For outstanding service to the community and chapter...

Rohmer, Flusche recognized by Jaycees

by Janet Felderhoff

Saturday, July 8 the Muenster Jaycees took time to reflect on the past year and to recognize a number of their own members and one person from the community for outstanding service. Johnny Rohmer was selected by the Jaycees as Outstanding Citizen. Jack Flusche was honored by the group with a JCI State Senatorship.

Gary Fisher presented the award to Mr. Rohmer on behalf of the Jaycees. Fisher cited some of the volunteer services performed by Rohmer as: ramrod of the VFW Rifle Squad; being instrumental in finding funds for the visit of the First Cavalry Division for the 1994 Christmas Parade and helping prepare meals for the men; succeeded in getting the Air Force Band from Wichita Falls for the parade and also helped cook for them; chaired parade entries for the Kiwanis Club; caused the Texas Highway Department to get going on the handicap ramps; served as president of the Muenster Kiwanis Club for two years; helped with Oktoberfest; was responsible for the flag poles at Muenster ISD and the old Mid Park; helps with Germanfest; waters and maintains the flower beds in the Kiwanis Park and on Main Street; and gathered rocks for the flower beds laid on Main Street.

The rock flower beds around the antique street lights of Muenster's Main Street are what Johnny Rohmer is most known for in the community. Plans were made for such a project as far back as 1986, but after the street lights were installed the remainder of the plan lay dormant until last year when Rohmer re-ignited interest.

"Although he knew the plan was large, long-term, and would require toil in the hot sun for years, he did not let it daunt him," remarked Gary Fisher. "This year's recipient just broke the project up into small segments and conquered each separately. That is the sign of a leader.

"What began as one small project after another, soon turned into one of the most enjoyed and commented on community improvements of the last decade. It stands out for visitors and citizens to view daily. It's a 'show stopper' for many people traveling through."

During his presentation talk, Fisher noted that people who live in cities take for granted city maintained beautiful plantings of flowers, trees, and nicely landscaped parkways or common areas, especially common areas where no one seems to care, but which seem to look so bad when not mowed. In a small town the answer to an improved look is a leader, he said.

The value of providing citizens with these things, he continued, is improved quality of life, improvement of people's attitudes about the community in which they live. This attitude change makes a happier person who is more satisfied with their life and satisfied people contribute back to their community and everyone benefits. Also satisfied people don't leave a community. "Young people are invigorated by these projects, and it gives the hope," said Fisher. "Recreation and beautification projects reflect the soul of a community!"

Wayne Klement, JCI state senator, conducted the installation ceremony. Officers for 1995-96 are Neal Flusche, president; Kim Walterscheid, first vice-president; David Flusche, second vice-president; Karl Barnhill secretary; Damian Hellman, treasurer; Weldon Hermes and Justin Ashley, state directors; Doug Hermes, past president. Directors are Dale Swirczynski, Shawn Flusche, Tim Felderhoff, Shawn Vogel, Terry Felderhoff, and Frank Fangman.

As Jaycee president, Neal set at least two goals for the year. He hopes to enrich membership by at least 10 and to purchase land for a baseball field and recreation areas. He also remarked that he hopes to continue to lead towards the Jaycee motto, "Service to Humanity Is the Best Work of Life".

Neal Flusche was the recipient of two awards. His fellow Jaycees selected him as the Key Man. President Doug Hermes named him President's Partner.

John Anderle was named Outstanding Chairman by the Jaycee members. Doug Hermes presented the award.

Ross Felderhoff made the JCI senatorship presentation to Jack Flusche. In his introductory speech Felderhoff said, "His record of achievements and activities speaks for itself. He is one of the most deserving Jaycees ever to receive this award."

Flusche joined the Jaycee organization in 1973 while still a senior in high school. He was an active member from the start. During his first year he chaired the Sustaining Membership Drive and was named 1974 Outstanding First Year Jaycee.

Since that time Jack has been the recipient of numerous Jaycee awards including Presidents Partner in 1977-78, 1978-79, 1984-85, and 1988-89; Outstanding Project Chairman 1978-79, 1987-88, and 1989-90; Key Man 1983-84, 1984-85, 1987-88, 1988-89, and 1990-91. Jaycee offices held by Flusche include: second vice president 1978-79 and 1982-83; president 1979-80; director 1984-85, 1987-88; secretary 1985-86; and first vice-president 1991-92.

Through the years the projects which Jack chaired included: 1974-75 Sustaining Membership Drive and Easter Egg Hunt; 1975-76 Easter Egg Hunt; 1977-78 Punt, Pass & Kick (local and area) and

Ashley Hartman achieves highest Girl Scout honor

On Monday morning, June 17, at the State Capitol, Ashley Irene Hartman was a special guest at the 1995 Texas Girl Scout Gold Award Ceremony. There, she was honored to receive special recognition for earning Girl Scout's highest achievement, the Gold Award. Ashley, along with one hundred and twenty Senior Girl Scouts from every council across the state of Texas were gathered in the House of Representatives Chambers for the special ceremony. Also attending the ceremony in Austin were her parents, Roy and Irene Hartman, and her brothers, Justin, Lucas, and Grant.

