Guerrillas Hit Mainland

By PETER ARNETT

MALACCA, Malaysia (AP) — About 60 Indonesian guerrillas, attacking in two groups, landed by sea on the southwest coast of Malaysia's mainland early today but by nightfall almost half of them were reported captured.

A military spokesman said the others were pinned down in swampy jungles 30 miles south of here by a force of Australian, New Zealand and Malaysian troops.

The spokesman said a holding action would be carried out through the night, and mopping up operations will be launched at daybreak.

The spokesman reported 25 prisoners taken during initial encounters with police and soldiers along the Kesang River, near the border of Malacca and Johore states. He said not a shot was fired.

The spokesman said the raiders were tracked down, called upon to surrender and came out of the bush with their hands in the air.

Prime Minister Abdul Rahman announced five boatloads of guerrillas landed before dawn on the southwest coast between Malacca and Muar.

Home Minister Ismail Bin Abdul Rahman, Malaysia's top internal security official, made a flying tour of the Malacca-Muar area and told newsmen that Malaysian forces had the situation well in hand.

"We have encountered a large number of the invaders," he said, "and the battle between them and security forces is in progress. We have every reason to be successful."

Unofficial reports said the landing force was believed to number about 60 men.

It was the third reported invasion of the Malaysian mainland by forces from Indonesia, whose President Sukarno has vowed to crush the British-backed Malaysian federation of Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and Sabah.

Rahman said the invaders crossed the nrrow Strait of Malacca from Indonesian Sumatra, and members of the vigilante corps patrolling the Malacca-Johore State coastal border region sounded the alarm.

Police and soldiers immediately sealed off the area, diverting all traffic from the main coastal highway.

New Zealand troops based in Malacca also moved in against the guerrillas.

The region was placed under a 24-hour curfew.

The reported landing site is 70 miles northwest of Johore's Pontian region where 108 Indonesian-directed guerrillas slipped ashore in three groups last Aug. 17 to open up a second front in Indonesia's undeclared jungle war against Malaysia.

The Pontian landings were followed by a parachute landing by 96 Indonesian-led paratroopers into the inland labis area of Johore on Sept. 2.

On Tuesday, the government announced it had broken the back of the Pontan and Labis guerrilla campaigns. At last report six of the Labis invaders were believed still at large and 18 members of the Pontian invasion group were being sought.

At least 47 guerrillas have been killed and 133 captured in combined operations by British Gurkha troops and New Zealand infantrymen, working with Malayan defenders.

Bethlehem Adds To Steel Price Debate

NEW YORK (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp. got ready today to toss its latest profit figures into the rekindled debate over steel prices.

Following custom, the second largest steel producer planned to report third quarter and nine-month results at the close of the New York Stock Exchange.

The steel price argument revived on new word that President Johnson would take a skeptical view of any major steel price rise. That word was considered a prime factor in a stock market dip Wednesday.

Actually, the President said Aug. 8 when price rise talk was in the air that he would look upon any markup with "very serious concern" and urged steel executives to act responsibly.

But the subject is touchy, fraught with memories of the President John F. Kennedy-steel industry controversy of April 1962. At that time the industry rescinded a price increase after Kennedy objected strongly.

In Los Angeles, President Johnson was said to have figured that nine-month steel profits were up 29 per cent — although some calculations were about 20 per cent.

Leading steel executives have contended that despite a good upturn in earnings this year from previously depressed levels, the rate of return on invested capital still lags well below the average of all manufacturing industries.

The remedy, they say, is a price rise, probably on selected big tonnage finished steel products like sheets, strip and plates.

Labor contracts between the steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America expire next June. Wage negotiations can begin Jan. 1.

Johnson reportedly is keeping in close touch with preliminary moves toward contract changes, which could have an important effect on prices.

Four of the industry's "Big Eight" companies reported record high earnings for the first nine months of the year, and nearly all sizeable producers reported gains.

The industry giant, U.S. Steel Corp., seemed headed for a lackluster earnings year alongside the boom results of the mid-1950s.

United Fund Collections Show Gain

Donations reported to the United Fund have passed the $18,000 mark, and the total is rising almost hourly as workers complete their assignments.

Dr. Jack Nesbit, team captain in the Pattern Division, was the first to report his team as being complete in that division. Others in that 10-team division are expected to finish their work this week also.

Added to the list of business firms which are 100 per cent in their donations today were The 66 Cafe, Snyder Truck & Tractor, Snyder Laundry and Dry Cleaners, Lee Smyth Accounting, John Wilson Co., and Service Co.

Also, National Tank Co., Woody Newton, Batchelor Nursery, Snyder Plumbing, and Trailertopia.

Demos Should Denounce Reds, Says Goldwater

By WALTER R. MEARS

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater kicked off a Pennsylvania whistle-stop tour today, asserting "millions of unhappy, disgusted Americans across this country" will produce the century's biggest political upset next Tuesday.

The Republican presidential nominee said some people claim he has "just about given up" in his battle against President Johnson

But he said there is no truth in that.

He launched his third railroad tour of the campaign after toughening his presidential challenge with a charge that Democrats have Communist backing and haven't repudiated it.

The Arizona senator opened his campaign day before a Harrisburg crowd estimated by police at more than 8,000.

The Republican nominee for the White House took to a campaign train after a journey through the Midwest and a demand that the Democrats denounce Communists and "their backing." He said Communist publications were "pulling for the defeat of Republican candidates."

Goldwater keynoted a five-stop railroad journey to Pittsburgh with a complaint that President Johnson had used "false and degrading tricks" against him.

"He tells the American public I want to tear up their Social Security cards," Goldwater said in a speech for Lewistown, Pa.

"There is not an ounce of truth in this smear, and my opponent knows that full well."

The whistle-stop tour was Goldwater's third campaign foray into Pennsylvania, a state he believes the GOP ticket can carry if the Democrats are held to a 250,000-vote margin in Philadelphia.

An Oshkosh, Wis., crowd rose to cheer him Wednesday when the Arizona senator brewed into his presidential bid the charge that Democrats have Communist backers.

Brandishing a copy of "The Worker," Goldwater told some 1,600 people in a high school auditorium the Communist newspaper has urged voters to "smash Goldwaterism."

"I haven't heard a Democratic candidate yet say he doesn't want the Communist party working for him," Goldwater said.

"Now I am not accusing any Democrat of being a Communist, but I am getting a little sick and tired of their not denouncing this party, this Communist group, not denouncing their backing."

N. Viet-Nam Reports New US Raids

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam charged Friday "air and naval craft of the U.S. and its agents" again bombed and shelled North Vietnamese territory.

Radio Hanoi, in a broadcast monitored here, said the announcement was made by a spokesman of the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry in a statement issued Thursday. It said:

"At 1000 hours of Oct. 28, 1964, three jet planes and five T28 aircraft of the United States, coming from the direction of Laos, bombed and rocketed the Cha Lo frontier post, which is situated in the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam territory in Quang Binh Province, at a place two kilometers (1.2 miles) from the Viet Nam-Laos border."

It added: "At 2300 hours (11 p.m.) of the same day, three naval craft of the United States and its agents, sailing from South Viet Nam, intruded into the territorial waters of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam, shelled the coastal areas of Quang Binh Province, and subsequently fled."

Armed Man Arrested On Motorcade Route

PITTSBURGH (AP) — William E. Fisher, 24, arrested Tuesday night on the route of President Johnson's motorcade with two rifles and a pistol in his car, has been held for the grand jury on a charge of violating the Uniform Firearms Act.

Fisher, of suburban Bellevue, said at a hearing Wednesday night he kept the guns in his car to be handy for hunting.

Mothballs Don't Mar Missile's Performance

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The navy has demonstrated that its Polaris missile can perform flawlessly after months in a steel launching cocoon aboard a patroling nuclear submarine, informed sources report.

