STERLING CITY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1942

NO. 51

DON'T LET ME DISCOURAGE YOU--GO ON

The Keerville Times of June 25 is certain that the editor will support C. L. South for congress in the coming election.

Every man has the right to vote and chooses. I am going to do my way and I grant the editor of the Times the same privilege.

It would be the Times' editor care to ask a few pertinent questions of Mr. South and why the Times is supporting him?

It is because Peddling Charley recited his "faithful friends" with a staff office instead of a mule, with regard to merit or ability, over a plea of a World War I veteran against the expressed wishes of 90 per cent of the people of a county?

Does the Times support Free Post-Charley because he made a speech, maneuvered it into the Congressional Record, had tens of thousands of copies printed at the expense of the government and sent them to the voters of the 21st. district in frank envelopes?

Is it because Herr Charley South made a speech at San Angelo and in 1939 justified Hitler and a throat group of robbers and murderers and at the same time denounced the World War I allies of which your Uncle Sam was one of them, for the terms of the Versailles treaty, leaving no doubt in the minds of his hearers, that he, Herr South was a German Sympathizer?

Don't you think that expression of sympathy for Germany was made to catch the votes of German sympathizers? Look around you, and if you can find a German sympathizer in an inch long who is not a South man, I am ready to make a deal of my old Stetson.

By this, I do not intend to convey the idea that all South supporters are German sympathizers, but I challenge the world to show me a German sympathizer who is not South and toenail for South. Do you deny that?

Is the Times supporting South because he voted with the Dago, Vito Marcantonio, Ham Fish, Wheeler and the rest of the Isolationists in an effort to defeat naval expansion March 23, 1938, and on other occasions?

Do you endorse the sentiment expressed by South on the floor of the House just 25 days before the tragedy of Pearl Harbor in his argument against the repeal of a clause in the Neutrality Act, when he said: "It will take from four to six million men to stop Hitler. I am not willing to pay the price. It is not worth it."

Only one other Texan joined Mr. South in making Texas blush with shame on that occasion. Was it because South showed the yellow streak in the zero hour of our nation's safety that the Times is supporting South so ardently?

