COLLEGE BOY TO TESTIFY IN HIS DEFENSE

Goodman, Held in Death Of Dallas Watchman Is Expected to Take Stand

SAYS HE HAD NO GUN

Lawyer Tells Jury he Expects to Prove Youth Innocent

DALLAS, Aug. 19.—William Jennig Bryan Goodman, Oklahoma National Guard captain, student in the Tulsa university and Y. M. C. A. president at the university, will take the stand in his own behalf, it was intimated today by Maurey Hughes, defense attorney, in the trial of Goodman here on a charge of murdering [illegible] S. Swinney, Dallas nightman. Eleven Oklahomans today [illegible]ed as to the good character of [illegible]ccused man.

[illegible]roduction of evidence got under [illegible] before noon today when the jury [illegible]s finally completed.

Student of Geology.

Immediately after the state rested its case this afternoon, Attorney Hughes made a detailed statement to the jury as to what the defense expected to prove. He said attempt would be made to prove that after serving in the World war and attending West Point, Goodman resumed the study of geology at Tulsa university and that it was in connection with geological surrey work that he came to Dallas at the time the shooting of Swinney occurred.

Mr. Hughes said it would be shown that Goodman knew Joe Brown, who is jointly charged with Goodman in the slaying, and met him here. Goodman, he said, came in the place of a Mr. Moore, who was unable to come in connection with the company's business at that time; that Goodman and Brown attended a dance the night of June 21, accompanying two young women whom they met there, to their homes at a late hour; that en route to their home they had tire trouble, Goodman going to a store for cigarettes while Brown fixed the tire.

Had no Gun.

Hughes said it would be shown Goodman had no gun and when a voice called to him to halt he was frightened; that after remonstrating [illegible] the man who stopped him, he [illegible]rrested, a pistol being placed [illegible] him.

[illegible]s claimed Goodman told Swin[illegible]he wanted to shoot to "just go [illegible]." The shooting then began, with Swinney shooting at Brown, who came on the scene, a scuffle ensuing over the pistol. Hughes contended. The pair then returned to Oklahoma.

After the statement was read, Judge Charles A. Pippen said the jury would not accept the statement until the claims were proven.

John Tipps, assistant district attorney, testified to a conversation with Brown in which it was indicated both Goodman and Brown had pistols. Mr. Tipps was unable to say on cross-examination whether Brown had said that Swinney had fired first.

FOUR MISSING AND 12 MAY BE FATALLY HURT

Worst Disaster in Rhode Island Waters Since 1907

OFFICIAL INQUIRY ON

Investigator Says Inspection Of Boiler Shows it Was Defective

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 19—(AP) Thirty-five persons had lost their fight for life tonight, 24 hours after they had been enveloped in a flood of steam let loose when the boiler of the excursion steamer Mackinac exploded as she steamed through Narragansett bay. Four other persons were missing and 12 of more than 100 injured were not expected to survive their burns.

The death list grew by the hour. Every attendant at the naval hospital, where most of the victims were taken, was on duty and worked ceaselessly. As many of the patients as could be removed were taken to the Newport hospital where 25 volunteer nurses, many of whom saw service over seas ministed to their needs in wards that were filled with flowers brought from the gardens of Newport's society leaders.

Worst Since 1907

The disaster, the worst in Rhode Island waters since the steamer Larchmont went down with between 125 and 175 on board in February, 1907, was the direct result of the defective boiler, Assistant Attorney General Oscar A. Heltzen told The Associated Press tonight. It was a coincidence that George McVay, captain of the Mackinac also was captain of the Larchmont which sank after being rammed by a schooner during a blinding snow storm.

The Rhode Island attorney generals' department will continue its investigation to determine whether there was criminal culpability in the disaster to the Mackinac. Federal steamship inspectors and Newport police also started independent investigations today. United States Senator Jesse H. Metcalf asked Secretary of Commerce Hoover to start an immediate inquiry.

"When the state investigators inspected the Mackinac's exploded boiler they found it was an old one deteriorated by wear and thinned down in certain places," said Mr. Heltzen. "What occurred at the time of the explosion was a rupture of the plate in the cross drum extending from the right hand side of the firebox to the center of the boiler along side of the logitudinal seam.

Seams Thin

"The longitudinal seam was very thin and the opening was six or seven inches wide, extending upward to the rear of the drum. It appeared that from time to time the boiler had been subjected to extensive repairs by the addition of new bolts and patches.

"The repairs may be evidence that the boiler was in a weakened condition. It has been intimated to the attorney generals' department that an inspector should have determined this condition by the use of hydrostatic or hammer test."

Machine Guns, Radio, Airplanes And Telephones Prove Too Much for Six Convicts Who Break California Pen

Modern Device of Alarm, Transportation and Combat Bring Capture of Desperadoes; two Prison Officials May Die From Wounds

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Six convicts of the state prison here, taking B. O. Miller, prison shipping clerk, along as a hostage, escaped in a launch from the water front gang of the prison in a hail of bullets from two guard towers today and were captured later at Malate Point on the Contra Costa county shore, three miles away. Miller tonight was near death from bullet wounds received when the tower machine guns were turned on the launch and George Grayson, a guard, who was slugged by the escaping men, was in a critical condition. Paul Luce, one of the escaping men, sustained a shattered arm from machine gun bullets.

The course of the seized launch was followed by field glasses after it cruised out of rifle range. San Francisco police put out from that side of the bay with shotguns and telephone messages resulted in organization of posses in Contra Costa and Alameda counties.

The convicts, who put out again when they found they had tried to and at a point where a posse was awaiting them, were turned back by bullets fired by a deputy sheriff on a trans-bay ferry boat.

Nineteen convicts were in the prison water front gang and almost all of the men are believed to have participated in the break, although only six got away in the launch.

Two army airplanes from the Crissy field responded to an appeal from the prison and dropped a note in the prison yard while the chase was still on saying they had located the launch with the fleeing prisoners. The San Francisco police boat was close behind the prison launch when the men surrendered.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP).—Two of the three navy planes with the MacMillan Arctic expedition are now out of commission, the National Georgraphic Society was informed today in a message from Commander MacMillan.

Burning gasoline, spreading over the water at Etah, Greenland, the expedition's base, burned one of the wings of the NA-3 so badly last night he reported, that a new one will be required. He also related that another Liberty motor had gone out of commission yesterday and that the last spare was being installed.

Damage to the NA-3 will prevent or greatly hamper further flying operations of the expedition until it is repaired, since the policy has been that the planes must not go out singly, and the NA-2, damaged in rough weather recently at Etah, has not yet been put back into service.

V. F. LAWSON, DEAN OF NEWS MEN, IS DEAD

Publisher of Chicago Daily News Expires at His Home Wednesday

ILL BUT TWO DAYS

Was One of Nation's Foremost Newspaper Builders

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Victor F. Lawson, editor and publisher of the Chicago Daily News, died at his home here tonight, after an illness of two days.

Mr. Lawson had suffered heart attacks in recent years from overwork, and an attack of myocarditis with acute dilation which came yesterday proved fatal at 10 o'clock tonight. His nearest relative, his niece, Mrs. Clarke N. Tavenee of Chicago, summoned when it was plain his illness had become grave, was at his bedside.

Nearly 75 Years.

Mr. Lawson would have been 75 years old next month. Earlier in the year, and two or three times in the last decade, he had suffered attacks which kept him confined for a few days, but after brief rests he resumed his vigorous activities, refusing to turn over the burden of the direction of the Daily News to his staff.

Victor Fremont Lawson gained fame and fortune by his foresight in anticipating the success of a low priced newspaper. His Chicago Daily News was the first western newspaper to make a success as a penny sheet. He later gained hosts of friends in the newspaper business when his foresight again came to the front and enabled him to supply hundreds of publishers and small newspapers with print paper during the paper shortage of war time days.

Mr. Lawson was one of the most influential publishers in the United States and friends were ever proud to assert his paper always was constructive.

He was one of the founders and always a leader in the affairs of the Associated Press, being one of the most vigorous advocates of co-operative news gathering. He was president of the Illinois corporation from 1894 until 1900. He had been a member of the board of directors of the present organization continuously since November, 1900.

The unusual success of the Daily News has been attributed in part to its policy of appealing to women. Vesuveus might erupt, Russia be convulsed, Mexico be swept by revolution, but independent of catastrophes, the Daily News continued to print the things its owner believed the women readers liked to read. The daily short stories, recipes for the tables, small talk, anecdotes, notes of fashion, never were overlooked.

THE WEATHER

"I ain't got no chewin' gum now. I had a nice wad an' left it in a chair for a minute an' Mamma's company set on it."

LYRICS OF LIFE.
By Douglas Malloch.

I'm sure a band must like to play,
I don't mean men who blow the things
Or pound the drum. I mean the way
The slide trombone just sings and sings.
And then the proud cornet, tut-tut,
Joins in, and all the others—but
I'm sure it makes some difference whether
They are all playing all together.

I'm very sure the slide trombone
A better time has always had
When all were playing. All alone
A trombone always seems so sad.
But, my, the music that it makes,
Until the very ceiling shakes.
No matter what the kind of weather,
When all are playing all together.

If each should try so loud to play
That no one else was ever heard,
The drum to roar, the brass to bray—
Well, wouldn't that be quite absurd!
Though that would make a lot of noise,
That isn't what the world enjoys—
It makes a lot of difference whether
They all are playing all together.

And in an office, in a mill,
A bank, a factory, a store,
What makes it music, always will,
Is not the wage you're working for,
Is not your title nor your size,
But folks who try to harmonize!
For toil just seems to slip its tether
When all are working all together.

Gobi Desert Gives Up Remains Of The World's First Man

PEKING, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Stone implements and weapons of a race of men who lived thousands of years ago among sand dunes on the shore of a lake since swallowed up by the Gobi desert have been found far in the interior of Mongolia by the third Asiatic expedition of the American museum of natural history, Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of the expedition, disclosed in Peking today.

These primitive men bored the shells and made ornaments of the eggs left by the dinosaur, the giant reptile that roamed the Asiatic uplands some ten million years ago, Mr. Andrews said. They used for the same purpose the shells of a gigantic ostrich, long since extinct.

Mr. Andrews believes his expedition has uncovered traces of the earliest type of man yet discovered. He has named them the "dune dwellers of Shabarack Ussu," using the name of the site of the find. "In these dune dwellers," he said, "we believe we have found the earliest type of man in his development from the ape."

Dies In Jail.

A coroner's inquest is scheduled for Thursday. The 22-year-old woman died in agony at a hospital shortly after midnight, where she repeated the accusation against Gobel she made at the jail.

The story given by officers to newspapermen follows:

"Last night Frank Roberts, a private detective, served a warrant charging grand larceny of a $1,500 diamond ring from Gobel.

"Mrs. Hunt was taken to Dade county jail where, a little after 10 p. m., Gobel called on her, saying that he was thinking of withdrawing the warrant and wanted to 'fix things up.' He was left alone with her.

"A few minutes later the woman came running into the jail office, a deputy said, crying that Gobel had forced her to drink something.

"She threw her arms around Gobel's neck and asked: "Why did you do that?' he laughed it off the jailor declared, and appeared not to pay any attention to her, that she was a 'dope fiend.'"

Did Good Job of It.

"Gobel was held and she was hurried to a hospital where, semi-deliriously she repeated that - drink had been given her that was to 'do her good.' Just before she died she whispered, 'Well, I guess I did a good job of it.'"

Shortly after the incident Earl Venno, night officer, went to the back of the jail and found two men who tried to get away. He locked them up on suspicion. These men were Frank Gobel, brother of John, and W. H. Henly.

Marathon Fold District Yields New Oil Field In Mitchell County

MAG WILDCAT IS 18 MILES FROM OUTPUT

Reckoned as Possible 500-Barreler in First Estimate

OVER CROWN BLOCK

Well Is Southwest of Westbrook Field In County

The Marathon Fold, as some choose to call a general "high" area running from the Alpine country through Reagan, and Crockett county up to somewhere north of Mitchell county, has yielded its fourth oil field, if advance notices from western Mitchell county mean anything.

There Magnolia Petroleum company has what looks like a 500-barrel well in its No. 2, W. L. Foster, located in the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 17, block 20, T&PRRCO survey. The well is some 18 miles from any production (Westbrook field) and about four miles southwest of Iapan, and near the Howard county line. It is west of Colorado.

