Mosbacher, Luce will not run for governor in 1994

By LAURA TOLLEY
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - Republican Rob Mosbacher says he is not running for Texas governor, and he believes that means just one thing - George W. Bush will run and win the GOP nomination.

Mosbacher had been considering running for governor next year. But after a 1-1/2-hour meeting Monday with Bush in Houston, Mosbacher announced he would not seek the GOP nomination to challenge Democratic Gov. Ann Richards.

"While I'm convinced ... that I could have beaten George. George is convinced that he could have beaten me," said Mosbacher, a Houston oilman.

"And the only thing that is absolutely clear is we would have spent a lot of money and a lot of time trying to prove it. And that's money that could be better spent on retiring Ann Richards."

Bush, who has not made public his political plans, left Mosbacher's downtown office without speaking to reporters.

But Mosbacher said there is "no doubt in my mind" that Bush would seek the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Karl Rove, a political consultant for Bush, called Monday's meeting part of the process Bush is going through in deciding whether to run.

"He's not a candidate today, but I don't see anything that's going to keep him from becoming a candidate," Rove said.

With strong name recognition as son of former President Bush and managing partner of the Texas Rangers baseball team, Bush has been viewed as a top contender to try and beat Richards, who already is planning her re-election bid.

Mosbacher, son of former U.S. Commerce Secretary Bob Mosbacher, said he considered himself Bush's strongest opposition.

The GOP primary, he said, has come "pretty close" to ending now that he is out and Bush almost certainly is in. Both men believe Bush had a clear shot at the nomination, he said.

"There may be somebody, fringe-type, out there, but I think most of the serious candidates have folded up their tents," he said.

Mosbacher, 42, said Bush seemed relieved with the news he would not run.

He also said he would support Bush in the race and that he expects a formal announcement from Bush after the baseball season.

Besides Mosbacher and Bush, Dallas lawyer Tom Luce, a former adviser to Ross Perot's presidential campaign, has been mentioned as a possible GOP candidate.

But Luce told The Dallas Morning News on Monday that he also would not run. He described Bush as both a good friend and a "formidable opponent."

Also Monday in Austin, Louis Podesta, 42, said he planned to seek the GOP nomination for governor.

Podesta, a freelance writer and small business consultant from San Antonio, called himself a "Barry Goldwater-style" conservative.

"I'm here as an ordinary citizen who has never been involved with politics formally," he told a Capitol news conference.

Podesta filed a lawsuit that currently is before the Texas Supreme Court to invalidate a prison bond measure approved by voters because he said half of 25,300 prison beds financed by the measure were for

Woman being sought in child abandonment

After members of the news media picked up information from a nationwide DPS broadcast, District Attorney Roland Saul confirmed today that a warrant has been issued for a suspect they believe to be the mother of a baby girl abandoned March 18 in Hereford.

The all-points-bulletin identified the suspect as Sabrina Maria Haggard. She is 21 and described as a white female, 5-4, 150 pounds with brown hair and blue eyes. Official do not know if she is still in this area.

The charge of abandoning a child is a second-degree felony punishable by 2 to 20 years in state prison and a fine not to exceed $10,000. The baby, referred to in court documents as "Deaf Smith Baby Jane," was found by workers in an incinertor pit behind a Hereford veterinary clinic.

Custody of the child was turned over to the state, then on July 27, District Judge Wesley Gulley ruled that the rights of the parents would be terminated. The ruling paved the way for the adoption of the baby, and officials have refused to divulge any information about the child's whereabouts.

Soil sampling

John Ballard, left, and Robert Pierce, both of Peterson Drilling and Testing Inc., of Amarillo work to take soil samples at the site of a new city water storage reservoir, to be constructed next year adjacent to the current one on Avenue C north of Park Avenue. The soil samples are a preliminary step to the construction.

Aspin to release plans for changes in military

By ROBERT BURNS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Pentagon's new blueprint for a post-Cold War future foresees a U.S. military that is leaner but nimble enough to apply firepower anywhere around the globe.

President Clinton received a detailed briefing on the new plan Monday by Defense Secretary Les Aspin and Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Aspin was expected to publicly release the document Wednesday and discuss aspects of it in a policy speech Thursday at Georgetown University, officials said.

Among Aspin's specific recommendations to Clinton:

-Keep 12 aircraft carriers, including one to train Navy aviators. That is two fewer carriers than had been planned during the Bush administration but two more than Aspin once was considering.

-Cut the total number of Navy ships to about 320 from the 450 that Bush had said was the minimum necessary.

-Reduce the number of active Army divisions to 10 from 14, two fewer than Bush planned, and cut the active and reserve Air Force wings from 28 to 20.

-Go ahead with development of the Air Force F-22 stealth fighter but buy fewer than the Bush administration planned, and go ahead with the E and F models of the Navy's F-A18 strike plane that can be launched from aircraft carriers.

-Two aircraft now in the conceptual stage - the Air Force's "multi-role fighter" and the Navy's AF-X medium-range bomber - would be canceled or deferred.

-Stop the shrinkage of the Marine Corps at about 174,000 men and women. The Bush administration had set a target of 159,000, compared with the current level of about 180,000.

The plan is the result of what Aspin calls his "bottom up review," a comprehensive study of the forces needed to meet what Aspin considers the four main threats to American national security in the wake of the demise of the Soviet Union.

Those dangers are the spread of nuclear arms, regional military crises, the failure of democratic reform in the former Soviet Union, and U.S. economic decline. Gone is the threat of global nuclear war that preoccupied defense planners for decades.

"It is a response to the new world," said a senior Pentagon official familiar with the plan. The official discussed it on condition he not be identified.

Many details of the plan have been reported but much remains unknown, including the cost. The Washington Post reported this month that Aspin's proposed defense restructuring would cost about $20 billion more than the $1.2 trillion Clinton has said he intends to spend on defense over the coming five years.

Another senior Pentagon official said that while Aspin's plan makes many changes in the size and makeup of the U.S. armed forces, "I would not call it revolutionary."

Aspin referred to his blueprint in a speech last week to a Veterans of Foreign Wars convention.

"I have long felt that if we merely cut the Cold War forces from the top, we'd simply end up with a smaller Cold War force, but that's not what we need," he said. "We need a force that's right for the dangers that we face today and into the future."

Water program work starts

First steps were taken last week toward implementing a program to expand water resources and storage for the City of Hereford.

Soil samples were collected at the proposed site of a new one million gallon storage reservoir at the Avenue C station, behind the Community Center.

The City Commission in a series of work sessions has projected drilling new wells in both the Santa Rosa and Ogallala formations, in an effort to provide an adequate water supply into the next century.

Construction may begin by the end of this year on the new storage.

Cost of the water development program has been estimated between $2 million and $3 million.

The city expects to issue revenue bonds to finance the project, said City Manager Chester Nolen. No citywide vote is required to issue revenue bonds because payment is made through income generated by the water department.

Nolen said city officials hope to keep rates at the present level.

Local civic leader dies; services set Thursday

Violet E. "Peaches" Reinauer, longtime Hereford civic leader and volunteer worker, died Monday at St. Anthony's Hospice in Amarillo. She was 76.

Rosary will be Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Rose Chapel of Gililland-Watson Funeral Home. Services will be Thursday at 10 a.m. in St. Anthony's Catholic Church with Msgr. Joseph Tash of Amarillo, St. Thomas the Apostle Catholic, officiating. Interment will be in Memorial Park Cemetery in Oklahoma City at 10 a.m. Friday.

