Tornado Season Near; Precaution Advised

With the tornadoes that slammed into Kentucky and several other states Monday fresh in the minds of everyone, it would appear to be a very good time to issue several precautions that may help you and yours stay alive and well through the upcoming tornado season.

"Usually, Bailey County Civil Defense spotters, along with spotters from the Muleshoe Fire Department and local law enforcement agencies, are called out several times during the spring to help watch for potential storms brewing in this area," said Cleve Bland, Bailey County Civil Defense Coordinator.

Although Muleshoe has escaped a severely damaging tornado for more than 30 years, the potential is still there, each spring. In southwest Bailey County, the Three Way School was severely damaged, as well as teacher dwellings to the south side of the school, in a tornado that dipped down there several years ago.

When a tornado dips down, and very often without much warning, homes, businesses, schools, churches and people are in danger of minimal to total destruction and injury.

In recent years, the National Weather Service has obtained more sophisticated equipment that helps spot potential 'trouble spots,' much earlier and provide a little more assurance to residents who may be in the path of a squall-line, front, or storm line.

Tornadoes are the most violent of all atmospheric events and usually occur in the spring.

An average of 110 deaths and thousands of injuries are blamed on tornadoes in the U.S. every year. They may form at anytime of the year -- day or night -- and some 700 to 1,200 tornadoes are spotted each year across the nation.

April, May and June are usually the 'peak' months for tornado activity, although tornadoes have been reported in the U.S. during each and every month, and each and every state in the nation. However, some 80 percent of the tornadoes are reported during the three spring months.

Tornadoes are said to form when warm moist air from the Gulf of Mexico streams north and collides with cold polar air coming out of the central plains states and warm dry air heading northeastward off the Mexican Plateau.

The three-way collision and strong daytime heating makes conditions ideal for tornadoes to form.

The tornadic thunderstorm is usually separated, or isolated, from other thunderstorms, allowing the 'cell' to feed on warm moist air that is pushed upward into the turbulent thunderstorm and transformed into a funnel cloud. When the funnel cloud reaches the earth, it is classified as a tornado according to NWS.

When conditions are favorable for the formation of tornadoes, a NWS tornado watch is issued. The watch is generally issued for an area 80 to 160 miles wide and from 250 to 500 miles long, and is valid for up to six hours.

If human ground spotters or weather service radar detect a funnel cloud, a tornado warning is immediately issued for the county or counties concerned. The warning is generally in effect for one hour, and those in Fees for youth baseball include: T-ball, $15; Minor league, $15; Major league (Bronco), $17.50; Babe Ruth, $20 and Girls' Softball, $15.

Youth Baseball officials said please know the child's T-shirt size, and not designate by small, medium or large. They will need the 'number' size.

Also required will be a copy of the birth certificate for first year players.

Anyone interested in coaching is also asked to be at the Civic Center Friday night. More coaches are needed to start the season.

City Meet Short Before Executive Session Begins

Muleshoe's City Council met only for a matter of a few minutes Tuesday morning in regular session to take care of a couple of items of routine business before going into executive session with City Attorney Mike Caldwell.

In regular session, following approval of the minutes of the previous meeting, council members voted to transfer $729.93 in delinquent water bills to bad debts and briefly discussed the possible funding of a new airport for Muleshoe. Funds have been allocated, but the allocation is subject to final approval, perhaps in July, according to Earl Cook.

If the funds are granted, groundwork at the airport site will begin in the Spring of 1987, explained Muleshoe City Manager Dave Marr.

No action followed the executive session, which was "to discuss the possible acquisition of water rights."

Chapter I Program Wins Top State Honor

Muleshoe ISD has been notified from the Texas Education Agency that the Chapter I Migrant Tutoring Program at Watson Junior High School has been nominated as one of the outstanding Chapter I Programs in the State of Texas. The nomination has been submitted to the U.S. office of Education for consideration as one of the outstanding programs in the United States.

Some of the attributes exemplified by outstanding programs are -- parent and community involvement, strong leadership, high expectations for student learning and behavior and maximum use of academic learning time.

Overall goals of the Chapter I Migrant Tutoring Program at Watson Junior High are said to be aimed at helping the eligible students "learn to learn." Sue Espinoza is the teacher responsible for this program and she is assisted by Matilda Reyna and Anita Gardea, teacher aides. The midmanagement leadership for this program is provided by Fred Mardis, principal, with Central Administration guidance provided by Georgia Pena.

Approximately 100 students have been helped with their study skills so that they might be able to learn and succeed in school without Migrant Tutorial

Senator Bill Sarpalius

Sudan Banquet Speaker

"What you give of yourself for God and for others is all that has any meaning," was the conclusion of a speech by Senator Bill Sarpalius at Sudan o: Saturday night.

