New Activities To Be Started After Jan. 1

Slum Clearance And Tenancy Programs Ready; Security Plan Will Be Broadened

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—Two long-range federal projects to aid low-income groups—slum clearance and farm tenancy programs—will begin operation early in the new year.

They are the principal new government activities now scheduled for 1938, although the coming session of congress may authorize others.

Program Broadened

The social security program will be broadened. Twenty-one states and the District of Columbia aided by federal funds, will begin Jan. 1 to pay unemployment compensation to workers in insured industries.

A tentative start already has been made on the $526,000,000 slum clearance program, which officials hope eventually will provide better living quarters for millions of low-income city residents.

Congress provided $100,000,000 for the first year's operations of the United States housing authority, set up to direct the program, and appropriated $200,000,000 for the second year. The authority tentatively has allotted $136,550,000 to 32 cities.

Start Making Loans

The farm tenancy program has been in the organization stage. Officials of the Farm Security administration, which will direct it, said they expected to start making loans early in 1938 to selected tenants who wish to buy farms.

The agency received a $10,000,000 appropriation for its first year's operations. Officials said this amount would permit assistance to about 2,100 tenants in the first year. The program provides for 40-year loans at 3 per cent interest.

While these new government agencies were created in 1937, only one sizable one — the Resettlement administration — passed out of existence. Its projects were turned over to the Farm Security administration, which arranged to complete those already begun.

Spending Days Over

The Public Works administration was continued by congressional act but President Roosevelt said its "spending days" were over.

Other emergency agencies given an extension of life were the Civilian Conservation corps, extended to July 1, 1940; the Commodity Credit corporation, and the Surplus Commodities corporation, both extended to June 30, 1939.

The number of government employes declined slightly during 1937, despite the opening of new agencies and continuation of most of the old ones. At the beginning of their year 831,095 persons were on the federal payroll. The last report before the year's end showed 827,701.

Neutral Bloc Will Continue Fight In January Session

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—Leaders of the congressional "mandatory neutrality" bloc said today they would resume their campaign in the coming session of congress for invocation of the neutrality law in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

Senator Nye (R-ND) said final settlement of the Panay bombing had cleared the way for him and some other senators to voice their objections to continuance of the administration policy of not placing an embargo on war materials to the far eastern belligerents.

Nye said he expected strong support in the senate for the Ludlow constitutional amendment, which would require a popular vote before congress could declare an offensive war.

The senate neutrality bloc, however, has divided on this issue. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) strongly opposes the war referendum proposal, but Senators Clark (D-Mo), LaFollette (Prog-Wis), Capper (R-Kan), and Nye, all members of the bloc, have introduced proposals similar to Ludlow's.

Capper said he believed the sinking of the United States gunboat Panay had retarded somewhat the sentiment for the Ludlow amendment.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), however, said he had encountered no such reaction. Capper said he believed little could be accomplished in attempting to convince Mr. Roosevelt that he should invoke the neutrality act, which permits a munitions embargo when the president proclaims existence of a state of war.

Mayor Turns The Spigot But No Water Is Forthcoming; City's System Is Stolen And Machinery Is Located In Houston

(By The Associated Press)

GROVETON, Tex., Dec. 28.—Mayor W. L. Gibson turned the spigot. No water came.

The mayor sent down to the waterworks and found somebody had stolen almost the whole works.

The city council of this town of 1,500 persons convened and sent Mayor Gibson to Houston, 125 miles away, to buy what was needed.

Three hours later, Mayor Gibson dashed into a Houston store that had waterworks for sale.

"Give me the works," he ordered, "our town is dry."

The salesman pointed to a stack of second hand machinery.

"Why," stammered the mayor, "that's a part of the waterworks stolen from us last night."

The store manager apologized and handed over the stolen machinery.

Other stolen parts were recovered in another store.

Ten hours later, good, clean water flowed again through Groveton's mains.

Today two men, R. F. Owens and H. C. Smith, both of Houston, were in the county jail here facing felony theft charges growing out of what happened to Groveton's waterworks.

Many Lives Saved By Speedy Action

BY A. MURRAY DYER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BOSTON, Dec. 28 — Medical authorities said today hundreds of lives might be saved annually if persons electrically shocked and apparently dead, were given prolonged artificial respiration.

No person, they declared, should be pronounced dead, however badly shocked, until 12 hours of artificial respiration had been tried or until rigor mortis had set in.

Studies Carried Out

The studies which led to these conclusions were carried out, under the auspices of the Harvard medical school and the Boston city hospital by Dr. Leo Alexander.

Official United States census figures show that in the five years 1930-34 nearly 4,000 persons lost their lives from electrical accidents. In 1934-35, 800 lost their lives from lightning alone. Both forms of shock should receive the same treatment, the study indicated.

Dr. Alexander quoted authorities to show that "in groups of workers who are well trained in the prone pressure method of artificial respiration, and who keep it up for sufficiently long periods, the recovery rate is high, 67 per cent."

Quicker The Better

Where artificial respiration was started within three minutes after the shock, 70 per cent recovered. After four minutes, the recovery rate was 58 per cent.

The research emphasized that long-continued artificial respiration was essential to prevent death because it appears "that most of these patients actually die much later than assumed."

Operatic Star Hunts Talent

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28 — Another career is beginning at 60 for prima donna Mary Garden.

Mary Garden

Red-haired, be-jeweled, in business trim, she briskly surveyed the results today of her hunt for singing screen talent — seven months in New York, Paris and Corsica.

"I'm starting all over again and I love it," she said.

"My work is finding young singers and developing them. But they knew nothing. It takes years to learn the grand opera, but I can teach them. How to sing — that I know.

"They need a new kind of training, too — for they are the singers who will bring opera to the screen. Not the same opera I knew, but a glorious opera just the same.

"How soon? We'll have opera on the screen within three years. That's the maximum."

Lubbock Seeks Coach School

Invitation to the Texas High School Coaches association to hold one of its coaching schools in Lubbock next spring will be extended at the meeting of the association in Dallas Saturday, acording to information given this morning at the chamber of commerce.

While details of the effort to gain recognition for Lubbock have not been worked out, belief was expressed this morning that a "strong possibility" exists that the invitation may be accepted. A delegation from this city will appear before the association meeting to urge acceptance.

Two of the schools sponsored by the association, it was explained, are held simultaneously, each continuing one week. One is for the northern part of the state and the other for the southern. Outstanding college and university coaches are in charge of each, and each group selects 23 high school seniors of the previous season who serve as material for the demonstration of coaching principals. Climaxing event of the school is a football game between the two squads of boys.

Infant's Body Placed Under Xmas Tree

Mother Finds Body Of Young Daughter In Pool Of Blood Among Christmas Gifts

(By The Associated Press)

GREENBROOK, N. J., Dec. 28—Their infant slain and laid under the Christmas tree with the presents after they had a dispute with a tenant over heat, a village florist and his young wife wept hysterically today at the home of neighbors who kept them in seclusion.

Womenfolk of the community took turns laving strong but gentle hands on Mrs Louis Bordolon since she found the body of her 5-months-old Christina in a pool of blood among the gifts she and her husband had bought for their first-born.

Confesses To Slaying

County Detective Charles Allegar said Mrs. Sophie Arcuri, 24-year-old mother of a 2-months-old boy, confessed she slit the throat of the landlord's 5-months-old baby with a paring knife because "their baby was warm and mine was cold."

Mrs. Arcuri, police said, had acted erratically and aged visibly since the birth of her son.

She was holding her son in her arms when police arrested her late yesterday.

Mrs. Arcuri, Allegar said, rebuked her husband, an aluminum wares salesman, for lending money to the Bordolons recently to install a heating system in the house they shared.

Returns Home Angry

When she returned home Sunday night with her son from a Christmas visit with relatives in Port Chester, N. Y., Mrs. Arcuri was angry because "someone let the fire go out," the detective said. Her anger rose yesterday as the house grew colder.

Going to the boiler room of the greenhouse in the rear where Mrs. Bordolon had left her daughter while she waited on customers who called in her husband's absence, Mrs. Arcuri carried the baby to her own kitchen and slit its jugular vein, Allegar said.

Daughter Is Free In Death Inquiry

(By The Associated Press)

WARREN, O., Dec. 28. — Miss Louise Campbell was ordered freed from the Trumbull county jail today after Coroner J. C. Henshaw ruled the gunshot death of her mother was accidental.

The 28-year-old girl had been in jail without charge since Saturday.

Transfusion Is Given

Mrs. Campbell, 55, daughter-in-law of a pioneer Ohio steel master, James A. Campbell, died Sunday of internal hemorrhages induced by an abdominal wound, despite a blood transfusion from her daughter.

The verdict of the coroner's inquest said:

"All the witnesses in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Cordelia Campbell were thoroughly examined by Coroner J. C. Henshaw, and they all stated that the shooting was accidental."

Mother Gives Statement

"Also a statement was made by Mrs. Campbell before she expired that it was an accident."

