Special Election On Repeal Asked

Selection Of One Delegate From Each Of 31 State Senatorial Districts Is Proposed

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 22.—A bill proposing that the governor of Texas call a special election for the purpose of picking delegates to a state convention to consider repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution was filed with the clerk of the house of representatives today.

Under its provisions the governor would fix a date for the election immediately, the voting to take place not less than sixty days after notice has been received of the national congress' submission of the proposition.

The bill is sponsored by Representative P. L. Anderson of San Antonio.

In the senate was pending a bill by Senator George C. Purl of Dallas proposing that delegates to the prohibition repeal convention be nominated and elected in the 1934 party primaries and general election. Anti-prohibitionists had expressed opposition to that proposal as postponing action by Texas for too long a period.

The Anderson bill provides for the election of one delegate from each of the thirty-one senatorial districts. Candidates would be required to state in their applications for a place on the ballots whether they are for ratification, against ratification or whether they are unpledged. Candidates would be grouped on the ballots under the headings: "for ratification," "against ratification," and "unpledged."

Delegates elected to the convention would meet at the capitol in Austin on the twenty-eighth day after their election at 10 a. m. and

Borah Declares America Does Not Need Dictator

Says He Is Certain Roosevelt Desires No Such Powers

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Senator Borah asserted in emphatic terms today America does not need a dictator, but a program and a policy for which there are "ample constitutional powers."

The Idaho Republican wrote a blistering letter to this effect to M. C. Migel, president of the American Silk Spinning company of Province, Rhode Island, who had suggested to Borah he propose, if he had "courage" enough, that President-elect Roosevelt be given "dictatorial powers within the constitution" to deal with the emergency situation.

Denies Powers Exist

Borah said in reply there was no such thing as "dictatorial powers within the constitution," that he was certain Mr. Roosevelt desired no such authority, and if congress ever granted it he would expect the incoming president to "fling it back in the chattering teeth of a pusillanimous congress with the reminder that he was the president of the United States and not its dictator."

"There is no niche or corner within the fabric of this government," he added, "within which congress can confer dictatorial powers without the cowardly betrayal of its constitutional obligations.

Reminds There Is Court

"And beyond congress is a supreme court which has not yet suffered an attack of this flabby Americanism."

Borah asserted further the constitution framers did not contemplate "there would ever come a time when the American people would brook the presence of a dictator or connive at the bestowal upon anyone of dictatorial powers."

"They were not of that breed of men," he said. "And I should hope that if congress should ever undertake to confer dictatorial powers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. (AP)—An emergency plan for helping the cotton-growing south tonight topped the heap of farm-aid bills that are piled up at the capitol awaiting a chance to get on the statute books before the March 4 deadline.

The measure, already passed by the senate, now has the approval of the house agriculture committee and is scheduled for Democratic leaders for consideration on the floor. It would offer participation in a government cotton pool as an incentive to farmers to curtail their 1933 production.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Heralding the imminence of a new administration, it was authentically revealed today that President-elect Roosevelt had just completed a cabinet of national pattern and turned to other major appointments.

Barring an unexpected shift at the last minute, three of those to sit around the White House council table with the next chief executive will be from the east, three from the south, two from the mid-west and two from the west.

One Name A Secret

Of the 10, but one name has remained a secret until now—that of Daniel C. Roper, of South Carolina, as secretary of commerce.

Homer Cummings, of Connecticut, is understood to be slated for governor-general of the Philippines; putting at rest reports that Mr. Roosevelt intended to leave in that high post, for the time being at least, his distant relative, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

Norman H. Davis, by invitation of the president-elect in New York today, will remain as head of the American delegation to the Geneva arms conference, assuring continuity of this country's policy there.

Set-Up Is Announced

Although only the first two of the 10 have been formally announced, the cabinet set-up is accepted in Washington to be:

Jimmie Mattern Shows The Home Folks His New Plane

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 22. (AP)—Jimmie Mattern showed the home folk this afternoon the rebuilt Century of Progress monoplane in which he hopes to beat the record of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty in a circle of the globe some time this spring or summer. Bennett Griffin, who accompanied him last year, will be co-pilot again in the second attempt.

The exact date for the flight has not been set. The Sino-Japanese conflict in the far east may have some bearing upon the time. Mattern says he doesn't mind flying the Atlantic and the Bering sea, but he doesn't want to be mistaken for either a Japanese or Chinese plane over the war zone and "have to land on the great wall." He landed last year in a peat bog in Russia, which he mistook in the twilight for a smooth meadow.

French Senate Refuses Plan For Large Military Slashes

PARIS, Feb. 22. (AP)—Despite a plea by Premier Edouard Daladier, the senate tonight refused in principle the government's request for a large reduction in military expenditures. The vote was 170 to 133.

Playing a part in the action was a speech by Former President Alexandre Millerand who declared that the European situation made a strong national defense imperative.

M. Millerand declared Germany had not respected the arms reduction treaty and was seeking to revise it.

Man Is Balked In Attempt To Free His Son

Claude Boettcher Moving More Secretly To Avoid Police; Steadfast In Determination To Act Independently

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, Feb. 22.—Thwarted by police in his first attempt to keep a rendezvous with the kidnapers of his son, Charles Boettcher 2nd, wealthy investment broker, Claude K. Boettcher, moved more secretly tonight to avoid interference in event he again is summoned by the abductors.

Steadfast in his determination to carry on negotiations independent of authorities, the worried multi-millionaire abandoned his attempt to meet the kidnapers near Derby, Colo., last night when two detectives, J. S. Turner and M. D. Corney trailed him almost to the designated spot.

Returns To Home

There Boettcher wheeled, demanded that the detectives allow him to "handle this case my own way," and then returned home.

"My excursion failed because I was followed," the defiant father of the missing 31-year-old broker said. "After going 10 or 12 miles I became convinced two automobiles were following me and so I turned back. As long as those cars were on my trail I knew my efforts to carry out instructions were useless."

Believe Agent Named

Chief of Police A. T. Clark, who had sharply rebuked Boettcher for shunting aside the police aid, said "we learned through sources which I do not care to disclose that Boettcher was to meet the kidnapers."

He said the detectives followed him home.

Boettcher's insistence the kidnapers name an "agent" to negotiate with him in the payment of the $60,000 ransom bore fruit, police believe, in the story of I. E. Anderson, Colorado Springs, attorney, who said unidentified persons had requested him to act as an intermediary.

PAYMENT AUTHORIZED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. (AP)—The senate today passed and sent to the White House a bill authorizing the payment of $15,000 each to the families of Emilio Rubio and Manuel Gomez, Mexicans who were killed by deputy sheriffs at Ardmore, Okla., June 7, 1931.

Redistricting Bill Killed By Senate Group Wednesday

AUSTIN, Feb. 22. (AP)—The senate committee on senatorial districts today killed a bill by Senator Archie Parr of Benavides to provide for senatorial redistricting. The vote was six to two, with Senators Parr and Gus Russek of Schulenburg giving notice of a minority report.

The Parr bill was the only redistricting proposal which had been introduced in the senate. Unless the senate overrules its committee's action, there likely will be no senatorial redistricting during this session of the legislature.

Federal Agencies Are Tracking Down Would-Be Assassin But Few Clues Are Offered As Aid To Officers

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Armed with few clues, federal agencies tonight were tracking an unknown would-be assassin who directed an explosive to President-elect Roosevelt here.

In the hands of the secret service and postal inspection service was a crudely made apparatus, dangerous if improperly handled.

Addressed to "Franklin D. Roosevelt, Washington, D. C.," it was seized in the Washington postoffice as it was loosened from a sack of mail and burst its wrappings. It was postmarked at Watertown, N. Y.

Trail Being Sought

The trail of the sender was sought there.

