School Budget At Record High

A new record budget was approved by trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District Tuesday, after they had reviewed the proposed expenditures item-by-item during a lengthy meeting. They pared proposed costs in a few places, reducing the proposed budget from $2,654,926.25 to an approved total of $2,638,591.25.

The economy moves, which cut the budget by $16,335, still left it $248,581.50 higher than the budget approved a year ago. Wendal Parks was the lone dissenter on the motion to approve the 1961-62 budget for presentation to the public at a meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Aug. 15 in the school administration office.

The biggest cut, from proposed figures, $13,485, came in administration and business expenses. A proposed $111,921 was cut to $98,436. Instruction costs were cut by $3,100, plant operation by $500 and capital outlay was increased by $750.

Expenditures approved were administration and business, $98,436; instruction, $1,710,699; attendance service, $14,410; health service, $19,640; transportation, $12,850; operation of plant, $185,000; maintenance of plant, $74,000; fixed charges, $51,700; athletic expense, $32,500; community service, $1,000; capital outlay, $192,675; debt service, $195,681.25; and a contingency fund in the event of a state salary increase, $50,000.

Expected income to pay for the budget, based on 94 per cent of collection of school taxes, state, county, federal and other funds, totals $2,719,017.76. This should leave a balance Aug. 31, 1962, of $80,426.51.

Social Security for teachers in the school system was approved with a budget figure of $35,000 to pay for the school's portion.

Dan Krausse suggested putting aside a stipulated amount, about $50,000, and waiting until a decision on the possible state salary raise, so that teachers could be given an option at a later date. They could either be put under Social Security and receive a smaller raise, or accept the larger raise and refuse Social Security.

But Harold Talbot contended that placing teachers under Social Security would put the school system in a better position to recruit quality teachers and seconded a motion by Johnny Johnson that Social Security costs be included in the budget. This will be in addition to any salary adjustments. President Clyde McMahon voted for the motion to break a tie vote. O. S. Womack, Johnny Johnson and Talbot were for placing teachers under Social Security now and Krausse, Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper and Parks voted against the motion.

The position of assistant superintendent, curriculum with a proposed cost of $11,524 was deleted. The person to fill that vacancy will be hired under another title with a salary of $9,800.

Sam M. Anderson, superintendent, informed the board that an excellent candidate is being considered. Trustees approved extending a three-year contract if that is found desirable. Parks and Johnson voted against this measure.

The salaries of secretarial help in the administrative office were left as they presently stand without proposed increases.

Car allowances for the curriculum supervisor to be hired and the assistant superintendent-business, were increased from $600 to $900 each. At the same time, the stipulation was made that if possible, an automobile would be furnished under the same program for which the athletic station wagon was obtained in lieu of travel allowance.

Printing and publishing expenses were decreased from a proposed $1,000 to $750 on a motion by Parks. Krausse voted against the motion.

Audio-visual material budgets were cut considerably, putting them only slightly higher than last year, and in one case, lower than a year ago. The proposed amount for the elementary schools of $8,000 was cut to $6,000, Goliad Junior High and Runnels Junior High, from $1,850 to $1,000, and at the high school, from $1,900 to $1,000.

McMahon again broke a tie vote in which Womack, Mrs. Cowper and Parks had voted for the cut and Talbot, Johnson and Krausse voted against it.

Travel expenses for principals and instructional staffs in elementary schools was kept the same as last year. Principals were budgeted $1,750 and staff, $750.

Senate Committee Approves Bill On Water Pollution

A Texas Senate committee has given approval to a bill which would establish a state board to prevent pollution of lakes and streams.

The measure is HB 24, previously passed by the house and which failed to pass when time ran out in the regular session. It is authorized by Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria.

The bill would create a board which could issue permits to industries and others for dumping waste waters, and which could take other steps to prevent pollution of water supplies. Three members of the board would be named by the governor, and the other three would be the heads of the state water engineers, the state health department, and the game and fish commission.

Senate Expected To Pass Tax Bill

House Set To Handle Package

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators, staging a showdown debate on sales taxes, today boosted their version of a 1962-1963 tax package to $360 million.

Debate on the bill, a rewrite of House efforts, began at 10:21 a.m. with indications it will continue throughout the day.

"This is the countdown," Sen. Wardlow Lane, Center, sponsor of the bill, told other senators. "We are down today to the purpose for which this session was called. What we do today may decide if we can go home or have another session."

Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey ordered all other Senate business laid aside while all attention turned to the tax debate. The galleries of the Senate chamber were filled with lobbyists and spectators, who included a large number of gaily dressed tourists.

"I'm personally not for any kind of tax," Lane said. "Just like I'm not for pneumonia, death or anything else bad. The only good thing I can say about this bill is that it will raise the money and is the least harmful of anything we have been able to produce."

ADDED TO TOTAL

Lane's first amendment added $2 million to the bill's original total of $357.1 million by a bookkeeping transaction. It provides that any remaining funds in the omnibus clearance fund be transferred to the general revenue fund at the end of the fiscal year.

"I have every reason to believe this will cause the state comptroller to raise his official estimate of this bill to $360 million," Lane said.

Next the Senate defeated 21-10 an effort by Sen. A. R. Schwartz, Galveston, and Abraham Kazen Jr., Laredo, to exempt from the 2 per cent sales tax all clothing and accessories of less than $105. At present the bill exempts only work clothes and some other outer wearing apparel of less than $10.

"This exemption for clothing might be a good thing but the trouble is that it would just make us short on money," said Lane in opposing the amendment.

ANOTHER CHANGE

The Senate accepted another Lane amendment that confines the clothing exemption to outer wearing apparel made of cotton, twill, poplin, denim, and chambray, the materials normally used for work clothes. Lane said numerous merchants asked the change to simplify their handling of the tax.

The House spent almost all morning on a long calendar of so-called local and uncontested bills.

During the House session copies of the Senate tax bill as laid out this morning in the Senate were handed all representatives. Numerous House members were interested spectators to the Senate debate.

The Senate recessed until 2:30 p.m. when it will take up the tax measure again.

The House also recessed for an afternoon session to start at 2:30.

"My views have been fully stated on the tax matter," Gov. Price Daniel said Tuesday after the measure calling for a 2 per cent sales tax was approved by the Senate State Affairs Committee. "I will have no further comment until the Senate and House have finished their work."

Daniel has consistently opposed a general sales tax.

WORKED LATE

The Senate took off Tuesday while the House worked until late on a series of economy measures, finally passing a bill (HB 111) that would make $14.5 million available for the general revenue fund.

Tentatively approved Tuesday but lacking a final vote was a measure (HB 112) requiring court action to determine the paternity of a child whose mother tries to get him on the public welfare rolls. Rep. Robert Fairchild of Center claimed the bill would save the state $600,000 a year by requiring fathers to support their illegitimate children.

A bill (HB 114) to pay for 90 per cent of the Department of Public Safety's operations from the highway fund failed 54-76. It would have released $14 million for other spending the next two days.

An amendment raising tuition in state colleges and universities from $50 to $100 a semester failed 109-24. A separate bill proposing a $25 increase in tuition is still on the House calendar.

We're Faster Than Birds? We'd Best Take A New Look

In the days of automation and space travel, everyone seems to be striving for an impossible goal.

The latest feat is that of a young sparrow, who achieved top speed of 1.2 mach or about 850 miles per hour at 40,000 feet above West Texas. Since man relies upon outside help for such feats, this bird did too.

When 1st. Lt. Skip Witmer, 331st FIS at Webb AFB, took off in his F-102A Delta Dagger on a practice Air Defense Command mission, he had no idea there was a passenger aboard since the cockpit is designed for only one pilot. However, while he was climbing to 40,000 feet he noticed a reflection in the windshield and found one small astonished, scared and lonesome baby sparrow sitting in a corner of the cockpit watching the world go by as no other sparrow has ever seen it.

Somehow, during his first attempt at flying, the sparrow had landed in the cockpit of the airplane and was not enjoying flying lessons at the expense of the Air Force.

He seemed unimpressed when he broke the sonic barrier and had no noticeable vertigo from his high perch eight miles up in the sky.

Apparently he had the utmost confidence in his new pilot for he hopped from perch to perch, gazed curiously at those myriad of instruments, and casually watched the miles slip by. He couldn't make any sense out of landing at 170 miles per hour or using a drag chute to slow down on the runway but the area looked like home and he was just a bit relieved to find he was back on the ground again!

He refused to leave the airplane and cleverly tried to hide below the instrument panels on the floor of the cockpit, but being a stern aircraft commander, Lt. Witmer helped the little passenger out and after a short goodbye, Mr. Supersonic Sparrow flew away probably muttering to himself:

"I don't know how they do it. Flying without feathers is not easy!"

Seasonal Factors Cited As Job Picture Varies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment dropped seasonally by 440,000 in July but the idle rate edged up a bit to 6.9 per cent of the work force.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg reported that the number of unemployed declined to 5,140,000 in July from 5,580,000 in June. This compared with 4 million idle in July 1960.

Employment declined by 205,000 to 68,499,000. The changes in employment and unemployment both were about what was seasonally expected.

Goldberg said the figures showed economic recovery has not affected the nation's hard core unemployment problem. He said it remains a continuing cause of concern to the administration.

The number of workers idle a half year or longer increased by nearly 100,000 in July to 1,026,000.

The rate of unemployment to the total work force increased from 6.8 per cent in June to 6.9 per cent in July.

Goldberg spoke of this as virtually unchanged but said it underlines the need for legislation pending in Congress to train idle workers in new skills.

The fact that both employment and unemployment could decline in July was explained by a drop in the civilian labor force by about 645,000 to 73,639,000.

This drop came about because many students seeking summer jobs dropped out of the labor force without getting employment.

Astronauts Fly To Lackland AFB

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — America's seven astronauts have been ordered to this military medical center. First arrivals were tight-lipped as to purpose and how long they were to stay.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington said the hand-picked crew will spend several days undergoing annual physical checkups at Lackland Air Force Base.

Third Annual Horse Show Set Saturday

Third annual edition of the Big Spring Quarter Horse Show, this year to be bigger and better than ever, will be staged Saturday at the Arena west of town.

Trophies for the show are on hand and are on display in the office of Jimmy Taylor, secretary. Taylor's office is in the basement of the Howard County court house.

This year's show will feature a special division for young exhibitors identified as the Youth Classes.

Taylor anticipates that 100 of the finest quarter horses in New Mexico and Texas will be on hand for the show. Last year 90 head were entered and this year, Taylor is certain the number will be increased.

27 CLASSES

There will be 27 different classes in the show. Twenty-two of the classes will be in the halter division; 11 in the performance division.

An extra feature, independent of the quarter horse show but of widespread interest, will be staged on Friday night, Aug. 4, at the arena. This will be the annual cutting horse show sponsored by the Big Spring Cutting Horse Association.

No charge is made for admission to the cutting horse show nor to the quarter horse show on the following day. The general public is cordially invited to attend both events.

There will be 33 first place trophies awarded one for top place in each of the classes. Rosettes will be presented to all animals who place through 6th place.

TROPHIES

Special silver trophies will be awarded to the grand champion stallion, reserve champion stallion, grand champion and reserve champion mare, and grand champion and reserve grand champion gelding.

One special trophy is to be awarded to the champion of the show.

Special trophies are offered in the boys and girls division, in which young quarter horse owners are not over 18 years of age and have not been graduated from high school longer than 90 days, are eligible to enter their halter and performance class animals.

