TREASURY DEPARTMENT GETS BUSY ON REVENUE BILL

INTERPRETING NEW TAX LAW IS SPEEDED UP

MEASURE SIGNED BY COOLIDGE BEFORE CAMERAS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Some of the joy of heavy taxpayers has been dispelled with the announcement by the treasury department that returns along with first payments, on incomes of more than $5,000 a year must be filed on March 15. This ruling reversed a decision earlier Friday extending the time of filing returns to May 15. With the huge tax reduction bill passed and signed in record time, the treasury department Friday took steps to interpret its changes with the same speed. Repeal of excise taxes voted by congress as well as cuts in others, except for the automobile tax reduction, will become effective at once. The automobile tax reduction of from five to three per cent under the ruling late Friday, would go into effect at midnight 30 days hence—Monday morning, March 22. At the same time, automobile dealers will receive a refund, under this reduction of from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000. The people who have purchased cars already, however, will see no refund or benefit from it. The tax bill was signed Friday morning with house and senate leaders witnessing the ceremony in the president's office. The event was recorded by movie cameras. Later the White House spokesmen expressed great gratification on behalf of the president at the speed with which congress had acted. Further tax reduction is far in the future, the spokesmen said. This law makes a greater reduction than the president had thought was and congress was warned to exercise vigilance lest the government encounter a deficit next year. The estimated government surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30 (Continued on Page 5)

PAYS $6,500,000 AS FIRST INSTALLMENT ON INHERITANCE TAX

By United News. HELENA, Montana, Feb. 26.—C. A. Rasmussen, collector of internal revenue for Montana, was handed six and a half million dollars here this morning as a preliminary payment for the federal inheritance tax on the estate left by the late W. A. Clark, mining magnate and one time United States senator from Montana. The payment was made by J. D. Phillips of Butte, auditor of the Clark interests in Montana. The government has not completed a final appraisal of the Clark estate, so the final tax settlement can not be made for some time.

WOULD REARREST VERA TO OPEN CASE AGAIN

By United News. NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Arthur Garfield Hays, counsel for the Council of Catholic, telegraphed Secretary of Labor Davis in Washington Friday asking him that the English woman be re-arrested next Tuesday so that she can appear in federal court then on the writ of habeas corpus requiring immigration commission Curran to explain why he had her in his custody. The reason for the request is that United States Attorney Buckner holds that Vera, while she is out on a $500 personal bond, is not under arrest and therefore can not be brought into court on the writ. Hays is of the opinion that his client can be brought into court while under bond, he told Davis that he wishes to do as the labor department is said to desire, settle the case in a court of law, and is consequently writing that the countess be re-arrested. The countess' ten days leave from Ellis Island, where she was detained for admitted misconduct with the Earl of Craven, expires at 1 a. m. next Wednesday. If the writ is sustained when the case is heard Tuesday, the countess will be free to enter the country, if it is denied her counsel is prepared to appeal at once to the circuit court of appeals. Vera would then be eligible to bond pending final decision, so that when she wins or loses she is practically certain to remain here for several months.

GERMANY MAY REFORM AFTER LEAGUE ENTRY

FRENCH STATESMAN SAYS HE IS GLAD TO HAVE ANCIENT FOE IN

By United News. PARIS, Feb. 26.—The Locarno treaties will prevent war between France and Germany and henceforth these enemies of centuries standing will go hand in hand along the path of peace. Premier Briand told the chamber of deputies Friday. The premier delivered a long speech defending the Locarno treaty from its detractors. Briand's words are interpreted as a reply to the reports, emanating chiefly from London to the effect that the "Locarno spirit" is being dispelled and that France is principally to blame for the changing conditions. "Some persons are uneasy because Germany is going to enter the League of Nations," said Briand, "but once there Germany will breathe an atmosphere which will change her ideas. France does not intend to prevent Germany from developing and planning her own part in the world. France has enough glory in her own history to prevent her from being jealous of glory of others. Are France and Germany always going to be ready to jump at each other's throats and have their entire civilizations blotted out by armies? I want to prevent a new war more serious than the last, but it is insufficient to talk about peace unless our acts give authority to our words. The best thing about Locarno is the gleam of light it gives Europe. We must help develop the spark."

PREFERS WEST TO FLORIDA; GETS ARRESTED

By United News. EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 26.—Following a preliminary hearing late Friday afternoon, John F. Dwyer, former inspector of police of New York City is at liberty under bond. Dwyer was arrested soon after he reached the city on information from the chief of police at New Orleans that Dwyer was a fugitive. The charge against him is the outgrowth of a disagreement between his former partner in Miami, Fla., and himself, according to Dwyer and his arrest came as a complete surprise. According to the former police inspector he had become dissatisfied with the real estate business in Florida and had arranged to transfer his Florida holdings for property in California. He claims his associate agreed to take their differences into the civil courts for adjudication. "Miami real estate has gone bad," Dwyer said, "and I decided to trade my Florida property for California land. That brought about a disagreement between my associate and myself."

Marcia, Who Star Gazes Into Statesman Futures, Waxes Wroth as Houdini Tells Congress That Clairvoyants are "Fakes"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Members of congress frequently go to clairvoyant and mediums to have their fortunes read. This developed at noisy hearings, which almost became riotous at the capitol Friday when Harry Houdini, the magician, appeared to urge enactment of the Copeland-Bloom bill prohibiting fortune telling for fees in the capitol. He was called a "liar" by an angry delegation of spiritualists, clairvoyants and plain types when he charged that members of the profession were "fakes." Houdini said that conditions in the national capitol as regards fortune tellers were worse than in any other city in the country because mediums are not licensed here. He appeared first before the house and later before the senate district committee, and had his hands full. The fortune tellers who gathered in the senate committee room, became enraged over Houdini's criticism of the profession at times that Senator Capper, of Kansas, chairman of the committee room, had difficulty in preserving order. At one point a number of them rose angrily and shouted at the magician. "Liar! Liar!" Madame Marcia, who is 60 years old, but still practices here, shouted, "I am no faker" at the magician. "I told Mrs. Harding that Senator

TELLS BENEFITS OF TEN DAY FAST; THEN DIES

By United News. KIAMATH, Oregon, Feb. 26.—Dr. Fred Westerfield is dead here today following an operation for an ulcerated stomach. He had endeavored to improve his physical condition by a ten day fast. On Wednesday he appeared before a chamber of commerce forum and broken a long silence to announce that he would be living with his wife, the former Millicent Rogers today had she not been a "victim of poor advice." Salm's statement was issued from the presidential suite in the fashionable Mayflower hotel, where he has been living since he arrived here from Florida. The statement was aimed in was explained as clearing up erroneous reports published about his affairs in reply to charges that he was not self-supporting. Salm said: "I desire now only to be left alone. I am well able to take care of myself. I have not required nor sought financial assistance." As for the statement on his wife, he said that he regretted she had received unwelcome advice but that he hoped she would be happy. Legal proceedings for separation, charging his wife with unjustifiable abandonment are pending. "Mutual love only was the reason for our marriage, and its secrecy was not of my choosing," the count declared in his statement. There was never any disagreement between us until my wife notified me suddenly that she would not return to me. I pleaded with her to reconsider, but she refused. Salm announced he would go to New York Sunday and remain there until he went abroad to enter training for the Davis cup matches.

HONOR TO PARENTS WHO DESERVE IT, SAYS CANON

By United News. ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 26.—The 10th commandment, "Honor thy father and mother," ought to be made to read "Honor thy father and mother, and they are honorable," Canon Adye Pritchard, of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine of New York City, told a Lenten congregation here Friday. "It is surely unjust," the canon said, "to ask our children to honor us when they find in us nothing to which that word can properly be applied. The saddest spectacle in social life today is the growing breach between parents and children, and I am glad to think that the fault is much more on the parents side than it is on the children's."