The order for the release of the young woman gave her the opportunity to attend private funeral services for her mother at a Youngstown funeral home.

A close guard had been placed over the blonde, handsome girl last night after her counsel said she "wanted to die."

Theft Suspect Being Sought

Description of a man who was attempting to sell an automobile stolen Dec. 15 at Greenville was obtained by Texas highway patrol and passed along to the Greenville sheriff's department, said Sgt. H. B. Butler of the Lubbock district patrol headquarters.

The automobile is held here for its owner.

Apparatus Is Found

Sgt. Butler, who with Billy Johnson, another patrolmen, inspected the machine, said there had been found a complete set of dies and an electrical apparatus which could be hooked on any automobile with such success the machine could be driven away without an ignition key. The car's motor number had been changed. Possibility the man was a member of a car theft ring was studied.

Authorities said they had been informed by J. H. Arnette, toxicologist for the Department of Public Safety, at Austin, that 22 milligrams of strychnine had been found in the stomach of T. J. Elliott, 75, whose viscera had been sent there for chemical analysis.

Enough To Cause Death

The poison was sufficient to cause death, Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, said he had been informed.

A 32-year-old woman, Marie Marquart, has been charged with Elliott's

Modern College Student Given Praise For Serious Attitude

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28 — Adult leaders of the national Methodist student conference described the college student of today as being more studious than his predecessor of 10 years ago and less given to religious skepticism, drinking and moral infractions.

Improvement in the religious and moral tone of college life over that of the "bootleg era" was noted today by Dr. Hiel D. Bollinger of Chicago, secretary of the Wesley foundation of the Methodist Episcopal church, and Dr. Harvey C. Brown of Nashville, Tenn., director of student work for the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

They said the change was strikingly evidenced by the increased proportion of students working their way through college and by the eager interest of students in social questions. Dr. Bollinger estimated the proportion of working students had risen to 42 per cent from not more than 25 per cent 10 years ago.

Valuations Of Texas Crops On Increase

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 28—Texas' principal crops are valued at approximately $460,983,000 on the basis of revised estimates of production and market values, the U. S. crop reporting board announced today.

The board said this year's main crops increased in value about 15 per cent over the 1936 values of $399,805,000 although prices received this year generally were lower. Increased acreage and higher yields accounted for the increase.

Get Federal Payments

In addition, Texas farmers received payments under soil conservation agreements amounting to $32,266,000 in 1937 compared with $27,205,000 last year.

Total cash income from crop and livestock product sales and government payment was estimated at $544,176,000 compared with $461,355,000 in 1936.

The board said cash income covered the calendar year while farm figures related to the crop year.

Estimated production was as follows.

Corn—72,048,000 bushels compared with 68,925,000 last year.

Small grains—41,690,000 bushels compared with 18,927,000.

Sorghums—52,336,000 bushels compared with 31,711,000.

Cotton—5,230,000 bales compared with 2,933,000.

Fierce Battle Being Staged For Teruel

Rescue Of Rebel Thousands Is Being Sought And Comrades Fighting Without Pause

(By The Associated Press)

A fierce battle to rescue several thousand insurgents trapped in Teruel highlighted the Spanish civil war today while, half way around the world in China, foreigners fled from Tsingtao in the face of a Japanese advance on that seaport.

General Miguel Aranda, heading a strongly reinforced insurgent army, was reported breaking through government lines northwest of Teruel in a counter-offensive designed to lift the siege of approximately 6,000 insurgent soldiers and civilians who have been stubbornly holding out since government troops captured the city last week.

Fight Without Pause

Dispatches to the French frontier said Aranda's troops were "fighting without pause" and his advance guard might soon drive through to the shell-torn buildings occupied by the insurgents. Barcelona reports told of actual fighting within Teruel.

The United States gunboat Sacramento evacuated a load of American refugees from Tsingtao today, transporting them toward Shanghai—400 miles to the south—as Japanese troops neared the rich Shantung province seaport. Dispatches said 280 Americans had left the city.

Text of the note was not made public but imperial headquarters said it termed the attack a "mistake" and expressed regrets.

Lamesa Gin Claims Production Record

LAMESA, Dec. 28. (Special) — The Farmers Cooperative gin No. 1 owned and operated by 300 farmers of Dawson county, Monday passed the 10,000 bale mark for the ginning season, and, according to gin and machinery men, set an all-time North American ginning record for one gin in a single season.

Olen Peterson, a member of the society, brought in the 10,000th bale that morning.

The gin was organized in 1929, but was rebuilt last year and equipped with the latest type of machinery. The biggest 24-hour run this year was a 212-bale turnout, or a bale every 6.7 minutes over the 24-hour period.

W. G. White, manager of the gin, predicts the gin will handle 12,000 bales before the current season closes.

Officers of the gin are: L. T. Middleton, president; B. L. King, secretary-treasurer, and C. M. Burton, vice-president.

Officials report every member of the gin will receive at least a $1.50 per bale refund when the season is concluded.

Expenses For Relief Likely To Be Pared

No Definite Estimate Being Expected In Budget FDR Is To Offer To Congressmen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—Usually well-informed officials said today President Roosevelt would tell congress next week that the 1938-39 budget can be balanced if relief expenditures can be held within bounds.

The budget which he will send to Capitol Hill Jan. 4 is not expected to contain a definite relief estimate. Because of uncertainty about the severity and duration of the current business recession, the president probably will give only a tentative figure.

Balance Is Doubted

Some members of congress have expressed the opinion relief costs will run so high that a balance between federal income and outgo cannot be reached.

Treasury officials, however, indicated that expenditures for other items than relief and national defense would be sliced liberally in an attempt to bring about a balance.

Army and navy expenditures may be slightly over the billion mark, informed observers said, forming the largest peacetime defense fund in American history.

Skeptical Of Forecast

Government spending will constitute one of the principal subjects before the session of congress which meets next Monday. So many other controversial topics have been scheduled that legislators were beginning to appear skeptical of forecasts that the session would end in May.

One experienced member predicted congress would meet at least until mid-June, despite the "spade work" accomplished at the recent special session.

An item which most congressmen believe will be added to the administration program is new anti-trust legislation. President Roosevelt originally placed it on

Tax Payments Are Starting

Expectation that remaining days of 1937 will bring the biggest late-December tax payment rush in the history of Lubbock was expressed this morning at offices of the county, city and school district assessor-collectors.

Spurring the payments, which have been brisk the last several days, they said, is the fact that money paid on such taxes is deductable from 1937 income on which federal income tax must be paid.

Totals Not Tabulated

While totals of payments for the month thus far had not been tabulated this morning, workers at the various tax offices said, judging from observation, that the payments for the present December are virtually certain to surpass those of December, 1936, which set the existing record for that month.

Last December payments in the three offices totaled $95,520.05, of which $38,920.40 was in state and county taxes, $34,097.64 in Lubbock school district taxes and $22,502.01 in city taxes. Figures for the various divisions were supplied this morning by County Assessor-Col-

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Twins are always interesting. But to me they offer something more than sentiment, as I am curious about the vague spiritual things that defy analysis.

Are twins more devoted to each other than the singly born? Have they the same hereditary traits? Does one develop faster than the other mentally or emotionally?

Possibly the Dionne wonders have contributed more than any other matched children in the world to the queries of science about heredity. Here are five little girls, who look alike and have had identical experience. Yet from the start they showed diverse personality.

One is shy, the introvert; another is full of ideas; another small girl is showing evidence of leadership. If heredity were not paramount, why would they differ in make-up?

This week I talked to the mother of twin boys, twelve years old. I asked if there was a difference in disposition. She said yes, there was, that Thomas was more sensitive than Timothy. Or maybe the other way around. "But," she added, "there is a peculiar affinity between the two of them. An allegiance and loyalty so genuine that I don't take any credit for their training, although our home is always happy and I have never spoken a harsh word to them in their lives."

It seems that their marks were almost always identical in school. A little difference one month in favor of Thomas, perhaps, and the next month in favor of Timothy. But their averages were always close.

Last month it was Thomas turn, but now the difference in grades was three per cent. It put Thomas on the honor list and left his twin out. Home rushed Tim all out of breath to tell the good news. He was so happy for his brother that he was spilling it all over the place. He said: "Mom, we kids are going to celebrate. We're all going over to Mack's house and take things to eat. Aren't you proud of Tom?"

She said that she could scarcely speak for pride, not only in her victorious son but in this generous brother who put his partner's success above his own defeat.

Then I know two other twins who interest me. They not only speak a language from babyhood that no one else could understand, but when one got sick the other was ill too. The boy went to have his tonsils out, and at the moment he was getting the anaesthetic his twin sister went into a deep sleep from which she could not be roused. Afterward when he was a little ill as the other was wearing off, his sister registered the identical symptoms.

This has nothing to do with heredity, of course, but it goes to show either that children born together have some unidentified tie, or that children who closely approximate an age are more in sympathy with their kin. Perhaps families with not too much distance between ages are closer than those with a greater span between.

