Akron Battles Its Way Through Texas Mountains And Levels Off For Coast

SHIP ZIG ZAGS OVER EL PASO AT NIGHTFALL

Navy's Pride Spends Whole Day in Combat With Texas Weather

FLIES LIKE SAIL BOAT

Rain, Lightning, Fogs And Sandstorms Serve To Deter Progress

EL PASO, Texas, May 10. (AP)—Driven all over Southwest Texas by inclement weather of every type, the naval dirigible Akron finally completed its journey over Texas at 8:25 p. m., central standard time. It had been delayed about 14 hours.

The ship flew a zigzag course through the Franklin range pass, apparently finding it difficult to proceed against a strong wind. The course resembled that of a sailing vessel in a cross wind.

After tacking through the pass at a northwesterly direction, the giant craft hesitated for a few seconds where Texas, New Mexico and the republic of Mexico join, and then headed almost due West over the southern New Mexico desert toward Douglas, Ariz. The ship apparently was following the Southern Pacific line west from here.

Temporary Retreat

The giant dirigible came within 10 miles of El Paso, the western boundary of Texas, shortly before 8 p. m., central standard time, then was forced to turn back again by a sandstorm.

The navy's pride and the sandstorm, of almost gale proportions, reached the El Paso vicinity about the same time. The ship previously had been delayed more than 12 hours in its journey over Texas by thunderstorms, electrical disturbances and poor visibility over West Texas mountains.

Held for hours this afternoon over Toyah, east of the Guadalupe mountains, by rainstorms and treacherous weather, the giant ship again resumed its westward journey for the Pacific coast shortly before 6 p. m.

Sighted by Towns

The rainstorms in the Guadalupe mountains were reported as subsiding. The Akron was sighted over Hot Wells, Texas, at 6:05, according to word received by J. P. Nash, assistant superintendent of the Southern Pacific railroad here, from his agent at Hot Wells.

The Southern Pacific agent at Sierra Blanca to the West reported the Akron at 6:33, mountain time. The weather was clearing, according to reports, and the dirigible was making good time.

Here in El Paso preparations were made at two air fields to provide an escort for the ship as it flew over the city.

The Akron passed over Toyah earlier in the afternoon, her blunt nose pointed toward the airways pass through the Guadalupe mountains. Low visibility, however, forced the ship to abandon her attempt to cross the mountains and she returned at 5:30 p. m.

Message Dropped

As she hovered over the town, messages, attached to pilot chutes, were dropped from the dirigible but they were blown into the brush by a stiff ground wind. The Akron, however, did not appear to be in distress.

Members of the crew could be seen peering through the windows

New Plea Made For Liquor Law Change

WASHINGTON, May 9. (US)—Settlement of the prohibition problem by adopting a new amendment to the constitution restoring liquor control to the states was advocated today by John M. Morehead, American minister to Sweden.

Appearing before a senate judiciary subcommittee holding prohibition hearings, Morehead explained the Bratt liquor control system in Sweden, under which liquor evils have practically vanished, while state revenues have increased 380 per cent.

Considerable significance was attached to the minister's testimony as, being a diplomatic officer, he had to obtain the state department's permission to appear. Secretary of State Stimson is among the members of the president's cabinet who are supporting a liberalized prohibition plank in the Republican national platform.

Negro and Follies Wife File Suits at Same Time

LOS ANGELES, May 10. (US)—As an attorney for Helen Lee Worthing, former follies beauty, was filing a divorce complaint in superior court today against Dr. Eugene C. Nelson, her negro husband, the latter's legal counsel was drawing up papers requesting the annulment of the marriage.

The physician's complaint merely cited that their Tia Juana marriage was not legal, as they did not comply with the Mexican laws in the matter of witnesses.

The former follies beauty alleged that her husband was "cruel, jealous, had a violent temper, called her bad names and made her a virtual prisoner in their two homes."

Convicted Men Slug Warden In Attempt To Break Jail Here

An attempt of W. H. Bybee, sentenced to death in Cottle county, and R. W. (Buster) Canada of Wichita Falls to escape from the Wichita county jail Tuesday night was defeated by the football tactics of Deputy Sheriff Pat Allen, who dived under a gun in the hands of Bybee and overpowered him.

Sid Johnson, jailer, was slugged on the head with a broken cell bar during the attempted break, and was disarmed and locked in a cell. Five stitches were necessary to close a deep wound in Mr. Johnson's head.

The two men launched their attempt to escape when Mr. Johnson started a tour of inspection of the third floor of the jail after Bud Russell, state penitentiary agent, had placed 10 prisoners in the ward over night. Canada, who had been sentenced to five years in prison earlier in the day, and Bybee previously had smashed bars from the rear of their cage and crawled on top of the cell. They launched their attack on Johnson from this vantage point.

Respected White's Marksmanship

Johnson was disarmed by Canada but Bybee took the gun, forcing Johnson into the cell and locking it, declaring he would escape or die. When Johnson told them Deputy Sheriff H. L. White was in the jail office, Canada crawled through the hole to return to the cell, saying Mr. White "could shoot out your eye at 100 yards."

Bybee went to the second floor and hid in a vacant cell while Day Jailer Frank Watkins passed with food for the overnight penitentiary prisoners. At this point Deputy Allen appeared and attracted Bybee's attention. Bybee leveled the gun on Allen, but Allen rushed in using football tactics.

Allen succeeded in dodging under the gun and secured a hold on Bybee's throat, both falling into a vacant cell. Watkins rushed to his aid and fired into the cell wall and with Deputy Sheriff Ben Howle, who was attracted by the noise of battle, aided in completing the control of Bybee.

Appeals Death Sentence

Bybee is held here pending settlement of an appeal from a death sentence assessed at Paducah. He also is under a life sentence and a 20-year sentence in connection with the shooting of a Breckenridge man.

District Attorney Sam Spence said an attempted escape does not result in cancellation of an appeal unless the prisoner leaves the jail building.

CANADA GIVEN 5 YEARS IN THIRD TRIAL

R. W. (Buster) Canada was given five years in the state penitentiary by a jury before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Tuesday afternoon on a charge of burglary of a private residence at night, the conviction being obtained by the state after two previous trials had resulted in hung juries.

Canada was accused of having robbed Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harrison in their home on Garfield street on the night of March 19. William Ballard represented the defendant.

Ted Martin also was given a five-year sentence for burglary of a private residence at night, entering a plea of guilty before Judge Martin in connection with the theft of valuable wearing apparel and other articles from a house at 2306 Tenth street recently. The defendant and his companion were intercepted by city officers as they left the place by an alley.

John Stouard, charged with theft over $50 in connection with the alleged stealing of an automobile several days ago, was given seven months in the Wichita county jail by a jury which deliberated only a short time before returning its verdict. The jury reduced the charge to one of misdemeanor, alleging that the defendant had been guilty of receiving and concealing stolen property. Stouard was defended by Jack Ballard.

Enraged Senator Tries Attack on Investigator

NEW YORK, May 10. (US)—State Senator John A. Hastings, enraged at the turn of events in the Hofstadter committee's investigation of the Equitable Coach company bus deal, tried to punch Samuel Seabury, committee counsel, during a brief recess this afternoon.

Shouting "you're a coward!" he made a rush at Seabury, and was stopped by court attendants who forced him into an adjoining room while he screamed imprecations at the startled investigator.

As he was led away Hastings shouted that Seabury was a "cheap blackmailer" and that "no damned cop is going to take me anywhere."

STUDENTS MIX IN FLAG FIGHT

High School Classes Stage Big Campus Battle

A five-hour battle around the base of the Junior college flag pole subsided at midnight Tuesday as junior and senior class members of the high school retired to their homes. The battle involved the right to attempt to mount the greased pole to replace a Junior college flag with a class pennant.

Parents of high school youths who can't locate all of son's clothing Wednesday morning may find shreds of one-time serviceable garments scattered about the college campus. Also if the youth has a slight odor of aged eggs about him, he hasn't been robbing nests—he only stopped an important item in munitions of "war" used by opposing class factions.

Over-ripe eggs, with tomatoes and oranges in similar condition, were fired from automobiles passing the battleground while the attacked "infantry" retaliated with rocks to the detriment of various windshields of passing cars.

The college flag remained at the top of the pole early Wednesday morning while guard details from both high school classes watched for a renewal of the battle. The flag pole, previously well greased by the college students, remained intact as another episode in the annual class struggle passed. Several hundred students participated in the battle. None was reported seriously injured.

10-Cent Wheat Jump Due, Stone Avers

WASHINGTON, May 10. (UP)—Chairman James C. Stone of the federal farm board told the United Press tonight an increase of 10 cents or more a bushel in the price of wheat is justified by the government estimate today of a 440,781,000 bushels winter crop and private reports that the yield may be smaller.

"We have reports of even greater damage to hard wheat than the agriculture department's report today indicates," Stone said. "Kansas has had some rain but now they are troubled with pests. Export demand is good."

Stone criticized speculators for the recent drop in wheat prices.

Disappearance of Beauty Balks Joliet Police

JOLIET, Ill., May 10. (UP)—Police searched in vain tonight for a clue to the strange disappearance of Leychester Lane, 24-year-old New York dancer who is easily identified by her striking platinum blonde hair.

Miss Lane, who was described as a beauty prize winner and former owner of a Fifth avenue shoe store, disappeared while en route from her rooming house to a riding academy Sunday morning.

