U.S. Scientists Puzzled By Russ Mars Missions

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The announcement in Moscow that a Russian capsule had landed on Mars left American scientists as puzzled as ever about the mission of the Soviet Union's Mars 2 and 3 spacecraft.

They stand ready to applaud a Soviet achievement, but until the Soviets reveal more details the significance of the feat can't be assessed.

"The question is, have they landed an instrument package on Mars that is sending back data or have they just sent down a flag?" said a scientist at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory here.

The announcement Tuesday from Tass, the Soviet news agency, said that as Mars 2 passed within 776 miles of Mars on Saturday a capsule was separated from it and delivered to the surface of Mars a pennant showing the Soviet Union's coat of arms.

But the Russians gave no further information about the lander. They didn't say whether it contained instruments, or if the capsule survived the landing and was sending back data.

Nor did they say when Mars 3, launched nine days behind Mars 2 last May, would reach Mars.

The announcement said that Mars 2, after dispatching the capsule, went into Martian orbit and began transmitting data.

Speculation here is that an instrument package with a flag was sent to the surface, probably by parachute.

The flag, one scientist suggested, might be to salvage Soviet pride if something went wrong and the instruments were destroyed.

But if the Soviet Union has landed an instrument package, the scientists here agree, it is a significant step in the exploration of the planets.

"For everyone's sake, I hope they have landed instruments and are receiving data. If that is the case, it will be a fantastic accomplishment that we ought to take our hats off to."

The entire scientific community should applaud it," said Dr. Robert Sharp, a Cal Tech geologist working with Mariner 9, the U.S. craft now orbiting Mars.

"I think they're to be heartily commended," said Dr. Carl Sagan of Cornell University, here also for study of data from Mariner 9. "Of course we want to know what sort of scientific instrumentation is on board and until we find out it's hard to assess the experimental program. But merely landing, even if there is no instrumentation is an achievement."

If the Soviets have landed a capsule that can sample the atmosphere, photograph the surrounding terrain, take the Martian temperature and perhaps reach out a mechanical arm to scoop the soil, they will have achieved an important milestone. They probably can obtain data the United States can't from the orbiting Mariner 9.

Heavy Snow Seen For Area Tonight

The weather forecasters at the U.S. Weather Service in Amarillo said at noon today the Pampa and Panhandle areas would be under a heavy snow watch late this afternoon, tonight and through Thursday.

Travelers' warnings were issued at the same time for the same period.

The forecast reads: Cold and snow through Thursday with possible heavy snow tonight and tomorrow. Today's high in the 30s. Low tonight in the mid-20s with a 10-15 miles per hour east wind. Probability of snow decreasing Thursday 80 per cent.

The Amarillo forecast explained the "heavy snow watch warning" meant the area could get as much as 4 inches of snow tonight and tomorrow.

There apparently had been some fairly heavy snow in the northern Texas Panhandle today. Several autos coming into Pampa from the north shortly before noon were covered with snow.

Pampa skies were overcast today as was the rest of the state. Freezing temperatures were in the cards for tonight in the Panhandle.

Light snow fell last night and early today in a belt from Lubbock to Wichita Falls.

The early morning temperature in Pampa was 30 degrees.

Snow also fell here and there taking in the countryside south of Hereford, west of Paducah and southwest of Plainview.

Temperatures south of the Panhandle Plains today were mostly in the 40s and 50s with exception of a warm 61 at Brownsville.

New Voter Conference Scheduled

CHICAGO (AP)—Young people representing hundreds of colleges are expected this weekend at Loyola University to learn some lessons in practical politics which they hope will affect the Democratic party's presidential choice in 1972.

The Emergency Conference of New Youth, expected to attract 1,000 persons, is billed as the first major political youth rally of the season, and all the Democratic presidential hopefuls have asked to send representatives.

But the major business at the conference will be the drafting of a position paper which may be sent to both parties and all potential candidates, reported Dave Wassner, project director of the conference.

"Without doubt, the paper will be antiwar," Wassner said, "and very probably it will be anti-Nixon. It has to be liberal considering the way kids are today."

$12 Billion Chopped From U.S. Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—House and Senate conferees have chopped from the tax bill $12 billion worth of tax-relief amendments that caused a presidential veto threat, but the conferees apparently are at odds over a provision to finance presidential campaigns with federal income taxes.

Trimmed from the bill Tuesday were what President Nixon called "budget-busting amendments" including ones providing for increases in personal income tax deductions and tax credits for ghetto businesses and for parents who pick up the tabs for their children's college education.

These, plus the campaign-financing plan, caused the White House to announce Monday that Nixon would reject the legislation if it reached him with them in it.

The only major item that remains to be agreed on by the conferees, who resume meetings today, is a controversial plan allowing individuals to earmark $1 of their income tax for presidential campaigns.

The money would go to all parties, but it is not as badly needed by the Republicans—who reportedly have a $40 million surplus—as by the Democrats who are said to be broke.

Democrats on the committee apparently want to retain this provision.

There was talk, however, of some modifications that could escape Nixon's veto.

Administrator Resigns Office

The board of directors for Gray County's Highland General Hospital will meet in executive session at noon, Monday to discuss a successor to Hospital Administrator Wes Langham, according to D.W. Bond, president of the panel.

Langham presented his resignation to the board Tuesday to become effective Dec. 31. He said he had accepted the post of administrator for the Clarendon hospital district.

He joined the hospital staff as assistant administrator in 1962, according to his present position in 1969 when the administrator accepted a post elsewhere. The administrator is also chief executive of the county hospital unit at McLeon.

Members of the board said the resignation came as a surprise.

To Give Concert

The Oklahoma Christian College Chorale will present a concert of religious music at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ.

Golda Meir Will Talk With Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel is here to talk with President Nixon and says she's carrying "a big sack" that she obviously wants to fill with Phantom jets.

"Israel is prepared to talk about everything," she said on her arrival Tuesday night at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md. That includes "an interim U.S. solution and a final peace treaty" to end the Middle East crisis.

Mrs. Meir avoided discussion of her country's request for more fighter-bombers except to say the issue will be discussed. But the "big sack" reference she made on her departure from Israel earlier in the day was clear.

Officers Make First Arrest In 7 Slayings

WILLIS, Tex. (AP)—Officers here have made the first arrest in seven slayings of young women in the Houston area since June.

They charged James M. Whittle, 28, a Houston wrecker driver, with the murder of a 16-year-old girl but they said he is not a suspect in the deaths of six other young women.

Whittle was accused of murdering Nov. 2 of Adell Margaret Crabtree, 16. She was struck by two shotgun charges.

Miss Crabtree, from Cincinnati, Ohio, was living in Houston at the time of her death. Houston police said she was pregnant. The body was found near Conroe Nov. 3.

Montgomery County Sheriff Gene Reeves said Whittle failed a lie detector test earlier in the day. He was held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Reeves said he did not believe Whittle would be a suspect in the other six deaths of young women whose bodies have been found around Houston and Galveston since summer.

Meanwhile, officers searching an area near Addicks Reservoir where two bodies turned up last week, discovered a skull. They said it belonged to Gloria Gonzales, 19, whose headless body was found last Wednesday.

Harris County Sheriff C. V. Kern said the skull found near the Gonzales body Wednesday had been identified as that of Collette Wilson, 13, of Alvin.

Proposed 1972 Budget For Hospital Approved

Members of the Gray County Commissioners Court approved the proposed 1972 budget for Highland General Hospital at their regular first-of-the-month meeting this morning.

The budget totaled $1,900,000. At the previous meeting when the panel asked for a review of the figures before approval, Wes Langham, hospital administrator, told commissioners he could, by projection of certain figures, foresee the hospital receipts going over the two million dollar mark in 1972. If this is born out in the months to come the $1,900,000 figure should be in the black all the way.

The court tabled once again the matter of ambulance service for the city of McLeon and the southern part of Gray County. Judge Don Cain explained that negotiations were still underway with a number of parties that, hopefully, would be productive before the first of the year when current service ceases. Judge Cain pointed out that there would be another regular meeting of the court before this deadline.

Bids on two used trucks were accepted and the G.W. Jones Materials Co. The 1967 model unit went for $900 and the 1968 model for $1,100.

Tax Assessor Given Award By Lodge 480

Gray County Tax Assessor Jack Back was honored with the coveted "Golden Spur" award by Pampa Lodge 480, Knights of Pythias in ceremonies last night at the annual Thanksgiving-Christmas roll call dinner.

Back joined the lodge in June, 1940. In July of the same year he became treasurer of the organization and has held that post continuously.
The Golden Spur honorary degree is awarded to a member for outstanding service to the Pythian Order. Wilson S. Howell, vice chancellor of the lodge, was in charge of the Golden Spur Rank team.

George Neef and Glen "Bud" Day were presented 25 year service pins by Ray Barnard, chancellor commander of the Pampa lodge.

Knight Rufe Jordan, sheriff of Gray County, was guest speaker for the occasion. He spoke of aims and projects of the order, particularly praising the couple who manage the Texas Pythian Children's Home at Weatherford. It cares for children ranging in age from 18 months to 18 years. They attend elementary school at the home and finish in Weatherford public schools.

The home has its own grain fields, fruit orchards, livestock and dairy with each of the older children assigned to certain jobs in these areas.

The order operates a home for senior citizens at Greenville with 45 residents at the present time. Sheriff Jordan urged members to help support these projects.

Knight Floyd Sackett, principal of B.M. Baker school, was master of ceremonies following a turkey dinner served to some 70 members and guests at the lodge hall.

Hit-And-Run Incident, Vandalism Reported

A hit-and-run incident, two cases of apparent vandalism and an intoxicated driver were rather routine chapters on the police blotter for the past 24 hours.

A small foreign car parked on Charles St. just off Harvester about 8 a.m. yesterday had the rear fender damaged considerably by a car that apparently backed into it and then "burned rubber" speeding south on Charles after the incident. According to the police report, the offending vehicle left plenty of blue paint and should have considerable damage also.

Some object struck the front plate glass window at Ford's Boys Wear on East Francis last night causing it to need replacement. Investigating officers said it did not appear to be damaged by an air rifle of any sort.

Vandalism was the opinion of the investigating officer concerning a garage belonging to C.V. Holloway, 1023 S. Clark. Holloway reported an attempt to break into his garage by tearing off some tar paper at the rear. Entry was not gained, hence the opinion noted in the official report that vandals tore the material from the building.

U.S. Scientists Puzzled By Russ Mars Missions

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The announcement in Moscow that a Russian capsule had landed on Mars left American scientists as puzzled as ever about the mission of the Soviet Union's Mars 2 and 3 spacecraft.

They stand ready to applaud a Soviet achievement, but until the Soviets reveal more details the significance of the feat can't be assessed.

The question is, have they landed an instrument package on Mars that is sending back data or have they just sent down a flag? said a scientist at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory here.

The announcement Tuesday from Tass, the Soviet news agency, said that as Mars 2 passed within 776 miles of Mars on Saturday a capsule was separated from it and delivered to the surface of Mars, a pennant showing the Soviet Union's coat of arms.

But the Russians gave no further information about the lander. They didn't say whether it contained instruments or if the capsule survived the landing and was sending back data.

Nor did they say when Mars 3, launched nine days behind Mars 2 last May, would reach Mars.

The announcement said that Mars 2, after dispatching the capsule, went into Martian orbit and began transmitting data.

Speculation here is that an instrument package with a flag was sent to the surface, probably by parachute.

The flag, one scientist suggested, might be to salvage Soviet pride if something went wrong and the instruments were destroyed.

But if the Soviet Union has landed an instrument package, the scientists here agree, it is a significant step in the exploration of the planets.

For everyone's sake, I hope they have landed instruments and are receiving data. If that is the case, it will be a fantastic accomplishment that we ought to take our hats off to. The entire scientific community should applaud it, said Dr. Robert Sharp, a Cal Tech geologist working with Mariner 9, the U.S. craft now orbiting Mars.

I think they're to be heartily commended," said Dr. Carl Sagan of Cornell University, here also for study of data from Mariner 9. "Of course we want to know what sort of scientific instrumentation is on board and until we find out it's hard to assess the experimental program. But merely landing, even if there is no instrumentation is an achievement."

If the Soviets have landed a capsule that can sample the atmosphere, photograph the surrounding terrain, take the Martian temperature and perhaps reach out a mechanical arm to scoop the soil, they will have achieved an important milestone. They probably can obtain data the United States can't from the orbiting Mariner 9.

Officers Make First Arrest In 7 Slayings

WHITISH, Tex. (AP)—Officers here have made the first arrest in seven slayings of young women in the Houston area since June.

They suspect James M. Whitte, 28, a Houston truck driver, with the murder of a 16-year-old girl, but they said he is not a suspect in the deaths of six other young women.

Whitte was accused of murder after a shooting Nov. 2 at Alvin, Margaret Crutcher, 16. She was struck by a taxi, slayings.

Miss Crutcher, from Cincinnati, Ohio, was shot in Houston at the time of her death. Houston police said she was pregnant. Her body was found near Corpus Nov. 3.

Montgomery County Sheriff Gene Hovess, said Whitte failed a lie detector test earlier in the day. He was held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Hovess said he did not believe Whitte would be a suspect in any of the other six deaths of young women whose bodies have been found around Houston and Galveston since summer.

Meanwhile, officers searching an area near Addicks Reservoir where two bodies turned up last week, discovered a skull. They said it belonged to Gloria Gonzales, 19, whose headless body was found last Wednesday.

Harris County Sheriff C. A. Kern said the skull found near the Gonzales body Wednesday had been identified as that of Collette Wilson, 13, of Alvin.

Hit-And-Run Incident, Vandalism Reported

A hit-and-run incident, two cases of apparent vandalism and an intoxicated driver were rather routine chapters on the police blotter for the past 24 hours.

A small foreign car parked on Charles St. just off Harvester about 8 a.m. yesterday had the rear fender damaged considerably by a car that apparently backed into it and then "burned rubber," speeding south on Charles after the incident. According to the police report, the offending vehicle left plenty of blue paint and should have considerable damage also.

Some object struck the front plate glass window at Ford's Boys Wear on East Francis last night causing it to need replacement. Investigating officers said it did not appear to be damaged by an air rifle of any sort.

Vandalism was the opinion of the investigating officer concerning a garage belonging to C.V. Holloway, 1023 S. Clark. Holloway reported an attempt to break into his garage by tearing off some tar paper at the rear. Entry was not gained, hence the opinion noted in the official report that vandals tore the material from the building.

Presidential Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon plans to spend a full week in Communist China, visiting three cities, during his journey there in February.