The explosive consisted of a shotgun shell, with wiring shaped as a "J" over the cap. Postal authorities estimated it had "one chance in ten" of ever exploding, and then only by being dropped in a perpendicular position. Ordnance officers of the navy department who usually are charged with destruction of such packages after other agencies have completed their investigation, expressed doubt that fatal injuries could have resulted from an explosion of the shell.

Danger Of Blinding

The most serious possible injuries to one improperly handling the package, they said would probably have been from the blinding effect of the load of shot in the shell or from the brass top of it when carried by the force of an explosion.

There was virtually no chance of its having reached the president-elect in any event, for all parcels are examined by secret service op-

Japs Look To Attack Danger

Spokesman Says Japan Has No Plan To Carry Fight South Of Great Wall; Danger Of Attack Is Seen

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Feb. 22.—A government spokesmen said today there was "real danger" that Japan would be compelled to take steps to protect Japanese nationals in Peiping and Tientsin endangered by the impending military campaign to conquer the province of Jehol to the north.

The government intends soon to inform the ambassadors of the principal powers interested in China of the policy it will pursue concerning the Peiping-Tientsin area. These ambassadors (one of whom naturally would be the American representative) will be told, the spokesman said, that the army has no plan to carry the Jehol operations south of the great wall of China.

"However, there is real danger," he asserted, "that a backwash from the Jehol campaign will result in a Chinese attack on our garrison at Tientsin or in a massacre of Japanese at Peiping, in which event the army would be compelled to move to protect them. Barring such unfortunate developments, the fighting will be confined to Jehol."

Heart Attack Proves Fatal For Registrar

Veteran Educator Succumbs At About 6:30 Wednesday Night; Funeral Arrangements Await Arrival Of Relatives

Tech Flag At Half-Staff But Work Will Go Forward; Knapp Returns Today; Praise For Devotion Given

E. L. DOHONEY, 61, registrar at Texas Technological college since its founding, and veteran educator, died unexpectedly in his home at about 6:30 o'clock last night.

Mrs. Dohoney and her daughter, Ann, returning to their residence at 1504 Avenue X, after dinner, found Mr. Dohoney dead in bed. A physician, who had seen the registrar shortly after noon, attributed death to a heart attack.

Arrangements Incomplete

Funeral arrangements were incomplete last night, pending arrival of relatives. Burial probably will be in Houston. Rix funeral home said.

After many years spent in public school systems of Texas, as principal and superintendent, Mr. Dohoney was appointed Tech registrar in 1925 before a brick of the institution had been placed. His first office, in the new position, was opened in Amarillo where he was residing when he received the appointment.

Flag At Half-Staff

Texas Tech's flag will fly at half-staff today and Friday, but classes will continue as usual, James M. Gordon, liberal arts dean, said. The registrar's office will be closed, and classes scheduled for the time funeral services are to be conducted will be dismissed.

Dean Gordon, who had been in almost daily contact with Mr. Dohoney since 1925, praised the educator as "a tireless worker, proficient and efficient, and devoted to Tech." Mr. Dohoney was assistant liberal arts dean.

Threat To Quit Made By Senator

AUSTIN, Feb. 22. (AP)—The regular meeting of the senate finance committee this afternoon ended in confusion with Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston threatening to resign as chairman of the committee.

Senator Holbrook became angry as a result of the committee's unwillingness to cut the salary of Lee Simmons of Sherman, manager of the state prison system. He threatened to resign and to explain to the people of Texas that he was taking that action because the finance committee would not "go down the line" with him on an economy program.

The committee had voted once, seven to four, to leave Mr. Simmons' salary at $8,000 annually. However, this action was rescinded after several additional committee members entered, in order that a vote more representative of the committee might be taken.

Hitler, Depicted As A Sabre-Rattling Believer In Big Armies And Navies, Pledges Nation To Aid Disarmament

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Correspondent
(Copyright, 1933, By Associated Press)

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, whom political opponents depict as a sabre-rattling believer in big armies and navies, committed himself unequivocally today to a policy of universal and complete disarmament.

"We are willing to go to any lengths to further the ideal of disarmament," the chancellor told the Associated Press.

Then, raising his voice passionately and giving a punch to every word with an emphatic gesture or a vigorous nod of his head, he continued:

"But we insist that the same standards shall apply for all. Do away altogether with armies if you please and Germany will gladly scrap hers also."

This declaration by the new chancellor was one of the marginal notes, so to speak, emphasizing the points in a written memorandum which he handed the correspondent at the conclusion of the interview.

"You have submitted a number of questions," said Herr Hitler, who was dressed in his customary black suit, with a nazi swastika in the lapel of his coat. He dropped informally into a big leather chair.

"To some I shall reply quite briefly," he continued, "whereas I wish to discuss compulsory labor service and the militia at more length.

"First, our relation to America. The attitude of the national government of Germany toward the United States is, as could not be imagined otherwise, one

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE R. SEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

SINCE some time in January, you have been reading or hearing occasionally of proposals for the establishment of a county children's council in Lubbock.

Representatives of various societies in the city and county, particularly the city, have gathered on several different occasions at Seaman hall to hear reports and to discuss the possibilities of forming a children's unit for this county. At the last meeting it was voted to form this council and a committee was appointed to make a survey of children's needs here.

You may have heard that much and wondered what the functions of this unit may be. There may have been a question in your mind concerning the scope of the program to be undertaken and the things that may be accomplished.

This council is to be similar in purpose and organization to others all over the country. Texas people are proposing to establish a number within the next few months. All of these have a general aim — child health and protection. All have aims that are stated in The Children's Charter, which is a pledge that grew out of President Hoover's White House Conference on Child Health and Protection from members "recognizing the rights of the child as first rights of citizenship."

In order that you may know what these pledges are and may know the aims of the unit that is proposed here, the charter is being reproduced in this column today and tomorrow. The first part is given today. The remainder will be in this column in the morning. It is as follows:

"For every child spiritual and moral training to help him to stand firm under the pressure of life.

"For every child understanding and the guarding of his personality as his most precious right.

"For every child a home and that love and security which a home provides; and for that child who must receive care, the nearest substitute for his own home.

"For every child full preparation from birth through adolescense, inprenatal, natal and postnatal care; and the establishment of such protective measures as will make childbearing safer.

"For every child health protection from birth through adolescence, including: periodical health examinations and, where needed, care of specialists and hospital treatment; regular dental examinations and care of the teeth; protective and preventive measures against communicable diseases; the insuring of pure food, pure milk, and pure water.

"For every child from birth through adolescence, promotion of health, including health instruction and a health program, wholesome physical and mental recreation, with teachers and leaders adequately trained.

"For every child a dwelling place safe, sanitary and wholesome, with reasonable provisions for privacy, free from conditions which tend to thwart his development; and a home environment harmonious and enriching.

"For every child a school which is safe from hazards, sanitary, properly equipped, lighted and ventilated. For younger children nursery schools and kindergartens to supplement home care.

"For every child a community which recognizes and plans for his needs, protects him against physical dangers, moral hazards, and disease; provides him with safe and wholesome places for play and recreation; and makes provision for his cultural and social needs.

"For every child an education which, through the discovery and development of his individual abilities, prepares him for life and through training and vocational guidance prepares him for a living which will yield him the maximum of satisfaction.

Tech-West Texas Series Postponed Until Next Week

Matador Athletic Department Pauses To Pay Tributes To Memory Of E. L. Dohoney Today; Games Postponed

In respect to the memory of E. L. Dohoney, college registrar and member of the athletic council, Texas Tech's athletic program will be halted this week and the scheduled series with West Texas Teachers college has been postponed.