Another special trophy will be presented to the boy or girl who wins a rating as all-around champion in the youth division.

Sparks Rust Jr., Del Rio, widely know expert on quarter horses, will be the judge of the show.

Entry fee money in performance class will be paid back in half for prizes.

REGISTRATION

Registration of animals for the show begins at 8 a.m. on Aug. 5. The judging starts at 9 a.m. The show will be over around 5 p.m. Halter classes will be judged first. Performance classes will be judged starting at 1:30 p.m.

Performance class horses will be shown in roping, reining, barrel racing and in western pleasure.

In the cutting horse show on Friday night, Dr. Allen Hamilton will be in charge of all events. Stock to be used for this feature will be provided by Dr. Virgil Sanders. It is anticipated 50 or more horses will be entered.

Treasure Trove Of Trophies

Toni Choate, secretary to Jim Taylor, helps Wanda Boatler fill in her entry blanks for the youth division of the third Annual Big Spring Quarter Horse Show which is to be held here on Saturday. Spread before the two girls are some of the numerous trophies which are to be awarded. Wanda is to enter her 1960 filly colt in the youth division. The filly won the championship for Miss Boatler at the Howard County Junior Livestock Show last March.

All Escapees Are Captured

FORT WORTH (AP)—All nine escapees from the Gatesville School for Boys have been recaptured and one has been charged with the fatal beating of an unarmed guard.

Charles Everett Lowe, 17, was charged with murder in the death of Billy Malone, 42, who was beaten with a baseball bat during the escape Sunday night.

Two policemen captured Lowe, from Sundown, Tex., and four other escapees Tuesday as they walked in River Oaks, a suburban village northwest of Fort Worth.

Lowe said he and the others "want to go to jail, any jail, but not back to Gatesville."

"We know they'll beat us and stomp us," he declared. "As soon as we get back, they'll probably put us on the work detail. I'm going to run the first chance I get."

Picked up with Lowe were Robert Sorter, 17, of Mesquite; Ray Soliz, 16, of Houston; Jimmy Flores, 17, of Houston; and Alfred James, 17, of Denton.

After learning that Lowe had been charged with murder, Sorter said he, James and another youth also hit the guard. Sorter said Lowe struck the first blow.

The boys blamed conditions at the school for the beating and escape.

Brown Closer To Union Victory

GALVESTON (AP)—A group of industrial unions mapped new strategy today as president H. S. Hank Brown moved to clinch control of the 5th Texas State AFL-CIO convention.

Brown was confident a roll call vote would defeat secretary-treasurer Fred Schmidt's contention he should share policy control of Texas organized labor with the president.

Man Found Dead On Railroad Track

A man, tentatively identified as Castle Hunter Carroll, 43, who lived at one time in Oklahoma City, was found dead early today on the Texas and Pacific Railroad tracks at a crossing on the east outskirts of Coahoma.

Death had been caused, apparently, by a train.

Identification was established at noon today when Deputy Sheriff Fern Cox and Bobby West, investigator for the district attorney's office, revisited the scene of the tragedy. They found the bloody and torn fragments of a photostat of a navy discharge in the weeds on the side of the track near where the body had been found.

Fragments of the victim's shirt were nearby and officers said it appeared the discharge had been in the pocket of the shirt.

The only other items found on the corpse were a safety razor and an empty billfold.

The tattered discharge papers, only part of which could be deciphered, were not seen last night when officers investigated the accident.

The body had been removed to the River Funeral Home where fingerprints had been made of it today and sent to federal and state agencies for comparison.

The discharge showed that Carroll had lived at 529½ NE 7th on Jan. 2, 1946 the date he filed the paper with the county clerk. The record indicated he had been born on Oct. 29, 1918 in Duncan, Okla. and had been inducted into the Navy on March 29, 1944. He was rated as a seaman second class. No next of kin was indicated on the fragments of the discharge.

Cox dispatched a telegram to the county clerk in Oklahoma County, Okla. asking for further check of the man's identity.

The victim had apparently been killed by one of two trains which passed the crossing between 11:30 p.m. and 12:25 a.m.

The body was dressed in a pair of black slacks, a workshirt and worn shoes. There were no recognizable laundry marks or dry cleaning plant symbols on the clothing.

The right arm of the victim had been severed at the shoulder, the left arm was broken below the elbow, the skull was fractured, and both legs revealed compound fractures.

Walter Grice, justice of the peace, summoned to hold an inquest, said that the body was found by a Coahoma youth, Richard Earnest, who was enroute home.

Earnest passed over the crossing at 1:20 a.m. and saw what he thought was a dead dog on the west side of the crossing. He stopped the car and was horrified to find the object was the severed arm of a man. He then found the body on the east side of the crossing.

He called officers and Kellas Davis, state highway patrol officer, and others answered the call. River removed the body to its funeral home after Grice had reached the scene. The body is being held by River pending further developments.

Two trains had passed the point in the period believed to have been the time of the death. T&P Train No. 55, westbound freight, passed the crossing around 11:30 p.m. Train No. 8, eastbound passenger, passed the point around 12:25 a.m. Because the arm was found on the west side of the crossing and the body on the opposite side, it was theorized that the west bound freight may have struck the victim. Train crews reported no accident.

By MILTON MARMOR

LONDON (AP)—A new English alphabet with 43 letters will be tried out in Britain in September with 1,000 children in 24 schools as guinea pigs.

In the new alphabet are 24 old fashioned letters and 19 new ones, resembling in some form the letters people are accustomed to see in print.

The old letters left out of the system are "Q" and "X," but for devotees of "Q" and "X" the news isn't all that bad.

The new alphabet is designed only for 5 and 6-year-olds to simplify learning to read.

At the age of 7 the children will change over from the new alphabet to the regular "ABCs."

Supporters of the new system—called "A R" (augmented Roman) do not think the changeover will present real difficulties to the children.

In the new alphabet each letter represents one sound only. There are no capitals to baffle a child.

Here are sôme examples:

There are two forms of "th"—a soft sound as in "think" and a hard one as in "the."

The soft one has the tail of the "t" extended below the line. In the hard "th" the "t" has its tail turned to the left, opposite to normal writing.

Some of the new letters look like Greek.

"Daet fikst for nue alfabet" means "a date fixed for new alphabet."

Or, as many a fairy tale starts: "wuns upon a tiem."

Author of the new alphabet is Sir James Pitman, a member of Parliament and grandson of the shorthand pioneer.

Exponents of the new alphabet have printed 200 different books in the new system. Some 80 teachers are in training courses to learn the "A R" method.

They expect it will be three years before any practical results can be had from the experiment.

Sir James thinks children will learn to read in half the time needed at present.

John Downing of London University, who is in charge of research, says the new system has scrapped almost completely letters having more than one sound. The variety of sounds in the new letters has been cut from 2,000 to 88, he says.

The plan is not designed to reform spelling.

Says Sir James: to learn to read is "the most fantastic achievement of the human brain."

CURIOSITY: These British youngsters are inspecting samples of a new alphabet they'll be learning this fall. The alphabet, with 43 letters instead of the customary 26, is designed to help 5 and 6-year-old children learn to read.

Slaying Figure Gets Right To Use First Married Name

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A thrice wedded woman, principal in a sensational 1955 Padre Island slaying of her second husband, has won the right to assume the name of her first husband in a property dispute with her third husband.

Dist. Judge Walter Loughridge, who ruled on a property settlement, gave Mrs. Sunny Canales Worden Kuemmel the right to renew use of the name Canales.

The judge restored the name Canales to the 48-year-old woman despite protests of J. T. Canales, brother of one of her former husbands, Prexides Canales of Premont. The brother contended the woman's use of the name Canales would embarrass the Canales family.

Mrs. Canales was no-billed by a grand jury after she told police she shot another former husband, Don Worden, and buried his body in a shallow grave on Padre Island Oct. 22, 1955.

She told officers she killed Worden, a 43-year-old San Antonio real estate man, after Worden told her he was going to force her to kill her 5-year-old daughter by a previous marriage and shoot herself.

They quoted her as saying Worden wound up in the same grave he had forced her to dig for herself. She said Worden beat her, shot at her, burned her with cigarettes, drugged her and obtained $90,000, a $45,000 home and jewelry from her.

Judge Loughridge awarded Mrs. Canales three diamond rings, an aquarium and two china closets from property in dispute after her divorce from Francis Kuemmel, a glass company executive, July 22.

Mrs. Canales also received two Kendall County ranches, an apartment house and residence in San Antonio, a house in Premont, automobiles, bank accounts and personal property.

Kuemmel received stock in the Francis Kuemmel Glass Co., farm equipment, an apartment house, furniture and cash.

Pool said he heard the waitress cry out, "No, Dale—don't!" Then four or five shots rang out. Officers said Fatheree handed over a gun as they arrived.

Deputy Sheriff Don Reeves filed a charge of murder against Fatheree.

Insect Particles Cause Allergies

By The Associated Press

Insect allergy, hazards in partially smoked cigarettes, and safe new sedatives are items in the medical news:

Insect Dust

Bits and pieces of common insects floating in the air are an important cause of hay fever and asthma, says an allergy specialist.

House flies, May flies, aphids, beetles, mites and other creatures contribute to the dust which humans inhale.

Some people are allergic only to the insect dust, while others get their troubles from a combination of the dust, molds, and pollens. The insect allergy is more common in Southern than in Northern states.

Many victims can be desensitized with anti-allergy shots, Dr. Samuel M. Feinberg of Northwestern University writes in Consultant magazine.

Relighters

The habit of relighting half-consumed cigarettes may double a smoker's chances of getting lung cancer, say three British physicians.

They checked on 700 patients in Manchester hospitals. Among persons smoking 10 to 19 cigarettes daily, there were twice as many cases of lung tumors among those who relit cigarettes. The same held true for persons smoking 20 to 29 cigarettes daily, but differences were less clear among those smoking 30 or more, Drs. John Dark, M. Pemberton and Marion Russell write in The Lancet.

"If relighting is a factor in lung cancer, it might go part way to explain the much greater incidence of the disease in Britain than in the United States where, since cigarettes are cheaper, there may be less temptation to relight half-smoked 'dimps' " or partially consumed cigarettes, they said.

Safe Sedatives

Barbiturates are estimated to account for 800 to 900 suicides a year.

But now researchers tell of two new sedatives which they claim induce sleep but are sare regardless of over-dosage. One is a synthetic developed in Germany, the other a baribarate combined with a restorative which takes over if the person takes too many pills, says World Medical News.

Nerve Grafts

Nerve grafts largely averted paralysis of face muscles in 12 of 17 persons who had radical operations for mastoids or for removal of parotid glands, three Mayo Clinic physicians report.

The operations had to cut gaps in the facial nerves. At the time of surgery, small lengths of nerve were taken from the patient's neck and used to bridge the gap. Later, the facial nerve frequently regenerated to overcome or mask much of the paralysis, they said.

Whiplash Injuries

Auto accidents frequently jerk a person's head backward and forward or from side to side, causing what is known as whiplash injury.

And these can produce brain disturbances and abnormalities very comparable to injuries sustained by direct blows on the head, two Minneapolis neurologists find. Both types of injury can produce headaches, nervousness, insomnia, difficulty in concentration, dizziness, and other effects.

Girls Stymied In Visiting Father

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — This is the tangled tale of an effort by two sisters, Denise, 15, and Barbara Douglas, 14, to visit their father—who is in Paris—over the objections of their mother, who now is in jail.