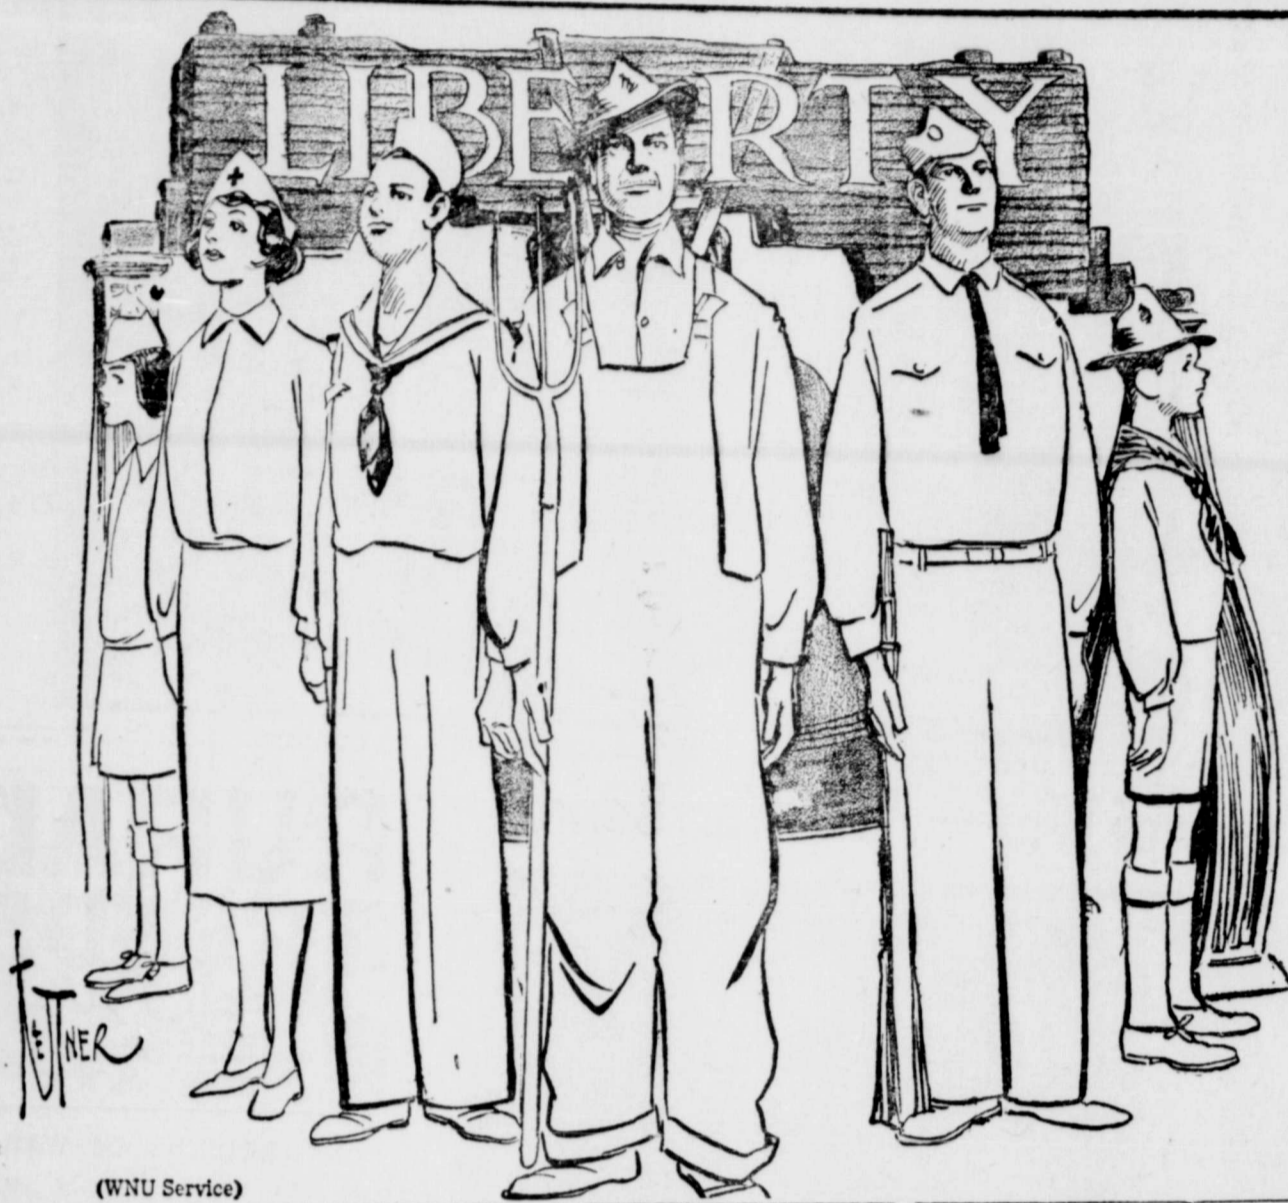

If South was not willing to pay the price 25 days before Pearl Harbor, is he willing to pay the price today?

If South thinks that our liberty, freedom and all we hold dear is not worth the price of our war effort, what do you think of it?

But don't let me discourage you in your efforts to foist a man over us who has made Hitler and the Japs howl with joy and Texas blush with shame.

Go right ahead, Brother, don't mind me. But I will kill your vote if the Good Lord permits me to go to the polls.—Uncle Bill

Fisher Refers to South's Record

Congressmen, in voting themselves a life pension in case of defeat, and in abusing the franking privilege by sending 10's of thousands of stampless campaign matter through the mails at the tax-payer's expense, are not setting the high example that becomes the spirit of the times, District Attorney O. C. Fisher, candidate for Congress, charged in a radio speech at Brownwood Saturday.

Referring to the Pension Act, Fisher pointed out that the lower House of Congress passed it unanimously last Dec. 1, and passed it a second time unanimously on January 21st. By the terms of that bill, he said, it would have been possible for a defeated Congressman, of the proper age who had served as long as 5 years, to have bought himself a life pension with but one payment of $1.31!

In pointing to the abuse of the franking privilege, Fisher said when Congressmen send letters or printed matter through the mails of a political or private and not of official nature, without paying the 3 cent stamp tax, the sender becomes a tax dodger.

Fisher told of how the present Congressman of the 21st. district, for example, had on last April 8 delivered a political address over the Brady radio station KNEL, announced as "a paid political broadcast", and then labeled "The Progress of our War Efforts", sent 10's of thousands of copies to poll tax payers over the district, without stamps. "In behalf of the hard-pressed tax payers," he said, "I must raise my voice in condemnation of that practice."