DEMO ATTACK ON ALUMINUM MEETS DEFEAT

COLLAPSES AS SENATE VOTES CONFIDENCE IN SARGENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—By a close party vote, the senate has exonerated Attorney General Sargent of charges of procrastination and lack of good faith in the recent department justice investigation of the Aluminum Co., of America. This action was taken Friday by rejection of the Walsh report as the climax of an acrid debate in which personalities figured conspicuously. The vote against the Walsh report was 36 to 33. Two democrats, Blaine of South Carolina, and Bruce of Maryland voted with the republicans. The insurgent republicans voted with the democrats. Just previously the democratic leader, Robinson, of Arkansas, offered a resolution authorizing the president to appoint special counsel to prosecute the Aluminum Company on the basis of charges made by the federal trade commission. Robinson announced that if the Walsh report failed of adoption he would not press his resolution. If this course is followed, it means that the democratic fight on the Aluminum Company has collapsed and that the administration has won a complete victory and ended the matter so far as any formal action by congress is concerned. Before the vote was taken, Walsh struck out of his report the section demanding a senate investigation of all of the federal trade commission's charges and a recent violation of the anti-trust laws by the Aluminum Company. It has been intimated that if the Walsh report were approved, Robinson's plan for appointment of special counsel to prosecute would be pressed. Walsh's report, based on the senate judiciary committee information of the manner in which the department (Continued on Page 5)

BIMBA WANTS TO BE CONVICTED OF BLASPHEMY

By United News. UNITED NEWS STAFF CORRESPONDENT BROCKTON, Mass., Feb. 26.—The defense in the trial of Anthony Bimba was conducted with reverse English in district court here Friday, when six defense witnesses pointed the Brooklyn editor as an unbeliever who denied God, the Bible and the soul. It was a patent attempt on the part of attorney Harry Hoffman, chief defense counsel, to have his client convicted, that Massachusetts 229 year old puritan blasphemy law might be put to a constitution test. At the same time, each of the half dozen witnesses, testified that Bimba had said nothing against the United States government, indicating that while Hoffman desired a conviction on the blasphemy charge, he was equally anxious for a "not guilty" verdict on the sedition allegation. It was the consensus of opinion that Hoffman wished to eliminate the charge of inciting to riot so he might carry the blasphemy case to the higher court in the hope of proving that the "bible law" was in collision with the state constitution. The defense rested late Friday after only six of its twenty odd witnesses had been heard. Closing arguments will be heard Saturday and Judge C. Carroll Kirk's decision is expected early next week. Police were investigating Friday night the third "red-hand" letter received by Attorney Joseph M. Varackas of the prosecuting in as many days. The latest missive, which had been mailed from Portland, Maine, contained threats against the lawyer's life if Bimba was convicted.

APPEAL MADE TO LEAGUE TO PREVENT WAR

LITHUANIA AND POLAND IN DISPUTE OVER FRONTIER FOREST

By United News. GENEVA, Feb. 26.—Lithuania has appealed to the League of Nations to prevent hostilities between Lithuania and Poland. The border is likely to witness informal warfare and bloodshed, according to the appeal, as a result of Poland's alleged violation of the frontier last Monday by the occupation of Podajic forest by the Lithuanians who had occupied the area three days before. Considerable trouble is likely to develop from the Polish occupation until the ownership of the area is determined. The Baltic states born of the post-war map making at Versailles have been a source of intermittent dispute since they came into existence. Usually the frontier guards of one country step across the line and seize unguarded territory belonging to the other. There have been such instances, often with loss of life. It is not believed that the present dispute will cause more than hard feeling and perhaps a bit of rifle firing.

The meeting opened with a prayer by Rev. J. M. Lewis. Hedda Hoyt Talks About the Things That Interest the Busy Woman of 1926

By HEDDA HOYT (Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—[U.P.]—Navy blue is no longer considered one of the dead shades for it is to be revived for Spring. All medium blues as well as dark navy are being stressed by gown manufacturers.

Many Spring frocks have an upward movement at the front waistline. That is, the low waistline is higher in front than on the sides and at the rear. This treatment is used where the waistline is suggested by a band treatment.

Home Dressmaking

When winter resort tournaments are a memory.

A blouse of striped silk jersey and a skirt of white flannel or white crepe make a smart outfit for the woman who indulges in sports. Equally well is such an outfit liked by the woman who enjoys athletics passively. The entente between the two garments is effected by trimming the blouse with the skirt material. Two and one-quarter yards of 40-inch crepe are needed for the skirt, which is attached to a long-waisted underbody, and 2 yards of silk jersey for the blouse.

That the home dressmaker may make the sleeves with the smart effect pictured, an illustration is given of the correct way to finish the cuffs. The slash in the sleeve is finished with an extension facing. The sleeve is then sewed to the cuff, the raw edge being folded down over the seam to conceal it completely. The continuous placket may be held together with a hook and eye or buttons and buttonholes, preferably the latter.

There is also attached down the center of the front of the blouse a narrow fold of the skirt material to

Toncoat Elegance for Spring Expressed in Fine Rep or Twil

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

SPRING toncoats present a limitless opportunity for the exercise of individual taste and preference. Among the vast array of new wraps two distinct fashion trends are emphasized. On the one hand is the swagger, sometimes bizarre novelty woolen coat whose supremacy in the arena of fashion is challenged by the conservative type of classic distinction, for the styling of which designers choose regularly refined reps and twills of subtle coloring.

There is no denying the greatest elegance of a coat of the latter genre. Fortune favors the woman who becomes the possessor of just such a garment as the picture shows, for it is an exponent of high-class fashion. The purchase of a garment styled along these lines is doubt a wise investment. This model is of a superior pure rep, the sort that never retains dust, always looks spick-and-span, perfectly groomed, so to speak. Its color is the new graystone, a sort of in-between gray. It is youthfully colored with squirrel fur. The sleeves describe such a point at the shoulder and there are insets down the sides with stitched accents at the hips. In the exquisite fineness of this garment there seems absolutely no room for improvement.

Fashionists are enthusiastic over the new-woolen reps and luster twills. They are of a super-durable texture, having a lightweight feel to the touch, which makes them a joy in wearing.

The latest finely textured woolen toncoats add to their exclusive appearance in that they are detailed with matching satin-revers, collar and cuffs. This is accomplished in a strictly tailored way. As an example, a fine gray twill is used for a straightline model. The matching collar and simple turn-back cuffs are of matching gray with a quality finish.

These lighter-weight cloth coats also often carry interesting shirred and flaring collars which are edged with a flat fur of corresponding color-tone. Sometimes in the simpler models the collar is merely a narrow band ending in ties at the front.

While crepe de chine is the favorite lining for the fur cloth coat, there is also a tendency to use bright silk for the prints. Considerable designing is being concentrated on the back of the coat and clever fullness is being introduced with inserted plaits and from the neck.

'STATE PRESS' EDITOR PAYS TECH A VISIT

Joe J. Taylor, editor of the "State Press" page of the Dallas News was in Lubbock yesterday and visited the college. He was escorted through the building by President Horn together with a group of the Board of City Development and city commission. Yesterday at noon Mr. Taylor had lunch with a group of citizens at the Tech Cafe. O. L. Slaton, Dr. Horn and Mr. Taylor were the speakers for the occasion. Last night Mr. Taylor was the guest of the Tech faculty, members at the faculty club meeting at the college cafeteria. Mr. Taylor seemed well pleased with the Tech and Lubbock and no doubt the people of Texas will be reading about the state's newest institution and the metropolis of the Plains in the "State Press" in a few days. The college officials enjoyed Mr. Taylor's visit very much and were glad to have such a distinguished journalist in their midst.

ALL COLLEGE PARTY TONIGHT
The second All-College Party will be given tonight at 8 o'clock. A good program has been planned and the students are assured of a good time. The party is in charge of committees of Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Every student in the college is urged to attend for the parties are given wholly for the developing of a real friendly spirit among the students.

TECH PARTY VISITS SCHOOLS
The party of Lubbock people who made a visit to the famous caves near Carlsbad also visited several schools of New Mexico and Texas. Senator Bledsoe, Dr. Horn, Dr. Patton and Eldon Thorp, made the trip and reported a good time. They first stopped at Ft. Stanton, where they made talks to the school children and citizens of the town. At Roswell, New Mexico, they visited the high school and spoke to the students. They also visited the New Mexico Military Institute which is situated at Roswell. This is the second best military school in the nation, ranking only below West Point. Dr. Horn stated that several of the seniors of the school stated that they expected to attend school here next year. Commenting on the trip, Dr. Horn said that the caverns were very wonderful and contained many interesting things. They are somewhat similar to the Mammoth cave which is the largest in the world. Dr. Horn stated that he thought it a regrettable thing that many Lubbock people would go elsewhere to see sights when many wonderful things such as the caves are right at their door. It is a little over 200 miles to the caves from Lubbock and can be driven in a little time.

Officials of the college together with Dr. Leroy Patton, head of the department of Geology, are planning to make arrangements to take the entire department of Geology to the caverns sometime during the spring term. This will be one of their field trips that they are required to make.

COLLEGE TO HAVE VISITOR MONDAY
Dean Colby Hall of Texas Christian University will be in Lubbock Monday and will be the guest of the Tech. He is Secretary of the American Association of Colleges and will look over the school. The Tech has not made its application to the association but it is thought that an application will be made in the future.

