LYNN COUNTY AS A FARMING COUNTY

INDIFFERENT FARMING HAS BEEN SUCCESSFUL, SCIENTIFIC FARMING SHOULD BRING GREAT RESULTS

TAHOKA SHOULD BE A GOOD TOWN

BECAUSE IT HAS A GREAT COUNTRY, A GREAT PEOPLE AND GREAT NATURAL RESOURCES BEHIND IT

Any town that is backed up by a good farming country should certainly make a good town. The Plains country is all good farming country, a fact that has been demonstrated under the most adverse circumstances, and of all the Plains country Lynn county today has the most farms and the most farmers. We are proud of this fact for the reason that nothing can give us more assurance for the future. A town must depend upon some demonstrated resource for its sustenance and permanency. The Plains country is a farming country, a diversified farming country, and Lynn county today presents her record as the greatest of them all.

No county on the Plains is adapted to a greater variety of crops.

No country or section of country on the Plains has a better soil, better water, a better climate nor better natural advantages, all things considered.

Then certainly Lynn county should be a great county, and it is equally certain that Tahoka, the young and thriving county seat of Lynn county, should be a mighty good town, but you shou'd dissect the situation and determine for yourself.

Hot air may be necessary to boost a country, but it takes resources to sustain it, and the town with the best resources will be the best sustained.

We have submitted that Lynn county is the greatest farming county on the Plains. Now, you investigate and ascertain if this is true, and if it is you certainly have a sufficient guarantee of the future prosperity and possibilities of the town.

Six years ago Lynn county was an unorganized, undesignated part of the great American desert. It was a cattle country and the cattle man honestly and earnestly told the world that it would never be anything else, and not much of that. He was mistaken. Badly mistaken, just as other good men have been about similar propositions. If the cowman had known what he knows today he would have owned more land. Ask any of them and see if this is not correct.

An intelligent man investigates and generally finds most error where most ignorance has formerly been rampant.

Now, our earnest, honest advice to you is this:

Come and investigate. Investigate carefully, and do this stay long enough to learn something.

Come and see what the farmers have done, and intelligently determine for yourself what the farmers could have done had they gone about their business intelligently and scientifically.

We have passed through three periods in this country. These being the day of the wilderness, the day of the cowman and the day of the speculator. We are now up to the real developer. The day of the man that will do things as things should be done in order to bring the right things to pass.

The day of real, progressive values has arrived.

The day when an acre of land must produce its per centage of value to give it price has arrived. And it is equally true that that day has arrived when we need the man who can give an acre of land its true productive value.

All we can say man is this;

We know we have the soil, the water and the climate, and we believe that we have the greatest farming country on the American continent, because in a slipshod manner this has been demonstrated.

We have never had a crop failure and our land has never been farmed as it should have been.

We have a good corn country, a good cotton country, the greatest milo maize and Kaffir corn and small grain country in the world.

We know that we have a good fruit country, a great vegetable country, and a great stockfarming country. A country where you can farm scientifically to the best advantage, and where you can farm in a slipshod manner as well as you can anywhere.

We know that we have a country where the real farmer, the real doer of things, will some day be all dominant. And we know that nothing more is needed.

Land is cheap here. Not as cheap as it used to be but cheaper than it will ever be again.

We have the railroads now. We didn't have them just a few weeks ago. The very things that held us back a few weeks ago will contribute to our development hereafter.

We have had a long, hard, unappreciated fight, and the man who is benefited most by the fight we have made, and the things we have brought to pass, will be the man who doesn't delay too long.

Charley Doak was here Saturday with quite a number of Lamesa men showing them the finished grade north of Tahoka and the many camps south of us. The party was composed of the following: C. H. Doak, Judge M. C. Lindsey, Joe Barron, Sid Compton Sheriff Crowley, Howell Adams, Judge Baker, John Coffee, John Burleson and Messrs.. Flaniken and Ayers.

Mr. Doak told us about the wonderful improvements being made all along the line and O'Donnell town site and of a 15 room hotel to be built down there at once, and what is now only open prarie, will likely be quite a town.

NOTICE TO THE FARMERS of Lynn and Adjoining Counties.

We wish to inform the farmers of this and adjoining counties that we have purchased a large and complete threshing outfit and you are assured of getting any and all grain such as wheat, oats, millet, Kaffir and maize threshed this season.