The sources report that a sub which had been on underwater station for perhaps as long as three years successfully fired one of its undersea weapons Wednesday from beneath the surface of the Atlantic ocean far offshore. The Polaris, reportedly an early A1 model, had been aboard the craft since it went on station.

The submarine reportedly was one of the earlier vessels which went on patrol in late 1960 with the Polaris A1 model. These craft are being brought off patrol for modifications to accommodate the longer-range A3 model. The George Washington is the first scheduled for an overhaul.

US Scientist Shares Prize For Physics

STOCKHOLM, SWeden (AP) —Dr. Charles H. Townes of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and two Russian scientists who have been his house guests were jointly awarded the 1964 Nobel Prize for Physics today for their contributions to the maser light beam.

At the same time the 1964 prize for chemistry was awarded Dorothy Crowfoot-Hodgkin, 54, a bichemist of Oxford University, England, for her "determination by X-ray techniques of the structures of important biochemical compounds.

These prizes, each totaling $53,123, wind up this year's presentations from the foundation established by Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite.

The maser beam, which greatly amplifies radio signals, has become commonly known as both a possible "death ray" and a potential means of aiding man in medicine. It has led to a revolution in radio and physics. Maser concentrates light energy similar to the way that a magnifying glass can concentrate the sun's rays.

Half the physics monetary award will go to Dr. Townes and half to the Russians, Prof. Nilolay Basov and Aleksander Prochorov of Moscow.

Dr. Townes heard the news in Pasadena, Calif., where he is attending a meeting of a National Aeronautics and Space Administration advisory committee on manned space flight.

"I'm very excited and honored," he said.

He telephoned his wife at their home in Cambridge, Mass., that he was thrilled. Mrs. Townes said her husband "has been so excited with this field since he made the first maser work in 1955."

Mrs. Townes said the Russian physicists have been their house guests in Cambridge and "both are charming men."

Dr. Townes, 49, is a native of Greenville, S.C. He conceived the idea for the beam in 1951. He and his students also coined the word "maser," which stands for microwave amplification by stimulated emission of radiation.

The 1964 Nobel awards previously announced:

Peace — Dr. Martin Luther King of the United States.

Medicine—Dr. Konrad Bloch, German - born American, and Dr. Feodor Lynen of West Germany.

Literature — Jean-Paul Sartre of France. He has rejected the prize.

Guard Unit Inspected

The Snyder unit of the Texas National Guard underwent its annual inspection by the Inspector General Wednesday evening at the armory here.

Battery B, First Battalion, 131st Artillery, was inspected by Lt. Col. Chester Metzke, Inspector General from Fourth Army Headquarters, and by Lt. Col. Lee E. James, also from Fourth Army Headquarters.

The local unit is commanded by Capt. Eddie R. Isaccs from Sweetwater; 2nd Lt. Tommy W. Ivison is executive officer; and 2nd Lt. Robert Ryan is assistant executive officer.

The administration, supply, and maintenance were inspected during the evening, with a formal inspection in ranks, and a training inspection.

Col. Metzke, in his informal remarks following the inspection, made several favorable comments with regard to the members of the battery, and also on the condition of the armory. His formal report, forwarded through channels, is expected in December.

The unit here consists of 57 enlisted men and three officers.

Strike Threatens Ford Motor Co.

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. was threatened today with a crippling strike, just as General Motors Corp. got its fifth assembly plant going again after a 31-day nationwide walkout by the United Auto Workers Union.

The UAW set a strike deadline Wednesday of 10 a.m. Nov. 6 for its bargaining units at Ford which lack at-the-plant working agreements to supplement the newly negotiated Ford-UAW national contract.

Ford figures that 23 of its 90 UAW bargaining units lack such agreements. Strikes by them would involve, among others, nine Ford assembly plants and three key stamping plants.

General Motors still is hobbled by similar local-level stoppages.

The UAW called off a national strike against GM last Sunday but authorized units without at-the-plant agreements to remain out until local issues are resolved.

Of GM's 130 UAW bargaining units 28 lacked agreements then. Twenty-one still do, and 18 of 23 assembly plants still are shut.

In striking GM Sept. 25, the UAW permitted members working in plants that sell parts to Chrysler Corp. and Ford to stay on the job, thus keeping GM's chief competitors in operation.

When national contract accord was reached Oct. 5, the UAW made return to work contingent upon wrapping up all local-level agreements. Last Sunday it told GM units with at-plant pacts to go back.

Not all have been able to do so, because some operate assembly plants where companion body supplying plants are down, or vice versa.

At the peak, more than 300,000 of GM's hourly rated production force were idle.

Ford, which employs 165,000 and reached a national contract ahead of a strike deadline Sept. 18, was left in operation while local-level negotiations continued.

LBJ Reports Peace-Pledge From New Soviet Leader

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — President Johnson said today he has received a heartening pledge from the new Soviet premier that the Soviet Union will "maintain its own search for peace with the West."

In a speech, prepared for delivery in the historic Mormon Tabernacle, Johnson said the United States "must work to guide the inevitable changes that lie ahead" in Communist countries.

Johnson made an overnight stop in Salt Lake City in order to breakfast with David O. McKay, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) and to speak in the church's tabernacle.

After two days of campaigning in the West, the President was pointing his vote-seeking efforts eastward, with other appearances planned today in Wichita, Kan., and Philadelphia.

In his tabernacle text, Johnson said that when Nikita Khrushchev was toppled as Soviet premier, "I sent word to Moscow that our basic policy remained unchanged."

He reported that the new premier, Alexei Kosygin, has replied that "the Soviet Union would maintain its present policies and seek better relations — and maintain its own search for peace — with the West."

Johnson said Kosygin wrote that "the Soviet Union would continue its communications with the United States — and would continue to explore areas of mutual interest."

Terming this "a heartening response," the President promised the United States "will continue with every resource to work for a lasting and just and honorable peace."

In talking about "inevitable changes" inside the Communist bloc, Johnson said: "All political systems change. They are forced to — by historic circumstance."

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Although I read your column regularly, I missed your letter criticizing the clergyman for asking the prospective bride if she were pregnant or not. However, if the letters which appeared from some clergymen today are representative of the Portestant clergy, I am ashamed to be numbered among them. Any clergyman who performs 556 marriages in one year, unless he has a congregation of 5000 or more members, is not a clergyman, but an operator of a marriage mill, and can expect the abnormalcy he reports. I am aware, of course, that some brides are pregnant. But the number of brides who are NOT pregnant is so far in the majority that a clergyman can assume that she is not. Neither I, nor any pastor of my acquaintance, has ever felt the necessity to ask a bride routinely if she is pregnant. Should I be the only one to uphold your right to criticize the clergyman for having asked that question, please let me know so I can update my conscience. Sincerely yours.

REVEREND D.

DEAR REVEREND D.: No need to update your conscience. It is as modern as tomorrow. Because so many more people wrote at first to say, "Shame on you," than "good for you," I pulled in my claws. But in the final tabulation, more readers agreed with you.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I wonder how many women are not on speaking terms with their daughters and daughters - in - law because they had the nerve to say NO as I did when asked to babysit with my grandchildren? This generation of grandchildren is wild and uncontrollable, and it is an exhausting job to run after them. Well, I'm too old for that sort of nonsense, and I said so. I refuse to buy my children's affection by looking after THEIR children while they do all the things I would like to have done but couldn't because I was too busy raising THEM.

PHILADELPHIAN

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am at my wits' end trying to decide how to handle this problem. I have a cousin who is 50, unmarried, and employed by a well - known religious organization. She lives in a large city and comes to visit me every few months for a week-end. She was always quite careless about her person, but each time she visits me she's worse. She has been here during the hottest spells without taking a bath once! I have hinted that we have plenty of hot water, but I got nowhere. When she leaves, the room she occupied smells to high heaven. It nearly kills me to have such a sloppy, dirty creature in my home. And I know it isn't fair to my family. She has always been one of my favorite relatives, but I can't take any more of this. What can I do without hurting her feelings?