After the White House announcement Tuesday, Henry A. Kissinger, summit talks to be held in Peking, Shanghai and Hangzhou Feb. 21-28 will result in bringing peace to Vietnam or settling the fate of Taiwan.

Kissinger, the President's national security adviser, said Nixon conferences with Chairman Mao Tse-tung, Premier En-lai and others would be on problems of direct contact to the two countries rather than those involving parties.

The White House policy specialist said arrangements which have been indicated "a reasonable successful outcome" for first visit ever made mainland China by American president.

Mrs. Nixon will make trip, too, and will have schedule of her own.

Kissinger said Nixon will spend at least four days in Peking and that early morning hours will be devoted to face-to-face talks with Chinese leaders.

The President's itinerary has not been set. Kissinger said it would stop only on American territory during the flight from China. At least stop, he reported, to afford the President opportunity to rest and himself to time-zone change.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Kissinger accompany the President.

In summarizing the American approach to talks, Kissinger said of Vietnam, "I do not expect to settle it in a week."

While he predicted the Chinese will raise the subject of Taiwan, he said, "The U.S. position is that the mature relationship between Taiwan and the People's Republic of China should be settled through negotiations."

Nixon will seek a better understanding of the view of Chinese leaders, Kissinger, and a means of continuing communication between two countries isolated from each other nearly a quarter century.

Kissinger said Nixon will also make "at least beginning" in opening communication, outside political or diplomatic relations.

Peking, the Communist Chinese capital of four million, a northern city lying between the upper reaches of the Yellow Sea and the Monsoon, Shanghai is the country's largest city with a population of 6.9 million and is a seaport on the southern main islands of the Hangchow is inland south of Shanghai.

While he reported the general outline for Nixon's meetings has been fixed, he said, "I do not expect to settle it in a week."

Only small patrol forces were reported on the frontiers in the central lands, along Highway 19, eastern Cambodia, and lower Mekong Delta. Frontiers are 150 to 200 miles from one another.

The newest offensive closed today, is a five-day, 7,000-man infantry armored push in western Kontum and Pleiku provinces along Cambodia's northeastern frontier, miles northeast of Saigon, said a spokesman.

Two North Vietnamese infantry regiments and an artillery regiment reported moving from base camp in Cambodia into South Vietnam's central highlands.

Ninety-six North Vietnamese were killed in highland offensive over the weekend, the spokesman said, at the cost of two South Vietnamese and 27 wounded. Three

President To Spend Full Week Visiting 3 Red Chinese Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon plans to spend a full week in Communist China, visiting three cities, during his historic journey there in February.

After the White House made the announcement Tuesday, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger said summit talks to be held in Peking, Shanghai and Hangzhou Feb. 21-28 will not result in bringing peace to Vietnam or settling the future of Taiwan.

Kissinger, the President's national security affairs adviser, said Nixon's conferences with Chairman Mao Tse-tung, Premier Chou En-lai and others would focus on problems of direct concern to the two countries rather than those involving third parties.

The White House foreign policy specialist said arrangements have been made to indicate "a reasonably successful outcome" for the first visit ever made to mainland China by an American president.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Kissinger will accompany the President.

In summarizing the American approach to talks, Kissinger said of Vietnam "We do not expect to settle it in Peking."

While he predicted the Chinese will raise the subject of Taiwan, he said the United States position is that the ultimate relationship between Taiwan and the People's Republic of China should be settled through direct negotiations.

Nixon will seek a better understanding of the views of Chinese leaders, said Kissinger, and a means of continuing communication between two countries isolated from each other for nearly a quarter century.

Kissinger said Nixon would like also to make "at least a beginning in opening areas of communication outside the political or diplomatic realm."

Peking, the Communist Chinese capital of four million, is a northern city lying between the upper reaches of the Yellow Sea and Mongolia. Shanghai is the country's largest city with a population of 6.9 million and is a seaport lying west of the southernmost main islands of Japan. Hangzhou is inland southwest of Shanghai.

While he reported that a general outline for Nixon's meetings has been fixed, he said "there's going to be a free-wheeling nature to the discussion."

Any participant, he reported, can raise any question he deems urgent.

Administration Works Out New Program For Elderly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration warned 38 states Tuesday that they risk losing $3.4 billion in federal Medicaid funds unless substantial deficiencies in nursing home certification are corrected quickly.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot L. Richardson made the disclosure at one of four luncheons of the White House Conference on Aging, where nine administration spokesmen detailed new programs for the elderly.

Richardson said the 38 states must submit corrective plans by Dec. 15 and significantly improve nursing home inspections and surveys by Feb. 1.

Unless such improvements are validated by the Feb. 1 target date, he said, HEW intends to initiate a noncompliance procedure that could ultimately result in withholding all federal Medicaid funds from any or every one of the 38 states.

In addition, he said, all participating states and territories must inspect all of the nation's 7,000 nursing

Pakistan Says Army Halt Indian Attacks

ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pakistan army says its soldiers repulsed Indian attacks at two points on the East Pakistan border, inflicting heavy casualties on the Indians.

An army spokesman in Dacca said Tuesday night the Pakistani troops repelled an Indian attack at Chaugacha, in the Jessore district on East Pakistan's western frontier, and thwarted an Indian attempt to capture Kamalpur, in the Mymensingh sector on the northeast front.

He said the Indians, having failed to capture Kamalpur, launched a fresh attack supported by tanks and artillery Monday night on two fronts, but were thrown back.

The spokesman said the battlefield was covered with Indian dead and that the Indians tried to remove the bodies from East Pakistani territory under a covering artillery bombardment.

He also reported that Pakistani troops captured seven Indian soldiers and a quantity of arms and ammunition in Dinajpur, in East Pakistan's northern sector.

57,000 S. Viet Troops Launch New Offensive

SAIGON (AP) — Backed by heavy U.S. air support, 57,000 South Vietnamese troops pushed ahead today with three dry-season offensives.

North Vietnamese gunners hit South Vietnamese positions in two of the operations with more than 100 rockets and mortars, killing three soldiers and wounding nine.

Only small patrol clashes were reported on the three fronts—in the central highlands, along Highway 7 in eastern Cambodia, and in the lower Mekong Delta. The fronts are 150 to 200 miles from one another.

The newest offensive, disclosed today, is a five-day, old, 7,000-man infantry and armored push in western Kontum and Pleiku provinces along Cambodia's northeastern frontier, 260 miles northeast of Saigon. Its aim, spokesmen said, is to stop two North Vietnamese infantry regiments and an artillery regiment reported moving from base camps in Cambodia into South Vietnam's central highlands.

Ninety-six North Vietnamese were killed in the highlands offensive over the weekend, the allied commands said, at the cost of two South Vietnamese killed and 27 wounded. Three U.S.

deals made concerning other countries or at the expense of other countries."

Another American advance team will go to China prior to the Nixon visit but Kissinger, who returned from the first advance in October, said the next one will be exclusively technical.

homes caring for Medicaid patients by July 1 to assure "such homes are in compliance or in substantial compliance."

"I am sure we can expect that some will accuse the federal government of exhibiting too much muscle in this matter," the HEW secretary said. "But I am hopeful that, strong federal action will, in the end, prove unnecessary. I believe that none of the 38 states face insurmountable difficulties in meeting the Feb. 1 target date."

Last year federal and state Medicaid spending for nursing home care alone totaled about $1.3 billion. Medicaid also provides a wide range of health care assistance for the needy.

At the same luncheon, Housing Secretary George Romney unveiled a new $1-million grant program "to provide a variety of technical assistance and information to inexperienced nonprofit sponsors of low- and moderate-income housing."

At the same conference, Labor Secretary J. D. Hodgson

Reminded that more than 2,000 newsmen have applied to the White House to accompany Nixon, Kissinger said the size of the traveling press party will be less than normal for presidential trips abroad but far larger than the Chinese had originally envisioned.

15 Pampans To Play In Region Band

Fifteen members of the Pampa High School Band made the AAA-AAAA All-Region Band in tryouts held Monday at Caprock High School in Amarillo.

Pampa students winning chairs in the band include: Rene Harwood, alto; Debbie Hienritz, clarinet; Jaquetta Thomas, clarinet; Janice Wing, flute; Roy Anderson, cornet; Mike Bradford, contra bass; Mark Carter, cornet; Jim Duggan, cornet; Jeff Dunn, French horn; Jeff Hatcher, alto/saxophone; Keith Jones, trombone; Bill Sargent, cornet; Randy Sims, bass; Rod Warford, baritone; and Joe Williams, alto saxophone.

Conductor of the band will be Francis McBeth, a well-known conductor, clinician, and composer from Arkansas. The band will rehearse all day Friday, Dec. 3 and Saturday morning, Dec. 4.

The All-Region band will present a concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Palo Duro High School Auditorium in Amarillo. The concert is open to the public.

Hodgson advised the elderly, however, that only 2.9 per cent of workers over 55 are out of jobs, compared with 16.4 per cent of youths aged 16-19, 9.5 per cent of blacks and other minorities and 9 per cent of returning Vietnam veterans.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe said the administration is looking carefully into the possibility of government subsidized lower transit fares for the elderly.

The National Council on the Aging urged the conference to recommend a guaranteed annual income for people 65 or over.

In a report, the NCOA suggested at least $2,297 per year for single persons and $4,185 for couples.

In Congress Tuesday, the Senate passed 80 to 0 a bill sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and opposed by the administration, to provide $250 million over the next two years for low-cost nutritious meals for persons over 60.

The Indian government says the fighting in East Pakistan is mainly between the Mukti Bahini, the East Pakistan independence fighters, and the West Pakistan army. New Delhi says Indian troops have crossed into East Pakistan only when attacked by the Pakistanis.

An Indian military spokesman in Calcutta said Tuesday Indian troops were still inside East Pakistan in the BalurghatHilli region, 200 miles north of Calcutta, where they crossed Saturday following what was described as a Pakistani artillery attack.

There was no reply from Pakistan to a call by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India for Pakistan to give East Pakistan independence and avoid possible war on the subcontinent.

Mrs. Gandhi told the upper house of Parliament that President Agha Mohammad Yahya Khan of Pakistan could make "a gesture toward peace" by pulling out his troops and allowing the East Bengalis to establish an independent Bangla Desh, or Bengali nation.

Johnny Cash Making Movie About Jesus At Holy Site

SEA OF GALILEE, Israel (AP) — Johnny Cash is making a 90-minute feature film at Christian holy sites in Israel and occupied Jordan.

Cash says he has spent $500,000 and five weeks in Israel to produce a portrayal of Christ "the man, as a real man, very human, and as a divinity—very divine."

"We show him as a boy, playing with kids, we show him laughing, throwing rocks at the water. A fly lands on his nose he brushes it away. A disciple helps him get a speck of dirt out of his eye. And so on," Cash added.

Jesus is played by a nonprofessional, blond, bearded Bob Elfstrom, Ridgefield, Conn. The other actors were recruited from among Americans, British and Scandinavian youths on hitchhike tours of Israel.

Dogged by tourists thronging the holy places, Cash frequently improvised. A Garden of Gethsemane scene was done in a copse near the Sea of Galilee.

He filmed Jerusalem scenes in a deserted Palestinian refugee camp, where the abode huts and narrow alleys have a Biblical atmosphere.

But so far, he says, "We've had a goodly share of miracles."

Cash got a storm on the Sea of Galilee the day he needed it, and a calm sea the next day.

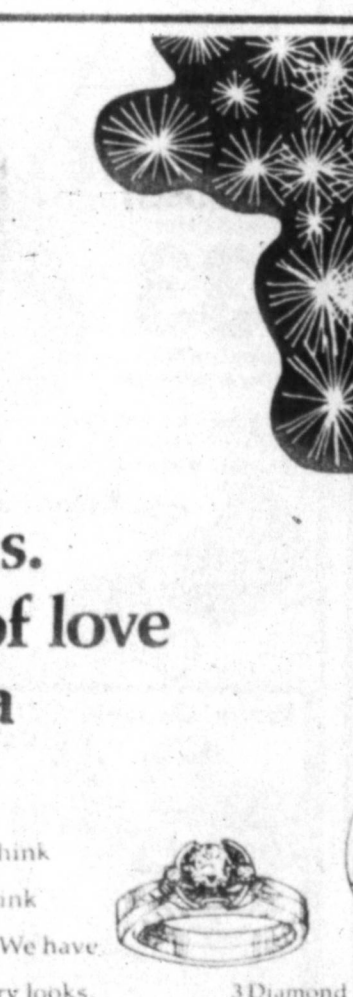

Jesus' Ascension was filmed with Elfstrom walking toward a clouded sky. As he walked, a hole opened in the clouds.

NOT FROM OUTER SPACE but from a laboratory at Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex., comes this catfish with the broad grin and unusual headgear. Exposed to foul-smelling chemicals, the catfish reacts with changes in brain electrical activity analyzed by a computer developed for special scientific uses by IBM.

SEA OF GALILEE, Israel (AP) — Johnny Cash is making a 90-minute feature film at Christian holy sites in Israel and occupied Jordan.

Cash says he has spent $500,000 and five weeks in Israel to produce a portrayal of Christ "the man, as a real man, very human, and as a divinity—very divine."

"We show him as a boy, playing with kids, we show him laughing, throwing rocks at the water. A fly lands on his nose he brushes it away. A disciple helps him get a speck of dirt out of his eye. And so on," Cash added.

Jesus is played by a nonprofessional, blond, bearded Bob Elfstrom, Ridgefield, Conn. The other actors were recruited from among Americans, British and Scandinavian youths on hitchhike tours of Israel.

Dogged by tourists thronging the holy places, Cash frequently improvised. A Garden of Gethsemane scene was done in a copse near the Sea of Galilee.

He filmed Jerusalem scenes in a deserted Palestinian refugee camp, where the abode huts and narrow alleys have a Biblical atmosphere.

But so far, he says, "We've had a goodly share of miracles."

6 Texas 4-H Club Members Win Honors

CHICAGO (AP) — Scholarships worth $3,400 went today to six 4-H club members from Texas at the annual National 4-H Congress under way here.

Each was named a regional or national scholarship winner by the 4-H national organization and the Cooperative Extension Service.

Winners of $700 scholarships were Roger Pinkerton of Plainview and Karl Keith Lewis, 17, Port Neches.

Four youths received $500 scholarships. They were Melvin Hollas, 19, of Cameron; Debra Buchanan, 18, of Big Spring; Mary Francis Martinez, 18, of Ozona; and Linda Spieler, 17, of San Angelo.

Pinkerton received his scholarship for experiments with herbicides.