Steel storage is being erected, the well having flowed over the crown block and swabbed at a rate estimated at better than 500 barrels. Pay is a lime at 2,860 feet. First oil was found when in the 2,870 feet. Bottom of the hole is 2,873 feet.

The eight-inch casing is set at 1,473, and has lost the seat, partly impeding the flow, but despite this the well is making about five barrels every hour and a half in a single head, reports late yesterday from Mitchell county indicated.

No. 1 Foster was in the northwest quarter of the same section and had a 20-barrel flow at a depth of 2,874 feet. There are eight wildcats drilling within a radius of 25 miles, while surrounding acreage is held largely by Deep Rock, Marland of Texas, H. C. Bynum and others.

Oil Gossip

H. L. McElroy of this city will leave today for a short stay in Ardmore.

Paul Steed and family, Simms Oil company, are expected back to Wichita Falls about August 25, a wire from them yesterday says.

Stanley M. Marsh of Ardmore is one of the latest additions to North Texas operators, Mr. Marsh expects to move his family here this week.

Seen yesterday: A popular young P. B. X. operator in one of the larger companies complaining about the heat and hitting the high spots in "The Desert Healer," sister novel to "The Sheik."

Lion Tamer hat, wrist watch and cavalry boots are getting to be quite a combination for aspiring young oil men in North Texas. They're known to be very unpopular with the pipeline gangs, however.

"If you want to know what I am going to do in England come along with me," he told the newspaper men. He added that he was "leaving with a sincere desire to settle these war debts because the fate of civilization depends upon concord among the western powers.'

Going in this spirit he said he honed to return completely successful.

NORTH BEAVER CREEK YIELDS NEW PRODUCER

Deep Sand of McCarty Leases Uncovered There

IMPORTANT STRIKE

Is Major Strike, Apparently, For South Wichita Country

Texhoma Oil and Refining company has seemingly opened another of the better class of South Wichita county pools in its No. 2, John and Jeff Waggoner, located 450 feet each way out of the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of the BS&F survey, section 11, abstract 387, due north of the old McCarty-Beaver Creek production.

The well was swabbing yesterday at a rate of about 15 barrels an hour. Oil rose in the hole about 200 feet on hour. When pinced on the pump it is reckoned for somewhere between 200 and 300 barrels a day.

The new pool is a short distance due north of the old McCarty-Mance farm stuff, which proved so prolific for the old White-United Central, and Ryan Petroleum company. The best wells here came from the regular 1,600-foot sand, which is regarded identical with the sand in the new well, found at 1,764-70 feet..

The well is located on the east side of a block of about 820 acres owned by Texhoma. The geological work in the main was done by Lester A. Luecke of Texhoma's geological department.

Officers said they found indications of the house having been a place where narcotic peddlers met customers.

Yesterday's Cuts

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 19.—(AP).—Standard Oil companies of Louisiana, in Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee reduced the price of gasoline from 1 to 1 1-2 cents today. Officials of the Standard Oil company here said the reduction was made to equalize prices in the three states.

Independents met the reduction in New Orleans.

Uncle Sam Now Is Investing Cash In His Own Bonds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—(AP)—The treasury is taking advantage of current prices for government bonds by buying them for the sinking fund, which eventually will wipe out the national dept.

Since July $126,000,000 worth of third liberty bonds have been repurchased for this purpose.

The third liberties which have been obtained would have fallen due in 1928 and because of this maturity the premium is lower ordinarily than on other government securities.

It is considered probable at the treasury department that a very large portion of the sinking fund for the current year, which will total upwards of $300,000,000, will be devoted to retiring such portions of the third loan as the government will be enabled to buy.

It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red-cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. IMPROVED BUSINESS IS FORECASTED

Chicago Commercial Leaders See Increase in Freight Volume and Buying

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(AP)—More active business, a probable increase in freight volume and excellent general merchandising conditions were forecast for this fall by three Chicago business experts today. George M. Reynolds, chairman of the board of Continental & Commercial National bank; Samuel O. Dunn, editor of Railway Age, and James Simpson, president of Marshall Field and company, made statements.

"Business is more active than last year," said Mr. Reynolds. "Figures for car loadings, bank debits and manufacturing show this. Moreover, a feeling of confidence now exists. The farming situation again is favorable, generally as to production and certainly as to price. We may then expect good business this fall—no boom, but seasonal activity or better.

"With such a prospect we naturally want to know the outlook for the banks and the money market.

"I see no reason to worry about any credit stringency. The ratio of loans to deposits for member banks is low enough to indicate adequate credit. Alarm over large investment holdings is unnecessary. There may be some liquidation of securities to meet seasonal demands, but commercial banks will have no trouble and reserve banks are in a strong position to help.

"As to money rates I expect just about usual fall increase. The demand for money will work in this direction. Open market operations of reserve banks, judging from this year's figures and those for last year are not likely again to keep rates abnormally easy. The international movement of gold won't be a factor this fall. Reduction of short time bank loans abroad, a smaller government debt and some liquidation of investments should prevent rates from becoming unseasonally high.

Indian Who Lays 2 Bricks a Second Will Race Negro

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 19.—(AP) The prowess of James Garfield Brown, Oneida Indian bricklayer, has been challenged and a bricklaying race between him and C. W. Nelson, Omaha, Nebr., negro, may result. Brown, who lays two bricks a second, received the challenge today.

"Bring him down. I'll meet him for fun, money or marbles," was the Indian's answer.

The challenge was contained in a letter today to the Kansas City Star fro mthe Omaha World-Herald, stating Nelson claims a record of 43,000 nine and a half pound bricks a day and declares he can beat Brown. Brown in official tests last week averaged more than two bricks a second and laid more than 73,000 eight-pound bricks in eight and a half hours.

H. M. Stucker, contractor who employs Brown, immediately offered a purse for the contest.

Dry Law Big Aid To India, Claim

LONDON — (AP) — Prohibition measures in India have greatly improved the condition of the working classes, in the opinion of C .V. Mehta, a member of the executive council of Bombay, who arrived in England recently on a visit. Mr. Mehta, who was formerly minister in charge of excise, estimated that in Bombay the drinking was about a third less than before the dry campaign began.

During strikes or any serious trouble, Mr. Mehta said, all liquor shops in Bombay are closed. Three years ago during the non-co-operation movement, when volunteers picketed liquor shops in Bombay and Poona, there was practically no consumption of alcoholics for five months, and the authorities found that the condition of the workers had distinctly improved.

Austin Bandits Try Fifth Robbery

AUSTIN, Aug. 19.—The city of Austin is co-operating fully so far as funds will permit, with the state fire insurance department toward making improvements which will prevent the city's insurance key rate from being raised from 22 to 31 cents, Secretary G. N. Holton said Wednesday.

The fire insurance commission is now drafting a letter to the Austin city council, containing engineers' specifications of improvements which must be made to prevent the higher rate from being applied.

SON DIES AS HE TRIES TO SAVE FATHER

Finding of Two Bodies In Reservoir Tells Story Of Tragedy

FORT WORTH, Aug. 19.—The story of a 17-year-old boy who lost his life in a vain effort to save his father from drowning probably was enacted Tuesday night at one of the concrete reservoirs of the Pierce Petroleum corporation in Fostepco Heights. Henry A. Reece, 47, and his son, Paul Reece, 17, were found dead about 10 p. m. Tuesday, an hour after they had plunged into the reservoir for a swim. Andrew Nelson, employed as watchman at the refinery, was the first person to discover the tragedy.

"When I went on my rounds at 8:30 p. m. I met Reece and his son," Nelson told Justice Dave Shannon, who held the inquest. "They said they were going to take a dip in the reservoir. I warned Reece that the reservoir had just been filled and the water was pretty deep."

"That's all right if it is deep, I'm one of the best swimmers in Fort Worth," Nelson said Reece told him.

Nelson said he left the pair about 9 o'clock when he came around that way again at 10 o'clock the father and son had disappeared but their clothing still was hanging on the side of the reservoir.

The watchman suspected what had happened and notified the company officials who live a short distance away from the plant. The bodies were recovered in an hour by draining the pool.

Find no Trace Of Lost Expedition

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Robert W. and J. Stewart Johnson returned today from an unsuccessful 4,000-mile search in northern waters for the lost Nutting expedition which left Iceland August, 1924.

Sailing from Nova Scotia in the yacht Zodiac they penetrated Hamilton inlet to Labrador, interviewing natives at points along the coast without obtaining any trace of the missing men. They said they believed the expedition struck an iceberg and was lost before arriving in those waters.

The Nutting expedition left Reykjavik, Iceland, in 1924, in the 40-foot sloop Leif Erickson for Baddeck, N. S., to follow the trail of the Vikings. William Washburn Nutting, commodore of the cruising club of America, was in command with Arthur Z. Hildebrand, a writer; John Towdahl, marine painter and a Norwegian skipper, members of the crew.

FIVE IN RACE FOR HYLAN'S JOB AS MAYOR

Hearst Supports Incumbent While Governor Smith Aids Tammany Man

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—With five candidates formally in the field for mayor the city primary scramble is getting hotter and hotter.

The participants in the mayoralty race is shown by the nominating petitions filed last night are:

Democrats: Mayor John F. Hylan for renomination on his own ticket supported by William Randolph Hearst; State Senator James J. Walker, Tammany designee, supported by Governor Smith.

Republicans: Frank D. Waterman, fountain pen manufacturer, "regular" designee of republican leaders; William M. Bennett and former State Secretary John J. Lyons, "insurgents."

Socialist: The Rev. Thomas Norman.

Hearst League Revives.

The Independence league, inactive Hearst political organization, came to life yesterday at the Riverside Drive home of the publisher. Resolutions were passed unanimously supporting Mayor Hylan and repudiating the endorsement of the Tammany slate given a few days ago by Deputy Register Michael McCarthy in the name of the league.

Joseph P. Williams, Mr. Hearst's secretary, was elected chairman. He branded as "bunk" reports that the league would put an independent ticket in the field, but declined to predict what his organization would be if Mayor Hylan was defeated in the primary September 1. The election is November 3.

Walker's Platform.

Senator Walker has come out with a platform which declares among other things for municipal ownership and operation of transit systems, including busses, retention of the 5-cent fare; more subways, schools and parks.

Mayor Hylan, running on his record of eight years, has charged that both Walker and the republicans have grabbed the 5-cent fare issue for political purposes only and are obligated to the traction interests to get a higher fare. Mr. Waterman has summed up his platform in the words, "subways, schools and safety," the latter referring to more adequate police protection.

Cuban Newspaper Is Confiscated

HAVANA, Cub., Aug. 19.—(AP) The entire issue of El Heraldo was confiscated today by the police acting on orders from the interior department.

El Heraldo has been strongly attacking President Machado for his stand in refusing to allow payment of $1,101,966.22 to Alvarez, Govea & company for paving and sewerage work in the city of Matanzas.

Carlos Govea, a member of the firm, is managing editor of the newspaper.

The claim was denied by the public works department under the Zayas administration which preceded that of President Machado.

Alvarez, Govea & company won an appeal to the national debt commission and in the Audiencia court. President Machado in a decree suspended payment and the government appealed the case.

TWICE IN THIS WOMAN'S LIFE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her from Sickness to Health

Ellensburg, Washington — "When I was first coming into womanhood I suffered terribly every month. My mother did everything she could think of, so she took me to several doctors and they only helped me a little. Mother was talking to another lady about my condition and she told mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mother got me six bottles and at the end of the first month I was much better, so I kept on taking it until I had no more pains. When I got married and had my first child I was in terrible pain so that it was impossible for me to do my housework. I thought of how the Vegetable Compound had been of so much benefit to me when I was a girl, so I went to Perier's Drug-Store and got six bottles. It sure did help me and I still take it. I am a well woman today and I can't say too much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I will answer any letter that comes to me to answer about what your medicine has done for me."—Mrs. WILLIAM CARVER, R. F. D. No. 2, Ellensburg, Wash.

Marathon Fold District Yields New Oil Field In Mitchell County

MAG WILDCAT IS 18 MILES FROM OUTPUT

Reckoned as Possible 500-Barreler in First Estimate

OVER CROWN BLOCK

Well Is Southwest of Westbrook Field In County

The Marathon Fold, as some choose to call a general "high" area running from the Alpine country through Reagan, and Crockett county up to somewhere north of Mitchell county, has yielded its fourth oil field, if advance notices from western Mitchell county mean anything.