He was keynote speaker for the annual Chamber of Commerce awards banquet at the Sudan High School cafeteria. Accompanied by his wife, Donna, and son, David.

US84 Bridge Construction Is Beginning

Southbound traffic on U.S. 84 in Littlefield will be detoured to the west frontage road at FM54 beginning yesterday (Wednesday) and will be subject to a four-way stop at the intersection of the frontage road and FM54, according to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

The detour, which will be in effect for about two months, is needed during construction on the US 84 bridges over FM54, explained Randall Dillard, Public Affairs officer for SDHPT.

He said, "A four-way stop sign system will also go up Wednesday at the east frontage road at FM54, however northbound US84 traffic will not be switched to the frontage road for a few weeks," and motorists are asked to use caution, and observe stop signs and warning signs in the construction area."

"We know the detour and stop signs may be an inconvenience to the traveling public," said Rhea Bradley, highway resident engineer, "but, it's the safety way to handle traffic during the bridge construction."

"During the inconvenience we ask motorists to think about the benefits once the construction project is finished."

Highway officials say the section of US 84 construction has not been reconstructed since it was built 20 years ago because of lack of highway funds. Improved highway funding, the result of an increase in the motor vehicle fuel tax and vehicle registration fees, is allowing the state to fund the project.

Sarpalius had the entire audience silent during his speech, which centered around the theme of the banquet, "Texas: 150 Years of Progress."

Sen. Sarpalius said that when the original 13 colonies met to form a constitution, they fought and complained for three days, and at the end of their third day, called for an election. "When someone said they had not prayed at all, they followed with a prayer; after which time the group drafted the strongest form of government ever known -- the constitution," said the Senator.

He emphasized over and over, "We have so much to be thankful for -- and we take so much for granted." Sen. Sarpalius told of growing up at Boys Ranch, along with his two brothers, who are ministers today. He told of his background and how he became involved in politics -- and suggested how in America, this is possible.

"Look at what Texas stands for," he added, "it is the only state that won its independence separately. The Alamo is known throughout the world. We have the second lowest tax rate in the U.S. We have the best highways, the best schools and the best universities."

He also commented, "We have always wanted to be the best in Texas. At the time the state capitol was built, it was

Balancing Work And Home

Employed women with families commonly experience conflict and stress over childcare arrangements and household tasks, says home economist Mary Clayton Nance.

While the problem of balancing the demands of a job and home is not easily solved, advance planning can reduce some of the stress, says the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX) specialist.

To avoid being thrown into a turnmoil if a babysitter moves or a child gets sick, plan for backup child care before an emergency arises, Nance advises. A good back-up plan will require a list of several people -- relatives, neighbors, friends or professional sitters, who could be called on in a particular situation.

Check the school calendar or call the school to find out in advance about important day-time school activities, such as parent-teacher conferences or the class play. Often you can arrange a parent-teacher conference after work hours.

But for special events you may wish to take paid vacation hours or make arrangements to work overtime as compensation for the time taken to attend these events. If your work record is free of tardies, it may be easier to request an hour or two off to attend a school event, notes the TAEX home economist.

Working women who do not have the flexibility to take off work time for a daytime school event, can make it a point to attend parent-teacher association meetings and special events held in the evening.

Nance also suggests having a plan to keep from being overwhelmed by children, husband or meal preparation the minute you walk in the door. Discuss with them what can be done to give you 15 to 20 minutes of time to relax.

You may need to lie down for a few minutes, do some exercises or just have some quiet time before starting dinner and listening to all the happenings of the day.

Fitness Center Holds Parents Day

March 3-7 was "Parent Day" for the tumbling program at Muleshoe Fitness Center. Parents are encouraged to drop in anytime but the first week every two months is designated as official Parent Day.

Parents attending this special workout were entertained by their own children showing off specific tumbling skills. And some parents, Cindy Purdy, Jo Ellen Cowart, Marca Morris, Sue Johnson, Donna and Ruth Locker were entertained in their own right as they participated during the tumbling class.

Ricki Kelley, instructor, stressed the importance of a stretching and warm up before each workout. She also discussed correct form and technique of each tumbling skill, body awareness and safety rules in the gym. The children in each class, ages two years through 16 years also demonstrated trampoline and balance beam skills. Also discussed was the Summer Tumbling schedule.

Other parents and friends attending the special workouts throughout the week were:

NEARLY 500 AUTO LICENSE ISSUED IN THIS CO.
Nearly 500 automobile Driver's License had been issued up to the first of this week by members of the Tax Collectors office, which is probably less than half the total number to be issued before the end of March. There have also been issued about 45 passenger car license and a few for trucks, which plates may be placed on the car any time now, according to a recent ruling of the State Highway Department. While the drivers license cost nothing, yet both drivers and auto licenses must be purchased before April 1, according to law, or pay a penalty afterwards for such delinquency. For the benefit of those who haven't yet procured their drivers license they are advised it is a yellow slip of paper looking more like a round trip ticket to California than anything else. Divided into three parts, the two lower sections are coupons to be filled out in case the owner is convicted of any driving violation by the courts, three of which means taking away the driving privilege.

