

Students hear convicts' views on drug abuse

By Bob Nigh
Managing Editor
"I got hooked on drugs as a young teenager, and the habit finally controlled my life. I eventually stole to support my habit, and burglary put me in prison for a five year sentence. The excitement and adventure of experimenting with drugs is not worth the price I am paying today, and I would say to you, 'Stop now and don't sell your very soul for a temporary high or escape that will bring you and your family nothing but grief.'"

That is the basic message of a 19-year-old inmate serving time in the Texas Department of Corrections (TDC) to an assembly of high school students.

Three such inmates brought similar messages to local students Wednesday as part of "Operation Kick It," a program sponsored by the TDC.

The visit was sponsored by Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul's office.

Supervising the inmates during their visit to Hereford were H. Ray Terry, Assistant Administrator of the Community Education Program and Richard L. Joyner, also with the program.

"Operation Kick It" was established through the Governor's Criminal Justice Council in May, 1970. A panel of three to five inmates was formed to travel across the state to tell their life stories in an effort to educate, warn and inform the public, specifically teenagers, about the dangers and consequences involved in the illicit use of drugs. A second panel was formed in 1971 in order to meet the increased demand of bookings.

"Community Education Program (CEP) panels will appear anywhere in the state they are invited," Administrator George Lively said. "We traveled over 50,000 miles during 1975, and averaged five programs a day on our week long tours. During the first quarter of the year, the panelists spoke to over 35,000 young people in 95 appearances, and they will speak to between 100,000 - 125,000 in a full year."

The format for the inmates' visits has been expanded from a formal assembly presentation to include small group or "rap" sessions. Lively feels that the informal sessions have "added a credibility factor to the presentation at the one-to-one level that has proven very valuable in communicating with young people."

Panel members themselves are chosen from the inmate population of the Ferguson Unit, which houses male first offenders between the ages of 17 and 21. Inmates wanting to participate go through an intensive series of interviews with the CEP staff, the unit warden, and the Bureau of Classification. Once chosen for the program (See DRUGS, Page 2)

August inflation rise moderate

WASHINGTON AP - Falling food and gasoline prices held inflation to an annual rate of 3.3 percent in August, the smallest rise in four months, the government said today.

Prices moderated across the board, except for medical care, the only component in the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index that has risen substantially every month this year.

Largely responsible for August's 0.3 percent seasonally adjusted prices and the 0.3 percent falling food costs.

For the first eight months of 1982, consumer prices advanced at an annual rate of 5.1 percent. If that rate held steady for the rest of the year, the overall increase would be the smallest since the 4.8 percent rise in 1976.

Inflation was 8.9 percent in 1981 and 12.4 percent in 1980.

This year's improved inflation forecast is largely the result of the stubborn recession, which has lingered longer than most economists expected.

Today's report said the 0.3 percent decline in food prices was largely the result of lower costs for beef, eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables. Pork and poultry prices rose, while dairy prices were unchanged.

Supermarket food prices overall tumbled 0.6 percent, but prices for meals eaten out of the home and for alcoholic beverages climbed 0.5 percent.

As for gasoline prices, August's 0.1 percent decline represented the first fall

Solons attend Wilson's funeral

LA GRANGE, Texas (AP) - A former business partner of the late state Sen. John Wilson remembered his friend as a man who "believed any goal was obtainable," but lost a valiant two-year battle against lung cancer, about 650 mourners here were told.

Gov. Bill Clements, I., Gov. Bill Hobby and some of Wilson's colleagues in the Legislature were among the overflow crowd Wednesday at the Sacred Heart Catholic church where Wilson's yellow-rose draped coffin sat beneath the vaulted ceiling.

The senator's friend and business partner, Philip Cannon of Houston, was the only eulogist.

"I have had a good life and I'm going to a better one," Cannon quoted Wilson as saying last week in a message he wanted delivered at his funeral. "Just think of me as leaving a little before the rest of you. Maybe I'll set up some duck blinds to be ready when you get here."

Cannon said Wilson recounted his life by saying, "Hasn't this been fun?"

"He believed any goal was obtainable and never hesitated to jump right in," Cannon added.

Wilson, 43, died Sunday night in Houston.

He first disclosed he had inoperable cancer in June of 1980, but said the type of cancer he had usually leaves victims 10 to 15 years to live.

The La Grange democrat was elected assistant presiding officer of the Senate during the recent special legislative session and was re-elected for the interim until the 1983 Legislature begins in January.

"My feelings go so much deeper than just caring about you, and my feelings for this state go so much deeper than just caring about it," Wilson said in a Sept. 7 speech that had his colleagues near tears.

He had to be helped in rising from his wheelchair to take the oath of office as Senate president pro tempore.

He served in the Texas House for eight years before his election to the Senate in 1980.

"I deeply admire the fortitude and perseverance that he displayed in his illness. I have never known anyone who accepted a terminal illness in the grand spirit of faith that he did. He was a great Texan," Clements said earlier.

"I and the whole Senate mourn the passing of one of the most distinguished and beloved senators," Hobby said Monday. "John Wilson's

Filibuster vote set for noon

Helms urged to drop campaign

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Conservatives and liberals alike are pressing Sen. Jesse Helms to call off his tenacious campaign for Senate passage of legislation to put prayer back in public schools.

"It is time to face up to the fact that it (the prayer measure) is not going anywhere," said Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., a Helms' supporter, during Wednesday's debate. "It has been a good fight, a brave fight, but battle is over."

Similarly, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Helms is hurting conservatives by continuing to push his prayer bill.

"I do not believe he has helped the conservative cause a bit," said Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee.

"This is my 48th wedding anniversary," he said. "My wife is mad as hell, but I gotta be here worrying about what Jesse wants to do."

The Senate is now in what Majority Leader Howard Baker termed Wednesday a "legislative gridlock." Another vote on limiting a liberal filibuster against the Helms amendment is scheduled for today.

But after their week-long filibuster, liberals have shown they can defeat efforts to choke off debate, but do not have the votes to kill the Helms' proposal, which would strip the Supreme Court's authority to rule on school prayer cases.

Baker was working today to find a solution, but the political pressures on both sides spilled out in an unusually acrimonious personal outburst on the Senate floor Wednesday between Helms, a North Carolina Republican, and a liberal adversary, Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark.

Bumpers accused Helms of using the prayer fight as ammunition for New Right political fund-raising efforts.

"His presses are running, his letters are going out, he is going to go after all the troglodytes in the Senate who are opposed to school prayer," Bumpers said.

Noting there have been four procedural votes on the prayer question, Bumpers declared, "How many more times do we have to vote on this? ... What further political advantage can there be?"

Helms replied: "I understand the senator from Arkansas is opposed to prayer in schools." Bumpers and other liberals have argued that it is not prayer they oppose, but the stripping of authority to act on the issue from the federal courts.

Helms recalled that Senate Democratic liberals have said the "radical right" has been broken in the Senate's month-long social issues debate, and said he has never attacked the "radical left."

He was referring to a description by Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan, D-N.Y., of Wednesday's vote as "an emphatic and final rejection of the radical right in this chamber."

"I have sat silent in the face of all sorts of abuse directed at the people who want prayer in the schools," Helms said angrily.

There were two votes

Wednesday. In the first, the Senate refused for the third time by a vote of 46-54 to limit the prayer debate. That left Helms six short of the 60 votes required for cloture, the parliamentary term for limiting debate to 100 hours. Another vote was planned today.

Then, Goldwater called for tabling, or setting aside, the prayer bill. That motion failed on a 47-53. Had it been succeeded, the social issues debate would have been over for 1982.

Instead, as Baker said, "What we may have done unintentionally is to create a legislative gridlock"

The prayer proposal is attached to a bill that would extend the federal debt ceiling, thus allowing the government to continue borrowing money. The debt measure must pass Congress before lawmakers leave town early next month for the pre-election campaign season.

