Elledge sentenced in death of child

A Tom Green County jury deliberated little more than two hours Friday before assessing a 99-year prison sentence for Richard Garrett Elledge Jr. for causing serious bodily injury to his 5-week old son. Elledge was found guilty Thursday, Jan. 21, after jurors deliberated little more than two hours.

He was accused of homicide and causing an injury to a child that resulted in the death of the child.

The baby, Richard Garrett Elledge Jr., died in February of 1992 in Cook-Fort Worth Children's Medical Center two days after being transferred from San Angelo. The child was taken to Angelo Community Hospital by his parents, Elledge and Elisa Bartlett, on Feb. 13 for treatment of a head injury. Police reports indicated that the baby was not breathing when he arrived at the hospital but that medical personnel had revived him.

Dr. Gary L. Sisler, deputy medical examiner with the Tarrant County medical examiner's office, testified at the trial that the autopsy showed extensive head trauma, massive swelling of the brain and bleeding and some rib injuries. Sisler said yes when assistant district attorney Penny Roberts asked if the brain injury caused the death of the child.

Others testifying included the doctor on duty at Angelo Community Hospital when the child was brought in and a radiologist.

Elledge testified that he did not kill the baby.

His attorney, Melvin Gray said after the sentencing that they will file an appeal. Elledge could have received five to 99 years or life in prison and a fine of not more than $10,000 for the first-degree felony conviction.

Board hears quality assurance report

Hospital/care center directors held a called meeting Jan. 21 for the purpose of hearing the quarterly quality assurance report. Health code regulations require that the report be made to the board.

The Quality Assessment and Assurance Committee advises the administration and the board. Goals of the committee are to monitor and evaluate the appropriateness and quality of care at the facility within the framework of the quality assessment and assurance plan and to provide a means of identifying and resolving negative outcomes related to care and reinforcing positive outcomes through education and monitoring.

The committee has full authority of the board to implement a quality assessment and assurance program for the facility, including but not limited to:

-identifying negative and positive outcomes on direct or indirect resident care

-establishing criteria and standards of practice of professional organizations, health code regulations, and federal requirements, as applicable to the facility

-meeting with the board to discuss any impediments encountered.

The report Thursday was given by Nadine Leifeste, hospital director of nurses. She told the board that problems previously identified which had not been followed up on are now mostly resolved.

Specifically mentioned was the emergency room records monitoring system. Mrs. Leifeste said ER nurses are now signing their names to doctor's orders as required rather than just initials and that wastage is being signed out properly.

Criteria for the committee has been established and meets with Medicare specifications, she said. The committee is made up of Doctors Robert Owensby and Marcus Sims and six members of the hospital/care center staff.

Board members questioned Mrs. Leifeste about the 12-hour shift schedule she had prepared for February. According to Mrs. Leifeste, a majority of nurses and aides voted to change to 12-hour shifts. Board member Concha Zapata said she had received calls from staff members who claimed they were not in favor of 12-hour shifts and who said the majority did not vote for the change.

Under the plan, staff would work 36 hours one week and 48 hours the next. According to Mrs. Leifeste, under this schedule only four R.N.s would be needed each day instead of six.

Illness, firings and leaves of absence for professional staff have resulted in employee numbers which would be better adapted to the 12-hour schedule, Mrs. Leifeste said. Use of contract nurses to fill the gap of either an eight or 12-hour shift is already impacting the hospital budget. Projections for 1993 expenditures show that the $280,800 budgeted for nurses and aides' salaries is thousands of dollars less than the amount which will be needed to operate the hospital.

Shelia Griffith, care center director of nurses, commented that her aides were all threatening to quit if aides on the hospital side began receiving overtime pay. Care center aides recently had their time cut by one-half hour per day.

On Monday, Gerry Phillips, administrator, said hospital aides will remain on an 8-hour schedule. A meeting was planned for Tuesday to discuss 12-hour shifts with R.N.s and L.V.N.s.

Board president Jack Baggett Jr. had requested that Phillips, Leifeste, himself and one other board member meet with hospital nursing staff early in the week.

Third Annual Crockett County Sheep Dog Trials held Jan. 15-17

Three days of sunny skies and moderate temperatures helped ensure a successful Third Annual Crockett County Classic Sheep Dog Trial. A total of ninety-one Border and Australian Collies and their handlers, representing ten states and South Africa, went to the post during the three day event, Jan. 15 through 17. The trial, held at the Weir-Perry Kennels on Taylor Box Road, culminated the annual three-trial Texas Winter Olympics. Mr. Harford Logan of Newtownabby, Northern Ireland, internationally known judge and dog trail competitor, judged all three trials.