There Magnolia Petroleum company has what looks like a 500-barrel well in its No. 2, W. L. Foster, located in the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 17, block 29, T&PRRCO survey. The well is some 18 miles from any production (Westbrook field) and about four miles southwest of Iapan, and near the Howard county line. It is west of Colorado.

Steel storage is being erected, the well having flowed over the crown block and swabbed at a rate estimated at better than 500 barrels. Pay is a lime at 2,860 feet. First oil was found when in the 2870 feet. Bottom of the hole is 2,873 feet.

The eight-inch casing is set at 1,473, and has lost the seat, partly impeding the flow, but despite this the well is making about five barrels every hour and a half in a single head, reports late yesterday from Mitchell county indicated.

No. 1 Foster was in the northwest quarter of the same section and had a 20-barrel flow at a depth of 2,874 feet. There are eight wildcats drilling within a radius of 25 miles, while surrounding acreage is held largely by Deep Rock, Marland of Texas, H. C. Bynum and others.

Oil Gossip

H. L. McElroy of this city will leave today for a short stay in Ardmore.

Paul Steed and family, Simms Oil company, are expected back to Wichita Falls about August 25, a wire from them yesterday says.

Stanley M. Marsh of Ardmore is one of the latest additions to North Texas operators. Mr. Marsh expects to move his family here this week.

Seen yesterday: A popular young P. B. X. operator in one of the larger companies complaining about the heat and hitting the high spots in "The Desert Healer," sister novel to "The Sheik."

Lion Tamer hat, wrist watch and cavalry boots are getting to be quite a combination for aspiring young oil men in North Texas. They're known to be very unpopular with the pipeline gangs, however.

French Debt Board Coming Next Month

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—(AP)—Secretary Mellon was notified today that the French debt commission would leave about September 15 for the United States.

CAILLAUX EXPECTS TO VISIT AMERICA.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Finance Minister Caillaux announced at an Anglo-American press luncheon today that he would in all probability go to the United States and that if he does it will be to "settle the unhappy question of debts."

M. Caillaux is leaving for England Sunday.

"If you want to know what I am going to do in England come along with me," he told the newspaper men. He added that he was "leaving with a sincere desire to settle these war debts because the fate of civilization depends upon concord among the western powers."

Going in this spirit he said he hoped to return completely successful.

He made no reference to the funding of Belgiums debt to the United States, although it is known that he has been postponing completion of his instructions to the French debt commission until he had the Belgian agreement as a basis.

Satisfaction over the Belgian settlemen was expressed by a spokesman at the foreign office this morning.

NORTH BEAVER CREEK YIELDS NEW PRODUCER

Deep Sand of McCarty Leases Uncovered There

IMPORTANT STRIKE

Is Major Strike, Apparently, For South Wichita Country

Texhoma Oil and Refining company has seemingly opened another of the better class of South Wichita county pools in its No. 2, John and Jeff Waggoner, located 450 feet each way out of the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of the BS&F survey, section 11, abstract 387, due north of the old McCarty-Beaver Creek production.

The well was swabbing yesterday at a rate of about 15 barrels an hour. Oil rose in the hole about 200 feet on hour. When placed on the pump it is reckoned for somewhere between 200 and 300 barrels a day.

The new pool is a short distance due north of the old McCarty-Mance farm stuff, which proved so prolific for the old White-United Central, and Ryan Petroleum company. The best wells here came from the regular 1,600-foot sand, which is regarded identical with the sand in the new well, found at 1,764-70 feet.

The well is located on the east side of a block of about 320 acres owned by Texhoma. The geological work in the main was done by Lester A. Luecke of Texhoma's geological department.

"VACANT" HOUSE BURNS

Officers Believe Building Was Used as Meeting Place of Dope Fiends.

DALLAS, Aug. 19.—(AP).—Fire in a vacant house near Ross and Akard streets early today caused a loss of about $10,000. Neighbors said the building had been empty for some time but men and women frequently were seen about the premises at night. The blaze is believed to have started from a cigarette or match dropped by some trespasser. Officers said they found indications of the house having been a place where narcotic peddlers met customers.

Yesterday's Cuts

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 19.—(AP).—Standard Oil companies of Louisiana, in Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee reduced the price of gasoline from 1 to 1 1-2 cents today. Where the tank wagon price was 18 cents yesterday, it was 16 1-2 cents today and where gasoline sold for 21 cents at service stations it was 19 1-2 cents today.

Officials of the Standard Oil company here said the reduction was made to equalize prices in the three states.

Independents met the reduction in New Orleans.

STANDARD OF NEW JERSEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP).—The Standard Oil company of New Jersey today reduced prices of all grades of gasoline for export 1 cent a gallon. Cargo lots are now 16.75 cents a gallon and United States navy grade 14.50 cents. Last Saturday all grades except navy were cut one-half cent.

CORNING CRUDE CUT

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 19.—(AP).—A reduction of 45 cents a barrel in the price of Corning crude oil in Buckeye lines was posted by purchasing agents today, making the new price $1.80. The reduction followed a general cut made in other grades of Pennsylvania crude earlier in the week.

No Crude Is Cut Here on Yesterday

In yesterday's issue of the Record News the Humble's new crude quotations as of last Saturday, were quoted incorrectly, it being stated that they were identical with those of Texhoma. The only difference is in the lower gravities, the Humble quotation for which are given below. From 32 degrees Baume upward all quotations of those that have cut are the same. The new prices were not followed anywhere else yesterday.

Humble's low gravity schedule follows:

28-28.8	$1.35
29-29.9	1.41
30-30.9	1.47
31-31.9	1.53

Old Law Invoked In Anson Death

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19.—(AP)—An old California statute declaring a man guilty of murder if he plans arson that results in a death was invoked in justice court yesterday when George S. Ferlin was held to answer on murder and arson charges growing out of the destruction by fire of his store building and the resultant death of Walter Skala.

Skala, testimony indicated, was hired by Ferlin to set fire to the store, but in touching off the oil soaked interior of the building he received burns that proved fatal.

Hawaii to Teach Oriental Tongues

HONOLULU, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Japanese and Chinese languages will be taught officially in all high schools of the territory, it was decided last night at a meeting of commissioners of public instruction. The commission authorized the securing of oriental teachers throughout the territory.

Uncle Sam Now Is Investing Cash In His Own Bonds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—(AP)—The treasury is taking advantage of current prices for government bonds by buying them for the sinking fund, which eventually will wipe out the national dept.

Since July $126,000,000 worth of third liberty bonds have been repurchased for this purpose.

The third liberties which have been obtained would have fallen due in 1928 and because of this maturity the premium is lower ordinarily than on other government securities.

It is considered probable at the treasury department that a very large portion of the sinking fund for the current year, which will total upwards of $300,000,000, will be devoted to retiring such portions of the third loan as the government will be enabled to buy.

Rheumatism

"Good-bye old crutch!"

THERE IS positively no longer any excuse for suffering the agonies of rheumatism! Especially in the autumn of your life, when the vital organs weaken, impurities multiply and linger in the muscles and joints, as never before. It is now, just now, when you cannot afford to guess. No day returns!

Here is a joyous fact which can mean to you a fond farewell forever to all the miseries, the tortures, the body-twisting pains that you have suffered from the demon of rheumatism. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red-cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

IMPROVED BUSINESS IS FORECASTED

Chicago Commercial Leaders See Increase in Freight Volume and Buying

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(AP)—More active business, a probable increase in freight volume and excellent general merchandising conditions were forecast for this fall by three Chicago business experts today. George M. Reynolds, chairman of the board of Continental & Commercial National bank; Samuel O. Dunn, editor of Railway Age, and James Simpson, president of Marshall Field and company, made statements.

"Business is more active than last year," said Mr. Reynolds. "Figures for car loadings, bank debits and manufacturing show this. Moreover, a feeling of confidence now exists. The farming situation again is favorable, generally as to production and certainly as to price. We may then expect good business this fall—no boom, but seasonal activity or better.

"With such a prospect we naturally want to know the outlook for the banks and the money market.

"I see no reason to worry about any credit stringency. The ratio of loans to deposits for member banks is low enough to indicate adequate credit. Alarm over large investment holdings is unnecessary. There may be some liquidation of securities to meet seasonal demands, but commercial banks will have no trouble and reserve banks are in a strong position to help.

"As to money rates I expect just about usual fall increase. The demand for money will work in this direction. Open market operations of reserve banks, judging from this year's figures and those for last year are not likely again to keep rates abnormally easy. The international movement of gold won't be a factor this fall. Reduction of short time bank loans abroad, a smaller government debt and some liquidation of investments should prevent rates from becoming unseasonally high.

Indian Who Lays 2 Bricks a Second Will Race Negro

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 19.—(AP) The prowess of James Garfield Brown, Oneida Indian bricklayer, has been challenged and a bricklaying race between him and C. W. Nelson, Omaha, Nebr., negro, may result. Brown, who lays two bricks a second, received the challenge today.

"Bring him down. I'll meet him for fun, money or marbles," was the Indian's answer.

The challenge was contained in a letter today to the Kansas City Star fro mthe Omaha World-Herald, stating Nelson claims a record of 43,000 nine and a half pound bricks a day and declares he can beat Brown. Brown in official tests last week averaged more than two bricks a second and laid more than 73,000 eight-pound bricks in eight and a half hours.

H. M. Stucker, contractor who employs Brown, immediately offered a purse for the contest.

Dry Law Big Aid To India, Claim

LONDON — (AP) — Prohibition measures in India have greatly improved the condition of the working classes, in the opinion of C .V. Mehta, a member of the executive council of Bombay, who arrived in England recently on a visit. Mr. Mehta, who was formerly minister in charge of excise, estimated that in Bombay the drinking was about a third less than before the dry campaign began.

During strikes or any serious trouble, Mr. Mehta said, all liquor shops in Bombay are closed. Three years ago during the non-co-operation movement, when volunteers picketed liquor shops in Bombay and Poona, there was practically no consumption of alcoholics for five months, and the authorities found that the condition of the workers had distinctly improved.

Austin Bandits Try Fifth Robbery

AUSTIN, Aug. 19.—The city of Austin is co-operating fully so far as funds will permit, with the state fire insurance department toward making improvements which will prevent the city's insurance key rate from being raised from 22 to 31 cents, Secretary G. N. Holton said Wednesday.

The fire insurance commission is now drafting a letter to the Austin city council, containing engineers' specifications of improvements which must be made to prevent the higher rate from being applied.

SON DIES AS HE TRIES TO SAVE FATHER

Finding of Two Bodies In Reservoir Tells Story Of Tragedy

FORT WORTH, Aug. 19.—The story of a 17-year-old boy who lost his life in a vain effort to save his father from drowning probably was enacted Tuesday night at one of the concrete reservoirs of the Pierce Petroleum corporation in Fostepco Heights. Henry A. Reece, 47, and his son, Paul Reece, 17, were found dead about 10 p. m. Tuesday, an hour after they had plunged into the reservoir for a swim. Andrew Nelson, employed as watchman at the refinery, was the first person to discover the tragedy.

"When I went on my rounds at 8:30 p. m. I met Reece and his son," Nelson told Justice Dave Shannon, who held the inquest. "They said they were going to take a dip in the reservoir. I warned Reece that the reservoir had just been filled and the water was pretty deep."

"That's all right if it is deep, I'm one of the best swimmers in Fort Worth," Nelson said Reece told him.

Nelson said he left the pair about 9 o'clock when he came around that way again at 10 o'clock the father and son had disappeared but their clothing still was hanging on the side of the reservoir.

The watchman suspected what had happened and notified the company officials who live a short distance away from the plant. The bodies were recovered in an hour by draining the pool.

Find no Trace Of Lost Expedition

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Robert W. and J. Stewart Johnson returned today from an unsuccessful 4,000-mile search in northern waters for the lost Nutting expedition which left Iceland August, 1924.

Sailing from Nova Scotia in the yacht Zodiac they penetrated Hamilton inlet to Labrador, interviewing natives at points along the coast without obtaining any trace of the missing men. They said they believed the expedition struck an iceberg and was lost before arriving in those waters.