After a fourth cloture vote today, Baker indicated he would propose that the debt ceiling bill be stripped of all amendments, including the prayer proposal.

During Wednesday's

debate, Sen. John East, R-N.C., a Helms supporter, said conservatives believe state legislatures and local courts - instead of the Texas woman fitted with artificial nose

HOUSTON (AP) - A Texas woman forced to wear an artificial nose for the past two years after she suffered facial cancer received a permanently attached facial prosthesis last month using a new implantation technique.

"This nose feels like the one I was born with," said Dorothy Verdell Melton, a cancer patient who has extensive facial surgery. "This is fantastic."

Mrs. Melton's new nose is made of silicone and has the look and color of normal tissue. It is attached to Mrs. Melton's face by small gold rings which are anchored inside the nasal cavity.

Dr. Ariyadasa Udagama, an associate professor of dental oncology at the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute here, developed the technique of attaching prosthesis permanently using small gold rings.

He said Wednesday that Mrs. Melton was the first patient to benefit from the technique, but he expects to use it to attach artificial ears and artificial breasts for cancer patients who have lost those features in surgery.

A similar technique, he said, could be used to enable patients to snap false teeth in place.

Mrs. Melton, of Cleveland, said she lost her nose to cancer and has spent the last two years gluing to her face an artificial nose using a special adhesive.

"It really wasn't that bad," she said Wednesday. "It stayed on well and I could always feel it when it started coming loose."

Her new nose, however, is much better, said Mrs. Melton.

The device is in two parts that close at the bridge with an overlapping seam. She can "open" the nose, rather like a clam shell, for cleaning and then close it again with no trace of a seam.

"There's no weight," she said. "It's just there."

Dr. Udagama said permanently-attached prostheses can be "very significant" for the estimated

U. S. intelligence 'simplistic analysis'

WASHINGTON - Some U.S. intelligence assessments on Central America contain rhetoric, exaggerations, and simplistic analysis because spy agencies have tried to tell the Reagan administration what it wants to hear, a congressional report says.

The House Intelligence Committee staff study, released Wednesday, asserted that several recent intelligence estimates and briefings apparently were aimed primarily at bolstering support for the administration's tough line toward Nicaragua and Cuba.

This may signal an unsettling shift toward providing top-level decision-makers with "welcome intelligence" rather than hard, objective analysis, the report said.

It cited problems in the performance of the CIA and other intelligence agencies on questions including Nicaragua's military buildup, outside support for Salvadoran guerrillas, right-wing violence in El Salvador and a crackdown against the Misquito Indians by Nicaragua's Marxist regime.

The staff report noted that "occasional overstatements and inattention to particular evidence do not in themselves constitute a major problem. Rather, they can be symptoms of a more fundamental failure."

"The basic concern is that tendentious rhetoric, including occasional oversimplification and misstatement, can drive out some of the needed collection and analysis," it said.

When asked about the study, CIA spokesman Dale Peterson said, "We have no comment."

Rep. Charles Rose, D-N.C., chairman of the House panel's subcommittee on oversight and evaluation, said in releasing the 47-page study, "It is no secret that our committee labored mightily over the decision to release this staff report."

"Some members believed that we should circulate it only within the intelligence community, as a kind of in-house critique," he said.

Chrysler needs help improving economy

THE WOODLANDS, Texas (AP) - Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lee Iacocca says his company needs help again - but this time all the automaker wants the government to do is improve the nation's economy.

"We've won the battle for survival. Now we're going to win the battle for new customers," Iacocca said Wednesday during a three-day meeting to show off Chrysler's 1983 line of cars.

For the first time in 5½ years, Chrysler has reported profits in consecutive financial quarters, and the automaker can show a profit for the whole year if the economy improves slightly, he said.

"There's a lot of fear out there because there's a lot of uncertainty out there - uncertainty about future interest rates, uncertainty about currency values, and uncertainty about our economic policies," Iacocca said.

"That's why people are driving their cars until they fall apart, and avoiding new purchases of any of the things that keep this economy going," he said.

Chrysler had a net income of $256.8 million in the first half of this year, compared with a loss of $268.8 million a year earlier.

In 1979, Congress agreed to provide federal guarantees for up to $1.5 billion in loans on the condition the ailing automaker win major concessions from its labor unions, suppliers and creditors. Chrysler so far has borrowed $1.2 billion under that agreement, but Iacocca has the rest will not be needed.

He said at Wednesday's news conference that Chrysler now can help the government with its economic problems - by setting a good example.

"It's time for the government to put people back to work. To do that, the (Reagan) administration and the Congress ought to take a leaf out of Chrysler's book, believe it or not."

"They must cut costs and raise revenues," he said. "That's the only way to cut the deficit and get interest rates down."

Baylor students immunized

WACO, Texas (AP) - About 3,500 students were inoculated in a makeshift clinic after a mysterious outbreak of Rubeola measles that apparently remains confined to the Baylor University campus, health officials say.

The highly contagious disease apparently was transmitted during freshman orientation week by a student who went to Honduras this summer on a medical mission, Baylor medical director Cecil Edwards said Wednesday.

Only the case involving that student has been confirmed by laboratory tests, but other students have displayed symptoms of the disease, characterized by high fever and a red, spotty rash.

Asked if the outbreak constitutes an epidemic, Edwards said, "The total work to "protect the jobs of our people," but he still thinks the government should stay out of labor-management negotiations.

Within hours after the decree became law, union officials said they would comply, thus ending a four-day strike that had shut down most of the nation's rail system.

They said they expected most striking engineers to resume work at the beginning of their next shift.

On Wednesday, Reagan signed emergency legislation imposing a settlement on the union and rail industry.

The president's signature came shortly after Congress enacted the joint resolution that mandates an agreement, but leaves for future negotiations the thorny wage differential issue that had prompted the walkout Sunday.

"By far the most important consideration for me is jobs," declared Reagan. "If this strike were prolonged, nearly a million Americans would face a threat of unemployment. We cannot afford such losses."

Security measures will net cuts in insurance

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A 5 percent reduction in homeowner insurance premiums will be available after Oct. 1 for Texans who install security devices such as deadbolts, solid core doors and special locks on windows and garages.

Chairman William Daves Jr. of the State Insurance Board said under a law enacted by the 1981 Legislature, "Only those specific devices named in the law will make the homeowner eligible for the credit."

To get the insurance credit, a homeowner must have a qualified inspector — trained by the Texas Crime Prevention Institute in San Marcos — certify that the property is in compliance with the law.

A credit certificate from the Board of Insurance is valid for three years and will be renewed by the board for an additional three years at the request of the homeowner.

Natural gas well blows in Booker

BOOKER, Texas (AP) — A well erupted and spewed natural gas for several hours near this Panhandle town, but no one was affected by the dangerous fumes and the well was capped later, officials say.

Officials had worried the fumes might touch off an explosion, but no fire was sparked, said Dean Carnes of the Booker fire department.

"If the wind had gotten in the right direction, we might have had to evacuate some people, but that never happened," he said.

The Lipscomb County Sheriff's Department had sealed off the area around the well, about a mile outside Booker, Carnes said.

The well blew about 10 a.m. Wednesday. Crews from Halliburton Corp. capped the well about 7:30 p.m.

Texas Opera awarded challenge grant

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas Opera Theater has been awarded a $175,000 "challenge grant" that will be used to expand the opera company's current program of touring throughout the country, officials say.

The Houston-based company was designated for the award Wednesday by the National Endowment for the Arts.

The grant is a three-for-one match, meaning that the Texas Opera Theater will receive one dollar of the NEA award for every three dollars it raises in private contributions. To get the entire $175,000, the group would have to raise $525,000 for a total of $700,000.