A lesson from the book, "The Challenge of China," was taught by Mrs. R. M. Hocker at a meeting of the Nazarene Women's Foreign Missionary society at the First Church of the Nazarene Monday afternoon.

Next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Pollyana club and cradle roll department, sponsored by the society, will meet jointly at the church.

Assembly Club Dinner Dance Is Scheduled For Thursday

A dinner dance will be given for the Assembly club at 8 o'clock Thursday night in the Hilton hotel ballroom. The entertainment is scheduled for Thursday instead of Friday because several of the members plan to go to El Paso New Year's Eve. Ned Bradley's orchestra will play.

BUSINESS DISCUSSED

Mrs. C. J. McCarty presided for a business meeting of the Calvary Baptist Women's Missionary society Monday afternoon at the church. Nine members were present.

FOR GLASS DISHES

Always use a dry cloth in handling hot glass cooking utensils. If a damp cloth is used, the glass is likely to crack. When a glass dish boils dry allow it to cool before soaking it and then use warm—not hot—water and a cleaning powder.

City Selected On Fire List

In spite of an unusually heavy fire loss due to one conflagration early in the year, Lubbock has been chosen one of the five "honor" cities of 1937 in Texas by the National Fire Protection association of New York City, according to notification received this morning at the chamber of commerce.

Others in Texas in the order of ranking are Abilene, San Antonio, Amarillo and El Paso. Lubbock is fifth on the list.

First Time Ratings Made

The selections of honor city as made by the National Fire Protection association have no connection with those made annually by the fire prevention committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. This is the first year, so far as the chamber here has been advised, that the fire protection association has made ratings.

The protection association, officials were informed, bases its rankings on the ratio of fire loss to insurance premiums for the particular year.

Use Similar Factors

Ratings by the national chamber of commerce take into consideration similar factors, but for an average of the previous five years. Those same factors, it was explained, are those which determine fire insurance rates. The national chamber also considers the fire prevention activities of various cities throughout the year.

During 1937, three distinct drives of that type have been waged in Lubbock. In 1936 there was only one, but it gained for the city second place among those of its population class in the United States.

Mrs. Fred Adkins Conducts First Meeting Of WMS

Mrs. Fred Adkins, new president, conducted the First Methodist Women's Missionary society's first meeting of a new year Monday afternoon in the church chapel.

Circle leaders read names of circle members and officers and committee chairmen reported plans for 1938. The meeting was held preparatory to a pledge day service to be conducted next Monday afternoon.

HOODED GLAMOR

Go Russian when skiing and skating, gadding about in the evening or playing on the sand in the sunny south. "Babushka," the little Russian peasant hood, designed to take the place of the bandana, comes in three different ways—it ties under the chin and is edged with sequins for glamor at night. Colored jersey is the thing for skiing or skating, and if you are down south get the gay cotton printed babushka.

Guy C. Victory, traveling freight and passenger agent of the F. W. D. C., is in Mexico on a hunting trip. He left Sunday afternoon and is expected to return the last of the week.

American Beauty

Students at Wittenberg College agree that Dorothy Bergquist, pretty blonde coed from Swissvale, Pa., has the most beautiful smile on the campus. Tall and slender, with large eyes, unplucked eyebrows and a wide forehead, Miss Bergquist has the kind of natural, blooming beauty that Hollywood talent scouts are on the lookout for these days.

Evelyn Beard Weds C. E. Williams

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Beard, daughter of Mrs. J. H. Beard, 1618 Sixteenth street, to C. E. Williams, whose family lives southwest of Lubbock, took place in Clovis, N. M., at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. A Methodist minister of that city officiated.

The bride wore a black chiffon velvet dress with small white ermine collar with green studded clip. She wore a black hat with green feather trimming, black suede shoes and two white gardenias tied with green ribbon.

The couple went to Santa Fe and Albuquerque but will return to Lubbock Thursday or Friday for a short visit. Mr. Williams is principal and Mrs. Williams is high school English teacher in the Oklahoma district school near Farwell. Both are graduates of Texas Technological college. The bride has lived in Lubbock all her life and is a graduate of Lubbock High school.

Miss Evelyn Walker, assistant in the office of Joe Y. Boyd, county auditor, was expected to return this afternoon from Christmas holiday visit with relatives at her former home at New Boston.

Heaviest Mail Volume In All History Reported In City

Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 20 and 21, were the heaviest days in the history of the Lubbock postoffice for mailing of letters, Postmaster Amos Howard said.

On both days, over 70,000 letters and cards were run through the cancelling machines, he explained. Besides these there were a number hand-stamped, because of the odd-sized envelopes.

No check was made of the number of packages mailed here. However, veteran employes said that they had never seen as heavy mail as was handled this season.

December income is expected to set an all-time record. Delivery of Christmas packages was virtually complete.

Bowl Opponents Tapering Off In Final Days Before Big Contests

Tech Matadors Back On Practice Field For Saturday Tilt

Football practice started all over at Texas Tech yesterday, but before the day was over the gridders were doing late-season stuff in mid-season form. They returned, after a week of relaxation and Christmas, for final preparations before launching their Sun Bowl campaign Saturday at El Paso. University of West Virginia's Mountaineers will be the opposing force. The Mountaineers are already on the El Paso field.

Most of the boys were hanging around the football dormitory lobby Sunday night. They were all "on time," for once, at workout yesterday, with no late classes or "labs" to detain them. And they re-opened work for the Sun Bowl game with a vim and spirit that was highly pleasing to the railbirds who crowded the sidelines and sat in the stands.

SEVERAL TICKETS LEFT

By special permission of Sun Bowl officials at El Paso, Lubbock was able to hold over for sale two hundred reserved seat tickets for the Sun Bowl game on New Year's Day in El Paso.

These tickets are the remaining ones of two shipments of one thousand ducats sent here for distribution. They were unsold when the original time was up, and permission was obtained to keep them until Wednesday.

So there remains one day to obtain tickets, here, for the Sun Bowl game. They are on sale at the Hilton Hotel desk, for the regular price of $2.20 each.

Skull Practice First

Three drills per day are in order for Tuesday and Wednesday.

At 8:30 o'clock each morning the squad gathers for skull practice. Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith, well pleased with the showing Monday afternoon, have made more than casual studies of West Virginia offensive and d ensive formations, rituals and executions, as provided by a scout in the East. The blackboard, at skull practice, is covered with diagrams, and questions are fired at individual players with all the solemnity of an academic professor and his scholars.

At ten-thirty, the squad will work out. Tuesday and Wednesday, for two hours. They return at 4 o'clock for two more hours of field drill.

Waist Lines Intact

Monday's session, lasted until long after it was too dark to pass footballs or put on effective blocks. There was a lot of verbal coaching. Before that, the Raiders had romped through nearly every phase of football, from fundamentals to the newest technique of protecting a passer.

No casualties were reported in the Raider camp. To all practical purposes, the Raiders had survived the holiday without succumbing to gastric troubles, and certainly the Raider spirit was there on the field.

The squad leaves Thursday shortly after noon for El Paso. One afternoon will be allowed for final rehearsal there—then the Sun Bowl game. Nearly a thousand spectators from Lubbock and vicinity are expected on the sideline.

'Bama Mascot

Margaret Early, above, has a job envied by other Hollywood starlets—she has been selected to serve as Alabama university's "luck star" (mascot in plain American) for the Rose Bowl football game at Pasadena on New Year's day. Miss Early is 17 and a native of New Orleans.

Free Instruction Offered For Golden Gloves Aspirants Who Take Part In Local Tourney

Complete facilities for practice and workouts for Golden Gloves aspirants are available at the Texas Tech gymnasium. Young amateurs who plan to enter city and district tournaments to be staged here soon can get free instruction from the college boxing coaching staff.

The Texas Tech gymnasium will be open at 3 o'clock each afternoon and Milton Coffey, Tech boxing coach and director of the Golden Gloves tournament, which is being sponsored by the Avalanche-Journal Publishing company, invites any and all boxers, regardless of weight, to work out there.

Plenty of Equipment

Free instruction will be given to those who desire it. There will be no charge for use of boxing gloves, punching bags, and other gymnastic equipment at the gymnasium, and all boxers are cordially invited to use them.

Sparring partners will be available, the light and heavy bag will be ready, and the Golden Gloves aspirant will find everything ready for all the workout he can stand.

Also, at the Auditorium, Cliff Caraway, former middleweight who performed for a year and a half on the West coast will donate his services toward helping Golden Gloves hopefuls. These sessions will be open to the public. Everyone is invited to watch the amateurs go through their paces during warm-up practice.

Boxers are urged to fill out the above entry blank and mail it in as soon as possible. By returning this, the boxer becomes eligible to compete in both the city and district Golden Gloves tournaments here.

The city tournament, open to any boxer who chooses to enter, will be conducted on the nights of January 10 and 17. The better boxers of this event will return to compete in the district joust.