W. L. Stangel, chairman of the athletic council, said last night that the series would be played Monday and Tuesday nights. Russell T. Smith, athletic department business manager, communicated with Coach S. D. Burton at Canyon last night and confirmed the new dates.

Efforts were made to have the games played Friday and Saturday nights here, but West Texas had a game scheduled at Canyon for Saturday night.

A large crowd was expected at the Tech gymnasium tonight when the "tallest team in America" was to parade before local fandom for the first time this season, and in the final games here this year.

Illinois Resigns From NBA; Jack Dempsey Is Free

CHICAGO, Feb. 22. (AP)—Reports in connection with Jack Dempsey's long-standing argument with Mississippi boxing officials today resulted in disclosing Illinois has withdrawn from the National Boxing association.

The resignation was mailed to James "Bingo" Brown, Ypsilanti, Mich., president of the N.B.A. by retiring members of the Illinois State Athletic commission last Demember 13 with the explanation they desired to give the newly appointed commission an open road in the matter of affiliation.

It was doubtful tonight whether the new commission, headed by Joe Triner, would apply for membership although Brown was reported to be anxious to keep Illinois, a key state in the organization spread over 39 states, in the fold. Triner refused to comment other than to reveal the commission no longer was a member.

The disclosure of the resignation came when the South Bend, Ind., Tribune published a copyrighted story which said Illinois might resign from the N.B.A. unless Dempsey was reinstated to good standing in the national organization so he could promote the proposed Max Schmeling-Max Baer heavyweight match at Chicago this summer. Dempsey was suspended by the Mississippi commission, a member of the N.B.A., for an alleged "run-out" in a boxing failure at Columbus, Miss., in the fall of 1929. Despite Dempsey's plea he acted merely as a referee at the Columbus show and that another man was the promoter, Mississippi commission demanded he pay $1,143 for debts accumulated in Mississippi and throughout all N. B.A. territory.

Chairman Triner refused to discuss the Dempsey angle except to say with Illinois out of the N.B.A. Dempsey had no suspension worries in Illinois.

Southern California Ready For Baseball Advance Guard

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22. (AP)—Southern California was ready tonight for the annual spring invasion of major league baseball clubs.

Girl scouts conducted a flag dedication ceremony at the Mexican school at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with Miss Alma Girand, local executive, in charge.

Elinor Crenshaw presented a large American flag to members of the Mexican troop. Virginia Knapp and Ruth Carmichael were color guards. Tita Garcia and San Juana Garcia accepted the flag for the Mexican troop, Father Gabriel spoke briefly, and the flag was dedicated with the Lord's prayer. Miss Alice Mulkey, national representative, of Amarillo, spoke on "A Good Turn." Hot chocolate and cookies were served.

MILLIONTH MILE PASSED

CLEVELAND, O.,— Warren D. Williams, pilot on a New York-Cleveland air line, has completed more than a million miles in the air without injury to a passenger or letter. His first flight was made in 1916 as a member of the First Aero Squadron on the Mexican expedition. He became an air mail pilot after the World War and has been piloting planes on the New York-Cleveland division since 1929.

College To Disband

The Columbus American Association baseball team has signed Clifton Wright, pitcher of the championship 1932 team of the University of Indiana.

Four Reasons Why The Buffs Are Pretty Good

Here are four of Coach S. D. Burton's West Texas Buffs who, along with Joe Fortenberry, not pictured here, have brought honor and glory to the Canyon school and West Texas. Guy Richards, a six-foot, 1-inch guard, once played at Ralls High school, but has two Buff basketball letters. George Colvin stands 6 feet, 5 inches high, and is a regular forward. Fast, well versed in basketball and a fiery player, Colvin is one of the valuable sparkplugs of the team. Frank Monroe, the other forward, is a junior and a letter man, with six feet and three inches of height. Burke, Otis Burk, has been shifted from forward to guard since last year. He's another Crosby county product. He also ranges over six feet.

The Buffs play a two-game series against the Tech Matadors Thursday and Friday nights here in the closing basketball games of the season.

Cochran Ties With Carlton In Medal Run

Gus Moreland Qualifies For Houston Invitation Tourney With 150, Three Above The Medalists' Scores

HOUSTON, Feb. 22. (AP)—Age and experience were matched today when two veterans of the fairways, Ossie Carlton of Houston and Tommy Cochran of Tyler divided honors in the nerve-straining 36 holes qualifying round of the 19th annual Houston Country club invitation.

Carlton, former Texas amateur king and invitation winner in 1924, 1928 and 1929, toured the final nine holes in 32 shots, two under par, that gave him a 36-hole total of 75-72—147. He had passed through the front nine with a glaring 40.

Tommy Holds Up

Cochran, Texas amateur champion in 1924 and 1925 and runner-up in the invitation the same years, never conquered par but he blistered the course in rounds of 73-74—147 to share medalist honors with the man to whom he lost the invitation title in 1924.

Slim Willie Maguire, jr., son of the Houston Country club professional, stood on the 18th tee and medalist, Cochran and Carlton had finished and were at the 18th green waiting to see if Maguire would beat them. All Maguire needed was par four to finish a stroke in front. His drive sailed the middle but his second cleared the green and bounds. He dropped another ball and was short off the carpet, catching a trap. He pitched out and required two putts for a six to finish with 74-74—148.

Moreland Is Popular

Gus Moreland, the 1931 and 1932 Texas amateur champion who is pointed out by gallerites as the trans-Mississippi, Western amateur and defending invitation champion, qualified wth a 76-74—150.

Moreland had his chance to put youth in front of age, but his shots went astray on the last four holes which he finished three over par. Moreland used 32 putts on the 18-hole trek. His card today was 38-36—74.

Johnnie Dawson, ranking amateur from Chicago and established tournament favorite, easily qualified with 76-72—148. Dawson led the medalist field until Cochran and Carlton, who played together, turned in their cards.

Some of the best shooting was turned in by Dawson, Carlton and David "Spec" Goldman of Dallas and finalist in the 1932 trans-Mississippi. Each had cards of 72, one over par. Goldman, who ranks along with Dawson and Moreland as a gallery favorite, slipped two over par with a 38 on the front nine, but he was master of his game on the back nine to click with a 34, one under par.

Bennie Lee Supposed To Be In Tourney; Efforts To Sell Him Ducat Fails

HOUSTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—Bennie Lee Boynton of Dallas, former all-American football player and ranked by some as the leading Southwest conference football official, isn't so sure he is playing in the Houston Country Club Invitation golf tournament.

Bennie showed up today at the starting tent. A pretty girl walked up to him and said:

"Mr. Boynton, would you care to purchase a gallery ticket?"

Bennie's voice failed him but he managed to stammer:

"Why I am sorry, but I am playing in the tournament."

"Yes, I just noticed your yesterday's qualifying round of 41-43—84 and thought perhaps you would like to buy a gallery ticket to watch the remainder of the tournament."

Longhorns Defeat Rice Owls, 59-31

AUSTIN, Feb. 22. (AP)—The University of Texas moved a step nearer the Southwest conference basketball crown here tonight by soundly trouncing Rice in easy fashion, 59 to 31.

Runyan And Smith Win 4-Ball Match

MIAMI COUNTRY CLUB, MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 22. (AP)—Taking the lead with three birdies in the first four holes of the afternoon round, two youngsters, Paul Runyan and Horton Smith, held on doggedly against two veterans today and won the international four ball championship from Olin Dutra and Tommy Armour, 2 and 1.

Their victory came in a gruelling battle that was in doubt until Runyan laid his tee shot 12 feet from the cup on the short par four 35th hole, with his side leading two up, but it was Smith who ended the match by putting first and dropping in a birdie three to halve the hole.

One down after nine holes, Smith and Runyan won the 10th to even the match and the 12th to go one up, and held the advantage at lunch as they halved the remaining holes.