Mrs. Kathy Know and her dog, Bob, were the winners of the bronze sculpture donated by West Texas Utilities for overall top dog in the Winter Olympics. Mr. Butch Larson of Del Rio, with Bart, took first place in the Open Class of the Crockett County Classic.

In addition to cash awards, first place trophies in the Ranch, Open Ranch and Open Classes were donated by Crockett County National Bank, Ozona National Bank and the Ozona Chamber of Commerce. Second place mohair throws were given by the Ol' Sonora Trading Company, Perry Motors, and J. W. Motor Parts. Weir-Perry Kennels provided the third place jackets. Additional prize money was subscribed by Ozona Butane, Jim Bass Ford, Crockett County National Bank, Ozona National Bank, Dr. Marcus Sims, Shelton Oil & Gas, Ozona Wool & Mohair, Wool Growers, West Texas Utilities, Circle Bar 76 Truck Stop, Circle Bar Best Western Motel and RV Park, South Texas Lumber Company, Ed Collett & Son Gun Shop, Preddy's Chevron, Livestock Weekly, Fesco, Village Drug, Flying W Motel, Upham Insurance, The Teacher Store, Young's Barber Shop, Tedford Jewelry, Hubbard Body Shop, Ozona Veterinary Clinic, McCleary Used Cars and Aircraft Service, Thorps Laundry, Martins Department Store, American RV, and J. In addition, they prepared a campfire lunch every day for handlers, their families, and sponsors of the trial. Maida Sims manned a busy Coke trailer throughout the trial. Coca-Cola of San Angelo thoughtfully provided free soft drinks for everyone.

Experienced and novice dog handlers alike appreciated the sheep handlers, Bobby and Gloria Ogle and Virginia Gotcher of Ozona and Greg Vance of Lubbock. These four never failed to have the sheep ready and in position as each handler approached the post.

Jean Read and Jo Davidson assisted Janet Weir in secretarial duties and acted as talley keepers and paymasters the final day of the trial.

Producers asked to file receipts by Jan. 31

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service reminds wool and mohair producers to file their 1992 sales receipts by Jan. 31, 1993, so the documents can be used in determining the national average market price.

Although the deadline for filing 1992 receipts to qualify for a 1992 price support payment is March 1, 1993, ASCS encourages wool and mohair producers to file in January because USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service needs the data in February to compute wool and mohair market prices.

"Since national average market prices are the basis for wool and mohair payment rates, producers are urged to submit their sales documents to the ASCS office at least by the end of January.

Producers are reminded that "actively engaged in farming" and "person" determinations must be made to be eligible for a payment. For 1992 and subsequent marketings, the status data for a wool and mohair producer's eligibility determination is the date the first application is submitted but no later than Dec. 1 of the applicable marketing year. Additionally, the policy regarding payments to no more than three entities under the acreage reduction program applies to wool and mohair producers, as well.

Wool and mohair producers are required to certify that they are in compliance with highly erodible land and wetland conservation provisions. Producers are encouraged to bring in their 1992 sales receipts as soon as possible.

Roach-Collins wedding Dec. 20

Tammy Raina Roach and William Thomas Collins Jr. were united in marriage Sunday, Dec. 20, 1992, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Davee, in Ozona. Rev. Bill Fuller of First Baptist Church performed the ceremony. The couple chose a traditional vow and then said their own vows in a double ring ceremony. They lit a unity candle and also revised a Jewish tradition of breaking the glass. This represents the end to the past and the beginning of the new.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore an off-white taffeta gown made by her mother and Betty King. The fitted bodice dropped to a point below the waist. A four-tiered off-the-shoulder drape was caught in the center with a lace motif trimmed in sequins and pearls. The floor-length gathered skirt was accented with a large bow in the back.

For something old the bride carried her christening cape. Her wedding dress was something new, and she completed the tradition with borrowed earrings and a blue garter.

Mrs. Davee attended her daughter as matron of honor. She wore a red gabardine suit with an off-white blouse. A lace motif with pearls and sequins accented the blouse.

The bridegroom was attired in a full-dress black tuxedo with off-white shirt and cummerbund and black tie.

Serving as best man was Dwayne Davee of Mississippi, brother of the bride. He wore his Air Force dress uniform for the wedding.

Scripture for the ceremony, I Corinthians, 13:1-11 and Ruth 1:16-18, was read by the bride's sister, Monica.

Following the ceremony, a reception and dance were held at the Davee home. Guests were served red velvet cake and champagne. The wedding cake was decorated with red silk poinsettias.

Mr. Davee led the bride in the first dance with the bridegroom and Mrs. Davee joining them on the floor. The bride and bridegroom danced to a 50s song and were soon joined on the dance floor by family and friends.