The $175,000 will be meted out over a 3-year period.

Rep. Martin Frost, D-Texas, of Dallas praised the NEA grant.

"From its beginnings, the Texas Opera Theater has concentrated on bringing the opera to all parts of the country and has not restricted its appearances to already established cultural centers," Frost said.

Where's the Yankee trader?

You know how many Americans bought Japanese cars last month? 201,502.

You know how many Japanese bought American cars? 245.

That's two-hundred and forty-five.

What in the world has happened to the Yankee trader! If a litany of numbers tends to put you to sleep, fight the urge for one minute.

In 1960 only 7 percent of America's motorists bought foreign cars; this year 33 percent.

In 1960 American industry bought from foreign countries only 5 percent of its steel; this year more than 19 percent.

Textile imports up from 6 percent to 14 percent plus.

Today 90 percent of all radios sold in the United States were made outside the United States.

For generations we dominated aviation. Today 50 percent of the orders for new airliners are going to Europe's Airbus. And they have a newer jet transport on the way to increasing that takeover.

Last year, while Japan's total exports increased 10 percent ours declined 3 percent.

Increasingly, the United States is shopping abroad for power generating machinery, pharmaceuticals — even computers.

Our nation's merchant marine fleet was the largest in the world in 1950; today it is not even in the top ten.

We're slipping.

American manufacturers plead for mercy, protest that foreign countries are not playing fair that those governments subsidized their industries. That is part of the problem.

But Don Koch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta notes more significant factors.

Japan's per-man-hour productivity has increased over the past four years more than 29 percent; ours barely 4.5 percent.

Japanese people are saving 19 percent of their income. That invested money supplies billion of yen for reinvestment in new plants and new equipment, improved productivity.

Americans are saving barely 8.1 percent of their income.

So the average machine tool in Japan is half the age of the average machine tool in the United States.

While the American aspires to put his money in a new house, the Japanese invests his money in new industry.

Mr. Koch concedes that we would not put Americans in company uniforms, even if we could. And our very individuality can be our salvation if it inspires innovation.

Management, labor and government can no longer afford the luxury of an adversary relationship. Our shared destiny obligates us to pledge must minimize regulatory obstructions. Labor must retard inflation and prime the pump by demanding less and saving more.

And industry's leaders must stop flaunting corporate perks and get off the bench and into the huddle!

Together we can revive the excellence of the Yankee trader — make the market more for less again — together.

As is, selfishly, separately we can drown in red ink.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,
Fall is a beautiful time of the year in the Texas Panhandle, and I wish you could be with me as I walk around our beautiful campus. Flowers of every color are in bloom, a gentle breeze blowing through the trees that will soon be turning to gold. We have had some good rains recently and the laws are thick and green. Residents are out enjoying the warmth of the sunshine and partaking of the beauty around them. As I saw all of this, I remembered it would not be like this if it were not for persons like you who care.

Many of our residents could not afford to live where there was a trained, dedicated, loving caring staff, such as we have at King's Manor. The Founders Association has made it possible in the past and continues today to help pay the care of those who cannot pay the full amount of their care.

This year King's Manor will provide over $150,000 in free care. Your gifts are counted on to make it possible.

The Founders Day Banquet has been set for November 4th at 7 p.m. in the Lamar Memorial Garden Room on campus with Dr. Clifford Trotter, Senior Minister at Polk Street United Methodist Church as speaker.

Tickets are $25 membership fee, which includes the banquet and entertainment and the knowledge that you have helped a "Pioneer of Yesterday" live out their life with dignity in a loving, caring Christian Community.

Sincerely yours,

bill was the right move, but just a first step.

"When Congress passed, and the president signed that tax bill, the stock market soared and the interest rates began to fall. That turnaround should have told the gang in Washington that they were on the right track — that was a signal — but (that) they had to keep going and go farther," he said.

He said the strict monetary constraints the Federal Reserve System have been given plenty of time to work and instead have failed.

"How long can we wait for the monetarist goofballs down there to figure out it doesn't work?" he asked.

He urged Americans to demand that the Reagan administration and Congress "cut out the ideological posturing and establish a bipartisan program to get America back to work."

"If they won't listen," he added, "we do a very simple democratic thing — we throw them out."

The chairman outlined a four-point proposal to cut the nation's deficit in half: cut the defense budget by 5 percent, cut social programs by 5 percent, impose a surtax on imported oil to equal to the difference between the OPEC list price and the world spot

Each of the four moves would garner $15 billion in savings or new revenue, he said, and the gas tax would "prove we're serious about energy conservation."

Grain reported missing

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Department of Agriculture examiners have discovered a 60 percent shortage of grain at warehouses in Granger and Bartlett.

Deputy Commissioner Bobby Champion said Wednesday a temporary restraining order had been issued against Grain Producers, Inc. in Granger and Marek Brothers Gin and Grain in Bartlett.

Champion said a Sept. 17 examination showed approximately 15 million pounds of grain sorghum and 22,000 pounds of wheat are missing from the facilities.

Victor Marek is the owner of Grain Producers Inc., and a partner with Al Marek in the Bartlett facility.

Champion said no grain will be moved out of the facilities until the total shortage can be assessed. Darryl Ketchum, supervisor of the department's grain warehouse regulatory activities, will be stationed at the Granger facility to answer questions from depositors.

Smith said he feels the disease has been contained, but said it will take about two weeks to confirm that.

Wilson was instrumental in the creation of the Texas Public Utility Commission and sponsored the Sunset Act.

which calls for periodic review of state agencies.

During the 1981 Legislature, Wilson almost died during treatment in Houston, yet returned to the Senate three days later to try to pass a "right-to-farm" bill, said Sen. Carl Parker, a Port Arthur Democrat.

"Obviously in pain and discomfort, he stood and offered the 'right-to-farm' bill which passed the Senate unanimously," said Parker. "I believe that to be a true profile in courage, which depicts a man dedicated to public service and to the people who elected this man to the Senate."

"We call these patients 'closet people,'" he said. "They usually live in the closet and are afraid to go out."

The usual solution is silicone and polyurethane features that are glued on. The patient cannot sleep or bathe in these devices and there is always the fear they will slip off in public.

The gold rings solve this problem, he said.

Dr. Udagama said the rings are anchored in tissue under the features. The wound caused by inserting the rings heals completely, closing off to the outside air. This removes the risk of infection and permits prostheses to be firmly, and permanently, attached.

Mortgage interest rates rose 0.6 percent while the costs of homes themselves were up an average of 0.1 percent. Rent gained 0.5 percent, less than the 1 percent increase of July.

A big jump in electricity bills boosted the average home fuel and utility charge by 0.8 percent, more than the 0.5 percent gain of July.

Medical care costs, continuing their trend for the year, rose 0.9 percent last month, slightly less than the 1 percent gain of July. Such costs have risen in the range of 0.7 percent to 1 percent each month since January.

Theft may be civil case

The theft of nearly $50,000 in heavy machinery may turn out to be a civil dispute instead of a criminal case, according to Hereford police.

The equipment, including machinery and electric motors, were taken from Bon Vita Fertilizer sometime Sunday but was not reported missing until Wednesday. Police are still investigating the theft, which they said probably stemmed from a civil dispute concerning

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Today is a big day in my life.

I finished reading, "Warm Bodies In The Yukon." It's a trashy, sleazy novel of passion and raw courage set in the Alaska wilderness that I started reading on a vacation in 1979.

Obviously, I don't read as fast as I used to. It was one of those books that was supposed to make the whole trip. It certainly passed all the requirements I set for such a book:

1. You can take the cover anywhere.
2. There are no words in it over two syllables.
3. You can eat, watch TV, work crossword puzzles and carry on a phone conversation while you're reading it.
4. It will not bruise your chest when it falls on it when you nod off.