NEW RECORD SET

HOUSTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—A five foot-five inch forward, Maxie Hyman of Sam Houston High school, set a new city school boy record for scoring at the close of the basketball season last night. He took 15 points in the final game for a season score of 107. The previous record was 81.

British Racer Runs 273 MPH On Sand Beach

"Roughest Ride I Ever Had," Says Sir Malcolm After Going Up And Down Rippling Beach For New Speed Mark

(By The Associated Press)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 22—England's dominance in the realm of speed was skyrocketed to new heights today up by Sir Malcolm Campbell who in two blistering runs over the hard-packed beach here today streaked to a new world automobile speed mark of 272.108 miles an hour. The record was made over a measured mile route.

He also established a new record of 272.463 miles an hour over one kilometer on the same trials, and 257.295 over a five kilometer course.

Campbell covered the kilometer, which is approximately five-eighths of a mile, in 8.18 seconds for a speed of 273.463 miles an hour on his first run.

In setting up a new record for five kilometers, the figures on which were not announced by officials until tonight, Campbell attained a two way average speed of 257.285. His previous record for that distance, established here last year, was 247.941.

Driving a long, streamlined Bluebird car, equipped with a 2,500-horsepower airplane motor, the 48-year-old Campbell clipped .94 of a second off his own previous record of 253.968 for the mile and increased the mark by 18.140 miles an hour.

First Run Swiftest

On his first run the British driver attained the astounding speed of 273.556 miles an hour as he roared over the beach, paralleled on one side by a pounding surf and on the other by high, irregular sand dunes from which thousands of spectators looked on. His time for the mile on that run was 13.16 seconds.

His second trial, made in the opposite direction, was closed at 13.30 seconds for a speed of 270.676 miles an hour.

Returning to the grandstand after his trials to be greeted by cheering spectators, Campbell characterized his race as "the worst ride I ever had in my life.

The beach was bumpy, the visibility bad and on top of that he was forced to steer the bouncing car over the course with only one hand, as he had injured the other a week ago in making repairs to the machine.

"The beach was so rough," he said, "that on several occasions I thought I was gone. If I had not been able to control the car so magnificently, I should have landed either in the sand dunes or in the ocean.

330 Miles Per Hour

"On my first run, my tachometer, or engine speed indicator, showed I was doing 330 miles an hour, but the course was so rough, my wheels were spinning almost constantly, so my actual forward speed was reduced greatly.

"The visibility was very, very bad. First, I was heading for the sand dunes and the next instant I was heading for the sea. The car was shaking all over the course.

"From the very start, my arm was hurting me badly. It was all I could do to shift gears. Then, when I got up fairly good speed, I bumped along over the course like a pea in a pod.

"I did not put my foot down hard on the accelerator until I had almost reached the measured mile, because the car would not have stayed under control at a high speed, with the beach as bumpy as it was."

Tires Cut Badly

Sea shells strewn on the course cut Campbell's tires badly. On the rear driving tires the rubber was stripped off in some spots down to the fabric.

"On both of my runs," Campbell continued, "there were times when I could see no distance, whatever, ahead. I just had to guess and trust to luck.

"Also, I was bothered by sand being kicked up into my face. And from strong fumes from the motor.

"The car behaved magnificently under the terrible conditions, but I certainly had a tough time keeping it from running all over the beach."

Young Corbett Defeats Jackie Fields For Welterweight Championship Of The World In Ten-Round Decision Go

Fresno Boxer Wins Seven Rounds Of Title Fight

BY RUSSEL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SEALS STADIUM, SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—Climaxing a three year struggle to the top, Young Corbett, Fresno, Calif., was awarded the welterweight championship of the world here today after his flying fists had thudded out a decisive victory over Jackie Fields in a bristling ten-round bout.

As the shadows began closing in on the stadium, the Fresno southpaw put on a closing round rally that definitely established his superiority over a rival whom he defeated three years ago today in a non-title bout.

Some 15,000 fans cheered as the referee, Lieut. Jack Kennedy U. S. N. lifted the arm of the stocky youth from the raisin belt country, and awarded him the 147-lb. crown.

Wins Majority Rounds

Leaving no doubt as to his superiority, Corbett outfought and outpunched his rival in seven of the rounds, according to the count of the referee, who called one session even and gave two to the champion.

The Fresno left hander's battle plan included a killing pace from the start. He shot in long lefts to the chin that had Fields missing as early as midway of the opening round.

Out-guessing Fields as the latter bored in, head down, the new champion jumped back after every drive to counter with lefts to the body that jolted much of the fight out of his opponent.

Name "Corbett" Helps

For the fourth time in the history of boxing the name "Corbett" proved the downfall of a champion. The Fresno Italian followed a long line of illustrious predecessors that started when James J. Corbett punched the heavyweight crown from the head of the weary John L. Sullivan.

George Green, San Francisco, original "Young Corbett" followed soon after to defeat "Mysterious" Billy Smith, welterweight titleholder, and Young Corbett II (William Rothwell) knocked out "Terrible" Terry McGovern to claim the featherweight crown.

After losing the first five rounds, Fields came to life to win the sixth. In this round he pummeled Corbett on the face and body at will, the latter tiring under the punishment.

The Fresnan put on steam, however, to gain a decided edge in the seventh round. Near the close of the session he connected four times with lefts to Fields' jaw, the latter stopping dead in his tracks under the blows.

Sensing defeat and exhorted by his handlers to "get in there and fight" Fields made his greatest bid in the ninth round when he batered Corbett around the ring. The challenger made but little show of a defense in the session and contented himself mainly with attempting to tie up Fields in the clinches.

With a chance to retain his crown, if even by way of the knock-out route, Fields rushed out in the tenth, and for most of the three minutes held the advantage.

His punching was considerably weaker than at the start, however, and at no time was Corbett in danger.

Then, with seconds to go, Corbett opened up with a barrage that nearly upset his rangier opponent. Three times, as Fields rushed in, he bumped into stiff left handers to the jaw. Corbett also put in a couple of rights to the body that took away whatever steam Fields had left.

While figures of the gate receipts were not available immediately after the bout, Ancil Hoffman, associated with the promotion of the contest, estimated they would run around $50,000.

Pietro Georgia, 175, Buffalo, N. Y., and Sammy James, 170, negro, Los Angeles, fought a four-round draw after the main event.

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Feb. 22. (AP)—Sheriff Ira Allen questioned for several hours three suspects arrested in connection with the torch slaying of Lee Marshall, 50-year-old homesteader, but would not discuss the case today except to say that only circumstantial evidence has been uncovered so far.

The three men, Roy Reid, 24 Leonard Beck, 24 and Jack Carr, 27, have denied they were implicated and offered an alibi concerning their movements on the night Marshall was burned to death at his dugout home near Logan. The men were taken into custody on suspicion and have not been connected with the killing, officers said.

Muleshoe-Morton Highway Promised

MULESHOE, Feb. 22 (Special)—Definite assurance that a state highway connecting Muleshoe and Morton, would be designated, was given J. E. Adams, county judge and Jess Mitchell, editor of the Muleshoe Journal, on their recent trip to Austin. The two men met with the state highway commission at the state capitol to discuss plans for a highway from Dalhart to Odessa.

The commission agreed to designate a state highway provided the county agreed to pay for services of a state engineer to make the survey; a 100 foot right of way and certain definte work of establishing the grade. After this has been met the state will take over, maintain and pave the road.

Route is uncertain but is expected to follow the present county road south of Muleshoe past the Needmore store to where it connects with the Bula-Enochs road. It will there swing west a mile to a section line and thence south to Cochran county. The road will pass within a half mile of Enochs, community on the I. C. Enochs lands.