The girls were picked up Sunday at the home of their mother, Eileen D. Henderson, at nearby Berkeley, on a court order obtained in behalf of their father, William J. Douglas, Paris osteopath. The couple is divorced.

Tuesday the court ordered the girls placed on a plane for Paris. But their mother infosmed the court she had mailed their passports to her attorney in Boston. She was jailed for contempt of court.

Now Denise and Barbara are in care of a welfare home, awaiting disposition of the case.

2 Men Killed In Auto Collision

AUSTIN (AP)—Two men were killed and another critically injured Tuesday night when two automobiles collided.

Dead were James Elder Gilley, 20, and Hilmer Emil Grobowski, 50, both of Austin.

Kerry Joe Angell, 18, of Austin, was in grave condition.

TOO FAR

By T. R. Tarbet, preacher
Church of Christ, West Highway 80
P.O. Box 1283.

In leading Israel to sin by worshipping at Bethel and Dan instead of the Divinely appointed Jerusalem, King Jeroboam said, "It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem (I Kings 12:28). Jerusalem was too far; Bethel and Dan were more convenient.

Today those who would lead us astray usually emphasize the difficulties involved in following the Scriptures, and hold out an easier way, saying, "It doesn't really matter which way."

"Well, how far was it to Jerusalem? What difference does it make? God had said for them to go there for their sacrifices. (Deut. 12:10-12; I Kings 9:3). Thus it was not too far for those who had a religion of conviction instead of convenience.

To be immersed for the forgiveness of sins is not too great a requirement, for the Lord has required this (Rom. 6:3, 4; Acts 2:38; 22:16; 8:38, 39).

Weekly comunion is the example set for us in Acts 20:7; hence it is not too much. Some find it too hard to believe. Others believe it; but find it too hard to practice. They do not come to the Lord's table every Sunday. They let one thing or another hinder them.

Is yours a religion of convenience, or of conviction? —Adv.

Air Force Alerts Guard, Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has alerted 23,000 men in 71 Air National Guard and Air Reserve units for a possible call to active duty as a part of the defense buildup to meet the Berlin crisis.

The announcement Tuesday came after President Kennedy signed legislation authorizing him to call to active duty up to 250,000 reservists and extend active duty tours and enlistments by one year.

It follows Air Force announcement Monday that four Air Force bases, slated to be retired from active use, would remain on active status to provide facilities for continued operation of B-47 jet bombers which will be retained in service.

Some 240 bombers and tankers slated to give way to later model aircraft will continue in use instead of being deactivated.

The 44 Air National Guard and 7 Reserve units alerted Tuesday fly tactical fighters, reconnaissance planes and transports. About 750 aircraft are involved, including about 100 transports.

The units were authorized to bring themselves up to full strength, which means they must recruit about 5,000 men. Present strength is about 23,000.

The alert involved units in 28 states and the District of Columbia. This included National Guard units in 26 states and the District and Air Force ready Reserve units in five states, two of which were not involved in the National Guard alerts.

The message to governors and Continental Air Command headquarters said:

"This is only an advisory notice. Certain Air National Guard units may be ordered to active duty to augment the present active force. The following tactical and standby and-or technical units of the Air National Guard of your state and all their support elements have been selected by headquarters, U.S. Air Force, and priority units for possible active federal duty."

P-Z Commission Turns Down Cafe

A request for spot zoning was refused by split ballot Tuesday by the planning and zoning commission. In other action, it approved a planned district on the Cole property and scheduled another public hearing on the proposed zoning change on Wood Street.

The spot zoning request came from Mrs. Ethel Van Pelt, Mrs. B. J. Stamp and Ethel Snowden. They asked that the northwest corner of the intersection of Sixth and Owens be changed from one family residential to commercial, so they could operate a cafeteria for school children.

Chairman Horace Reagan pointed out the commission is prohibited from spot zoning allowances. The trio presented the commission with petitions containing 40 names.

The request was denied, with Glen Puckett, Wendal Parks and George Elliott voting for denial and Jim Bill Little voting against.

A planned district on the Cole property was approved, provided the designers make the plan conform to city regulations. It will contain apartment houses and the proposed plan indicated they would be within 15 feet of each other. Puckett pointed out that 30 feet is required.

Some 120 apartments will be included in the area and 120 covered parking spaces and 100 uncovered parking spaces will be provided.

A small crowd was on hand for the public hearing on re-zoning Wood Street, between State and Settles. This hearing was scheduled again for Sept. 5, as written notice had not been provided to all concerned property owners.

The point in question is changing this area from residential zoning to a neighborhood service area. Many residents in the area were on hand favoring the change, and one resident voiced opposition.

Read Defends Parks Board

AUSTIN (AP)—The House, in a penny pinching mood, has passed a $14.5 million economy bill. Among other things, it gives the State Parks Board's job to the Game and Fish Commission.

The bill goes to the Senate.

House members Tuesday merged the duties of the two agencies after first turning down a proposal to transfer the parks board "to the game commission and call the new agency the "Game, Fish and Parks Commission."

Estimated saving from ditching the parks board: $1 million over the next two years.

Rep. Charles Ballman said the commission will have a $2 million surplus by the end of the next two years. He scored the agency as often uneconomical and shortsighted. He called "flat waste" a $400,000 quail hatchery program that failed.

"You are about to destroy one of the finest departments we have in state government," retorted Rep. David Read of Big Spring.

Racism Banned In Bus Depots

CHICAGO (AP)—A Greyhound bus lines spokesman has asked employes to see that a policy of non-segregation on its property is carried out across the country.

Clifford Cherry, assistant to the president, said the policy has been in effect since January.

The subject came up about a switch in signs at the Greyhound depot in Montgomery, Ala., where a mob of white men and women attacked a party of white and Negro "freedom riders" May 20.

(A voluntary non-segregation policy has been carried on at the Big Spring terminal for some time).

CRMWD Bill Due In House

A bill which would clarify the powers of the Colorado River Municipal Water District to prevent and correct pollution of its watersheds may come up in the House next week.

Rep. David Read indicated Tuesday that the measure, out of committee, was due on the House calendar for action Monday. It previously passed the Senate in near record time. The bill would broaden the district's power to police its watershed against pollution, to drill wells and otherwise dispose of salt water, or to utilize salt water where practical for repressuring and industrial uses in order to stretch potable water supplies.

Webb Seeking Contract Bids

New contract to be negotiated at Webb AFB this month include milk and dairy products, ice cream and bread and bakery products. All manufacturers, dealers, jobbers and distributors of these items in the Big Spring area are invited to submit bids, not later than Aug. 28.

Additional information may be obtained from the Air Force Contracting Officer, Floyd Henderson, Building 262, Webb AFB.

Explorer Training Course Planned

Explorer post leaders from Coahoma were taking a one-day special training course at Webb AFB Thursday under direction of Capt. Hal Brown and Stanley Grant, advisor of Post No. 1. Among those representing the Coahoma post are Larry Pherigo, the new advisor, J. F. Gibson, Clay Beddell, and others. The Coahoma Lions Club is sponsor of the new senior boys unit.

Clarification

Roy Johnson of 1112 Main is not the person by the same name cited in legal notices during the weekend. There are others here by the same name, but the object of the legal notices has changed his address to another city.

Special AA Meeting Slated

An open meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous will be held Saturday at 8 p.m. at 615 Settles. Three speakers from Midland are on the program.

An official of AA announced that the speakers are considered outstanding members of their community. "They include a minister of one of the larger churches in Midland; a young businessman who found his way out of alcoholism before he lost everything; and a woman who is now a civic leader in Midland, he said."

Open meetings of the organization are held each Saturday night at the same time and location.

Needed To Add

The theft of an adding machine was reported from the Co-Op Gin, 105 NW 3rd, by Paul Bishop at 2:33 p.m. Tuesday. He told police the theft could have occurred any time within the past two weeks. Entry was made by breaking a window on the south side of the building and rolling up the screen. Nothing else was reported missing.

METHODS FOR A STRANGE WORLD

Operational Plans For Moon Station

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Tentative operational plans for stationing men on the moon were disclosed today.

The government-backed study mapped some strange methods for sustaining life in a still stranger environment.

"It's going to be a barren, monotonous place," said John De Nike, program manager for the lunar transport study.

The planning project is being carried out by the Martin Co. under contract with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

A preliminary report said a decade or more may be needed to establish permanent bases on the moon. It outlined some of the techniques and conditions in prospect for the expedition.

Insulated balloons and caves or tunnels are foreseen as moon shelters, protecting against solar radiation and the extreme temperatures ranging from 250 degrees in daylight to 250 below zero in darkness.

Boring machinery for digging tunnels and other equipment for building bases is expected to be operated by remote control by a crew still within the space ship.

Man himself presumably won't be able to do heavy construction work, since a chance break in his space suit could be fatal. It'll be a pushbutton construction job.

Vehicles for traveling about the moon's surface will have to be of special design, perhaps with wire-brush or rolling-sphere wheels, since rubber tires would deteriorate rapidly.

To make the space ship itself maneuverable, so it can be moved about or its position changed, it will probably be supported on stilts that operate mechanically like walking legs.

Likely landing site is on the relatively flat areas within one of the large moon craters. Provisions must be made, however, for possible scattered boulders, jagged rocks or crevices.

Man will find his apparent strength and stride magnified six times, since gravitation on the moon is only a sixth that of earth. A three-foot earthbound step will carry him 18 feet.

The moon-expedition studies are making plans for three basic missions in this sequence: A lunar landing and immediate return for three men, a 30-day stay on the moon for three men and a permanent moon base which would accommodate 10 to 12 men.

For a brief stay, the space ship itself is likely to be the shelter.

Roomier, more permanent quarters may be in huge pliable, inflatable balloons set up in clusters, with space between walls for insulation, to ward off solar flare radiation and extreme temperatures.

The long, burning moon days and frigid moon nights each equal 14 earth days.

Reservists Guaranteed Re-Employment Rights

DALLAS — Military reservists who may be recalled involuntarily to active duty by presidential authority will have re-employment rights regardless of their tenure in the Armed Forces.

This assurance came today from regional director George M. Dunlap of the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Veterans Re-employment Rights here who issued it to clarify uncertainties in re-employment rights of military personnel as affected by President Kennedy's recent authority to call reservists involuntarily to active duty.

"This includes active or regular reservists, and inactive reservists," he said.

Men now serving in the Armed Forces, regardless of the manner in which they entered, who are "frozen" on active duty and retained involuntarily also have full re-employment rights in their civilian occupations without regard to their military tenure, he explained.

"Although the re-employment law sets a four-year limit on military service after which an individual may exercise his re-employment rights, this does not apply in the case of imposed military service," he said. "Where such service is imposed, a man has legal re-employment rights whenever he returns to civilian life."

Voluntary enlistees and inductees are covered by the re-employment program up to a maximum of four years of military duty unless, of course, they are "frozen" and given additional imposed service, he said.

The four-year limitation runs only against a single employer from whose employment the serviceman leaves to enter military duty. The limitation for military service does not accrue prior to employment with a firm or business concern, he concluded.

Special Clinic Set In Midland

Some 90 parents have been notified of a diagnostic clinic to be held Aug. 14 at the Midland Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center, 2111 Ohio, in Midland. The Children's Service League is sponsoring the clinic.

Any unscheduled children will be cared for when they arrive and all are invited. The clinic begins at 9 a.m. and continues through 1 p.m.

Dr. E. T. Driscoll will be one of the examining orthopedic surgeons, assisted by pediatricians and physical, speech and occupational therapists. There will be no charge for the examinations.