Pinkerton is a freshman at Texas Tech and plans a career in agronomy. His oldest brother, John, an Army helicopter pilot, is a soil scientist graduate of Texas Tech.

The winner conducted his herbicide experiments in a greenhouse that he built on the family farm.

Even before joining a 4-H group six years ago, Lewis was involved in veterinary science because his family raised livestock. He got his start in a 4-H project caring for and showing an Angus bull and a heifer.

When Jefferson County introduced the veterinary science project, Lewis quickly enrolled and began building his skills. During the past year he has given 89 vaccinations, 35 immunizations, 87 wormings, trimmed the hooves of 28 cattle and sprayed 240 horses.

Rail Official Explains Causes Of Derailment

HOUSTON (AP) — A Santa Fe railway executive testified Tuesday an accidental use of air brakes, or some other type of "impact" may have caused the Oct. 19 derailment and explosion of railway tank cars.

James R. Fitzgerald, assistant general manager for Santa Fe, testified before a hearing into the causes of the accident which killed one fireman and injured 37 other persons.

Twenty-six persons are expected to testify at the National Transportation and Safety Board hearing which will continue through Friday.

Fitzgerald said he considers it likely that the train's operation, rather than faulty tracks, caused the derailment.

Fitzgerald said that contrary to some previous reports, workmen were not repairing the tracks on which the derailment occurred, causing chemical-filled tank cars to burst in flames.

He said workmen were in the area, but were constructing a siding adjacent to the existing tracks instead of doing repair work.

He said cross ties stacked in the area of the derailment were for use on the new switch track, not the main tracks.

Houston City Atty. Bill Olsen attempted to question

Fitzgerald further about the possibility of an internal train "impact" causing the derailment but the line of inquiry was stopped by Board Chairman Mrs. Isabel A. Burgess.

She said later witnesses who were more directly involved in the train's operation would testify later.

New Commandant Of Marine Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman Jr., who led Marines in Pacific battles of World War II and now is deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency, was nominated Tuesday by President Nixon as the next commandant of the Marine Corps.

Cushman was Nixon's military aide during the 1950s when Nixon was vice president. If confirmed by the Senate for his new post, he will succeed Leonard F. Chapman Jr., who retires Dec. 31 after a four-year term as commandant.

As top Marine, Cushman would receive a fourth star.

The 56-year-old Cushman, a native of St. Paul, Minn., has been a Marine officer since his graduation from the Naval Academy in 1935.

Following World War II, he held a series of teaching and staff positions until his assignment as Nixon's assistant for national security affairs in 1957. He was promoted to brigadier general the following year. Shortly after taking office in 1969, Nixon tapped his former aide to become No. 2 man at CIA where Cushman has been responsible for running the agency's day-to-day operations under director Richard Helms.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said he does not know who would replace Cushman at CIA.

Cushman would preside over a Marine Corps that has been pared from its peak Vietnam war strength of 317,000 in 1969 to 204,000 today. With only 200 remaining in Vietnam, the Marines now have returned to their traditional peacetime role as the nation's quick-response force.

Under Cushman, no change is expected in the corps' insistence on discipline and its resistance to the changes now taking place in the Army and Navy.

'Dirty 30' Proposed Changes In House Rules Nearing End

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Dick Reed of Dallas said Tuesday proposed changes in the Texas House rules are being prepared by the Dirty 30 and may be ready by Dec. 30.

He said committees working on the changes are nearing their final draft and a vote on the final version may come at their December meeting in Austin.

Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi, R. C. Nichols of Houston, and Lane Denton of Waco held a news conference at Baylor University as part of day-long activities honoring the Dirty 30 group here.

Seventeen members of the Democratic and Republican coalition of the Texas House were honored Tuesday night at a banquet sponsored by the Baylor Young Democrats.

Life And Death Of Bombastic Texan Newsman To Be Presented On Stage

By SAM PENDERGRAST
Editor, Corsicana Daily Sun
Written for Associated Press
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The rangy, fluid stage of the Ruth Taylor Theater at Trinity University here will be the beginning Wednesday night, of what could be the most important event of the year in Texas theater.

It is the world premiere of a play about the life and death of a bombastic Texas journalist by noted Texas author Jewel Gibson of Corsicana.

The producer is Paul Baker, who, if he is not "the theater" in Texas—as partisans believe—has certainly been in the vanguard of all that is innovative, imaginative and vigorous in Texas drama for the past 30 years.

Mrs. Gibson's play, "Brawn and the Iconoclast" is based on the biography of William Cowper Brann by Charles Carver.

Brann, a journalist, was one of four men killed in Waco street shootings at the turn of the century. His death was a result of enmities arising from a series of outspoken articles published in his newspaper, the Iconoclast, about the rape of a 14-year-old Brazilian girl living in the home of the president of Baylor University.

The brother of President Burleson's son-in-law was indicted for the crime.

Mrs. Gibson has added three "composite" characters to the historical figures in the play: A priggish, reactionary preacher, an indulgent, kindly preacher, and a bookseller who gives away Brann's vitriolic newspaper to offset the preoccupation of Baylor

"Crusaders for Christ" with a Baptist journal.

The rest of the 20 characters are authentic. Much of the dialogue has been based on or taken directly from published statements of Brann, Burleson, and the fiery Judge Gerald, who defended Brann verbally and by shooting another newspaperman and his brother involved in the dispute.

But "Brann and the Iconoclast," as written by Mrs. Gibson and fleshed out by Baker and a cast-crew of 60, is not a historical play.

It is, in fact, not even a play but a "staged reading," an extension of Charles Laughton's popular "Drama Quartet" productions in which actors created diverse characters without costumes or blocking "reading" from hand scripts.

"Brann and the Iconoclast" is greatly expanded to include minimal set pieces, stylized costumes, some highly effective choreography, masks and other restraints symbolizing the allegorical dimension to hard facts of the Brann fair.

The script itself is no much a dramatic character delineation of ideas, ideologies, of clash religious stances. Bak explosive staging and symbolism bring out the philosophical quandaries in a that will be difficult another producer to emulate.

Grandparents shouldn't go overboard with gifts

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Why do some grandparents feel that they can give their grandchildren anything they want for Christmas without even consulting the parents?

Our children have more toys than they know what to do with, and my parents have just told us what they plan to give their grandchildren for Christmas and we have told them that we disapprove. In the first place, we think the gifts are very inappropriate for our children, they are far too expensive, and we have no place to store them.

My parents say they are not asking us, they are telling us. Abby, don't you think they should respect our wishes? And what can we do about it?

UPSET IN PA.

DEAR UPSET: Yes, I think your wishes should be respected. You could threaten to return any unapproved gifts and make good your threat if they insist on sending them anyway. But this would undoubtedly make it "rough sledding" for your relationship at Christmas, so I don't recommend it.

DEAR ABBY: I am one of those unfortunate women who had only sons. Out of six children, I never had one daughter. Talk about rotten luck. That was the worst. I know what I am talking about because last Christmas I knew what a broken heart felt like.

The five older boys are married, and on Christmas and Thanksgiving, too, each went to HER mother's.

My younger son has a girl friend, and he went to HER house. Not one of my sons asked me if I had plans.

I am not a whining, complaining, clinging vine type. I am self-supporting, and can look after myself. This was the first Christmas without my husband, and I thought surely one of my boys would invite me to spend Christmas with him. I'm sure if I had had daughters, things would have been different. What do you think?

MOTHER OF SONS

DEAR MOTHER: It's hard to tell. Some mothers have received the same treatment from their daughters. And some sons treat their mothers like queens. The little verse, "A son is a son 'til he takes a wife, but a daughter is a daughter all her life," "ain't" necessarily so!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 50-year-old man [divorced] who has been single for five years, with no desire to marry again until I met a charming 45-year-old woman [also divorced].

I plan to ask her to marry me and feel confident that she will accept. My problem: I don't feel I should buy her an engagement ring because she is already wearing diamonds on both her hands which would put to shame any diamond I could afford to buy her.

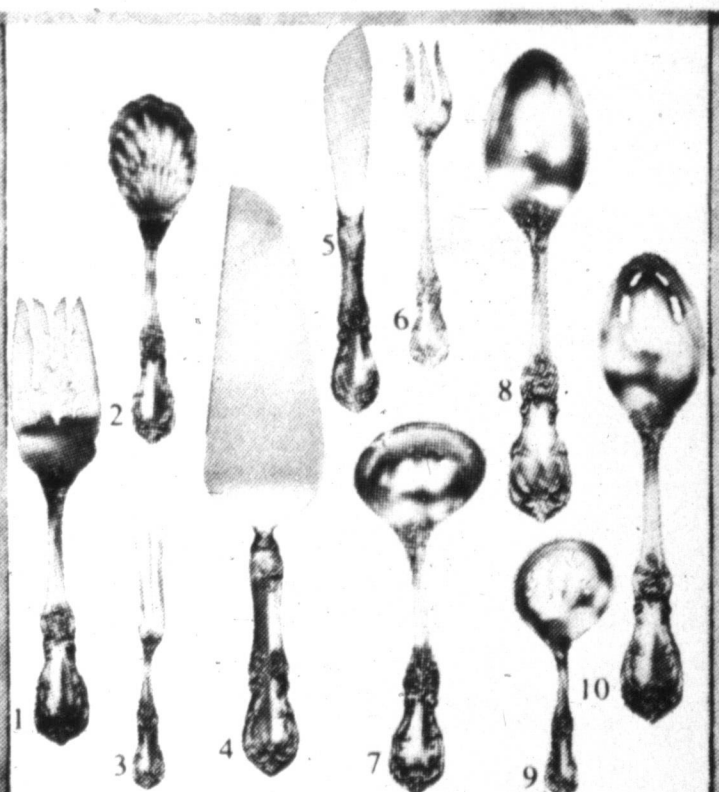

How could I handle this? UNSURE IN OAKLAND

DEAR UNSURE: Skip the engagement diamond and make up for it with a more elaborate wedding ring.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "AMAZED AT YOU AND YOUR FILTHY MIND": I DID consult with psychiatrists before publishing my answer, and they agreed unanimously that no healthy-minded mother sleeps with her 11-year-old son. [And in one twin bed, yet!]

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

MAGIC LAMP—Every child who likes to visit the land of make believe should see Aladdin rub that wonderful old magic lamp and watch the big Genie appear to grant his every wish. This is one of the dramatic scenes in the National Children's Theatre production of "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp," to be presented at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the Pampa High School auditorium. The play is sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association.

Children's Theatre Play Scheduled For Thursday

"Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp," a children's play, will be presented at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the Pampa High School auditorium by a touring cast of youthful adult actors of the National Children's Theatre.

This is the first of three plays that will be brought to Pampa this year under the sponsorship of the Pampa Fine Arts Association.

Season tickets, at $1.50 were sold in Pampa elementary schools last week and may be obtained from Mrs. Jack Miller, 1615 Grape. If available, single admissions will be sold at the door for 75 cents each.

Featured in the role of Aladdin, will be Pat Jernigan, former Pampa, who signed with the National Children's Theatre earlier this year.

"Aladdin and His Wonderful

Lamp" is a journey into the land of make believe, where Aladdin rubs his old magic lamp, resulting in the appearance of the big "genie" who grants his every wish.

Other productions to be brought to Pampa include "Iroquois Captive," a peep into the historical past of America, centering around a story, based on fact, of the Indians and the Red Coats; and "Heidi," the beloved legend of life in the Swiss Alps, a story of love and faith.

"Iroquois Captive" will be presented here Feb. 24, 1972, and "Heidi" will be presented May 4, 1972.

BETTY CANARY

By BETTY CANARY

One of the benefits of packing up and moving into another house is, I always discover things I have lost, forgotten or never knew I had in the first place.

While unpacking a box of books for which I've never had shelf space, I wasn't surprised when all sorts of interesting items turned up. Right between a set of Dickens and a collection of Mad magazines was the gold charm bracelet my cousin Mildred lost eight Christmases ago. It was wrapped in a red bathing suit I vaguely remember wearing.

A basket of clothespins I hadn't seen since last April was in a strange barrel, a barrel I'd never seen before the moving men placed it in the center of my new living room . . . on top of the box containing my collection of Meissen.

The gears from my son's racing bike are lost no more! I wonder why I never thought of looking for them inside that old fishing tackle box before? I know why I never thought of looking inside the same tackle box for my fuzzy pink house slippers—the ones I haven't seen for two winters.

The round marble top to the cigarette table showed up—inside the crate it was packed in years ago—and right after I decided to throw away the base I've saved for so long.

Of course, I don't expect to find everything at once. The Christmas decorations should turn up by next July 4. My son's skin diving equipment will emerge next October. The cookie cutters and electric mixer I might find when storing the winter coats next year.

In the meantime I'll try to figure out where this potato chip can be filled with rusty safety pins came from. Also, I'll decide what I'll do with the one broken and iron, the piece of something that looks as if it came off a water heater and the moth-eaten buffalo rug I never saw before in my life.

Basic Beef and Pork

Beef ranks first and pork second in prominence among foods in the Meat Group, one of the Basic 4 Food Groups. This is the group we rely on for body-building protein plus important vitamins and minerals. It is recommended that two servings of a food from the Meat Group be included in the daily diet.

Traffic Safety Studied

Mrs. W. A. Bohot was hostess to Varietas Study Club, with Mrs. L. B. Penick presiding.

The study topic was "Safety on the Highways," with Mrs. Lee Harrah discussing "How to Stay Alive on the Highway." Mrs. N. B. Ellis talked on "Legislation Regarding Highways."

The speakers reported that in 1969, 56,500 people were killed on the highway and over five million were injured. Among the main causes of highway accidents, they said, are driving at a high rate of speed, using alcohol, and driving during bad weather conditions.

One out of ten accidents is caused by the breaking of one or more laws, they pointed out. One out of four is caused by weather conditions.

Many accidents are caused through ignorance of rules and regulations, they explained, particularly on freeways. Many are caused by fatigue and tension of drivers.

The speakers recommended that drivers familiarize themselves with rules and regulations, that they adjust their driving to current weather conditions, and that they get sufficient rest while driving.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is initiating a major traffic safety campaign to encourage the use of raised reflective pavement markers on white lines to increase the effectiveness of white lines at night, the women said.

Guests were Mrs. Luther Kirk and Mrs. W. A. Wagoner. Members present were Mmes. W. A. Bohot, F. A. Cary, Price Dosier, N. B. Ellis, S. C. Evans, J. E. Gibson, Lee Harrah, R. W. Lane, L. B. Penick, J. R. Spearman and Sherman White.

