Singer's father booked in death

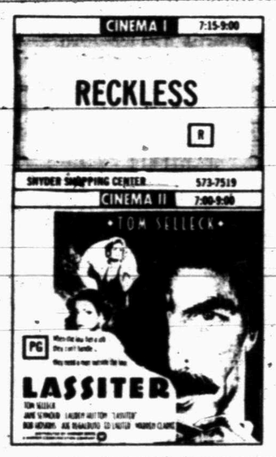

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The father of sweet-voiced soul singer Marvin Gaye was jailed without bail today, accused by authorities of shooting his son to death when "bad blood" between them erupted into a fatal fight over insurance.

Gaye, part of the generation of singers who originated the Motown sound in the 1960s, died Sunday afternoon on the eve of his 45th birthday. He was shot twice in the chest at the home he shared with his parents, police said.

Marvin Gaye Sr., 69, was booked for investigation of murder at police headquarters nearly eight hours after the shooting, said Sgt. Mike Pattee.

The younger Gaye's life ended amid a hard-fought revival of a career that saw 13 Top 10 songs from 1963 through 1977, including "I Heard It Through the Grapevine," "What's Going On" and, with Tammi Terrell, "Ain't Nothing Like the Real Thing."

Last year, he won two Grammys for his 1982 hit, "Sexual Healing," a cut from his last album, "Midnight Love."

New type drugs reform tumors

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A new anti-cancer drug that transforms tumor cells into near normal cells without the devastating side effects of existing chemotherapy is being tested on humans for the first time, researchers say.

"It's extremely appealing to have an agent that rather than execute the tumors will reform them," said Daniel Dexter, a researcher with E.I. du Pont de Nemours and Company.

Speaking Sunday at a science writers' seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society, Dexter said that existing drugs are highly toxic to normal cells as well as cancer cells.

The new drug, called N-methylformamide, is one of a class of drugs that invade cancer cells and somehow cause them to mature into cells that are almost normal. It is not known how the drugs work.

These near normal cells lose the ability to grow wildly into the tangled knots of tissue found in tumors.

The new drugs, called differentiation agents or maturation agents, are industrial solvents whose anti-cancer properties were discovered by accident in the early 1970s, Dexter said.

A solvent known as dimethyl sulfoxide, or DMSO, was being used to preserve mouse cells during freezing.

Losing hormones, sex

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please help us before we explode. I'm 68 and my wife is 64. We've always been sexually active, but about a year ago my wife began to have trouble with penetration and sex has become impossible. We've used lubricants to no avail. What has happened and what can we do?

This didn't happen overnight and I know it won't be cured in a day. Please help clear this up.

DEAR READER — Your wife needs to see her doctor to discover the exact problem. Perhaps there's an obstruction. Or it may be a dryness that women experience when they have a decrease in female hormones.

After a woman goes through menopause her female hormones begin to diminish and many of the sexual characteristics that occur with the onset of reproduction are reversed.

A girl will start developing when puberty occurs. The lining of the vagina changes and begins to produce secretions that protect the vagina from infections and provide lubrication.

When hormone levels fall, the lining changes back and secretions disappear. This causes the vagina to be dry and susceptible to new bacterial infections. There are also changes in cells that form the outlet area of the bladder. The cervix gets smaller, the breasts decrease in size and the psychological changes induced to support reproduction are reversed.

The changes in the cell lining and lack of secretions can cause extreme dryness, which is probably what's happening with your wife.

The use of estrogen often can solve such problems. With new studies that refute many of the worries about cancer from female hormones, it should be possible for more women to have the advantages of estrogen.

I've discussed the new information in the Health Letter SR-12, Oral Contraceptives and Postmenopausal Estrogen, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A friend recently had a bout with trichomoniasis. Her doctor treated her with Flagyl, which made her sick.

What causes trichomoniasis and how can it be cured? Can it be passed on to someone else?

DEAR READER — Trichomoniasis is caused by a parasite. If you happen to be a biologist, it's called an anaerobic protozoan. It's probably the most common sexually transmitted organism.

It causes a vaginal discharge. But remember that women, particularly young girls, have a normal discharge. The discharge caused by Trichomoniasis often has a bad odor and the infection may cause itching. Perhaps worst of all is that it's often asymptomatic. A woman may not know she has it, nor a man for that matter.