Mrs. Reinauer was born March 14, 1917 in Denver, Col. She graduated from Fairfax High School in Los Angeles and married Joe Reinauer Sr. in 1940. They moved to Hereford that year. He preceded her in death in 1980.

"Peaches" was very active in church and community work throughout her life. She was selected as the Chamber Women's Division "Woman of the Year" in 1973. She was a charter member and past president of Hereford Cowbelles(now Cattlewomen), and she was selected by West Texas State University as a recipient of the Texas Panhandle Distinguished Service Award in 1983.

Peaches" was a soloist for weddings and funerals and was a St. Anthony choir member for more than 40 years. She served in many offices in P-TA, was a den mother in Cub Scouts for 10 years, and was a past president of Young Mother's Study Club, Garden Beautiful Club, Texas Federation of Music Club, a charter member of Daughters of the American Revolution, Los Ciboleros Chapter, and past president and campaign chairman of Hereford Community Concerts.

She served on various steering committees, including Hereford Community Center, Senior Citizen Center, King's Manor, Town & Country Jubilee, National Cowgirl Rhinestone Roundup, and Hereford Day Care Center. She served as chairman of women's activities for Hereford's Diamond Jubilee and was a co-chairman for the Bicentennial Committee.

Mrs. Reinauer was also a member of Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Deaf Smith Historical Society, Friends of the Library.

Survivors include four sons, Joe of Pensacola, Fla., Jim of Albuquerque, N.M., Bob of Dallas, and Art of Canyon; one brother, Don Woodward of Sunnyvale, Cal.; and eight grandchildren.

The family requests memorials to the Don & Sybil Harrington Cancer Center, or St. Anthony's Hospice and Life Enrichment Center.

Surplus funds generated by CEDs frozen due to lawsuit

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The 188 county education districts in Texas are under a judge's order not to spend surplus funds pending a Sept. 13 hearing on a lawsuit by two Bexar County school districts.

State District Judge Scott McCown granted a temporary restraining order Monday after the North East and Somerset school districts in Bexar County sued over the state's proposed distribution of $12.4 million in surplus taxes collected in the county.

McCown extended his ruling to all county education districts, saying, "We ought to do it the same way statewide."

As it pertains to Bexar County, the judge's order keeps funds in the coffers of the Bexar County Education District, which dissolves at midnight tonight, until next month's hearing.

Richard Middleton, superintendent of the North East district, hailed the ruling as a "partial victory."

The district sued to block Texas Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno's plan for redistributing tax money collected over a two-year period by the Bexar education district.

Under the commissioner's approach, North East would have received $777,571 and Somerset would owe the state $834. Under Senate Bill 351, which created the county education districts two years ago, North East would receive $3.8 million and Somerset would receive $40,405.

Kevin O'Hanlon, an attorney representing the Texas Education Agency, said Bexar County is unusual in that it had raised such a large surplus.

"They raised more than they should have raised," O'Hanlon said.

The Bexar education district levied an additional tax that was equally distributed to its member school districts as part of a school equalization plan approved two years ago by the Legislature.

But that system was declared unconstitutional.

Economy shows modest growth in second quarter

WASHINGTON (AP) - The U.S. economy grew at a modest 1.8 percent annual rate in the April-June quarter, slightly better than the government's initial estimate last month.

Second-quarter growth in the gross domestic product - the sum of all goods and services produced in U.S. borders - still was far below what economists anticipated at the start of the year. But it was a bit stronger than the seasonally and inflation-adjusted 1.6 percent growth rate first reported by the government.

With today's report, the Commerce Department also revised its figures going back to the start of 1990. The growth pace in the first quarter of this year was an anemic 0.8 percent, only little changed from the previous estimate of 0.7 percent.

However, revisions for the 1990-91 recession and the recovery in 1992 were dramatic. The growth rate in the fourth quarter of last year, for instance, now is shown as 5.7 percent, up from 4.7 percent.

The department now says the economy grew at a 2.4 percent annual rate from the end of the recession in the second quarter of 1991 through June of this year. Previously, the department had put the growth rate for the period at 2 percent.

Meanwhile, the department said economic output shrank at a 2.1 percent annual rate instead of a 2.9 percent rate during the recession.

School board sets meeting

The Hereford Independent School District board of trustees will meet in special session at 6 p.m. today in the school administration office, 136 Avenue F. The session will be held to give final consideration to a 1993-94 budget. It will begin with debate on an appropriation request for a juvenile detention center. There also will presentation of final 1992-93 budget amendments and a public hearing on the 1993-94 budget. The budget will be adopted at that meeting. State law requires a district have its 1993-94 budget in place before Sept. 1, which is the first day of the new year.

Temperatures to climb again

After a high Monday of 76 degrees and a low this morning of 55 degrees, as recorded by KPAN Radio, Hereford should expect some rebounding of temperatures by tomorrow. The National Weather Service is predicting partly cloudy skies and warmer tomorrow, with a high in the mid-80s and southwest winds at 10-20 mph. Tonight, expect mostly fair skies with a low in the mid-50s and light and variable winds.

Senior Class to serve supper

The HHS Senior Class Supper will be held from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Friday in the Hereford Junior High School cafeteria. They will be serving brisket, pinto beans, cole slaw and fruit cobbler. Cost is $4, with an extra 50 cents for carry-out. Tickets are available from any HHS senior or at the door. The event is a fundraiser for the Class of 1994, which uses proceeds to pay for the annual prom and banquet.

Welcome to Hereford

Dr. Russell C. Long, provost and vice president for academic affairs at West Texas A&M University, is welcomed to Hereford by Gene King. Long was speaker at a Monday meeting of the Rotary Club.

WTA&M working to draw students

Leadership at West Texas A&M University is working hard to remove the university from "drive by" status, a reference to Panhandle area students bypassing WTA&M to attend colleges and universities in other parts of the state.

Dr. Russell Long, provost and vice president for academic affairs at WTA&M, was guest speaker Monday at a meeting of the Rotary Club of Hereford, calling attention to the strides being made toward building a "first class university" in Canyon."

"We want to stop the drive-by attitude, keep those students in the region here for their education," said Long. The WTA&M official also observed that a goal to recruit Hispanic students to the campus is being pursued actively.

"A young man from Hereford, Richard Perez, is president of the student body and is as capable as any student I've ever worked with," declared Long.

He reported that enrollment in the fall of 1992 was about 400 more than the previous year. So far this August, another increase of about 280 to 300 students seems assured, added Long.

The number of first-time freshmen has climbed significantly, Long said, with 1,100 this year.

Positive signs of improvements also are found in gifts to the university, both in number of donors and total amount, Long continued. An increase ih grants has been recorded from a total amount of $800,000 in 1991-1992 to $6 million so far this year, Long said.

Because of better business procedures at WTA&M, Long said the campus earned a special award from the Texas A&M University System recently. The "exceptional financial report" award is an indicator of improvements at the university, he said.

Long said the name change, from West Texas State University to West Texas A&M University, has met with a positive reaction, also. The name reflects the university's new status as part of the Texas A&M system.

A new degree program, bachelor of science in environmental science, was started last year.

"We thought we'd have 10 enroll and we got 60," Long pointed out. He said the administration is developing two new programs in agriculture, dryland research and equine industry.

"Agriculture had been downgraded but it's now being rejuvenated," he said.