A Lovelier You Youth Is Not An Age

By Mary Sue Miller

There really is no such thing as age any more. But being young and being teen are worlds apart. A woman past 30 sometimes does not grasp that fact. She becomes confused by teen fashions, fads and life styles. Then she is in danger of adopting them—to her detriment.

What a waste it is to join the teen kick. A woman rarely fulfills her liveliness potentials before reaching adult years. It requires a "heap o' livin'" to cultivate one's looks, talents and charm to a degree of excellence.

Besides, the secret of continuing youthfulness is making no age impression whatever. Teen gambits only call attention to the candles on a birthday cake. If you look at a woman and think — I wonder how old she is — her age is showing.

But if you think — my, she's attractive — she knows the score. She makes the most of her looks and talents in the magical ways now provided by modern medicine and technology. Thus she is willowy, smooth-skinned, distinctively coiffed and dressed, lively in her mind and manner. Young!

So think twice, Milady, before you join up with character part get-ups. You've got everything going for you. Your name is on this season's handsome, classic clothes and glowy makeup. Don't join 'em, lick 'em!

Beauty knows no age
Some women age before their time; some retain their youthful beauty and charm. Why? The secrets of non-stop attractiveness are revealed in BEAUTY KNOWS NO AGE. Advice covers ways to a youthful figure, skin and hair; to flattering makeup, hairstyles and fashions. Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

THURSDAY, DEC. 2
Your birthday today: Begins a year of experiment and from time to time an expansive dramatization of your talents. Use every reasonable chance to move up or perhaps simply to move. Today's natives are inclined to be thrifty and quick to organize.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Even a practical joke has its educational merits. Viewing today's dilemmas and questions with a broad sense of humor helps greatly.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Now you may add your own schemes to the over-all plan and get a special benefit.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Doing too many different things at once results in getting very little accomplished. Leave tomorrow's chores for tomorrow.

Cancer (May 21-June 20): You tend to be involved soon in some major rearrangements in peoples' lives. Be sure of your advice before you offer it.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Public attention continues to focus on you with generally favorable repercussions. Let well enough alone in any routine chores.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Pace the day's doings to give yourself breaks for reflection and brief rests, for it's apt to be a quite long and busy evening.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Tact and forbearance make the success of the day. You may have to carry the duties of another for a brief period.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The tide of your acceptance among friends runs low and wily-nilly; nearly all have to disagree, for irrelevant reasons.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Premiums and praise reward any original, spontaneous approach to a question that is beginning to go stale.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Since you have to replan a complete campaign, you have no time to dawdle or review too many ancient details.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Any side you select now will have faults and flaws you cannot accept, long-run. It's better to stay out of it.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Self-improvement seems aided and connected by public resources, in public facilities. Something you've earned must be applied for shortly.

Life Master Rank Earned

Mrs. L. L. Garren, 2120 Charles, became a Life Master of the American Contract Bridge League by scoring high in the championships at the 45th Fall National Tournament in Phoenix, Ariz.

Only slightly more than 14,500, among an estimated 40 million American bridge players have achieved Life Master ranking, which requires the amassing of at least 300 Master Points, including 50 points won in the tough competition of national and regional championships.

The 10-day tournament, that ended Sunday, brought thousands of players from all over the country to see seven major titles decided.

India Asks Pakistan To Give East Pakistan Independence

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and Defense Minister Jagjivan Ram of India called Tuesday for Pakistan to give East Pakistan independence and avoid possible war on the subcontinent.
Mrs. Gandhi told the upper house of Parliament that President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan of Pakistan could make "a gesture toward peace" by pulling out his troops and allowing East Pakistan to establish an independent Bangla Desh-Bengali nation.
Ram, in a television interview in New Delhi, was more forceful, declaring: "War can still be avoided if the rulers of Pakistan see the writing on the wall and give independence to the people of Bangla Desh. The people of Bangla Desh expect nothing less than that."
The apparent hardening of India's official stance toward Pakistan came as Radio Pakistan reported that Indian troops were making some advances in a drive inside East Pakistan. The Indian government has said the fighting mainly is between the Mukti Bahini, the East Pakistani independence fighters, and West Pakistani troops.
A Pakistani military spokesman asserted in Rawalpindi, West Pakistan, that Pakistan forces were still operating under restraint against hot pursuit across the Indian border.
The spokesman said heavy fighting was in progress around Pachagarh in the northern most tip of the East Pakistan-Indian West Bengal frontier where Pakistani troops withdrew two miles "under heavy pressure."
Pakistan claimed that the Indians threw in fresh forces and were using tanks in the attack from south of the sugar mill town of Pachagarh after failing to take the town from the north.
An Indian military spokesman in Calcutta said Indian troops were still inside East Pakistan in the Balurghat-Hilli region, 200 miles north of Calcutta where they crossed Saturday following what was described as a Pakistani artillery attack.
A Defense Ministry communique issued in New Delhi said that only sporadic fighting had been reported from the area during the day and that a Pakistani counterattack had been repulsed.
The Indian army reported some of its troops were battling inside East Pakistan Monday in a measure of self-defense. But Pakistan charged Indian forces fought on four fronts in the province and had taken control of a key town in the western sector.
According to the version given out in New Delhi, the Indian force was operating "two to three miles" inside East Pakistan in the northern sector around Balurghat. An Indian spokesman said the Pakistanis had fired into India's side of the border and the troops were attempting to knock out a threat.
Pakistan's army claimed the Indians were on the attack in the west around Jessore, in the east near Comilla, in the northeast of Sylhet and in the north at Dinajpur and Balurghat.
The Indians say that an East Pakistani rebel movement, the Mukti Bahini, is doing most of the fighting in an attempt to wrest control from Pakistan's central government.
East Pakistan is separated from the seat of government in West Pakistan by 1,000 miles of Indian territory. The hostilities now under way grow out of elections last December in which the Awami League, proponents of more autonomy for the East, gained 569 seats out of a possible 600.
The Mukti Bahini, the East Pakistani independence fighters, and West Pakistani troops.

Sen. Muskie Says He Is 'New Convert'

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says he is a "new convert" to the cause of women's rights but he hedged when asked if he would accept a woman vice presidential candidate.

The Maine Democrat, a contender for his party's presidential nomination next year, spoke to the Schenectady Freedom Forum Monday night and focused on women's liberation.

He said the women's rights movement is "not a temporary fad or passing fancy."

A questioner reminded Muskie that he had rejected the idea of a black vice presidential running-mate because such a ticket would not have "electability," then asked the senator if a woman would be an acceptable running mate.

Muskie said that "in selecting any combination next year, one must consider the electability of that ticket, depending upon whether or not one considers it more important to defeat Richard Nixon, or to test the electability of different kinds of tickets."

'America's First Love Boutique' Doing Brisk Business

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — A bright little shop in Chapel Hill billed as the nation's first birth-control boutique is doing a brisk business in its self-proclaimed role of bringing "sanity and taste to the sexual revolution."

The Adam and Eve shop near the campus of the University of North Carolina, looks at first glance like any other college-town boutique.

But stacked on its modern glass and chrome display shelves are a wide variety of non-prescription contraceptives for men and women.

Calling itself "America's first love boutique," the store opened Nov. 17 to capacity crowds. Its backers are making plans to expand nationwide.

The store, a subsidiary of Population Planning Associates, was founded by Dr. T. R. L. Black and Philip D. Harvey who received their master's degrees in family planning from North Carolina. Harvey is a former director of CARE in India and Black, a member of the Royal College of Physicians, is a former officer in the New Guinea medical service.

"We're not here to start a sexual revolution," said John J. Quinn, director of marketing.

"This is the middle ground between the clinical drug store approach and the lasciviousness of the sex shops."

Youth Leaders Planning National Youth Caucus

WASHINGTON (AP) — A coalition of youth leaders announced Tuesday plans to form a National Youth Caucus as a means of gaining influence in the major political parties.

Duane Draper, president of the National Association of Student Governments, said the movement to be shaped at an Emergency Conference for New Voters in Chicago this weekend would align itself with the Black Caucus and Women's Caucus.

The purpose, Draper said, would be to maximize their strength at the 1972 presidential nominating conventions.

Meanwhile, the Youth Citizenship Fund, one of the major coordinating groups pushing registration of the newly eligible 18-25-year-old voters, announced it has received $400,000 in grants to continue its work.

Carroll Ladt, executive director of YCF, said the group hopes to register as many as half the 25 million potential youthful voters by next year's presidential election.

The Chicago meeting will be held at Loyola University Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Draper said, organized by 100 student-body presidents from across the country.

Delegates will be instructed in workshops on delegate selection procedures, party mechanics, fund-raising, press techniques, precinct level organization, and other political skills.

Draper said a primary concern of the youth groups is that even with delegate selection reforms such as those being imposed by the Democratic National Committee, "there are enough young hacks to fill up all the convention seats allotted to youth."

"We want to get young people who are committed to social change," Draper said.

"not 18-year-old versions of Richard Daley."

Draper also said the young people would go after the Republican party.

"The Nixon administration asks that the young and the poor work within the system," he said, "but they try to head off the 18-year-old vote and student voting rights; they reject the Scranton Commission plea for reconciling leadership and maneuver to deny the franchise to Southern blacks."

Joining Draper in announcing the movement were representatives from Youth Organizations United, Young Delegates, Common Cause and Young Democrats. Draper said the Ripon Society, a youth-oriented liberal branch of the Republican party, also would be represented in Chicago.

U.S. Move On Money Rejected

ROME (AP) — European nations and Japan rejected Tuesday an American plan for resolving the international monetary crisis and insisted that the United States devalue the dollar against gold.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said, however, some progress had been made.

Connally told newsmen the Group of Ten finance ministers "discussed the nuts and bolts for the first time" and, when asked if the nuts and bolts were made of gold, replied: "The answer is yes."

Sources who sat in on the sessions said that devaluation of the dollar would be only a partial solution to the deadlock that has existed among the rich trading nations since the crisis developed after President Nixon laid down his tough economic policy in August.

The conference sources who reported rejection of the American plan and insistence on dollar devaluation emphasized that there seemed to be room for further bargaining on the U.S. proposal. It includes an offer to drop the 10 per cent import surcharge in exchange for an upward revaluation of foreign currencies.

It was the first time in the 3½ months of deadlocked talks that only senior officials sat down to discuss specific figures on what new international exchange rates should be.

Iranian Troops Take 3 Islands

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — An Iranian marine force took over three tiny islands at the mouth of the Persian Gulf Tuesday. Seven persons were killed in a brief clash with a police garrison on one of them, Greater Tumb.

The strangely named islands—specks on the map—are strategically important. They can command the entrance of the gulf in the 60-mile-wide Strait of Hormuz where half the world's oil supply passes.

Judge In Mutscher Trial Asked To Move Case To Another City

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Bob Smith filed a motion Tuesday to move the bribery trial involving House Speaker Gus Mutscher to another county.

The defense filed a similar motion last week. Shunning the legalese that normally burdens such motions, Smith said in his motion that Mutscher holds the "guillotine threat of raw power" over a large segment of Travis County citizens—state employees—who would be part of the jury panel.

Mutscher is accused of accepting a bribe from Houston promoter Frank Sharp in return for passage of two banking bills in 1969.

Mutscher also is accused together with his aide, Rush McGinty, and Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth of conspiracy to accept a bribe.

No venue motion was filed in the case of John Osorio, former state insurance commissioner and former president of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. Smith said. Osorio is accused of filing a false financial statement for National Bankers Life with the insurance board.

All three cases arise from the Texas stock fraud scandal. Smith said he expected District Judge Tom Blackwell to rule on the motion Thursday.

Smith said he had no preference regarding the selection of a new trial site. He said Blackwell as a matter of courtesy would move it to a county where he could find a district judge willing to accept the trial.

Asked if the trial could be held on its scheduled Jan. 10 date if it is moved, Smith said: "I don't see how the machinery could function fast enough to try it then."

In his motion, Smith said Travis County has "combinations and influences in favor of the accused such that a fair and impartial trial as between the accused and the state cannot be safely and speedily had."

He said Mutscher "wields the power of life or death over the enactment of every law affecting the people of this state and more particularly this office effectively controls the appropriation of public funds necessary for the payment of salaries of state employees."

The speaker "has failed and refused to temporarily relinquish this awesome power over the lives of these prospective jurors" and it would be "unconscionable to place them in the position of choosing between their sworn duty as jurors and this omnipresent threat to their jobs and the livelihood of their families," Smith said.

Gov. Preston Smith could call a special session of the legislature and let lawmakers vote whether "under the circumstances, it is right or proper to require the jury system of this state to function under such guillotine threat of raw power" Smith said, meaning the House could decide to remove Mutscher from the speakership.

Nearly 7,000 Vets In Training Classes

DALLAS (AP) — Nearly 7,000 veterans are enrolled in training classes in the Dallas-Fort Worth area under the new GI Bill of Rights.

Some 3,400 are taking college-level courses, while 2,800 are in vocational classes and about 500 are signed up for on-the-job training.

The U.S. Veterans Assistance Center in Dallas is processing about 100 veterans daily who want to enroll in some kind of VA-approved training. This is a 39 per cent increase over last year, and Ed Mikes, officer in charge of the center, does not expect it to level off until the middle of 1972.

"The veterans are asking for their educational benefits and they're getting them," Mikes said. "We don't tell them what they should study—we just help them to help themselves."

It happens all the time. Children like our Jumping Jacks so well they ask for them for Christmas. But there's a lot more to shoes than just making a kid smile. They have to be fitted every time. And half the fun of holiday parties and visits is getting dressed up in Jumping Jacks shoes. So if his wishes are for softened dress boots or snappy two-tones ... and her wishes are for shinyinkle toes or racy ties, bring them in to be fitted before Christmas. Santa wouldn't want it any other way.

SANTA WOULDN'T WANT YOU TO GIVE THEM JUMPING JACKS FOR CHRISTMAS, AND THERE'S NO "HO HO HO" ABOUT IT.

President Echeverria Pushing For Reforms To End Corruption, Opression, Fear And Gap

Editor's Note—Our neighbor Canada is strictly 20th century. In contrast Mexico "stands now about where the United States stood after the Civil War," in the appraisal of California Prof. John A. Crow, author of the book "Mexico Today." Some of the things that make this so are discussed in this article, second in a series of three by the AP's chief correspondent in Mexico.

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP) — A toothless farmer, barefoot and wearing tattered clothes, stood on the edge of a crowd of about 250 men who till communal farmland in Mexico's sweltering state of Tabasco.