Yes, men can have it too. The organism lives in the urethra, bladder and perhaps other areas. Treating a woman without treating her partner merely leads to recurrent infections. Both should be treated simultaneously.

Flagyl is usually very effective, although some individuals find it hard to tolerate in large doses.

A political issue this year will be made of the plight of our country's poor.

The Conference of Mayors reports an increasing demand for emergency food in 19 of 20 major cities.

Yet the number of newspaper "help-wanted ads has increased each of the last four months, including ads for unskilled workers.

The dichotomy can be explained. Some of the poor are mentally ill, "unemployable."

Some are old people who have lived longer than they ever expected or prepared for.

Some are single mothers living on reduced welfare benfits.

Many are drifters, heretofore fed at church soup kitchens or by the Salvation Army.

Taxpayers have not been stingy. Spending on food stamp programs reached an all-time record high last year — $19.2 billion.

New York City provides homes for 10,300 homeless, some of them in hundred-dollar-a-day hotel rooms.

Recent generations have been cared for by government at whatever cost.

And government's "free handouts" are expensive.

December 1982, Mayor Coleman Young of Detroit declared "a human emergency in Detroit;" he created "The Mayor's Emergency Relief Fund."

Food for the hungry.

This would be none of your concern except that he sought and got food from the federal government "to feed the poor people of Detroit."

For what has happened since, the Mayor blames the Department of Agriculture. Two days before Christmas, 77 tons of surplus flour arrived "to feed the hungry;" a week later another 12 tons.

He says the USDA sent Detroit 10 times more food than its soup kitchens could handle; it had to be warehoused.

The Detroit News says the cost of warehousing the surplus food cost the city hundreds of thousands of dollars.

But that's not the worst part.

This year — 13 months later — city trucks have hauled 150 tons of suplus food —

Flour and rice and turkeys and butter and cheese. (1,200 turkeys)—

City trucks have hauled all this stuff to a city dump and dumped it.

"It spoiled," we are told, "while in storage."

The city trucks moved the stuff from the warehouse to the landfill — after dark.

Worry more about traffic than crime

HOUSTON (AP) — Residents of the nation's fourth largest city worry less about crime, believe police protection is getting better and think the local economy is picking up. But one thing they say hasn't improved in the past three years are the clogged freeways, a survey says.

The opinions of 550 randomly selected Houston-area residents were compiled in a survey conducted last month by Rice University and the Houston Post. The results were published in Sunday editions of the Post.

The poll, directed by Rice professor Stephen L. Klineberg, has an error of plus or minus four percentage points.

Asked what is the biggest problem facing the 3.1 million people living in the area, about 44 percent of the participants cited transportation problems. That figure has remained unchanged since the poll was first conducted three years ago.

Others mentioned high prices, inflation, unemployment, the slump in the oil and gas industry and rising utility bills, Klineberg said.

Dear Abby

Son's Drug Sentence Makes Prisoners of His Parents

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you devoted an entire column to the drug problem. I was so impressed I gave it to the principal of the Mason City (Iowa) high school, who in turn made copies and gave them to other school officials.

Please run it again, Abby. It's needed even more today.

R.H.H., MASON CITY

DEAR MR. H.: I agree. And here it is:

DEAR ABBY: Recently a 17-year-old Florida boy pleaded guilty to possessing hallucinogenic drugs. He also had been charged with violence toward a Miami Beach police officer.

Judge Alfonso Sepe sentenced the youth to one year in the county stockade and four years' probation. The comments of the judge so impressed me that I ordered the transcript from the court reporter so that I may read it to my own children.

Your column is so widely read I am sending you the "lecture" Judge Sepe gave that boy in the presence of his grieving parents. Please publish it and give it the national forum it deserves.

MRS. A.L. CATES, MIAMI, FLA.

DEAR MRS. CATES: Rarely do I devote an entire column to one letter, but I agree, this is worth it:

Judge Sepe spoke directly to the youth and said, "Do you know who is going to serve that year? Not you; your mother and father will serve that year.

"That is what's wrong. they get sentenced. They get sentenced for a lifetime.

"You serve a year. Your body is in the stockade for a year, but their souls are tormented for a lifetime. Why? Because you are a selfish, spoiled boy, that's why.

"There is no punishment in the world that I could inflict upon you that could in any way compensate for what you are doing to your mother and father. I have not spent 5 cents raising you. I didn't know you from Adam. But your mother and father have put their lives, their hearts, their sweat, their money and everything else they have into bringing you up. And now they have to sit in this courtroom and listen to a total stranger who had nothing to do with your upbringing scold you and put you in jail.