The keynote address was given by Governor George Bush who especially praised the young women for their dedication and for their achievements and recognized them as leaders of the future. He encouraged them to continue to be aware of the needs of others, reminding the girls that even little things done for others can make a difference. He also referred to the late Winston Churchill who was one of Britain's greatest statesmen, although he had failed a grade three times. When asked about his embarrassing failures, Churchill responded, "Never give up." Bush ended his speech by encouraging the Girl Scouts to never give up.

ASHLEY HARTMAN

Following the keynote address, each scout was presented to the audience by her council director as her Gold Award Project was announced. Ashley, who is a member of Girl Scout Troop #495, received a certificate from Mrs. Barbara Reynolds of Cross Timbers Girl Scout Council. For her project, Ashley tried to help the critically ill and the elderly of the community in various ways. She prepared and brought meals to the ill, helped with the transportation of their children when needed, and regularly visited the elderly at the local nursing home. There she helped to feed, walk, read to, and write for the elderly with the goal of lessening the loneliness and frustration of being elderly.

After the ceremony, a cake and punch reception was held in the formal gardens at the Governor's Mansion. Guests were also invited to tour the Mansion. In addition, before returning home, Ashley and her family were guests for a luncheon held on the Capitol lawn.

Ashley began her Scouting career in the fourth grade and has been a member for nine years. For the past three years, she has had to pursue her goals independently due to the absence of a Senior troop. Her former leaders have included Irene Hartman and Loretta Felderhoff. In the final analysis of her Gold Award report, Ashley commented with the following, "I think that the most successful part of my project was my self-satisfaction. I told myself that I was going to complete this project, and I did. I gained more responsibility and independence through my project, and I grew closer to God in my service to my brothers and sisters in Christ."

TOM VISENTINE of Texas Waste Management applies decals to the recycling bins recently set up in Muenster. The project was the result of a combined effort of the Texas Land Commission Office, Texas Waste Management and the City of Muenster. Items to be accepted include newspapers, glass containers, some plastics, aluminum and tin cans and aerosol cans.

Recycling bins placed in Muenster

by Janet Felderhoff

The appeals of students from Sacred Heart School to Gary Mauro, Texas Land Commissioner, have been fruitful. Muenster now has recycling bins. They are located inside the fenced in city property near 9th and Main Street.

After Commissioner Mauro read the letters from students seeking a way to spark a recycling effort in Muenster, he put Robert Cox in charge of working out a solution.

Mr. Cox visited with the students during the last week of school. He also visited with Muenster Mayor Henry Weinzapfel and several local business people. Cox had already spoken to Texas Waste Management and found that they were agreeable to supplying the recycling bins if the city could provide a place to keep them.

The city agreed to provide a place for the bins and set up hours. On weekdays the gates will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon. This will be on an experimental basis. If people follow guidelines and don't abuse the program, it won't be necessary for an employee or volunteer to be present during open hours. Should the program be abused, changes will be made accordingly.

There are two recycling bins. One is only for newspaper. Glossy paper is not wanted. Newspapers should be bundled or put in brown paper bags if possible.

The second bin is co-mingled. Green, clear and brown glass, with caps or rings removed; tin cans that have been rinsed clean; empty aluminum cans; empty aerosol cans; plastic marked with PETE1 and HDPE2 on the bottom with caps and rings removed and which are rinsed clean are accepted. These include soft drink bottles with green, clear and dark plastic bottoms and plastic milk jugs, water jugs, and laundry containers.

According to Tom Visentine with Texas Waste Management, all materials go directly to Recycle America in Fort Worth and all will be recycled. They aren't put in landfills. Brochures are available at city hall which explain more details on what is and is not acceptable for recycling.

Chris Yosten, city manager, gave Saturday, July 15 as the first day that the gates will be open for recyclables.

Sunday's SH Homecoming provides lively entertainment

Smiles of satisfaction and achievement erased weariness after workers realized that the annual Sacred Heart Parish Homecoming - parish benefit, picnic and auctions were eminently successful.

Attendance was great. More than 1200 dinners were served, a slight increase over last year. The good crowd for the meal continued throughout the day. The Silent Auction drew attention all day long and the Live Auction was indeed lively.

Eagerly awaited each year is the announcement of names of the raffle winners and major prizes. The list follows: Curtis Hoenig, relaxing getaway to San Antonio for 2; Laura Furman, $500 savings bond; Adam Wolf, $500 savings bond; David Bright, $500 savings bond;

Frank Hess, Magnavox AM/FM Stereo; Duane Knabe, $105 gift certificate; Jake Schilling, $100 in trade; Paulette Swirczynski, $60 gift certificate; Kendra Walterscheid, $50 gift certificate; Milly Voth, $25 gift certificate; Tom Knabe, $20 gift certificate.