"Warm Bodies In The Yukon" was perfect. The saleswoman at the bookstore said it was so stimulating that she couldn't even stop reading it to eat, let alone to sleep.

I started the book on the plane. It began, "Beth peered over the blanket of animal fur with frightened eyes. She had never been with a man before but somehow as Brad Stuart looked at her from across the room of the abandoned cabin, she knew that was about to change."

I dozed off and didn't wake up until the stewardess was telling us to prepare for our landing.

I took "Warm Bodies" with me to the beach, to the beauty shop and to public parks, but never got beyond the first page.

In the spring of 1980, I got it out again and vowed to finish it. Somehow the torrid love scene between Beth and Brad didn't seem to do it for me. Maybe it was the peanut butter that stuck the pages together that brought too much wholesomeness to it.

If you're a reader, you don't want to admit that a book owns you. In the fall of '80, I put it by my bedside and vowed to read 10 pages a night, which I did until Christmas. Unfortunately, it was the same 10 pages. Every night I'd fall asleep over them and forget what I had read and have to start all over again.

This year, I took "Warm Bodies In The Yukon" with me on my vacation again. There would be no more fooling around with it. I would finish the book!

I was within 30 pages of the end when a woman with a floppy hat sat down in a chair next to me, "Oh," she said, "You're reading 'Warm Bodies In The Yukon.'" I nodded. "I loved the ending," she said, "Somehow I never expected Beth to give the baby away and go back to teach school on Long Island after Brad died."

"I take it you've read the book," I said, closing the pages.

"No, just saw the movie."

"elitists" on the Supreme Court — should decide whether prayers are allowed in schools.

Specifically, Helms' proposal would eliminate Supreme Court jurisdiction over any case in which a state legislature or a lower court said it was constitutional for a school board to have prayer voluntarily recited in the classroom.

In 1962, the Supreme Court said such officially sponsored prayer was in violation of the constitutional separation of church and state.

"Turn it back to the states and local level ... let them decide," East said.

Now You're Cookin'

BY LINDA CAUDLE

"Antique collectors are very unique people," laughs Beverly Bryant, who has been collecting antiques with her husband, John David, since they were married ten years ago.

"I used to be a very meticulous housekeeper, and was raised having, you know, maybe one painting centered on a wall. Now I have antiques and souvenirs hanging all over the walls and pieces we've collected scattered throughout the house. I have to love it, otherwise I would be miserable!"

But although Beverly admits she has found that other things, such as spending time with her children, hold more importance than impeccable neatness, she has a talent for arranging and decorating that enhances the beauty of their antique-filled home.

The Bryants have a back room of their house which they call the Country Store, stocked full of antique and novelty items and arranged to look like an old-fashioned country store.

"We are in the process of redecorating the house right now," says Beverly. "I did all the woodwork in the kitchen and bathrooms and am hanging new wallpaper in the entry-way and the bathroom. I want to put up shutters and make some new curtains also."

Beverly recently completed her youngest daughter's bedroom, hanging new wallpaper and making a bedspread, curtains, and accessories in matching fabric. She sews home furnishings such as these besides making some of her children's clothing.

"We redecorated the kitchen first," she says. "I think of the kitchen as the heart of the home and I like it to be warm and comfortable." Beverly's country kitchen is casual and fun to congregate in.

Right now she is looking for some high-backed cane chairs to go around her dining table, which was purchased at an antique shop. "I'd like to make needlepoint seats for the chairs," notes Beverly, revealing another of her hobbies.

Beverly is not working outside of her home at the present time, although in the past she taught sixth graders at Shirley Elementary School. "Members of the last class I taught are seniors this year," she smiles, saying that it has been fun watching them grow up.

Beverly graduated from West Texas State University, completing her degree after she and John David were married. He also earned a bachelor's and master's in accounting there, after attending Texas Tech University on a football scholarship. He later received a master's in banking at Southern Methodist University and a real estate license from WTSU.

John David is an insurance salesman at Lone Star Agency. He had previously been vice-president of First National Bank here. He was raised in Hereford.

Beverly is from Canyon. Her brother is well-known artist R. Russell Brown, who owns the Crazy Kraft Arts and Crafts Shop in Canyon.

John David and Beverly have three children. Brooke, who is 5 years old, attends St. Anthony's School; Brack is 4 years old; and Brynne is 19 months old. Brooke has taken gymnastics for two years and Brack has recently started lessons.

"I enjoy staying home with my kids," smiles Beverly, "and it seems like I've always got a million things going and not enough hours in a day, what with wiping a nose here and kissing a sore thumb there."

She is a charter member of Hereford Chamber Singers, and has enjoyed being involved in this group the past eight years. She was privileged to travel to Romania with the Chamber Singers several years ago.

Beverly is also a member of La Madre Mia Study Club, which sponsors a home tour each December.

The Bryants are members of First United Methodist Church, where Beverly sings in the choir and will be in charge of the meal at the annual bazaar this year. She attends several Bible studies.

As part of their interest in antiques, John David and Beverly are members of the Cola Clan, which boasts approximately 3,000 members. They attend an annual Coca Cola Convention, held the first week in August every year.

"This is our vacation each summer," says Beverly. The conventions are family-oriented. Last year they had a circus night and I made clown suits for the whole family. The kids won blue ribbons and really had a lot of fun.

"People from all over bring things to sell; or like us, they come to look and buy. They spread their wares out in their rooms and open the doors for everyone to browse around. Then there is an auction and swap meet."

"These conventions have been held in some very interesting places. We've been to Houston, Los Angeles, Kansas City, and other places and to Nashville this past August."

"Next year we are looking forward to driving up the East Coast, as the convention will be held in Washington D.C."

"We have met so many special people through our interest in antiques," comments Beverly, "and we look forward to seeing them each year at events such as the Coca Cola Convention. Rarely does a week go by that John David doesn't get a call from someone about a certain item; someone wanting to buy or sell an antique or Coke souvenir."

"John David knows where everything is from and there is a story behind each piece that we have," she continues. "It is so interesting and we really enjoy our antiques."

"There is so much personality and history in each item. For instance, I have a collection of antique rolling pins and I've often wondered how many biscuits and pie crusts have been rolled out with a particular rolling pin, who owned it, and what they were like."

Beverly and John David each have smaller collections such as her Precious Moments and egg collections, and his antique coffee grinders (some of which have been on display at The Deli).

Beside a well-preserved jukebox and an old Hereford barber's chair, stands a large barber's pole which the couple found in New York City and waited a couple years before they could move it to Hereford. They also enjoy collecting art and like to refinish furniture.

Beverly enjoys cooking and likes to entertain, although she says they haven't done as much lately since the children are so small.

"I like to let the children help me cook," says Beverly. "There's hardly a meal that at least one of them isn't helping or at least sitting in the cabinet watching. I want them all to learn how to cook."

The Fiesta recipe below does not have amounts listed since it can be easily varied for any number of people. "This is fantastic!" says Beverly. "It sounds odd but it really is great. Everyone stacks their own. And don't leave anything out!"

"The Poppy Seed Cake was something I grew up on," notes Beverly. "It is one of my mother's recipes, and the Sweet Petals recipe makes a delicious coffee cake."

FIESTA
Fritos corn chips, crushed cooked rice
chili sauce
grated cheese
chopped lettuce
chopped tomatoes chopped onions
sliced stuffed olives
chopped pecans
coconut
meat sauce

MEAT SAUCE
3 lb. hamburger meat
3 onions chopped
1 Tbsp. chili powder
garlic button or garlic salt
2 cans tomato sauce
2 cans tomato puree
1 large can kidney beans

Brown meat and onions; add other ingredients and simmer until done. Put out other items and let each person stack his own "fiesta"

SWEET PETALS

Soften 1 packet dry yeast (or 1 cake compressed yeast) in ¼ cup warm water.