The license must always be carried by the person when driving. Some drivers leave them in the car pocket while others are securing small metal or leather cases in which they are placed and either fastened to the instrument board of their car or strapped to the steering wheel post.

Elementary PTA Hears Child Abuse Program

Ken Barrett, a clinical social worker, now with the Texas Department of Human Services presented a Child Abuse program at the Muleshoe Elementary School PTA meeting Monday night.

"Most people think this doesn't happen here but there is some cases in Bailey County," said Barrett. "Approximately 100 cases, or child abused children, were reported and checked out in Bailey County last year, with approximately a half of these being proved to be child abuse. We don't think that is all of the children being abused because I don't think the doctors report those they see. Some of the children who have been abused have been treated in the doctors offices. Most of our reports come from the schools or neighbors."

"Battering children is a criminal offense. If you suspect a case of child abuse and don't report it, it is a misdemeanor and punishable by a $1,000 fine or six months in jail. The state requires (DHR) Department of Human Resources to investigate all reported cases. All records are kept confidential."

"I believe immaturity and unreal expectations are the real reason for most child abuse. And in working with and education the parents we can prevent child abuse. A child must depend on the community for help."

Slides and a film on child abuse were shown and Polly Ottwell, a member of the Bailey County Child Welfare Board, gave a brief report on the Bailey County Board.

The Bailey County Child Welfare Board has two fund raisers per year, one of these is the auction scheduled for April 12. Any items donated for this auction would be appreciated, stated Mrs. Ottwell. All of the money taken in is used in Bailey County.

She stated that of the approximately 50 cases of child abuse in Bailey County last year there were three cases of sexual abuse. Once a report has been checked out and child abuse is proven a child must be taken to either Amarillo or Lubbock as Bailey County does not have an emergency center. Bailey County Children are not generally placed in the county.

Bailey County now has five registered and licensed foster homes. Mrs. Ottwell stated that more are needed.

The present Bailey County Board includes: Dr. Tom Bonds, Troy Stegemoeller, Barbara Bush, Barry Bradley, Valorie Dodd, Dan Throckmorton, Pat Prather and Polly Ottwell. Board members must be voted on and approved by the commissioners court.

The county sends one of the board members and the state one to a workshop held in Austin each year. The workshop is on how to help children.

Child abuse may be reported to 385-6481, the office in Littlefield. This is a toll call and you may call collect at any time day or night. Child abuse may also be reported to the Department of Human Resources in Muleshoe and they will contact Littlefield.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS

CAN LOWER THE PROPERTY TAXES ON YOUR HOME

A homestead exemption lowers the property taxes on your home by lowering its taxable value. For example, if your home is valued at $50,000 and you receive a $5,000 homestead exemption, your home will be taxed as if it were worth only $45,000.

You qualify for a homestead exemption if you owned your home on January 1 and used it as your primary residence on January 1. It doesn't matter whether your home is a house, a condominium or a mobile home.

Exemptions are available to all homeowners on their school taxes. Additional exemptions are available to homeowners who are disabled or age 65 and over. Other exemptions may be offered to homeowners by school districts, counties, cities, and special districts. All taxing units offer exemptions to disabled veterans.

Apply to your local appraisal district office at the address shown below for all exemptions you may qualify for. Application forms are available at this office.

If you received a homestead exemption on your present home in 1985, you won't need to apply again for 1986 unless the chief appraiser requires you to reapply.

However, if you passed your 65th birthday or became disabled before January 1, file a new application to receive the additional exemptions.

If you haven't received an exemption on your present home, or if you've moved to a new home, make a new application for 1986.

The deadline for applications is April 30, 1986. Contact your appraisal district before then if you need more time.

For more information, get a free copy of the pamphlet, Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities, at your appraisal district office or from the State Property Tax Board in Austin.

When a tornado touches down, NWS officials advise taking shelter in strong shelters.

*In schools, nursing homes, hospitals, factories and businesses, go to pre-designated shelter areas. Interior halls on the lowest floor are usually best.

*In homes, take shelter in basements under sturdy structures such as heavy duty work benches, pool tables or staircases. If there is no basement, take cover in a bathroom or an interior closet. Do not use closets that do not have an inside latch or door handle.

*In a mobile home, or vehicles, leave them and go to a substantial shelter. If none is available, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine or culvert with hands shielding the head. Be aware of flash flooding.