Cochran county is understood to have secured a 100 foot right of way but this may be changed as there are two half mile jogs in the route from Morton, county seat, north to the county line.

GAS SAVING Hints

Be sure that every appliance that uses gas is properly adjusted and operates satisfactorily.

Do not turn on appliances until they are needed. Stove burners use gas from the moment they are lighted, whether they are cooking food or not.

Do not try to hurry cooking or heating by turning the gas flame too high. Do not use the large burner when a smaller one will do.

Keep all gas burners and other gas using devices clean, so that every burner opening will feed its share of gas to the flame.

Do not use the range oven to heat the kitchen, because it uses twice as much gas as a small portable heater. A small heater for the kitchen will pay for itself quickly in gas savings.

Never allow hot water faucets to run or drip. The gas wasted to heat water that runs away, in a short time will pay for many washers for your leaky faucets.

"I can't do 100-miles-an-hour ...but give me an oil that can"

YOU MAY NOT like speed—but your oil should!

Forty miles an hour may seem fast to you. But the oil that goes into your crankcase should be the 100-mile-an-hour oil—Gulf Supreme!

Why? That's simple! For the oil that can live through the blistering punishment of 100-miles-an-hour is a better oil—a better oil at ANY speed... high or low!

It gives you extra protection. Extra protection against heat, wear and the things that send a motor to the shop!

Has Gulf Supreme earned the right to be called "the 100-mile-an-hour oil?" Yes!—twice over...

First, by successfully lubricating a motor at nearly twice the heat of a fast-speeding engine—for 14 solid hours!

Second, by out-performing even "racing oils" at the Indianapolis Speedway, under AAA timing and supervision! It lubricated a flashing Duesenberg racer for a solid hour's non-stop run—at an average speed greater than 100-miles-an-hour!...Nearly two miles a minute on the straight-a-ways!

Change to Gulf Supreme. Its amazing ability to take punishment can mean better lubrication at any speed! Fewer repairs. And longer motor life. Drive into any Gulf station now! Use the winter grade for severe weather. © 1932, GULF REFINING CO., PITTSBURGH, PA.

A Blow To Hypocrisy

THE forthcoming battle over prohibition repeal, in Texas and everywhere else, will accomplish at least one good thing. It will drive out into the open a good many people who have been hiding their views and their personal feelings ever since the 18th amendment and the Volstead act went into effect.

One of the worst features of national prohibition, as we see it, has been the hypocrisy that the legislation has engendered. Too many "solid citizens" have talked prohibition out of one side of their mouths and have used the other side to imbibe intoxicants. And, sad to relate, too many officials have "voted dry" in public only to "drink wet" in private. To say the least, prohibition has done nothing to engender frankness and honesty as an American trait or talent.

There has been entirely too much personal aggression connected with prohibition on both sides of the fence. Both opponents and proponents of the principle have paid more attention to personal persecution than they have to the prosecution of their particular cause. Neither side has generally granted the other fellow the right to an opinion on a subject admittedly of prime importance to the nation.

Now that the question has been brought out into the open, public figures as well as the smaller fry will have to speak out, one way or another.

And regardless of which way the proposition goes, that fact cannot help but bring out a more healthy condition.

COMMENDATION FOR FLORIDA

Giuseppe Zangara, who "shoot all presidents; shoot all kings; shoot all officers", is satisfied with the 80-year sentence handed him as a result of his mad attack upon the life of President-elect Roosevelt and the wounding of five other persons at Miami.

That is a strange incident, made stranger by the fact that very few American citizens are satisfied with the punishment given him.

Florida, however, it may be said to her credit, gave Zangara the stiffest sentence possible under the law and gave it to him in double-quick time. And that's all Florida could do and stay within the statutes.

The prompt action of the Miami court and the care exercised by attorneys to sidestep lengthy, legal red tape in the matter will act as a deterrent to other misguided imbeciles who might harbor in their unbalanced minds the idea of doing away with America's new leader.

We congratulate Florida for the dispatch in which the Zangara case was handled.

SINISTER SELFISHNESS

The United States must stand upon the foundations laid by its founders if it is to endure. Local self-government was the inspiring principle of the American Revolution, and the people should oppose the tendency to drift away from that principle.

The growth of bureaucracy, the attempt of selfish interests and sections to obtain specials favors from the government, the demand that the government shall go into business, the readiness of the states to sell their independence and sovereign rights for a government appropriation, are all departures from the fundamental rule that made and preserved liberty in the United States.

The nation is now witnessing bold and ruthless attempts by selfish interests to gain special advantages through the federal government. Political cabals have been formed which have for their object the granting of favors to groups and communities at the expense of the whole people.

Justice and the principle of the square deal are outraged when special interests through political manipulation succeed in raiding the public treasury. The taxpayer is robbed when his contribution is diverted to any special class or community. If the citizens of the United States could visualize the shameless selfishness that actuates such schemes they would take drastic action against the legislators who betray them by trying to force through such legislation.

Don't kill your bore acquaintances. Lend them five each and you won't see them any more.

Fermentation is an act of nature, of course. But nature doesn't squeeze the juice out and add sugar.

A cow's jaw moves 41,000 times a day." And yet, as far as we know, her vocabulary is limited to one word.

The bolshevistic complex existed in the early days, but it was called envy then.

You can have your ups and downs and still be on the level.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth.—Colossians 3:2.

Agriculture Is Handicapped

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Senator W. E. Martin of North Dakota legislature, who recently proposed the secession of the remainder of the country from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New England, doubtless did it more or less facetiously.

W. E. Martin

Nevertheless, the feeling of the corn and wheat belt that its misfortunes are due wholly to the sacrifice of its interest to the interest of Wall Street and the industrial states is 100 per cent genuine and exceedingly bitter. And the fact is, it is hard for an unbiased onlooker not to suspect that there is some justification for it.

Senator Martin, however, could have made out a better case than he did.

Manhattan's Votes

By no means all of New England needed to enter into his reckonings.

Within a 100-mile radius of the Battery, at the lower end of Manhattan island, is an area which, under the 1930 census reapportionment, is entitled to 57 votes in the national house of representatives, or exactly the same as the combined states of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, both Dakotas, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas.

And if, to this bit of metropolitan and suburban territory, the whole of the small adjoining commonwealths of Massachusetts and Rhode Island be added, it will be found that the folk within commuting distance of New York City, Boston and Philadelphia boast a total of 74 representatives, ready to take their seats on Capitol Hill when the Seventy-third congress convenes, or one majority over Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Iowa, Utah and Wisconsin.

Oh, there is no denying that Greater New York, the Massachusetts bay litoral and Philadelphia, and its environs, have the population on which their representation is based.

Agriculture Divided

For all that, is it reasonable to suppose that the northwest's farmers can get much intelligent consideration from so alien an element?

If agriculture were united it would be stronger, but is falls into groups—a corn and wheat group, as previously suggested, consisting of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas, with 57 votes; a Dixie, consisting of the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas, with 72; a border zone, consisting of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, with 39; a southwest, consisting of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona, with 32.

Those sections do not pull in harness.

Corn, wheat and pork seems to have little in common with cotton and tobacco.

The urbanites have cohesion. Their representatives may differ as to their party labels, but underneath these labels they naturally are brethren, for they are all parasites together—on agriculture.

The farmers would not be so hopelessly outnumbered if only the big north Atlantic seaboard communities counted, but Chicago, for example, is as parasitic as they are, and even more directly so, being right in the farm country—as are the Twin Cities, Omaha, St. Louis, et cetra.

RAILROAD TRAFFIC INCREASES

Railroad passenger traffic in and out of Washington has been increasing in recent weeks at a rate that astonishes transportation managements, which were looking for a rush with the approaching of inauguration day, but by no means were prepared for it so early.

