Volunteers again prepare toy effort

A holiday project to provide needy Scurry County youngsters with toys at Christmas is again planned.

This effort last Christmas resulted in more than 2,000 toys which went out to help brighten the Christmas of some 575 local youth.

David Hines, owner of Hines Construction, is heading up the drive as did last holiday season. This year, however, the plan is growing an effort to provide new as well as used toys.

In line with this, an addition is planned to the project — a Christmas Variety Show featuring local talent. To be admitted to the show, persons will be asked to bring one new toy.

The program is scheduled at the Snyder Junior High School Auditorium at 7 p.m. Dec. 13, a Tuesday.

In addition, local civic clubs are encouraged to take on as a Christmas project the purchase of new toys for needy kids.

The variety show idea was suggested by Jeanie Rice, a member of the Colonial Hill Baptist Church bell choir.

Performers already slated to appear include the church bell choir, the Snyder High School stage band; the Senior Citizen Center's Kitchen Band, local singers Richard Long and Cindy Hataway plus the twirling students of Sandy Pavlik and the gymnastic students of Kelly Luera.

The used toy effort will again depend on donations from families whose children have outgrown their toys or have toys which need only minor repairs.

To donate, boxes will be placed at Snyder's central fire station. Members of the fire department as well as a group of volunteers will be repairing toys requiring work.

The location for the toy repair will be the now closed Mode O'Day building on the south side of the square. Use of the facility has been donated courtesy of owner Ewart Phillips of Midland and Stevenson Real Estate of Snyder.

Toy repair work is planned nightly at the building provided by volunteer labor. The toys will be stored there as well.

The effort to identify needy families in the county will be conducted as it was last year.

A form included inside the SDN begins with this issue. These should be filled out and returned to Christmas Toys; P.O. Box 336; Snyder, Tx., 79549.

Information needed includes the name of the needy family and their residential address. Particularly important is the name and age of boy and girl family members.

A signature line is provided for whoever fills out the form and it is this person who will be responsible for picking up the packet of toys. The distribution time and place will be announced later.

Project sponsors note that the distribution will be several days before Christmas — in time for wrapping individual presents for respective youngsters.

A cutoff date of Dec. 16 — a Friday — has been set to both contribute toys and to turn in applications for needy families.

Persons interested in volunteering to help with the toy renovation or those with further questions should contact Hines at 573-2287.

Druse leader killed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A gunman with a silencer-equipped pistol assassinated the top legal authority in Lebanon's Druse community today, pumping several bullets into his head in the victim's west Beirut home, police sources said.

A French soldier was killed by a sniper in a separate shooting near the Green Line dividing Moslem west and Christian east Beirut, and Beirut airport remained closed following a Druse threat to resume heavy shelling unless Lebanon's army cleared out.

The police sources said a preliminary investigation indicated the assassinated Druse official, Sheik Halim Takieddine, a moderate, may have known his assailant and that the sheik's maid was being questioned.

Takieddine, 60, was the highest legal authority of the secretive Druse faith, an offshoot of Islam. He set the rules for such things as marriages, divorces and wills.

Honor society ceremony held

Twenty three students, three seniors and twenty juniors, were inducted into the Snyder High School Chapter of the National Honor Society during formal candlelight ceremonies Wednesday afternoon.

A minimum grade average of 90 is mandatory for membership. Academic achievment, however, is only one of four aspects of the student's performance evaluated in the selection process. Students chosen for membership are nominated by the faculty based upon such qualities as character, scholarship, leadership and service.

Senior Paul Tate, president of the society, served as master of ceremonies for the Wednesday event and fellow members Kathy Norris, Allen Fox, Sharmon Briggs and Guy Staton delivered short addresses outlining the qualifications for election.

SHS Principal Ray Courtney opened the ceremonies with a brief outline of the importance and purpose of the organization.

David Etheredge presented a short reading for the assembled students and parents. Musical entertainment was provided by Teka Eicke and Mickey Broach.

New members of the society were presented for induction by Susan Brim, society vice-president, and Kathy Rhodes, secretary.

Seniors inducted Wednesday were Mitchell Jones, Chris Wiman and Teresa Waller.

24 days until Christmas

Children photos date to 1900

"Yesterday's Child," a new exhibition of historical photographs, will open at the Scurry County Museum Sunday as part of the 7th annual Christmas Happening.

The museum will be hosting a variety of activities from 1 until 3 p.m., to be followed by events at the Diamond M Museum from 3 until 5 p.m.

The Diamond M will open its new exhibit "Sacred Paths," Sunday as well.

Photographs included in "Yesterday's Child" illustrate a wide diversity in the lives of children at the turn of the century. These look at the daily life of the child and his experiences in growing up in a world on the frontier where the family was the center.

Although most children had few toys in 1900, many of the photographs depict such prized possessions.

The role of education held a prominent position, illustrated by scenes in the early sod school houses or a tent school.

Also shown is the role of the family as they work together or gather for a picnic with friends.

Most frequently, however, the children are shown with other children — choosing up for a baseball game, meeting at the watermelon patch, on the way to the creek for a swim or playing a game of "needles eye" at school recess.

Photographs making up the exhibit were selected from the collections of the Museum of the Great Plains in Lawton, Okla.; the Museum of the Western Prairie in Altus, Okla.; and the Western History Collection at the University of Oklahoma.

The exhibit is part of a project funded by the Oklahoma Humanities Committee and the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Only time will tell if the world is full of smart men bluffing or imbeciles who mean it."

Some sportwriters contend that the Class 5-A football championship will be decided this weekend in Tech's Jones Stadium when Odessa Permian has a rematch with Midland Lee.

The game is a semi-final game between the winner and runner-up of the same district. Lee is responsible for the only blot on the Panther's 12-1 record when the Rebels, 11-2, took a 20-7 victory in regular season play.

That was the only district loss for Mojo while the Rebels lost games to San Angelo Central and Abilene Cooper. The first game between Mojo and the Rebels was played in the new 16,000-seat stadium in Odessa. It was a standing-room only crowd, estimated at more than 19,000.

There is no stadium in either Midland or Odessa that would handle the anticipated crowd Saturday, so officials of the two schools picked Jones Stadium on the Texas Tech campus. It's anybody's guess, but some are estimating a crowd of approximately 40,000. Weather, of course, could be a factor to casual fans, but football fever is running high in both Midland and Odessa.

It is doubtful that an attendance record will be set, however. The top crowd to watch a high school game was during the state finals last year in Texas Stadium between Plano and Port-Neches Groves. The number was 49,900 which cracked a record that had stood for 38 years.

