Mysterious Gunman Shoots Down Aged Owner Of Wichita Falls Store

JUBILEE BECOMES 'GREATEST PARTY EVER'

M. H. FREELAND NEAR DEATH AT HOSPITAL

70-Year-Old Gun Victim Is Given Little Chance To Survive

OFFICERS BAFFLED

'I've Got You,' Stranger Shouts as He Opens Fire On Storekeeper

M. H. Freeland, about 70, was probably fatally wounded early Tuesday night when he was shot by a mysterious assailant at his small store at 1413 Sibley street. The gunman escaped.

Freeland is at the Wichita General hospital, where little hope is held for his recovery. A bullet from a pistol is lodged in his intestines, the lead having coursed through almost his entire body.

The aged storekeeper was at the rear of his business when he was accosted by the man. A gun thrust in his face.

"I've got you," the stranger said. "I'm going to kill you."

Gunman Unknown

Freeland told officers and hospital authorities before he lapsed into unconsciousness that he had never seen the man before.

He said that he knocked at the gun. It was forced downward by a blow from his hand just as the trigger was pulled.

Waiting no longer the gunman, described as a young man, fled down the street.

Freeland shouted for help, crawling toward the entrance. Attracted by his cries, neighbors, who also were disturbed by the shot, ran to his assistance. They called an ambulance.

Robbery was not believed the motive in the shooting, although the aged man had been victimized by bandits on two occasions during the past. His money was in a purse in a chair in an adjoining room, but he said the gunman made no attempt to take it nor did he ask for money.

Another mysterious angle to the case, police pointed out, was in the first report officers received of the shooting. Sergeant Fred Stengel said that a man telephoned the station, saying that "he understood a man had been shot" at the Freeland address. Stengel asked who was talking and the man hung up.

Gun Not Found

A man whose name police said was Baumgardner told George Garrett and A. M. Davenport, automobile patrolmen, that he heard the shot and saw a man running, immediately after, from the place. He said the man ran south on Princeton street, which passes Freeland's store, located on the corner of Sibley and Princeton.

Officers Garrett and Davenport searched the neighborhood upon their arrival, and found blood in the room where Freeland said he was approached by the stranger. Blood also was in the bathroom, the officers said.

A gun was not found, indicating that the man had not abandoned it in his flight.

Some doubt was expressed as to how many shots were fired when the storekeeper was wounded. Neighbors differed, some saying that they heard but one shot. Others said two were fired, while several said they heard three shots.

Freeland, separated from his wife, lived alone at the small store. His wife, summoned to the hospital, said that she knew of no enemies of the aged man. She could advance no reason for the shooting.

Officers Open Search

Dr. H. D. Prichard said that Freeland had the barest chance for recovery. The doctor said that he traced the course of the bullet and found that it had lodged in the wall of the stomach after having severed the big intestine.

Police scoured the entire city Tuesday night in an effort to apprehend the gunman. However at an early hour Wednesday morning their search had been fruitless.

Sheriff Perry Browning admitted that the case was extremely difficult, but expressed the hope that Wednesday would throw some light on the mystery.

Freeland has been a resident of Wichita Falls for 12 years and is well known here. He had engaged in his ice and grocery business on Sibley for the past five years.

Hurricane Kills 200 In Puerto Rico And Lays Crops To Waste

By HARWOOD HULL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Sept. 27.—A hurricane swept over this island today, killing 200 or more persons, according to the estimate of Gov. James R. Beverley, injuring many hundreds more and leaving in its wake a trail of devastation representing a property loss of millions of dollars.

Every agency of relief was being mobilized tonight to cope with a catastrophe comparable to the storm of 1928, the worst the island ever suffered.

Crops Ruined

Starting shortly before last midnight, a 120-mile wind lashed San Juan and the hinterland, wrecking buildings, ripping the roofs from houses, blowing down their side walls and ruining the valuable citrus fruit and coffee crops.

The loss in the fruit crop alone was estimated at $7,000,000 after a personal inspection of part of the area of devastation. Governor Beverley said the damage to the coffee crop would be even greater.

When the storm left Puerto Rico and headed westward toward San Dominge, communications in the island had not been restored.

It was established that in Barrios 14 were dead, in Sabanallana 4, in Catano 2, and Rio Piedras 10. Other reports said the death toll in Rio Piedras was as high as 40. A report from the little town of Carolina said 10 persons had been killed and at Caguas a native was electrocuted by live wire.

Relief Work Started

Police officials detailed a squad of motorcycle men to the towns along the north coast with instructions to hasten back with a full report on the casualties.

The work of relief and repair got under way in such confusion that it was impossible to determine the extent of the casualty list but it was apparent that hundreds had been hurt. Thousands of persons were left homeless.

The storm put San Juan's water and light facilities out of commission. The manager of the power company said it would be impossible to restore either service before Thursday. A new transmission line must be built before power can be furnished for pumping water six miles from the reservoir. Arrangements for a temporary water supply were being rushed.

San Juan was left a nightmare of wreckage by the storm.

Towers Torn Down

The great steel towers of radio station WKAQ, which was broadcasting during the early part of the storm, lay bent and twisted in the streets.

A concrete wall of Tres Banderas, a popular movie theater, was blown in, and rubble was strewn over the seats.

Numerous small craft along the waterfront were stove in and driven aground. Several of the piers, notably pier No. 5, were left roofless. Great damage was done to merchandise stored on the docks.

At least 800 of the 1,000 dwellings of the ocean front section of San Juan either were destroyed or damaged so greatly that it was impossible for their occupants to continue living in them. During the night hundreds of families found refuge in the ancient Spanish fort of San Cristobal.

Casualties Held Down

The casualty list in San Juan itself was kept down because police, warned in advance of the imminence of the storm, rounded up hundreds of women and children and placed them in churches and school buildings which were much more substantially built than their homes. In the villages little protection of the sort was available.

Governor Beverley spent the entire morning inspecting the devastated area near San Juan. He went more than half way to Caguas, nearly 30 miles distant. On his return he called a meeting of citizens to prepare relief work.

The governor ordered Adj. Gen. John A. Wilson to call out 400 national guardsmen to assist the po-

BOMB WRECKS JUDGE'S HOME

Justice in Sacco-Vanzetti Case Escapes

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 27. (AP)—The Sacco-Vanzetti case crashed back into prominence today as a bomb partly wrecked the home of Judge Webster Thayer, who presided at the trial of the two radicals.

Mrs. Thayer and her maid, Miss Joan Ashe, were slightly injured by falling debris while the judge was trapped in his bedroom by smashed furniture and woodwork.

Six houses in the immediate vicinity of the Thayer residence were damaged badly while windows in a score of homes in the exclusive West Side district were broken by the blast.

Principals Guarded

Word of the bombing was the signal for police of greater Boston communities to throw guards around the homes of President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard university, Former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller and all witnesses, jurors and officials who participated in the famous trial of Sacco and Vanzetti.

The explosion happened shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. Judge and Mrs. Thayer were sleeping on the second floor of the house and Miss Ashe in a finished attic.

The explosion ripped away the entire back of the house and caused the Thayer garage, once a barn, to collapse. Plaster and woodwork plunged down on the sleeping Mrs. Thayer and a door from the back room was hurled on top of her. Judge Thayer was blown from his bed. Amid falling wood and tumbling furniture he tried to reach the door to go to his wife's aid but his room was such a wreck he could not force his way out. Miss Ashe was trapped in her attic room as the stairway leading up to it was blown away.

Withholds Opinion

Judge Thayer was calm despite his experience. He said to friends: "I hate to think that because a man does his duty to God and country he gets this." Asked if he attributed the bombing to his part in the Sacco-Vanzetti trial the justice answered:

"You can't get me to say that; that is for the police to determine."

The Thayer home, on Institute road near the Worcester Polytechnic institute, was placed under guard during the trial of Bartolomeo Vanzetti and Nicola Sacco, who were sentenced to death in the electric chair by Judge Thayer in 1927 with interest in the case at such a pitch the guard was maintained until about a year ago. Since that time the Worcester police, however, had arranged that cruising cars, or patrolmen, visit the vicinity of the house frequently.

Cisco Man Suicides After Shooting Two

CISCO, Texas, Sept. 27. (AP)—After shooting and killing his wife and wounding his mother-in-law so critically that she may die, Henry Simpson, 40, this afternoon ended his own life with a bullet through the head.

His mother-in-law, Mrs. Link Huntington, is the widow of Link Huntington, formerly a prominent landowner living near Cisco. She was shot three times, bullets striking her in the thigh, side and chin. Physicians doubted whether she would recover.

Officers were told that a family quarrel precipitated the shooting. Simpson used a small caliber automatic rifle.

Von Papen Accuses France Of Hindering Agreement

BERLIN, Sept. 27. (UP)—Chancellor Franz Von Papen, replying to sharp statements made Sunday by French Premier Herriot in connection with the German demand for arms equality, tonight accused the French government of hindering an arms agreement.

In a general press interview, the German chancellor charged France with lack of courtesy and loyalty in issuing announcements and "usually showing a distorted picture of the situation."

Michigan Demos Demand Loyalty From Al Smith

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 27. (AP)—A demand that Alfred E. Smith "display his loyalty by supporting Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidency" was made today at the nominating convention of the Democratic party today by Prentiss M. Brown, temporary chairman.

"The Democrats of this state have a right to know where the ex-governor of New York stands," he said in a speech, "and they have a right to expect him to return the loyalty Roosevelt displayed when Smith was a candidate."

Catholic Charities Plan New Relief Methods

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 27. (UP)—Convinced federal government measures for relief and the reconstruction corporation have proved ineffective, leaders of the National Conference of Catholic Charities tonight made plans for substitute relief methods.

The main plan is organization of church parishes and the placing responsibility upon church members themselves to supply the needy.

A "back to the farm" movement was launched under the guidance of Rev. J. M. Campbell, Ames, Iowa, parish priest.

FOUR NOTABLE CUBANS SLAIN BY ASSASSINS

President of Senate Dies With 54 Machine Gun Slugs in Body

MARTIAL LAW CALLED

Reign of Political Nihilism Feared Under Way In Island Nation

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 27. (UP)—The government tonight ordered military law in Havana to end a series of terroristic attacks in which four prominent politicians were assassinated and several others were wounded by gunmen operating along the lines employed in gangster feuds.

The assassination began with the firing of 54 machine gun slugs into the body of Clemente Vazquez Bello, president of the senate and supporter of President Gerardo Machado.

University Rector Shot

With terrible swiftness, unidentified gunmen shot down and killed three opposition party politicians and wounded seriously another political foe of the administration. A chauffeur, Julio Suarez, member of the police force, also was shot, probably fatally, and Dr. Ricardo Dolz, rector at Havana university, a prominent conservative (oppositionist) was reported shot and seriously wounded.

The following statement was issued at the presidential palace tonight when fears of the populace were mounting rapidly because of the danger of further bloodshed:

"The president sent a message to the senate deploring the death of Dr. Vazquez Bello and also the assaults on Dr. Aguiar and Dr. Freyre, and advising all to act with equanimity and calmness.

Many Arrested

"Steps have been taken to place the city under military rule tonight as a preventive measure against reprisals by friends of the parties."

Police arrested many suspects.

Vazquez Bello was the victim of an unsuccessful attempt at assassination only a few months ago. He had frequently been mentioned as a possible Liberal candidate for the presidency at the next election. His brother is the new consul general in New York.

Vazquez Bello was near his home at the lunch hour when the assailants, said to be riding in an open automobile, drew up behind his car and opened fire. The senate president was removed to his home and then to Camp Columbia hospital, where he died.

Death Program Feared

The assassination was similar to the killing of Chief of Detectives Calvo in July, which has not been solved. Officials believed terrorists were planning a regular program of assassinations directed against the administration.

"Who will be next?" was the question asked while police rounded up many malcontents and oppositions in search for the killers.

The attack on Freyre was at his home. He died later at Fortoun Souza clinic. Gonzalo Freyre apparently was the target of the killers, but they also shot and killed his brother, Guillermo, who was the third to die since dawn. Another brother, Leopoldo, was gravely wounded. All three were prominent in opposition to the administration.

Seven unidentified men attacked the three men outside their home. The killings were similar to the attack on Aguiar.

San Angelo Jury Gives 6 Years in Murder Case

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Sept. 27. (AP)—Charles Fuller, Sheffield cafe man, today was assessed a six-year penitentiary sentence by a 119th district court jury which found him guilty of murder with malice in the fatal shooting of Hugh Rutledge, Sonora cafe owner, at McCamey May 2, 1929.

Young Paralysis Victim Dies After Plane Trip

HOUSTON, Sept. 27. (UP)—Peter F. Murphy Jr., 14, New Orleans youth suffering from respiratory paralysis, died in a hospital late today shortly after he had been brought here by airplane to be placed in a drinker respirator.

Democratic Stalwarts Predict Landslide In November

The Democratic party had its say to the jubilee crowds Tuesday and it was a more than effective answer presented by Charles N. Hay of St. Louis, representing the Democratic national committee. Democratic stalwarts of the section and state gave Mr. Hay a warm welcome and told him Texas would be Democratic this year from president to constable. From left to right in the picture above are Walter D. Cline, jubilee president; Mr. Hay, James V. Allred, attorney general, and Ed Howard, publisher and lifelong Democrat and Judge J. L. Ratliff of Haskell, Texas.

HAY PRAISES DEMO TICKET

Garner-Roosevelt Compared to GOP Leaders

Qualifications of Franklin D. Roosevelt for the office of president of the United States were eulogized eloquently before jubilee crowds massed at the Scott street stand Tuesday morning by Charles M. Hay of St. Louis, Democratic nominee for the senate in 1928, and a representative of the Democratic national committee.

Mr. Hay's address was the second major political speech given during the jubilee. Former Gov. Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky spoke Monday morning for the candidacy of President Hoover for reelection. Wednesday morning's speaker, at 10 o'clock, will be Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma.

Allred Introduces Speaker

Mr. Hay was introduced Tuesday morning by Atty. Gen. James V. Allred of this city, official representative of the state of Texas at the present jubilee.

Declaring his gratitude and pleasure in being called to the state in which lives "the next vice president of the United States," Mr. Hay branded as ludicrous the Republican leaders' recent efforts to "picture John Garner as a radical."

"The head and front of his offending is that he dared to manifest an extraordinary desire to help the distressed masses of this country at a time when Bourbon policies had broken down, and Hamiltonian principles had run amuck, leaving the people helpless and confused. It would not be surprising now to hear them referring to Coolidge as a loquacious old man, or to Andrew Mellon as a benevolent Democrat."

Mr. Hay pointed the fact that "no radical ever had enjoyed the confidence of his people enough to be returned to congress 15 times, or to be raised to the speakership of the house because of his capacity for sane, level-headed leadership."

Roosevelt Routs GOP

"I am for Governor Roosevelt, first of all," said Mr. Hay, "because of his broad and deep sympathy for the masses of men; because he not only wants to serve them, but because he knows how to do it. His constructive leadership as governor of New York confirmed his friends in their faith in him. His speeches made since his nomination have baffled and confused his opponents. They misconstrued friendliness for weakness, and frankness as superficiality."

Roosevelt now has convinced the entire country, the speaker said, that he knows what's been going on and who's to blame, and with directness and courage has told the voters the truth. He has gained the confidence of farmers, railroad workers, utilities investors and consumers, during the past few weeks, Mr. Hay declared.

"I am for Governor Roosevelt," he continued, "because of his com-

By JIMMIE (COWBOY) MAXWELL

Sauntered into the Kemp Tuesday afternoon and butted into an impromptu musical and vocal entertainment put on by the quartet affiliated with the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, composed of Jesse Martin, Tarrant county's district attorney; A. J. Wylie of Scott Brothers Grain company, D. G. Griffin of Sproles Transfer, and Bob Dodd, Gauze-Ware Funeral home. Neighbors I want to tell you boys from the headwaters of the Trinity handled their vocal pipes in a Carusoian manner and the big hand they received was merited. Anyhow these birds from down the Denver would enjoy themselves if placed in a calaboose.

Monday's menace, the dainty cowgirl in flashing colors, spurs, chaps and somberero continued to patrol the many trails in search for the stay from its home corral. Well ere the close of the three-day melee will wager our striped shirt that many a calf in a 10-gallon bonnet will be found branded and caught by the lariat, wielded by the arm of one of these fairest daughters of the great open spaces.

On the corner of Eighth and Scott I had a nice chat with that faithful old soul, John Turbeville, from the metropolis of Archer county, that impregnable Democratic stronghold that has withstood the assaults of many a bolt. John had the missus with him and from all appearances, the cares of his huge cattle and old interests in his home county laid but lightly upon his broad shoulders.

Fell heir to a little lunch during the noon hour at the Kemp. Spied by Larry Schwamb generalissimo of the canteen. Ladies in waiting of the period long ago gave a quaint tinge to the modern method of feeding us birds. Well, Larry, the soup was just grand.

T. B. Wilson (Tad), another son of the soil, and owns lots of it, besides holding the unthankful job of being a bank president in that thriving sister city of Archer, cantered into the big mess now under way, radiant in a shirt of a delicious pinkish hue and the usual ranch chapeau.

Talk about a trout snapping a fly. Well, well, well. Girls, the uniform is the real thing at this particular moment. Are the spick and span boys from the old fort north of the raging Red neglected. Ask them?

Information gathered from reliable sources revealed that very few if any fractures were sustained by the "noble experiment" in spite of the thousands of visitors within our hospitable gates. However, with the use of the naked optic me thinks a few of the cow hands had three balls and two strikes on them.