District Scout Meeting Thursday

An important meeting of the Lone Star district committee has been set for 8 p.m. Thursday at the Cosden Country Club, R. L. Tullett, chairman, said that plans for an accelerated autumn program for cubbing, scouting and exploring would be mapped at the sessions of the operating committees.

Y Campaign Seeks Leaders

Eighteen were present at the YMCA breakfast to kick off the "Fishers of Men" campaign to gain leaders for Y programs during the school term.

Workers hope to procure 31 new leaders during the drive which will end Friday at 5:30 p.m. with a coffee and induction service in the all-purpose room of the Y.

FFA Schedules Fishing Trip

At a meeting of the Future Farmers of America at Big Spring High School Tuesday night, members set the dates for a fishing trip to Lake Buchanan Aug. 24-27.

Members of the FFA eligible to go on the trip were those who attended 70 per cent of the meetings last year and those who were present at Tuesday's meeting.

A planning session has been set for Aug. 15 at 8 p.m. at the high school. Those going will decide upon the number of cars to be taken. The trip will be sponsored by vocational agriculture teachers and fathers.

After last night's meeting, the 40 members and guests had a watermelon feast.

On Honor Roll

N. Lanell Morris, a freshman in the School of Business at Texas Tech in Lubbock, was named on the honor roll for the spring semester. Only 48 students in the five schools achieved the 3.00 grade average.

DEAR ABBY

Better Get Out Of This Quick

DEAR ABBY: One day last week a very attractive young man came to my door selling magazine subscriptions. I invited him in because I was interested. We talked a few hours and I fixed him coffee. I found him very appealing. He has a wife and children, but is having trouble at home and needed someone to talk to. When he left, he forgot his necktie and a large envelope with some business papers in it. I have his name and telephone number. Should I call him up and tell him to stop by and pick up his belongings? I would like to see him again. I am married, but my husband travels.

TEMPTED

DEAR TEMPTED: Pile his "belongings" into an envelope and mail them to him. He had no business removing his necktie, and you shouldn't have encouraged him to make himself so much at home. You apparently found each other "appealing," which is the way people who are already "sewed up" become unraveled. Forget him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We were married three years ago. We had a large wedding. My husband was still in the Service. Many of our friends offered to buy us dishes and glassware, but we had no place to store these things, so we didn't select a pattern.

Now we are settled in an apartment, and would like to have these gifts. The friends who offered the glassware and china have never given us anything. We know their intentions were good. Would it be proper to let them know we could use their gifts now?

REGRETS

DEAR REGRETS :Nope.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old, and my problem is this: My boy friend asked me to kiss him and I told him no because it was not a real date—he was just walking me home. Did I do the right thing? I like this boy very much, but am not allowed to date yet.

NOT SURE

DEAR NOT: You did the right thing. But don't get the idea that when you are on a "real" date, you have to kiss every boy who asks you.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers to you for saying a kind word about the girls in girlie shows.

A generation ago I bumped (and ground) out enough money to buy my parents a little home. I also put my brother through Law school. I was never ashamed of the way I made my living because I always lived right.

I went to church every Sunday morning, which is more than you could say for a lot of people who sat in the front row every Saturday night. Sincerely yours,

FORMER FAN DANCER

More Praise Heaped On Retiring Pastor

Dr. P. D. O'Brien heard himself called the "town's preacher" Tuesday, as more tributes were heaped upon him and his wife, "Miss Johnny Kay."

Occasion was Dick O'Brien Day in Big Spring, proclaimed by the mayor, and noted officially at a luncheon program sponsored jointly by the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce. Rotarians had many visitors at their regular weekly session, including members of boards from the C-C, YMCA, Salvation Army, on all of which Dr. O'Brien has served.

He had stepped down Monday as pastor of the First Baptist Church, after a few months short of 20 years. All the time he has been in Big Spring, he has been a Rotarian, and has served the club as president.

It was Joe Pickle, one of three speakers, who noted that Dick O'Brien's sphere of influence goes beyond his own church.

TOWN'S PREACHER

"We can call him the town's preacher," said Pickle. "He has supported every worthwhile organization in Big Spring, he has been friend and counsellor to other churches."

Pickle called the minister a "healer of divisions," and said no matter what faddists or sensational itinerants came into the city to create strife, Dr. O'Brien remained steadfast.

"And after periods of conflict, the people were always willing to come to him."

Dr. O'Brien was lauded for being devoted to his church, and for having created a spirit of Christian fellowship there; for his steadfastness in his Christian beliefs; for his humanness; and "because he has always preached the gospel of love."

The Rev. Don Hungerford, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, paid tribute to O'Brien as dean of the city's pastors, and for his great influence for the spirit of cooperation in the Pastors' Association.

"He has been concerned not only with his own life and his own church, but for all other churches and all the community," said Rev. Hungerford.

W. C. Blankenship recited his long association with Dr. O'Brien (the former school superintendent has been a deacon in the First Church ever since O'Brien came in 1942).

"All of us have come to know him as an outstanding personality, in vision, in service, and in leadership," said Blankenship. "We have known him in Rotary fellowship, but above all he's a Christian preacher, with not an iota of prejudice in his soul for any person."

Dr. O'Brien responded in the jovial vein for which he has become so popular, joking a bit about his congregation and the honors that have come his way. But he was serious as he thanked "the members of our church and our friends in Big Spring who have made living worthwhile."

He gave a special salute to Nat Shick, the "unknown friend" who for more than 19 years sent him a rose a week, and whose identity was revealed just a week ago. And to Mrs. O'Brien, "who deserves 99 per cent of the credit for anything I may have accomplished."

He has been a pastor every day since the age of 20, Dr. O'Brien recalled. "There's not much to regret, and not much to boast about. But it's been a wonderful life, and if it were possible to be granted such a thing, I would be ready to live it all again."

Grand Jury Plans Liquor Price Probe

HOUSTON (AP) — A special federal grand jury plans an investigation of Texas Liquor prices starting Aug. 14.

Subpoenas were sent Tuesday for 15 wholesale dealers, five retail dealers and three dealers association in the state.

The wholesalers and the associations were told to bring business records.

The list of records includes some that would show if there have been any boycotts of retailers who cut liquor prices.

Lawyers from the Justice Department's anti-trust division will handle the investigation.

One discount house—SAGE Inc., of Dallas and Houston—filed an anti-trust suit in October against five wholesalers because, the suit said, the wholesalers refused to sell the discount house 19 nationally advertised brands of liquor.

The associations are the Texas Package Stores Association of Houston, the Austin Liquor Retailers Association, and the Tarrant County Package Stores Association.

Skipping Space Ships Suggested

By FRAN KCAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Space ships that could skip off the earth's atmosphere for a second try at landing in case of a re-entry goof were forecast today by a government scientist.

Dr. Eugene S. Love of the Langley Research Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said possibilities exist for designing space craft so they could bounce off the earth's atmosphere, like a stone skipping off water, in the event the original return approach from outer space was faulty.

Addressing a space science conference at Virginia Polytechnic Institute—and amplifying in an interview — he said such a space ship might approach to within 80 miles of the earth, and then zoom off into a 300-mile-high orbit to await a new try at a more favorable landing.

Dr. Love said NASA scientists see chances of equipping space ships with special chemical jets —or even airplane flaps—so they could be positioned to get a bouncing lift from the earth's atmosphere upon entering it.

Dr. Love's speech was prepared for a conference of American and Canadian defense-research space scientists jointly sponsored by VPI, the National Science Foundation, and NASA.

He said it well could be that a manned space ship, returning from a mission to the moon or the planets, could go into the reentry phase at a faulty angle that would carry it wide of the area where recovery forces were waiting for the pickup. In that event, he said, a skip maneuver would be indicated.

The scientist also said space ships of the future might be equipped with throwaway compartments so that the final reentry vehicle, reaching the earth, would be only the living quarters of the astronaut crew.

He said one NASA concept of manned space craft calls for a modular, or sectionalized, vehicle in which hhe crew would ride in the nose cone section, while auxiliary propulsion and scientific instrument sections would ride behind. The two latter sections would be jetisoned after they served their purpose.

Dr. Love said space scientists are not over-concerned about the hazards of the Van Allen radiation belts because, he said, trajectories of manned space vehicles could be tailored to minimize the danger.

Of greater concern, he said, are radiations from mostly unpredictable eruptions on the sun—as well as possible hazards from prolonged periods of wakefulness in flights to the moon and the planets.

Orange, Post Get Federal Grants

Orange will get $8,070 and Post $6,750.

Bracero Strike Story Surprise

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The newspaper Excelsior last night reported more than 3,000 Mexican field workers were threatening to strike in the Haskell, Tex., area because of reported discrimination.

The newspaper did not quote a source for its report.

It said the workers had complained to Mexican consular and United States officials. The newspaper said the workers claimed they were being refused service in barbershops, restaurants, theaters and hotels.

In Haskell, a West Texas town of about 4,000 population, the report was declared a complete surprise. Editor Alonzo Pate of the Haskell Free Press said he had heard of no such complaints.

He further said Mexican farm workers were being served by Haskell business places. He also pointed out that the number of Mexican workers in the Haskell area is now at low ebb but would increase considerably in September when the cotton harvest is in full swing.

Cool Front Brings Rain

By The Associated Press

A weak cool front brought more scattered showers to the Texas Panhandle Wednesday.

The front sidled into the Panhandle Tuesday after one of Texas' coolest Julys on record. Scattered showers fell during the night and continued early Tuesday northwest and northeast of Amarillo.

In addition to the Panhandle, skies were cloudy in South Central Texas and along the coast. They generally were clear in other sections.

The weather bureau climatologist at Austin, Robert Orton, said July was one of the coolest on record. Midland reported its coolest July since the weather bureau started keeping records.

Orton also said most stations reported above-normal rainfall. Midland had its wettest July on record. Waco gauged its wettest since 1903.

Forecasts called for considerable cloudiness and widely scattered thundershowers through Thursday. Temperatures were expected to be slightly cooler in some areas.

A Devotional for Today

Learn first to shew piety at home, . . . for that is good and acceptable before God. (I Timothy 5:4.)
PRAYER: Heavenly Father, help me to add courage to my faith. I am Thine; but help me to write "Holiness unto the Lord" upon my home and upon all within it. For Thy honor and for Jesus' sake. Amen.
(From The Upper Room)

Give Them A Chance To Fight

The Texas Senate has passed a bill which would forbid payment of a fee for vehicles carried "piggyback" on rail cars.

Backers said that this was a measure designed to prohibit rail companies from paying "tribute to Jimmy Hoffa," boss of the teamsters' union. Hoffa is trying to get railway companies to pay the union $5 per auto carried on rail cars.

This might be valid reason within itself, but the principle is broader than that. It simply is the matter of paying money for a service not rendered. Thus the word "tribute" is not far wide of the mark.

Another sound reason—and this is one from which the measure might well have moved in the first place—is that depriving the railroads of a weapon of competition would be unwise and undesirable. Right now they are fighting for their freedom of operation if not their very existence. Railroads should be encouraged in their initiative and in competitive steps, not penalized, least of all by the exacting of a tribute.

More Than Psychology

President Kennedy, thanks to prompt action by the Congress, now has authority to call up a quarter of a million reservists. He also has the power to extend active duty tours and enlistments for a year.

While this admittedly is psychological in some respects, there is no gainsaying that there is substance as well as psychology to a greater ready defense establishment. For that reason, the authority likely will be liberally used. A trained and conditioned man is more persuasive than the power to call up a man.