"This is at a time when phony kids your age are yelling, 'You adults have your alcohol, we want our drugs; you have polluted our water and our air, you have polluted this and that,' and all the rest of the garbage that comes out of your mouths.

"Meanwhile, you put yourselves above everybody else. I feel sorry for you.

"I want you to think of this for one year, and the reason why I say it:

"If you are sick, a doctor will treat you and he won't be on drugs. The lawyer who represents you won't be high on drugs, and the people in whose custody you'll be won't be on drugs.

"Your astronauts are not on drugs, and your president is not, and your legislators are not.

"And your engineers who build the bridges that you drive across and the tunnels that you drive through are not on drugs, and those who build the planes that you fly in and the cars that you drive are not.

"Neither are those who build the bathrooms that you stink up with your lousy, rotten drugs.

"None of them have been on drugs, and this is because of people like your mother and father.

"But in the world of the future, the same may not be true. Teachers, doctors, lawyers, legislators—products of the new drug-oriented generation—may well be high as kites.

"You won't know whom to send your child to, or whom to trust your life to."

Sepe sighed and closed the case file.

"Let's see what kind of world you leave to your children," he said, "before you talk about the world that we left to ours."

Three more victims added to investigation

SEATTLE (AP) — With three newly found skeletons being examined as possible victims of the Green River killer, the head of a task force investigating the 16 victims listed so far predicted that "whoever it is will continue to kill until he's caught."

Explorer Scouts, called in after a mushroom hunter found a skull, discovered the skeletons Sunday in a wooded, litter-strewn area near Star Lake, in an unincorporated part of King County about 17 miles south of downtown Seattle.

Another victim of the Green River killer, who has attacked young female prostitutes, was found last September less than a mile away. Guards were posted overnight to keep people from the site before the search resumed today.

WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Weeds are at least on a par with bugs, plant diseases and weather as a garden problem, so take care of them early while they are still small.

In fact, one expert at Michigan State University advises starting a year ahead to prepare your garden for crops, to eliminate a lot of weeds before you put in your seeds. This horticulturist recommends removing sod and working the soil regularly, starting the summer before you want to garden.

Removing sod or smothering it with plastic, old carpet scraps or sheets of cardboard eliminates bothersome grasses. Then tilling occasionally destroys weeds that have sprouted and brings up weed seed buried in the soil. After these germinate, till again. Eventually you will have reduced the supply of weed seeds in the soil.

Plant seeds or transplants in freshly prepared soil to give them at least an equal chance against weeds. Mulch over freshly weeded soil, which will help prevent weed growth.

Fight weed seedlings early, scraping them off at soil level with a hoe or other tool. If you do this on a hot sunny day, the sun will help kill them. Michigan horticulturist Lee Taylor says it's important to scrape the weeds rather than chop them off because chopping or working the soil brings weed seeds to the surface where they can germinate.

If you let weeds grow, more time and effort will be needed to get rid of them. As they get larger, you may have to pull them by hand. Do this on a hot, sunny day after rain or irrigation has softened the soil. Weeds will be easier to pull and you won't disturb roots of nearby desirable plants. The sun will kill weeds you've yanked out. Weeds pulled on a cool day or in the evening, or before rain, may reroot.

You can eat some common garden weeds, such as lamb's quarters, purslane, when they're young and not bitter.

Where weeds have gained a foothold, mechanical cultivation may be needed. Rotary hoes, wheel hoes and powered garden tillers will do a job between rows, but hands and hand tools may be needed close to crops. Even a lawn mower used on a hot sunny day between rows will set weeds back, killing some.

Remember, if you use mulches, that hay, straw and lawn clippings can contain many weed seeds. But these organic mulches, plus shredded leaves, bark, sawdust, pine needles and ground corncobs, may tie up soil nitrogen until they decompose. In such cases, fertilize several times during the summer to assure plants nitrogen.

Herbicides are available to eliminate weeds but through wind-drift or other accidental spreading they can damage valuable crops or landscape plants.

For the past few years there has been an extra paid holiday in May for 1,000 employees of one firm. It is called Gardening Day.

The company is Garden Way, which manufactures roto-tillers and other gardening products at Charlotte, Vt., Norwalk, Conn., and Troy, N.Y.