Gaston Means Named in Second Big Ransom Fraud With Woman as Victim

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—Another wealthy and socially prominent woman was listed tonight as a possible victim—to the extent of $100,000 or more—of the suave representations of portly Gaston B. Means.

Only a few hours after he had been indicted on charges he swindled Mrs. Edward M. McLean of Washington out of $104,000 by promising to return the Lindbergh baby, authorities were investigating allegations he got that much or more from Mrs. Finley Shepard, New York, the former Helen Gould.

The Lindbergh baby, however, did not figure in the new development.

The story, hinted at by District Attorney Leo A. Rover, while arguing over Means' bond in the McLean affair, was that Means was paid by the New York woman after he represented he could give her information on Communist activities which might threaten her daughter or her fortune.

Rover told Justice James M. Proctor, while arguing Means' bond should be fixed at $100,000, that there was "very serious possibility" a criminal charge might result from the second investigation. He added it "does not concern the

Paving of Roads Leading To Red River Urged At Banquet Here

VISITORS WELCOMED

Parade and Band Concerts Bring Holiday Touch To Business Area

Pledges of cooperation in securing completion of a 40-mile stretch of highway between Lawton, Okla., and Red river were made by leaders of the Oklahoma City business world at a banquet in their honor Tuesday night at the Kemp hotel. More than 50 business men of Wichita Falls attended the dinner, which climaxed the reception here for some 80 members of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce good will delegation.

Limits Great Trade Area

Manager John Boswell of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce presented the need for early completion of the paving unit for the 40-mile gap, declaring it would open the gates to a $200,000,000 trade source in the Wichita Falls area that might well be used by the jobbing and industrial interests of the Sooner capital.

The need of Wichita Falls help in securing the hard surfacing unit and an arrangement of cooperation in securing completion of Oklahoma highway 14 at the same time was presented by R. A. Singletary of Oklahoma City.

President Albert E. Kelly of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce presided at the banquet and program and Walter D. Cline of this city welcomed the visitors with a humorous talk and a plea for "a re-valuation of things, putting problems in their right places."

Mayor Walter Nelson of Wichita Falls greeted the visitors for the city and Emil Hermann issued an invitation to the banquet group to

Light Townsend, Ranger Captain, Dies Suddenly

SAN ANTONIO, May 10. (AP)—Ranger Captain Light Townsend dropped dead in his room at a hotel here tonight.

He and Ranger W. A. Dial arrived here from Wharton at 10 a. m., and Captain Townsend had been waiting in the lobby for his cousin, Mrs. Marguerite Townsend, a few minutes before he died.

Before Townsend came into the hotel, he complained of feeling very ill. They went upstairs and a few minutes after they arrived there he dropped dead. A physician was called.

Adjutant General W. W. Sterling was notified of the captain's death by Dial and said he was leaving at once for San Antonio.

Helene Costello Charges Cruelty And Beats Lowell Sherman In Divorce Suit

Sensational Trial Airs Movie Actress' Taste for 'Spicy' Literature; Reveals Size of Sherman Cellar

LOS ANGELES, May 10. (UP)—The Lowell Sherman-Helene Costello divorce suit, which had electrified Hollywood by its sensational testimony, came to a sudden end here late today as Miss Costello was awarded a decree on the grounds of cruelty.

Sherman, a leading actor-director of the screen colony was not in court when, by an unexpected turn of events, his wife classed him as a "fault finder" and tearfully listened to a decision in her favor by Superior Judge Thomas Ambrose.

Previously Sherman had testified that Miss Costello was a heavy drinker of intoxicants and an avid reader of ultra "spicy" books, a dozen of which he exhibited as evidence. These practices, according to the actor-director, constituted cruelty and wreaked havoc with his home life.

Secret Arguments

The pathway to a divorce was made easy for Miss Costello by a conference of opposing attorneys, who argued in secret during a requested adjournment of court sessions scheduled for the morning.

The actress was allowed by a bench ruling to file a counter suit against Sherman. Prior to this action she merely was opposing his plea for a divorce.

Rumors around the courthouse were to the effect that both parties desired to avoid furnishing the public of Hollywood and elsewhere more testimony which bared the alleged literary tastes, habits and dispositions of the principals and re-

Accused Slayers Of Cattleman At Matador Indicted

MATADOR, Texas, May 10. (AP)—Mrs. Ruth McComas, divorcee, and her daughter were indicted here today for the ax murder of J. A. Cunningham, wealthy Motley county rancher.

Mrs. McComas, 31, free in $10,000 bail, and Edith McComas, the daughter, are expected here Wednesday from the home of their parents and grandparents at Graham. Edith, who said she is 13, is under $1,000 bond. They are expected to bring attorney and bondsmen.

The indictments naming the housekeeper for the elderly rancher and her daughter were voted about 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by a 110th district court grand jury. Neither had been served with the new warrants tonight.

Cunningham's head was mashed in with an ax on the morning of April 23, at his home. Mrs. McComas and her daughter reported at Matador to their attorney and through him surrendered to officers.

The first story told was that the daughter killed Cunningham when he attempted to criminally assault her. After additional questioning by District Attorney A. J. Folley, the mother declared she took Cunningham's life after an attempted assault on the child.

ALBERT LEBRUN LEADS FRANCE

Tardieu Cabinet Resigns After Selection

PARIS, May 10. (US)—Albert Lebrun, engineer by training but a practical Lorraine dirt farmer, today was elected 14th president of France, and in the same hour was threatened with the fate of assassinated Paul Doumer whom he succeeds.

Paul Painleve, former premier, stepped from Lebrun's path with the reported inducement of being asked to succeed Andre Tardieu as premier, with Edouard Herriot, former premier, as foreign minister, and Joseph Caillaux as minister of finance. Tardieu has been asked to accept a minor portfolio, but so far has declined.

Cabinet Resigns

Tardieu and his cabinet formally resigned tonight in a cabinet letter sent to the new president. Lebrun immediately began political conferences with party leaders in the new chamber of deputies to appoint a premier-designate, probably Herriot or Painleve.

Less than a hundred hours elapsed between the time Paul Gorguloff, Russian fanatic, fired the shots which ended Doumer's life, and the election of Lebrun in Versailles palace by the senate and retiring chamber of deputies in a riotous national assembly that scandalized Premier Andre Tardieu.

Battle in Chamber

Emile Boret, radical, hit a deputy who lost his legs in the war because they disagreed over the withdrawal of Paul Painleve from the presidential race. A dispute over election methods ended in Andre Bergot's slapping the face of Maurice Violette, former governor of Algeria.

As president Lebrun donned the dress suit and top hat brought along to Versailles by his valet, he revealed he had received a menacing letter threatening him with "the same fate as your predecessor." Police were advised, and a military guard was thrown around the president as he walked from the palace through the Salle des Bustes to a waiting limousine.

HOLMES TELLS OF FORMATION OF ETHICS CODE

Texas Company President Details Meetings Of Committee

DISCOUNTS INVOLVED

A. P. I. Suggested Adoption Of Regulations, Is Testimony Given

AUSTIN, May 10. (AP)—Steps leading to promulgation of a code of practices for marketing refined petroleum products, claimed by the state to be the instrument through which 15 oil companies and two petroleum associations conspired to monopolize gasoline and refined oil markets in Texas, were detailed here today by R. C. Holmes of New York, president of the Texas company.

Holmes appeared before a special commissioner for interrogation by Attorney General James V. Allred, his testimony to be read later in the trial of the suit brought by Allred to oust the defendants from Texas and collect penalties totaling $17,500,000. The state alleged the code violates Texas statutes prohibiting monopolies and agreements in restraint of trade.

Attended Meetings

Companies accepting the code were alleged by Allred to have done so in an effort to fix and maintain gasoline and lubricating oil prices and to eliminate competition.

Holmes testified he attended several meetings of the eastern code committee, of which he was chairman, at which the code was discussed. He stated department heads of the Texas company were asked to prepare a draft embodying provisions they believed should be included in a national practices code.

Allred read a report from this committee to Holmes in which H. W. Dodge, a vice president, dissented from the recommendations that the practice of allowing discounts for large quantity purchases be eliminated.

Dodge Dissents

Dodge was quoted in the report as stating the quantity discount was proper and should be recognized, that it was sound economically and should not be rejected by the petroleum industry.

Holmes testified he had no opinion on the discount and that he

Auto 'Kidnaping' Comes As Latest Racket Form

LOS ANGELES, May 10. (US)—Automobile kidnaping is the newest racket.

Fred Yule's car was stolen—or, as it now appears, was kidnaped—last Saturday. This morning an "auto wrecking company" telephoned that it would be wrecked unless he left $15 at a place to be designated in half an hour.

Although Yule had the ransom money ready and spent the day near his phone, there was no second call and tonight he was wondering if "Lizzie" has been dismembered.

Soldier Who Caught Mule Denied War Decoration

WASHINGTON, May 10. (US)—When an army mule kicks a soldier, even if the mule is in the camp of the enemy, it is not a war wound, the war department ruled today.

A veteran of the Spanish war applied for the decoration of the "Purple Heart." His arm was broken by a kick from a mule which he captured in the Porto Rican campaign. The department declined to make the award.

Huge Hailstones Kill 13 During India Storm

ALLAHABAD, India, May 10. (UP)—A fall of hailstones—some of which were reported to be nine inches in diameter—killed 13 persons and injured 120 others in villages surrounding Allahabad, official messages reported today.

Cattle were driven wild by the stones, which fell during a terrific thunderstorm. Some livestock jumped from cliffs and into wells, the messages said.