Combine ¾ cup hot scalded milk, 3 Tablespoons Crisco, 2 Tablespoons sugar, and 1½ teaspoons salt. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in the softened yeast.

Add gradually: 2½ to 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour to form a stiff dough. Knead on floured surface until smooth and satiny, 3 to 5 minutes. Place in greased bowl and cover.

Let rise in warm place (85 to 90 degrees) until light and doubled in size, about 1 hour.

Place a 14-inch sheet of "quilted" heavy duty foil on baking sheet. Grease; turn up edges to form a 12-inch round pan. Pinch off small piece of dough, enough to roll into a 6-inch strip, ½ inch thick. Dip in melted butter (½ cup in all) then in cinnamon-sugar topping (see below).

Wind into a flat coil in center of pan. Continue making strips, placing them close together to make a round flat coffee cake. Cover.

Let rise in warm place until doubled in size 45 to 60 minutes. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes until golden brown. Cool slightly.

Drizzle with a glaze of ½ cup sifted confectioner's sugar and 1 to 2 teaspoons milk.

CINNAMON-SUGAR TOPPING

Combine ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, and ¾ cup chopped nuts.

POPPY SEED POUND CAKE

1 Tbsp. poppy seed
½ cup boiling water
1 cup shortening
3 cups sugar
6 eggs

Pour boiling water over poppy seeds and let stand. Cream together shortening and sugar. Add six eggs, one at a time, to creamed mixture, beating well after each.

Add:
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 tsp. butter extract
1 tsp. almond extract

Add alternately: 3 cups flour and 1 cup buttermilk (to which ¼ teaspoon soda has been added).

Drain poppy seeds, add to mixture and mix well. Bake at 325 degrees for 1¼ hours or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

Mike Moon presents program on stress

Members of Toujour Amis Study Club met in regular session Tuesday evening in the home of Charlotte Tyler. Co-hostesses were Rhonda Long and Debbie Donaldson.

Mike Moon of Family Services Center presented an adjective checklist to members. The checklist will be computer evaluated and an individual summary will be returned and discussed at a later meeting.

He then led a discussion on stress.

Refreshments of chocolate eclairs were served to those present. They included Karen Keeling, Cindy Black, Marilyn Leasure, Susan Sublett, Susan Perrin, Diana White, Teri Morgan, Pam Perrin, Shannon Hagar.

Others, Beverley Lambert, Sharon Hodges, Nena Veazey, Cori Hall and Nanette Ashby.

Marriage enrichment film series to begin

The Brecheen-Faulkner Marriage Enrichment Film Series will be presented at the Central Church of Christ, Sunset and Plains Streets, on Sunday evenings, Sept. 26 through Nov. 14.

A shortened evening service will be held at 6 p.m. Each is a Bible-centered film, 45 minutes in length, dealing with the problems and satisfactions of marriage.

The Brecheen-Faulkner film series was instituted as a divorce preventive, but is also designed as an enrichment for stable marriages. Its main thrust lies in strengthening marriages to withstand the divisive pressures of modern society.

The eight films, to be presented in sequence on successive Sunday evenings, are "Made for Each Other," "The Trouble With Us Is Me," "What Husbands Need to Know," "What Wives Need to Know," "How to Kill Communication," "The Communication Lifeline," "Speaking Frankly About Sex," and "Renewing Romance in Marriage."

Brecheen and Faulkner are both professors at Abilene Christian University, Abilene Texas.

Dr. Carl Brecheen holds a D.R.E. degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and has taught courses on family relations for 19 years on the university level.

Dr. Paul Faulkner has an Ed. D. degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. He also has completed advanced work at the American Institute of Family Relations and is director of the Institute of Family Services in Abilene.

He is a clinical member and approved supervisor of the American Association of Marriage and Family Therapy, and a member of the Christian Association.

The public is cordially invited to attend each session. There is no charge or obligation.

It's a lot cheaper than a truck grain hauler...

grain handler...

Great helper!

Cut the cost of every trip between turnrow and elevator

You see here a more economical way to haul grain to elevator or storage. It's the J&M 450-bushel gravity wagon mated with a husky 14-ton running gear. This big wagon tows easily behind a pick-up, a tractor, or another truck. (Think of hauling nearly twice the load behind just one engine!) If there's a long wait at the elevator, the J&M wagon can stay there and free the towing vehicle for other work. Think of the trips you'll save. Think of the time you'll save. J&M wagons give you big, useful hauling capacity for a lot less investment in rolling stock.

Center dump model also available in 300-bushel capacity. Side dump models; 250-, 300-, 350-bushel capacities. Hydraulic Augers optional on side-dump models. Great for serving grain drills. Check 'em out now.

Ask about J&M wagons where you buy equipment.

Visit Monterey Friday

Herd seeks 17th straight regular season win

By Les Giles
SPORTS EDITOR

In evaluating Friday night's key District 3-5A matchup featuring unbeaten Hereford and Lubbock Monterey, set for 7:30 p.m. in Lowrey Field, Herd head coach Don Cumpton was somewhat apprehensive, to say the least.

"Over the years, if we have gotten to the playoffs, we've had to beat Monterey," he noted.

But, while the playoffs are still a long way off this season (the district campaign is only in its third week), Friday's meeting in Lubbock nevertheless takes on significant value.

At stake could be sole possession of first place in the district standings.

But, for that to happen, Palo Duro must upset pre-season title favorite Plainview, and according to this week's Harris Rating System Poll, the Dons are 20-point underdogs.

Monterey comes into the game 2-0 in league play, while Hereford and Plainview are a half-game back at 1-0.

Statistically, the game shapes up as a battle of Hereford's high-powered offense against Monterey's stingy defense.

Hereford's 35 points a game and 415 yards per outing total offense rank No. 1 in the league. Monterey, meanwhile, has allowed the fewest points (16 in three games), while ranking third in total defense.

Ironically, Hereford's defense ranks second in the district, but that could be a bit misleading in view of the first three opponents (Pampa, Canyon and Lubbock).

Of Hereford's first three foes, none has won yet this season. Monterey's first three opponents (Midland High,

The Hereford Brand Sports

Amarillo and Coronado) have appeared stronger.

"I know one thing," Hereford head coach Don Cumpton said, "this will be the first real test our offense has had this season."

"Monterey will be the first defensive team we've played so far.

"They have good size, and pretty good quickness. And, they like to swarm all over you."

Offensively, the Plainsmen haven't been bad this season, averaging 260 yards and nearly 20 points per outing.

However, Monterey likely hasn't played anyone this season with the offensive firepower Hereford possesses.

The Herd, while rolling up 977 rushing yards, features a trio of outstanding runners — tailback Alfred Ball, fullback Raymond Martinez, and quarterback Charles McDowell.

The trio has averaged 9.3 yards every time they've ran the ball. And, McDowell has thrown for 230 yards to boot.

Plainsmen tailback Jay Douglas has gained nearly half of his team's rushing yards, accounting for 217 on 36 carries.

Quarterback David Hagood has completed 14 of 36 passes for 282 yards.

"I think the key for us, offensively," Cumpton added,

"will be to make substantial yardage on first down plays.

"We can't afford to come up with second and third down, needing six and seven yards, consistently.

"I think, to be effective against their defense, we are going to have to have a lot of second-and-three, and third-and-one type situations.

"From a defensive standpoint, we must do a good job containing their tailback and fullback.

"Douglas is a good running back, and their fullback (Gary Warren) weighs over 230 pounds.

"Offensively, we've looked pretty good so far," Cumpton added.

"I realize what the strength of our position has been, too, but we've played our reserves quite a bit.

"I still think the real key for us will be how well the defense comes along. So far, we haven't been tested that much there, either.