Henry Knabe was the lucky winner of the Rifle Raffle.

CCAD presents '96 proposed budget

by Elaine Schad

The proposed 1996 budget for the Cooke County Appraisal District is $670,281, an increase from this year's $645,792 budget, according to figures released by the Cooke County Appraisal District.

The proposed 1996 CCAD appraisal budget is $515,391, an increase from the 1995 budget of $500,936. The proposed collections budget is $154,890, an increase from the present year's budget of $144,856.

CCAD Chief Appraiser Robert Lewis said that the individual taxing entities have each received copies for input before the budget is brought to the CCAD board. Board members are expected to review the figures and hear input from the various taxing entities at its next board meeting on July 20. The final budget will take effect Jan. 1, 1996, unless a majority of county taxing entities reject the figures.

The 1996 proposed appraisal and collections budget is projected to increase 3.8 percent from 1995 and includes an estimate for the purchase of a new computer software service. One major factor in the increase is the substantial increase in the cost of computer paper, which has almost doubled in the last few years, Lewis said.

The appraisal district is considering the purchase of a new computer system. The proposed note for the first payment on the system has been estimated at $19,700, according to the budget line item. Total computer expenditures for 1996 are proposed at $92,218, a 25 percent increase over the present year's budget of $73,762. Included in that increase is an increase in software maintenance of $7,000 over the present year and in hardware maintenance of $5,600.

Employee salaries are expected to increase the total budget by 2.1 percent. Included in that total is a 4.9 percent increase in the chief appraiser's salary from $45,000 to $47,176; a 6 percent increase for the senior appraiser, from $23,800 to $25,228; and an 11.7 percent increase for a computer clerk, from $15,225 to $17,000. A 20 percent salary decrease is proposed at the position of payroll administrator, from $23,690 to $19,000; and at an appraiser's position, from $23,800 to $20,000. Employee benefits are proposed to increase by 2.9 percent, from $60,106 to $61,868.

Other proposed budget increases include legal notices, from $1,000 to $1,500; dues and memberships, from $650 to $900; operations audit, from $5,000 to $5,500; and appraisal review board expenses, from $5,000 to $6,000.

Among proposed budget decreases for 1996 is the cost of supplies, from $13,000 down to $8,000; postage and freight, from $7,000 to $6,500; electricity and gas, from $9,500 to $7,000; insurance bonds, from $14,000 to $13,000; and office building maintenance, from $1,250 to $750. The overall general expenses proposed appraisal budget is expected to drop by almost 3 percent, from $141,790 to $137,940.

In the collections budget, computer expenses are expected to increase by almost 85 percent, from $7,500 to $13,850. That increase is attributed to computer hardware and software maintenance and payment on a computer system note.

Employee benefits for the collections side is expected to rise 3 percent, from $17,892 to $18,440. General expenses will drop almost 4 percent under the proposed budget, from $43,500 to $42,050.

Mandate increases teachers salaries

by Steve Cooper

Muenster ISD, as a member and as a representative of the North Texas Educational Network, was recently honored by the Texoma Council of Governments for innovations in education. Muenster ISD, Era ISD, and Forestburg ISD have used the interactive video classroom the past two years for instructional delivery. Texoma Council of Governments, headquartered in Sherman, recognized three ISDs in the three county area of Grayson, Fannin, and Cooke.

The last article I wrote, I mentioned that in the next article I would give an update on the new state mandate regarding teacher salary increases. The last time the state mandated teacher raises was in 1984. This was in conjunction with the now infamous HB72 (The Ross Perot Bill). The legislature at that time mandated a 10 step salary ladder with the beginning salary set at $17,000 per year with an $1,140 increase each year through step 10. This would max a teacher out in 11 years at a salary of $28,400. Many districts, including Muenster, over the years added to the beginning state base amount above that base in order to keep and attract good teachers. The 1984 salary increases were mostly absorbed by the local taxpayers.

The 1995 legislative version of salary increases for teachers has produced a 20 step salary ladder. Teachers will advance 1 step each year and the amount of raise each year will vary according to the new schedule. An interesting aspect of the law is that the maximum salary for '95-'96 will be $32,080 and that will jump to $35,557 in '96-'97. After that, salary increases will be tied to a formula based on percentage increases in statewide attendance each year. A provision in the law will provide that a teacher will always make at least the same amount they made the year before. Although the state is providing some of the funding for these increases, many districts will be in a state of flux the next few years as they allow the full impact of this legislation to be implemented. Anytime a new salary schedule is mandated, it takes several years to work through the change.

MISD recognizes the value and worth of good teachers. They are invaluable to the educational process. We sometimes overlook the special talents and skills a good teacher brings to the developmental process of a student. It's certainly cheaper to pay for educating a student than it is for incarcerating a criminal. These two relate simply because most of those in our prisons are high school dropouts.