In a letter announcing the holiday to employees, Board Chairman Dean Leith Jr., said: "Our primary reason for being is to promote gardening and a more self-reliant lifestyle. The holiday is a symbol of that concern, and I hope each and every one of you will use this day to put in a garden of your own, or help a neighbor with his garden."

Deli cole slaw takes to celery seed

By Cecil Hawthorne
AP Food Editor

Cole Slaw (also called Cold Slaw) is an old-time American cabbage salad or side dish that through the years has undergone changes.

Before the turn of the century, cole slaw was often dressed with an uncooked mixture of sweet cream, vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper. Or it was made with a cooked dressing that called for butter, flour, milk or cream, eggs, vinegar, mustard, sugar, salt and pepper.

Nowadays, cole slaw is likely to be made with mayonnaise. I suspect this change came about because New York City delis started dressing shredded cabbage with mayonnaise thinned with milk and vinegar and adding lots of sugar. Residents of the city and visitors to it became accustomed to having this sort of slaw with corned beef sandwiches and frankfurters.

But slaw made with mayonnaise may be flavored a different way. My chief tester tells me that her mother, who was born in Pennsylvania and lived there all her life, never dreamed of making it without adding celery seed. And a friend who lives on Long Island, N.Y., says "her" deli puts celery seed in their mayonnaise slaw and that a larger hamburger chain does the same thing.

Here then is a recipe for Celery Seed Deli Slaw that I like to serve with frankfurters.

CELERY SEED DELI SLAW

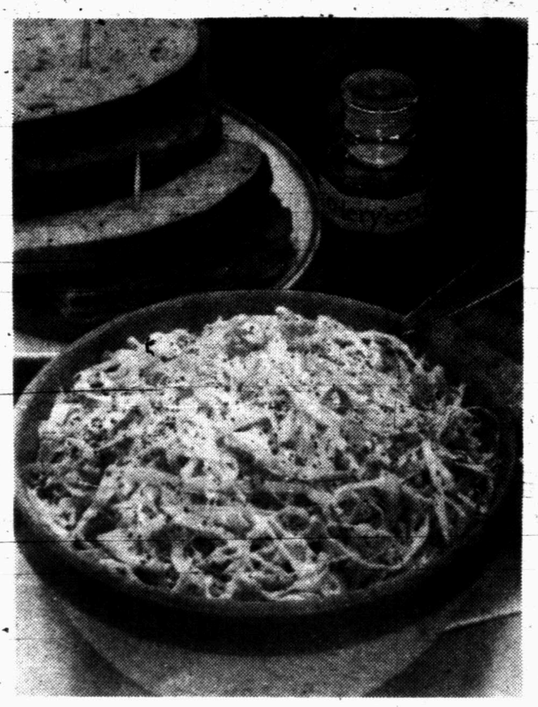

1½-pound head green cabbage minus large outer leaves
½ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
¾ teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon salt
1 and 1-16 teaspoon pepper

Cut cabbage in half. With a sharp knife shave into very thin shreds; when you reach the white fibrous parts near the core, stop cutting. (The white fibrous parts may be cut away from the core and used in a soup or other dish.) Shred the remaining half of the cabbage the same way. There should be 4 tightly packed cups.

In a medium bowl whisk together the mayonnaise, sugar, vinegar, celery seed, salt and pepper. Add cabbage and stir together well. Cover tightly and refrigerate for 12 to 24 hours before serving to blend flavors and have dressing creamy. Cabbage will not be crisp.

Recipe may be doubled.

Makes four ½ cup servings.

CELERY SEED DELI SLAW—Delicious with corned beef sandwiches and frankfurters.

B&PW schedules spring fund-raiser

Faye McCollum, president of Business and Professional Women's Club, presided at the clubs March 26 meeting at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Plans for a spring roundup of books and sale of baked goods were made for Saturday, April 28. Anyone wishing to donate paperbacks or other books may call Nellie Smith or Frances Brown and the books will be picked up. Proceeds from this effort will go to projects such as American Field Service and scholarships.

Lee Weaver was program coordinator and registered those attending a special video presentation at the Cornelius Dodson House March 26. She introduced Jean Everett from the Scurry County Historical Commission who gave an update on the progress of this historical project. Mrs. Everett commented that the group needs some flat irons.

Frances Brown gave the club collect before refreshments were served.

