MISSING ACE'S FAMILY

This is the family of Major George Davis, America's top jet ace who was shot down over Mig Alley, Korea. His wife, who lives in Lubbock, went into seclusion after receiving word of her husband's possible death, and later issued a statement asking for a full investigation of her husband's death. She called the Air Force statement that her husband wanted to stay in Korea when he was eligible for rotation home "an outright lie." With her in this picture made in November, 1951, are the Davis' children, Mary Margaret, 7, and George II, then 18 months old. Mrs. Davis is expecting a third child in May.

Range Condition Is Lowest In 17 Years

AUSTIN, Feb. 13 (AP)—Texas range feed is at the lowest condition level in 17 years, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today.

Condition as of Feb. 1 was rated at 61 per cent. Not since the 1934-35 period of severe drouth and dust storms has it dipped so low. The 10-year average is 78 per cent.

Over the eastern third of the state, moisture from scattered showers along with warm January weather was bringing along much needed small grain, clovers and winter grass. In the northwest, moisture from the early January sleet and snow temporarily revived wheat, but moisture was again needed to maintain development.

In all other areas, ranges were reported practically bare and heavy supplemental feeding has been necessary. Settling dust from the early February dust storm lowered palatability of the short dry grass which was still available.

General rains are urgently needed to bring on new green feed, USDA said.

Cattle were holding up primarily because of heavy supplemental feeding and the unusually warm January weather. Most farmers and rancmen reduced herds during the fall and are now reconciled to large feed bills to carry present herds. They are hoping for spring rains to start new feed.

Condition of all cattle was reported at 74 per cent, one point below a month ago and five points below the 10-year average.

Newark Airport To Stay Closed During Probes

NEW YORK (AP) — Government and airline officials have promised to keep disaster-haunted Newark Airport closed pending congressional "and other responsible official investigations."

Another direct result of the New York metropolitan area's third airliner crash in two months is an agreement by 25 airlines to create a special safety committee and to hold flights over congested areas to a minimum.

Government and airline officials met here for almost six hours Tuesday in the wake of Monday's smash-up of a National Airlines plane in Elizabeth, N. J.

Newsmen were barred from the closed meeting, but two persons who attended said there was strong sentiment for eventual reopening of the Newark field, which borders on Elizabeth. The two declined use of their names.

Flight operations at LaGuardio and Idlewild fields in the Queens borough of New York City and at Teterboro, N. J., also were discussed at the meeting. The Port of New York Authority, a two-state agency, operates these fields as well as Newark Airport.

Elizabeth's disaster Monday, killing 31 persons, was the third time a plane using Newark Airport crashed in the New Jersey city. A total of 117 passengers and residents have died in two months.

The Port Authority called Tuesday's meeting, which was attended by representatives of 25 domestic airlines, three transport associations, pilots, the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

A statement issued after the meeting said the conferees unanimously agreed on all safety policies, including the promise to keep Newark Airport closed until the inquiries are finished.

Union Figures Challenged In Wage Hearings

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—A steel company official today said CIO economists "overstated" industry profits by not making the same allowances for 1951 values that the union used in computing steelworkers' wages.

Frank Purnell, chairman of the board of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, made the statement as hearings resumed before a special six - man panel of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Goal of the panel is a formula to avert a threatened strike of 650,000 CIO United Steelworkers Feb. 24. The hearings have been in recess since Saturday.

In the contract dispute, the union is seeking an 18½ - cent - an - hour wage increase and improvements in "fringe benefits," such as holiday, vacation, overtime and night differential.

Purnell said in a prepared statement that Youngstown's "real net profits" in 1951 would be 3.9 per cent of "adjusted net worth" if the union applied a 1951 yardstick.

However, Purnell said, the CIO economists do not change the net profit and net worth figures and calculate Youngstown's 1951 profit at 10.7 per cent.

Red Upheld By Federal Judge

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Reliance on his constitutional rights at the right time has paid off for Steve Nelson, a Communist leader and key figure in investigations of Russian atomic spying.

"Even Satan would get a fair trial in the American courts," U. S. District Judge James R. Kirkland told Nelson in acquitting him late yesterday of contempt-of-Congress charges.

Nelson's defense in his two-day trial was that he was within his rights under the Fifth Constitutional Amendment in refusing to answer questions put to him by the House un-American activities committee on the ground he might incriminate himself.

Taft Favors Turning Chiang Loose On Reds

SEATTLE (AP) — A Communist assault on Southeast Asia is on the horizon, Sen. Taft told a Lincoln Day audience here Tuesday night.

"The only chance to stop it is by a Chinese Nationalist invasion of Communist-held territory."

American arms and training, the Ohioan told 5,000 persons in Seattle's Civic Auditorium, should be speeded to Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa and the "600,000 men in his Army, Navy and Air Force" to effect this invasion.

"Will they," he asked in reference to President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson, "prefer to go on sending American soldiers to the continent of Asia, when Chinese soldiers are begging to be sent to do the job."

The forces Chiang has now, Taft declared, offer the means "to protect the island chain which is our Pacific shield and to prevent Communist conquest of Southeast Asia."

He asked, however, if there could be hope for such "common sense in our national administration until Acheson is thrown out of the Department of State and Truman is thrown out of the White House?"

New Tax Probe In California Will Be Opened

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Irked spokesmen for the King congressional subcommittee insist the sudden ordering of a New York grand jury tax probe will not cut short their San Francisco inquiry.

Instead, the congressmen planned an open hearing Wednesday into new aspects of the San Francisco internal revenue scandal. Immigration Agent George Heckert and Treasury Agent Anthony Sherman were called for questioning.

The Justice Department ordered a special grand jury impaneled in Brooklyn next week to study tax matters. It thus got the jump on the King group—3,000 miles away—which had scheduled New York tax hearings in mid-March.

There was talk in Washington of a race between the congressmen and the Justice Department to start the New York probe.

"It has muddled us a bit, but won't cut us short here," said Chairman Cecil King (D-Calif) of the House Ways and Means tax subcommitee after his committee held a closed meeting on the New York situation.

A colleague, Rep. Carl Curtis (R-Neb) blamed the unexpected move on the Treasury Department, of which the Internal Revenue Bureau is a part.

"It was a deliberate attempt by the secretary of the Treasury and Mr. Lynch (Thomas J. Lynch, general counsel for the Treasury) to head off the King committee," he said.

The King committee immediately hauled its New York investigators' files to Washington, reportedly leaving some subpoenaed grand jury witnesses no notes for testifying.

Tribute Paid To Lubbock Air Ace By General In Air Force

TOKYO, Feb. 13 (AP)—Lt. Gen. O. P. Weyland, commanding general of the Far East Air Forces, paid tribute today to jet ace George A. Davis, Jr., as "as a man of daring, courage, and skill."

Davis was shot down in North Korea Sunday just after he scored his 13th and 14th Red kills.

Weyland issued a statement praising Davis but made no mention of a protest by Mrs. Davis. She said her husband was forced to remain in Korea against his will after he became an ace by shooting down five planes.

The first three men to become aces in Korea were sent home to train other pilots. The Air Force said those were exceptions, that the normal tour of duty for a fighter pilot in the Korean War is 100 missions.

Weyland spent most of this afternoon closeted with his public information officer then issued this statement:

"The loss of Major George A. Davis, Jr., is a tragic one. He was a man of daring, courage, and skill. My heart goes out to Mrs. Davis and her family in their bereavement, just as I have shared the grief of the mothers, wives and families of every other airman lost in Korea.

"We are fighting a vicious and skillful enemy in the air war and every ounce of our skill, leadership, experience and determination is needed. Major Davis possessed these attributes in abundance, in addition to a dauntless courage, and thus served as both an inspiration and a mentor to the younger fighter pilots. His loss is a blow to the Far East Air Forces."

Davis was one of three more aces who were ordered to finish their regular 100 missions.

One of those eventually returned home. The other is still in Korea.

Davis was on his 59th mission Sunday when he was shot down.

Odessa Man Protests Milk Marketing Order Covering West Texas

ABILENE, Feb. 13 (AP)—A hearing on a proposed Federal milk marketing order for a wide section of West Texas continued here today.

Brooks Harmon, Odessa attorney, testified yesterday that the order would not give the consumer —"the man who will pay the ultimate cost of the program"—a right to vote. He also said it "sets up trade barriers within the state."

Other witnesses yesterday included Gilbert Sanders, production official for Gandy's Creamery, San Angelo, and O. D. Dillingham, Abilene. Both opposed an amendment which would withdraw Concho, McCulloch, Stonewall and Haskell counties from the original list of 27 in the proposed order.

Duke Of Windsor In England For Funeral

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Feb. 13 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor arrived home today for the funeral of King George VI, his brother to whom he relinquished his throne.

"This is indeed a sad arrival," said the Duke. "I have crossed the Atlantic for the funeral of a dear brother and to comfort Her Majesty Queen Mary, my mother, in the overwhelming sorrow which has overtaken my family and the Commonwealth of British Nations."