LIBRARY RECEIVES MANY TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES
Miss West announced the arrival of a collection of telephone directories for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company yesterday. These were given to the college by J. S. Burns, tax agent of the company with headquarters at Dallas. He is the father of Robert Burns, a student in the school of Engineering. The collection contains a directory from every town in Texas where the Bell telephone company has a station. Miss West stated that she was very glad to receive the directories and that they would be very important units of the library. New books were also received yesterday: "Introducing Plant Anatomy" by Eames and McDaniels, and "Laboratory Directions in Principles of Anatomy" by Shull.

ENGINEERING EDITION OF TOREADOR TO BE OUT TODAY
The Engineers will come forth this afternoon with their offering to the list of special school editions. They have been handicapped by sickness and have been rushed the past few days in assembling copy. Several students of the school worked diligently yesterday and state that they will be well rewarded for their labor. Many good stories and feature articles will be in the issue and it is rumored that they have the most efficient staff of any school in the college. Rumor has it that the edition will be the best one to be published during the special editions.

DR. PFLEUGER TO LECTURE ON PALACE OF VERSAILLES
Next Wednesday evening Dr. Pfeleger of the Romance Languages will deliver a lecture on the Palace of Versailles, the most wonderful palace in the world. His lecture will be accompanied by illustrations of every feature of the building and grounds. Dr. Pfeleger has given this lecture in the University of Texas and other schools and has always had requests for more lectures. He is an interesting talker and the lecture will be very instructive. All Tech students as well as town people are invited to attend. It will be in room 314 at 7:15 o'clock.

"ENEMY" BOMBS PANAMA CANAL IN TEST

By United News
BALBOA, C. Z., Feb. 26.—A hostile fleet is preparing to bombard the Panama Canal and the U. S. S. Plane Carrier Langley already is being pelted with bombs as an overture to an engagement which may wrest the canal from the control of the United States troops guarding it.

All this is taking place as part of the navy war being carried out to determine whether the Canal could withstand an attack in which the bombs and shells were real instead of make-believe. The navy control force under Admiral Cressy captured Taboga Island, 12 miles south of Balboa, during a maneuver which ended Friday. Landing parties reached the fortified islands of Brupa Point and Bellavista. Navy planes attacked Miraflores and Pedro Miguel locks, but were repulsed by army planes. Defending planes located the Langley and the entire attacking fleet Friday and have attacked in force.

OLDEST COW HORSE EARNS RETIREMENT
GREELY, Colo., Feb. 26.—A veteran chestnut, "Muggins" the oldest trained cow-horse of the Western Plains, soon will leave pastures here to spend the rest of his days in a well earned rest in California. "Muggins" now 36 years old, has been in more western round-ups and has had more cattle, horses, calves and colts roped from his back than any other horse in America, riders that know him of old say. "He's got more 'cow sense' than any other horse, too," they said. "Muggins" has never felt the steel of a bit in his mouth. He was broke with a hackamore and has always been ridden that way.

STEAM PIANO BALLYHOOS FOR BAPTIST REVIVAL
By United News
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 26.—The Rev. Harry Von Bruch, an evangelist, believes religion ought to be advertised as much as the automobile or the washing machine industries. He is using a circus callope to advertise an old-fashioned revival meeting which he is conducting here for the Tabernacle Baptist church.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED BY FATHER OF LUBBOCK ATTORNEY

BALLINGER, Feb. 25.—Judge J. O. Woodward of Coleman celebrated his golden wedding anniversary on the bench in District Court here Thursday trying bootleggers and check forgers. "Crime is making it impossible for me to spend the fiftieth anniversary of the greatest event in my life at home with my wife and children," said Judge Woodward, as he pronounced sentence on a man who had been convicted of passing a forged check.

Pioneer on Texas Bench
Judge Woodward is the pioneer district judge of West Texas, and one of the pioneers on the bench in Texas. He will have served 20 years when he completes his present term in this district composed of Runnels, Coleman, Brown, McCulloch and Concho counties. He was elected district judge in 1892, after serving four years as district attorney and four years as county attorney of Coleman county. He retired to private practice in 1900, and in 1916 he was again re-elected district judge and is still on the bench.

Judge Woodward and Miss Fannie Dillard, daughter of Col. John D. Dillard, Texas, on Feb. 23, 1876. They located in Coleman in 1878, and have resided there since. They have six children. Mrs. J. K. Baker, wife of Judge J. K. Baker, member of the commission of criminal appeals, which was created at the last term of the Legislature; Mrs. Nadine Howell of Coleman; Mrs. Mabel Henderson of Coleman; Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman; Judge Garland Woodward of Lubbock, and Miss Jessie Woodward, teacher in the Dallas schools.

Sentenced Two to Death
During his 20 years on the bench Judge Woodward has only sentenced two men to death penalty. The first man sentenced escaped the gallows when Governor Culberson commuted the sentence to life imprisonment. The other, John Smith, negro, convicted for killing Sheriff Dick Pauley of Coleman, last May, is now awaiting execution, his case having recently been affirmed by the Court of Criminal Appeals. The killing occurred in Judge Woodward's home town. He called a special session of the grand jury and gave the negro a speedy trial, after a mob had yielded to the appeals of the officers to let the law handle the case.

Judge Woodward was county attorney when there were not such things as bootleggers or auto thieves to deal with, but he was often called on to prosecute a man for stealing cattle or robbing the stage. The pioneer district judge holds the record of never having a single case, either criminal or civil, reversed on him by the higher courts on a question of law and error in his rulings. The members of his bar say that so far as they know there is not another judge in the State who can claim that record after so long a term.

SLATON PAVING BONDS TO BE SOLD MARCH 15

SLATON, Feb. 26.—A sale for Slaton paving bonds is to be held in the city hall of Slaton on March 15. The bonds are for $100,000, the city's portion of the paving program that is soon to be launched. Bond companies over the country have been informed by letter of this sale and City Secretary Harvel Austin, has available data on hand for any company interested.

The Slaton bonds have been printed, and all of the other preliminary work in preparation for the launching of the paving has been completed. As soon as the bonds are sold, an engineer is to be employed and with the completion of his estimates, bids on the construction work will be taken.

No definite kind of construction has been decided upon by the city commissioners. It is understood that bids will be taken on all kinds of standard paving and that the decision as to the exact kind will be made after bids have been taken on the various kinds.

The extent of the paving program will be decided in a great measure by the cost of construction. It is the present plan to pave around the city square and one block each way on the eleven streets leading from the square, also to pave three blocks of Texas Avenue, leading from the City Hall to the Santa Fe depot. More paving will be done if funds for further work is found available.

NEW PLANE WINGS MAKE FLYING SAFER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—An airplane pilot may soon be able to flutter through the air without keeping his hands on the control stick in his plane.

The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics believes it has developed new plane wings which will relieve pilots of this duty.

In ordinary flying with most airplanes a pilot must keep his hand on the control stick practically all the time. If he passes into a gust of bumpy air he has to expend effort to control the plane.

"This continual operation" Dr. Joseph C. Ames, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Advisory Committee, is very tiring to the pilot.

WALES HAS NO MONOPOLY ON PRINCELY TUMBLES

ROME, Feb. 26.—Prince Philip of Hesse, son-in-law of the king of Italy, was painfully injured in a fall from his horse. The young German prince was married last September to Princess Mafalda, second daughter of the king and queen.

VETERAN TELEGRAPHER BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., Feb. 26.—Sixty-Six years a telegrapher, and still at the key, is the record of Elisha Ryder, operator at Buzzards Bay station, who will celebrate his 77th birthday next month. Ryder learned telegraphy at the age of 11 and he's been at it ever since. He considers 150 messages a small day's work.

There has been a decline of alcoholic insanity since prohibition. According to figures of the United States Census Bureau, as reported in The Union Signal, alcoholic cases constituted but 3.7 per cent of the total admissions to hospitals for the insane in the United States in 1922 as against 40.1 per cent in 1910.

THE ONE CROP SYSTEM IS CONDEMNED

Probably nothing in the history of the State of Texas has given the one crop system the black eye as did the condition that existed in the state last year. The freeze in the Panhandle and the plains section of the state and the droughts in the other sections of Texas brought out very conclusively that there was no success in the system of depending entirely on one crop, no matter what it is but especially was not the proper crop for Texas, and seven hundred Texas bankers representing the Seventh District of the Texas Bankers' Association, meeting in Fort Worth Monday, were practically unanimous in the opinion that continued devotion to one crop—cotton—by Texas farmers will forestall all efforts to place Texas agriculture upon a sound economic basis. Speaker after speaker reiterated the case against single-cropping. All of them believed an increase in the cotton acreage this year will result disastrously for Texas.