We have also bought a 12 gang disc breaking plow, so any one wanting sod broken, we will be glad to hear from them.

FENN BROS., Tahoka, Texas.

You cannot afford to do without the Lynn County News.

Bought Thrasher

In another column of this paper will be seen a notice inserted by the Fenn Brothers, announcing the purchase of a thrasher.

This should encourage a larger acerage of every kind of grain to be sown this year as the machin thrashes every thing, even field corn.

The Fenn boys are of the old timers and know what the county will do and they have not bought the machine on a venture but on a knowledge gained by years of experience with conditions here.

The lack of thrashers has been a serious handicap in the handling of the grain crop in Lynn county. With the railroad here and the thrashed and sacked, the expense of marketing will be reduced to the minimum.

L. P. Hensley, former editor of The Mertzon News, Mertzon, Texas, is in Tahoka this week, prospecting. He expresses himself as being highly pleased with Lynn county and her pretty and flourishing county seat, Tahoka.

J. A. Shaw Dead

J. A. Shaw died at his home in the Morgan neighborhood March 18, 1910, after a protracted spell of pneumonia. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn his loss, three boys and three girls. Mr. Shaw was 51 years and 11 months old at the time of his death. He was a member of the Baptist church for a good many years, and was a power for good where ever he lived.

His neighbors have lost a friend who will be greatly missed; Lynn county has lost a citizen whose record was above reproch.

Mr. Shaw was a Woodman, and while a member of the Jacksboro, Lodge he attended the Tahoka Camp and was loved and respected by his brother W. O. W. at this place. Mr. Shaw was burried with the honors befiting a sovereign. The camp met the procession when it reached the square and escorted the remains of their departed brother to his last resting place in the Tahoka cemetery.

The members of the Circle who were present were asked to assist in joining around the grave. Bro. Doak the pastor of the Methodist church, who is a Woodman, held a short service before the Woodmen took charge of the ceremony.

This is the second time in the last six months that the Woodmen Lodge here has been visited by death.

The bereaved family have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

T. J. Blankenship killed his 59th wolf Monday, since the first of the year. He has been trying for this wolf for several months and only landed him this week. He was part dog so of course smarter than the ordinary run of wolves. We need more hunters like Mr. Blankenship to clean up the coyottes.

Matt Williams, of T—bar, was in Tahoka Monday smiling at his friends in particular and the town in general.

W. E. Porterfield, of Post City, was in Tahoka Thursday. Mr. Porterfield has a great many friends here who were glad to see him.

We now have our books complete, up to date. We solicit your business.—Lynn County Abstract Co, Tahoka, Texas.

Your Opportunity

The board of directors of the A. & M. College of Texas has instructed the faculty to arrange for a correspondence course in agriculture, which is to be commenced in September.

This course will be free to all those who desire to take advantage of it. The studies will be all branches of agriculture, including horticulture, animal husbandry, veterinary science, dairying etc. Just how extensive the correspondence instruction will be dependent upon those who want to take the course. The faculty of the agricultural department will have charge of the instruction, it will be altogether by mail, and will go to any one who desires it. Director Walton Peteet of the College board has long wanted to see such and while the legislature has not appropriated any special funds for this purpose the board believes it sees its way clear to handle it untill the legislature does act on the subject. Enrollment can be made atonce. Secretary Allen B. Wilcox of the College having opened his books for the registration of names of those who want to commence with the inauguration of the instruction in September.

Why Not Here?

Tahoka has had a "Clean Up" time, and even if the results are not all that might be desired, a great improvement is observable. But why should a "Clean Up" day be necessary? Why not be clean all the time? It is very easy.

In many towns at the North, where I have lived or visited, there are what are called Town or Village Improvement Societies. In these places one never sees a lot of tin cans rolling about the streets and littering up the yards. There are no great sheets of paper and masses of old rags blowing about and accumulating in all the fence corners. Indeed, in the residence portion there are very few fences, and the lawns and gardens extend to the sidewalk line. They have a stock law, and it is well enforced. No stock of any kind is permitted to roam the streets, as is customary here. Cattle are often driven through on their way to and from the mountain pastures, or in a dry time, to some nearby brook for water, and then there are always enough men with them to prevent them from encroaching on private premises.