The Nutting expedition left Reykjavik, Iceland, in 1924, in the 40-foot sloop Leif Erickson for Baddeck, N. S., to follow the trail of the Vikings. William Washburn Nutting, commodore of the crusing club of America, was in command with Arthur Z. Hildebrand, a writer; John Towdahl, marine painter and a Norwegian skipper, members of the crew.

FIVE IN RACE FOR HYLAN'S JOB AS MAYOR

Hearst Supports Incumbent While Governor Smith Aids Tammany Man

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—With five candidates formally in the field for mayor the city primary scramble is getting hotter and hotter.

The participants in the mayoralty race is shown by the nominating petitions filed last night are:

Democrats: Mayor John F. Hylan for renomination on his own ticket supported by William Randolph Hearst; State Senator James J. Walker, Tammany designee, supported by Governor Smith.

Republicans: Frank D. Waterman, fountain pen manufacturer, "regular" designee of republican leaders; William M. Bennett and former State Secretary John J. Lyons, "insurgents."

Socialist: The Rev. Thomas Norman.

Hearst League Revives.

The Independence league, inactive Hearst political organization, came to life yesterday at the Riverside Drive home of the publisher. Resolutions were passed unanimously supporting Mayor Hylan and repudiating the endorsement of the Tammany slate given a few days ago by Deputy Register Michael McCarthy in the name of the league.

Joseph P. Williams, Mr. Hearst's secretary, was elected chairman. He branded as "bunk" reports that the league would put an independent ticket in the field, but declined to predict what his organization would be if Mayor Hylan was defeated in the primary September 1. The election is November 3.

Walker's Platform.

Senator Walker has come out with a platform which declares among other things for municipal ownership and operation of transit systems, including busses, retention of the 5-cent fare; more subways, schools and parks.

Mayor Hylan, running on his record of eight years, has charged that both Walker and the republicans have grabbed the 5-cent fare issue for political purposes only and are obligated to the traction interests to get a higher fare. Mr. Waterman has summed up his platform in the words, "subways, schools and safety," the latter referring to more adequate police protection.

Cuban Newspaper Is Confiscated

HAVANA, Cub., Aug. 19.—(AP) The entire issue of El Heraldo was confiscated today by the police acting on orders from the interior department.

El Heraldo has been strongly attacking President Machado for his stand in refusing to allow payment of $1,101,966.22 to Alvarez, Govea & company for paving and sewerage work in the city of Matanzas.

Carlos Govea, a member of the firm, is managing editor of the newspaper.

The claim was denied by the public works department under the Zayas administration which preceded that of President Machado.

Alvarez, Govea & company won an appeal to the national debt commission and in the Audiencia court. President Machado in a decree suspended payment and the government appealed the case.

BARN BURNS MYSTERIOUSLY

BARTLETT, Aug. 19.—Fire of mysterious origin destroyed a small barn belonging to Frank A. Bayer Monday morning at 4 o'clock. The loss was estimated at $1,200 with the building partially insured and no insurance on the contents. A Ford car was destroyed in the blaze.

TWICE IN THIS WOMAN'S LIFE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her from Sickness to Health

Ellensburg, Washington—"When I was first coming into womanhood I suffered terribly every month. My mother did everything she could think of, so she took me to several doctors and they only helped me a little. Mother was talking to another lady about my condition and she told mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mother got me six bottles and at the end of the first month I was much better, so I kept on taking it until I had no more pains. When I got married and had my first child I was in terrible pain so that it was impossible for me to do my housework. I thought of how the Vegetable Compound had been of so much benefit to me when I was a girl, so I went to Perier's Drug-Store and got six bottles. It sure did help me and I still take it. I am a well woman today and I can't say too much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I will answer any letter that comes to me to answer about what your medicine has done for me."—Mrs. William Carver, R. F. D. No. 2, Ellensburg, Wash.

WAR AND PEACE IN MOROCCO.

Joint military action by the French and Spanish armies against Abd-el-Krim is now under way. The skirmishes reported are regarded as preliminary to a large scale offensive. But it is not impossible that before the campaign is in full swing serious peace discussions will have begun. The agreement between Paris and Madrid may have for its primary purpose the hastening of negotiations with the Riffs. None of the three parties to the quarrel is particularly eager for war, according to the best informed opinion. In The Atlantic Monthly, Mr. Vincent Sheehan, who has been an observer on the spot and an unofficial emissary between Abd-el-Krim and the Spanish authorities, thus sums up the objectives of the Riff leader:

"What Abd-el-Krim wants is a regularization of his situation, a recognition of his sovereignty over the Riff, the Rhomarra and most of the Djebala. If the powers would consent to this he is quite willing to compromise on the Larache, would satisfy England by leaving the Angera country on the straits alone and would pledge a genuine peace with France. . . . The invasion of French Morocco by Riffi and Arab troops can have but one meaning: unable to obtain any regularization of his position, Abd-el-Krim wishes to push the French into proposing a general settlement of the Moroccan problem."

With France and Spain allies, that general settlement would now seem to be brought nearer. At Paris there is no particular enthusiasm for war. In Spain the war weariness is intense and any peace with honor would be welcomed by Primo de Rivera, who faces, at home the delicate problem of bringing Spain back to a constitutional form of government under the control of the new patriotic party he has been organizing. With everybody interested in peace, it may be conjectured that unofficial feelers are being put forth at the same time with the threat of large scale military preparations.

Beyond Morocco the rapprochement between Paris and Madrid is a welcome move toward a better state of affairs in the much discussed Mediterranean basin. Relations between France and her Latin sisters have not been sisterly ever since the outbreak of the world war. Paris was not oversatisfied with Spain's idea of neutrality and the feeling was returned. Last year there was rather wild talk of a Spanish-Italian entente against French domination in the Mediterranean. In Italy plain speaking about France is still the rule, though Mussolini's government has been more friendly than its predecessors. It is now reasonable to assume that the foundations of a good understanding between Paris and Madrid have been laid and that Italy may be drawn into the circle of good feeling. France, restudying her position in north Africa, may find the way to meet the aspirations of the large Italian element in Algeria and Tunis, whose claims have recently been formulated by Italian spokesmen in this country.

NO CLAIM TO LIBERTY.

Without any vindictive spirit or any particular belief in what is to be accomplished in a reformative or deterrent way by keeping in jail for the full term of his sentence Warren T. McCray, sometime governor of Indiana, one nevertheless can express the opinion that in endeavoring to get a pardon for him at this time friends are making a mistake.

They say that the punishment allotted to McCray was harsh and excessive. That was not the general feeling at the end of his trial. His offenses were many, large, deliberate and systematic. They caused great losses to many people and they were without any excuse or palliation except such as any man would have who, having got into financial difficulties, resorted to fraud in the desperate and nearly hopeless effort to escape from them.

That McCray feels the disgrace of imprisonment more than do criminals of another class presumably is true, but that does not make the penalty unjust. He ought to feel it more, because he did not lack the education and training which most criminals are without, and he knew, better than they, the reasons why dishonesty is injudicious as well as wrong.

There is just now much talk of disrespect for the law. To take, in the case of this man, action which certainly would not be taken if he had not been governor of a great state and a man of important affairs, will not increase respect for the law—it only will justify contempt for it in the minds of those who look for such justification.

That many people with names more or less distinguished have signed the petition for McCray's pardon means little or nothing except that nobody likes to refuse to sign such a document, especially when asked to do so by a man like George Ade, and that signatures for almost any petition can be secured by an industrious and tactful collector. If the ex-governor serves his full sentence, the effect will be good; if he does not, it will be distinctly bad—a real detriment to the new movement to suppress crime more efficiently.

SMOOT OF UTAH

Senator Smoot of Utah, the highest churchman of the high church of Mormonism, is said to be the wisest business head on the roll of American senators. He insists that the next congress should make the surtax maximum 20 per cent. This is the Mellon plan. This is the Underwood plan. This is the Carter Glass plan.

But there are democratic senators who insist in exemptions for tax payers with incomes of $5,000 or less and the surtaxes as high as they are today. American business men, regardless of political affiliation, are for the Mellon plan. They believe that the surtaxes should be cut to 20 per cent.

President Coolidge is for the Mellon plan. He will recommend the Mellon plan. There are republican senators from western states who will find themselves between the devil and the deep sea. They would like to stand high with the administration. They would like to remain close to their constituents.

Their constituents are not all business men. President Coolidge will know just what the word trouble means when he finds a congress on his hands next winter.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

Set Backs.

Nobody but a liar or an ignoramus will tell young men and women that they are living in a golden age, with all life before them, and nothing to worry them.

Youth is a season of worry, and of much unhappiness. Fortunately it is resilient enough to survive.

No one deserves more help and more sympathy than the young man just starting out to earn his living.

He finds many doors that ought to be open to him tightly closed.

He discovers that while opportunity is abundant, it seldom seems to be within his reach.

In his effort to "find himself" he often starts time and again in the wrong direction, and has to go back and do the whole thing over again.

This is partly because he has not lived long enough to know that there is much injustice and much unfairness in the world, but that it can be overcome by patience and persistence.

But his trouble is by no means imaginary.

He is willing to work, and work hard.

He wants to succeed.

He wants to play fair, and do the best he can to get on.

But circumstances will not let him.

Sometimes those who block his way do so because they are callous, and unthinking.

Sometimes it is because they are afraid to give younger men the chance they deserve.

But the youth encountres many of them in the course of his career.

And if he did not have that priceless asset of hope and determination, or if he allows set backs to snuff it out this would be an unhappy life for him.

Set backs at the time they happen are really appalling. A young man through no fault of his own loses a job he has worked hard to get and keep.

It may not be a lasting tragedy, but it is a tragedy to him.

Promotions, though deserved, are slow and infrequent.

This, too, is a tragedy.

What he cannot understand is that he is learning all the time something about life that will be useful and convertible into money later on.

He is learning, too, that one set back does not set him back very far, and that the distance he has lost can be made up in an incredibly short time.

And he is getting acquainted, through every unpleasant experience with men and their ways.

He must learn sooner or later that men are not all saints, and that many of their ways are not either fair or honest.

This will come in time. In the mean time life looms sombrely ahead of him. It seems as if the time would never come when he would do as well as the man over him.

Yet these had their troubles and disappointments in youth. And every set back they can now look back upon as really a step ahead.

OLD STYLE OR NEW STYLE?

After a little more than two and one-half years of married life with Latife Hanoum, daughter of a wealthy Smyrna merchant, Mustapha Kemal Pasha, president of the Turkish republic, has issued a decree pronouncing divorce. This action is somewhat surprising in a man credited with unusual intellectual and emotional stability. It is at once supposed that Kemal has become ultra-modern and is attempting to ape some of the fashionables of the western world. But it is more likely that he has merely followed the custom of his people among whom divorce is not, as with us, an extraordinary thing.

We have become so used to divorce in certain social circles that we are in danger of forgetting that the whole sentiment of Occidental society is opposed to it. In the Orient, on the other hand, it is as "regular" as marriage. There divorce is accepted as a matter of course and only wondered at when it dissolves unusually happy unions. This is the reason no doubt that Kemal's divorce is remarked upon. The Turkish nationalist leader was pre-eminently an individualist holding original views. He married a woman who was quite as "advanced" in her ideas. They seemed to share the same social and political beliefs. Hence more was expected of their marriage than is usually expected in the east.

But racial custom, it appears, proved stronger than the growth of new ideas or a personal affection influenced by them. The divorce, it may be supposed, followed in the nature of things from the manner of the marriage. According to the custom of the east, monetary considerations were predominant to such an extent as to be practically the only things featured in the ceremony. Kemal stated very briefly his intentions before the religious authority. "I have decided," he said, "to marry Latife Hanoum. Will you please accomplish the necessary ceremonies." The bride was merely asked: "Do you accept as husband Ghazi Mustapha Kemal Pasha in return for a gift from him of 10 drachmas of silver and on condition of a mutual indemnity as agreed upon by you in the event of separation?" Affirmation by the bride concluded the ceremony. Such a pledge of mutual indemnity is supposed to render separation quite as normal as marriage, which is based upon the gift to the bride and the transfer of her dowry to her husband.