The couple took a wedding trip to Ohio and Florida before going to Key West, Florida, where he is stationed with the U. S. Navy.

Xi Sigma Omega blood drive slated for Thursday

Xi Sigma Omega will sponsor the first community blood drive of 1993, January 28 from noon to 7:00 p.m. at the Crockett County EMT building. This is an opportunity for residents of Ozona to positively affect the lives of others. Giving blood is safe and easy and takes only 30 to 45 minutes. Donors will be served on a first-come-first served basis.

"As an added treat, those who make donations two out of the first three blood drives in 1993 will receive a T-shirt from United Blood Services of San Angelo," said Connie Jennings, local drive coordinator. "It's just a small way of giving back to those who are so faithful about giving to this cause," Jennings added.

"There is absolutely no risk of getting AIDS or any other diseases by giving blood. This is a statement of fact that is echoed by every medical, scientific and blood service agency in the nation," said Gary Karschner, Public Relations representative of United Blood Services. United Blood Services is the area's nonprofit community blood provider.

Only sterile, disposable equipment is used during the donation process. Everything from the swabs to the blood bags to the needles, is used just once and then disposed of. "There is simply no way to get any infectious disease from giving blood," said Karschner.

"The question most asked by donors when they come in is 'Can I get AIDS from giving blood?' " Mrs. Jennings said. "There is a series of medical questions, asked by professionals at the time of donation, to help assure the safety of both the donor and the patient who will receive the blood," Jennings explained. "Once the blood reaches the United Blood Services laboratory, several hours of tests are performed to further assure patient safety. If I ever had a need to receive blood in this area, I would have complete confidence in the blood supply. United Blood Services works hard to provide this to area residents," Mrs. Jennings added.

Xi Sigma Omega is also working hard to provide this service to residents of Crockett County by sponsoring five drives during 1993. The ladies will be present at the drive to receive donors and provide homemade refreshments. "This is my New Year's resolution!" stated Tracy Preddy of her intention to be a first-time donor.

By JoAnne Marshall

The quarterly Crockett County Hospital and Care Center Auxiliary meeting was held Monday afternoon. New officers were introduced. They are: Connie Nelson, president; Patsy Hester, secretary; and Paula Hester, treasurer. Fund raisers for 1993 were discussed. We would like to thank the auxiliary members for their time, talents and support, and let them know how much we appreciate them.

Elvira Peña was lucky enough to fill her piggy bank during Tuesday morning's bingo. She received a $15 grand prize check for her efforts. Alma James also had the luck of the Irish with her; she won three games. Residents winning one game each were: Frances Davis, Jose Arredondo, Moriama Perez, Monnie Boyd, Hazel McDaniel, Mildred Kirby and Joe Connolly. Our helpful volunteer was Georgia Kirby. Thank you, Georgia.

Tuesday afternoon Bill Fuller of First Baptist Church conducted a combination Bible study/song service. Maxine Brown was on hand to play the piano. Thank you, Bill and Maxine. We enjoyed it.

Tuesday evening residents attended a Spanish-English class. The teacher, Ben Sanchez, said they were learning faster than he had anticipated, and he would have to study a little harder to be able to answer the questions they were asking him. They all laughed and said they would not be learning so fast if he weren't a good teacher. We would like to thank Ben and his wife, Vickie, for sharing their time and intelligence with us. They make the class really interesting and fun. Visitors are always welcome, so come join us if you get the chance. Next class will be Wednesday evening, Jan. 27, at 7 p.m.

Residents attending ceramics workshop were: Frances Davis, May Gomez, Joe Connolly, Florencia Porras, Moriama Perez, Hazel McDaniel, Consuelo Sarabia, Monnie Boyd, Lillian Hubbard and Juana Hernandez. Volunteers for the class were: Patsy and Ruth Hester and Ruthie Dorris. We sure appreciate their assistance.

A mood hat fashion show was held Wednesday afternoon. Models wearing these stylish creations were: Vivian Hughes, Joann Williamson, Jerri Pesson, Patsy and Susan Hester, Katherine Sinclair and Shelia Griffith. The residents' favorite hat was the Modern Mother's Hat. It was a diaper, baby bottle and diaper pins adorned with pastel pink, blue and yellow flowers.

Thursday morning's beauty shop volunteers were: Vivian Hughes, Joann Williamson, Jerri Pesson and Audrey Smith. As usual they did a great job. Thank you, ladies. You brighten our week.

Mass was conducted by Rev. Quirino Cornejo of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church Thursday evening. Congregation members attending were: Beto and Alicia Perez, Nip and Maria Vitela, Felipa Muñoz, Anita Fierro, Paulita Leal, Micaela Cantu and Germana Onofre. We would like to thank them for attending the Spanish Hour of Praise with us.