Trash Fire Got Away From Jim

The News-Record Family and others are grateful to the Fire Department for the prompt and efficient manner in quickly putting out a grass and weed fire which originated in the alley between Oscar Findt's residence and that of the News-Record family home.

Jim had set fire to some rubbish in the alley during a gale of wind. The flames leaped into some dry grass and soon things began to happen. Jim ran to the phone and gave the alarm, but Sam had already given the alarm and was out looking for the fire truck.

In less time than it takes to write this, Chief Brown, his truck and some of his boys were there and went into action. In a few minutes, the fire was out. The fire was rolling toward W. L. Foster's tool house when it was quenched by the fire hose. Sam and Jim had rather be a fire Chief like their friend Chief Brown, than to be governor of Texas.

All that end of town is thankful to Chief Brown and his boys.

Constructs Round Dipping Vat

Mr. J. F. Skeet has constructed a round goat dipping vat on plans secured from the Texas Extension Service through County Agent H. P. Malloy. The vat is six feet in circumference and five feet deep with a capacity of 1000 gallons.

The vat was charged with Cooper Goat Dip and 1400 goats were dipped. The round vat works fine and seems an improvement over the straight type of vat for goat dipping.

Hudson-Green Wedding

Miss Marjorie Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hudson, became the bride of Benny Green on June 27. The Rev. George M. Sullivan read the ceremony in the Presbyterian Manse in Pecos.

The bride wore an afternoon frock of blue jersey and carried a white Bible on which was a corsage of pink carnations and delphiniums. Present for the wedding were Mrs. Sullivan and daughter Carol.

Mr. and Mrs. Green were both graduated from the Sterling High School with the class of 1940.

Mr. Green is employed with S. A. Schlosser, Geophysical Surveys.

Will Conduct Revival

REVEREND W. W. LIPPS

A revival meeting under the auspices of the First Methodist Church will begin Sunday, July 5. Rev. W. W. Lipps will do the preaching, while the song services will be under the direction of Rev. Lowell Ryan.

Rock Finds Wrong Mark

C. C. Reynolds suffered painful injuries about the head when accidentally hit with a rock thrown by a young man who was helping him to control an unruly horse.

They were working with some horses that had been penned in a lot. One of the horses became unruly and refused to be driven. Mr. Reynolds told the young man to bust the horse with a rock. When he let fly with the stone, the horse dodged and it landed between Mr. Reynolds eyes, inflicting hurts that kept the old timer in for several days. He is all right now.

Arrives From South America

Mrs. Garland Roberts, the former Mary Cloyis Cox, is here from Cabinae, Lake Maracaibo, South America, for a three month visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Cox.

She came to the states by clipper, meeting Mrs. Doris Chalk Cole and son, John, in Miami, Fla. The group visited Lieut. Billy Roberts in Panama City, Fla., before coming to Sweetwater.

Garland Roberts is a civil engineer with an oil company in South America.

A Plea for Safe and Sane Fourth

A plea for a safe and sane Fourth of July was issued today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who declared, "We should not forget that the glorious Fourth is the anniversary of American freedom—a freedom that is now in jeopardy."

"The nation needs every man, woman and child at maximum physical strength. Unnecessary loss of life or time from careless accidents is a form of sabotage against our total war effort."

Dr. Cox stressed the fact that hundreds of accidents occur each year among Fourth of July celebrants, including drowning, traffic casualties, and serious injuries from fireworks. He declared that every day's time lost in this manner will handicap the nation's war effort.

"The celebration of American independence is a custom dear to the hearts of all Americans," Dr. Cox said. "but this year as never before care should be taken to avoid accidents which cripple or kill since our maximum manpower is needed for the successful prosecution of a war to defend that same American freedom."

"Using caution in water sports and in traveling on the highways will aid materially in cutting down the total number of accidents, and the cautious handling of all fireworks will result in fewer painful injuries to small children," Dr. Cox declared.

Fire Boys Go to Grass Fire

Fire broke out in the grass in Sid Cavitt's pasture near Water Valley last Tuesday afternoon and when it got out of control, they called on the Sterling fireboys for help.