Motion Picture Man To Supreme Court On Censors' Fine Case

AUSTIN, Feb. 13 (AP) — Marshall motion picture operator W. L. Gelling will appeal to the United States Supreme Court his conviction for showing the film "Pinky" over the objections of the city's board of censors.

His attorneys today asked the Court of Criminal Appeals for a stay of mandate to permit the action.

The appeal court two weeks ago upheld the trial court conviction which fined Gelling $200.

BRITONS PAY HOMAGE

Somberly clad people of Britain wait patiently in line at Westminster Hall, London, to pay respect to King George VI. More than 2,000 persons were in line when the doors opened at 8 a.m., London time, to admit the public to the big hall where the body of the king lies in state. The citizens will be permitted to pass before the bier for 14 hours a day until tomorrow night.

WAS PREMEDIATED'

Man Admits To Execution Of Brother He Says Was Insane

FORT WORTH, Feb. 13 (AP)—Police said Oscar Franklin Ross, 24, confessed early today he had executed his older brother because he believed him to be incurably insane.

Police followed his directions and found the body of William Eugene Ross, 26, near a recreation park bath house. There were five bullet holes in the back of his head.

The younger Ross told Assistant District Attorney Charles Lindsey in the presence of Star-Telegram Reporter Ray Greene, "it was premeditated. I mean, I thought about it for some time. It was only a question of getting enough nerve."

Ross said he and his brother walked from their home to the park in the eastern section of the city. They sat down by a creek bed, he continued, and his brother smoked a cigaret.

The younger Ross fired one shot from a nine-chambered .22 caliber pistol he purchased yesterday afternoon, then fired four more times, he said.

Then he rode a bus home and shortly before midnight told his widowed mother, Mrs. Claudia Ross, "someone had killed Gene."

His mother called a family doctor. The doctor and young Ross came to police headquarters about 1 a. m. today.

Police Lt. E. M. McCaleb said Ross gave him a key to a bus station locker where the gun and cartridges were found.

Ross said his younger brother was in the Navy during World War II and became a mental patient about six years ago. He was released to his mother's care about two years ago.

Members of the family had to care for him constantly, the younger Ross continued, even to shaving him and washing his hair.

"He fought mother at times," he told the assistant district attorney. "But you see, sir, he didn't know it was her. He didn't know any of us."

The younger Ross was drafted last February and discharged in June from an Alabama Army camp. He said his commanding officer told him he was unadaptable to Army life.

BRINGS RESULTS

WACO, Feb. 13 (AP)—More than 200 persons gathered in Waco last night and prayed for rain.

Early today the U. S. Weather bureau reported thunder showers in the Waco area.

One interdenominational prayer session was held yesterday afternoon with about 140 attending, most of them farmers. At a night session there were about 70.

Only one person, a woman, carried a raincoat to the prayer sessions.

After a similar meeting in Waco late last spring there was a heavy rain, plus a small tornado.

Ticket Sales Soar; Banquet Success Seen

About 100 out-of-town guests have already indicated that they will be here Friday night for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, when the Chamber will play host to Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas.

C. T. McLaughlin, general chairman of the banquet committees, said that delegations will be here from several West Texas cities.

Coming here from El Dorado, Ark., will be three officials of the Lion Oil Co. They are T. R. Martin, president, and J. E. Howell and R. E. Mienert, vice presidents. Presidents of all three colleges in Abilene will attend. The college presidents are Dr. Rupert N. Richardson of Hardin - Simmons University, Dr. Harold G. Cook of McMurry College, and Dr. Don Morris of Abilene Christian College. McLaughlin said that a delegation will be here from Big Spring, headed by Raymond Collett, president of the Cosden Oil Corp.

Leon Huff, Chamber manager, said that more than 500 tickets have already been sold to the banquet, which is to begin at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in the high school gymnasium. He added that several members who have sold tickets have not yet reported their sales. Chamber members said they believe sales will surpass last year's total of 840 tickets. The tickets are now on sale by Chamber members and at Snyder Drug, Stinson Drug, Harris Pharmacy, West Texas State Bank, and Snyder National Bank.

Immediately following Friday night's banquet, a reception will be held at the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church, where residents and guest may meet Fulbright. Wives of the Scurry County Bar Association members headed by Mrs. Gene Dulaney, will serve coffee at the reception, which will last about an hour.

On Saturday, Fulbright, Governor Allan Shivers, and several West Texas businessmen will be guests of the San Angelo Standard-Times at a luncheon at the San Angelo Country Club.

New Queen In Official Act

LONDON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II conducted her first official ceremony at Buckingham Palace today, receiving Prime Minister Winston Churchill in a state audience.

Accompanied by 20 members of the House of Commons, Churchill presented an address to the queen and received a formal reply, court attaches said.

The queen, in mourning for her father King George VI, drove from her residence in Clarence House to the great grey palace nearby with the Duke of Edinburgh, her consort.

Bargaining Is Still Going At Snail's Pace

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Allied negotiators Wednesday accepted a 60-day limit on exchanging prisoners and offered to compromise their demands for supervising a Korean truce.

The Communists had proposed the 60-day limit. The exchange period is to start when an armistice is signed. The agreement does not touch the key question of voluntary repatriation.

The United Nations Command, holding 132,000 prisoners, had wanted 30 days more than was allowed the Reds to complete the exchange. The Reds list only 11,559 men in Red Pow camps.

Allied staff officers negotiating details for supervising a truce offered a two-point compromise:

(1) If Communists agree to rotating 40,000 troops a month in addition to men on temporary leave, the Allies will drop two demands the Reds oppose.

One of these would forbid shifting troops during a truce in a manner that could constitute an offensive threat. The other would require weekly reports on the location of all major military units.

(2) Both sides "meet headway" on the number of ports of entry through which troops and arms would move under neutral supervision during a truce.

The Allies had proposed eight. Wednesday they cut it to seven. The Reds had proposed three. Tuesday they increased it to four.

There was no word from the Communists when they would have ready their new proposed solution for the fifth and final item of the armistice agenda. This deals with recommendations to the governments concerned for a settlement of the Korean problem.

The Reds promised Tuesday to draft a new plan. It will be presented to a full-dress negotiating session.

Meanwhile, staff officers continued working on details of the other two unsettled armistice clauses. But each is by-passing the most troublesome issue.

These by-passed points are: Shall the Reds be allowed to repair bombed out airfields? Shall prisoners of war have free choice of whether they want to be exchanged?

Staff officers dealing with prisoners agreed to skip over the voluntary repatriation question Thursday when they start going over the 11-point Allied plan for the second time.

A U.N. Command communique said staff negotiators have reached such "substantial areas of accord" they "will begin work on the final draft" of the prisoner clause.

In Wednesday's session they spent considerable time discussing the role of joint Red Cross teams. The Red have agreed to such teams, but object to outlining their functions in detail.

Col. George W. Hickman, Allied staff officer, said the Communists say too strict rules might slow down the return of prisoners.

The Allies told Communist negotiators there was no reason to assume that Red Cross work would interfere with administrative activity in POW camps or delay the exchange of prisoners.

Subjects Wait Through Night In Freezing Cold To See King

By ERNEST AGNEW

LONDON (AP)—Snow flurried and the temperature dropped to 17 degrees but three grieving Britons—a woman, a hitch-hiker and a crippled war veteran—waited throughout the night to lead new thousands in homage past the bier of King George VI Wednesday.

They were the first of an estimated 15,000 persons lined up at 8 a. m. when the doors of Westminster Hall opened for the second day of public homage to the dead monarch.

All but one of Europe's remaining ruling sovereigns and other representatives of the world's governments meanwhile hurried to London for the King's funeral Friday, when his body will be taken to Windsor Castle for burial with his ancestors in St. George's Chapel.

First in the line today was a woman from Oxford. She was there before the doors closed behind the last of yesterday's pilgrims at 1:45 a. m. but, she said, "I wanted to see the coffin of my King in daylight."

The man behind her had hitchhiked 130 miles from Somerset. He didn't have the railroad fare, he said, but "I had to get here to pay my last respects to a great King."

A crippled veteran of World War II was the third. He said he had driven the 50 miles here from Brighton in his little motorized three-wheel invalid car. He hobled in on crutches to pay last respects to the dead monarch.

The huge stone hall was cold. It was lit only by the grey daylight filtering through the windows high in the walls and six tall candles which threw a soft light on the closed, standard-draped coffin. The 10-man guard of honor stood still as waxwork figures around it.

Most of those who filed past the coffin bowed. None was in the hall more than two minutes, although many had waited five hours or more. Outside the line thickened to a stream.

When the doors shut early this morning, almost four hours after the scheduled 10 p. m. closing, 76,426 had filed past the coffin during the first day of public homage. They came from all parts of the British Isles, from the United States and from the colonies and dominions. The three days of pilgrimage concludes tomorrow night.

West Texas Dust Covering State Today; Some Rain Falls

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms played across North and Northeast and Central Texas Tuesday night.

Earlier swirling winds had kicked up dust in West Texas.

Rains accompanied by considerable hail fell in Navarro County in Central Texas. Trees were uprooted by the wind. Hail broke windows at Blooming Grove. Heavy hail was reported at Pickett, southwest of Corsicana. Rainfall in the county ranged from .01 at Rice to more than 1 inch at McCord and Dawson. Corsicana had .48 of an inch.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said that a weak cool front stretched Wednesday morning from a point east of Wichita Falls southward.