A performance by the Levis and Lace Square Dance Club livened up Thursday evening for the residents. Dancers were: J. D. and Lillian Brown, Otis and Myra Nester, Raul and Maria De La Rosa, Carol Peek, Betty Allen, Gayilya Underwood and Sue Spoonts. We admired their dancing abilities and would like to thank them for coming.

Friday morning's bingo winners were: Laura Owens, Florencia Porras, Jeff Owens, May Gomez, Hazel McDaniel, Moriama Perez, Alma James, Elvira Peña and Joe Connolly. Florencia succeeded in winning four games.

Residents attended a winter wonderland party Friday afternoon. Decorations consisted of a 17'x8' winter scene mural, fur coats, a sleigh and harnessed horse and lots of white wallpaper with icicles. Hazel McDaniel posed for the camera sitting in the sleigh and holding the reins. She was wearing a fur lined coat, mittens and a toboggan. Hot chocolate and cookies were served.

Otis Nester entertained residents with accordion music Saturday afternoon. Thank you, Otis. We enjoyed the lively music.

What's the Big Problem?

By Dennis J. Prutow

Look around. What do you see? You see the rate of violent crime going up! You see sex outside of marriage glorified on television. And as a result you see more children born outside of marriage. You see the AIDS epidemic advancing. And although it is not really working, you see "safe sex" being taught as the answer. You see drugs available to younger and younger children. And you actually see teens carrying guns to school! Some schools have installed metal detectors as a result!

What's the problem? The problem is massive rebellion against the God of the Bible. The problem is monumental refusal to acknowledge God as creator, lawgiver, and judge. You cannot remove the moral law of God summarized in the Ten Commandments from our society and expect overall morality to improve. You cannot take the God of the Bible out of our schools and expect the quality of life to improve.

Fighting crime, fighting drug abuse, pushing for equal rights, these actions only treat the symptoms of the disease. The real problem is ungodliness, sin, rebellion against God. To cure this disease, radical surgery is needed. Men and women, our society, our nation, must be called back to God. The disease must be attacked at its root. People everywhere must be told "that they should repent and turn to God" (Acts 26:20).

School Nurse awareness week Jan. 25-29

This week has a special meaning for Mrs. Lu Ingram, school nurse for Ozona Public Schools.

In recognition of the important role that school nurses play in the lives of children across the state, Governor Ann Richards has proclaimed the week of Jan. 25-29 as School Nurse Awareness Week.

In her proclamation Richards said, "School nurses in Texas provide a wide variety of essential services. Many children in public and private schools in Texas do not receive regular examinations or do not have access to necessary health care. School nurses are frequently the only health care professionals with whom these children will have contact. In addition, school nurses play an important educational role. A school nurse is a school's resident health expert and is available to give advice or counseling to students on a wide array of health issues.

The people of Texas should be encouraged to recognize the crucial role played by professional school nurses in meeting the health needs of Texas schoolchildren. They are valued members of both the educational and medical communities. Therefore, I, Ann Richards, Governor of Texas, do hereby proclaim the week of Jan. 25 through Jan. 29, 1993, as SCHOOL NURSE RECOGNITION WEEK in Texas."

Mrs. Ingram functions as the heart of the school health program in Ozona, and her duties include keeping current immunization records on approximately 950 students in the local school system, administering first aid, taking sick children home, and checking on children with communicable diseases.

She is responsible for screening all children for vision and hearing difficulties, screening junior high students for scoliosis (abnormal curvature of the spine), and conducting spot dental checks for students in grades one, four, and six.

"Nurse Lu" as she is commonly called by teachers and students, is married to Huey Ingram, and they have two grown sons, Don and Drew. For the past thirty-seven years, Lu has lived in Ozona and has worked for various doctors, as well as the Crockett County Hospital, as a Licensed Vocational Nurse. She has been Ozona's nurse for twelve years, and her interests include travel, fishing, and working with children.

Community service also claims Mrs. Ingram's time. She is a past president of the Ozona Women's Forum and teaches an adult Sunday School class at the First Baptist Church. Several years ago Lu was honored by the Ozona Chamber of Commerce with its "Unsung Hero Award" for her many acts of unselfish love and caring throughout the community.

Katharine Durham teaches at state 4-H lab

Katharine Durham, a senior 4-H member from Crockett County, served as a resource staff member at the Jan. 15-17 Texas 4-H Leadership Retreat in Brownwood.

Durham, who is National 4-H Ambassador from Texas, shared information she received during National 4-H Conference last May while teaching sessions on communication to approximately 200 4-H members attending the retreat.