The previous record of 45,790 was set in 1945 when Highland Park hosted Waco High in the Cotton Bowl.

We don't know the odds on Saturday's game, and we would hate to be forced to pick a winner. Mojo, of course, has that magic and experience in the playoffs. In the latest Harris Poll, Permian was ranked No. 1 and Lee was the No. 2 team.

We talked to a friend who covered the Permian-Hereford playoff game a few weeks ago. He was impressed by the band almost as much as the football team, saying the band is part of the pre-game intimidation process.

For years, folks have attempted to determine what Mojo stood for. The fellow in Hereford, after a good country licking, offered the following: "MOJO means Most Obnoxious Jerk in Odessa."

It's a tradition we have to admire.

AT COMPETITION — Featured in the Western Texas College drama department's production of "Major Barbara" are Kim Lunsford and Robert Loveless, both Snyder natives and currently sophomores at WTC. The play will be staged Friday at 1:30 p.m. as part of the American College Theatre Festival. Performances are in the University Theatre on the campus of Texas Tech University. Q. — Is there an organization in Snyder which helps out needy families at Christmas?

A. — For the past several years, the Snyder Kiwanis Club has sponsored a Goodfellows project which provides food for those in need at Christmas. The effort is planned again this year.

In Brief

Groups might end actions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three anti-Sandinista groups told the United States they are prepared to end their military operations against Nicaragua if that nation takes "credible steps" toward democracy, a senior American official said today.

The official, reporting on talks conducted this morning in Panama City between the anti-Sandinista leaders and Richard Stone, President Reagan's special Central American envoy, said his report was intended to convey a message directly to Sandinista leaders in Managua.

The official, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said "the anti-Sandinista groups are prepared to open negotiations with the Sandinista government."

They "are willing to suspend para-military activity in Nicaragua if the Sandinista government takes specific, credible steps to implement the democratic promises they made to the OAS in 1979," he said.

Nurse says she is innocent

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Vocational nurse Genene Jones has pleaded innocent to a charge that contends she injured an infant boy with injections of a blood-thinning drug.

State District Judge Pat Priest set a tentative trial date of Feb. 27 after Ms. Jones' plea Wednesday.

The nurse was indicted last week after a lengthy grand jury investigation into unexplained infant deaths at the pediatric intensive care unit of Medical Center Hospital.

At Ms. Jones' request, the judge ordered her returned to the Williamson County jail in Georgetown, where she awaits trial on a Kerr County murder charge.

Ms. Jones is accused of murdering a 15-month-old girl with injections of a powerful muscle relaxant. She will face trial later on charges that she injured six infants in Kerrville with drug injections.

Bexar County District Attorney Sam Millsap said the Medical Center investigation would continue.

The dean of the medical school at the University of Texas Health Science Center, whose faculty staffs the hospital, still faces a contempt of grand jury motion.

Reagan favors slow track

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, settling a dispute among his key advisers, had decided to authorize long-term research and development of weapons to repel nuclear attacks rather than a hurry-up approach, an administration official said today.

The decision was described as the more cautious of two choices presented to Reagan at a meeting Wednesday with his national security advisers.

The alternative, said the official, was to launch a program to deploy defensive weapons quickly.

Instead, the president chose wide-ranging research without deciding on a particular kind of technology.

Bus mishap probe begins

LIVINGSTON, Texas (AP) — Federal investigators today sought to determine why a Trailways bus struck the rear of a truck and careened 40 feet into a muddy creek, killing six passengers and injuring six others.

An eight-member task force from the National Transportation Safety Board arrived late Tuesday from Washington "to try to determine factually what happened and make safety recommendations if appropriate," NTSB spokesman Steve Blackistone said.

Farm cooperative turns slight profit

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Farmland Industries, coming off a year of record operating losses, is turning a slight profit and well on its way to a "turnaround," the president of the nation's largest farm cooperative says.

"It was a tough year," Farmland President Kenneth A. Nielsen said Wednesday in a keynote speech to about 13,000 people attending the cooperative's annual meeting, which ends Friday. "But we have it behind us."

Nielsen acknowledged that a $12.4 million profit in fiscal 1983 was attributable to the sale in July of Farmland's oil-exploration subsidiary, Terra Resources Inc., to Pacific Lighting Corp. for $371 million. He said Farmland operations lost $141.9 million in fiscal 1983.

"We cannot be self-satisfied about savings (the cooperative's term for profits) that result from a gain on assets sold, and ignore substantial losses for the year in continuing operations," Nielsen said. "Still we do have a savings, and that signals the start of a turnaround."

Nielsen said Farmland's sales last year totaled $4.7 billion, down from $5.6 billion in 1982. The drop, to a large degree, reflected reduced grain sales by Farmland's marketing subsidiary, Far-Mar-Co., Nielson said.

He said profits for the first quarter of fiscal 1984, which began Sept. 1, show a "dramatic" increase from the previous year. He said preliminary figures show Farmland earning a $5 million profit for the first quarter of this year, compared to a $19.4 million first-quarter loss last year.

Every business unit of Farmland is making a "solid recovery," said Nielsen, who last April took over the Kansas City-based cooperative, which has 500,000 members in 19 Midwestern and Southwestern states.

Nielsen said the "totally unacceptable" operating loss in 1983 was caused by reduced export demand, high raw-material costs and low wholesale prices, massive government set-aside programs that cut sales, and bad weather.

Nevertheless, Nielsen said, Farmland has moved onto more stable financial ground by lowering its debt load dramatically through the sale of Terra, streamlining its other operations and offering members a $75 million preferred-stock plan intended to give the company a spurt of working capital.

"Farmland is leaner, and in some ways more conservative in its approach to business decisions," Nielsen said. "Distribution and administrative costs were $31 million less in 1983 than in 1982."

Nielsen stressed the challenge that the changing structure of agriculture poses for the cooperative system. To help meet those challenges, Nielsen said, Farmland has created task groups that will focus on technology, the overall economy, politics and other issues.

"The purpose of those task groups is ... to provide the kind of knowledge of a particular subject that will help management shape an enlightened corporate strategy," he said.

Toxic shock syndrome case ends in mistrial

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - The first trial of a toxic shock syndrome case in Texas has ended in a mistrial because an attorney for the plaintiff was hospitalized with severe chest pains.

U.S. District Judge David O. Belew Jr. dismissed the jury in the 10-day-old trial and said it would be rescheduled some time early next year.