In the center of the crowd stood a tall Mexican of 49 years, wearing a sport shirt and slacks. Luis Echeverria, president of Mexico, was listening to the forgotten man of Mexico, the "campesino" farmer who survives on the very edge of this country's flourishing economic growth.

The farmers had flagged down the president's bus as he toured Tabasco State on one of the tours he has made since taking office a year ago. They wanted paving of the rutted, dirt road on which they stood. Echeverria promised that if they would terrace the roadbed at government expense he would send in the paving equipment. That way, he explained, they could help themselves, earn a daily wage and end the seasonal isolation of their four villages.

"At least he stopped," the toothless farmer said. "A lot of presidents wouldn't."

It was one of thousands of stops Echeverria has made. He traveled 27,460 miles in his first 11 months in office, pushing for reforms he feels must be made to end corruption, oppression, fear and the increasing gap between Mexico's rich and poor.

This country has a reputation as one of the most rapidly developing nations in the Third World. Economic statistics reflect years of stable and sure growth.

But as far as that farmer is concerned the statistics lie. For him, and for millions of peasants and laborers, the situation is desperate. Their share of nation's growth is hard to find.

"It is obvious, at this point of Mexican development, that there can no longer be a postponement of the measures meant to reduce... unbalances," says the National Bank of Foreign Trade in a report on Echeverria's policies. "A more equitable income distribution among the different strata of population must be achieved."

Government protection of developing industries, the report suggested, has to taper off. Consumer goods are priced out of reason with the cost of production. An appliance which sells for $10 in another country may cost $20 here even though labor costs are lower.

Many Mexicans blame part of this on heavy U.S. investment. They say subsidiaries of American firms set retail prices keyed to high profits. Sixty-five per cent of this country's foreign trade is with the United States. Many of Mexico's exports are produced by subsidiaries of American companies and sold on the world market by the parent firm or by U.S. middlemen.

There are economists who say American dominance in Mexican technology, commerce and finance has made this country an economic stepchild of U.S. demand.

The 1970 census found 29,788,308 Mexicans economically active. But 40 per cent of them had an average monthly income of $40 or less. Only slightly more than 100,000 Mexicans reported monthly income of $800 or more.

The Roman Catholic Church, seeing social responsibilities in this country where almost 97 per cent of the people are Catholic, circulated this fall a document called "Social Justice in Mexico". It severely criticized the government, and the Church, for allowing the poor to drift along in a marginal existence.

The report pointed out that Mexico's agriculture reform, basis of the 1910-17 revolution, has not worked as well as some people claim. In 1970 there were 819,504 people tilling "ejido" or communal farm land. Often their plots are so tiny, and the land so poor, they could not feed themselves properly much less raise a cash crop.

The 1.2 million private farms in the country total 3.3 billion acres. Eighty-three per cent of this is in holdings of up to five hectares—a little over 12 acres.

The remaining 17 per cent of the farms account for more than half the arable farm land and represent 58 per cent of total agricultural production. This minority receives 66 per cent of all capital dedicated to agriculture, the study showed.

The situation is better, but not much, for 5.4 million laborers. Minimum wages are set by the federal government but the standards tend to benefit the patron or boss more than the worker.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 1, the 335th day of 1971. There are 30 days left in the year.

Today highlight in history: On this date in 1918, the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes formed a single nation—Yugoslavia.

On this date: In 1824, a U.S. election was turned over to the House of Representatives after a deadlock developed among four candidates—John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson, William H. Crawford and Henry Clay.

In 1917, the kings of Norway, Denmark and Sweden agreed to maintain neutrality with the World War I belligerents.

In 1941, the Civil Air Patrol was organized to assist in air search and rescue work.

In 1944, the battle for the Saar Basin in Germany began.

In 1958, a fire in a Roman Catholic school in Chicago took the lives of 87 students and three nuns.

Ten years ago: There were disorderly demonstrations in the Dominican Republic against President Joaquin Balaguer.

Five years ago: Soviet Premier Alexei Kossygin was welcomed to Paris by President Charles de Gaulle.

One year ago: Mexico's President Luis Echeverria Alvarez was sworn in.

The Worry Clinic

By-GEORGE W. CRANE, PH.D., M.D.

Morton shows dismay at the growing attention focussed on homosexuals. Homosexuality is a juvenile emotional stage, like bedwetting, from which normal human beings evolve. Instead of legalizing such immaturity, such victims need to be urged to grow up till they reach the mature heterosexual stage!

CASE S-533: Morton J., aged 32, is a college English professor. "Dr. Crane," he began, "why is homosexuality becoming so prevalent?" "Here in Minnesota, an avowed homosexual even ran for president of the college governing body."

"And out in California, my church is even considering the appointment of a couple of homosexuals to the ministry! Imagine!"

"It seems to me that the public is leaning over too far to act benign and considerate of deviate minorities, whether of color, race or sexual habits. 'Are homosexuals 'born' that way?"

Should they be permitted to marry?

"And can they ever be changed into normal heterosexuals?"

HOMOSEXUAL BINGE: America is now on a homosexual binge.

Theatrical plays even depict them on the stage. And churches are indirectly fawning over them.

That's as stupid as to laud bedwetting! For both enuresis and homosexuality are juvenile emotional habits that the mature adult should have outgrown!

Homosexuals are not born that way! But boys and girls are born with a moderate degree of sexual ambivalence.

The males generally possess a 75-25 ratio of masculine to feminine inclinations.

Normal adult women likewise swing 25 percent to 75 percent in favor of femininity.

But when older men coerce young boys into homosexual relations, these boys may finally become habituated to playing the submissive (female) role.

At birth, all of us are in the "egocentric stage" of our emotional growth.

At this time, we are selfishly interested in our own satisfaction, so we cry for a dry diaper or a bottle of warm milk, regardless of the fact we waken our distraught and overworked mother at 2 A.M.

By kindergarten age, we enter the "parental stage" wherein we now acknowledge that mamma and papa are dominant forces to which we must adjust.

TO'T Tourney Starts

The annual Top O' Texas Basketball tournament will start tomorrow afternoon with Dumas meeting Burk Burnett at 5:45 p.m.

The annual affair is hosted by the 1970 District 3-AAAA championship team, the Hustling Harvesters coached by 1970 coach of the year Robert McPherson.

The Harvesters have a successful season this year starting with a 101 to 69 defeat of Breckenridge and a 55 to 54 defeat of South Garland, both on the opposing teams' home courts.

The Harvesters continued their winning streak by downing Fort Worth Arlington heights 71 to 63 and then traveling to Dumas to dump the Demons 73 to 48.

Last year the Harvesters lost the Top O' Texas for the first time since the origin of the tournament. This year according to McPherson, "The team looks better than ever. We have a lot more strength on the team and our shooting and playing overall has improved. Our chances look good for the district title."

According to the coach and players of the hustlin' Harvesters the only thing needed is more support from the fans.

The complete schedule for the TO'T is as follows:

Back Of The Week Is Bama's Musso

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — "The way I figured it," said Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama, "he could stand on hot coals that long."

Therefore Bryant sent his ace running back, Johnny Musso, back on the field Saturday for the closing minutes of the Crimson Tide's 31-7 victory over Auburn.

Musso, playing despite a painful sprained toe that had him on crutches earlier in the week, spearheaded a ball control offense that kept Heisman Trophy winner Pat Sullivan of Auburn on the sidelines during most of the battle of undefeated Southeastern Conference powers.

Musso, nicknamed the Italian Stallion, piled up 167 yards in 33 carries as the Tide possessed the ball for almost 42 minutes. He also scored two touchdowns and completed a pass for 17 yards, a performance that earned him a claim today as The Associated Press National Back of the Week.

"I didn't expect him to play the whole game," said Bryant, who calls Musso the greatest running back he's ever coached. "I figure he wanted to stay in there."

"I've said a lot about Johnny throughout his Alabama career but I don't think I've said enough or could say enough," Bryant added. "He's everything you could ever want in a football player and in a young man."

Bryant said Musso's performance against Auburn was "even more outstanding when you consider that he's gone almost a month without any real practice and was playing on a toe that would have kept many football players out of the game."

To win the weekly honor, Musso beat out several other players with brilliant performances—quarterbacks John Reeves of Florida, Jack Mildren of Oklahoma, Jim Erickson of Colorado State and Dean Carlson of Iowa State and running backs Jeff Kinney of Nebraska and Jimmy Poulos of Georgia.

Playoff Formats Released

NEW YORK (AP) — With three weekends of pro football remaining in the regular season, none of the Super Bowl contenders has been decided but the National Football League has released, for the record at least, the format for the playoffs.

As was the case last year, the East, Central and West division champions in both the American and National conferences will make up six of the eight qualifiers for divisional playoff games the weekend of Dec. 25-26.

Among the remaining teams, one from each conference will be chosen on the basis of the best win-loss record.

In case of ties, one of seven measures will be used to determine the qualifier—ranging from the best win-loss percentage in head-to-head competition to a coin flip.

The four survivors of the Divisional playoffs will meet in Conference playoffs Jan. 2 for the right to play in Super Bowl VI in New Orleans Jan. 16.

Fireworks Start When Play Begins

Associated Press
When you put four of the American Basketball Association's top scorers on the court at the same time, watch out for some fireworks.

Charlie Scott, the ABA's leading scorer with a 33.7 average, exploded for 46 points Tuesday night as the Virginia Squires edged the Pittsburgh Condors 134-129.

Pittsburgh's two big gunners, John Brisker No. 5 in the ABA and George Thompson (No. 7), erupted for 34 and 38 points, respectively, while Virginia's rookie sensation, Julius Erving (No. 9), poured in 31.

In other ABA games, Indiana topped Memphis 114-88, Utah defeated the Floridians 127-114 and Denver dumped Dallas 106-91.

The Squires held a four-point lead at the end of the first quarter and the Condors never could quite catch up. The victory, the Squires' third straight, moved Virginia within two games of first place Kentucky in the ABA's East Division.

Indiana outscored Memphis 33-19 in the second period and coasted to an easy victory, the Pacers' fourth in a row. Fred Lewis was high man with 24 points, while rookie Darnell Hillman came off the bench and scored a pro career-high 23.

Rookies Johnny Neumjann and Tom Owens led Memphis with 15 and 14 points, respectively.

Utah remained three games ahead of Indiana in the ABA West by topping the Floridians for their seventh consecutive victory. Utah's Zemo Beatty and the Floridians' Mack Calvin tied for game honors with 28 points apiece.

Rookie Dave Robisch from Kansas scored a career high 21 points and grabbed 14 rebounds to pace Denver. Teammate Ralph Simpson also scored 21 while Simmie Hill paced Dallas with 19.

NEW YORK (AP) — Shortstop Bobby Grich, who led the International League in batting with a .332 average for Rochester, today was named Topps Minor League Player of the Year.

Pistol Pete Maravich Denies Quitting Rumors

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pete Maravich apparently isn't the only one ailing on the Atlanta Hawks. The entire team is suffering.

The Hawks' National Basketball Association record slipped to 5-17, the worst in the Central Division, when they dropped an 86-85 decision to the Chicago Bulls Tuesday night. The setback was Atlanta's sixth in a row, their longest losing streak since entering the league 25 years ago.

Maravich, sidelined with mononucleosis early in the season, has been slow rounding into form. He played 34 minutes against the Bulls, but scored only eight points. Earlier Tuesday, he had been reported out for the season by the Atlanta Journal.

Chicago's Tom Boerwinkle snapped an 83-83 deadlock with two free throws with 2:29 remaining and Jerry Sloan's foul shot with 1:27 left was the decisive point as the Bulls posted their eighth victory in nine games.

Bob Love led the Bulls with 22 points, while Atlanta's Lou Hudson topped all scorers with 30 points.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Golden State defeated Milwaukee 106-103, Seattle edged New York 110-109, Cincinnati trimmed Baltimore 118-103, Houston downed Buffalo 115-101, and Phoenix outlasted Portland 121-111 in overtime.

Golden State, playing without injured center Nate Thurmond, ended Milwaukee's 24-game home court winning streak, with the help of a balanced attack including Joe Ellis' 25 points, Jeff Mullins' 24, Cazzie Russell's 22 and Clyde Lee's 20. It was only the fourth loss in 25 games this season for the Bulls, who lead the Midwest Division by four games over Chicago.

Kareem Jabbar, the league's leading scorer, paced Milwaukee with 30 points.

Spencer Haywood's field goal with 40 seconds left broke a 107-107 tie and Lenny Wilkens' free throw 25 seconds later sealed Seattle's victory over New York, stopping the Knicks' seven-game winning string. Wilkens finished with 29 points and Haywood had 27 for the SuperSonics, who had trailed 76-50 early in the third period. The Knicks' Dave DeBusschere matched Wilkens' 29 points.

Nate Williams' 29 points and Nate Archibald's 28 helped Cincinnati beat Baltimore and moved the Royals to within one-half game of the first-place Bullets in the Central Division.

Guards Stu Lantz and Calvin Murphy paced Houston's balanced scoring attack against Buffalo with 18 points piece. The Braves' Walt Hazzard was high scorer in the game with 26 points.

Rookie Dennis Layton's seven straight points in overtime lifted Phoenix past Portland. Connie Hawkins and Dick Van Arsdale of Phoenix and rookie Sidney Wicks of Portland each scored 23 points.

Friday night against The Citadel, North Carolina plays its opener Thursday night against Rice and No. 8 Long Beach State also opens on Thursday, against Corpus Christi.

Southern Cal lost only two games last season, but both defeats came at the hands of UCLA in Pacific 38 battles. With a number of veterans back from last year's squad, the Trojans hope to eliminate that last obstacle this time around.

Marquette will be going without its sparkplug, Dean Meminger, who is now with the New York Knicks of the NBA. But Jim Chones, the 6-11 pivotman who looked so impressive last year as a sophomore, is back to serve as the hub of the team on both offense and defense.

Big Ten champion Ohio State features 7-foot center Luke Witte, but will likely be without 6-foot-2 guard Allen Hornyak, who averaged 22.5 points per game last season.

The 16-year veteran beat out a host of runners, including Clint Jones of Minnesota and Vic Washington and Ken Willard of San Francisco.

The man who gave Unites the ball, center Bill Curry, said it's "exciting to play with John 'cause you never know what he's going to call."

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Wimbledon tennis champion Evonne Goolagong still is in bed and has cancelled a planned tour of New Zealand. She contracted an acute respiratory virus and bronchitis before leaving England last week and was ill when she arrived in Sydney Wednesday.

Although UCLA ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press' preseason poll, and second-ranked North Carolina both have the night off, seven of the Top Ten will be in action.