NCAA games on Sunday are possible

MISSION, Kan. (AP) — Regular scheduling of college football on Sundays is a possibility if the National Football League player strike continues and there are no NFL games, a National Collegiate Athletic Association official said Wednesday.

"We have had discussions with all three networks — ABC, CBS and Turner (WTBS)," said Tom Hansen, assistant executive director of the NCAA. "But the events of the last week had brought all discussions to a halt, for obvious reasons."

Hansen said the NCAA could now take a better look at Sunday football, following the NCAA's receipt Wednesday of a stay of an earlier decision that invalidated the its football television contracts with ABC, CBS and WTBS.

Hansen said before networks could receive permission to move games from Saturday to Sunday, the 3-member NCAA Football Television Committee would have to discuss the proposal.

If more televised games were requested by the networks, Hansen said approval from the 22-member NCAA Council would be necessary.

Hereford Whiteface Stats (after 3 games)

RUSHING — Ball, 41-311; Martinez, 26-215; McDowell, 13-192; Terry 18-89; Phibbs, 10-66; Jimenez, 10-66; Scott, 7-37; Stengel, 5-24; R. Collier, 2-13; Villareal, 2-2; Rodriguez, 1-1; Abalos, 2-minus 6; Ramirez, 1-minus 7; Streun, 7-minus 16.

PASSING — McDowell, 10 of 19, 236 yds., 2 TD, 0 Int.; Scott, 3 of 5, 24 yds., 1 TD, 0 Int.; Streun, 1 of 6, 11 yds., 0 TD, 1 Int.; Abalos, 0-1.

RECEIVING — Taylor, 4-114; Beard, 3-84; Phibbs 3-44; Walterscheid, 2-14; Ball, 1-10; Jones, 1-7.

KICKOFF RETURNS — Ball, 4-73.

PUNT RETURNS — Phibbs, 8-74.

INTERCEPTIONS — McDowell 2, Ritchie 1, Hodge, 1, Ramirez, 1, R. Collier 1.

PUNTS — McDowell, 5-34.2 avg.

SCORING — Ball, 36; Martinez, 26; McDowell, 12; Taylor, 12; Beard, 6; Phibbs, 6; Hodge, 6; Terry, 2; Salinas, 1.

"But I look for that to change against Monterey." In 12 previous meetings, Monterey has won eight times. Hereford, however, has won the last two meetings, by scores of 15-14, and 41-7.

One interesting not about the series is the fact that everytime Hereford has advanced to the playoffs (as a member of the larger classification) it has defeated Monterey, with the exception of 1980.

Hereford's four wins in the series have come in 1971 (12-9), 1973 (26-10), 1980 and '81.

In other games this week involving 3-5A teams, Palo Duro is at Plainview and Coronado visits Caprock Friday. Saturday, Amarillo takes on Tascosa at 2 p.m.

CFL games Sunday

NBC football heads North

By LARRY SIDONS AP Sports Writer

Dick Enberg had planned to be close to home in sunny San Diego this Sunday. Then the National Football League Players Association acted to change his schedule, and instead, NBC's No.1 football announcer will be doing play-by-play from the Great White North.

"As a southern California thimble, it's with some trepidation that I'm making the trip for a home game of any team called the Eskimos," said Enberg, who with color analyst Merlin Olsen will do one of two Canadian Football League games in the network's timeslot usually filled by the strike-bound NFL.

Enberg and Olsen have the second game of the doubleheader, the Edmonton Eskimos hosting the Calgary Stampeders, beginning at 4 p.m. EDT. At 1:30 p.m., Don Criqui and John Brodie will handle the British Columbia Lions-Toronto Argonauts game from Toronto.

The NFLPA strike, which began Tuesday, is just one more snakebite for NBC, Enberg said. He noted that NBC lost the 1980 Olympics when the United States boycotted the Moscow Games, and that the American Conference, the network's "home team" in the NFL, had slipped in recent seasons in competition against the National Conference.

"This year, Pittsburgh (an AFC team) has started well, and people are enthused about the Raiders and Marcus Allen," he continued. "And now, the strike. It wrecked momentum for everybody."

CBS, which does NFC games, will fill Sunday afternoon with a four-hour "NFL Today," featuring reports on the strike and an edited tape of the San Francisco 49ers victory over the Cincinnati Bengals in last January's Super Bowl.

ABC is airing "The Outlaw Josie Wales" in place of the Cincinnati Bengals-Cleveland Browns game Monday night.

Tonight, that network has another movie, "The Cheap Detective," as a replacement for the Atlanta Falcons-Kansas City Chiefs contest. Enberg and Olsen had been slated for the Los Angeles Raiders-San Diego Chargers game Sunday. Then the NFLPA went on strike, and NBC switched to the CFL.

"I grew up in Michigan and so saw some of the Canadian telecasts, but it's been 15 years since I've seen a CFL game," Enberg said Wednesday. "We don't have any tapes to look at, but we're get-

Yanks' Winfield superb despite team's performance

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

Should Boss George Steinbrenner feel constrained to make a public apology for the miserable performance of the New York Yankees this year — as he did after the 1981 World Series — he will have to attach an asterisk to his $24 million man, Dave Winfield.

Winfield can't be included. This superb, long-legged, fence-rattling outfielder doesn't have to apologize to anybody for anything — especially to his impulsive employer who downgraded his talents earlier in the season.

If there has been one shining light in the 1982 performance of the morale-shaken, injury-plagued, disorganized Yankees it belongs to this 6-foot-6, 220-pound fugitive from the National League who has been blasting home runs at a Babe Ruth or Hank Aaron pace, climbing fences for spectacular catches, running bases like an antelope and snuffing out rallies with rifle throws from left field.

"He has been playing his guts out," says Manager Clyde King.

"One of the best athletes I've ever seen — maybe the best all-around athletes in the game," says first base coach Mike Ferraro.

"If he had a loft on his hits instead of those rifle shots, he might do in certain situations. We have the rulebook, the media guides and the rosters.

"It's like studying a new language."

Canadian football has basic differences from the American version. There are only three downs, for instance, and the field is longer and wider, and strategy usually calls for big plays on offense. So Olsen, Brodie and other former NFL stars-turned-broadcasters won't have that built-in sense about what a coach or quarterback might do in certain situations. "Merlin and I will both be in the dark about a lot of that," Enberg said, "but we've added Mike Hafner as a sideline announcer. He played in the CFL and will help us on strategy and plays."

In addition, NBC is putting Don Siler, a veteran CFL announcer, in the booth with Enberg and Olsen, and is dickering with Baltimore Colts Coach Frank Kush, a former CFL coach, to sit in with Criqui and Brodie in Toronto.

would hit a million home runs," adds Yogi Berra, another coach who managed both the Yankees and Mets.

"He's got power that you can't believe."

During baseball's September stretch run, when the Yankees lost nine games in a row and dropped three games below the .500 mark, Winfield has been playing like a champion.

On the road trip just prior to returning to Yankee Stadium this week, the beanpole outfielder had hit three home runs in his last five games, 10 in his last 17 games and 17 in his last 33. He had 10 homers in the month of September, moving into contention with Milwaukee's Gorman Thomas and California's Reggie Jackson for the American League home run crown.

Through Tuesday's games, Thomas led with 38, followed by Winfield's 36 and Jackson's 35. Whoever thought Winfield would beat out Reggie in homers?

He boosted his runs batted in total to 105, having four four-RBI games during the recent streak.

"It looked like we weren't getting any runs, so I decided to try going for the fences," Winfield said. "Normally, I'm a line drive hitter, but this was a special case.

"I can't say I haven't liked it. But it's not my thing. I've always been a percentage hitter and I don't intend to change. But I'd like to try it for a year — maybe next year — just to see what I can do."