In conveient places about town are placed barrels for the reception of rubbish picked up about the streets. They are not unsightly. They are painted on the outside, and provided with covers. In these is placed all the trash gathered up. When these barrels are full they are empted and the contents carted away to be burned or otherwise disposed of as necesary. The children, even the little ones of the Kindergarten and Primary grades are interested in the work, and doing their part.

Householders and merchants are improving their property by setting out trees and shrubs, and planting flower gardens.

Many of these towns have fine public squares or parks.

Tahoka is a live town, a growing one, and will some day be a very important one.

With the advent of our new railroad, and the prospects of others, the population will continue to increase, new industries will come in and Tahoka might be the most prosperous town on the Plains. If these methods have been successful in other places, why not here?

Why should not Tahoka have a Town Improvement Society.

A message came in from Lubbock Saturday telling that Mrs. Bailey was worse. Mrs. Shaw got the message when she returned from the funeral of her husband at the Tahoka cemetery Saturday afternoon. Mr. Bailey is Mrs. Shaw's brother, so she took a car Saturday afternoon for Lubbock where she will remain until her sister-in-law recovers. Mrs. Bailey has been ill for sometime.

TRACK LAYING TO COMMENCE AT ONCE

PLAINVIEW AND FLOYDADA LINE COMPLETED, HURLEY TRACK LAYER WILL BE HURRIED TO TAHOKA LINE

GRADERS ARE MOVING SOUTH

SUB-CONTRACTERS FINISHING UP AND MOVING SOUTH OF TOWN, WORK IS TO BE PUSHED TO COMPLETION

The Plainview and Floydada branch of the Santa Fe having been completed, track laying will begin on the Tahoka branch immediately, if no unforseen hindrence occurs and the big track laying machine will begin work before this reaches our readers.

The machine and the necessary force of hands is very expensive to maintain, hence the work will be carried forward with the greatest expedition possible.

The grading into Tahoka is complete, the last stretch across the town section is being done this week, the grading camps are steadily moving south of Tahoka, and all the hands and teams that can be used are employed on the grade south, so that when they begin laying steel their will be no stop until the road is completed.

There is no other work for the tracklaying outfit to do at present so we have things all our own way.

The speed allowed for this machine is from two to four miles per day.

We may confidently expect to see the cars running into Tahoka by the first of May.

Tahoka is developing at such a rate that freighters cannot be procured to handle the trade. A number of houses are being held back by the impossibility of getting lumber here fast enough to supply a demand.

People are moving into their new homes before the papering or other finishing is done, the demand for homes being greater than the supply.

We are not waiting for the railroad to make us grow, but have got going at such a rate that when the Santa Fe reaches here they will find a full grown proposition waiting for them.

The depot grounds have been cleared and only awaiting the material before they will begin to loom up.

Streets are being graded, the public water works overhauled and put in condition to furnish water sufficient for the extra growth we are making.

As soon as a passenger service can be established emigrant trains will be the order of the day, and desirable citizens will be given a chance to procure homes in the banner county of the Plains.

We have an ideal climate and perfect soil for all kinds of crops, and only need an opportunity to show the home seeker what we have.

A great many people have an erronious idea of this part of the State. Natural conditions could not be better for making a home.

The Santa Fe is not building across the Plains for a shorter way to market, but to reap a rich harvest which awaits the first hand reached out to gather it.

Blooded stock and abundant crops of every thing are the keynote to the financial part of the farming interests, and the farmer is the cornerstone of a prospetous country.

Mrs. Miles, of the Six Mile community, was in Tahoka Saturday visiting and doing some shopping.

The all absorbing topic among the ladies is the Easter hat, of which there is a fine assortment at two of our stores.

The train is running into Floydada now, and as this used to be our home town we are interested anything that makes for its development. Railroad facilities have been badly needed in that part of the Plains and we shall hear of wonderful growth in that quarter.

No need of that pain in the stomach why writhe, groan and suffer? Take GRAND MA'S DIARRHEA REMEDY. It affords quick relief and is a positive cure for Diarrhea, Colic, Dysentary, Bloody Flux and relieves vomiting and purging.

If the Lynn county farmers will tell their troubles to The News, we will tell them to the doctors.

For the benefit of the newcomer, The News would like to print some hints on planting and cultivation of crops on the Central and South Plains.

All the women in this county should take as much interest in the improvement of the poultry as the men do in improving the stock. For the money invested, your profits will exceed theirs.