Doctors At Convention Back Away From Question Of Birth Control

NEW ORLEANS, May 10. (US)—The American Medical association today came face to face with the question of birth control—and balked.

The house of delegates voted against the naming of a board of experts to study this question.

Under the plan before the conference this proposed board was to investigate the subject for one year, then to report to the general organization. Then the general body was to decide by ballot whether or not it favored birth control.

Numerous papers on the subject had been prepared to be submitted to the sessions now being held here, and it was believed sentiment was fairly evenly divided.

Dr. Marie Pichel Levinson, assistant director of the New York Birth Control clinic, told the convention that more than 1,000 women apply monthly at the clinic for advice.

The convention formally opened tonight with Dr. E. Starr Judd of Rochester, Minn., president, in the chair. Dr. Edward H. Carey, president-elect, was formally installed and delivered his inaugural address.

Motherhood can now be determined in six weeks by use of the x-ray, doctors were told by Dr. A.

County Joins State In Naming Delegates For Speaker Garner

Continued Depression Charged to Republican Party and to President's Lack of Leadership; Charles I. Francis Offered as Temporary Chairman

Democrats of Wichita county, assembled Tuesday afternoon in their annual convention for the selection of delegates to the state convention, adopted unanimously resolutions vigorously upbraiding President Hoover and the Republican party as having caused current depression and panic by an administration described as "an utter failure, and devoid of leadership."

In common with practically every other county in the state, the convention instructed its delegates to vote for John N. Garner as the Democratic nominee for president.

Republican Favoritism

The Republican party was charged with having shown favoritism in the business world, and of having stifled wholesome competition in commercial enterprise. Adopted immediately after its reading by P. B. Cox, chairman of the resolutions committee, the measure pleads for a re-establishment of government of, by and particularly "for the people."

A second resolution presented by Judge Cox and adopted by the convention instructs the Wichita county delegation to the coming state meet to vote as a unit; to select a chairman who will cast this county's 19 votes for the delegation; and to support the candidacy of John N. Garner for president until his name is withdrawn, or until released from such pledge of support.

Charles I. Francis of this city was advanced in a third adopted resolution as a candidate for selection as temporary chairman of the state Democratic meeting at Houston on May 24. The action urged Mr. Francis' qualifications for the post, and asks the state committee to effect his selection for the task.

Delegates Named

Forty-four delegates to the state convention were named, although Wichita county will control but 19 votes in that body's deliberations. Nominations were made by a committee consisting of A. H. Carrigan, R. E. Huff, Tarlton Morrow, A. Loehoefener of Burkburnett, Tom J. Pace of Iowa Park, Ben G. Oneal, and Edward Schlaffke of Electra. Those named as delegates are Mrs. W. M. Moore, R. E. Huff, Ben G. Oneal, Ed Howard, J. T. Montgomery, Charles I. Francis, C. B. Felder, J. D. Parnell, P. B. Cox, E. C. DeMontel, Tarlton Morrow, G. H. Watson, C. K. Walsh, W. M. Moore, William N. Bonner, Bernard Martin, Bert King, C. J. Coffey, Guy Rogers, W. E. George, James V. Allred, Edgar Scurry, T. F. Hunter, A. H. Britain, J. B. Marlow, D. M. Perkins, R. J. Long, Larry Fitzgerald, Harvey Harris, Claude Miller, H. J. Flusche, C. P. Engelking, Edward Schlaffke, John Webb, R. S. Ragsdale, A. Loehoefener, W. F. Billingsley, J. H. Minter, C. C. Hudson, J. C. COUNTIES VOTE SOLIDLY FOR JOHN N. GARNER

Houston Raps Liquor Laws; Texarkana Proposes Vice President

(By The Associated Press)

Texas Democrats from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande went to their county conventions today and chose delegates to the state convention who will give its votes at Chicago to John Nance Garner.

Most of the counties reporting early named no second choice but asked that their state's delegates be instructed to vote for the speaker as long as his name is before the national presidential convention. Sentiment for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York as a second choice appeared, however, at a number of the county meetings.

Republicans Back Hoover

Republicans, likewise, held their county conventions, no less unanimous for President Hoover than the Democrats were for the speaker of the house of representatives.

The Democratic meetings presented a considerable variety of sentiment on other matters than the Garner candidacy. At Houston the Harris county convention adopted a resolution containing biting criticism of the national prohibition laws. The resolution came to the floor on a minority report after the majority of the resolutions committee had refused either to endorse or attack the country's liquor laws. A protest was made that a resolution taking either side might embarrass the Garner candidacy.

Patman Proposed

The re-election of Jed C. Adams as national committeeman and Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sevier as committeewoman received general endorsement.

Bowie county Democrats, meeting at Texarkana, advocated the nomination of Representative Wright Patman as vice president. Patman, leading congressional proponent of cash payment of the veterans' bonus, lives in Texarkana. Most of the conventions held no discussion of vice presidential possibilities, contending themselves with pledges of allegiance to Garner.

Speakers at the Bowie county meeting freely criticized Joe Robinson, of Arkansas, minority leader in the senate, for what they called departure from Democratic principles.

Wharton County Wet

Wharton county Democrats asked resubmission of the eighteenth amendment. The resolution carried unanimously.

Thomas B. Love, generalissimo of the prohibitionist insurrection which lost the state to Al Smith in 1928, came to grief at the Dallas county convention. He was left off the list

Racketeer Goes Free When Witness Fails to Appear

LOS ANGELES, May 10. (US)—When the prosecution reported the complaining witness could not be found, a grand theft charge against Tony La Argo, asserted Denver racketeer, was dismissed today in municipal court.

Police were said to have been unable to find Mrs. M. S. Gujer, who charged that La Argo stole her $500 ring. A bench warrant, charging contempt of court, was issued for the woman.

La Argo was first taken into custody last month when he was alleged to have attempted to extort tribute from operators of marble games.

Death Penalty Sought For Woman's Kidnapers

CHICAGO, May 10. (US)—Announcement that the death penalty will be asked was made today by the prosecution as the selection of a jury went forward in the trial of four persons accused of kidnaping Mrs. Georgia Gecht, wife of Dr. Max Gecht.

One of the defendants is Ward C. Swalwell, a former assistant state's attorney, who during his term prosecuted many criminals.

On trial with him are John Pingera, a reputed gang leader; Edward Finnen, and William Thomas. A ransom is understood to have been paid.

Garner Presented With Biography by Brown

WASHINGTON, May 10. (US)—Speaker John N. Garner today received an elaborately bound volume of his biography written by George Rothwell Brown.

Newsreel and "still" cameras clicked as Brown handed the book titled, "The Speaker of the House—The Romantic Story of John Nance Garner," to the speaker on the east steps of the capitol.

TEXACO CHIEF TELLS OF CODE

R. C. Holmes Testifies In Oil Ouster Case

submitted the recommendations of his officers to the regional committee.

Holmes was asked if the Texas company gave quantity discounts in Texas prior to adoption of the code. He answered that he didn't know.

Answers "Guilty"

Questioned relative to issuance of coupon books at a discount, Holmes testified he thought the Texas company was "guilty of this practice."

The report also showed Dodge objected to abandonment of coupon books, stating that it was his opinion a two per cent discount for cash should be allowed and that he felt the Texas company could greatly increase its business by using coupon books redeemable anywhere in the United States if the two per cent discount for cash in advance were allowed.

"There was nothing reprehensible about it, was there?" Allred asked.

Holmes replied that he did not regard it as a good practice.

Composite recommendations of the six regional committees were embodied in a report to the American Petroleum institute. After adoption of the report by the institute it was submitted for approval to the federal trade commission and the department of justice, Holmes testified.

A hearing on the code was held by the trade commission at St. Louis, Holmes testifying that the report of the commission member presiding showed that from 95 to 97 per cent of the marketers of gasoline were represented.

Suggested by A. P. I.

"What percentage of the buyers of gasoline in Texas were represented at the St. Louis conference?" Allred asked.

Immediate objection was raised by attorney for several other defendants but Holmes answered he had no judgment on that point.

In response to questions, Holmes stated he had no personal knowledge that any member or representatives of the federal commission had suggested to the oil industry that it adopt a national code of ethics, saying the proposal was submitted to the trade commission by the American Petroleum institute.

Lindbergh baby" and no there.

From other sources close to the inquiry, however, came the word which linked the wealthy New York woman with the investigation.

The two indictments returned today by a District of Columbia grand jury against the one-time government sleuth charged embezzlement and larceny after trust of money allegedly given Means, by Mrs. McLean, estranged wife of the Washington publisher.

It was said the justice department has been investigating the allegations concerning the New York woman for weeks; that Mrs. Shepherd and her family received threatening letters from individuals signing themselves "agents of Moscow," and that Means undertook, last winter, to furnish protection.

Means was meantime jauntily whiling away the hours in jail. Arrested last week after secret investigation of the McLean charges, he was taken before a United States commissioner. Failing to meet a $100,000 bond, he was escorted to jail. The superintendent of the jail says since then he has appeared "perfectly calm."

Republicans Commend Hoover And Name Delegates To State Meeting

Twenty-four delegates to the state Republican convention at Mineral Wells May 24 were chosen and resolutions of commendation were extended to President Hoover and Republican National Committeeman R. B. Creager of Brownsville by more than 75 precinct delegates present at the courthouse Tuesday afternoon for the annual county convention.