Winfield may be given the green light for this endeavor since Steinbrenner is talking about bringing in the left centerfield fence, an area known as "Death Valley" because of its 430-foot depth. It is an anathema for right-handed hitters, although Joe DiMaggio seemed to manage.

In AL West

Angels lead by 3

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The California Angels smashed an American League attendance record and possibly the Kansas City Royals' pennant hopes in one fell swoop.

"All I know is that the whole world just saw an 8½-inning doubleheader," said California Manager Gene Mauch following his Angels' 8-5 triumph over the Royals Wednesday night. "That (win) was the difference between three games and one game."

His reference was to his team's three-game lead over the fading Royals in the AL West following a sweep of their three-game series in Anaheim. The teams began their big showdown three days ago tied for first. Both have 10 games left to play, including three against each other at Kansas City next week.

The game was watched by 51,273, swelling the Angels' season attendance to a league-record 2,672,377. It broke the old AL mark of 2,627,417, set by the New York Yankees in 1980.

Elsewhere in the AL, the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Boston Red Sox 3-1 to improve their lead in the East to 2½ games over the Baltimore Orioles, whose game with Detroit was rained out. Also, Toronto edged Minnesota 3-2 in 10 innings, Cleveland defeated New York 5-0 in a game called after seven innings by rain, Oakland stopped Texas 5-3 and Seattle whipped Chicago 8-4.

Brewers 3, Red Sox 1
Mike Caldwell pitched a four-hitter and Ben Oglivie drove in two runs with a homer and double to lead Milwaukee over Boston. Caldwell, 17-11, walked one and struck out three as he won his 10th game in his last 11 decisions.

Oglivie homered off Brian Denman, 2-3, leading off the second for a 1-0 Brewer lead. The Brewers made it 2-0 in the third on an RBI groundout by Ted Simmons before Dave Stapleton lined the fifth for a homer leading off the fifth for Boston. Oglivie's double drove in an insurance run for Milwaukee in the eighth.

Blue Jays 3, Twins 2
Damaso Garcia, the fourth Toronto batter to walk in the 10th inning, forced home the winning run as the Blue Jays beat Minnesota.

Indians 5, Yankees 0
Rick Sutcliffe and Ed Glynn combined on a two-hitter and Mike Hargrove scored three runs and cracked three hits, including an RBI single, as Cleveland blanked New York.

Sutcliffe, 14-6, extended his scoreless-innings streak to 24 and lowered his earned run average to 2.85, best among AL starters, in winning for his third straight game. He went six innings and yielded just two singles, both to Willie Randolph, before being removed with tightness in his right arm. Glynn pitched the final inning and picked up his third save.

A's 5, Rangers 3
Right-hander Steve Baker posted his first major-league victory in more than three years, leading Oakland over Texas.

Baker, who last won as a member of the Detroit Tigers in 1979, was lifted after Wayne Tolleson and Mike Richardt followed Capra's homer with singles. Dave Beard relieved and finished up to register his 10th save after giving up a sacrifice fly to Peter O'Brien and RBI double to Bill Stein.

Mariners 8, White Sox 4
Bruce Bochte, Manny Castillo and Todd Cruz belted homers, leading Seattle past Chicago.

Right-hander Bob Stoddard, 3-1, and reliever Ed Vande Berg benefitted from three double plays. Vande Berg, gaining his fifth save in his 73rd game, tied the American League record for most appearances by a rookie set by Doug Corbett of Minnesota in 1980.

Braves' losing streak continues

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

With 12 winning streaks and eight losing streaks of three games or more this season, the Atlanta Braves have had to learn not to get too high during a hot streak or too low after a string of losses.

Now it's their turn to keep a stiff upper lip after losing 3-2 to Houston Wednesday night, the Braves' sixth straight loss to the Astros in the last 10 days.

The Braves remained three games behind first-place Los Angeles in the National League West after the Dodgers fell 2-1 to San Diego in 10 innings. In other NL games, St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 2-1, Montreal routed Philadelphia 11-4, San Francisco blanked Cincinnati 2-0 and New York beat Chicago 5-2.

The Astros, who lost to Atlanta six times while the Braves were winning their first 13 games of the season, got key performances from two players struggling to make up for disappointing seasons.

Padres 2, Dodgers 1
San Diego kept Los Angeles from extending its lead in the West as Alan Wiggins' one-out single to center field in the 10th inning knocked in the winning run.

Joe Pittman led off the 10th with a single off Tom Niedenfuer, 3-3, and was sacrificed to second by Broderick Perkins.

Cardinals 2, Pirates 1

Tommy Herr's RBI single with one out in the eighth inning boosted St. Louis past Pittsburgh and gave the Cardinals a 5½-game lead over Philadelphia in the East. Any combination of six St. Louis victories and Phillies losses would give the Cardinals the division title.

Expos 11, Phillies 4
Chris Speier drove in a team-record eight runs with a bases-loaded triple, a three-run homer and a two-run single as Montreal dampened Philadelphia's pennant hopes.

Giants 2, Reds 0
Rene Martin and Al Holland combined to shut out Cincinnati on two hits, while Milt May and Johnnie LeMaster had run-scoring singles for San Francisco.

Mets 5, Cubs 2
Ron Gardenhire collected three hits and drove in a run, Brian Giles homered and Scott Holman earned his first major-league victory as New York broke Chicago's six-game winning streak.

Herd hoping to snap volleyball losing streak

Hereford's volleyball team will try to snap a four-game district losing streak tonight when it travels to Lubbock to take on Coronado.

The Herd hasn't won since defeating Lubbock High Aug. 31 in its 3-5A opener. Since then it has lost district matches to Monterey, Palo Duro, Caprock and Amarillo High. A win tonight would move Hereford into a tie with Coronado, which begins, play 2-3 in district action. Hereford is 3-12 overall, while Coronado stands 9-7.

Caprock currently leads the 3-5A race with a 6-0 record. Tascosa is a game back at 5-1, while AHS is 4-1. Tonight's junior varsity match is slated to begin at 6:30, with the varsity clash following.

Next week, Hereford hosts Tascosa Tuesday and Lubbock High Thursday.

Briefly speaking

FOOTBALL
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League today called off Thursday night's Atlanta Falcons-Kansas City Chiefs game, the first one to be affected by the players union strike. The league did not say whether it was a postponement or a cancellation.

GENERAL
DENVER (AP) — A three-judge panel granted a stay requested by the National Collegiate Athletic Association of a lower court ruling which strips the NCAA of its control over the televising of college football.

BASEBALL
ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The California Angels broke the American League single-season attendance mark when a crowd of 51,273 turned out to watch their game against the Kansas City Royals, bringing their total this season to 2,672,377.

The old record of 2,627,417 was set in 1980 by the New York Yankees.

TENNIS
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John McEnroe dumped Morris Strode 6-1, 6-2 to advance in the $250,000 Transamerica Open Tennis Championships in earlier matches, Jimmy Arias downed Chip Hooper 6-7, 6-3, 6-4; Sandy Mayer beat Jeff Borowiak, 7-5, 4-6, 7-6; Brian Teacher defeated Roscoe Tanner 6-3, 7-5 and Eliot Teltscher beat Mike Cahill 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Top-seeded American Vitas Gerulaitis topped Italy's Adriano Panatta 6-4, 2-6, 6-1 in the final first-round match of the $75,000 Martini Open tennis tournament.

The Newspaper BIBLE

DO THE JEWS HAVE A RIGHT TO ISRAEL?

The Lord God of Israel says, Write down for the record all that I have said to you. For the time is coming when I will restore the fortunes of My people, Israel and Judah, and I will bring them home to this land that I gave to their fathers; they shall possess it and live here again. (Jeremiah 30:1-3)

But there will come a glorious day, says the Lord, when the whole topic of conversation will be that God is bringing His people home from the countries of the north, where He sent them as slaves for punishment. You will look back no longer to the time I brought you out from slavery in Egypt. That mighty miracle will scarcely be mentioned any more. Yes, I will bring you back again, says the Lord, to this same land I gave your fathers. (Jeremiah 16:14-15)

I will strengthen Judah, yes, and Israel too; I will reestablish them because I love them. It will be as though I had never cast them all away, for I, the Lord their God, will hear their cries.