The astonishing thing about the situation is that despite the fact that every informed man believes that one-cropping is disadvantageous that it is suicide for Texas and the South to increase cotton acreage, there is actually every prospect that the acreage will be increased. Clarence Ousley, director of the “safe farming” movement projected at a recent South-wide meeting of bankers, business men and farmers declared recently that there was little prospect of success as affecting this year's crop in the campaign to reduce cotton acreage. The “safe farming” movement contemplates a five-year program of education in the advantages of diversification as contrasted to the disadvantages of single-cropping, and the feeling is that all of the five years will be needed to convince farmers in the South of the folly of too much cotton at the expense of feed and food crops.

Texas can not afford another cotton disaster in 1926. Yet conditions are such that without genuine leadership and genuine assistance from the bankers and business men of the cotton growing communities, farmers will be forced to stake their all on the fickle crop again. Because of conditions as heretofore have obtained in farm financing, few farmers are able to free themselves from the tyranny of cotton. They must have the aid and the encouragement of those agencies to whom they look for credit, and they must have the co-operation of the entire community.

The Texas Bankers' Association has assumed a valuable leadership in this respect. Continuation of it to its logical limits will eventually make Texas the agricultural country it should be, where every farm will be able to stand independently to its proper place as the servant instead of the master of the farm and the farm family.

THOUSANDS DIE BECAUSE OF IGNORANCE

Parental care is a term used to cover that part of maternal welfare which is bestowed upon the prospective mother with the idea of securing and preserving the happiness and health of both mother and the future offspring, according to Fred L. Adair, prominent physician of Chicago. Parental care on a nation wide basis is needed at this very moment, in order to provide the mothers of our future citizens with the greatest factor of safety for themselves and to assure each child coming into the world of his rightful heritage of good health. Such care would prevent thousands of women losing their lives from child-birth every year—lives which many times are sacrificed needlessly because of ignorance. Parental care should be received from those who are best qualified by education, training, and experience to give it. Many, possibly the majority of prospective mothers of this country do not receive this care, either because they do not seek it, or because it is not accessible to them. Many people have not appreciated the importance of looking for this care, and many advisers have not recognized the value of giving it. This is because the Garges Idea of Prevention as applied to every day life has not fully permeated either the lay or professional minds. Why does the future mother need this sort of special care? It is because the health and lives of many mothers and infants are sacrificed unnecessarily. Unpreparedness takes a terrific toll, no matter whether it is lack of preparation for the stork's arrival, or whether it is lack of foresight in anticipating some emergency which may arise at any time with dire results to either mother or infant, or both. It is extremely important to detect tuberculosis in the expectant mother. This may make a great deal of difference in the future life of the woman. It is very necessary that the presence of other forms of infection be detected, and that the disease be treated and cured if the health and life of mother and baby are to be preserved. There are many diseases and conditions which are very harmful to both mother and offspring which can be found only by examination and periodic observation, and of course, proper knowledge of personal and other hygiene. Clothing, diet, and so forth, are matters of great importance. Proper prenatal care is the only avenue through which the necessary care at the time of birth, or natal care, can be approached.

JAPAN FIGHTING CHILD LABOR LAWS

Evidence of the strength of the opposition to any limitation on Japan's child labor has been shown in Tokyo in the conflict between the merchants and the police over the latter's regulation of bicycle traffic. The Metropolitan Police Board forbade bicycles on certain congested streets on account of the fact the throngs of bicycling boys transporting heavy packages caused many traffic accidents. But the merchants who depend largely on boys with bicycles to deliver their goods entered an immediate and persistent protest against the new regulation. The prohibition of bicycles in the congested area drew the commendation of observers. The thousands of darting children on bicycles weaving in and out among heavier vehicles was a serious detriment to traffic as well as a source of extreme danger to the children themselves. But the merchants who hire this cheapest kind of delivery have proved so far unwilling to accept the change. This is but one example of the hard road that confronts every attempt in this country to limit child labor. Perhaps the industry of no nation depends so largely on the work of minors as does the industry of Japan. Cotton spinning, the leading form of city manufacturing, is dependent on the labor of young girls who are absorbed into the industry every year and regularly thrown back upon their rural homes, afflicted with the white plague. Carpentry, masonry and similar industries are supported by an apprentice system in which juvenile and unremunerated labor performs the most arduous and unpleasant part. Educational authorities throughout Japan are aware that it is impossible to maintain the regular progress of children through the grammar grades because of their frequent and often prolonged absences. Particularly in the rural districts children are required to devote almost their entire time to assisting in the domestic and field work of their parents. There is work of children in every grain of rice or silk cocoon produced by Japanese farms.

FARMERS ORGANIZING

A nation-wide survey made by the Department of Agriculture, discloses more than 12,000 active farmers co-operative associations in the United States.

The associations include those selling farm products, buying farm supplies, operating creameries, cheese factories, canning plants, grain elevators, stockyards, warehouses, etc., but do not include co-operative banks, credit or insurance associations. It is double the number recorded in 1915.

Of the total number of associations listed 3325 are primarily engaged in marketing grain, 2197 handle dairy products, 1770 ship livestock, 1250 market fruits and vegetables; 121 perform various functions in the marketing of cotton, 91 in marketing wool, and 71 in marketing poultry, or poultry products; 49 are sales agencies; 35 are bargaining associations, and 98 are of the large centralized type. Seventy per cent of all are in the North Central States.

An Oklahoma restaurant man was buying milk from a “thrifty” neighbor woman. His own good Jersey was not supplying all the milk that his customers wanted. Suddenly his good “Sucky,” without any conceivable or indicated cause failed to give her morning's accustomed supply of lactical fluid. She showed no signs of sickness. Her feed was consumed with her usual avidity, and Mr. owner at a loss to ferret out the trouble. But, if the truth must be told, one morning he went much earlier than common to “juice” this delinquent female bovine and—found the “thrifty” neighbor beating him to it. Is that political economy, domestic science, or—?

THAT BRINGS TO MIND THE FACT THAT THERE ARE

lots of queer people in the world. A good old Quaker and his wife had returned from a social function, and he was gazing into the smoldering embers, under the somnolent influence of a deep brown study. He: “Them was queer people where we was tonight, Cinthy Ann.” She: “Yes, Jonathan.” He: “Fact is, everybody is queer but thee and me, and sometimes I think thee's a little queer.”

The law of worthy life is fundamentally the law of strife. It is only through labor and painful effort, by grim energy and resolute courage, that we move on to better things—Theodore Roosevelt. Life is a narrow veil between the cold and barren peaks of two eternities—Bob Ingersoll at the grave of his brother Eben. The way of life is above the wise, that he may depart from hell beneath—Solomon's Proverbs. The excellency of knowledge is that wisdom giveth life to them that have it—Ecclesiastes. Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth and the life no man cometh unto the Father but by me.—John 14:6.

An anxious inquirer wants to know if it is possible to prevent grapefruit juice from squirting on his immaculate shirtfront. Certainly. Either don't eat grapefruit, or eat it shirtless, or use an oil cloth bib. Go to the head of the class.

Some wiseacre wants Congress to build a bridge across the Atlantic Ocean with the money owed the United States by the allies. We suggest that Congress withhold appropriations for this purpose until the last ultimate, final cent has been collected from those dear people and landed in Uncle Sam's plethora coffers—or words to that effect.

Events in the Lives of Little Men

SO THINK WE

We think if a fellow is not loyal to his home town, we would hate to trust him in his own family, and we would not be his wife for any amount of money.

We think that worry possibly never gets a fellow any place, but there is one thing sure he never knows where he is going to be bumped off.

We think it strange, but in this day and time it seems that if you want a thing to go over it to oppose it. But there will come a time, we believe that this will be changed.

We think that home is the place where you yodel your soup and spitter your coffee—some time—if wife doesn't eat at the table with you.

We think it will not be very long till we will be planting gardens and flower beds for the neighbors' chickens.

We think a lot of folks are now waiting to see how March comes in to make another guess at when spring will be here.

We think there are a number of couples in this city who have heard that two can live as cheaply as one, and are going to try it out very soon.

We think since the hard coal strike is ended, the people will have to invite the ice man in.

We think since the farmer knows that they feed the world, we can't imagine how they think they are going to feed us on cotton, alone. Pretty dry eating.