If you try an experiment, let the world know about it; never mind if it has been a failure; don't be selfish, let the other man profit by your mistakes, remembering that every success is based on some ones mistake.

The grading began Monday morning on the streets; graders, citizens, teams, plows and fresnoles from the railroad have been pressed into service, the fence to the court house has heen moved in, and everything is taking on a citified look.

To every farmer in Lynn or an adjoining county that will bring us a dollar, we will send him The News and the Citizen-Star for a year. To every farmer who will bring $1.50 we will send both papers for a year; we will send The News to another address out of the county for a year and also give him a nice wall map of Texas.

We received this week volume 1, number 1, of the Tulia Herald, a nice, newsy, five column quarto with John W. Hunter as and Tom Shafer as business manager. We wish them success in their chosen field: Nothing can build up a town better than a good, live newspaper, except two good papers.

As the Lynn County News is published in the interest of the entire county, and as we are justly proud of the fact that Lynn has the largest percent of country homes of any county on the Plains, we will be only too glad to hear from the farmers and the farmer 's wives as to the progress or success they are making in their lives and work:

J. H. Cowan has been building him a dirt tank and has gone three feet and found no dry dirt yet, he says that we have the best season in the ground that we have had at this time of the year for four years far ahead of what we had two years ago when we made sugh an immense crops of everything.

The peach trees have about finished blooming, and the apple trees are turning green and will soon be in bloom. The farmers who have orchards should prepare to smudge them if we have a late freeze.

GRAND MA'S COUGH REMEDY is pleasant to take, instantly relieves that tickle in your throat, stops that hacking cough. With the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble buy a bottle of this celebrated Cough Cure and safeguard against that dread disease, Consumption.

Jim Cowan tells us he has ten acres of maize up to a good stand and growing fine.

This is very earley compared with the accepted planting time on the Plains.

Mr. Cowan says it may get killed by a late cold spell; but, that there is no more risk here than elsewhere.

It is the experimental farmer who represents the brains of the agricultural interests.

The man who thinks and the man who studies his products and soil from the book nature provides and then puts his knowledge to a practical test is the man who leads his fellow workers in the pursuit of wealth and happiness.

He also provides a rich heritage for the country in which he lives, and one that ali may share,

That diversified farming in West Texas, pays, has been proved beyond doubt; that we may have a succession of good things later in the fall than any part of the country outside of the tropics, is also an accepted fact. Now it just rests with men like Mr. Cowan to prove to prove to the doubters that the early crop is a success, and we have the three things necessary to make of our county one of the richest in the State.

Every spring should find our farmers with some new line added to the list of paying investments.

I wish to state to my friends and customers at Tahoka, that serious illness of my wife has prevented my early return to visit them. But with the present outlook I shall be able to visit Tahoka with plenty of Singer sewing machines early in April. Be sure and get ready to buy at that time.

Yours for the best,
E. W. Hancock.

Chicken wire at The Tahoka Hardware, of any width desired.

J. W. Luttrell, of the Draw neignborhood was in Tahoka Monday to have some repairing done on his wind mill.

Mr. Luttrell is one of the best fixed men his section of the county, and has made it all in Lynn county, farming.

He has a crop of 20 acres of oats of which he is justly proud. Sowed in February they are up to a fine stand and growing as fast as any enthusiastic small grain grower could wish.

Our new railroad facilities will provide a ready market, and as we have the natural advantages we will be in the finest grain belt in the country. Small grain has been proved a perfect success here and will be one of our largest money crops, only needing an outlet to get it to market.

While it is too late to sow oats this season, millet is equally good as feed, and unlike the millet of the lower parts of the state, it has no detrimental effect on stock. Just why this is we do not know. All we know is, that you can feed all the Plains raised millet yo want to without injuring your stock in the least. Millet makes a better feed, here, than corn, in fact it is only surpassed by oats as feed.

Every farm in Lynn county should have its field of millet, for it is only the usual thing here to make two crops a yeav, and it may be either fed to the farm stock or sold for from 75 cents to $1 a bale. Not many crops will turn in more per acre for the care repuired in the raising, harvesting and marketing.