As the front moves eastward today, swirling winds over West Texas will kick up more dust Wednesday afternoon, the bureau said, and spread it over the eastern part of the state.

Laredo and Cotulla, with 88 degrees, had the highest maximum in the nation Tuesday. The temperature fell to 23 degrees Tuesday night at Presidio on the Texas-Mexico border.

Rainfall in the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday included .66 at Texarkana, .06 at Lufkin, .08 at Tyler, .01 at Palestine. These were recorded at local airports.

Early today thundershowers fell in Tyler, Texarkana, Waco, and Austin. Some of the area reported hail storms last night.

The shower at Waco came several hours after more than 200 persons gathered at two inter-denominational meetings to pray for rain. A similar meeting in Waco last year was followed by heavy rainfall, plus a small tornado.

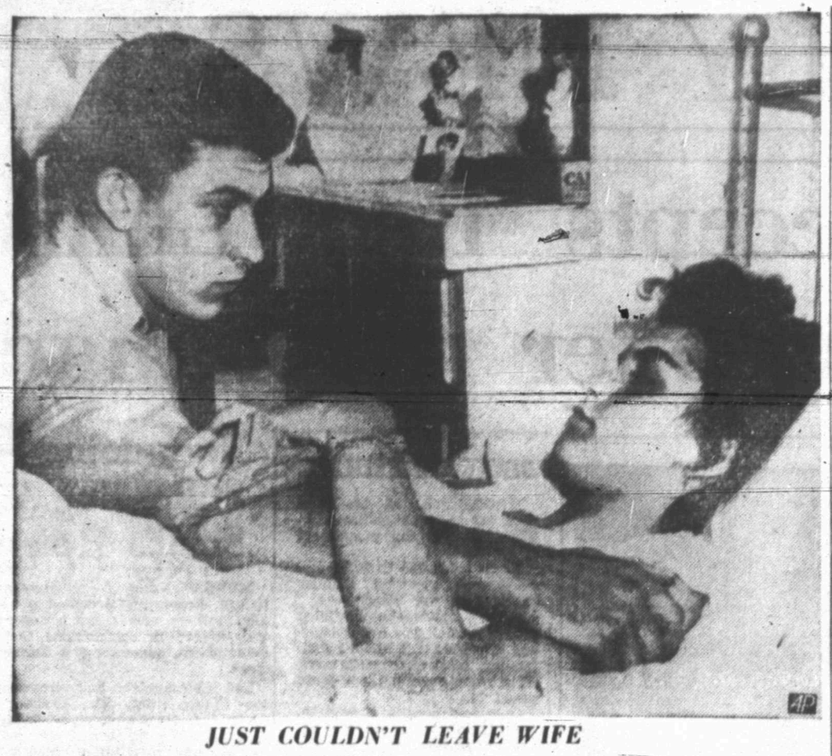

Early today Wichita Falls had four mile visibility in a dust storm that averaged 40 miles an hour, with gusts up to 52 miles per hour. El Paso had blowing dust. Dust clouds hung in the air over Dallas and Fort Worth, the result of dusters yesterday in the south plains and West Texas.

The heaviest dust hit Big Spring where visibility at one time dropped to ⅝ mile. Midland had two-mile visibility and Wink's was cut to four miles.

Texarkana reported hail stones about an inch in diameter early last night. Forney, Campbell, Lone Oak and Quinlan had hail for short periods. Hail also was reported in the Hillsboro area.

Seven light civilian planes were damaged slightly by hail at majors field, Greenville.

The high temperature yesterday was 88 degrees at Laredo.

JUST COULDN'T LEAVE WIFE

Safe at the bedside of his expectant wife, Mary Lou, 18, is Bosum's Mate 3-c Buren C. Wimp, 20, U. S. Coast Guard, who jumped overboard from his ship Sunday night in a vain attempt to swim ashore. He was rescued about two hours later and after being swept out to sea by strong tides. A freighter picked him up, brought him to Long Beach, Calif., and the pair were reunited.

Maximun Fine In Liquor Case As Defendant Defends Himself

Anderson Davis, Jr., Snyder Negro, was assessed a fine of $1,000 this morning when a county court jury of six men returned a verdict of guilty after he had pleaded his defense himself.

Edgar Taylor, county judge, called the case from the docket at 9 o'clock but granted the defendant 45 minutes in which to find an attorney to represent him. The delay was granted when Davis requested postponement, stating that his attorney, Ross Hardin of Fort Worth, was unable to be here. The case was set Monday for today.

Failing to obtain services of another attorney, Davis said he would try to present his part of the case himself. Both he and the county attorney, Keith L. Merrick, were given lists of names of the men forming the jury panel and instructed that each could reject as many as three of the panel of 12.

STRIKES NONE

Davis left the courtroom to review the list, then returned and addressed the jury: "Gentlemen, I am not striking any of your names from the panel list because I feel that all of you are honest, fair men and will give me a fair trial, seeing that I am without an attorney. I paid my attorney on Jan. 28 to defend me in this case, but he was not notified in time to make arrangements to be here today."

Merrick did not strike any of the names from the panel, either. The six chosen were Emmett Rasco, Raymond Hill, Jimmy Dyess, James L. Smith, M. L. Andress, and Robert Warren.

TWO WITNESSES

Only two witnesses were called for testimony, both representing the state in prosecution. They were Lloyd H. Merritt, sheriff, and Leonard White, deputy sheriff, both testifying they found seven four - fifths quarts of wine on the defendant's premises. They were questioned both by the county attorney and the defendant as to the time and exact location they claimed they found the liquor.

The customary practice of the prosecution opening and closing the arguments before the jury was not followed. Merrick opened the argument and was followed by Davis, but Merrick did not return in argument after Davis spoke to the jury. The county attorney's speech to the jury was short, merely stating that he hoped the jury would consider the evidence and credibility of witnesses and assess the defendant's punishment "at whatever you think will help to take this young man out of the bootlegging business."

WANTED MERCY

Davis told the jury he hoped he would be found innocent but that he wanted the mercy of the jurors in assessing light punishment in case of a verdict of guilty.

Judge Taylor charged the jury not to consider the fact that Davis had no attorney as any indication of guilt. He instructed them that the defendant was to be presumed innocent until proven guilty beyond reasonable doubt and that in case of a verdict against Davis, the punishment could be by fine of from $100 to $1,000 or 30 days to one year in jail, or both fine and imprisonment.

The jury was in deliberation about 15 minutes. Davis gave no notice of appeal. He has two similar cases against him on appeal now, totaling 15 months imprisonment and $1,500 in fines.

Louisiana Race Nears Climax

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 13 (AP)—Administration Candidate Carlos Spaht and Appeal Judge Robert Kennon today headed into the final days of their campaigning for Louisiana's Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Tuesday's runoff primary.

Spaht, the choice of Gov. Earl Long for his successor, criticized Kennon's backers in a campaign rally at Oberlin. Kennon meanwhile accused his opposition of preaching a doctrine of un-Americanism and spreading rumors about his candidacy. Kennon spoke from New Orleans on a state wide radio broadcast.

Spaht said that supporters of Kennon have always been enemies of state welfare benefits.

"Look at the people who are putting up money for Kennon's campaign and you will see they are those who oppose liberal and progressive government," Spaht said.

Kennon said that his opposition had practiced unAmericanism at a meeting of Negroes last week.

"They preached a doctrine of un-Americanism, of hatred, to try to array class against class, race against race, and religion against religion," Kennon said.

Duty On Beans Off

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 13 (AP)—Restrictions and customs duties on the import of beans, largely supplied by Arizona and Utah growers, were lifted today to keep the Mexican market supplied at a reasonable price.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Truman And Businessmen At Odds Over Control Of Prices

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—Industry's drive to crawl out from under controls grows more clamorous. It coincides with President Truman's appeal for tighter controls.

And into this picture steps the incoming price stabilizer, Ellis Arnall, with a promise to study the chances for decontrol—where that wouldn't hurt "the rest of our protection."

Many products are selling below ceiling prices—when they sell. And the men who make and sell them contend that price controls are just nuisances. They also charge that the red-tape involved in keeping all the material control records — and conforming to all the inventory regulations is costly and crippling to business.

In the demands for decontrol are representatives of the food industry, and makers of tires, textiles, clothing and shoes. And, surprisingly enough, the steel and lead industries say that their once critically scarce products are moving over into the category of abundance.

The President, however, says that inflation may soon be a threat again. He wants tighter controls to hold down the cost of living, and warns Congress: "Most people are already having trouble paying present prices. For their benefit, we should be working, not to legislate formulas for raising prices, but instead to find ways of moving prices downward, as increasing productivity and more production makes that possible."

Those who want decontrol contend that prices are more likely to go lower if the law of supply and demand is freed from government interference.

But Arnall says, "we must not hasten headlong into decontrol." DiSalle, outgoing price stabilizer, has a committee studying decontrol. But it's hard to let go of a bear's tail without getting clawed. OPS wonders if it can let go of one industry without hurting the still - controlled industries it supplies.