This is her third time to attend the retreat; her first two years were as a participant. 4-H members who attend are taught how to implement community service projects in their communities and are asked to develop their leadership skills to help others.

Durham said she enjoyed teaching the sessions, especially utilizing information she gained from National Conference. "People said they enjoyed the hands-on experiences," she noted, explaining the lessons included skits, videos, skill games and group discussion.

Other sessions at the leadership lab focused on seat belt use, puppetry and mentorship programs, as well as sharing sessions featuring successful programs from counties.

"You get to hear other people's ideas," said Durham, noting that leadership retreat sharpens skills in teaching self-esteem, communications and other essential abilities.

For more information on leadership and other 4-H opportunities for your child, contact the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or handicap.

Jumping to confusions

UT Austin scientists have discovered a way of testing pharmaceutical drugs without using laboratory animals.

Instead of using mammals like rats and guinea pigs to test drugs, they will use fungi. The fungus will enable them to study the metabolism of drugs in an easily handled, very predictable procedure that doesn't require animals.

The new system will reduce, but won't eliminate entirely, the demand for animal testing. Eventually the metabolism of each new drug will be tested on animals just as it is on humans before drugs are administered routinely.

Ozona schools gifted and talented program opens kindergarten nominations

The Crockett County Consolidated Common School District is now in the process of accepting nominations for its gifted and talented program for students with exceptional intellectual abilities in kindergarten.

According to Assistant Superintendent Ted Cotton, a student may be nominated for the kindergarten program by his/her parent or guardian, a teacher, or by anyone familiar with the child. Once a student has been nominated, he/she will be given nationally developed tests of higher level thinking skills to determine the student's potential to succeed in the program, and after all data has been collected on each child, a committee of professional educators will review this information and determine which students qualify for the program.

"Anyone who is interested in nominating a kindergarten student is asked to go by the principal's office or see any kindergarten teacher to obtain a nomination form. The nomination needs to be returned to the school by Friday, Feb. 5. If you are unable to go by the school, please call and we will see that you get one," Cotton said.

"The school district plans to begin accepting nominations for its gifted and talented program for students in grades one through twelve in April of this year," he added.

Texas Senate week in review

AUSTIN, January 21, 1993—On Monday, Jan. 18, the Senate remained adjourned until 11:00 a.m., Tuesday in observance of Martin Luther King Day. The Senate Finance Subcommittees continued their budget hearings in preparation for drafting the state budget. The Senate Finance Committee reviews the budget requests for all state agencies every biennium.

On Tuesday, the Senate reconvened briefly Tuesday morning at 11:00 a.m. to refer bills to Senate Committees. Senator Bill Ratliff of Mt. Pleasant suspended the Senate posting rules so that the Senate Education Committee could begin hearings on Senate Bill 7 and Senate Joint Resolution 7, both sponsored by Senator Ratliff, are companion pieces of legislation that are the Senate's latest attempt at reaching a compromise on the public school finance crises in Texas. During the 72nd Legislative Session in 1991, the Legislature created 188 county education districts in an effort to remove the disparities between property poor and property rich school districts. Each of the county education districts were comprised of one or more school districts and existed for taxing purposes only, with each component district retaining administrative authority. The Texas Supreme court found that the county education districts lacked voter approval. As proposed, Senate Joint Resolution 7 requires the submission to the voters of a constitutional amendment to authorize ad valorem taxation by county education districts. It also prohibits the tax rate from exceeding 90 cents per $100 dollars valuation. The constitutional amendment could be voted on May 1, 1993.

The enabling legislation, Senate Bill 7, provides for the creation of an equitable public education system through validation and continuation of county education districts. The Legislature has until June 1, 1993 to enact an equitable school funding plan or funding for the Texas public school system will be cut off on that date. The Senate Education Committee will continue their hearings on Senate Bill 7, and Senate Joint Resolution 7 on Tuesday, January 26th at 9:00 A.M.

Bell calls for square dancers

Bob Bell returned to Ozona Jan. 23 to call the Levis and Lace square dancers through the intricate moves that make square dancing fun and challenging. Lively patter and singing calls kept two squares moving throughout the night. Between squares the group, joined by students and guests from San Angelo, enjoyed "Put Your Little Foot", polkas, "Cotton Eyed Joe", the "Schottische" and line dancing.

Lessons continue at the Comfort Inn each Monday night. The group will entertain residents of the care center Thursday night. The next dance will be Feb. 13 with John Geen from San Angelo doing the calling honors. Guests are always welcome to enjoy the fun and fellowship.