We think there can be no special objection to a fellow after he has struck you on one cheek and then on the other to wade in and dig out according to the dictates of your own conscience and feelings in the matter.

We think that Thos. A. Edison is still thinking about right. He proposes to stay on the ground, as he refused a long air flight a few days ago.

We think that criminals are no longer afraid of the courts. It is a fair trial they are afraid of.

We think one of the greatest tests of a man's courage is to look on while the other fellow is liberal with the money he owes you.

We think in order to establish the fact that the truth is more reliable than a lie. One writer has said that a lie stands on one foot while the truth stands on two.

IT IS REPORTED

That the city of Lubbock is doing everything within its power to keep a supply of water through the system of wells and reservoirs, and there is no shortage or prospects of a shortage now, but we do not believe that the well water will supply the demands of a city as large as Lubbock is going to be, and we should be getting ready for one of the largest lakes in the west. This will be needed, and now is the time to begin getting ready to secure this lake. Buy the land now.

That Lubbock is building more rapidly right now than many of the towns of the state did, when there were big prospects for a bumper crop last summer. There is a reason.

That because of the very undesirable class of people that congregate there, and the possibility of spreading disease and other reasons well established in the minds of those who have been connected with them, the free camp ground for tourists will probably not be maintained this summer. It will be left to the private camp grounds to take care of the business.

That there is still a great amount of sickness in the city. It is having its effect on the schools and the churches and in the business world, and is taking many of the clerks away from the stores and many of the helpers out of the offices of the city.

That there are signs of base ball starting around the Tech and the High schools and in the vacant lots. Groups of boys are seen catching and limbering up for the activities of the season.

That there will likely be several announcements as candidates for positions on the city commission. We are sure most of the members of the old commission would be glad to be relieved of the job. But Lubbock must see to it that good men and men of business vision as well as practical men should hold the offices in connection with the operation of the city affairs.

That there seems to be a kind of epidemic of car stealing floating through the air at present, and it might be well to exercise a little more caution about leaving your cars where they might be stolen easily.

That Dr. White, of the Methodist church, will preach on the subject of Modern problems Sunday evening. This is an important subject and needs the attention of the good thinking people of the city and the state.

That R. M. Chitwood, manager of the Texas Technological college is very ill with influenza.

That even a jazz orchestra in California has failed to get the people to church services. We would think so! People who would want to go to church at all would certainly not be interested in jazz music there.

That several of the churches of this city are preparing to make considerable additions to their equipment for carrying on the church work in this city. The community that sees that the churches are kept up to the requirements of the city is sure to make good progress in other lines

This and That

Strictly speaking a bungalow is a single story building with a thatched roof and a veranda all around. It is of Indian origin, the name being a corruption of a word meaning “of Bengal,” India, the province where this type of building was first used.

A FIGHTING FORCE

The aspect of the Blood and Fire Crusade dealt with in this issue is the enrolling of soldiers, or the making of fighters for God and the Army. This is a most important matter for the great strength of the Salvation Army has ever been in the individual spiritual fighting capacity of its members. The pastor of a church with a large membership once remarked to a Salvation Army officer about the small membership of his corps. “Yes,” said the Army Captain, “numerically we are not strong, but in effectiveness we are not weak. I have only twelve soldiers but there is not one of them that I could not send to pray with or point a dying man to Christ.” On the Sunday the pastor sadly remarked in his sermon that with all his big membership he did not think there was one whom he could send to do the work the Army Officer claimed his people could do.

This fighting soldiery is the glory of the Army. So we strongly advise all our officers' local officers to read and re-read the Commission's communique on this matter, and then see upon it in bringing every legitimate inducement to bear upon our recruits to become soldiers. This is the first step to active work for God in the Army. A man or woman who is a duly accredited member has a standing in the matter of service to the community that perhaps is not experienced by the member of any other denomination, and this is due to the fact that our organization has so many ways of meeting the temporal and spiritual needs of the necessitous. “There is a place in the Army for all,” we sometimes sing and officers when enrolling soldiers must strive to impress upon the necessity of service, but not that only. They must strive to “teach their hands to war and their fingers to fight” so that they may become saviors of mankind and by and by in the great harvest come rejoicing with their sheaves.—Salvation Army War Cry.

Selling By Telephone

The extent to which telephone sales may be developed in the modern department store, is shown by the success of a Canadian store that employed a sales force of over 120 persons just to take care of telephone orders.

In 1923, the General Merchandise Department handled 699,840 telephone orders, totaling $870,883. The grocery, meat and fish department handled 1,301,554 telephone orders, totaling $1,185,000. These telephone orders averaged a fraction more than $1.

The figures for 1924 showed an increase of 10 per cent in volume of orders handled, and a 12.5 per cent increase in the amount per order. Figures for 1925 are now being analyzed and are expected to show an even greater gain.

Creation of a junior college as a part of the public school system of Washington, D. C., is contemplated in a joint resolution recently introduced in the Senate of the United States. A similar resolution was introduced simultaneously in the House of Representatives.

TEXAS

By J. MARVIN NICHOLS

RELICS OF THE CENTURIES

THE ALAMO—The leading Mission in the Alamo—the Cradle of Texas Liberty. It is hallowed by the blood of heroes who fell in its defense March 6, 1836. It was originally known as the Mission of San Antonio de Valero, being named after St. Anthony of Padua and the Duke de Valero, a Spanish viceroy. It is said to have been first established in the Cienega of the Rio Grande in 1703; thence removed to San Ildefonso and then to the banks of the Rio Grande. After this it was removed to San Pedro Springs, thence to Military Plaza, and then to the site where it now stands. Alamo means “cottonwood”—and the old Mission originally stood in such a grove. It is more likely that it derived its name from the first Mexican garrison that went there from Fort Alamo de Parras, in the Province of Coahuila, to which Texas was then attached.

It was first used as a church and for their protection against the Indians, but it afterwards became a fortress, and was the scene of many desperate conflicts between the Texans and the Mexicans. The architecture is severely plain—except the exquisitely carved doorway and pillars. Long ago the saloons in the niches have been destroyed. The chapel originally had an arched ceiling, covered by a flat gravel roof. The convent was later used by the Americans as a prison and barracks. Santa Anna—the Napoleon of the West—by his bombardment destroyed the arched roof and considerably demolished the back and side walls.

The siege of the Alamo began February 22nd and continued until the final tragedy on that Sunday morning of March 6, 1836. The Texans made an heroic stand against Santa Anna and his Mexicans who marched under the black flag. The Mexicans found they could scale the chapel walls, and they also made a breach in the rear with a terrific powder blast. Through these breaches the Mexicans, under the flag of Santa Anna and Amador, re-entered the dragons of Dolores, poured in relentless fury. The struggle was quick and deadly. And out upon the square they dragged the dead bodies of the heroes and built one vast funeral pyre. But out of that smoke came a truth that meant death to Mexico on Texas soil. Born of that tragic hour was the slogan that won the day on the fields of Goliad and San Jacinto—and Texas was free.

BOOTLEGGING WORRIED NEW YORK POLICE FORCE YEARS AGO

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The profits in the illicit liquor business are so great that men who might be earning a decent living otherwise are tempted into this nefarious traffic in brandy and rum, and what is still worse, the example of so much drinking everywhere about the city is corrupting our public servants and our youth in a pernicious way.

The County Galway, Ireland, according to a Belfast Associated Press dispatch, as quoted in The American issue, is having its troubles with moonshining. Such activity has been developed in the manufacture of "poten" (Irish bootleg whisky) the police are regulating the sale of molasses, yeast and brown sugar, requiring purchasers to have permits.

American Girls Who Wedded Titles Return to Battle in Courts For Huge Fortune of Wealthy Father

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Lady Cynthia Mosley and her husband, Oswald Mosley—the vanguard of a group of English nobility, laying claim to the $50,000,000 estate of the late Levi Z. Leiter—have arrived to press their suit. When the case comes to trial March 6, the courtroom is likely to be a spectacle of titled personages. Others arrayed against the American heirs include the Countess of Suffolk and Berks, Baroness Ravensdale and Lady Alexander Curzon, all daughters and grand daughters of the late multi-millionaire.

They drifted over to Europe years ago and took titled husbands, but are not satisfied with the $350,000 a year divided among them, under the terms of the Leiter will.

Lady Cynthia and her husband, former labor member of the British parliament, declined to discuss the case on their arrival here Friday from Florida. They will spend most of their time, they said, inspecting Chicago industrial institutions.

The action of the English heirs and heiresses seems to remove Joseph Leiter, Lady Cynthia's brother, as principal trustee of the vast estate on the grounds of incompetent management. They claim he has diverted some of the money to his own use.