Elimination in the city tournament does not mean that the boxer defeated is ineligible to compete in the district event. If a fighter looks good in the city tournament, even if he is beaten, he will be eligible to compete in the district event, first step toward a state Golden Gloves title.

Each boxer who wins in his respective division in both city and district tournaments will receive attractive prizes. In addition, district winners will get free trips and accommodations to the state event at Fort Worth.

Season tickets for the Golden Glove tournaments, four nights of fighting, remain on sale at the Avalanche-Journal office, in the sports department or at the telephone switchboard. Price is $4, and ticket holder occupies the same seat for each night of fighting, a ring-side seat on the first or second row.

Eight High Schools Place Grid Stars On All-State Selections

Two Finalists Get Five On Big Eleven

DALLAS, Dec. 28. (AP) — Eight schools today had placed players on the 1937 all-state football team selected by the Associated Press, with Wichita Falls and Longview, finalists of the Interscholastic league race, contributing five of them.

And it was still "open season" for college coaches who want these prize plums because of the eleven selected only three had indicated what school they would attend next season.

Miller Leads All

The champion Longview Lobos presented Dick Miller at halfback and Chal Daniel at guard on the mythical team, picked by sport writers from every section of the state. Miller led all players in the voting with Harold Fleming, Wichita Falls fullback, ranking second.

Miller and Fleming ended their high school careers in a blaze of brilliance in the state championship game here Christmas day.

Daniel, backbone of the fine Longview line, tied with Arthur Goforth of Wichita Falls in the voting for guard. Both were far ahead of the field.

Damerall At Center

Odell Damerall of Wichita Falls captured the center post. The end positions went to Joe Schwarting of Waco and Jesse Hawthorne of Port Arthur. Euel Wesson of Temple and Pat Lowry of Austin (El Paso) won the tackle posts, Marshall Spivey of Lufkin was selected at quarterback and Danny Reese of North Side (Fort Worth) made the other halfback.

Longview dominated the second team with Otto Paul Burandt winning an end position. Ted Brannon placing at tackle and Jack McMahon at center. Harold King of Amarillo was the other end, Edward Brand of Wichita Falls the other tackle. V D Basey of Austin High and J P Matthews of Pampa the guards. Woodrow Bandro of Beaumont the quarterback, Cam Harrell of Conroe and Whitlock Zander of Jefferson (San Antonio) the halfbacks, and Bob Brumley of Edinburg was named fullback.

Runs Close Race

W G Blackmon of North Side ran a close race for end.

Wesson got votes for tackle, end, quarterback, halfback and fullback but most of his ballots were for tackle.

In the final tabulation Longview placed five on the two teams and Wichita Falls four. The selections were made two weeks before the season closed so were not based on the final game, thus showing the full season's efforts were considered.

A check-up shows that Fleming has decided to go to Texas Christian university and Reese has indicated he will attend the same school. Hawthorne favors Rice or Texas. Wesson is going to Texas A. and M. under his present plans. Spivey says he hasn't decided yet but friends claim he is going to Texas. Rice or A and M. Dick Miller has not said where he will go but he is expected to enroll at Rice.

Schwarting, Lowry, Daniel, Goforth and Damerall are undecided.

Broadway Jack Doyle Picking Tech Over West Virginians

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Broadway Jack Doyle donned his fancy Chinese dressing gown today and spun every secret out of his magic crystal ball. Before the 61-year-old betting commissioner had finished he had presented the lineup which the "smart money" will follow down the sports trail of 1938.

No man could be better qualified than Broadway Jack in this seasonal habit of prying the inside from crystal balls. He hasn't been out-foxed in the betting business since the Boston Braves won the pennant back in 1914 with their miracle men—and even then he got out of the way just in time by selling all his bets on the team to the late Arnold Rothstein.

Here's The Smart Dough

This, according to the shrewd Mr. Doyle, is how the smart dough will ride over the hill and past the poorhouse in 1938:

Baseball . . . In the American league, the New York Yankees will go postward at 3 to 5, shortest-priced favorite in big league history. And they'll walk their beat followed in this order: Detroit or Chicago for second and third, Cleveland, Boston, Washington, Philadelphia and St. Louis Broadway Jack said the crystal ball wasn't so clear in the National league because Pitcher Van Lingle Mungo hasn't been sold yet. If either the New York Giants or Chicago Cubs get him, they'll win the pennant followed in this order: Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Boston, Brooklyn, Cincinnati, Philadelphia. If neither the Cubs nor the Giants get Mungo, they'll be equal choices in Jack's book.

World champion? Without even looking at the crystal globe, Broadway Jack said the Yankees were "in."

He Picks Schmeling

Fights . . . In case you've forgotten, it was the same Mr. Doyle who got everybody along Broadway laughing when he picked Max Schmeling to flatten Joe Louis between the 10th and 15th round. But when they were through guffawing, Maxie kayoed Looye in the 12th. He picks Schmeling again—somewhere between the 10th and 15th rounds. He picks Henry Armstrong to beat Lou Ambers for the lightweight crown. He also figures Ceferino Garcia will take the welter title away from Barney Ross.

Golf . . . Though he's been in the commission business 31 years, Broadway Jack still admits utter confusion when it comes to golfers. But under pressure he foresaw victory for either Sam Snead, Ralph Guldahl, Harry Cooper, Jimmy Thomson or Dick Metz in the National Open, a repeat for Johnny Goodman in the National Amateur and an upset triumph for Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis in the Women's National.

Tennis . . . Bobby Riggs and Don Budge will fight it out for tennis laurels after America successfully defends the Davis cup. Budge will win after a terriffic struggle and then turn professional with Riggs.

Tech In Sun Bowl

Football . . . Even the bowl games didn't escape Mr. Doyle's trained eye. In succession, he picked California, Louisiana State, Rice, Auburn and Texas Tech. He saw victory for the East in the East-West charity game. College campaign? "Simple," he said. "Always take Pittsburgh and never bet against Notre Dame in any one game."

Horses . . . Winner of the Kentucky derby will be Fighting Fox.

I thought of a real hard one. "How about the wrestlers?" I asked Mr. Doyle.

"Do you want me to do all the work?" he howled. "All the crystal balls and Houdinis in the world couldn't figure that one out. There's nothing super supernatural about me, you know."

Little Change Expected For Grid Rules

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28 (AP)—If football's governing body of lawmakers follows the dictates of the men who teach the game, the 1938 rules will bear few changes over those prevailing last fall.

Early arrivals for the annual convention of the American Football Coaches association were practically unanimous in the belief that the rules "should be left alone."

Couple Of Exceptions

"With a couple of exceptions," said Robert R. Neyland of Tennessee, "I would say quit meddling with them. I believe the suggestion of moving the ball in 15 yards from the sidelines instead of 10 is a good one. Also, I think that when a player is in the open and he slips to one knee the ball should not be declared dead."

There has been some agitation for a change in the forward pass rule to allow tosses from any point behind the line of scrimmage as is done in professional ranks. Little pro or con argument was heard on this in advance of the coaches' sessions which start Wednesday.

The coaches' rules committee, with Lou Little of Columbia university in the chair, officially opens the AFCA Wednesday morning. Meeting simultaneously is the National Collegiate Athletic association, of which Major John L. Griffiths of Chicago is president.

Sell-Out For East-West Tilt In Frisco Being Predicted

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28 (AP)—While eastern and western football stars put on the pressure in closing days of practice, Shrine officials predicted today their charity East-West game here New Year's day would be a sell-out.

Managing Director William Coffman said more than half of Kezar stadium's 59,000 seats had been sold and that he expected the remaining ducats to sell in quick order.

Ancient Egyptians used the human-like eyes of cuttlefish for their mummies.

Intensive Drills Are Being Conducted By Some Of Coaches

(By The Associated Press)

Operating on the British idea that a little break in training never hurt anyone, Auburn's Plainsmen are back in the bowl picture today after a ten-day vacation.

Last of the twelve squads to start intensive work for New Year's day games, the Plainsmen went through a vigorous drill yesterday in preparation for the Orange bowl tilt with Michigan State.

In Good Condition

It brought pleased comment from Coach Jack Meagher who found his squad in "excellent condition" and his ace halfback, Jimmy Fenton, ready for the game of his life against the Spartans.

Other happenings on the extra-curricular football front:

ROSE BOWL—California's Golden Bears, toasts of the Pacific coast fans, arrived in Pasadena to get acclimated before the Rose bowl duel with Alabama. They held what was supposed to be a private practice but the fans sifted in to cheer the western paladins.

While the Bears were getting an enthusiastic reception, Bama asked for a private session and got it. Frank Thomas worked his men on defense and reported progress with Leroy Monsky, captain and All-America guard, back in the lineup.

Drill Is Limited

SUGAR BOWL—Louisiana State limited its drill to a light defensive dummy scrimmage yesterday and will get its last scrimmage today. Santa Clara, the Tigers' opponent, is en route for New Orleans, scene of the battle.