Our boys were soon on the ground with their fire wagon spraying water on the blazing grass. Just as they got into action, a heavy shower of rain began to fall and helped them put the fire out.

These boys are in need of a new fire truck. If you have a contribution to make toward the purchase, leave it with J. S. Cole at the bank.

NEWS Established in 1890
RECORD Established in 1899
Consolidated in 1902

When Sterling City was founded in 1890, there were only a few mesquites on the townsite, and the grass was not thick enough to keep the dust from being kicked by every wind that blew. Old timers can recall when the dust was so thick they couldn't see to cuss a cat. After a sandstorm, the housewife was as sour as a bottle of vinegar as she shovelled and swept her floors. It was awful. But as the years passed, the showers came, the mesquites began to grow in every nook and cranie. Today there is very little dust. The mesquites hold the soil where it is and the rain where it falls. Don't let some fellow who does not know what he is talking about talk you into destroying your mesquites. You may thin them, but leave enough to hold the soil.—Uncle Bill

Did you get your copy of the W Lee O'Daniel News this week? Lee O' asks only a dollar for his paper, but being an editor, I got mine free. In Lee O' paper, he recommends himself very highly as a senator, but gives one the idea that his opponents, Jimmy Allred and Dan Moody are a pair of naughty twins. If you have a dollar to spend on Lee O's paper, you might send two bits to him and six-bits to me. I need the six-bits for a new shirt. Lee O' says there "aint gonna be no runoff." That has happened twice before, but he might be mistaken. You can't always sometimes tell.—Uncle Bill

Our good friend Ewing Thomason is again a candidate for congress in the El Paso district. We need such men as Thomason in congress at a time like this. Thomason is one of the outstanding men in congress who is "not afraid of horse." He had the foresight to see the necessity of preparedness, and all that has been done toward preparing this country for the coming conflict which his wisdom foresaw, he has done a noble part. It would be a sad tragedy if the El Paso district were to turn him down in this hour of danger.—Uncle Bill

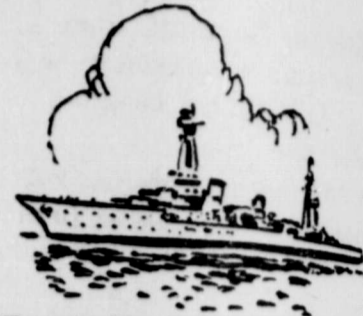

The man who lives in this country and enjoys the rights of liberty and freedom from the tyrant's oppression, and then condones and sympathizes with Hitler, the Japs and the bastards who are trying to crush the world and stamp out Christianity should be ostracised and forced to live with the dirty pack of robbers and cutthroats. America is no place for such a parody on humanity. A yaller dog is a gentleman and a scholar compared with him. God help him if he falls in the hands of outraged patriots. Hell will have a new citizen if he does.—Uncle Bill

You who feel that a new fire truck is necessary to the safety of your homes, business houses and grass, please leave your contributions with J. S. Cole at the First National Bank. The fire department needs a new truck with which to fight fires. Come on and chip in, boys, it is your best investment.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Navy Cruisers are built in two classes, light and heavy, the latter displacing about 10,000 tons. Our navy has about an equal number of light and heavy Cruisers, the 10,000 ton Cruiser costing approximately $20,000,000. Many Cruisers are under construction and many more are needed.

To pay for these speedy and powerful ships with their heavy guns and armament we must buy War Bonds. Citizens of a large town or a given community, working in unity, could buy one of these ships for the Navy if they put at least ten percent of their income in War Bonds every pay day.

RURAL TRENDS
BY ROGER M. KYES

BY-PRODUCTS OF WAR

It has been rightfully established as a general principle—although there will probably be many exceptions—that no one shall make excessive profits out of war. We don't want to foster any class of people whom we have to term "war profiteers." War is organized destruction—of life and property, for both sides. The victor wins because he succeeds in destroying more life and property than the loser. But in a war of world-wide scope, even the victor's losses may be staggering, as we are already beginning to find out.

A spring freshet is not always total loss. It may wash out planted crops and ruin buildings, but it refertilizes the land by a deposit of rich silt. The next year's crops on the lowlands are usually better as a result. In like manner, we are going to get some perfectly legitimate profits from this war, destructive as it is. Probably the first is improvement of national health. We are putting millions of young men through training as rigid as that of an athlete, and giving them new conceptions of the value of regulated diet and careful sanitation. These young men will take their new notions of bodily welfare home with them when war is over, and they will benefit all the people.