A man or boy entering a print shop under the impression that it is an easy berth and nothing to do is mistaken. There is no avocation that requires more continuous work and changes. Reading mater that is good for this week is useless for next. Thus it continues year in and year out. Letters are picked up one by one by compositors besides thousands of other pieces of small metal and punctuation marks. It is surprising that so few errors appear in newspers when it is considered the rapidity with which they are thrown np, yet thousands of men are so ardently devoted to this work that they will not exchange it for any other and die by the side of a "stick" and pen, leaving these inanimate thinge as their monumentes to present and future posterity.—Coahoma Courier.

E. D. SKINNER & SON.

The above plat shows the Skinner & Brown Addition to the Town of Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas,

Lynn County is the central county in the great Staked Plains of Texas. There are more farm and farmers in Lynn County than any other county on the Plains, simply because Lynn County is the greatest farming county of them all, and all of them are great.

Tahoka is situated in the center of the county, it is the county seat, and is at present the only town in the county, and it is certain to always be the best town, not only in Lynn county, bu in this section of the state. Tahoka is on the Tahoka-Lamesa branch of the Santa Fe railroad. This road is now graded from the junction with the Texico-Coleman Cut-off, which is twenty-three miles a little north-eaat of Tshoka, to Tahoka, and track laying will begin within a few days. The road should be completed and in operation into Tahoka not later than May 1st. All property values in Tahoka is on a safe, solid basis. Tahoka is certain to be a great town for it has a great country and unsurpassed natural advantages back of it. Money invested in Tahoka property at present prices is an investment, not a wild gamble.

This Addition is situated east of town, just across the railroad, and its convenience and location is sufficient assurance that it will become the principal risidence portion of the town. A lot in this Addition is a good investment, just as a lot in the most desirable residence portion of any town would be. If you want a home in the most desirable part of a good town this is your opportunity. If you want a piece of property that will always be worth more than it will cost you now, this is your opportunity. There are not many of these lots and of course they will not last always. When the railrord is completed into Tahoka the value of these lots will double. For particulars address:

Tahoka, Lynn County Texas.

The Banner County Of

Ten years ago, Lynn County had ten voters and three women in it, and was attached to another c post office in the county which supplied mail to the people for 100 miles around.

Today LynnCounty has a population of 2,500, 12 organized schools, 3 post offices, about 400 vo employing 4 teachers, has 3 nice churches, 2 drug stores, National Bank, hotel, livery stable, confectionery, grist mill, wagon yards, feed stores, blacksmith and tin shops and every thing that goes to make a town. The north and San Angelo on the south. We have offered the Texas Central $30,000 and rigth-of-way to bought material and will build to Roswell via Tahoka.

North Tahoka Lots.

TAHOKA IS THE BEST LITTLE CITY ON THE PLAINS AND HAS THE BRIGHT-EST FUTURE, NORTH TAHOKA LOTS ARE THE BEST AND MOST DESIRABLE LOTS BOTH FOR BUSINESS AND RESIDENCE

BUY NOW WHILE THEY ARE CHEAP, FOR THE WILL DOUBLE IN VALUE BY THE TIME THE SANTA FE IS COMPLETED TO TAHOKA

I have made arrangements by which Iwill have the exclusive sale of all the lots in North Tahoka.

North Tahoka is the best and most desirable business and residence part of the town, and among the few of the many ad-vantages are:

First. Perfect title, good as gold. The title is simple and short, being a patent from the State of Texas to the present owner, and from him to you. Can you ask more?

Second. An abundance of shallow, soft, cold water, and perfect drainage, it being a little higher than the old town section; and lying on the north side of the square and west of the railroad, it is free from dust, smoke and soot.

It is the intention of the management of these lots, to put in, as soon as practicable, a stand pipe and gasoline engine with plentyof hose, thereby insuring perfect fire protection and reducing insurance rates from fifty to seventy-five per cent, and also furnishing an a bundance of water for the purpose of watering the trees that will be planted along all the streets, that are to be graded and cement sidewalks laid as fast as the sale of these lots will justify.

Everything that will add to the beauty and comfort of this part of town will be done regardless of trouble and expense.

Already, the people are buying and building on this desirable location, and if you want a home, buy it now. We can suit the most fastidious. The lots will never be cheaper.

I also have some very desirable lots and blocks lying along beside the railroad track, making them very desirable locations for lumber, coal, wagon yards, warehouses, etc.

Tahoka needs all these things, and I in vite correspondence from parties looking for desirable locations in a thriving first class railroad town.

HANDY MEDICINE CASE.

How to Make One at Home Out of Linen or Canvas.