O. R. Hartt, temporary chairman, was elected permanent chairman of the convention immediately after assembly, and O. H. Maricle was made secretary. The heavy vote of 1930 on the Republican ticket in this county, Mr. Hartt said, gave the party the largest state representation it has ever had in Wichita county.

The following delegates were chosen: O. R. Hartt, J. H. Bentley, W. A. Browning, J. H. Weideman, Mrs. Mamie Dale, Mrs. Roy B. Jones, Roy B. Jones, W. L. Dalton, A. J. Wyler, P. A. McIntosh, Mrs. L. H. Gould, L. H. Gould, Ralph Maricle, J. A. Patton, F. E. Rose, Fred Reiser, A. C. King, W. W. Shuler, R. H. Collier, Harry Gray, L. V. Hull, B. B. Greever, J. C. Searl, O. H. Maricle.

Alternates named were Mrs. R. J. Goodale, John Bostic, Mrs. R. H. Collier, Mike Newman, J. A. Nott, Mrs. A. C. Henson, Mrs. J. H. Weidman, Mrs. O. P. Maricle, Mrs. Mel Peters, Mrs. Neeley Vaught, Mrs. A. N. Richardson, Hal Shirey, Al Ellis, Mrs. W. W. Shuler, Tom Smock, S. L. Bingham, Mrs. J. I. Izer.

The following resolution was adopted by the convention and forwarded to President Hoover by wire:

We, the Republicans of Wichita county, Texas, in convention assembled, send greetings and heartily endorse the administration of our president, Herbert Hoover, and the wise, heroic efforts he has made and is making for the purpose of alleviating the conditions existing in our country. That we believe it would be a great calamity to the people of the United States and of all other countries and nations of the world to have a change of administration at Washington during the next four years. That we most seriously condemn the actions and conduct of the members of congress who are so constantly impeding and obstructing every measure and means that the president and his loyal supporters are advancing and promulgating for the benefit of our depressed people.—Robert H. lins, W. W. Schuler, A. C. King, committee.

Resolutions commending the work of Orville Bullington and of Mr. Hartt were adopted by the convention, and the following resolution was forwarded after adoption to Mr. Creager:

"The Wichita county Republicans send greetings to you and most earnestly commend your honest and energetic service to the Republican party in Texas and the nation and denounce any derogatory statements from any individual or individuals who would resort to unfair measure to destroy your marvelous work and inspiration."

Helene Costello Granted Divorce

vealed other such intimate details as the well-stocked liquor cellar of the Sherman household.

At any rate, Miss Costello testified for two minutes and was a free woman.

Charged Nagging

Her husband was cruel and constantly nagged her, the actress said. In addition, according to her testimony, Sherman assumed such a superior manner toward her that she developed an "inferiority complex."

A sequel to the case came when Maury Cohen, faithful secretary to Sherman, gingerly packed 10 volumes of "spicy" books into a suitcase and carried the library from the courtroom. Sherman had listed the books as samples of the reading matter enjoyed by his wife.

Sherman had declared that in addition to drinking and reading "spicy" books, Miss Costello once struck his mother, and in addition, once struck him in the face with a dog whip. Another allegation by Sherman was that his wife became enraged on a night when he retired early and poured a cocktail on him while he was in bed.

The Costello-Sherman marriage was a big event in Hollywood a little more than a year ago.

Sherman is rated as one of the most successful actors and directors in films and Miss Costello, in addition to being an actress of note, is the daughter of Maurice Costello and the sister of Dolores Costello, wife of John Barrymore.

Hoover to Send Veto Of Tariff to Congress

WASHINGTON, May 10. (US)—President Hoover is expected to send to congress tomorrow a veto of the Democratic tariff bill.

This was learned tonight after the president conferred with Secretary of the Treasury Mills, Acting Secretary of State Castle and Secretary of War Hurley.

Although the conference was on the economy situation, it was understood the tariff bill was also discussed.

gation to the state convention shall recognize no proxies, but that voting shall be done by those present in person.

Immediately after the precinct delegates, numbering more than 100, had been seated, Bert King was elected permanent chairman and H. J. Bruce secretary of the convention. Appointment of resolutions and nominating committees by Mr. King followed.

Adjournment Halts Dispute

During the last half-hour of the meeting, lively exchanges of parliamentary repartee prevailed as efforts were made to charge Wichita county's delegation to the state meet with persistent support of one or more of its members as delegate to the national Democratic convention. A motion to adjourn, vigorously seconded, finally obtained the attention of the chairman and was carried.

Resolutions adopted were as follows:

"That whereas, the United States, a great republic, has been dominated and controlled by the Republican party for the past 12 years, during which time the country as a whole and the South and West in particular, are now suffering from an unprecedented panic and depression in all business, brought about directly from the announced policies of the Republican party under the present administration; and

Republicans Assailed

"Whereas, we believe that said depression and panic is the result directly of the principles of government advocated by the Republican party through its present nominal head Herbert Hoover, in his announced policy of combination of capital and the destruction of legitimate and wholesome competition in business, and favoritism shown to the few against the masses, and

"Whereas, the Democratic party has always stood for the rights of the masses of the people as against corporate combination and control by the few, and has advocated a government of the people, by the people and especially for the people;

"Now therefore be it resolved by the Democrats of Wichita county, in convention assembled, that we here offer our protest against the present Republican administration and its principals of administering our government and policy of favoritism;

"And we further condemn the administration of Herbert Hoover as being an utter failure and void of leadership that will be able to guide the ship of state out of this wilderness of depression and panic;

Pledge of Support

"We therefore again rededicate ourselves to the principles of democracy and the tenets of the Democratic party pledging to it our most hearty and loyal support in the coming campaign, and expressing our confidence in its leaders and calling upon our entire citizenship to stand true in this day and hour of distress to a party that has leadership backed by policies that will soon lead us back to prosperity and make this a happy and contented government as it was intended to be.

"Respectively submitted: P. B. Cox, chairman; J. T. Montgomery; Arch Dawson; E. C. Knox; C. P. Engelking; your committee on resolutions."

of delegates to the state convention and was defeated in an attempt to have the convention oppose the nomination of any one opposed to prohibition.

The Dallas county Democrats favored a Chicago delegation pledged to Garner with no second choice.

At Uvalde, Jack Garner's home town, an even dozen personal friends were named as delegates to the state convention and instructed to support him to the last ditch. The same loyalty was recommended for the delegates to the national convention.

ARCHER DEMOS NAME STATE DELEGATES

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, May 10.—Archer county's four votes at the Texas Democratic convention in Houston May 24 will be cast for John N. Garner, the county Democratic convention instructed today.

Precinct delegates to the county convention arrived at this decision with an unanimous vote. It also instructed unanimously that its delegates vote for Senator Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls as Democratic district delegate to Chicago.

Delegates to the state convention will be Thomas L. Looney, Charles L. Abercrombie, John H. Turbeville, and J. Sell Melugin.

J. D. Powell was named chairman of the county convention, and Louis K. Hyer, secretary.

CHILDRESS HONORS GENERAL HULEN

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, May 10.—The Democratic county convention this afternoon instructed delegates to the state Democratic convention to vote for delegates favorable to John N. Garner for president. There were no second choice instructions. Delegates also were instructed to vote for Gen. John A. Hulen as a delegate at large at the Chicago convention.

OHIO BACKS WHITE, W. VA. FOR ROOSEVELT

(By The Associated Press)

Early returns from yesterday's presidential primaries showed Gov. George White, Ohio's favorite son, running rough-shod over slight opposition for that state's 52 votes in the Democratic National convention.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, New York, well in the lead for the Democratic nomination, led Gov. William H. Murray, Oklahoma, 10 to 1 in the West Virginia preference contest.

White was assured of at least 43 of Ohio's 52 convention votes. The initial figures indicated he probably will get more.

Roosevelt's big lead over Murray in West Virginia virtually sewed up the state's 16 delegates for the New Yorker, who also was mentioned as a second choice to Speaker Garner in a number of county conventions in Texas.

In the Republican primaries, President Hoover appeared certain to gain most of Ohio's 55 convention votes and West Virginia's 19.

In state conventions, he picked up 24 instructed delegates from Tennessee and nine uninstructed but claimed from Wyoming.

Early returns gave David S. Ingalls, Cleveland, assistant secretary of the navy and an advocate of repeal of prohibition, a 5 to 4 lead over his nearest opponent—Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, a dry—for the Ohio Republincan gubernatorial nomination.

Another prohibition liberal, Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, had a lead of 8 to 5 over Louis J. Taber, master of the national grange and a dry, for the Ohio Republican senatorial nomination.

After a conference at the capitol yesterday with Speaker Garner, William G. McAdoo, a leader in the Texan's successful contest in California, reiterated to newspaper men that Garner was the logical choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Traylor Mentioned

Melvin A. Traylor re-entered the Democratic dark horse ring with a prediction by Mayor Cermak of Chicago, Illinois party leader, that the Illinois delegation of 58 would favor the Chicago banker as second choice, with Senator James Hamilton Lewis first. Roosevelt leaders had laid claim to more than half the Illinois delegation as second choice.

WILBARGER VOTES FOR SPEAKER GARNER

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, May 10.—Wilbarger county's delegates to the state Democratic convention will vote to support Speaker John Garner as the party's nominee for president. They were so instructed at the county convention held here this afternoon, and no mention was made of a second choice.

Complete harmony prevailed and all delegates took the loyalty pledge.