*Do not call law enforcement agencies except to report funnel clouds, damage or injuries. All emergency departments will already have their hands full

PROPERTY TAX RENDITIONS

HELP YOU PROTECT YOUR RIGHTS AS A TAXPAYER

A rendition is a report to the appraisal district that lists all the taxable property you own or control on January 1, 1986. You may also give your opinion of the property's value, if you wish.

You must file a rendition if you own tangible personal property used to produce income--such as the machinery and equipment used by a business.

The appraisal district may require any taxpayer to file a rendition by sending the taxpayer a written notice and a rendition form.

You may want to file a rendition, even if you aren't required to file, to preserve some of your rights as a taxpayer:

- You put your correct mailing address on record so your tax bills will go to the right address. Even if your bill goes to the wrong address, the law still holds you responsible for paying your taxes on time or else paying extra charges for late payments.
- You can put your own opinion of your property's value on record. If the appraisal district then places a higher value on your property, it must notify you in writing of the higher value and explain how you can protest that value to the appraisal review board.

● By filing a special type of rendition called a report of decreased value, you can notify the appraisal district of significant damage to your property that occurred in 1985. The district will send someone to verify the damage and take it into account when assigning a 1986 value to your property.

File renditions with your local appraisal district at the address shown below. Forms are available at this office.

The new deadline for 1986 renditions is March 31. You can get an extra 30 days if you ask for it in writing before the March 31 deadline.

For more information, get a free copy of the pamphlet, Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities, at your appraisal district office or from the State Property Tax Board in Austin.

Farming requires multi-skills

Today, successful farming requires immense knowledge and management skill from American agribusinessmen and women.

The three basic "inputs" for agricultural production are land, labor and capital.

Land is no longer the major production tool. The productivity of the land now depends upon the skill and knowledge with which capital is applied -- the use of mechanical power and machinery, fertilizer, lime, better seed, pest control chemicals, and the technology applied to conserve and enhance the land while in productive use.

The total volume of all resources used in agriculture -- land, labor, machinery, and supplies -- has changed little since 1955.

The composition of inputs, however, has changed drastically as farmers have struggled to be more productive and more efficient. Farm labor inputs have declined rapidly; farm real estate has remained relatively constant. All other inputs, chiefly purchased, have increased rapidly. Purchased inputs are nearly 64 percent greater than in 1955; nonpurchased inputs have declined 40 percent.

The management of these inputs and resources demands increasing skill and knowledge from U.S. farmers. Farming today is a very complex business.

Ag industry big employer

American agriculture employs more workers than any manufacturing industry. Only government and the construction, trade, finance and service industries employ more people than agriculture, and agriculture's role as a purchaser of inputs or supplier of its output looms large in several of those.

Food processing, of course, is highly related to agriculture, as are textiles, transportation and trade -- all users or marketers of agriculture's output. Also, agriculture is an important customer of the chemical, machinery, finance, real estate, and service industries.

U.S. agriculture

Heartbeat of America's economy

At the time of the American Revolution the United States was almost totally agrarian. Ninety percent of our population was engaged in farming and 60 percent of income went for food. Almost all our exports were agricultural products, and the basic structure of society depended on the agrarian economy.

Through time the U.S. agricultural system has produced an increasing abundance of food and fiber, using relatively fewer resources. The unparalleled productivity gains in American agriculture have resulted in a broader choice of nutritious food available for a declining portion of income.

Today Americans spend less than 17 percent of family income on food. Only 3 percent of our labor force is engaged directly in farming. And agricultural products now account for only about 20 percent of total exports. The importance of farming seems to have diminished. But it would be erroneous to conclude that agriculture is no longer vitally important to our economy. The food and agricultural sector -- as a source of productivity gains, a user of resources, and a source of employment -- remains large and important by any standard.

Increased agricultural productivity, the rise in output per unit of input, has been a major contributor to improved living standards for Americans. Where just 10 years ago one farm worker supplied food and fiber for 47 people, he now supplies enough for 78, up from a mere seven persons at the beginning of this century. Total agricultural output has more than doubled in the past 50 years, though the agricultural land base has not substantially changed.

These increases in agricultural productivity have contributed to the domestic economy by enabling consumers to upgrade their diets at lower cost while simultaneously expanding their consumption of non-food items. At the same time increased productivity has facilitated the transfer of production workers from agriculture into industrial and service industries, expanding the supply of nonfood goods and services, and enabling our economy to meet the new demands of consumers.

The great strides in productivity have been accompanied by major changes in the input mix. From the earliest periods of American history hand power gave way to horsepower then to mechanical power, and ultimately to "science power." New technologies introduced over the past 50 years have resulted in a nearly fifteenfold increase in fertilizer use, a fivefold increase in tractor numbers, and a tenfold increase in tractor horsepower used in farming. Purchased inputs are 2.6 times their 1930 levels and farm labor input only 30 percent of 1930 levels. Farms are larger and significantly more dependent on capital and purchases from the nonfarm economy.