COUNTRY COUSIN

DEAR COUSIN: Forget her feelings and think of her future. One of these days she'll lose her job unless someone tells her how offensive her carelessness is. If you truly like her, for HER sake, tell her.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Please help me in my crusade against companies that provide their customers with a return evenlope marked "PLACE STAMP HERE" printed in the upper right-hand corner. This has bugged me for years. I have known where to place a stamp on an envelope since I was in second grade.

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: It doesn't take much to bug you. "PLACE STAMP HERE" is only to remind people that a stamp is necessary. Don't look a gift envelope in the upper right hand corner and simmer down.

Council Is Urged To Take New Look At Birth Control

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Cardinals and bishops urged the Vatican Ecumenical Council today to undertake a fearless new look at all aspects of traditional Roman Catholic teaching on birth control.

Leo Jozef Cardinal Suenens of Brussels, Belgium, put the matter squarely to the worldwide assembly of Roman Catholic prelates in St. Peter's, telling them:

"We must not be afraid to look at our traditional doctrine to see if it represents the final word. Let us see if there is not a new approach that can be taken."

Other speakers in today's council debate on modern world problems also urged the assembly to define more clearly the question of morality and birth control in the council schema on the Church in the modern world. All, however, cautioned against abandoning traditional Church teaching on this subject.

The speakers, whose remarks were reported by a council press spokesman, dealt with the birth control question in general terms without going into specifics. This appeared to be in line with an admonition by council presiding officers that the "more delicate" points in the debate be handled only in writing.

Beside debating the modern world schema, the council fathers today also completed their last major vote on their crucial theological schema de ecclesia, about the Church. The vote today all but cleared the way for the proclamation of the schema as a decree formally affirming that the bishops collectively share authority over the Church with the Pope.

The council fathers, in today's ballot, approved the final chapter of de ecclesia by a vote of 1,559 to 10, with another 521 approving with reservations. The final chapter discusses the place of the Virgin Mary in the Church. The chapter on shared papal-episcopal power was approved earlier this month.

Council action on birth control is expected to take into account the papal-ordered birth control study, which is expected to go into all aspects, including contraceptive pills.

Kremlin Lists Nikita's Faults

By GERALD MILLER

ROME (AP) — The Kremlin has told Soviet Communist party workers that Nikita Khrushchev was ousted because he acted dictatorially and did a bad job besides, the left-wing Italian weekly L'Espresso reported today.

L'Espresso said the report, written by Soviet Communist party Presidium member Mikhail Suslov, had been distributed to party workers throughout the Soviet Union.

It had been rumored in Moscow earlier this week that such a report would be made public and that it would contain Suslov's denunciation at the Presidium meeting Oct. 14 which removed Khrushchev from command of the party. The report has not been made public in Moscow and L'Espresso did not say where it got its summary.

Suslov's report, according to L'Espresso, accused Khrushchev of these failings:

—He repeatedly violated the principles of collective leadership, displaying a typical "personality cult" attitudes incompatible with directives of the Soviet party congresses.

—He launched and changed agricultural policies without adequate thought and preparation.

—He switched allocated investments from one industrial sector to another, causing consumer industry to suffer through a lack of coherent development of economic plans.

—He sent friends or relatives including his son-in-law Alexei Adzhubei, on foreign missions without consulting party officials. These emissaries had neither the right nor preparation to undertake the delicate tasks given them, and often the results did not correspond to Soviet interests.

—The party Central Committee was told nothing of the outcome of Adzhubei's last mission, to Bonn and only learned from the Western press that he had formulated prospects on the German and Berlin questions unacceptable to the party.

—During his own trip to Egypt in May, Khrushchev made President Gamal Abdel Nasser and Vice President Abdel Hakim Amer Heroes of the Soviet Union without the required preliminary approval of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet parliament.

—Khrushchev made an ostentatious show of support for India during a particularly delicate time of frontier controversy between India and Red China. Such help was in line with Moscow policy, but the way it was done worsened the situation.

—Khrushchev's recent declaration that the Soviet Union has a weapon of total destruction — which Khrushchev later denied he had made — caused alarm and confusion and was a significant example of his arbitrary way of acting without regard for the opinions of others.

Khrushchev Is Reported On Pension

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev is receiving a pension of 1,000 rubles a month, usually reliable sources said today, and has a chauffeur-driven car at his disposal. A thousand rubles equal $1,111 at the official rate.

These sources gave the Khrushchevs' address as 3 Granovsky St.

The former Kremlin chief was said to have taken a four-room apartment in a big red brick apartment house a block from his former Kremlin office.

The Granovsky address is an old building put up in the 1920s to house Kremlin officials. This is a short side street, normally heavily patrolled by uniformed and plainclothes policemen.

Other tenants in the building include former Premier Vyacheslav Molotov, whom Khrushchev consigned to oblivion after a Kremlin power struggle in 1957.

The apartment opposite the Khrushchevs' was reported occupied by the former Red army Marshal Georgi Zhukov, whom Khrushchev fired as defense minister in 1957.

Spacemen To Change Orbit

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Controlled space flight will be attempted by Maj. Virgil I. Grissom in the first manned Gemini mission set for early next year.

Manned Spacecraft Center officials said Wednesday that as far as they know it will be the first time a spaceship will have changed orbit.

Grissom, command pilot of the two-man spacecraft, will set a space speedometer at 100 feet per second on the first orbit near Guaymas, Mexico.

Two 100-pound thrusters will fire, making the spacecraft travel faster. When the dial points to five — it will count backward 100, 99, 98, etc. — Grissom will turn off the rockets. This additional thrust will put Grissom and his copilot, Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young, in a different orbit.

President Will Vote In Johnson City

JOHNSON CITY (AP)—President Johnson will vote Tuesday in a tan brick building that is headquarters of the Pedernales Electric Cooperative.

The polling place is about two blocks southeast of the courthouse in this Hill Country town of about 600.

The precinct has 275 to 300 votes, mostly Democratic.

In adjacent Gillespie County, where the LBJ Ranch is located 15 miles west of Johnson City, there were 2,687 votes for the Republican nominees in 1960 and 816 for the Democrats in 1960.

Hog Coach Fears A&M

By The Associated Press

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles says that the Texas Aggies' offense will present a problem to his Razorbacks this Saturday at College Station because "their offense is a lot like ours."

Broyles went on to explain that the Aggie offense was similar because it utilized "split ends, flankerbacks and wide sets," which he said is the type of offense that is designed "to give everybody trouble."

The Arkansas coach did not continue his dissertation, however, to point out that the similarity of the offenses of the two schools fails to be reflected in the record books.

To date the Razorback offense has piled up 122 points against its foes' 57 to give Arkansas a perfect 6-0 season record, a 3-0 Southwest Conference mark and the No. 4 spot in the national ratings. On the other hand, the Aggie offense has managed to generate 50 points—exactly half of the 100 scored by opponents—for a 0-6 season record and a 0-3 conference mark.

Broyles had his Razorbacks working extra time Wednesday on kickoff returns because, he said, it had been slighted during their pre-season work.

Meanwhile at College Station, the Aggies spent equal time working on offense and defense in an effort to make as many points as possible Saturday while trying to keep Arkansas from making as many points as the Razorbacks usually make. There was no comment from the A&M coaching staff concerning the similarity in the offense employed by the two teams.

The Texas Longhorns, now ranked No. 6 nationally after being toppled from the No. 1 spot by Arkansas, went through a several hour drill in preparation for their Saturday game with the Southern Methodist University Mustangs. Injuries will keep Phil Harris, Diron Calvert, Timmy Doerr and Kim Gayor out of the SMU game.

The Mustangs will be taking only a 1-4 season mark and a 0-2 conference record to Austin, but they will have six co-captains—all of the seniors on the SMU squad—for the Longhorn game. In Wednesday's practice, Billy Bob Stewart, who made 30 tackles in the Texas Tech game, suffered a shoulder injury but he is expected to be back in shape by Saturday.