The WTA&M official spent his early life in Van Horn and earned his bachelor's degree from Sul Ross State University, his master's degree from New Mexico State University and his doctorate from Texas A&M University.

He joined the faculty at Tarleton State University in 1969 and remained there until moving to WTA&M a year ago to work again with the president, Dr. Barry Thompson. Thompson was TSU president before accepting the position at then West Texas State University.

In addition to the academic improvements, Long pointed out that the athletic program is being upgraded. The university has rejoined the Lone Star Conference and scholarships are funded by off-campus groups. And, a baseball program is being installed.

"The baseball coach sought us out," he said, referring to the addition of Mike Marshall, former major league pitcher, to the athletic staff. "He is interested in teaching as well as coaching."

Sixth execution in as many weeks ends killer's life

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) - Richard James Wilkerson, who once laughed about twisting a knife inside the head of one of four stabbing victims, was executed early today for masterminding Houston's worst single mass slaying.

Wilkerson, 29, was 19 on July 1, 1983 when he and two companions robbed the Malibu Grand Prix, a Houston amusement center, and hacked to death four employees.

"I'd just like to say I don't hate nobody," Wilkerson said before lethal drugs administered by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice officials began flowing through his arms.

"What I did was wrong. I just hope everybody is satisfied with what's about to happen."

Two sisters, sobbing, and a friend were present in the death chamber and they and Wilkerson exchanged messages of love before the drugs, which began flowing at 12:10 a.m. CDT, began taking effect. He was pronounced dead six minutes later.

One of his sisters, Polly Winn, afterwards denounced the execution, saying it would not bring any of the victims back to life.

"This execution is not justice. This execution is an act of revenge," she said. "If this is justice, then justice is blind."

Wilkerson's attorneys asked the U.S. Supreme Court to block the execution but the high court rejected the request about four hours before punishment was carried out.

"I have a lot of mixed emotions," said Donnie Trent, whose son, Roddy Harris, was among the victims. "I can't help realize that if it wasn't for this man, my son would be alive and so would three others."

The execution was the sixth in six weeks in Texas and the 13th this year, topping the 1992 tally of 12 and setting a record for lethal injections in the state. This year's total is the most since 1936 when 14 condemned killers and rapists went to the old electric chair.

Wilkerson's death also was the 67th execution since the state resumed capital punishment in 1982.

One of Wilkerson's companions in the killing spree, Kenneth Ray Ransom, remains on death row. The other, James Edward Randall, Wilkerson's cousin, was 16 at the time of the killings and is serving a life term.

Witnesses testified Wilkerson had planned long before the killings to rob the arcade. One witness said that after the slayings, Wilkerson laughed as he recalled how he "jiggled that knife" inside the head of Anil Varughese, the night manager of the center.

Police called the slayings the worst single mass murder in Houston history. Medical examiners had difficulty determining if the victims also had been shot because the bodies had been stabbed so many times and there was so much blood.

"It was like a water leak in your home with 2 inches of water on the floor, only this was blood," said J.C. Mosier, a former Houston police homicide detective who handled the case. "It was horrible. They were just slaughtered."

Besides Harris, 22, and Varughese, 18, the victims included two brothers, Arnold Pequeno, 19, and Joerene Pequeno, 18.

Varughese's body was found in an office. He had been stabbed 42 times. The three others were found in a bathroom in a grisly scene authorities described as a massacre.

Wilkerson had been fired two weeks earlier from his job at the amusement center, which included a video arcade and go-kart track.

About $2,000 was taken in the robbery and split up among the three defendants, who spent some of the cash on athletic shoes and clothes. The blood-splattered money was traced back to the defendants.

Mosbacher, who lost the last race for lieutenant governor and is now president of Mosbacher Energy Co., wouldn't rule out ever running again for public office.

"I feel like I've paid my dues and I'm sure there will be a day when I will decide to run for something else," he said. "It's not right now."

While conceding Richards is popular in Texas, Mosbacher said she has failed to show leadership. Bush's strengths, he said, include his ability to run a baseball team well and years of exposure to public service.

"I believe he would bring some new ideas, new approaches and he's talked about running a campaign on ideas and policy, not on personalities," Mosbacher said.

Mosbacher said the Bush name is an asset - his father carried Texas in the last presidential election - but that the younger Bush must establish himself as a candidate with definite ideas to win.

Richards told reporters Monday afternoon in Austin she didn't think Bush's name would make much of a difference.

"I think that the fact that he has name ID, because it's his father's name, means that he doesn't have to spend as much money early on gaining the name ID, and that's the only difference it makes," she said.

Richards said she expects a tough race, but added she believes the Republicans "will be very short on specifics and very long on generalities ..."

"I'm real proud of my record. I'm ready to run on it," she said.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it too late to comment on the plight of the woman whose husband was overweight and whose diabetic 16-year-old daughter was out of control? One of your readers, "Miss R.N.," put all the blame on the mother, who doesn't deserve it.

As the widow of a diabetic, I can tell you the responsibility lies with the person who has the illness, not with his or her family. Any determined diabetic will eat what he wants, eat as much as he wants and get it if he wants it, regardless of any attempt to control him.

Unless that 16-year-old girl is chained up in the house 24 hours a day, she can certainly get plenty of sweets outside. My husband was an ice cream junkie. He would buy bags of chocolate bars at the drugstore while picking up his insulin. He would then stop by the bakery and buy doughnuts.

The wife or mother of a diabetic cannot be expected to be a warden. When someone has a disease like diabetes, which is controllable, the responsibility lies with the diabetic. Sorry, "R.N.," you blew it. My husband died three months ago at age 43.--M.K., Ontario, Canada

DEAR ONTARIO: My condolences, dear, and thank you for a letter that lays it on the line. It was courageous of you to write so frankly, and I'm sure your letter hit a great many hot buttons.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been happily married for two years. Before we married, the sole beneficiary on his life insurance policy was his mother. After we married, he mentioned rather casually that he had changed the policy and named me the sole beneficiary.

In a conversation last night, the truth came out. It seems that his mother and I are now equal beneficiaries. If he should die, we would each get $75,000.

It's not the money, Ann, believe me. I love my husband very much and hope I never collect on that policy. It's the principle I car about. First of all, I resent the fact that he lied to me about it, and secondly, I believe that a woman should not have to share her husband with his mother, who has a husband of her own.

When a husband dies, Ann, who is left to handle all the bills, loan payments and everything else, plus the funeral expenses? It's his wife, not his mother. I don't mean to sound greedy, but I am truly upset by this turn of events. What do you say?--New York

DEAR N.Y.: I don't want to comment until I have more information. What is his mother's financial status? Does she have a career? Does she have any savings? You say she has a husband. Is that husband a decent wage earner? Is he is good health?

And what is YOUR financial status? Do you have a career? Do you have savings? Do you have children to put through school?

I agree that when a man marries, his wife should come before his mother--even the Bible says this. But other facts should be considered as well.

You and your husband need a third party to settle this matter once and for all. It's a time bomb that could go off late rand destroy your marriage.

Breast screening set Friday in Hereford

The Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital Mobile Mammography Unit will be in Hereford from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Friday at South Plains Health Care Providers, Inc., 603 E. Park Ave.

The screening program in Hereford is co-sponsored by Deaf Smith General Hospital. Exams are done by appointment only. For information or to schedule an appointment call 1-800-377-4673 or 1-359-4673.