The mistrial was declared because attorney Michael Liles, who had open heart surgery in July, was admitted Tuesday to All Saints Hospital with severe chest pains. He was listed in stable condition Wednesday.

Attorneys for both sides in the trial that had been recessed until Wednesday said they expected the trial would have lasted another 10 days.

The trial - the fourth toxic shock syndrome case against Proctor & Gamble Co. to go to trial in the United States - was the result of a lawsuit filed in 1981 by Tammie Lynn Wallace, 26, of Fort Worth, and her husband, Forrest Layne Wallace, now of Denton.

The couple contended in the suit that Mrs. Wallace nearly died from the use of Rely tampons. Proctor & Gamble manufactured Rely tampons until they were recalled from the market in 1980.

The couple sought more than $2 million in actual damages and an unspecified amount in punitive damages from the Cincinnatti-based corporation.

Acne and skin care

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My daughter has acne. It is mild but it troubles her so much. We went to see a doctor, but he charges $800 to solve such problems. I was wondering if there were doctors who would give her a prescription for Retin-A and tell her how to use it.

Is there anything you can help her with along these lines? Will your Health Letter on acne help? Also, what kind of doctor should she see who won't charge an arm and leg to help her? Her life is almost destroyed because of this and we have tried everything.

DEAR READER — Not everyone who has a mild case of acne needs to see a specialist, and I would be surprised if a specialist charged that kind of fee. Have your daughter see her family doctor.

A physician in family practice is quite capable of handling most mild cases of acne, and he certainly can prescribe Retin-A if it is indicated.

Retin-A is a peeling agent that is derived from vitamin A. It helps to peel off the superficial layers of skin which leads to improvement of acne in some cases. It is only part of the treatment for acne. Measures to decrease or eliminate oily skin conditions are important and antibiotics often are helpful in preventing pustules. These last two measures often are just as important as any peeling agent.

Daily skin care is important. I have outlined the treatment used for most cases of acne in The Health Letter 8-2, Acne Can Be Treated, which I am sending your daughter. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Cleansing the skin twice a day with an alcohol sponge helps to dry the skin and remove excess oil. But vigorous scrubbing of the skin usually is harmful. The problem is not dirt, but too much oily sebum that often is broken down into irritating products by bacteria.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you please explain demyelinating disorders? What can one do for them? Exercise, diet, medications? Is it possible for it to go into remission?

DEAR READER — Your nerves have an outside sheath comparable to the outside insulation around an electric wire. This is called the myelin sheath and is vital to the nerves' ability to be electrically active.

In some disorders the sheath is damaged or destroyed and this process is called demyelinization. There are a group of disorders called demyelinating diseases. The best known of these is multiple sclerosis. Since that disease may affect the myelin sheath in different spots and locations, it causes a variety of disorders.

The sheath also can be damaged in an inflammatory process called Guillain-Barre syndrome.

Most of the demyelinating diseases can have remissions and most people recover completely from Guillain-Barre syndrome. But of course, it makes a difference what the disease is.

There is not much that can be done with self-help programs, although a good diet and adequate vitamins are important. Physical therapy often is important in maintaining function of affected parts.

Singer rejects critics words

LONDON (AP) — British pop singer Cliff Richard, responding to criticism of rock 'n' roll, rejects suggestions that such music is a creation of the devil and says it's actually part of God's creation.

"How can intelligent men suggest that rock 'n' roll is a creation of the devil?" the 43-year-old singer asks in an interview in the monthly Christian magazine Today. "It must be part of God's creation. All we've done is allow Satan to make use of it."

Richard, who was leader of a British group called "The Shadows" when he became a Christian in 1965, was responding to a recent attack by evangelical Christians on rock 'n' roll in a book, "Pop Goes the Gospel" by John Bot. Richard has written a book of his own, "You, Me and Jesus."

Actress likes college life

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Actress Brooke Shields, a freshman at Princeton, says going to school fulfills a valuable need in her life as she's "not ready to give up the security of school yet."

"I'm not ready to go out into the world and just work," the 18-year-old Miss Shields says. "I've always needed school."

Acting, Miss Shields said, is "something that gets inside you and that you can't stay away from. It's an opportunity to play different roles, to live through dreams and fantasies, whether they're your own at that moment or not."

At Wit's End

by erma bombeck

Is anybody out there still eating turkey?

Or am I the only one who is growing plumage on her chest and strutting when I'm called?

We've been eating off that bird for seven days now and we still have two legs, two thighs and 15 pounds of white meat to go.

A turkey is kinda like split pea soup. You only have to make it once in your life and from there on in you just keep adding water. Chili is like that too. You can feed a single person off it or you can feed 300. It all depends on how often you want to experience a piece of hamburger.

But back to turkey.

No one will ever convince me a turkey does not have life after Thanksgiving. It's his ultimate revenge for the indignity he suffers at the hands of cooks all over the world. First, we neuter them with surgery. Just when they look good minus a few pounds, we stuff them up with dressing until they burst. After hours in a hot oven, we poke at them with forks before we transfer them to a platter where they sit in a compromising position with their legs falling apart like divining rods.

That's why, immediately following dinner, they begin to grow.

If finishing off turkey leftovers doesn't pull your family together, nothing will.

"Mom, I have to fly back to L.A. I can't sit here and finish off your turkey. I have a job."

"No one leaves this house until the turkey is gone!"

"Mom, you know I'm a vegetarian and can't eat meat or poultry."

"EAT!"

Throughout the years, we've had leftover turkey glazed, molded, fried, creamed and barbecued.

I've put it on a bun, in a salad, a pie, soups, casseroles and stuffed it into pockets of bread.

I've arranged it on skewers, pounded it into fillets, stir-fried it, and married it to rice and broccoli.

I've broken my own rule and made it into dishes I can't even pronounce: tetrazzini, ramekin, cassulet, florentine, kiev, piccata and strata.

I've made turkey chip cookies, filled in cracks with it and carved phone messages into it.

Usually, I throw away no leftover before its time, but with a turkey, do it within a week or you have a dependent living with you for the rest of your life!

Davis says Western facing best in conference tonight

According to Coach Barry Davis, the best thing about tonight's game with South Plains is the Westerners are playing at home. Still, he moans, that may not be enough advantage.

"South Plains is playing the best basketball in the conference right now," said the second-year Western Texas College coach. "They have five real good sophomores. They aren't big, but they are quick and they can play the game."

South Plains is 10-2 on the season, 1-0 in conference play after mauling Frank Phillips 110-86 Tuesday. Western is 6-4 and lost its WJCAC opener to Midland, 82-62.

Tipoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock in Scurry County Coliseum. A women's game will be held at 6.

Davis said of South Plains' quickness, "If you don't get back on defense, they'll score in a Chicago second. The best thing about it is we're here at home. Hopefully we'll have a good crowd and we can put that, and the home court, in our favor."

While Davis said, tongue in cheek, "We've already ordered our Red Cross supplies," he's not counting the Westerners out.

"We just have to play our game. Play good defense and create some turnovers where we can get down the floor and get a few easy buckets. We'll have to control the boards better than we have been. We're going to try to get the ball down the floor quickly, but if the shot is not there, we want to set it up and get the shot we want. We don't want what they give us, we want what we want."

The Texans don't miss much. They rank second in the conference in field goal percentage (.564) and freethrow percentage (.647). They average 80.6 and are allowing just 64.4.

Chris Cooper and Earl Harris lead the Texans with scoring averages of 14.6 And 14.5 respectively. Two other players, including top rebounder George Kohelem, also average in double-digits.

Western is getting its most productivity out of sophomore Richie Fells, 6-3, who is averaging 14.3 points. Larry Banks, 6-5 sophomore, and Floyd Singleton, 6-1 freshman, average 12.9 and 11.5 respectively.

The Westerners are undefeated in the coliseum this season but have only played three home games.

Dusters open conference season against South Plains

Western Texas College's Dusters take on one of the top defensive teams in the WJCAC tonight as they host South Plains in the first game of a doubleheader at 6.

WTC's men will entertain SPC at 8. Both games are in Scurry County Coliseum.

"I watched them play last night (Tuesday) and don't think I've ever seen a team do so many things defensively as they did," said Coach Joe Cushing of SPC's 53-52 victory over Frank Phillips. "They used two different presses, a man defense half court, a 1-3-1 half court, a 2-3 and a 1-2-2. They took good shots and they were very patient."

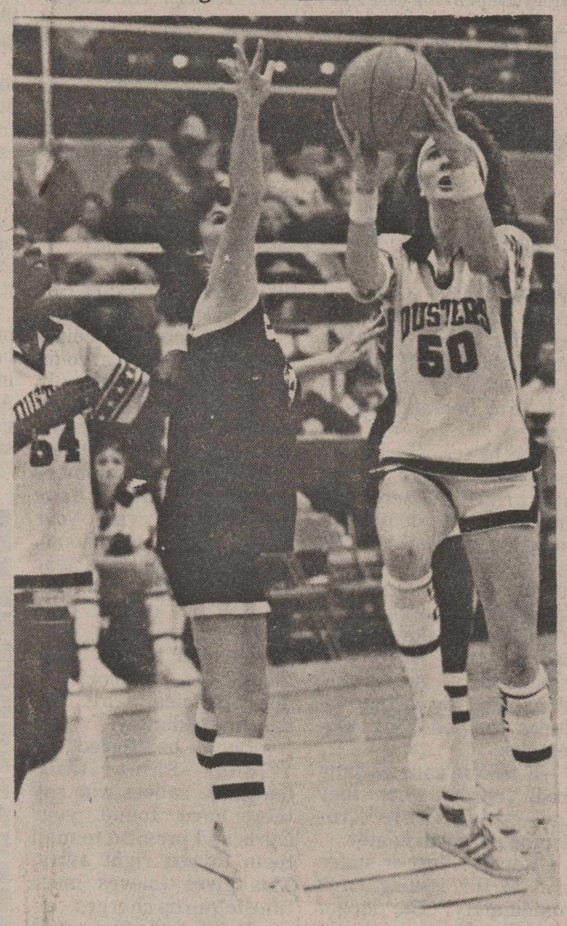

South Plains holds an 8-3 season record. The Texanns are averaging only 54.9 points a game, but giving up 57.7 - second best in the conference.

"They are a well coached, solid team in terms of things they try to accomplish," added the coach. "They don't have a dominating player, but they play good, team basketball."

Cushing said SPC will try to avoid a running game and "will try to cut our post people off and I expect them to press a lot. We've got to get our post people in the game and do well against the press."

The Dusters come into the game with a 10-3 season record. Tonight is the WJCAC opener for them.

Sophomore Mary Nell Clayton leads the team in scoring with a 22.5 average and will be going for her eighth straight 20-plus game. Clara Campbell is averaging 15.3 points and leads the Dusters in rebounds with 8.4.

TEST SPC -- Western Texas College will take on South Plains in doubleheader basketball action here tonight at 6 and 8 in Scurry County Coliseum. It will be the conference opener for the Dusters, who are 10-3. SPC women defeated Frank Phillips this week to go 1-0 in WJCAC play. The Texanns are 8-3 for the season. WTC's men are 0-1 and 6-4 while the SPC Texans are 1-0 and 10-2. (SDN Staff Photo by Bill McClellan)

by The Associated Press

Michael Young hit 19 points and Alvin Franklin added 16 to lead the eighth-ranked Houston Cougars to a 68-62 victory over Mississippi State in an intersectional basketball game.

In other games Wednesday night involving Southwest Conference teams, Southern Methodist downed Centenary College 86-76 in Shreveport, La., while Texas fell to the University of New Orleans 64-58 before a home crowd in Austin.

Mississippi State took the early lead in the game, played in Starkville, Miss. But Houston went ahead for good at 6:46 of the first half on a basket by Franklin that made the score 22-21. The Cougars went into intermission with a 32-25 lead after Derek Giles swished a 30-footer at the buzzer.

The Cougars, now 2-1, put together a 17-6 run early in the second half and led by as many as 18.

Center Kelvin Hildreth led Mississippi State, 1-1, with 14 points. Guard Ken Harvey added 13 for the Bulldogs.

SMU's Larry Davis hit 11 of 14 shots from the field and scored 23 points to lead the Mustangs, now 3-0.

The Mustangs took a 40-34 haltime lead on the strength of its fast-breaking offense, but Centenary stayed in sight until 13 minutes remained in the game.

SMU then hit five unanswered field goals to make it 59-50, a lead that was never again challenged although Centenary switched to a half-court, then full-court press.

Willie Jackson led the Gentlemen, 1-2, with 34 points on the night.

New Orleans used John Harris' 19 points and a tight defense to hold off a late Texas push.

New Orleans led by 10 points, 57-47, with 3:57 to play when sophomore guard Karl Willock connected on two baskets and two free throws for Texas in the next minute and a half.