Besides the game between third ranked USC and Arizona State, No. 4 Marquette hosts St. John's, Minn., No. 5 Ohio State visits Georgia Tech, No. 6 Maryland entertains Brown, No. 7 Houston travels to Stanford, No. 9 Louisville journeys to Florida and No. 10 Kentucky plays host to Northwestern.

Egers No Longer Blue

The Associated Press

Jack Egers no longer is blue, even though he now is a member of the St. Louis Blues.

Egers had to be a disconsolate young man early in the National Hockey League season, when he was being used sparingly by the New York Rangers. Then, on Nov. 15, the Rangers sent him to the Blues in a seven-player trade—and Egers' blues disappeared.

With St. Louis, he has been playing regularly—and scoring often.

The hard-shooting left wing rifled in a 50-foot slap shot Tuesday night for his seventh goal in eight games as the Blues beat the California Golden Seals 5-2, extending their home ice unbeaten string to five games.

In the only other NHL game, Vancouver downed Chicago 4-2.

Jim Roberts, Christian Boredeau, Brian Lavender and Garry Unger scored St. Louis' other goals.

NFL Players Protest Assessment Of Fines

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The National Football League Players Association (NFLPA) has filed a protest over fines assessed against players from the Minnesota Vikings and San Diego Chargers.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle assessed the fines after an on-field ruckus at San Diego, Calif., in mid-August.

Ed Garvey, NFLPA executive director, wrote to Rozelle objecting that the fines constituted a change in working conditions, according to Jim Kensil, executive director of the NFL.

"Pete wrote back to Garvey and asked him to submit a brief on his position," Kensil said.

Alan Page, Vikings player

representative, explained the NFLPA position this way.

"The collective bargaining agreement says that any change has to be negotiated with the Players Association. Last year sometime, the owners or the league office decided that any time a player left the bench area and went onto the field to fight, he would be fined $200. There was no negotiation on that point. We were informed after the fact."

Page said 16 Vikings were fined, three or four more than the $200. He did not know how many Chargers were fined.

The NFLPA also has complained about fines assessed against players from San Francisco and Atlanta for fighting in the teams' regular season opener.

He only threw the ball 16 times, completing 10 of the passes for 119 yards, and didn't connect for a touchdown in his three quarters of work—but statistics don't even begin to tell the story of Sunday's 37-14 demolition by the Colts.

Losing Coach John Madden expressed it best. "They are the world champions," he said, "and they certainly played like it."

UCLA Of The East May Be Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Coach Charles "Lefty" Driesell, who has vowed to turn Maryland into the "UCLA of the East" said Tuesday heralded sophomore Tom McMillen and junior Jim O'Brien will definitely start the season opener for his Terrapins, ranked No. 6 in the nation in The Associated Press' preseason college basketball poll.

Driesell, starting his third season at Maryland, said 6-foot-7 O'Brien, one of seven returning lettermen, will serve as team captain in the opener here Wednesday night, with Brown.

The game is one of seven involving ranked teams in the preseason poll on the opening night of the 1971-72 college basketball campaign.

In the others, No. 3 Southern California faces Arizona State, No. 4 Marquette takes on St. John's, Minn., No. 5 Ohio State meets Georgia Tech, No. 7 Houston plays Stanford, No. 9 Louisville takes on Florida and No. 10 Kentucky plays Northwestern.

Top-ranked UCLA opens Friday night against The Citadel while No. 2 North Carolina and No. 8 Long Beach State begin Thursday with the Tar-Heels meeting Rice and State facing Corpus Christi.

"We just can't possibly be as good as people are saying," Driesell said of his sophomore dominated lineup. "I'm concerned about our lack of experience, although I know we have good, confident athletes."

Driesell sports a 27-25 mark in his two years at Maryland, including 14-12 last season.

McMillen was a much sought player after a brilliant high school career.

Rounding out Maryland's expected starting lineup are 7-foot Mark Cartwright, 6-3 guard Jap Trimble, 6-0 pointman Rich Porac, all sophomores, and 6-1 junior pointman Howard White, to whom Driesell is expected to lean for experience.

Four other lettermen are on the squad, but include only one senior, Charlie Blank. The juniors are Bob Bodell, Jack Neal and Darrell Brown.

So talented are the Terps that Sparky Still, a two-year starter for Driesell when he moved to Maryland after lifting Davidson to national basketball prominence, and Jay Flowers quit the team rather than ride the bench this season.

Experience Has Its Advantages

NEW YORK (AP) — It was like watching the precision of a watchmaker, the coolness of a surgeon, the flash of a swordsman, the supreme confidence of a general.

In short, it was an old pro at work.

It was Johnny Unitas of Baltimore, stepping up to the line, surveying the scene, then methodically destroying the Oakland Raiders.

He only threw the ball 16 times, completing 10 of the passes for 119 yards, and didn't connect for a touchdown in his three quarters of work—but statistics don't even begin to tell the story of Sunday's 37-14 demolition by the Colts.

Losing Coach John Madden expressed it best. "They are the world champions," he said, "and they certainly played like it."

And for his subtle, yet devastating play-calling, Unitas was selected today as The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

The 16-year veteran beat out a host of runners, including Clint Jones of Minnesota and Vic Washington and Ken Willard of San Francisco.

The man who gave Unites the ball, center Bill Curry, said it's "exciting to play with John 'cause you never know what he's going to call."

Gotcha!

Taking hold of a free football is a dangerous undertaking but, as the cliché would have it, it is part of the game. Norm Bulach of the Colts tries to grab a pass, above, using his best gathering-in technique. He missed but Terry Bradshaw (12), right, managed to retrieve the ball he fumbled.

May Likes Basketball For Off Season Shape

CINCINNATI (AP) — Slugging first baseman Lee May, traded from Cincinnati to Houston Monday, credits off-season basketball for getting him in condition for spring training for baseball in 1971.

May, who claims that playing two weeks of baseball gets him in better shape than working out at a gym every night for several weeks, said he reported to spring training last year "in the best condition ever."

Playing off-season basketball is a hot subject here and May said Tuesday that he feels his participation in the sport had "some effect" on his being sent to the Astros in an eight-player deal.

May, who slammed 39 homers last year and had been one of the Reds' top longball hitters in recent seasons, said he wouldn't consider his playing off-season basketball a major reason for the trade, but "just a factor."

In a copyrighted story in today's editions of the Cincinnati Enquirer, sports writer Bob Hertz quoted May as saying, "I believe that playing basketball was one of the big reasons I was traded. I'm not happy about being traded, but I wouldn't do things differently. I've got principles, and I believe I need to play basketball."

In another interview, May said, "If there was any doubt between me and somebody else being traded, I do think playing basketball was a factor. There are a lot of things involved I probably don't know about. I heard (General Manager Robert) Howsam say numerous times the loss of Tolman was the reason why we didn't finish higher than we did."

Centerfielder Bobby Tolman, who led the major league in stolen bases in 1970, and also batted over .300, missed the entire 1971 season after suffering a leg injury in an off-season basketball game.

Before that, Howsam had requested the Reds players not to take part in such games.

Howsam has said that the trade sending May, second baseman Tommie Helms and utility man Jimmy Stewart to Houston was made to gain more speed and lefthanded players for the Reds who slumped to fourth place in 1971 in National League Western Division following their pennant-winning year in 1970.

The Reds acquired second baseman Joe Morgan, third baseman Denis Menke, pitcher Jack Billingham, outfielder Cesar Geronimo and minor league outfielder Ed Armbrister from Houston.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Carthage College of Kenosha, Wis., 9-0, and California Lutheran of Thousand Oaks, Calif., 6-0-2, have been named as the final two teams to participate in the NAIA Division II championship football semifinals.

Westminster, Pa., will play Carthage at Kenosha while Montana Tech will travel to California Lutheran.

Four National Leaguers drove in more than 100 runs in 1971. They were Joe Torre (137), Willie Stargell (125), Hank Aaron (118) and Bobby Bonds (102).

Disney Classic Draws Top Names

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla.

(AP) — Lee Trevino isn't entirely optimistic about his chances of retaining the No. 1 money-winning spot in the $150,000 Walt Disney World Open Golf Tournament.

"You think (Jack) Nicklaus won't kill this course?" he asked Tuesday after an interrupted practice round over the 6,924-yard, par-72 Magnolia layout just off the grounds of the new, multimillion dollar Walt Disney World built along the lines of Disneyland.

"Jack'll just murder it," Trevino predicted.

Trevino holds the lead in the chase for the prestigious money title with a record $229,552 this season.

The threatening Nicklaus closed up some in the Heritage Classic last week and now has $213,678. Arnold Palmer still has an outside chance with $200,706—the first time in his career the 42-year-old giant has gone past the $200,000 mark in a single year.

All three are entered in this new event that offers a $30,000 prize for first place. Only one more tournament—the Bahama Islands Open next week—remains on the schedule this year and none of the three contenders are 100 per cent certain of competing there.

Trevino, winner of six events including the U.S. British and Canadian Open titles this year, had to call off a practice round after nine holes after encountering some elbow trouble he first thought was tendonitis.

He consulted a physician who diagnosed it as a pinched nerve in the right elbow.

"I think I can work it out," Trevino said when he returned to the course to hit some practice balls.

Trevino, Nicklaus and Palmer headed a spectacular field of 144 that included nine of the 12 men who have won $100,000 this season, Masters champion Charles Coody and such other standouts as Julius Boros and Sam Snead.

Dalton Cleaning Baltimore's House

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — General Manager Harry Dalton, who constructed a powerhouse in Baltimore, now is cleaning house in California.

The former Orioles' front-office boss, famed for landing big talent and building championship teams, took only five weeks in his new position with the Angels before making a deal.

Dalton obtained veteran shortstop Leo Cardenas from the Minnesota Twins Tuesday for left-handed pitcher Dave LaRoche and promptly announced that he might not be through shopping.

With the acquisition of Cardenas, that makes Jim Fregosi available to be traded," said Dalton, who says he would deal the former American League All-Star shortstop for "anyone who can help us."

The Cardenas-LaRoche deal was the lone shot fired by baseball after an explosive opening-day session Monday that involved 13 players in three lightning trades.

"I know Cardenas is a good player," said Minnesota Manager Bill Rigney, "but I felt we really had to do something about our relief pitching. We need someone to get the other side out in the ninth inning."

LaRoche has won a total of nine games in two major league seasons, including a 5-1 mark last year that featured nine saves and a 2.50 earned run average.

The 33-year-old Cardenas has long been one of baseball's premier shortstops who hits with authority. The 12-year veteran, who spent his first nine seasons with the Cincinnati Reds, drilled 18 home runs last season while batting .264, two points over his lifetime average.

Frankly, we felt it would

Such proposals will be submitted by each bidder in an amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the total bid as a guarantee that if awarded the contract the bidder will promptly enter into a contract with the County and execute such bonds as are required. Tenn Faces Hogs

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The University of Tennessee is one up on the University of Arkansas as the two teams head toward their Liberty Bowl football clash Dec. 20.

Bowl officials Tuesday settled a feud that had been brewing between the schools by naming Tennessee the home team in the contest.

This means that Tennessee will get to wear its pale orange jerseys in the game, while Arkansas will have to wear white.

The Razorbacks had wanted to be the home team so they could wear their deep red home uniforms in the game. They based the claim on having accepted the bowl bid Nov. 18, two days before Tennessee accepted.

"Why, if we had made Arkansas the home team, the Tennessee folks would have run us out of town on a rail," commented A.F. "Bud" Dudley, executive director of the bowl.

Tennessee had staked its claim to being home team on the fact that the bowl is played in the State of Tennessee.

Memphis is actually located, just about halfway between the two schools—Tennessee is 400 miles east, in Knoxville, while Arkansas is about 400 miles west, in Fayetteville.

At first, bowl officials had tried to get out of deciding which should be the home team by leaving it up to television officials, since the game will be broadcast nationally.

The TV executives were having none of that, however.

"We prefer the teams to wear contrasting colors, but we are not making any demands. We don't want to get into that," said Beano Cook of ABC-TV.

Then Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles suggested that a coin be tossed, but bowl executives decided to make the decision.

"We don't want to argue with Arkansas. After all, these two schools haven't met in 64 years. But we are going on the assumption that Tennessee is the host school on the basis that the game is being played in Tennessee, it is our state university and we don't want the governor down on our necks," Dudley said.

Guaranteed Brake Reline 2970

Drum-type Brakes
Ford, Chevy, Plymouth, and American Compacts. Other models higher.

We do a lot more than reline brakes...here's what we do:

- We replace your worn linings with new bonded brake linings on all four wheels.
- Brake shoe return springs are checked for proper tension.
- Next, we inspect the brake fluid lines for leaks or weak points.
- The final step is to add heavy duty brake fluid and road test your car.
- Inspect your brake drums for contact with the linings.
- Because wheel bearings can be badly damaged if the original grease has dried and craked, we clean and repack the outer bearings on both front wheels.
- As you can see...your money goes a long way at Firestone. It buys you prompt and dependable brake service by expert brake mechanics. Why not give us a try?

Guaranteed 20,000 Miles or 2 Years

All prices plus taxes and tire off your car.

We guarantee our brake lining used in normal passenger car service, for the specified number of miles or years from date of installation, whichever comes first. Guarantee will be honored by Firestone Dealer or Store performing the original work and adjustments prorated on mileage and based on prices current at time of adjustment.

Once upon a time, up in Maine, the Indians befriended a visiting white man and learned a lasting lesson. Never again.

THEIR TINY ISLAND north of Bangor is more than a tribal headquarters; it is the sovereign "Penobscot Indian Nation," say the 350 inhabitants.

Prefer To Go It Alone

BY TOM TIEDE
INDIAN ISLAND, Me. (NEA) - Three centuries ago, when the Penobscot Indians were still to be reckoned with here, they were befriended by a white settler named Joe Marsh. Marsh seemed a nice fellow, did some favors for the tribes, and so when he asked one day if he could lease a small piece of land for a homestead, the Indians said fine and welcomed him graciously as a neighbor.

It was a lasting lesson for the redmen.

Marsh took the lease agreement to territory officers for ratification. When he returned he had a permanent deed instead of a temporary lease, and his small homestead was a gigantic chunk of the Indian's most valuable property.

Not surprisingly, the Penobscots haven't trusted the white man since. Nor wanted anything more to do with him than absolutely necessary. Thus it is that some of the tribe have never considered themselves a part of the United States - and to this day feel they're people of the sovereign "Penobscot Indian Nation."