The total cost of the screening is $70. This includes the x-ray, physical breast exam and the radiology fee for reading the mammogram. Funding has been provided by the Texas Department of Health to allow for free breast screenings for women who qualify.

The major goal of the clinic is the early detection of breast cancer. The clinic provides low cost screening which includes a breast exam by a registered nurse trained in breast cancer detection, teaching of breast self-examination and a mammogram. Currently, the most effective method known to win the battle against breast cancer is early detection. Early detection is best done by following the guidelines recommended by the American Cancer Society for breast cancer screening for women who have no signs or symptoms of breast cancer.

The guidelines are:

1. Learn and perform breast self-examination every month.
2. Have a physical examination every year.
3. Have a mammogram according to recommendations by age:

40--One baseline mammogram.
40-49--A mammogram every one to two years.
50 and over--Yearly mammograms.

Residents gather for block party

Residents on the 300 block of Centre St. recently gathered for a block party. There were 80 neighbors, former neighbors, friends and relatives in attendance.

Delores McCuistian and Nancy Josserand served as co-chairmen for the event. Bob Josserand offered the blessing before the meal and John Fuston and Paul Mason were in charge of cooking hamburgers and hot dogs.

Live music was provided by Lewis McCuistian, Billy Lytal, Ed Gallagher and Armon Lauderback until the party concluded.

Another block party is planned next year on the first Saturday night after school starts. Co-chairmen will be Patti Brown and Lori Page.

The first actual golden disc was one sprayed by RCA Victor for bandleader Glenn Miller for his "Chattanooga Choo Choo" on Feb. 10, 1942.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (SWBT) is asking the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) for approval to offer Caller ID service in Texas. This service includes Calling Number Delivery, Calling Name Delivery and Anonymous Call Rejection (ACR). This service will be deployed statewide on a staggered, city-by-city basis, over a period of years in Texas in association with residence, business single and multiline services, but not PBX, Centrex or Plexar services, where facilities are available. Caller ID is an optional service which allows a subscriber to see date, time, and the phone number (Calling Number Delivery) and/or name associated with the number (Calling Name Delivery) of most direct dialed local calls and some select long distance calls before the telephone is answered. Anonymous Call Rejection is a Caller ID service which permits a subscriber to automatically reject calls from callers who have blocked their number/name. Per-call and per-line blocking will be available when the service is deployed. Detailed information on Caller ID service and how to block will be sent to each customer in their telephone bill during the next few weeks.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in this proceeding should notify the PUC before October 6, 1993. Other parties may seek to also obtain Caller ID service in association with PBX, Centrex and Plexar service. A request to intervene, participate or receive further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the PUC Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf. For information regarding Caller ID service, residence customers should call 1-800-464-7928, and business customers should call 1-800-499-7928.

Herd spikers capture Amarillo tourney

The Lady Whitefaces volleyball team beat two of the top teams in the Panhandle Saturday to earn the championship of the Amarillo Invitational tournament.

Hereford beat arch-rival Dumas 15-4, 0-15, 15-10 in the semifinals, then followed that up with a 15-13, 15-11 win over 5A Tascosa in the finals.

The wins over Dumas and in the finals were especially sweet coming a week after the Herd lost to Dumas in the finals of the Lubbock Invitational. Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said the Lubbock experience helped the Herd in Amarillo.

"The experience we gained from playing in the finals last week helped us remain composed this week," Reeh said. "Inconsistency still plagued us, but the experience we gained playing some pretty competitive matches already this year helped us stay poised in the last game of the match."

One "inconsistency" came in the Dumas match, when Hereford's 15-4 blowout win in the first game was followed by a 15-0 loss in the second game. Reeh said letdowns like that come with a young team.

"A good number of our players haven't dealt with the pressure of pushing games or matches into the final points," she said. "We say over and over that playing cautiously creates problems, and it takes a while for that to sink in."

It must have sunk in by the finals, because Hereford won in two games, both of which were close, against a good team from a good program.

"I think the key was that we were prepared mentally," Reeh said. "I felt we had the advantage in three areas. First, Tascosa hadn't been beaten, and I think that's to our advantage. Secondly, I don't think Tascosa expected as much out of us.

"(Third,) We were not expected to make the finals, and once we were there we weren't expected to win, so we were able to take the role of underdog. In that role, you're abie to play aggressively and not be afraid of failure at all."

Kara Sandoval and Katie Young both made the 12-member All-Tournament Team.

Against Dumas, Sandoval had 10 digs and 13 good serves, including one ace.

Young was Hereford's second-leading attacker in both of Saturday's matches, with five kills against Dumas and four against Tascosa.

Danielle Cornelius led Hereford in kills in both matches, with nine against Dumas and six against Tascosa. Sandoval, Heather Kleuskens and Heather Hodges added three kills each in the Tascosa match.

Jessica Evers had 16 good serves and four aces against Tascosa and 12 good serves and two aces against Dumas.

Hereford, now 9-1, hosts River Road tonight in Whiteface Gym. The matches start with the junior varsity at 6 p.m., and the varsity match will start about 20 minutes after the JV match is completed.

Last weekly scramble will be Wednesday

Wednesday's scramble at Pitman Municipal Golf Course will be the last in the summer series of weekly scrambles.

The nine-hole scramble, which starts at 6 p.m., is open to all golfers.

The race in the summer-long point standings is going down to the wire. Steve Stevens with 33 points leads Paul Hubbard by one point. Dewayne Robbins is third at 28 and Hugh Blakey is fourth at 27. The winner gets a gift certificate to the Pitman pro shop.

YMCA softball tournament champs

Arrowhead Mills finished on top of four other teams in the Hereford YMCA softball tournament, which was played Saturday and Sunday. Arrowhead Mills went 3-1 in pool play, edged Coors Lite 15-14 in the semifinals and shot down the Hot Shots 13-8 in the finals. The Arrowhead Mills team was made up of (kneeling, left to right) Felix Mungia, Frank Maes, Henry Ruiz, Ernie Suarez, Phillip Foster, (standing) Freddie Gamboa, Max Mungia, Albert Pena, Randy Gomez, Sammy Suarez, Edward Martinez, Rick Castaneda and Moses Diaz. The other teams in the tournament were Beef & More and Border Patrol.

HEREFORD, TEXAS 79045

Dear Hereford Cablevision Customer:

Hereford Cablevision will add two new channels and restructure rates on September 1, 1993 in an attempt to adhere to recent cable legislation passed by Congress.

The two new channels will be, The Learning Channel which will be seen on channel 35 and The Cartoon Network which will be viewed on channel 36. Both will be available for 24 hour per day entertainment and we believe both choices will provide a new dimension of viewing.

Several rate changes will also occur.

*We will no longer charge for additional cable TV outlets for residential customers. If you have any additional oulets now, your bill will go down $3.15 per outlet.

*The Dial Converter will now rent at $.33 per month and the Digital Remote Converter will now rent for $2.13 per month, down from the current $3.00 per month rate.

*Rate for the new Basic service will increase from $18.45 to $18.85 per month.

*All Premium Channel rates will remain the same.

*All rates and fees are subject to sales tax.

Hereford Cablevision now offers 31 channels of news, educational programs, sports, entertainment and movies. We feel that the addition of The Learning Channel and The Cartoon Network further enhances the value of our Basic Cable service by providing another exceptional source of entertainment and informational opportunity.

Rickman wins at 2 rodeos

Chasity Rickman of Hereford took all-around cowgirl honors at two Tri-State High School Rodeo Association events over the weekend: a regular event Saturday in Canadian and the Directors' Rodeo Sunday in Canadian.