Synchronized lights give Texans money and time

If you found a way to save $62 for every dollar you invested, would you do it? The Governor's Energy Office and the Texas department of Transportation (TxDOT) did with the Traffic Light Synchronization (TLS) Program.

"When lights are synchronized, motorists don't have to brake every 10 seconds, idle at stop lights, or accelerate and slow down every block," said Ray Stocker Jr., commissioner of Transportation. "No one loses with the TLS program. It saves time, money and fuel."

With funds allocated by the Governor's Energy Office for TLS, city and TxDOT staff retimed 2,243 signals in 44 Texas cities. The cost was $7.9 million. The results were more than anyone expected.

Fuel consumption went down 30 million gallons. Reduced delays added up to 43 million hours, or 5,000 years annually. The number of stops fell 1.7 billion. The total savings to Texans in reduced fuel, delay and stops will be about $485 million in the next year alone. That's about $62 for every dollar invested. Some cities saved even more.

"Money wasn't the only program benefit," said Stoker. "The program and its tremendous success reinforced partnerships among the cites, TxDOT and the governor's office."

TxDOT served as the administering agency for the TLS program, which was funded with oil-overcharge funds made available through the Governor's Energy Office. The U.S. Department of Energy approved the program as part of a package of transportation-related programs to reduce energy consumption.

DON'T TOUCH ELECTRIC POWER LINES!

Some people belive that overhead electric power lines are insulated. They're NOT! Therefore, they can hurt you if you come into contact with them. In fact, you can be killed.

That's one of the reasons why they are placed high above the gound or even buried - so that they are out of the way.

But if for some reason you come across an electric power line that is within your reach, don't reach for it. Instead, reach for your phone and notify your Electric Cooperative. We will come out and handle the situation safely.

And that's what this message is all about . . . safety around electicity.

Pyramids, pasta and promises

It didn't take decades and thousands of slaves to create - but Americans now have their own pyramid - the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Guide Pyramid.

It was developed to help consumers understand the relationship between the different classifications or "groups" of foods. We no longer have four food groups - now there are five: breads and cereals; fruit; vegetables; meat, fish, poultry, eggs and beans; milk (including all dairy products); and fats, oils and sugars.

Almost all leading health organizations support the recommendations in the Food Guide Pyramid, including the American Cancer Society, American Medical Association, American Heart Association and American Dietetic Association.

The food groups should be considered along with the seven dietary guidelines which have been in effect for several years. They include:

-Eat a variety of foods. This enables you to get the proper amounts of protein, vitamins, minerals, fiber and energy you need daily.

-Maintain a healthy weight. This helps you reduce your risk of certain diseases, such as some cancers, stroke, heart disease, high blood pressure and the most common type of diabetes.

-Reduce fat and cholesterol. Remember that while carbohydrates and protein contain four calories per gram, good ol' fat contains nine calories per gram. That means you have to expend twice as much energy to burn off one fat calorie - and that you can only eat half as many fat calories before you gain a pound!

-Enjoy more fruits, vegetables and grain products. Besides being lower in calories, these are rich sources of vitamins, minerals and complex carbohydrates your body needs.

-Limit sugar. Yep, just more calories you don't need!

-Reduce salt. It's an important factor in high blood pressure. Besides, who likes to retain fluids?

-If you use alcohol, do so in moderation. Those are also empty calories - need we say more?

Those of us interested in losing weight and keeping it off will find the pyramid helpful. By eating the recommended number and sizes of servings, we will get the right amount of nutrients, lower our fat and sugar intake, and still get enough to eat each day to keep from starving to death (or feeling like we are!).

-Bread and Grain Group: 6-11 servings daily. That seems like a lot - until you realize one tortilla is a serving. And have you ever measured one ounce of cereal? (That's the recommended serving on most brands of cereal). This group is especially important to provide complex carbohydrates and fiber. Yes, you can eat your pasta and enjoy it!

-Vegetable Group: 3-5 servings. These foods are good sources of vitamins, especially A and C, plus minerals. They're low in fat and provide dietary fiber, and a serving is usually considered 1/2 cup cooked vegetable.

-Fruit Group: 2-4 servings. Excellent sources of vitamin A and C, potassium and fiber. A serving is usually a whole piece of fruit or 3/4 cup cut-up fruit.

-Meat/Protein Group: 2-3 servings. Don't cut this out - this group provides B vitamins, iron, zinc and protein. Dry beans and nuts also add fiber. Choose lean cuts of meat and cook with low-fat methods. A 3-ounce piece of meat (about the size of a pack of playing cards) is considered a serving...NOT the KC for three at the steak house! (That should make you several good meals!)