Though I have scattered them like seeds upon the nations, still they will remember Me and return again to God; with all their children, they will come home again to Israel. I will bring them back from Egypt and Assyria, and resettle them in Israel, in Gilead and Lebanon; there will scarcely be room for all of them! (Zechariah 10:6, 9-10)

4-H'ers achieve recognition

Crystal Finley

Robin Conkwright and Crystal Finley recently achieved state recognition for their 4-H Record Books. Robin received second place in the area of health and Crystal placed fourth in range management.

Robin is the 15-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Conkwright. She is an active member in 4-H Teen Leaders, Ford 4-H Club, and the Clothing, and Foods and Nutrition Clubs. Robin has been a member of 4-H for six years and is a sophomore at Hereford High School.

Health has been Robin's main project in 4-H for several years. She has done work in the areas of CPR, first aid, safety, teenage stress and much more.

Cystal Finley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Finley. She is a high school junior and is 16 years old. Cystal is a member of 4-H Teen Leaders, the Clothing, Foods and Nutrition, and Showmanship project clubs.

Crystal has done well in "grass judging" contests and completed her record book in range management. It is only one of her many projects. Her 4-H years number seven and she's still working!

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Ceramics Exhibit

Lavon Leon will be showing ceramics at the Country Bazaar, scheduled from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday at Sugarland Mall. Forty-seven artists and craftsmen from Hereford as well as across the Panhandle and New Mexico are expected to participate in this annual event.

Country Bazaar scheduled Saturday at Sugarland Mall

The fourth annual Country Bazaar, scheduled from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday at Sugarland Mall, will have something for everyone. Artists and craftsmen from across the Panhandle and New Mexico will be participating.

Local exhibitors include Brenda Jones, Jolene Bledsoe, Lavon Leon, Bernina Sewing Center, Edith Hudson, Giles Boone, Emma Noland, Mary Ann Shinofield, Tanya Gauthreaux, Mary Hodges, Vi Lindley, and Tammy Lange.

Barbecue and salads prepared by Savage's Hickory Pit will be available during the show.

Special music service planned Sunday evening

Dan and Rachelle Redd of Amarillo, forming "The Resurrection Sound," will be singing and sharing at 7 p.m. Sunday at Grace Gospel Church, 13th St. and Ave. K.

This husband and wife team has been singing together since they were first married and has been traveling to share the Gospel message in music since 1974.

Many of their weekends are spent traveling to sing throughout the tri-state area of Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma.

Everyone is invited to this special service according to the pastor of Grace Gospel Church, Evelyn Tallant.

Program on Alaska presented to club

Della Stagner, yearbook chairman, introduced guest speakers Mr. and Mrs. Owen Stagner when members of La Aflatus Estudio Club met recently in the home of Treasa Hale. Alyne Johnson served as co-hostess.

The couple's program concerned their trip to Alaska. They told of the beautiful scenery in the 49th state and of the Alaska people.

Club president, Pet Ott, called the meeting to order with all members reading the club collect. Each member answered roll call with a question.

She also welcomed guest Oliver Reddell of Belton and minutes of the club's last meeting were read and approved.

Those present were Mrs. Johnson, Irene Markham, Ms. Ott, Lydia Hopson, Lucille Hughs; Aileen Montgomery, Opal Elliston, Ms. Stagner, Alberta Higgins, Evz Gilliland, Emily Suggs, Mary Williamson and Ms. Hale.

The next meeting was scheduled at 3 p.m. Oct. 5 in the home of Ms. Gilliland with Ms. Williamson serving as co-hostess.

Saccharin should stay available says ACSH

Saccharin should remain available for use in foods, beverages, and drugs, according to a report released by the American Council on Science and Health (ACSH). The Council, an independent scientific organization, analyzed the scientific evidence on saccharin and concluded that it did not indicate that this sweetener, at traditional levels of use, causes cancer or any other disease in human beings.

The ACSH report is an update of a paper on saccharin first published in 1979. The new report includes a discussion of studies on the safety of saccharin reported in the last three years.

The report states, "The most recent epidemiological studies provide further evidence that saccharin is not a cancer-causing agent in man. Three reports published in 1980 conclude that there was no statistical link between artificial sweetener use and bladder cancer in their overall study populations."

ACSH states that the largest of these investigations, conducted by the U.S. National Cancer Institute (NCI), convincingly refutes the male cancer risk suggested by an earlier Canadian study. The NCI study found no association between bladder cancer and artificial sweetener use in its overall groups for males, and involved a vastly larger number of men than the earlier study.

Dr. Elizabeth M. Whelan, Executive Director of ACSH, said, "Saccharin is currently available in the U.S. and will probably remain so at least until 1985. Saccharin's legal fate in the U.S. rests with the Congress, which has kept it on the market by passing and extending a special moratorium on the saccharin ban proposed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA). This bizarre—indeed, unique—situation has occurred only because our current food safety laws are too inflexible to allow FDA to regulate saccharin in a way that would meet consumer needs. The case of saccharin clearly illustrates why the U.S. needs more flexible, up-to-date food safety laws. It should not be necessary for Congress to pass special laws every time a slightly unusual situation crops up regarding a food additive."

The American Council on Science and Health (ACSH) is a non-profit, independent organization promoting scientifically balanced evaluations of food, chemicals, the environment, and human health. ACSH has offices in New York, New Jersey, and Washington, D.C.

Copies of the ACSH report Saccharin are available from ACSH, 47 Maple St., Summit, NJ 07901.

Ann Landers
Bothersome traits

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Anybody who has read your column regularly, as I have, must be keenly aware of the great number of lonely people in the world. I wonder if those people have any idea as to why they are lonely. Several years ago you wrote a column listing character and personality traits that make some people less popular than others. It would be a great service if you ran it again. I lost that column when my wallet was stolen two years ago. Thanks, Annie. - Boris From Bronxville

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A long time ago you printed a few lines about petty people who gossip, as compared to great people who discuss ideas. Please repeat it. I have just taken a job where there is so much trivial garbage passed off as conversation, it is driving me nuts. Thank you. - Binghamton (N.Y.) Hebbie Jeebies.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You receive many letters from people who are lonely. They wonder why. Yesterday a woman I work with complained that no one liked her. I sat down and wrote down 10 personality and character traits that bother me most.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For years my wife has been telling me that she is going to get a cat to keep her company when I travel. Last week she did it. The only problem is the cat is 6 feet, 2 inches and plays the drums with a rock group. What should I do? - Worried In Memphis

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Strangely enough, of the 10 traits, this woman has seven. I hope you will print my list. It might help some of those lonely people see themselves as others see them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In 1976, Elias Sarkis was inaugurated as the sixth president of Lebanon. Ten years ago nearly ten years of martial law began in the Philippines as President Ferdinand Marcos ordered the mass arrest of those he called Communists seeking to overthrow his government.

- (1) A compulsion to show off knowledge.
- (2) Exaggerates so much it is almost the same as lying.
- (3) Moodiness. Warm and friendly one day, cold as ice the next.
- (4) Bossiness. Must run everything.
- (5) Unreliable. Word is no good.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: (6) Chronic complainer and inveterate crepe-hanger. Gloom-and-doomer.
(7) Nosey. Asks a lot of questions that are none of her business.
(8) Gossipy. Knows everything about everybody. Makes me wonder what she is saying behind my back.
(9) Says things in anger then tries to smooth things over with a gift.
(10) Always fishing for compliments but never gives any.