For the friend who cannot travel without her pet remedies a homemade medicine case would make an acceptable gift. It is easily made to hold one's special bottles and has the advantage of adding little weight to the satchel or suit case.

Cut an oblong piece of heavy cardboard and stitch it between two pieces of heavy tan colored or dark red linen or canvas. The covering is cut longer than the cardboard on the ends to allow for seams and stitching. The sides of the linen are enough longer than the board on both sides to permit it to be folded over in envelope fashion when the case is closed.

When the cardboard is in place the cover is stitched close to its edge all around. These edges may have four or five rows of stitching or can be bound with white linen braid or a braid of a contrasting color. The same braid is sewed to each end of the case to strap the flaps into place when folded over.

The inside of the case is finished with two bands of the material, one above the other, and divided into pockets to hold the various bottles of medicine. The compartments are divided by machine stitching or close brier stitching. They should be deep enough to hold a bottle up to its shoulder.

Two oblong envelopes and a long, [...] one of the[...] are added to hold absorbent cotton, gauze bandages, court plaster and a few simple utensils, such as a medicine dropper, hypodermic syringe case and a clinical thermometer. Between the case two linen straps are arranged to hold a pair of scissors.

On the outer flap of the case should be embroidered initials or monogram in tones to match the braid. Several thicknesses of cotton batting should be cut to just fit inside the case over the bottle. They can be buttonholed loosely in colored cotton to hold together. This covering or one of eiderdown is slipped over the bottles when traveling to keep them from spilling.

While it is not necessary to fill this case, it is as well to put in bottles at least. Buy them first, so the compartments can be made to fit. Those without patent stoppers are best.

How Thirteen Kinds Can Be Easily Taken Out.

Tea.—Wash in cold water, then in boiling water.

Coffee.—Pour boiling water through.

Grass Stains.—Wet in cold water, cover with cream of tartar and put in the sun, or use alcohol if goods cannot be washed.

Mildew.—If fresh wet in strong suds, cover with paste of salt and soap and put in the sun.

How to Make "Bread Boxes."

"Bread boxes" are an artistic, cheap and delicious way to serve many entrees as eggs, chestnuts or greens. They are easy to make, but comparatively few women understand it. Cut stale bread at least two days old in four inch cubes, having first removed the crusts. Dip each cube into slightly beaten egg and fry in boiling lard in a frying basket. Remove when golden brown and drain on brown paper. Cut out a square from one side of the cube a quarter of an inch smaller than the box and dig out the crumb, leaving the sides and bottom about a half inch thick. Before using set the "bread boxes" in a hot oven to heat through, fill with whatever mixture is desired and add the lid or not, as preferred.

How to Preserve Leather Furniture.

Leather furniture needs constant and intelligent care to keep it from drying out and tearing into shreds or turning to powder. In the first place, don't be afraid to apply a little soap and water to it to wash off the dust and dirt. Use soapy water, a sponge and a paint brush to get into the folds of the leather and the crevices. The soapy water will darken the leather, but only temporarily. When the leather is dry here is a preparation that will do it good. It's simple—just one part sweet oil and four parts benzine. The oil will darken the leather a little, but it will soon dry in and leave it the original color. The surplus oil may be removed by rubbing. Rub into the grain of the leather. This treatment four times a year will preserve both the life and the elasticity of your leather furniture covering.

DOUBLE VISION.

It Affected the Oculist as Well as the Patient.

A well known oculist of New York city tells a story of one of his patients who proved rather more than a match for him. The patient was an old fellow from one of the rural counties of the state, fifty years of age or more, who strolled leisurely into the doctor's office and, after taking a mental inventory of the place, remarked that he was afraid that his eyes were "gitting a lettle out o' kilter" and he guessed the doctor had better "take a peek at them." He was seated and, as a preliminary, was invited to look through a prism at a photograph.

"Why, now," said he after "squinting" awhile, "this is curious! I see two photographs. What makes me see like that?"

The oculist, who is something of a humorist and inclined to be jocose with certain of his patients, replied that this phenomenon was certainly very interesting and that, while possibly it indicated some slight abnormality, it yet had its compensating advantages. "With double vision you have a great advantage over me, for example," he continued, smiling, "for you will be able to see twice as many beautiful things in the world as I can. You will have twice as many friends. Your family will be doubled. You will have twice as much real estate and two pocketbooks instead of one."