Delegates to the state convention were named as follows: Cecil Storey, W. N. Stokes, R. H. Coffey, R. H. Nichols, S. J. Dotson, T. L. Rouse, S. L. Page, W. T. Collins, J. S. Mason, T. M. McClendon, O. T. Warlick, Harry Mason, John Storey, O. O. McCurdy, C. S. D. McColloch, Jack McClendon, W. D. Berry, E. P. Robertson and W. I. Stephens.

PLAINS COUNTIES SUPPORT GARNER

Democratic conventions in county seats of the plains district went as solidly for Speaker John N. Garner as did his own South Texas district, Associated Press reports to The Record News showed.

Throckmorton county tossed a bouquet to Congressman Wright Patman of Texarkana by pledging him support as the running mate of Garner, whom the delegation will support. The unit vote will rule the delegation.

Jones county instructed for Garner "as long as his name remains before the convention," but chose no second. Delegations from Knox and Stonewall counties also were instructed for Garner.

County groups instructing all votes for Garner included Lubbock, Hale, Lynn, Motley and Hockley. Garza Democrats meeting at Post did not instruct their two delegates. Floyd county party leaders at Floydada instructed for Garner, with Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York as second choice.

Doctors Balk At Birth Control

Jerome Thomas, Louisiana radiologist, who has set aside all established medical theories in this subject.

Simple diet and dodging of all strenuous reducing methods were urged by Dr. F. H. Wiley and Dr. L. H. Newburgh of the University of Michigan. Eschewing starches and a moderate amount of exercise will do the job.

Prof. Lafayette Mendel of Yale university declared the so-called 18-day diet has done more harm than good. The human body, he says, requires 2,500 calories daily and this may be safely cut down only on the advice of a competent physician.

The use of laxatives in the early stages of appendicitis and prolonged delay in having necessary operations performed have taken a heavy toll of life, the doctors were told. Appendicitis operations have been simplified until they are no more painful or dangerous than tonsilectomy, it was declared.

Steady progress is being made in combating infantile paralysis, Dr. Lewis Pollock of Chicago, Dr. William Park of New York, Dr. Willis Campbell, of Memphis, and Dr. Arthur Allen of Boston, told the general session today.

The convention regarded as highly important the news that a Denver company mining vanadium has been finding from eight to 10 milligrams of radium in each ton of ore. Already 800 milligrams have been extracted. Dr. Sanford Withers said that with the new American supply he believed radium soon would be available at from $50 to $60 per milligram, a marked reduction.

Local Deaths

HUGH REED

Funeral services for Hugh Reed, 54, will be held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Bowman cemetery, south of Lake Wichita with the Merkle Undertaking company in charge of arrangements. Mr. Reed died at his home, Lakeview farm, at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. The widow and four children survive.

AKRON PASSES OVER EL PASO

Ship Wins All Day Battle With Texas Weather

in the forward control car and the small and square windows of the cabins inside the dirigible were lined with strained and anxious faces. At times the Akron swooped to within a few hundred feet of the ground.

Practically the entire population of Toyah was in the brush tonight searching with flares and lanterns for the messages.

Communication Poor

Radio communication with the dirigible was disrupted shortly after noon today by static and electrical storms.

In the Guadalupe mountains peaks jutting up six, seven and eight thousand feet menaced the queen of the skies and the winds that scream and roar continually through the rock canyons provide a deadly menace even in fair weather and daylight.

All during the day the huge air cruiser had followed a slow and circuitous course over the ranch lands of the Big Bend country, turning this way and that like a hound on a cold scent. Radio communication, impeded by static, was kept with army flying stations at El Paso and San Antonio.

Passes El Capitan

The course of flight indicated the Akron would follow the airway over the range south of El Capitan, a peak of 8,700 feet elevation. It would be possible to pass through a gap in the range of about 6,000 feet elevation.

This morning impossible flying weather greeted the ship as it approached the range. Visibility increased to zero and low clouds forced the ship to reverse its course.

Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl reported to navy headquarters at Washington at midday that the crossing had been impeded by an "impenetrable line of thunderstorms and zero visibility so far today."

Constant calls for weather data were received by Texas radio stations. The transmission of this information to the Akron was interrupted by static and it became necessary to resort to radio telephone to insure correct sending of messages.

Critical Situation

The situation facing the Akron became acute last night when the ship reached San Angelo. She was faced with terrific electrical storms and zero visibility ahead.

Radios were sent the ship today from various points of readiness to assist in grounding her should that be necessary. Rosendahl, however, answered that no such plan was contemplated.

Instead the airship is seeking a way through the storm to fairer weather beyond, then a dash to the mooring mast at the Sunnyvale field, near San Francisco.

MONCADA IRES SANDINO AIDE

Speech of Nicaragua Head Draws Denunciation

MEXICO CITY, May 10. (AP)—Dr. Edro Jose Zepeda, foreign representative of General Augustino Sandino, Nicaraguan insurgent leader, denounced today a speech made yesterday by President Jose Moncada of Nicaragua in which the president declared Nicaragua was for Nicaraguans and not for United States marines.

"The United States should be proud of the utterances of this man who has only been kept in power by marine rifles and airplanes," Dr. Zepeda said. "Now he is moved by political expediency to denounce even the marines."

Zepeda said that President Moncada, Sandino and himself once fought together to end the Diaz dictatorship in Nicaragua.

"When we were victorious," he said, "Diaz rushed to America for more intervention. Colonel, now Secretary of State Henry Stimson, came down to investigate and bought off Moncada with promises of power and money.

Sandino Fled

"Sandino, the only Moncada general who refused to be duped in this infamous negotiation, managed to gain the hills and for five years has campaigned against American intervention and Moncada's despotism.

"Millions of American dollars and hundreds of American lives have been wasted in Nicaragua. Much of Latin America's intense dislike for the United States, which translated into commercial channels has materially reduced American commerce with her Latin neighbors, can be traced squarely to American activities against the Nicaraguan people.

"It is high time some one in the United States became aware of the disastrous Nicaraguan folly."

Munday Farmer Makes Profit From Egg Sideline

Special to The Record News.

MUNDAY, Texas, May 10.—A. J. Bunts, Munday farmer, is one who is prepared to sign a testimonial to the profits in eggs, even at six cents a dozen.

Bunts last year sold 35,000 eggs on the regular produce market and this year expects to market more than 60,000, he asserted. Egg production is wholly a sideline to the operation of his farm.

His first attempts with eggs as a sideline was in 1925, he related. Since he has maintained an average flock of about 400 white Leghorns which he culls daily. He deals wholly with eggs, not even producing his own replacements for the flock.

Lack Of Home Training Blamed By Texas Police For Crime Conditions

SAN ANTONIO, May 10. (AP)—Lack of proper home training and prevalent general environmental conditions are basic causes of crime today, in the opinion of Texas peace officers.

In an informal round table discussion of the principal reasons for crime in this country, the officials of the Chiefs of Police and City Marshals union of Texas were inclined today to both agree and disagree with the 1931 report of the National Probation association.

"The churches are doing their level best and should be given all the cooperation in the world," said Chief of Police L. T. Robey of El Paso, president of the union.

"The trouble is with the kids themselves," said Superintendent of Police Percy Heard of Houston, second vice president of the Texas peace officers organization.

"I believe it all goes back to their home training and the stuff they see and hear these days," said Carl E. Kennedy, chief of police at Beaumont.

The police authorities are attending the 34th annual convention of the Chiefs of Police and City Marshals union of Texas.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, May 10. (AP)—The Perkins La Gasse No. 1 well in the field west of Corpus Christi, which has been running wild since it blew out last Thursday, had virtually subsided today. Operators believed it would kill itself. The well was a gasser.

To Wed

Martha Fall, 18, granddaughter of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, gave up a movie career to become a reporter and now is going to give up reporting to become the bride of Allen M. Hunter, shown with her above. Both work on El Paso, Texas, papers. "I may continue to work after I'm married," she says. "It won't take me long to cook all I know about." She expects her grandfather, [illegible] to be released from prison, to attend the wedding if his health permits.

Reputed Capone Aide Convicted of Conspiracy

CHICAGO, May 10. (INS)—Dan Serritella, reputed Capone henchman and former city sealer, today was found guilty by a jury of conspiracy.

Serritella's co-defendant, Harry Hochstein, deputy sealer, was also found guilty of plotting to short-weight housewives of thousands of dollars worth of food purchased at local markets.

The jury left the penalty to be decided by the court. Judge James J. Kelly set May 20 to hear motions for appeal and to pass sentence.

THREE INJURED

LUFKIN, Texas, May 10. (AP)—A truck collision on the highway eight miles south of Lufkin today caused the injury of three men. T. P. Sharpe, driver of one of the trucks, suffered a broken arm. Roy Jackson, negro, received a broken leg. James Williams, negro, was bruised. Lloyd Carter, driver of the other truck, escaped injury.

FIGHT STOPS REICH SESSION

Nazi Is Peaceful While Groener 'Pops Off'

BERLIN, May 10. (AP)—Gregor Strasser, a national Socialist member outlined in the reichstag today the details of Adolf Hitler's unemployment program. It was a friendly speech and it looked as though at last the Nazis had decided to temper their opposition to the government.

Then, toward the end of its second peaceful day, the session blew up in a fight.

Wilhelm Groener, the minister of defense, made a vigorous speech to justify his order dissolving the Nazi storm troops.

"If it hadn't been for the storm troops," he shouted, "we would have had peace long ago."