"MAD" DOGS AND HUMANS

When dogs bite people in the summer time they are seldom "mad" except in the sense in which normal human beings often get mad. They are surly and grouchy, perhaps, because they are affected by the heat like human folks and have less ability to help themselves. We humans, who have passed through these last few days in Wichita Falls ought to have a very tolerant attitude toward dogs and all other animals who must suffer from the heat just as we do and yet have not anything like the facilities for cooling themselves nor the reasoning power to adjust themselves to the conditions.

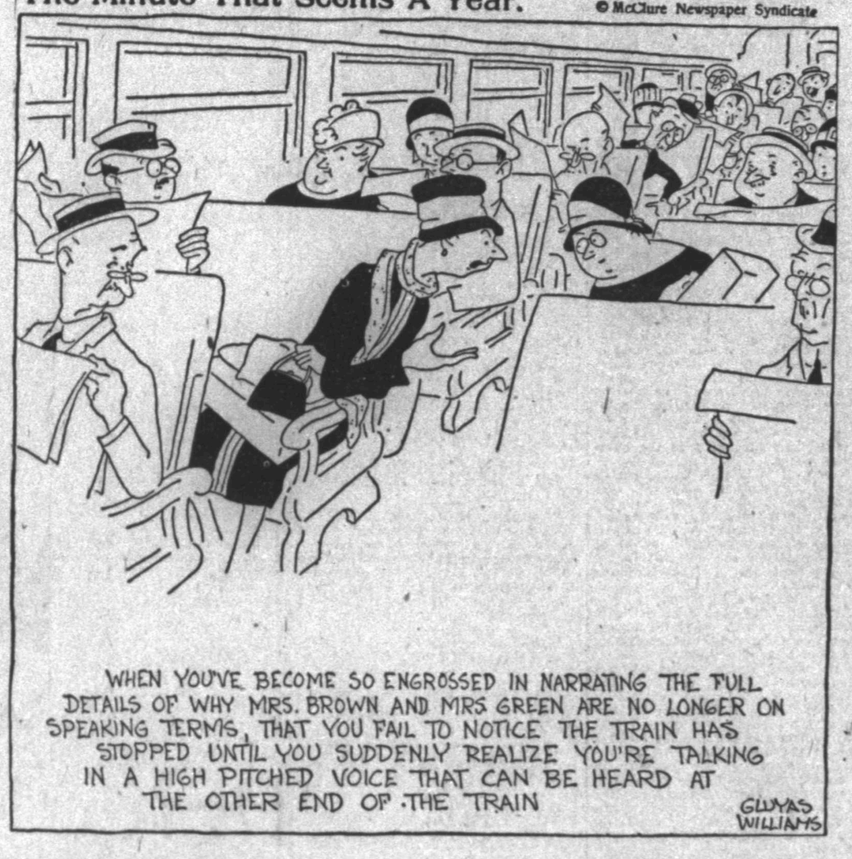

Suppose on a hot sultry day, when you are fairly stewing in the heat, and the flies are biting you, you couldn't find a cool spot upon which to lie down, and worse than that, couldn't find a bit of cool water to drink. And suppose every person you approached hopefully was surly and ill-natured, and gave you a kick or an ugly look instead of something to make the heat more endurable, would you not feel like snapping at somebody's calves?

Dogs probably don't run amuck in hot weather any more than people do, though with more provocation.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE.

Leo.

Today's planetary aspects are quite adverse, both physically and mentally. They indicate an inability to grapple with difficulties, and a spirit of pessimism and dissatisfaction, which, if not fought and overcome, can only spell disaster for the immediate task in hand. Conscientious attention to daily routine is recommended, without the seeking of any change, either by travel or in work. It is a very unfavorable opportunity for the launching of new ideas or policies. It is, furthermore, an occasion when caution must be exercised in both speech and action, if unfavorable consequences are to be avoided, and danger averted.

Children born today will enjoy very different health conditions. A boy's physical condition will be kaleidoscopic, as he will experience startling "ups and downs." Careful alimentation will help more than anything to overcome these transitory difficulties, and ensure for him a healthy manhood. On the other hand, a girl will possess a good constitution, and attain a perfect physical womanhood. The boy's disposition in spite of all his ailments, will be cheerful, bright and amiable. His character will be firm and self reliant, and he will always rise superior to those external influences that might injure him, or lead him astray from the path of rectitude. The girls will be peevish and moodish, and will only awaken to a sense of life's responsibilities when she is a wife and a mother.

If today is your birthday, you are very ambitious, and your aims are worthy and creditable. You, however, do not seem to be able to attain any of the goals that you start out to reach. This is attributable to the fact that you never let yourself go, and very easily tire of concentrated effort. If you can overcome the reserve from which you ardinarily suffer, and acquire as well a little more pep and persistency, there is hardly any heights that you could not climb. You possess a good memory, more than ordinary ability, and are able to assimilate very readily all information that comes your way.

You are very fond of outdoor sports and recreations, and are also happy when traveling. You are bright, witty, jovial and vivacious which makes you very popular among your many friends, and, as a result of your genial dispoition, you are well loved by your family. In social circles, you can, if you wish it, become a leader, as you are well liked by your own as well as by the opposite sex.

Successful people born on this date are:

Valentine Mot,t Surgeon.

John M. Niles, United States senator and author.

Robert F. Stockton, naval officer.

James J. Jarvis, art critics and author.

Benjamin Harrison, twenty-third president of the United States.

Paul Dana, Journalist.

Bizzells Leave For Oklahoma "U"

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Aug. 19.—Dr. W. B. Bizzell, for 11 years president of Texas A. and M. college, left the campus today with his family, en route to Norman, Okla., where he is to assume new duties as president of the University of Oklahoma. The family will drive to Norman by way of Waco, Fort Worth and Gainesville.

Numerous testimonials and farewell dinners were given in honor of Dr. Bizzell before his departure.

Dr. Bizzell's party will be joined at Fort Worth by his son, William Sangster, who will accompany them to Norman for a short visit before returning to Fort Worth to be employed in the sanitary engineering department of that city.

Making Plans For Tillman Free Fair

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 19.—Each day of the Tillman county free fair to be held here August 26, 27, 28 and 29, has been designated as a certain town day. Special courtesy will be shown visitors from Tipton and Manitou Wednesday and Thursday will be given to Frederick.

Friday visitors from Davidson, Loveland and Hillister will be feted and on Saturday Grandfield delegates will be honored.

This is an annual custom of the fair officials and allows a certain period when neighbors may assemble for a general "get-together" meeting. Many will bring basket dinners, it is said.

Amusement attractions will be more numerous than ever, says Mayor E. U. Gamblin. Automobile racing and a two days' radio will be a feature.

HOW IT STARTED

"CRUSTY"

If ever there was a word which seemed so unmitigatedly and irreparably slang that it would never be used in polite speech and would need a gun and a crowbar to get into the dictionary, it is this word "crusty" with the significance of unpleasant or disagreeable manner, sometimes of an imposing or "nervy" disposition. Yet such are the ways of words—we find it fully accredited in Webster's.

Attempts have been made by some antiquarians to connect the origin of "crusty" with "cross," meaning disagreeable. However, it makes a very far-fetched and unauthentic history of the term. This is one instance where to go far is to go astray, because the true origin of the expression is so obviously before our eyes in the word itself.

Literally, "crusty" means to have a person authorize its use for the person who has a rough exterior, a hard or brittle crust. And Webster "cranky" manner, or that "thick skinned" type that is "nerve" personified!

Vets to Parade In Fort Worth, Sept. 3

FORT WORTH, Aug. 19.—The veterans' parade during the state American Legion convention in Fort Worth September 2 to 4, was set Wednesday by the parade committee for 4 p. m. on September 3. Several thousand ex-service men and 16 bands are expected to march in the parade.

General plans of the convention committee contemplate that September 3, the second day of the convention, shall be the day of celebration. The barbecue and legion dance will be held on that day.

EXPLORE POTSDAM RUINS.

Water Conduit That Dates Back to 1600 Is Found by Excavators.

POTSDAM, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Ruins of what is thought to be the foundation of famous waterworks constructed in 1683 to supply the Potsdam castle with water were recently accidentally discovered during some excavation work.

The foundation is extremely massive and built of sandstone and ancient brick. Several archeologists declared the ruins represented the water work foundation built during the reign of Leopold I. An additional force of workmen has been employed to be bare as speedily as possible what may be an interesting historical find.

IRRIGATION

The Irrigation District's Forty Acres at Lake Kemp.

The irrigation district has a right to flood a certain definite portion of Mr. Waggoner's pasture with water. That is all the right it has on his land except to a forty-acre tract at the south end of the big dam. This is the forty acres on which John Crawford's house is located.

We found some time ago that the district's rights to this forty acres was rather limited. No other than the caretaker can live on it or use it in any way.

It cannot be used for any other purpose than just as a residence site for the caretaker and to store such machinery as may be necessary for the proper maintenance of the dam.

This forty-acre tract is supposed to be fenced, but if it has been the work was done very recently. The contract specifies a fence. It reads as follows:

"During the time of the use of the forty acres above mentioned, by the party of the second part (the irrigation district) for the use of its employes and caretakers at said dam, as hereinabove provided, the said forty acres shall be fenced separate from the pasture of the party of the first part with a substantial stock-proof fence, all to be maintained at the expense of the party of the second part."

The first part of the paragraph just quoted was given recently and it calls for this forty-acre fence to be connected with the fenced road leading from Maybelle to the dam. We mean by the fenced road, the road which is supposed to be fenced but is not.

Woman Found In Bath, Body Severely Burned

DALLAS, Aug. 19.—Wrapped in a blanket, her body severely burned, Mrs. Lena Schwartz, 34, was found today by W. D. She said she was washing clothes in the bathroom when her clothing burst into flames.

Thomason said the door was locked and he was compelled to kick it off its hinges.

Firemen called to the house found no trace of fire except the woman's clothing and the blanket.

Physicians said she was burned over practically her entire body.

THE STORY SO FAR

Ahmend Ben Hassan, desert son of a powerful desert sheik, has just kidnaped a girl from a dingy cafe in Touggourt. He had formerly known and loved her, but had been beset by her master and two evil accomplices, nearly killed, and was being held for execution when he was rescued by his two personal servants, Ramadan and Sorir.

He vowed vengeance on the girl and her masters, believing she had betrayed him and had enticed him on with her love. He had found her as a snake charmer in the desert town of Touggourt and with a large band of Arabs, hired for the purpose, raided the place and made off with her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

And in this innermost room, this prison within a prison, he set her down at last, sliding her to her feet and freeing her from the suffocating folds of the burnous. Shrinking from the sudden light, half-dazed trembling, she stood swaying giddily, heedless of her surroundings, her fear-filled eyes fixed on the sinister, unsmiling face that was so different to the laughing, boyish one she remembered.

Awe and wonder seemed to be contending with the terror that convulsed her features as she stared at him, her tiny hands stealing upward to clasp her palpitating throat.

Slowly she crep nearer.

"I thought—just now—it was thy spirit," she whispered, fearfully. Then, with a strangled cry, half moan, half sob, she flung out her arms and sprang towards him. "They told me—thou wast dead!" she gasped. But the sudden gladness that flooded her eyes faded swiftly as it had risen under his menacing stare.

With a short, fierce laugh he stepped beyond the reach of her quivering fingers.

"We do not die so easily—we of my father's house," he answered, slowly. "We live—to destroy those who would destroy us. O, clever girl, did'st never think that some day thou would'st be caught in thine own snare? Thou hast played thy deep game once too often, little fool."

She shrank back with a gesture of bewilderment. "What game have I played?" she faltered. And, suddenly, for the first time, she looked about her, quickly, furtively, her eyes wild and searching, like those of a trapped animal. He followed her stealthy and terrified glance with a little sneering smile.

"There is no window here," he mocked. "'Tis a surer prison than the one to which thou did'st lead me."

Tears rushed to her eyes and she wrung her hands despairingly. "What dost thou mean?" she wailed. "O lover of mine, what have I done that thou art so changed?"

"What hast thou done?" he echoed harshly. "Thou can'st ask that? Thou who did'st play so well the part they set for thee—thou who did'st hold me the dupe with lies and kisses and false oaths of love till they came who had taught thee to deceive and betray."