As farming has come to rely more on purchased inputs and less on inputs supplied on the farm, the sector has become more fully integrated with the general economy. Consequently, farming is influenced by and has an influence on the same factors that determine conditions in the general economy.

Annual Ag Day salutes farmers

Thursday, March 20, is AGRICULTURE Day in the United States. Each year, the Agriculture Council Of American Education Committee designates the first day of Spring as a special day to salute the nation's producers of food and fiber.

American farmers and stockmen deserve this special recognition for they make an immense contribution to our country's economic prosperity and the high standard of living enjoyed by Americans.

Any way you cut it, farmers are important to the U.S. and its citizens. Here are a few reasons why:

- Agriculture employs more workers than any manufacturing industry. The flow of farm products -- in addition to related dollar purchases and expenditures -- requires the services of nearly 23 million people, a full 20 percent of the labor force throughout the U.S. economy.
- Annually, farm operators spend about $131 billion for goods and services to produce crops and livestock. Hence, farmers are important consumers as well as producers.
- American farmers today produce over 76 percent more crop output on the same number of acres than did their fathers. One farmworker now supplies enough food and fiber for 78 people. Only 10 years ago, the farmworker was producing enough for 47.
- The increased productivity and efficiency of American agriculture has contributed largely to a higher standard of living. Today Americans spend less than 17 percent of family income for food compared to 28 percent in 1930.
- Agricultural exports totalled $38 billion in 1984 and generated $80 billion of economic activity in the U.S. economy.

Consumers benefit from farm efficiency

American farmers are efficient producers, a key fact that translates into more buying power for the consumer.

American farmers today produce over 76 percent more crop output on the same number of acres than did their fathers. Today, one hour of farm labor produces 14 times as much food and other crops as it did in the 1919-21 period.

One farmworker now supplies enough food and fiber for 78 people. Only 10 years ago, the farmworker was producing enough for 47.

Because of the farmer's efficient output, we can enjoy a satisfying quantity and variety of food.

And despite recent rises in food prices, family income buys considerably more food today than 30 years ago, partly because agriculture has become much more efficient and partly because consumer incomes have risen faster than food prices.

The tremendous productivity and efficiency in the U.S. food and fiber system also equates to lower food prices for American consumers than others throughout the world.

Farmers are consumers, too

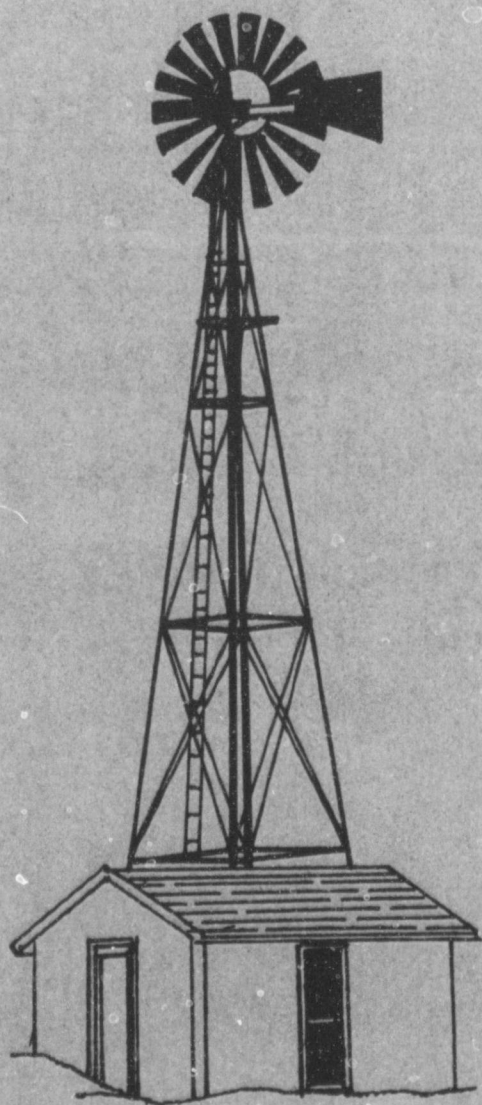

Like everyone else, the American farmer is a consumer as well as a producer. And farmer purchases to support production agriculture alone significantly impact the nation's economy.

Annually, farm operators spend about $131 billion for goods and services to produce crops and livestock.

Farmer's annual purchases include:

- $13.2 billion for farm tractors and other motor vehicles, machinery and equipment. About 150,000 employees are required to produce farm equipment alone.
- $16.4 billion for fuel, lubricants, and maintenance for machinery and motor vehicles used in the farm business. Farming uses more petroleum than any other single industry.
- $22.4 billion for feed and seed.
- $8.9 billion for fertilizer and lime.
- Products containing 360 million pounds of rubber -- about 5 percent of the total used in the United States, or enough to put tires on nearly 7 million automobiles.