Rickman placed first in three events Saturday: breakaway roping, poles and barrels. She placed high in three events Sunday: second in breakaway roping, third in poles and fourth in barrels.

The Henderson family also made a good showing at both events. Justin Henderson won the bareback riding event Sunday and finished third in it Saturday, while Jimmie Henderson was fourth in bareback Saturday.

Shay Henderson came in second in goat tying Saturday and finished third in breakaway roping on Sunday.

The next Tri-State event will be Saturday in Stinnett.

Cowboys, Smith remain apart on contract terms

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Owner Jerry Jones said Dallas Cowboys fans shouldn't expect an Emmitt Smith surprise at today's annual Cowboys Kickoff Luncheon at a north Dallas hotel.

Nothing like three years ago, when Smith, then a rookie, walked on stage as it was announced he had ended a long holdout to sign with the team.

"I know of nothing that would indicate anything like that could happen," Jones said Monday.

Smith sat out of camp his rookie season in a contract hassle with Jones and didn't report until the week of the first game.

Smith is in another contract dispute this year, but talks Monday between Jones and Smith's agent, Richard Howell of Atlanta, apparently produced no new proposals and no movement.

The $13.6 million multi-year contract that running back Thurman Thomas signed with the Buffalo Bills upped the ante in Dallas' talks with Smith.

Smith, the NFL's leading rusher the past two seasons, is asking $4 million per year and Jones has offered $2.5 in various proposals.

"We've been in contact with Emmitt's agent and we hope to get something done," Jones said. "I'd say the chances of him signing before Washington are 50-50."

Jones said he considers it possible, but highly unlikely, that Smith will sit out the season and try to sign an offer sheet with another team. He still would be a restricted free agent, allowing Dallas to match the offer.

"One way or another, he'd be giving up a lot of dollars this year. You've got to count on a certain reasonableness. It's going to be very costly for Emmitt to sit out a season, only to gain the right to shop (for an offer sheet) again."

Howell won't comment on the contract negotiations, which have been ongoing since the middle of last week.

Smith has been keeping a low profile. Calls to his private telephone number in Pensacola, Fla., on Monday were greeted with an operator's voice saying "there's trouble on the line."

Jones keeps trying every gambit he can think of to get Smith back to Valley Ranch.

"Thomas has to pay 11 percent income tax in New York, and Emmitt should consider that," Jones said. Texas has no state income tax. At 11 percent, Thomas' $13.6 million would come to about $12.1 million.

Jones reiterated Monday that the Cowboys' offer of $9.1 million for four years, made two months ago, remains the club's only offer. Reports that he was planning to offer $11 million for four years were false, Jones said.

"Where the $11 million figure came from is from what I have said all along. We are prepared to pay the franchise dollars that it would take to sign Emmitt for four years. If you take a look at what those numbers might be, it could approximate $11 million," Jones said.

The Cowboys' opening game at RFK Stadium against the Washington Redskins is just six days away, in the season's first Monday Night TV game, but quarterback Troy Aikman said Monday he still feels he will be handing off the ball to No. 22.

"I'm still confident Emmitt will be here," Aikman said. "I believe if you have two parties who want something real bad then the differences can be worked out. I feel Emmitt wants to get something done and I think the organization wants to. I don't see any reason why it can't be done."

Aikman said he has been impressed with the focus of the defending Super Bowl champs considering they may start the season without the NFL's two-time leading rusher.

"There's been no panic. There's no split on this team. The players are sticking together. Any reports they are divided is not true," Aikman said.

However, Aikman hinted their could be trouble if the negotiations between Smith and Jones don't pick up.

"The longer it goes some of the players are going to get frustrated," Aikman said.

Benzinger lifts Giants

By The Associated Press

The San Francisco Giants have a little momentum going into Atlanta, thanks to Todd Benzinger.

Benzinger hit home runs from both sides of the plate and Scott Sanderson pitched six strong innings Monday night to help San Francisco beat Florida 5-1 at Joe Robbie Stadium.

The NL West leaders increased their margin over the idle Braves to 4 1/2 games going into a three-game series beginning tonight. The Braves swept a three-game series in San Francisco last week.

Benzinger, filling in for the injured Will Clark at first base, hit a solo homer left-handed against Jack Armstrong (7-14) and hit a two-run shot right-handed against Rich Rodriguez.

"Todd has done a great job for us all season when Will was hurt," manager Dusty Baker said.

Elsewhere Monday, it was Chicago 10, Philadelphia 6 in 11 innings; New York 5, Houston 4; Cincinnati 10, St. Louis 3; and Montreal 6, Colorado 1.

Elsewhere in the AL, it was Chicago 4, Minnesota 1; Boston 7, Texas 3; Milwaukee 2, Kansas City 1; and Detroit 13, Seattle 2.

Mets 5, Astros 4

Bobby Bonilla hit his 30th homer and Joe Orsulak's leadoff home run in the eighth inning off Xavier Hernandez (3-4) broke a 4-4 tie as New York sent visiting Houston to its fifth straight loss.

Mike Maddux (3-6) was the winner.

Meeting set for JH tennis players

All seventh- and eighth-graders, and their parents, who are interested in the junior high tennis program should attend a meeting at 5 p.m. Wednesday at Whiteface Courts, north of the high school.

SPIKERS

beat Dumas' JV in the finals, 15-12, 15-13.

Hereford whipped Garden City, Kan., 15-4, 15-2 in the first round, then beat Perryton 15-4, 8-15, 15-5 in the semifinals.

"It was a long day, and I think that's what happened in the Perryton match," coach Royce Spies said. "Of course, they (the girls on the team) don't have any trouble getting up for Dumas. We played real well against them."

Most statistics are not kept for the JV team, but Spies said Crystal Kelley had a good performance at the net with several kills. Krista Beville put on a good serving show against Perryton, serving for 19 of Hereford's 38 points in the match.

The Herd JV will play in the Amarillo JV tournament this weekend.

Explanation of Conversion from County Education District Taxes

County Education Districts have been abolished. In order to compare school tax rates from last year to this year, it is necessary to compare the combined school tax rate below to the school district's proposed tax rate for this year.

Last year the WALCOTT School District's tax rate was .1710.

Last year the Deaf Smith County Education District's tax rate was .9390.

The combined School District and County Education District tax rate was 1.110.

The proposed tax rate for WALCOTT I. S. D. School District for this year is .9847.

Governor present at final performance

The 28th season of "TEXAS" ended with a bang Aug. 21.

Texas Gov. Ann Richards was on hand to watch the production that carries the state's name and takes its story to thousands of international visitors each summer.

"TEXAS," readily acknowledged sa one of the nation's most recognized and best attended outdoor dramas, entertained 96,809 people this summer. Stunning special effects and the awesome beauty of Palo Duro Canyon State Park are incorporated into PUlitzer Prize-winning author Paul Green's story about early settlers in the Texas Panhandle.

Visitors this season came from every state and about 100 foreign countries to revel in the robust adventure called "TEXAS".

The theatre, which seats 1,724 spectators, was filled to 88 percent of its capacity with an average nightly attendance of 1,512.

A slight downturn in this year's overall attendance is attributed to a variety of factors. Several large conventions booked in Amarillo during the summer months and the Pope's visit to Denver took a toll as hotels, motels, bed and breakfast facilities and other lodgings throughout the region were filled to capacity.

