Five Deep Oil Tests Start In Territory Around Munger Well

By JIMMIE MAXWELL
Record News Oil Editor

Wichitans will know pretty definitely by midsummer whether there is deep oil in commercially paying quantities underlying the territory adjacent to Kemp City in southwest Wichita county.

Within a few days five deep tests will be drilling on all sides of the Deep Oil Development company's No. 1 Munger, the well which has given greatest promise of making Wichita Falls the center of a deep oil producing field.

Drilling of these "wildcats in a proven field," giving employment to a large number of men and drawing more and more attention to the deep oil possibilities of North Texas, are the first tangible results obtained from the campaign launched more than a year ago with the organization of the Deep Oil Development company.

Two Tests Spudded

Should the numerous showings found in the No. 1 Munger be proved by the new tests to be outcroppings of a large pool, Kemp City will flourish again as it did in 1919 and 1920 when scores of wells were drilling and completions in the 1700-foot sands were reported daily.

Two of the tests have already spudded in and crews are rigging up at three other locations. One of the operations will seek oil in the shallow sand but the operators are prepared to continue drilling to the 3800-foot level if the log justifies.

While the new activity gets under way, the No. 1 Munger continues to hold its share of interest. This well is being standardized preparatory to being shot with 400 quarts of nitro-glycerin just below 3800 feet where it has swabbed at the rate of 350 barrels per day. Other oil bearing formations will be shot in this well, the first charge to be set off within the next 10 days. The Munger test is located in block 30, Wichita valley farm lands, north of Kemp City.

Townsite Test

In the Kemp City townsite proper, one-half mile south of the Munger, Jack Martin and associates have spudded in their No. 1 Kemp City, destined to be a 4000-foot test. It is located in block 35, W. V. F. L.

Still farther south and across the line in Archer county, a derrick has arisen over the location for Shappell Oil company's test on the W. P. Ferguson land. Spotted 330 feet south of the north line and 1753 feet west of the east line of block 2, E. Patterson survey, this test is

LONG ASSAILS STERLING, NEFF FOR OIL PLAN

Governor Heeds Dictates Of Humble Company, Says Wichita Man

DEFENDS TERRELL

Commission Impotent To Halt Gas Waste; Bill To Be Discussed

AUSTIN, March 17. (AP)—Speaking on personal privilege on the floor of the house, Representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls today flayed Governor Sterling and Pat M. Neff, railroad commissioner, for their stand on oil and gas conservation.

Governor Sterling was accused of listening to representatives of the Humble Oil company instead of the people, and Neff was charged with playing "petty politics."

"The actions of the Humble Oil and Refining company, Governor Sterling and Pat Neff are reflections on the legislature," Long stated. "I just want to correct a few statements that have been made through the newspapers."

Gast Waste Issue

Neff was charged with having made a political issue of the waste of gas in the Reagan county field and with having caused dissension in the railroad commission from the time of his election.

Defending the actions of C. V. Terrell, chairman of the commission, and Lon A. Smith, the other commissioner, Long asserted they were given an opinion by R. L. Bobbitt, former attorney general, which held the railroad commission had no authority to prevent wastage of gas in the production of oil.

Mentions Humble

Long stated Sterling had not invited the railroad commission to attend the recent oil conferences at Fort Worth and Texarkana, but the governor had gone to Fort Worth with Hines Baker, attorney for the Humble, at his side and had sent Robert R. Penn, chairman of the central proration committee, to Texarkana with Baker at his side.

A few minutes earlier, Governor Sterling's bill to establish an oil and gas conservation commission had been introduced by Representative McDougald of Beaumont, Metcalfe of San Angelo and Johnson of Carrizo Springs.

Hearing Planned

Representative Hardy of Breckenridge said the oil, gas and mining committee of the house would meet Monday to hold a public hearing on the bill by Sterling to create the oil and gas conservation commission. Setting a hearing date on the bill threatened a split in the committee when Hardy indicated he would set the bill for hearing March 25.

This date was opposed by McDougald and others, who claimed it would be discourteous to the governor to set a hearing date so far in advance.

Governor Sterling today had received letters and wires from a number of oil men commending his stand for a conservation commission.

Petitions requesting such a commission were sent in by operators of Archer and Young counties, Wichita Falls, Ranger and other sections. Authors of some of the letters and telegrams said they thought the railroad commission had too many other duties and others stated they believed the commission had shown a "lack of courage."

Cicero I. Murray of Oklahoma City, chairman of the oil states advisory committee, stated he would be here for the proration hearing March 24 "to assist yourself and Mr. Penn in any way I can."

The governor said he did his duty as he saw it, and the question now was up to the legislature and the people.

Jack Pickford Injured In Automobile Crash

BOTH HOUSES CALL INQUIRY OF ROAD BOARD

Probe Will Climax Bitter Fight Between Wentz And Murray

OFFICIALS QUIZZED

Cement Contract of Last Week Stirs Up New Controversy

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 17. (UP)—The two houses of the Oklahoma legislature joined together late today and ordered a general investigation of the highway department.

Activities of the department for the past two years and the alleged letting of a private contract last week for 800,000 barrels of cement were objects of the inquiry which will begin tomorrow.

If charges result from the investigation impeachment proceedings may result.

Commissioners Quizzed

Agreement on the resolution was reached after a special house investigating committee had examined Chairman Sam R. Hawks and Commissioners J. F. McKeel and Lew H. Wentz.

Work of the house committee stopped immediately when the joint resolution was adopted by the house and Chairman D. A. McDougal, Creek county, announced it would be for the joint investigating committee to decide whether testimony taken today would have to be retaken by the joint committee.

The seven representatives named by Speaker Carlon Weaver yesterday will comprise the house committee.

Committeemen Named

Seven senators were named late today for the senate committee. They are Mac Q. Williams, John A. McDonald, Knox Garvin, U. T. Rexroat, W. J. Clark, Republican; Ross Rizley, Republican; and Allen G. Nichols.

With appointment of the general investigating committee the fight between Gov. W. H. Murray and Wentz, millionaire Ponca City oil man, is destined to reach a climax. Wentz, a Republican, is a bitter political foe of the governor who deposed Wentz as chairman of the commission and has sought unsuccessfully to legislate him from office.

Defend Contract

Hawks and McKeel defended their action last week in awarding a contract for 800,000 barrels of cement to the Oklahoma Portland Cement company of Ada. They said they were actuated by desire to start construction work immediately to give employment and to assure the state of advantage of $1,750,000 in federal aid which will be cancelled Sept. 1 if unused.

They testified the contract signed without opening competitive bids was approved by C. E. Swain, federal engineer at the time of the signing, but that Swain withdrew approval the next morning.

Wentz, who protested the letting and precipitated the investigation, said the contract did not contain a clause protecting the state against a decline in cement prices. It was for this reason, Wentz testified, that the federal engineer would not approve the contract.

Prisoner in Missouri Sought by Oklahoma

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 17. (AP)—Efforts were being made today by County Attorney Perry Porter of Miami, Okla., to obtain extradition papers for Roy Bowker Springfield rooming house proprietor, wanted in connection with the robbery Feb. 27 of the First National bank, Quapaw, Okla.

Bowker is in jail here accused of carrying concealed weapons, driving while intoxicated and other offenses. Porter said he hopes to try Bowker together with Bevo Fisk, now in a Miami jail, on a charge of bank robbery.

Amarillo Gas System Bids Due March 31

AMARILLO, Texas, March 17. (AP)—The city of Amarillo will receive bids on March 31 for pipes and fittings for 246 miles of gas mains which will comprise Amarillo's new municipal gas system, it was announced by the city commission tonight.

Although the engineering department had not completed its estimates on total cost of the equipment, Mayor Ernest O. Thompson said the expenditure would be in the neighborhood of a million dollars.

1,000,000 Volt X-Ray Machine Treats Cancer

PASADENA, Calif., March 17. (INS)—That the 1,000,000 volt X-ray tube developed at the California Institute of Technology had already been utilized in the treatment of patients suffering from cancer was revealed here today.

The new tube is so powerful that scientists would not predict what its ultimate service would be to man. It was said to have broadened the possibilities of the X-ray to such an extent that great hopes are expressed for its use in the field of medicine and otherwise.

Husband Faces Trial In Wife's Death Today

ARDMORE, Okla., March 17. (AP)—District Judge Asa Walden today summoned 100 veniremen for service tomorrow in the A. J. Hardy murder trial.

Attorneys for Hardy, former county attorney charged with slaying his wife while on a hunting trip last fall, said today they were ready for trial and anticipated their case would require two days to complete.

Dalhart Man Charged In Assault on Child

DALHART, Texas, March 17. (AP)—Charged with attempted criminal assault on a 6-year-old girl, S. R. Nelson, 40, is held in the Dallam county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Burglars Assured Immunity

Electra Police Afraid They'll Really Find Nitro Thieves

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, March 17.—Seventy quarts of nitroglycerin are missing from the United States torpedo plant here and police are chiefly anxious that the daring burglars get the deadly explosive far enough out of town before something happens. Seventy quarts are more than enough to blow several goodly cities to bits, it was explained, and transportation is a ticklish business even in the hands of experts.

Between 300 and 400 quarts of the nitro was stored in the plant at the time the haul was made, officials reported. The lock on the door had been removed and the wily burglars left neither foot nor finger prints.

Automobiles with special bumpers and especially constructed railroad cars are used in shipping the explosives.

An explosion in the plant several months ago cost the lives of three men and splintered the main store room.

BORAH WARY OF IMPORTER PACT

Oil Shippers Held Breaking Anti-Trust Laws

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—The legality of agreements contemplated to relieve the present grave situation in the oil industry was questioned today by Senator Borah.

The Idaho Republican said the plans, dealing not only with reducing domestic production by compacts between the producing areas, but also with cutting down imports, plainly were in violation of the anti-trust act.

The latter plan has been pushed to completion under administration auspices. Only one big importer has failed to assent to cuts, and it has expressed willingness to cooperate wherever possible.

Federal officials who have been seeking the limitation of imports have stressed the voluntary and informal nature of the negotiations.

They have explained that the companies have not determined to what extent they will make cuts and merely have assured the government they would do the best they could.

A thorough airing of the oil industry's troubles is in prospect before the federal oil conservation board April 9 or 10.

Secretary Wilbur arranged today to have postponed until that time the hearing promised the oil

Repeal of Tennessee Evolution Law Sought

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 17. (AP)—Tennessee's famous anti-evolution law, which brought about the trial of John T. Scopes, a young school teacher, at Dayton in 1925 on charges of teaching things contrary to fundamentalist conceptions of religion, would be repealed under terms of a bill prepared for introductory in the legislature today.

Representative Robert Murray, a 28-year-od attorney of Huntington, is author of the proposed measure to remove the ban against teaching evolution in public schools of Tennessee that are supported wholly or in part by state funds.

Charred Bodies Removed From Missouri Ruins

BAGNELL, Mo., March 17. (UP)—Two bodies, burned beyond recognition were recovered late today from the ruins of a hotel, destroyed by a fire that levelled 19 buildings here yesterday.

The bodies were believed to be those of two women, reported missing. Two men were kpown to have been burned to death.

The fire did damage amounting to $100,000.

? ? QUESTIONABLE ? ? BUT TRUE

UNITED STATES CURRENCY PRACTICALLY WORTHLESS

IN 1864, during the civil war, in this country the price of flour rose to $300 a barrel and shoes sold for $150 a pair. These tremendous jumps in price were attributed, in part, to the great quantities of paper money issued by both the North and the South. After the war, Confederate currency was absolutely worthless. A Classified Want-Ad section in those days was unheard of. Today they are employed for practically every purpose. They are looked upon as a public utility because merchants and individuals are able to advertise commodities which are in constant use at a ridiculously low expense.

TRIO ARRESTED ONE CONVICTED, IN BANK RAIDS

Graham Jury Assesses 15 Years to Suspect In Loving Case

LOOT FOUND HERE

Forestburg Robbery Solved With Questioning Of Wichita Youth

While three new suspects in recent Northwest Texas bank robberies were swept into the net of the law Tuesday, a jury in the 30th district court at Graham dealt a 15-year prison term to a fourth.

New arrests and conviction covering hold-ups of banks at Loving, Jean, and Forestburg followed close on the heels of a 10-year term assessed against Fred Jennings, confessed Loving bandit, Monday.

Developments Tuesday in the clean-up of the bandit gangs included:

A 15-year term for Earl Benson, Menard, who pleaded guilty to holding the gun in the holdup of the Loving State bank in February. Three other men besides Jennings are already under indictment.

Arrest and charging of Lee Lovell, 24-year-old Wichita Falls man, accused of hijacking the bank at Forestburg. Officers recovered $360.20 of the approximately $3,000 taken from the bank.

Arrest in Cleburne of two suspects in the $1,700 burglary of the Jean State bank last Wednesday night. Erwin Spicer, Abilene man, is already under two indictments returned in a special grand jury session Monday. The suspects are being returned to Graham.

LOVELL CHARGED IN MONTAGUE
Special to The Record News.

MONTAGUE, Texas, March 17.—Lee B. Lovell, arrested in Wichita Falls in connection with the Forestburg bank robbery Feb. 20, Tuesday night was charged with robbery with firearms and lodged in the Montague county jail pending action of the grand jury on April 6. Lovell waived preliminary hearing after a statement to County Attorney Temple Yarbrough. No bond has been set.

Lovell was arrested in a city police raid on a Wichita Falls home. After questioning, he led officers to a farm home in Wichita county where $360.20 had been buried under a hen roost. Lovell said part of the $3,000 obtained in the holdup had been spent and stolen and that the remainder had been obtained by his companion. The money was divided into two sacks, Mr. Yarbrough was told, $285 in gold in one division and $75.20 in silver in another.

Officers of the looted bank identified the prisoner after he was brought to Montague by Wichita Falls officers Tuesday afternoon.

SHERIFF GOES AFTER SUSPECTS
Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, March 17.—Sheriff J. B. Foster and a deputy left here Tuesday afternoon for Cleburne where two suspects in the burglary of the Jean State bank last Wednesday are under arrest. One of the two is also wanted in the Loving bank holdup and is under complaint in Fort Worth. Burglars used an acetylene torch to cut a hole in the bank safe, es-

West Texas Towns Push T. & P. N. Claim

WASHINGTON, March 17. (US)—Chambers of commerce and towns along the Texas and Pacific Northern railroad, a subsidiary of the Texas and Pacific, today urged the Interstate Commerce commission to approve application of the carrier to build about 331 miles of new line in Texas.

The towns included Lubbock, Big Spring, Askerly, Lamesa, Brownsfield, Levelland, Littlefield, Dimmitt, Hereford and Vega, all of which said the new trackage would be of great service to them.

Grief for Bridegroom Brings Woman's Suicide

HONOLULU, T. H., March 17. (UP)—Unable to forget the death of her husband in a Chicago grade crossing accident two months ago, Mrs. Marty Durant, 28, widow of Dr. Benjamin Durant, jumped into the Waikiki canal today and drowned.

Mrs. Durant, a former Chicago nurse, arrived here a month ago, trying to forget the tragedy which occurred two weeks after her marriage to Dr. Durant. Three other physicians were killed in the accident, which occurred, Jan. 6.

Kansas City-New York Air Mail Schedule Set

KANSAS CITY, March 17. (UP)—Overnight airmail service from Kansas City to New York will be inaugurated about April 1 by the National Air Transport, it was announced today. The route has scheduled stops at Chicago and Cleveland.

At the same time, the N. A. T. also will inaugurate a 12-hour daytime passenger service between New York and Kansas City.

Rescue Vessel Saves American Explorer And Viking Officers

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 17. (UP)—Rescue ships scoured the ice-clogged reaches of White bay tonight in search for other survivors or victims of the explosion which Sunday night ended the half century of service of the sealing ship Viking, and killed or maimed a portion of the 143 men on board.

Henry J. Sargent, one of three Americans on board, was reported among the survivors miraculously rescued from a death in the icy waters of the north Atlantic late this afternoon. He and two Newfoundland companions among the crew of the Viking were reported picked up by the rescue ship Sagona at 5:30 p. m., floating on a piece of driftwood from the wreck of the sunken ship.

All but 16 of the men of the Viking had been accounted for. The 127 survivors, many maimed or suffering from exposure on the treacherous ice floes, huddled on Horse island, off northeastern Newfoundland, a barren rock haven near the scene of the tragedy. The rescue ships brought doctors, nurses, medical supplies, food and clothing.

All day long the survivors straggled across the rough ice cakes toward shore. By noon 120 had been accounted for. Stragglers continued to arrive or be discovered and brought in during the afternoon and

Two Citizens Committee Candidates Join in Opposition to 'Compromise'

Cone and Corlett Oppose Smaller Bond Issue, While Cox Says Views "Are Well Known By Public"

Two of the three aldermanic candidates put forward by opponents of the water bond issue recently disclaimed Tuesday any part in or sympathy with proposals made before the city council Monday by F. W. Fischer, anti-bond leader, relative to a $450,000 bond issue for water improvements and asserted their agreement with the citizens' committee in favoring adherence "to the general program" formerly advanced.

Fred L. Cone declared that the proposal to order a bond election for a reduced amount, as recommended to the city council, must have been "Mr. Fischer's own personal idea."

"I stand squarely on the position taken by the citizens' commitee in their statement of Tuesday," said Mr. Cone. "That represents my attitude toward the bond question. So far as Mr. Marlow's proposal is concerned, to dispense with the city manager and ask members of the council to act as manager, rotating monthly terms, it is neither feasible nor practical. I am not opposed to the manager form of city government."

Cox Declines Comment

Agreement with the statement given the Daily Times and Record News by W. E. George, general chairman of the citizens' committee, also was expressed by W. B. Corlett. He also declared that while he is not opposed to the manager form of city government, he believes "that the city is paying more now for salary than should be paid to any manager here."

P. B. Cox, the third aldermanic candidate of the organization which defeated the bond issue last Saturday, declined to express any definite opinions in the matter other than to state that "he is a member of the citizens' committee, and has been throughout the campaign on the water bond issue."

"My views on the water bond proposition, and on the city administration, are well known," Mr. Cox said. "The Record News knows what my attitude is, and so do the people of Wichita Falls. I don't care to make any statement any

Missouri Treasurer Charged by House

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 17. (UP)—Nine charges of misuse of office and negligence of duty were voted late today against Larry Brunk, Missouri treasurer, by the state house of representatives.

The vote was 118 to 17. Voting of the charges makes it necessary for Brunk to appear before the senate and stand trial. He probably will be tried within the next two weeks.

Brunk specifically was charged with diverting state funds to his own account in the Aurora, Mo., bank and falsifying accounts.

Texas Wife Cleared In Death of Husband

ABILENE, Texas, March 17. (AP)—Mrs. Virginia Pigg was formally "no-billed" by the grand jury of the 104th district court here today in the shooting to death of her husband, M. L. Pigg, here March 8.

The grand jury's decision was unanimous that the evidence was "wholly insufficient to justify us in returning a bill of indictment."

The young widow said that her husband first threatened her with death and then attacked her while he was under the influence of liquor.

TEXAN KILLED IN LIQUOR RAID

Deputy Sheriff Shoots Farmer at Teague

TEAGUE, Texas, March 17. (AP)—W. J. Fagin, 74, was shot and killed today when Sheriff M. Sessions led a posse of officers to raid a whisky still on the Deeming farm, five miles from Teague.

The sheriff said a deputy fired when Fagin drew a gun on the posse. Sessions said the still was in operation when the officers arrived, and three other men were present whom he expected to arrest later. Besides the sheriff, Deputy J. H. Wasson, Deputy Homer Robertson, Constable R. C. Keaton and Federal Agent Craig composed the posse.

Fagin three years ago received a 99-year sentence for slaying Special Ranger Tim Willard, but the case was dismissed after being reversed and remanded on appeal.

Sheriff Sessions, who took office this year, has raided 50 stills so far during his term.

No charges were filed immediately in connection with Fagin's death. Sheriff Sessions said the officers had surrounded Fagin at the still CARSON CITY, Nev., March 17. (UP)—The bill legalizing all forms of gambling in Nevada passed the senate late today by a vote of 13 to 3.

HEAVY VOTING MARKS RACES ON CITY POSTS

Southwestern Towns Turn Out to Nominate Candidates

WALTON INDICTED

Impeached Governor Turns Dope Bucket Over By Victory

Oklahoma voters, stirred by fiery campaigns and divided by lengthy tickets, flocked to the polls Tuesday to select nominees for the guidance of municipal affairs during the two coming years.

Everywhere the vote was unusually heavy. Cities were torn by special issues, personal and political, and the primary drew one of the biggest votes in recent history. In most cities victory in the Democratic primary establishes election, Republican tickets appearing only occasionally. The election date is April 7.

In Oklahoma City Jack Walton, impeached governor now under a U. S. mail fraud charged, seemed assured of election. Returns from 127 out of 180 precincts gave him 6,781 votes against 5,810 for Clarence J. Blinn, his closest opponent.

WALTON LEADS IN OKLAHOMA CITY

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 17. (AP)—Rarin' Jack Walton, once ousted from the governor's chair, tonight won a decisive victory toward a political comeback.

Complete returns in the city primary tonight gave him one of the two nominations for mayor. C. J. Blinn, anti-administration candidate, received 8,361 votes and Walton received 8,189. They will fight it out in the final election April 7.

Although he was tagged with a federal indictment for mail fraud, Walton, now an oil man, and C. J. Blinn, anti-administration candidate, were well out in front on the basis of early returns. Two from the field of six candidates fight it out for mayor April 7.

"Give the government back to the people where it belongs," Walton told the voters, reminding them of the things he did for them when he was mayor 13 years ago.

Jack's enemies did not fail to usher out skeletons of 1923 when

Vet Chief Calls For $500,000,000 From U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—Veterans' Administrator Hines has called upon the treasury to provide $500,000,000 by April 11 for loans to the world war veterans on their compensation certificates. This exceeded by $200,000,000 previous estimates for that period.

In making the request, announced today by the treasury, Hines estimated that 75 per cent of the veterans would apply for loans totaling approximately $1,000,000,000.

Up to last Saturday 1,372,006 applications had been received and 282,874 checks issued totaling $104,035,366, an average of $367.

Oil Geologists to Meet In San Antonio Thursday

SAN ANTONIO, March 17. (AP)—Preparations were complete here today for the entertainment of 1,000 visitors to the annual convention of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists which opens Thursday.

Trips to points of geological interest over Southwest Texas and Northern Mexico have been provided. In addition to covering all important oil fields in this section of the state, one trip will extent to Monterrey, Mexico.

Broker Head Sentenced On Swindling Charge

SAN ANTONIO, March 17. (AP)—The maximum penalty of 10 years in the penitentiary was given Kenneth Wimer, president of the defunct Wimer-Richardson company, security brokers, by a jury here today. Wimer was charged with swindling Louis Pape of San Antonio out of $3,023.23 through the sale of an investment certificate.

Mrs. Wimer fainted when the verdict was read.

Cowmen Allowed Manlier Drink As Their Wives Sip Tea at Convention

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, March 17.—Men of the range and brand who met here in the 55th annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, played this afternoon, their first business session having been completed during the morning.

Many of them turned to that chief of their pleasures—rodeo—while others took a boat ride on the bay, and a few went to the country club with their wives, where the women were served tea. It was announced, however, the cowmen themselves would not be expected to drink it, but might have coffee.

The address of the retiring president, T. D. Hobart of Pampa, was a feature of the morning session. In saying farewell to office, he presented a picture tempered with optimism as to the future of the ranchman, saying overproduction in that industry was not nearly so great as in agriculture generally and that he felt certain cattle-raising would be quick to respond to gradually-improving general conditions.