Some enemies of the control system suggest the best way would be to give arms makers first call on materials — and then drop other controls altogether.

Seeks Date Of SnyderHearing Before CAB

A letter asking that the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce be informed of the date set by the Civil Aeronautics Board for the hearing of Snyder's application for air service at Winston Field was mailed this week, Leon Huff, manager, said.

Huff said an answer to the letter is expected early next week.

A docket number, No. 5236, has been assigned by the CAB to the hearing already, he said.

Information earlier this year from the CAB was that the hearing would be set sometime early this year.

Huff said the exact time and place of the hearing is needed so the chamber can make plans to send a delegation to the meeting to explain the application and boost Snyder's chances of a favorable reaction by the board.

A preliminary hearing, probably in Dallas, will be held, he said. Then the final hearing will be held in Washington, D. C., if the application is handled according to usual CAB procedure, he said.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Russell Miller, 28, oil field worker who lives at 413 Thirty - third Street, was admitted to the Snyder Hospital last night with a slight back injury, suffered while he was at work on an oil rig. Hospital attendants said he is in good condition today. Also admitted was Mrs. James R. Brown, 1607 Twenty - seventh Street, medical patient.

Safety Awards Given Six Drivers Here

Lapel pins for safe driving were awarded today to six truck drivers employed by the Snyder Truck & Tractor Co., L. E. Davis, safety engineer for the Pan - American Casualty Co., said.

The pins indicate the length of time each driver has driven without a chargable accident. Those receiving them and the periods for which awarded were:

Clark Nix, five years; Marshall, five years; Mitchell McMarth, three years; Johnny Joe Pitner, three years; John Vernon, three years; and Bailey Hickman, two years. Minimum requirement for a pin is one year of driving without an accident.

Increase In Flu Last Week Reported Here

Scurry County's influenza total jumped to 239 last week as 57 additional cases were reported to the city - county health unit.

A total of 142 of those flu cases were reported during the month of February, health unit officials said.

Other diseases reported for the week ending last Saturday were pneumonia, 24; chicken pox, three; dysentery (bacillary), five; gonorrhea, two; and scarlet fever, one.

Stuffs Money Down Pipe

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A gas station attendant, Evan Reynolds, 28, was in jail for investigation of grand theft but the money he is accused of taking never left the station.

Police detectives said he claimed he was robbed of $951.55 but later admitted he stuffed the money down a pipe. Detectives said Reynolds told them he was angry at his employer "for always checking up on me."

Mrs. Leonard Hall, Mrs. E. H. Miller, and Mrs. Ben Bennington were in San Angelo several days last week attending a Girl Scout Outdoor Workshop.

Buzz Field To Get Light Here

Runway lights and a beacon light have been completed at the county airport and are in operation now. Bob Collins, manager of Hazel Flying Service there, said yesterday.

Although the airport is not what is called a night airport, use of runway lights and the beacon will enable pilots to land at night by request, Collins said. Such a request would have to be made by flying low over the field (buzzing the field) since there are no radio facilities.

The runway lights are placed at ends of the runways merely marking the boundaries of the landing strips and designating their directions. There will be no flood lights used.

An official of the Ash Wilson & Associates Engineering Co., engineer of the project, said all that was lacking now in the electrical work was placing eight red obstruction lights on tops of power line poles at the north end of the airport. Fagan Electric Co. is contractor on all outside electrical work.

Other work still lacking is installation of gasoline servicing equipment and storage tanks, bids on which are to be opened by the airport commission Feb. 26, according to Dr. John Blum, a commission member.

'Snowfall' Is Preparing Men In Winter War

CAMP DRUM, N. Y., Feb. 13. (AP)—Airborne operations are fitted into the Army's plans as a method of winning a battle; but not necessarily a war.

This is the purpose of the maneuvers in "Exercise Snowfall," to improve upon the tactics and equipment of a type of fighting that has helped defeat enemies in World War II and the Korean conflict.

Exercise Snowfall is training in a particular part of a specialized phase of war — the art of putting down soldiers into an Arctic battle area from the air, by parachute or by transport plane, and then keeping them supplied and equipped by the same method.

This exercise involved more paratroopers than any operation since the big combat "jumps" of men in World War II. An entire division, the 11th Airborne of Fort Campbell, Ky., is taking part in these war games.

What is learned here may be critically important if war with Soviet Union should demand that Americans fight in Russian winter.

Airborne strategists say a paratroop force has a high potential value, even if it is not actually committed to action. The enemy, knowing an opponent has such a force, must reckon with the possibility that a highly mobile airborne unit may strike him at any point. Thus the enemy is required to keep counter force in reserve — and out of actual action on the battle line.

Stassen Raps Foreign Policy During Speech

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Harold E. Stassen Tuesday night rejected what he called "the negative, soft, internationalist containment policy which the administration has followed with such bad results for America."

He told a Republican Lincoln Day dinner meeting that he supports a new, non-isolationist American foreign policy.

Stassen, who wants to be the Republican nominee for President, said his program would have four goals: aid to all peoples toward better living, defeat of communism without a world war, turning away of all nations from socialism and reorganization of the United Nations and rewriting the U.N. Charter.

"This new American foreign policy also rejects the timid, semi-isolationist defensive policy that some others advocate and which also led to bad results in the 1920s and would do so again," the University of Pennsylvania president declared.

Mrs. Frank Rose, Jr., and her daughter, Margaret, were visitors in Snyder this week. Mrs. Rose, the former Beatrice Saphir, was born in Cairo. Margaret was born in Snyder three years ago. (Lee Watson photograph.)

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

Young MARGARET ROSE, who visited here this week with her mother, Mrs. FRANK ROSE, JR., will be more than a jump ahead of her classmates when she progresses to geography lessons in a few years.

Vivid stories of Cairo's mosques, minaret and sun - browned Arabs will be told Margaret by her mother who was born in Cairo and lived there until 1948.

The Roses live in Levelland and are planning a move to Montana or North Dakota where Mr. Rose has business. They lived here when 3-year-old Margaret was born and are visiting with Mrs. FRANK BERRY and other friends.

Mrs. Rose describes Cairo as a cosmopolitan city where Europeans have come to live, much to the regret of native Arabs. Her father, Alexander Saphir, went to Cairo from Hungary 40 years ago and set up his dental practice. Mrs. Rose was schooled in French and English in private school. She was working in American headquarters in Cairo when she met her husband, a pilot with the air transport command in the United States Air Force. Following his discharge, he flew for the Ethiopian Airlines, a subsidiary of Trans - World Airlines, and she was a hostess. One of the flights took her into Zanzibar.

The couple was married in 1947 and came to Snyder in 1948 where Mr. Rose was working in the oil business with his father.

Egyptian women have little freedom and still must appear on streets with their faces veiled, Mrs. Rose relates. The women wear a loose - fitting black silk wrap which completely envelopes them, she says.

Egyptian men wear the "gallabieh," a loose robe of cotton and entwine turbans about their heads. The red fez, called a "tarbouche," is for Sunday wear.

Waitresses in the restaurants are completely lacking, she says. Only men are employed and they wear white uniforms with red sashes and red fezes.

Marketing is done by buying fresh vegetables and fruits in market places. Meat is bought from separate markets where the whole beef sides are strung up to the ceiling and butchers whack off whatever part the customer wants. Beans — a type a little smaller than pintos—are the major part of the Arab's diet, she says.

Early morning hours are still punctured by the sing - song voice of the "shiek," or preacher, who goes to the mosque and reads from the Koran, the Moslem's Bible. Many natives carry their straw prayer mats with them and no matter where they are will kneel and pray to Allah at noon, Mrs. Rose says.

A weekly occurrence in Cairo is when the king goes to a mosque on Friday. "It's quite a ceremony" Mrs. Rose tells. "Red sand is spread over the street the king rides on and soldiers in jodhpurs guard the street. Policemen on red motorcycles precede the king who always rides in a red car."

When Mrs. Rose worked for the American headquarters in Cairo she had numerous opportunities to meet American USO entertainers, among them Jack Benny. And she especially remembers Gene Nelson, with whom she went to a party.

As for the native entertainers of her own country, she describes Samia Gamil, the much-publicized dancer who married a Houston oil man, as a typical dancer who probably has her eyes on Hollywood.

Mrs. Rose got her American citizenship last year. Although she was born in Cairo, she was never considered an Egyptian citizen since it is the custom to retain the nationality of one's father.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Should a girl ask a man for his hand in marriage?

This question has faced women since the beginnings of history. Here it is leap year again and the gals have the traditional right to propose marriage to eligible males. But is it wise? I put the question to a number of Hollywood glamor girls, and these were their replies:

Maureen O'Hara — Certainly a girl should propose. There isn't a husband in this world who wasn't maneuvered into asking for his wife's hand in marriage. But I admit that a girl has to be subtle about it. Otherwise, her man will be able to say in future years, "Well, you got me into this!"

Elizabeth Taylor—Why shouldn't the girl do the asking—if there's a man handy?