Whereupon Strasser leaped to his feet and demanded that the reichstag be suspended long enough for the cabinet to determine "whether such a man as that is fit to head the defense ministry."

The chairman ordered him out of the hall. Strasser refused to go.

The session was suspended until peace could be restored.

Auto Dealer Indicted in Death of Wife and Child

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 10. (AP)—Stanley A. Puryear, Memphis automobile dealer, was indicted by the grand jury today for the murder of his wife and the fatal shooting of a negro he accused of hacking them to death with an ax.

Mrs. Puryear, 34, and Aurelia, 8, were slain as they slept in their home here May 2. Puryear blamed the attacks on Will Jamison, a negro, he fatally wounded.

The dying negro told officers he knew nothing of the attacks and said he was lured to Puryear's home on the promise he would be paid $3 for moving a cache of whisky.

RUPTURE
SHIELD EXPERT HERE

H. M. SHEVNAN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Holt Hotel, Wichita Falls, Saturday, Sunday and Monday only, May 14, 15 and 16, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Mr. Shevnan says: The Zoetic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly but increases the circulation, strengthens the weakened parts, thereby closes the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume no matter the size or location. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fit them if desired.

New Officers Installed By County Medical Auxiliary

Mesdames M. M. Walker, W. L. Parker, Geo. T. Singleton and W. L. Tyson were hostesses at a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Wichita County Medical association, when new officers were installed for the 1932-33 session. Mrs. T. P. Lynch, retiring president, made a gracious talk when she presented Mrs. Geo. T. Singleton, the incoming president and the corps of officers who will serve with her. Mrs. Lynch expressed her thanks for the cooperation given her and asked that the members of the auxiliary stand as loyally by Mrs. Singleton. Mrs. Singleton responded beautifully.

Officers who were installed with Mrs. Singleton, include Mrs. Q. B. Lee, vice president; Mrs. J. B. Nail, recording secretary; Mrs. M. A. Beckman, corresponding secretary and Mrs. W. P. Lowry, treasurer.

A report of the state meeting held in Waco was given by Mrs. W. L. Parker and various committees gave their reports.

Chairmen named included Mrs. William Rosenblatt, publicity; Mrs. Carrie Wilcox, membership; Mrs. L. B. Holland, purchasing; Mrs. J. E. Kanatser, telephone; Mrs. T. C. Lynch, physical examination; chest clinic committee, Mesdames Charles Hartsook, R. E. Hilburn, R. L. Hargrave and T. P. Lynch; yearbook committee, Mesdames Q. B. Lee, H. P. Ledford and H. D. Prichard; historian, Mrs. Carl Mangum and parliamentarian, Mrs. Gordon Clark of Iowa Park.

At the close of the business session, Mrs. J. E. Hall, accompanied by Miss Annette Walsh, played three beautiful violin numbers.

A delicious ice course was served to Mesdames W. L. Parker, M. M. Walker, Geo. T. Singleton, William Rosenblatt, T. P. Lynch, O. B. Kiel, Curtis Atkinson, Charles Hartsook, H. D. Prichard, Henrietta, T. W. Williams, Russell, Everett Jones, J. D. Hall, R. L. Hargrave, M. A. Beckman, Carrie Wilcox, Clark A. Wilcox, O. T. Kimbrough, W. P. Lowry, F. R. Collard, H. P. Ledford, L. Expert Answers Dinner Questions

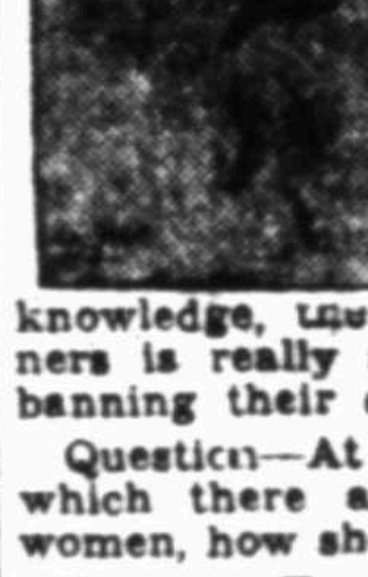
By EMILY POST

Question—Is it really bad manners to discuss religion or politics or both at a dinner party?



Answer—It depends entirely upon how and with whom it is done. Both subjects are discussable by people of open mind and tact. Neither should be touched upon by the illiberal or the uninformed, and since many of these are unaware of their bigotry, or their lack of knowledge, the rule of good manners is really a rule of safety in banning their discussion.

Question—At a dinner party in which there are more men than women, how should they be seated?

Answer—Two men or two women whom the hostess knows best are seated together. Or if the number be seated between a woman and another man. (Or each woman is seated between a man and another woman).

Question—When is it proper to have a bell on the table?

Answer—At the family table, or at any very informal meal. In this day of electricity, almost every one prefers a bush button under the table top. The bell on the table was the only alternative to calling "James!" or "Mary!" Now a silent bell is better than one that sounds at table.

Question—When you invite to a formal dinner people who live in the suburbs, should a dressing room be provided in which the ladies could change their clothes?

Answer—It would be well to supply one if you can, especially if you know they are arriving by train. But most suburbanites (I think) are apt to dress at home if they arrive in a closed car. Place should be provided for all women guests to smooth their hair and powder their noses.

Livestock Exchange Wants Commissions Cut

KANSAS CITY, May 10. (AP)—Proposed reductions of 10 to 16 per cent in commission charges have been submitted by the Kansas City livestock exchange to the United States department of agriculture for its approval.

John B. Gage, attorney representing the commission men, said the proposed reductions should represent an annual saving to shippers of about $250,000.

Before the new rates can become effective they must be approved by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and the packer and stockyards administration of the department of agriculture.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

"The lure and love of good music," said D. L. Cornetet of Chicago, speaking at the dinner marking the opening membership drive for the North Texas Civic Music association Monday evening, "is never measured by depleted bank accounts."

Walter Cline, at the same dinner, told of music heard in European cities but reached the hearts of the audience when he spoke of the skylark that sang for Mrs. Cline's particular delectation on a May evening beside one of the beautiful lakes of England.

Walter Robbins, who was informally called on for music, sang "Thank God for a Garden," and "Bird Songs at Eventide." And while beauty of music was being stressed here, a number of the city's most representative women were in Mineral Wells attending a garden club conference—a conference the project of which is to make beauty a mental, moral and spiritual asset to Texans.

While Mrs. J. F. Lyons of Fort Worth, a worker for music for more than 25 years, and Mr. Cornetet spoke of the cultural value of beauty, I kept thinking how much beauty in any form means to man. Periods such as the world has known for the past two years demand a spiritual resource upon which to rest; beauty is an intangible value as that resource.

While I listened to the story of Mrs. Cline's skylark, I wondered if its song was much more beautiful than that of a mockingbird I heard Monday morning. Yet of all the birds' notes I know, nothing touches so responsive a chord in me as the sweet, lonely call of the meadow lark.

I know riches in only one way; the value of beauty. And while these riches will not buy bread nor pay bills, their virtue lies in keeping a soul alive. Music and pictures, flowers and trees, sunsets and clouds, books, characters and spirits; these things are life savers when more material blessings fail.

One of the greatest compliments I ever have, is when some one who does not know me personally, calls me to come see a spot that is particularly lovely. "Not," they will insist, "to write about it, but because I know from reading your column, how much you love beauty."

In such manner I have seen gardens that affect me like music; that bring a lump into my throat and a mist into my eyes; such things should make any one a better person.

I have an old and dear friend whom you may know—one Charles Lamb. (Strange that this most beloved writer was never dubbed Charlie). His letters are delightful things, overflowing with the quaint beauty of his character and never striving to hide his faults.

When I heard Walter Cline speak of the skylarks in English Maytime, my memory flashed back to a sentence in one of Lamb's letters. "Shelley," he wrote, "the great atheist, has gone down in water to eternal fire." Merely an item of news that he wrote to a country friend, at the time Shelley was drowned.

Yet Shelley "the great atheist," could write,

"Hail to thee blithe spirit!
Bird thou never wert,
That from heaven or near it,
Poured thy full heart—

Teach me half the gladness
That thy brain must know—"

Austin Mothers Close Programs For Club Year

The closing program of the Austin Parent-Teacher Study club was given Tuesday morning when a study of "Health" concluded the series of lessons on "Home Economics." Mrs. E. H. Jackson, who had charge of the program, gave a paper on "The Home Medicine Chest," in which she recommended through equipment and simple remedies to be ready at all times. "Its purpose," she said, "is to aid in the maintenance and recovery of the health of the family and it should be kept in such order that supplies may be easily found when needed."

Mrs. O. D. Scott discussed "Home Prescriptions and Patent Medicines," stressing the danger of such usage. Such methods she said may hide symptoms which help a physician in diagnosis.

A round table discussion followed the program.

Mrs. Martin Smith expressed thanks for the flowers and gifts sent her son in a recent illness.

A resume of the able speakers of the past year was given and in closing the program, Mrs. E. H. Ames, chairman, invited all members to be her guests at a party Tuesday afternoon, May 17 at her home on Thirteenth street.

Members present included Mesdames J. B. King, E. H. Jackson, O. F. Bagwell, C. A. Vaught, E. H. Ames, G. T. Henderson, Reese Carter, O. D. Scott, W. L. Underwood, Martin Smith and Ray Keith.