Texas cut the margin to one point, 58-57, after baskets by Carlton Cooper and Don Ellis, but New Orleans just allowed one Texas point in the last 2:11 of the game.

Cooper led all scorers with 20 points and also led in rebouding with 14.

Monterey defeats SHS Tigers, 78-48

LEVELLAND -- Lubbock Monterey outpointed Snyder's boys by seven points in each of the first two quarters this morning, then went on to stretch out a 78-48 victory in the Levelland Tournament here.

The loss puts the Tigers, now 0-4, into the consolation finals at 3 p.m. Saturday. In today's other games, Monterey is to play Levelland junior varsity at 4 and Levelland varsity is to play Lubbock Roosevelt at 7.

Snyder's girls are also participating in tournament action here. They were to play Odessa Permian at 11:30 this morning.

Tiger coach Larry Scott said the Tigers are still not playing good team basketball.

"Every team we've played (all have been 5A schools) has had better talent and we can't matchup one on one. We've got to receive help from other people and we're not doing that. As far as points, we're not scoring enough, but when you are allowing 80-90 points it doesn't take long to see you're defense isn't doing any good.

"We're still not playing very smart, not seeing the whole floor," he said. "We've got to be able to recognize the press and how to beat it. We're not reacting well to different situations. We're making a whole lot of little mistakes. They are all mistakes we can correct, but right now they are adding up to a bunch of points."

Going up against players who are 6-7 and 6-6 didn't help Snyder's shooting. The Tigers were 16 of 62 from the field and 16 of 28 from the line. Monterey was 29 of 48 from the floor and pumped in 20 freethrows.

"We were having to alter our shots some, but we took only four from outside. Our selection was fine, we just couldn't get them in the hole," noted the coach.

Marcus McGlouthin led the Tigers with 10 points while Sunny Cobb had 8, John Murphy and Willie Greathouse 7 each and Chad Peterson 5.

Sideline glances....

Cushing not old at all

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

Most coaches would like to grow old in the fashion of Joe Cushing, coach of the Western Texas College Dusters.

Asked if his Dusters were ready for tonight's game with South Plains, he said. "Everyone is healthy except the coach. He's getting old."

Actually, the former Angelo State University graduate isn't suffering from age, rather from the flu. Still it's probable he will take his 134th win tonight. In five seasons, he has a college career record of 133 victories and 46 losses, a winning percentage of .743.

He has never finished lower than a tie for second place in the WJCAC standings, has won second twice, tied for the championship once, and won one championship.

Adding in records of 104-30 from four years at Bellville and 25-7 from Forsan, Cushing's career record is 262 wins, 83 losses. If that weren't enough, he coached three seasons of 20-win teams in boy's and girl's basketball at a small parochial school while attending ASU.

It's hard to grow old winning 75 percent of your games, but Cushing admits he is taking it easy - if only emotionally - this season.

"I've decided to relax more, not get so wound up this year," he said earlier in the season.

The reason has more to do with 11 freshmen than growing old. With so much young talent on the floor, Cushing knows his team is going to come along slowly and probably make a lot of mistakes.

"My philosophy has always been to hit it real hard early, be prepared for anything in first 10 or so ballgames. This team is not near as far along, though. We're probably 10 games behind in terms of where we usually are. I feel like it will benefit this team because we have so many freshmen. As we go from one game to the next and as we workout you can see the difference in the girls. I have no doubts that after the Christmas break we'll be able to add to the things we do on the floor. For instance, we haven't pressed anybody yet this season and that's unheard of for one of my teams."

Should you be in San Antonio this Saturday, for whatever reason, you might consider making it out to the Convocation Center at 7 p.m. Two of Cushing's former players will be battling. They are Valerie Wells, now a senior for UTSA, and Vickie Teal Ray, a junior for Texas Tech. Wells starts at forward for the Lady Roadrunners. She is averaging 13 points and 8 rebounds a game. A 1981 graduate of WTC, she still holds the record of best field goal percentage, 100 percent (9 of 9).

Interestingly, Tech's team includes five former WJCAC players: Ray, from WTC; Kellye Richardson and Melinda Denham from Amarillo; Carrie Lee Lutrick from Howard; and Lori Gerber from South Plains.

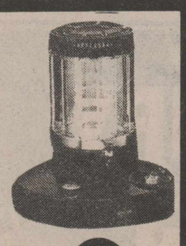

I'd encourage you to come out tonight and support the Dusters and the Westerners. Game times are 6 and 8 p.m. against WJCAC foe South Plains.

Have a nice evening.

Setters are raised as 'gentlemen's shooting dogs'

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa. (AP) — At the DeCoverly Kennels, in a country setting near Tunkhannock, Ken Alexander spends 12 hours a day caring for and training more topnotch pointing dogs than most sportsmen will see in a lifetime. Alexander, of Centremoreland, raises what he calls "gentlemen's shooting dogs."

Alexander has 70 pedigreed English setters in his pens, the best of the the Ryman line, and 25 pups currently in the "puppy house." And he plans to double the size of the operation.

Well known and respected in the gun-dog world, the Ryman setter is a homegrown breed, having been developed in Wilkes-Barre before the turn of the century.

Alexander breeds setters with the aim of constantly improving the line and selling the pups and young adults to bird-hunting sportsmen. As with racehorses, meticulous records are kept of bloodlines and crosses, and Alexander is always looking for the offspring with the best gun-dog characteristics, appearance and temperament. Though Alexander says he has dogs of show quality, he stresses his setters are training to be companions and hunters.

Alexander handles nearly 130 pups a year, paring them down over a two-year period, reserving just the handful that are the cream for breeding. The rest are sold, going to many corners of the nation, to fulfill their roles as gunning dogs.

Alexander recommends that the new owner of a pup, 8 to 10 weeks old, start training immediately, especially by developing a rapport with the dog. By beginning early and putting in a lot of time, the hunter could begin gunning over the setter when it's 7 to 9 months old.

One thing the owner will not have to teach the dog is how to point. That natural instinct is bred into it, Alexander says, though it can be refined and steadied.

With so many dogs, Alexander doesn't get much time for training the pups he has reserved until they are nearly a year old. In training, he instructs the dogs in the important commands, encourages the instincts to hunt, point and hold and starts them retrieving.

But Alexander says that most people expect too much from a dog too quickly, and says the "dog's job is to point birds."

To make them gun dogs, Alexander progresses from blanks in a shotgun to killing a bird that the dog has pointed after it has taken wing, and allowing the dog to catch it. After that, there are no "gun-shy" problems. Alexander trains his own dogs daily, as well as those of customers who lack the time or know-how.