The old man did not say much in reply, but seemed to be pondering it. Meanwhile the oculist completed his examination, and the time came to receive his fee, which in this case was $10.

Very slowly the old man, still pondering, drew forth a roll of notes and, carefully selecting a five dollar bill, looked hard at it for some moments. Then, proffering it, he said quietly, "Here's your $10, doctor!"

Spoiled Her Play.

A very promising love affair, if not nipped in the bud, received an ugly jolt through the medium of that "infernal little brother" the other evening at the home of the young lady involved.

An informal card party was in progress, and a young fellow who had been very marked in his attentions to the daughter of the house had her for his partner. In the midst of the play "little brother" popped up with this query:

"Mr. Blank, does sister play cards well?"

"Yes, very well, indeed," replied the suitor.

"Well, then, you'd better look out," shouted the youngster, "'cause I heard mother say that if she played her cards well she would catch you yet."

The Summit of All Art.

The art of arts, the glory of expression and the sunshine of the light of letters is simplicity. Nothing is better than simplicity. Nothing can make up for excess or for the lack of definiteness.—Walt Whitman.

Left Out In the Heat.

There was once a man who never attended church, thinking that his wife's regular attendance made up for his own omission. Well, the man died and duly appeared before St. Peter at the gate of paradise.

"Who are you?" the saint asked curtly.

"Why, St. Peter, I am John S. Nicholson of Chicago. I thought, of course, you knew me."

"No; I don't know you," said the saint.

"But, St. Peter, I am Mrs. Nicholson's husband—the charitable Mrs. Nicholson, don't you know, who went regularly to church and was so kind to the poor."

"Why didn't you do like her?" said the saint.

"Well, St. Peter, I was always so worn out from business on Sunday that I had to play golf to avoid getting neuritis, and, anyhow, I understood that if Mrs. Nicholson went to church regularly it would do for both of us."

"Your wife," said the saint, "was a true, faithful Christian. She came to these gates four years ago, and she went in—for both of you."

GRAND MA'S COUGH REMEDY is pleasant to take, instantly relieves that tickle in your throat, stops that hacking cough. With the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble buy a bottle of this celebrated Cough Cure and safeguard against that dread disease, Consumption.

Thursday evening little Charley O'Donnell happened to a very serious accident. Mr. with his children and his brother was driving around town in his car. Charley was riding on the running board as he often did. As they turned the corner at The News office he lost his balance and pitched headlong, striking the hard ground some distance from the car. Mr. O'Donnell stopped the machine and picking the unconcious little fellow up brought him into The News office where his head was bathed and Dr. Windham summoned over the phone. By the time the Doctor arrived Charley revived enough so he could tell where he was hurt.

This morning, Friday he was doing as well as could be expected, although not rational all the time.

It was a very narrow escape, and we are to know he is doing so nicely.

His Double Affliction.

In Paris there is a blind man who carries a board bearing this singular sign: "Blind by Birth and by Accident."

"Look here, my good man," said a passerby; "your sign is positively distracting! Can you tell me how you come to be blind by birth and by accident at the same time?"

"Easy enough!" said the old man. "You see, I'm blind by birth myself, and I've bought out a blind man who did business at the other end of the bridge. He was blind by accident!"

Nothing Left to Say.

A lawyer, a very immoral man, was dead. This lawyer was a bad husband, bad father, bad neighbor and generally a bad man morally, though he had been very successful in his profession. For the funeral a new preacher in the town was selected so that he would not know just what kind of man the lawyer had been.

The preacher arrived and asked a man standing by, who was pretty much of a wag, what sort of man the lawyer had been. The wag lauded the lawyer to the skies. The preacher believed all he said, arose and pronounced a poetic eulogy of the departed barrister. When he had heard all he could stand to hear without unburdening himself to some one present, the judge of the court in that town leaned over to a lawyer who sat beside him and remarked:

"Well, there's mighty little inducement for a really good man to die in this town now."

A GREAT SINNER.

Even the Good Deacon Weakened on His Chances For Heaven.

Deacon Broadbent, a very honest and pious man, was conducting a religious revival with great success. In a word, his powerful exhortations had brought Calhoun White, the town's worst sinner, weeping to the mourner's bench. The deacon, gratified by this proof of his evangelical prowess, hastened to Calhoun's side.