We have already planted millions of acres of peanuts for oil, and vastly increased our acreage of that miracle crop, the soy bean, for which we already know of more than 300 uses. Chemurgy—the science of growing on the farms the raw materials of industry and learning to process them—is due for unheard-of developments. It will provide opportunity for large agricultural expansion in the very near future. You just can't keep American ingenuity under cover. We must go forward, in spite of war's setbacks. And the useful by-products of war are going to be a big help in balancing the books, and making up for the losses which war always brings.

BASCOM GILES

In this issue of the News Record, mention is made of Bascom Giles' candidacy for re election to the office of Land Commissioner of Texas. This writer, as a land surveyor, has had dealings with the General Land Office during the last forty years, and during that time he has dealt with some mighty good Commissioners, but Bascom Giles has proven to be the best and most efficient of them all. Since Giles has been in charge of this most important department, it has been conducted on a strictly honest, impartial and business basis without even a suspicion of graft. Ranchmen from this part of the state having had business with the Land Office, find it a pleasure to contact Mr. Giles personally and they find him so courteous and helpful in solving their problems that they would not trade him off for anybody. In filing plats and field notes in the Land Office, Mr. Giles sees to it that every I is dotted and every T is crossed, yet, he does it in such a patient and helpful way, you can't help feeling that you are dealing with an honest and helpful friend. Since he has been Commissioner, the Land Office has yielded millions to the Public School fund through

Bascom Giles' wise policies. The Land Office is in good hands, boys, and it will pay you to keep it so.—Uncle Bill

In the Napoleonic Wars, it is said that the British lost every battle except the last. When the last showdown came at Waterloo, Wellington maneuvered his troops so that Napoleon didn't have a chance. Napoleon's army went to pieces and he died a prisoner on the Isle of St. Helena. The nations that Napoleon conquered soon resumed their former existence. Hitler who has been trying to ape Napoleon, has not profited by the experience of Napoleon.

Somebody has said that Governor Coke Stevenson has no platform in his campaign for governor. What-inell does Coke want with a paper platform when he has every square inch of Texas soil to stand and run on? For years Coke has stood flatfooted for the weal of the people of Texas. They all know what he stands for. They understand him and he understands them. They will not fail him on election day.—Uncle Bill

A Wave of Skunks

A few evenings ago, after doing the chores about the home, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dearen sat on the lawn to enjoy the cool breezes.

Mr. Dearen had pulled off his shoes and stuck his toes in the cool, lush grass. He looked up and saw a wave of invaders approaching the home.

He knew that each of the marauders carried a gas bomb for instant use when the occasion required. Mrs. Dearen handed him the family 410 shotgun and a hand-full of cartridges and then Mr. Dearen opened up on the enemy. When the firing ceased, there were seven dead skunks stretched out.

Seven shots and seven dead skunks. Some record we should say. If the game warden wants to know how come, he will be told that Dearen got tired of feeding fat frying chickens to skunks. He will also be told that Dearen didn't have time to send to Austin for a warden to come out and do something about the state's skunks that were eating the war chickens and gassing anyone who interfered with them.

Believes One Story Is True

Just before bedtime most every night, Sam and Tom, the two young men with whom I live, will say: "Granddy, please tell us a story."

In answer to Sam's plea for a story, I told Sam the other night some of my observations and experiences I've had with bumble bees, of the fights and fun I have had with these pesky warriors.

Sam was very much interested in bumble bees as he is with all wild-life.

The very next evening Sam went out in the pasture to drive the cows to the barns. As he passed a patch of horehound, Sam saw a group of bumble bees feeding on the flowers. He said he didn't do a thing to them but one of them sat down on the lobe of his left ear and pushed hard.

When Sam got home they doped his hurt with medicine, he said it felt better. He said he planned to go back and find their nest and eat their honey. He will, too, but he will get some experience that will do him good all his life. That is the reason I learned so much about bumble bees. They couldn't tell me much about them. I had to learn by experience. Sam will learn wisdom in the same school.—Uncle Bill

Lions Club Installs New Officers

Last Wednesday at its weekly luncheon the Lion's Club installed the following new officers: Rev. L. O. Ryan, president, Dr. Wm. J. Swann, vice-president, Judge G. C. Murrell, secretary, Hal M. Knight, treasurer, Joe Emery, tail twister, W. R. Hudson, lion tamer.