With a cry of anguish she flung herself at his feet, twining her arms about him. "I never lied to thee—I never deceived thee," she moaned. "Lord, wilt thou not believe—I love thee."

"And how many times hast thou loved before?" he retored bitterly. "How many men hast thou fooled and betrayed as thou did'st fool and betray me?"

She shuddered violently, a look of incredulous horror leaping into her eyes. "Thou dost think that?" she whispered tremulously, "thou dost think that I betrayed thee?"

Unmoved, he eyed her gloomily.

"I do not think, I know," he said, heavily. Then his voice changed suddenly. "Dost think me still the same blind fool I was?" he cried passionately. "I tell thee, girl, I had time to think and remember while I lay waiting for death in yonder foul hole they dragged me to. I heard what they said when they tried to force from me the knowledge they thought I had. I knew then the value of the love thou did'st pretend. I knew then why thou did'st come to my arms that morning—thou who had'st been so maiden modest before. Did'st laugh when I spared thee because of my love—the love that died when I learned thy treachery? By Allah, thou shalt laugh at me no more. As I suffered, so shalt thou suffer—till I tire of thy suffering."

His voice was thick and shaking with fury. And, shivering, she raised her head, looking at him strangely. "Hast thou no mercy, lord?" she breathed. "Have I not suffered enough already? Did they not beat me when I wept for thee, and starve me when I would not yield to the Alman who wanted me. He swore to take me in the end, that only in Touggourt I should go free. And I—I would have died rather than endure his passion. How could I go to him when I loved thee still?"

"Loved me?" he flamed, "or loved that other fair-haired stranger who was at the cafe maure tonight? Was it to talk of thy dead lover that thou did'st meet him in all the lonely places about Touggourt? Does that touch thee?" he sneered, as he saw her start. "Did'st think to trick him also as thou did'st trick me, to bring gain to the devil who owned thee! Or did'st thou love him—O maiden of many lovers?" He laughed cruelly.

"I never loved him—I never loved but thee. Oh, lord, wilt thou not believe?" she sobbed.

With an oath he stooped to unclench the trembling fingers that held him. "Never. By Allah, never!"

But frantically she clung to him, her little heaving breasts strained close against his knees, her head thrown back, her tear-drenched eyes beseeching.

"Lord, when I swear . . ."

"Swear not," he thundered, "hast thou not sworn before—and falsely?" And wrenching her clinging arms apart he swung on his heel.

Amidst the perfumed gorgeousness of the adjoining room he stood for a moment with clenched hands, breathing heavily.

Then he fell to pacing the floor, striding backwards and forwards with slow, noiseless tread, kicking aside the gally embroidered cushions that lay in his patch, listening to the faint sound of sobbing that came from behind the silken curtains. A blaze of anger went through him. The little fool! Did she think to convince him with tears and more lies? Did she think to save herself by protestations of innocence? Did she think to tempt him once again with the rare beauty of her face and form, to beguile him as she had beguiled him before that he should forego his vengeance? Woo faith, so cruelly broken, to be bought again so easily!

He had given her his love—and she had betrayed him. He had trusted her—and she had lied to him. And now, to avert her punishment, she would lie to him again. Trained in treachery and deceit, false as he had proved her to be, she had played her part just now with consummate skill, weeping and clinging to him with a semblance of sincerity that would have convinced him if he had not had had the remembrance of that other time when she had wept and clung—and trapped him. Did she think that love for her still lingered in his heart? Did she think him so great a fool! It would take more than tears and clinging arms to heal the wound she had dealt him, to make him forget the brief dream of happeness that, shattered, had killed his illusion and destroyed his trust. Love was gone. Only the joy of vengeance was left to him. With shaking fingers he lit a cigarette and flung out of the room, closing the door behind him. In the little anteroom he found food waiting. Too excited all day to eat much, he did not feel like eating now. He was conscious only of a burning thirst, and he drank cup after cup of scalding black coffee, smoking innumerable cigarettes while he sat scowling at the almost untasted supper before him.

And to him at last came Ramadan and S'rir, the former grave and serious-eyed, as was his wont, the latter smiling his customary enigmatical smile.

For the first time it occurred to him to wonder if his elaborately detailed and stringent orders had been carried out exactly, or if the lawless band of adherents he had assembled had been tempted in a moment of excitement to exceed their directionst and seize on the opportunity for personal gain and license, or even worse.

There were many amongst them who held life cheap; many, doubtless, who had old scores of their own to pay off—there had been one notorious money-lender at least amongst the crowd in the cafe tonight. He knew that he had taken a big risk, and the knowledge of it deepened the scowl on his face as he turned to the two brothers with a curt inquiry.

"Any trouble?"

Ramadan shrugged slightly.

"None, lord," he answered, with almost a hint of regret in his deep voice. "All went as thou did'st order, to Allah the praise. There will be some sore heads tomorrow, but none were hurt. There was nothing on the Moor—he fought like ten devils, the unbelieving dog. On the elder stranger—this." He laid a bulky pocket-book on the table. "We left them bound in a ditch, with a knife near them. They will free themselves before morning—Allah curse them! It would have been better to kill them, lord. They poison the earth."

Ignoring his follower's comment Ahmed took the pocket book and looked hastily at the contents. But the closely filled sheets were written in a language unknown to him, and, cramming them back into the leather case, he tossed it on to the table with a gesture of disgust, wiping his fingers as if he had touched something unclean.

"And the sentry?" he asked, looking up at his men again. This time it was S'rir who answered, his smile broadening. "He sleeps sweetly in a bed of onions, lord," he chuckled. "Ramadan had to hit hard—they have heads of iron, those negroes."

For a little while longer he detained them, listening to further details of the evening's work and giving orders for the next day before dismissing them.

And for long after they were gone he sat on at the table, staring gloomily at the pocket book lying amongst the plates and dishes. If it contained what he was convinced it did, the sooner it was in the hands of the authorities the better; if he had made a mistake, it could be returned to its owner—with apologies. But he did not htink that it would be returned He had a deep inward feeling that he had made no mistake with regard to these suspicious foreigners, that their presence was a menace to the country he loved. And to serve that country he was willing to risk anything.

If this evening's affair had ended seriously he knew there would have been only one thing left for him to do, he would have had to surrender himself to the French commandant and face the consequences. But as it had turned out there was no need for heroic measures. In view of the present situation the authorities would most probably ignore a fracas that had terminated without bloodshed. And if trouble did come of it there was still time for him to come forward and make his amende honorable.

Meanwhile, the pocket book should go to the commandant tomorrow, with a covering note that could be more or less ambiguous. And tomorrow was not yet. A dull flush crept over his sunburnt face, and, starting to his feet, he began to pace up and down as he had paced the adjoining room an hour ago.

Up and down, down and up, his face set, his heart pounding, he strode from end to end of the narrow room.

What stayed him? What lingering scruple hindered the accomplishment of his firm purpose?

Love was dead—but desire remained. Desire that sent the hot blood racing madly through his veins, that, gathering strength momentarily, was like a raging fire consuming him. Passion wrung, the color faded slowly from his cheeks and he grew strangely pale under his deep tan.

His smoldering eyes ranged the room with almost a look of anguish in them, and, from time to time, broken, whispered words burst from his compressed lips.

Once he paused by the communicating door and stood looking at it fixedly, his hands tight locked behind him.

Hardeman Assured Of Good Feed Crop

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, Aug. 19.—Continued rains the past week, which gave every section of Hardman county a generous portion of moisture have practically assured the county of a feed crop that will be 75 per cent of normal.

An equally optimistic outlook prevails for cotton. Experienced cotton raisers declare that the cotton is slightly lower in condition than at this time last year, but another favorable condition is that it is the cleanest field to field, that has ever been raised in this county.

A tremendous acreage of late young cotton is in the making with the remainder of August and September before it, to grow a good late crop.

Nature, with her infinite wisdom, has provided in Ferraline a quick and sure relief for the millions who are living in constant fear of that dreaded disease—indigestion. Ferraline is not a concoction made by man but is a strictly natural product, and contains the essential elements which nature has provided to strengthen and tone up the weakened organs of digestion.

If you have had warnings of indigestion do not delay another day to accept the positive guarantee that your money will be promptly and cheerfully refunded if the very first bottle of Ferraline does not give you relief. Don't be misled into believing that heartburn, gas, bloating, constipation, biliousness, sick stomach, heart and kidney pains will gradually go away. Regenerate your digestive organs at once with Ferraline, then you can eat three good meals every day without discomfort. 65,000 MILES OF OIL LINES IN AMERICA

Regular Network of Pipe Carries Crude Over Continent

CHICAGO.—The transcontinental underground web of pipe lines that silently supplement the surface feeding of industry has been developed into an oil carrying system that is comparable with the expansion of the railroads after the civil war.

A network of more than 65,000 miles of two to twelve-inch pipes touch both coasts and spread into the Mid-Continent, connecting crude oil fields with refineries and industrial plants in distant sections of the country This system is estimated to represent an investment of $518,500,000 in the United States.

Would Take 2,000,000 Cars.

One of the largest companies figured that if the work of transporting the oil were taken over by the railroads tomorrow, it would require two million tank cars, in addition to 10,000 locomotives, to handle it.

Three main or "trunk" lines join the central and western fields with the Whiting, Ind., refineries, and two of these continue to the Atlantic seaboard. Another trunk line connects the Salt Creek, Wyo., and Elk Basin region with this line at Freeman, Mo.

The system is made up of dozens of trunk lines, tapped by gathering lines or feeders. If all these trunk and gathering lines were connected in one line they would reach three times around the earth. The most recent addition was the 1,400-mile line from Teapot Dome to Chicago via Kansas City. More than 500,000 barrels of oil are required to fill this line, which carries a "frozen liquid capital" figured at $800,000.

Oil Is Pumped.

The trunk lines are of eight and twelve-inch pipe, while the gathering lines range from two to six inches. The pipes are laid three feet under ground.

Oil is forced through the pipes by powerful pumps, located 30 to 50 miles apart along the line. The oil moves at a speed of three or four miles an hour, depending upon the contour of the country and the viscosity of the petroleum.

More Truth Than Poetry

TO A SONG SPARROW

When Mr. Robin's kids arrive
And with a peevish "tweet, tweet, tweet!"
Inform him he must look alive
And hustle them some worms to eat—
When to and fro he has to dart,
Upon this weary errand winging,
He doesn't seem to have the heart
For singing.

And nearly all the feathered folk,
When famished families appear,
Find out that life is not the joke
It seemed like, early in the year.
With beaks well laden, all day long,
From ground to bought-built nest the yflutter
As parents should, but not a song
They utter.

But you, though somewhere in the thorn
That balks the crouching, prowling cat,
Two families in a year are born,
And rather good sized broods at that,
You feed the nestlings that you love,
However many be their numbers,
And, in the twilight, sing above
Their slumbers.

We're like the robin and the wren,
We sing till youth's bright days have fled,
Till worries come to us and then
The music in our souls lies dead.
You, teach us, with that joyous thrill,
That though one's life grows dull and dreary
And full of trouble, one may still
Be cheery!

Tanner Pokes Out Double In Ninth To Win Wild Ball Game, 14-13

BUDDY CROSSES BIRD AFTER HE WALKS BODIE

Spudders Annext Seventh Straight Win by Hard And Timely Hitting

By MACK TURNER.

Red Bird looked through cross-eyed specs in the last half of the ninth yesterday when Ping Bodie and Buddy Tanner faced him with the tying and winning runs of a ball game on the bases. Bird, who evidently had a wholesome respect for the dynamite in Ping's bludgeon, elected to walk him and take a chance on the Spudder boss who followed in the batting order.

Buddy, however, made a Christian out of Bird without fuss or frills. He promptly slapped one against the green boards in center field for a two-bagger and Metzler and Distel, who were on third and second, respectively, ambled home with sufficient runs to give the Spuds a 14 to 13 win over the Houston Buffs. It was the seventh straight victory for the homelings and cemented their claim to second place all the more securely.

Free Hitting.

It was a free-hitting affair from first to last with a variety of alien and domestic pitchers finding the going rough and tortuous. Dick Morgan and Winters were shelled out by hostile Buffalo guns in the early rounds and Big Jim Roberts, who finished for the Spudders, was treated somewhat disrespectfully also. His mates, however, were even less considerate of Houston hurling and hammered a steady base-hit symphony off Jacobus, Burns and Bird.