Ann Blyth—I don't think it would be too wise for a girl to be forward about it. After all, it's not the best way to have such a wonderful thing as marriage begin. The man has the traditional right to propose.

Arlene Dahl—If her man is the slow type, I think a girl should definitely establish a beachhead. She doesn't have to be too obvious about it, but she can easily work him into a position where he is vulnerable. A man wants to be the aggressor, but sometimes he has to be encouraged. However, a girl must never put her intentions in writing. That can become dangerous.

Marilyn Maxwell—Should a girl propose? Certainly! Today there are six or seven women for every worthwhile man. Just like the song says, a good man nowadays is hard to find. So a girl has to catch him however she can.

Debra Paget—I suppose some women do it, but I wouldn't have the nerve. I'd be afraid the man would hold it over my head in later years.

Esther Williams—Certainly, the girl should do the asking, if necessary. The important thing for her is to get a husband, establish her home and have babies. If the man doesn't have brains enough to ask her, she might as well take the initiative.

Janet Leigh—I should say not! If a man didn't think enough of me to ask me to marry him, I wouldn't want him.

Joan Crawford—I see no reason why the girl shouldn't be bold about it. Three of the happiest marriages I know came about because the woman asked the man. As for myself, I'm not observing leap year. I couldn't go through it (marriage) again.

Capsule Review: "Five Fingers" is a top-notch espionage tale involving international intrigue in Turkey during World War II. The story, which purports to be fact, concerns the English ambassador's valet, who filches war secrets and sells them to the Nazis at expensive prices. The story is told with a fine eye for suspense and authenticity. James Mason is slickly convincing as the information merchant. Danielle Darrieux is convincing as the femme who finally does him in.

I have a terrible time with buttons pulling out and tearing a hole in a dress, especially with my little girls' dresses. Can you offer any advice on sewing on buttons to prevent this. Mrs. M. M.

A little trick that I have found to be very helpful is to sew them on with elasticized thread (the kind used for shirring). This keeps the buttons from tearing out the cloth.

Representative Wants Less Risk In Cotton Growing Through South

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Rep. Abernathy (D-Miss) says the government should eliminate some of the risks of a large cotton crop if the goal of a 16 million bale crop is in the interest of national defense.

Abernethy said yesterday that if farmers plant and produce the 16 million bale crop asked by the Department of Agriculture "The probabilities are that the price will be low."

"If the weather is right and production reaches 17 million bales," he said, "the price would be very low."

On the other hand, he said, if a short cotton crop is produced "then producers face the possibility of export controls which will result in a low price."

Abernethy, with Senator Eastland (D-Miss), is sponsoring a bill which would lift controls on export of cotton when farmers come within 85 per cent of the goal set by the Department of Agriculture.

Mexicans Checking On Borders More Closely

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 13. (AP)—Extra customs inspectors are being sent to border points to check on "household smugglers" — women who bring in clothing and jewelry ostensibly for their own use.

Imported clothing and jewelry bring such high prices here that smuggling is profitable. Mexicans returning from the U. S. sometimes declare new articles as used, then sell them here and clear enough to pay for their shopping trip and make a profit.

All-Stars Drop To Pros 78-66 In Comic Basketball Game Here

A good mixture of comics and seasoned cage play was presented to a crowd of about 400 people last night when the Whiskered Wizards eased a 78 - 66 victory over the Snyder league all-stars.

Play began at 8 o'clock, and at two seconds after eight, lanky Jim Keller, 6 foot, five inch center, had made a field goal for the Wizards. Keller, who saved most of the point - making for his teammates, specialized in taking the ball away from the Snyder team while it was in midair and in providing comic entertainment for the audience. Among his antics were rubbing down Referee Blue Lowry's balding head with his beard, sitting in midcourt and shooting goals, and hiding the ball under his jersey. Once, when a fan was yelling for him to shoot, he turned and shot the ball high into the stands to the person who was yelling.

Johnny Stroud, 6 feet, 2 inches, was also a good entertainer. He and Keller held up the game during the final period while they performed a baseball game, knocking the basketball for homeruns. Stroud made 20 points during the game, as did Kaine, one of the newer Wizard players.

The professionals had picked up two players on the road after losing both Jack and Willard Daley to the Armed Forces. Jack Garrett, one of their best teamsters, was not here with the team.

The Snyder team showed work as an outstanding amateur squad. Ernest Kinney, former Oklahoma A&M player and now high school basketball coach, ran circles around the Wizards' Moore and managed a fast 11 points against the Wizard defense. Bill Voss, center for the Snyder squad, was high scorer of the game with his 24 points.

The entire all - star squad threw in more competition than the Wizards expected.

Glynn Snyder, chairman of the Quarterback Club league committee and manager of the all-stars, is now scheduling games for the team with similar squads of nearby towns. Most of their games will be played on Wednesday and Saturday nights, while the league teams will fill up the week nights in the Tiger gym.

Broken Records Seen At San Antonio's Open Tournament

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 13 (AP)—Every tournament on the winter golf trail has been wide open, with six different players winning six different tournaments, and the $10,000 Texas Open which starts here tomorrow is no exception.

Everybody agrees, however, that the tournament should produce the lowest scores in its 25 years of operation. It was won by Ben Hogan in 1946 with 264 for 72 holes. Sam Snead tied that in winning it in 1948.

Jimmie Demaret of Ojai, Calif., who already has done a practice round of 62, nine under par, over the 6,400-yard Brackenridge Park course, thinks the 264 will be broken. "This course is in great shape," said Demaret. "The greens are wonderful and the fairways are fast. Everything is just right for low scores."

The fairways are very dry and there just isn't any rough to worry about.

Demaret is one of the favorites with the gallery but the golfers themselves and tournament officials decline to pick any certain player.

The hot shots of the tournament trail won't be tuning up at Brackenridge today while at the par 71, 6,700-yard Willow Springs course, 218 players will be shooting for 61 places in qualifying rounds. Exemptions for qualifying total 99, 80 of them being players on the tour. The Texas PGA will have 10 places and the tournament sponsors nine. This means a total field of 160 will move out tomorrow in the opening 18 holes.

Otto Greiner of Baltimore was the big man in the pro-amateur yesterday at the par 71, 6,135-yard Oak Hills Course. Greiner shot a 65 to take down $350 as the low scoring pro and he won $300 more for being on the pro-amateur team with the best ball score. Greiner and amateur Hank Sebastian of San Antonio combined for a 59.

There were a lot of low scores in the pro-amateur and there also was a hole-in-one, made by Jack Shields of Gleneagles, Ill. He did it on the 150-yard No. 2 hole. Shields, however, had a round of 73, which was well out of the money.

Musial Likes Being On Top

St. Louis (AP)—Father time may not like this, but he isn't taken too seriously by Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinals' $80,000-a-year man.

The 31-year-old, five-time National League batting champion had just picked up the last of his 1951 salary, a healthy $25,000 raise which had been frozen by the Wage Stabilization Board, when someone hinted maybe a fella couldn't play baseball forever.

Stan didn't like the idea at all. He leaned back in Cardinal owner Fred Saigh's big red leather chair, and looking more like an executive than a baseball player in his well-tailored gray suit, said:

"Baseball is my life. It's done a lot for me. It's an interesting business. I intend to stay in it."

Maybe as a baseball manager?

No, he hasn't seriously considered that. And besides, in his opinion player-managers aren't too successful.

At one point in the press conference Tuesday, Stan announced he still gets a kick out of playing, even if he has been in organized baseball 15 years, 10 of them in the majors.

"I try to work harder now than I used to. Once you build a reputation you like to stay on top. You know how it is.

"I feel I'm going to have five more good years."

Nothing seemed to worry Stan, not even the probability Uncle Sam will get most of the belated check for last year's raise.

British Jockey Likes Our Food

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Winston Churchill's jockey—Tom Gosling of Lanark, Scotland—tore into a lamb stew like a man who never would have to make 120 pounds again.

Gosling and Frankie Durr, a little fellow who rides for the Duke of Norfolk, had stopped off at Hialeah Park to sample American racing and food. They especially liked the food.

"It's a beautiful park," said Gosling. "But I think the British horses look a little sharper—all but that Spartan Valor. He looked as if he could pull a cart and still beat the rest."

Spartan Valor, of course, set a new track record Saturday in winning the McLennan Handicap. Gosling had tabbed him as the winner before the race.

When the conversation shifted to British racing, Gosling was most expansive. Churchill was his pet subject.

"He makes you feel right at home," he said. "He loves to come out to see them gallop in the morning. Used to drive out from London to Epsom every time he got a chance."

Gosling rode Churchill's Colonist to many important victories before the 6-year-old horse was retired to stud last fall.

Like all British subjects, Gosling and Durr were saddened by the death of King George VI. They believe Queen Elizabeth, who was interested in racing when she was Princess Elizabeth, will maintain her close connection with the sport after the mourning period is over.

"I don't know just what does happen to the King's stable," said Gosling. "I suppose it now will go to Queen Elizabeth."

Baseball Club Takes College Cage Star

CHICAGO, Feb. 13. (AP)—Ever hear of a baseball club pulling a steal on a basketball team?