J. T. Davis, Hal Knight, V. E. Davis and John Walraven were installed as a Board of Directors.

Rev. B. B. Hestir, of Carlsbad, served as Master of Ceremonies.

Say, you old waddies on the ranch bring in those old tires and scrap rubber which you have been stumbling over for years. Don't you know that by keeping this precious rubber and letting it lie idle that it will help Hitler and those other bastards that much? If you do not have time to bring it in, turn the job over to the Boy Scouts or any button in town and they will do the job for you.

Henry Morgenthau Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, today made public the official War Bond Quotas by States for the month of July, which places the nation on a Billion-dollar-a-month basis to aid in meeting the War cost. The above table also gives May War Bond sales in the various states in comparison to the May Quotas. (June sales by states will be available for publication shortly.) The percentage of Quotas range from 71.3 percent above quota in Utah, to 22.6 percent below the quota in Montana, but puts the nation as a whole above the $600,000,000 total May quota. Vulnerable Alaska and Hawaii led all states in sale of War Bonds on quota basis.

"Everybody, every pay day ten percent" is the Treasury slogan which is expected to place one of the attractive new window stickers in every American home. "We're Buying at Least 10%" reads the sticker, printed in the national colors. The new window stickers and the new "10%" lapel button, which indicates the wearer is investing at least ten percent of his income in War Bonds every pay day, are yardsticks of patriotism in the War Bond drive.

Aphis and Beetles War on Peas and Beans

Captain Jinks of the horse marines, who fed his horse on corn and beans, had nothing on the commissary department of the American Army. The government has announced its plan of taking a big share of this year's commercial crop of peas and beans, so we must grow our own — and that calls for another battle right in our own backyard. As usual, the insect pests must be dealt with.

One of those feared by most growers and canners is the pea aphid. Not only does the aphid infestation produce wilted pea vines, but by "stinging" the pod they cause it to be deformed, thereby reducing the crop. The pod injury is caused by the insertion of the bill of the aphid to draw sap for food.

Black Leaf 40 sprayed at the rate of one teaspoonful to a gallon of soapy water, will control the pea aphid. Be sure you hit them.

Poison the Mexican Bean Beetle

Beans are attacked by the Mexican bean beetle, which eats on the underside of the leaves, giving the plants a lace-like appearance as the upper part of the leaf dries and causes spots to break through.

The adult Mexican bean beetle lays eggs of orange-yellow hue, attaching them to the under-side of the leaf. These eggs hatch in a week or two and out comes a fat worm, which grows to about one-third of an inch long and half as wide. It is yellow, has black-tipped spines on its back and has a heavy appetite. In due time it passes through the pupa stage and in about thirty days after the egg is laid it becomes a full grown beetle.

Control is attained through poisonous dusts applied to the under-side of the leaves, or by adding three pounds of calcium arsenate to one hundred gallons of Bordeaux mixture when spraying for fungus diseases.

Spraying of poisonous material on pod or green beans should be avoided in the latter part of the season when harvesting time approaches. Arsenic is, of course, poisonous to mankind, and will do harm if this material clings to the pods which are eaten. Thorough control early in the season is the answer on this kind of bean so that when the later weeks come around, there will not be Mexican Bean Beetles to contend with.

Care must be taken to cover the under-side of the leaf, no matter what poison is used. Too many beginners spray the upper sides of the leaf, while the insects hide in safety under the leaves. Good spraying practice calls for "bending the back" and getting down where a spray job can be done.

Where Mexican bean beetles are prevalent it is recommended that a pole bean be grown instead of the bush variety. The climbing variety can be more easily sprayed and thus protected against insects. Cleaning up the trash in the garden is also an important defense against insects. Many insects pass the winter in the dormant stage in such trash and are ready to come out and start a new generation when spring comes.

Parents who have boys who shoot firecrackers on the sidewalks are not giving these boys a fair break. The boys are not to blame. They love to do this, but they should be taught to shoot crackers in their own homes instead of the streets and sidewalks to the terror of women and children as well as setting fire to the town. Don't let anyone tell you there is no danger in firecrackers.—Uncle Bill