Make full use of available space

By BARBARA MAYER
AP Newsfeatures

Your present home can be rearranged to provide more room than you ever thought possible, say Sally Clark and Lois Perschetz, two decorating writers who recently gathered into a book some of the spacemaking ideas they have come across over the years.

The title of their book tells it all: "Making Space: How to Decorate and Renovate to Get the Space You Need from the Space You Have."

Most people assume they must do without needed space or move, ignoring the space they already have, the two women say.

Instead, they suggest you look for extra space along the walls, at ceiling height or in the corners of rooms. If necessary, create what you need by building or buying two freestanding closets along one end of a room and using the space between for shelves, a desk or table, a sofa or bed.

"Our goal has been to show it is possible to improve any space," explained Ms. Perschetz, a former editor at House Beautiful Magazine.

"The solutions we show work in all types of homes," added Ms. Clark, also a former editor at House Beautiful.

To householders and apartment dwellers who find their possessions over-running their space, the two offered some room-by-room suggestions for improving the situation.

"Approach your home in terms of needs instead of focusing on the traditional use of the room," said Ms. Perschetz.

For example, in a dining room, move the table out of the center of the room over to one side. This frees the room to become something more than the rarely-used setting for holiday dinners that it is in most homes, she said.

Moving the table makes it possible to bring in bookshelves or home electronic equipment and some seating and convert the room to a family center. With careful planning, you'll still be able to use the room for holiday dining by moving some of the new furniture to one side.

If you don't have a dining room, but want one, look for a spot that can be converted. One person whose home is illustrated in their book carved a dining room out of a foyer by employing a drop-leaf table that seats six comfortably when opened.

In the bathroom, the space most often wasted is the area above the shower head and below the ceiling. The two suggest you build shelves above the tub for towels and other items.

Both admitted to pet peeves against standard bathroom vanities. "They are too small," said Ms. Clark. Instead, she suggested mirroring the area above the sink and building more commodious shelves to one side.

If two bathrooms would relieve the morning rush, but there isn't room or money enough to cover their construction, try adding a second lavatory and toilet and continuing with only one tub. By creating a second small half-bath that connects to the existing tub, you've solved the problem and used less money and space than a second full bath would require.

Using wall space more creatively is also a way to get more mileage out of your kitchen. They suggest employing products such as grids or pegboard to hang utensils out in the open. An overhead pot rack accommodates pots and pans and makes them more accessible. It also frees valuable cabinet space for other items.

They see three possibilities when dealing with a tiny kitchen. Depending on your decorating taste, you could opt for floor-to-ceiling cabinets and no clutter. Or, you could outfit the kitchen with niches and nooks so there is a place for everything. A third idea would be to use kitchen utensils as accessories. Hang plates on cabinet door-fronts, suspend herbs from the ceiling, display knives and other utensils in decorative pitchers.

In a high-ceilinged room, opt for establishing two levels of activity. You can build in and carpet platforms that open to reveal storage or stack mattresses one, two and three high to create a series of seating "steps."

Unused spaces exist in every home, they said. Look for them under the stairs, in corners or in narrow hallways which can be likely resting places for narrow pieces of furniture.

Under the stairs, for example, you could install a bunk bed for occasional guests, a small half-bath or a household desk and telephone center. In the corner of any room, you can wedge in a triangular cabinet, table-top or series of shelves.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

Jim: "How about some articles—this week on old-fashioned bidding? After all, you and Edgar Kaplan did mighty well with it in the 1983 Reisinger."

Oswald: "Yes, we did. Apparently simple old-fashioned signals are not in the modernist's bible."

Jim: "Let's start with a simple hand. West is on lead against a three no-trump contract and opens his fourth-best spade. Old-fashioned, but effective. Dummy ducks, and East wins with his king and returns the six. South takes dummy's ace and leads the queen of diamonds for a finesse. It loses to West's king. West takes his two winning spades but now has a lead problem. He must find a trick in partner's hand."

Oswald: "It is easy for him since East has played the eight of clubs on West's last spade. That eight-spot has to be a high club. Since East is using the simple signal of high for strength and low for weakness, West plays a club. East takes the ace, and three no-trump has been 'Spurlos versenkt,' to use a phrase from World War I."

Jim: "This is a simple hand, and undoubtedly modernists would also beat that three no-trump contract."

Akeem versus Ewing...

Cougars face Hoyas in NCAA title match tonight

SEATTLE (AP) - Akeem has his dream tonight.