Although the Russians have pooh-poohed the President's talk in which he reaffirmed the U. S. position to stay in West Berlin according to agreement, there are signs that the Reds are taking the warning with more than a grain of salt. In announcing a 20-year plan, Premier Khrushchev hit once more on the theme of peaceful co-existence. He also advanced the bait of more material goods for Russians, if and when part of the national resources can be spared from beefing up its military might.

In his case, Khrushchev can decree priorities. In our instance, we will have to accept our own system of priorities. Survival and liberty will come first. Material pleasure and business as usual may have to give ground.

Around The Rim

Assist For The Unknown Friend

Despite his protestations, Dr. P. W. Malone was frequently suspect as the donor of the rose which came each Sunday to Dr. P. D. O'Brien, who retired Sunday as pastor of the First Baptist Church. Nat Shick was the unknown friend who had kept the rose coming for 19 years without fail.

Doc had made several trips with his pastor, and even in the remotest places the rose was always on hand. This made him a prime suspect, although he was as much in the dark as anyone as to who was the real unknown friend. To say he had nothing at all to do with the continuity would hardly be accurate, because on those long trips the commission of the unknown friend was passed on to him through the florist. There were a few times when it appeared the chain would be broken.

ONCE IN Anchorage, Alaska, he had, with great difficulty, managed to obtain the rose and was prepared to send it to Dr. O'Brien who was preaching down on the Kenai peninsula. A severe snow storm moved in Saturday, and word went out that transportation was suspended. Just as it seemed impossible to get the rose to Kenai in time, Dr. O'Brien showed up at Anchorage. He had become wary of the weather, and knowing that his flight was scheduled to depart on Monday, he had persuaded a member of the Kenai congregation to return him to Anchorage ahead of the blockading snows.

ANOTHER SUNDAY found the pair in Jerusalem in the austere Arab section of the city. Dr. Malone had looked in vain for signs of a flower shop, and getting across the no-man's section that separates the two parts of the city was impossible. He arose early on Sunday to try to find some place where he could get a rose, but in vain. Time for the service, which Dr. O'Brien was to conduct outside the tomb of Christ was drawing near, and the situation seemed hopeless. Disconsolately, he started back to the hotel. In the courtyard of a seemingly abandoned residence, he saw a solitary rose blooming on a scrawny bush. He tried unsuccessfully to rouse anyone, then took out his pen knife and appropriated the rose bud to the noble tradition.

THE NARROWEST squeak of all came aboard ship in the Mediterranean. In the haste of sailing for Egypt, he had not bothered to obtain roses. Yet the ship, it turned out, had no flower shop. Now an expert at foraging for roses, Dr. Malone looked in every nook and cranny of his deck—but no roses. When the ship put into a port briefly, efforts to secure a rose in the tiny village were unrewarding. Back at sea he reflected that it would be Tuesday before the ship docked at Alexandria. One of the Italian stewards, who spoke English, noticed he seemed troubled and asked why. Dr. Malone told him the story of the never-failing rose. Before long, the steward was back with some beautiful red roses. He had located them in the stateroom of a lady on the upper deck, and she gave him half a dozen of the blossoms. This was how, a short time later, a downcast Dr. P. D. O'Brien was leaning over the ship's rail when he heard his name called. He turned and there stood the steward "with the most beautiful rose in the world."

U.N.'s Failure In Tunisian Affair

IN EUROPE — The world is witnessing in the Tunisian affair a sad example of the incompetence or disarray of the United Nations machinery for mediating in international disputes.

When serious trouble breaks out, as it did a few days ago in Tunisia, it is wrong for Dag Hammarskjold, the Secretary - General of the U. N., to accept an invitation from one side and then promptly set forth, by letter to the other side, proposals that must inevitably be regarded by the latter as partisan.

IN A SUBSEQUENT letter of explanation to the French foreign minister, Mr. Hammarskjold declared that his attitude was "based solely on the interpretation of the duties of the Secretary - General and of the principles of the charter adopted by the organization in the past, and also on the intentions, I venture to believe, of all the members of the Council who voted for the interim resolution."

But is it the function of the Secretary-General of the U. N. to interpret the "intentions" of the members of the United Nations?

Mediation has been most successful in the history of diplomacy when undertaken with the consent of both sides in a dispute and when the mediators confine themselves at first to fact - finding. Then, after feeling out each of the parties, proposals can be submitted for the adjustment of the dispute.

PRESIDENT DE GAULLE was right in refusing at this time to see Mr. Hammarskjold in Paris. For the latter had unwittingly disqualified himself as a mediator by conferrring with the Tunisian government without first having obtained an agreement to talk with the other party in the controversy.

What the United Nations secretariat should have been at work on during these past few days was an investigation of exactly what happened before and after President Bourguiba ordered a siege on the French base at Bizerte and his troops opened fire on French paratroopers reinforcing the base. The world should have been given the facts, and both sides should have been permitted to state the reasons for their respective actions before an attempt was made to launch proposals for a settlement.

EVERY MEDIATOR in any important controversy finds it necessary, above all, to establish his position as one of complete impartiality. An editorial in the Baltimore "Sun," reprinted in Europe, says in part:

"Mr. Hammarskjold's personal intervention in the Bizerte affair displayed less than his usual finesse. He flew to Tunisia in response to a direct plea from President Bourguiba and not on explicit instructions from the Security Council. This allowed the French to claim that he was playing the Tunisian side, though his intention is to play the honest broker."

Also, with passions raised to a high point when fighting occurs, it is especially important, after a cease-fire, to allow for a cooling-off period before any actual peace proposals are brought forward.

IN THE TUNISIAN controversy, the United Nations called for a "cease-fire," and it was obeyed by both sides, though the French refused to withdraw to the naval base troops they had moved into the city to repulse the attack. But the Tunisian government immediately sent its foreign minister to Cairo to arrange with the United Arab Republic for "volunteers" to help fight the French forces. This does not augur well for a negotiation in good faith. President Nasser has just announced that he is sending military equipment and supplies to the Tunisian armed forces. But will the United Nations take cognizance of this obvious intervention by military means in the dispute?

TO RUN TO NASSER, who has hitherto been hostile to the President of Tunisia, is strange indeed. For only three years ago Tunisia broke off diplomatic relations with the United Arab Republic and accused the latter of being involved in a plot to assissinate Bourguiba.

Another strange happening is recorded in a dispatch to the London "Daily Telegraph" from Rome, where it has just leaked out that the Tunisian government —before the Bizerte episode—concluded an agreement for new oil projects in Tunisia with Signor Mattei, the head of the Italian State Petroleum Company. This is the same individual who has been getting cut rates on oil from the Soviets in a maneuver that threatens to disrupt the whole price structure in oil throughout the world.

THE TUNISIAN government makes no secret of its desire to acquire a substantial share of the oil resources of the Sahara. It is widely believed that President Bourguiba saw a chance to enrich his country by making up with the Algerians, with whom he has hitherto been at loggerheads. His action came at the very moment when France and Algeria, in peace negotiations at Evian-les-Bains, were struggling with the problem of Sahara oil. Shortly after the Bizerte crisis, these talks collapsed when the Algerians asked for an indefinite suspension, presumably to work out a deal with Tunisia.

SO IF THERE were a real inquiry into the whole Tunisian affair and the facts were given to the world, many high-sounding phrases in espousal of "self-determination" and "anti-colonialism" would turn out to be a cover for a materialistic quest. The Soviets have their eyes on the exploitation of the Sahara's oil resources for their own purposes, and will furnish money for development provided they can get a hold on certain African countries and start a series of moves that will adversely affect the companies of the West which have oil pipelines and refineries in the Middle East.

The mystery of why Mr. Bourguiba has suddenly turned on his western friends and provoked a quarrel with France is gradually being explained by what is happening in the grab for the Sahara's oil resources.

FRANCE HAS a treaty right to keep the Bizerte naval base until such time as a satisfactory agreement with Tunisia is achieved by direct negotiations. The U.N. is neither a supranational body nor a superstate, and its usefulness as a peacemaker in the future will be enhanced only if it confines itself to the role of mediator and shuns partisanship. One way to achieve that result is to send a special U.N. commission of at least three persons, appointed in each instance by the Security Council itself, to mediate, and not rely on one man, even if he is the Secretary-General.

The Meaning Of The Red Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—You can expect world turmoil for the rest of your life. Not big war, maybe, but endless conflict, struggle, revolution around the globe.

It's all spelled out calmly in the Russian Communist party's program for the next 20 years, and beyond.

This program, the first laid down in Moscow since 1919, was released Saturday. It fills 64 columns of print in the New York Times.

When Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf" — his blueprint for the wild savagery of Nazism later —unfortunately no one took it seriously.

IT LOOKED LIKE the work of a neurotic, and it was.

No doubt many men had a hand in the new Russian Communist party program which has the blessing of Premier Khrushchev. No one is calling this neurotic.

It is frankly and confidently Moscow's blueprint for world conquest by communism. This must be taken as seriously as Mein Kampf should have been.

It is divided into two main parts. One is a catalogue of rosy promises of a richer and easier life for the Russian people in the next 20 years.

It was this part of the program which got most attention when it was made public over the weekend.

The other, predicting the ultimate triumph of communism without a timetable, is the blueprint for the long, fierce, unending struggle ahead.

READING THE full text in this part of the program makes the idea of "peaceful coexistence," which Khrushchev preaches, look like an exercise in the Communist lexicon of double-speak.

It says quite blandly that peaceful coexistence between communism and capitalism is not only possible but desirable. After all, it explains, this just gives communism more time to take over.

It says, for instance:

"Communists have never held that the road to revolution lies necessarily through wars between countries. The great objective of the working class can be realized without war."

The real chiller is Moscow's idea of what should be happening through that long twilight period of peaceful coexistence — that everywhere Communists should be trying to take over whatever country they're in.

THE MEANS may vary but the central theme is revolution. The revolution may not necessarily be violent, if, for example, Communists could get elected in enough numbers to control a parliament and thus take over government.

The program sounds a little skeptical that Communists are going to conquer many places without violent revolution. It says: "Leninism maintains, and historical experience confirms, that the ruling classes do not yield power of their own free will."

That's the polite way of saying you'll have to fight for it, boys.

Some Great Industries

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a great industry being built up that says you can't be happy if you retire after 65.

There is a great industry being built up that says you can't be happy if you retire before you are 65.

There is a great industry being built up that says it isn't worthwhile to retire at all. It is better to go on as before.

Well, this just may or may not happen to be true.

So far as I know, there is no medical evidence that proves any human being who keeps his enthusiasm for living and new or old enjoyments dies younger by quitting a steady job at 55 rather than 65.

What is true is that in most circumstances no doctor can assay your endurance.

Unless you have a known terminal disease an honest physician would have to admit, as any honest physician did 3,000 years ago, that your longevity would have to be as much a mystery to you as his is to him.

It has been my observation that people who have performed an endeavor ably for a long period of time, if they weary of it, survive longer if they relinquish it rather than if they try to continue their clutch of it.

They must find a different reach. There comes a time when they must let go of what they have held, and grasp another thing.

Change is a tremendous medicine at any age.

There are those who say that age cannot stand a change of medicine or survive a new viewpoint.

My observation has been that the elderly can well sustain any change except a change of weight.

Those who retire early do not perish from nonperformance. Their appetite endures, they refresh themselves by new attempts.

Science has its purposes, but it also has its frustrations.

I recall the sad face of a pioneer doctor in the field of gerontology—the study of old age. He worried himself to death in his 60s, I must suppose, in an attempt to figure how people could live longer.