Juvenile probation office move approved by county commissioners

by Janet Felderhoff

After Tuesday, July 11 the Cooke County Juvenile Probation office will begin preparations for a move to roomy office space. The Cooke County Commissioners Court approved the move at their regular meeting held Monday July 10. The Juvenile Probation office will move to office space previously occupied by Child Protective Services (the old county jail).

Sandy Russell requested the move since she has people sharing offices and who need a phone, but don't have one. She requested four offices and a reception area. The Juvenile Probation office will occupy the lower floor and the top floor will be used for storage.

Commissioners also voted unanimously to endorse Judge Bill Freeman as president-elect of the Texas Association of Counties. He is now serving as the organization's vice-president. As president-elect he would automatically become president for the group in two years. Albert Mulrean was re-appointed to serve as Cooke County's Representative on the Board of Directors of Tri-County Senior Nutrition Project, Inc.

In other business Commissioners Court:

- Approved the final plat for Ranchlands Estates Subdivision in Precinct 3.

- Approved payment of indigent burial expenses for Carol Jean Temple Schoonover.

- Approved payment of indigent burial expenses for Jessie Earl Mitcheson.

- Approved minutes from meetings held June 26, 28 and 29 and July 3.

- Approved monthly reports with the exception of two (District Clerks and Precinct 4 Justice of the Peace) that weren't turned in by the meeting.

- Approved monthly bills.

Jim Penton's open air trolley is sold

Jim Penton has parted with his open air trolley which he built in Rosston a number of years ago and in which he has invested many memories. He has delighted in retelling how its power source has varied from tractor to horse to human when all else failed.

The July 4 celebration at his home involved memories of the trolley, counting the flags flying in Rosston for the holiday, (when Prairie Point won by having one more), a party observing Penton's 80th birthday and refreshments of ice cream and American Flag cake, and announcement that Rosston's population has increased by nine since July 4, 1994 to total 44. Penton credits the growth to sales of several homes, several new marriages and arrival of one new baby girl in Rosston.

Penton concludes with "God Bless America, Cooke County and Rosston, Texas."

DPS begins instructor course for certification

DPS began the application process for the certified handgun instructor course at 8 a.m., June 22. The course is required under the new concealed handgun law for those who want to teach the DPS-authorized handgun proficiency course to the general public.

Those interested in becoming certified instructors may call the DPS at 512-706-7293 or 512-706-7294.

Callers should be prepared to provide preliminary information, and applications will be mailed to those who qualify.

The first class for certified handgun instructors is scheduled to begin July 17 at the DPS Training Academy in Austin. The DPS plans to train about 60 students per class.

"The Department will continue the certified handgun instructor course on a weekly basis until all interested applicants are trained," DPS Director Col. James R. Wilson announced.

The registration cost for the instructor course will be $100. The fee will not be refundable to those who don't complete the course. All applicants will be responsible for their own lodging and meals.

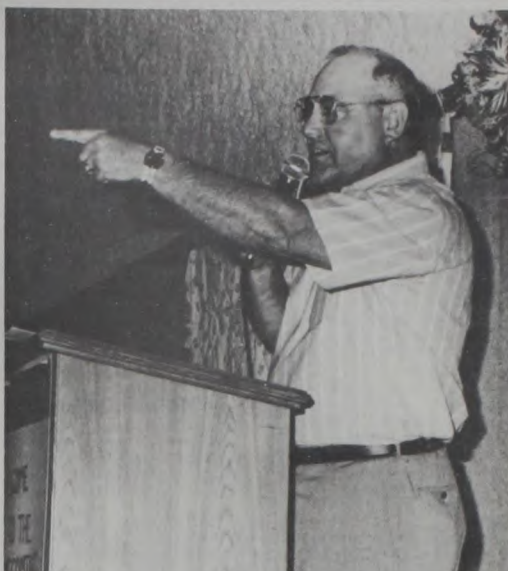

Individuals not currently certified to teach other types of handgun courses will undergo 40 hours of instruction. A 28-hour course will be required for those who are defined by law as "currently certified instructors." The DPS will determine whether applicants qualify for the abbreviated training based on current certification and the ability to pass a firing range test.

Applications will be grouped into six geographical regions. The population percentage of each region will determine how many students from that region will be taught in each class. Therefore, applicants will be accepted for training on a first come basis taking their geographical locations into consideration.

"Instructors will not be authorized to instruct the general public in the proficiency certification course until Sept. 1, 1995," Wilson stressed.

Applications will not be accepted from the general public for licenses to carry concealed handguns until Sept. 1. Those application forms

DON FLUSCHE conducts the Sacred Heart Parish Picnic Auction last Sunday in the Community Center. Don Flusche Auction began in 1967 with Flusche the sole owner and "boss." Billy Caraway joined Flusche 3-12 years ago, after Flusche semi-retired into real estate but still helps Caraway and Flusche Auctioneers. In an average year, Caraway and Flusche hold 20-25 auctions, but have done as many as 50 in 12 months.