CAPE COLLARS ARE SMART
Pattern 2323
Step-by-Step Instruction Diagrams Given With This Pattern
By ANNE ADAMS

Every cape collar we see has a line or ripple that is different from the preceding one. Here is one that starts at each side of a slender vestee, falls gracefully over the shoulders and across the back. The skirt seaming is unusual, too, and extremely flattering to the figure. This model is ideal for one of the lovely sheer cottons in vogue . . . lawn, dimity, voile, shantung . . . or in silk. Sleeves are included.

Pattern 2323 is obtainable only in sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 42. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 36-inch fabric, ⅛ yard contrasting.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

Program Honors New And Old Officers Of Forum

More than 170 guests attended the May breakfast at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Tuesday morning when incoming and outgoing officers and chairmen of the club departments and committees were honored with one of the most artistic annual events ever celebrated in the forum annals. Decorations were a novel achievement; at each end of the stage stood a stately rose tree and the long tables were a reminder of a May rose garden with potted trees covered with pink roses at stated intervals. Roses and ferns veiled the footlights.

The program, presented by Mrs. E. L. Fulton, chairman of the drama department, was a triumph in music, dance and reading. Mrs. Fulton, speaking in her beautifully modulated voice, stated that spring was the motif of the program and eternal youth would be marked in the numbers. She named the numbers to be given by Miss Erie Ward, an artist in musicianship, as "Ala Mazurka," by Nemerosky, and Percy Granger's "Country Garden." In pretty words, she described the dance to be given by Mrs. Anna Mae Cato Davis, with the music from the Nut-Cracker Suite, when as Pan, he danced to the weakening songs of the birds, and after a short interlude, danced again to the challenge of bird notes until finally tired out, Pan slept. Mrs. Ella Merle Mathis Bristol, who was to give the last number on the program in her interpretation of Barrie's immortal "Peter Pan," needed no introduction, Mrs. Fulton stated. Her work as a teacher was stressed as outstanding and her ability as a reader marked as unusual. Mrs. Carl Edwards, accompanist was presented as a new artist in musical circles of Wichita Falls.

Exquisite Program

A ripple of applause went through the audience when the curtains showed the beautiful stage setting. Mrs. Edna Prechel Brandeaux was responsible for an effect that suggested a Japanese etching. Mrs. Walter Campbell managed the lovely lighting effect. Miss Ward's two numbers were given with true and beautiful interpretation by the charming artist.

Anna Mae Cato Davis in the dance created from the inspiration of Pan in which two rhythms from the Nut-Cracker suite were used, presented as exquisite a bit of artistry as has ever been shown in Wichita Falls. Mrs. Edwards was a magical accompanist and the notes whistled by Marion Reesby were clear and liquid as those of real birds. The second motif of the dance closed with the plaintive notes of the whip-poor-will as Pan wearied from the day, fell asleep.

Mrs. Bristol, before presenting her charming rendition of Peter Pan, gave a synopsis of the play and of actresses who have chosen it. She carried the many characters with consummate art, reaching the height of talent probably in her adorable expression of the motherliness of "Wendy." Through the two acts, Mrs. Bristol held her audience with the charm of her work. There were touches of pathos which she emphasized in the "lost boys, who never heard bedtime stories"; in the loneliness of the "Never Never Land"; in the jealousy of the fairy Tinklebell; in the poignant memory which Peter Pan expressed when he spoke of the mother from whom he ran away because he wished never to grow up, and the windows which he found barred when he made a homesick trip home. The purely imaginative and eternally youthful phase of Barrie's play was perfectly expressed.

Presidents Honored

Mrs. T. T. T. Reese, who was general chairman of arrangements for the May breakfast, after the invocation given by Mrs. M. T. Clements, presented as toast mistress, Mrs. T. A. Hicks, whom she paid the high compliment of calling a reliable "pinch hitter." Mrs. Hicks justified the commendation in the charming manner in which she presented the honor guests of the occasion and carried through the session.

Guests were introduced from Fort Worth, Dallas, Electra, Bowie, Bellevue, Henrietta, Olney, Graham, San Angelo, Cameron, Waco and Denison. Attention was called to the art exhibit on the walls by the art exhibit chairman, Mrs. C. W. Snider. Mrs. Reese named the committee who had made the charming decorations and luncheon program possible; Mrs. James P. Bowen had charge of the publicity; Mrs. G. D. Fox and A. N. Lummus of telephones; the decoration committee working with Mrs. Reese included Mesdames R. D. Kennedy, T. R. Boone, E. B. Carver, T. M. Conrey, Claude B. Woods, H. T. Woods, C. Y. Tully, Ola G. Hamlin, C. W. Snider, W. P. Killingsworth and C. W. Gilliland. Mrs. Brandeaux was given praise for the stage decorations.

Mrs. Hicks stated that May meant many things to many pepole; that in her neighborhood, it meant a maypole dance for the children; fishing for the men, but for the women, it always meant the May breakfast. She gave a short resume of the work of the various presidents and presenting Mrs. W. N. Maer, retiring president, said that to her, the most beautiful word in the Bible was understanding and she felt that understanding had been the key note of Mrs. Maer's two years' work as president. "With all her calm, her dignity, her heritage," Mrs. Hicks said, "she has given herself freely to the forum."

Mrs. Maer's response was a tribute to the forum and its ideals, which she believed had been attained. Stating that she considered it an honor to have served two years as president, she said "I would not take anything for the contacts I have made from being president of the most outstanding woman's organization in Northwest Texas." She closed her talk with a plea that the incoming officer, Mrs. Guy Rogers, should be given the same support that had been given her. "The credit for the success of the past two years," Mrs. Maer said," goes to the interested and enthusiastic officers and not to me."

Mrs Hicks made a charming presentation of Miss Mary Virginia Barron, president of the Junior Forum, and of the sponsor, Mrs. P. P. Langford. Miss Barron gave the report that won the honor of representing the district in the next state conference, which was made in the recent district conference. The junior work was outlined; contributions enumerated; club extension work and social activities named. Social service work done was given in detail, with the programs of the year; the announcement made in conclusion was that after paying all bills, the junior forum had in the treasury $155.92 and intended to present the senior organization with a gift from that amount.

Mrs. Rogers Honored

Officers and chairman of departments and standing committees in the past year were named and then Mrs. Hicks presented the new ship on which the forum will sail for the coming season, the "Rogers ship," stating that there was not a forum member who would not sail with the new president. Her poise, intellect, executive ability and courage were mentioned as a few of the characteristics which will make Mrs. Guy Rogers an ideal leader.

In her response, Mrs. Rogers said she had enjoyed already two years of service as program chairman and that she understood how difficult it would be to follow Mrs. Maer, who in the first place was so good to look at; who was so full of graciousness and of friendship. She stressed the honor she felt in being chosen as president of the most outstanding cultural asset of Wichita Falls and said that with the backing of a conscientious board of directors, of a sympathetic executive board, of an interested group of affiliated clubs and the support of all the members, she was not afraid to give her time to the presidency.

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal was presented by Mrs. Hicks to toast the incoming president and gave a beautiful talk, stating that she paused between hopes and memories; hopes being always elusive, but memories something always with one. Her tribute to Mrs. Rogers was touching in expression and at its close, Mrs. Oneal presented a message of flowers from members of the Travel club, to the third president that body had given the Woman's Forum. Mrs. Rogers response was heartfelt.

Concluding the presentation of officers, Mrs. Rogers named officers for 1932-33. Serving with her as president will be Mrs. J. C. Mytinger, first vice president; Mrs. Raymond Myers, second vice president; Mrs. C. D. Shamburger, third vice president; Mrs. J. Truman Stevens, fourth vice president; Mrs. Bernard Martin, fifth vice president; Miss Clara Schulz, recording secretary; Mrs. Newton Maer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Claude B. Woods, parliamentarian. Chairmen of standing committees are Mrs. Sam Acton, yearbook; extension, Mrs. Marvin Smith; telephone, Mrs. W. W. Fraser; insurance, Mrs. C. Joline; affiliated clubs, Mrs. C. A. Spragins; taxes and finance, Mrs. Ben G. Oneal; reciprocity, Mrs. Frank Creighton; distinguished guests, Mrs. R. A. King; clubhouse grounds, Mrs. Peyton Gwynn, and tickets, Mrs. O. W. Harvey.

Department chairmen were named as follows: General chairman, Mrs. G. D. Anderson; civic, Mrs. O. W. Harvey; literature, Mrs. C. N. Alexander; drama, Mrs. John B. Rhea; music, Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis; writers, Mrs. James P. Bowen; garden club, Mrs. Peyton Gwynn; junior forum, Miss Mary Virginia Barron, president, and Mrs. P. P. Langford, sponsor; flower show, the Garden club.

Telegrams were read from members who had not failed to attend the May breakfast before this year and Mrs. W. W. Cook announced a book review of "The Mother" to be given by Mrs. Anna Witherspoon at the First Methodist church Saturday, March 14, at 3 o'clock. The proceeds will go to the scholarship and loan fund of the A. A. U. W. under whose sponsorship the review will be given.

"It's too quaint the way Beth gets runs in her stockings"
"Wouldn't you think she'd learn the right way of washing?"*

The LUX way to make stockings wear

LUX for stockings
2 minutes a day keeps them like new

DO YOU know why the Lux way of washing doubles stocking wear?

It's because Lux is made to preserve elasticity. That's the "live" quality that makes stockings give under strain. Stretch and then spring right back again.

If you wash away elasticity, then the delicate threads break under strain, starting ruinous runs. Or they sag, causing wrinkles, snaky seams!