A couple of weeks of cool and cloudy weather also contributed to the slight drop in attendance figures, although the show only experienced one rainout during 1993. During its 28-year history, "TEXAS" has averaged only one rainout per year.

A cast of 80 professional performers brings the romantic tale to life. It is a rousing story about the trials and tribulations that faced early settlers who came to make their fortunes on the rugged high plains of the Lone Star State.

An excellent selection of authentic western songs, dynamic dancing and stirring special effects have contributed to the show's popularity. Almost 50 percent of those attending "TEXAS" in 1993 had seen the show at least once before.

Over the years, there has been a slow - but steady - shift in the show's primary audience. More and more spectators are traveling greater and greater distances to see "TEXAS". During the 1993 season, only about 20 percent of the audience was considered "local," traveling less than 120 miles. On the other hand, almost 35 percent came from more than 500 miles away, compared to only about 25 percent in 1966.

A miniature replica of the triangles traditionally used to call cowboys to the chuckwagon is awarded each night at "TEXAS" to the visitor who travels the greatest distance to see the show. No one from the continental United States has won this prize since the show's first season.

A total of 21 countries boasted chow-call triangle winners this year. As it has for the past few years, Australia once again dominated this year's list of winners. The African continent, Indian, Japan, Indonesia and New Zealand also were well represented. Russia and China each claimed three winners this year.

Visitors to "TEXAS" this summer noticed several improvements at Pioneer Amphitheater. Changes included computerization of the "waiting list". The production's unique ticketing policy allows visitors to wait until the night of the performance to claim and pay for their tickers. Any unclaimed tickets are released for resale about an hour before showtime. They are available on a first-come, first-served basis to people on the "waiting list."

A new performance area also was added to the main patio prior to the opening of the 1993 season. Saturday night spectators were treated to pre-show entertainment by the "Prairie Dogs" throughout the season. Plans for 1994 include expansion of the pre-show entertainment schedule to include several nights each week.

Spectators this summer may not have noticed anything different about the stage, but members of the cast certainly appreciated the improvements provided by a new stage surface. contributions from the Credit BUreau of Amarillo and another donor were used to install a new non-slip surface. Not only is it safer for the performers, but it also is more resistant to the adverse conditions experienced in an outdoor setting.

The basic story of "TEXAS" never changes. Part of its continuing popularity is tied closely to its present day relevance. It is a tale fraught with realities that reflect not only the hardships, but also the happy times that are an ongoing challenge to change and progress. The unpredictability of nature, the contrariness of human nature and the rewards associated with dreams and determination are vividly portrayed.

A spectacular thunderstorm, only two scenes that elicit strong responses from onlookers. The finale is especially moving. Horses and riders carrying the six flags that have flown over Texas race across the canyon floor as fireworks explode above the 600-foot cliff and thousands of star strobes sparkle against the Palo Duro's colorful walls.

While the cast's work at the canyon has been completed for another year, they continue to maintain a steady performance schedule. Members of the "TEXAS" cast will appear at the National Tour Association Meeting in Atlantic City, New Jersey this fall.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: My husband quit drinking over two years ago. I'm very proud of him for that and I would love to have sex with him. He became impotent about six months before he quit drinking. His doctor feels it is a direct result of alcohol but did no tests. My husband says he feels a twitch but won't even try to have intercourse.

Would a bit of outside stimulus help? He does get morning erections once in a while. Is that a sign that there is hope?

I'm having a difficult time coping with this. I feel like if I could just get him to feel secure enough with me to try, that this problem could be solved. I'm afraid if I push too hard, nothing will ever happen. Other times I wonder if I should take the bull by the horns, so to speak.

DEAR READER: Abuse of alcohol is a common cause of impotence. The inflow and outflow of blood into the penis is controlled by nerve impulses. The nerve fibers can be damaged from alcohol, diabetes and other diseases. In the case of alcohol, it is one facet of alcoholic neuropathy. If the alcohol is stopped soon enough, nerve fibers may recover, but if it is continued too long, regeneration may not occur. That is why many former alcoholics are left permanently impotent.

But simply because a man used excess alcohol does not mean that is the real cause for impotence. He could have any number of other problems that cause it. Impotence is a symptom not a diagnosis. That is also why every case needs evaluation. There are a number of essential tests required to establish what causes impotence. I have described them in my new Special Report 125, Impotence, Premature Ejaculation and Peyronie's Disease, which I am sending you. Others who want this report can send $3 with a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, No. 10 envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/125, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537.

Morning erections may indicate some improvement in his condition. But nocturnal and morning erections are not the same as during sex. Yes, manual stimulation will activate a reflex that can induce erection independent of the brain. The other question is a loss of self confidence. This can happen even to an experienced male once failure has occurred. But the first step is finding out what the cause actually is.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Our fellow coworker, Frank, drinks at least a gallon of 2 percent or chocolate milk a day. We contend this is bad for him and will lead to calcium deposits. Frank disagrees. We say "2 percent" means 2 percent of the milk fat has been removed, leaving 98 percent of the fat. Frank says no, that the milk is 98 percent fat-free.

Frank admits the gallon of 2 percent milk contains 75 grams of fat. We say he should not consume more than 30 to 45 grams of fat a day but Frank believes the average daily diet contains 130 grams of fat. Hopefully your word will help resolve this.

DEAR READER: Frank wins. The calcium intake will not cause calcifications. The more calcium you consume, the less of the total is absorbed. The milk is only 2 percent fat (18.82 grams of fat in 980 grams of milk per quart). But that is 169 calories. A quart of this milk contains 500 calories, so 34 percent of the total calories are from fat. That is not terribly high. You should limit your fat intake to no more than 30 percent of your total calorie consumption. The drawback is that over 60 percent of the fat is saturated fat.

If the rest of his dietary intake is low in fat and particularly low in saturated fat, that is not all bad. You have to judge on the basis of the total diet, not just one food item.

Lapidary club views video

"Tracks in Mexico", a video provided by Jack and Helen Nunley, was viewed by members of the Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club when the group met recently at the Deaf Smith County Library.

The film concerned trips to Copper Canyon in Mexico.

During the business meeting with President Dale Henson presiding, minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and Ruth King gave the treasurer's report. Also, reports were given on ill and injured members.

Jack Nunley won the door prize furnished by the Hensons.

Members discussed a Labor Day weekend trip to Black Mesa, Okla. and Jack Nunley reminded members that a musical group will be performing at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center Thursday evening.

Hosts for the September meeting will be L.D. Combs and the Floyd Cokers. Ruth King will furnish the door prize.

Bert Brown and Bud and Lurline Cawthon hosted the meeting which was attended by Ruth King, L.D. Combs, Thama Pearson, Joe Williams, and Messrs. and Mmes. Packard, Roberson, Henson, Sadler and Nunley.

Work savers for home front

Every few decades a new technology impacts the way in which we live. Some of the most important labor-saving ideas in our daily lives are the result of problem solving by clever people and responsive companies.

Here's a sampling of extraordinary innovations that have reduced the drudgery of ordinary household chores.

-The Washing Machine: Early washers were manually filled with buckets of water and drained by hand. In 1939, the introduction of the modern-day, "automatic" washing machine with timing controls, variable cycles and preset water levels made a once laborious household task a thing of the past.

-The Clothes Dryer: Damp clothes got a good airing when the "ventilator" was invented by M. Pochon in France in 1800. As a handle was cranked a drum rotated above an open fire.