Rice, which along with Texas and Baylor will be fighting to stay in contention for the conference crown this weekend, is expected to be at top strength when it is host to Texas Tech at Houston Saturday. Quarterback Walter McReynolds, who had been nursing an ankle injury, showed improvement in Wednesday's practice and end Howard Ayers, who had a shoulder injury, is expected to play Saturday.

The Texas Tech Red Raiders Wednesday staged a drill that Coach J. T. King called "a spirited workout." All players who took part in Tech's 12-0 victory over SMU last week are due to suit out for Saturday's regionally televised game with Rice. In addition, guard Ronnie Pack, who has been out with injuries since the second game of the season, is expected to see action against Rice.

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs were completely free of injuries Wednesday as they drilled for Saturday's game with Baylor. TCU Coach Abe Martin said he was going to wait until Saturday before deciding whether Randy Howard or Kent Nix would start at quarterback against the Bears.

Baylor may be without the services of center Ernest Erickson, guard Dwight Hood, and flanker Paul Becton at Fort Worth Saturday because of injuries. The Bears gave their pass offense a thorough review Wednesday but also put in a lot of time on kick coverage and goal-line defense.

COACH LENDS A HAND IN BASKETBALL SCUFFLE —Coach Adolph Schayes of the Philadelphia 76ers grabs John Tresvant (25), of the St. Louis Hawks, from the back as he plows into a melee between players at New York's Madison Square Garden. Hawks Bob Pettit, right foreground, moves in on pile-up after a fist fight started between 76ers Dave Gambee and Hawks Charley Vaughn. Gambee was thrown out of the game and Schayes was charged with a technical foul. The 76ers won the National Basketball League game 100-81. (AP Wirephoto)

Navy Hopes Staubach Able To Go

By HERB THOMPSON
Associated Press Writer

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Navy will bank heavily on an improved Roger Staubach to derail Notre Dame's fast rolling football express in Philadelphia Saturday.

But the Middie quarterback is still not fully up to the scrambling 1963 form which won him the Heisman Trophy as college player of the year. Also a number of teammates, including fullback Pat Donnelly, are still sidelined with injuries.

How then can Navy hope to succeed?

"We're going to have to play over our heads and have all the good bounces go our way," Coach Wayne Hardin said Wednesday, falling back on the law of averages.

He said the Middies have been dropping up to seven passes a game and committing other mistakes which might have made a big differences in the 2-3-1 record they'll take against the undefeated, second-ranked Irish.

"We're due for one of those days when we might make a yard running and might catch a pass or two," Hardin said.

The Navy coach said Staubach, who suffered an ankle injury in Navy's opening game and hasn't been able to combine a running effort with his passing, is now back to about 85 per cent form compared to 70 per cent in Navy's 14-14 tie with Pitt last week.

Coach Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame agreed in a telephone interview from South Bend, Ind., that, "As Staubach goes, so goes Navy."

He said it has been quite noticeable in films that Staubach hasn't been able to scramble enough to hit his secondary receivers and that this has been the principal difference in Navy's attack this year.

Garland In Showdown As Schoolboy Races Tighten

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Defending champion Garland of Class AAAA faces the showdown to its hopes of again gaining the state schoolboy football playoffs when the defiated Owls battle Denison in a make-or-break game Friday night.

Beaten 20-14 last week by Highland Park to snap an 18-game winning streak, Garland still stayed in the fight for the district title and by beating Denison could become a top-heavy favorite. But a loss would knock the Owls out of all chances.

Because of its importance of determining the future of the major champion, the Garland-Denison game at Denison is the state's headliner.

But there are many important games as 35 undefeated, untied teams put their records on the line in the four divisions that play to state championships.

A score of the 96 districts have most crucial games and at least one could decide a title without further ado.

In Class AA Grapevine can win the District 10 championship if it beats Boswell.

In other districts prohibitive favorites for the titles can be determined.

The Garland-Denison clash is one of two very important tests in Class AAAA. The other sends Wichita Falls Rider against Arlington in District 4. Rider leads the district with a 4-0 record. Arlington is 3-0-1.

Mighty Dumas, the favorite in Class AAA, clashes with Canyon, one of three unbeaten teams in District 1.

Phillips and Spearman, two of the 18 undefeated, untied teams in Class AA, tangle at Phillips in a game that will determine, for all good purposes, the District 1 championship.

In District 4 of Class AA Denver City, which has swept through eight straight games, battles Post and can clinch a tie for the title.

Stamford, once a power and four times state champion, tries to climb back into the sun in a fight with Ballinger in District 5. The winner will virtually sew up the title.

District 12 spotlights the Marlin-West game that could decide the eventual champion.

In Class A Stratford can just about sack up the District 1 championship if it beats Sunray and there are other games in the division that will decide strong favorites for district crowns.

Rockwall puts the state's longest winning streak—20 straight—on the line in Class AA, facing Seagoville in a district conference game which the Yellow Jackets are expected to win handily.

Rated teams appear in good shape to hold their places. Amarillo Tascosa, No. 1 in Class AAAA, plays Amarillo Palo Duro and No. 2 Victoria calls against Corpus Christi Miller.

In Class AAA, where Dumas is No. 1, second ranked Vidor is idle.

In Class AA Phillips, ranked No. 1, has the battle with Spearman that matches unbeaten, untied teams. Ballinger is No. 2.

Hull-Daisetta, No. 1 in Class A, plays Tarkington and has few worries.

7th Graders In Intra-City Tilt

Travis and Lamar 7th grade teams renew their intra - city football rivalry this evening in Tiger Stadium.

The kickoff is set for 6 p.m.

Travis carries the better record into tonight's game, having won three of four starts this season. Lamar is all even at 2-2 after four games.

Travis has not tasted defeat since its opener when Big Spring Runnels took a 14-0 decision. Since then the Blue Devils have knocked off Colorado City, 12-0, Big Spring Goliad 16-8 and Lamesa 14-0.

Lamar edged Big Spring Goliad 2-0 in its opener and then defeated Colorado City 16-0 for its victories. The Texans lost a second engagement to Goliad, 12-0, and then dropped a 14-2 decision to Runnels.

In the second half of tonight's doubleheader in Tiger Stadium, the Lamar 9th Grade Texans will meet the Andrews 9th graders in a game beginning aound 8 p.m. It will be the first time for a local junior high team to meet an Andrews eleven.

Lamar 9th has won three, lost one and tied one in five previous outings. Two of the victories came at the expense of Big Spring Runnels, 30-6, and 32-14, while the other was over Sweetwater, 20-0. Big Spring Goliad was involved in the loss and the tie, winning the season opener, 26-14, and then settling for a 14-14 tie in the fourth game of the season.

Fauver's Midnight Drills Finally Begin To Pay Off

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A key clicked in the midnight darkness, and the gate to Texas Christian University's football stadium slid open.

A lone figure moved silently through the warm summer night, climbed a grassy knoll and moved onto the oval cinder track.

On a normal spring day, thinly clad collegians would be skirting to and fro and the field would be buzzing with activity but now it was deserted.

The solo performance unfolded without fanfare. It was neither the first nor last time that it would be repeated throughout the summer.

It was simply Jim Fauver beginning his unique training ritual designed to prepare him for his final season in a TCU uniform.

With a stop watch in hand, the sturdy young halfback would run for two hours or so, or until exhaustion signalled a halt.

"I've always been a bug for condition," explains the 190-pound Louisianian. "I feel like I can never work too much."

Fauver's athletic enthusiasm poses a rare problem for Coach Abe Martin, who has had to encourage Fauver to curb his self-imposed physical fitness program.

"He never slows down," mused Abe.

The pre-dawn training session was distracted partially by a nighttime job, ending at midnight. Days were spent with his wife and two small daughters.

The nightly jaunts reaped their first big dividends last weekend to the dismay of Clemson's Tigers.