These classic hunting dogs cost in the range of $600 to $700 for a puppy, $1,500 to $1,800 for a year-old dog, and up. Ninety percent of the sales are pups, primarily due to price. But for a purebred setter, the expense isn't unusual, Alexander says.

Dear Abby

Listen Up, Mom; Here's Your Chance to Be Great

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: The younger generation was asked to submit 10 tips on how to be a good kid, right? Well, I'm a 15-year-old girl who put together 10 tips on how to be a great mom. Here they are:

1. Don't yell at your kids in front of everyone. (Wait until you get home.)
2. Don't compare your kids to other siblings. ("Joe never did that at your age" and "Karen always got A's in math.")
3. If your teen-agers are at a party, roller rink or the movies, and the curfew is 11 p.m., don't run in screaming at 11:05 to tell them they're late.
4. Don't take things away for the wrong reason. Example: If your son didn't mow the lawn, don't take away his concert ticket; make him mow the lawn.
5. Don't make your kids wear clothes they hate. It's embarrassing to be different from their friends.
6. If you don't like your kids' friends, don't try to keep them apart. It will just make them more determined to get together.
7. Don't snoop around in your kids' rooms, reading diaries or personal letters. (How would you like them to do that to you?)
8. If your children have messy rooms, don't tidy them up—let them do it, and if they don't, they will have to live in them—not you.
9. Don't say "yes" to something one day and "no" the next. It's embarrassing for us to tell our friends that Mom has changed her mind.
10. Tell your children that you love them. They need to hear those words.

DEAR ABBY: The holidays are closing in. Please ask your readers not to send magazine subscriptions as gifts without first checking to see if they are desired or perhaps duplicates.

My mailbox is cluttered with such. Later come the follow-ups asking me to re-subscribe to magazines I didn't want in the first place.

A subscription to the daily newspaper or one's hometown weekly is a welcome gift.

It bothers me to know that a well-meaning friend has spent money on a gift that is unread, then tossed out.

L. IN SEATTLE

DEAR L.: I read you. And I hope my readers read you (and me), too.

DEAR ABBY: Is it characteristic of all old men to talk back to the TV? It is most upsetting because when my husband watches TV, it sounds like there are three people in the living room—when it's only him.

When I am talking on the phone, the party I'm talking to always asks, "Do you have company?" I'm ashamed to admit it's just my husband talking to the TV.

Abby, is my husband senile, or is this a form of insanity? Don't use our name. He is retired and everybody thinks he's normal.

TALKER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: He may be perfectly all right, so unless you have other reasons to question your husband's mental well-being, don't worry about it. Thank your lucky stars you have a man who's alive, occupied and entertained. But it might be good for him to get out of the house and talk to some "real" people occasionally.

Banks sustain losses in credit card robberies

NEW YORK (AP) — Credit card frauds have cost the nation's banks some $200 million for the year just ending, according to a banking expert here.

These losses, which have become a bigger threat than armed robbery and embezzlement combined, exceeded $135 million last year, says Leonard De Baker, of the American Bankers Association.

To help cut down these losses, the ABA has organized a nationwide educational drive that includes the following suggestions:

—Exercise care keeping credit cards, since they are negotiable instruments worth money.

—Report a lost or stolen card to the issuing bank immediately. The longer you delay, the more time a thief has to run up charges.

—Make a list of credit cards, their numbers and the issuing banks and keep it in a safe place.

—Make sure salesclerks fill in credit card slips correctly in legible writing.

—Keep card receipts which carry your account number in a safe place.

—Remove and retain the carbons from the sales slip after you sign it. The carbons have your number and your signature. Take the carbons with your receipt and, once home, save the receipt and tear up the carbons.

—Review credit card charges promptly — even if you plan to pay them later. If there are discrepancies, call the bank immediately.

—Don't be fooled by "Good Samaritan" telephone callers who say they have found your cards and promise to mail them to you right away. This gives thieves more time to run up charges.

—Don't give your credit card numbers to "telephone survey" people claiming to work for credit card companies or to any unknown callers.

—Never lend your credit cards to anyone.

2nd competency hearing ordered

DENTON, Texas (AP) — A state district judge has granted a defense motion to delay the murder trial of an Arkansas man for a week so that the defendant can be given a second competency hearing.

After the prosecution rested its case against Robert Hooten, 44, defense attorney Bob Scofield asked for the second competency hearing.

Hooten, who is charged with the July 27 slaying of his ex-wife's boyfriend, Michael Eugene Maughan, took the stand briefly Wednesday outside the jury's presence and told Judge Jack Gray he did not want to testify while children were in the courtroom.

Several high school students were in the courtroom at the time on a class field trip.

Scofield then talked to his client briefly before requesting the competency hearing.

Jurors who heard the state evidence against Hooten were sent home Wednesday morning and told to return Dec. 7 to hear the defensive evidence. A new jury will be empaneled Monday to hear evidence in the competency hearing.

Hooten's first competency hearing, held Oct. 25, came at Scofield's request.

In that hearing, Scofield told the jury that he did not know what kind to defense to offer Hooten because the defendent refused to answer any questions.

After four hours of deliberations, that jury found Hooten competent to stand trial.

Members of Hooten's family testified during the first competency hearing that they believed Hooten had been mentally ill at least two years prior to the shooting.

Exciting year is coming to end for Kentucky governor, family

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. says he's coming to the end of what has been a "very exciting year" for him and his wife, former Miss America Phyllis George Brown.

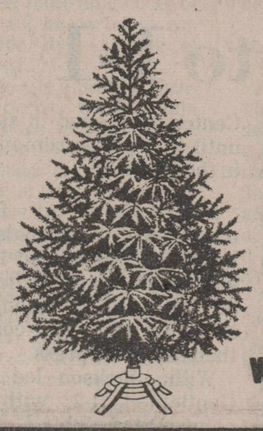

Mrs. Brown gave birth to a 7-pound, 10½-ounce girl by Caesarean section Tuesday. It was the couple's second child.

Afterward, the smiling governor said, "I've had my triple bypass (heart surgery), she's had her baby and I'm losing my job in two weeks." His term ends Dec. 12.

Mrs. Brown, 34, was awake during the 40-minute operation at the University of Kentucky's A.B. Chandler Medical Center, Dr. John W. Greene Jr. said. He said the baby was delivered at 3:20 p.m. and both the mother and child were in excellent condition.