EXTREMELY HOT WEATHER with temperature highs peaking in the 100s is hard on people and animals, as well as air conditioners. Curtis Hesse of Hesse Heat and Air services one of many units that succumbed to high temperatures and overwork. Hesse recommends that homeowners practice preventive measures by changing or checking air filters monthly; oiling motors inside and out; and having it checked regularly by a service technician.

GO AHEAD. DESIGN YOUR OWN SATELLITE TV SERVICE.

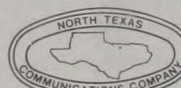

1. If I could create the perfect TV service, I would start with [A] 150 channels or
[B] 70 channels
2. It would be brought to me with crystal clarity over a digital receiving dish that was only [A] 18 inches across or [B] 3 feet across
3. Then, I would make sure I had pay-per-view movies - the latest from Hollywood - and they would each cost me
[A] $2.99 or
[B] $3.95
4. For pay-per-view movies I could choose from [A] about 70 channels or
[B] 10 channels

5. To tell me exactly what I could watch and when I could watch it, I would include
[A] an interactive on-screen program guide or [B] printed listings
6. I would definitely have the option to watch
[A] EVERY NFL game* or
[B] just network coverage
7. Plus, I'd throw in CD-quality audio music. I'd add
[A] 28 extra channels
[B] 6 extra channels
8. Once I had all that, I would get the receiving equipment by [A] paying small monthly installments until I owned it or [B] paying rent on it forever

IF YOU CHOSE [A], YOU KNOW WHAT WE MEAN WHEN WE SAY:
THE CHOICE IS CLEAR. DIRECTV.

Jerry Eckart named Teacher of the Year

Jerry Eckart was named Secondary Teacher of the Year during Muenster ISD's annual teacher appreciation banquet. Eckart, a lifelong resident of the Muenster area, was selected by his peers as the recipient of the award. Eckart, a graduate of the University of North Texas, teaches computer science, micro-computer applications and math. Even with his busy teaching schedule, Eckart began coaching this year on the middle school level. Before starting his teaching career in 1993, Jerry was employed by MISD in the maintenance department and has greeted many students early in the morning as a bus driver.

As the district's technology coordinator, Jerry is responsible for the district's computer hardware and is involved in the selection of software. Eckart is actively involved in coaching academic UIL. His math and computer science teams were highly successful this year. The math team placed second and his computer science team placed first. His efforts with each team are appreciated by everyone and much of the success can be attributed to his efforts.

Safely Home

I am home in Heaven, dear ones; Oh, so happy and so bright! There is perfect joy and beauty In this everlasting light.

All the pain and grief is over, Every restless tossing passed; I am now at peace forever, Safely home in Heaven at last.

Did you wonder I so calmly Trod the valley of the shade? Oh! but Jesus' love illumined Every dark and fearful glade

And He came Himself to meet me In that way so hard to tread; And with Jesus' arm to lean on, Could I have one doubt or dread?

Then you must not grieve so sorely, For I love you dearly still: Try to look beyond earth's shadows, Pray to trust our Father's Will.

There is work still waiting for you, So you must not idly stand; Do it now, while life remaineth - You shall rest in Jesus' land.

When that work is all completed, He will gently call you Home; Oh! the rapture of that meeting, Oh the joy to see you come!

Cowboy Symposium offers fun, history

Nearly 50 entertainers from across the southwest are registered to attend the First Annual North Texas Cowboy Symposium July 14-15 in Bowie, Texas.

Earl Yarbro, president of the symposium board, said he has 40 entertainers registered with several more mailing their registration forms. The response has prompted the symposium to expand its staging areas to four instead of the original two.

There will be stages with entertainment all day Friday and Saturday at the Jim Bowie rodeo arena, Pelham Park Pavilion, Hutson Pavilion, and the Senior Citizens Center. Yarbro said a schedule of entertainers for each stage will be available. Horse training by Dean Smith also will be at the arena at 1:30 p.m. July 15.

Entertainment during the two days will focus on cowboy music and poetry. Last year a cowboy poetry gathering was hosted drawing many of the state's top poets. Yarbro, a cowboy poet himself, took the initiative to get the gathering going full-scale.

"It is coming together super," said Yarbro. "We're getting a lot of calls from vendors for the show and entertainers. People I never dreamed would attend. I am really excited about it."

Marlin Spurgeon, Mesquite, internationally renowned spur and buckle maker and artist chosen to make the commemorative spurs for the Great American Cattle Drive, will be attending.

The Texas Cowboy Poets Association will be having its quarterly meeting in Bowie on July 15. Poets and musicians from across the state will be taking part, as well as local talent. Alvin Davis, creator of the Lubbock Cowboy Symposium, will perform, along with nationally-known Buck Ramsey. Others include Billy Joe and Norma, Larry McWhorter, Skye Shivers, Duke Davis and Fiddlers Two.

Admission to the day-time entertainment will be $5 each day. Activities begin at 10 a.m. each day continuing until 4 p.m.

Texas' official cowboy poet Red Steagall will be featured in an evening performance on July 14. This show begins at 6 p.m. with tickets at $7 for adults and children under 12 with parents are free.