So do the rest of the nation's college basketball fans - a dream matchup between 7-footers Akeem Olajuwon of the University of Houston and Patrick Ewing of Georgetown with the NCAA championship at stake.

They will be in the pivot, but they may not be the pivotal players once the game, set to begin at 8:12 p.m. CST, gets under way before a sellout crowd in the 38,613-seat Kingdome.

The play of the senior Georgetown guards, 6-5 Fred Brown and 6-2 Gene Smith, and 6-9 freshman forward Michael Graham, of Houston's 6-2 sophomore guard Alvin Franklin and forwards Rickie Winslow, a 6-8 freshman, and Michael Young, a 6-7 senior, will be of equal importance, if not as riveting.

Perhaps it will be Georgetown's depth, Coach John Thompson's propensity for running players into and out of the action to keep them from burning out during the Hoyas' intense and ever-present full-court press. They will be working against a Cougar offense rarely substituted by Coach Guy Lewis.

Olajuwon, who averages 16.8 points a game and has a nation-leading 491 rebounds and 205 blocked shots, has played every minute of the past three games. "When I was on the court, I didn't get tired," Olajuwon said. "If I get tired, I tell the coach and he takes me out."

Ewing, who averages a team-high 16.6 points and has 362 rebounds and 129 blocks, gets ample rest under Thompson's free-substitution system. And, due to early foul trouble in the semifinal, he played only 28½ minutes against Kentucky.

"I think it's going to be a tremendous matchup between Ewing and Akeem," Lewis said Sunday, before the teams practiced. "They do the same things. They're both outstanding defensive players. They both cause the opposition team to shoot 7, 8, 9 percentage points less than they normally do. They're both great rebounders and certainly great shot-blockers.

I think the biggest difference between them is the color of their uniforms."

Thompson, for two years a reserve center behind Bill Russell on the Boston Celtics, agreed the Ewing and Olajuwon are similar, that each is exceptional. And he said the outcome of their meeting "won't decide which of them is the best big man. I saw men outplay Russell but he was the best."

Further, Thompson said, there's far more to tonight's game than the collision of 7-footers.

"People always get caught up in the star figure," Thompson said. "But Young (Houston's leading scorer) is a very outstanding player. Whoever checks Young is going to be very important. They call him the 'Silent Assassin,' and I think that's very true in relation to the attention that Akeem gets or a person like Patrick gets.

"We have to be concerned with what the other people do. You can't let the other players on the team go wild while you're trying to contain those people (like Ewing and Olajuwon). They played a zone a lot (in the semifinal against Virginia) and we're practicing against a zone. They trap at halfcourt. We've got to be ready for those things. They've got to be ready for our pressure.

"We're not going to do anything different and they're not going to do anything different," Thompson went on. "People will talk about whether Patrick outplayed Olajuwon or Olajuwon outplayed Patrick, but neither of those kids has played one-on-one against anybody all year. We'll be dropping guards and forwards into the middle (on Olajuwon) and they'll be dropping people back on Patrick."

It was Ewing who said it most succinctly. "It won't be me against Akeem," he observed. "It'll be Georgetown against Houston."

Perhaps, after all the strategy, after all the emotion, victory or defeat will hinge on an ill-timed instant of indecision such as those which have sent one or the other of these teams home as losers each of the past two seasons.

"We're very similar in the fact that both of us were very disappointed at almost winning the national championship," Thompson said. "We both probably still feel that wound and we both want to win it."

In 1982, with the Hoyas trailing North Carolina by one point in the closing seconds; Brown, now a Georgetown senior, inadvertently passed the ball to James Worthy of the Tar Heels. North Carolina won 63-62.

In 1983, with Houston and North Carolina State tied in the closing seconds, the Wolfpack was angling for the last shot - and running out of time. Olajuwon was supposed to be under the basket, but he had drifted out to the free throw line. When Derek Whittenburg of the Pack heaved a desperation 35-footer, the only one in position to grab the short shot was teammate Lorenzo Charles, who dunked the ball as the horn sounded. N.C. State won 54-52.

A year ago, Lewis brought in a team heavily favored to take the title. This year the Cougars are the underdogs. "I think I'd rather be the heavy favorite," he said with a grin. "I'd rather everybody thought I had the best ballclub."

Apparently, not too many within his profession think that. "I read today where there were 20 coaches interviewed. They were unanimous in picking Georgetown," he said, "but one coach did say we might play 'em close."