COTTON BOWL—Jimmy Kitts, Rice coach, planned to ease up today after a hard scrimmage yesterday. Kitts, pleased with the Owls' condition, will limit practice to signal and dummy scrimmage

Rousing Reception Is Given To Santa Clara's Broncos

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 28 (AP)—The Santa Clara Broncos, en route to New Orleans for the New Year's Sugar bowl contest with the Louisiana State Tigers, were given a rousing reception during a short stop here last night.

Coach Lawrence (Buck) Shaw described his team's chances as "just fair" and reiterated his belief that "we're going up against a better team than the one we met a year ago" when the Broncos defeated the Tigers.

Alumni and local football fans staged a demonstration for the Santa Clara squad while the Bronco special train was in the Phoenix depot.

COACH RESIGNS

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 28 (AP)—The resignation of Head Coach Don C. McCallister of the University of South Carolina and the selection of Rex Enright, former backfield coach at North Carolina and Georgia universities, as his successor was announced by President J. Rion McKissick.

IN SECOND ROUND

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Dec. 28 (AP)—Horton Smith of Chicago and Leonard Dodson of Springfield, Mo., moved into the second round of the $4,000 Hollywood open golf tournament here today a stroke up on a bunched field.

Within three strokes of the 67's tabulated by Smith and Dodson were 16 other golfers who equalled or bettered par 70 on opening day.

THE PLAINSMAN abhors the thought, yet never-the-less shares the opinion of a good many other people that the world is headed for another big war within the next few years.

Further, we are of the opinion that as the magnet draws the scraps of metal, so are Japan and the United States being drawn slowly but surely into conflict with each other.

And to go on, we believe the recent Panay bombing is merely the first of numerous "incidents" which eventually will bring about fighting between this country and the Nipponese.

This column realizes, of course, that such predictions are not pleasant to look upon.

But that's the way we see it—and are calling the shots accordingly.

Fate—if there is such a thing as Fate—is drawing us in that direction.

THE PLAINSMAN was talking the other day with an army officer of high rank who recently completed his second "stretch" in the Philippines within the last eleven-year period.

A veteran of three decades in Uncle Sam's army, a close student of foreign affairs and — we repeat —a high ranking officer, this man not only believes a war with Japan is as certain as death and taxes, but he believes the sooner we have it, the better it will be for us.

Although he is a professional soldier, this army officer does not want war. He has seen it at its worst.

Yet as a professional soldier, and one cognizant of affairs in the Orient, he looks upon the world situation with a cold, calculating, businesslike eye. He sees things as they are, he says, and weighs them accordingly.

HERE is his reason for saying that the quicker we lock horns with Japan the better for us:

By the end of the year, from present indications, Japan will have China, lock, sstock and barrel.

Then the Mikado will begin to tap and work the vast resources of the far-flung, sprawling Chinese territory and the products of those natural resources will be Japan's to use in commerce, industry and war.

Thus, in this army man's opinion, a richer Japan will be much harder to master in a few more years than it would be today, or soon.

The officer believes Russia will not soon be mixed up in the Jap-Chinese rookus, although he believes Russia would have been in it before now if she had been in shape to take a hand.

The Soviets, he says, are ripped from one end to the other by internal strife and trouble — much worse than the world, at large, realizes.

Hence there is little hope for Russia to occupy Japan's attention on the side of China, and thus wear down and weaken the forces of the Mikado.

Russia just isn't in condition, he says.

SPEAKING of the Philippines, our conversationalist does not favor the islands receiving their freedom in 1949, as now planned.

He believes the United States should take hold of the Philippines and run them, lock stock and barrel — but if we do not do that, he believes we should move out entirely, give the islands their full independence and then let them stew in their own juice.

As the plan is now, the Philippines will be free to run themselves any way they like, but in the event of a foreign power's entering the picture, could run behind our skirts, demand—and get—protection.

Incidentally, the present governor-general of the islands — former Governor Paul McNutt of Indiana — is doing a great job, according to our informant, who calls him "the only real governor since General Wood."

When McNutt arrived in Manila, white men had "lost face" with the Orientals, and, as a result, were being "pushed around" no little.

McNutt, however, has put a stop to such a condition and has raised the position of the white man back to where it must be in order that control may be maintained over the polyglot inhabitants of the island chain.

Given authority, you can fatten prices, profits or wages. But the one thus fattened soon starves again unless the other two are there to feed it.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

ROBERT BARRY—hero, explorer.
MELISSA LANE—heroine, Barry's partner.
HONEY BEE GIRL — Indian; member of Barry's party.
HADES JONES — pioneer; member Barry's party.

Yesterday: Safe back in camp, Bob is the center of a conflict between two women. Melissa realizes for the first time that Bob means more than a mere business partner to her.

CHAPTER VII

Zachary "Hades" Jones was working over near the stream bed, now dry and usually so, which lay at the foot of the great cliff. He was cutting sapling poles—long slender ones—with which to make ladders. He stopped swinging his axe to rest when Mary Melissa came through the bushes toward him.

"You aren't expected to do this hard labor, Uncle Hades," she began. "Wasn't Mr. Holliman hired for this?"

"Ain't never shirked no work yet, Miss Milissy. Think I'm gittin old, do ye?"

"No! Oh no! Sometimes I think you are younger than I. But—"

The old man was eyeing her closely, kindly.

"Somethin's on yore mind. You been cryin'."

She sat down on a rock, and he waited patiently for her to talk.

"Uncle Hades, what do you think of—of the cook? The girl?

"Why she's a good—scuse, ma'am—she's a danged redskin squaw ain't she?" Uncle Hades' manner suggested that such a classification was sufficient to damn her irrevocably, forever and ever.

Lissa nodded.

"I mean—is she—is she all right? Oh I'll tell you, confidentially, Uncle Hades. She is throwing herself at Dr. Barry! I think she imagines he's in love with her."

Hades chewed on his tobacco for a few seconds.

"I seen that already," he stated calmly. "I been figgerin' what to do about it."

"You have seen it?" Mary Melissa was surprised. "You did?"

"Yes'm. Everybody has, I reckon, except Bob hisself. Blind young squirt. Not that he ain't right to me, ma'am, but looky here, Miss Milissy, ain't choo sort of took to him yoreself?

His jaw stopped working as he peered at her intently. Her blush was answer enough. The old man cackled in friendly laughter.

"Honey," he patted her shoulder paternally, "I ain't figgered it out yet, but don't you worry none. I'd see him roast on coals before I'd let any Indian make a fool of him."

Uncle Hades meant just what he said. In the rare times when the old man grew reminiscent and talked of yesteryear rip-snorting tales of death and danger came from him. Ten years hence he and all his kind will be dead—that grand army of self-reliant men and women who pioneered western America, who fought nature and Indians alike and triumphed by sheer force of character and brawn. The 1930's saw these great ones in their sunset years, and if a real Indian fighter lingers until 1945 it will be a miracle. Hades Jones was one of the hardiest.

The old man picked up his ax, resumed swinging. He had the skill of long experience. And he had many a labor-saving trick stored away. Holliman was for lashing the cross bars or steps to the ladders with small rope after setting them in notches. Hades made a stronger ladder in half that time by heading an iron rod and burning holes through the uprights, then inserting his short steps therein. Mary Melissa was able to help him with the heating, and she trimmed the step ends with a hatchet.

"In two days we'll have ladders all the way up," Bob predicted.

"Who will place them?" Lissa asked.

"Holliman and I. There are enough safe footings, mostly. We'll chisel a few. I'm anxious to start excavation up there, Miss Lane. You must be next one up. It's—it's marvelous!"

He tingled with enthusiasm, Mary Melissa saw.

Honey Bee Girl kept to herself for the two busy days. That is, she said little, but she observed much. She had been rebuffed by Bob, who hadn't perceived her purpose, but she was by no means admitting defeat. She knew some paleface tricks as well as Indian wiles, and she meant to use them.

The very decorous manner in which Mary Melissa now sought to gain Bob's personal approval did not escape Honey Bee's notice. Why should a white girl, miles from civilization, spend half an hour on her personal toilet each morning, and again before each evening meal? What mattered it, on a rough outdoor expedition, if one's hair were not curled and set exactly right? Or if one's rouge were not applied perfectly, and one's clothes meticulously dainty and clean?

Honey Bee Girl, however, came from a race whose dominant characteristic is patience.

She watched her chance to catch Scott Holliman alone, at some distance from the camp. She came quickly to the point, as usual in her conversations.

"You want to make money," she suggested, scowling, but not looking directly in his eyes.

"Why—yeah. Don't ever'body? What's eatin' you, woman?" Holliman was also matter-of-fact.

"I know more about thee Indian caves." Honey Bee's speech had its brogue. "Thee white man, in the big cities, they pay for what I know."

"That so? How's that?"