My mother, who got only through the third grade in Ireland before she came over here and bore five children, never had time to study gerontology. She'll be 74 this year.

"Sometimes I feel like I ought to let go, and give this old world a rest," she says placidly. She is 60-70 pounds above her arrival weight, and America has been for her just one child and a calorie after another.

All her five children—the silver cord remains untarnished and unbroken—deny her this choice. They all feel the need of her unity, now as when young.

"But sometimes I get so tired," mother says. "I'd like to retire. I'd just like to quit."

Talk, woman talk.

There are plenty of statistics to show—I hope—that men who retire younger live longer than those who don't. It's good for them.

But not for mothers. Mothers can't retire. They can't quit, can they? A mother's best pension is the reward of the need of her eternal presentment.

Outstanding Representatives

WASHINGTON—To pick the Representative of the Year out of 437 members is not really so difficult as finding the First of 100 U. S. Senators.

All Senators are putative prima donnas, the more so as they rise above their fellows in quality and performance. The best non-living Senators of our era—such as Taft, George and Vandenberg—were hard to meet, hard to know and occasionally hard to like.

BUT REPRESENTATIVES as a class are genial, folksy, relaxed and as easy to meet as the postman on the route. Only a few House members are show offish or stand offish, and they are not going to make this listing. By temperament and necessity, the good Representative is a team player. Whether captain or buck private, he's a soldier's soldier. He has to be this way if he's to get anywhere, and be anything, in our House of Representatives.

IN CHOOSING the finalists of the Senate, I consulted with nobody—but in picking the House stars, I did some asking and listening. For the last round-up, I asked John McCormack (Mass.), Majority Floor Leader, in state politics since 1917 and first elected to the national House in 1928, to give me four nominees for Representative of the Year, but not those I had already picked myself. To vary the order, I bypassed Minority Leader Halleck (no disrespect intended) and went instead to Congressman Bob Wilson (Calif.), who was recently chosen as Chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee for the election of House members. I asked Wilson for a similar list of four nominees, but none that I had preempted. To these Democrats and Republicans, I added my own candidates for the accolade.

McCORMACK'S nominees: Bob Jones (Ala.), Albert Rains (Ala.), Emanuel Celler (N. Y.), and Carl Vinson (Ga).

Wilson's nominees: John Byrnes (Wis.), Melvin Laird (Wis.), John Rhodes (Ariz.), and Peter Frelinghuysen (N. J.).

Alexander's nominees: Among Democrats—McCormack, George Mahon (Texas), also mentioned by McCormack; Edward Hebert (La.), and Overton Brooks (La.). Among Republicans: Gerald Ford (Mich.), Tom Curtis (Mo.), and William Miller (N. Y.), all mentioned by Wilson; Jim Fulton (Pa.), Halleck (Ind.), and Wilson.

THE NOMINEES are easy to classify. Leader McCormack has the job of putting over the Democratic program. His idea of a team player is one who carries the ball for his side. Jones was very active on the highways and water pollution bills. Rains, said his Leader, handled the housing bill "like a master," putting through provisions that the Democrats expected to lose. Celler, a veteran trustbuster, endeared himself to Democrats at this session by pushing over the judgeship bill. Vinson was an unexpected tower of strength on the Rules Committee change. The merits of these measures are not so much at issue as are the ball-carrying capabilities of the Democratic Congressmen.

CHAIRMAN WILSON has a different viewpoint about the stellar qualities of Congressmen. A minority member, with no chance to make legislation, he looks for Republican Congressmen who (a) earn good reputations for themselves and (b) build good cases for the Republican philosophy. Each of his nominees, without much concrete evidence of accomplishment, has left a definite mark on the 1961 session.

My own nominees are personal favorites and objects of admiration. Jim Fulton is like the football linesman who is at the bottom of every pile-up. He gets into every play, offensive and defensive, and gets there wholeheartedly. Ford and Curtis, Miller and Wilson, personalize, to me, the intellectual integrity of conservatism, although none is an extremist. Mahon, Hebert and Brooks, all committee chairmen, are stubborn fact-finders, but not torch-carriers for any ideology. McCormack and Halleck, as opposition Floor Leaders, are engaging and resourceful tacticians.

One of these men, to be revealed in a further installment, is Representative of the Year.

New Drugs Help Fight Depression

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am a young mother with two small children. My problem is repeated spells of depression. It is hard for me to sleep at night and during the day I feel like a bundle of nerves. This is causing unhappiness for my whole family. I realize I need help; what can I do? —Mrs. S. F."

Depression can be anything from just feeling "down in the dumps" to a fullblown case.

Depression is one of the frequent problems with which psychiatrists must deal, and in severe cases it can be serious indeed.

On the other hand, depression has this hopeful aspect—generally the patient DOES get over it, although sometimes it can be a long process, perhaps a matter of several years.

In really severe cases, hospitalization is sometimes urgent; the patient is so depressed that it isn't safe to leave him or her alone.

As with some other ailments, there are certain numbers of these critical cases—and very large numbers of milder ones, of varying degree, with the patients getting their day's work done but often being pretty miserable.

Thus depression is a problem which has had a great deal of attention from experts. It is only fairly recently that any drug treatment has been available, the so-called "psychic energizers," of which a half dozen or so are being used.

In all frankness, there is considerable difference of opinion over these drugs—and perhaps it's a good thing that we have differences of opinion on most new drugs that come along. Between the pros and cons we finally arrive at an accurate understanding.

There have been steady efforts to improve the drugs and find new ones. Perhaps more important, in the long run, is the effort to learn more about how to use them effectively.

A couple of the early ones proved to be dangerous in some cases and have been withdrawn; the half dozen that I mentioned retain the approval of the Food and Drug Administration, but it is apparent, to me at least, that we are only at the beginning of the process of learning how best to use them.

But where a few years ago we had nothing for the "ordinary" cases, we now have something, and in a good many cases the results of drugs have been rather startlingly successful.

It no longer is a matter of waiting until a case is so severe as to require psychiatric hospital treatment. However the drugs are so relatively new that a good many doctors still prefer to refer such cases to others who have had more experience with them.

In any event—it's the sort of trouble which is well worth reporting to one's doctor. And along the way, one of the older standbys, like a blood count, may uncover anemia or some other subtle condition which is sapping one's energy and intensifying the trouble.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I recently read an article which stated that now dermatologists can eliminate freckles. Is this true?—T. H."

No, it's not true. And there's serious questioning about preparations that are supposed to fade freckles, because of the reactions which some people suffer from them.

MRS. E. W. T.: No, diabetes cannot be caused by drinking too many cola drinks, or other soft drinks.

The Rock Is Riding Hard

BY RICHARD STARNES
(For Inez Robb, who is on vacation)

A photograph which appeared in newspapers all over the Republic last week have made the Hon. Richard Nixon's blood fairly congeal with horror.

It wasn't a spooky picture per se, but it's safe to assume it brought the erstwhile GOP candidate down with goose bumps more effectively than a likeness of Bela Lugosi at his worst could have done.

THE REAL DIFFICULTY was that the photograph was so downright wholesome. It showed New York's personable, solvent and handsome Governor happily chopping down a tree in a ceremony launching a camp for juvenile delinquents. The worst of it (from Nixon's viewpoint, anyway) was that the Rock looked as if he could chop down a tree without hacking off a big toe in the process.

Seen from Nixon's perspective, that's the saddest part of it: Nelson Rockefeller looks good doing anything. He eats a blintz with the assurance of a man who grew up on New York's blintz-famous Delancy Street. He even looks forthright holding a pool cue—a talent which in anyone else would only testify to a wasted youth.

GOVERNOR Rockefeller, of course, is running for the 1964 GOP Presidential nomination just as fast as his well-shod feet can carry him. This cheerless fact is well known to Nixon, and at this preliminary juncture he has every justification for regarding Rockefeller as his chief rival for the nomination.

The Rock learned some harsh lessons at Nixon's hands during the last convention, and the Govenor has proved himself a quick study with a retentive mind. The Nixon camp is glumly aware that the Governor is not likely to repeat the mistakes he made in Chicago a year ago. He will, moreover, be armed with a number of potent weapons he did not have at his disposal during the last convention.

THE ROCK'S outriders, for example, will point to President Kennedy's razor-edged squeaker over Nixon and say, "Our tiger would have won easily in 1960, and he can win in 1964." The GOP that nominated Nixon was larded with eight years in power; the GOP which seeks a candidate in '64 will be hungry with four lean years. This will be important and perhaps decisive.

The second shaft in Rockefeller's quiver will be his performance in New York's gubernatorial campaign next year. He carried the state by more than half a million votes in 1958, and he will bend every effort to beat this figure in 1962.

THESE WILL be impressive credentials to carry into a convention slavering for victory, but present indications are that the Governor will have even more. His present plan is to run scared for re-election, win big, and stick close to the store in Albany until the end of the legislative session in the spring of 1963.

This will put him in an enviable position. The convention will be 14 months away, Rockefeller will (he hopes) have a big victory to point to, the Rockefellers will be no more reluctant to gamble some of their millions than the Kennedys were, and the Governor will have a smooth professional organization in being to help him improve each shining hour.

ROCKEFELLER learned a great deal from Nixon, but he learned more from watching the expert pre-convention campaign for John F. Kennedy. He is going to use all his considerable resources in an attempt to duplicate it.

From May of 1963 until the convention opens the following summer, Rockefeller will, so to speak, topple trees all over the country. If Nixon regards the prospect with dismay, it is no wonder.

Keeps Figure With Exercise, Careful Diet

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — When Christine Crawford, Joan Crawford's daughter, was growing up, we were neighbors in Brentwood. So it was enjoyable to meet her again at 20th Century-Fox, where she made her film debut in "Wild in the Country."

Her hair is the same smoke-blond that I remembered, and when I remarked about it, Christina said, "I've heard of so many people ruining their hair with dyes and bleaches that I swore I'd never take that chance with mine. I rinse it in lemon juice to give it a sparkle, but I've never put anything else on it but shampoo."

It is natural that a child of Joan would want to be an actress, but she also has a love for dancing.

"I studied dancing with Martha Graham in New York," she told me. "And I still do one of her exercises. It is the greatest because you reach your stomach, thighs and fanny with the one work-out. We used to do it on the floor of her studio, and as you don't hold onto anything, you travel, so give yourself plenty of room.

"Before exercising, I always do a little limbering-bending routine —dropping my arms forward and touching the floor several times. It's a good warm-up. Then I lie on the floor and bring my knees up to my chest and try to keep them there with both hands in back of my head. Then I swing to one side, then the other, keeping my shoulders as flat as possible while touching the floor on each swing with my knees. This is not strenuous—in fact it's fun—but it helps me keep my hips trim, and that's the first place extra weight shows on me.

"I don't have any bad eating habits," Christina revealed. "Mother never stressed desserts, bread or fried foods, and what you've never had, you don't miss. But I do love rich ice cream, so I compromise by eating the skim-milk kind. That really is quite good when it's made well."

KEEP LITHE AND LIMBER

Christina Crawford believes in correcting figure faults with exercise. Let the methods in Leaflet M-74, "Exercises to Keep Slim and Young," help you. All the routines are "warm - ups" which many dancers on the stage and in movies use. FORMER RESIDENT

Mrs. Fahrenkamp Active In Club Work

Mrs. E. Edmund Fahrenkamp, former resident of Big Spring, has been serving as the co-chairman of the Fort Worth Woman's Club summer buffet committee, which last week ended its summer dinner series.