Steagall's show also will feature Alvin Davis, Buck Ramsey, Larry McWhorter and Billy Joe and Norma.

On July 15, a big show will close out the cowboy symposium at 6 p.m. Entertainers will include Alvin Davis, Buck Ramsey, Kent Rollins, Fiddlers Two and many others.

Local and area cowboy poets and singers are invited to take part. Entrants must use selections of cowboy poetry or songs, all related to the cowboy tradition and lifestyle.

A fish and calf fry meal will be available at the Pelham Park Pavilion from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. on July 14 and 15. The Senior Citizens Center will be serving a lunch and snack both days.

Tickets for the two main shows are now on sale at First National Bank of Bowie, all branches, Brookshire's and local western stores. The Senior Travel Club of Bowie High School will also be selling tickets for both shows. Contact Peggy Demoss, Senior Advisor, at 817-872-1339 for tickets. Tickets will also be available at the gates.

Those with questions about the symposium can call Earl Yarbro at 817-872-2227 or 817-872-1675 or write North Texas Cowboy Symposium, 1000 Pebble, Bowie, Texas 76230.

Sacred Heart Homecoming Picnic Festivities July 9, 1995

From My Side of the Fence by Ed Cler

The year 1995 seems to be slipping by, month after month, and is now over half history.

On Sunday, July 2, Leon and Sandy Fuhrmann and family hosted another of their popular and well attended Fourth of July parties, with large quantities of excellent barbecue and other fine foods, followed by an assortment of homemade ice creams.

Most of the ladies brought covered dishes of many kinds of tempting foods, and just about all who had freezers brought them along filled with delicious ice cream.

After all attendees, from brothers and sisters to grandparents, uncles, aunts and cousins, and other friends had their fill, there was much visiting, along with frequent refills from the freezers.

As the evening began to darken, some of the young folks gathered up the pooled fireworks and the rest of us began to position our chairs for a better view of the proceedings.

After about an hour of continuous fireworks ranging from sometimes amusing to spectacular, the supply ran out and an evening of fun and good fellowship was coming to an end.

Well, as the evening progressed new friends were made, old friendships were renewed, and, as the crowd began to dwindle, all expressed a resolve to gather again in '96 to celebrate another anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. (And devour more good food and ice cream.)

Bishop from India visits Lindsay Franciscans

On Thursday July 6, 1995 Bishop Peter Chenampalil of Kerala India came to the home of Bill and Elvira Flusche to meet with all the members of the fraternity and they enjoyed a covered dish dinner. Another special guest was Rev. Joseph Weinzapfel of Münster. Also present were Leonard and Ann Bengfort of Lindsay. They were the sponsors of a seminarian who was ordained last March in Kerala India and is now Rev. Bernard G. Panikaveetil.

Following the dinner was a time for visiting with the bishop and everyone present. He said his "Bishops Cathedral" church tower just fell over and landed on top of the church and ruined it. They are planning to repair it. He said his parishioners are good workers and are very devout and walk, many times, even miles to church. There is no machinery to farm with except their shovel and hand tools. Even the women help with breaking up big rocks into chips to build roads and wherever the chips are needed.

Bishop Peter says Brothers Thomas and Fernandos, seminarians, are doing well in their studies for the priesthood.

At 5:00, Bishop Peter celebrated Mass at St. Peter's Church in Lindsay for members. In his homily he spoke of the goodness of God to all of us. Mary Stoffels read the petitions. At the end of Mass everyone sang "The Song of Saint Francis."

Following Mass everyone went to the parish hall for refreshments.

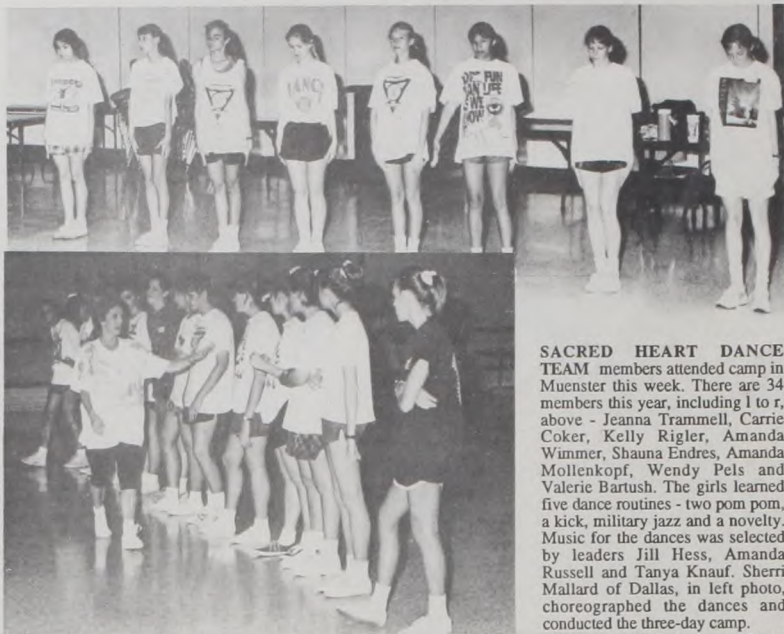

Later Bishop Peter went to visit other friends in Lindsay. Other friends present during the day were Roy A. Zarghese of Mesquite, Texas; Imogene Zimmerer; Miriam Caplinger; and Father Eugene Luke OSB. Bishop Peter spent the night at the Lindsay rectory and left early the next morning with Leonard and Ann Bengfort to return to Dallas.