J. M. West, Harris county rancher, now first vice president, will succeed Hobart unless tradition of many years standing is broken.

The cattlemen met for their business session in a theater, the Simmons university band of Abilene leading them there from hotels.

Small Boy's 'Autobiography' Leads To Mother's Arrest for Murder

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Mrs. Mamie Diller, wife of Herman Diller, druggist hatchet murder victim, was taken into custody on a charge of suspicion of homicide today on a clue furnished by her 9-year-old son.

Mrs. Diller, questioned 24 hours, had clung to a simple story that she had discovered Diller's mutilated body in their Brooklyn home after she had taken her children to school yesterday.

The "autobiography" of the little boy, which he had entitled "The Life of Martin Diller," written in an immature scrawl, detectives said, yielded to them sufficient basis for the arrest. In the manuscript the lad had written:

"One day I heard my father and mother quarreling. Afterwards I asked my mother what they were fighting about, and she told me I must never mention anything about it."

This caused the police to renew their interrogation of the mother, a middle-aged woman, care-worn in appearance, but calm and collected in demeanor, and prompted the decision to hold her without bail.

Diller had been slain in his bedroom, which presented a scene of wreckage. His skull revealed nine fractures. A blood-soaked night dress of Mrs. Diller was in the bedroom.

SMALLER BOND ISSUE RAPPED

George Declares Fischer's Stand Unauthorized

further, for I don't want to embarrass the council or these men who made proposals before the council. They are all my friends."

Responsibility for the proposition made to the city counti Monday night by Mr. Fischer, urging an election to vote $450,000 in bonds for water improvements, was placed entirely upon the anti-bond leader's shoulders by members of the citizens' committee who were assembled by W. E. George, chairman, Tuesday morning to discuss the matter. They had not been consulted on the question, they declared, nor did they share the views which Mr. Fischer had embodied in his recommendations.

Statement Issued

Determination to follow the program outlined "earlier in the campaign" and to change none of the issues also was expressed in the statement issued. The text of their statement follows:

"As chairman of the citizens' committee the statement and letter purported to have been written by Mr. F. W. Fischer was called to my attention this morning. I immediately called a meeting of the citizens' committee of some 50 of our leading citizens who are members of this committee and after going over this purported letter and statement in the morning paper each member of the committee present expressed surprise at the contents thereof and each stated that they knew nothing of the matters stated in said letter. They stated that they had not been consulted and had not authorized such a statement. We immediately called Mr. Fischer's office and tried to get in touch with him but learned that he is in Amarillo. We therefore have not had an opportunity to discuss the matter with Mr. Fischer or to know why he made the statement as published in the Record News, if he did make such statement.

"We, the members of the citizens' committee, wish to announce to the citizens of Wichita Falls that we have not changed our attitude with reference to any bond issue in this city at this time; that we have not changed our attitude upon the general program outlined by this committee at the beginning of the campaign on this bond issue. We believe that we were correct in our contentions with reference to the administration of the city affairs in every detail. This committee wishes to further state that they have not lost confidence in this city and its future progress but confidently believe that if their program of economy, regulation of gas rates and of public utilities in this city are carried out that our city will recover from the present depression and that we will soon begin an era of prosperity and growth and recover our unanimity of spirit and cooperation and that our people will be a satisfied, prosperous and happy people in the future.

"To the loyal citizens of Wichita Falls we hereby pledge our continued and strenuous efforts to obtain the things that have been outlined in this campaign and respectfully ask your continued support of these issues. We have not varied our program the least and have not changed any issue and therefore call upon the citizens to stand pat on this program."

The statement is signed by Mr. George, Mack Thomas, R. O. Grant, C. C. Jones Sr., B. B. Craft, J. W. Parker, W. L. Neel, D. M. Perkins, John Hirschi, Ernest Crain, F. W. Heoner, J. H. Crouch, J. O. BOIL THE WATER, PATTON URGES

Editor, The Record News:

I see from the press reports J. B. Marlow and F. W. Fischer have recommended the ordering of another bond election in the sum of $450,000 for the improvement of the water system. I am opposed to any more bond elections for that purpose at this time.

We have certainly given the city that faith built enough advertising of our water system to do for a couple of years at least. I say lets boil the water and unite our efforts to make old Wichita Falls a better place to live. The voters have spoken in a fair election, this is a Democratic country, let the majority rule. I hope the opponents of the bond issue can carry out their program in the reduction of operating expenses in the city government.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

ELECTRA, March 17.—Mixing dough in a bakery may not be classified as a hazardous occupation in insurance company lists, but Weldon Harding young employe of the Vandergrift Baking company here, has his own ideas.

He spent most of the day Tuesday in the hospital and he still has a bandage over an eye, all because the dough grew all too light and rose too suddenly. It hit him squarely in the face. Physicians treated the injured eye and said the hurt was not as serious as it was painful.

WALTON LEADS PRIMARY VOTE

Heavy Balloting Marks City Elections

an indignate senate court of impeachment ousted Oklahoma's chief executive on 11 charges of impeachment, one of which was the levying of martial law when a state of rebellion didn't exist. That was during a Ku Klux Klan disturbance.

The indictment, for alleged connection with operations of the Universal Gas and Oil company, added to Walton's troubles after he had started his campaign. Indicted, too, are 18 others including Richard Enright, former police commissioner of New York City and Seymour E. Jacobson Cox, former associate—in business and prison—of Dr. Frederick Cook, arctic explorer.

Walton and Blinn, the latter endorsed by one of Oklahoma City's newspapers watched apprehensively tonight the doubtful chances of Mayor Walter Dean, running for re-election on his record. He was well behind on early returns.

WAURIKA, Okla., March 17.—The Democratic primary Tuesday brought out a big vote and the nominees of this party have assurance of election.

In the contest for mayor, Leslie H. Stowe ran away with his opponent, Earl McCraw. The vote was Stowe, 648; McGraw, 154.

Floyd Miller was unopposed for treasurer, receiving 547 votes. E. B. Ellis was unopposed for school treasurer and received 462 votes.

Mrs. Hassa Teeter received the nomination for city clerk, receiving 300 votes. Others in the race were as follows: Mrs. George Lang, 83; Beeler Roden, 133; Harvey J. Griffith, 263. Mrs. Teeter will compete with J. L. Morgan, Republican, in the regular election.

In the city council race there was much interest. The vote for the four wards, short and long terms, follows:

Ward 1—Long term, Seaman Jones, 81; C. G. Stuard, 48; J. W. White, 13; short term, Roy Cassady, 43; Homer Taber, 106.

Ward 2—Long term, Walter Gibbins, 215, unopposed; short term, W. H. Gresham, unopposed, 213.

Word 3—Long term, Ed Crew, 52; W. H. Fuller, 115; short term, Eugene Brown, 86; D. C. Goode, 68.

Ward 4—Long term, W. H. Divers, 122; M. C. Groseclose, 25; H. E. Phelps, 25; short term, C. W. Figg, 102; E. B. Anderson, 58.

R. E. Vanbebber, Republican, was unopposed for the Democratic nomination of Ward 1. In ward 2, C. S. Stroms received the nomination with 220 votes. Ward 4 the nomination went to P. E. Robinson, 102 votes; Mrs. Fred Pittman, 44.

VETERAN ALTUS MAYOR DEFEATED

ALTUS, Okla., March 17.—By a margin of 407 votes, F. E. Hickman, mayor of Altus during the past eight terms, was defeated as Democratic candidate for re-election by L. A. Pelley in a heavy primary vote here Tuesday. Pelley polled 1,212 votes; Hickman 805.

In the city clerk's race, Miss Jessie McKinley was renominated by a vote of 1,036 over 633 ballots cast for her closest opponent, Mrs. Willie Witt.

Billie Wilson defeated two opponents in the treasurer's race, drawing a vote of 1,223 against 422 cast for Jonas Ford, runner-up.

The city re-nominated John Ford for city marshal by a vote of 1,197 against 463 for Henry Southhall, second in the contest.

I. M. Ashlock is the new nominee for councilman from Ward one, leading his two opponents with a count of 279 votes.

George Hudspeth won the councilman's nomination from Ward two. He drew 247 votes to defeat two opponents.

Ward three cast 177 votes to give R. W. Culwell a lead over two other candidates.

Oran Boorhies was re-nominated from Ward four with 172 ballots.

HOLLIS KEEPS PRESENT MAYOR

Special to The Record News

HOLLIS, Okla., March 17.—Hollis Democrats kept Mayor Ross Cox in office by the vote in the primary here Tuesday, giving him 584 votes against 472 cast for Harry Hicks. The primary nomination here is equivalent to election, no Republican ticket being filed.

The vote in many races Tuesday ran unusually close, several candidates carrying the nominations by a margin of only three ballots. The ticket, of unprecedented length, bore 47 names and fiery campaigns led to a heavy vote.

Sid Henson was renominated as city marshal, leading his nearest opponent, S. D. Anderson, by a vote of 501 to 238. The other five candidates lagged far behind.

W. E. Geer was named to succeed Clifford Thompson as city clerk. Geer polled 333 votes, Mrs. Zana McFall 305, and Thompson only 127.

Walter Harbon took a big lead in the treasurer's race, defeating Charles Younger, present incumbent, and beating his nearest opponent by a count of 333 to 153 cast for R. E. Willingham. Younger polled 125 votes.

The primary put L. A. Cornell back in as street commissioner by a heavy majority. Votes for Corbell totaled 377 against 170 for P. Srader, the runner-up out of eight candidates.

The councilman's race put H. P. Ridings in from ward 1; M. F. Bayless from ward 2; A. D. Hollis from ward 3, and J. C. Clark from ward 4. The vote creates an entirely new council for the city, three members of the present group having gone down in defeat by narrow margins.

The biggest majority piled up in the primary went to W. R. Aufill in his race for school board treasurer against four opponents. Aufill polled 676 ballots. Mrs. Sue Briscoe, runner-up, received 161. Mrs. Dess Adams, present treasurer, was fourth in the five-sided race with a vote of 95.

S. W. Hopkins and W. G. Husband, unopposed for election to the board of education, will succeed themselves.

FREDERICK NAMES ROGERS FOR MAYOR

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 17.—J. J. Rogers was re-nominated for the mayorship in the city elections here today, polling 729 votes to 333 for his nearest opponent, T. A. Gross.

Other nominations were:

Councilman, first ward, long term: E. J. Cowan, 253; short term, Robert Cull, 344.

Councilman, second ward, long term: J. A. Carr, 316; short term, W. H. Veidt, 268.

Councilman, third ward, long term: Fred Crow, unopposed; short term, John Simmons, 123.

Councilman, fourth ward, long term: T. O. Hartwig, 194; short term, T. A. Raley, unopposed.

City marshal: Lin Blackwood, 1,205.

City clerk: Roy Moss, 825.

City treasurer: R. S. Ziegler, unopposed.

Street commissioner: Ollie Burt, 566.

School board, first ward: Carl McFall, 337; second ward, Fisher Greenfield, unopposed; third ward, A. V. Pendleton, unopposed; country district, Byron Bailey, 29.

Three Arrested In Bank Raids

caping with approximately $1,700. Irwin Spicer, Abilene man, was arrested on the morning after the burglary when he was observed spending burned money. He was indicted on theft and burglary charges when the grand jury was recalled Monday.

While officers sought new suspects, Earl Benson, Menard, entered a plea of guilty to the hijacking of the Loving bank in February and was sentenced to 15 years in the state prison by a 30th district court jury Tuesday. Benson said he was one of the two men who held guns on bank employes and escaped with $1,865, most of which has been recovered. Fred Jennings, under a similar charge, was sentenced to 10 years on a plea of guilty Monday.

A third principal and two accomplices not yet under arrest are also charged.

SUSPECT HELD AT FORT WORTH

FORT WORTH, March 17. (AP)—T. H. Russell, arrested by Sheriff Joe Crawford, in Cleburne this morning, was charged in a complaint here this afternoon with burglary of a warehouse in which $666 was obtained last Saturday night.

Russell was held in the Johnson county jail for further investigation. Officers are searching for two other men, known to Cleburne officers in connection with the burglary here.

Equipment commonly used by burglars was found under a house in Cleburne immediately after the arrest. Efforts were made to identify the tools.

Sheriff Wright reported Russell had in his possession $160 in currency, the edges of which had been burned.

Entrance to the warehouse safe was gained with a blow torch.

Sheriff Wright said the initials "V. I. M." were inscribed on three punches and two chisels found under the house in Cleburne. Other equipment included a crow bar, a torch with the inscriptions "R-27" and "L-W" on it.

Sheriff Crawford also is holding a watch, case No. 9764 for having it identified and two automatic pistols, numbers of which are 53372 and 98200.

Deputy Sheriff Bratcher reported several persons from other cities will appear in Cleburne tomorrow in efforts to identify Russell.

WICHITA SUSPECTS FREED BY CHIEF

Two men and three women, held in connection with the capture early Tuesday morning of Lee Lovell, charged with participation in the Forestburg bank robbery, were released from the city jail after they had been questioned by Frank Burns, chief of police.

One of the men and two women were taken into custody at the time the suspected bank robber was arrested at a residence here. Chief Burns said. Later when city and county officials were shown to the cache where gold and silver amounting to more than $350 was found buried, another man and woman were arrested.

three miles south of the Munger test. It will seek the 3800-foot test just west of the Wichita river and a mile west of the Munger. This is Hammond's No. 1 R. J. Bradley, located 2650 feet east of the west line and 450 feet south of the north line of the S. Holloway survey, abstract 497.

Consolidated to Drill

The first location made in the area on the strength of the Munger's deep showing was Consolidated Oil company No. 1 Munger Brothers, which is rigged up and will spud in late this week. It is a mile and a half southeast of the Deep Oil test, being 1431 feet from the west line and 1750 feet from the south line of block 31, W. V. F. L.

E. J. Stump is preparing to drill his No. 1 in the W. H. Spillers survey about a mile and a quarter southwest of the Deep Oil well. Stump first will seek the 1700-foot sand and later he may push on to the deeper horizons.

Deals are pending for other drilling tests in the southwestern part of the county and additional locations are expected to be made. Several miles northeast of the Munger well the Gulf Production company uncovered some promising showings in a deep test several years ago and the present activity will partially determine the trend of the formations.

Rescue Vessel Saves Three Men

evening. The fishermen on Horse island heroically organized rescue parties. They arranged stretchers on sleds and ventured out on the drifting ice in search of survivors.

Sargent, young Harvard graduate, was rescued by Capt. Jacob Kean of the Sagona, at a point about 15 miles down the bay from Horse island, the Horse island radio operator reported. He was only slightly hurt and aside from suffering from shock and exposure was reported in no danger, and his recovery declared certain, it was added.

The fate of his companions, Varick Frissell, 26, New York explorer, and A. E. Penrod, cameraman, remained a mystery. Little hope for their rescue was held as the search for survivors continued.

(Note: A United Press dispatch from Weston, Mass., tonight said two Americans had been picked up—Sargent and Penrod, of Waterbury, Conn. The dispatch quoted George W. Bailey, Weston radio amateur, who said he picked up the information in wireless messages from Newfoundland. However, the dispatch was not confirmed from other sources).

Two men rescued with Sargent were Capt. William Kennedy, navigator of the Viking, and Wireless Operator King. Captain Kean of the Sagona reported by wireless. King suffered a fractured leg. Both feet were frost bitten and may have to be amputated. Captain Kennedy suffered only bruises. The condition of all three was reported satisfactory.

Word of new rescues occurring during the day helped to cheer the survivors gathered on Horse island. Hungry, clad in nondescript garb seized as they fled from the shattered, burning ship, the men from the Viking were a sorry lot. They kept busy, however, organizing rescue parties with the fishermen of Horse island and ventured out onto the floes in search of their comrades.

The first two ships to reach Horse island were the Ungava and the Beothic. The Sagona and the Foundation Franklin were sighted shortly afterwards and joined in the search. Heroic efforts by their crews and by the rescue parties from ashore continued as the night advanced.

Reports of the tragedy and the rescue came to the outside world by wireless from Horse island, where Ottis Bartlett, a youth of 21 from Trinity, N. F., hour after hour tapped out his messages.

Jury Completed For Choir Leader's Trial

DALLAS, March 16. (UP)—A jury of 12 men was seated late today to determine the fate of James N. Hale, 50-year-old farmer and choir leader in his community church, charged with killing a neighbor who "made eyes" at Mrs. Hale during religious services.

Tomorow the jurors will hear details of the shooting of Oscard Bell, a meat vendor, in front of the Hale home last Sept. 2. The state will demand the death penalty for Hale. Defense attorneys said today they would request a suspended sentence.

Boat Race Ruled Out After Four-Mile Run

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 17. (AP)—After Hub Meyers, Bay City, Mich., had covered the four and one-half-mile course in record time for the Col. E. H. R. Gov. Ross S. Sterling, one of the scheduled speakers, sent his regrets.

W. W. He took a shot, too, at proponents of a plan to divide Texas into more states, shouting "they might as well talk about taking the Alamo or San Jacinto" as to consider removing the southern part of Texas from the rest.

Dayton Moses of Fort Worth, association attorney, told of some work being done before the legislature and requested united support of the butchers bill and land validating bill pending there.

He turned for a moment from discussing the present and future to tell of the leading figures of the past who attend cattlemen's conventions no more.

HARD WATER PLUS MEL'O MAKES SOFT WATER

Ring out the scum! Ring in the soft water!

Good news! Water need no longer be hard, even in this hard-water country. Scum need no longer form in the bathtub! Dirty rings need no longer be scrubbed from tubs, dishpans or washbasins!

Use Mel'o to soften hard water! It prevents the forming of the dirty ring. It makes water delightfully soft. It saves from ⅓ to ½ the amount of soap ordinarily used. It makes soap much more effective. With or without soap, water softened with Mel'o is a wonderful cleaner. Get it at your grocer's.

Cadillac and La Salle, with Fisher and Fleetwood Coachwork, range in price from $2195 to $9700 f. o. b. Detroit. Convenient G.M.A.C. terms are recommended.

Something has happened which makes it advisable to compare motor cars, once more, as you did in the past: by a test of their performance. Cadillac is building twelve- and sixteen-cylinder power plants—and the discoveries made during their development have resulted in a type of performance with which everyone should be familiar. For example, Cadillac and La Salle cars now operate without perceptible noise. Acceleration, braking and steering are materially improved. Shifting in either direction between second and high is completely silent with the Syncro-Mesh non-clashing transmission. In fact, Cadillac-La Salle performance must be experienced before it can be appreciated. Consequently, we are extending to one and all an invitation to come in for a trial drive.

Texas Farmers Receive $1,000,000 U. S. Loans

FORT WORTH, March 17. (AP)—Almost $1,000,000 has been loaned drouth-stricken Texas farmers by the federal government for seed, fertilizer and fuel for farm machinery.

Combined reports from the farmers' federal seed loan offices at St. Louis and Fort Worth show that 6,348 farmers have received loans totaling $903,721.33.

Of this number, 4,463 loans totaling $681,897 have been issued from the St. Louis, and 1,725 loans for $221,824.33 issued from the local office, according to O. S. Fisher, office director.

Rival Club Blamed For Fort Worth Fire

FORT WORTH, March 17. (INS)—Police today blamed rival business interests with setting fire to the Grand Night club, a well-patronized establishment on White settlement road which burned to the ground early this morning.

Several persons, including the owner, Lee Parker, barely escaped with their lives from the fire. Loss was placed at $16,000.

An empty gasoline can was found near the scene of the fire, and this led authorities to believe that it had been of incendiary origin.

Court Helps Negro Win Back Job

Black Upheld in Right to Rule Home

There's one home at least in Wichita Falls which hasn't yet witnessed the "decline of the male." In fact, Rastus' stock probably stands higher in the eyes of Mandy since papa asserted himself.

It all came out in a trial before Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court. Some weeks ago, when the calendar promised winter weather despite the prevailing balminess, Mandy craved a new coat. So to a downtown instalment clothing store, where a satisfactory garment soon was obtained—by signing a wages-assignment in Rastus' name.

Day ended, and brought the head of the house home from work. Domestic tranquility suffered violent quakes. Mandy was persuaded. The coat came back to the store from which it had been worn so proudly. But the merchant had no use for the coat; no use at all. Well, neither did Mandy—not after what Rastus told her.

The assignment of wages was duly filed where the Rastus paycheck was wont to issue. Refusal to pay the account was reported. And on the pay roll a big black line was run through the name of one Rastus—who promptly found himself in the ranks of the unemployed. But temporary setbacks aren't surrender.

Rastus came to court, and talked. Talked himself quickly back into his old job, and into the receiving end of a $47 judgment for wages he lost while the misunderstanding existed. The case was finished Tuesday.

ONION BOOM

Stephens County Farmers to Set Out Almost Million Plants

Special to The Record News.

DUNCAN, Okla., March 17.—Gov. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, noted advocate of corn pone, polk salad and raw onions, should be happy to know how some of the state funds for free seed were spent in Stephens county.

More than 840,000 onion sets have been distributed to needy farmers in this county in the last three weeks, County Clerk Delmer Ralbourn estimates. That would be about 25 onions for every man, woman and child in the county.

Full grown and laid end to end, Ralbourn estimates the onions might reach from the governor's mansion to the White House and leave a few dozen for Governor-Senator Huey P. Long's lunch.

ALTUS, Okla., March 17.—Corn and garden seed are available now, according to officials of the Jackson county relief board.

Persons who made applications for the seed are requested to get their seed at the earliest convenience. Applications made several weeks ago will be filled first.

Seventy-five bushels of corn and an assortment of 13 varieties of garden seed are now ready for distribution.

Sweet potatoes for planting have been purchased and will probably be ready for distribution within a few days.

Air Service Closes Two Louisiana Lines

NEW ORLEANS, March 17. (AP)—Discontinuance of daily service on the New Orleans-Lake Charles-Beaumont-Houston run of the Wedell-Williams air service has been announced by Harry P. Williams, vice president of the service. He said the daily New Orleans-Shreveport-Fort Worth run would be dropped within a few weeks, and that the main offices of the company will be transferred from New Orleans to Shreveport. The company's daily operations will include a two-day service from Houston to St. Louis via Shreveport and Little Rock. A branch office will be continued in New Orleans.

Frederick Crash Victims Improve

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 17.—Condition of D. O. Hartsfield and John White who were injured about 7:30 p. m. Saturday when the former's car collided with a machine belonging to E. R. Parker, 112 South Thirteenth street, was much improved Tuesday.

Both Hartsfield and White were injured about the head. It was not until Sunday morning that Hartsfield, who had been taken to the Frederick hospital, regained consciousness, after which he was returned to his home, 707 North Sixth street. He was able to be up town Monday morning and it is expected he will be able to return to his work as meter reader in a few days.

Fear was first entertained that White, bookkeeper at the Wooten Wholesale grocery, had suffered internal injuries, but it was ascertained Monday that the injuries were confined to his head. He was able to be taken from his brother-in-law's, H. E. Nixon, Monday forenoon, to his home on South Fourteenth street.

Oregon Senators Urge Meyers for Ship Board

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—Senators McNary and Steiwer of Oregon recommended to President Hoover today that Jefferson Meyers of Portland, Ore., be reappointed a member of the shipping board.

Meyers has served on the board for a number of years and his term expires soon.

Safe

for Eyes of children as well as of adults

Since 1895, mothers the world over have been using Murine in their own and their children's Eyes. This harmless lotion frees the Eyes of school children from chalk dust, and relieves Eye strain caused by over-study. Use it daily to keep Eyes clean, clear and healthy.

MURINE FOR YOUR EYES

Which skin fault spoils your beauty?

LARGE PORES?
DRY SKIN?
BLEMISHES?
BLACKHEADS?
SUNBURN?