Uppers began to fill up first. Next most of the lines found it necessary to add to the number of their Pullmans. Now a start is being made at running the the more popular trains in sections.

To be sure, the capital is full of office seekers, but politicians had scarcely supposed the number was sufficient to affect the railroad business appreciably. Nevertheless, that or something else is doing it.

CUBA TO BE WARNED

IT PROBABLY is pure guesswork but the story is current in Washington that the new administration will warn President Machado soon after inauguration day to reform Cuban conditions immediately or American intervention will follow.

POSTAL SUBSIDIES

IN REPLY to Postmaster General Brown's assertion that the economies proposed for his department will require 7,000 to 8,000 dismissals, Senator Kenneth McKellar, who specializes on postal legislation, insists that discontinuance of indefensible subsidies will eliminate the necessity for any dismissals whatever.

JAPANESE PROPAGANDA

WITHOUT CONSENTING to be specifically quoted, well-informed state department officials say Japanese statesmen fully realize the baselessness of the report, published in Tokio, of a secret Russo-Chinese-American treaty, but unquestionably are encouraging it to solidify the islanders in favor of the mikado's aggressive Asiatic mainland policy.

15,000,000 JOBLESS

THE A. F. OF L.'S estimate of 12,000,000 unemployed in January is referred to by Washington spokesmen for national organizations especially interested in working class conditions, as an understatement. That is, it is explained, two or three million more are employed so small a share of the time that it is inaccurate to describe them as regular jobholders.

A PRECOCIOUS RECITATION:

TOMORROW: THE FORGOTTEN WOMAN.

SPOTLIGHT

by H. W. CORLEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SHEILA SHAYNE, whose parents were well known vaudeville entertainers, is in New York looking for a job. Sheila is an dancer. After much discouragement she is hired to substitute for DAISY GLEASON, another dancer, who has sprained an ankle. While rehearsing at JOE PARIS' song shop Sheila meets TREVOR LANE and DICK STANLEY, rich and socially prominent. Dick urges Lane to include Sheila in the program of entertainment at a party he is giving. She refuses, knowing she will be too tired after a day of rehearsing and the performance that night. However, Dick comes to the theater later and persuades her to come. She finds herself becoming interested in Dick though she is well aware that this is foolish.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

Sheila and Blind Timmy took their places at the piano. There was an expectant hush over the room and then Timmy struck the opening chords of Joe Paris' most recent hit.

Sheila sang a verse and then the chorus. There was a patter of applause as she finished. She sang a second song—this time one of Timmy's own as she was careful to announce. She sang with real feeling now, half dancing as she swayed to the rhythm. Sheila had an individual manner of singing, a manner all her own, so closely bound up with her dancing that the two were rarely separated.

Applause boomed out after the last note. Flushed with delight, the girl bowed and finally, although the applause continued, she took her place among the other guests. Dick moved to her side immediately.

"That was great!" he told her, beaming with pride. "Say, they were right when they said you could put over a song number. And how!"

"Thank you," Sheila told him gratefully. She knew she could dance but about her singing she wasn't certain. Sheila called it "faked singing." Her voice, she felt, wasn't a good voice at all. She carried a song solely through personality.

Cliff Gunther, the latest radio hit, sang next, waving congratulations away with an easy smile. Then the dancing resumed and in Dick's arms Sheila circled the room.

"Isn't Frances dancing?" she asked as a searching glance failed to find the other girl among the guests.

"Miss Barton?" Dick's voice was indifference itself. "Oh, she's gone. She just came to perform, you know." His tone was easy, but it implied, "We didn't ask her to remain. Now you are different; you are our guest."

There followed a silence. Then Dick said, "See that chap over there? The one talking to the girl in white? That's Gordon Mandrake, the producer. I want you to meet him. It may do you some good sometime. Never can tell. And there's Tom Chadwick, polo player, Westbury, Long Island. He's a fine fellow. Scott Tracy, the playwright, is there beside him."

"I see Clayton Knight, too," remarked Sheila demurely, not without mischief. Clayton Knight was the most popular leading man of the season.

"I'll say you do!" Dick's smile was wry. "What woman doesn't?"

Mona Deane arrived, trailing in almost as the party ended. Wasn't she playing in a Broadway show? Yes, of course. Mona had looked in on two parties since 11 o'clock, she announced gayly. She wouldn't say where. But she had "depended on Trev" for the real enoyment of the evening, she said. Mona was tiny, blond, sparkling. Sheila could see that she and Trevor Lane were good friends—old friends, it seemed. They joked and teased each other and finally made a lunch engagement for the following day.

"That's a date," her host said warmingly. "I'll expect you to keep it."

"That's a date," Mona agreed solemnly, eyes twinkling. It was explained to Sheila that Mona never made a lunch date with anyone except Trevor Lane. No, they weren't engaged. Still, they were very friendly. There were rumors and no one would be greatly surprised to hear of an engagement.

And then as Mona trailed her lovely, luxurious way out, Dick once more sought out Sheila. Half a dozen youths had been doing their best to entertain her. It was pleasant to see Dick's smiling face once more, still more pleasant to see the youthful swains dissolve at his approach as though they considered themselves interlopers.

Two girls looked after him in mock annoyance.

"Those are Trevor's cousins—years younger than they look, if that is possible," Dick explained. "They are boarding school girls, but wouldn't you think them just out of the chorus? Though you never can tell these days—"

Instantly he bit his lip—stopped short and flushed painfully. "Oh, gosh, what a thing to say. I didn't mean that. Really—"

"I am not a chorus girl," Sheila said coldly, her eyes half lowered.

"Sheila, Please—"

The agony in his voice was obvious. If she had felt any hurt or any retaliating desire to hurt, it faded.

"I know what you meant," she said, trying to laugh but flushing, too. "Those girls, of course, are from good families but they do look cheap and common in such low cut dresses. And they're wearing too much make-up.

"No chorus girl would attend a party looking like that," she went on, trying to hide her discomposure. "They wouldn't dare! Stage women—I'm a stage woman, Dick, in case you are interested as to how I catalog myself—have to be so careful to live down the reputation that's been given to them. Whenever a newspaper prints any scandal, if the girl has ever been connected with the stage in any way the headlines shriek the words 'chorus girl' or 'actress.'

"As a matter of fact many stage women leave off make-up entirely on the street or at parties. We have to be extremely careful in our dress, our behavior, our conversation and our love affairs or we are misunderstood."

"But not by the people who really matter," Dick said quickly. He was wondering if this girl had been made to suffer because of her calling.

"Everyone matters! Every adverse criticism mounts up and comes home to roost. In the theater just as in politics one can't be too careful."

"In that case," Dick announced, "I'm out of politics."

Sheila smiled. "Don't laugh at me. I was just warming up to my subject. Do you remember Alice Grady, the screen actress? She used to listen when the office boys or stenographers got together at the studio and when they made any criticisms of her work she could consider the change their conversation suggested. She said they formed a part of her audience and they counted. She would drive around to half a dozen theaters some nights to try to find out what people really thought of her acting. She spent days—literally days — correcting the way she walked because she heard two women call it 'dreadful'."

Suddenly Sheila's mood changed. She looked up smiling. "And now, brethren, here endeth the first lesson!"

"I'm sorry, honey. I didn't know. Do forgive me," Dick whispered.

Sheila turned dancing eyes upon him. "Mr. Stanley, since I am a stage woman and not a society girl, don't you think Miss Shayne would be better, for the first 24 hours at least?"

"May I choose what I call you the following 24?" His tone was low, meaningful.

"I shall still be a stage woman."

"You needn't be—always."

Sheila's eyes narrowed slightly, but she shrugged her shoulders and smiled. "You work rather fast, don't you?"

"I have to. I'm not the only man in the world with excellent taste."