Cage Coach Jack Horenberger of Illinois Wesleyan claims the Chicago White Sox did it to him.

"All my basketball team lacks," he said, "is a standout guard. We would have had one this season if the White Sox had not signed our Bobby Winkles for a $10,000 bonus. Winkles would have given us just what we need."

Most Satisfied Players Are Feted To Luncheon

CHICAGO, Feb. 13. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox have presented themselves with a championship—"the most satisfied players title."

They conferred the award on themselves at a "gag" luncheon for the press at Comisky Park yesterday. For the third straight year, the Sox have been the first major league team to sign up all its players.

Golfers Given Nod On Match In Mexico City

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 13 (AP)—Sixteen golfers have the blessing of the PGA to play in the Mexican National Open at Mexico City.

Five of them — Chuck Klein of San Antonio, Jimmie Demaret of Ojai, Calif., Toney Penna of Cincinnati, Vic Ghezzi of Inwood, N. Y., and Al Besselink of Chicago — were given permission to play in the Mexican Open Feb. 28 to March 2. Twelve members of the Texas section of the PGA were informed they could play international matches with Mexico Feb. 26-27. Klein was included in these and is the only one due to also play in the Mexican Open.

These golfers will play at Mexico City although the tournament there is the same time as the Baton Rouge, La., Open.

Last year four golfers, including Ghezzi, Demaret and Besselink, were fined by the PGA tournament committee for skipping the Rio Grande Valley Tournament at Harlingen and playing at Mexico City.

Texas Upset By Baylor 71-59

By The Associated Press

The Texas Christian horned frogs held down the top spot in Southwest Conference basketball Wednesday — and hoped they could say the same after Saturday night.

Baylor, with an uninspiring 2-5 record, Tuesday night staged an inspired upset of the mighty Texas Longhorns 71-59. At the same time TCU whipped Rice, another 2-5 cellar dweller, by a 83-49 score.

The results gave TCU first place by half a game, the same margin Texas had previously over the Frogs.

The leadership showdown comes Saturday night when TCU and Texas clash in Austin.

Howard Hovde, Bill Harris and Bill Fleetwood gave their best in sparking the Baylor win. Ralph Johnson roped 22 points on seven field goals and eight of the 13 free throws given him.

Jim Dowies paced Texas with 13 points.

LONGHORNS LOSE LEAD

Texas grabbed a quick 4-0 lead, then Baylor went wild for a 19-7 first quarter margin. The Steers came back but Johnson, Harris and Hovde kept hitting the circle. Baylor led 36-27 at the half.

The Longhorns cut the Baylor lead to one point by the end of the third period, but soon afterwards Dowies and the two tallest Longhorns, Don Klein and Ted Price, went out on personals.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 13. (AP)—Defending Champions Bee McWane of Birmingham, Ala., and Robert Sweeney of Palm Beach led the way into the second round of the 17th annual invitation mixed foursomes golf tournament at the Everglades Club today.

She trounced Helen Hampton of Signal Mountain, Tenn., and Earl E. Smith of Palm Beach, 7 and 6, yesterday.

Mrs. Catherine Fox Park of Bloomfield, N. Y., and Tim Holland of Miami, co-medalists with the defending champions, kept pace by defeating Mrs. Bradley Streit of Palm Beach and Jack Penrose of Miami, 5 and 4.

1-Game Play-Off Scheduled Next Monday

Head Coach Speedy Moffett announced today that only one game will be held between the Snyder and Stamford cage teams to decide the District 5-AA championship.

In conferring with district officials yesterday, Moffett learned that a district rule, which was adopted last October, states that in the event of a tie between two teams, only one game will be played to break the tie.

Both teams have an 8-2 district record.

Snyder won the toss in deciding the site of the game. It will be played in Abilene at Rose Field House, Hardin - Simmons University, at 8 o'clock Monday night. Moffett said admission will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

Marciano And Savold Fight

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13. (AP)—Rocky Marciano, young, lusty and unbeaten, figures to cakewalk to his 39th straight victory tonight in a scheduled 10-round fight against the battleworn, 35-year-old Lee Savold.

The 27-year-old Marciano is a heavy favorite to demolish Savold in an early round.

Savold has few supporters. Even the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission indicated it was concerned about the possibility the fight might be a turkey from the standpoint of competition. At last week's physical examination, Commissioner John (Ox) Dagrosa reminded Marciano that he had catapulted into heavyweight boxing prominence with his knockout of 37 - year - old Joe Louis, the old Brown Bomber. Dagrosa mentioned that this same fading Louis had unceremoniously dumped Savold.

"You fellows will have to prove to the public why this fight?" Dagrosa said. The commissioner warned the fighters he would hold up purses if it wasn't a good show.

A crowd of 13,000 is expected to pay some $90,000 to see the battle.

Blind Athelete Finds He Could Find His Way Back To Normal

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 13. (AP)—"What's there to complain about?" That's a champion's rejoinder when the breaks go against him.

Put yourself in Leroy McGuirk's shoes:

You are a splendid athlete, tops in the wrestling profession. Most of your life you have endured one handicap — the loss of an eye as a schoolboy.

You took that in stride, fighting your way to the top as an Oklahoma A. & M. grappler.

In the pro ranks you were doing a little better than all right when suddenly an automobile accident deprived you of your other eye and the world plunged into darkness, your career gone.

McGuirk, once pro champion of the lightheavy and junior heavyweight ranks, was inconsolable at first, he wanted to crawl into a hole and pull it in after him.

A host of well wishers everywhere and a dog McGuirk wouldn't trade for another world's championship brought him back from embitterment.

"Yeah, it's rough at the start. You and the mut don't know each other, everything is strange, you have no patience. "I'll never forget that first day. First time out I almost split my head on a lamp post. I swore off, but was back for another try. That day this boxer draped me over a parking meter, and brother that was all!

"Finally I agreed to one more shot and honestly, that animal has been a thoroughbred ever since.

"Besides," Leroy grinned, "that darned dog has me back in training again. He won't settle for less than a five-mile hike before breakfast."

What about the competitive urge? McGuirk, who has turned promoter and runs the Little Rock mat shows, confided:

"Just the other day I started working out in the gym again. I'm really in pretty good shape. Heck, someone might even talk me into something like an exhibition for charity one of these days.

"What's there to complain about?"

Dynamite Is Replacing Lash And Blazing Cross In South

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA — The dynamite stick apparently is replacing the burning cross and stinging lash in the South's pattern of violence.

Since the pattern first began emerging in Birmingham, Ala., in early 1949 there have been 48 dynamitings involving mostly the old White - Negro feud but spreading to religion and personal revenge.

"I think," said Alex Miller, "that the pattern is self-evident. Twenty years ago the weapon of intimidation was lynching. Then came the burning cross and floggings."

"But in Birmingham," Miller continued, "they came up with a new weapon and one that has the advantage of destroying all evidence, the dynamite stick."

Violence May Spread North

Miller, southern regional head of the Anti - Defamation League of B'nai Brith, added: "I predict that the pattern will spread, it is a new weapon. I believe, too, that it will not be confined to the South alone but will find use wherever racial or religious tensions are strong."

Then the expert observer on the southern region commented, "You can look for an increasing number of dynamiting in the South. The old legal barriers governing racial segregation are tumbling and Negroes are shaking off the Ghettoes and expanding."

Miller also said that in his opinion these dynamitings were not connected save through the thinking to be found in the mentality "often associated with the Ku Klux Klan."

Depends on the People

"Wherever," he continued, "people with this type of mind find their prejudices are not reinforced by the law, their immediate thought is to resort to violence."

The record goes like this:

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — 10 unsolved bombings of Negro homes since 1949 as the Negro community struggled to expand into areas previously white.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—In December, 1949, a Negro home is a once all-White neighborhood was damaged by dynamite. There was another similar bombing in September 1950.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — A porch was blown off a Negro home in a case similar to the Nashville incidents.

ATLANTA — Seven bombings of Negro homes in once White areas since 1949. There have been none since two men, one of whom admitted he was affiliated with the Ku Klux Klan, were arrested and indicted. They have not been brought to trial.

NEW ORLEANS — Forty - eight hours after a court ruling in May, 1951, that the city could not enforce a racially discriminatory zoning law, a $16,000 Negro home was blown up.

DALLAS, Tex. — Two men were arrested in July, 1951, in connection with an investigation into 13 bombings of Negro homes on the fringe of White sections.

MIAMI — A Jewish synogogue was damaged June 5, 1951, by dynamite. An unoccupied building in a Negro housing project bordering a White project was severely damaged Sept. 22. Two unexploded sticks of dynamite were found Oct. 9 near another Jewish synagogue. Two unexploded sticks were found Oct. 15 on steps of Jewish school. Dynamite was found Nov. 1 on steps of Dade County courthouse. A second Carver Village project home bombed Nov. 30. On Dec. 2, a Hebrew school was bombed and 44 memorial windows shattered. This same day another blast was reported in the housing project but with no damage. A stick of dynamite with a partly burned fuse was found on the steps of the Saint Peter and Saint Paul Catholic Church. On Dec. 25 police reported an attempt to bomb the Hialeah-Miami Springs Jewish community center was thwarted.