Mothers invited to meet Tomlin

Mothers of prospective football players in grades eighth through eleven are invited to meet new Snyder High School head football coach Dennis Tomlin at 6 p.m. Tuesday in the school student center.

Coach Tomlin will speak on "what the Snyder football program has to offer their sons."

Tomlin said the meeting would be over before Snyder's 7:30 district baseball game with Pecos.

"We'd like everyone to attend who can," said the coach. "And afterwards, I hope they'll attend the district baseball game at Moffett Field."

The District 2-4A Tournament will be held Thursday and Friday in Midland. Each school can enter two in each event (boys and girls singles and boys and girls doubles).

A freshman tournament will also be held in conjunction with the varsity meet. First and second place winners in the varsity tournament will advance to regionals.

Thompson paces girls to sixth place finish

MASON -- Snyder girls put together 45 points to finish sixth in the Hill Country Relays here Saturday.

The meet served as a final tuneup for the girls, who will compete in the District 2-4A Track and Field Meet this Friday in San Angelo.

The Lady Tigers were keyed once again by Karlene Thompson, who placed first in the triple jump and second in the long jump and 400 meters. Thompson jumped 37-7¼ in the triple jump and 16-8¾ in the long jump. She ran a 61.03 in the 400 meters.

Freshman Katrina Reed ran a 26.92 to place third in the 200 meters.

Snyder's 1600 meter relay squad of Dora Hernandez, Reed, Anderina Kitchens and Thompson also placed third in a time of 4:12.88.

Kim Koening was sixth in the 100 meters with a 13.3.

The Tiger 800 meter relay team placed fourth in the prelims but was scratched when Donna Anderson suffered a hip injury. Anderson also scratched out of the 100 meters.

"Karlene did great. She beat the girl from Fredricksburg by a quarter of an inch," said Coach Patty Grimmett. Thompson edged Fredricksburg's Lisa Knopp on her final jump in the finals.

Grimmett also praised freshman runners Koening and Reed.

'Kim made it to the finals for the first time. She's a freshman and that was a good accomplishment for her. The third place was the best that Katrina has placed in the 200. She is a freshman, too.

"We're working real hard to get ready for district," added the coach. "We're hoping to give our best effort and do real well."

Scratch meet for the upcoming district relays will be held tonight.

USC wins over Vols

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Southern California and Tennessee worked hundreds of hours this season in an effort to reach the NCAA women's basketball championship game.

And when they got there on Sunday, it turned into a six-minute race to the title.

Southern Cal won the chase, rallying to defeat Tennessee 72-61 for its second straight championship before 5,365 fans at Pauley Pavilion.

"I think our experience took over at the six-minute mark and that was the turning point," said Southern Cal Coach Linda Sharp.

Underdog Tennessee led 28-26 at halftime and held a five-point advantage at 43-38 with 11:47 remaining when Southern Cal began its winning rally.

Southern Cal reserve guard Cynthia Cooper made an acrobatic scoop shot with 10:59 left that pulled the Trojans to within one point at 43-42. That seemed to ignite both the team and its fans.

Pam McGee's three-point play with 6:20 to go gave the Lady Trojans the lead for good and they steadily pulled away in the final minutes.

Pam and her twin sister, Paula, each scored 17 points to spark Southern Cal.

Sophomore All-American Cheryl Miller, named the tournament's most valuable player, added 16 points for the fifth-ranked Lady Trojans, 29-5.

Freshman point guard Amy Alkek scored 11 key points for Southern Cal, including seven in the final five minutes. Cooper, who had eight crucial points in Friday night's semifinal win over Louisiana Tech, added eight on Sunday.

Bengals cop sixth place in relays at San Angelo

SAN ANGELO -- Snyder added 25 points to its earlier effort here Saturday to finish with 45 points and sixth place in the Angelo Relays.

Chad Peterson added another first place medal when he ran a wind-hampered 11.2 in the 100 meters. The Tiger senior had won the long jump on Friday with a leap of 22-6½.

Snyder had also gotten a first-place medal from Ricky Vaughn, who hurled the discus 162-0.

On Saturday, Snyder's Kyle Freeman took third in the shot put with a throw of 48-9½. Teammate Darren Greenway was sixth in the 200 meters with a time of 23.8.

The Tigers also placed fifth in both the 400 and 1600 meter relays. The 400 meter squad of Greenway, Tommy Holladay, Marcus McGlouthin and Peterson ran a time of 44.6. The 1600 team of McGlouthin, Holladay, Greenway and Earl Ware ran a 3:35.4.