Fauver's Horned Frogs, floundering in a frustrating season, trailed the South Carolina team by 10 points as the contest moved into the third quarter.

Fauver quickly narrowed the gap with one of his infrequent halfback passes, a perfect strike that carried 57 yards for a touchdown.

As the fourth quarter opened, he burst 70 yards—tops of his career—to a second touchdown and TCU won 14-10.

Fauver ran for 166 yards, a TCU feat not exceeded in a single afternoon since All-America Jim Swink gobbled up 235 yards against Texas in 1955.

"Abe says he's the complete halfback," beams Jim Brock, TCU sports publicist. "He can run, he can block, he can catch the ball, he can play defense and he's the punter."

Brock added that Fauver now had turned into a passer.

"I shudder to think that we'd have to play a game without him," said Martin.

Cowboys' Meredith Named League's Player Of Week

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Meredith, the Dallas Cowboy quarterback who has been handicapped by injuries all season, finally shook off his aches and pains in the St. Louis game Sunday with a performance that knocked the Cardinals out of a first place tie.

On the strength of his fine job on the Cardinals, who were heavily favored, Meredith earned recognition as The Associated Press' Player of the Week in the National Football League.

The 26-year-old former Southern Methodist passer who has been trying to make it big for five years completed 12 of 19 passes for 160 yards and one touchdown in an upset 31-13 Dallas victory at St. Louis.

In the closing minutes of the first period, Meredith completed a 36-yard pass to Frank Clarke who was nailed on the four. Don Perkins eventually took it in. Just before the first half ended, Meredith completed five passes for 73 yards including an 18-yarder to Clarke who wound up with seven catches for 103 yards. Willie Crenshaw, Card rookie fullback, gained 71 yards in 14 runs.

Tommy Mason's running for the Minnesota Vikings in their 27-22 decision over San Francisco accounted for 83 yards and one touchdown in 20 carries.

Rookie Les Josephson, playing fullback for the injured Dick Bass, sprinted 53 yards for a Los Angeles touchdown and gained 90 yards in 10 carries in the Rams' 27-17 upset of Green Bay.

Josephson was acquired from Dallas in a deal earlier in the year. Rookie Bruce Gossett of the Rams continued to impress by kicking two more field goals, making it a total of 11 in 14 attempts.

Landry Says Don Called All Plays

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys are hoping that the magic they used in crushing St. Louis 31-13 will still be working when they play Chicago Sunday.

Cowboy Coach Tom Landry was well pleased with his team's performance against the Cardinals and had high praise for quarterback Don Meredith, named by The Associated Press as the Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Landry revealed that Meredith called all of the plays and that there was no direction from the bench in the game with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I may do this again next Sunday," Landry said.

Of last Sunday's game, Landry said "We made few errors. No fumbling or anything except one intercepted pass. That was the difference in our play compared to the previous two weeks when we played just as well but had the errors to beat us.

"Against St. Louis, we got the big plays. Both involved Frank Clarke and his catch of a pass in the end zone with Cardinals hanging all over him was one of those miraculous things."

Brightening the Cowboy prospects is the fact that there were no injuries and not a single player missed practice.

Meredith, who had been handicapped by multiple injuries, is back in comparatively good shape and fullback Don Perkins has virtually recovered from his rib injuries.

Clay Tardy, But Mouth Catches Up

BOSTON (AP) — Cassius (Muhammad Ali) Clay was a week late arriving at the scene of his heavyweight boxing title defense but it didn't take him long to take the verbal offensive from challenger Sonny Liston.

Clay, fortified by the presence of the old movie comic, Stepin Fechit, and word of a weapon called the Anchor Punch, glowed with enthusiasm as he met Boston newsmen and then opened his on-the-scene training camp for the Nov. 16 title bout.

"He's an old man, he can't keep up with me," the champion sneered. "I've got better sparring partners than Liston."

Clay repeated his prediction of an early end to the 15-round bout at Boston Garden, saying:

"He's got to be mine in nine. But I may have to shorten it before fight time. About a week before the fight, I might make it in four."

Clay said his strategy for this fight will be to "hit and not be hit." He said he was going to "dance, float like a butterfly and sting like a bee."

Clock Hurts Tulsa Star

NEW YORK (AP) — If he had been given one more play against Cincinnati last Saturday, Howard Twilley, Tulsa's pass-catching ace, might be No. 1 in three statistical categories of college football instead of No. 2.

Time ran out as Twilley caught a pass on the two-yard line and Cincinnati won the game. Another play might have brought another catch and another Tulsa touchdown.

Instead Twilley wound up second in three major college statistical lists issued today by the NCAA Service Bureau. In scoring, it's Kent McCloughan of Nebraska with 56 points, Twilley 55. In pass receiving, Karl Noonan, Iowa, 43, Twilley 42. In touchdown passes, Fred Biletnikoff, Florida State, seven, Twilley six.

Dr. Ward Is Top Shooter

Dr. Harry Ward and Tommy Valentine tied with scores of 100 with 8 X's in Sunday's Canyon Gun Club Small Bore Shoot. Measurement gave Dr. Ward the first place trophy and Valentine the second place spot.

Gene Bowlin and Kelton Pinkerton each had scores of 100 with 7 X's for third place, with Bolwin edging out for the No. 3 spot on measurement.

Barber Martin received the "crying towel" for the day, with rain and wind blowing and resulting in a score of 87 with no X's.

It was the last rifle shoot for the year, and the club's All Around Rifle Award for the year went to Dr. Ward. Leroy Key was a close second for the award.

Next activity at the Canyon Gun Club Range will be Nov. 8 at 1:30 p.m. That event will be a Thanksgiving Turkey Shoot, with contests in rifle, pistols, trap and the running deer target shooting. The club plans to give away 10 turkeys that day.

Astronaut To Get Closer Look At Sea

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. reported during his orbits last year that he could see Salton Sea in California very clearly. Now he is going to get a much closer look.

It was disclosed Wednesday that Cooper will enter a power boat in the $28,000 Salton City 500-mile race Nov. 6-8. He'll be a codriver.

Michigan State pitcher John Pasnan also runs on the Spartan cross country team.

Ira's Girl Cagers Edged

GARDEN CITY — Garden City's girls basketball teams took a pair of one - point decisions from the Ira girls here Tuesday night.

The Garden City A team defeated the Ira A team, 48-47, while the Garden City B team won, 28-27.

For Garden City's A team, Jury Hurt scored 34 points, Brenda Jacobs 9 and Frances Cypert 5. Patsy Jones led Ira's A team with 26 points, while Janice Bishop had 12 and Renoka Hooker 9.

Linda White led Garden City's B team with 16 points. Jean Bruce had 3 and Dana Wirst 9. Connie Sterling had 13 points to lead Ira B. Jan Williams had 7. Linda Williams 5 and Pam Saffee 2.

World Series Shares Are Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — The difference between winning and losing the World Series was $3,312.90. That was the spread between each St. Louis Cardinal winning share of $8,622.19 and each full New York Yankee losing share of $5,309.29.

The official shares, announced Wednesday by Commissioner Ford Frick, had few surprises. As had been reportedly previously, Mel Stottlemyre, Yankee rookie pitcher, got a full share, and Pete Ramos, acquired from Cleveland in early September, drew one-half share of $2,654.65.

The fact that Harry Bright, reserve infielder who was sent to Richmond in mid-May, also got $2,654.65 was interesting.

The Cardinals voted three-fourths of a share to Barney Schultz, the 38-year-old knuckle ball pitcher who helped them so much down the stretch in the National League race. Schultz got $6,466.64.

So did Dal Maxvill, the utility infielder who played second base all during the Series in place of the injured Julian Javier.

The winning and losing shares were far short of the records set last year when the Los Angeles Dodgers got $12,794 each for winning and the Yanks drew $7,874.32 in spite of their four straight defeats.

The difference between the size of the Dodger park and the 30,000 plus capacity of Busch Stadium in St. Louis made the difference in money.