MIMS, Fla — Harry T. Moore, state coordnator for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and his wife were fatally injured by a dynamite blast Dec. 25, 1951.

ROME, Ga — A dynamite blast was set off near a Negro social club after complaints that it was "a public nuisance."

CROSSVILLE, Ala. — The home of a woman was dynamited Jan. 1 in what police said was a bootlegging feud.

PHENIX CITY, Ala.—The home of an anti - vice crusader was dynamited Jan. 9.

Miller said that the Miami attacks on places of worship could be attributed in large measure to "cultural tensions and the inevitable North - South struggle.

"There are large numbers of Jews in the community, many from the North, and where two cultures are in daily contact there are bound to be irritations."

Wrecked home of Harry T. Moore, the result of a blast on Christmas Day that killed Moore and his wife. This is the type of terrorism which is taking the place of whip and blazing cross.

The burining cross is still used as a symbol of racial hate throughout many parts of the nation, but it is giving way to the quick, efficient action of the dynamite stick.

Small Number Of Dogs In City Have Been Vaccinated, Tagged

Although there are hundreds of dogs on leash, at homes, or straying around town, only a few are licensed and vaccinated, a check at the city hall yesterday disclosed.

The city has an ordinance which requires that all dogs must be licensed, or they are subject to being picked up by the dog catcher and impounded, but this has not been effective in getting the dogs tagged.

Now there are approximately 186 tagged dogs in the city. Last year a total of 148 dog licenses were issued, Mrs. Clara Jones, city secretary, said. Since Jan. 1 this year, 38 more dog licenses have been issued making a total of 186 now if all the licenses are still in effect.

The city issues the licenses for a period of one year from the date of issue. Licenses cost $1 for male dogs, and $2.50 for females.

However, a veterinarian's receipt showing that the dog has been immunized against rabies must be presented before the license will be issued, Mrs. Jones said.

Dr. Robert J. Kidd, the only veterinarian in Snyder, who has offices at 2610 Avenue I, said that he vaccinates dogs against rabies for $2 each.

Dr. Kidd said that he has not received any reports of rabies in this vicinity for more than two years, but he emphasized that a rabies epidimic could breakout anytime a contaminated animal came through the country.

"The State Health Department reported that the worst month for rabies in Texas last year was in March, contrary to the common belief that it is a summertime disease," Dr. Kidd said.

"It is not a seasonal disease, but one that can breakout anytime," he added.

The report showed that the worst epidimics of rabies in Texas last year were in the eastern part of the state, he stated.

The word "Yankee" was first applied by the Dutch to a shrewd, tricky fellow, according to a generally accepted version of its origin.

Boiling Coal Makes Many Common Items

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The smoke from hot, simmering and boiling coal will make good drinking (ethyl) alcohol.

Also perfumes, gasoline, medicines, rubber, clothes, plastics and scores of other synthetic chemicals.

The smoke is the result of lighting a fire in a seam of underground coal, and then boiling, instead of consuming most of the coal. The quality of this coal smoke is all-important, and how to get it is the subject of a two-day symposium here at the first International Conference on the Underground-Gasification of Coal.

Two of the fumes already produced by these underground fires—at Gorgas, Ala., in England, Germany, Belgium, France and Italy—are carbon monoide and hydrogen. They are the basic materials for the perfumes and all the rest of the miracles to come from smoke.

Dr. Carl Bordenca, of the Southern Research Institute, at Birmingham, explained that the synthetic methods and catalysts already exist for making all these conversions. As soon as the engineers are able to produce these gases in useful quantities, Dr. Bordenca said, new industries will become possible.

He said the alcohol made from the coal fumes may compete in cost with fermentation and petroleum alcohols.

The underground fire, at one end of a seam, melts the coal ahead of it. Fumes—all valuable gases—rise and flow up a chimney. What is left forms a crude kind of coke which continues the fire, and this coke, too, because it is enclosed in the earthen tube, produces further valuable gases.

Sex Hormones In Tomatoes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported Wednesday that the common tomato plant contains material that can be used to make sex hormones.

Chemical research has found, the agency said, that a new alkaloid called "chrystalline tomatine" can be extracted from the tomato leaf.

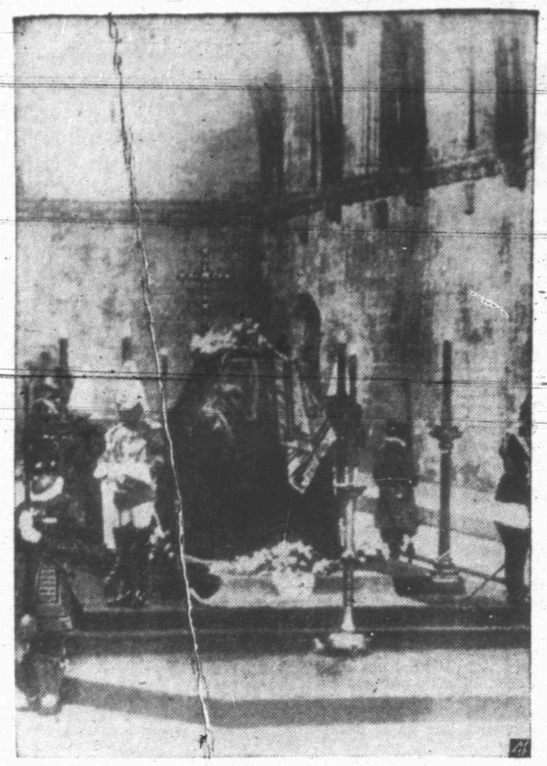

This alkaloid can be used as a starting material in the manufacture of the medically important sex hormones progesterone and testosterone.

Progesterone is used in drugs for the correction of menstrual disturbances, prevention of spontaneous abortions and the relief of cervical cancer. Testosterone also is used as a remedy for menstrual disturbances and for suppressing breast cancer.

The department said the value of the new discovery lies in the fact that heretofore only three sources were available for the preparation of these drugs—animal-nerve tissues, soybeans and Mexican yams.

Production of these drugs from the animal-nerve tissue and soybeans was said to demand more chemical steps than the production of tomatidine from the tomato plant. In the case of the Mexican yam, the chemical production of the drug is relatively simple, but the yam does not grow in this country.

The department said tomatdine might even be converted into cortisone, a new drug being used for relief of arthritic pains. However, there are chemical difficulties to such conversion.

KING GEORGE IN STATE

Yeoman of the Guard and Household troops stand in mournful silence at the catafalque bearing the coffined body of King George VI in Westminster Hall, London, where he lies in state. A candle burns at each corner of the catafalque with the Imperial Crown resting atop the coffin. The coffin is draped in the red and gold standard of the royal family.

Graham Continuing His Crusade In Washington

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—People in the time of Jesus Christ were "just like the men in Washington tonight," Evangelist Billy Graham said, except they missed a chance at salvation without knowing it.

An estimated 8,000 persons at the National Guard Armory last night heard the young preacher continue:

"The blood of this city won't be on my hands. For four solid weeks I've preached the Gospel here, and I want to tell you there's one sin men won't be forgiven as long as the world lasts. That's turning down Jesus Christ when they had the chance to accept him."

Graham's capital crusade, begun Jan. 10, ends next Sunday.

Roosevelt Is Selected

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. has been named one of the 13 New York County (Manhattan) delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Truman Said Ready To Run For 3rd Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politicians said privately Wednesday that President Truman may be following a pattern used by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt in seeking another White House term.

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill), dean of Congress in service, came out of the White House Tuesday saying the President told him he might run for another term if it would serve world peace.

So far the President has had nothing to say directly about seeking re-election, but a series of White House callers have produced widely varying reports.

Sabath said Truman told him the presidency is "a killing job" but that if he "actually felt he would be of aid and help to America and the world in bringing about a peace," he would be willing to "sacrifice himself and possibly shorten his life expectancy."

Politicians recalled that other White House callers gave similar reports after talking to the late President Roosevelt just before he accepted nominations for third and fourth terms.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) said the Sabath report confirms his belief that the President will run again.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) said he was much interested in the Sabath report but added:

"It's still my personal hunch that President Truman will not run again."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) said, "Maybe it sounds crazy for me to say so, but I still don't think he is a candidate."

CONVERSATION IN DESCENT

These 11th Airborne division paratroopers seem engaged in a mid-air chat. Actually their arm-in-arm descent during an air drop at Camp Drum, N. Y., is a safety measure which enabled them to land safely. Air Force officials explained that it is a part of air drop procedure for two jumpers to grab each other and hold this position when their chutes drift so close that there is danger of an entanglement. They hold this position until they are some 10 or 12 feet above the ground. Then they let go and swing free for the landing.

Group Reports Alcoholics Are Born That Way

GENEVA (AP)—The basic cause of alcoholism is within a drunkard from birth, according to the United Nations World Health Organization (WHO).

A seven - nation committee of WHO experts on alcoholism found that only those "excessive drinkers" become alcoholics who are born with a "constitutional liability" to alcohol addiction.