"We learned a lot of things," said Coach Robert Crawford. "We can do a little better in some areas than we did this weekend."

The Tigers will continue track action in Pecos this Friday.

Kerrville Tivy won the two-day meet with 113 points. Second was Monahans with 103, followed by Andrews with 69, Dumas with 52, Fort Stockton 50, Snyder 45, Lamesa 28, Brownwood 15, Sweetwater and Canyon 14 each, Brownfield and Pecos 10 apiece and Lake View 4.

Cats end season with fine effort at Mustang meet

Two hit-and-run incidents reported

Three minor traffic mishaps — two of these involving hit-and-run drivers — were reported in Snyder during the weekend.

The first hit-and-run incident was reported at 8:19 a.m. Saturday.

According to reports, a 1971 Pontiac owned by Mary Morris of Rt. 3, Snyder, was apparently struck by an unidentified vehicle whlie parked in the city Friday.

Investigators reported having no information as to the time or location of the mishap.

The intersection of 37th St. and College Ave. was the scene of Saturday's second accident at 7:21 p.m.

Involved in it were a 1979 Ford driven by Angel Estrada Aguinaga of Westbrook and a 1980 Chevrolet driven by Carlton Lee Dennis of 2801 28th St.

The weekend's last mishap, also a hit-and-run incident, was reported around 1:22 a.m. Sunday.

Jan L. Dunn of Las Vegas called police and told investigators that her 1984 Mercury had been struck by an unidentified vehicle while it was parked in the 500 Block of East Highway earlier in the evening.

No injuries were reported in any of the accidents and damage in all cases was rated minor to moderate.

Police return missing bike

A bicycle reported stolen during the weekend was returned to its owners by Snyder police Monday morning.

Brenda Hill of 2311 27th St. filed a misdemeanor theft complaint at 2:46 p.m. Saturday. She told investigators her son's BMX type bicycle had been stolen from their residence sometime between 5 p.m. Friday and 2:45 p.m. Saturday.

The missing bike, valued at $100, was returned to its owner Monday morning after Mrs. Hill identified her son's bike at the police station. It had been found and turned in Sunday.

In other action, city officers charged one local man with a misdemeanor count of reckless conduct late Saturday night following an 11:13 p.m. report of one man being threatened by another with a knife at the KoKo Palace.

Another Snyder man was charged with one count of misdemeanor assault Sunday night after officers responded to a disturbance call in the 2700 Block of Ave. J around 12:40 a.m.

Two men were arrested at the scene with both charged for public intoxication and the one charged with assault.

Ten other local suspects were also jailed Saturday and Sunday on a variety of misdemeanor charges.

Six were charged with public intoxication, two for DWI and one each for driving on a suspended license and outstanding traffic warrants.

Whistle-blowers were demoted newspaper says

DALLAS (AP) — Five of six whistle-blowers who gave federal investigators statements about alleged agency misconduct have been demoted by officials of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Dallas Morning News reported.

The newspaper said Sunday that the six gave federal investigators statements about alleged politically motivated misconduct by the regional administrator of the agency, Dick Eudaly, who was appointed to the post in February 1982.

Eudaly told the newspaper on Saturday that the personnel actions complied with HUD guidelines and were the result of a reorganization of the Dallas and Fort Worth HUD offices. Agency records show the reorganization resulted in demotions for 49 of the 375 Dallas-Fort Worth area HUD workers, the newspaper said.

The newspaper said of the six whistle-blowers, only Victor C. Hancock — a friend of Vice President George Bush — escaped demotion.

Several officials who were not identified were quoted by the newspaper as saying that HUD officials in Washington intervened on Hancock's behalf.

The News also reported that interviews and public records showed that two agency officials who gave statements supporting Eudaly were subsequently promoted.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said the actions were reprisals and called for an investigation of possible ethics violations by senior HUD staff members.

The Democratic senator said "blatant, politically motivated irregularities" in a federal community development grant program triggered the initial HUD investigation of Eudaly.

Court to rule on school case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to decide whether public schools may provide a "moment of silence" for meditation or prayer by students.

The court said it will review a ruling that an Alabama law allowing periods of silence at the start of each school day is unconstitutional because it was aimed primarily at promoting religion.

Similar "moment of silence" laws have been enacted in 22 other states.