"Look at the record," says one tribal council member. "We have no treaties with the United States. The United States has never formally recognized us. So you see we're not U.S. citizens. We don't owe any allegiance to anybody but ourselves."

The comment, like the tribal opinion, is not just rhetoric. There are several tribes in the United States which ignore U.S. citizenship. But the Penobscots have more than just passion working in their favor. There has, indeed, never been a treaty between the tribe and the federal government. The only treaties the Penobscots ever signed were with the state of Maine, and those, according to many observers, are unconstitutional. Therefore, say some Penobscots: "We should be able to make our own laws and run our own nation the way we want."

In essence, the Penobscots are already running things more or less the way they want. The tribal headquarters, as well as about 350 of the people, are sequestered on this tiny island, north of Bangor, in the Penobscot River. It's hardly a throwback to the wild west here ("I could never be happy without my television set"), but Indian Island is something of an island unto itself. Tribal officials make most of the laws, and a tribal constable enforces them. Whites usually intervene here only as tourists. And the only physical connection with the mainland is by way of an ugly gray, 20-year-old, one-way bridge.

Yet mere isolation is not enough for the nationalistic members of the Penobscot Nation. They want total recognition as a country within a country. "I'd like to see the time," says one Penobscot, "when we taught our own language in our schools, when you couldn't find a red, white and blue flag on the island, and when our history books didn't say that George Washington was our first president."

Predictably, this go-it-alone spirit is not total among

Eugenia Thompson
An ultimatum from Sipsis.

today's 800 surviving Penobscots. (Some older people say the talk of nationhood comes from kids "who play at being important.") But the sentiment is strong enough that the tribal council has seriously considered petitioning the United Nations for membership, and one council official (a decorated Korean veteran) has gone on record against drafting Penobscots for war because "We aren't governed by federal laws."

Moreover, those Penobscots who do believe in sovereignty, do so vigorously. Like Eugenia Thompson (her Indian name is Sipsis), wife of a lawyer, mother of four children, and the most outspoken antifederalist in the tribe. Not only does she want Penobscot nationhood, she wants a strong one. This means, she says, "We have to go out and get back all the lands which belong to us."

Such lands are considerable. According to treaties with Maine, the Penobscots (in the early 1820s) were granted full right to all lands six miles on either side and 30 miles up the Penobscot River "so long as they shall remain a nation." Today this land is of insurmountable beauty. It comprises a couple dozen towns, the University of Maine, and, according to one state official, "some of the most potentially valuable property anywhere in the United States."

Last year Mrs. Thompson made a dramatic attempt to regain some of this land. She presented a parchment ultimatum to the officials of Old Town, Me. She claimed Old Town "was stolen from the Indians by Joe Marsh." Her ultimatum was an eviction notice. She advised the merchants of Old Town to pack up and get out.

Not surprisingly, that attempt to regain lost lands failed. And so in the end, perhaps, will the Penobscot's bid for nationhood. It's a noble idea, maybe even a justifiable one, but the odds against it are too great. Joe Marsh lives, says tribe official John Sapiel. "The white man is still the same, just a little sneakier. I'm for nationhood, sure, but I don't know. When you get right down to it, we're going to have trouble enough just keeping what we have."

Du Pont Accused Of Creating 'Company State In Delaware'

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - A study group associated with Ralph Nader has accused the Du Pont family and their chemical firm of creating "a company state" in Delaware which exploits the land, the people and the natural resources.

The president of Du Pont Co. said the report was inaccurate and distorted.

The 800-page Nader report said the Du Pont family's influence in Delaware is so widespread that:

"Professionals working for a nonprofit Catholic organization heavily financed by the Du Ponts were fired after a fundraising expert decided they had endangered Du Pont support. The dismissed workers had protested the presence of National Guard patrols in Wilmington for nine months after Martin Luther King's assassination."

"One man was passed over for an annual bonus and subsequently resigned, and 'about five' other Du Pont employees were threatened with dismissal when they organized opposition to a pipeline being installed through their southeastern Pennsylvania neighborhood."

The pipeline firm and the petroleum companies which would use the line were Du Pont customers.

When the editor of the Wilmington newspapers, which are owned by the family-controlled holding company, resisted Du Pont control, he found a newly appointed executive editor installed as his boss. The new man came from the Du Pont public relations department. The editor resigned in protest.

When the estate of one member of the Du Pont family wanted to claim a previously disallowed tax deduction for personal property seized in Cuba, officials asked former U.S. Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware to introduce enabling legislation. The legislation was passed.

Williams denied in a telephone interview that his 1964 proposal was special interest legislation. The president of the Wilmington Morning News and Evening Journal issued a statement denying that the Du Pont firm or the family controls the newspapers, the two largest in the state.

The Du Pont statement calling the report inaccurate did not mention the incidents specifically.

'Melhacrylate' Cement Opens Up New Chapter

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)

The government's recent release of a new surgical cement has opened up "a completely new milestone chapter" in reconstructive bone surgery in the United States—beginning with improved total artificial hip replacements that could benefit at least one million Americans.

The "Melhacrylate" cement also may lead to artificial shoulder and knee replacements.

This was reported Monday to the American Medical Association by Dr. Roderick Turner of Massachusetts General Hospital who expanded on the report at a news conference.

He said the newly approved plastic cement now makes it possible for U.S. orthopedic surgeons to perform a kind of "cement hip-socket" operation originally pioneered and widely used in Britain with startling success but hitherto limited to experimental use on patients in the United States.

He said Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine—by being one of the recent beneficiaries among 10,000

Americans who have undergone the hip-replacement operation—"may have stimulated the Food and Drug Administration to release the cement for general use" after three years of investigation.

The operation is designed to aid persons afflicted with diseased hips resulting from osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis, congenital dislocation of the hip and certain other conditions.

The operation involves inserting the cement—while still in doughy form—into the hollowed-out hip socket and molding it to form a cup before it hardens. The cup forms a receptacle for a ball-topped metal device inserted in the thigh bone and completing the ball-and-socket hip-joint.

FORT WORTH (AP) - Blake Electric Co. of Fort Worth will build a new $90,301 facility at Dallas Love Field, the Federal Aviation Administration has announced.

The facility will be a doppler very high frequency omnidirectional radio range with distance measuring equipment that will enable pilots to navigate precisely on departure and arrival.

Divorce, Italian Style, Legal

BY DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD - (NEA) - Since divorzio, things are getting tough for the garconiere.

That's the word from Italy's premiere divorcee, Luciana Paluzzi. Luciana received Divorce No. 1 when Italy's new laws, legalizing divorces, went into effect. She had actually been divorced for eight years from Brett Halsey, but that was in the United States and Italy never recognized it.

She says she would have been jailed had she remarried and tried to go home to Rome. The Italians would have called her a bigamist. So she remained unwed.

She was thus ready when Italy passed a divorce law. She was the first and got her divorce with no problem. She says the expected mob scene at the divorce court has failed to materialize.

"The funny thing is," says Luciana, "that what's happened is that the new divorce law hasn't broken up marriages as much as it's broken up extramarital domiciles."

In Italy, they call these relationships "garconiere"—a man keeping a girl on the side.

"The men with the garconiere," Luciana says, "used to tell their girls that they couldn't marry them because there was no way to divorce their wives. But now they don't have that excuse any more, so the girls are walking out. The men have to go home to their wives. Divorzio is making the men faithful again."

As for Luciana herself, now that she is free she intends to stay that way. She says she has no intention of remarrying.

"I won't remarry," she says, "unless I find I am going to have a baby. I would live with a man, but I won't marry him until or unless I find I am pregnant."

"I think marriage is out-dated and serves no useful purpose. As a matter of fact, I think that a relationship between a man and a woman that are not married has a better chance than if they are married—a man will do more to keep a woman happy if he isn't sure of her."

Luciana Paluzzi, still one of the world's great beauties, was back in Hollywood to promote her new movie, "Cometover." She thinks it's a good one, a film that lives up to its intent, which was purely to entertain.

While she was here, she was looking around for work. She lived in Hollywood for two years—that was when she starred in the TV series, Five Fingers—and she likes it here. Her English is near-perfect and she uses words like "flabbergasted" correctly.

Yet, in "Cometover," she plays an American girl and they dubbed her voice.

"I even dream in English," she says. "That makes me feel as though I belong here."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah has been hospitalized at Bethesda Naval Hospital after suffering a spell of weakness during a speech before the White House Conference on Aging.

An aide said Monday, however, that there is no cause for serious concern about the 73-year-old Republican. He said doctors concluded there is no reason to believe a heart problem is involved.

He added that a severe cold and a recurrence of an ulcer might be to blame.

Bennett refused ambulance transportation to the hospital after the attack of weakness at the luncheon speech Monday, but was admitted later after a preliminary examination by the Capitol physician.

NEW YORK (AP) — "Home," with Sir John Gielgud and Sir Ralph Richardson, was Monday night's NET Playhouse production on public broadcasting stations and it was like a front row seat in a West End theatre.

David Storey's play—a study of loneliness and emptiness—was transferred from stage to television with great success and sensitivity. This was partly because it was a five-character production confined to a single setting, all suited to television's needs for intimacy.

The four principles of the original played their roles again. Gielgud and Richardson were two very formal, restrained British gentlemen meeting on a stone terrace. At first they engage in desultory conversation. Then each recalls his youth, speaks of his background, confesses his ambitions, while the other is completely withdrawn in his own thoughts and politely responds with such remarks as "I say" or "By Jove."

By the time two raucous noisy women arrive, it has become obvious that all are patients in a large mental hospital. The women's wrangling conversation, a combination of vulgarity and maliciousness, is as revealing as the men's.

The fifth character is a muscular man who has had, as one woman says, "a bit of his brain nipped out" and who wanders around in a hostile fog, probably no more alone than the others.

The 90 minutes was notable for the exquisite performances of the four. Storey's dialogue was perceptive and subtle, repeatedly suggesting the inability of each to communicate with the other and of the barren lives each led before arriving at the hospital.

Not every viewer's dish of tea, it was a great treat for the drama-starved.

A few more special drama treats will be coming along in the pre-Christmas season. One, it is hoped, will be tonight's "Movie of the Week" on ABC. It is "Brian's Song," a 90-minute feature based on reality—the life and death at 26 from cancer of Brian Piccolo of the Chicago Bears.

More than that, it is the story of his friendship with fellow running back Gale Sayers.

"Of course, it is a football story," said James Caan, who plays Piccolo.

Big Industries Facing Cut Of Fuel Supplies

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associate Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief White House overseer of the nation's fuel supplies says some major industrial plants could be forced to close down this winter because of severe natural gas shortages.

Fred Weinhold, energy specialist for the White House Office of Science and Technology, said in an interview that the heating requirements of homes and such institutions as hospitals will be met.

But, Weinhold said, some major industrial customers who buy gas on an "interruptible" or "when-available" basis, are going to face major curtailment.

"In a cold winter, it could go beyond that and affect some firm industrial customers" who have contracts guaranteeing delivery, he said.

The energy specialist, who receives and reviews reports from other agencies and who sits on a joint board on fuel supplies, said the nation appears to have sufficient stocks of coal and industrial and home fuel oil as winter arrives.

It's with natural gas, he said, that "we're in the tightest spot."

His assessment follows a Federal Power Commission report Saturday that the country as a whole appears to have sufficient electrical power reserves to meet winter demands.

However, the FPC report added, some areas face possible shortages—mainly due to recent coal strike which left supplies at 60 electric power plants "critically low."

But Weinhold said the current levels are the same as they were a year ago, when there was no strike.

Residual fuel oil used extensively by major northeastern industries and power plants should be available this winter in ample supply, Weinhold said.

Temporary import quotas for home heating oil have been made permanent at the 45,000-barrel-a-day level, he said, and this should be enough to meet the needs of the Eastern Seaboard.

But with natural gas, Weinhold said, "reserves and production just haven't been increasing anywhere nearly as fast as demand." In some Southwestern cities, gas transmission companies have told electrical plants which now use only natural gas that they should seek alternative sources of fuel because of the growing demand-production crunch, he said. In addition, some gas suppliers in the East and Midwest are turning away new customers.

With "interruptible" contracts, an industrial plant gets a lower rate with the understanding that it will be the first to be cut off if a shortage develops.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Language Counterfeiters

We have commented briefly on the way and extent to which the distortion of words and corruption of the language are making communication between individuals increasingly difficult. We would like to extend those remarks.

As Voltaire so pungently put it, "If you would converse with me, define your terms."

Plainly, if agreement cannot be had on definitions of basic terms, intellectual discussion degenerates into a exercise in futility. With the two or three, or four sides of a debate talking about entirely different things, it would be surprising, indeed, if anything but confusion, ill-will, and even enmity ensued; much less, agreement. Thus society is being torn asunder.

Much of the distortion and consequent confusion is caused unknowingly, of course, through the sloppy and careless use of words. And this is bad enough. Still, one can begin to understand, if not condone, it.

However, when one begins to encounter evidence that the language is being deliberately corrupted, by government officials and professors in institutes of learning, via the introduction of Hegelian dialectic and Marxian double-talk, with intent to confuse, deceive, defraud, and enslave, it is inexcusable.

People communicate through the use of words. And, when the meaning of those words is deliberately twisted, turned around, and even presented as precisely the opposite of their original meaning, communication breaks down.

We have cited the examples of how warfare is frequently presented as "peace," slavery as "freedom," and the way "ecology" and "censorship" are in the process of being corrupted.

Other examples, and crucially important ones, come in mind.

For instance, the disgraceful manner in which the word "voluntary" was and is being bandied about in connection with the Nixon "New Economic Plan," both with respect to "Phase I" of the evolving matrix of "Voluntary" means just what the word says. The absence of force or threat. But the way the word is being used by the Nixon planners and regulators, it is twisted to mean that people are to "voluntarily" comply with governmental edicts, or else; the else being fine or imprisonment, or both.