The committee defined alcoholics as "excessive drinkers whose dependence upon alcohol has attained such a degree that it shows a noticeable mental disturbance or an interference with their bodily and mental health, their inter-personal relations and their smooth social and economic functioning."

The experts said the precise nature of the inborn factor in alcoholism had not yet been definitely established, but it was believed to be "a slight deficiency of carbohydrate metabolism, of the enzyme system or of certain endocrine relations."

The belief this deficiency is congenital is based on the fact that "many drinkers who drink as much as the addict, over periods of 25 years or more, never come to the stage of loss of control."

The committee, however, did not say the deficiency was inherited.

Persons afflicted with a congenital liability to alcoholism become alcohol addicts, the experts said, if they seek to correct a neurotic condition or "personality inadequacy" by drinking. After a few years of increasing intoxication, such persons reach a point where they lose control of their alcohol consumption and eventually become chronic cases. The experts estimated the duration of this process to average 15 years.

A cure is possible, the experts said, with the help of drugs making alcohol abhorrent to the patient, as well as of voluntary organizations such as Alcoholics Anonymous. Once cured, an alcoholic must maintain total abstinence for the rest of his life.

Grand Dragon Jailed On Mail Violations

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The grand dragon of the Florida Ku Klux Klan has been indicted on charges of violating the postal laws.

Bill Hendrix is accused in a four-count indictment of mailing libelous and defamatory postcards to Drew Pearson, newspaper and radio columnist, and to three Floridians; Kenneth Ballinger, Tallahassee lawyer; State Rep. Bryant Patton of Apalachicola, chairman of the Florida American Legion's Americanism Committee; and to Gov. Fuller Warren.

Hendrix was jailed yesterday in $2,000 bond. The charges against him, he said, amounted to "outright persecution."

Ben Blue's Remarks About Jane Russell Not Taken Too Well

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Comedian Ben Blue invited his long-time friends Jane Russell and her football star husband Bob Waterfield to be his guests at a night spot where he was appearing.

But his quips about Miss Russell's curves didn't go over with the Waterfields.

One report said Waterfield stalked Blue ater the show, grabbed him by his coat lapels and threatened to smash him to the floor. Blue and Miss Russell later denied this. Waterfield could not be reached for comment.

"This has all been greatly exaggerated," Miss Russell said. "We just got up and left after the show. After all these years I'm getting hardened to such remarks."

Widow Of Ace Claims Husband Didn't Want To Stay In Korea

LUBBOCK, Feb. 13 (AP) — While Washington waited today for an explanation from the Far East Air Command as to why Maj. George A. Davis Jr., Lubbock, was kept in Korea, his wife here repeated charges that her husband was never given a choice in the matter.

Mrs. Davis, who is expecting her third child in May, quoted recent letters from her husband as a basis for her beliefs.

Davis, America's leading jet ace, was shot down Sunday in a Korean air battle. He is credited with destroying 11 enemy jets and three bombers in Korea.

At the request of Mrs. Davis, Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex) asked the Air Force for a full investigation. Air Force officials said the Far East Command had been instructed to supply Washington with all data bearing on Davis' assignment.

Mrs. Davis says her husband should have been able to come home after downing his fifth enemy plane, according to Air Force policy in effect then.

Yesterday, Mrs. Davis received a letter Davis had written Feb. 4. It said:

"Today, I received a letter from George Mahon wanting to know the situation and my status. I think I will write him and tell him just exactly what has happened and let him see what can be done from there if anything."

Mrs. Davis said that her husband wrote in a letter dated Jan. 25:

"The Air Force hasn't asked me if I want to come home but you can rest assured that I will if I get the chance. This beats anything I've ever heard in my life. I have not been asked if I wanted to come home and I don't know where the information came from. I will be home at the first opportunity and let me repeat again I have not been asked if I wanted to come home."

Mrs. Davis said he wrote a day earlier, Jan. 24:

"Just hold on a short time longer and maybe this will be our last war. I really think two in one lifetime is enough.

"We are out of numerous things to make planes fly now so they will no doubt be slow for a couple of weeks. It is rather disgusting to think we can't support what few planes we have in this war."

In Washington informants said Air Force policy on the return and rotation of combat pilots has undergone several changes in the last 12 months—dictated by the increased tempo of the air war in Korea.

Until mid-December, the guiding policy provided that fighter pilots should return after 100 missions, bomber crews after 50 missions and transport crewmen after 750 flying hours or one year of consecutive duty.

This policy had been modified in the case of jet aces to return them to the United States to help train other pilots.

About Dec. 14, however, Air Force headquarters authorized the Far East Air Command, at its request, to retain jet aces who volunteered to stay in the theater.

Informants said air headquarters several times asked that Davis be sent back to this country, but in each instance left the decision up to the pilot himself and to his superiors in the Far East.

Moral Upheavel Advocated By Speaker Here

"We must have a moral and spiritual revolution in America if this country is to retain its position of world leadership," the Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, told the Lions Club at their luncheon yesterday.

In his talk Hubbard said the greatest minds of our country today advocate a moral revolution as the only means possible to save the country—but he stressed that many of them are forgetting the most important part of the idea. That part, he said, is that the moral revolution can only take place in our churches.

In his address, Hubbard said he was talking as a Lion, not as a pastor of a church. The address was entitled "Lionism, As It Fits Into the World Today."

Hubbard outlined danger signals he said indicate that the nation is at a crucial point which necessitates the moral and spiritual revolution. The danger signals are: that Americans worship money; Americans lack Christianity; and Americans are getting the idea that force means right.

Those false principles were true of Germany when they turned to Hitler, he said.

J. J. Dyer, president of the club, said there will be no luncheon next Tuesday, but the regular meeting will be next Tuesday night when a ladies night will be held.

Florists Having Hard Time Keeping Up With Funeral Wreaths

LONDON (AP) — Florists disclosed Wednesday that one of the most elaborate of an estimated 100,000 floral tributes ordered for Friday's funeral of King George VI has come from Egypt's King Farouk, whose country is involved in a bitter quarrel with Britain.

The wreath includes hundreds of curled laurel leaves—it took two women 12 hours to curl them—and white lilies. The white silk ribbon attached is incribed "King Farouk of Egypt and the Sudan."

Other figures embroiled in controversy with the late King's government also sent wreaths.

Florists, swamped with work, hired hundreds of extra workers.

Among those who ordered wreaths was Egyptian Prime Minister Aly Maher Pasha and Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh and his Iranian government.

From Peiping, the press reported a sharp attack in the Communist organ Jen Min Jih Pao on reported British persecution of Chinese "patriots" in Hong Kong.

West Texans Show Truman To Have Slight Margin Over Ike

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, Feb. 13 (AP)—If it finally turns out to be a choice between Harry or Ike for president, which way would Texas go?

After asking that question of 83 Texans in 32 counties from the Panhandle to the Gulf Plains, your correspondent added up the little marks in his notebook as follows:

Truman 33; Eisenhower 30; don't know 15; none of your business 5.

Out in Amarillo your correspondent was present when an informal poll by a show of hands was taken of approximately 100 editors and business men and their wives at a dinner. On the same question 96 said General Eisenhower would win; four women voted for President Truman.

These editors and wives were from all parts of Texas. The folks I talked to were from Central, West and Northwest Texas. Much of it was a region where Eisenhower leaders have started a terrific thrust. Most of the pro-Eisenhower people I talked with were in the Panhandle - Plains or northwest area. Nearly all of them had been Democrats.

I found it difficult to draw a line between Eisenhower Republicians and Shivers Democrats. Shivers Democrats are those who oppose Truman; who would like for Texas to stay Democratic; but who aren't sure or aren't saying what they would do in case the Democrats nominate Truman.

Gov. Shivers himself said if Truman is nominated, he would come back home for new instructions from the Democrats.

Among those who said Eisenhower would carry Texas if it narrows down to him and Truman were a West Texas district judge; several newspapermen; lawyers; insurance men; a machine-shop operator; a hill country ranch owner; an independent oil operator: a former member of the legislature.

Not one farmer believed a Republican, even Eisenhower, could do it. Most of the farmers I talked to were burned up at the administration, at tax scandals; they wanted a change, but not of parties. They had always been and remained Democrats.

They were like one landowner in Childress County, an enthusiast for the rural electrification program. He remembered he didn't have power before REA. Now he pumped water, ran his feed mill, operated a shop drill, sharpened his tools by electricity. His wife cooked with it.

"If it came to a choice between Truman and Eisenhower, I expect the Truman people would remind me and a lot of others that it was the Democrats that put electricity into our farms," he said.

A West Texas public official spoke typically on the other side.

"I took a walk the last time Truman ran and I wouldn't vote for him if it cost me my job," he said.

This climaxed a bitter catalogue of complaints: extravagant spending, corruption, taxes too high, trend toward statism. He said he would vote for Eisenhower if he had the chance.

"But I doubt if the Republicans will give it to me," he observed.

A South Plains county judge repeated the essence of those complaints but believed nearly all the farmers in that area would stay hitched to the Democrats.

"It's dry and things are tough now," he said. "But they won't forget those 16 good years. They'll holler for a change but go right on voting Democratic. Even for Truman."