Coming up the trail who should I meet but old friend and former townsman, A. D. Lightsey, the "big shot from Tyler." Our old friend after 24 hours of meditation, among the pines, failed to withstand the call of his old home, so bringing the missus along, he hit the trail back. We parked the folks and in an hour's time the old boy reverted to the glorious past by attiring himself in the conventional garb of the range rider. Whoopee!

Observed a throng of peasants at the corner of Eighth and Scott and moved along in that direction. Cause of the jam was the fact that Dan Tucker, popular cowhand at the Biltmore garage in Fort Worth, was engaged in lending a helping hand to the local laws to keep traffic streaming along at that point. Dan, old boy your technique, was fine. In your efforts could be seen the hand of a master.

Talking to Charlie Ladd, and Bill Bailey of Vernon. Had an argument with them. Both claimed and expostulated with me in the strongest terms, after a peek at the Chisholm slab in front of the City National bank, that Walter Cline and his bunch of chamber commerce bandits sneaked up and carted it off from its location at Doan's. Harsh words from old Wilbarger.

Had the pleasure of getting an earful of entrancing accordion music played by a charming young lady named Sorrells, well known radio entertainer on the Lucas Furniture company program at Fort Worth.

You can lead a horse to water but you can't haul him upstairs. It's an old saying. Nevertheless one of our festive cowpunchers took a chance at it Tuesday but failed in his efforts. This rugged son of the plains made the attempt in a stairway of a local rooming house.

Guess who's here attending the three-day hullabaloo? Why none other than our old friend George Fairtrace, former city manager. George remarked that this jubilee was the biggest undertaking by the citizens of this sector since the building of the irrigation ditch. Mr. Fairtrace is now city manager at Fort Worth, but we boys discovered him, but not unlike big league custom, the larger town drafted him.

Two other boys that breathed the spirit of the great outdoors that I had the pleasure of meeting were J. E. (Jinks) Mode, superintendent of the Denver at Amarillo, and Bob Huggins, also of the same transportation artery.

A word about these visiting musical organizations. Bands, the power house of the parade. A vote of thanks should be extended by every citizen and visitor to these organizations which have unselfishly furnished almost continual martial strains during the past two days. Katy Drum and Bugle, Denison, Lone Star Gas of Ranger, T. C. U. band, Fort Worth Burkburnett Cowboys, Fort Worth and Denver band, Childress, Fort Sill military band, Sweetwater Gypsies of Sweetwater, we hail you as gluttons for punishment; and thank you!

ATTENDANCE ON SECOND DAY HITS NEW HIGH

Fort Worth Delegation Of 200 Rides Special To Celebration Here

ALL-MILITARY PARADE

Program for Final Day Of Jubilee Packed With Many Events

Hilarious throngs of people helping themselves to a slice of Wichita Falls' birthday cake in the form of entertainment from many sources developed the golden jubilee party into the greatest celebration ever staged in West Texas Tuesday. Golden jubilee officials placed the attendance at 75,000 persons—the largest number brought together in the section's history.

The day's activities were climaxed Tuesday night with more than 4,000 people filling the Memorial auditorium for the retail merchants and Woman's Forum style show, and over 1,000 were turned away at the doors while 7,000 filled the grandstand at Athletic park for an exhibition rodeo show under the arc lights. The style show will not be repeated despite numerous requests.

Ranch Headquarters

Other thousands lined the streets to add to the voice of a city turned into a vast ranch headquarters at roundup time to honor their pioneers with an early day fiesta. Attendance at the historical exhibits at 915 Eighth topped Monday's record of 20,000 people by several thousand and the doors were shut and only small groups were allowed to join the throngs inside as others left the building.

The exhibit hall will close promptly at 9 o'clock Wednesday night and the historical items covering 400 years of Southwest lore and development will be started on a return trip to the owners. Added to the collection Tuesday was Ranger Captain Tom Hickman's saddle bags, made by himself years ago and covered with cow hide. The items were placed in the window at the building.

The city's birthday party cake was figuratively cut when a celebration of the arrival of the first Denver excursion train, Sept. 27, 1882, was staged at the union depot.

The effect was heightened by the arrival of over 200 Fort Worth citizens, traveling over the same line as the original first train, arrived in a Denver special with the Texas Christian university Horned Frog band.

Final Events Today

The giant three-day party will be climaxed Wednesday with the appearance of Dr. George Truett of Dallas at the Memorial auditorium at 8 a. m., Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma City at the Scott avenue reviewing stand at 10 o'clock, the official representative of the national government, Gen. W. M. Cruickshank of the U. S. army post at Fort Sill, Okla., of which he is the commanding officer, at the Scott avenue stand at 11 o'clock to review his parading artillery units. Texas National guard units, uniformed American Legionnaires and Spanish American war veterans. The final rodeo performance, dances, water polo, fiddling contests and other varieties of entertainment will be offered throughout the day.

Tuesday's entertainment for the daylight hours was topped with a six-mile-long parade of commercial entries, pioneer vehicles and beautifully decorated motorized floats.

Tuesday's extra entertainment features offered U. S. army planes from Fort Crockett at Galveston, Texas, in formation and difficult acrobatic acts over the city. The zoom of the roaring motors as the trio of newest army low-wing bombers dropped to low levels thrilled the jubilee masses. The army planes were brought to the city for the jubilee through the Junior chamber of commerce with Joe B. Carrigan, a former crack ace of the Fort Crockett squadron, as committee chairman.

Fort Worth Special

The Fort Worth special train was arranged by a committee in that city in charge of Van Zandt Jarvis and W. E. Connell, councilman and banker respectively, with Charlie Cotten of the Fort Worth chamber in active support. The delegation included the three Lucas sisters, who offered vocal selections at the Scott avenue stand.

Added activities which drew capacity crowds Tuesday was Dr.

SALUTE OF ARTILLERY HONORS 50TH BIRTHDAY

The roar of a wartime bombardment by rapid fire 75's awakened many Wicitans Tuesday morning as U. S. army units from Fort Sill, Okla., offered a salute of 50 guns at intervals from 7:30 to 9:30 a. m. for the ceremony marking the anniversary of the arrival of the first train in the city. The two 75's were in the hands of battery C of the First artillery.

To many veterans of the world war the serenade of booming artillery awakened memories of the conflict. The sharp report of the 75's developed into a roaring echo over the Wichita river valley as the blanks were fired from the Memorial auditorium lawn. The echo resounded over the major portion of the city.

Roosevelt Woos New Mexico Progressive Support In Public Appearance With Republican Senator Cutting

ABOARD ROOSEVELT SPECIAL, En Route to Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 27. (UP)—Another invitation to Republican progressives to line up with him for a "new deal" in government was extended today by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt as he headed further eastward on his tour of the nation.

Declaring "I am convinced there is no room in this country for two political parties, both conservative" the Democratic presidential nominee in this instance bid specifically for the support of the New Mexico Progressive Republican faction headed by United States Senator Bronson Cutting. He made his appeal in an address at Lamy, N. M.

Cutting was present as Roosevelt told the New Mexico Democratic convention "we are going to get results on Nov. 8" and that "we are very certain these days that the Democratic party is representative of progressive Democracy."

There were reports that the New Mexico progressive group, which was a ticket in the field in opposition to the old guard organization, might decline to make an independent fight however, and throw in with the Roosevelt forces instead.

Roosevelt himself introduced Cutting to the audience as "my old friend" after having previously asserted that "our party represents liberal ideals."

Although he was in the heart of the cattle country, Roosevelt did not elaborate upon the remarks he made to ranchers at Williams, Ariz. pledging tariff protection to the nation's cattle industry.

While this statement on tariff protection evoked comment among political observers, some of whom professed to see in it a departure from the governor's previously announced tariff stand, it was pointed out that it was in line with the Democratic party's platform agricultural plank advocating measures giving to the farmer "full benefit of the domestic market."

Roosevelt's remarks were an answer to a query as to whether if elected president, he would favor the entry into this country under low tariff rates of Argentine, Mexican and Australian beef in "ruinous competition" with the American market.

RODEO STARS STAGE GREAT PERFORMANCE TO THRILL 10,000

TWO INJURED DURING EVENTS

Lonnie Rooney of Oklahoma Wins Bronc Title

One of the greatest rodeo performances staged in the Southwest in years won the plaudits of nearly 10,000 spectators at the Athletic park Tuesday afternoon, while 2,000 or more were turned back at the park gates. The paid attendance was announced at slightly more than 7,000, and it was estimated that some 1,500 or 2,000 others, including contestants, were present for the events. The ticket windows at the park were swamped by a pushing, perspiring mob and were unable to control the jam.

Burk Boy Hurt

Two persons were injured during the day. One of them was J. B. Ford of Burkburnett, a junior rodeo contestant who made a clean bronc ride only to hit the turf in a position that cracked his leg. Jonas De Arman of Sayre, Okla., suffered a severely bruised leg from a horse kick. He had made a spectacular bareback bronc ride only to get bounced against the turf as he left the back of his sun-fishing mount. De Arman was treated at a jubilee first aid station. Ford was admitted to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital.

One of the major thrills of the show was the exhibition steer ride taken by little Miss Nancy Hanks, one of A. C. Estes' junior cowgirls. The bucking calf drawn by the 14-year-old Nancy was ridden even after the animal failed to dislodge her by falling to its side. The stands paid a rousing tribute to the nerve of the young lady who remained on her mount. All junior winners will be named Wednesday.

The show Tuesday afternoon clicked on every event and the arena artists of many states and Canada rode their assigned broncs and steers, handled the calves and wild Brahma steers with but few falls.

Capt. Eddie Argo of Fort Sill, Okla., rode "Directrix" in the Olympic hurdle exhibition and with his fellow officers of the U. S. army post provided a colorful added rodeo attraction.

Jake McClure of Lovington, N. M., placed first in the calf roping division with a time of 18 second. Orien Fore of Carrizozo, N. M., was second in 22 1-5 seconds and Harry Hart of Pocatello, Idaho, was third in 22 3-5 seconds.

Calf roping winners in the two-day average were Everette Bowman of Fort Thomas, Ariz., with 19 2-5 seconds. Allen Holder of Midland, Texas, was second, tying his animal in 22 1-5 seconds and Jake McClure, Tuesday's winner, was third in 23 1-5 seconds.

Boy Sets Record

The stands drew a second major thrill when a junior rodeo contestant, Delbert Lee Riddle, 8, roped and tied his animal in 15 seconds flat for the best time of the day.

A feature of the trick and fancy roping exhibition was provided by Promoter Leonard Stroud, standing on his head in the arena center while he tossed his educated lariat loop about three horses and riders as they raced by him. Others taking part in the event with a variety of plain and fancy loop acts were Ken Williams of Caldwell, Kan., and Chester Byers of Fort Worth.

Promoter Stroud again rode his famous "Black Diamond" mount in a dash across the arena to leap an automobile loaded with passengers in a specialty act. The veteran arena clown, John Lindsey of Springtown, Texas, entertained Tuesday with several variations of his man-and-mule act.

His burlesque acts on the trick and fancy riding exhibition drew a big hand. Riders in the exhibition were Mr. Stroud, Mayme Stroud, Betty Myers, Ken Williams, Lonnie Rooney and Mr. Lindsey.

Lonnie Rooney of Wilson, Okla., placed first in the world championship bronc riding contest mounted on "Secret Sorrow" Tuesday. The horse succeeded in tossing Rooney at Amarillo last week. Rooney holds the jubilee rodeo title for the two days of events. Other winners of the event to date are Leo Murrary of Fort Worth was second, Bob Askins of Ismay, Mont., third; and Pete Knight of Calgary, Canada, fourth.

Rider Tossed Over Fence

Odell Betsill of Odell, Texas, was tossed over the arena fence by Strawberry Roan.

The three-year champion of the bronc riding events, "Amarillo Boy," pride of Stroud's string was again ridden Tuesday after taking his second defeat at the hands of an arena artist Monday. Buck Davis of Carlsbad, N. M., mastered the horse Tuesday. Not a rider was thrown in Tuesday's events, out of 16 mounts turned from the chutes.

John Bowman of Trent, Texas, was declared a two-day winner in the Mexican steer bulldogging event with a time of 8 3-5 seconds, a record for the jubilee rodeo, and in top form for the world's record of five seconds. Everette Bowman was second with 11 3-5 seconds and Harry Hart was third tossing the animal in 14 seconds.

Roy Ross of Sayre, Okla., who tossed his steer after a hard struggle in 31 3-5 seconds, was waved about from the steer's horns for several seconds before he could get a toe-hold on the slippery park turf. James Irwin of Orville, Wash., suffered an arm injury after a stiff tussle and was forced to let the animal go free. Bill Parks of Belle Fourche, S. D., also lost his steer in a hard battle.

Fans of the bulldogging sport saw a fast tumbling of jubilee records during the event when Harry Hart set the mark at 14 seconds, to be followed by Breezy Cox of Pine Top, Ariz., who promptly lowered it to 13 4-5 seconds. J. Wolf of Snyder, Texas, lost his animal when the steer out raced him and then Everette Bowman rushed into the arena with a fast tackle that landed the steer in a new local record of 11 3-5 seconds.

Steers Throw Riders

The event in which De Arman was injured—bareback bronc riding—placed Smoky Snyder of Kimberly, B. C., first after two rides. Sammy Stuart of Fort Worth placed second and Jimmy Short of Lompoc, Calif., was third. Not one of the eight entries was tossed by the leaping and twisting mounts.

Results in the wild Brahma steer riding will be announced Wednesday after the final show. However, the packed park audience received several thrills as the powerful beasts—crosses between the sacred India animals and the Texas longhorns—tossed two riders of eight entries.

Quite An Improvement In Banking Scenery

Here's the very latest thing in banking practice, folks, and we think it's quite an improvement over the austere dignity of the counting houses. Miss Mary Helen McHam of the Wichita State bank is acting as paying teller in passing a few funds to T. J. (Uncle Jeff) Waggoner, pioneer rancher of the Wichita area. If you really are curious we'll tell you that Miss McHam is handing Mr. Waggoner 10 $100 bills and he ought to be able to have a right nice time with that amount.

Dean of Canterbury Defends Cannibalism

LONDON, Sept. 27. (UP)—A defense of cannibalism in famine-stricken regions was offered today by the dean of Canterbury, Dr. Hewlett Johnson, addressing missionaries at Hythe.

Giving his impressions of a recent trip to the Chinese famine zone, he said:

"If I were dying of starvation and there were children's lives to be saved and I knew that food would be along in a few days, I would ask my friends to make soup out of one of my hands so that the children could be preserved. The children need not know and I am certain it would be the right thing."

R.F.C. Loans $13,000,000 For Mississippi Bridge

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (UP)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation tonight granted a loan of $13,000,000 to the state of Louisiana and the Belt railroad commission of New Orleans to construct a rail and vehicular bridge across the Mississippi river.

Pete And His Peckerwoods Of Devol Win Tuesday's Fiddle Contests

Pete and His Peckerwoods, champion fiddle band of Devol, Okla., won first place in the second elimination contest for selection of a jubilee title holder in Tuesday's contest. The band includes Joe Bush, Dick Robertson and Pete Fanning.

The Pioneer Four of Olney, including little Charlie Pooler, 7, Billie and Lawrence Peeler and Jack McDougal, placed second and W. E. Lindsey's band from Bellevue placed third. The Bellevue group includes Mr. Lindsey, Pete Clarey, Finis Martin and Spec Hassell. Twenty bands competed Tuesday.

Winners of Tuesday's contest will meet the three winners in Monday's event to determine the grand prize winner of a $100 purse Wednesday night. First prize in the eliminations was $25. The winners Monday were Housers' band of Munday, George Waldon's group of this city and Louis Franklin's fiddlers from Vernon and Chillicothe.

mon and courageous honesty. He is personally, politically and officially honest.

"I am for him because he has had the moral courage and mental and physical strength to rise supreme over an attack which would have discouraged the average man; and has gone on to glorious service and achievement. In the face of that fight, the opposition has the temerity to whisper that Roosevelt doesn't walk well.

"Well, he may not walk well; but, Lord, how he can run! I am happy that we are to have once more in the White House a man who is troubled only in his legs. Following the great war president, Woodrow Wilson, we had a president who was muddled in the head; he was succeeded by one who couldn't talk; and he in turn by one with an ailing backbone. It's a joy to have one with a sound head, in full possession of his vocal faculties, with a strong backbone, and who is bothered only in the legs.

"I am for Governor Roosevelt because he promises the American people a new deal. By word and act, he has shown the country that he is a sound, sincere and sane progressive. As a friend of our present system of government and economics, I favor the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt whose liberal and progressive policies, put into force, will be the country's most conclusive answer to the opponents of our present system."

Howard Presents Allred

Mr. Allred, delegated by Governor Sterling to represent the state in Wichita Falls' golden jubilee celebration, was presented to the gathering Tuesday morning by Ed Howard, president of the Times Publishing company, pioneer settler here, and a prominent Democrat for the past quarter century. Mr. Howard was introduced by Walter D. Cline, jubilee association head.

Police Guard Liner On Which Walker Returning After Bomb Plot Rumored

NICE, France, Sept. 27. (US)—Reports of a plot to bomb the Italian liner Rex and rumors that Russell T. Sherwood, missing "agent" of former Mayor James J. Walker of New York, slipped aboard the new ocean greyhound at this port caused considerable excitement here today when the Rex touched at Nice on its maiden voyage from Genoa to New York.

Walker is returning to New York aboard the Rex. The rumor that Sherwood had joined him incognito came from a usually well-informed source but could not be verified. Universal Service was informed that a man answering Sherwood's description has been seen on the Riviera during the past four days.