Teal harvest sets record in 1994

Hunters in Texas took a record 89,000 teal during the 1994 teal season, eclipsing the previous record of 77,000 set in 1979 and more than doubling the harvest in 1993, according to preliminary estimates from the federal waterfowl harvest survey.

"Reports from last year's teal season were excellent, and hunting success and harvest exceeded our expectations," said Brian Sullivan, waterfowl program leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. "This is good news and demonstrates the continuing recovery of duck populations and renewed interest in duck hunting."

Everything was just right for teal season last year - breeding populations were up, production of young birds was excellent and habitat conditions in Texas had recovered after a dry summer, the state official said.

Sullivan noted that the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission also set later season dates last year, which helped the harvest. He said the change was well received by teal hunters, and TPWD surveys indicate later season dates produce better teal hunting success, more hunting effort and larger harvests.

"The preliminary information from the breeding grounds this year is very favorable, and if our habitat stays in good shape, we should have another excellent teal season in 1995," Sullivan predicted.

Steve Kohler had his appointment with his doctors July 6 in Dallas. Steve was told by his doctors he could be back teaching at Sacred Heart School in August. This was good news to the Kohler family and they wanted to share it with all their friends and everyone. They appreciate all the prayers of everyone for Steve and the family. They appreciate all the interest and kindness extended to them during Steve's illness.

John Cook of LaGuna Hills, CA, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee McKown of Dallas spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berry. Saturday they all went to Marietta, OK to the home of Dale and Linda McMillin to help Mrs. Mae Fletcher celebrate her 89th birthday. It was a surprise for Mrs. Fletcher whose actual Birthday is June 24. They all spent the day and enjoyed dinner and birthday cake decorated in white and pink, and a beautiful cut flower arrangement. About 40 relatives came.

Mrs. Josephine Berry has had as her guests for five days, her daughter Mrs. Janice Conkright and daughter Robin of Hereford and Scott and Leslie of Oklahoma. Byron Berry of Lake Kiowa visited Mrs. Berry Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mozelle Hutson visited her mother Mrs. Jewel Gaston and brother Rickie Gaston in Saint Jo Sunday afternoon.

Bill and Dorothy Christian of Stephenville spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Christian.

Mrs. Gladys Balthrop had as her guests for dinner Sunday Rev. Dennis Hammer of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Balthrop of Myra, Mrs. Nancy Rogers and two daughters of Gainesville, Mrs. Anna Kirk and Becky.

Rev. Dennis Hammer of Dallas filled the pulpit in the Rosston Baptist Church Sunday in the absence of Rev. Dennis Pallet, pastor, who will be back Sunday.

Texas wheat production unchanged from last month

Wheat harvest increased over much of the state during May. The 1995 Texas winter wheat crop is currently forecast at 84.0 million bushels, unchanged from last month. The June 1 estimate was 11 percent above last year's production but 29 percent below the 1993 crop.

Statewide yield was expected to average 28 bushels per acre, up 2 bushels from last year. Harvested acreage, at 3.0 million acres, increased 3 percent from 1994.

Dryland fields in the High Plains continued to deteriorate during May. Late May rain did little to improve prospects. Irrigated fields were in better condition.

Production on the Northern High Plains was forecast at 29.2 million bushels, down 3 percent from last month and down 21 percent from last year.

Harvest was beginning in the Low Plains and Cross Timbers.

Winter wheat production on the Low Plains, at 17.9 million bushels, decreased 1 percent from last month, but was 50 percent above last year. The Cross Timbers was estimated at 7.6 million bushels, more than double last year's production and was up 7 percent from last month.

Production in the Blacklands was forecast at 14.3 million bushels, 13 percent below the 1994 crop but up 1 percent from May. In South Texas, wheat harvest was winding down by June 1.

United States winter wheat production was forecast at 1.61 billion bushels, down 3 percent from last year. Yield was expected to average 39.6 bushels per acre compared with 40.2 bushels a year ago. Acreage to be harvested for grain was expected to total 40.6 million acres, 2 percent less than a year ago.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

SORGHUM INSECTS

Sorghum is blooming and producers should be reminded of the need to scout fields for midge. Infestations are generally light in the first blooming fields in an area. Infestations then increase in about 2 to 3 weeks; the time required for midge to complete a generation.