Letter To The Editor

Letter to the Editor:

I would like to take this time to personally thank each & everyone of the parents that showed up for our second baseball meeting of the year. People, we have somewhere between 300 to 400 kids that go out for Muleshoe Youth Baseball each year, and for both of these meetings we had a total of 8 people for each meeting. These 8 people by the way, were the exact same people at each meeting, and out of these 8 people there were only 6 families represented. Now I know that there are many other things going on at this time and its hard to make it to everything. But people we need to get this baseball season going and we need some help. So people lets get in there and show some interest. I also know that out of 300 to 400 kids we should have more than 6 families represented. So lets pull together and help make our baseball program one that we'll be proud of. We have sign ups for Baseball & Softball this Friday night the 21st at the Civic Center. At the same time from 7 to 9 o'clock Muleshoe Youth Baseball will be sponsoring the skating out there the cost for skating will be $1.00 each, so come sign up for ball & skate. Our next meeting will be on April the 3rd. The time and place will be announced on Channel 6, KMUL, and also will be put in the Muleshoe Journal. So be watching & listening so we'll be able to make this the best season ever. And people get involved!

Sincerely,
Veldon Wallace

Honor Students

The faculty's choices for March students of the month were chosen for their academic abilities and all-around participation in school activities. Lisa Noble, freshman student, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Nobel. Lisa is currently enrolled in a variety of courses and enjoys a variety of hobbies such as running, writing, dancing, and singing for church. She participates in track and field events, cross-country, and is president of the freshman class. Her future plans include the desire to get a track scholarship and attend UT at Austin. She stated, "I would then like to see how far my ability would take me as a career. Yosemite Sam is her favorite cartoon character, and her favorite musician is Amy Grant."

Richard Muyschondt, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Muyschondt, is the sophomore student of the month. His hobbies are swimming, computer, and he is very active in band. Lionel Richie is his favorite musician, and he likes the cartoon character coyote on the Road Runner because he is always finding new ways to catch the Road Runner. Richard stated that his most embarrassing moment was "When I was in the first grade. I fell in a water puddle while we were playing tag. I was soaked! Everybody laughed at me."

Melissa Martel, junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Martin. Melissa enjoys volleyball and bike riding. When asked what she would like to change about school, Melissa commented that she would like to change the popularity competition among students. Melissa enjoys collecting bears and stickers of all kinds and being with her friends. She was terribly embarrassed when, on the first day of attendance at junior high, she fell down the stairs. Melissa plans to enter a nearby college and study to become an orthodontist.

Mike Holt, the senior student of the month, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Holt. Mike enjoys playing all sports and he plans to attend Texas Tech. Congratulations go out to all of these students for their outstanding accomplishments.

DECA Wins First With '85 Project

Muleshoe High School DECA students attended the 1986 Career Development Conference in Houston on March 13-16. They returned as a state winner in the Civic Consciousness Chapter Project which qualifies them for national competition in Atlanta, Georgia, April 23-27.

The Civic Consciousness Project consists of a written manual describing the business organization and evaluation principles used in carrying out the chapters civic projects for the year. This year's projects for Muleshoe High School DECA were the Harlem Thrillers/Spina Bifida Basketball game and the Meals on Wheels promotion.

Congratulations to all DECA students for their work on the chapter project. Co-chairpersons for the written event were: Yolanda Garcia and Sylvia Posadas. Other students attending the conference in Houston were Noemi Acosta and Beatriz Garcia. They attended as voting delegates, selected by accumulating DECA points for participation in local activities, meetings, and projects. DECA-Developing Future Leaders for Marketing and Distribution.

Much time and effort is spent working after school every day in order to help the students to continue to excel and improve. We are very proud of the outstanding job they are doing, and for representing M.H.S.

CONGRATULATIONS!!!

Reagan says #1 threat to agriculture is foreign trade barriers.

Every year, Muleshoe High School students choose the young man and young woman they wish to honor as MR. AND MRS. MHS. This dubious honor is a school wide selection with every student having a vote in the decisions. This years recipients are Juanita Garcia and Andy Copley. Juanita is a senior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lino Garcia. Juanita serves as parliamentarian in the Student Council, parliamentarian of the senior class, she is a member of SCAC, FTA, FCA and she runs track and cross country. As hobbies, Juanita enjoys running, spending money, watching the Cosby Show, listening to the radio and attending church with Michael Del Toro. Juanita would really love MHS if it had windows. Other honors that Juanita won this year include, Princess of Friendship, and senior class favorite and Best All Around.