The governor told reporters the baby has been named Pamela in honor of his sister, who disappeared several years ago in a hot air balloon over the Atlantic Ocean. The child's middle name will be Ashley, which "just sounded like a good name," he said.

"Madselin"...

Easily read historical novel

MADSELIN. By Norah Lofts. Doubleday. 209 Pages. $13.95.

In the opening pages of Norah Lofts' historical novel, "Madselin," the reader learns the heroine, Madselin, is a headstrong but spoiled young woman, wife of an aging lord of a tiny area of Saxon England known as the Rinland.

Saxon England became enemy-occupied territory in 1066, and the death of Harold, the last of the English, and the victory of William the Norman, had a terrible effect on the country.

Madselin's mother, Lady Edith of Scartoke, and Madselin's husband, Eitel of Bradwald, had been murdered by a group of Normans. Madselin had fled from Bradwald to a nearby convent.

But Eitel had died bravely while defending his land, and Madselin believed she must return to Bradwald, to ask the Normans for her husband's body, to give it a proper burial.

She is told, however, her husband has already been buried. Although this is a lie, and Madselin knows it, she does not press for the truth. She hopes only to leave Bradwald unharmed.

Then the leader of the group, Rolf, tells her she can be useful to him, if she will marry him. Madselin has no friends or family, and faces a future in the convent or as a beggar.

She accepts Rolf's offer and becomes the wife of the enemy. Madselin must now join Rolf in giving orders to the men, the formerly free men of the Rinland, who are now her new husband's slaves. She adjusts to her new life, almost happily, until she learns that Stigand of Bemid, a young man she loved but was not allowed to marry, is being tortured by one of the enemy. She becomes determined to free Stigand, no matter what the cost.

"Madselin" is a short, fairly easy-to-read novel, which gives the reader an idea of day-to-day life in Saxon England under the Norman conquerors. It was a hard, poverty-filled existence.

But Miss Lofts, the author of more than 40 books, is a romantic. Loyalty and devotion are two of the main themes of the book, but so is love, and to say more would spoil the novel's ending.

South starts with 11 tricks in high cards — two in spades and three in each of the other suits. The 12th trick can come from either dummy's fourth club or his own fourth spade.

	SOUTH ♠ A 4 3 2 ♥ K 10 6 ♦ A Q 4 ♣ A K Q

It is a mighty fine slam contract, but an easy one to chuck if declarer is one of those happy-go-lucky finessing types.

The finesser wins the diamond in dummy and promptly leads the queen of spades for a finesse. It is a finesse all right, but it also is one that can't gain for him and can cost him a trick.

There is no way he can collect four spade tricks, no matter how the suit lies, and there is no way he can't get at least two spade tricks.

If the suit breaks 3-3, all lines of play produce three spade tricks. If it breaks 4-2, there is no way the lead of dummy's queen can bring in three tricks in the suit.

Now let's look at the proper spade play. South wins the diamond lead in his own hand and leads a spade toward dummy. West's best play is to duck and dummy wins the trick. Back to his hand with any high card and a second spade is led. West can do no better than to take his king, and South has three spade tricks and his six notrump.

GOLD STAR AWARDS--These two Borden County 4-H'ers received Gold Star awards last month during the annual 4-H banquet held in Lubbock. They are Cathy York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van York of Gail and Mickey Burkett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burkett of the Plains Community.

Outstanding 4-H persons honored

LUBBOCK--Thirty-nine outstanding members of 4-H Clubs across the South Plains were honored here November 21.

In addition to receiving Gold Star Awards, the highest honor presented at the county level, the youths were urged by State Sen. Bill Sarpalius to dream dreams of achievement and then set about making those dream reality.

Joining the youths at the awards banquet at the cafeteria at Coronado High School were parents, government officials, extension leaders, fellow 4-H'ers, educators and other community leaders.

Honored from Borden county were Cathy York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van York of Gail, and Mickey Burkett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burkett of the Plains Community.

"We live in a great country. We have to be thankful for more than anyone else in the world. Yet we take so much for granted," Sarpalius said.

The state senator said that he was concerned about the decline in American family life as evidenced by an increasing divorce rate, our lack of support for our churches, an increasing crime rate and other problems. But he said we are fortunate to have organizations such as 4-H Clubs, celebrating their 75th anniversary this year, to give youngsters the opportunity to learn by doing and develop leadership skills.

He told of hearing former President Lyndon B. Johnson tell a group of youths visiting Washington to dream dreams and then make those dreams come true. "I realized that was the purpose of America," Sarpalius said, to provide a place where that can happen.

Master of ceremonies was Dr. Kary Mathis, chairman of the department of economics at Texas Tech University. Guests were welcomed by James Hull, general manager of the Deaf Smith Electric cooperative, one of 12 electric ccoperatives which have sponsored the banquet for the past 26 years. The others are Baily County, Caprock, Dickens, Lea, Lamb, Lighthouse, Lone Wolf, Lyntegar, Midwest, South Plains, and Swisher cooperatives.

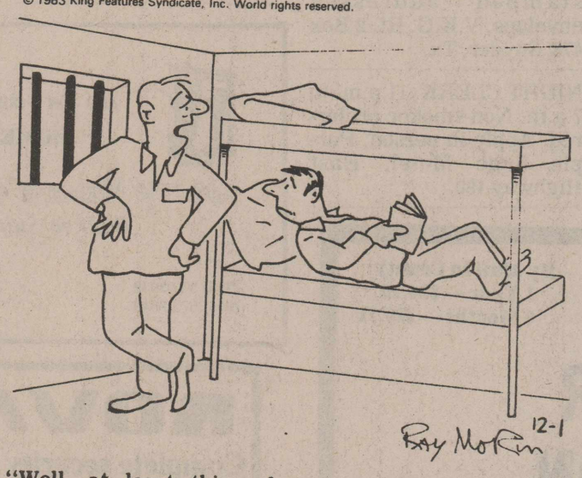

The awards presentations were narrated by Earl Broseh of Lockney, chairman of the district 4-H council, and Chris Caddel of Lubbock, council vice chairman. The awards were presented by Dr. Catherine Crawford and Billy C. Gunter, district Extension directors.

Dinner music was presented by Kenley Powell, Yoakum County 4-H'er. Also on the program were 4-H members Bryan Shaw of Gaines County, Sharla Blay of Terry County and Kayla Gentry of Dawson County.

4-H is the youth development program of the Texas Agricultural Service, an educational arm of the Texas A&M University System.