Her guests for the finale were Mrs. G. T. Hall and her daughter, Marie Hall, of Big Spring.

The Fahrenkamps were longtime residents of Big Spring prior to moving to Fort Worth in 1943. He has been active in construction work for almost a score of years, having operated his own firm for part of the time.

Ten years ago tragedy touched the family when Edmund Jr., 18, a talented young pianist and artist, was killed when a plane carrying ROTC cadets crashed.

Characteristically, the Fahrenkamps have made their friends their family. They are active members in the First Presbyterian Church at Fort Worth, and they make their home in a two-story white brick at 204 Virginia Place.

Mrs. Fahrenkamp has drawn warm praise for her work on the summer buffet series and is credited with the plan that avoided long lines and also which brought dinner music to the occasions.

Teaching is still a special love of Mrs. Fahrenkamp, whose sister, Miss Grace Mann, is a devoted teacher in the Big Spring system. Miss Fahrenkamp was a teacher here when she met and married Fahrenkamp.

This September she will be back in the classroom teaching a first grade class where she practices a positive psychology by encouraging children to earn the honor of "today's best citizen." In entertaining and other affairs, Fahrenkamp is her faithful co-host.

Eagles Two-TD Favorites In Game With All-Stars

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars, praised as the finest group assembled in at least 11 years, may have an exceedingly good chance to knock off the Philadelphia Eagles Friday night in Soldier Field.

The oddsmakers, however, have rated the National Football League champions two-touchdown favorites. It's hard to go against the pros, who have won 17 of the 27 games played in the series. There have been two ties.

But it's no secret the Eagles have a quarterback problem without Norm Van Brocklin, who led them to the NFL crown. This, parlayed with what appears to be an exceptional college squad, heightens the chances of head coach Otto Graham's collection of graduated campus heroes.

Graham has going for him a game-breaking combination similar to the one he used in beating the Detroit Lions 35-19 in 1958. Then, flat passes by Jim Ninowski to mercurical Bobby Mitchell paid off on touchdown sprints of 84 and 18 yards.

Against the Eagles he can alternate three outstanding quarterbacks out of the T and spread formations—Norm Snead of Wake Forest, Bill Kilmer of UCLA and Tom Matte of Ohio State.

Among a brigade of receivers is Navy's All-America, Joe Bellino. He is Mitchell-like with flat passes.

Other receivers who have brightened the hopes of Graham and his staff are George Fleming of Washington, also a field goal and extra-point expert; Aaron Thomas, Oregon State; Pervis Atkins, New Mexico State; Glynn Gregory, Southern Methodist; Bernie Casey, Bowling Green, and Bob Crespino, Mississippi.

If this isn't enough, toss in such rugged individuals as Mike Ditka of Pittsburgh, Earl Faison of Indiana and Marlin McKeever of Southern California.

Although the All-Stars are heading for the air, it doesn't mean the Eagles are going to head for the hills. The pros have a secondary that is one of the best in the NFL—Tom Brookshier, Bob Freeman, Jimmy Carr and Don Burroughs.

Defensively, the collegians look as if they have enough heft to stop a stampede. They'll need it against such Eagle runners as Clarence Peaks, Ted Dean, Billy Barnes, Tim Brown and Heron Sapp.

But the potential is there with Joe Rutgens of Illinois and Mike Zero of VPI, a pair of 250-pounders; 6-9 Ernie Ladd of Grambling (La.), 290 pounds; Ben Davidson, Washington, 265; Carlton Kammerer, University of the Pacific; Dan LaRose, Missouri, and that fearsome linebacker, Emil Holub, of Texas Tech.

The All-Stars will limber up under the lights of Soldier Field tonight to get acquainted with its vastness. A crowd of 65,000 or more is expected for the game, which will be televised by ABC starting at 9 p.m. EST.

Newly Named

Mrs. Lillian Kountz (above) recently was named girls' basketball coach at Garden City High School. She succeeds Clarence McDaniel, who is now coach at Strawn High School.

Orioles, Giants Bid To Get Back In Races

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

With the two-day All-Star game break out of the way, the surging Baltimore Orioles and San Francisco Giants reopen their bids today to make three-way battles of the major league races.

The Giants, third in the National League and eight games back of the leading Dodgers, take the direct and more dangerous route. They face the Dodgers—the hottest club in the majors with eight straight victories—tonight at Los Angeles in the first game of a two-day series. The Giants have won five of their last seven.

To make it even tougher for the Giants they run into Johnny Podres (13-2) in the opener. The stocky southpaw has won five straight. He will be opposed by right-hander Juan Marichal (7-7).

While the coast clubs are battling away, the Cincinnati Reds entertain their favorite pigeons. They meet the Philadelphia Phillies in a three - game set, starting with a doubleheader tonight. The Reds are 12-0 over the Phillies and thanks to the forlorn cellar-dwellers are only a half game back of the Dodgers.

The Reds will send Jim O'Toole (10-8) and Joey Jay (14-6) against Philadelphia's Don Ferrarese (2-7) and Johnny Buzhardt (3-10).

In the other National League games Milwaukee pits Bob Buhl (8-8) and Bobby Hendley (3-3) against the Cubs' Glen Hobbie (7-11) and Jack Curtis (7-15) in a day doubleheader at Chicago and Pittsburgh matches Bob Friend (10-13) against the Cards' Larry Jackson (6-8) in a nighter at St. Louis.

The Orioles, who swept three out of four from the Yanks before the All-Star halt and seven of their last eight, are 8½ games back of the American league-leading New Yorkers and seven behind the second-place Detroit Tigers. With the doubleheaders coming up, the Orioles have a solid chance to gain ground with their solid, improving young pitching staff.

The Orioles will call on Chuck Estrada (8-5) and Dick Hall (5-4) to oppose Minnesota's Pedro Ramos (8-11) and Don Lee (3-2) at Baltimore tonight.

The Yanks, minus their suspended manager Ralph Houk, sends Whitey Ford (19-2) and Ralph Terry (6-1) against Kansas City's Jim Archer (7-5) and Bob Shaw (6-9) at the Yankee Stadium. Ford guns for his 14th straight victory and his first 20-win season. His high mark was 19-6 in 1956.

Detroit is at home against Washington. Don Mossi (10-2) and Phil Regan (9-6) oppose the Senators' Joe McClain (7-11) and Marty Kutyna (6-2).

Cleveland's fourth-place Indians, now 11½ games back of first, pit Jim Perry (8-8) and Jim Grant (9-5) against Ray Herbert (7-9) and Cal McLish (6-10) of Chicago's fifth-place White Sox at Cleveland.

Los Angeles and the Red Sox clash in two at Boston with th Angels' Jim Donohue (4-4) and Ron Moeller (4-6) opposing Ike Delock (5-6) and Tracy Stallard (0-0).

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

E. H. Poteet, who coached some of those Big Spring High School football teams around 1918 or '19, is now president of Texas A&I College in Kingsville.

* * * *

There's a possibility the San Angelo High School basketball tournament will be dropped because of an inability on the part of promoters to attract top teams.

The tournament is scheduled for Dec. 8-9 and Big Spring is one of the teams already entered.

* * * *

Don Schwall, who could emerge as the top hurler on the Boston Red Sox staff, was performing for Alpine in the Sophomore League only three years ago.

In his first 12 decisions this year, Schwall won ten games and recently was named to the American League squad for the second all-star game.

* * * *

The high school athletes feel tempted to do it on occasions, so it's probably comforting to them to know that the pro gridders react the same way—when they are defeated.

Don Hutson, one of the all-time greats in the National Football League, said recently:

"When we lost, we used to walk down alleys in Green Bay. It wasn't that we were afraid that anyone would punch us in the nose. It was to avoid the questions."

* * * *

Two Garden City High School graduates were extended invitations to appear in all-star games at the Texas Six Man Coaches Association school this week but both declined. (Bill Richardson of Garden City is one of the West coaches in the eight-man football game).

Gary Seidenberger, a hefty lineman, received a bid to play in the eight-man football game, but he's working and had to decline.

Joe Carter was invited to perform in the basketball contest but he'll be in New Mexico at the time, making inquiries about going to school over there. I understand Carter wants to study Forestry in college.

Incidentally, Richardson hasn't been around Garden City this summer. He's been completing work on his Master's degree at East Texas State College.

* * * *

Casey Stengel has been keeping quiet about his future plans because he's sold a story to Saturday Evening Post magazine, for a sum of $200,000. It will run in six parts.

* * * *

Al Lopez, the veteran manager of the Chicago White Sox (who may quit this year), used to have his unpredictable moments.

On one occasion, he purposely reached the ball park early and pasted, on home plate, a blown-up picture showing a play in which the late umpire, Bill Klem, had erred the day before. Then he covered it with dirt.

At game-time, Klem bent over in the time-honored ritual to dust off the plate, stood up to face Al and barked:

"Take a walk, kid . . ." Lopez was through for the afternoon.

* * * *

Ollie Matson, the Texas negro who made good in professional football, probably will play slot back on offense for the Los Angeles Rams this fall.

The Rams talked trade with the San Francisco 49ers last season, at which time Matson was mentioned in a deal for another Texan, Y. A. Tittle. Nothing came of it, however.

Slot back is a spot where a player often goes downfield as a pass catcher, but more often as a decoy. On other occasions, he can hang back and become a safety valve receiver for the quarterback, in moments of desperation. He can, and often does, slant-block. All in all, he's a very valuable hand to a football team.

Value Of Awards Is Upped To $4,000 For Tournament

Value of prizes for the 30th annual Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament, which will be the first one ever to be held on the new 18 - hole layout, have been upped one fourth to $4,000.

The annual meet, which quite likely will attract a record field, is again to be held over the Labor Day weekend—Sept. 1-2-3-4.

Entry fee for the tournament and its accompanying activities will be $15, the same as last year.

The tournament committee has voted to switch the championship finals from match to medal play, along with the last matches in the first, second and third flights Monday afternoon.

There is a distinct possibility the championship finals will be televised, which is the reason the method of play in the finals has been changed.

Medalist qualifying and the annual Cosden Cup matches take place Friday, Sept. 1. A buffet dinner for tournament entries will begin that night, starting at 8 o'clock.

Match play begins on Saturday, Sept. 2. Championship flight players will engage in two matches that day, entries in all other flights only one. Saturday is also the appointed day for a putting tournament. A cocktail party is scheduled to get under way at 6 p.m. and will continue for an hour and a half. The day's entertainment will be climaxed by a dance, starting at 9 p.m.

Two more rounds of champion play are scheduled for Sunday, along with second round matches in other flights. A duplicate bridge tournament for women, in which the entry fee will be $2.50, is also scheduled for that day. Four prizes will be awarded in the bridge tournament. Competition begins at 1:30 p.m. Another cocktail party is scheduled for 6 p.m.

The 36-hole finals will be played Monday, Sept. 4, along with semi-final and final matches in other flights. The presentation of awards will be made at the conclusion of play in late afternoon.

Qualifying scores must be turned in no later than 7 p.m., Friday, Sept. 1.

M. R. (Frog) Koger will serve as director of this year's tournament. Co-directors will be Dick Johnson, Jack Wallace and Gil Jones.

Mustangs To Win Some Games, Insists Coach

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP) — Coach Bill Meek of Southern Methodist University squared his jaw and said "we're going to win some football games. We're going to be tough for everybody."

He was being optimistic—much more so than even a winning coach. It took courage, too. Because Southern Methodist this fall will be attempting to rise from its lowliest depths of football despair.