Andy Copley was selected as MR. MHS. Don and Diane Copley are the parents of Andy Copley. He participated in basketball and was selected to the First team all-District Basketball. As hobbies, Andy enjoys playing basketball and attending sporting events. Andy plans to attend college but he is not sure where he will attend. He has been talking to Dallas Baptist University about a basketball scholarship but he has not received any word. Andy also won first runnerup in the Prince of Friendship and Senior Class favorite.

Jo Ann Guitierrez

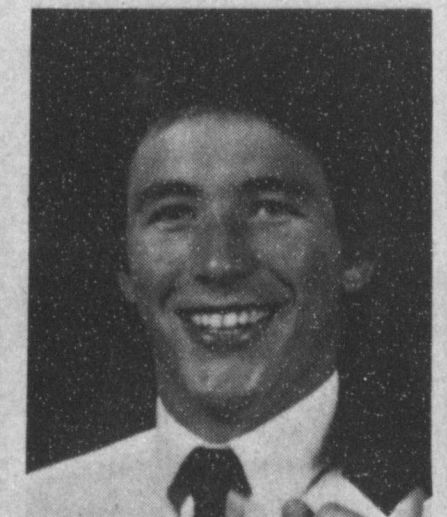

Teachers voted on Best All Around and Best Citizens. Selected as Best All Around were Juanita Garcia and Mike Holt. Mike is the son of Ronnie and Sue Holt. Mike is very active in FTA, FCA, FFA, NHS, and he plays football and basketball. Mike enjoys all sports in his spare time. George Strait stands out as Mike's favorite musician and Snoopy is his favorite cartoon character because he takes life easy. After graduation, Mike plans to attend Texas Tech University.

Selected as Best Citizen were Leslie Langfitt and Rod Muyschondt. Leslie is a senior and the daughter of Herb and Pat Langfitt. Leslie is very active in debate, student council, she serves as reporter of the senior class, reporter of 4-H, annual co-editor and is a member of the 4-H culture exchange. In her spare time, Leslie likes to ride horses, write and listen to George Strait. Leslie feels that the "reform" bills should be reformed. Future plans for Leslie include attending Sul Ross University and majoring in either business or some aspect of the social sciences. After she receives her degree, she wants to travel. Rodrigo Muyschondt is the son of Dr. & Mrs. Enrique Muyschondt and has lived in Muleshoe for four years. Rod enjoys watching t.v., bicycling, and working with a computer. He wishes that Muleshoe High School would allow the seniors to have a senior day. Julio Iglesias is his favorite musician and Garfield is his favorite cartoon character. After graduation, Rod plans to attend Texas Tech University and major in mechanical engineering.

Class favorites were also selected recently. Senior favorites include Juanita Garcia and Andy Copley. Students selected as Junior class favorites include Leah Bell and Lance King. Lance is the son of Max and Pat King. He serves as FTA president, participates in the One Act Play, runs track and is a member of SCAC. As hobbies, Lance enjoys skiing, golf, hunting, and having a good time. Yosemite Sam is the funniest cartoon character Lance knows because he likes the way he shoots his guns when he gets mad.

Sophomore class favorites include Jennifer Green and Armando Del Toro. Jennifer is the daughter of Ben and Bonnie Green. Jennifer runs track, is a member of the One Act Play, serves as sophomore class vice-president and is involved in U.I.L. journalism. As hobbies Jennifer enjoys running, reading and traveling. Phil Collins tops Jennifer list as her favorite cartoon character because he is cute and cool. Jennifer plans to attend college after she graduates. Mr. and Mrs. Rey Del Toro are the parents of Armando Del Toro. Armando is active in football, basketball, track and is sophomore class president. Armandos most embarrassing moment occurred at the Winter Festival, when he was escorting Juanita Garcia for Todd Bessire who was out of town. While Armando was in the spotlight, Todd Bessire's achievements were being announced. Armando would like to attend ENMU or U.T. at Austin and major in computer graphics.

Mike Holt

The freshman class favorites include JoAnn Guitierrez & Jeff Hicks. JoAnn participates in basketball, track and student council and she enjoys running, playing basketball, and swimming. JoAnn believes that the no pass-no play rule should be charged. Prince and New Addition top JoAnn's list of favorite musicians. Jeff Hicks is the son of Shirley Hicks and Jerry Hicks. Jeff is active in football and basketball. Congratulations to all of these winners on their outstanding accomplishments.