The big round for the Spudders was the eighth when they arose in their wrath at a doubtful decision by Umpire Estill and poured it on Burns to the tune of five important counters. The Buffs aided in their own downfall to some extent by arguing so long Burns got cold.

It started when Roberts drove a long fly to left. The ball would have cleared the fence, but struck a guy wire on top of and a short distance back of the boards and bounded back to the outfield. Umpire Kane ruled it a home run, but the Buffs kicked strenuously and appealed to Estil. Roberts was held at first by fast fielding of the rebounding pill and Estill declared it should go for but one base.

After the jawing subsided play was resumed and when the fireworks were finished the score was knotted by the five runs that were shoved over.

Spuds Score First.

The Spudders scored first blood in the first inning. Metzler walked and stole second. Fitzgerald singled to center, scoring Metzler.

The Buffs got to Morgan for a trio of scores in the second inning. Compton walked. Peel singled past short, sending Compton to second. On a double steal Compton stole third and Peel second. Fuller walked, filling the bases. Jacobus grounded out, second to first. Compton scored. Kane singled to center scoring Peel and Fuller.

The Spudders sent over three more in the second. After two were out, Jonnard was safe when Kane booted his grounder. Morgan singled over short, sending Jonnard to second. Metzler hit a home run over the left field wall scoring Jonnard and Morgan ahead of him.

Morgan was routed in the third inning when two more were shoved over by the Buffs. McCurdy singled past short and scored when Peel slapped one over the left field wall for a home run. Winters then cut off the rally.

Singles by Tanner and Callaghan, followed by a sacrifice fly by Dorman, scored another for the Spudders in the third inning.

Three in Fifth.

Winters was touched for three more in the fourth. Jacobus singled to right. Kane walked. Bailey attempted to sacrifice and bunted to Bodie who forced Jacobus at third. Powell doubled to right, scoring Kane and Bailey. McCurdy was safe on Distel's error, Powell holding up at third. Compton flied to Fitzgerald, Powell scoring after the catch. McCurdy went to second on a wild pitch. Fitzgerald made a great running catch of Peel's drive off the right center field fence.

Suds Sutherland, Spud pinch hitter de luxe, stepped into the limelight in the fourth and batted for Winters. He caught one for a hard smash over the left field fence for a home run. Roberts was then sent to the hill for the Spudders.

Roberts was greeted by two more runs for the Buffs, Boggess singled through the box and scored when Fuller tripled to center. Jacobus singled to right, scoring Fuller. Kane hit one in front of the plate and Jonnard forced Jacobus at second. Kane was doubled at first when he declined to run, thinking the ball foul.

Marty McCallaghan made a nice catch in the sixth when he raced down McCurdy's long drive to left.

The Buffs salted away another pair in the eighth. Kane singled to left. Bailey sacrificed him to second. Powell doubled to left center, scoring Kane. Compton singled to right, scoring Powell.

In the eighth the Buffs argued away the game by letting Burns grow cold and getting the ire of the Tannerites aroused. Jonnard walked. Roberts lined one to the fence that hit the wire and bounded back into the park. The Buffs argued long and loud after Umpire Kane had ruled the ball good for a home run. Umpire Estill was called and he held the ball was a single, being as many bases as the batter had made. Metzler flied to left. Distel walked, filling the bases. Fitzgerald flied to right, Jonnard scoring after the catch. Bodie walked, again filling the bases. Tanner singled past short, scoring Roberts and Distel. Callaghan beat out a slow roller toward second. Turgeon batted for Dorman and hit to Boggess who fumbled the ball, Bodie scoring and Tanner also spiked the rubber when Boggess threw wild to the plate Callaghan went to third and Turgeon stopped at first. Jonnard forced Turgeon at second.

Homer in Ninth.

Boggess poled one over the center field fence in the ninth inning.

The Spudders could not be stopped by a one-run lead. Roberts opened the ninth with a single to right and Williams ran for him. Metzler forced Williams at second. Distel singled through the box, sending Metzler to second and both runners advanced when Fitzgerald grounded out to first unassisted. Then the Buffs made their big mistake. Bodie was purposely passed to get to Tanner, and the mite manager slapped one against the green pailings for a double, scoring Metzler and Distel.

League Leaders Probe Story Of 'Low Down' Offer

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 19.—(AP)—John D. Martin, president of the Southern association, came to Nashville today seeking foundation for published rumors that two unnamed members of the Nashville baseball team had been approached in an alleged attempt to persuade them to "lay down on their team" while the Vols were in New Orleans.

Indications were that the members of the Vols, officers of the Nashville Baseball association and Ralph McGill, Nashville sports writer and author of the story which revealed the rumors last Sunday, would be heard before the league president in executive session.

Rumors that "two players on option from the major leagues" and this year members of the Nashville club were approached with the suggestion to "go rotten" in order to be returned to the major league clubs with a possibility that they might come back in the Southern circuit for a share of "pennant money" were spreading rapidly, Mr. McGill said in a public statement.

President Heinnemann of the New Orleans club declared he believed the occurrence a "publicity stunt."

E. S. Barnard, president of the Cleveland Indians, to which club Fred E. Eichrodt, outfielder, was returned last week from the Nashville club, by the exercise of his option, described the Nashville reports as "bunk."

CINCINNATI 4, PHILADELPHIA 5.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—(AP) Philadelphia won the third game of the series with Cincinnati, 5 to 4, here today. The defeat marked the end of Donohue's string of twenty straight wins over the Phillies. After tying the score in the eighth the Phillies scored the winning run after the first two batters in the ninth fanned. Sand and Leach singled in succession and the former scored on Williams' safety, which dropped in left field for a single. Score:

Deviney Suspended

FORT WORTH, Aug. 19.—Hal Deviney, Beaumont pitcher, who was severely cut on the forehead in a fight with Umpire Jack Daley Tuesday, is indefinitely suspended, it was announced Wednesday by President J. Doak Roberts of the Texas league.

Roberts will come to Fort Worth to make an investigation of the fight, which occurred in the eighth inning after Smith hit a home run off Deviney.

YOU KNOW ME AL

Friend Al:

Well Al Joe Whelan is going to introduce me to Cheif Bender tomorrow. The Cheif is with us as a kind of a coach for the pitchers and so 4th. But he aint spoke to me yet and acts kind of sore and I suppose it does make these old fellows jellus to see a youngster like I break into the league and stand everybody on their head. Whelan says Bender will probably try and give me a couple tips how to pitch and if he trys any of that I will tell him something myself. A fine chance he has got of lerning me how to pitch eh Al.

Kelly slipped as the best ones do—
Out of the majors fevered rush—
Shipped to the Baltimore Orioles
And the headlines said—"He went to the bush!"

Kelly's feet were not so fast—
He couldn't keep up with the AA push—
Houston or Memphis would see him next,
Baltimore papers would say—"The bush."

Easy to slip on the path to—well,
Failing to hit in a Class A crush,
Houston will pass him to Tyler and
The papers say that he goes to—"the bush."

We pass them on to the furthest sticks—
All of us think we are pretty good—
Somebody thinks we're a bunch of hicks.

The Other Way 'Round

KING SOLOMON is in difficulties. The queer slamming heavyweight who breezed up from nowhere to tell the listic world that he was to redeem the vanished glory of Mendoza as the greatest Jewish battler of his poundage, does not seem able to convince the Semites that he is a lineal descendant of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. No few earnest Hebrews are trying to get Bert Igoe to force the king to cease posing as a Jew.

You like that. Remember Forbes Robertson in the "Passing of the Third Floor Back?" That's the city trader who would not admit his Hebraic extraction until the Stranger convinced him that he should be proud of his race?

There is nothing so radically wrong in King Solomon posing as a Jewish party in a bid for popularity. He happens to be a good ringman—and the fashion in fistiana is to adopt the nomenclature of the reigning race. They were all Irish 10 years back. They may all be Filipinos 10 years hence. Today, the king, privately admitting that he has only a strain of the blood he claims, got a lot of advance and valuable publicity as the second Mendoza.

But you can not help admiring the earnestness of the young men from the synagogue who don't want the king to gain honors under so false mantle.

John Foster says that the majors are trying to rush in help in time to make it eligible for the world's series. They would trade all the eligibles for a chance at the series.

DECISION by Adjutant General Mark McGee not to send a guard rifle team to Camp Perry this year will cause a lot of heart burnings among crack shots in the organization who look forward to the annual jaunt.

Texas has supplied many individual stars to the competition at Perry in the past 20 years. It has never done anything as a team. This used to be a remarkable subject for the men to study about over winter.

Back in the pre-historic days, politics used to be blamed for the make-up of the team, and the rear of the guard contended that no matter how hard and well you shot in the preliminaries, you had to be in the Second Texas to make the team. There was more jealousy over making the rifle team than anything else in the guard category.

The rifle team personnel has changed in the last six or seven years. Whether it was in politics before or not, it has been taken out with the reorganization of the guard. It has required downright shooting ability to make it.

The present move is probably only temporary. Texas will be back. One of these days, we would like to see Lone Star gunners show them what a Texas guard team can really do.

Forty-two special railroad cars were required to take 40,000 homing pigeons to a flying competition in England. They treat a homing pigeon like an army. Take you up to fight in a truck and let you walk back.

You might also pit in the "This is not news" class—"Murchison back—denies charges." "Paddock is back—denies charges."

The Same Rules

SKIPPER CHANDLER of the TIAA calls the attention of his member colleges to the rule requiring teams meeting TIAA teams to play under TIAA rules. The Southwestern conference has something of the same principle. So has the Missouri Valley.

But with the exception of the Valley, they all steer clear of the year rule. The conference can not force a TIAA team to meet it without frshmen in the line-up. The Valley does not insist on this restriction.

Has there been a test yet of summer ball as defined by TIAA and the conference? Once upon a time the association barred summer ball players as pros but the conference admitted them as amateurs.

The year rule is a good rule for everybody. The TIAA, small though its colleges are, would be better off with it.

The summer ball player is a professional. The conference would be better off if it admitted that.

Says Motorists Of State Like Lights Testing Methods

AUSTIN, Texas.—(AP)—Hundreds of motorists are returning to test stations to express their appreciation of the splendid service given by adjusted headlamps, Read Granberry, state headlight engineer, said today. "Texas motorists as a whole will have infinitely better driving light than they ever had before, after the work of adjusting headlamps has been accomplished," he said. Testing and adjusting of headlamps was provided by the 39th legislature in the anti-glare law.

Electric Company Buys New Holdings

PORT ARTHUR. — (AP)—Announcement has just been made at the local office of the East Texas Electric company, branch of the Stone and Webster corporation, of the purchase by this company of controlling interest in the Western Public Service company and of assumption of operation of the Western Public Service properties.

As a result of the deal, which is said to have made the East Texas Electric company the second largest public utilities concern in Texas, public utilities service to more than a score of East Texas cities will be added to the present patrons of the company. Cities to be affected by the deal include Sour Lake, Liberty, Dayton, Cleveland, Conroe, Huntsville, Navasota, Bryan, Calvert, Hearne, Franklin, Hempstead, Coldwell, and Somerville.

Construction work is to be begun immediately by the East Texas company on a $3,000,000 power plant to be situated on the Sabine-Neches waterway between Beaumont and Port Arthur. The entire string of cities included in the company's new franchise will be served from this plant when it is ready for operation. The company now has power plants in operation at Port Arthur and Beaumont.

Official Quiz Of Southern Circuit Probe Finished

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Official investigation of published rumors of "scandal" was concluded late today, after hours of quizing the Nashville players behind closed doors, by John D. Martin, president of the Southern Association and will be resumed tomorrow at Little Rock where New Orleans is playing.

"It would be ill-advised to discuss the evidence taken until I have completed the investigation and then all the facts will be fully revealed," Mr. Martin said tonight. "Such action will be taken to meet the situation to keep baseball absolutely good and square."

Mr. Martin said that Fred E. Eichrodt, former Nashville player on option contract from Cleveland would be summoned by Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner to appear at the commissioner's office for a medical examination Saturday.