The Sherwood rumor received no attention from Nice authorities but the report that an attempt would be made to bomb Italy's new entry in transatlantic passenger competition prompted extraordinary police precautions.

Police cordons were thrown around the dock and gangway and no one was allowed to board the liner save the 68 passengers who had purchased passage from Nice. Their baggage was carefully examined and each one was searched before he was allowed on the gangplank.

Sherwood disappeared during progress of the New York state legislative inquiry into New York's municipal government that resulted in Mayor Walker's resignation during the height of removal proceedings against him before Governor Roosevelt.

One of the counts against the mayor was that he "failed and neglected either to cause his agent (Sherwood) to return or cooperate with the committee in its efforts to locate him." Walker disclaimed Sherwood as his agent and declared he was in no way responsible for Sherwood's acts. While in Naples he indignantly denied he would meet Sherwood in Europe.

JUBILEE HITS NEW RECORDS

Big Program Today To Close Celebration

Frances X. McCabe's religious address before 2,000 persons at the auditorium to open the day's events and Hon. Charles M. Hay of St. Louis, who presented the Democratic cause at the Scott avenue stand.

Twelve musical organizations were included in the huge parade which required more than 30 minutes to pass the stand. The colorful and picturesque line of march exemplified the jubilee spirit of Wichita Falls and Oklahoma and Texas as an entire Wichita area joined in the party. Schools both locally and through the county as well as in neighboring counties were dismissed for Tuesday's fiesta and visits to Lester Jones historical exhibit at 915 Eighth amply repaid students of Southwest history in offering concrete information on the lore of an empire.

The entire city of Seymour declared a holiday with a majority of business men closing their stores to accompany their customers in a wholesale trek to Wichita Falls.

Motorcycle officers of the city police force together with a bike shop entry of a bucking motor opened the parade. To the last individual the thousands of Wichita area people in the line of march appeared in jubilee costume. Calico, satins and silks of decades past together with booted, spurred and big bonnetted cowboys with one and two guns low on their hips added color to the event.

New Spirit

A rollicking spirit of an empire on parade and taking a new lease of life swept through the city for the birthday occasion and was in evidence at scores of points in the parade.

The Fort Worth-day feature of the occasion placed that city's Horned Frog band in the van of the parade with 200 Fort Worthians in the line of march. Next came the Fort Sill army band followed by Frank Kell of Wichita Falls and W. T. Waggoner of Fort Worth mounted on horses. The Maskat temple patrol and residents of the city for 50 years with the Stamford cowboy chuck wagon recalled the frontier days to the public.

The attractive Sweetwater Gypsy girls with a piano mounted on a truck rolled past the reviewing stand as the girls joined in "Coming 'Roun the Mountain." An old surrey and buggies and other pioneer day vehicles rolled by recalling memories.

The Wichita Falls legion drum and bugle corps offered lively march tunes for the event and was followed closely by the huge Burkburnett High school band. A tandem bicycle with a boy and girl mounted added a touch of the gay nineties. Automobiles that have made history with 1900, 1911, 1916 and 1913 model Fords entered the parade as did a Wichita truck, locally made 22 years ago and the first truck to be manufactured in Texas.

A Bowie, Texas, entry attracted attention along with scores of local commercial automobiles and trucks. The decorated float of Maskat temple rolled by with a modernistic design and department stores of Wichita Falls combined to offer a high point in the line of march with a beautiful blue and white float carrying a birthday cake.

Childress Band

The Fort Worth and Denver City railway band from Childress added to the musical background and was followed by a Mity-Nice bakery truck carrying shocks of Wichita area wheat. Other decorated entries that aroused cheers among the populace were the Goodyear buffalo-tough tire, Children's Aid society, Mickey Mouse club, Dr. Jo Anna Campbell, who has served here 25 years, Tarry motor freight lines with local beauties abroad, the Red and White stores, Maricle Drug store, 40 and 8 society, the irrigated valley products, banks of Wichita Falls and many others.

The M-K-T drum and bugle corps from Denison, one of the snappiest appearing organizations in the jubilee group, added to the martial tunes for the event. Four generations of Clay county pioneers again appeared in the line of march with the Clay county group of riders and pioneer vehicles.

The Lone Star Gas company band from Ranger, Texas, headed a delegation of almost 200 mounted cowgirls and range riders. The Golden West negro band of Wichita Falls led a delegation of negro pioneers, cowboys and fraternal entries in decorated vehicles. A feature was the Booker T. Washington school room on a truck.

Denver Trains in Parade

A beauty shop in operation was offered by the Malone shop and was closely followed by mounted men and women; some of whom were in the western range side saddles. The decorated truck of the oil fraternity carrying the name "Oil," also attracted much attention as one of the most beautiful entries in the event. The miniature trains of the Denver—both passenger and freight—again thrilled younger Wichitans, many of whom were allowed to ride.

Paul Seeds' Los Caballeros band and Tom McCarty's Wichita Falls High school band were followed by the girls pep squad of the high school.

A stage coach of the pioneer period before trains placed steel ribbons across the vast prairies of the Wichita area presented picturesque women in the attire of a half century past.

Other entries included C. D. Shamburger Lumber company float, a decorated entry of the printers and stationers of the city, auto dealers, Texas Electric company, fraternal groups, including the uniformed Woodmen circle drill team, Chief Baldwin Parker's Comanche tribesmen in colorful ceremonial attire with their war-drum beating a steady tom-tom; Camp Fire Girls encamped around an outdoor fire, on a truck; the Central Seed and Feed store, C. H. Parker's 1917 grocery deliver truck with two small mules, and a fiddle band in charge of Charles Quanstrom.

The U. S. army units here will execute numerous army formations following the parade and will then start the trek back to the fort. The units are scheduled to spend Wednesday night at Burkburnett, officers said Tuesday.

General to Review Troops

The culmination of three-days of hilarity and jubilant celebration of a city at the turning point of a half century of history will be marked Wednesday with all the dignity of the U. S. government honoring the party in the person of Gen. W. M. Cruikshank of the U. S. army post at Fort Sill, Okla., in reviewing the Fort Sill and Texas National guard army units in parade.

The all military parade will be staged at 11 o'clock and will follow the downtown route used by parading units on Monday and Tuesday. General Cruikshank will be in the Scott avenue reviewing stand with members of his staff and other officers of the army post.

The old western stage coach which was used in the parade was sent to Wichita Falls for the pageant Monday night, through the courtesy of Leonard Bros. of Fort Worth.

Wednesday's program of activities will open at 8 o'clock when Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, nationally known Baptist leader, will deliver a religious address at the Memorial auditorium. Dr. Truett came to Wichita Falls from Abilene, where he is conducting a series of services, and was accompanied by a large delegation of Abilene citizens.

A feature event of the day will be an address by U. S. Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma City, widely known blind congressman and one of the most popular public speakers in the nation. Senator Gore has announced he will speak on the development of the Southwest in paying a tribute to the honored pioneer guests of the jubilee, as well as touching on national politics.

The fourth of the five-performance jubilee rodeo in charge of Leonard Stroud of Amarillo will be staged at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The rodeo has been drawing capacity crowds and Tuesday afternoon overflowed the huge Athletic park grandstand. The afternoon performance will be preceded by the third and last junior rodeo show in charge of A. C. Estes.

A final world's championship rodeo show will be staged Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock at Athletic park. Features of every rodio show includes the exhibition of some of the finest horsemanship in the nation by Olympic champion horses and riders from Fort Sill.

Drawing the interest of added thousands of celebrating citizens of Texas and Oklahoma in the city for the occasion will be the final golden jubilee fiddlers contest at the reviewing stand with a variety of vaudeville selections. The carnival of fun will be resumed at 9:30 o'clock when dances open at various points in the city, including pioneers square dance, and the final contest in selection of a jubilee water polo champion.

LEGION AND GUARDS GAVE PAGEANT SCENE

Fast and snappy drills by members of the American Legion firing squad and a unit of the local Texas National guard in an episode of the golden jubilee pageant drew much favorable comment Tuesday. The veterans and guard units appeared in a scene recalled the Spanish American war and the world war.

Oil Leaders Meet At Tyler To Discuss Way To Block Price Slash

TYLER, Texas, Sept. 27. (AP)—Leaders of the oil industry and others interested in its welfare met here tonight at a conference on the oil price structure of the Southwest.

Carl L. Estes, Tyler publisher who has actively followed the development of the rich East Texas field, called the conference with the view of discussing all angles of a purported conspiracy directed at oil prices.

Oil company officials from all parts of the country, bankers, business men, state officials and newspaper men were invited to meet at a dinner given by Estes to consider the situation.

Murray Speaks

The program was opened with a radio speech, by remote control from Oklahoma City, delivered by Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma.

J. R. Parten, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, planned to welcome those attending to the East Texas oil center.

Carl Magee, editor of the Oklahoma City News, was named to deliver the keynote speech. A message from the Independent Petroleum Association of America was prepared for delivery by Russel Brown, executive vice president.

Discuss Price Move

Gus F. Taylor of Tyler, president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, members of the Texas Railroad commission, representatives of the Kansas Public Service commission, major oil company officials and others were on the speaking program.

Estes reiterated that the purpose of the conference was not price fixing or even discussion of the subject. He said certain persons interested in preventing the conference being held had warned some of those invited that they were liable to prosecution for participating in a price fixing agreement.

However, Estes said that several speakers had signified their intention of discussing means of blocking a threatened conspiracy to break the southwest oil price structure.

Price Cut Unwarranted

Estes said the purpose of the meeting was to focus public opinion on rumors. "As a result of centering this opinion," he said, "on those of us who know that the statistical condition of the oil industry at this time does not, by any yardstick of measurement under the sun, warrant a price cut, hope to marshal sufficient outraged public opinion to stave it off and defeat the forces of greed and avarice behind the slash movement."

The second purpose, Estes said, was to unite the three chief oil producing states, Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma, so that if it developed that a reduction in production was necessary it could be made uniform and accompanied by a proportionate price increase.

Another purpose, he said, was to bring together the leaders of the oil industry, finance, commerce, and journalism on a common ground so that all might present their pictures of the industry.

Suggestions Offered

Marvin Lee, chairman of the advisory committee of the Kansas Public Service commission, said in an address that there "should be no hesitancy on the part of state officials in using every legitimate effort to maintain commodity prices at cost of production, plus a reasonable profit." He said it should not be the aim to fix prices. "Any loss in taxable values from the petroleum resources," he explained, "strikes at the income that must be made up by other forms of taxation, which is of interest to every citizen, whether they have oil property or are merely taxpayers."

Lee offered seven suggestions: To reduce production to current demand; to stop refining of petroleum products for which there is no market; to prevent oil thefts and illegal runs in all prorated areas and prorate more fields absorbing an unfair share of the market; to reduce unnecessary drilling; to stop tax evasion on gasoline sales; to encourage the use of petroleum products by fair taxation of the oil business with lower taxation of automobiles and trucks; and to encourage investments in the oil business with the assurance of fair treatment under uniform laws.

J. R. Parten of Shreveport, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas, pictured the ruin of independent producers if price cuts were made.

"Breakdown of proration practices is inevitable," he said, "should those major companies, buyers of most oil, exercise their prerogative to post crude oil prices lower than refined oil prices of today justify."

Russell B. Brown, counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said that to destroy the price structure of oil now would mean the loss of earnings and the destruction of the hope of employment of thousands of men and replace hope with discouragement in the hearts of millions of American citizens now anxiously watching the economic recovery. He said there was more at stake than the welfare of the oil industry.

No Reason for Cut

"The welfare and prosperity of the American people, of railroads, of the coal industry, the newspapers, the educational facilities for schools, in fact every line of industry is becoming more and more dependent on our welfare.

Eugene Lorton, published of the Tulsa World, said there was no reason for cutting oil prices now. He expressed the hope that companies reported to be considering the move would reconsider, saying that otherwise all efforts and sacrifices for business recovery would be lost. He said it would be a fatal mistake to throw the oil industry back into an unprofitable condition.

Frank Kell Honors Waggoner, Ikard At Dinner Here

A dinner in honor of his friend W. T. Waggoner of Fort Worth, a pioneer cattleman and rancher of the Wichita area, was given by Frank Kell of this city at a Kemp hotel dining room at noon Tuesday. President Walter D. Cline of the jubilee association paid a tribute to the industry and development activity of the veterans, Mr. Kell, W. S. Ikard of Henrietta and Mr. Waggoner.

The party included W. S. Ikard, Henrietta; W. T. Waggoner, Fort Worth; Frank Kell, Wichita Falls; J. H. Barwise, Fort Worth; W. M. McGregor, Wichita Falls, Wiley Blair, Dallas; Maj. Gen. John A. Hulen, Fort Worth; J. D. Farrington, Fort Worth; Rhea Howard, Wichita Falls; Walter D. Cline, Wichita Falls; J. T. Harrell, Wichita Falls; Pat H. Simmons, Wichita Falls; Walter Barlow, Amarillo; E. lice in San Juan and vicinity. Judge Pablo Berga, chairman of the Puerto Rico chapter of the American Red cross, and Capt. Antonio J. Silva, executive secretary, also were participating in the work of caring for storm sufferers.

Economic Blow

Governor Berkeley said the heaviest agricultural loss would be the destruction of the coffee crop just coming into harvest. This was the first crop since the coffee plantations were ruined by the storm of 1928.

No heavier economic blow could hit the island than the devastation in the coffee producing region, Governor Berkeley said. As soon as possible he will make an airplane survey of the area affected.

A preliminary check indicated that none of the Americans living here was killed or injured but no American resident escaped without property loss.

Representatives of the Bull Insular steamship line were informed by the master of the freighter Jean that the ship had been blown on the rocks on the east coast near Ensenada Hondo. The captain wirelessed that he was unloading his cargo to save the vessel. She was bound from New York.

DESTROYER TO RUSH AID TO PUERTO RICO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Upon word from Governor Beverley of Puerto Rico that it was feared the entire island had been devastated by the hurricane, the Red Cross late today ordered its chief supply officer to the spot and arranged for a destroyer to carry medical supplies.

Soon after the governor's radio report reached the war department, George Smith, the Red Cross chief supply officer, was ordered to leave in the morning for Miami. He will reach the Florida city at 3 a. m. Thursday and five hours later will leave by airplane for San Juan. Smith spent six months there in hurricane relief in 1928.

Preparing to take care of all medical need in the storm area, Col. Ernest P. Bicknell, vice chairman in charge of insular and foreign affairs, said a destroyer would sail with the necessary supplies immediately information is received on probable requirements.

Ten thousands barrels of the flour being distributed by the Red Cross for relief in this country will be shipped to Puerto Rico. If there is need for the cotton cloth which the Red Cross also is distributing, officials said, it too will be dispatched.

Communications Down

Communications were so hampered tonight it still was impossible to say how much of the island suffered from the storm.

Woodfin Buttem, the governor's secretary, covered much of the north coast this afternoon by airplane, returning with a suggestion the disturbance had passed to sea just west of the capital. Col. R. R. Lutz, the insular police chief, however, was of the belief the range was far more extensive than this.

The police chief had positive reports 23 were killed at Areciba, much further west than San Juan, and also on the north coast. The plane was unable to cover the Areciba area owing to continued rain.

Estimates Dead

Rafael Veve Jr., assistant general manager of the Fajardo Sugar company, arrived in the capital late today from Fajardo, after a fatiguing journey of eight hours.

He reported 39 dead at Fajardo and said he would estimate the dead he had seen en route at about 100 between Fajardo and Carolina alone, a little more than half the distance of 30 miles between Fajardo and the capital.

"All the towns between Fajardo and Carolina are flat," Veve said. "All the plantation houses were destroyed. Not one is standing."

Old and New Style Shows Are Jubilee Features

The glamour of 50 years ago and the smartness of 1932 were demonstrated when officers of the fine arts department and other committees in the Woman's Forum and the leading merchants of Wichita Falls sponsored one of the most interesting features of the golden jubilee Tuesday evening in a style revue. Approximately 1,000 people were unable to find standing room in the spacious Memorial auditorium. A radio skit written and directed by Miss Dorothy Nolen was given in the form of a radio and television broadcast with Ridley Maples announcing the numbers.

The station FAITH was located in the Memorial auditorium, and Miss Nolen in her introduction described it as having its premiere opening in honor of the 50th anniversary of the city that faith built.

In the great old parlor where the first scene was shown, R. D. Kennedy was father and Mrs. James G. Oakley mother of the family of eight. A genuine antique swinging crib in the center of the room belonging to the family of Mrs. Huff, was a quaint piece; a great square piano at one side, was loaned by Mrs. Downing's class in the First Christian Sunday school; it was a beautiful piece of furniture presented to the class. Two beautiful old chairs more than 50 years old and a small marble topped table were loaned by Mrs. Dwight Ross and a horsehair sofa from Mrs. N. H. Martin's attic was covered with a colorful alfghan.

The curtain rose to the soft melody of "Auld Lang Syne."

Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis was in charge of the musical program, and among the charming old fashioned numbers featuring the old fashioned style show sponsored by the forum, Mrs. C. Y. Tully sang "Love's Old Sweet Song;" a male quartet composed of L. R. Thurman, J. S. Minton, J. W. Akin Jr. and Grover Bullington sang "Old Black Joe," and Mrs. C. N. Cameron gave "Dear Evalina," Mrs. Lucille Brooks Huff accompanying, and Mrs. Flora Greenwood played the violin obligato.

The schottische was danced by Charles Quainstron and Mrs. L. A. Bynum with four old fiddlers giving the music.