Texas A&I Still No. 1

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Texas A&I, which beat Lamar Tech 13-12 Saturday, stands No. 1 for the fourth straight week in National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics football ratings.

Texas A&I, picked as the top team on eight ballots, polled 142 points.

Sam Houston State (5-0) jumped from fifth to third place with 114 points after tripping Southwest Texas State 15-14. Sam Houston and Texas A&I clash Nov. 14 in a Lone Star Conference showdown.

Prairie View A&M (Texas) (5-0) turned back Arkansas AM&N 31-13 to retain the No. 4 spot with 87 points.

The top 10, with first place votes, record and total points:

Campaign Is Still 'Unglued' As Vote Time Draws Near

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before the presidential campaign, Dean Burch, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said Sen. Barry Goldwater would not become involved in 40 to 50 issues but on the "vital ones" because "too many issues and the campaign can come unglued."

It's unglued now. It has been all over the lot and no newspaper reader could keep up with the statements of the candidates unless he kept a notebook, although from the start until now there were just two basic issues and they have remained valid and vivid all the way through. Everything else said in this campaign has been piled on top of them.

Johnson is for big government with a broad, and broadening, responsibility for the general welfare; Goldwater is for less government, less government help, more reliance by the individual on himself.

The second issue is inextricably tied up with the first and voters can't separate them. Which of the candidates, Johnson or Goldwater, can better be trusted with running the government and all that means in domestic problems, foreign dilemmas, and no doubt some crisis?

On top of them Goldwater added these as issues: Bobby Baker, Billie Sol Estes, South Viet Nam, "waning U.S. prestige around the world," the nation's whole foreign policy, morality in government, peace, corruption in government, the choice between "socialism and individual freedom."

But there were more: control of nuclear weapons, handling NATO, the United Nations, Cuba, Castro, dealings with communism, spending, space development, plane development, American defenses, Red China, Americans for Democratic Action, civil rights, agriculture.

At first Democrats made their big pitch on Goldwater's "extremism." This was, in effect, a personal attack on him and it has remained a consistent Democratic tactic which got under his skin. But Goldwater has consistently made personal attacks on Johnson.

Johnson through it all, perhaps because from the beginning he felt sure of winning or because the polls convinced him by showing him away out in front month after month, has used a fast brush when it came to any serious or detailed discussion of most of what Goldwater considered issues.

Johnson apparently didn't think it necessary to lay out new programs, at least in understandable detail. Goldwater was just as vague on this score. All the while, the Democrats kept needling Goldwater, and they're doing it now, with the suggestion he is trigger happy. He bought the bait and has used up a lot of his time denying he is.

Now, near the very end they're doing what they've been doing all along: attacking each other personally.

They're not spending much time any more on nuclear triggers or Viet Nam or NATO or Cuba. What they've been saying in the past few days speaks for itself.

Johnson is picturing Goldwater as too reckless for the presidency and says the real issues are all the programs Goldwater has voted against, like the Civil Rights Act, the nuclear test-ban treaty, low income housing, and so on.

Goldwater is whirling around the country calling Johnson arrogant, power-hungry, selfish and a "little loose with the truth," and warning that to follow the say of Johnson would be "national suicide." He says, without saying how, "We must chart a new course of peace and freedom" and, as he has from the beginning, is charging corruption in government and calling for morality.

No wonder it has been a gummy, unenlightening campaign with both candidates laying out their case on a level more fit for kids than adults, which is hardly a tribute by either candidate to the American intelligence. The voters deserve better than they've been getting.

Strange Food Is Another Boyle Ordeal

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is becoming a gourmet.

For more than half a century I have tried to swim along with the new-and-strange food crowd, but I suppose I'll always be an outsider.

This is so even though I have tried hard to appreciate the other fellow's menu, in his house, in his country. My trouble is that the older I grow, the more I appreciate the foods of my childhood, some of which I rejected in my youth.

My trouble also is that I am too cowardly to say "no" to the initial helping of any food, and therefore I must please my host by taking a second helping — and gulp it out of sight.

This world is full of amateur chefs, and in my travels through some 67 countries, kingdoms, islands and protectorates I have never found a place that didn't subject me to the acid invitation, "Here's something I'll bet you've never had before — try this."

It makes me momentarily hiccup to think of what I have eaten in the exercise of politeness.

I have eaten quail eggs in Japan, octopus tentacles in Naples, eels in a place I'd rather forget, horse meat in London in wartime, whale meat in New York, and lamb's head in the Algerian desert.

I have eaten bear's flesh in New Jersey, brought in from Maine; buffalo steaks in South Dakota; coon, opossum, rabbit and squirrel in Missouri; and snails in France.

I have eaten frog legs and caviar at sea, thrushes and buttered partridges in Belgium, and kimchee — cabbage laced with garlic — in Korea.

Was it in Montana I had elk? In Scotland I had grouse? And Singapore, that the shark fins were served? And wasn't it in Germany in 1944 or 1945 that Lieut. Roy Wilder of North Carolina dished up the chitlins his folks sent from home?

But wherever I went, and whatever I did, I was sure to meet a local gourmet who said, "You simply must try this — it's a native dish!" So, after all, how could you go to Burma and forego the taste of bees cooked in their own honey?

Certainly nobody I know. You might as well balk at munching on a baked armadillo somewhere else, or rattlesnake dry-cooked to remove all cholesterol.

After all these often doubtful culinary experiences around the world, I will say this — they never gave me an ulcer. But I don't think I'll ever be a gourmet myself.

Junior Editors Quiz on Hamburgers

QUESTION: Hamburgers don't have ham—why the name?

• • •

ANSWER: Hamburgers have nothing to do with ham—they are made of ground beef. The word doesn't come from "ham" but from the city of Hamburg, in Germany.

Hamburg is a famous European shipping and trading center, so important it has been called "the gateway to the world." Goods of all kinds come in and go out; the city is known to seamen and people who handle commodities all over the world. One of the things Hamburg handles is meat. Much processing of products is done in Hamburg. Some enterprising cook discovered how appetizing lean meat can be when ground, given a dash of lemon juice, salt and pepper, shaped into a steak, broiled a bit and put on a plank to bake. Sailors and others coming in and out of the port loved it and called it hamburg steak in honor of the bustling city. Since there was so much trade with America, hamburg steak began to appear everywhere in the United States. Soon we had a miniature hamburg steak, the hamburger. Tender, easy to serve between two slices of a bun, the hamburger soon became an American favorite.

• • •

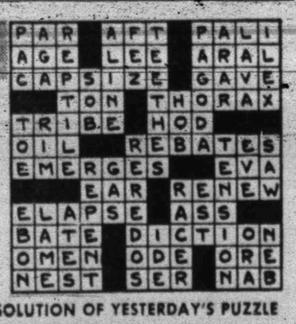

FOR YOU TO DO: Have your mother try this cheeseburger recipe on your friends. Pat out the hamburgers, and cook them on both sides. Then place on bottom half of bun, lay a slice of tomato on top, and then a slice of cheese. Put this under broiler until the cheese melts. Add top of bun and you have a delicious variant of the hamburger.

STRIPPER TURNS MANAGER—Diana Hunter, 23, an ex-stripper, now manages Jack Ruby's old Carousel Club in Dallas, Texas. Prohibition Party Still In Running

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph B. Lightburn doesn't want to be counted out of the presidential race.

"If it goes into the House, they wouldn't have to put Johnson or Goldwater in. They could easily put me in," says Lightburn, the presidential candidate of the Constitution party.

E. Harold Munn, however, takes what he considers a realistic view.

"Of course, there's no possibility of it," he says, regarding his chances next Tuesday. Munn is running on the Prohibition party ticket.

Lightburn and Munn are among at least eight minor party presidential candidates, running in one or more states or seeking write-in ballots next Tuesday.

Each has his cause; few have much hope. In 1960, the minor party nominees polled less than one of every 200 votes.