"I can show you many fine jar. Many big ollas, pots and things. In cave. Not broke. Worth many dollars. Some with thee horse design. You know?"

Holliman knew. Most outdoorsmen do, in the Southwest. An ancient pot, from some prehistoric ruin, is likely to be worth $100 or more as a museum piece. A horse design used in ornamenting water jars and grain storage jars, would more likely be worth $1000.

Horses were not native to this continent. They were brought here by the first Spaniards. Horse patterns painted on walls of prehistoric ruins probably are due to Spanish invasion, as at Canyon de Chelly or Canyon del Muerto, Arizona, far to the north of Defiance Castle. But horse patterns on still earlier relics, especially on pottery pieces, might indicate descent from or communication with Asia. Each such piece would tend to strengthen the theory that America was populated first by Asiatics, hence each such piece was of high value. Holliman knew that.

"Jars with horses on 'em? Whole jars?"

Honey Bee nodded.

"All right. I'll bite. What you want?"

"You make thee love, try marry thee white woman?"

"Hunh?" Holliman was shocked with surprise.

"You make thee love, Miss Lane. Keep her away from Bawb. I show you thee cave with horse jars."

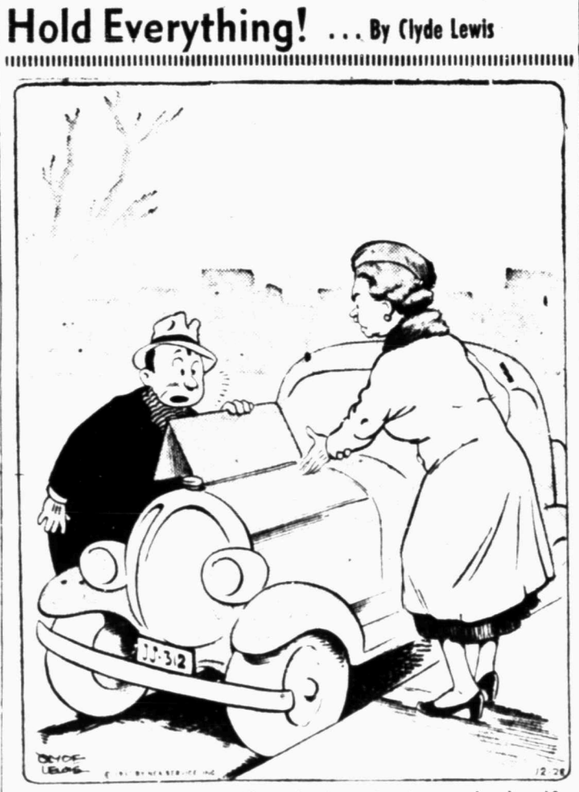

It was sort of fantastic, funny even, this strange proposition. But Holliman got the point. He pushed his floppy 10-gallon hat back on his head and grinned, but he told Honey Bee it was a bargain.

"You do it—without me. You know?" Honey Bee scowled at him, in her peculiar manner. She looked a little vicious then, for all her wild beauty. Holliman sobered.

"Yeah, I see. I get paid for making love and keeping my mouth shut, while you take Barry. It's a deal. It oughtn't to be such a mean job, nowhow."

DOING ONE'S BEST UNDER DIFFICULTIES

One of the most pathetic—and one of the most heart-warming—news stories to appear recently concerns a Pittsburgh mother who has done what she could to make restitution after an automobile accident had deprived another woman and four children of their husband and father.

The son of the mother was at the wheel of the automobile responsible for the accident. Apparently he was no more at fault than the driver in many similar tragedies. A tire blew out, the car careened out of control and—a man lay dead.

Obviously, he was traveling at an unsafe speed. But most drivers are guilty repeatedly of such carelessness. In fact, the tendency to speed is so general that the public is inclined to accept accidents, when they occur, as merely something unfortunate.

But the Pittsburgh story reminds us anew that if we, as individuals, should be at the wheel in a similar case, the regret and sorrow would not be limited to ourselves alone, nor to loved ones of the victim. Everyone with whom we have friendly contact must suffer with us. The more intimate the contact, the more poignant their grief.

Most of us, when such misfortune occurs, regret or grieve, but do nothing more about it. But not the Pittsburgh mother. She has decided to the widow and the children a home—one described in news dispatches as valued at $12,000.

That, of course, may have been small compensation for the loss. But presumably it was as much as she could do—as much as any human could have done under the circumstances.

A Thought . .

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28.—All over the lot: In satirical recognition of the tremendous influx of foreigners into talkietown, the door of a writer's office at Metro bears the sign: "English Spoken Here."

It's hard to realize how cosmopolitan the colony has become, and the "Dangerous to Know" company working at Paramount, is an example. Anna May Wong, the leading woman, is Chinese, though American born. Her leading man, Akin Tamiroff, is Russian.

Anthony Quinn is Mexican born; Barlowe Borland is a Scot; Donald Brian is from Newfoundland, and Paul Sothern is English. There are a few Americans in the cast, but Robert Florey, the director, is French; Charles Schoenbaum, photographer, is German and Assistant Director Karl Cantrell is Italian. Among the technicians are a Swede, a Hollander, another German and another Russian.

"Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," the Cooper-Colbert flicker, is so cosmopolitan in locale that they're calling it "Lubitsch's Cook's Tour." Foreign cities are scattered all over the sound stages, with sets representing Paris, Vienna, Budapest, Prague, Rome and Warsaw.

Curtiz Murders English

Michael Curtiz (Hungarian), directing "Robin Hood," continues his assaults on the English language. Other day he shouted, "If anybody on thees set has somesing to say, please keep quiet!"

Another time: "When I say 'Action!' do not pay any attention to me." What he meant was that the players were not to look at him during the scene.

To an actress he said: "Geev me now a beeg sneer—not so moch from de lips as from de insides."

To the entire company he declared: "It is not so lousy my English as is your acting sometimes." Curtiz always makes himself perfectly understood. Hollywood never has forgotten the time when he wanted some saddled, riderless horses led on the set. He called, "Bring now the empty horses."

Players Get Ba'led Up, Too—

Frequently players get badly twisted in their lines. In "Love on a Budget," Shirley Deane twice said to Russell Gleason: "Hurry up and get breakfast while I shave!"

At 20th-Fox I watched Alice Faye and Tony Martin rehearsing a rooftop love scene. He puts an arm around her, they talk, and he kisses her. Most players mere acquaintances, would have kissed in the rehearsals. But this husband and wife didn't; they seemed embarrassed by the love-making. Director William Seiter grew impatient. "That's terrible! Do it again, and try to forget you're married."

Baby Talk For Waldo

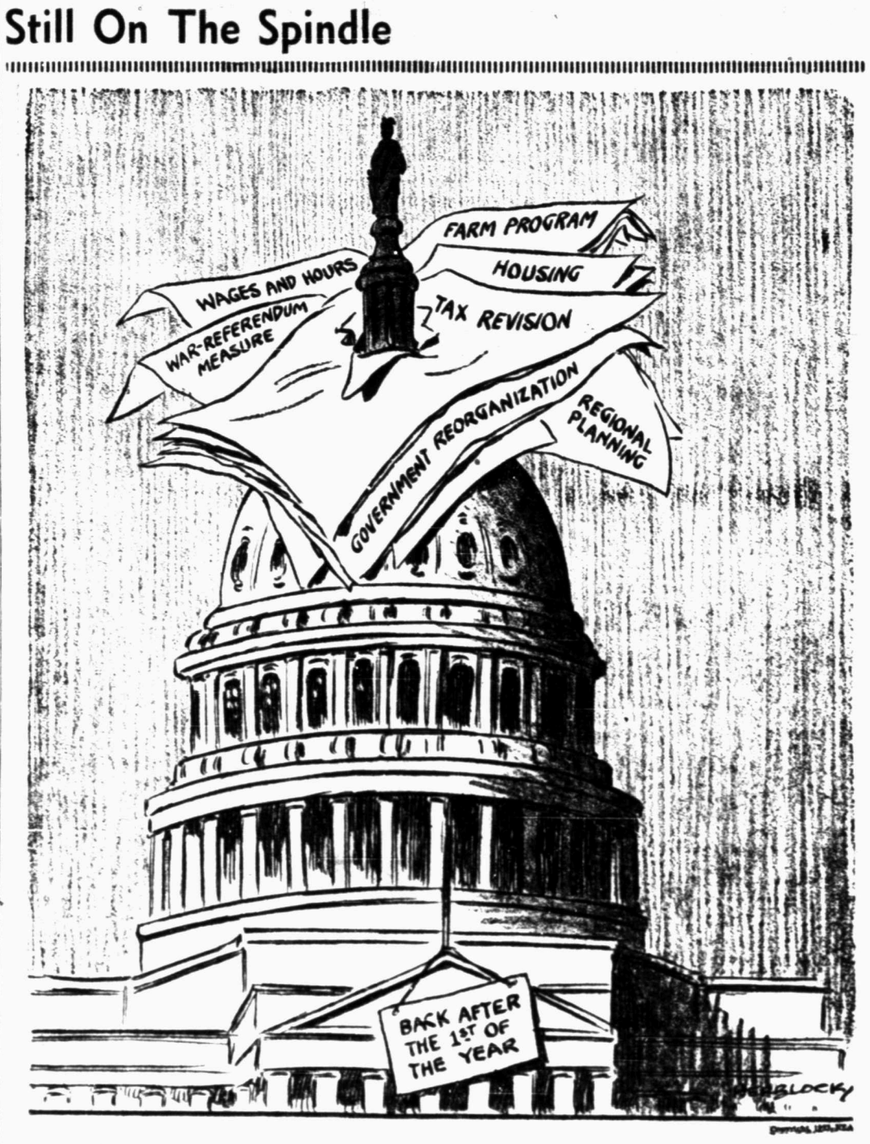

On the William Powell-Annabella set, "The Baroness and the Butler," an unhappy time was being had by all. Walter Lang was trying to direct what would have been a very simple scene if it had not been complicated by the presence of a small, fuzzy dog named Waldo.