Nurses tell how to end these common flaws

FIVE TINY flaws—and just one of them is enough to ruin a naturally lovely skin.

But there's no need now for your complexion to have even one defect. For nurses have discovered a quick, easy way to end all five of these common skin faults—a way that already has been successfully used by over 6,000,000 women—Noxzema Cream.

Noxzema's special formula is the secret of its many different results. It contains soothing emollients that soften rough, scaly skin. A mild medication that clears away blemishes—rids the pores of poisons and harmful wastes corrects excessive oiliness. Gentle astringents that shrink coarse pores to exquisite fineness. No wonder dull, faded complexions become so youthfully fresh and charming.

See for yourself the glorious new beauty Noxzema can bring your skin. Try it tonight. Instantly you'll feel your skin grow softer and smoother. Tomorrow morning you'll see how much clearer—finer-textured—it has become.

Don't be content with a "pretty good" complexion, when it is so easy to have a really lovely skin. Get a small jar of Noxzema today.

COMMONS VOTE HONORS DEBT

House Refuses to Call 10-Year Moratorium

LONDON, March 17. (AP)—National economy, the American war debt and Great Britain's annual air budget figured chiefly in today's session of the house of commons.

The war debt soon was disposed of.

"Will the chancellor of the exchequer consider a 10-year moratorium in payments of debt, interest and obligations to the United States?" asked R. Morley, Laborite.

"No!" replied F. W. Pethwick-Lawrence, financial secretary of the treasury, replying for Chancellor Snowden, his absent chief.

Prime Minister MacDonald himself informed the commons regarding the latest step toward national economy. Two members of each party, he said, would be formed into a committee to make recommendations to the chancellor of the exchequer for effecting all possible economies in the national expenditures. A resolution authorizing such a committee passed the commons by a vote of 11 to 2.

The United States figured again in the debate when the house settled down to a consideration of air estimates for 1931, the total of which is £18,100,000 sterling, an increase of £250,000 over the budget for the current year.

As an illustration, he said, of Britain's peaceful aims, Undersecretary of State for Air F. Montague, who introduced the estimate, said while the present British air expenditure is approximately one per cent lower than for 1925-26, the air expenditures of the United States have incressed between 150 and 160 per cent during the same period, those of the French by between 130 and 140 per cent and those of the Italians by, roughly, 40 per cent.

Sir Samuel Hoare, former air minister appealed to the government to aim at a tripartite Franco-Italian-British air agreement on the lines of the recent naval pact.

Names which have endured for centuries and which will endure for more centuries are those of Pythogoras, Thales, Aristole, Archimedes, Copernicus, Kepler, Galileo, Descartes and Newton.

Prisoners' Battle Adds Tensity To Joliet Riot Investigation

JOLIET, Ill., March 17. (UP)—A short-lived riot and the hysterical outburst of a woman at an inquest into the death of her convict brother brought new turmoil to Illinois' two state prisons here today.

Some 20 convicts, members of the prison band, fought viciously among themselves, using knives and broken glass, in a battle over whether to start another mutiny, similar to Saturday's fatal riot at the old prison, three miles away.

Extra guards leaped into the fray, quelling the fight before it spread. Warden Henry C. Hill, under fire from a state legislative committee over conditions in the prison, hurried from his office to take charge.

"Some of the convicts wanted to start a riot," he said. "Others didn't. They got into a pitched battle. Five were so seriously injured they had to be taken to a hospital."

Woman Faints

The warden then went back to the stone ramparts of the old prison where he was confronted with an inquest into the death of two felons during Saturday's riot. Both were shot by guards.

Miss Irene Yarbeck, sister of Albert Yarbeck, one of the dead, rushed at Guard Frank Cutchin, screaming:

"You're a dirty murderer. You didn't give my brother a chance."

Cutchin shoved her away and she turned on Hill, only to faint a few minutes later.

The legislative committee appointed to investigate conditions in the old prison, where five prisoners have been shot to death and one has died during solitary confinement in the last three weeks, announced it would meet in the old penitentiary Friday.

Chaplain to Talk

All prisoners there were locked in their cells, where they have been kept almost continuously since the riot. Bread and water was the diet for 1,100 rioters, while the ring leaders were crowded into solitary confinement blocks.

Rev. George Whitmeyer, prison chaplain whose resignation was announced yesterday, said he planned to appear before the legislative committee with "the real facts behind the riot."

"I have seen a lot during my months as chaplain," he said. "The public hears that men were strapped up by the wrists to bars, their wrists on a level with their chests, in a standing position eight hours a day for three and four days at a time.

Whisky Sold

"But what I saw was a dozen or 15 men at a time in solitary confinement, and kept there for 18 and even 22 days at a stretch with only bread and water to eat.

"I also learned that dope and booze frequently were smuggled into the prison. whisky, I was told, sells within the prison for $2.50 a pint. I know that some of the convicts brew their own liquor in their cells and the more expert ones sell it to the others."

Warden Hill said punishment at the prison was not brutal, that every effort was made to stop smuggling of narcotics and liquor and that whenever "fermenting juices" were found hidden about the ancient institution, they were destroyed.

Pimples Caused Eruptions and Disfigurement. Cuticura Healed.

"Pimples broke out upon my forehead and gradually spread over my face. As time went on they became hard and red and sometimes scaled over. They itched and when I scratched it caused small eruptions and disfigurement. The trouble went on for about a year and other remedies used failed completely.

"I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased some. Results were noted in about four days, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and four boxes of Cuticura Ointment the pimples disappeared altogether. I was completely healed." (Signed) Corbett Wade, 611 Jessamine St., Memphis, Tenn., June 3, 1930.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

COURT BREAKS STEEL COMBINE

Bolt and Rivet Association Ordered Dissolved

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman today ordered the dissolution of the Bolt, Nut and Rivet Manufacturers association, controlling about 95 per cent of the industry, holding that it was in restraint of trade and a violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

Counsel for the association, doing an annual business of approximately $75,000,000 agreed to the issuance of the order. The decree forbids all preferential lists of customers and requires each member of the association to fix its own prices.

The Bethlehem Steel corporation, Republic Steel and Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt company, are among the 50 members of the association has its headquarters in Pittsburgh. They were named as defendants by the government together with Charles J. Graham, Pittsburgh, president of the trade association; E. Harmon Friel of A. & M. Hayden of Philadelphia; and John C. Kortick of the Kortick Manufacturing company of San Francisco.

The association was formed in 1925 when the industry was losing approximately $3,000,000 a year, according to the officers, and had turned the loss into a profit which last year amounted to $7,000,000.

CAMP FUNDS VOTED

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—The war department today allotted $12,000 for general construction at the Palacios Texas national guard camp.

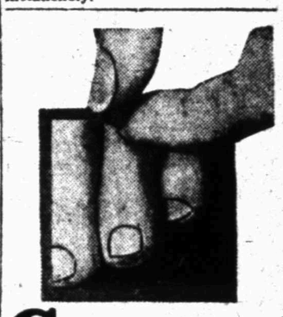

Playing cards were invented about the year 1390 in order to amuse Charles VI, then king of France, who was subject to fits of melancholy.

Inspiring Talks Made At Crockett School P.-T. A.

Citizenship day at Crocket P.-T. A. Tuesday afternoon was particularly featured by a celebration of the fifth birthday of the school and its work in developing good citizens. Mrs. Harry J. Strief, first president of the P.-T. A., made the address of the afternoon, stressing the work of P.-T. A. and giving her pretty recipe for the preservation of children in the following words: "Take one large, grassy field, one-half dozen children, two or three small dogs, a pinch of brook and some pebbles. Mix the children and dogs well together and put them in a field, stirring contantly. Pour the brook over the pebbles; sprinkle the field with flowers; spread over all a deep blue sky and bake in the sun; when brown, remove and set away to cool in a bath tub."

Mrs. Strief told of the work done during her term as P.-T. A. president and introduced Mrs. Austin Leach, second president, Mrs. Charles Crowell, third, and Mrs. W. W. Fraser, present leader. Mesdames Guy Rogers, and Clark Watkins were not able to be present. The enthusiasm that has always been a part of the P.-T. A. was credited for the many gifts brought to the school, including the playground equipment, stage curtain, electric clock, pictures, pianos, moving picture camera, exhibit cases, medicine cabinet and the many school lunches given during the current year to needy children.

Choral Club Opens Meet

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. W. W. Fraser, president, and Miss Ida Moore was in charge of the program in the absence of program chairman. Members of the choral club, including 25 little girls dressed in white with black and orange ties, sang the club song, then "Japanese Lullaby" and "Chinese Lullaby."

Joza Lou Bullington, Helen Stodghill, Nadine Stuart and Mary Frances Lincoln sang "Sunset.," Miss Hortense Goen directing the musical numbers.

Mrs. S. E. Trevathan gave a beautiful devotional on the highest citizenship, using as her theme "The Mind Under God's Control," and closing it with a prayer.

Miss Gladys McLeod spoke on the legislative educational program, reading a letter urging P.-T. A.'s to write members of the legislature and ask that the school fund be increased so that the scholastic appropriations would not be lessened. Mrs. Austin Leach moved that a wire be sent to Austin asking the bill be postponed and suggested that the letters should follow. It was voted the wire be sent.

Following the inspiring address of Mrs. Strief, a beautiful birthday cake in three tiers, decorated with orange flowers and topped by five candles was presented to the school by Mrs. Florence Calvert of the Cook shop, who had made it for the birthday celebration.

Business Meeting

During the business meeting, the executive board presented a recommendation that the birthday offering each year be set aside as a fund for a statue or picture of David Crockett, which was carried. The 13th district P.-T. A. convention to be held April 8, 9, 10, was announced and members of the executive board and sponsors were appointed delegates to it. Many members volunteered homes for delegates from out of town.

Miss Ida Moore, Mesdames L. V. Abernathy, Homer Lee, John Thomas and John Dobbs were appointed a nominating committee to report at the next meeting, and Mrs. Shadie Hale was elected parliamentarian. The body voted to compete for the prize offered by Mrs. J. Marcell for the best story of the year's work.

In the room count, Miss Goen's room received the banner and Misses Clark and Dowdy were second.

All chairmen made interesting reports and Mrs. George Smoot announced the spring clinic to be held in April, also urging support for the Mothers' Study club.

After the meeting, members were invited to see an exhibit of "The Home of the Three Bears" made by children of the low one grade.

Charter Members Present

Several charter members of the P.-T. A. and original teachers in the school were present. The members and guests registering included Mesdames C. P. Warman, Chas. F. Smith, McFall, L. A. Childs, Louis Franklin, C. E. Rhoads, J. P. Tarry, G. P. Raborn, Chas. Crowell, T. H. Brown, Harry Thornberry, G. S. Breneman, W. Daniel, J. T. Yeargin, R. A. King, J. C. Bryan, Louis Byrd, Roy Johnston, George Smoot, E. D. Steward, W. H. Sanford, E. H. Noe, W. C. Harris, H. R. Hanks, O. R. Hartt, Ralph Maricle, C. A. Rogers, Mattie Carey, A. S. Gilbert, B. D. Donnell, Grover Bullington, D. M. Puckett, T. J. Pyle, H. A. Boushay, J. W. Dean, R. E. Lyon, J. F. Julian, Horace Robbins, M. D. Rowe, J. C. McBee, H. J. Strief, Austin F. Leach, C. F. Helmsamp, W. B. Lea, J. W. Collins, Stanley E. Trevathan, T. S. Mabry, Otis Nelson, J. W. Chatham, W. S. Rosamond, H. H. Hallmark, J. M. Isbell, G. C. McGown, Earl Stuckey, Chas. I. Francis, M. B. Oates, Ripley H. Smith, H. B. White, O. M. Atkins, Wright Smith, C. B. Hickernell, J. E. Fulmer, J. B. Baker Jr., and Misses Hortense Goen, Marie Dowdy, Ethel Parker, Gladys McLeod, Ellen Parker, Lelia Crain, Ina Cooksey, Evelyn Gaines, Shelby Mitcham, Beatrice Duncan, Elaine Clark, Ida Moore, Sara Jones, Ethel Morgan, Lena Stephens and Zona Younkin.

A glassmaking plant will be erected in southern Belgium to utilize the gas from nearby coke furnaces.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Miss Becky, who is as independent a little lady as ever graced the earth, loves to go places and do things. Her invitations are many and when it is possible, she accepts them. "People" are an eternal joy to her.

Looking at her sweet face now; seeing the twinkle in her eyes and hearing her chuckle over a good joke, one wonders if she didn't keep the lads stepping when she was a girl. It's a grand thing to have the zest of a girl's outlook in a body that has accumulated wisdom with years. And that's Miss Becky.

"I went to three luncheons and two teas, last week," she said as she talked of liking to be with people. "And I never heard a word of gossip," she added proudly. Miss Becky thinks women have interests enough not to need gossip.

Miss Becky's heart is as big as the world but she is still a southerner and one might almost say a "rebel." She says what she thinks and she doesn't think much of Lincoln.

Hearing the other day that a gentleman of whom she otherwise thoroughly approves was going to teach a Sunday school class, she remembered he had once said something laudatory of Lincoln and she remarked with a laugh, "You tell him if he doesn't know any more about the Bible than he does about Lincoln, he'd better not teach." I almost tremble to confess to her through the medium of this column, that one of Lincoln's speeches given as a declamation, kept two silver cups a year in my family.

Miss Becky is possessed of the most marvelously accurate memory we know. But she does not live in the past. There are many people much younger than this lovely lady who look about them and say (truly) "my life is over." Miss Becky's life will not be over until she has gone to the heaven she deserves.

She is the best lesson on living I know. It is interest in humanity that gives her broad vision. (We will except Lincoln). Some gentleman who took her for a drive not long ago and went through rather tough roads, remarked at the end of the drive, "Well, Miss Becky's the best sport I know."

I hope I may be a good sport all my life, though I can look at many times when I have not been. The years bring broadness if one lives them right. And living examples are beautiful things.

Miss Becky is a splendid sermon (and I hope that expression will not be misunderstood). In her attitude toward life, in her humor and gentleness and broadness; in her interest in America and its politics, in church and its attitudes, she is a piece of sterling good citizenship.

Plant Exchange At Woman's Forum Thursday

Mrs. Luther Wright will be in charge of the annual plant exchange to be held at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. This exchange was postponed from Friday, March 6, on account of the weather.

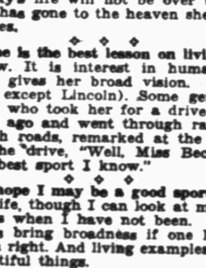

Committees have been appointed to take charge of plants and it has been announced they will be in good condition. Members of the garden club will work with Mrs. Wright.

The Garden club luncheon will follow the exchange at noon and business matters will be discussed at that time. All people interested in the exchange of plants are invited to come to the exchange.

Don't Squeeze Blackheads —Dissolve Them

Squeezing out blackheads makes large, ugly pores. The safe and sane way to get rid of these blemishes is to dissolve them. Get two ounces of Calonite powder from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub over the blackheads, and every one, big or little, will disappear at once.—Adv.

Pioneer Texans Celebrate 60th Wedding Date

Residents of Wichita Falls, Vernon and many other Texas towns, with several guests from Oklahoma were among the 50 friends and relatives gathered Sunday, March 15, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Middlebrook, well known pioneer residents of Foard county, to honor them on the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary. Guests began arriving at 8 o'clock in the morning and were still coming late in the afternoon, some driving almost 200 miles. After a picnic lunch, furnished and served by the guests, the afternoon was spent in reminiscences and stories of early days.

Mr. and Mrs. Middlebrook were married at Sweet Home, Lavaca county, March 16, 1871, and moved from there to Wilbarger county in 1888, living in the Beaver creek community for 11 years. Since that time, they have resided in the Margaret community, Foard county.

Mrs. J. E. Fair of Marfa, Texas, was the only one of their children not present Sunday. They have two sons and three daughters; their grandchildren number 26 and their great grandchildren 10. Almost all these were present at the reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Middlebrook are both in splendid health and refuse to recognize age as a handicap, continuing in the produce business they have conducted for several years. Mr. Middlebrook, familiarly known as "Uncle Jake," is known to all produce men of Wichita Falls where he is seen almost every week with his produce truck.

Relatives who joined the party from Wichita Falls were Mr. and Mrs. Lon Bryan and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor with their four children. Other relatives and friends included Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McCord and Pat McCord of Earth, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCord of Altus, Okla., and daughter Pauline; Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Jameson of Olton, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Farabee and four children and Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Middlebrook and Billie Middlebrook of Vernon, Texas; Messrs. and Mesdames M. O'Connell, Jack Roberts and Mrs. J. C. Roberts, Crowell, Texas; Messrs. and Mesdames I. W. Middlebrook and five children, Melvin Moore, S. B. Middlebrook Jr., W. T. Dunn and W. A. Dunn, Mesdames G. C. Wesley, Lydia Bledsoe, W. T. Cherry and Miss Anita Wesley of Margaret, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Taylor of Chillicothe and son, H. A. Taylor; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mahoney and Ernest Mahoney of Quanah, Texas.

Howard Hope Is Wed To Miss Edna Ruth Mosby

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 17.—Miss Edna Ruth Mosby, talented young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Mosby, and Howard Hope, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Hope, were united in marriage at the home of the bride, 603 South Fourteenth street at 7 p. m. Saturday, Rev. H. W. Stigler, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating.

Mrs. Hope graduated from the Frederick High school where she was prominent in school activities in 1927. She attended Oklahoma Woman's college at Chickasha two years and Southwest Oklahoma Teachers college at Weatherford one term. At present she is a teacher and music instructor at the Loveland school.

Mr. Hope is manager of the Chevrolet company at Hobart. He graduated from the local high school in 1926 and attended the Texas Tech, Lubbock, one year. He was in the State university at Norman the past semester.

In addition to the immediate families those present at the wedding were Messrs. and Mesdames C. A. Ogles and son, Ross Gilbreth and son, Roy Courtney, C. H. Mannan, Mrs. Dalton Jones and daughter, Misses Opal Fry, Ila Mae Porter, Robbie Hefner and Eunice Jones.

The young couple left following the ceremony for Oklahoma City. Mrs. Hope expected to return to Loveland by Tuesday morning to continue her school work until the close of the term when she will join Mr. Hope at Hobart.

Sam Houston Sponsors Plan P.-T. A. Work

At a meeting of the sponsors of Sam Houston P.-T. A. held at the school Tuesday afternoon, plans were discussed for putting on a play. More time was given sponsors for completing the quilt they are making for the P.-T. A. benefit.

All members were urged to attend the regular meeting of the P.-T. A. to be held at the school Wednesday afternoon. A splendid attendance was noted.

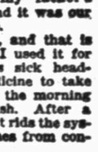

SLUGGISH FEELING

"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught off and on for twenty-five years," writes Mr. Dave Stewart, of 1912 E. 2nd St., Austin Texas.

"They used it in my father's home for many years and it was our general family medicine.

"My health was good, and that is about all I ever took. I used it for constipation and billous sick headaches. It is a fine medicine to take when a man gets up in the morning feeling dull and sluggish. After a course of it I feel fine. It rids the system of poison which comes from constipation."

First Christian Division Gives Benefit Luncheon

One of the prettiest and most successful benefit luncheons given during the season was sponsored by members of division seven of the Woman's Council of the First Christian church Tuesday noon at the home of Mrs. R. A. Lincoln. Hostesses included Mesdames J. E. Drummond, Levi Gambill, J. T. Cumley, E. W. Corder, R. F. Henry, J. R. Kinney, Nathan Lynch, Harry May, W. M. Moore, Luther Hoffman, J. W. Pond, R. E. Shepherd, Paul Pond, Carl Steck, T. D. Wiley, Rebecca Carrington, L. D. Parnell and Mrs. Lincoln.

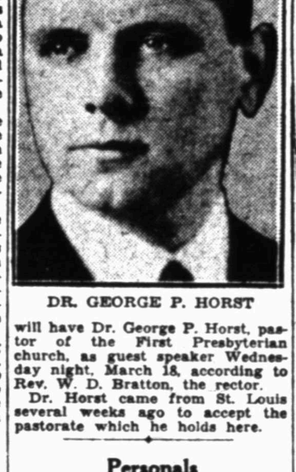

Spring flowers in pastel colors and masses of fruit blossoms made the house beautiful. Each small table had its individual colors and larger tables where parties were entertained featured special flowers. The St. Patrick motif was noted in the dainty three-course menu and in the place cards.

During the luncheon, Miss Merrill Strong playing the violin with Miss Lauretta Irwin at the piano furnished a program of lovely Irish music.

A substantial sum was realized from the benefit, with the guest list including Mesdames O. H. Karr, W. C. Duncan, A. A. Young, A. D. Harrison, G. M. Howard, L. B. Cummings, W. H. Penix, W. What to Plant In Shady Places Told by Expert

By BERTHA M'KEE DOBIE

Trees we desire above all other garden growths; with our admiration is mingled respect for the work of centuries. But—and here enters the reverse side of every human joy—we want flowers, too, and flowers are worshippers of the sun. What shall we plant in shaded gardens? There are two ways of answering that question—one way involves renunciation; the other selection.

We may give up flowers for the shaded portions of our gardens, contenting ourselves with foliage and berries. For completely shaded spots ferns are best, and not without reason do the swamp negroes say that "fern seed are foh peace." Texas woods, creek-sides, and limestone ledges down which water trickles supply ferns of several kinds; some plant houses; specialize in them. The conditions under which they grow natively must be met in the gardens—children of the woods, they require leaf mold, and they must have water, a condition of constant dampness.

Evergreens

There are few gardens upon which the sun does not shine for part of the day. Moreover, deciduous trees are leafless nearly half the year. We have ferns if we want them—for they grow in partial as well as in full sun—but we are not required to have them. Nearly all broad-leaved evergreens accommodate themselves to a partially shaded position. Wax-leaved ligustrum, photinia, nandina, evergreen sumach, wild peach (or cherry laurel), pittosporum, cotoneaster, abelia and euonymus are a few of the commonly grown evergreens that do not mind partial shade. Some evergreens native to the hot west must have sun; leucophyllum texanum, the beloved cenizo, is one of these. Nadina is best when it does not receive protection from buildings, as it requires cold to turn its leaves bronze and red in winter; but nearness to decidious trees is no detriment. Euonymus japonica is one evergreen that will thrive without receiving any direct sun whatsoever. It may grow a little more slowly, but at worst it grows rapidly. Those requiring a hedge in a densely shaded position can do no better than plant Euonymus. Moreover, it is one of the easiest plants in the world to raise from cuttings. All we need do to start a euonymus hedge is to ask a friend for his prunings in early spring or fall, put the sticks into the ground, and see that they don't dry out. Ninety per cent of the cuttings will grow with very slight care. Nurserymen now offer several kinds of Euonymus besides the kind generally grown. They differ in habit, in size of leaf, and in color, some being light green, some dark, and some variegated. All will grow in partial shade. An interesting one native to parts of the United States is Euonymus atropurpureus, or Wahoo, a fine woodland shrub having in fall red fruits, which are mistaken for flowers. It requires a moist situation.

Berries, indeed, are one of the best answers to the question of what to plant in shade. Some of our finest berry producing shrubs prefer partial shade. First is the yaupon, sometimes called Texas holly, the coastal species of which is more beautiful than that of Central Texas. Yaupon is another good plant for making a hedge in shade. It stands shearing well, looking. Dr. John Brickell reported for British readers in his curious book printed in 1737, "The Natural History of North Carolina," not unlike boxwood. Then there is deciduous yaupon, its red berries on gray twigs very striking in winter. Callicarpa Americana, or French mulberry—sometimes accredited to the Spaniards—fruits well in considerable shade; the berries adding a purple tone to the prevailing autumnal red. Coralberry, or Indian currant, is one of the best lowgrowers to plant under trees, nor need the tree be deciduous. A certain yard in San Antonio was very beautiful last winter by reason of several dozen coralberry shrubs scattered beneath trees, far enough apart that the graceful, berry-laden shrubs hung free. Nor must the ubiquitous little bird pepper, which the Mexicans, who use it to flavor their dishes, affectionately call chilipitin, be omitted from mention. It likes deep woods, and on the coastal prairies hides under low-spreading huisache trees.