For Lightburn, a Jane Lew, W. Va., merchant and a hurried substitute when Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace declined to accept the Constitution party designation, the cause is "a return to constitutionalism."

For Munn, the cause is to "apply Christian principles to government," attacking "creeping socialism, encroaching communism, growing secularism, pornography and alcoholism."

For the States Rights party, it is—as vice-presidential candidate J. B. Stoner of Birmingham put it — to "repeal all civil rights laws."

And for Henry Krajewski, the Secaucus, N.J., pig farmer turned tavern keeper, it is "to run against two millionaires as a poor man's representative."

Two of the minor parties are Socialist — the Marxist Socialist Labor party whose candidate, Eric Hass of New York, is making his fourth race for president, and the Trotskyite Socialist Workers party led by Mississippi-born Clifton Deberry, now of New York.

Besides Krajewski, at least two candidates are running solely on a write-in basis: Louis E. Jaeckel of Lancaster, S.C., the American party candidate, and Bishop Homer Tomlinson of the Church of God, founder of the Theocratic party.

Some of the candidates are campaigning for votes. Munn, a Hillsdale, Mich., college professor, has made speeches from coast to coast and Lightburn has made a 25-city tour of Texas.

Others, like segregationist John Kasper, who heads the States Rights party ticket, have stayed at home.

Workers Try To Cap Pecos Gas Well

ODESSA (AP)—Workers fearful spewing gas may burst into flames worked late Wednesday night to cap a wild gas well.

The well, 6 miles from Cayanosa in Pecos County, blew out Monday.

Police blocked traffic for a two-mile radius around the wild gasser.

Red Adair, famed Houston oil well firefighter, was helping in efforts to control the well.

Workers originally tried to plug the leak with a mixture of mud and brine. Gas filtering through the mixture produced a heavy gray haze that resembled smoke. It was visible 20 miles from the well.

AP And NBC Will Join To Make Analysis Of Returns

NEW YORK (AP)—Many factors influence a voter when he makes his decision inside an election booth.

Race may be a decisive factor. Another voter may be influenced by his religious teachings, his nationality, where he lives, how much he earns or how far he has gone in school.

A voter may not consciously consider these factors. But each one — or a combination of them — helps determine which lever he will pull or how he will mark his ballot.

Which of these factors will be decisive on Nov. 3?

How will the Negro vote for President Johnson compare with that given John F. Kennedy in 1960? If there's a big difference, what's the reason for it?

Will Sen. Barry Goldwater do better—or worse—in high-income areas than Richard M. Nixon did in 1960. And why?

In order to answer such questions—and answer them almost instantly—The Associated Press has entered an agreement with the National Broadcasting Co. to supplement AP's own election interpretives with the network's Electronic Vote Analysis of returns.

The AP will operate a special bureau at EVA election headquarters in New York election night. AP writers will study the material as it comes from the computers and will prepare story material interpreting the vote on a national basis and separately in most of the states.

EVA utilizes a bank of seven computers. These have been programmed to compare results and to answer questions asked by AP and NBC election experts on the presidential, gubernatorial and senatorial races.

The complex will receive information, will compute tabulations and projections, and will report — simultaneously. It will report on high-speed printers.

Each bit of analysis will be based on a mass of detailed information that has been prestored in the computers, including vote histories and data on certain "tag areas." The "tag areas" are precincts, wards or counties which have been selected to represent the political behavior pattern of groups within an electorate.

This prestored information, compared with actual returns from specific voting units, will supply comparisons with previous elections and show how the candidates are doing on geographic lines, ethnic lines, by income groups, by race and, in some cases, along religious lines.

The computers also will provide differential analysis, showing any deviation from the norm, as for example, that the eastern states voted differently from another group of states or the country as a whole.

The multimillion-dollar computer system will be fed totals received from reporters in 6,000 specially selected precincts, as well as the vote totals gathered by the new Network Election Service.

Regional centers in New York, Atlanta, Chicago and San Francisco will transmit vote returns by teletype circuit directly into the bank of computers in New York.

Retailers Report Very Good Year

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — This is an extraordinarily good year for retail trade.

That's the report from J. Gordon Dakins, executive vice president of the National Retail Merchants Association, which has a membership of 14,750 department and retail stores across the country.

Total retail sales held up well despite the inroads of the General Motors strike which saw new car sales fall 23 per cent in the middle 10 days of October.

Dakins estimated that 1964 retai sales would amount to more than $260 billion up from $246.4 billion last year.

For department stores alone, he figures that the 1964 gross would approximate $17.9 billion, up 7 per cent from $16.8 billion in 1963.

The association is engaged in its annual survey of Christmas season prospects, and Dakins said: "We feel Christmas sale should be up 5 per cent over 1963, which was outstanding."

Merchants report that their cash registers are ringing up higher profits this year.

This, they say, is due to the fact that volume has increased, people are buying more expensive goods and the average sales check has grown.

In addition, many merchants have increased their efficiency of operations and are able to carry smaller inventories through use of computers which enable them to keep a closer check of stocks on hand.

A look at figures released by large retail chains indicates the scope of the business expansion. These include Sears, Roebuck & Co., the nation's largest with 770 stores and 11,092 catologue sales offices; Montgomery Ward & Co., and J. C. Penney Co.

Sears' sales rose 12.5 per cent in Septmber to $509,330,183 from $452,553,814 a year earlier. For the first eight months of the fiscal year which began Feb. 1 the chain's sales totaled $3,817,940,478, an increase of $416,836,595, or 12.3 per cent over the like period of 1963.

Montgomery Ward reported September sales as $125,574,000, a net gain of 10.1 per cent over $114,083,163 a year earlier. The 1964 eight-month total of $1,052,685,000 represented an increase of 13.3 per cent over $929,258,828 last year.

Penney said sales in September climbed 15.2 per cent to $169,096,981 from $146,850,262 in September 1963, while the total for the eight months ended Sept. 30 amounted to $1,213,722,949, up 13.4 per cent over $1,070,265,737 in the same period a year earlier.

There are more than 8,500 species of birds, ranging in size from the bee hummingbird of Cuba, which weighs about one-tenth of an ounce, to the ostrich of Africa, which weighs 300 pounds.

Robber Rapes Dallas Clerk

DALLAS (AP) — Police charged Ivery Williams, 18, a Dallas Negro, Wednesday with raping a loan office clerk during a downtown robbery eight weeks ago.

The youth's mother surrendered him to officers the night before as detectives hunted him with shoot-to-kill orders.

Police said the youth also tried to rape a woman employe of a South Dallas drug store as he and another Negro held up the place last week.

Williams signed statements admitting both offenses, Detective Capt. Will Fritz said.

Fritz told reporters that Williams had bought a .410 pump shotgun and passed the word to acquaintances he intended to shoot the first policeman who tried to corner him.

Twelve detectives were close to springing a trap when the surrender was worked out by Fritz and the suspect's mother.

Police said the arrest cleared up seven other robberies dating back to August at liquor stores, a second finance company and a jewelry store.

Two other Negroes, both 22, were held on suspicion of being Williams' confederates.

FRIENDS SUPPLY LIFE-GIVING BANK ACCOUNT— Doug Campbell, 18-year-old University of Washington freshman relaxes at the drums at his fraternity house at the Univ. of Washington in Seattle. Campbell, of Wenatchee, Wash., suffers from hemophilia and may need up to 600 units of blood a year. Friends have made sure the supply will be on hand. A rival fraternity at WSU donated 102 pints. His own fraternity has started a campaign for additional blood for his account at the county blood bank. Campbell recently injured his hip, breaking tiny blood vessels in the joint, so is now using crutches to protect himself from further injury from the sprained hip. (AP Wirephoto)

Debbie, Beatnik Bet ter ~~Call It A Draw~~

NEW YORK (AP) — Raised eyebrows marked the shipboard chat of Hollywood star Debbie Reynolds and pioneer beatnik Raymond Duncan, 90. The eyebrows raised were their own.