-Liquid Laundry Detergent: Lever Brothers introduced Wisk in 1956 - the first-ever liquid laundry detergent. Liquid detergent's superior stain-removal capabilities helped to change America's laundering habits - offering a more concentrated detergent that dissolved easily in water and provided better cleaning.

-Vacuum Cleaner: Patented by H. Cecil Booth in 1901, this household staple was first introduced as a simple suction device that allowed air to pass through a filter which collected dust.

BOISE, Idaho (AP) - Tanya Tucker rested Friday in a hospital after slipping in the shower and cracking her tailbone.

The country singer had to cancel a show at the Western Idaho Fair because of the accident Thursday night. About 9,000 fans were in the stands when the show was canceled.

Tucker, 34, fell in the shower of her tour bus and was taken to St. Alphonsus Regional Medical Center.

This notice is required by the Texas Legislature.

*The percentage increase shown in the first paragraph below may appear unusually high because it does not reflect 1992 taxes levied by the now-abolished county education district (CED). In 1992, the CED levied a portion of the taxes used for school purposes, and the school district levied the remainder of school taxes. In 1993, school districts will levy all school taxes. For an explanation of the increase, attend the public hearing scheduled below or call your school district.

Notice of Public Hearing on Tax Increase

The Walcott I.S.D. will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1992 by 493.2* percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on SEPT. 7th at 9:00 P.M.

FOR the proposal: Susan Perrin, Ted Eicke, Jim McGowan, Albert Meyer, Kent Jack

AGAINST the proposal: None

PRESENT and not voting: None

ABSENT: None

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on 8/24/93. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year County Education District	Last Year School District	This Year School District
Average home value	$ 50,000	$ 50,000	$ 50,000
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	$ 15,000	$ 5,000	$ 5,000
Average taxable value	$ 35,000	$ 45,000	$ 45,000
Tax rate	$ .9390	.1710/$100	.9847 /$100 (proposed)
Tax	$ 328.65	$ 76.95	$ 443.12 (proposed)
	Total 1992 School Taxes $ 405.60		Total 1993 School Taxes $ 443.12 (proposed)

This paragraph compares last year's CED and school district taxes with this year's proposed school district taxes:

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 37.52 or 9.25 percent compared with last year's total school taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would decrease by $ .1253 per $100 of taxable value or 11.29 percent compared to last year's total school tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

This paragraph compares last year's school district tax with this year's proposed school district taxes:

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 366.17 or 475.85* percent compared with last year's school district taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the school district tax rate would increase by $ .8137 per $100 of taxable value or 475.84* percent compared to last year's school district tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I, too, care for God's little creatures.

A pair of wrens built their nest and raised their young in the rafters of my RV port. On leaving the nest they landed on the cement and I rescued three and put them in the yard, noticing that one still had a little down on it. I checked a few hours later and two had flown away, but this one with the down just couldn't fly very high or far and I was afraid my cat might find it.

I ended up buying a small bird cage and putting some grass and dead insects from my bug zapper in the bottom. I hung the cage in the RV port and the wrens come to the cage and feed the baby. I will let it go as soon as it is strong enough.

I read your column in the Tyler morning Telegraph. It's a great help. — Dorothy Stracener, Mineola, Texas

An animal heart hint I'm delighted to share, and a special Heloise hug to you. — Heloise

HINTS FROM HIM

Dear Heloise: If the pull tab of a zipper falls off, do not despair! What I have done recently and in the past is very simple.

Just thread a small paper clip through the tiny hole in the top of the zipper. Voila! You now have an operable zipper again. — Arthur Plotkin, Union, N.J.

BELT BARRETTE HOLDER

Dear Heloise: I have long hair and frequently use all kinds of fluffy hair bows to pull it back.

To solve the problem of how to store them without smashing the bows, I hang an old belt on a clothes hanger. I put the buckle over the hook, let the belt hang down and clip the barrette part of each bow onto the belt.

The bows then hang on a hook in the closet without damage to the delicate fabric. — Eleta Parris, Pensacola, Fla.

DIAPER PINS

Dear Heloise: My children are all grown and out of the nest, but I remember a hint about diaper pins gliding into cloth diapers that I used.

Simply rub the pin over your scalp and your own natural oil will let it slip through the diapers.

Try it and see! I even made my husband a believer. — Mary Houston, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279-5000 or fax it to 210-HELOISE. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

What was that you said?

What is the difference in sending a Valentine's Card or simply saying, "I love you"? The spoken word has little staying power. With Valentine's Day only coming once a year, a few words is not enough to last. The card, however, is something you can hold on to, refer back to, carry with you, read again and again, save in your scrapbook forever. The card is a lasting record and a part of your personal history. The same can be said when comparing radio to newspaper. Notice which one can be held, referred back to, carried on shopping trips, and found in libraries for generation after generation.

Newspaper vs. Radio

- Radio copy depends on word imagery and it is limited to 30 or 60 seconds, not enough time for complex issues.
- Average recall for a 1/2 page newspaper ad is 32%; for a 1/4 page ad, it's 31%. Radio ad recall is only 4%.
- Once a commercial is aired, it is gone. There is absolutely no tangible evidence it existed. For those listeners not tuned in at that specific time, the commercial is lost.
- Radio is an entertainment medium. People listen for musical enjoyment (passive experience).
- Newspapers are an information medium. People read to seek data and learn (active experience).
- Newspapers are the only medium that allow shoppers to compare values offered by competitive advertisers.
- 77% of all newspaper readers look at every page. No audience can actively listen to the radio 77% of the time (Audits and Survey, Inc.).
- 44% of newspaper readers look forward to ads, compared to 10% for radio (Audits and Survey, Inc.).

Newspapers are the way to reach today's consumers

Young Texans are target of DWI law

AUSTIN (AP) - Texans too young to drink legally are among those targeted by new drunken driving penalties that take effect in time for the long Labor Day weekend.

Beginning Wednesday, those under 21 arrested for driving while intoxicated may have their driver's license suspended for up to a year if they refuse to take a breath alcohol test, or if they register an alcohol concentration of 0.07 or greater.

Rep. Richard Raymond, who pushed the penalty, said Monday he expects it to be effective because on teen-age boys' list of priorities, driving ranks up there with having a girlfriend.

"If they think that you might take their license away for a year, that's a big deal," said Raymond, D-Benavides.

He said the 0.07 limit was chosen, rather than the 0.10 legal limit, because teen-agers are more dangerous on the road at lower levels of intoxication.

Under other laws that take effect Wednesday, according to the Texas Department of Transportation:

- A judge who gives probation on a first-offense DWI conviction must require 72 hours of continuous jail time. More jail time is required for subsequent offenses.

- A driver's implied consent to take an alcohol test applies not just on state roads and highways but in other public places as well. This can affect a driver who whips into a parking lot or is driving on a beach.

- Minors caught in possession of alcohol will have to pay a fine and attend an alcohol awareness course on their first offense. Previously, they would just have to do one of those.

- Offenders who receive probation for a third DWI offense will have an ignition interlock device installed on their cars. The devices are aimed at keeping drunk people from starting their cars.

- Abusable glue, aerosol paint and other substances have been added to the definition of intoxication in the DWI statutes.

Scofflaws are "going to find a little extra bite in the law," said Assistant Chief Virgil Walsmith of the Texas Department of Public Safety's traffic law enforcement division.