Flowers Limited

If an unbroken view under live-oaks is wanted, ground covers should be the only planting. The best are the trailing periwinkles, vinca major and vinca minor; both have pretty blue flowers in very early spring, but the thick foliage is the thing. Euonymus radicans is good for small areas and for covering old stumps in shade.

But we yearn for flowers. Upon first consideration it seems that many flowers grow in the woods, but as a matter of fact most of them grow in rather open glades. This statement is true of Indian pinks, bluebonnets, winecups, standing cypress and phlox. If we will have flowers in a shaded garden, we must make up our minds either to have very early things that come before trees leaf, or we must make a careful selection and recognize that almost all flowers, even those that do a creditable best in shade, prefer sun. Moreover, blooms come about two weeks later in shaded gardens than in sunny.

Early bulbs may well be planted under deciduous trees, but they must be heavily fertilized to compensate for the competition of tree roots. Daffodils and snowdrops are commonly grown bulbs that flower before trees get their leaves. Ranunculus, the true buttercup—not the Evening Primrose, frequently called buttercup—is good to plant in moist, shady places in colonies for a sheet of early yellow. Two or three species. Since wild Anemones are plentiful over a large part of the state in spring, it is strange that more people do not grow the larger kinds in their gardens—the Irish strain known as St. Brigid and the French strain called De Caen. Then there are some native bulbs that can satisfactorily be grown under deciduous trees because of their early blooming. Three genuinely lovely ones are false hyacinth (quamasia hyacinthina), celestials (nemastylis acuta), and wild hyacinth (androstephium coeruleum), all should be grown in close colonies, and all dies down after blooming to await returning spring. False hyacinth has pale flowers on

Mrs. E. F. Kemp Honored By Family On 92nd Birthday

One of Wichita Falls' best loved citizens was honored by her family Tuesday when Mrs. Frank Kell entertained her mother, Mrs. E. F. Kemp, on her 92nd birthday with a tea in which only members of the family were guests. Mrs. Kemp's many friends in the city sent lovely flowers with other remembrances and the home was beautiful with their color and fragrance. Each member of the family brought a gift.

Mrs. Kell's daughters, Misses Mary Jo and Willie Mae, Mesdames Wilburn Cahoon and Orville Bullington arranged the lovely tea table where Mrs. J. A. Kemp poured tea.

Many congratulations were sent from friends who regard Mrs. Kemp with the highest admiration. She still keeps her own house at 1911 Lucile and takes interest in all local, state and national current events, being as well posted on politics as any citizen.

Members of the family who were able to have tea with her Tuesday were Mrs. Frank Kell and her daughters, Misses Willie Mae and Mary Jo; Mesdames Orville Bullington and Wilbur Cahoon; Mesdames J. A. Kemp, W. Newton Maer, W. S. Langford, B. K. Booth, J. A. Kemp Jr., A. D. Anderson, Audrey Barnard, Charles Francis, S. M. Gose, Clyde Strauss Jr. and Billy Bullington and Lula Jane Cahoon. Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Powers were guests.

Altrusans Hold Business Meet After Luncheon

Altrusan activities were covered in the business meeting of the local branch of the Altrusa club when members met Tuesday at the Wichita club for luncheon with Miss Eva Wallace presiding.

The trip made by Misses Ida Catherine Walker and Lucia Powell where they established contact for a new branch of Altrusa was described and the members also heard that Miss Eva M. Wallace, local president, had been appointed a member of the constitution and bylaws committee on the national Altrusan board.

Cards to be used in vocational guidance, the club objective, are being prepared by each professional member and members were urged to complete these and turn them in to Miss Juanita Kinsey.

Luncheon was served in the library where the center of Easter lilies and daffodils made a pretty decoration. Those present included Misses Juanita Kinsey, Ruth Downing, Edna Vogt, Eva M. Wallace, Minelo Harding, Anne Belle Farquahar, Frances G. Brooks, Ida Catherine Walker, Maud Thomas, Mesdames Elwyn Lomax, W. M. Cason, H. F. Weldon, Cathleen Coffield Nelms, Wayne J. Holmes and Leslie Huffhines.

Interesting Talks Made At Demonstration Club

Members of the Westmoreland Home Demonstration club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. D. Johnson, when Mrs. Bonnie Kee gave a talk on various uses of dairy products, stressing the fact that so many products in the community are not produced in Wichita county.

Mrs. W. B. Robinson discussed canning vegetables and meat and also preserving vegetables for home use by drying.

Plans were made to hold the next meeting as an open meeting at Westmoreland hall when Miss Ethel Louise Webb will preside and give a lecture on "Living at Home."

Members present were Mesdames C. W. Hulland, Leo Thomas, A. S. Raushuber, H. O. Stewart, W. L. DeValon, W. B. Robinson, J. J. Fennessy, Bonnie Kee, one guest, Mrs. R. E. Wikle of Columbus, Ohio, and the hostess, Mrs. Johnson.

Breckenridge Speaker To Address Teachers

N. S. Holland, superintendent of the Breckenridge school system, will be the principal speaker on the program at the annual banquet of the Wichita Falls Teachers' association to be held at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Friday evening it has been announced.

Approximately 300 guests will be present on this occasion and an interesting program will be given.

W. E. Walker, principal of the Travis school is president of the association, and will preside Friday evening.

Firemen Arrested In New Jersey Investigation

CAMDEN, N. J., March 17.(INS)—Fifteen fires of suspicious origin which have caused more than $100,000 damages to buildings in and near Beverly, N. J., resulted in the arrest today of six members of Beverly's volunteer fire department company No. 2.

State police took the men into custody following an alleged confession by John Klauf; 28, seen in the vicinity of a burning building near Edgewood Park.

Feel Safe always

Specify Kotex when you buy sanitary pads

HOURS at the opera, hours in business, hours out-of-doors—always the feeling of perfect freedom when Kotex is your sanitary protection. Kotex is shaped to fit under any sort of gown. It is highly absorbent (5 times more by test than surgical cotton). It is guaranteed to give more protection, longer protection than any other sanitary pad.

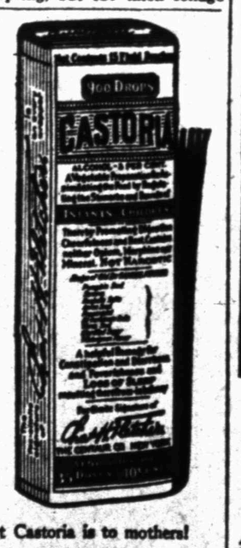

Kotex is treated to deodorize. It is soft—not merely a surface softness but a delicate, lasting softness. It is adjustable, because of the layer construction of its absorbent fillet, so that you can change its size to suit your changing needs. It may (and this is important) be worn on either side with equal efficiency.

It is disposable, easily, quickly—one very important reason for preferring this modern sanitary protection.

Fretful* DAYS Restless NIGHTS *... give child Castoria

FUSSY, fretful, can't sleep, won't eat .... It isn't always easy to find just where the trouble is with a young child. It may be a stomach upset; it may be sluggish bowels.

But when little tongues are coated and there is even a slight suspicion of bad breath—it's time for Castoria!

Castoria, you know, is a pure vegetable preparation especially made for babies and children. When Baby cries with colic or is fretful because of constipation, Castoria brings quick comfort, and, with relief from pain, soothes him to restful sleep. For older children—up through all the school years, Castoria is equally effective in helping to right irregularities. Just give it in larger doses. What a comfort Castoria is to mothers!

Get the genuine, with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on wrapper and the name Castoria that always appears like this:

SEEDS' RECITAL WINS PRAISE

Wind Instrument Students Presented

By LOIS ANGLIN

More than 800 persons attended the wind instrument recital presented by Paul Seeds at the Memorial auditorium Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Only a small percentage of Mr. Seeds' pupils took part in the program, which proved that wind instrument music is as suitable for the expression of master compositions as stringed instruments.

One of the most clever numbers on the program was the saxophone and cornet duet, "Playmates," by Bobby Burns and Dick Seeds, two of the youngest members of the Los Caballeros band, which assisted the other artists in the recital.

The program as a whole was well received by the audience while especial interest was shown in the sousaphone solo, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," by Erwin Brand and the saxophone solo, "Serenade," by Miss Billie Ralph Hyer.

The recital was opened with "Invercargill," a march, by the band, with Miss Phyllis Seeds, drum major, directing. Color was added to the setting by clever costumes of the heralders which includeed Misses Fay Humphries, Marvel Seeds, Jonnie Mae Lair, Lois Gibbons and Kathleen Chenault, who remained on the stage during the entire performance.

C. C. Bunnenberg, head of the city park department which sponsors the band, acted as master of ceremonies and announced the numbers, as follows:

Part I

The Heralders—Fay Humphries, Marvel Seeds, Jonnie Mae Lair, Lois Gibbons, Kathleen Chenault.

Zack Miller Wins Divorce Decree

PONCA CITY, March 17. (UP)—Col. Zack Miller, only survivor of the famous Miller Brothers of the 101 Ranch, has been granted an oral decree of divorce from Mrs. Margaret Bleyins Miller in the district court at Harrisburg, La., it was learned here today.

The decree ended a two-year effort on Miller's part for a divorce and custody of his two sons. Miller charged infidelity. The suit was a counter action filed after Mrs. Miller asked a decree in 1928.

Charging cruelty, Mrs. Miller asked custody of the children, $300,000 alimony and an injunction against being interfered with as hostess of the famous ranch "White House" near here.

The Millers were married at Piedgras Niegras, Mexico, in 1919. The ceremony was repeated two years later in Natchez, Miss.

Miller recently won a $90,000 damage suit against Tom Mix, movie actor, at Erie, Penn., in a breach of contract action.

Miller also is involved in a struggle to retain the ranch against creditor's claims.

Magnolia Employes Hear Sales Advice

Increased sales result from service at the pump, S. D. Duncan, advertising manager of the Dallas office of the Magnolia Petroleum company, told more than 70 employes of the company at an all-day district sales meeting at the Kemp hotel Tuesday.

During the afternoon an illustrated lecture on certified lubrication was given by T. J. Bonner of Dallas, instructor from the Magnolia lubrication institute.

Officials of the company attending the meeting here were W. O. Gatton, district manager; C. F. Hudgins, assistant district manager; C. W. Wofford, assistant district manager, all of Fort Worth; and J. C. Harris, division manager of Dallas.

P. P. Pechacek Honored By Dairy Association

Resolutions of sympathy on the death of P. P. Pechacek have been passed and forwarded to the family by the Wichita County Dairy association, according to the announcement of officials of the association.

Mr. Pechacek, a pioneer resident of the Lake Wichita district, died last week. Signers of the resolution, which expressed "our esteem for our departed friend and our sense of losing his departure," were Ed McGrath, Arch McKinley and G. C. McGown.

The sign of the three golden balls was first used by the Lombards, the forerunners of the modern "uncle."

At 13, This High School Lad Is Bigger Than Primo Carnera—And He's Still Growing

"Yes," says Robert Wadlow, "this is my dad—he's a little fellow, only 5 feet 11 inches tall. Just imagine him trying to give me a spanking!" . . . "And here I am with my little sister, Helen. She's 11 years old and in the seventh grade, but—goodness!—how tiny she looks when compared with me." . . . "The cameraman asked me to smile for this close-up—and why not? The only time I ever frown is when kids get under my feet at play." . . . "And here's how I would look stacked up beside that little guy, Primo Carnera. Some folks call him 'the Man Mountain,' but he has to look up to me!"

ALTON, Ill., March 11.—Robert Wadlow of Upper Alton, is as pleasant and normal a 13-year-old schoolboy as you'd want to meet.

Normal, that is, except in one respect. Robert happens to be seven feet four inches tall. During the past year he has grown four inches. At that rate, if Robert keeps on, by the time he is a man he will rival the famous Russian giant, Machnow, who was nine feet three inches, taller than any giant outside the fairy stories. Even now, he is bigger than Primo Carnera.

Being a giant is a bit awkward, Robert finds. Sometimes he bumps into things like chandeliers and the top sills of doors, but his awkwardness is no more than that of any 13-year-old boy, and he's getting clever at avoiding obstacles. The neighborhood kids get under his feet when he plays with them, Robert laments. And whenever he goes into the streets crowds follow him.

But the youthful giant just laughs at that. "I know how they feel," he says. "I like to see midgets myself. I suppose I seem just as queer to them as they do to me."

Two hundred and seventy-two pounds standing in a pair of No. 25 shoes do not prevent Robert from having the normal interests of any boy of 13. He is thrilled by adventure books, and reads lots of them. He likes mechanics, though he is too big to get under the wheel of an auto himself. He is in the eighth grade at high school.

Robert's parents and their three other children are all of normal size.

Robert weighed nine pounds at birth, 30 pounds at the age of six months and 62 pounds at 18 months.

Scientists say that his super-normal growth is due to overactivity of the pituitary gland which is located just over the the palate at the base of the skull and is about the size of a pea.

But that doesn't worry the young giant in the least. "I suppose I ought to be interested in that sort of thing," he says, "but it doesn't worry me any."

Oil Shippers Held Breaking Anti-Trust Laws

states advisory committee for consideration of plans for limiting production or otherwise aiding the distressed industry. An early reply was promised him by Cicero L. Murray, of Oklahoma, chairman of the states' committee.

Secretary Wilbur was hopeful that the last big importer to hold out, the Standard Oil company of Indiana, would be heard from favorably by tomorrow. He will leave in the evening with President Hoover for the Porto Rico-Virgin Islands trip.

The secretary sought delay in the oil hearing before the conservation board of which he is chairman so the meeting could consider the report on the country's oil requirements during the next six months which is being prepared by a voluntary committee. The report has been promised him for the morning of the ninth.

Delay in congressional action on the oil question next winter was forecast meanwhile by Chairman Hawley of the house ways and means committee. He placed responsibility for this on Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, who he said, killed a resolution which would have made possible a recess oil inquiry by his protracted filibuster at the end of the last session.

Reward to Play Part in Lingle Murder Hearing

CRIMINAL COURTS BUILDing, Chicago, March 17. (AP)—The $55,000 reward offered by Chicago newspapers after the police reporter, Alfred Lingle, was assassinated last June, cropped up today to delay the trial of his alleged killer.

Defense attorneys, examing prospects for the jury that will try Leo Brothers of St. Louis for the murder, stressed the reward question in the second day of the trial and indicated it would play an important part when evidence is introduced later.

"You would take into consideration, would you not, the fact that such a large reward might influence the testimony of some witnesses?" Attorney Tyrrell Krum asked the veniremen.

Arguments between attorneys were frequent. The prosecution objected to the defense assertion that the Chicago Tribune was prosecuting the case. The defense objected the state was "lecturing."

It was late in the day before a fourth juror was accepted.

Harvey Brothers, the defendant's father, joined his divorced wife and daughter today to encourage young Brothers.

Brothers was again one of the most active persons seated at the counsel table. He frequently called his three attorneys into conference and suggested some of the questions to the men in the jury box.

Fake Oil Men Fleece Vets of Bonus Checks

DALLAS, March 17. (UP)—Activities of confidence men reported to be posing as oil operators and fleecing ex-service men of their bonus checks were under investigation tonight. Veterans from smaller towns here, pending the arrival of their checks, are being duped, officers said.

Will Edmondson's Sixth Murder Trial Starts

GEORGETOWN, March 17. (UP)—For the sixth time Will Edmondson, rancher, went on trial here today charged with murdering Fred Bolinger, his neighbor, in 1925. Defense attorneys will attempt to prove that Bolinger either committed suicide or was killed by a robber.

The Congressional library at Washington, D. C., has a very rare collection of Persian manuscripts dating back to the ninth century.

EAST TEXAS OIL

SHREVEPORT, La., March 17. (UP)—Sale of the properties of the Shreveport-El Dorado Pipe Line company to the Spartan Refining corporation of this city was announced today by directors of the former company.

The properties were valued at $4,000,000 and included 125 miles of eight and six-inch pipe between Shreveport, Homer and El Dorado and a 10,000-barrel refinery in Shreveport.

The Spartan company was recently organized here with E. R. Ratcliff president; S. D. Hunter, vice president and chairman of the board; B. H. Gray, vice president and general manager, and Joe F. Atkins, secretary.

The Shreveport-El Dorado company was headed by William Lilley of Philadelphia, as president; B. H. Gray vice president, and Joe F. Atkins, secretary. The Spartan refinery is controlled by the Atlas Pipe Line company, organized here recently as a $6,000,000 company to build a pipe line from Shreveport to Longview.

MARSHALL, Texas, March 17. (UP)—Further investment in the East Texas oil field by Sinclair Oil and Gas company was revealed today with announcement of acquisition of half interest in Ray Drilling company's F. C. Hall No. 1 Daniel Davis survey, four miles northwest of Hallsville, and in a 1,500-acre block of acreage surrounding the well by that company.

The well will be completed under Sinclair supervision, according to the contract. The consideration was not revealed. The well is understood to be about 3000 feet deep.

Two other Sinclair tests, one in Harrison and one in Marion county, are ready to spud in. One is the Mrs. Cora Davenport tract, John V. Morton survey, four miles northwest of Harietin and three miles west of Crump-Hanahan's recent dry hole in Marion county. The other is on the Wurtsbaugh tract, owned by Wright & Braden in the C. S. White survey, in the west central part of the county.

LONGVIEW, Texas, March 17. (UP)—The plug was drilled last night in Navarro Oil company's No. 8 G. B. Tenery and a six-foot core of sand taken from the hole today. The test found oil sand last week and closed down for casing to set.

Tanks for receiving oil have been erected and oil and gas separator connected. Running of tubing in the hole was scheduled for tonight. The test probably will be drilled in Wednesday.

Austin Chalk was believed to have been found in the M. S. Hammond's No. 1 J. M. Hamby when a core was completed early today. The core, according to belief of geologists and scouts, was part of shale and chalk. The chalk was believed to have been of the Austin variety, which is encountered in the East Texas fields immediately above pay sand. Depth of the hole was thought to have been 3625 feet. The crew put the bit back into the hole immediately upon completion of the core test again.

The core was expected to show some Austin chalk. Others, however, believed that only shale formation would be found. A large bit, which cores and drills at the same time, is being used on the Hamby test.

Scouts were watching the Sultan Drilling company's No. 1 J. F. Stuckey, located about a mile and a half northwest of the Lathrop discovery well, closely as the result of a core which was taken from the test today. It was believed that the core was of shale formation with traces of what is thought to be Austin chalk.

DALLAS, March 17. (AP)—Bringing in of a group of new producers in the New East Texas oil field was expected by oil men here within a few more days. Operations in the three areas now include 225 tests, with 56 producing wells, in addition and a dozen others shut in or "dead."

In the Kilgore area, the Burton Drilling company No. 1 Thompson was reported today to have found oil sand at about 3636 feet. It is 2,000 feet south of the Olney well and is located 150 feet from the north and 150 feet from the east lines of the west 20 acres of a 70-acre tract, 1,900 feet from the east and 2,200 feet from the north lines of the Robert E. Winn survey. Casing was set at 3621.

In the Joiner area, the Petroleum Marketing company No. 1 Deason, which topped sand at 3666 feet, was reported as running tubing. Total depth was 3690 feet. The well is 1,200 feet from the south and 1,800 feet from the east line of the M. J. Prue survey.

Operations in the East Texas fields now include 39 producers in the Joiner area, 14 in the Bateman and three in the Gregg county-Lathrop area. In addition, more than 100 wells are being drilled in the Joiner area, 65 in the Bateman and 45 in the Gregg county area.

HENDERSON, Texas, March 17. (UP)—Legal counsel to oppose proration in the East Texas oil field before the railroad commission's hearing at Austin on March 24, was named today by the East Texas Lease, Royalty and Producers association.

Former Governor Dan Moody, two former assistant attorney generals of Texas, Tom Beauchamp and Dewey Lawrence of Paris, Renne Allred of Henderson and Judge Edwin Lacey of Longview, were chosen to represent East Texas.

The counsel was named by the legal committee of the organization, composed of E. B. Alford, of Henderson; J. Fred Stuckey, Longview, and Carl Estes, Tyler.

Marvin Kelley, former president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the "on to Austin March 24th" movement, announced plans for a special train loaded with East Texans to make the trip to Austin and protest proration in the newly found oil field at this time.

On the committee with Kelley are Stuckey, Malcolm Crim, Kilgore; Gus Taylor, Tyler; Rade Kangera, Henderson; Bob Motley, Overton; B. F. Phillips, Gladewater and Dr. A. D. Lloyd, Overton.

Two Texas Girls Hurt In Mexico Accident

MEXICO CITY, March 17. (AP)—Elena Hunnicut and Irene Kress, both of Austin, Texas, were injured today when a locomotive struck their automobile at a railroad crossing.

OFFICER KILLS TEXAN IN RAID

Aged Farmer Shot Down By Deputy Sheriff

before the latter knew they were in the neighborhood. He said he stepped up to Fagin, touched him on the back, and said, "Don't start anything, old man."

According to the sheriff's account, Fagin then snatched a pistol from the pocket of his overalls and was cocking it when he was shot. He fell, but was still trying to shoot when one of the officers took the gun from him. He died about an hour later.

Two other white men and a negro were at the still, Sessions said. One of the white men was arrested. The other and the negro fled during the confusion.

The still was of 150-gallon capacity. The officers seized 20 gallons of whisky and 13 barrels of mash besides a large quantity of sugar.

Fagin is survived by his widow and 13 children, several of whom lived with their parents on the farm. Funeral arrangements had not been made.

The case against Fagin for the slaying of Tim Willard was dismissed in 77th district court by Judge Fountain Kirby after two trials had been held. At the first, the defendant received a 99-year sentence but the case was reversed and remanded. The jury was unable to agree at the second trial, and the charge was then dismissed on a plea of previous jeopardy.

An inquest into Fagin's death was held by Justice of the Peace J. E. Lindsey. No verdict was returned.

Guards of Non-Union Workers Under Attacks

ST. LOUIS, March 17. (AP)—Reverting to the tactics of Indians in the covered wagon era, 25 automobile loads of men ambushed six special deputy sheriffs near a ferry landing today and engaged them in a gun battle, slightly wounding four of the officers.

The officers were guarding non-union iron and boiler workers who are erecting gasoline tanks at the eastern terminus of the Phillips pipe line reaching from the Texas Panhandle to St. Louis. The attack took place near the Mississippi river in St. Clair county, Illinois.

American Women See Triumphant Homecoming of India's Liberator

BOMBAY, India, March 17. (AP)—Two American women from New York state, Mrs. Hattie Belle Johnston, of New York, and Mrs. R. A. C. Clark, of Lockport, saw Mahatma Gandhi return to Bombay today an almost defied idol before an audience estimated at 250,000 people.

Back home from his triumphant peace conference with Lord Irwin, India's viceroy, it was half an hour before the famous leader of India was able to speak above the terrific din of the welcome from the forest of shouting humanity.

Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Clark occupied places as guests of Mrs. Gandhi, on the rostrum in the middle of the concourse of spectators. Mrs. Gandhi asked the American women many questions about the emancipation of women in the United States.

When the Mahatma was finally able to make his voice heard over the ocean of brown, upturned, white-capped heads of people who hung from roofs, lamp posts, telegraph poles and boughs of trees, he admonished the people to keep the terms of the truce.