Both are proud of their positions in show business, but they come from somewhat different schools of acting and it showed. Puzzled frowns followed polite smiles.

They met on board the liner France as she docked Wednesday. Debbie was swathed in mink from head to toe.

Duncan, his shoulder-length golden-white hair held out of his eyes by a band, wore homespun, flowing robes. The philosopher-teacher, one of the first of the Paris expatriates, still lives there on the Left Bank.

They eyed each other and shook hands. Their chat, as recorded by Michael Mok of the New York Daily News, went as follows:

Duncan: "What sort of work do you do, my dear?"

Debbie: (With an arch glance at reporters) "I act, or at least I like to think of myself as an actress. I also sing and dance."

Duncan: "Actress, eh? You'll have to come see me at Carnegie Hall."

Debbie: "Did you write the play yourself?"

Duncan: "Of course not. My play is absolutely spontaneous. Make it up as I go along, you understand. The audience plays on me like a harp. What play did you say you were in?"

Debbie: "I'm not on Broadway, actually. I'm in the motion picture business."

Duncan: "Ah, Hollywood. They love me in California. I've had some of my greatest successes in Hollywood."

Debbie: "I grew up in Hollywood myself."

Duncan: "The trouble with the movies is that they lack spontaneity. Everything is written down."

He drifted off to check with an aide, who was passing out pamphlets about his Carnegie Hall performance Saturday.

Debbie (whispering) — "All during the crossing I thought he was a woman — those flowing robes can be awfully deceptive."

Duncan (as Debbie leaves) — "Who on earth was that girl, anyway?"

Ex-Justice H. H. Burton Dead At 76

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Supreme Court Justice Harold H. Burton is dead at 76.

He died at George Washington University Hospital Wednesday from a combination of illnesses. Failing health had forced him to retire from the Supreme Court six years ago.

Burton, while serving as a Republican senator from Ohio, was appointed to the court in 1945 by Democratic President Harry S. Truman. They had been close friends when Truman was a senator from Missouri.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, informed of Burton's death, issued a statement saying:

"I am sure that in its long history as justice on the court has been held in higher esteem by his colleagues. His opinions written for the court will be a lasting memorial to him, and will long be studied as a part of the development of American jurisprudence."

In one of his most significant opinions, Burton issued the ruling that outlawed racial segregation on railroad dining cars. It was the first in a line of major rulings by the Supreme Court on civil rights.

Burton began his political career as an Ohio state legislator in 1928 and became mayor of Cleveland in 1935, running as an independent Republican opposed to the regular party leaders. In 1940, he had to buck the Republican state organization to win the nomination for senator. He then won the election.

He was near the end of his first term as senator when Truman appointed him to the Supreme Court. Truman broke precedent by attending the court session in which Burton was sworn in. The president said he wanted to pay tribute to a long-time personal friend.

Two memorial services will be held for Burton, the first at All Souls Unitarian church in Washington, the second at the First Unitarian church in Cleveland.

Times for the services have not been announced.

Eisenhower Is Recipient Of Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has been given the annual "Family of Man" award for his "contribution to the principles of freedom and humanity throughout the world."

His son, John, accepted the award for him Wednesday night at a dinner of the Protestant Council of the City of New York. Eisenhower is recovering from a throat infection.

State Voters To Decide On Three Constitution Changes

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — Tuesday's general election ballot includes three proposals to change the Texas Constitution.

If approved, they will become amendments No. 156, 157 and 158 to the 88-year-old document.

On the ballot they appear in this order:

1. An amendment stripping the legislature of its present constitutional authority to shift up to 1 per cent of the permanent school fund to the available school fund each year.

2. A proposal requiring notice to the public and the Texas Water Commission prior to introduction of legislation creating or substantially altering a conservation and reclamation district.

3. A proposition enabling the legislature to set up a state-federal program of financial aid to Texans 65 and older who do not receive public welfare payments but who can't meet their necessary medical bills.

Each in some way could affect the taxpayer's pocketbook.

The legislature has used five times in this century the authority granted it by the people in 1891 to tap the permanent school fund to meet current school expenses. These transfers totaled $21 million and were made during years of state financial crisis.

The permanent school fund now totals about $535 million. Interest and dividends on its investments are placed annually in the available school fund. Oil and gas royalties and other income serve to build up the permanent fund, at a rate averaging $26 million a year since 1948.

Advocates of the amendment say it would remove a temptation for lawmakers to take part of the fund to avoid politically unpopular new taxes. Opponents include the Texas Tax Journal, which said:

"The fund has not been impaired to any great extent the few times this transfer privilege has been used, and this privilege should be retained for cases of emergency."

The second amendment would require local newspaper publication of a legislator's intent to submit a conservation and reclamation district bill 30 to 90 days beforehand. Also required would be notice to the Texas Water Commission, which would submit its opinion on the bill to the governor, lieutenant governor and House speaker.

It would be a safeguard against creation of new government taxing units before opponents had time to muster their forces, advocates of the amendment say. It also would provide expert advice from the water commission, they argue.

Opponents say the Texas Constitution already requires 30 days' published notice before introduction of a local or special bill. They add that the commission is overworked.

The medical care amendment has support of the Texas Medical Association and opposition from the Tax Journal. Texas already participates in the 1960 Kerr-Mills federal medical care program. About three-fourths of the $30 million annual cost of the state program of medical care for old age assistance recipients comes from federal funds.

If adopted, the amendment would let the legislature set up a similar program, including the fitting of eyeglasses, for old persons not on welfare rolls. The legislature would establish eligibility standards and aid limits.

"This proposal, if approved, will enable the State of Texas to complete a program under the Kerr-Mills law which already is regarded as one of the finest in the nation," said Dr. Max Johnson, president of the Texas Medical Association.

Also backing the amendment are the Texas Hospital Association, Texas Nursing Home Association, Texas Dental Association and Texas Pharmaceutical Association.

"This amendment is very loosely drawn and if adopted could be expanded to cover a very wide range, and might be used as a political football for votes," the Tax Journal said. "The eligibility and residential requirements are practically nil, and we believe this amendment should not be adopted in its present form."

Merger Is Approved By Stockholders

FORT WORTH (AP) — Stockholders have approved a merger of Champlin Oil & Refining Co. of Fort Worth into the Celanese Corp. of America of New York.

They voted Wednesday at meetings in the two cities. Stockholders owning more than 82 per cent of outstanding Celanese stock and more than 83 per cent of Champlin shares took part.

Celanese is a diversified company producing chemicals, fibers, plastic, paints and forest products.

Fort Worth stockholders also approved a change of name to Champlin Petroleum Co., which today became a Celanese subsidiary. Champlin will continue under present management, producing crude oil and natural gas and refines for markets in the Midwest and Southwest.

Holders of Champlin common stock will receive two shares of Celanese common for three shares of Champlin. Champlin convertible preference stock will be converted, on a share-for-share basis, into a new Celanese no-par convertible preference stock.

Celanese will do this by issuing $2,848,987 new common shares and 100,000 shares of new no-par convertible preference stock, placing the value of Champlin's equity at about $200 million.

Letters To The Editor

To The Daily News:

This nation has become the greatest nation on earth with its citizens enjoying the highest standard of living of any people with the ability to give away billions and to aid the unfortunate all over the world. Now we are faced with endless propaganda directed toward the end of making this a socialist state with its economy completely controlled at Washington with the deadening spirit that envelopes the entire life of a people in such socialist states. Why should we vote away our wonderful system of free enterprise that has enabled this nation to develop such wealth and attain such material progress that it is the envy of the entire world? We have seen Socialism fail everywhere that it has been tried. Why adopt it here?

You have an opportunity to stop relentless drive to a collectivist state. Vote for Barry Goldwater and other Republican candidates November 3rd and give your children the opportunity and freedom that an enjoyed when growing up.