All that Waldo had to do was follow Henry Stephenson as the latter paced a room and talked. His owner and trainer coached and coaxed him. Mr. Stephenson, elderly and dignified, hopped around and squeaked a rubber mouse. Waldo was not impressed. He had decided that the only sympathetic person thereabout was Helen Westley.

Miss Westley fostered this impression by crooning baby talk. "Uzzums-wuzzums a cootsie-wootsie," she'd murmur, oblivious to the glares and gaggings of the director and animal men. Waldo would go into spasms of delight.

Somebody suggested that Mr. Stephenson should try baby talk. Mr. Stephenson indicated that he would sell oranges on street corners first. Or, better still, he would stuff Waldo, mount him on wheels and lead him around with a string.

Still On The Spindle

Capital Muses On FDR's Coming Message To Congress, But What It Is Doesn't Matter

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 — It's anybody's guess as to what Roosevelt's message to the regular session will be like. According to some standards of values this question is supremely important.

Rodney Dutcher

But those who adhere to other and more cynical evaluations believe that the President's message, whether hot or cold, will not be especially meaningful because Congress is in revolt, and will pay F. D. R. but little heed.

There is a fairly good chance of—and at least it can be said that the President is considering—an attack on private capitalism and it unwillingness to support the New Deal program. Such an attack would be coupled with some heavy inferences as to the inability of Congress to legislate when not directed by the guiding hand of the White House.

He May "Just Coast"

Ordinarily it would be safe to predict that Roosevelt, who consistently has thrown his weight toward the left when nearly everyone articulate was saying he had "turned right," would adopt that course of address. But there is a slight holiday upturn in the business curve and the President's conservative advisers are jubilantly assuring him that this will continue, and that there will be no need for government to step into the situation with a new spending program.

Consequently, Roosevelt may decide to "just coast," and send up a message which will create no excitement, even though it may please those conservative advisers.

He may even decide to throw all the emphasis of his message on a discursion into the international situation, without any firm specifications as to his idea of domestic needs.

Fighting President?

On the other hand, Roosevelt may decide during the holidays to assume again the role of a "fighting President," and seek to rally his supporters for a New Deal attack on the domestic front, perhaps adroitly tying up foreign menaces with economic and political menaces at home. Some of those men who have been closest to him in the past are betting on this.

In case they're right it is not difficult to forecast the general tenor of F. D. R.'s remarks. He will say that until private capital demonstrates its capacity to take the initiative in bringing about recovery and keeping the economic ship on even keel it will be up to the government to do that.

He will argue that business by and large is willing and eager to march on, but that a few men in positions of economic and financial control are impeding the recovery parade because they don't want to play ball unless they can rule the roost. If the President does follow this line of attack, the effect if not the word will be a threat or promise to expand government spending.

Ready To Step In

One train of Roosevelt thought which you may or may not recognize in the message to Congress was expressed in a recent speech to the Consumers' National Federation at New York by Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, Roosevelt's close adviser, confidante and aide. The speech was approved at the White House, Jackson said.

"... The attempt last spring to taper off government expenditures was spoiled by the failure of private enterprise to realize that the consumer could not be gauged without serious effect upon the survival of private enterprise itself. ... The government not only knows it must step in if necessary, if private enterprise cannot adjust to conditions, but the government is organized to do so in time, as it was organized in the emergency days of 1933.

"The biggest task facing American business is how to restore the unemployed to our exchange system by accepting their services—the only thing they can use for money—in exchange for the product of industry. ... If big business holds back from production and unemployment grows, an irresistible demand will arise which no responsible government can ignore, for more rather than less government expenditures. Increased government expenditures will mean increased taxation. ..."

Tax Payments

ector H. B. Bryan, School Assessor-Collector A. C. (Jack) Jackson and City Assessor-Collector E. C. Young.

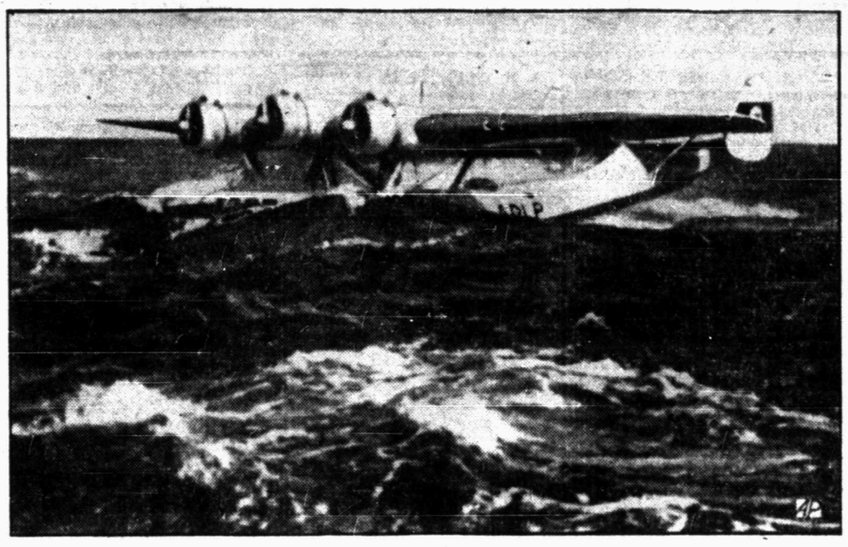

Increase Is Expected

The officials agreed that business activity and general prosperity in the South Plains region will tend to increase the payments before Jan. 1, in spite of the fact that taxes do not become delinquent until Feb. 1. There is no question, said the officials that several hundred more persons in Lubbock have earned sufficient incomes to become liable for federal taxation this year than was the case last year, and that the average income will be substantially higher than was the case in 1936. The situation, officials believe, will tend especially to stimulate payments of county, state, school and city taxes among the larger property owners.

Indicative of the expected rush, Bryan reported, was the fact that more than $2,200 in state and county taxes were paid Monday, although none of the larger tax assessments were included in the amount. Checks for the larger amounts, he said, probably will be put in the mails Thursday or Friday.

Excess Of Exports Over All Imports Is Shown In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP) — The commerce department announced today United States merchandise exports showed a $151,670,000 excess of exports over imports in the first 11 months of the year.

Although imports ran ahead of exports during most of the year, the last few months changed the trend and November alone accounted for $91,456,000 of the export balance.

Towards midsession prices recovered 2 to 3 points on the decline under covering and trade demand.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP) — A few artcrafts and good issues attracted buying and in today's stock market but many leaders diminished to new lows for the year or longer.

Steels and motors were under pressure throughout and declines running to 3 or more points were prevalent near the fourth hour. Volume was heaviest on the morning side, dwindling later on an attempted rally which failed to hold.

Wall street seemed to be still worried over Attorney General Jackson's denunciation of big business and the government may swing into a wide anti-trust campaign as a means of controlling prices.

Trade news continued to look alarming and speculative circles were in doubt as to what to read into pending cuts as to the question the next moment will take. Yesterday selling was a factor.

Bonds and commodities generally were down.

Conspicuous share losers the greater part of the day included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Inland Steel, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, U. S. Gypsum, Lowe's, Auto Chemical, American Tobacco B., Consolidated Edison, Goodrich and American Can.

It has been shown that cadmium, a metal well known only to chemists and metallurgists, when substituted for tin in babbitt is useful in bearings and will operate at temperatures up to 570 degrees Fahrenheit satisfactorily.

Ancient races on tiny Easter Island, in the South Pacific, carved hundreds of giant stone images, and stood them in groups, along the sloping shoreline. The enormous statues were rolled from the quarries and erected without the aid of lumber, since the island was entirely treeless.

Brief Bits Of News

Radio Plant Moved—KGZW, 250-watt short wave station of Lubbock police department, was being shifted this morning to the northeast corner of police quarters. Don Reeder, chief of police, said the change was made to afford more room in the office of Bill Mabray, police identifications officer, where so much work is done that noise and turning on and off of lights interferes with the radio broadcasts, and where broadcasts retard work of criminal investigation. It was expected the plant would be in operation again this afternoon.