But he and other officials said their main purpose is to deter drunken driving. During the 1992 Labor Day holiday period, 13 of 22 motor vehicle deaths involved people driving while intoxicated, according to the DPS.

"Our goal at the Department of Public Safety for this weekend is not to see how many citations we can issue, or how many people we can arrest," Walsmith said.

"Our ultimate goal ... is to make sure that folks get home safely. We're seeking voluntary compliance."

Emily heads for East Coast

HATTERAS, N.C. (AP) - Winds from Hurricane Emily brushed over North Carolina's barrier islands today as the storm grew stronger and headed for the East Coast.

With hurricane warnings posted from the central North Carolina coast to Virginia, thousands of people - mostly vacationers - left the low-lying Outer Banks island chain. Others stayed put, waiting to see exactly where the zig-zagging storm - with winds of 100 mph - would blow ashore.

"It's like playing checkers," said Troy Lapetina, emergency services coordinator for Norfolk, Va. "We wait for the storm to make a move, and then we make ours."

Wind began to pick up over the Outer Banks late Monday, reaching about 20 mph. It was expected to reach gale force by midday and hurricane force by tonight, when the eye was expected to make landfall.

Fears mounted that Emily would grow stronger as it moved over the warm Gulf Stream, where hurricanes Hugo and Andrew became giants.

Radio announcers used apocalyptic terms in issuing a steady barrage of warnings. Tie down shovels and other yard equipment, one said, to keep them from becoming "missiles of destruction."

Some 70,000 of the 100,000 people in Dare County, which includes most of the Outer Banks, moved inland Monday, according to Ray Sturza, a county emergency management spokesman. The rest prepared to stick it out.

"I ain't gonna leave," said Billy Beasley, 51, a lifelong Outer Banks resident and owner of a seafood restaurant in Colington. "I'm going to do the best I can."

At 8 a.m., Emily's center was about 130 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, near latitude 33.5 degrees north and longitude 74.7 degrees west.

Emily was moving northwest at near 9 mph and was expected to turn northward today, with 105 mph winds, the hurricane center said.

If it turns northward before or shortly after hitting the Outer Banks, Emily would head back out to sea and would be expected to stay offshore, said forecaster Tony Zaleski. That could cause large swells and 40-50 mph wind along the coastline from Virginia to New York's Long Island.

If Emily moves inland before veering north, it might weaken to tropical storm status but could bring heavy rain and high wind up the East Coast, Zaleski said.

There also was the question of timing - whether the storm would hit near high tides at around 8 p.m. today and 9 a.m. Wednesday. A full moon will make the tides even higher.

If the storm aims at Virginia, about 200,000 people in flood-prone areas of Hampton Roads could be evacuated, said Mike LaCivita, a spokesman for the Department of Emergency Services.

The Navy was moving at least 18 ships, including the aircraft carrier USS John F. Kennedy, from piers at Virginia's Norfolk Naval Base to about 300 miles off the coast. The Marine Corps' New River Air Station and Fort Bragg and Pope Air Force Base in North Carolina planned to move aircraft to safer ground.

A hurricane warning was posted from Bogue Inlet, 20 miles southwest of Morehead City near the Marine Corps' Camp Lejeune, to the Virginia state line, meaning the hurricane could hit by this afternoon, forecasters said.

A hurricane watch was in effect from the warning area south to the South Carolina state line and north to Fenwick Island, Del. A watch means hurricane conditions pose a threat.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - John Mellencamp's return to his heartland home last month raised more than $450,000 for Midwest flood victims, a spokesman said.

The rocker, who lives near Bloomington, sold out "Concerts for the Heartland' in Chicago, Indianapolis and St. Louis.

The St. Louis one was canceled when a levee broke on the Mississippi River broke and flooded the concert area. But only one-fifth of 20,000 people who bought $10 tickets for the concert have requested refunds, Steve Schankman, president of promoter Contemporary Productions, said Friday.

"We feel most of those who want refunds have already pursued them," Schankman said. The deadline is Aug. 31.

BOISE, Idaho (AP) - Tanya Tucker left a hospital here one day after slipping in the shower of her tour bus and cracking her tailbone.

The country singer had to cancel two shows at the Western Idaho Fair because of the accident Thursday night. About 9,000 fans already were in the stands.

Tucker, 34, left St. Alphonsus Regional Medical Center on Friday.

"Tanya is doing well and is in good spirits," said her father and manager Beau Tucker.

Texas lottery saves $80.9 million in costs

AUSTIN (AP) - Comptroller John Sharp says he knows exactly how efficient the Texas Lottery is: $80.9 million worth.

That was the size of the check Sharp turned over to the state Treasury on Monday, a surplus of administrative funds not needed by the lottery.

Sharp said the lottery has been so efficient, other states are looking at Texas in setting up their own gambling games.

"We still get calls anytime there's a lottery starting up anywhere in the country," Sharp said. "There's no question it's the most efficiently run lottery in the country."

The lottery pays 5 percent of its revenues to retailers, about 50 percent as prizes and about 30 percent to the Treasury. Under state law, 15 percent was allowed for administrative costs.

But Sharp said the lottery, which employs only about 180 people, spent only about 8 percent on administration. The difference was the $80.9 million returned to the Treasury.

"It would have been a lot easier to hire 1,000 employees," Sharp said. Instead, the lottery utilized private companies for as many services as possible.

Rather than create its own transportation fleet to send tickets to retailers, Sharp said, the Texas Lottery used UPS. The same went for its communications system and advertising campaigns.

The lottery began selling instant-win, scratch-card tickets on May 29, 1992, with the pick-six-number lotto game beginning about five months later.

The comptroller's office had projected that the lottery would generate $461 million profit during the 15 months between the start-up of instant ticket sales and the end of the 1992-93 budget cycle, which arrives Tuesday.

Sharp said that with the $80.9 million surplus and the final transfer of lottery proceeds on Tuesday, he expects lottery profits for the 15-month period to have topped $800 million.

New insurance rule opposed by industry

AUSTIN (AP) - An anti-discrimination insurance rule opposed by the insurance industry again was before the State Board of Insurance today.

The board heard about seven hours of testimony on the proposal Monday.

The rule would prohibit property and casualty insurers from discriminating in their polices or rates - a practice called redlining.

Insurance officials say the measure is not needed and represented a last-gasp effort by the Insurance Board to adopt rules before its rule-making authority is, under a new state law, taken over Wednesday by an insurance commissioner.

"Not only do these rules appear to be unnecessary, they appear to represent yet another example of the State Board of Insurance exceeding its authority," said Mark Toohey, a spokesman for Farmers Insurance Group, which is the second-largest insurer of automobiles and homes in Texas.

And insurers indicated that the board's action would just be a step on the way to the courthouse to challenge the rule.

But consumer groups supported tighter rules on insurers, although some consumer advocates said the anti-discrimination proposal before the board wasn't strong enough.

The southwest regional office of Consumers Union said the proposal would "go a long way toward not just leveling the playing field for these consumers but getting them on the field to begin with."

Amy Johnson, chief of the Office of Public Insurance Counsel, however, said the proposal was too weak because it allowed an insurer to defend against accusations of discrimination if they could establish that the discrimination "was based on a legitimate business purpose." To do this, an insurer would have to prove that they were not discriminating on purpose.

Ms. Johnson said this provision would allow redlining to continue.

Although it is already illegal to discriminate, state insurance officials say the proposed rule tightens the definition of what is discrimination.