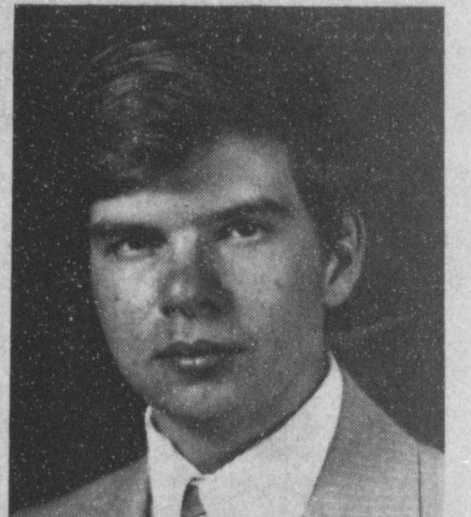

Laurey Grant and Sergio Leal were selected as Mr. and Miss MHS runners up. Laurey is the daughter of C.E. and Sharon Grant. She is a senior and is very active in tennis, FTA, FCA, SCA and is a varsity cheerleader. Laurey really enjoys spending time with friends, listening to music, swimming and playing tennis. The fact that senior day is not allowed really does disagree with Laurey. After graduation, Laurey plans to attend Texas Tech University.

Sergio is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Leal. Golf takes up much of Sergio's time, but he also finds time for the One Act Play, SCAC, FTA, FCA, and band. Despite being so busy, Sergio did find time to have an embarrassing moment. One day when he was working at the restaurant, he dropped three baskets of tostados during a busy run. He had to clean up his mess right in front of everyone! Future plans for Sergio include either going to college or opening a business.

In addition to choosing Juanita Garcia as Princess of Friendship, Ricky Rasco was also chosen as Prince of Friendship. Parents of the nineteen year old are Marcha and Odell Rasco. Ricky is very active in track, cross country, and a member of the One Act Play stage crew. As hobbies, Ricky enjoys dancing and skating. Tigger stands out as Ricky's favorite cartoon character because he is "real funny and cool." Ricky plans to attend college and major in pre med.

Runners up in the Princess & Prince of Friendship were Leah Bell and Andy Copley. Leah is the daughter of Rosemary Bell and is a junior at M.H.S. Leah's extracurricular activities include SCAC, Student Council, FTA, FCA and Jazz Band. In her spare time, Leah enjoys drawing, listening to the radio and reading magazines. Leah wishes school could be let out at 3:15 like the "good ole days". Bryan Adams, Lionel Richie and Prince top the list of her favorite musicians. Leah is uncertain about her future right now, but she might like to be a commercial artist with a minor in photography or maybe just be a bum.

Cures All

To a child a band-aid is the quickest cure, and will heal and protect any wound. This is a wonderful trust . . . how wonderful it would be if we would place the same trust in the Lord. "Ye that fear the Lord, trust in the Lord: he is their help and their shield." Confidence and faith grows greater with practice. Attend church regularly, study God's word and . . . "they that know thy name will put their trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not forsaken them that seek thee."

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

By Edward Thorland

Two of the beneficiaries of declining interest rates have been the housing and real estate industries. Another has been the auto industry.

When the Bundesbank in Bonn recently announced it was lowering by half a point (from 4 to 3.5 percent) the interest it charged banks and Japan prepared to follow, that was a long-awaited signal to the U.S. economic community and these major industries.

It meant that Paul Volcker's recent statement that interest rates wouldn't be pushed down by the Federal Reserve Board was outdated.

Lower rates in the U.S. after foreign rates come down, will not cause a flow of investment funds out of the U.S.

They brighten prospects for a strong economy and strong home and automobile sales for 1986, since the expectation is that U.S. interest rates will now continue to fall.

Beware of the jolly backslapper.

EATING OUT

By Rose Hughes
TRAVELING by car along either of yesterday's main highways to Florida, 301 and 1, one sees ghosts of the past.

BEFORE interstates 75 and 95 began to carry the bulk of snow-bird traffic to the Sunshine State from the Midwest and eastern states, highways 301 and 1 were jammat at this time of year.

AS a result, motels and restaurants were numerous. But on a recent drive down 301 and part of 1, the effect of interstate travel is dramatic. Crumbling, closed motels and closed restaurants are regular sights. On 301 the change isn't so noticeable until one is south of Statesboro, Georgia.

THEN one appears to be riding on a ghost trail. The money and traffic is east-on 95, or west, on 75. So are the restaurants.

THUS the motorist must look to the towns along the way. Claxton, Jesup, Folkston, Callahan, Baldwin, Starke, etc., and pick a spot which the locals are obviously patronizing. Prices are likely to be more reasonable than along the interstates.

LAND PRODUCTIVITY VALUATION

MAY LOWER THE PROPERTY TAXES ON YOUR FARM OR RANCH

Texas law provides farmers and ranchers with a way to lower their property taxes, known as productivity valuation.

If you qualify, your agricultural land will be taxed on its capacity to produce crops or livestock, instead of its value on the real estate market. Productivity valuation can lower the taxable value of your land, and lower your property taxes as a result.

If your land has never received productivity valuation, you must apply to the appraisal district by April 30 to get tax benefits for 1986. You can choose from two types of productivity valuation.

If your land already receives open-space (1-d-1) valuation, you don't need to reapply unless the chief appraiser requires you to reapply.