None Injured—No persons were injured in a highway mishap 11 miles south of Lubbock on highway 7 at 3:45 o'clock this morning, highway patrolmen were told. A truck driven by J. W. Goen of Anton was sideswiped by a car driven by a negro from Jefferson. Patrolmen still were investigating late this morning.

Riggs Dismissed—C. F. Riggs, 46, farmer of Abernathy route 1, will be dismissed today from West Texas hospital, it was said there this morning. Officers still were investigating theory he might have been struck by an automobile and the driver failed to stop and render aid. Riggs was found lying beside the highway two miles north of Lubbock Sunday night with a fractured left leg and head laceration. He had been returning to his automobile after having gone for gasoline. His condition would not allow thorough questioning as to how he was injured.

Rylander Renamed—Directors of the Kiwanis club have renamed W. C. Rylander secretary of the club, for 1938. He has completed three years as secretary.

Light Rainfall—One-tenth of an inch of rain was recorded at the state experiment sub-station east of town during the night. Maximum temperature Monday was 70 degrees and minimum this morning was 43 degrees.

Visiting In Texline—Mrs. Mark Scott, assistant to Miss Dora Snyder, city bacteriologist, left this morning for Texline for a brief visit with relatives. She will return Monday.

Building Permit Issued—Building permit was issued this morning to H. F. Williams for alterations and repairs costing $150 to the residence at 2514 Twenty-first street.

death, and is held in county jail.

Authorities are seeking a man in another state who assertedly hired two men to head and haul maize standing in the field of Walter Womack and belonging through purchase to C. H. Sellers of Lubbock. The maize, sold here, brought $18, said authorities.

Bonds Not Posted

A negro, L. C. Walker, had not posted bond on a charge of murdering a Slaton negro woman, nor had Punch Conner, negro charged with rape. It was expected that a murder charge against a negro woman would be filed today as an outgrowth of the death of a negro man, S. B. Bailey, who had been stabbed early in December.

A charge of aggravated assault on a child was filed in county court naming a man who had not been reported arrested. Mack Johnson, 19, of Slaton was charged with habitual drunkenness.

Four men were held for investigation into charges of a motorist he had been pushed in his car into the city's outskirts and that property had been taken from his machine.

Gene Greer complained a 1933 (Ford) V-8 coupe, commercial license 209-419, had been stolen, and clothing had been taken from a car at 1419 Sixth street and from clothes-lines at 711 and 702 Avenue O, police said.

One man, 32 years old and giving Crosbyton as his address, was held by police who said he had "run into a building, then had backed up and hit it again before being run off by the proprietor who had a gun in his hand."

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

Hard Work

SHELBYVILLE, Ind. — The burglars who broke into the county highway garage had quite a time before they collected any dividend on their labor.

They broke three windows before they got in.

They tried to crack the safe, and failed.

They tried to break a candy machine, and failed.

Finally they broke open a desk drawer that held the key to the gasoline pump.

The total loot was 65 gallons of gasoline.

No Regrets

HARLAN, Ky. — Deputy Sheriff Allen Bowlin will not be sorry to see 1937 pass off the calendar, because:

Last January, his right arm was broken in a fall.

A few months later, his right leg was broken in a fall.

A couple days ago, he fell on an icy pavement and his left arm was broken.

Greatly Exaggerated

OKLAHOMA CITY — James A. Barton quit his WPA job last May. When newspapers reported the death of a man by the same name, the WPA crossed him off the list.

Now, 3 Barton again applied for a WPA job — and has spent 30 days convincing officials he is who he says he is.

High Heels And Big Apple

LAMAR, Colo.—Square dances may have to compete with the big apple at the annual cowboy ball here.

Invitations have been sent to 1,000 old-time range riders, but their grandsons have been invited, too — and two orchestras have promised to play dance favorites of both.

Stirring Mishap

CHICAGO. — It's common for babies to swallow pins and buttons accidentally.

But when Miss Bernice Gurevitz, 17-year-old high school girl swallowed a six inch teaspoon while eating ice cream, physicians were a bit puzzled. They said it was the first time in Chicago medical history.

X-ray photographs showed the spoon in the girl's stomach. A surgeon removed it.

Balanced Budget

the special session agenda, but offered no specific proposals.

Activity Is Increased

There have been hints that his supporters might get behind something like the Borah-O'Mahoney bill to license corporations doing an interstate business.

Whether or not this is in the wind, activity on behalf of that measure has increased. Today Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) said he favored it.

Before congress can debate an anti-monopoly program, it must deal with such complicated and controversy-laden subjects as farm control, anti-lynching, government reorganization, and taxation.

When it convenes, two major measures will be in conference between the house and senate—the farm bill and new housing legislation. Their completion will be given precedence.

Revise Tax Structure

The house ways and means committee is expected soon to finish a bill to revise the federal tax structure, placing particular emphasis on the corporate surplus and capital gains levies.

In the senate, anti-lynching legislation already approved by the house will have the right-of-way. It will be followed, under present plans, by the bitterly-opposed government reorganization bill.

Other proposals, either on the administration program or strongly backed by members, included:

Creation of seven regional planning authorities.

Revision of the Wagner labor act.

Curtailment of road appropriations.

Wage-hour and child labor legislation.

Appropriation of $125 to carry forward the safety program of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion was authorized at a largely attended meeting at the hall Monday night, according to A. C. (Jack) Jackson, commander.

The campaign, in which many posts throughout the nation will join, is in cooperation with the National Safety council.

Jackson said the legion would continue its drive to cut down traffic accidents in Lubbock. The campaign was launched last year.

W. E. Lavender, adjutant, tendered his resignation at the meeting but a successor was not selected immediately.

A pair of wrens near London, Tex., made their nest under an auto's seat and hatched out six babies, in spite of the fact that the car was driven three miles to town and back daily. The parent birds usually waited at the farm until the car returned with the nest.

Masked Bob White Is Reestablished

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 28. (AP)—The U. S. Forest service inaugurated today what it believes to be the first attempt to reestablish a bird on an American range from which it had been exterminated.

Back from a 1,020-mile journey into Mexico, two conservationists began releasing today 132 specimens of the Masked Bob White, once plentiful in southern Arizona and New Mexico but exterminated about 40 years ago.

D. M. Gorsuch, associate conservationist of the Albuquerque, N. M., division of the forest service, and J. Stokely Lixon, Carlsbad, N. M., found the rare species about 350 miles south of the international boundary.

Half of the birds are being released in tall grass country of southern Arizona and the remainder will be released in similar country of New Mexico, Gorsuch said. Game and fish departments of Arizona and New Mexico cooperated with the forest service in the expedition.

The Masked Bob White, a species now so rare in this country it is almost a collector's specimen, is so called because of its black head and face. It was exterminated, Gorsuch said, because of over-grazing of the range and several years of severe drouth. The bird can only exist in deep grass country.

Original Manuscript Is Reported Lost

BOSTON, Dec. 28. (AP) — The original and possibly the only manuscript of an early choral-symphonic score by the Finnish composer Jan Sibelius has disappeared while en route from Europe to Boston, a Boston symphony orchestra official disclosed today.

The unpublished work, "Origin Of Fire," written in 1902 and received with success in Europe, was to have received its first performance in America on Friday by the orchestra and the Helsinki (Helsingfors) university chorus.

Mailed Aboard Europa

Two packages—one containing the original score and the other some of the choral and instrumental parts—were mailed from the composer's publishers in Leipzig, Germany, on Nov. 18 in time to catch the liner Europa, John N. Burk, the orchestra program annotator said.

"The package containing the parts arrived about two weeks ago, but the complete score hasn't turned up yet, and postal authorities have been asked to investigate the possibility of theft or loss."

Gly-Cas Has Proven A Blessing To Miss Wyble; Adds Her Praise To — New Remedy For Restoring Health

"I know I would not have been a well person today if I had not found this new Gly-Cas," said Miss Hattie Wyble, 517 West 10th St., Amarillo, Texas. "For years my kidneys had given me endless trouble. I was forced to get up three and four times each night, my back ached and pained terribly until I thought it would surely break. Then rheumatism settled in my arms and legs. I could hardly stand the awful pain at times and it steadily grew worse. Attacks of indigestion added to my distress. I was terribly discouraged, did not know where to turn next when friends recommended that I give this new Gly-Cas a trial and I found it wonderful."

"Never have I seen such a remarkable change as this new Gly-Cas made in my awful case," continued Miss Wyble. "My stomach and kidneys were regulated easily, the poisons removed from my system and before I realized it I was feeling my normal self again. I now eat and sleep good, those dreadful rheumatic pains have gone entirely and I am able to do my work with ease. Little did I realize that a single medicine like this new Gly-Cas could give such amazing results."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city; and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.