Last year Southern Methodist didn't win a game and the only bright spot, if a fellow used rose-tinted glasses, was a scoreless tie with Texas A&M, which wasn't going anywhere either. It was the worst season in 46 years of football at SMU.

The University had to cut out athletic scholarships for all sports except basketball and football because the fans wouldn't come out in sufficient numbers to see a losing football team play.

Southern Methodist and its losing ways were talked about as much as Arkansas winning the Southwest Conference championship and Texas, Baylor and Rice playing in bowl games.

But Meek says the fans and alumni didn't bother him much. He got few telephone calls telling him how poor he was at coaching and he had only a handful of "Dear sir, you cur" letters.

"I was treated pretty good under the circumstances," he added. "Outside of getting few invitations to make speeches I couldn't see much difference in last season and the ones that had gone before."

Seems few wanted to hear Meek talk about losing games. Meek didn't care to talk about them either.

"The only one who really worried about it must have been me," said Meek. "I never could get any sleep from thinking about it."

But he didn't think the team did so badly anyway. "We played some of the best teams real good games," he commented. "We had our worst night against Rice when we lost 47-0 and you would have thought the boys might have quit after that. But they came back fighting and played their best football in the last five games of the season."

Meek said he had his best spring training in his five years at Southern Methodist. The morale of the squad is high and he thinks he'll be much stronger than last season because he has gotten his experienced quarterback, Harold Morgan, back from the scholastically ineligibles, and has picked up some good prospects among the sophomores. There are 23 lettermen at SMU and nine are seniors.

"We'll win some games," Meek declared.

Eder Jofre Named Fighter Of Month

NEW YORK (AP)—Eder Jofre, the undefeated bantam weight champion from Brazil, was named "fighter of the month," by Ring Magazine today for his knockout victory over Japan's Sadao Yaoita.

Jofre flattened the Orient flyweight champion in the 10th round of a nontitle bout at Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Ford To Seek 20th Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitey Ford, the Yankees' superb left-hander, guns for his 14th straight victory today and admittance to major league baseball's 20-game winning set.

An outstanding hurler since he came up to the Yanks in 1950, Whitey never has hit the 20-win marker although he has led the American League in won-lost percentage. His high mark was the 19-6 record in the 1956 season.

This time he figures to make it easily. He could go as high as 30 if he continues to get the breaks and Luis Arroyo remains fit.

The senor will be ready in the bullpen to take over in case Whitey tires around the seventh inning.

Manager Ralph Houk, suspended for five days and fined $250 for bumping umpire Ed Hurley last Sunday, won't be around to see Ford pitch one of the two games against the Kansas City Athletics today.

Ford's record is 19-2. He has started 25 games and finished nine. He tops the league in strikeouts with 148 and has a 3.17 earned run average.

Arroyo, 34, a right - hander whose screwball breaks away from a right-handed batter, has a 7-3 record, an ERA of 1.75, and has saved 21 games. As the Ford specialist he has gone to Whitey's rescue 14 times. He has saved 11 for Ford, got two wins himself and lost one.

One reason why Ford never won 20 for the Yanks under Casey Stengel was the way the manager spotted his ace for the top teams. Houk decided to put Ford on a four-day rotation.

Nines Changed At CC Course

Although no real estate has been moved, the two nines at the Big Spring Country Club have changed places.

What formerly was the back nine at the course has now officially become the first nine, and visa versa.

The change took place for several reasons. For one thing, newcomers to the course invariably were trying to tee off on No. Ten, reasoning that it was No. One.

For another, the fairway and the green of what is now No. One can be seen plainly from the pro shop. Linksters teeing off will not have to worry about the location of players preceeding them off the tee.

Then, too, the new arrangement calls for the linksters to finish 18 within plain view of the patio and swimming pool—a much more suitable arrangement for gallerites during tournament play.

As one member of the club put it, the arrangement of holes "should have been that way all the time."

The front nine of the course now stretches 3,403 yards, the back nine 3,537 yards. The entire length of the course is 6,940 yards. Par for the course is 35-36—71.

Six Teams Are In Webb Meet

Six teams have been entered in the Southern District Squadron Level Softball Tournament at Webb AFB, which gets under way Thursday and continues through Sunday.

Eligible teams are, in addition to the host base, Brooks Army Medical Center, Lackland AFB and Randolph Field, all of San Antonio; Laredo and Harlingen.

Webb is conceded a better chance this year than it has had in some time. A few observers contend that Webb will be able to stop the mighty men from Lackland—the district's most consistent winners. Laredo, also, has an excellent team and is expected to finish "in the money." The Laredo team arrived this morning and will get in a little batting practice this afternoon. The other four teams are due to arrive during the day.

Tomorrow evening a banquet for all team members, coaches, and officials will be held in Dining Hall "C." Col. A. F. Taute, deputy commander of Webb, will welcome the visitors, and Col. Donald W. Pendergrast will emcee the festivities. Following the banquet drawings for places in the tournament will be held.

The schedule calls for four games daily, beginning at 3 o'clock Thursday. Other games will be held at 5:00, 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. On Sunday the finals will be played and trophies awarded.

There will be a first and second place trophy, as well as one for the most valuable player of the tournament.

Bethell, Wilson Enlisted By Oilers For Tournament

Richard Bethell and Robert Wilson have been added to the roster of the Cosden Oilers, champions of the Big Spring Junior Teen-Age Baseball league, which begins play in the District Tournament in Sweetwater Thursday against Brownwood.

Both boys are pitchers but Bethell can catch in a pinch. The additions are allowed under Teen-Age rules, so long as the additions compose any portion of a battery.

Bethell performed for the KP Tigers in the season just completed. Wilson was a member of the Police Department team.

A. E. Clanton, coach of the Oilers, has five other pitchers. They are Rickey Earle, Norman Patterson, Roger Stallcup, Bill Andrews and Josh Sullivan.

Cosden finished with an 11-1 won-lost record in league play here and the lone reversal came in the early portion of the season.

Clanton and his boys work out this evening for the final time. They've been drilling steadily since regular play ended last week.

Art Wall Is Out Of Eastern Open

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP) — Art Wall Jr., has withdrawn from the $35,000 Eastern Open Golf Tournament starting Thursday in Baltimore because of "exhaustion."

Wall, a member of the Ryder Cup Team, returned to the pro circuit last week after being off a month while recovering from a groin injury.

COLORADO CITY—The annual membership meeting of the Lone Wolf Cooperative was held Tuesday evening with about 1,500 in attendance.

Three directors were re-elected to the board, W. H. Cooper, Raymond Althof and A. K. McCarley Jr. Cooper was also named president of the board; Martin Murphy was renamed vice president; and Gwan Strange, secretary-treasurer.

Bids Announced On State Lands

AUSTIN (AP)—Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler announced today high cash bonus bids of $4,992,726 for leases on 88,504 acres of state school lands.

Of the 404 tracts offered, 216 drew bids.

Highest bonuses went for six Gulf of Mexico locations. Sadler said the auction was satisfactory, pointing to the $5 per acre average cash bonus.

The Gulf Oil Corp. was high on four tracts with bids of $670,219, $376,978, $177,798, and $33,998.

Of the 15 tracts offered in Laguna Madre, nine drew high bonus bids totalling $129,305. Sadler said the locations were all in the area of the proposed Padre Island National Park.

With the exception of 18,107 acres west of the Pecos River, all tracts provide for $5 per acre rental and one-sixth royalty. The Trans-Pecos areas provide for $1 per acre rental.

Crosby, Hope Move Into Mansion

LONDON (AP) — Bing Crosby and Bob Hope have moved into Cranbourne Court, one of England's most stately homes.

For 400 pounds ($1,120) a week, the two have rented Cranbourne Court for themselves and their families while they make a picture, "The Road to Hong Kong."

Nearby are two golf courses, a pub named the St. Crispian, Ascot race course and the rural Shepperton movie studios.

THE FRONT ROW

By Bob Smith

Casa Manana has raised the curtain on "Texas' Li'l Darlin'" with Don Wilson, of radio and TV fame, in the top spot.

The opening performance was given Monday evening, and the show will continue through Aug. 12. It is the fifth offering of the summer season for Fort Worth's domed theatre.

Co-stars with Wilson are Danny Scholl and Jet MacDonald. Featured are a vocal trio, the Three Coyotes, and 40 members of the Tarrant County Sheriff's Posse in their stage debut.

Information may be had from Casa Manana Box Office, 3101 West Lancaster, Fort Worth 7, Texas. Or, phone EDison 2-6221.

When Jean Rosenthal says "Honey, kill that baby," she isn't asking anyone to murder a helpless child.

She is simply asking a stage crewman to cut off a "baby" spotlight. Miss Rosenthal, production director of the Dallas Civic Opera, uses pet names of "honey" or "darlin'" for stage workers. She does this because so many workers pass under her aegis that she can't be troubled with names. She does not, however, loft the names over like Tallaluh, but rather in a shy, subdued voice.

If you're out Ft. Davis way, you might go by the old fort and introduce yourself to spry, sixtyish Al Guzzardi, who is busily recording on canvas the history of the area.

His paintings are excellent, an obvious fact which he will freely admit. He is a bit hard to approach, but if one shows a true interest in and knowledge of art, Guzzardi will respond in a most interesting manner.

You may also meet and inspect the work of Margo, Guzzardi's young wife. She is good, and has great prospects of becoming better. Guzzardi says he is teaching her all he knows, which would seem to be a long-term project.

Weldon and Wanda Rogers, country recording artists, have put out another disc. This one is "In a Spanish Town" and "I've Got the Yearning."

Weldon wrote words and music to both songs. The label is Peach, from (notcherly) Georgia.

The Rogers family left Big Spring in January for Farmington, N. M., where Weldon continues in radio. Here, he was with KHEM. He cut the original tape at the Hi Fi House, and previewed the songs locally before having the platter pressed.

Weldon and Wanda, as is their wont, sing a duet and double on the guitars.

We were talking to Ace Ball, local deejay, a while back, and he was wondering why country artists never seem to get any publicity, whereas local pops artists who put out records are certain of having the word spread.

The answer to that is the same as with civic clubs and others—many times, people assume that newspaper editors are mind-readers who automatically know everything that goes on. Truth is, we know only what people tell us, or what we are able to find out for ourselves.

This is not to say that every item offered will be published in this column—an editor must draw the line somewhere. But we have no particular objection to country music (even like some of it) and local people who have records pressed certainly deserve mention.

A few months back, singer Faron Young was seated in a booth at the 66 Cafe. The waitresses at the time were playing a nonsensical word game in which one addresses inanimate objects.

"Hello, sugar," one would say.

"Hello, table," another would chime in.

And still another, "Hello, eggs."

No one is making any claims, but Faron just a short while later put out another record hit.

You've guessed it by this time. Name of the record is "Hello, Wall."

Small Business Given Salute For Bond Plan

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Small business does a big job for the U.S. Savings Bond Payroll Savings Plan, according to the Treasury Department.

Official estimates indicate that 45,000 companies offer the plan. These include most of America's largest corporations, but also many companies, in all types of business, which employ fewer than 100 employes.

In a statement acknowledging the Treasury's tribute, Cortland J. Silver, St. Paul, Minnesota, jewelry executive and vice chairman of the National Small Business Advisory Committee, said that "big achievements come in small packages.

"Small companies account for a large percentage of the eight million Payroll Savers who buy a million dollars' worth of U. S. Savings Bonds every hour of every working day. We are proud to help our employes save for security—proud of our part in helping to keep America strong and free."