Mrs. Paul Rutledge sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," as prenuptial music in the old fashioned wedding and Mesdames J. W. Akin Jr., and Flora Greenwood played the wedding music. Miss Annabel Harrell was the bride, gowned in a beautiful old costume and the charming young bridesmaids included Misses Mary Shapard, Mary Magee Rogers, Olive Daugherty, Joline Woods, Mary Virginia Barron, Elizabeth Huff, Patsy McGregor, Charlotte Maer and Catherine Smith. Clyde Strauss Jr., took the part of the groom and Wayne J. Holmes was the old time minister.

Children taking part in wedding scenes were May Anna Duncan, Irvine Roberts, Dorothy Jo Brown, Laura V. Abernathy, Mary B. Hunter, Joan Kemp, Marion Miller, Barbara Ellen Kahn, Betty June White, Mary Kate McDemott and Jimmy Straus.

Others who were on the stage included Mesdames L. A. French, H. S. Meyers, John O'Donohoe, Wilbur Cahoon, Carter McGregor, Guy Rogers, R. A. King, Bernard Martin, G. L. Shapard, J. A. Kemp, A. H. Carrigan, E. B. Carver, William Huff, Marvin Smith, C. D. Shamburger, T. A. Hicks, James P. Bowen and Messrs. William McGregor and George Hodgins.

The Ultra Smart

An up-to-date style show and wedding followed the old fashioned scenes and Miss Margaret Bone, impersonating the bride's French maid, sang "Grandma." Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis directed the wedding chorus from "Lohrengrin" sung by a double sextet, after which Mrs. Stanley Raub sang the pre-nuptial solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., with violin obligato by Stanley Raub. Ruth Ferguson gave a modern dance.

Miss Elizabeth Langford, was the exquisite bride of the modern era and was radiantly lovely in the creamy white gown with long tulle veil trimmed with rose point lace and seed pearls. Jimmy Straus was ring bearer; Barbara Ellen Kahn and Betty June White, dainty little flower girls, and Joan Kemp and Marion Miller petite train bearers.

Modern models who displayed the latest fashions shown by Wichita Falls merchants for the autumn and winter, included Misses Alva Ruth Walker, Patricia Ward, Dorothy Nolen, Grace Williams, Madelyn McCarty, Cecelia Terrell, Verna Hendricks, Hallie Broday, Mary Fitzgerald, Mary Parrish Percyfield, Erma Schnelle, Mary Frances Millican, Marguerite Carter, Mesdames Bob Haley, Margaret Scholl, Maurine Leach, J. B. McCasland and Trent Hill. Messrs. Pat Hardage, Harold Thomas, Bert Ripley and Edward Smith modeled styles for the men. No autumn show has had more beautiful styles shown.

Mrs. John B. Rhea was dramatic chairman of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. W. N. Maer and a special committee. Mrs. Rhea's work was outstanding.

Frank Bird and his Blue Birds played the theme song.

Merchants who had models depicting the smartest attire on the runway from the stage to the audience and who cooperated in making the magnificent backgrounds and the wedding set and floral decorations were Perkins-Timberlake, P. B. M. company, W. B. McClurkan company, Elwyn, Inc., The Georgianna Shoppe, The Parisian, J. C. Penney company, Lerner and company, the Orchid Shop, Hub Clothing company, Freear Furniture company, Noble-Little Hardware and Bebb Floral company.

A Flag for Rent

LONDON.—The Duke of Marlborough probably has the cheapest rent of any one in England. Once a year he presents a small silk flag to the king's representative at Windsor. This ceremony, carried out for the past 288 years, consists of the duke's "quit rent" for the mansion and estate of Blenheim.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

When we look at the amazing amount of printed matter coming out each year, we think sometimes that half the world has caught the contagion of an incurable disease, "scribbler's itch."

◆

Very few people say outright, "I cannot write." But it is startling to face numbers of people who look upon you condescendingly and remark, "I started once to take up writing—but." With that "but" you are set in your proper place and it is a lowly one.

◆

But plenty of them do write. If they have no other way of appearing in print, they write letters to the paper on questions of local or national moment, and if they sign the letters, they usually appear in print.

◆

Sometimes people employed on newspapers write in the columns of the paper. They are divided into many classifications — these writers—rating downward from the owners and publishers, who have a right to say anything whatever they wish.

◆

The editors, of course, have the privilege of expressing views on many things and they may become widely quoted or they may be treated with ignominy. We know some brilliant editorialists in our own home town. Mere reporters are supposed to write news stories without any editorial opinion. The general public cannot understand why affairs reported are not described as told to reporter. It would make happier reporters if the world at large knew that it is the reporter who can say most in a few good English words who stands best with his newspaper.

◆

In the last few years, a branch of newspaper work which has become much cultivated is that of columnist. The big columnists who syndicate their columns, have printed at the head, "This is not the editorial view of this paper," or something to that point.

◆

When columnists began to fall down on other matters of human interest, scandal became a favorite theme. The richer the scandal, or the broader the hints, the more widely the column is read. There's always a leader in columnists of various sorts.

◆

Being a column writer is a great joy because one may say almost anything he believes. But it has serious drawbacks if a person is thin skinned for views expressed in a column give other writers a reason for shooting back at him. Personally, we enjoy it, even when they rag us.

◆

People write poetry sometimes and offer it to a newspaper free of cost if the paper will publish it. Usually they do not. These particular poets wish to tell their personal joys and woes to the world, but we believe private joys and woes may better be expressed in court. We hold with that writer who once said, "The first line of a poem is easy to write."

◆

Then the column writers who answer letters of the lovelorn or unhappy; sometimes we wonder if all the letters they answer are real or if all the answers are written from the columnist's heart. The young and lovelorn need a primer for guidance. However, they may have their hearts soothed by writing. The "scribbler's itch" is a widespread disease.

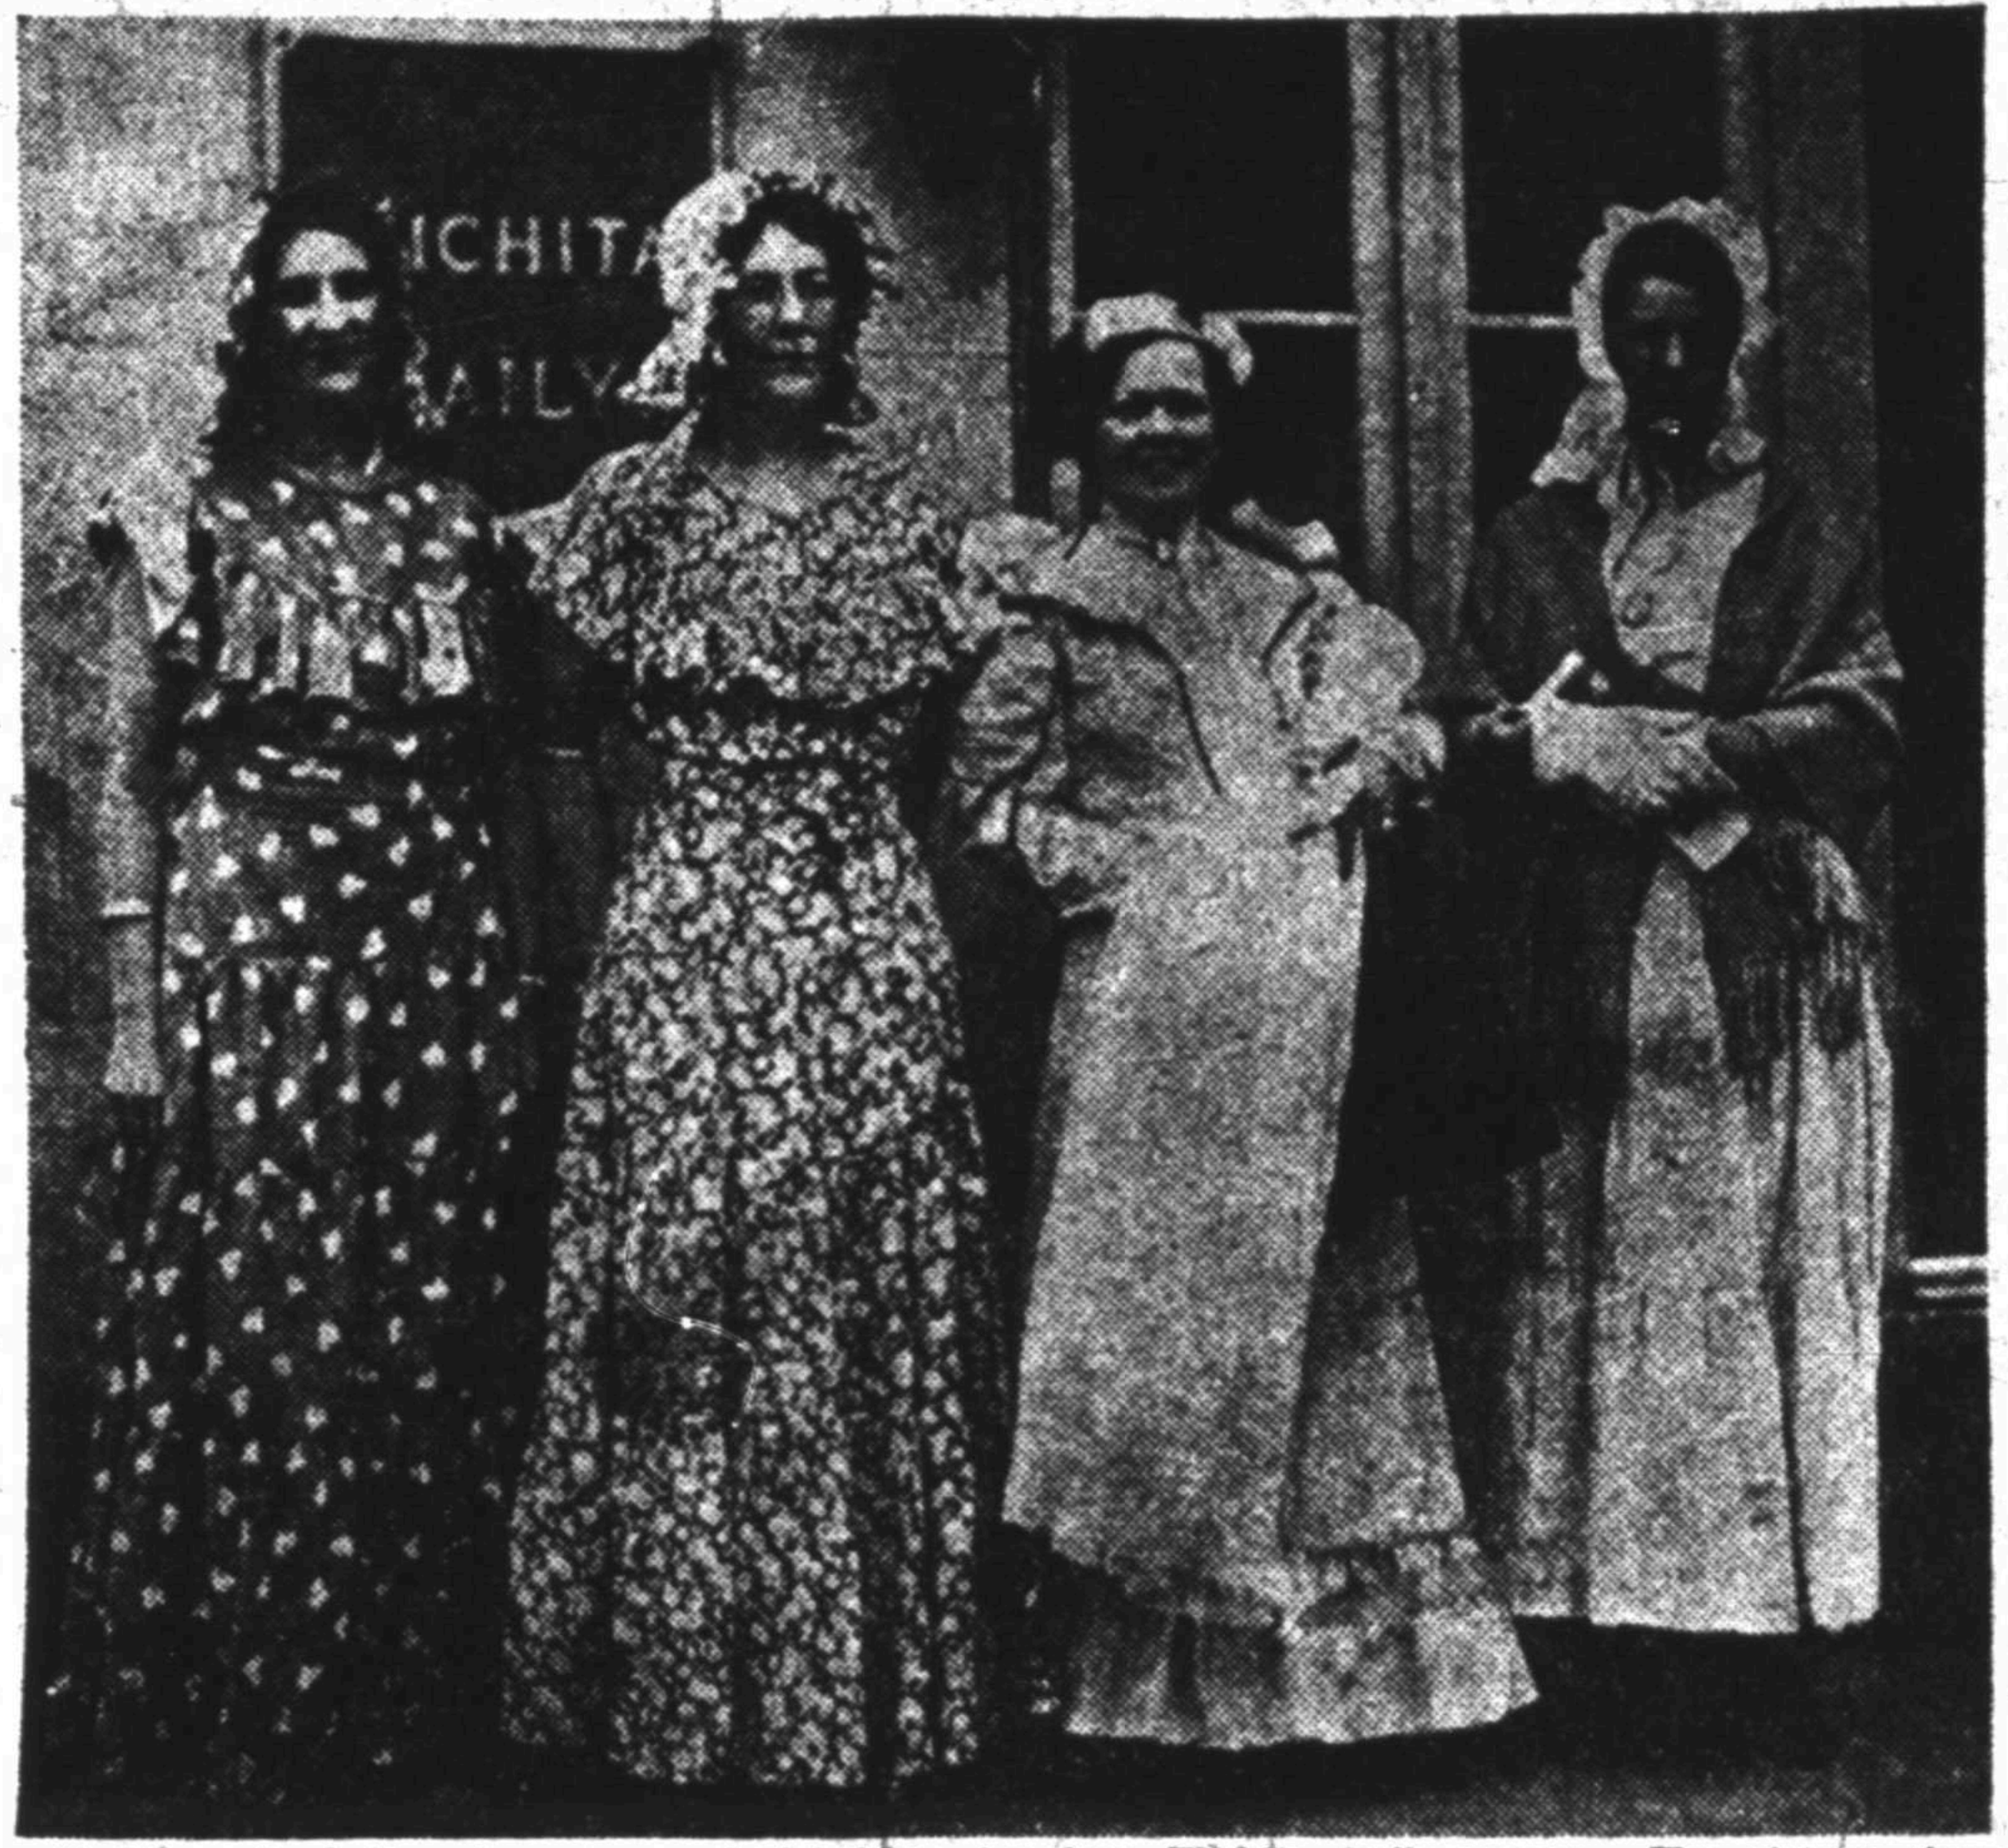
In Height Of Fashion 50 Years Ago



Fashions of a half century ago are depicted here by four Wichita Falls women. The picture shows, from left to right, Mrs. Rhea Howard, Mrs. Mack Taylor, Mrs. William E. Huff and Mrs. R. L. Hargrave arrayed in their jubilee costumes. The doll being held by Mrs. Huff wears the baby dress of William E. Huff, former president of the Wichita baseball team and leading athletic supporter.