Adult midge emerge from the pupa in the morning, mate and lay eggs, and die the same day during hot, dry weather. Thus, fields should be scouted for midge during mid-morning to early afternoon. Each day new midge emerge, so frequent scouting during bloom (yellow anthers present) is necessary. Midge may be concentrated at the field margin, so check plants throughout the field to reliably estimate the infestation. While a field may require 2 to 3 weeks to bloom, days 5 to 12 of bloom are most critical as this period represents about 75 percent of the potential grain production.

One female midge lays 70 or more eggs, each with the potential of destroying one seed or kernel in the sorghum head. Insecticide application is typically recommended when midge numbers average 1 to 2 per head and about 25 percent of the heads are in bloom. Retreatment may be needed if midge are still present 3 to 5 days after treatment and the field is still blooming.

Bollworm moths can lay eggs in sorghum heads soon after flowering is complete. Young larvae, called "headworms", feed on the developing grain. Fields treated earlier for midge often have a greater potential for headworm damage because numbers of predatory insects are reduced by the midge insecticides.

Look for headworms by beating a sample of heads into a large pail. After every 10 heads sampled, dump out the bucket and count the number of headworm larvae. Depending upon the value of the crop and the cost of control, an average of less than 1 up to 2 larvae per head will justify control.

Some fields look very ragged from leaf damage. This generally occurs around the borders of the fields and producers should look for an even pattern of holes in the leaves. This pattern indicates worm feeding that has occurred in the whorl of the sorghum plant. No sprays are justified in that they cannot get down into the whorl and kill the worm. The damage is mostly cosmetic and will not cause yield reduction in the field.

HAIL DAMAGE TO CORN AND OTHER CROPS

Recently we received some severe hail damage to some of the crops in the county. Producers in the western part of the county growing corn, grain sorghum and soybeans experienced severe defoliation in a great deal of their cropland from hail.

The corn should be in better shape than some of the other crops. This is due primarily to the stage of growth that the corn was in. It is hard to estimate the amount of ear damage and possible rotting from the hail. However, that corn that was in the soft dent stage is less vulnerable to hail loss. The stalks should be okay in that they are pretty well hardened by now. Leaf shredding and ripping does not create a great deal of yield loss. You still have the green leaf tissue to carry on photosynthesis even though the leaves are torn. Where you get into problems is from lost leaf tissue and dead leaf areas. As long as the leaves are still green, they will keep pumping energy to the ear. It will probably take producers a week to get a good assessment of their damage to the corn crop.

The grain sorghum is much more susceptible to yield loss during hail. The head is exposed and the hail causes loss of the fruiting berries or breaking off of the heads. The leaf on the grain sorghum plant works the same way as in the corn plant. The shredding again causes little damage. However, leaf loss and leaf death will have the greatest impact.

Soybeans are a little different story. When we lose the leaves on the soybean plant, the plant is pretty well gone. If beans are small as they are this time of the year on the early group beans, the severe yield reduction or plant death can occur.

We have a booklet available concerning assessing hail damage to corn. If you are interested in a copy, give the Extension Office a call.

CCFB urges participation in survey

Cooke County Farm Bureau President Robert Klement is urging area farmers to participate in an Atrazine Use Survey as a means of providing the Environmental Protection Agency with specific information while the herbicide is under special review by the agency.

Due to some 35,000 responses, EPA has extended the comment period for atrazine, along with the comment period for Cyanazine and simazine, for a year to March of 1996.

"Millions of dollars have been spent over many years to prove the safety of atrazine products," Klement said. "Farmers cannot afford to lose such a safe and effective weed-fighting compound."

Although the extended review could result in further use restrictions or an outright ban, Robert believes input from farmers indicating the value of atrazine in their farming operations could prevent that.

"We need to get some more specific information to EPA to answer questions about how farmers use products, what substitute chemicals would cost, what application methods are being used and what tillage practices are being used," the Cooke County Farm Bureau leader said. "Hopefully, this will help EPA make a more informed decision."

Persons with questions or those in need of a survey form should contact Dale Parr, Texas Farm Bureau associate director of Commodity and Regulatory Activities, at 817-751-2262.

Completed survey forms should be returned to Parr at the Texas Farm Bureau state office, P. O. Box 2689, Waco, Texas, 76702.

Texas Farm Bureau will forward the survey forms to the American Farm Bureau Federation for compilation before forwarding to EPA.

Fire ant losses average $2 per acre

Data collected from a Texas Agriculture Extension Service survey indicates that fire ants account for $2.06 per acre in economic losses to ranchers in 166 Texas counties included in the survey area, says Charles L. Barr, TAEX extension associate responsible for the survey.

The confidential survey was a cooperative effort between the TAEX and Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association members. Survey recipients were 4,521 random TSCRA members in 72 fire ant-infested counties. Thirty four percent (1,540) of the surveys were returned which is a remarkable rate of return considering the complexity of the survey, says Barr.

Of those surveys returned, 1,090 reported economic losses. More than 3.2 million acres in 166 counties were reported which is about 4.5 percent of the fire ant infested portion of the state's pasture land, he says.