-Milk Group: 2-3 servings. A cup of milk or yogurt, or one-and-a-half ounces of cheese is a serving. Look for lowfat or nonfat products. This group is vital to provide calcium, plus protein, vitamins and minerals.

-Fats, sugars and oils are classified together and should be used sparingly, if at all.

If you study the pyramid closely and consider the number of servings from each food group and the size of those servings, you'll see a remarkable resemblance to many weight-loss programs.

You see, the most successful "losers" do just what the pyramid helps us do - learn to eat right. It doesn't take a monumental effort and it's just what the doctor ordered.

4-Hers enjoy meeings

Junior high and senior high 4-H Club meetings concentrated on the environment this month, with programs on recycling and state water camp.

The Ozona Junior High Club met two consecutive days to view a video on recycling. The humorous but educational film featured a number of facts about recycling, delivered in a "Saturday Night Live" type format which spoofed current movies and game shows. Club members won 4-H frisbees and candy by answering questions correctly.

The Ozona High School Club enjoyed spaghetti prepared by club manager Elizabeth Upham while they viewed a slide program on state water camp. The two local conservation districts will be sponsoring two youths to the camp this summer, and details of a contest to choose the winner were announced.

Both clubs meet at noon to make the meetings more accessible to all youth and fit their busy schedules. February meetings will focus on method demonstrations, and all members interested in preparing a talk or demonstration are asked to attend and sign up at those meetings.

For more information about how your child can benefit from participation in 4-H, contact the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721. ## Sen. Bill Sims chairs Natural Resources Committee

Sen. Bill Sims of San Angelo accepted his appointment as chairman of the Senate Natural Resources Committee Wednesday, Jan. 13.

"The actions of the Natural Resources Committee affects the people of District 25 more than any other Senate committee," Sims said. "The committee handles matters dealing with agriculture, water, wildlife, oil and gas, and trucking. Every one of those areas directly affects the people of west-central Texas."

Sims chaired the committee in the last legislative session.

In addition to the Natural Resources chairmanship, Sims received appointments to the Finance Committee and the Criminal Justice Committee. Every senator serves on the Committee of the Whole on Redistricting, Ethics and Elections.

"Actions taken by the Finance Committee are very important to citizens in the 25th district," Sims said.

Chamber Chatter
by Nancy Moore

Plan on spending the evening of Feb. 4 at the annual chamber awards banquet. A great night is being planned. The entertainment will be provided by the Co-Hearts. Tickets are $8.00 each or a table of 10 for $75. You may purchase your tickets from any chamber director or at the chamber office.

The new Shop Ozona coupon books are out. These books will be good for the months of January and February. You will want to take advantage of the many savings all over town. The books are still 50 cents and can be purchased at any participating merchant or the chamber office. Don't forget to sign the back of every coupon you use. You could be a winner. You may still be a winner from the first Shop Ozona campaign. The lucky person will receive a $50.00 gift certificate to be redeemed with any participating merchant.

It looks like 1993 is going to be a busy year for Ozona. Many fun and exciting things are being planned. The chamber office is getting many calls from people wanting information about the town. Isn't it great to live in a small community where things happen?

Mountain lion study underway at Big Bend Ranch

AUSTIN - Texas Parks and Wildlife Department wildlife biologists have begun putting radio collars on mountain lions as part of a five-year study on the Big Bend Ranch State Natural Area to learn more about mountain lions in the Trans-Pecos ecological region of Texas.

"Since 1983, the department has been conducting a statewide mountain lion sighting and mortality survey, but more specific information is needed for the future management of the species," said Bill Russ, wildlife biologist from Sanderson. The objective of the study will be to determine the reproduction, survival and dispersal of mountain lions. Mike Pittman, wildlife biologist from Fort Davis, said about 12 mountain lions will be fitted with radio collars during the next several months. Radio telemetry activities will be conducted on a weekly basis.

The study is being conducted on Big Bend Ranch because of its large size, about 265,000 acres.

"The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department recognizes the mountain lion as an integral part of the state's ecosystem," Pittman said. "Mountain lion numbers may be at their highest level in modern times and they appear to be expanding their range into other portions of the state.

"This study will provide additional information on mountain lion ecology in Texas, which is needed to better address the management needs of this species and the concerns of the citizens of Texas," he said.

Spring turkey public hunting applications due Feb. 8

AUSTIN - Anyone interested in applying for one of 209 available public spring turkey hunts must have their applications into the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department by Feb. 8.

TPWD officials will draw for 209 spring turkey hunting permits on four wildlife management areas, including Walter Buck WMA in Kimble County (44 permits), James Daughtrey WMA in Live Oak and McMullen counties (40 permits), Gene Howe WMA in Hemphill County (50 permits) and Kerr WMA in Kerr County (75 permits). Last year 3,068 hunters applied for 215 permits on these four areas, resulting in 39 gobblers being harvested by 192 participating hunters.