First President Of Pioneer Study Club

Mrs. Carrie Joline

Unity Club Holds Record As Pioneer Study Club

In the three days of the golden jubilee when pioneers are the honored among all the citizens of Wichita Falls, the yellowed old pages that tell the story of the pioneer club of the icty, take on a sentiment akin to that of old friends meeting. The Unity club of Wichita Falls has established in its 36 years of existence, a record as the club pioneer, and four of the charter members of the Unity club who are still active in its work, are looked upon as gentlewomen who have stood by the city in all its vicissitudes, pointing the way to all that is best from a cultural, a spiritual and a civic standpoint.

This pioneer club had its first existence in a chautauqua circle of which some of the pioneer clubmakers were found to be members. With the growth of the town, however, a more specific program became necessary and the same nucleus of membership, joined by others who desired literary study, organized a Shakespearean class, with Mrs. Anna P. Douglas as leader.

In 1896, Mrs. Carrie Joline, whose efforts had been greatly responsible for the organization of the Shakespearean class, undertook the organization of the study club. She, with Mrs. J. A. Kemp, sought assistance from Miss Katherine Joline, assistant librarian of Princeton library, a visitor in the Joline home at that time and Mrs. L. T. Miller, who had an excellent library, became the first regular hostess to the club; her library, with outlines from Princeton library, were the literary foundation that enabled the Unity club, the first study club of Wichita Falls, to function with 10 charter members.

Mrs. Joline President

It seemed quite fitting that one who had given so much of her time to its organization should be chosen first president. Mrs. Carrie Joline was so named and the charter members were Mesdames Joline, L. T. Miller, E. B. Gorsline, J. J. Haigh, M. M. B. Darnell, C. H. Nicholson, Frank T. Daugherty, A. Zundelowitz, A. H. Carrigan and J. A. Kemp.

The Unity club has followed its object as stated in the constitution and by-laws: "For the mutual improvement of its members in literature, art, science and the vital questions of the day." The club motto declares the club principles to be "In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things, charity." The work done by the original founders, by their children who have become members, and by the group of splendid women who have also joined its ranks, has emphasized its motto, particularly in the years of depression.

Mrs. Carrigan, Historian

A brief history of the club was a beautiful feature written by Mrs. A. H. Carrigan in 1929 for the Texas Federation News. With it were pictures of Mrs. Joline, the slender and beautiful young woman who was first president and Mrs. Carrie Joline, the handsome woman of beautiful dignity known to later Wichitans. With the article was a photograph of club members at an early meeting.

Club members now registered in the Unity yearbook represent a magnificent roster of womanhood; their work speaks for itself. The active members are Mesdames G. D. Anderson, A. H. Carrigan, W. J. Daugherty, E. B. Gorsline, W. P. Ferguson, J. C. Hunt, Luther Hoffman, C. Joline, J. A. Kemp, P. P. Langford, O. E. Maer, W. N. Maer, J. T. Montgomery, Carter McGregor, H. B. Patterson, Walter Priddy, W. L. Robertson, Eugene Sherrod, Marvin Smith, C. Y. Tully, C. B. Woods and H. C. Young. Associate members include Mesdames J. C. Berney, Flora Greenwood, W. S. Langford, S. D. Lynch, and Miss Minnie Smith.

Their names are intertwined with those of pioneers.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

SULKS IN THE HOME

James is a cheerful willing child so long as he is out of the house. The moment he enters the door of home his face falls. His shoulders hunch themselves and his feet hang heavily on the ends of his legs.

"What's the matter, son?"

"Nothing."

"O, there must be something wrong to make you look like that. Tell me what it is and I'll help if I can."

"Nothing, I told you," and the tone is an affront.

When a child behaves like that, muster what patience you can and keep still. Meet his grouch with silence. Ignore him as long as you can. Give him to understand that he is to do his usual chores and then pay him no more attention. The less you say to him, the less you appear to notice his sullen face and his thumping footsteps, the sooner he will relax and come to himself.

Sulky children are tired children, sometimes. They have worked hard in school and on the playground to make themselves pleasing, to be one of the important people present. Children find this a great strain and when they get home they shed the cloak of brightness and good manners for the homespun garment of grouch and grunts. Let them be. Let them be severely and they will come to their senses the sooner.

Some children are sulky because their wills have been crossed. "If I can't have my way I won't play." They are to be shown that they will get their full share of the ways of the family and no more. It is a mistake to make the whole family bow to the aggressive greedy one. It is wise to let a sleeping dog lie, but that doesn't mean he shall get every juicy bone that comes to the table.

Sick and failing children sulk to hide their distress. When a child who has been happy and cheerful begins to look sullen, begins to sulk for no apparent reason, take him to the doctor. His digestion may be out of sorts. A sick child cannot be happy and cheerful. A failing child is so distressed that he is likely to do anything. Find the cause of his failure and help him overcome it.

Children who are without hope are sullen and they sulk. If they are punished unreasonably, if they are overworked, if they are treated with such injustice in home or in school as to make them feel that there is no use in trying, they sulk. Give them hope and they recover.

And there is the spoiled young person who is used to having everybody consider his feelings, his tastes, his desires first. He gets himself all out of proportion and at the first feeling of neglect goes into passionate sulks. Smile at him and tell him that there are other folks in the world and he must share life with them, taking what comes. A little wholesome neglect cures him in no time at all.

Find the reason for the sulks first. Then there is a chance of correcting the ideas that produce them.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing, addressed envelope for reply.

History Told In Worn Old Trunk Full Of Antiques

One of the most interesting exhibits of antiques shown in the city during the golden jubilee is held in a little boarhair covered trunk, itself an antique, owned by Mrs. Louis H. Gould and on display in the window of Mr. Gould's real estate office, 711 Scott. The trunk, which has crossed the ocean many times, belonged to Mrs. Gould's great grandfather, Edward Church, who was ambassador to France. With a number of quaint antiques it holds, there is a picture of the steamboat in which he was part owner, built after he had sold the Fulton steamboat to the government of France. His passport is a beautifully written old article. The little trunk is approximately 200 years old but carries itself bravely yet.

There are documents of interest to men, laces and porcelains that will thrill women, and tiny thimbles, spectacles in old cases, ivories and daguerrotypes that would give any one with a spark of patriotism many pleasant moments.

A worn old pocket book with the name, "John Lincoln, Dublin, 1755," is one of Mrs. Gould's treasures. It was owned by the grandfather of Abraham Lincoln and came into Mrs. Gould's possession because her family was related to that into which Abe Lincoln married—the Todds.

Judge Edward B. Church was another of Mrs. Gould's maternal ancestors, and among the treasures in the little trunk, are some of the exquisite Church laces; laces that were named in a well known novel by Gertrude Atherton. An exquisite strip of English thread lace, made on a pillow by hand more than 150 years ago, was a family heirloom that was used in Mrs. Gould's wedding dress. Other laces and an embroidered handmade reticule are touchingly beautiful things.

Kentucky Family

Judge Edwin P. Morrow of Somerset, Ky., who spoke Monday in Wichita Falls was deeply interested in the contents of the trunk that bore on the family of Judge Harry Innes, another of Mrs. Gould's direct ancestors who lived in Kentucky. "There are no finer people in the state than the Innes family," he said. A worn copy of "The Frankfort Commonwealth" of 1866 was deeply interesting to him. Probably more interesting, was a yellow strip of an old Kentucky paper that held a scathing editorial concerning one William H. Harrison who was, the writer said, about to be appointed representative to Mexico. "Surely," the editorial read, "we have had enough of this would-be great man."

There are old letters, sealed with the writer's seals, addressed to Judge Harry Innes and to Gen. Wm. H. Harrison. There is a beautiful piece of parchment on which in clear script, a parcel of land in Pennsylvania was deeded to the family; its date was 1779.

Of Interest to Women

A lady's needle book held places for needles, a cut glass perfume bottle and faded old scalloped pages. An exquisite little box of porcelain and gold held tiny things that touch the women who see them. A daguerrotype of Mrs. Gould's mother at 16 is another bit of human interest and a genuine ivory fan breathes of days when ladies wore fragile laces and carried coquettish fans and dainty bags.

There are probably more real antique articles in the little trunk than in any other one exhibit in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McFall, received announcement by wire Tuesday afternoon from Clinton, Iowa, of the arrival of their grandson, Hobart E. Martin III. Mrs. Martin is known to her many friends in Wichita Falls as Emma Frances McFall.

Unthinking Visitors Given Lecture By Emily Post

By EMILY POST
Author of "Etiquette, the Blue Book of Social Usage."

There is, as we know, a reverse side to every picture. This, then, is a picture of the distress which hospitable people are often made to suffer by the thoughtlessness of visitors who take their welcome for granted, no matter how inopportune the hour or how obviously unreasonable the intrusion. It is true that the unexpected guests of 50 years ago who, arriving at one of the big plantations or ranches, quite simply established their belongings in whichever rooms were seemingly unoccupied, are in this day almost unknown. Happily, rare too is the self-proclaimed kinsman who makes his own way to the dining room and greets his helpless hostess with a casual, "Hello, Cousin Mary, at dinner, are you? That's splendid! I'm hungry as a bear." Then draws up a chair at table as though it were a public table d'hote.

Let me explain, and quickly, that this picture is not intended to apply to relatives or to intimate friends who belong in the welcomed circle of a family. It applies solely to him whose insensibility presumes that because a great aunt's nephew was Mrs. Stranger's second cousin's wife's brother, the Stranger's home shall be considered as his own. So, even though his number be few, it may be well to tell those few that the behavior of a highwayman is scarcely better.

As I have already said, encounter with this type of person is rare, since it is seldom that those whom we do not welcome ever get on a footing of intimacy which makes such a situation possible. But there are other times in the lives of most of us when those whom we would, under many circumstances, welcome joyfully, put us in a position of momentary inhospitality that varies from slight inconvenience to actual distress. Distress for example, if we are feeling ill or if we are interrupted in a pressing piece of work by an idle someone whose mind, like her time, is emptily on her hands.

For example, the other day a writer had taken his work into his supposedly secluded garden. He sat in a broad-armed chair across which he had placed a lapboard, on which were papers, notebooks and pencils. Any one not blind could scarcely have failed to see that he was absorbed.

But into the silence of his retreat came the babbling voice of an unheeding visitor. "Oh, Mr. Scrivener, is this where you write your books? How thrilling! I came to see your wife; I hope you don't mind my sitting in this beautiful spot with you. What a lovely view! Think of working with such a beautiful view spread out before you. How lucky you authors are not to have to stay in an ugly city and be chained to business like my poor husband. Don't let me disturb you—go right on with your writing. I shall love to just sit and watch you! I'll be as quiet as a mouse."

Perhaps there are writers free from the terror of proximity which threatens interruption—a terror which like a giant sponge wipes away with ruthless stroke the fragile outlines of creative thought! If there is no printed rule of etiquette which says, "Run fast as you can from a musician composing, an author writing—from any one whose work obliges him to think"—then let us make one!

Turning from this example to a more typical variety of inopportune visiting, let us suppose that a Mr. and Mrs. Neighbor and a Mr. and Mrs. Town (who are staying with them) decide, after a substantial afternoon tea, to go for a walk, which happens to end at the roadsides. With no symptoms of hunger to remind them of supper, they arrive just as the Roadsides, who take their meals early, are about to sit down at table. If it so happens that their table is bountiful, it is simple enough to ask the Neighbors and the Towns to stay for supper. But in most houses, a meal prepared for two cannot possibly be made to serve for six. The Roadsides, therefore, feeling miserably inhospitable as well as hungry, have no choice but to wait supperless until their visitors depart.

Or to make the story more intressing, let us say that before the Neighbors and the Towns take leave, the Onthehills, having supped (or dined), arrive, and are in turn supplanted by relays of other friends throughout the evening.

Of course, how the Roadsides meet this situation depends upon many things! If they are informal and unself-conscious people, and the Onthehills are intimate friends, they tell them what has happened and add "come and sit with us while we eat our supper." On the other hand, if the Onthehills are rather formal and if perhaps they do not for one reason or another care to have the Onthehills watch them eat, the better thing for the Roadsides to do might be to bring bread and butter with coffee or cocoa, or whatever the house affords, into the living room as though they were offering evening refreshments, and make this do for their own missed "supper."

Naturally, people arriving later in the evening could have no way of knowing that the Roadsides had gone supperless, unless they are told. But there is small excuse for the Neighbors, who should have taken the trouble to think about the probable supper hour of the Roadsides. All of which is a long way around toward explaining exactly why the rules of etiquette prescribe that visiting hours be fixed between 3 and 5 in the afternoon—or in communities where evening visits are paid, at an hour well past the time when the neighborhood finishes its evening meal.

Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

If you have catarrhal deafness, or head noises, caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat, secure proper treatment at once. Sprays, salves and inhalers may bring you a temporary relief, but permanent results can only come from a constitutional treatment that will expel the catarrhal poison from your system.

Get from Allison's Drug Store or your druggist 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add ½ pint hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day; clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, mucous stop dropping. All sufferers from catarrhal deafness or head noises need the simple, pleasant, inexpensive Parmint treatment.—Adv.

A Washington Bystander

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Maybe it's the fact that he is a sort of Democratic Daniel in a den of Republican lions, so far as his state delegation goes, that makes Representative Clarence Frederick Lea of California so concerned about minorities.

CLARENCE F. LEA

Yet he personally has not suffered. He has been coming back to congress ever since his first election to the 65th, usually as the nominee of both the Democrats and Republicans of his sector, just to the north of San Francisco.

Mr. Lea, however, has been gunning for the electoral college system of picking presidents, on the theory that it is all wrong.

Several years ago he put in his first proposed constitutional amendment, doing away with the electoral college, and he repeated in the session just over, although his efforts so far have developed no great flurry of excitement "on the hill."

Submerged Minorities

What Mr. Lea objects to is the "unit rule" of the electoral college system. Under it a plurality candidate for president or vice president gets the whole electoral vote of the state.

That means, Lea contends, the minority voters, if only in the minority by one vote, are disfranchised, even though the aggregate of minorities voting for several candidates far exceeds the number supporting the plurality man.

Recapitulating his argument, Lea points to the 1928 presidential results as illustrating his point.

"In Massachusetts," he said, "Smith received slightly over 50 per cent of the popular vote and Hoover over 49 per cent. Smith got all the 18 electoral votes, Hoover none.

"Hoover received 2,200,000 votes in New York, Smith 2,100,000. Hoover had less than 50 per cent the popular vote but received the entire 45 electoral votes; Smith received 46 per cent of the popular vote and none of the electoral vote."

How Wilson Got In

The three-way 1912 contest also is a favorite Lea illustration. President Wilson got only 42 per cent of the national popular vote yet 82 per cent of the electoral vote, he points out, adding:

"That was a discrepancy of 40 per cent between the electoral and popular vote."

The Lea figures credit LaFollette in 1924 with a 16 per cent popular vote yet only a 3 per cent electoral vote. His idea about how to cure this is to credit every presidential candidate with that share of a state's electoral vote indicated by his share of the popular vote in the state.

"Under this proposal," he said, "both Hoover and Roosevelt would receive part of the electoral vote of every state. There would be no minority disfranchisement. The possibility of a miscarriage of political justice would be eliminated."

Yet, if the Lea constitutional amendment should ever be adopted, what a mess it would made of all present day methods of calculating presidential election probabilities. Nobody ever could really know in advance.

Our Dread of Robots

A FABLE that has held the attention of writers for more than a century came very close to coming true not long ago.

An English inventor had built a big steel "robot," or mechanical man, which was operated by wireless. At a word of command the robot would do various things, including fire a revolver at a target. And one day, when the inventor was just about to give the command, the robot unexpectedly raised the gun and fired, shooting the inventor in the hand.

"I always had the feeling that he would turn on me some day," the inventor remarked afterward. "I don't know why he fired before I gave the signal."

Ever since Mrs. Sheley wrote about Frankenstein, who made a mechanical man which got out of his control, this notion of an automatic lifeless man created out of machinery has attracted writers; and the writer who handles it nearly always has his mechanical man, at last, go on a rampage and start breaking things.

Indeed, the fable has become the modern ghost story. We don't shudder over tales of spooks and ha'nts the way our fathers did, but we can always get cold chills by thinking about a steel monster that goes about with no brain or heart to control it. We find it more horrifying to think of a body without a soul than to think of a soul without a body. Furthermore, we find it easier to believe in such a thing.

And now, apparently, it has happened. Life has imitated art once more. A robot has shot its master.

A psychologist could probably make a good deal out of this fascinated dread of ours for mechanical monsters. Machinery has created a revolution in our life. The wage-earner, the farmer, the soldier, the merchant, the politician, the schoolmaster, the printer—all of us, in every moment of our lives, live differently than our ancestors lived because of the constant increase in the mechanization of society.

In a very literal sense, we are the servants of our machines. Is it any wonder that we have created a literature about the mechanical man and have raised up a steel bogey to frighten ourselves?

Walker's Waning Star

THE action of the New York courts in refusing to permit a special mayoralty election this fall seems to make it certain that Joseph McKee will continue to be the city's mayor at least until the end of 1933. More important, it makes it highly improbable that Jimmy Walker will ever return to that post.

Walker resigned as mayor in order to "seek vindication at the polls." At the moment it looked as if he would be triumphantly reelected. But events moved a trifle too rapidly for him. The contrast between the kind of government he had given the city and the businesslike, efficient kind that McKee proceeded to set up was too marked for any man to miss. Within a week after his resignation, Walker's star was waning visibly.