His listeners followed his words as though they fell from the mouth of a god. "If the second round table conference fails," he continued "to grant our demand for a complete independence, then it is written in heaven that our struggle shall be renewed until India's inarticulate millions are given a voice in their own affairs."

Borotra Beats Burns To Enter Fourth Round

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Jean Borotra, leading French contender in the men's national singles indoor tennis championship tournament, entered the fourth round today by defeating Edward W. Burns of Brooklyn, N. Y., in straight sets, 6-3, 6-0.

In a first round doubles match Merkeley Bell, Austin, Texas, 1 and Merritt Cutler, seventh regiment tennis club, defeated I. A. Raymond, Columbia university and M. M. Hewland, New York, 6-3, 6-4.

Train Fare Forwarded To Flogging Victims

DALLAS, March 17. (AP)—State authorities, through District Attorney William McCraw, reported today transportation expenses had been forwarded to Kansas City to C. J. Coder and Lewis Hurst, Communist organizers, for their return to Dallas to testify before a grand jury concerning their reported kidnaping and flogging by armed men who seized them from the Dallas city hall steps the night of March 5.

NEGRO HIJACKED

A negro was robbed of a $15 check and 50 cents in money late Tuesday night by a masked white man in the railroad yards east of the business section of the city, the negro reported to police. The bandit, it was said, threatened to "blow" the negro's head off if the white man didn't obtain some money.

The piano was invented early in the 18th century.

Basketeers Down Allendale Quint

Ringing up their 18th victory out of 23 starts, the Basketeers, local independent team, downed the Allendale basket ball team here Tuesday night at the Floral Heights Presbyterian church gym, 25 to 17. The drubbing Tuesday is the second administered to the Allendale aggregation by the Basketeers. On a former occasion the locals emerged from the fray a 28-24 winner.

Brandeberry of the Basketeers appeared to be the stellar attraction, chalking up a high score of 10 points.

Dope Crazed Prisoners Riot in Longview Jail

LONGVIEW, Texas, March 17. (UP)—Special officers did sentry work in the city jail tonight following frenzied rioting by more than 50 dope crazed prisoners in the crowded cells early today. Tear gas bombs quelled the riot which started after narcotic tablets had been distributed to the 64 prisoners by a dope addict.

Words of Gold From a Grand Old Man Some Will Heed Them A New Idea of Jobs

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Nothing in the newspapers this week could be more helpful to the young man of ambition than the words of Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, who speaks with a ripe wisdom at the age of 90. It must be good to know at that time of life that one is still among the gallant cohort which does the world's work. Mr. Justice Holmes's mind is as alert today as it was when, a man in his prime, he wrote "The Common Law," a monumental legal accomplishment.

Young gentlemen rushing through thier work and watching the clock and staying up late with scatter-brained girls will not be interested in what this great man of 90 has to say. And they will never reach 90. Others, ambitious, who read slowly and think, will profit by his words and experience and go far.

If you are ambitious, have faith and hope to lift yourself above the herd, ponder over this from the mind of Holmes:

"But if he is a man of high ambitions, he must leave even his fellow adventurers and go forth into a deeper solitude and greater trials. In plain words, he must face the loneliness of original work. No one can put out new paths in company. He does that alone.

"He knows now what he had divined at the outset, that one part of the universe yields the same teaching as any other if only it is mastered; that the difference between the great way of taking things and the small ,between philosophy and gossip is only the difference between realizing the part as a part of a whole and looking at it in its isolation as if it really stood apart.

"I care not very much for the form if in some way he has learned that he cannot set himself over against the universe as a rival God, to criticize it, or to shake his fist at the skies, but that his meaning is its meaning, his only worth is as a part of it as a humble instrument of the universal power. It seems to me that this is the key to intellectual salvation, as the key to hapipness is to accept a like faith in one's heart, and to be not merely a necessary but a willing instrument in working out the inscrutable end."

The sidewalks of New York, East Side and West Side, are to be immaculate sidewalks hereafter, if the "Rybicki idea" goes through Mr. E. C. Rybicki is director of New York City's free employment bureau, and his plan is to have each pay $15 to an unemployed man for keeping the sidewalk clean. That will provide jobs for 10,000, and make many happy.

The idea has the approval of Dr. Wynne, health commissioner, and of many churchmen. It was promulgated at a meeting called by the residents of the Seventh street block bounded by First avenue and Avenue A. There were two hands, but neither of them played the theme song that put so many Democrats into office. However, the seed has been planted and should bear fruit. As the idea is not copyrighted, other cities may follow suit.

Governor Roosevelt has thrown down the gauntlet to Tammany and named Judge Samuel Seabury to investigate District Attorney Crain, charged with misfeasance in the exercise of his duties. In defying Tammany Roosevelt is doing what Mayor Abram S. Hewitt of New York did in 1880. When Mayor Hewitt came up for re-election in 1888 he was ignominiously defeated. What fate will overtake Governor Roosevelt if he persists? Will the machine, no matter how vicious, always be stronger than the man, however courageous and upright he may be?

1. OIL—Place the Wichita Falls district on a parity with other centers in the marketing of both crude oil and refined products.
2. THE VALLEY—Systematic, vigorous development of the irrigated valley in keeping with its possibilities as Wichita Falls' greatest physical asset.
3. WATER—An ample, assured supply of soft water.
4. EDUCATION—Maintenance of a junior college in Wichita Falls to give opportunity for higher education to our youth—the highest standards in elementary schools.
5. THE LAKES—Full development of the recreational opportunities offered by the three lakes.
6. HIGHWAYS—Early consummation of a highway program covering all the main routes radiating from this city and all the local roads that serve its agricultural community.
7. DRAINAGE—Solution of the drainage problem in all three phases; first, in the irrigated valley; second, with regard to Holliday creek; third, in those portions of the city now inadequately drained.
8. GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY—The adoption of such means as may be found most feasible to reduce the cost of local government by elimination of unnecessary offices and consolidation of others.

Inferiority complexes don't worry some women as much as inferiority complexions.

Congressmen last year paid the government $67,000 for having their speeches printed. And yet it is said silence is golden.

Akron, Ohio, rubber center, is said to be the healthiest city in the United States. In a business slump, of course, workers there don't tire as much.

Public Education

THE WORST thing about trying to appraise the status of common school education in the United States today is the fact that one gets so many different verdicts from which to choose.

On one hand, it is asserted that the education that is given children today is immeasurably better than that which was given half a century ago, and on the other hand there are people who declare that modern educational methods have lost themselves in a maze of technicalities, so that the pupil emerges with a narrow horizon and a poorly-trained mind.

In the current issue of World's Work magazine, for instance, a teacher calls for a simplification of the public school program. Experts in the field of education, she asserts, have learned teaching everywhere except in the classroom. They know nothing of children from first-hand observation—and try to study them through charts, curves, graphs and tests. They bedevil the teachers with questionnaires and extract profundities from the tabulation thereof. They then write new text-books and put them into the schools—and the hapless child is the goat.

Undoubtedly, there is ground for complaint in this respect. Fadists and theorists do settle on the public school system very often—so that one wonders, now and then, if the little red schoolhouse of the old days did not, after all, train its pupils just as well as they are trained today, if not better.

On the heels of this, however, comes Dr. C. V. Good, professor of education in the Teachers college of the University of Cincinnati, to point out the genuine advances that have been made in elementary education.

"The chief qualifications of the schoolmaster of 100 years ago," he points out, "were to manage the big boys and to rule the school with an iron hand. Two of the favorite pedagogical maxims of the time were: 'Spare the rod and spoil the child,' and 'A boy has a back; when you hit it, he understands.'"

In addition, Dr. Good points out that much of the information contained in the old text-books was actually untrue. Geography and history, in particular, were so handled as to give the child a faulty picture of the world in which it lived. Furthermore, no effort was made to enlist the child's interest or stir his curiosity.

Undeniably, enormous advances have been made in these respects. In the light of Dr. Good's remarks it is impossible to deny that the modern school is leagues ahead of its predecessor.

But we have, nevertheless, two verdicts. Which is right? Or, if neither is entirely correct—which attitude comes the closer to expressing the truth of the matter?

The New Baseball

AS THE time approaches for the opening of the baseball season, fans are growing increasingly apprehensive about the new ball. With its heavier hide and coarser stitching the new regulation ball, they fear, will slow up the game more than ever. And as if to confirm their gravest doubts, John McGraw, veteran pilot of the New York Giants, declares the new "pill" is deadened.

Reports of the deadening of the new ball, like those on Mark Twain's death, are greatly exaggerated. There is no evidence from the training camps that the ball isn't sailing as far as it used to, when properly hit, of course. Some of the players, it is said, haven't even noticed they were dealing with a new medium!

Far from slowing up the game, there is every reason to believe the new experiment will enliven it, or, at least, make it more interesting. In recent seasons, home runs have grown to such epidemic proportions as to cause fans to look upon them as ordinary rather than spectacular. All that matters to them in home runs now, aside from the scores they bring in a given game, is who will make the most four-base clouts in the season.

Now the pitchers, thanks to the raised seams, can practice a keener deception. They will have better control, get sharper "breaks," more acute "drops." In short, they will be able to produce the same bewildering effects as "roughening" and "slicking" the ball, now taboo, enabled them.

With sluggers whacking the ball harder and to greater distances than ever before in baseball history, this new power afforded the pitchers will act as a compensatory factor, like an ordinary law of physics. It's as simple as that. At any rate, fans, watch for closer, more interesting games this season.

Portrait of Man Talking to Himself

Interesting piece by Broun about that cop who is stationed at the Club Argonaut . . . Police Commissioner Mulrooney detailed several of them in various White Light night places since the Abbey club was bing-bang-boomed . . . Broun felt too sorry for the officer, however . . . He said that the poor cop had to be there and listen to the same jokes and same sillies, and look at the same undraped sirens night after night, and that it must drive him pecans . . . Wasted sympathy, considering that the policeman, after he does his two weeks at the Argonaut, where there is always something doing, must then do two weeks at the ill-fated Abbey—in the candle-light, where he probably goes a little mad watching the same mice play tag in and out of the bullet holes . . . The very odd MyIntyre says that "Lady Play Your Mandolin" was composed by a Cuban . . . Oscar Levant, a Pittsburgh Joosh Jentlemen, will like that . . . The odd fellow on the Sabbath also declared that the most tuneful hit of all the musicals was Vincent Youman's "Tea for Three" . . . Youman's "Tea for Two" was good, three!

Leave it to some of the shrewder speakeasy and restaurant impresarios to think up something different to appeal to one's vanity . . . There's the lad who runs that exclusive place in the mid-town sector where the password is "Birthday" . . . "Birthday" because once you are okayed there, they jot down your name, address and your birthday . . . And on that day every year your mail includes a card containing some sentimentality . . . You meet the most interesting people after midnight . . . That very successful broker, for example, whose hobby is giving celebrities $100 bills—which he autographs . . . In return he asks the celebrated one to give him a new dollar bill autographed . . . What a grand hobby it would be if the generous fellow gave those $100 bills to those who really need them . . . Money was made round, as Balzac said, because it was meant to roll . . . And who was it chirped a long time ago that there are only 63 ways of making money, and 214 ways of spending it? . . . I know 215 . . . Phil Baker similes: "Money is like a good woman. It was never meant to be kept."

There is something touching about that story concerning little Gloria, age 7, who is carrying her first torch, and experiencing her first real heartache . . . Gloria is a beautiful child, whose face, someone once remarked seemed as though it had been chiseled from marble by a genius . . . Well, while she was hollidaying in Miami Beach most of the Winter, she met a chap much older than herself . . . His name is Johnny Weissmuller, and he is the champion swimmer of the world, having copped all honors at five Olympic . . . Weissmuller adored little Gloria . . . He waited for her to dine at the little Coffee Shop across the way from the Roney-Plaza daily—with her baby sister and the nurse . . . Weissmuller would pat her dainty hands and fondle her cheeks and kiss her tenderly . . . And always very seriously he would say: "Gloria, dear, you're only seven years old, I know, but if you will only eat all that spinach and your carrots, it will make you grow up quickly. I will wait for you to grow up, honey—and then we can be married, see?" . . . Gloria hated spinach and carrots, but Johnny was her dream man—her Prince Charming—so she forced anything to please her Johnny Then while she was on the Havana Special coming home to her daddy in New York, her nurse showed her the newspaper which reported Weissmuller's marriage to Bobbe Arnst, the actress . . . Gloria broke down and wept furiously . . . She hasn't been the same since . . . You can't get her to sit at the same table that features spinach or carrots, and she stares and stares and stares . . . Poor thing . . . Some fellows just can't be trusted.

Among other lads on Broadway who must have tittered long last week is Matthew Crowley, a former New Haven native . . . Crowley was not regarded good enough at the Yale Drama School for a speaking part in even the most unimportant experimental play produced by George Pierce Baker . . . Today, less than three years after he completed the course, he is the only alumnus of the Yale Drama School who is playing a lead on the Grandest Canyon—having just succeeded Lee Tracy in the lead role of "O, Promise Me!" . . . I'm sorry Fred Girton of the Friday night at Miami fired C. E. Heil because I pointed out that Heil had lifted his entire column—of puns from Film Fun . . . But Heil had accused me of borrowing from his thefted material, although in taking an item I credited Girton, the owner and editor of the sheet, not having observed any byline on the stuff . . . Now comes word that a recent gag (also credited to a source) belonged to Olsen & Johnson of vaudeville . . . But just as I was on the verge of sending an apology to them I learned they swiped it from an old "Vanities" show.

I'm getting to be a great big softy . . . I can't hear about lovers any more without wanting to feel sorry for them . . . That's what I've always said . . . "Don't show me a couple madly in love with each other, because one of the two—some day—will ache all over something awful" . . . So now Frances Williams and Alan Jones, who were going to get married—aren't . . . And Frances has a new sweetheart already . . . He's one of the horntooters in Fred Waring's "Pennsylvanians" . . . The lad she just parted from is a musicker, too, in the California Collegians . . . Not only is Fwancee musically inclined (and she never took a lesson, either!), but she is the only blonde with a mole on her shapely back who can leap from California to Pennsylvania and sing the new "Scram" song: "Hmmm-Mmmm-Hmmmm, Woodja Like to Take the Air?" . . . And, even though Fwancee and Alan have parted, he continues to play the piano for her at the Club Richman while she sangs "Love for Say-hay-hale!" . . . It's all very Broadway . . . Ted Cook columns: "One half the world doesn't know how the other half loves" . . . No? . . . Pardon a moment, the phone is ringing . . . Heheheh . . . That was Harry Richman . . . He phoned to say why there are no breadlines in California . . . Because, it appears, they have no bread!

Big Business Girl . . . By One of Them

Synopsis of Preceding Installments

Claire MacIntyre, known as "Mac," a beautiful and ambitious girl, determines upon a business career in Chicago when she is graduated from State university. She is in love with Johnny Goodman, handsome, talented as a musician, but undependable. Johnny heads a little band of collegians for a summer engagement in Paris. Mac, against his protests, goes to Chicago, determined to embark on a business career. She has had some experience in the cleaning and dyeing business at college. Mac learns that this business is threatened by racketeers in Chicago. She finds work in the office of the Clayton company, cleaners and dyers. "R. J." the big boss, becomes interested in Mac. Her big chance in the office comes when she volunteers to go to lunch with a racketeer, Green, who has written a covertly threatening letter to Clayton.

INSTALLMENT IX

When the affable Mr. Green learned the situation, he was delighted on a vast scale. He proposed a luncheon place about five blocks from the office, a quiet little restaurant remodeled from a once famous saloon, which was an ideal hide-away. "Almost as quiet as the Lincoln Park Refectory," he told her, with a worldliness which she knew he did not possess.

The big German head waiter who met them at the door immediately suggested the second floor. Mac agreed. The booths there were cozy, without being too private, but it was evident that this was where the favored ones "in the know" were served with drinks.

"How about a little something first?" said Mr. Green, his black eyes snapping in delight.

She really needed it, but her affirmative was carefully quiet.

They were well into the dessert before they got to talking about the little matter he had been sent to discuss. It had been 1:30 when they arrived, and while the place thinned out, he had been telling her of his early life as wine merchant in the "back of the yards" district. Then he had worked his way into the job of promoting testimonial banquets given to minor office holders and ambitious politicians, where judges and gangsters and politicians all sat down together to a dinner which cost Mr. Green a dollar and forty cents a plate but which cost everybody else $10.

He was very pleased with himself. She had thrown open the coat to her suit, and the long line of her beautiful throat tormented him.

"You are very pretty," he said humbly, his heart jumping into his eyes.

"I am afraid you are something of a flatterer, Mr. Green."

"Please, won't you call me Benny? They all call me Benny."

Gravely she promised to call him Benny.

"I feel so sorry that I did not see Mr. Winters today. He is such a—"

"Nice young man," finished Mac. "Tell me, what did you want to see him about? Has the Federation decided to leave Mr. Clayton alone?"

He grinned slowly, carefully watching her eyes. "I had nothing to see him about. But I thought maybe he might want to see me."

"Yes?"

"But I guess not. I guess maybe they don't care what happens any more, no?"

"Not that."

"I want to tell him, maybe, that something was going to happen this week."

Mac was elaborately careless in finishing her coffee. "Why, what do you mean?"

He shrugged. "I have nothing to do with it. I only hear what they say."

"What could happen? You see, I am so new in this business that I don't understand things."

"Let us hear about you," said dapper Mr. Green, changing the subject. "How do you like the work?"

And she told him all about herself: the fact that the only things that mattered to her were to get ahead in life, to succeed in business. Feasting upon her loveliness and paying attention to about half of what his ears heard, ever so often he let the comforting oblivion of liquor overwhelm his senses. He reached out and patted the hand that lay on the table.

"You are a very remarkable girl, believe me," he said. "I hope you get along."

"Thank you, Mr—"

"Benny."

"Benny. I certainly hope I do." His hand was warm on hers. She left it there.

"Maybe I can help you. Perhaps I tell them that this would not be a good time to let anything happen? Wouldn't that do you some good? What do you say, eh?"

"How do you mean?"

"I will tell my people that maybe a month from now would be a better time."

"A better time for what?"

"To let something happen. Then I can tell your boss that you talked me out of it. And maybe in another month Mr. Clayton will get together with us. So, you see, that saves you people a lot of money and some trouble, and I am glad to help a little girl along."

"Would you do that for me?" exclaimed Mac, squeezing his hand. "That's great!"...She had done it! She had done it!

"Remember, that's not good business, but I do it anyway. You keep it quiet."

"Oh, I will!" She freed her hand and wielded a lipstick until her mouth was properly scarlet. He was fluttered, she could see. "Tell me," she went on, spreading rouge into the corners with her little fingers, "just how they make trouble for those who don't join."

In a few simple sentences he expounded the racketeer's law, which is essentially the same as the gangster's, that "a Smith and Wesson makes all men equal." Methods such as that were crude, explained Green, and not at all in accordance with his idea. But of course he wasn't running the Federation. He felt it was much better to have men stick up a cleaner's branch plant, or retail store, and then pour acid on the clothes they would find in the racks. That was neater, and you weren't so apt to be involved in any messy investigation or show-up. The racket was able to keep so many of its men, he explained, because it held the threat of exposure over them if they wanted to quit. Now Benny wasn't ever going to get involved like that, no sir. He had never killed anybody and he wasn't ever going to. Not Benny.

Mac said she thought the hoodlums were the only ones who made the big money. He disagreed.

"When you're a hood you've got to be quick on the trigger," he concluded. "Then the first thing you know you've winged somebody. And then it ain't long till you get rubbed out yourself."

It was very late. "I've never had such an interesting afternoon in all my life," said Mac, "but I really must go."

"I am glad," simply. "Maybe if I called you up sometime we could go out dancing? And we could talk some more?"

Mac pictured herself in one of her expensive evening gowns, playing up to Green and his friends at some night club. "Well, you call me up—and we'll see," she said as they rose to go.

He patted her arm in an exploratory manner when he let her out of his car in front of the office. "Good-by," he said. And before he could think of what he wanted to say, she was gone.

There was a note on Mac's desk to see Mr. Clayton as soon as she came in. She wondered nervously if he were angry because she had taken so long for lunch. Patting at her hair, with the aid of the mirror in her purse, she hurried into his office.

"How did you come out?" exclaimed Mr. Clayton. "I was very anxious about you when you didn't return from lunch."

"They were all ready to go ahead with some rough stuff right away, but Green finally promised not to do anything for at least a month."

"How did you do that? Why, that's great work!" He sprang up from his chair and shook her hand, man fashion. "But I shouldn't have let you go out with him."

"It was perfectly all right." Mac's heart was swelling with joy. This was her moment! This was the kind of thing she had gone into business for!

She felt that this older man before her was finding her good to look upon. A little gleam in his eyes said so. It was honest admiration—and something besides. Mac had never been in love with an older man. Up to this very moment R. J. Clayton had been to her just another middle-aged man, rather attractive, who had found that life was now more or less of a stale thing.

Now he seemed to be so close! She turned her head away, afraid to look at him...afraid to think of him that way, as being human. Like any young person who suddenly finds that older men and women have emotions, too, she was perplexed.

"I meant to ask you yesterday, Miss MacIntyre, if you could come to our home Saturday night for a little dinner party. Just a few of the men from the office, Donovan, Winters, Elfstrom. My wife, in fact, is even planning on you. Won't you come?"

"I'd love to," the words rushed out. "I really would."

"Very well. I'll have somebody pick you up. Seven o'clock dinner."

In another moment he had returned his attention to his work and she was back in her office, wondering how it all had happened.

He likes me, a little voice within her said...all the dim avenues of intrigue opened up to an ambitious girl...This was her chance. She remembered seeing his wife at the office once. She was just a little red-haired woman who had helped him get started, many years ago. Surely he couldn't find her attractive now...If Mac could handle a campus king or wangle a favor out of a lady dean, she knew she could play with this man without any danger to herself. Clayton had not been an attractive man in his youth, perhaps, but business and affluence had steadied him, given him a certain reticent charm which is very appealing to women.

It was not until she began tearing evening gowns out of her closet at home, a little later, that she felt a sudden stab of guilt. There lay Johnny's letter on her dressing table, saying he would call as soon as he arrived. He would be here Saturday.

She sat down on her bed and tried to realize what she had done. Made a date for the very night Johnny arrived in Chicago! Johnny's face would be so eager. He would be so successful, now. And his voice over the telephone!

B. Y. P. U. Study Classes Conducted in Stamford

Special to The Record News

STAMFORD, Texas, March 17.—Ten local workers are teaching study courses in B. Y. P. U. work each evening at the First Baptist church in a B. Y. P. U. training school which is a part of the Associational B. Y. P. U. training school work over the entire association conducted this week. Miss Grace Conn, under whose direction this training school is conducted, is planning so that every church in this association may be reached, if possible, during the week. A meeting was held in the Anson Baptist church Sunday when representatives of the churches met in an opening session.

Study courses will be taught locally by Rev. Sam Morris, pastor, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Jewel Austin, Mrs. G. G. Flournoy, Mrs. F. M. Jackson, Mrs. Ebb Macon, Miss Bernice Caldwell and Miss Mabel Bailey and a nursery story hour will be conducted by Mrs. J. T. Allen and Miss Maye Belle Buffington. Practically 200 are regularly registered in B. Y. P. U.'s of the church each Sunday evening.

RITES LAUNCH CHURCH WORK

Stamford Baptists Build $15,000 Addition

Special to The Record News

STAMFORD, Texas, March 17.—Work is under way for the new three-story $15,000 Sunday school annex of the First Baptist church of this city. The contract was let to Ed Jones, local contractor, last week and dirt was broken in an impressive ceremony at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

A large crowd attended the rites. Rev. Sam Morris, pastor, read of the building of the first temple to "glorify God." After a prayer Rev. Mr. Morris plowed the first furrow and the building was begun.