St. Nick turns to electronics to convey season's greetings

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's craze for personal computers and home video games is one of several new themes reflected in this year's Christmas greeting cards, firmly thrusting Santa into the world of electronics.

Available this season are greetings in recorded song and with Christmas trees whose bulbs actually light up. This is one of the findings of the Greeting Card Association here, which makes an annual survey of its members on trends in Christmas greeting cards.

"In many instances, miniaturized batteries and microchips have been melded into the written word to express holiday cheer," said Gary K Smith, executive vice president of the publishers' association.

"Greeting cards — and particularly Christmas greeting cards — tend to mirror lifestyles. With 10 million Americans expected to be using personal computers by the end of this year, it was inevitable that our national infatuation with this subject be mirrored in greeting cards."

Among home computer themes, Santa is shown at a keyboard compiling a list of children who are either "naughty or nice." He now summons his reindeer by name through a computer memory bank. When not so occupied, the affable old-timer is found playing a video game called "Polar Invaders."

Musical greeting cards include a line from one publisher with six different songs, ranging from "Jingle Bells" and "Joy to the World" to "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." The songs are battery-activated and they play up to a full minute each time a card is opened.

"Although computer themes are prominent," Smith said, "there will always be greetings that convey the warmth of home and hearth. There will always remain a deep-rooted human desire to extend love to family and friends with greetings that convey the Christmas message in traditional terms. Increasingly, we find publishers who turn to themes of a religious nature or to those that reflect concern and care for other human beings."

Among religious and peace themes this year are a profile of Bethlehem in the form of a three-dimensional die-cut on silver foil; a die-cut dove of peace on a card that unfolds to become a free-standing holiday decoration; and various depictions of the nativity and madonna and child, many adapted from paintings in notable art galleries.

Mindful that the United States is a nation of geographic extremes, one card's verse describes a barefoot Santa Claus on a sunny, tropical beach. "We haven't got rooftops all covered with snow, or dog-powered sleds with our children in tow," reads part of the message. Instead, this is a land where flamingos are busy decorating palm trees with Christmas ornaments.

Publisher of personalized greeting cards — those on which the name of the sender is imprinted — continue to provide toll-free phone numbers and "hot lines" for last-minute shoppers. The lines link department stores, greeting card and specialty shops directly to the publisher, thus permitting orders to be placed well into December, Smith said.

Some 2.7 billion Christmas greeting cards are expected to be exchanged in the weeks ahead. In keeping with the season, the Postal Service has issued two Christmas postage stamps. One is a madonna and child by the Italian Renaissance painter, Raphael, the original of which is on display at the National Art Gallery here. The other is a contemporary design of a beaming Santa which carries the message, "Seasons Greetings USA."

"I think that the Christmas postage stamp of Santa Claus will be a favorite among children," said Smith. "It complements the many greeting cards whose subjects are children — particularly, one card which reads: 'To glimpse the beauty of the future, we need only to look into the eyes of a child today.'"

The highest charge as of January 1983 was $250 in the District of Columbia, more than twice the rate in Mississippi. The southern states generally showed lower charges, ranging from the national low of $101 in Mississippi to $156 in Florida. Overall, the highest rates were found in the northeastern and western states. The national daily average for semi-private rooms was $185, up 5 percent since July of 1982.

Police discover two slain youth

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Police reported no leads today in the slayings of two teen-agers found shot to death in a desolate, weedy field in the far northeastern section of the city.

Both young men, who were discovered Wednesday afternoon, were lying face down and each had been shot at least once in the back, police said.

Police identified one victim as Dale Allen Wyatt, 18, of Irving. No identification was found on the other body, according to investigators.

Investigators had no leads and and no physical evidence was found in the field, said police detective Danny LaRue.

The bodies were found side by side on an unpaved road by three men drving a pickup through the field at 3:45 p.m., said officer J.L. Storment.

LaRue said the teenagers had been a dead "less than a couple of hours" when they were found.

"They apparently were murdered at this location (the field)," he said.

LaRue speculated that the teen-agers were driven to the field, pushed out of a vehicle and shot in the back. There were several sets of tire tracks in the mud, but police did not know whether any belonged to a vehicle that may have transported the victims.

Robert Miller, a neighbor and friend of Wyatt, said he and Wyatt often had hunted rabbits in the field where the bodies were found.

Senior society member Marika Sitton offered the benediction to close the ceremonies.

Cowbelles to sell books for Christmas presents

Jane Friesen, managing editor of Maverick Books, has announced that the Texas Cowbelles will be selling John Erickson's books this Christmas as a fund raising project.

Erickson, whose books and articles have been widely read all over the west, met with the Texas Cowbelles at the convention of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association in San Antonio, Nov. 13-14.

He autographed his books in the Cowbelles booth and addressed the group at a luncheon, November 14.

Erickson, who is known primarily as a humorist and the creator of Hank the Cowdog, Head of Ranch Security, struck a serious note in his address to the ladies.

"You are here at this convention because you realize that your way of life is in danger," he said. "I know your way of life. I've lived it and loved it. In my books, I try to capture the strength and integrity of ranch people.

"Humor is one of the strengths of our breed. If cattle people couldn't laugh about hard times, they couldn't survive."

Anna Lee Barton, a Lipscomb County ranch wife and a past president of the Texas Cowbelles pointed out that the organization will be selling five of Erickson's books: "Through the Valley of Time" ($7.95), "The Devil in Texas" ($5.95), and "Cowboys Are Partly Human" ($5.95), "Hank the Cowdog" ($5.95) and "The Further Adventures of Hank the Cowdog" ($5.95).

The Cowbelles will also be selling cassette tape versions of the Hank books at $13.95, with the stories read by the author.

Mrs. Barton noted that retail markup will go into the Cowbelles' treasury to fund projects promoting beef and the cattle industry.

The Cowbelles have been very active in recent years, promoting the nutritional value of beef and keeping watch on legislation affecting the cattle industry.

Friesen said, "We are delighted to be working with the Cowbelles on this project. We share their aims and values, and that makes us natural allies."

After meeting with the women in San Antonio, Erickson said, "Cowbelles are terrific. Their mothers and grandmothers fought Indians and disease and dust storms. Today, the problems are different, but the Cowbelles are just as formidable.

"There's an old saying that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. That's as true today as it was a hundred years ago, but with the Cowbelles you have to add that the hand that rocks the cradle can also hold a hay hook, stretch a barbed wire fence, or write a scorching letter to a United States senator."

Anyone wishing to buy Erickson's books for Christmas should contact a local Cownelle or call Mrs. Barton at 806-658-2297.