For a number of years the late Leiter has been a colorful figure in Chicago's business and social life by virtue of his frequent corners on the wheat market and his hectic plunges in high finance. He was on all the front pages a few years ago when a haberdasher sued him for payment of 111 pairs of fancy silk socks.

Assisting Leiter when the case comes to trial will be another sister, Mrs. Nancy S. Carver-Campbell, of Santa Barbara, Calif. She is the only one of old Levi's daughters who didn't marry a title.

The Leiter estates includes several of the richest coal mines in the world located in Southern Illinois, the whole mining town of Zion, Illinois with 4,000 inhabitants, and a small railroad connecting Ziegler with other villages in that neighborhood.

SLATON AND POST ROTARIES HEAR FITCH

Special to Avalanche.

SLATON, Feb. 26.—The Post City Rotarians visited the Slaton Rotarians today and the two clubs had an enjoyable luncheon in the basement of the Methodist church. The occasion of the joint meeting was to hear Mr. J. P. Fitch, of Houston, Regional Director of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, boy scout work, who is touring this section of Texas for a few days.

Mr. Fitch made a splendid talk before this body of men in the interest of boys. While he believes the scout method is about the best and most effectual way of reaching the boys he is wanting to help them in any way that can be arranged, and his plea was for the boys of the country, and he aroused a renewed interest in the scout work among the members of these two clubs, by his efforts at the club luncheon today.

Besides the visitors of the Post club the Slaton club had as its guests today L. S. Harkey and R. J. Murray, Rotarians from Lubbock, and Sam Henry, scout master of troop No. 1 Lubbock and Dr. G. C. Castleberry of Lubbock.

Amundsen Today Tests New Plane Designed to Carry Him and Ellsworth on Fresh Flight to North Pole

ROME, Feb. 26.—Roald Amundsen's Italian dirigible will have its first trial Saturday in preparation for a flight to the pole tentatively fixed for April 21.

It will carry Amundsen and his American partner, Lincoln Ellsworth, on their second aerial venture into the Arctic. The first journey began at King's Bay, Spitzbergen on May 21, 1925, and for nearly a month the entire civilized world thought the explorers had perished in the ice. On June 18 Amundsen and his six companions arrived at their starting place after a harrowing experience which nearly resulted in their deaths.

Commander Nobile and the entire polar crew of 16, with the exception of Amundsen and Ellsworth, will be aboard the airship on her first flight. Lieutenant H. Risor and Lieutenant Oscar Omdal, members of last year's unsuccessful flight, will be the only non-Italian persons aboard.

The ship has been improved and altered as her construction progressed. It is particularly to test these new features that she will float above Rome Saturday.

The crew will be drilled in bringing the ship to earth. If Saturday's tests are satisfactory the ship probably will make a long flight to southern Italy and during the latter part of March depart for Norway, via Leningrad.

From Rome to Oslo, the ship will fly the Italian flag, but in the Norwegian capital she will be christened the "Norge I," and will receive the Norwegian colors which are to be carried into the Arctic. Queen Maud of Norway will christen the ship.

N. Y. Busses May Replace 50 Miles Of Surface Cars

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The last stand in New York of trolleys against subways and motor busses appeared nearer to an end now as plan for the motorization of 13 street car routes covering 50 miles of streets has been presented to the board of estimate.

The plan was offered by John Ritchie, who is to be president of a new corporation which will be organized if the proposal is adopted by the city. It is to be known as the New York City Omnibus Corporation.

The project plans for the immediate relinquishment by the New York Railways Company of its perpetual franchise of 25 miles of surface car tracks. It by no means would end trolleys in the greater city, but is seen as a step which would soon be followed in other boroughs.

A Little Talk on Thrift

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift

The last ten years have witnessed tremendous strides in this country along various lines of endeavor, but in none of these has greater progress been shown than in the matter of thrift education.

In 1915 the first steps toward the introduction of thrift teachings in the schools were taken by the National Education Association. At that time a committee was appointed to go in to the entire question. It was first necessary for the committee to satisfy itself of the educational need of such an addition to an already heavily burdened curriculum having reached the conclusion that such steps were needed in order to bring the school system of the country to a point of the greatest possible service, it was then necessary to map out definite courses of study.

The preparation of these courses has taken years of effort on the part of the National Committee on Thrift Education of which Mr. Arthur H. Christopherson has been chairman since its organization at Oakland, Calif., in August 1915.

The task is not yet completed, but courses of study have been worked out and introduced in the schools in many parts of the country. Thousands of our boys and girls are today receiving definite instructions in thrift, and the number is increasing daily.

The point has been reached where it may be said that thrift in the schools of America is an accomplished fact, and great praise is due the National Education Association and the National Council of Education for the contribution of this gift to

Student Editorial Flays Cheating at Northwestern

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 26.—It isn't what a student does that brings an accusing finger of shame—it's what he gets caught doing.

So says the Daily Northwestern, student publication, in an editorial referring to a recent examination in which six per cent of the passing grades are said to have been obtained through "cribbing."

"Northwestern University is the home of unnormality," says the editorial. "To get away with murder is the ultimate in ethical standards and to get caught is the only sin."

The paper charges that cheating is condoned by campus organizations and applauded by individuals.

Jury Exonerates Silver Sheet Star of Scandal Charge

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The Manton divorce case came to a happy conclusion for everyone except Marjorie Rambeau Friday night when it was announced that Wm. Kevitt Manton had been reconciled with his wife, who had sued him for divorce and named the actress as co-respondent.

The reconciliation was reported just as the jury launched into its eighth hour of deliberation of the case. It had stood 8 to 4 for the defendant, which meant 8 to 4 to exonerate Marjorie of the sensational charges brought against her in testimony during the trial.

Chaplain May Also Face Civil Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Federal authorities have joined with the military in an investigation of the alleged love adventures of Captain Orville I. Clampt, army chaplain and Baptist clergyman.

While Lucile Swallow, Kansas girl whose acquaintance with Clampt while he was stationed at Fort Leavenworth have resulted in the chaplain's court-martial here, continued her testimony at the presidio Friday, department of justice officials announced that Clampt may be prosecuted under the white slave act.

According to Edward R. Bohner, chief of the investigating division here, the girl has admitted automobile trips with Clampt and another couple across the Kansas-Missouri border.

Indictment of Clampt will not be asked until the present army action against him is completed, Bohner said.

ROAD SCHOOL TO BE CONDUCTED AT WICHITA, KANS., MARCH 25 WILL BE GREAT OPPORTUNITY

WICHITA, Kans., Feb. 26.—The Road School, which will be held in connection with the Southwest Road Show in Wichita on March 2, 3, 4, and 5, will be the very best opportunity that the Southwest has ever had to gather accurate and reliable instructions on road building and maintenance. The government exhibit alone has an educational value that is more than could be acquired in years of experience. This will fill the entire Rose Room, or one-half the second floor of the Exposition Building. The school is put on by the Southwestern States in co-operation with the Kansas State Agriculture College, Federal Highway Engineers and other talent under the supervision of the Kansas State Highway Commission. Eleven states have been invited to participate. The school is being put on for the benefit of the entire Southwest. As road building is uppermost in the minds of many people in the Southwest, it is estimated the attendance will be large. Ample facilities have been made to take care of the crowds. The school will be held in the Arcadia Building which is part of the Exposition Building and will seat approximately two thousand people.

On the program will be several prominent speakers from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads as well as the State Highway Commissioners of many states, likewise a large number of other authorities. Practical instruction and maintenance will be presented by these men who are taking an active part in the road construction now being carried on over the nation.

The government exhibit will be the largest held in connection with the school and the most extensive ever shown in any section of the United States at one time. The American Road Builders Association who has also recognized the school, will also have an exhibit which will be second to that of the government. The Road Show, which will be held in connection with the school, will contain the largest array of manufacturers exhibits ever shown in the Southwest and will include practically all types of machinery, trucks, accessories and materials used in connection with road building and maintenance.

The entire Southwest is invited to come and get most thorough and up-to-date information on the subject of road building and maintenance which is probably uppermost in the minds of thousands of men in the section. Reduced rates are being given on all roads. The show and school will be housed in the mammoth Forum and Exposition Building and Annex within two blocks of the center of Wichita and very convenient to hotels, depots and restaurants.

Meal Planning Made Easier Through Use of Meat Extender Dishes

Meal planning is one of the younger married woman's greatest trials. She has learned that a balanced dietary means health for her family. What she wants to know is how to believe a balanced diet while at the same time considering economy. The "meat extender" is one way of arriving at an answer. "Meat extenders" in the parlance of home economists, mean foods which fill out the protein needs of a meal. Although the meat portion may be small or entirely lacking, through the medium of a "meat extender" the housewife acquires approximately the same result as if she had a much larger amount of meat.