The building will be a 40x80 foot structure of cream colored brick, matching the church proper and will have a lobby connection with the old building. The basement floor will house the cradle roll, beginners, primary departments and two mother's classes. The second floor will be used as the young people's department, containing six large class rooms and an assembly room with a capacity of 200 where mid-week prayer services will be held.

The third floor will be used for the intermediate and junior departments, the junior department being connected with the old building and using several class rooms there. The adult department will be housed in the old building and the men's downtown Bible class will be moved from the theater to the church.

This arrangement enlarges the church auditorium appreciably. The work is expected to be completed in 90 days.

Recognition Sought for Childish Heroes of Palacios Bay Tragedy

PALACIOS, Texas, March 17. (AP)—A movement was under way here today to obtain medals for two heroes of the tragedy here Saturday afternoon which took the lives of two children, one of them the 14-year-old girl who sacrificed her life in a vain effort to save an 8-year-old playmate from drowning.

The body of the girl, Tressie Huffhines, was recovered yesterday. That of the boy, Clyde Pennland, son of A. A. Pennland, had not been recovered.

Ten-year-old Glenn Pennland is the other hero. He it was who took charge in the rotted and waterlogged skiff in which six children, five of the Pennland family and the Huffhines girl, Mrs. Pennland's sister, were playing about noon Saturday at a wharf on the old Pierce ranch, across the bay from Palacios, when the rope holding the boat to the wharf parted and the old skiff began drifting out on the rough waters of the bay.

Girl Jumps

As the boat drifted farther into the bay Tressie pulled off the rubber boots she was wearing and jumped overboard and struck out for shore to bring aid to the frightened children in the boat. She had almost gained the wharf when Clyde, distracted with fear, jumped out of the boat. He did not remove his boots and could not remain afloat. When Tressie saw he was sinking she turned and swam to his rescue. She reached him as he went down the third time but was unable to drag him to shore. She sank with him.

The old boat began to take water as it was buffeted by the rougher waves, and Glenn began bailing with an old bucket with which the children had been playing.

Babies Scream

Two-year-old John Pennland, Glenn's baby brother, and the other two children, also brothers of Glenn, were crying and screaming. Several times, Glenn said in telling the story, as the waves threatened to engulf the little boat, first one and then another of the frightened children, none of them more than babies, would try to climb over its side into the water to swim to shore. Glenn would pull the child back with one hand as he frantically bailed the boat with the other.

For more than two hours the boat drifted. Then after covering more than three miles it came near to the Palacios side of the bay where the screams of the children could be heard, and boats put out and took them from the skiff and brought them to shore.

PORT INSPECTION

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, March 17. (AP)—The United States army board of engineers will arrive here March 25 to inspect the Corpus Christi port and Port Aransas project. The board will go from here to Brownsville.

Aged Paralytic Unable To Tell of Fatal Assault

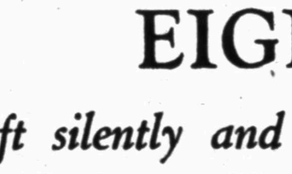

CLARINDA, Iowa, March 17. (AP)—Unable because of his paralysis to tell how his 68-year-old wife had been murdered, Irving Beach, 74, died at a hospital early today of exposure.

His wife was apparently slain yesterday in an attempted robbery. Her hands were tied behind her back. A gag was in her mouth.

Mrs. Beach's body was on the floor and Beach unconscious behind a bed. His hands were bound and he apparently had been beaten.

Beach suffered a paralytic stroke three weeks ago and was unable to speak.

The couple was reputed to have had a large sum of money cached about the home.

ALTUS PICKS 'FIRST' WOMAN

Mrs. George Davis Honored By City Clubs

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., March 17.—Charitable work done by Mrs. George Davis last fall was given as the principal reason for her selection as Altus' most useful woman citizen during 1930. This selection was sponsored as a special feature of the Business and Professional Women's club of this city and announcement of her selection has just been made.

This was listed as the predominant reason by members of the secret committee who chose her from a list of 10 candidates. Six men and six women representing civic clubs of the city chose Mrs. Davis.

Early last fall before charitable organizations had begun functioning in Altus, Mrs. Davis made a survey of the poorer districts of Altus. Many children were found to be undernourished and underclothed.

For a time Mrs. Davis prepared food and took it to these children. She secured clothing and made it possible for a number of these underprivileged children to attend school.

When needs of these children became so great that Mrs. Davis could not supply them, as president of the Eugene Fields school, she secured the cooperation of the organization. From this start the city-wide milk campaign grew. All undernourished children of Altus were given one-half pint of milk for several weeks.

As president of the parent-teacher association of the Eugene Field and Roosevelt schools, Mrs. Davis sponsored the silver tea given in connection with the opening of the new ward school building this last fall.

Other nominees for this honor were Mrs. E. L. Garnett, Mrs. O. B. Grimmett, Capt. Dora Stephens, Miss Lemma Maloney, Mrs. Raymond H. Fox, Mrs. R. F. Brown, Mrs. J. H. McNeil, Mrs. L. H. McConnell and Mrs. Guy P Horton.

T. M. Robinson, recently selected as Altus' most useful citizen was elected by popular vote under direction of the Altus Times-Democrat.

Century Air Lines To Open New Services

CHICAGO, March 17. (AP)—Century Air Lines will inaugurate air passenger service between middle western terminal cities March 23, proposing within 90 days to establish a schedule for planes departing every hour on the hour.

The unit going into operation next week will connect Chicago and St. Louis via Springfield, and Chicago, Toledo, Detroit and Cleveland. The company is backed by the Cord group with E. L. Cord, president; L. B. Manning, vice president and general manager, and William Bliss, assistant general manager in charge of operations.

The company placed an order for 100 tri-motored planes last October.

Camera Pictures Tummy Ache

"Let me see," said this London surgeon as he inserted this one-inch long camera into the mouth of a patient, who had the tummy ache. This new invention shows tremendous possibilities in the detection of stomach diseases. The patient swallows one end of a semi-flexible tube, containing two batteries of cameras with four tiny films. The pictures are taken through two pin holes. Light is provided by a transformer which yields 12,000 candle-power lasting 1-20 of a second.

Worshipers From Two States To Attend Outdoor Easter Rites

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., March 17.—Easter Sunday, April 5, will again be observed by inspiring and appropriate services at Fort Sill, where several thousand persons annually worship on Easter morning, according to announcement of Chaplain Milton Beebe, who inaugurated the annual Easter services three years ago.

Chaplain Beebe announces that the Easter sermon will this year be delivered by the Right Rev. Thomas Casaday, bishop of Oklahoma for the Protestant Episcopal church of Oklahoma City, a minister and orator of national recognition.

Music by the junior choir of the old post chapel will be augmented by voices from the Study club chorus, under direction of Mrs. LeRoy J. Stewart. A preliminary sacred concert will be played by the first field artillery band. Services proper will start promptly at 7:30 a. m.

The public address system which will be installed, permits of the enjoyment of the program for a distance of a quarter of a mile. Services will be held on the east end of the parade grounds at the new post.

Attendance last year was estimated at between 3,000 and 4,000 people but the crowds grow greater every year. More than 100 cars were checked last year with Texas licenses, and there are large delegations from both Oklahoma City and Wichita Falls.

A 40-foot electric cross will lighten the parade grounds at night for one week preceding the Easter service. Posters and programs announcing the service will shortly be available for distribution.

ARSON TRIAL SET FRIDAY

Frederick Gin Owner Faces Hearing

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 17.—Preliminary trial of J. M. Kilgore, one of the owners of the Kilgore & Culver gin, West Grand avenue, who was arrested Saturday afternoon by S. Lotzenhiser, deputy sheriff, charged with attempting to arson, will be held at 3 p. m. Friday before W. P. Conley, justice of the peace. He was arraigned before Conley about 5 p. m. Saturday when he pleaded not guilty. His bond was placed at $1,000, which was signed by C. G. Culver, Bruce Allbright, L. N. Gilliland, Grover Hope and Chas. Brunk, local gin men, and J. T. Dotson and L. H. Hammond, also well known Frederick citizens.

The complaint against Kilgore was made by Lum Lemonds, Frederick fire chief, after city and county officials had visited the gin. Tom Cooper and Ollie Burt, members of the night force of the city police, were attracted to the gin when about 1 a. m. Saturday morning they discovered a light in the windows near the top of the establishment. Arriving at the plant Cooper remained at the entrance while Burt entered and began calling. Getting no answer he ascended the stairs until he got to the top where, according to Cooper, he met Kilgore.

The Bible contains two chapters which are nearly alike, word for word. They are the nineteenth chapter of II Kings and the thirty-seventh chapter of Isaiah.

Macaroni, Spaghetti and Noodles

When most people think of macaroni they immediately think of cheese, tomato sauce and the story about Yankee Doodle. Someone has said he did not care who made the country's laws as long as he could write its songs. Well, I do not care who writes its songs as long as I can write its menus.

Macaroni, spaghetti and noodles are wholesome starchy foods if properly prepared. All of these paste foods are made from special brands of flour, usually Durum. This flour yields the meal, semolaina, which is mixed with boiling water to make macaroni, spaghetti, vermicelli, etc. If this flour and water mixture has a hole down the center it is called macaroni; if long, thin and round it is spaghetti or vermicelli, depending upon the shape. It is also made into many fancy forms, such as shells, beads, letters, etc. The shape is really not important except to add variety to the dish, as the food value is practically the same in all of these products.

Probably the cheaper variety of these paste foods made without the egg are more desirable as a starchy food than when the egg is added.

The best way to prepare these foods is to drop them slowly into rapidly boiling salted water, and when boiling reduce the flame. When tender drain and season with butter or cream.

Most people will find that the starchy pastes digest more quickly without the use of cheese or tomatoes. Here are some recipes which I would suggest you try:

Macaroni and Asparagus

Parboil short one-inch pieces of macaroni for seven minutes. Drain. Cut the asparagus into one-inch lengths. Make alternate layers of asparagus and macaroni, dusting each layer with dextrinized flour. The top layer should be macaroni. Cover with bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven, adding several lumps of butter to the top just before serving.

Macaroni and Spaghetti

Cook spaghetti until tender and drain. Cut a bunch of brocolli into small pieces and cook in salted water for 20 minutes. Drain. Mix the brocolli and spaghetti with one-fourth cup of olive oil. Stir well and bake for about 15 minutes until brown on top.

Noodle Salad

Break egg noodles into pieces about one-half inch long, using one-half cupful; boil and drain thoroughly. Mix with one cup of diced beets, a half-cup of chopped celery, one-half cup of shredded lettuce, one cup of cold cooked cauliflower, four tablespoons of chopped parsley. Mix thoroughly with a half cupful of olive oil and serve on lettuce leaves.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Prolapsus

Question—H. M. S. asks: "What treatment do you suggest for pronounced prolapsus of colon and stomach?"

Answer—Certain manipulative treatments should be given to the abdomen in order to break loose adhesions and develop a better tone of the intestinal muscles. At the same time, exercises should be taken two or three times daily. The best results come from taking such exercises on a slanting board with the head lower than the feet. I have a printed list of these exercises which I will be glad to send any reader of this column upon receipt of a large self-addressed envelope.

Bad Breath

Question—Mrs. B. L. G. asks: "Why does a child's breath, seemingly sweet at bedtime, become so changed after being asleep several hours?"

Answer—It will be observed that most people do not have a bad breath just after eating, due to the more pleasant food odors left in the mouth and throat. This would be true early in the evening with a child's breath, which becomes worse in the morning if the child is constipated and toxic.

Psoriasis

Question—R. K. asks: "Is psoriasis an hereditary condition? What is the probable cause and cure?"

Answer—I do not consider psoriasis an hereditary disorder, although several in the same family may have this trouble due to practicing the same bad habits of eating. Psoriasis, eczema, and most skin disorders come from faulty functioning of the eliminative organs. Constipation is always present and must be overcome before a cure can be effected.

Highway Group To Meet In Arkansas

FORT WORTH, March 17. (AP)—The annual convention of the Broadway of America Highway association, which extends from New York City through Fort Worth and El Paso to San Diego, Calif., will be held at Hot Springs, Ark., April 20 and 21.

J. P. Lightfoot, Fort Worth, president of the association, will go to Hot Springs Friday for the purpose of making all necessary arrangements for the entertainment of the convention. He will also go to Little Rock and invite the governor to deliver the address of welcome. Invitations have been sent to all the chambers of commerce, mayors of cities and county officials along the route to send delegates to the convention. Motorcades will be run from San Diego, Calif., and from Washington, D. C., to Hot Springs, which will be augmented by delegations from each community.

Action will be taken at the convention toward securing a larger volume of transcontinental traffic over the highway. The Broadway of America highway is 93 per cent paved between New York and San Diego and is the most highly improved transcontinental highway in America.

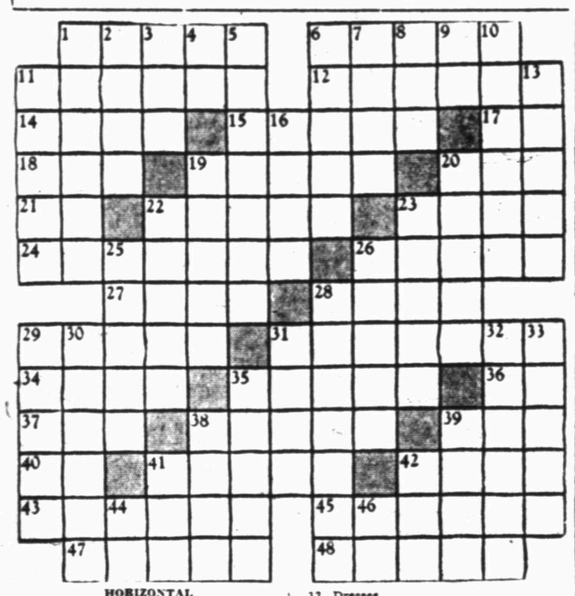

Woman Describes Ruenbuhl Slaying

GALVESTON, March 17. (AP)—Mrs. Dovie Caracci, who was on the porch of the William Ruenbuhl home when Ruenbuhl was shot to death last Nov. 6, described the shooting from the witness stand today in the trial of John B. Sedgwick, charged with the slaying.

Mrs. Caracci said Sedgwick drove his car to the front of the Ruenbuhl home, got out, ran up the steps and fired several shots in quick succession through the front door, ran back to his automobile and drove away. She said she found Ruenbuhl lying on the floor inside the door.

Questions put to the witness on cross-examination indicated defense counsel would make an effort to prove relatives of Sedgwick's wife were endeavoring to estrange the couple. Ruenbuhl was Sedgwick's step father-in-law.

"You're Out"

Bill Parker, Associated Press sports writer at Dallas, is responsible for a pretty good yarn about John King, the East Texas oil magnate who despite his wealth will deign to ump in the Texas league this season. Parker's story follows:

Harry Kane, who has long been the most colorful of Texas league umpires, is going to have competition this summer. John King, one of baseball's greatest characters and the man who wanted to know why no southpaw pitchers were killed in the world war, has signed to do thumbs up duty in the Texas league. King, always a great hitter except when a portsider was on the mound, has traveled up and down baseball's road. There's probably been more humorous baseball stories built around John King than any other player, major or minor. John can still crash the pellet into the next county, but his old legs refuse to stand the strain of daily competition, thus he dons the blue umpire uniform.

One of the best stories about King is:

One afternoon in the Western league he was mixed up in a crucial game. The ninth inning rolled along with the score tied.

Finally John's club got two runners on, two out with the mighty King at bat. John has always claimed that the unforgivable sin in baseball is to have the third one called. On the first pitch, John fouled it off. The second was a screamer down the third base line that fell foul by inches. Then two balls. The next pitch floated over and John stood there with bat on his shoulder.

"You're out," bellowed the umpire.

"Wait! Wait!" screamed John as he rushed to the grandstand and borrowed a watch from a fan.

Puzzled, the umpire stood at the plate, although the game was over. King rushed back in a mad stampede and roared at the umpire:

"If that was a strike, I hope the Great Man up there in the sky strikes me dead within the next two minutes."

So saying, King held the watch in front of his face and stood at rigid attention, waiting to be struck down, if it was a strike. The two minutes passed and King was among the living. His face beamed. Turning to the umpire, he said:

"Everything is o. k. now. I just wanted to prove that you missed that one."

If King is half as colorful an umpire as when he was a player, he will attract many cash customers to Texas league parks.

That the old postoffice building be turned into a basket ball gymnasium is the suggestion of Ross Edgemon, president of the church leagues who operated here the past season. Edgemon wrote an open letter expressing appreciation for the reception given the church leagues last season and outlining plans for next season. His letter follows:

It has been a pleasure to me throughout the winter months to help run the church and Sunday school basket ball leagues of this city and I want to thank the people of this city for the cooperation they have given us in running the leagues. We know that under the conditions that the league has not been what we expected it to be, that is, we have not had the kind of gym that we would have liked to have had for the customers. But I really think that the league was a big help to many a boy and girl of this city, and we hope to have both a boys' and girls' league here next year.

Words can not express the kind feeling and thoughts that I am due to Mr. Noble of Noble-Little Hardware company for the interest that he showed in us, in paying for the gym the last half of the season. I can truly say that if the people of Wichita Falls would look at the question of basket ball in this town as Mr. Noble does, it would be only a short time until basket ball would go in this town like baseball does now. The town is without a winter sport, and basket ball is about the only thing that we could have here for a winter sport.

As the First Methodist church is not going to build a gym in their new building that is now under construction, I think one of the best moves we could make now is to see if the business men of the town would not get together and build a gym out of the old postoffice building. The location of the postoffice would be a splendid place for a gym. The reason that I am saying this now, is because if we wait until next year to get behind this it will be too late for basket ball this winter; that is, this coming winter. This city could easily be made the basket ball center of West Texas, as this was shown in the little invitation tournament held at the Floral Heights Presbyterian church this winter. The tournament was a great success as 18 teams entered and went away well pleased with the management of the tournament.

Not too many thanks can be handed down to the Floral Heights Presbyterian church for the spirit they have shown in building the gym for the church leagues to use this winter. It is one of the smallest churches in town yet they managed to build a very good little gym for the boys to use. And a lot of credit goes to Dr. N. F. Grafton, because he has always been in for such as this for the city, and is one of the main reasons that we have the Floral Heights gym.

In closing I want to thank one and all for the interest they have shown in helping make the first church and Sunday school basket ball leagues in Wichita Falls a great success in many ways. Hoping that it will grow bigger and better each year.

ROSS EDGEMON.
President church and Sunday school basket ball leagues.

Chisox Trim Longhorns

AUSTIN, March 17. (AP)—Hitting effectively behind three young rookie pitchers, the White Sox strong-armed the University of Texas, 9 to 4, in an exhibition baseball game today.

Intlekofer was nicked for seven hits in six innings, but the other two White Sox pitching prospects, O'Shaughnessy and young Lou Barbour refused to give the Collegians a hit.

MARTIN SETS SPEEDY PACE

Youngster Probably Is Best Prospect on Squad

By FRED THOMPSON

The center of interest is wavering down at Athletic park. For a week speculators watched practically nothing but rookies. Then regulars stormed the lot in droves. Two days of enthusiastic acclaim of the Spudders' holdover and acquired men of experience have about satisfied the experts, and attention is again centered on the youthful ones. Particularly with respect to selecting the most promising rookie in the Spudder camp.

Several of our best minds have pondered the problem and there have been different choices, each man, of course, defending his pick with the most accredited baseball logic. Our own opinion, which we will defend in a later paragraph, is that if E. K. Martin is not the most promising rookie the club possesses, then we want to be shown a better one.

Martin is a left-hander, and aspires to be a first baseman. He is another of the vast hordes of promising baseball players discovered by our league president, J. Alvin Gardner. Gardner saw Martin, a bustling kind, when the latter played sandlot ball in the city league of Houston several years ago and started negotiations then and there. Martin wanted an education and attended Texas A. & M., graduating last fall. During his college days he was one of the stars of the Texas Aggie team.

Improves Rapidly

When he showed up last week his arm was as wild as a Borneo native and in the camp game last Sunday his throws were about as accurate as an election prediction, but it seems that it took just that one five-inning ball game to get him straightened out and he's got a peg now that could knock a dime off the top of the Hamilton building.

To said peg we add several other of his qualifications, as follows:

He possesses abundant energy and spirit, and apparently never tires. We have watched him for several days and have never known him to stop, except to sip a gulf of water, tie a shoe string or to make reasonable certain that his belt is holding his trousers in the position ordained by custom, and society.

If his fielding is not finished it is more than promising. He can scoop 'em out of the dirt as well as any youngster we've seen, and he catches 'em on the hop with scarcely a miss. And he covers his territory with speed.

He takes a good crack at the ball and there is absolutely no evidence that he will fail as a hitter.

Now after such a glowing account we might be expected to predict that Martin has a good chance to stick with the squad this year, but, in our opinion, the reverse is true. However promising Martin may be, he cannot be expected to oust a veteran like Buck Stanton, and Stanton will be the Spudders' first baseman this year. Being a southpaw, Martin cannot hope for any other infield job, and he is not gifted, we have heard, as an outfielder.

But if Martin, for all his talent, does not make the squad this year, he is reasonably certain of a job somewhere. It is not likely Proxy Huff will let such a player slip through his hands. And in another year, perhaps, the regular lineup of the Spudders will include the name of the former star of the Houston city league.

Routine Goes On

Experts were not the only ones busy at the park Tuesday. Morning and afternoon, Skipper Williams kept his charges at the usual routine, infield and outfield workouts and batting practice. Badgro, Kelly and Fuss being the only tried and true outfielders in camp, the infield which swarms with talent, continued to attract more interest, both of the railbirds and of the manager.

Martin held down first most of the day. Bear Allday got into uniform and started the duel with Art Scharien for the second base job. Debs Garms and a number of rookies worked at third. Geygan patrolled third a while before taking up something more strenuous in order to work off a few pounds. Joe Hassler was pegging from short. Skipper Williams may be sure of his first baseman and his shortstop, but it is easy to tell that second base and third base are giving him something to think about before he sinks into sleep at night. From present indications, hitting is the big margin of difference between aspirants from both sacks. Scharien is perhaps a more finished fielder than Allday, but the Bear can sock 'em better than his rival. Garms perhaps will equal Geygan in the field, but Chappie makes pitchers tremble and Garms, according to reports, does not.

The players are socking the ball harder in batting practice. If batting practice slugging is a criterion, Morris Badgro, chunky outfielder, will go far towards replacing the mighty Bettencourt, for Morris is certainly driving the outfielders back to the fences these days. Art Bradbury's wallop has grown to enormous proportions, as has that of Kelly and Fuss. Herb Bryant continues to knock them afar. Fans scarcely need worry about power in the Spudder attack this season.

Four Rookies Released

Skipper Williams sliced the beef bill Tuesday by releasing four rookies. They are Bill Richards and Shorty Myers, infielders; and Red Elrod and Alex Lucy, outfielders.

Preparing for the two-game exhibition series with the Steers at Dallas Saturday and Sunday, Williams announced intra-squad games would be resumed Wednesday, weather permitting. The game will begin about 2:30.

There was an arrival at camp Tuesday, Roy Idom, outfielder of Vivian, La. Idom was released by the club last spring.

Houston-Buffaloes

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, March 17. (AP)—The Houston Buffaloes defeated the Texas Aggies, 4 to 3, today in A. & M.'s first baseball game of the season. Starr, right-handed flinger, and Heise, southpaw, held the Aggie hitters in check until the ninth, allowing three scattered hits while their teammates took the offerings of Hawes and Lagow for 15 hits and four runs. In the ninth, the Aggies rallied to make two triples, a single and an error, netting three runs, but fell one run short in an effort to tie the count.