"Don't you mean perfect taste?"

He bowed, amused. "I mean that, of course."

"We'll see what you mean."

The party was nearing a close. Trevor's cousins, wearing an amazing amount of ermine and with callow escorts, left giggling and gleeful. They were going to some club, they said.

Blind Timmy had disappeared. "I'll take you home, of course," Dick said as Sheila looked about her. "However, I've a few more duties as host. Can you wait?"

Presently the last of the laughing crowd had departed and Sheila and Dick made their way to his car. "Think over what I've said," Dick told her as he drew the roadster up before her door. "You're going to let me see you some times, aren't you?"

"Of course."

He waited until a tiny light in the hall was extinguished. Sheila as the last one in (according to a sign hung on the chandelier) was to leave the hall in darkness. Dick Stanley smiled to himself. Then he said, "Oh, damn!" fumbled for a cigaret, lighted it and was off.

Former Slaton Woman And Two Sons In Crowd At Roosevelt Shooting In Miami; Letter Describes Incident

(By Staff Correspondent)

SLATON, Feb. 22.—A former Slaton woman and her two sons were in the crowd at Miami, Fla., February 15 when Giuseppe Zangara fired five shots at President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt and which resulted in the serious wounding of Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago and Mrs. Joe H. Gill of Miami. She is Mrs. P. V. Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Payne.

In a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Payne Tuesday from their daughter, Mrs. Burns said she had gone to the railroad station with her two sons that night to see the president-elect. Robert, the older boy, who will be 13 years old in August, left his mother and younger brother and went nearer to the place where Mr. Roosevelt was speaking. He was within probably 20 or 30 feet of the car when the shooting took place.

"We saw President-elect Roosevelt in the car when he drove by with Mayor Cermak, "Mrs. Burns wrote. "They passed within 20 feet of us. It certainly was wonderful the way Mr. Roosevelt did in taking the wounded man to the hospital."

The last letter before this one, was written the evening of the shooting and Mrs. Burns said she was closing it because she wanted to go down town and see the presidential party.

Mrs. Burns has resided in Miami for a number of years. Her last visit here was last year when she and her sons spent several weeks visiting Mr. and Mrs. Payne.

Newest Wild Well In The Conroe Field Is Clamped

CONROE, Feb. 22 (AP)—The newest "wild well" in the Conroe field, the Showers and Moncrief No. 2-B Dunn had been put under control today, the company announced, and drilling was proceeding.

The well blew out Sunday night and began throwing gas and mud 75 feet into the air.

It was one of a number of wells near the Standard of Kansas Madeley No. 2, which, along with the Madeley No. 1, formed great craters several weeks ago, due presumably to the releasing of tremendous subterranean pressures and strange bubbling crevices over a wide area.

Officers Search For Three Who Robbed Austin Couple

AUSTIN, Feb. 22 (AP)—Officers today were searching for three men who bound, gagged and robbed Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Reed at their home here last night.

The Reeds told officers the men entered their home and after robbing them of $217, two diamond rings and an automobile bound them with adhesive tape and towels. The men placed the Reeds in their own automobile and carried them to a point near the Colorado river where they were left.

Two hours later the Reeds were able to free themselves.

No Horse Thieves

It is a startling pronouncement that Secretary Robert T. Titman is reading to the 121st convention of the Union Society for the Detection of Horse Thieves and the Recovery of Stolen Property at Glenside, Pa. There was not a horse theft in Philadelphia last year, he said.

Lubbock last night. He will arrive at 3:50 o'clock this afternoon. Doctor Knapp praised Mr. Dohoney highly, the Associated Press said in a dispatch from Austin.

Mr. Dohoney is survived by his widow, two daughters, Ann Dohoney of Lubbock, and Mrs. Warren Dale of Houston; one son, Alfred Dohoney of Houston; three brothers, W. B. Dohoney of Amarillo and Alfred P. and Frank Dohoney of Paris, and two sisters, Mrs. C. L. Broad and Mrs. Wood of Paris. Two grandchildren also survive. Miss Ann Dohoney is a Texas Technological college freshman.

First Amarillo Superintendent

Mr. Dohoney was first superintendent of the Amarillo public school system and was well known as a leader in business circles and public affairs there. The veteran school man went to Amarillo in 1901 from Paris, where as principal of schools he began his career in education.

In 1903, Mr. Dohoney resigned the school tenure in Amarillo and entered the insurance and real estate business, which he maintained until 1913. Following a short residence in Fayetteville, Ark., he became assistant superintendent of the Texas department of education at Austin.

Headed Vernon Schools

He followed his state service with superintendency of the Vernon schools, moving again to Amarillo in 1923 where he received his appointment to the Lubbock institution.

Mr. Dohoney was principal in Amarillo in the first brick school building erected in the Panhandle. He also was largely instrumental in the construction of the first water works system there.

Friends of Mr. Dohoney at Tech, in Lubbock, and in the Panhandle were shocked at his unexpected death last night. Students, faculty members, and Lubbock residents expressed regret and paid tribute to him.

Feeling ill about noon yesterday, Mr. Dohoney left the college and went to his home. At about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a physician called. Although there was "nothing alarming" in the registrar's condition, the physician recommended that Mr. Dohoney remain at home during the afternoon. The attending doctor said he made a thorough examination of his patient.

At dinner time last night Mrs. Dohoney and her daughter went to the Yellow House Tea room at 2423 Broadway for dinner, as customary. Mr. Dohoney was in bed. His death was discovered about 6:45 o'clock, probably 15 minutes after the end came.

Fourth Death At Tech

It was the fourth time Texas Tech has bowed before unexpected death. Paul W. Horn, first president, died of a heart attack last April 13. On Nov. 21, 1926, R. M. Chitwood, first business manager, succumbed of a similar attack. R. C. Harrison, head of the English department, died unexpectedly May 5, 1927.

Mr. Dohoney, a graduate of Texas university, received his Master's degree at Texas Technological college.

The body probably will be sent to Houston Friday, following rites here. Mr. Dohoney's brother, W. B. Dohoney of Amarillo, was enroute here last night. The daughter and son of Houston are expected to arrive this afternoon.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 22. (AP)—Receipts of cattle at various places around the eleven market circuit were comparatively light for the day's trade and values for fed steers and yearlings were considered generally steady to 25 higher. The advance, however, was largely a forced affair owing to the scarcity of supply rather than any definite improvement in the outlet for dressed beef. Choice 902 lb. yearling steers in Chicago scored up to 6.75, while other loads of good to choice lighter weight steers and yearlings around the loop were included in a spread of 5.50@6.50. Weighty beeves cleared chiefly at 4.25@5.00 with a few up to 5.50. Accumulated arrivals of cattle for the week totaled 108,100 as compared with 104,135 last week and 117,631 a year ago.

Hogs carried a steady to 10 higher trend with Chicago and St. Louis securing up to 3.60 for the day's top.

Lambs sold at steady to 15 higher levels in a slight reaction from a definitely lower trend on previous days this week. Majority of fed kinds moved in a spread of 4.75@5.60.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Feb. 22. (AP)—Hogs 1,600; market steady; top 3.20 paid by packers for most of good to choice 185-350 lb. truck hogs; mixed lighter weight truck hogs on down to 2.75; one load mixed grade rail hogs 3.05; packing sows steady to strong, mostly 2.25@2.50.

cian. His condition was not believed to be serious.

Last night Mr. Hyatt retired as usual. Mrs. Hyatt retired in another room and later arose to see if her husband needed anything. She found him dead.

Besides his widow Mr. Hyatt is survived by two sons, J. W., a student in Texas Tech at Lubbock, and Carl, at home; his aged mother, Mrs. Essie Cadenhead, and a brother, John Hyatt, Houston. He also leaves a niece, Mrs. Mel Turpin, of Lubbock and Miss Clara White, another niece and teacher in the Ralls school system.