Foods such as eggs or beans in various combinations are "meat extenders" in that they provide, with but little meat, a dish containing the necessary amount of protein.

The following meat extenders are typical:

- Chicken Timbales
  - 24 eggs white meat, 3 egg whites
  - 1 cup milk, 1 cup cream
  - 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup onion
  - 1/2 cup salt, 1/2 cup pepper
- Mushroom Sauce
  - 1 cup evaporated milk, 1/2 cup salt
  - 1 cup water, 1 cup mushrooms
  - 2 tbsp. butter, 1 cup onion
  - 1/2 cup salt, 1/2 cup pepper
- Meat Loaf
  - 1 lb. beef, 2 cups bread crumbs

The Senior Beauty Contest became very exciting about 3:29 P.M. Friday afternoon. At the close of the voting period the results read as follows:

- 1st Place—Marjorie Leaverton.
- 2nd Place—Ethel Sides.
- 3rd Place—Nilla Cook.
- 4th Place—Mary Lou Bayless.
- 5th Place—Irene Conner.

Room 304 boasts the distinction of having three of the beauty contestants from that room.

It is reported that several students received a white slip the other day. We couldn't understand it until the library showed that Mrs. Lee was not in her usual place, and Mr. Atkinson was doing the "Ferguson act."

It is reported that a certain teacher in Room 304 is losing her voice. If such a catastrophe should occur, we wonder what would happen.

We wonder if the report that the Juniors had a "weenie" roast is true?

Miss Rita Wallace wishes to announce that a "Lost" ad, that she put in the Westerner had no effect, and she wishes to advertise for the same article in this column.

Lieutenant Killen Visits Cadet Corps Friday morning Lieut. Killen visited the Cadet Corps. He was, as usual enthusiastic about the work here at Lubbock Hi. He wishes to select a rifle team here to compete against the team at the Tech. He is confident that equipment will be issued to us next year. He expects a great deal from the Corps next year. He said in part: "You ought to have at least 25 cadet officers next year and at least three times as many non-commissioned officers." If this is accomplished Lubbock Hi will certainly be on the map. With the support of Lubbock Hi boys we can make this a reality. Let's go.

We surely will be glad if the Lubbock Hi "cafe" will ever get any candy. If we want anything other than Hershey's we have to trot over to the store. Hints are very take-able.

La Guana got called down for talking in study hall yesterday. We can't understand it.

Please pay for Junior pins now!

We wish we didn't have to stay out after lunch. We realize that it is very healthy, but on these cool days we also know that it is not at all comfortable.

Junior Picnic

The Junior Class of L. H. S. went to Igo ranch Thursday night for a "weenie" roast. There were about 75 of the Juniors left about 6:00 o'clock singing "Te Igo, Igo." Some of the cars had "blow outs" before leaving town, but all arrived at the picnic o. k. in time for eats. Some of the girls furnished music with their "kazoo" and melodious voices. There were plenty of eats and no one left without his share.

Miss Ruby Atwood, sponsor of the Junior class, Miss Wallace and "Dad" Noles were the chaperones. They all returned to Lubbock about ten o'clock, every one reporting a good time. The Juniors resolve to make Lubbock High School one of the best and peppiest schools on the South Plains. So Juniors show your loyalty.

It is reported that Hobby Davis and Fuzzy Davis (not related but similar in their actions) had a very good time at the picnic.

We did not have chapel Thursday on account of the Art Exhibit in the auditorium. We are sure every one missed the chapel exercises.

WANTED—More boys to join Lubbock High School Cadets Corp.

It is reported that some Slaton young men were seen at the Junior picnic Thursday night. Wonder who was responsible?

Bill Tatum is absent from school today wonder if it was the effect of the picnic.

Ramon Ater, Joel Snyder, and Doyle Kuykendall went "weenie roasting" last night at any rate they were out of town, and arrived about 3 o'clock this morning.

Houston Jones was at school again today. Hurray for Houston?

Mr. Mowery: (with plant production class): "Wilbur what would you do with this tree?"

Wilbur (brightly) "I'd make me a negro shooter" stuck out of it the first thing."

Thelma Frazer is on speaking terms with Miss Wallace again.

If either Wilbur Lemon, or E. C. Caviness is absent Monday, we will know he is at point of death, if not dead, from injuries received in the numerous scuffles for the seat during the fifth period this week.

Audrey Allen was very anxious today to know who contributed the joke about her dainty feet a day or so ago. Being a personal friend of hers, we would rather she shouldn't find out.

On several occasions, we have heard a certain little girl in room 210 remark, "Ain't Love Grand?" We wonder why. Maybe we will know some day when we have had the experience.

We wonder just exactly why Frank Wright got his face slapped this morning during the arithmetic class.

Among the small children who came and saw the Art Exhibit we saw Master I. R. Witt.

We imagine the reason we did not have chapel yesterday, was on account of the pictures in the auditorium. We might have seen them free, "doutcha know?"

Mr. Noles said last night on the way to the weenie roast that if any one would start work on that road, he would help him. The road commissioners might do well to cash in on this.

It seems that we have two new actors in the daily shot putting practice. We'll tell you who one of them is. She's Miss Wallace.

We found out today why Thelma Frazer wears a bandage on her head. She explained to the English class that a thought struck her. "Must have struck in the right place, too."

Mr. Witt says, Andra Allen's hair is turkey red, for in an experiment in tinting for th blaching fct of sulphur dioxide and hydrogen peroxide, it failed to changed her hair, which sh unwillingly donated as she could spare it.

We regret that Andra will have to stop—red headed for Mr. Witt's says you cannot take the color out of turkey red.

The first section of the Home Economics club met in Room 203 Friday morning during the second period. Two new officers were elected. Edna Mae Sliver, vice-chairman, and Ruth Ford, secretary.

The following program was given: Egyptian Costume—Described by Miss Eubank and illustrated by Mary Lou Bayless.

Greek Costume—Dorothy Duncan. Illustrated by Clara McClellan.

Roman Dress—Lorona Hargett. Illustrated by Nordine Lewis.

Puritan Dress—Margaret King. Represented by Winnell McCoy.

Elizabethan Costume—Jessie Walker.

Marie Antoinette—Lorraine Collier.

Colonial Costume—Mary Lois Thompson.

Represented by Mildred Nail.

Wattean Costume—Illustrated by Ethel Sides.

Nineteenth Century Costume—Claudine Cook; Illustrated by Lucile Strickle, Lois Williams, and Edith Hicks.

Songs—Member of the club. Students on the second floor complained of being disturbed by laughter, applause, and singing during the second period. The program was the best one given this year. Many of the club members were absent.

The fifth period study hall surely did look bare and lonesome Friday. Nearly half the inhabitants were absent for some cause or other. We presume some were sick. That's the most popular excuse just at present. Some were detained by the style show held in the Home Economics class, and the rest were just out on general principles. Half of those remaining were asleep physically and the rest were asleep mentally. Yes, it was a model class and the usual last period pep and enthusiasm was shown.

We had a most interesting English class Friday. One boy was observed to sleep through the entire class.

Speaking of surprise! A certain history teacher certainly gave the Sophomore a delightful one today. Rah! Rah! Rah! Atwood!

Exams and tests and grizes Oh, we are buried in them! From one miserable encounter we pass to another, and chew gumby on our fountain pens! Why, oh, why do our teachers invest such questions! And why oh why do they all conspire together to pull their torturous stuff on the same day? It an unknown mystery.

The Home Economics Club held a meeting Friday morning, as they do every Friday, with a very interesting program. Several girls presented the women of Colonial times and the entire class sang songs.

Spring has come! Wild flowers in profusion are greeting the delighted students of Sophomore Biology. They have been studying via the slide-machine. A group of slides portraying the wild flowers of Texas have been shown and studied, and very much enjoyed.

Something has happened to Polly Buckingham. We don't know what but we think she will change from the hardware business to some other kind. Can you imagine it?

Oh, yes, the D. K. C's are still having fun! Not so very long ago they were given a slumber party at the adorable home of Mrs. Mule Dav- is. And as the usual saying goes, "a wonderful time was had by all." Then on Washington's Birthday

The Club again came together to have a good time. They met at Martin's Confectionery where they had lunch then went to the theatre. Thursday nite the club had a slumber party or rather a slumberless party at the home of Thelma Scott. Margie Leaverton, Lucille Payne, Mary Lou Bayless, Polly Buckingham, Nadine Young, Miss Stokes, Thelma Hensley, Ruby Arnett were those present. Come on—Pattens after the D. K. C's and have a grand time.