And now the election is put off a year. Can Walker save his martyr's pose for another 12 months and make any impression on the electorate with it? It seems highly improbable.

Jobless But Not Useless

A SAMPLE of the way in which a city can turn the energies of its jobless citizens to good account was provided this fall in a Middle-Western industrial town, which has just opened a charming new park where a dismal rubbish heap held sway a few months ago.

The rubbish heap was turned into a park by the unemployed, working under the direction of officials of a charitable organization. The unemployed were being supported by the organization anyway; They had no chance of getting any other work; they were glad to be able to make some sort of return for the help they were getting.

So now the city has a nice new park, which will be a delight to its citizens for years to come—and it got it at no extra cost. The stunt is well worth copying elsewhere.

Beware of False Bargains

WHILE the steady decline of prices of retail merchandise has taught the buying public to look for bargains these days, a number of merchants are pointing out, quite properly, that a lot of very shoddy merchandise is coming into the market with nothing but its extreme cheapness to recommend it. And it might be added that buying goods of that sort can be the worst kind of bargain the buyer can make.

Of course, prices of high grade articles are lower now than they have been in years. It is a good time to be buying—so long as you make sure that you are getting a genuine bargain and are not paying your money to some unscrupulous profiteer.

SO THEY SAY!

Things I Never Noodle Now (But which you knew all along. Oh, sure!)

That jazz was invented by Beethoven. (Oh, if you must have proof, note the syncopation in the Scherzo of his B Flat quartet).

That among other nifties in a North Platte, Neb., beanery is this: "Mary had a little lamb. What's yours?" (Kinda ka-yute, wot?)

That a grocery store at 1061 Rutland Road in Brooklyn (America) is owned by a man named B. Sicker.

That most Chicago scribes still call Amos 'n' Andy—Sam 'n' Henry, because that's what they called them before they got famous.

That Voltaire, who flayed the rogues of his day, stole candles!

That in Baltimore thousands annually visit the "house where Poe wrote 'The Raven'" which he wrote here on B'way at 84th St.

That the B.M.T., (Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit to you outtatown subscribers!) owns, of all things, a Coney carousel!

That James Cagney was once a bath attendant at P. S. No. 1 (Long Island City), you probably knew. But did you know that the reason he wants to be a doctor is that he yens to aid the ailing? (Tough guy?).

That when a jeweler says "Ouch!" he isn't always hurt, you dope. An ouch is the trade name for a socket in the setting.

That in Milan if your party doesn't answer when you phone, then you dial the message, which writes on his phone pad!

That Phoenix, Ariz., racetrackgoers beat the state's anti-gambling laws by buying an "interest" in a horse for the duration of a race. If it finishes in the money, a dividend is paid to investors!

That when a local 1st Grade Detective is promoted as a Sergeant his annual pay is reduced $500. (Some Price, Glory!).

That Mary's lamb didn't follow her to school, at all. Her kid brother carried it there. (Do you really enjoy this stuff?).

That when you sell an article for ¼ above the cost your profit is 25 per cent? You know that, huh? But you don't! The profit is only 20 per cent. (Look. He knows better than professors of mathematics!) Wanna wager?

That when Quene Victoria died the American public was informed of the fact before the British.

That John Brown, famed slave-friend, killed one!

That Charles VII received his mistress, Agnes Sorel, as a present from—of all people—his mother-in-law!!!

That in 1898 a song containing the line "she's the hottest thing you ever seen" was thus declared obscene, and denied a copyright.

That no aviator will hit 750 miles an hour and live to tell about it. Because as soon as he would stop—accumulated noises following on behind would crash into and kill him! (The W. W. is a marvel!)

That though an airplane speeding at 750 miles per hour accumulates deadly noises, it approaches spectators in absolute silence!

That Chas. II attended by 14 doctors, died, of course.

That in Australia an exhibitor must include, 1,000 feet of British film in every program, or close up.

That in 1633 William Prynne had his ears cut off, and he was sentenced to life imprisonment. Because he penned criticisms against the Theater! (Equity probably will put this on its bulletin board).

That "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and Milton's "Paradise Lost" were repeatedly rejected by English publishers. Worthless, they said.

That that cop who installed and ran the Lima, Peru, traffic system was once one of the New York Mulrooney's (Finest to you).

That the Salvation Army will gladly sell you things that they get for nothing. (For the fund, one presumes).

That Liechtenstein, the smallest principality in the world, has been technically at war for 66 years! (It has 4 soldiers! Haw!)

That John Cleland was hailed bebefore the English Privy Council for writing "Fanny Hill." (And rewarded with a pension of $500 a year!)

That the same year, "Tom Jones," a classic and recommended by most educators, was suppressed in France as "an immoral work."

That there are 6,055 trees in Manhattan. (72 on Broadway!)

That 1,056 persons were dropped from "Who's Who" last year and 3,423 added. (Look, he's bragging again).

That Margaret Bourke-White summed up the entire Russian sitcheeayshun in ten words: "Little food, no shoes, terrible inefficiency, steady progress, great hope."

That the old Tzarist regime of Russia was summed up in four words, like this: "Absolutism tempered by assassination."

And that a Goona-Goona Love drink (cocktail, you chump!) is made in this manner: One-half lemon, one-half orange juice, dash grenadine, one white of egg, one jigger bacardi. (Then try to kiss your gal ta-ta!)

Greek Premier Wins Majority in Parliament

ATHENS, Sept. 27. (AP)—Premier Eleutherios Venizelos was assured today of 100 seats in the Greek parliament against 90 for the Monarchists as returns from Sunday's election became more nearly complete.

He also will have a large majority in the senate and indicated he would ask the president of the republic to invite the Monarchist party to recognize the republic.

If the Monarchists accept, he said, it would make possible the formation of an alleged government, but if they refused he would make an effort to modify the constitution to amplify the president's authority to take care of any dangerous situation that might arise.

Rail Car Loadings Climb During Month

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (AP)—The Burlington railroad announced today that for the first time since 1925 September car loadings exceeded those of August and that the nature of the increased loadings "indicate improvement in industrial activities."

"The Burlington loaded 3,758 cars last Saturday, the biggest loading day of the year with one exception," said H. H. Holcomb, vice president in charge of traffic.

"We now estimate total loadings for September will be more than 91,000 cars, exceeding August loadings by 4,000 cars, despite the fact that September has two less loading days than August.

"This is the first time since 1925 that September loadongs exceeded those of August. The pickup was general and the most encouraging feature is that miscellaneous loadings which include general industrial tonnage, are gradually picking up, indicating improvement in indsutrial activities."

Col. Zack Miller Continues Fight

MARLAND, Okla., Sept. 27. (AP)—More of the vast 101 ranch went under the auctioneer's hammer yesterday, but Col. Zack Miller, last of the three brothers who developed the property into a western show place, declares he is "not yet unhorsed."

The veteran plainsman is fighting in the courts to keep the ranch "White House," the Miller home, and 160 acres surrounding it.

"It's up to me to save something for my children and I do not intend to quit trying," he said.

The Bar L part of the ranch consisting of 3,000 acres, went to the Passumpsic Savings bank of Baltimore, the mortgagee, at yesterday's sale. The bid was $41,500.

Colonel Miller's latest plan is to obtain refinancing through sale of 101 ranch certificates to the public. He is asking the state issues commission for approval of the plan.

The ranch has been in receivership several months.

ELECTORS ON TEXAS BALLOT

Presidential Candidates Won't Appear

AUSTIN, Sept. 27. (INS)—The names of the Texas presidential electors will appear on the general election ballot instead of the names of the candidates, Secretary of State Jane Y. McCallum announced today.

A recently enacted law provided that, in order to shorten the ballot, the names of the presidential candidates should appear on the ballot. A vote for a candidate would be construed as a vote for the electors of the candidate's party.

The secretary of state, however, has questioned the validity of this law. An opinion from the attorney general's department today sustained her contention that the names of the electors must go on the ballot.

American Plane Seized in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 27. (AP)—Federal troops stood guard today at Guerrero, Coahuila, over an airplane owned by the Independent Oil company of San Antonio, Texas, to prevent Mexican customs guards from attempting to seize the ship which made a forced landing there during a storm yesterday.

A dispatch from Piedras Negras tonight said Gen. Porfirio Caden, military commander, had ordered soldiers to guard the ship and under no condition to allow customs guards to take possession of it or the pilot, Bill Murphy, pending telegraphic instructions from Mexico City.

Murphy was forced to land the plane during a tornado. It was damaged when it settled down at Guerrero, on the banks of the Rio Grande, some 100 miles northwest of Laredo, Texas.

Murphy satisfied the federal troops he was not engaged in contraband activities, but customs guards wanted to apply the letter of the law regarding seizure of planes landing illegally in Mexico.

This little town is the scene of Mark Twain's classic jumping frog tale and it is probably this story that has suggested the present contests. CUBS AND YANKS READY TO BATTLE FOR 'GOLD AND GLORY'

Lookouts Win Dixie Series Championship With 7 To 3 Victory

WORLD SERIES OPENS TODAY

Cold Weather and Rain May Hold Crowd Down

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—In a setting that may lack its customary jam and jubilee unless the weather and box-office conditions take a quick turn for the better, the battle for world series baseball "gold and glory" will start tomorrow to determine whether the New York Yankees have the power to overthrow the hustling Chicago Cubs.

Yankees Favorites

For reasons not quite clear to the innocent bystanders, the Yankees will go into their seventh world series at least 2 to 1 favorites to bring the big banner back to the American league, despite the well-known illness of their biggest batting threat, Babe Ruth, and the lately developed shakiness of their pitching staff. If it is power alone that establishes the New Yorkers so firmly as pre-series favorites, the Cubs feel convinced they have the speed, pitching craft and fighting spirit to offset it.

Aside from all the inevitable arguments before the battle, however, the salient prospects are for a pitching duel between Guy Bush of the Cubs and Charley (Red) Ruffing of the Yankees for the opening games, showery weather and a turnout of cash customers not likely to exceed 40,000.

Cold Weather Menace

Box-office conditions were not improved by today's cold, dismal outlook. The rain and chilly weather kept the Cubs, who arrived at 10 a. m., as well as the Yankees, from risking their muscles in workouts.

Unless there is something more than a shower, however, tomorrow's opener will go in at 1:30 p. m., eastern standard time, with Mayor Joseph V. McKee tossing out the first ball and a notable crowd, including Speaker John N. Garner, assembled along the sidelines, even if the big American league park is away short of its capacity of 69,000 customers.

If a postponement is necessitated, the series start will be put back to Thursday, with the second game here Friday and the opening of the three-game set in Chicago Sunday.

Ticket Sale Slumps

Despite the slump in the sale of 35,000 reserved grandstand and box seats, Baseball Commissioner Landis today rejected the suggestion of Yankee officials that the club be permitted to sell single-game pasteboards instead of continuing to offer them on the customary three-game basis. The regulations call for a purchaser to put down $16.50 to $19.80, depending on whether he wants a reserved grandstand seat or a box chair, for the first, second and sixth games, scheduled here. The commissioner declined to make any last-minute changes for the purpose of stimulating the customers. Such a change, he concluded, would be unfair to previous buyers.

The consequence is, however, that less than half the reserved seats have been sold and that the prospects of anything approximating a typical world series turnout depends on the sale of 12,000 unreserved grandstand seats at $3.30 each, and 22,000 bleacher seats, at $1.10 each, tomorrow morning starting at 10 o'clock.

Crowds Arrive

If most or all of these unreserved places are sold, the probabilities are the crowd will go beyond 40,000 and the gate receipts touch $150,000. The figures, however, are well short of the series records of 63,660 and $224,130, both established at the Yankee stadium.

Meanwhile the Cubs rolled into town, good-natured, pepped up and confident under Charley Grimm's leadership, even though they ran at once into a solid phalanx of overwhelming Yankee sentiment. As the Chicago delegation viewed it, after listening for a few hours to the tales of that mighty Yankee power, of Babe Ruth's recuperative powers and the pitching they will bump into from the outset, the New Yorkers seem certain to suffer from over-confidence.

Cub Prexy Confident

"They've heard so often that they can't lose, inasmuch as they didn't drop a single game in their last two world series battles in 1927-28, that they may suddenly find they are quite vlunerable," suggested Bill Veeck, the popular president of the Cubs. To which the National league's chief executive, John Arnold Heydler added:

"I think the Yankees will suffer from too strong a belief in metropolitan superiority. They will find out the Cubs are a much better ball club than they have been led to expect. I look for the National league champions to show the same kind of spirit and effective baseball that enabled the Cardinals to overthrow the Athletics last year."

Starting with Guy Bush, the Mississippi curve-ball star who scored the Cub's only victory over the Athletics in 1929, the National leaguers believe they will have a decided edge in the vital department of pitching. Grimm has not committed himself as to his choice for the second game but it will be either Lon Warneke, the freshman sensation of the year, or Charley Root, the veteran fast-ball artist.

Ruffing Certain Starter

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees meanwhile disposed of doubts about his opening day plans by conforming to the popular choice of Ruffing, big starboard flinger who has a batting punch of his own to back up his mound efforts.

For the second game, scheduled Thursday at the stadium, it may be Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, the eccentric southpaw, or it may be Johnny Allen, youthful right-handed star.

McCarthy not only discounted any idea that Rauth will fail to be as big a menace at the plate as ever but denied he had any apprehensive feeling about the fitness of his pitching staff.

Changes Made In Crowell Grid Schedule

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, Sept. 27.—Two changes have been made in the Crowell football schedule. Eldorado, Okla., will play the Wildcats at Crowell Oct. 14, and Matador will play at Crowell Thanksgiving. Previously the Matador game had been scheduled for Oct. 14 and Thanksgiving was an open date.

Probable Starters In World Series Today

Both Grimm and McCarthy Express Confidence Of Victory In Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—Skippers of each of the rival teams that will open the world series today expressed confidence that the "gold and glory" of the 1932 baseball season will be returned to their city. Here's their statements on the eve of battle:

Manager Charley Grimm of the Chicago Cubs:

"It's going to be a great series and, naturally, I think we'll win. I won't attempt to say how many games it will go but we're going to do our best to grab these first two games here and then finish it at Wrigley field.

"My men aren't scared of the Yankee hitters. We have confidence in our pitchers. We don't expect them to stop a bunch of hitters like the Yanks. Not entirely. But we can go out and get a few runs ourselves.

"Guy Bush is my choice for tomorrow, with Lon Warneke likely to pitch the second game. If it stays cool like this Bush should win. He's a smart pitcher and this stuff about him liking hot weather is the bunk. He likes it cool."

Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees:

"It's a toss-up, a great natural series between the two biggest cities in the country.

"There's no telling whether it will be a pitchers' or a hitters' series. We've got the hitting edge but some times that doesn't mean much in a short series like this. The big hitters are liable to belt every ball right at a fielder at a critical moment.

"I think we'll win all right. There isn't a limp or a gimp on the club. We're in grand shape from top to bottom.

"I haven't the faintest idea who my pitchers will be after the first game. I've got to wait and see what happens but you can safely say that Ruffing will start the opening game for us."

GIANTS DRAFT HOMER PEEL

Majors Take Only Four Players From Minors

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—The smallest list of drafted players on record came out of the annual major league draft meeting on the eve of the world series tonight. Only four, three of them pitchers were selected by the major league clubs.

A year ago 15 players were selected and that list showed a falling off from the few years before when more than 20 were selected each season. In 1929, the largest number of players in the past five seasons, 26, were drafted.

All four of the players drafted were from class AA leagues although one of them, Homer Peel, chosen by the New York Giants, played through the season with the Houston club in the Texas league, which carries an "A" rating. Peel was taken from the Columbus American association team, another of the St. Louis Cardinals' string of farms. He formerly played with the Cardinals and Detroit. Peel, the only outfielder on the list, hit .339 for Houston.

The Chicago White Sox selected Pitcher Joe Heving, who once played with the Giants, from Indianapolis in the American association.

The Detroit Tigers drafted Frank Nekola, once a star college pitcher at Holy Cross, from Newark's International league champions.

The Chicago Cubs chose another hurler, Lynn Nelson of Seattle.

Maxie to Fight Stribling Next

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—The heavyweight division of the fight game has "turned the corner" if the plans mapped out today for Max Schmeling and the remainder of the contenders for Jack Sharkey's championship are carried out.

Riding the wave of enthusiasm that followed Schmeling's sensational eight round technical knockout of Mickey Walker last night, Madison Square garden laid out a program that will send the former heavyweight title holder into battle twice before next summer, when Max, if his success continues, will face Sharkey for the championship for the third time.

The garden wants to pair Max Baer, lanky California belter who scored a technical knockout over Tuffy Griffiths in Chicago last night while Schmeling was crushing Walker here, against the man mountain of the dvision, Primo Carnera, in an indoor match for November. Schmeling will meet the winner of this bout here in June, after a winter warmup against young Bill Stribling in Miami in February.

The collision occurred when the Spanish ship was leaving Santa Cruz.

The stem of the Isla de Teneriffe was twisted down. It was uncertain to what extent the Homeric was damaged.

BEARS DEFEAT MINNEAPOLIS

Newark Team Takes Lead In Little World Series

RUPPERT STADIUM, NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 27. (AP)—Don Brennan's four-hit pitching, backed up by hard hitting and remarkable speed on the bases, gave the Newark Bears, champions of the International league, a 11 to 0 triumph over Minneapolis of the American association, in the opening game of the little world series today.

Brennan, ace right-hander of the Bears, who won 25 games during the regular campaign, was in complete control of the situation all the way. His mates, led by Charlie Hargreaves, pounded four Miller veterans for 16 hits and stole three bases in their romp to the lead in the classic of the double "A" leagues.