There is a $25 permit fee per hunter for a two-day hunt, said Herb Kothmann, TPWD's public hunts coordinator. Also, interested applicants are reminded that spring turkey hunts initially scheduled for the Honey Creek State Natural Area have been canceled for this season.

For more information on the spring turkey hunts, check the 1992-93 Hunting Opportunities Type I WMA book or contact the department at 1-800-792-112, ext. 4505, or 512 389-4505.

Disability benefits for widows/ widowers

Important disability protection under Social Security is available to one of the most vulnerable groups in the economy - homemakers who devote their lives to raising a family and have not acquired enough work credits under Social Security for disability coverage. The protection is available on the basis of the work of the deceased spouse and means that widows, widowers, and surviving divorced spouses between 50 and 60 who become disabled are not without disability insurance.

A recent change in the law makes this protection available to more people by permitting them to work and earn more money before their work would disqualify them for benefits. Now, a disabled widow or widower can earn up to $500 per month - the same amount used for disabled workers - before the claim is reviewed to determine if benefits will continue. Before, any amount of earnings indicated that the applicant could work.

To qualify for disability benefits, a widow or widower must be at least age 50 and the disability must have started before the worker's death or within 7 years of death.

For additional information, call Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, business days between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Ozona,

We received our End of the Year Stockman over the weekend, and thought I had better catch up on some letter writing to all our friends back there on the edge of the Edwards Plateau. Big events occurred in the year of 1992 and I'm really glad that the Stockman compiled all those events and had such a great "year ending" issue.

1992 certainly didn't start off very well for us, but somebody sure did take care of us in the end, and the last six months certainly outdistanced the first six months. Faith in the fact that everything does and will work out for the best if you just believe and work towards it happening.

The last six months of 1992 had a lot of firsts for all of us Binghams. Of course the fact that we were living on the edge of America was certainly not a first, and that fact alone certainly helped when we were faced with having to move out here again. However it was the first time we had not been able to sell our house when moving, but are very thankful to Ozona National Bank for working with us, and of course to our renter Stephanie Chapman who has taken care of the little Blue House and fully cooperated with Johnny Childress when he shows the house to perspective buyers. This was the first time that leaving good friends really saddened us as a whole, and was probably the hardest part of the whole relocation.

Having an opportunity to work for a company like Mojave Pipeline was certainly a first for me, and certainly was a first for me to have a career rather than just working at a job. In October I received my first promotion and raise since I can't remember when, and the future has never been brighter. Mojave Pipeline is the first real competition for Pacific Gas and Electric, and in February files with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to lay another 600 miles of pipeline towards Sacramento and the Bay area. This is the first time I've been with a company that is brand new, and being on the ground floor working with a bunch who are very proud of the work they do daily.

From June till November was the first time that Emily got to be home with her best friend, Kathyrn. Katy started the first grade here in Bakersfield, but we're very thankful that her education she received from Ms. Gonzales prepared her much better than others. That full day of kindergarten, Monday through Friday, really put her in a good position to learn even more in her first year in California.

The first week of December, Kathryn was contacted by a physicians group here in Bakersfield, and not only did she double her salary from what she was being paid in Ozona, but doesn't have to contend with all the petty day to day pressures. She is working with a Dermatologist Surgeon, and for the first time ever is not coming home and relating her experiences of the days surgical grossness over the supper table.

Although Katy and Emily got their first gymnastics experience in Ozona, they are now enrolled in a bonafide gymnastic school where gymnastics gets real serious. Kathryn and I both thank Landa and her efforts to bring our girls into a world with sports, and now realize they can do lots of challenging things.

Through Manuel Munoz's insistence I got heavily involved in coaching a team of junior high boys this last fall. This was a first time of being head coach and offense coordinator for me. California relies on lots of volunteer organizations for youth sports because of high insurance rates, and even though Manuel and I were the new coaches within an old circle we showed all the good ol' boys set on their teams looking like pro teams, that the basics are what really count. We ran out of time in only one game out of ten, our "single-wing offense" was unstoppable, and "Mad" Mickey Munoz who anchored out "fifty-two" defense coached by Manuel was the league stopper. Stockman I included a team picture, because for the first time a California team coached by "ex-Ozonans" really went all the way.

We're looking forward to coming back this summer and seeing all of ya'll. And even though it will only be for a brief period of the year of 1993, we plan on making it quite a reunion. Take care all ya'll, and Way the year of 1993 be good for all of us.

As always,
The Binghams