What club? Oh, yes, the D. K. C's! A great club as everyone believes or knows. I think I should have said. Because we "lead" the others are led!

Lorane Waldrop, popular High School student, who has been seriously ill at her home at 1611 8th street is improving rapidly and according to attending physician she will be able to be in school again about the latter part of March.

Pearl Martin has been ill with tonsillitis. We are glad that she is somewhat improved and is back to her school work.

An English temperance paper Quotes Sir George Hunter, builder of the Mauretania, as saying: "The two greatest contributions of America to the world are Abraham Lincoln and prohibition."

NATIONAL FARM LOAN ASSOCIATION MAN IN LUBBOCK YESTERDAY

Jesse S. Wright, examiner for the National Farm Loan Association, having charge of Federal farm loans, was here yesterday to meet with the board of directors of the Lubbock County association of which Douglas Pounds is secretary.

A meeting was held at which time the books of the Lubbock County Association were examined and approved by Mr. Wright, who stated that Lubbock county farmers have kept their business in splendid shape and that the freeze of last fall it not reflected so any noticeable extent in the records.

Mr. Wright will spend some time in this territory.

STOCKS CLOSES WHEAT WHEAT BREAKS COTTON HITS

NEW YORK FINANCE BY TODD W. WRIGHT United News Financial Editor. NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Flashed with victory, the Wall Street bears continued to hammer security prices down Friday forcing heavy liquidation of many margined accounts.

The common stock of the General Electric Corporation Thursday had been under severe pressure on leakage of news that the directors would not take any steps toward a capital readjustment of the stock at their meeting Friday.

A majority of the traders believe, or profess to believe that prices of most stock are too high. That they felt the same way when prices were 20 to 30 points below their present level.

Rather it is merely a natural desire on the part of traders to recoupe losses after the severe drubbing administered because of the long sustained advances.

NEW ORLEANS—Strength of hard proved helpful and the local market was quite steady and prices a shade higher.

NEW ORLEANS—Short sellers were active again today and pressure was rather heavy during the early trading.

Selling was encouraged by reports of poor demand for goods from the Carolinas, claims that mills in that section were overstocked with raw material, rumors that Europe was offering cotton for sale here and was also cancelling orders for the purchase of new crops.

Sentiment is so universally bearish that rallies are apt to prove only temporary affairs, as they will probably be accepted as furnishing good opportunities for sale.

General Arbitration Treaty Among All Nations of Europe Will Be Sponsored by League

By HENRY WOOD
United Press Staff Correspondent.

GENEVA. Even more important than the steps now being taken for preparing and convoking an international disarmament conference, are the plans which the League of Nations is now working out for the launching of a world-wide obligatory arbitration treaty.

This is the declaration of Leaguers who remain convinced that disarmament will never take place as the result of any general disarmament agreement but merely as a logical sequence and result when security has been attained.

And security, according to Leaguers, can best be attained by a series of treaties like the Locarno ones, embodied finally in a general world-wide treaty in which every one is pledged to non-aggression and to the principle of obligatory arbitration for all disputes.

As a result of resolutions introduced at the last Assembly, the Secretariat of the League of Nations is now preparing for the March meeting of the League Council a complete analysis of all arbitration and conciliation treaties that have now been negotiated between nations; of various similar treaties that are under negotiation; and also an analysis of all declarations that have been made before the League by various nations as to their disposition to accept the principles of obligatory arbitration.

On this report, the Council expects to be able to make recommendations to the September Assembly that will permit the latter to launch a world-wide treaty of obligatory arbitration that will advance to an immense degree the question of security.

It is expected that before the September assembly, Europe will already be covered by a complete network of regional non-aggression and arbitration treaties so that the task of embodying all of these under a general treaty will only be the question of a step more in advance which it is expected that everyone by that time will be ready to take.

The principal regional arbitration and conciliation treaties already in force in Europe are the Locarno groups embracing Germany, France, Belgium, Poland and Czechoslovakia with England and Italy as guarantors; the Baltic group embracing Poland, Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania; the Scandinavian embracing Sweden, Norway, Finland and Denmark, besides various individual treaties such as those between Switzerland, France and Italy.

It is expected before the September Assembly convenes that these will have been completed by the negotiations for a Balkan agreement which are now under way, as well as the group which Spain has offered to negotiate with Portugal, has offered negotiate with Portugal, England, France and Italy.

With virtually every European nation pledged to arbitration with those countries with which the year the most in contact, the League feels there will be little difficulty in inducing them to accept a general treaty covering also those nations farther away with whom there is even less danger of difficulty.

While the League's proposed general arbitration treaty will follow largely the lines laid down in the famous but rejected Geneva protocol of Arbitration, Security and Disarmament, it will side-step all of the obstacles that resulted in the failure of the protocol.

It will probably begin by declaring war to be an international crime; by pledging all signatories to obligatory arbitration of all international disputes; and may possibly embody the principle that the nation refusing arbitration shall be considered the aggressor.

There will be no effort, however, to build up any machinery to force anyone to accept arbitration, which was one of the principal causes of rejection of the protocol and the League will depend purely upon moral force and world-wide public opinion to give weight and force to the obligations accepted, in the proposed treaty. This, it is believed, will constitute the most advanced step towards security possible to take at the present time.

P. W. WALKER HAS 200 HEAD OF HOGS MANY REGISTERED

LITTLEFIELD, Feb. 26.—While every county on the South Plains is giving more attention at present to the hog raising industry, than at any previous time, Lamb County is keeping pace with the development. "Lamb County now has more hogs than any county in West Texas," says P. W. Walker, local grain dealer and hog raiser.

Walker has recently had completed one of the most modern hog farms on the plains, embracing 30 acres hog proof fenced and cross fenced, located one and one-half miles east of Littlefield on what is known as the C. Warhurst place, where he has 200 head of good hogs. Some of these hogs are registered, while others are subject to registration. They are being fed from the waste feed from the mill and a sudan pasture.

Walker expects to raise 1,000 pigs this year, and will be in a position to furnish a market for the farmers in this vicinity throughout the year.

SOUTHERN RESORTS

By HEDDA HOYT
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Somewhere the sun is shining and our more fortunate sisters are wearing the togs that will be passed on to us this coming summer. Palm Beach sands are dotted with the colors of the chorus girl and the styles of the Elite.

Pastel shades rule supreme for day time and white and silver hold forth at evening time. Among the favorite day shades are bois de rose, salmon, flesh and yellowish green or Chartreuse. Coats for day wear are mostly white collared in flat white furs. Moss green coats trimmed in socalled fox or red fox on collars and fronts are next in importance. Beach coats made of flowered or figured cretonnes lined in solid vivid colors or in pastel shades to match the frocks worn with them are also prominent.

Among the unusual millinery are prominent matron appeared wearing straw hats trimmed in fur. A very wide drooping brimmed tan bankok edged about the brim in a narrow band of sable. A small shape of white straw is trimmed with a huge cluster of ermine tails which are placed at the center front of the crown. Hats for the most part are small felts or wide-brimmed horse-hairs.

As to shoes, they must match the pastel frock for day wear and add a contrast to the white frock at evening time. Kids in light colors are worn on the sand in either plain pump shape or Deauville sandal effects. For evening wear the strap-

TAX PUBLICITY

ROCHESTER, N. H., Feb. 26.—Tax Collector William K. Kimball has discovered a sure-fire method to make delinquents pay their back taxes.

A list of names of delinquents has been posted in the show window of a Main-street store. The amount of taxes ranged from 63 cents to $150. According to Kimball, almost $42,000 has been received since this publicity idea was inaugurated.

ped slipper of colored satin is perhaps the most popular. Occasionally one sees a pastel frock worn with a hat of brighter shade which matches the shoes. For instance, a flesh colored crepe jumper frock is worn with a dull coral hat and coral kid shoes. Figured linens are among the newer cotton fabrics chosen at Southern resorts. This material is worn only for morning or sports occasions and is in no way as popular as plain colored silk crepe which forms the majority of jumper frocks.

ERICH VON STROHEIM
The MERRY WIDOW

ALL the world was at her feet—only the man she loved stood aloof. Pride played the tyrant over his love—then in one flaming moment of drama he offered his very life for her.

Here is the greatest romance ever screened—the gorgeous tale of the Merry Widow and Prince Danilo which, as a stake sequel, captivated the civilized world.