Hargreaves poled his first homer of the season into the right field bleachers in the second inning to give Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Newark team as well as the New York Yankees, his first thrill. He added three singles to his collection before the end and drove in four runs.

Aside from dreary weather that kept down the attendance to about 8,000, the game had all the earmarks of an inter-league series. Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, headed the list of baseball dignitaries present and acting Gov. A. Crozier Reeves represented the state of New Jersey.

Brennan was honored before the game, city commission William J. Egan presenting him with an automobile in behalf of the fans.

Rosy Bill Ryan, most consistent winner for the American association pennant winners in his own league, was Manager Donnie Bush's choice to start but he was wild and walked five, had two wild pitches and was nicked for six hits before he was yanked in the fourth inning. Elm Vanglider, another right-hander, Rube Benton, 43-year-old veteran southpaw, and Carmen Hill, a right-hander, followed in that order without stopping the run manufacturing of the Bears.

The teams meet in a night game, starting at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow, meet again here Friday and then shift to Minneapolis for the final four-or-less battles. Score:

Mrs. Opal Hill Loses Golf Battle

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 27. (AP)—Mrs. Opals Hill of Kansas City, western golf champion, today was the victim of the outstanding upset in the first round match play in the women's national title tournament at the Salem Country club. She battled for 20 holes before surrendering to Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., by a one up margin.

Three of the other 15 matches were almost as close, going to the 19th hole for the decision. In the overtime matches Jean Armstrong, Winnetka, Ill., defeated Aniela Goreczyca, Fort Worth, Texas; Peggy Wattles, Buffalo, triumphed over Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, who has held the national title three times, and Grace English, from nearby Lynnfield, outlasted Bea Gottlieb, Great Neck, N. Y., all by one hole margins.

Three more of the first founders were not decided until the home green was played and during the keen competition Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, a former Canadian champion, nosed out Jane Brooks of Sparkhill, N. Y., Mrs. Hartley G. Higbie, Detroit, defeated Lucille Robinson of Des Moines, and Charlotte Glutting, Fort Hills, N. J., prevailed over Mary K. Browne of Willoughby, Ohio, all the victors squeezing into the second round on 1 up decisions.

The outstanding favorites, however, were not extended. Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, five times champion, shot the best golf of the day to eliminate Mrs. Karl Scheidt, Norristown, Pa., by 7 and 5. Maureen Orcutt, co-medalist, upset Frances Snyder, Rye, N. Y., 5 and 3, and Virginia Van Wie registered an easy 5 and 4 victory over Mrs. B. P. Meckley of Silver Spring, Md.

Govro And Ropo To Wrestle Again

Promotor Whitey Govro will get another chance at Don "Ropo" Humberto in a "grudge battle" Friday night as the feature attraction on the weekly wrestling show. The two met a couple of weeks ago and the Mexican won after slinging his knees low and his fists to the jaw, and Whitey is not at all satisfied.

The big promotor was at one time the popular idol of the fans here and was a consistent winner, and is very anxious to go back into his former stride.

The semifinal this week will be another of the world's junior middleweight championship tournament matches and will bring together Shiek Marralah of Persia and Jack Curtis of San Antonio. Both of these men are well known wrestlers of the junior middleweight division and a whale of a scrap can be expected from them.

VERNON OPENS WITH DUKE

Lions to Take Last Open Workout Today

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Sept. 27.—The final open workout before the initial game of the 1932 season for the Lion football squad is scheduled Wednesday at the City park. The Vernon eleven opens the season Friday afternoon here with Duke, Okla., a team which the Lions defeated 25-6 two years ago in the last joust between the two clubs.

Halfback Injured

The first major casualty of the season for Vernon gridders occurred Monday afternoon when Harold Wilson, reserve halfback, suffered a broken left collar bone which will probably keep him out of the lineup the remainder of the season. The injury was suffered in the same way in which J. Z. Powell, Wichita Falls quarterback, sustained a possible fracture of the collar bone Friday, which will keep the Coyote signal caller from the game an indefinite period. Wilson leaped after a pass during pass-catching practice Monday and fell heavily on his left shoulder, snapping the collar bone.

The Lions were driven through a stiff three-hour workout Monday afternoon as Head Coach W. C. Weir and Assistants Ralph Binnion, Curtis Beaty, and Bob Dickenson corrected faults in the play of the squad in Friday's intra-squad contest. A hard scrimmage session featured the workout, with the Vernon mentors attempting to straighten out the offense which was very unimpressive in Friday's tussle. There were plenty of corrections made, and Friday's contest showed the formidable task facing Lion coaches in putting together a capable team from the inexperienced and light performers on the squad.

Tentative Lineup

A tentative first string line-up which saw much service Monday included Odis Mamey at center; Billy Reed and Paul Taylor, guards; Tarleton Jones and Howard Lisman, tackles; Henry Galloway and Henry Ben Hopson, ends; T. M. Watson, quarterback; Guy Wheeler and Capt. H. A. Thompson, half backs and Paris Grogan, fullback.

The above line-up delegated a number of players to the second string temporarily. Aside from the regular line-up, the outstanding backs since Wilson's injury are Edwin Garner, quarterback; J. B. Davis and Don Donahue, halfbacks; and Ed Miller, fullback; not an impressive reserve list. Wilson was one of the fastest backs on the squad, but lacked experience and weight for a regular at the time of his injury. He was a hurdler on the Lion track team of last year.

Ratan Takes Lead In Mat Tournament

The tournament to select the junior middleweight champion of the world opened last night in Govro arena with Silent Ratan taking an early lead with two straight falls from Otis Hedrick on the main event. Ratan showed the fans worlds of cleverness and won both falls with flying head scissors. The semifinal ended in a draw between Sheik Marralah, junior middleweight champion of Asia, and one of the chief contenders for the crown, and Tuffy McMullen of Dallas, one of the leading junior middleweights of the Southwest. Marralah won the first fall and McMullen the second. It was a 45-minute time limit match.

The card for tonight was announced by Promotor Govro as Sheik Marralah and Jack Curtis of San Antonio, carded as the main event while Silent Ratan takes on Clyde Wade on the semifinal. Special prices for tonight will prevail.

COYOTES GET NEW UNIFORMS

33 Members of Squad Given Fiery Grid Togs

Red-hued uniforms were issued to 33 members of the Wichita Falls High school football team yesterday by Head Coach Ted Jefferies. The Coyotes made a fiery appearance on the field at two workouts, one in the morning and the other late in the afternoon, and the zest of the members ran true to the resplendent color scheme of the new grid togs.

The morning workout was the longer of the two and was devoted to dummy scrimmage and practice in the kick-off. In the afternoon the teams ran through signal drills and practiced the kick from placement for extra point.

Team Improves

The squad yesterday gave signs of much improvement in the running off of plays. The signal drills showed that each man is gradually grasping the nature of his duties. Coach Jefferies, seeing this, arose to the occasion by giving his squad three new plays to work on.

J. Z. Powell, quarterback suffering from an injured shoulder, again was in uniform but was still suffering with what had at first been feared was a fractured collar bone. An x-ray photograph Tuesday morning revealed there was no fracture, but that shoulder ligaments had been torn. Powell fell on his right shoulder last Friday after leaping in the air to catch a pass. It is still doubtful if he will be in the starting lineup when the Coyotes go against Ardmore next Friday here.

Given Uniforms

The squadmen issued uniforms yesterday included Capt. Ed Greenwood, Bob Decker, Charles Rice, R. J. Byrd, Vernon McDaniel, Leroy McBride, Bob Brabdon, Jasper McBride, W. J. Hawthorne, J. Z. Powell, Cleo Creecy, Bob Williamson, Forrest Heath, J. L. Creecy, Willard Smith, Melvin Rogers, Phillip Allen, Charlie Hurd, George Dimock, Burns McKinney, Preston Thompson, Weldon Beck, Allen Robinson, Arvin Norwood, W. D. Tollett, Ferris Johnson, R. D. Foster, Fred Stephenson, Dan Lundien, Jack Randolph, Jimmie Hill, A. G. Fletcher, Cleve Pierson and Ted Bratton.

Missing Banker To Face Charges Of Embezzlement

CHEROKEE, Okla., Sept. 27. (AP)—Walter Ingram, bank examiner, had instructions today from W. J. Barnett, state bank commissioner, to file embezzlement charges against H. C. Doherty, missing cashier of the Burlington State bank.

Barnett directed that Doherty, who disappeared from his home at Burlington, Sept. 18, be charged with embezzlement of $8,200 in notes and bonds. The bank was closed a few days after Doherty's disappearance.

Search for Doherty has been pressed in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. Mysterious notes and telephone calls to relatives, indicating the possibility he had met with foul play, have complicated the search. His automobile was found abandoned south of Oklahoma City, Sept. 21.

Borrowed on Policy

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 27. (AP)—State Bank Commissioner W. J. Barnett said today he had learned that Henry C. Doherty, missing Burlington banker, borrowed $100 on a life insurance policy here Sept. 17, before he disappeared.

The commissioner made the revelation after dispatching an examiner to Cherokee to confer with Alfalfa county officials regarding an alleged shortage of $7,855 in the Burlington bank's note case. Barnett said a federal reserve "cash letter" also was missing.

State Examiner W. M. Ingram took charge of the bank last Tuesday when officials reported their cash reserve was too low to keep the institution open.

Peckinpaugh To Stay With Tribe

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27. (AP)—Roger Peckinpaugh will manage the Cleveland Indians for his sixth consecutive year with Bib Falk, pilot of the Toledo Mud Hens this season, as his assistant.

Announcement of Peckinpaugh's retention and appointment of Falk as coach was made in a telegram received from Alva Bradley, president of the Indians, shortly after his arrival in New York today to attend the world series. Details were not disclosed.

Decision of the Indians' directorate to stand by Peckinpaugh, whose teams never have finished lower than fourth after his first year as manager, ended rumors a change would be made.

Peckinpaugh particularly came in the limelight on the club's last eastern road trip when he suspended Wesley Ferrell, the Tribe's leading pitcher, for 10 days for a display of temperament when ordered from the box in a game at Boston.

Bellevue Points For Bowie Game

Special to The Record News.

BELLEVUE, Texas, Sept. 27.—The Bellevue High school football team is rapidly rounding into form, with Coach Miller working with a nucleus of six returning letter men and a fine bunch of hustling squadmen. Twenty-four boys are going through daily training grinds. The squad represents the best crop of football material in several years.

Van Orman Believed Winner Balloon Race

BERLIN, Sept. 27. (AP)—A Telegrafen Union dispatch from Warsaw today said the U. S. navy balloon which landed this morning on the Polish-Latvian frontier had won the Gordon Bennett cup race.

The distance it traveled from Basel where the race started was given as 1,500 kilometers, nearly 950 miles.

BASLE, Switzerland, Sept. 27. (UP)—Ward T. Van Orman, veteran American balloonist, appeared today to have won the James Gordon Bennett cup international balloon race for the fifth time with a flight from Basle to Kovno, Lithuania, in the Goodyear VIII.

Van Orman notified officials of the race here that he landed at Kovno, about 900 miles on an air line, at 8:30 a. m. today.

The last of the 16 balloons to report itself was the U. S. Navy which landed at Wasynie, near Vilna, Lithuania, at 10 a. m. The distance was slightly short of that to Kovno, making Van Orman the apparent winner and giving the United States permanent possession of the cup.

The pilot of the navy balloon, Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle, and his aid, Alfred Bushnell, were reported in good condition.

SHIPPERS DROP FOURTH IN ROW

Teans Held to Five Hits By McColl

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 27. (AP)—Chattanooga's Southern association pennant winners won the Dixie series four games to one, clinching the championship of Dixie here this afternoon by defeating Beaumont, Texas league champions, 7 to 3.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Lookouts, Beaumont having won the first game played in Texas last Tuesday, 1 to 0, a home run by Hank Greenberg, Shipper first baseman deciding a pitchers' battle between Herring of Beaumont and Barfoot of Chattanooga.

McColl Wins Third

Today's was the third victory in the series for Alexander "Red" McColl. Hensel Hulvey, also a right-hander, defeated Beaumont 6 to 4 here Sunday.

For Manager Bert Niehoff of the Lookouts, today's victory was the second in Dixie series records. Niehoff managed the Mobile Southern association champions who defeated Fort Worth in 1922. He becomes the first Southern pilot to turn the trick twice, just as he was the first to do it once.

The game, played on a field heavy from two days of intermittent rain, was a mixture of sloppy and brilliant fielding, the brilliance provided by Infielders Kingdon, Wilburn and Travis for Chattanooga and Newsome of Beaumont and the sloppiness a muffed fly by Outfielder Hughes of Beaumont and a poor toss by Kingdon.

A crowd unofficially estimated at 2,500 attended.

Boss Leads Attack

Harley Boss, Lookout first baseman with a perfect day, two doubles and two singles, led the Chattanooga attack, which consisted of a round dozen blows, five of them doubles by virtue of ground rules. He drove in three runs.

Greenberg, heretofore dangerous Exporter batsman, went hitless and fanned twice. McColl held the Texans to five hits, struck out four, walked one and hit one.

Kingdon's bobble on Benton's roller, Kingdon's poor throw trying to force him at second and Easterling's rousing double scored two for Beaumont in the first.

Lookouts Tie Score

The Lookouts tied it up in the fourth. Bonowitz opened with a double and Gill followed suit. Hughes dropped Reese's easy fly in center field and Gill scored the tying run when Bolton hit into a double play, Holley to Newsome to Greenberg. The game was won with a four-run splurge in the fourth. McColl opened with a single behind first and with one out Bonowitz rolled to Goldstein who threw past second trying to force McColl. Gill forced Bonowitz, McColl taking third. Gill stole second and he and McColl scored on Reese's double. Schulz replaced Goldstein on the hill for Beaumont and walked Bolton and Travis to fill the bases. Boss singled to score Reese and Bolton.

Boss' double scored Bolton, who had opened the seventh with a two-base hit to end the scoring for Chattanooga. Pasek, batting for Schulz doubled to start the Beaumont eighth, went to third on Holley infield hit and scored after the catch on Benton's fly to left.

Easterling, Fritz and Reiber were infield outs in the ninth to end the game.

Senator Gore said that if satisfaction with the present administration is Hoover's main claim to re-election "only the postmasters will vote for him."

Senator Gore is scheduled to speak in Wichita Falls Wednesday.

Originators of the sport of water polo—Electra and Iowa Park firemen—will meet in the final contest Wednesday night on Sixth street at the Memorial auditorium. Iowa Park was victor in the Tuesday night elimination.

Wichita Falls defeated Archer City in the first game and Electra won over Quanah in the second. In the final clash the Electra veterans spun the 30-inch metal ball through the guard of Chief J. L. McClure's Wichitans to take the title for the evening.

The show is staged nightly during the jubilee under direction of Capt. J. E. Musick of Burkburnett.

'Hired Hand' Gives Honors to Rodeo

Harold Hough, prominent Fort Worth resident and known over the Southwest as the Hired Hand of station WBAP in that city, alternated at the microphones for the loudspeakers and for KGKO at the Tuesday afternoon show of the jubilee rodeo.

Mr. Hough went on the air again Tuesday night over KGKO as master of ceremonies for a short period of broadcasting of vocal and instrumental talent in the Fort Worth delegation here for the day.

The veteran Hired Hand paid a high compliment to the jubilee rodeo in the statement, "The rodeo here astounds me in the number and character of arena artists entering the events. I don't know what did it but the Wichita Falls show has drawn contestants that appear at no other show in the Southwest, except, possibly the Fort Worth stock show."

Mickey Hurley of Fort Worth, active member of the delegation, placed the statement on the air that Wichita Falls has laid a splendid foundation for an annual event in the jubilee celebration.

Ball To Honor Army Officers

Officers of the U. S. army post at Fort Sill, Okla., will be honored Wednesday night at a military ball at the Kemp hotel. Miss Louise Marie Marberry will be queen of the ball.

Other dances Wednesday night will be held at the Wichita club and at 915 Indiana. The square dance will start at 8:30 instead of 9 o'clock as previously announced. Miss Dorothea Easling will reign at the Wichita club.

Miss Francis Buck of Seymour was honored as queen of the style show ball at the Wichita club Tuesday night with 300 Wichitans and visitors in attendance. Miss Katherine Sue Ralston reigned at the Kemp hotel dance and Miss Dorothy Cline at the square dance where the floor was packed with pioneers and others. Comanche Indians in ceremonial costume attended the three dances.

Allred Praises Jubilee Party

Atty. Gen. James V. Allred of Texas, who is a Wichitan, arrived early Tuesday for the jubilee birthday party and took part in the political program on Scott avenue Tuesday morning. Mrs. Allred is ill at their Austin home and was unable to attend.

"The greatest gathering I've seen in Wichita Falls and I'm sure the thousands of celebrating people are having the best time any entertainment in this city has ever given them," Mr. Allred said.