Oscar Eckhardt Returns to Texas

AUSTIN, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Oscar Eckhardt, a member of the Cleveland Indian baseball team, and former Texas university football and baseball star, will be in Austin Sunday en route to Canyon, where he will be head football coach of the West Texas Teachers college, his father, O. G. Eckhardt, said today. Eckhardt will be in Canyon by August 25. Although he has not broken into the regular line-up, the former Texas Longhorn athlete has impressed Manager Tris Speaker to such an extent that he has not been farmed out to a minor league club.

Mahoney And Varner Ready For Finish Fight In Legion Card Tonight

RICH-WILDER ALSO SET FOR FEATURE BOUT

Wild Cat Monte to Tangle With George Story Of Oklahoma City

Can Jimmy Mahoney stop Walter Varner? This is the question that will be answered in the American legion fight arena tonight at Eleventh and Ohio. This will mark the first appearance of the Chicago fighter in the local ring and little is known of his ability as a scrapper, but he issued a statement last week after the Trammel-Varner fight that he could stop Varner in four rounds. This remains to be seen.

Varner has an open style of fighting but claims that he has been stopped but once this year, and that by a man who greatly outweighed him.

Rich Comes Back.

Kid Rich is anxious to make a come back and has picked Freddie Wilder as an opponent. Wilder is a fast and hard hitting scrapper and should give Rich plenty to think about before the fight is over.

Wildcat Monte, the fast local glove artist, is picked to win over the Oklahoma City boxer, George Story. The Oklahoma fighter has a whirlwind attack at the start but is susceptible to slowing down later on. This bout may furnish a K. O.

Battling Turner, a local youngster, is hoping to break the string of K. O.'s set here by Virgil Master, but will have a hard time making the grade as Masters packs a powerful punch.

Actor's Love Of Snakes Arouses Neighbors' Ire

VIENNA.—(AP)—The love of Franz Gise, the actor, for snakes was responsible for getting him into court recently. One of his pets, a boaconstrictor, caused much worry and fright to neighbors as it lay basking in the sunshine in front of the actor's home. Summoned to court, he packed his pet in a suitcase.

When he arrived in court he unwound the coils and deposited his writhing burden on the board before the judge. The snake began to manifest an unusual interest in the prosecuting attorney, at whom it stared persistently though not unkindly. The owner took it up and wound it around his neck to demonstrate the perfect gentleness of the reptile. The court approved and released the actor with his pet, especially as the director of the zoo testified to the unvenomous nature of the snake.

Berlin Theatres Have Big Season

BERLIN.—(AP)—Max Reinhardt's theatres have concluded an unusually prolific season. The total number of premieres was 25. Shaw's "Saint Joan," with 147 nights had the greatest number of performances. Pirandello's "Six Persons in Search of an Author" was produced 79 times and "The Dead Aunt" of Goetz attained a round 100 nights.

Newly staged and revised plays produced were: "Othello," "Coriolan," "The Imaginary Patient," "Cabal and Love,' "A Servant of Two Masters," "The Revisor," "Caesar and Cleopatra," "Michael Kramer," "Lust of Decency," "Pillars of Society" and "The Krampus."

The plays of older authors retained in the repertory comprised: "Wedekind's "Spring's Awakening," "Pandora's Casket" and Strindberg's "Miss Julia." The old farce "Robert and Bertram" and the pantomime "Sumurum" were also revived.

Can Take Pictures Through Periscope

SASEBO, Japan.—(AP)—Optical instruments and photographic devices used in the Japanese navy are being improved upon rapidly, says a naval official here. It is announced that a method has been perfected for the taking of pictures through the periscope of submarines, the details of which are being kept secret.

It is declared that, by the use of the periscopic-telescopic camera, movements of enemy ships can be easily recorded without the submarine itself being detected. The device is being tested and, if it proves to be successful all the submarines in the Japanese navy will be equipped with it.

Seek Permission To Scale Everest

LONDON.—(AP)—Addressing the Royal Geographical Society's anniversary meeting, the president, the Earl of Ronaldshay, said neither the members of the late Mount Everest Expedition, nor of the Mount Everest committee were prepared to admit defeat with regard to the conquest of Everest.

The prospect of putting the matter to the final test, he said, depended upon the willingness, or otherwise, of the Tibetan government to grant permission to another expedition, rather than upon the readiness and ability of the committee to organize and despatch it.

ANOTHER HAIL STORY.

BUCHAREST, —(AP) — Heavy damage to property was caused recently in the region of Galatz, when during a storm hailstones as large as hen's eggs fell. The storm extended along the River Sereth into the provinces of Bessarabia, Dobrudja, Tulcea and Kustendje.

In addition to the property damage crops were destroyed in several places.

HEADS ACCIDENT BOARD

AUSTIN, Aug. 19.—James W. Swain, Fort Worth attorney, today was named chairman of the state industrial accident board, succeeding J. H. Fowler, who for 10 years has been a member of the board. The announcement of Swain's appointment came from the governor's office.

RICE HOPEFUL BUT HEISMAN HAS A BIG JOB

Lots of Material Is Ineligible From Scholastic Trouble

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 17.—Although a number of gridsters upon whom John Heisman, head coach, was depending, are scholastically ineligible to play football this fall for the Rice Owls, close followers of the pigskin game in the southwest believe that the Southwestern conference grid title of 1925 will go to either Rice, Baylor or Texas university. This belief is based largely o nthe fact that the 1924 freshman eleven was one of the strongest first year teams of conference history. But much of the confidence in the Rice Owls may be attributed to the rather general acceptance that Heisman, former Georgia Tech and Pennsylvania university head coach, promised to give the Ows a championship eleven in two years. Last season, Heisman's first at Rice institute, the Owls had their most successful season since 1917, when they humbled the Texas Longhorns for the first time.

The 1924 Rice Owl eleven was superbly coached. Most surprising was the play of the rather green line. Bedenk, All-American guard at Penn State in 1923, was given much credit for developing such a strong line with only fair material. This season, the team of Heisman and Bedenk again will function.

There is no gainsaying that Heisman will have to depend in large measure on recruits from last year's "Rush" eleven. For example, Dick Terrell, captain-elect of the 1925 eleven, a most promising end, and "Grandpa" Woods, splendid fullback and one of the best forward passers the conference has produced, both are ineligible for service this fall because of scholastic difficulties.

A number of the stars of the 1924 team have graduated, too. Hale, the scrappy little end, whose great snatching of forward passes in two important contests won for him All-Southwestern mention last season, and Ray, a sturdy, dependable guard, are two of a number who have completed their athletic career for the Owls.

Some of the members of last season's eleven who will be eligible this season are "Heavy" Underwood, who is a star at either center or guard, and who was used in 1924 to call signals from the center position; McVey, 195-pound tackle, who was handicapped last year by injuries, but who is expected to win All-Southwestern honors this year; and Calvin, tiny, but fleet halfback.

An intersectional game with Louisiana State university, games with Texas university, Arkansas university, Texas A. & M. and Baylor university, outstanding Southwest conference institutions, and contests with Austin college, Trinity university and Southwestern university, three of the strongest T. I. A. A. schools, headline the 1925 schedule of the Owls.

The complete schedule follows:

Sept. 26—Austin college at Houston.

Oct. 3—Sam Houston normal at Houston.

Oct. 10—Trinity university at Houston.

Oct. 17—Arkansas university at Houston.

Oct. 24—University of Texas at Austin.

Oct. 31—Southwestern university at Houston.

Nov. 7—Louisiana State university at Baton Rouge.

Nov. 14—Texas A & M. at Houston.

CHICAGO 3, BOSTON 1.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Robertson outpitched Ehmke in a twirling duel today in which Chicago defeated Boston 3 to 1. The locals bunched their hits in the first and seventh innings. Robertson allowed only two scratch hits until the eighth inning when a base on balls, a single and a double gave the visitors their lone run. Score:

BRITISH GIRLS ELIMINATED IN NET MEET

Three Others, However, Emerge Victorious in Quarter Finals

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Two British stars were eliminated today in the third round of the national women's singles championship but three others emerged victorious and took their places alongside five Americans in the quarter finals of the title tournament at the West Side Tennis club.

England suffered an unexpected set back when Miss Evelyn Cosler was beaten in straight sets by a young American, Miss Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va., 7-5, 7-5, but the invading forces offset this with two triumphs that proved the sensation of the day's play.

The first of these was scored by Miss Joan Fry, 19-year-old English girl, who came from behind to conquer Miss Mary K. Browne, number two American ranking star, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, while in the other Miss Kathleen McKane flashed the most brilliant tennis of the tournament so far overwhelming Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, fifth American ranking player 6-0, 6-0.

These matches paved the way for the high spots of tomorrow's quarter finals in which Miss McKane will play Miss Elizabeth Ryan, Californian, who has just returned from England, while Miss Fry opposes Miss Helen Wills, young American champion.

Other matches among today's survivors will find Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, seven times American champion, arrayed against Miss Anderson and Miss Elanor Goss of New York, opposed to Mrs. Lambert Chambers, veteran captain of the British international team.

Miss Ryan today eliminated the second British player, Miss E. H. Harvey, 6-0, 6-3.

He died instantly and his body was found about 7 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The man, according to a letter found in his pockets, had come here recently from Fort Worth, where he had been employed for a time by the American Railway Express company. The note said he was tired of living, was without funds; that he did not wish to impose on any one and that the only recourse left was suicide. It gave information concerning relatives in Minnesota; said he had formerly lived there; was a member of the Railway and Steamship Clerks' Brotherhood; a member of the Moose lodge and other organizations.

Had $2.07 in Cash.

In Borene's pockets was found $2.07 in cash and a valuable gold watch which he directed be sent to a granddaughter in the north. The note also asked that a Moose lodge in Seattle, Wash., be notified of his death and that it would provide funds for burial expenses.

The man had been living at a rooming house at 704 Travis street, just a few doors from the court house block. He had evidently spent the early part of the night in his room writing the rather lengthy letter and packing his grip, which was found to contain a scant supply of clothing.

The body was found by the caretaker of the grounds about 7 o'clock, although it was noticed by scores of persons who passed along Seventh street after daylight. The recumbent figure, however, was in a natural sleeping position with the hat pulled over the face and those who saw it supposed it was merely a man asleep. It was believed the shooting occurred about midnight for the corpse was stiff and gave evidence of death five or six hours previous. No one living in that vicinity, however, heard a shot.

Suicide Verdict.

An inquest was held by Justice of the Peace R. V. Gwinn, who was summoned when the body was discovered and a verdict of death from gunshot wounds, self-inflicted, was returned. The gun, a .38 caliber affair, was found on the ground by the side of the body.

The body was taken in charge by the Burris-Dalton funeral parlors and will be sent to St. Paul, Minn., for burial.

Good Drama At Mission Today; Miss Valli Stars

Owen Davis' Stage Success Transferred to Screen Production

For those who appreciate drama with a "tag o' life," "Up the Ladder," the Universal-Jewel feature, starring Virginia Valli, at the Mission theater today will be a real treat.

"Up the Ladder" is the adaptation of Owen Davis' great stage play of the same name. For this theme, Davis has gone right to the core of human affairs, and with the care of an artist, has chosen a set of characters, familiar in every walk of life, to tell his story of an ambition realized and through neglect and depreciation ignored.

As a woman who suffers self-denial in order that she may boost her lover, later her husband, "Up the Ladder" to fame and power in the commercial world, Virginia Valli gives one of her best performances and has set a high standard for herself. She has beauty, appeal and a real sense of the dramatic.

After rising to the zenith of power, the husband, as played by Forrest Stanley, forgets the little woman to whom he owes all his success, for the artificial charms of "the woman in the case," ably and delicately portrayed by Margaret Livingston.

The supporting cast includes such well known favorites as George Fawcett, Holmes Herbert, Lydia Yeamans Titus, Priscilla Moran and Olive Ann Alcorn, noted ballet dancer who do good work under Edward Sloman's direction.

This injunction has been forecast in case state aid for the bridge is allowed.

A complete change in the name, entries and rules has been made this year in connection with the textile and culinary departments of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, October 3 to 8. Shepherd, fair secretary.

Only a few rules have been made in regard to the two new departments, but those in charge this year expect to have time to apply them and so raise the standard of the entire women's department of the fair.

Mrs. B. L. Fain is superintendent of the domestic art and Mrs. Arch Dawson of the domestic science department. Several assistant superintendents will be appointed soon to aid Mrs. Fain and Mrs. Dawson.