Jack Burns Named Most Promising Recruit Of Browns

Best in the Camp of the Browns

Irving (Jack) Burns, Spudder first baseman last year, has been nominated the best rookie in the camp of the St. Louis Browns. When informed of Burns' selection, Skipper Carl Williams came forth with the old reliable "I told you so." "He was the best prospect I ever saw graduate from the Texas league," Williams added.

Training Camp Chatter

St. Louis Browns

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 17. (AP)—Pounding three Buffalo pitchers for 11 hits, the St. Louis Browns won their second straight exhibition game here this afternoon, 7-2. Walter Stewart and Dick Coffman held the Bisons to six safeties and the visitors did not score until the final frame.

The Browns leave here tomorrow morning for Winter Haven where they play the Philadelphia Nationals.

Philadelphia Phillies

LAKELAND, Fla., March 17. (AP)—Minor league opposition proved as difficult for the Philadelphia Nationals as the big league king today when the Columbus American association pinned them down to their fourth straight defeat, 13-9.

Columbus took the lead in the seventh inning when Gudat hit a freak home run to right field. Then the minor leageurs batted in another tally and with the bases full Purdy hit another homer.

Cleveland Indians

NEW ORLEANS, March 17. (AP)—The home run swing of Eddie Morgan was absent today, but as it was his first workout since he quit holding out on the Cleveland Americans, he wasn't worried. In good condition, he practiced with both early and late squads, and hit some high flies, quite a few grounders and a couple of low liners, but nothing resulted that looked like any of his 26 home runs in 1930. His eyes gave evidence of needing timing practice in the field, also.

Robins Beat Cards

BRADENTON, Fla., March 17. (AP)—The 1931 edition of the Brooklyn Robins had little respect for the reputation of the National league champions as they pounded out a 12-6 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals today.

The game started out as if it was going to be a free scoring contest for both teams, the Robins counting five times in the first innings and the Cards scoring four runs. Thereafter, however, Joe Shaute, Ray Phelps and Fred Heimach were complete masters of the champions.

Rhem again held the fury of the Robins' attack in the second inning, when they counted four more runs. Grabowski, Stout and Baker finished for the Cardinals.

San Antonio Indians

SAN ANTONIO, March 17. (AP)—With five players still missing Manager Robertson put 27 of the San Antonio Indians through a swift pace of training here today.

As Robbie has one or more players for every position he is not worrying over lack of talent to make up the team for its first game to be played Saturday at Kingsville against the pioneers of the Missouri Pacific league.

Besides a staff of 12 pitchers and four catchers he has Lee Stebbins for first base, Thorpe Hamilton, second base; Berne Devivoros, shortstop; Karl Kott, third base, and Otis Buttler, Garland Orr and Carl Hones in the outfield.

Yanks Trounce Braves

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 17. (AP)—Hitting when hits spelled runs, the New York Yankees defeated the Boston Braves, 5-2, today for their fifth consecutive triumph over the National leaguers.

A pair of youngsters, Mike Delaney and Reg Le Heny, held the Yanks in check with the exception of the fifth inning, when they bunched four of their 10 hits for three runs. Wil Werber, rookie shortstop, led off with a home run and Karlon, Walker and Combs put together a triple, double and a single, respectively, for the other two tallies.

Frank Barnes and Phil Weinert, a couple of southpaws, held the Braves to seven scattered hits. Babe Ruth's best effort was a base on balls in three trips to the plate.

Fort Worth Cats

FORT WORTH, March 17. (AP)—Fort Worth's yannigans were given a chance to prove their merit in a ball game today when Manager Phelan split the morning squad into the Grays and Whites for a three-inning contest. The Grays won, 10 to 0.

Phelan will continue the yannigan game each morning until the squad has been cut too small to allow placing two teams on the field. Nine youths were sliced from the roster at the close of the contest.

Chief Gaddis, Dallas, pitched himself into dismissal from the squad. He started for the Whites, but was too wild. Jone Canafax, catcher from Tolbert, also passed on.

J. Pool Harrison of Bangs, had trouble handling himself around second base as did Lonnie Radford, lad from Mount Ida, Ark. They joined Gaddis and Canafax in their travels.

Galveston Buccaneers

GALVESTON, March 17. (AP)—Hank Thormahlen, southpaw who has been looking better with every practice session, will open the exhibition series for the Buccaneers against the Chicago White Sox Thursday, Skipper Pratt today decided. Thormahlen pitched five innings of a practice session and limited the opposing team to five hits in five innings and cracked out a home run.

Rusty Brancheau is down to finish Thursday's contest against the Sox with Edgar Carroll and Ernest Evans toiling Friday. Carroll's wide sweeping curves were well nigh unhittable today.

Dallas Steers

CORSICANA, Texas, March 17. (AP)—The Dallas Steers' regulars overcame an early lead amassed by the yannigans today to win a 9 to 8 decision in a see-saw game, featured by hard hitting. Teamer, yannigan receiver, hit a homer off Grady Adkins, who made his first appearance on the mound this season, but that was the only blow against the veteran right-hander in the three innings he worked. Campbell and Blakesley of the regulars hammered out three hits each.

Beaumont Exporters

ORANGE, Texas, March 17. (AP)—Paul Easterling's club took up lots of slack today by whaling the Billingsgates, 14 to 4, after five straight defeats. The Easterlings hit everything that came within reach, the most prodigious blow being Hank Greenberg's homer over the fence with the bases loaded. Tomorrow the Exporters go to Lake Charles, where they play the Kansas City Blues an exhibition.

Pirates Down Oaks

OAKLAND, Calif., March 17. (AP)—The Oaks of the Pacific Coast league made their 1931 debut here today by losing to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 1.

FORMER SPUD OUSTS VETERAN

Infielders Predominate In American League Stars

By DIXON STEWART
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 17.—Infielders predominate in the American league's nominations for the outstanding rookie of the 1931 season. Five of the prize recruits, selected by United Press representatives at the various training camps, are candidates for infield positions with two pitchers and a lone outfielder completing the list.

Nominations from each club for consideration as the league's best recruit follow:

Player—	Team	Age
Hand MacDonald,p	Athletics	19
Lynn Griffith, p	Senators	23
Joe Sewell, 3b	Yankees	32
Joe Vosmik, lf	Indians	20
Marvin Owen, ss	Tigers	22
Irving Burns, 1b	Browns	23
Luke Appling, ss	White Sox	22
Ollie Marquard, 2b	Red Sox	26

Joe Sewell, prize Yankee recruit, is a veteran of 11 seasons with Cleveland. He was released by the Indians last fall, "because his legs were shot," joined the Yanks as a free agent and now promises to solve Manager Joe McCarthy's infield worries.

Mack Finds Hurler

MacDonald, Connie Mack's rookie hurler, is the only recruit expected to win a place with the Athletics. He is 6 feet, 4 inches tall, weighs 220 pounds and has shown a great curve, fine over-hand motion and fair control.

Lynn Griffith, Texas southpaw, has made an excellent impression at Washington's camp. He won 21 games and lost 13 with Joplin last year and in his first training camp start pitched three hitless innings against Baltimore.

Vosmik, product of the Cleveland sand lots, apparently has clinched the left field berth with the Indians. He is an excellent fielder and batted .392 at Terre Haute last season.

Manager Bucky Harris of Detroit, rates Marvin Owen as "the greatest infield prospect since Eddie Collins' time."

Burns Ousts Blue

Irving Burns already has clinched the first base position with the St. Louis Browns, ousting Lu Blue. The 170-pound six-footer is a slashing hitter and made 215 hits in 604 times at bat last year for Wichita Falls, Texas.

Luke Appling, former Atlanta shortstop, is the best of four recruits who appear to have won regular positions with the White Sox. Appling will play short and bat behind Jolley. Other Sox rookies, counted upon for regular berths are Pitcher Vic Frasier, Catcher Frank Grube and First Baseman Ray Radcliffe.

Ollie Marquard, a graduate of the Nashville Southern association team, can play any infield position and is certain to win the second base berth with the Red Sox if he proves capable of hitting big league pitching.

Clark Named President Of Roque Association

James Clark was elected president and W. H. McDonald secretary-treasurer of the Wichita Falls Roque association at a meeting held Monday night. It was decided the season will open April 15, all games to be played on the roque courts at Scotland park and on Mr. Clark's private court at 1640 Lucile street. The local organization is expected to become affiliated with the American Roque association, and rules governing the latter will be followed in games here. The association will hold its next meeting April 10 and many new members are expected.

Roque is similar to croquet.

Tigers Defeat Missions

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers pounded out a 6 to 2 win over the San Francisco Missions in an exhibition game here today.

Sore Arm Hinders Wiltse in Camp Of Phils; Shotton Adds Pitchers

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 17.—Having proved to his satisfaction that sheer batting power would not hoist his club out of the National league cellar, Manager Burt Shotton of the Philadelphia nine is preparing to approach the problem from a different angle this season.

He has disposed of a couple of great hitters, "Lefty" O'Doul and "Frisco" Thompson, and hopes he has replaced them with some winning pitchers. It was a gamble, the deal that sent the pair of sluggers to Brooklyn. Whether Clise Dudley and Jim (Jumbo) Elliott, two fair hurlers, and Hal Lee, a weak hitting outfielder will do the club more good than did O'Doul and Thompson with their potent bats remains to be seen. At any rate, the Phils can not finish any lower than they did in 1930.

There still is plenty of batting punch around the Philly plant. Charles (Chuck) Klein, Don Hurst, Pinky Whitney and Virgil Davis are holdovers from last year's wrecking crew, and in Arthur (Buzz) Arlett, for 10 years a star with Oakland, the club has picked up an outfielder who promises to hit with the best of them. Klein, who hit a sizzling .386 last season, still was a holdout at last reports, but Shotton is counting on him to play right field.

Getting back to the mound staff, prospects for any appreciable improvement appear to lie in a trio of newcomers. They are Steward Bolen, a southpaw who won 19 for Baltimore last summer; Lil Stoner, formerly of Detroit and Pittsburgh, who burned up the Texas league for Fort Worth last year, and Ben Shields, a big left-hander who was with the veterans in 1925 and 1926.

Stoner has looked great in his exhibition starts and Shotton believes he will be a big help. Hal Wiltse, veteran southpaw from Wichita Falls has been handicapped by a sore arm and so far has been unable to display his wares.

The veterans of last year's pitching debacle include Ray Benge, Phil Collins, Harold Elliott, John Milligan and A. Phillips. Collins alone had a winning percentage last season, turning in 16 victories against 11 defeats. Then there are Jim Elliott and Dudley, the boys obtained from the Robins, and Charles Chesler, a rookie from Harrisburg.

Infield Nearly Complete

With Hurst on first, whitney at third and Dick Bartell on short, the infield is three-fourths ready to go. Bartell, to all appearances, can hold Tommy Thevenow's old job, with little, if any loss of strength. The situation around second is somewhat unsettled. Barney Friberg has the inside track for the time being, but faces stern competition from Les Mallon, a prize rookie from Fort Worth. Mallon's legs went bad a few days after he hit camp and he has been on the bench a fortnight. John Sheelock, a holdover who hit .324 last year, and Eddie Roets, a rookie from Topeka, complete the infield array.

Shotton considers Klein a fixture in right, and it looks as if Hal Lee will occupy left. Fred Brickell, acquired from Pittsburgh last year, and Fred Koster, who clouted .340 for Little Rock, are battling for the center post. That leaves the slugging Arlett likewise a problem for Manager Shotton. Arlett is a right fielder and so is Klein. Rather than take a chance on shifting Klein to an unfamiliar patrol in order to make room for Arlett, it is probable the big fellow from the coast will be carried in the utility role. He can fill in at first if occasion demands.

Davis again will carry the catching burden, with Harry McCurdy and George Rensa his supporting cast.

Landis Favors Marquard In Dispute Over Pay

CHICAGO, March 17. (AP)—Rube Marquard, one of the greatest pitchers of all time, won a $1,000 decision in Kenesaw M. Landis' baseball court today.

The commissioner reversed a ruling of the National Association of Professional Baseball clubs and ordered the Jacksonville, Fla., club of the Southeastern league, to pay him for services in selling players from Sept. 8, last, to Jan. 1, 1931.

Marquard sold a player for the club after it had become apparent the Southeastern league would not function this year and he had been advised to look for another job, but the club refused to pay him.

Commissioner Landis ruled Marquard was entitled to collect under his contract.

Appleby Wins Second Game in Pool Tourney

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Edgar T. Appleby, of New York, defending champion, piled up his second straight victory of the national amateur 18.2 balkline billiard tournament today by defeating Charles Connor, of Philadelphia, 300 to 115 in 15 innings. Appleby's game was brilliant and he had a high run of 57 and two of 56. Connor's best was a run of 19.

PONIES PRIME FOR BASEBALL

Six Letter Men Back For 1931 Team

Special to The Record News.

DALLAS, March 17.—With a squad of more than 30 men reporting daily for practice at Armstrong field, Coach Jimmie St. Clair is working doubly hard with his pupils to have them ready for the coming baseball season. Because St. Clair was busy with his basket ball crew until March 3. Every nine in the conference has from one to two weeks advantage over his club for their first few games.

With six lettermen back on the job and a flock of sophomores to give them competition, the Mustangs may be able to upset the conference dope sheet this spring. During last year's conference race they won exactly no games, but many of their defeats were by one-point margins and were the results of a Pony error. St. Clair is starting now to remedy this defect.

The lettermen returning this year are Adkinson, catcher; Harrison and Diffey, pitchers; Koonts, Selby and Johnson, infield; and Williams, outfield. All of these men will be pressed hard to retain their regular position by some of the sophomores.

The Pony schedule for this season is as follows:

April 7—T. C. U. at Dallas.
April 10—Baylor at Waco.
April 11—Texas at Austin.
April 17—Rice at Dallas.
April 24—A. & M. at College Station.
April 25—Rice at Houston.
April 28—Baylor at Dallas.
May 2—Texas at Dallas.
May 4—A. & M. at Dallas.
May 7—T. C. U. at Fort Worth.

THE VAST MAJORITY DEMANDS GILLETTE

Ahead 29 YEARS ago and ahead today

GILLETTE'S overwhelming leadership—steadfastly held through the years—conclusively proves the unmatched perfection of the blade that shaves the world. More than a hundred million men definitely prefer Gillette. This sweeping acceptance makes it the recognized international standard of razor-blade quality. • It is difficult to conceive of greater shaving satisfaction than the Gillette blade gives you morning after morning. • First in quality and public favor 29 years ago—and outstandingly first today—Gillette continues to merit your preference. Wherever you go—from Boston to Bagdad—Gillette blades are of the same uniform quality you get in your neighborhood store—a quality so high and so universally recognized that when you need blades you naturally ask for Gillettes.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Cotton was slightly higher at the outset today in response to a further advance in Liverpool and in Alexandria, but throughout the remainder of the session prices were on the downgrade and seemed to reflect a weaker technical position following yesterday's covering movement.

May advanced eight points early in the day to 11.12, but later declined to 10.86 a loss of 18 points from the previous close, and closed at 10.87, or 17 points net lower, while the points.

There seemed to be a general reversal of position in all the leading markets from the steadier tone that had been apparent on Monday, and the decline in the wheat and stock markets contributed to the action of cotton, especially as there was less demand from the trade and the silver market experienced a decline.

Liverpool cables said the advance there had been due to continental and Bombay buying on firmness in Alexandria and stated that the Manchester market was more cheerful with the cloth demand broadening both for home news and for export. Exports today 28,207, making 5,393,249 so far this season. Port receipts 15,705. U. S. port stocks 3,874,216.

Futures closed barely steady, 17 to 19 points lower; spots quiet; middling 10.75.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 17. (AP)—Cotton was quiet most of today in strong contrast to the activity of yesterday. Although cables were favorable, the market opened irregular, but gained 3 to 4 points in early trading on a little covering, but soon turned easier. The buyers of yesterday were apparently disappointed at the failure of prices to advance further and started to liquidate. Before the offerings were all absorbed prices had eased off 16 points from the early highs to levels 12 to 13 points below the previous close.

Around noon the decline appeared to have run its course for the time being, and prices rallied a point or so from the lowest in early afternoon. The market turned quite active in late trading, due to renewed liquidation by longs, and stop orders were uncovering prices making new lows 26 to 27 points under the highs. There was a rally of 3 to 4 points from the bottom at the end on covering, and the general market closed steady at net declines of 19 to 21 points.

Port receipts 15,805; for week 42,036; for season 8,293,799; last season 7,948,399. Exports 28,307; for week 85,366; for season 5,238,233; last season 5,540,708. Port stocks 3,985,068; last year 2,057,276. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 94,048; last year 115,154. Spot sales at southern markets 9,399; last year 5,701.

Futures closed steady at net decline of 19 to 21 points:

Increase in Selling Near Close Brings Stock Market Prices Down

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 17. (US)—Substantial increase in selling toward the close of today's market on the stock exchange resulted in sizeable price declines throughout the list.

Railroad stocks were the first to meet the heavier offerings, and weakness in some of the more important members of this group found immediate reflection among Industrials and Utilities.

The last-named group had closed the previous day within half a point of their previous high for 1931, and strenuous efforts were made by the bulls to carry them through to a new high, but the development of selling in the Rails prevented further recovery for the Utilities.

Efforts were also made to stem the selling by bullish demonstrations in some of the prominent Industrials, but these endeavors were unsuccessful.

Volume of the decline increased to somewhat larger total than on previous recent setbacks. The price of silver reacted a full cent, practically cancelling the gain of the day before.

New York Central was in supply and broke to a new low for this year, and within a few points of last year's lowest level. Part of the selling was of bear origin, although some selling by nervous holders was induced by omission of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas common dividend, action on which had been postponed a few weeks back.

This news, coupled with announcement that the meeting of Baltimore & Ohio directors, originally scheduled for tomorrow to act on the dividend, had been postponed, resulted in a general wave of selling of Railroad shares. The B. & O. board is expected to lower the dividend. The stock broke three points.

Both B. & O. and New York Central, however, probably will meet persistent demand on any further setbacks. Central is now close to a 5½ per cent yield basis on its newly-established $6 dividend, and B. & O. yields almost 7 per cent even on a $5 basis.

Speculative Industrials were first to reflect the Railroad selling. Eastman Kodak, in which a prominent bear has been increasing his short position, broke over six points. The company is reported meeting greater competition from Dupoint.

General Motors was rushed upward on big volume in the hope of offsetting pressure against the market. Motors rose above 45, with heavy specuative buying at this price, reacted from its best price but retained a half-point net advance for the day. The stock, however, is responding almost exclusively to speculative demand. There is persistent supply of the stock.

Westinghouse Electric showed district weakness and was among the first to sell off. A $4 dividend rate is being discussed for the stock. International Nickel closed fractionally lower. Its 1930 report showed earnings of 67 cents a share against $1.47 a share in 1929. Inventories of the company rose from $17,000,000 to $21,000,000, while the working capital of $30,000,000 at the end of 1930 compared with $32,000,000 a year previous.

Standard Brands and Gold Dust, with General Motors, were the only issues of the day's 15 most active to close higher. Buying of Gold Dust on reactions is reported particularly well-informed. Standard Brands seemingly is responding to the general firmness of the food group.

General Foods, on somewhat larger volume for this issue than recently witnessed, also closed higher. Provided the general market permits, General Foods probably will enjoy continued strong sponsorship.

United Corporation again led the entire market from standpoint of activity, but the issue appeared to be in supply above 30.

Decline in silver affected the International issues in this group, particularly American & Foreign Power and International Telephone. These stocks, however, have powerful sponsorship which will take advantage of any opportunities afforded by the general market to work against the short interest, which is very extensive in both issues. International Telephone has been absorbed by strong Chicago interests, but their position in the stock is for the long-pull.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, March 17. (AP)—Fair demand at unchanged prices marked trading on the grain market here today.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat—No. 1 hard of any protein 78½@80¼c.

Corn—No. 2 mixed 70½@71½c; No. 2 white 73½@74½c; No. 2 yellow 72½@73½c.

Oats—No. 2 red 42½@43c; (No. 3 white delivered group one points 42@42½c).

Barley—No. 2 56@57c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $1.23@1.25; No. 2 kaffir $1.20@1.21.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 17. (AP)—Sharp setbacks in grain prices resulted late today from enlarged selling of wheat future deliveries. North American wheat export business was at a standstill, and favorable reports about 1931 domestic winter wheat Southwest suggested big new yields increasing the present unwiedly surplus. Corn price bulges failed to hold in the face of wheat weakness.

Wheat closed heavy, unchanged to 1¼c lower, corn ¾@1⅝c down, oats unchanged to ⅝c up, and provisions 2c to 10c advanced.

Fears expressed by meteorologists regarding likelihood of another domestic drouth this summer failed to exert any lasting market influence, although indications pointed to chances that various regions comparatively untouched last summer would be hardest hit.

Closing Indemnities—Wheat, may, (bids) 81¼@81⅝c; July, 61⅛@61⅜@62⅝c; Sept., 61⅛@61⅝@62⅝c. Corn—May, 63¼@63¼@64½c; July 65½@65⅝@66⅝c. Sept., 65¼@65⅝c.

OIL COMMITTEE UPHOLDS CURB

Oklahoma Conservation Law Endorsed

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 17. (UP)—Rumors of discriminatory action in the enforcement of oil proration in Oklahoma are unfounded, the house oil and gas committee reported today in an official report submitted by Chairman Dave Logan, Okmulgee county.

"Such rumors were spread for the purpose of undermining public confidence in the administration of laws," the report said. "After a thorough study no corruption nor wilful wrong doing on the part of the agencies enforcing proration has been found."

In submitting its report the committee recommended that the Jones bill which provides for repeal of the oil proration law remain in the committee without action.

"It is the opinion and recommendation of this committee that the present situation be not disturbed pending the outcome of the efforts of the governor and his representatives of the oil states' advisory committee, said the report.

The committe endorsed the work of the interstate oil committee, organization sponsored by Gov. W. H. Murray.

The committee recommended that the expense of administering proration laws be financed by a state levy on production of oil and gas instead of the present method.

"Proration laws should be administered by authorized state agents," the report said. "However, your committee agrees with the court in its decision of the case of Danciger Oil and Refining Co. vs. the railroad commission of Texas et al., which states that it is not unlawful or against public policy for private citizens, who are particularly interested in any subject matter, to furnish aid by way of time or money for the enforcement of any particular law."

Industrial Tours To Start Here Friday

A tour of the Wichita Mill and Elevator company will be conducted by the Junior chamber of commerce Friday afternoon immediately following the semi-monthly luncheon, T. J. Waggoner, chairman of the industrial committee, announced Tuesday. The tour was postponed several weeks ago due to trouble in the machinery at the plant.

Transportation will be provided, Mr. Waggoner said. He invited all interested citizens to take part in the inspection. Leaving the Kemp hotel at 1:15 p. m., the touring party will require about 45 minutes to inspect the mill.

Darrow Wasting Great Talents In Talks as Agnostic, Says Judge Martin

It will be to see Clarence Darrow, defender of the poor and great jury lawyer, that Wichita Falls citizens will go to the Memorial auditorium Thursday evening and not to hear his views as an agnostic, according to the sentiments expressed by most persons who have purchased tickets for the forum of religious discussion.

Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court voiced the thought of most Wichitans when he said, "In common with most men of my profession, I can but admire the great ability of Mr. Darrow, who is perhaps the greatest criminal lawyer in America. But I must, at the same time, profess my entire lack of interest in his agnosticism. To my mind he is wasting his great talents in the advocacy of a belief that offers no relief for the sorrows and sins of men either here or hereafter."

Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist university, who will appear as a representative of Protestantism at the forum recently expressed his views as follows:

"Protestantism offers the greatest opportunity to develop spiritual life in harmony with personal experience. It allows a man to reach his own conclusions. After offering me such leadership as the accumulated thought of the centuries affords, Protestantism guarantees me the largest freedom, with the privilege of growth.

"My debt to the faith of Israel can never be adequately repaid. My obligation to the Roman Catholic church for preservation of the faith through the ages is beyond computation. But I have found the Protestant faith offering me freedom of judgment, together with unity of ideals and the challenging guidance of the personality of Jesus Christ.

"Protestantism is the producer of democratic education. There are canonized Catholic saints and uncanonized Protestant saints, and above our spiritual averages St. Francis and John Wesley, for instance, rise like mountains."

The other two speakers at the forum will be Rabbi Harry Merfeld of Fort Worth and Quin Obrien, Chicago attorney, who will defend the Catholic faith.

Guest Radio Stars To Join Junior C.-C. Bill

Plans for an all night radio program to be sponsored Saturday over KGKO by the Junior chamber of commerce were furthered Tuesday noon when members of the radio committee and station officials met Tuesday noon at the Holt hotel, Paul Hines, chairman, said.

Guest announcers from Fort Worth, Waco and other Texas cities will take part in the broadcast, it was announced, and efforts are being made to secure an orchestra from Fort Worth. Artists of KGKO will be assisted in the presentation of the program by other local talent.

The broadcast, which is for the purpose of giving publicity to Wichita Falls, will begin at midnight Saturday and continue until 6 o'clock Sunday morning. All chambers of commerce of Texas and Oklahoma and all Junior chambers of commerce of the United States are being advised of the broadcast. Prizes will be awarded listeners wiring, telephoning and writing in from the greatest distance.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, March 17. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Livestock trade around the eleven market circuit was featured by an upturn of 25@50c in lambs and at some centers fat ewes advanced 25c. Bulk good to choice lambs in Chicago sold from $8.75@9.25 with several loads to outsiders at $9.35@9.50. At Kansas City best fed lambs made $9.10 and $11.60 was paid on choice 76-pound springers. The supply numbering around 57,000 was 18,000 short of a week ago.

Hogs found a fairly active outlet at firm to 10c higher rates with markets reporting more advancing on strong weight butchers. The extreme top of $8.30 was paid at Chicago. Total offerings were around 78,800 as compared with 71,087 last Tuesday.

Cattle estimated at 28,000 were 3,500 under a week ago and 3,800 less than a year ago. With the exception of a slow trade on weighty fed steers at steady to weak prices most killing classes of cattle met with a little better action. Choice heavy steers at Chicago topped at $10.25 while at Kansas City choice 1,163-pound steers cleared at $9.50. Stockers and feeders held fully steady with country demand most broad for the better grades of stockers.

Many Plants Like Shade

But Care Must Be Used In Selecting Flowers

tall spikes, wild hyacinth looks much like the cultivated hyacinth, except that it is smaller, and has the true hyacinth fragrance, and celestials are beautifully blue. All grow naturally in exposed places in gravelly soil and require good drainage. They can be taken up while blooming without harm. People who love wild flowers enough to bring them to gardens love them enough to leave some where nature put them.

Perenniacs

Of annuals there are not many that thrive in even partial shade. Plants that must complete their cycle of growth from seed to seed within a single season must grow apace. Still, the hot midsummer sun shed much beneficence where it falls for only a few hours each day. Some annuals that bloom during the hottest weather will give fair bloom even in partial shade; among these are zinnia and cosmos, but not petunia. One little annual has a name meaning "lover of the shaded grove," Nemophila. The Texan species, called baby blue eyes, is much less striking than a California kind called N. maculata, from a purple strain on the tips of white petals. This anual is charming massed in shady spots.

Perennials are the chief resource of those who must garden in shade. Many perennials that northern catalogs list for full sun are grateful for a little shade in Texas. This is true of perennial phlox, delphinium, physestegia, and asters. Certain others like light shade anywhere. Among these are pyrethrum, or painted daisy, columbine, lobelia, or cardinal flower, lover of wet places, mertensia virginica, or Virginia cowslip, Japanese anemone, dodecatheon meadia, or shooting star, a beautiful native; and violet. Lobelia is a tall flower that flames from Texas to the Atlantic ocean. Virginia cowslip is intensely loved by those who have known it in the Old South. The flowers, blue when opened but pink in bud, come with the daffodils. After flowering, the plants die down until the next year. Shooting star is a cyclamen-like flower native to Texas as to some other parts of the country. No flower is better for the shady garden than columbine. It does not merely consent to grow in shade; it demands shade. Columbine is easy of culture, requiring only—as do most shade-loving perennials—a light soil, not alkaline. It blooms for two months, a long season for a perennial, and the flower is one of the daintiest. A red and yellow species native to the eastern United States occurs in Texas, and the lovely blue columbine is the official flower of Colorado. English growers have bred some fine hybrids. Malvaviscus is another good perennial. Tall and shrubby, it makes a fine show of red and green. It grows naturally close to tree trunks. A carpet of blue-eyed grass, or sisyrinchium, "dat little sistah ob de blue queen flag," for a brief time is delightful among trees. Some species of blue-eyed grass have much larger flowers than others. Then there are certain perennials which, though they do well in full sun, tolerate considerable shade. Shasta daisy and plumbago are among these.

Many of the finest lilies need some shade in a hot climate, and two commonly grown do not mind it—the lemon daylily and ahe plantain lily. In Texas dahlias should be planted where they will not receive the all-day force of the sun.

A few flowering shrubs can have place in the shady garden, some because they bloom early before shade comes, some because they have an obliging nature, and some because they really like it. In the first class are redbud, wild plum, jasmine, forsythia, Japanese quince—which, however, will bloom but scantily if planted in the shade of buildings or evergreen trees—flowering almond and bush honeysuckle. In the second are abelia, althea and crape myrtle. In the third are hydrangea, pavonia, dogwood, hypericum or St. John's wort, or goldflower, and pahne cneorum, a beautiful, very dwarf shrub requiring acid soil, with leaf mold or peat, and so difficult in Texas that only its extreme loveliness justifies a gardener in attempting it.

DAILY AVERAGE PRODUCTION UP

Refinery Runs Increase In Past Week

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 33,850 barrels in the week ended March 14, totaling 2,190,550 barrels, the American Petroleum Institute's weekly summary indicates. Daily average production east of California increased 29,450 barrels to 1,662,650 barrels.

Refineries representing 95.7 per cent of estimated total capacity, operated at 64.8 per cent of their capacity, reported daily average runs of crude to stills as 2,314,400 barrels. The daily average the previous week for refineries representing 95.7 per cent of total, operated at 60.8 per cent of capacity, was 2,172,100 barrels. Gasoline stocks at these refineries were 45,821,000 barrels against 45,789,000.

Production of cracked gasoline by refineries representing 94.2 per cent of total charging capacity was 2,853,000 barrels. Production the previous week by refineries representing 94.7 per cent of total was 2,698,000 barrels.

Imports of crude and refined oils at principal United States ports totaled 1,594,000 barrels against 1,604,000 barrels.

Our courteous ad taker will receive your Classified Ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the next day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for the convenience of our patrons in transacting business over the telephone.

Classified Ad patrons desiring to have ads charged must have a telephone listed in their own name. No book record is made by the publishers on account of the great number of transactions, hence the necessity of collecting promptly.

Correction of errors in Classified Ads must be made before the second insertion. No allowance will be made for more than one incorrect insertion.

Cancellations and adjustments regarding errors should be telephoned to the Classified Ad department between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Ads accepted for afternoon paper up until 11 a. m. same day.

Morning paper up to 6 p. m. for the following morning.

Sunday paper up to 7 o'clock Saturday night.

Same copy in both papers.

THE CLASSIFIED DEPARTMENT IS OPEN ON SUNDAYS from 4 to 6 p. m. and telephone orders for classified ads to be inserted or to be discontinued will be accepted.

Exceptions: Want ads will be accepted over the telephone for all excepting the following classifications: Situations Wanted and Wanted to Rent. Ads for these classifications are cash with the order and will not be accepted over the telephone.

The Times reserves the right to classify all Classified Ads under the appropriated headlines and to revise or to withhold from publication any ads deemed objectionable.

Auction Bridge

FOURTH HAND BIDDING — Lesson No. 38

IN AUCTION, after three passes, unless fourth hand has exceptional strength he should pass and let the deal be thrown out, since to bid would open the Auction and might enable opponents to arrive at a game going bid through the medium of a defensive bid. However, if fourth hand and his partner have a partial score, so that one or two tricks would give them game, initial bidding strength is sufficient for a bid.

AROUND THE RADIO CLOCK

(Time is central standard throughout)

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Dixie's network, made up of southern units of the Columbia Broadcasting system, is to open up next Monday.

With WBT, Charlotte, N. C., as the key station for the group, plans have been made to provide entertainment in keeping with the policies of the network. Programs originating in New York, Washington or Chicago will be available to the chain except when regular CBS programs are confined to northern or certain other stations. At those times programs will come from Charlotte.

On the night of the first day's schedule, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas is to salute the new network in a five minute talk from Washington.

A description of the grand national famous steeplechase race, is to be carried from Aintree, England, by a NBC network beginning at 9 a. m., March 27. English steeplechase experts are expected to be heard, and Clem McCarthy, NBC race announcer, who has gone to England, may deliver a brief summary of the event.

A program in observance of the 94th anniversary of the birth of Grover Cleveland is to be given under the auspices of the Grover Cleveland association, WEAF and others at 5 p. m. Speakers will include David Robinson, secretary of the association.

Two Robbery Suspects Slug Cop and Escape

DETROIT, March 17. (AP)—Two prisoners wanted in New York for robbery slugged a policeman with the chain with which they were bound together and escaped today. The men, known as Jack Pierce, 22, and John Andrews, 26, were being taken through the tunnel from the county jail to the recorder's court building to be turned over to New York detectives. Marching at the head of a group of prisoners, the two men raised the arms which were chained together and brought down the chain on the head of Patrolman William Vader. He fell to the concrete floor and the prisoners bolted out a door.

Texan Given 50 Years For Robbery With Gun

TERRELL, Texas, March 17. (AP)—Floyd Caldwell was sentenced to 50 years in prison by a jury in district court at Kaufman yesterday for robbery with firearms. Caldwell was charged with kidnaping and robbing T. J. Earthman here Dec. 5.

Johnny Gallops, charged in connection with the same offense, will be tried Thursday.

Caldwell was under a 50-year sentence in Collin county for kidnaping and robbing F. A. Summers there Dec. 6. Gallops also is charged in that case.

Murray Appoints Education Members

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 17. (UP)—Appointment of S. C. Fullerton, Miami, and Hugh Jones, Hominy, as members of the state board of education was announced today by Gov. William H. Murray. The appointments are for six-year terms.

Fullerton and Jones succeed Mrs. Bertha Truett, Enid, and J. R. Holmes, Okmulgee, whose terms expired.

Four members of the newly created board of accountancy were named by the governor today.

They are Homer Hammond and Hugh Gurner, Oklahoma City; W. I. Nicholson, Tulsa, and W. J. Law, Ardmore.

Childress Benefits From Food Loans

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, March 17.—The federal government food loans are being made in Childress county through the committee authorized to do this work. Farmers who have made applications for loans for feed for livestock and for seed are securing additional money for the purpose of purchasing food.

M.-K.-T. Passes Regular Quarterly Dividend

NEW YORK, March 17. (INS)—Directors of Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad passed the regular quarterly common dividend at their meeting today.

M. H. Cahill, president of the company, stated, that the question of dividends on the common stock was discussed by the board of directors at their meeting and it was the consensus of opinion that the earnings do not justify a declaration of dividends.

Methodists to Convene In Frederick Today

Stamford Legion Host To Joint 'Bean Supper'

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, March 17.—Vernon D. Hart Legion post No. 100 held a bean feed here Monday night, March 16, inviting the Anson Jones post No. 72 of Anson and members of the Hamlin post as guests. Stamford members from Lueders, Rule and Haskell were also in attendance. George Connell, W. J. Buie, C. P. Nichols, R. J. Pewitz and Ralph Danilels, composed the committee arranging for this fellowship feed.

Sunset News

Special to The Record News.

SUNSET, Texas, March 17.—The fruit crop was damaged some here by the freeze which occurred recently, but it now appears that the damage is far less than that indicated by reports made by some people as the cold wave was passing. Some people are now saying that a good crop of fruit will be made here unless something occurs to destroy it hereafter.

Rainfall here during the past several days has been very light and farmers are busily preparing their land for the planting of their crops. Some are planting corn this week and a larger number are expecting to plant next week. A great number have already planted Irish potatoes, garden peas and many other products in the vegetable line. Many are stirring and fixing their land for melon and tomato crops.

Mr. W. H. Rhyne, three miles north of Sunset, has been seriously ill for several days. It is reported that he has the dropsy and has but little chance of recovery.

The regular monthly song service held by the Sunset singing class was attended and enjoyed by a large number of people Sunday afternoon. Singers and visitors were present from Bowie, Alvord, Decatur, Park Springs and other places. The people were entertained with several special songs and quartets.

Petition Asks Funds For Cattle Projects

AUSTIN, March 17. (AP)—A petition bearing the names of several hundred citizens of Texas in which the legislature's finance committees were requested to appropriate $42,200 as requested by Texas A. & M. college to be used in cattle feeding and breeding projects was placed before the senate today by Senator Purl of Dallas to whom the petition was sent.

SCHOOL DIARY AIRS CRUELTY

Teacher Bares Treatment Of Girl Prisoners

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 17. (INS)—Containing records of allegedly cruel treatment of inmates of the state training school for girls here, a diary kept by Miss Virgil Johnson, former teacher at the institution was submitted to a legislative investigating committee here today.

The committee which recommended the removal of Mrs. Ira Champion, superintendent on grounds of "cruelty and treatment prejudicial to health" of the girls, will present its findings to Gov. B. M. Miller at Montgomery Thursday.

Miss Johnson said she had resigned from the faculty of the training school because of cruelty to the girls and offered a diary kept during her employment there.

The diary, in part, said:

"Oct. 31, 1929—Girls poisoned by food. Those who had to be excused were locked from Friday noon until Sunday without food except one piece of bread Saturday.

"Dec. 19—Twenty girls in my room with thin cotton dresses and threadbare cotton sweaters. Twenty more with nothing on their bodies except brassieres and dresses.

"Dec. 20—Bessie Mae Haley locked in room without heat. Has been for 10 days. Temperature 16 degrees, early.

"Dec. 26—They whipped Felda Berry cruelly. Her back was bruised in a spot that my two hands could not cover at three placings. Felda had no food at dinner or supper.

"Dec. 27—I examined Felda's bruises. The skin was broken in five places. She got food only once and that was slipped to her by one of the girls.

"Feb. 23, 1930—Today is Sunday. The children had breakfast and dinner but no supper. They are awfully hungry and so am I.

"Feb. 24—Mrs. Champion caught about 10 girls this p. m. picking up hickory nuts and put them on punishment. They were locked in without supper."

Thompson Cabinet Quits To Take Part in Campaign

CHICAGO, March 17. (INS)—All the members of the cabinet of Mayor William Hale Thompson tendered their resignations today, "to take effect at his pleasure." They said they took the step so that the mayor might have a "freer hand" in his campaign for re-election and so that they might work for him more effectively.

Mayor Thompson said he was "much moved by this action of his cabinet in putting the Thompson cause above any personal considerations." He did not indicate whether he would at present accept any of the resignations.

Oklahoma Deaths Blamed On Denatured Alcohol

HENRYETTA, Okla., March 17. (AP)—Denatured alcohol today was credited by authorities here with the death of one man and critical illness of his brother.

The two, glassblowers, were reported to have purchased the alcohol at a filling station at Allen, Okla., before taking a freight train for Henryetta late last night.

The dead man was identified as William French, 46, and his brother as Clarence French, about 45.

Both had been here about two weeks, out of work.

Dallas Dentist Dies

DALLAS, March 17. (AP)—Dr. Julian Smith, 68, Dallas dentist, a former president of the Texas State Dental association and formerly president of the American Academy of Periodontalogy, died here today.

The Horse That Holds the Inside Track - - -

IT IS a lucky horse. It has yards less to travel—so, other things being equal—has the "inside track" to victory. In like manner do Wichita Falls property owners and agents have the "inside track" when they use the Daily Times and Record News Rental ads, because prospective tenants always look first through these ads—and depend on them. It will pay to be represented.

BANKER GIVES MANY SERVICES

Ad Club Hears Talk By Lester Jones

General services on a surprising variety of items rendered by a bank to individuals were classed as part of its "successful advertising" by Lester Jones in a talk before members of the Ad club at the Kemp hotel Tuesday noon.

Letters written by local bankers to correspondents in New York and other large cities for hotel reservations, theater tickets, baseball tickets, or admission to restricted places obtain many conveniences for customers, Mr. Jones said.

"It is remarkable," he said, "to what degree these personal services perfect public relations."

Safety deposit boxes, a safe place to keep money, money to loan and trust service are the principal things which a bank has to advertise, the speaker stated.

Sid Duncan, advertising manager for the Magnolia Petroleum company, also made a short talk.

Traffic Accident Brings Suit for $26,000

Suit for $26,000 was brought in district court Tuesday by Miss Jewel Beatty against Fred Ebner et al., as operators of the Tenth Street market, as a result of a traffic accident which occurred on Indiana avenue between Seventh and Eighth streets on the evening of Jan. 3.

Injuries alleged by the plaintiff to have been received when she was knocked to the pavement by a southbound truck are made the basis for the petition. The victim of the accident states in her pleading that she was a saleslady for a clothing store, and was returning from a drug store across the street, where she had gotten her evening meal.

Today

At the Theaters

MAJESTIC: "The New Moon" with Lawrence Tibbett and Grace Moore. Short subjects and sound news.

STRAND: Mary Pickford in "Kiki." Our Gang comedy and sound news.

GEM: "The Cat Creeps" with Helen Twelvetrees, Raymond Hackett and Neil Hamilton. Comedy.

It's a tough proposition, this writing a theater column. The trouble is that once every few weeks, I find out that somebody reads it and I wonder if I shouldn't be more careful. Now, however, it's worse than ever. Some people not only read it, but take it seriously. Not just the theater managers—they don't count—but people who actually pay admission.

The latest episode not only reveals the identity of this column's readers but shows how seriously its most innocent remarks are taken.

It all began with a column written last week about the preferences of negro patrons, who, it seems, are particularly fond of spooky dramas and western talkies. "Dracula" was to open Sunday at the Majestic and there was to be a Buck Jones picture starting on the same day at the Gem. Accordingly, there was this prediction: "Manager Victor B. Lowrey of the Majestic and Manager A. A. McIlheran of the Gem expect to have to turn them away Sunday," meaning that the unusually attractive themes would draw so many negroes that there would not be enough room for all of them.

But when the negroes read "turn them away," that was enough. The news spread through the black population of the city, and Sunday found the balconies at the Majestic and Gem practically empty.

Even R. B., the negro porter at the Majestic, got all excited about it and went to Mr. Lowrey with a frantic demand that he "straighten things out" among the regular negro movie fans. "They all takes it out on me and says they ain't comin' to no othah show if they can't see 'Dracula,'" he explained.

Well, it all goes to show that somebody reads the column anyhow, but it's a tough proposition. If they're going to take it seriously, I'll have to be more careful about "turning away" those paid admissions.

Mexico to Establish Rural Mail Delivery

MEXICO CITY, March 17. (AP)—Rural free delivery service, common in the United States, but almost unknown to Mexico, will be established on the highway between Laredo and Monterey, the postoffice department announced today.

Service twice daily will be maintained over the 160-mile stretch and mail delivery will be made to the towns of Cienega de Flores, Sabinas, Hidalgo, Vallecillo and intermediate points.

C.-C. BOARD TO URGE AIR MAIL

Award of Contract Sought In Conference

Consistent effort to secure air mail for Wichita Falls at the earliest possible date was determined on Tuesday morning at a meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce. An attempt to secure the immediate letting of the Fort Worth to Pueblo air mail contract by way of Wichita Falls will be made through a conference of representatives of interested communities, J. L. Jackson, president of the chamber, said.

Bonner in Charge

Judge W. N. Bonner, chairman of the aviation committee, will be in charge of arrangements for the conference to be held here at a date to be set later. Chambers of commerce in the communities affected by the air mail route will be invited to participate in the conference, Judge Bonner said.

Provision for the Fort Worth-Pueblo mail contract was authorized by congress and announced by the postoffice department recently. Postal officials, however, said that the contract would not be let until after the beginning of the fiscal year, April 1, and possibly later. Contentions of chamber officials here are that the Mid-Continent Air Express, which is now operating a passenger service over the route, has established its competency for handling air mail and that the line is prepared to inaugurate air mail if the contract is awarded.

Establishment of air mail service here, Judge Bonner said, will give Wichita Falls a 24-hour communication to practically every section of the nation.

Other matters discussed by the directors pertaining to aviation was the decision to represent Wichita Falls at a national airport conference to be held in Tulsa March 25, 26, and 27, and the making of arrangements to receive the fleet of airplanes to visit Wichita Falls during the national air tour. Practically all airplane manufacturers of the United States will be represented in the tour and will compete for the Edsel B. Ford trophy and cash prizes. The planes of this test tour will appear in Wichita Falls during July.

735 Members

Nathan Adams of Dallas was endorsed by the board here for appointment to the office of director of finance of the United States chamber of commerce. Communications to other chambers of commerce requesting support for Mr. Adams will be made, it was said.

A banquet of manufacturers and jobbers of Wichita Falls, to be sponsored by the manufacturers and jobbers division of the chamber of commerce, was approved by the board. The banquet is to be held Tuesday, March 24.

A report that the rolls of the chamber of commerce now has 735 members was heard from Albert E. Kelly, membership chairman.

Wichitan Fined $25 On Pool Hall Charge

Charged with operating a pool hall, a local man was found guilty by a jury before Judge Irvin J. Vogel in the county court at law Tuesday and fined $25 and costs, according to L. V. Abernathy, county attorney.

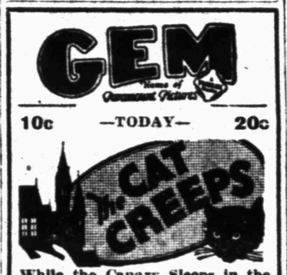

The verdict was returned in about two hours after the case opened. Mr. Abernathy and Otis Nelson, assistant county attorney, prosecuted the charges.

Like Steel . . the best Gasoline is Blended

IN the roaring inferno of the furnace, many elements blend into varying grades of steel. Iron, manganese, silicon, carbon, all join to produce a steel to suit a purpose.

In making gasoline, too, blending is necessary to produce a fuel to fit your motor. No one grade of unblended gasoline possesses a wide-enough range of qualities to stand alone.

So CONOCO blends three types into a perfectly-proportioned whole . . . Natural Gasoline, for quick starting . . . Straight-run Gasoline, for surging power and long mileage qualities . . . Cracked Gasoline, to contribute anti-knock properties.

True, any refiner could do this. Just as any amateur can blend the same elements found in secret formulæ for making steel. But in the oil industry, as in the steel business, there always are headliners . . . a select few whose products are eminently better.

CONOCO is definitely a member of this group in the refining of gasoline . . . because CONOCO has men who know how. And it's all in knowing how!

We pride ourselves on this balanced-blend triple-test gasoline. Won't you try it today? Just ask for CONOCO . . . wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle.