Advice To Investors

By Charles W. Storm—Editor of the "News Service of Wall Street"

D. C. R.—Will you please supply me with detailed information on Kaufmann Department Stores common stock?

Answer—As one of the oldest Pittsburgh department stores and located in the heart of the shopping district, this company enjoys a leading position in its territory. The company owns the store building and a portion of the land used, the balance being under a long term lease. Exterior improvements have been made in recent years, to put the store in a thoroughly up-to-date condition, and for this purpose additional capital was obtained in the form of a mortgage and bank loans. Mortgage debt has been reduced $1,000,000 since 1929, there being $2,500,000 due 1940, outstanding as of Dec. 31, 1931, payable in monthly installments of $25,000 each. Capital stock consists of $975,000 7 per cent cum. $100 par preferred and 566,197 shares of $12.50 par common. A special fund acquires and cancels 750 shares of preferred annually. Common has been reduced 21,390 shares through treasury operations in last two years. Company was in sound financial position at the year-end with current assets of $8,813,882 comparing with current liabilities of $2,734,494. Excluding the item of $5,000,000 for good will, book value applicable to common stock was $20.58 per share. Reduced consumer purchasing power and lower selling prices resulted in a sharp decline in sales and profits during 1931, following a record of comparative stability over the preceding seven years. Earnings per common share, after preferred dividends, were $1.02 in 1931, as compared with $1.81 in 1930 and $2.54 in 1929. Dividends have been paid regularly on the common stock since 1920. Following 8-for-1 split-up in June, 1928, present stock was placed on a $1 annual basis, which was increased to $1.50 Nov. 1, but $1 rate was restored in April, 1931, and the distribution was reduced to 80 cents annually in April, 1932. Current expansion in retail trade is being reported and this issue is considered to have good long range possibilities as a speculative investment.

R. V. H.—May I ask for some information regarding Kreuger & Toll certificates?

Answer—After several months of intensive investigation by various interested parties, comparatively little in addition to the generally unsound condition of the company has been discovered in regard to the actual state of affairs in the Kreuger & Toll situation. It seems, however, to be generally agreed that the liabilities of the concern exceed its assets by a large amount. The participating 5 per cent debentures of the company are wholly unsecured, and it is the writer's opinion that the best the holders of these debentures, or of the American certificates representing them, can hope for is the securing of some equity in whatever organization may be formed to take over the business of the company, and that only on payment of an assessment. The participation certificates appear to be a poor gamble.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27. (AP)—Cotton ruled fairly steady today in the face of issuance of October notices and, after fluctuating in a moderate range, closed at net declines of 3 to 5 points.

It was first notice day in New York where notices for 60,000 bales were issued. Additional notices of 9,400 bales here brought the local tenders to about 43,000 bales. There were reports of prompt stoppage.

Liverpool came in 1 penny point better to 3 worse than due. Private cables stated there was speculative buying on rains in the South, which absorbed hedge selling and Manchester liquidation. Manchester cabled the cloth inquiry was more general and yarns were improving.

In the late trading prices eased off 12 to 14 points from the top on selling due to a late reaction in stocks. December closed at 7.47, down 3 points net for the day. May closed at 7.68, down 5 points net.

A private authority estimate the crop at 11,440,000 bales.

Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 2 penny points up.

Port receipts 67,505, for week 139,034, for season 1,280,857, last season 1,137,110. Exports 3,6435, for week 85,150, for season 1,036,627, last year 618,100. Port stock 3,541,472, last year 3,256,209. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 117,927, last year 83,957. Spot sales at southern markets 47,527, last year 63,618.

Futures closed steady at net declines of 3 to 5 points:

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 2-6 lower under October liquidation against 512 notices.

There was also some southern and wire house selling, but these October offerings were readily taken by the trade and the selling became less active after the call. December contracts, which had sold off to 7.41, rallied to 7.48, with active months just about recovering their initial losses, but there was further liquidation and scattered selling and the market at the end of the first half hour was about 2 to 5 points net lower. The earlier cables from Liverpool were relatively steady.

According to later reports the notices issued this morning represented about 56,400 bales of cotton, and their circulation caused flurries of October liquidation. The market held fairly steady and prices at midday were about unchanged to 3 points higher.

The market reacted partly under hedge selling, futures closing barely steady, 3 higher to 7 lower. Spot quiet; middling, 7.50.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (AP)—After a quiet morning with narrow price range, the cotton market advanced sharply in early afternoon. However, hedge selling caused a break just before the close and final prices on the board of trade were barely steady two points net higher to eight points net lower. The opening was unchanged to eight points down on disappointing cables and further losses were made during the morning with December selling at 7.52 but later in the afternoon on trade buying, December sold at 7.69 or 17 points above the low point of the morning. The belt was practically all wet except West Texas and extreme eastern North Carolina. Rain is forecast for central and eastern area while the West is due to be clear.

Stocks Recover Fractionally From Losses Suffered In Recent Trading

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (US)—Stocks today managed to recover minor fractions above the previous closing. Trading shrunk even below Monday's total. At no time during the session was there much inclination to move in either direction, modest rallies and setbacks alternating from start to finish. External happenings were without influence.

Commodities were irregular, though the speculative bulls in stocks were still watching wheat for the widely-touted October rise "to be engineered by the political sponsors of the market."

The bond market held firm, this being one of the genuinely encouraging developments of the day.

Steel operations were reported up 2½ per cent for the week, but any significance to the news was naturally removed by the low rate of activity still prevailing even with the improvement.

Threatened renewed price weakness in the oil industry dampened enthusiasm but had little immediate effect on share quotations.

The street was still considerably mystified by the persistent price-softness witnessed Monday. General inclination was to ascribe the dribbling selling to floor traders taking advantage of the suspension of aggressive activities by bull pools. Today, the same explanation was being advanced for the recurrent spells of weakness.

Apparently, only the more thoughtful observers recognized the significance of the presidential plea for delay in the railway wage cut negotiations until after the elections. A good deal of the buying of railroad shares had been predicated on expectation that the wage reduction of 10 per cent not only would be continued beyond next February, but probably there would be an additional cut.

If the railway executives acquiesce to the White House request, it means that the machinery for extending or increasing the wage cut will delay action possibly for many months beyond next February. At least, this possibility was a factor in dampening the more ardent railroad bulls.

Longer-term prospects for the railway securities were being viewed in a new light in view of the creation of a non-partisan fact-finding commission. Some railway executives believe this step may remove the railroad problem entirely from the realm of politics. But if any one believes that the commission will submit a wishy-washy report favoring continuance of dilatory tactics in treating the real trouble, they are due for a shock. It is not at all improbable that severe correctives may be recommended.

The market had to withstand a sharp reaction in shares of Drug, Inc., occasioned by the official admission its big subsidiary operating in the retail field may be forced to reorganize unless its rents are lowered.

American Can's directors did the expected in declaring only the regular quarterly dividend of $1, and omitting the $1 extra which has been paid annually for some years. The market sold off following the Can news, but it hardly could be attributed to disappointment over the dividend action. The company announced it has no bank loans and a comfortable cash position, but estimated earnings at $3.25 a share for 1932, against $5.11 last year.

A few of the more courageous pools endeavored to invoke new enthusiasm, but without much success. Most issues, however, closed with fractional net gains. Steel common was up ⅜ at the close, General Motors ⅜, Chrysler ⅝ and New York Central ⅜.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats—No. 2 red, [illegible]; No. 3 red, [illegible]

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (AP)—A semblance of backbone developed in wheat late today, contrasting with weakness earlier.

Late rallies were simultaneous with rumors that government restrictions on grain trading would be modified. The rumors met with a denial at the department of agriculture in Washington but the denial was not known of here until trading had ended.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅛c off to ⅛c up, compared with yesterday's finish, corn ⅛@¼c down, oats at ⅛@¼c decline and provisions varying from 5c setback to 5c advance.

Buying on the part of eastern interests that also yesterday were conspicuous in purchasing accompanied the late recoveries of wheat.

Demand was slow for corn and oats, with nearby deliveries of corn touching a new low-price record for the season.

Provisions averaged lower, paralleling action of hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—December [illegible]; May [illegible]. Corn—December [illegible]; May [illegible].

Taxi Driver Tells Of Bank Robbery At Shertz, Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 27. (AP)—Tommy Williams, driver of a taxicab used by a lone bandit who held up the Schertz State bank and took about $200 this morning, voluntarily appeared at detective headquarters shortly after the robbery and reported it.

Police learned that the bandit had changed from Williams' car to another in front of the Alamo Heights city hall. A thorough description was obtained and all available officers began searching the city for the second cab.

Williams told officers he had let the bandit out of his automobile on Broadway after driving the 18 miles from Schertz to San Antonio.

The taxicab was stopped across the street from the bank while the man, armed with a small caliber revolver, entered and held up H. P. Thulemeyer, cashier, who was alone at the time.

Thulemeyer reported that the bandit, who walked into the bank without showing a weapon, told him he wanted to cash a check. As the cashier started to examine the check he looked up, at a word from the bandit, into the muzzle of the revolver.

The bandit took about $200 in $10 bills from the cashier's cage, walked out of the bank and entered the taxicab which started toward San Antonio.

Wichitan Serves Free Coffee To Pioneer Visitors

Wichita Falls citizens by the hundred have labored arduously during recent weeks and during the past two days for the success of the "pioneers' party" now in progress. But at the hospitality house, on Scott avenue, one may hear repeated declarations that no individual has "stood by the guns" more faithfully than L. J. Stewart, the local Admiration coffee jobber.

For according to Arthur C. Howard, who is in charge of the hospitality house greeting committee, Mr. Stewart has made the serving of free coffee to all comers his own contribution to the jubilee celebration. Maintaining this personal service throughout all of Monday, Mr. Stewart issued more than 1,500 cups of coffee (including the sugar and cream). By late afternoon Tuesday, the total already had exceeded 2,000 cups.

Dispensation of "free java" has not been limited to pioneers for whom the hospitality house is being maintained. All visitors have been welcomed to partake of hot coffee at will—and according to Mr. Howard, it has proven one of the most valuable courtesies extended visitors and old-timers here.

'Back to God' Movement Greatest Need Of Country, Says Noted Divine

Very Rev. Francis X. McCabe Addresses 2,000 Jubilee Celebrants at Memorial Auditorium Services

Climaxing an inspirational service conducted by the Catholic church for jubilee crowds at the Memorial auditorium Tuesday morning, the Very Rev. Francis X. McCabe of Chicago declared before almost 2,000 persons that a "back to God" movement is the world's paramount need today.

"Despite the enormous need for relief from the distressing conditions which beset us on all sides," the speaker said, "the greatest need is for a reconsecration to the God in whose own image we are made."

Surprised at Jubilee

Presented by Father Patrick J. F. O'Beirne, pastor of the Sacred Heart church here, the Chicago divine expressed his surprise that a celebration of such dimensions as that under way here could arise above the depressing conditions which have existed throughout the country in recent years. Such a movement was motivated by a profound faith and indomitable will such as that which enabled Wichita Falls' pioneers to build this city, he asserted.

Father McCabe's address was preceded by a musical service given by the Sacred Heart church choir and assisting singers, and by a brief devotional period conducted by Father O'Beirne and a score of altar boys. Walter D. Cline, chairman of the golden jubilee celebration, opened the service by introducing Father O'Beirne.

"Our debt to the pioneers is a great debt," the speaker said. "Under starry heavens and across trailless plains, they made their way, carrying in their hearts a great faith in His goodness and having a love for Him upon whom a love for fellowman is based. That love is an enduring love, and it helped those pioneers to meet their difficulties as a personal service.

Laid Foundation

"Your pioneers had no great sciences and wonderful inventions to make their ways through those early days easier; but they laid a foundation for the luxuries and the comfort that you possess."

Early settlers were possessed of a great sincerity, born of the sheer hardness of their lot, Father McCabe said.

"Sincerity in a man, when it has a religious background, is a great and good thing; but when it has not that, I keep a close watch on every pocket, for the roots of such sincerity cannot be deep With true sincerity, one is enabled to be true not only to his fellowman, but to himself," the speaker asserted.

"We cannot get along without our God," Father McCabe continued. "Our forefathers did not attempt to do so; they moved ahead. We were made for one purpose—that we may love Him with the hearts He gave us, know Him with the intellect given us to make the world a lovelier place in which to live. We were made to serve Him in this world because we have worked in it, lived in it, loved in it, and worshipped in it.

"Today, in this moment of grateful jubilation, you should reconsecrate yourselves to His service; in the quiet of your own souls, rededicate yourselves to this God of faith, hope and charity."

Salute to Colors

The choir of the Sacred Heart church was assisted by Miss Tilla Mae Schaefer, J. S. Minton, J. L. Eggleston, and Willard L. Underwood. A chorus of 35 girls from the Academy of Mary Immaculate joined women of the church choir to form the ensemble which sang one number. After the altar boys had recited the opening prayer, they gave the Boy Scouts salute to the American colors. Father O'Beirne pronounced the benediction at the close of the service.

Under the direction of Mr. Underwood, and with Mrs. Carl Edwards as accompanist, the following musical service was used:

"America," choirs and congregation; "Gloria," from "Festival Mass" (Charlene B. Underwood), Mrs. M. M. Bates, Miss Katheryn Sullivan, and choir; "Ave Maria," (Jack McWilliams), Mrs. George Kelly; "Praise Ye the Lord," (Maery), women's ensemble; "Jesu Dei Vivi," (Verdi), Mrs. C. H. Pirtle, Miss Sullivan, Mr. Underwood; "Veni Creator," (Milland), Mr. Minton, Miss Schaefer, Nicholas Oechsner, and choir; "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name," (Ritter), choir and congregation.

Mrs. Fred B. Sharp, Misses Alice Phil and Mae Belle Bartlet, and James Hull, violinists, supported the ensemble on choral numbers.

The third and concluding sunrise service at the auditorium will take place Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock when Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist church at Dallas, will deliver the sermon. The service is being conducted by local evangelical congregations through the Wichita Falls Ministerial alliance.

STUDENTS HAVE BIG HOLIDAY

School Pupils Swell Crowds At Jubilee

If any school children of Wichita county remained at home Tuesday despite their jubilee-holiday, that fact could not be detected during the parade at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning.

It was strikingly evident that the schools had released their enrolled students for the day. Every unit in the parade which started out with unoccupied space was filled to the brim with grinning, shrieking youngsters soon after the march began. Trucks, industrial floats, old settlers' wagons and the "jump seats" of both horses and automobiles carried boys who, but for the jubilee, would have been struggling with arithmetic during that same hour.

In the line of march itself was profuse evidence that it was a school holiday. Following the local high school band was the scarlet and black uniformed girls' pep squad. And there were scores of youngsters proudly mounted on ponies, with all the trappings of real cow-punchers.

Throughout the day, in all phases of the jubilee celebration, the participation of thousands of school children released for the day was a feature. Not only in this city, but throughout the county school system, Tuesday was given entirely for the anniversary party here—but classes are to be resumed Wednesday morning.

SHRINERS HEAR JIM ALLRED

Attorney General Predicts Roosevelt's Election

Prediction that the current depression, "now receding," will come definitely to an end with the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt as president of the United States next November featured a brief talk made by Atty. Gen. Jimmie Allred of this city at the Maskat temple luncheon Tuesday noon.

The major portion of Mr. Allred's talk was in a distinctly humorous vein. Congressman Fritz Lanham of Fort Worth declared that hardships of our recent depression pale into insignificance before those endured by the pioneers which built this community.

Judge Hal S. Lattimore of the court of civil appeals at Fort Worth also made a short humorous address.

The saxophone quartet of the Fort Sill military band, composed of Messrs. Derner, Williams, Cox and Fellows, under the direction of Noble C. B. Tyler, director of the band, rendered three numbers. Noble Tyler paid a tribute to Wichita Falls by saying that one of the principal attractions of army life at Fort Sill was the opportunity of making trips to Wichita Falls.

Paul Rogers, past potentate of Mosiah Temple, and Noble Harley Spellman were guests of Potentate Sydney A. Gaines. Past Potentate Walter H. Caldwell had as his guests at the luncheon Judge Truman Conner, Judge Irby Dunklin, Judge Hal S. Lattimore, judges of the court of civil appeals at Fort Worth, and Jim A. Scott, clerk of the court; also Hon. Fritz Lanham, member of congress, "Dinty" Moore, Al Dickery, Judge J. T. Montgomery of Wichita Falls, and M. P. Caldwell, his father, who is manager of the Bell Telephone system of Fort Worth.

The luncheon was attended by members of the patrol in uniform, ladies, "old-timers" and out-of-town Nobles.

Gladewater Asks Rangers' Removal

GLADEWATER, Texas, Sept. 27. (AP)—The Gladewater city commission today adopted a resolution asking Gov. R. S. Sterling to withdraw Texas rangers from active duty at Gladewater and leave law enforcement to local officers. A resolution of the same tone was passed last night by the Gladewater American Legion post.

The city commission resolution, signed by Mayor A. J. Wood and City Secretary L. R. Neal, charged that Gladewater business men had suffered losses of trade due to the activities of rangers.

The legion post, in a meeting attended by State Commander Carl Nesbit, charged that law abiding oil field workers had been arrested by rangers as vagrants and forced to pay fines without respect for the facts in their cases. It was asserted that drove business to other cities.

OLNEY, Texas, Sept. 27.—Only a few changes in personnel have been made in the Olney schools for the year 1932-33. One of these new officials is Supt. Joe R. Humphrey, formerly of Pecos.

Mr. Humphrey came to the Olney schools after B. C. Shulkey resigned to take the superintendency of the Borger schools. His selection came after over 60 applicants had been interviewed. Mr. Humphrey has had long experience in the school work in spite of the fact he is only 36 years old. He is a graduate of Pecos, Texas, High school. He later attended Trinity university at Waxahachie and the University of Texas where he received the B. A. degree. He began work on his master's degree at the West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, and finished this work at Columbia university in New York City in 1931 when the degree was conferred. His teaching experience includes work at Point, Texas High school, Pecos High school, Van Horn High school, and Sul Ross college at Alpine. Several courses have been taken by Mr. Humphrey at Baylor university and the University of Lyo nin France where he studied a short time after the armistice was signed.