"Deacon," sobbed Calhoun, "'tain't no use in mah comin' up. I's sinned away de day o' grace."

"No, yo' hain't, Brudder Cal," said the deacon. "All yo' got to do is to gib up sin an' all will be forgibben."

"I's done gib it up, deacon, but dar hain't no salvation fo' me."

"Yes, dey is, hon. Dey hain't no sin so black but it kin be washed whiter 'n de snow."

"But I done stole fo' young tuckeys last week," said the penitent.

"Dat's all forgibben, Cal."

"An' free de week befo'."

"Dat's forgibben too."

"An' six fat geese"—

"The deacon suddenly frowned and stiffened, while the penitent sinner continued:

—"six fat geese outer yore own yard, deacon—dem fat geese wot you' 'lowed to set so much store by."

"Wot's dat yo' say?" the deacon hissed furiously.

"It wuz me wot stole yo' fat geese, sah."

The deacon rose.

"I reckon, Calhoun," he said slowly. "I reckon I's spoken too hasty. Dis case o' yourn needs advisement. I ain't sho' dat we's justified in clutterin' up de kingdom o' heben wid chicken thieves."

BADLY BURNED.

Mrs. Bryant was badly burned Wednesday by her gasoline stove. She only had it a few days and did not understand it very well. She lighted it to heat a little water and the flames went up so high that she became frightened and attempted to carry the stove out of doors.

When she went through the door the wind blew the flames about her face and shoulders, before she could set the stove down in the yard her clothes had burned off of her arms and shoulders and the front of her sun bonnet was burned off.

Mrs Bryant was fortunate in being burned no worse. She is suffering considerably, though doing as well as could be expected.

This is the first serious accident of the kind that has ever happened in Tahoka.

How to Cook a Coon.

In preparing to cook a coon see that the kernels have been thoroughly cut out of the arm pits, groins and from under the root of the tail after it has been skinned. Coons' kernels are similar to musk glands. The carcass should be hung up in the frost for two or three days to freeze by night and thaw by day until properly tendered and then parboiled and baked. Some use a dressing of bread, sage and onions; others use oysters and crackers; still others use sweet potatoes or persimmons. All use a basting rich in butter, red pepper and vinegar. A coon beyond all other flesh absorbs any other flavor put with him, so sweet herbs are occasionally used. Not too fat nor too lean, he makes a fine repast for a hunter's supper.

How to Pack Blouses.

When carrying several blouses in a suit case place them all on a padded coat hanger so that the width of the blouses will run along the length of the suit case. In this way the creases from folding will not come at the waist line and will not be seen when the blouse is worn. The hanger will be found useful at the journey's end since the blouses will be hung on it during the visit.

The Scrap Book

Not Fit to Be Minister.

When the announcement was made that a certain distinguished citizen had been appointed to join the nation's diplomatic forces and assume an important foreign portfolio, the matter was naturally discussed with a great deal of interest among his acquaintances.

One day the subject came up in a company among which was one old fellow who had known the appointee for upward of forty years.

"What do you say he has been appointed to?" the old fellow asked.

"Why," answered one, "he has been appointed to be minister in one of the largest cities of Europe."

"Well, that's the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of," snorted the friend of the new diplomatist. "He's a nice feller, all right, but he ain't fit to be minister nowhere. Why, durn it, he don't even know the Lord's prayer."

Face the Sun.

Don't hunt after trouble, but look for success.
You'll find what you look for; don't look for distress.
If you see but your shadow, remember, I pray,
That the sun is still shining, but you're in the way.
Don't grumble, don't bluster, don't dream and don't shirk;
Don't think of your worries, but think of your work.
The worries will vanish; the work will be done.
No man sees his shadow who faces the sun.

Sometimes, Tommy.

The title of this dialogue might be "Why Papa Believes in Corporal Punishment."

"Papa?"

"Well?"

"Is there a Christian flea?"

"Why, what on earth ever put that idea in your head?"

"The preacher read it today from the Bible. 'The wicked flee when no man pursueth.'"

"Why, Tommy, that means that the wicked men flee"—

"Then, papa, is there a wicked woman flea?"

"No, no. It means that the wicked flees, runs away."

"Why do they run?"

"Who?"

"The wicked fleas."

"No, no! Don't you see? The wicked man runs away when no man is after him."

"Is there a woman after him?"

"Tommy, go to bed!"