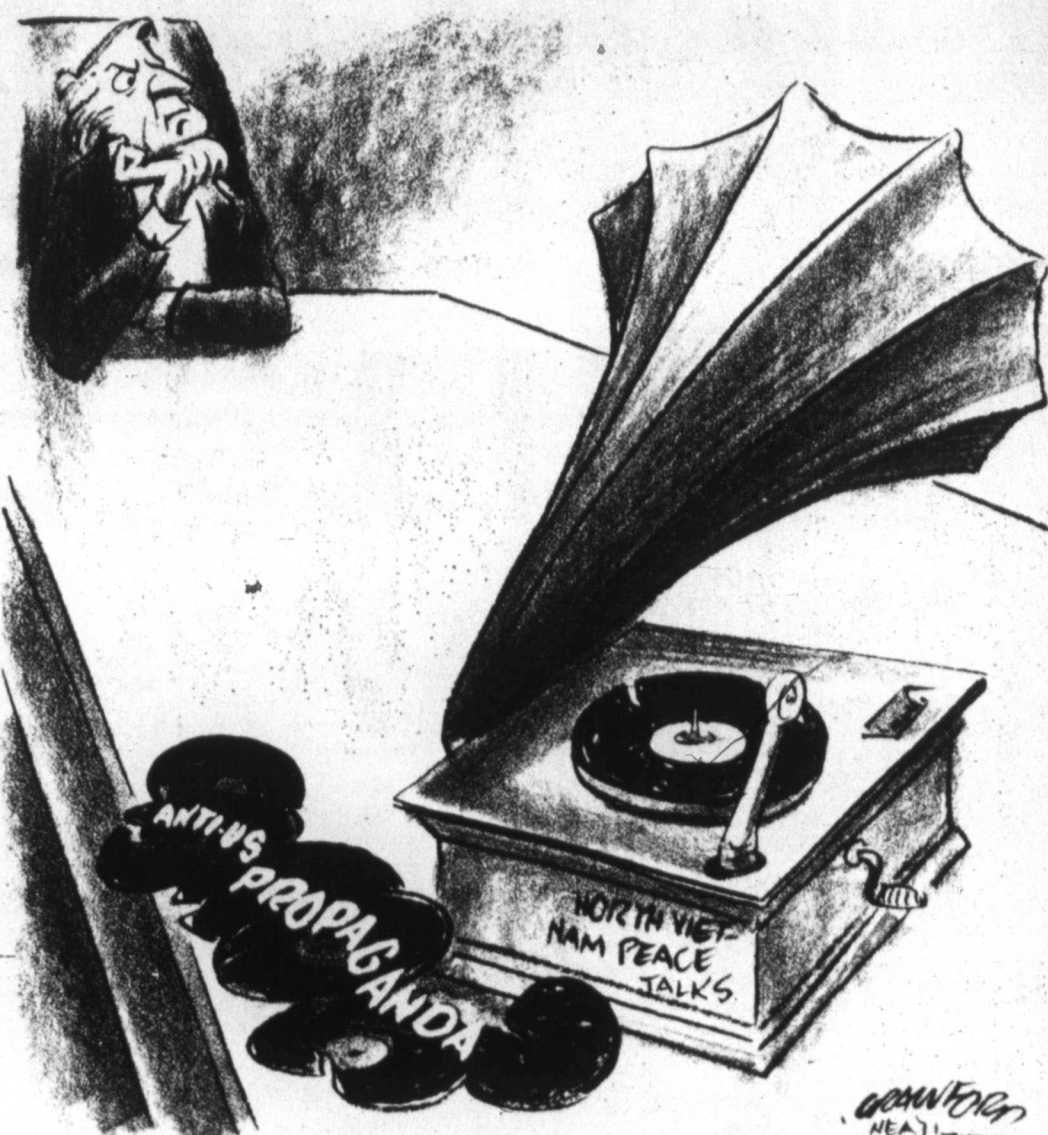

Plainly, to make use of the term "voluntary" under such conditions is to do violence to the English language. Another example, and perhaps an even more ominous one, is the way the concept of "eminent domain" has been changed in recent years, this time by the writers and compilers of reference works; specifically, dictionaries and encyclopedias.

Until fairly recently, "eminent domain" was described in such references as a "power" possessed by the government; the "power" to take private property. Regardless of how strongly one believed that no one, bureaucrat or otherwise, should possess such "power," one could not argue with the definition. It was accurate.

But, now, all that is changed, by whose "authority," we do not know. Now, upon picking up a dictionary or encyclopedia and turning to "eminent domain," one will almost invariably find that the government magically has not merely the "power," but the "right," to take private property under the concept of "eminent domain" and without a by-your-leave.

Thus, we are being deceived, lured and pushed, pell-mell, by our language counterfeiters into regimentation and slavery.

Paris Dialogue

STRAIGHT TALK

TOM ANDERSON

Why Not Freeze Unions?

We need a law to freeze unions and outlaw all strikes. Actually, everybody loses in a strike. All gain the workers may get is usually lost before it's made. Sometimes strikes mean that the consumer pays more for goods and the government collects less in taxes.

Strikes by public employees and strikes involving perishable crops are particularly inexcusable.

Before being unionized and Marxized, California was paying the highest wages in agriculture. If Marxist Chavez succeeds in "organizing" all of American agriculture as he did California, thousands of farmers will go broke and food prices will triple. The present California wage scales, taxes, labor fringe benefits, etc., are far, far above the U.S. average, and many times higher than the nations which export farm products to us.

For instance, the Chavez contract with the capitulating Inter Harvest Co. calls for a piece-work rate of about 40 cents per carton of lettuce before that, the going rate was 31 cents. The average week's pay for pickers at 31 cents is around $176. The average rate per hour is $4.10.

Exorbitant wages are only part of the picture. There are union hiring halls where workers get their work assignments. The worker may be forced to move about, a few days here and a few days there. The union, not the employer, is in full control. A worker may be shifted from one crop to another, one area to another, one crew to another, whether he likes it or not.

What happens to grower-provided family housing? It goes to pot.

What happens to the union contract if the farm owner sells his land? The contract goes with the land. The buyer must accept the union contract.

Part of management (foremen) are also placed under the union contract. Growers lose the right to determine which pesticides are used, and the spray schedule used. Who loses if the crop is lost because of failure to treat the crop properly? The grower, naturally!

Congress may pass a farm labor law this year. What kind of law? It's no longer just a problem of grapes and California. It's now a year problem. It's now a question whether American agriculture is put into a straitjacket by the unionists.

California, before the unionization, had the highest wages and most benefits of any state. Chavez first spent most of his time intimidating farm workers into joining the Chavez Organizing Committee. But the gutsy farm workers were not easily bluffed. Eight hundred of them ran a page ad in defiance of Chavez, and signed their names.

What caused the capitulation? The same thing which has given unions a stranglehold on most of America's large corporations. Big businessmen lack guts. And as you might expect, some banks got panicky about their collateral and wheeled some of their shaky borrowers into capitulating. The workers weren't consulted.

Jack Pickett, editor of The California Farmer, who does have guts, reported that "Trained crews in 42 important Eastern markets set up a phone bombardment of food brokers, so no other phone calls could come in. They told them over and over to handle nothing but grapes with the union label on them. Food was destroyed in chain stores, and produce managers were personally threatened with veiled threats by goon squads.

Governor Ronald Reagan showed both courage and statesmanship by offering to set up a system whereby the workers and the unions could hold free elections supervised by the State Conciliation Service. But Chavez backed away from that one in a hurry. He has given up all hope of selling his package to the farm worker. He makes faster progress by intimidating the grower, broker, banker, chain store, etc."

Mr. Pickett wrote: "There is legislation that could have saved us, but there wasn't enough political guts in Washington to buck the unions in an election year. Governor Ronald Reagan tried, on the state level, for a conciliation bill but was politically smothered. Senator George Murphy tried, on the national level, but Congress, trembling in fear of organized labor, caused the bill to be buried. The administration prepared a bill that might have had a chance, but they lacked the courage to try and put it through."

A news item a while back said: "Swedish women's organizations have started a nationwide protest movement against this country's internationally-known sexual freedom. More than 100,000 women have signed a petition protesting the decline of morality in Sweden."

How could it decline? Ninety-eight percent of marrying couples confess to intercourse before marriage. Approximately 38 percent of the brides are pregnant at their weddings. (Instead of the bride saying "I do," she says "I did.")

In socialist Sweden today, one in every seven children is born out of wedlock.

Your Health

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb - Would you tell me if scarlet fever is the same as a strep throat and if the rash that develops will scale and the scales can give it to another person? Today scarlet fever isn't so dangerous as it was 40 and 50 years ago.

Dear Reader - A "strep throat" means an infection of the throat with bacteria called streptococcus. There are several types of bacteria in this group. The toxin or poison formed by some types of these bacteria makes a person ill. One manifestation of the illness can be the rash of scarlet fever. Thus the only difference between some forms of strep infection and scarlet fever is the rash. The same streptococcus infection is just as contagious with or without the rash. Rheumatic fever followed by rheumatic heart disease and kidney disease can be a complication of "strep" infections.

You are right, scarlet fever isn't so dangerous now as it once was nor nearly so common. Forty years ago we didn't have sulfa drugs, penicillin or a host of other antibiotics that control or eliminate streptococcal infections.

All "strep" throats should be treated to prevent the likelihood of subsequent problems, including heart disease.

Dear Dr. Lamb - I am a 10th grader and I am interested in the human heart and its many functions. One thing puzzles me. Will the human heart burn if the body is burned, such as in cremation? I have tried to look it up in various heart books and encyclopedias but no answer to my question.

Dear Reader - That is a pretty grizzly question. Yes, it burns. The heart is made up mostly of muscle. It is a different kind of muscle than in your arm, but they have many things in common. The same is true of animal hearts.

The beef steak and roasts you eat are mostly muscle and beef heart is muscle. As you know, both can be cooked and eaten. Usually anything that can be cooked can be burned—any housewife will attest to that.

Dear Dr. Lamb - I would like to know if it would be possible to find a plastic surgeon who would be willing to perform a face lift without giving a blood transfusion afterwards, since there are blood substitutes less apt to cause infection.

Dear Reader - Of course. Talk it over with the surgeon in advance. Commonly, a plastic surgeon will use adrenalin injected into the skin area where the surgery will be performed for the purpose of controlling or preventing any appreciable bleeding. The best results are obtained if loss of blood can be prevented.

If the blood loss is minimized, there is no need for a blood transfusion.

See the Office Loafer doll? Wind it up and it does absolutely nothing.

Inside Washington

A Senator's Unhappy Lot:
HHH Demands More Fringe

By ROBERTS ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Four years as Vice President apparently spoiled Hubert Humphrey for the simple life of a U.S. Senator.

The Minnesotan wants Congress to do something about bettering his meager lot.

Pending such relief (if any), Humphrey is busily dashing around the country preparing the stage for his long-expected announcement that he will make another try for the White House. He solemnly insists there is no connection between that and his complaints about the rigors of Senatorial existence.

The latter is probably a bit stark compared to the Vice President's lush scale.

The Vice President gets $62,500 in salary plus $10,000 a year expenses, both taxable. He also has a limousine and chauffeur, planes as needed, at least three offices, and scores of assistants and clerical employees.

Humphrey, in bemoaning his hard road as a Senator, notes that as Vice President he had a staff of around 150.

However, Senators hardly fall in the deprived or depressed category. In Humphrey's case, as junior Senator from Minnesota, his total official "take" is at least $400,000 a year, and possibly more. That doesn't include a sizable unknown amount in outside income from lecture fees and other lucrative moonlighting activities.

Last month, this column revealed that other busy Senatorial moonlighters reported doing very well in 1970, as follows: Edmund Muskie, D-Me., $35,628; George McGovern, D-S.D., $24,035; Edward Brooke, R-Mass., $15,200; Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, $20,444; Robert Packwood, R-Ore., $18,575; Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., $16,219.

Cagily, Humphrey is not asking for a pay increase.

After all, $42,500 is not peanuts. Also, seeking a salary hike would be most impolitic with an election year in the immediate offing, and a Presidential control board passing on industrial and business raises.

Instead, he is urging more fringe benefits and perquisites, particularly office space and additional staff.

What They Get

As Senator from Minnesota, Humphrey enjoys numerous accommodations and perquisites ranging from free barbering and shoe shines to $225,000 for clerical hire, which he can allot as he deems fit.

Following is the list of Senatorial fringe benefits. Clerical hire amounting to $210,000 a year for states under 3 million population to $358,000 for states over 17 million; office suites in Washington of four to six rooms, handsomely furnished and equipped with latest-model machines and devices; $2,400 a year for office rental in incumbent's home state; $2,400 a year for expenses of that office; $3,000 a year for stationery.

unlimited unlimited franking privilege.

Also 12 round trips between Washington and home state; 8 round trips for top assistants; 15,000 minutes telephone allowance for states under 10 million population, 22,500 minutes for larger states; free medical service and low-rate hospital costs for incumbent and immediate family; free gymnasium, swimming pool and massages; moderate priced restaurants; free hair cuts, shaves and shoeshines.

But apparently it's a hard life. Humphrey isn't the only moaner. Other Senators are, too — foremost among them "rookies" John Tunney, D-Calif., and Lawton Chiles, D-Fla.

They too claim they need more office space and more clerical help. Tunney, who seemed to get along all right during several terms as a congressman, now contends he is being overwhelmed with a huge volume of Senatorial mail. Chiles has a similar grievance, arguing he is running weeks behind in handling his flood of mail.

It's a sad, sad tale — but none of these Senators is giving the slightest hint of quitting!

No House Complaints

The numerous "rookies" in the House seem content with the extras they are enjoying.

At least there have been no open complaints, as yet. And with good reason. House members are doing all right in fringe benefits and perquisites. Their lists, while somewhat different, is on a par with that of Senators. Following are major items:

$133,500 for clerical hire for districts up to 500,000 population, $140,500 for larger districts; 20 cents a mile transportation to and from their homes for each regular session; $3,000 stationery allowance per year; $700 for special delivery stamps; 40,000 public document envelopes a month, with unlimited franking privilege; 70,000 units of telephone and telegraph allowance per year.

Large suite of offices in Washington equipped with latest electrical and mechanical machines and devices, not to exceed $5,000 in value; home office in their district, daily quota of 65 copies of the Congressional Record distributed as member sees fit; radio and TV recording facility in Capitol; free medical care and low-cost hospitalization for members and immediate family; moderate priced restaurants.

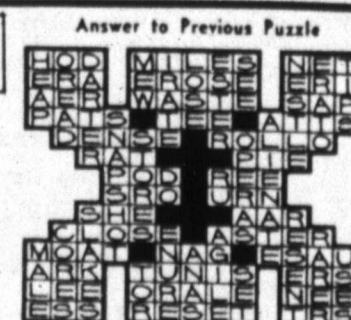

That recent flurry of Communist-instigated and led, anti-war demonstrations was a resounding flop.

Nowhere did large crowds turn out. From Washington to San Francisco, every demonstration was meagerly attended, and those who did show up, mainly scruffy and grubby youths, were apathetic.

In Washington, attendance was so sparse that Rennie Davis, David Dellinger and John Frownes, leaders of the Communist-controlled Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice (PCPJ), made hurried and unscheduled appearances at local colleges.
