You'll find an obituary on Hitler on the desk spike. Hope you have the opportunity to use it."

Three Men on a Horse

Oklahoma's Senator Lee Looks Toward Pay Day For Armame

New U. S. Tax Bill May Be Only A Starter

By BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The new defense tax bill which Congress will pass presently is only a starter. Unless both the war and the war scare end very soon — which nobody here expects —something ever so much more drastic will get put together.

When that starts to happen —and you can expect it early next session — there will be renewed agitation for two measures which would be highly unwelcome to most of the business community. These are:

1—A sharp excess profits tax.

2—An amendment to prevent the further issuances of tax exempt bonds.

Right at the moment nobody much is talking for either of these propositions except Senator Josh Lee of Oklahoma, who is something like a voice crying in the wilderness; furthermore, to date his talking has not converted any great number of his colleagues.

The thing to remember, however, is that Senator Lee's ideas along this line are a great deal like the ideas of such close-to-the-vest brain trusters as Jerome Frank, Leon Henderson, et al. By the next session, therefore, he just might have some hefty allies.

Would Knock Big Profits

Senator Lee's big complaint is that we are right back where we were before the last war as far as the tax structure goes. The last war, he says, made a lot of millionaires and also a lot of poor people get stuck with Liberty bonds on which they took losses, and he wants a change.

He proposes to knock off some of the profits with the excess profits bill which has been slumbering in committee ever since 50-odd senators sponsored it, and then forgot it, a year ago. He'd start on the bond situation by removing the tax-exempt feature on all war-time issues.

That would just begin it. Half of the incentive to draw capital into war bonds would vanish if they weren't tax exempt. Raising interest rates to make up for that lost incentive could go only about so far; what would have to come after that, in Senator Lee's opinion, is a draft on capital. And he's ready with a bill which would do just that.

Out Of Savings

Under Lee's bill, the government would make an inventory of every citizen's property, both real and personal, at the same time it compiled its lists for selective service.

Catton

Citizens would be classed in different property-level groupings much as the income tax law classes them in income groupings. Bonds would be issued to finance the war —and the amount which persons in each class would have to buy would be laid down by the treasury.

The bonds would pay probably one per cent interest, and the money raised by the excess profits tax would be used to retire them.

U. S. Now Virtually Cut Off From All Of Eur

Neutrality Act Gets Extension

BY HOBART C. MONTEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 11—The United States today was about to be cut off from virtually all of Europe, so far as travel and shipping was concerned, as a result of Italy's entrance into the war.

One and one-half hours after he returned from Charlottesville, Va., last night, where he accused Italian Premier Benito Mussolini of stabbing a neighbor in the back, President Roosevelt invoked the neutrality law against Italy.

Zone Not Extended

The three proclamations and an executive order issued shortly before midnight did not extend the combat zone now surrounding all of northern Europe, to the Mediterranean, but most authorities believed that Mr. Roosevelt would take that action within a few days. It would cut off the only remaining regular freight and passenger route to Europe for American steamships.

The provisions of the neutrality act which were invoked proclaimed Italy a belligerent, banned Italian submarines from United States ports and territorial waters, forbade Americans to travel on Italian ships and issued regulations designed to safeguard American interests in potential theaters of war.

To Be Nearly Isolated

When the combat zone is extended to the waters surrounding Italy, the United States—and for all practical purposes the western hemisphere—will be nearly as isolated from Europe as if Europe were another planet. If all of the Mediterranean is proscribed to American shipping, communications — cable and radio—and one regular airplane line will be our only "contact" with the old world.

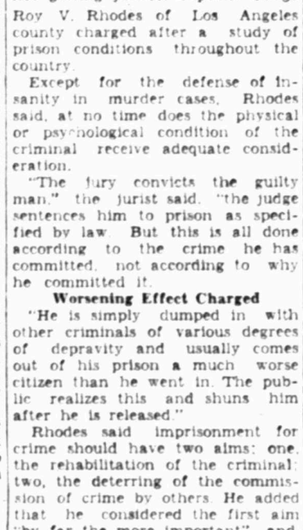

Canada, the only belligerent in the western hemisphere, will be the one exception to the American nations maintaining close transportation ties to Europe. The Central and South American countries have virtually no ships in the trans-Atlantic trade.

It appeared likely that Pan American Airways would be the sole remaining American transportation company maintaining passenger and mail service to Europe. Its European terminus is at Lisbon, Portugal, and it was unlikely that that nation's west coast would be proscribed at this time.

There was a possibility that one or more shipping lines might seek to maintain a steamship service to Portugal and such ports of Spain as lie without the combat zones.

OATS DOING WELL

TULIA—Swisher county's oat crop this year is the best in 20 years, old timers state. Acreage is larger than usual, due to the fact that some abandoned wheat land was later put into oats. Yield is expected to be high.

HEADS U. S. NAVY IN EUROPE—Rear Admiral David Le Breton, after completing studies at the Naval War College, Newport, R. I., was appointed commander of the special squadron of U. S. cruisers and destroyers in European waters.

Prison System Lacks Justice

LOS ANGELES (June 11 (U.P.)—Criminals in the United States are not getting justice, Superior Judge Roy V. Rhodes of Los Angeles county charged after a study of prison conditions throughout the country.

Except for the defense of insanity in murder cases, Rhodes said, at no time does the physical or psychological condition of the criminal receive adequate consideration.

"The jury convicts the guilty man," the jurist said, "the judge sentences him to prison as specified by law. But this is all done according to the crime he has committed, not according to why he committed it."

Worsening Effect Charged

"He is simply dumped in with other criminals of various degrees of depravity and usually comes out of his prison a much worse citizen than he went in. The public realizes this and shuns him after he is released."

Rhodes said imprisonment for crime should have two aims: one, the rehabilitation of the criminal; two, the deterring of the commission of crime by others. He added that he considered the first aim "by far the more important" and, at the same time, the more neglected.

Rhodes said he favored the establishment of psychiatric and psychological clinics" do determine scientifically and treat the real causes of crime." The physical, mental, emotional makeup and the social environment of the criminal should be studied before he is cast into prison, Rhodes asserted.

The Los Angeles jurist said he has conferred with judges and lawyers throughout California and he is seriously considering putting the problem before the State Bar Association with the hope of having the association formulate a committee to study and report on the rehabilitation problem.