Operated Paper Here

Mr. Hyatt came to Ralls in 1916. He had formerly been at Spur where he was connected with a newspaper and also operated a picture show. He later operated a newspaper at Albany and for several months a few years ago, operated one in Lubbock.

Mr. Hyatt was active in civic and commercial life here and was one of the best known newspaper men on the South Plains. He was a Mason.

Tuesday was Mrs. Hyatt's birthday anniversary. Only a quiet celebration was held.

Compositions Of Masters Presented By Two Artists In City Wednesday

Presenting compositions of masters of both modern and classic periods, Michael Raggini, tenor, and Lillian Rehberg, violincellist, appeared in concert Wednesday night in Lubbock High school auditorium. They will present the same program this afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock, in the high school auditorium. The concerts are numbers of the Texas Technological college artists course.

Miss Rehberg, young, tall, red-haired and lovely, played with great ease and apparent enjoyment. Her encores included "The Swan" by Saint-Saens and "The Old Refrain" by Kreisler. Program numbers included "Liebesfreud" by Kreisler, "Pastoral and Reel" by Scott, "La Gitana" by Kreisler, "To Spring" by Greig, "Moment Musicale" by Schubert and 'Hungarian Rhapsody" by Popper.

Mr. Raggini's voice is of lyric quality.

"Manon" by Massenet was substituted for an aria from "Tosca" by Puccini. Other numbers were "Love Was With Me Yesterday" by Golde, "Torna a Sorriento" by de Curtis, "Mama Mia Che Vo Sape" by Nutile and "Princessita" by Padilla.

Mrs. Karl Werndorf, recently of Vienna, Austria, was the pianist-accompanist. She substituted for Miss Gertrude Weeth, scheduled to appear, who is ill.

Approximately 1,100 persons were in the audience, it was estimated by W. R. Waghorne, member of the Tech artists course committee. These were largely college students and faculty members.

Letter Mailed Years Ago Returned

Missive Dated May 14, 1891 Is Returned To Lubbock Man; Description Of Old West Is Revealed In Its Contents

ALMOST 42 years after J. M. Cooper, pioneer West Texan, wrote his father of "this far western country," the letter was returned by a nephew.

The letter, dated May 14, 1891, was sent to Jacob Cooper at Coopersville, Wayne county, Ky., from Colorado, Texas. J. M. Cooper, father of Mrs. J. S. Connell, observed his 90th birthday last month.

"I often think of you and hope you have not forgotten your unworthy son who is so far away from you and trying to make a living in this far western country," the letter said. "There are no farms here, but we are clearing out a small farm; have 14 acres in cotton, corn, sorghum, pumpkins, watermelons, muskmelons, goobers and one acre in garden truck. If we have anything like a season we can make a living, although we are hard run at present.

"Father, we have a new county cut off from Tom Green county, and on the 20th of this month we are going to elect county officers, also the place for the county seat is to be voted on."

The letter then deals with the Mitchell county section of the country:

"This country is well-drained, well wooded with mesquite trees and heavy mesquite grass—an ideal cattle country, and is occupied almost solely by cattlemen.

"There are a few settlers coming in now and I hope the time isn't far off until we have schools and churches. They are now talking of organizing four Baptist churches in this new county."

Mr. Cooper, who is making his home with his daughter and Mr. Connell at 1648 Thirteenth street here, had gone to the Colorado section about a year before the letter was written.

"My father was the first homesteader to live out a claim in the cattle country, about three miles south of Colorado, but at that time the place he settled was a part of Tom Green county," Mrs. Connell said.

"It was six months before my mother saw any other woman; her whole world consisted of husband and children," Mrs. Connell said. "After a few years on the claim, my father put in a little store, and was permitted to run a postoffice, called Lolanthe. He hauled his groceries from Colorado."

Mrs. Connell recalled that the "mail hack" could not make the rounds between Colorado and San Angelo for three weeks at a time because of high water on Wild Horse and Beal's creeks.

Mr. Cooper's land joined the Spade ranch, owned by W. L. Ellwood, sr., and the H. S. ranch, owned by W. C. Scott was about six miles from his property. Cooper's first home was a dugout; later a large tent, and finaly a dugout with a half story above it. He moved to Fisher county in 1903, and Mrs. Cooper died there in 1915.

Mr. Connell, who is justice of the peace in precinct 1 here, is a former Fisher county judge.

of honest friendship.

"Second, you ask whether I still adhere to my viewpoint, expressed in an interview with the Associated Press in December, 1931, that private debts incurred abroad must under all circumstances be paid. My attitude on this question has remained the same and I adhere to it exactly today also. I have never left doubt, however, in anybody's mind that the question of paying debts is not only one of wanting to. But also one of being able to.

"Above all, the debtor from whom one is to get money back must not first be annihilated by political or economic measures.

"Third, as to what Germany expects from the world economic conference. I should like to hope that the coming world economic conference will find real means and ways of restoring to a sane basis business and industrial life, which have got into bad disorder."

Political Division

One of the angles to attract immediate attention on capitol hill was the political division of that list. Woodin and Ickes in past years having been identified in Republican causes and Wallace being a son of the secretary of agriculture in the Harding administration.

The Ickes selection especially was regarded as apt to please the independent Republican faction which supported Roosevelt against Hoover. He has been allied with Senator Hiram Johnson (R., Cal.) and was described in interested quarters today as "seeing eye to eye with Roosevelt on power."

Refuses To Comment

On a stop-off here enroute to his home from New York, he visited with Senator Johnson but refused to comment as to his selection. The senator said it would be an "excellent" one.

The chorus of praise for selection of Hull and Woodin was broken in the house this afternoon by Representative Horr (R., Wash.) who said the financier "has the same business record as Mellon." He suggested that Representative Patman (D., Tex.) proceed against Woodin with the impeachment charges which he sought unsuccessfully to prosecute against Andrew Mellon when he headed the treasury, saying:

"My only regret is that I can not be here and join you in impeachment proceedings against the next secretary of the treasury."

Horr was defeated for reelection.

Young Black, steadfastly maintained his innocence, testified that there existed no animosity between him and his father, and that he saw a man flee into the darkness after he was awakened by a shot fired where his father slept nearby. The state testimony attempted to show the father and son differed over division of trucking profits.

Weird And Winsome At Society Ball

In costumes bizarre and beautiful, society went native at the annual Beaux Arts ball in New York, when the setting was an ocean liner with stops listed at various world ports. Although his best friends never would have known it, the witch doctor at left was Armar Archbold, of Washington. Daringly costumed as a dancing girl was Miss Isabel Ryan (right) of New York.

DOGS GET A BREAK

LONDON.—London's canine population is rejoicing in the formation of several dog license clubs. This means that many dogs, which would have to be destroyed had their license fees not been paid, will be saved. The clubs enable dog owners to pay for their licenses on the installment plan.

HE STOLE A BIBLE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Henry J. Rodgers, 41, evidently couldn't convince the judge that he stole a Bible from a bookstore to get religion, because the judge sentenced him to 26 months in Kilby prison. At the time Rodgers stole the $13 Bible, he was out of prison on parole with 14 months more to serve.

HALE CENTER, Feb. 22—(Special)—After having been closed since Feb. 9, the First National bank here will reopen at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, directors decided this morning in a meeting with bank officials.

About 98 per cent of the depositors signed agreements to leave deposits in the bank until December, and the majority rule will be applied to unsigned depositors, the directors announced. No deposit will be paid out of the bank until a claim has been passed on by a committee of depositors.

The committee said it would pass on claims whether contracted or uncontracted by the bank, and only extreme emergencies will be given consideration.