Just toss your stockings in Lux suds each night and see how beautifully they always fit and what a long time they wear!

SEWELL HEADS PARK LIONS

Election of Officers Held At Meeting Tuesday

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, May 10.—Curtis Sewell will head the Iowa Park Lions club as president during the coming year. Mr. Sewell and other officers were elected at the regular meeting of the club here today.

Other officers named to serve with the new president are Dr. Gordon G. Clark, first vice president; Rev. Cicero B. Fielder, second vice president; Joe Taugman, third vice president; N. E. Waldie, secretary-treasurer and press reporter; C. C. Hudson, tail twister; and W. R. Bradford, lion tamer.

James A. Griffin is retiring president. D. L. Bradford served the club last year as secretary-treasurer.

Harry Hines of Wichita Falls was a speaker at the meeting today. He talked on preparations for civic music week.

'Penguin' Murder Case Investigation Reopened

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., May 10. (US)—District Attorney Alexander G. Blue of Suffolk county announced today that he has reopened the investigation into the death of Benjamin P. Collins, beaten and thrown overboard from his cruiser, the Penguin, in Long Island sound on the night of last Sept. 9. Collings' body was found a week later on the beach near Lloyd's Neck.

Blue would not reveal the reason for reopening the investigation, but it was known that a speedboat owned by Albert Henig, who has a summer home at Centerport, was raised from a spot near the scene of the drowning. The boat, which disappeared a short time before the murder, had been filled wit hheavy stones and sunk. It was believed county authorities linked the boat with the Collings case.

Methodists Drop Phrases In Marriage Ritual

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 10. (US)—Two important changes in phraseology of the marriage ritual and one in the burial service was recommended today to the Methodist Episcopal general conference.

The commission on revision of the ritual reported it would drop from the marriage service the phrase "with my worldly goods I thee endow" and the minister's charge to those present to make known any reason why the ceremony should not be performed.

The audit will cover the fiscal year for the Vernon city administration ending March 31. The local firm will begin work on the contract in 10 days.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUITS CONTAIN IRON AND VITAMIN B

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit Certified for Food Value by Philadelphia Laboratory

Local grocers are featuring an improved shredded biscuit which contains both iron and Vitamin B. Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are made by a special process known as "pressure-cooking," which retains the full food value of the whole wheat. In fact, the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia certifies each package. "Pressure-cooking" likewise gives the biscuits a finer flavor and makes it easier to digest.

The new Kellogg's biscuits are also toasted on both top and bottom—not just one side. Naturally, they are much crisper and tastier, as well as more appetizing in appearance.

The biscuits are likewise a more convenient, economical size—two just fit the cereal bowl. And there are 15 to the package instead of the usual dozen.

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are very popular for breakfast—and are finding increasing favor for lunch, children's suppers and late snacks. Especially enjoyable with fruits or sweetened with honey.

You can easily identify this improved cereal by the name, Kellogg's, and the familiar red-and-green package. Sold by grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

IGNORED... because of her PIMPLY SKIN

End pimples, blackheads
—with quick-acting medicated cream

No girl can be attractive to men if her skin is blemished. Why miss the admiration and good times that are your right?

There is a real scientific way to correct disfiguring skin faults. Ordinary creams and lotions won't do it. But Noxzema will! 6,000,000 women know it as the medical way to skin beauty.

This greaseless, white, medicated cream is much more than a face cream. It combines penetrating antiseptics that reach to the bottom of the pores and purge away all clogging, festering, poisonous matter—and soothing balms that heal, soften, refine the course, irritated skin surface.

For years Noxzema has been prescribed even in severe skin conditions. Nurses, seeing what wonders it worked, adopted Noxzema as their own beauty protector and recommended it to others. Try Noxzema yourself and see how much clearer, smoother, finer your skin can become while you sleep.

Apply Noxzema at bedtime, after removing make-up. (Greaseless—will not stain). In the morning you will see natural, wholesome skin loveliness beginning to emerge—disfiguring pimples, blackheads, large pores, oiliness or other skin faults noticeably improved. Use Noxzema also as a powder base and to make rough red hands soft and white.

Get a small inexpensive jar of Noxzema today at any drug or department store.

ARCHER WELL MAKES 1,000

Fain-McGaha No. C-1 Is Best in New Pool

Drilling four feet into the richest kind of sand topped at 1783 feet, Fain & McGaha company's No. C-1 fee in block 2, league 3, Denton county school lands in north Archer county, came in late Monday night with an initial output estimated at 1,000 barrels.

The well, which is the third completion in this recently discovered deep horizon, in addition to its being the premier producer, is located one quarter of a mile east of No. 1 fee, the discovery well which came in about six weeks ago making 800 barrels, and its completion will give a considerable extension to the producing area of the pool.

When put on the swab in a period of four hours 201 barrels was produced, the well flowing by heads half way up the derrick. Later when swabbing ceased the well began flowing steadily.

NORTHEAST OF GRAHAM

The King Royalty-Windfohr No. 1 C. L. Lowe, a deep test located in block 15, section 3412, T. E. & L. survey in south Young county, is drilling at a depth of 3545 feet.

NORTHEAST OF ARCHER CITY

Minton and associates putting down a wildcat test, their No. 1 L. F. Wilson, located between the Hutchinson & Chalk Hill pools in Archer county, block 121, A. T. N. C. L. survey, is drilling at 1320 feet.

SOUTH OF CHALK HILL

Falls Refining company No. 1 L. F. Wilson, a deep test located in block 119, A. T. N. C. L. survey in the territory one-half mile south of the Lindsay Drilling company's production in Archer county, is drilling at 1795 feet.

SOUTH OF OLNEY

Goldsmith & Clark No. 2 J. R. Wilson in southeast corner of west half of section 162, T. E. & L. survey in north Young county, is trying to pull 10-inch pipe with a hole full of oil from the sand at 980 feet.

AMONG MY SOUVENIRS

Wallace & Alexander have abandoned as a dry hole their No. 1 G. F. Rowley in the southwest part of section 1915, T. E. & L. survey, Young county. A small show of oil was encountered at about 570 feet. Total depth of hole was 604 feet.

NORTH OF NEWCASTLE

King Royalty company has brought in another good well on its "wonder" shallow lease in block 2246, T. E. & L. survey, Young county, Larimore land. The well is flowing at the rate of 300 barrels from the sand at 714-29 feet.

Churchill Calls for Anglo-American Parley

LONDON, May 10. (US)—Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the British exchequer, today called again for an Anglo-American conference to halt the fall of prices, and catechized Chancellor Chamberlain for ridiculing the project in the house of commons.

The former chancellor, who criticized the opening of the Lausanne reparations conference prior to the American presidential elections, reiterated previous declaration that Anglo-American co-operation could solve the world's money problems.

Dallas Woman Burns To Death in Home Blaze

DALLAS, May 10. (UP)—Mrs. Julian Jackson, 34, was burned to death in her home here late today. Firemen found the woman's body in a back room. A charred match box indicated the fire had been caused by matches.

WAKE up clean inside—free from stomach gases—from headache and discomfort caused by fermenting food that clogs intestines until it is cleared away. A dose of Black-Draught before bedtime tonight, a full night's restful sleep, and feel like cheering when you arise clear-headed, appetite keen, eager to start the day!

Oil Country Farmers Urged To Study Pool Development Of Mineral Rights

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—America's farmers were urged today by the bureau of agricultural economics to consider the question of pool development of mineral rights and were warned against disposing of them for an inadequate consideration.

Tentative suggestions for organization of co-operative pools were set forth by the bureau in a voluminous report to the senate in answer to a resolution sponsored by Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma.

The report estimated that 1,105,500,000 acres of possible oil land remain in the country, more than half of it farm acreage. By sections it included Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi 241,500,000.

While unorganized, the report said "farmers are forced to choose between the risk of getting nothing at all" if they do not lease or sell, and "the risk of parting with potential fortunes in exchange for a mere pittance if they do lease or sell."

Authorities conferred with agreed that co-operative pooling held many advantages, the report said, but continued:

"A further study of the practices and possibilities of pooling organizations representing privately owned lands is necessary before the subject can be discussed with any finality."

'Jake the Barber' Wants To Pay for Immunity

CHICAGO, May 10. (US)—John (Jake the Barber) Factor, accused of trimming British investors of a total estimated as high as $7,000,000 announced today that he was negotiating for complete immunity by the payment of 300,000 pounds, about $1,100,000 at the current rate of exchange.

In his luxurious offices on La Salle street where he is a prosperous trader, Factor said:

"I am willing to settle for 300,000 pounds if I have the assurance that the money will go to the poor people who need it.

"My offer does not imply any admission of wrong-doing. I did nothing that any other broker would not do."

SAW IT COMING

EL PASO, May 10.—Manuel Balderas is a pretty good fortune teller but it didn't do him any good to be one. He was arrested for plying his trade here. In court he said: "I saw it in the cards that a detective was coming to see me. I didn't know I was violating the law."

ORDER METERS ON PIPE LINES

Rail Commission Adopts Strict Regulation

DALLAS, May 10. (AP)—The railroad commission decided today to require the installation of meters measuring the flow of oil in all trunk pipe lines, lines to loading racks, and lines to refineries in the East Texas field. A committee was appointed to work out technical details at a meeting to be held in Austin Friday with representatives of the commission.

Chairman C. V. Terrell of the commission, Lon A. Smith, member, and R. D. Parker, chief supervisor of the oil and gas division, represented the state at today's hearing. A number of independent producers and representatives of major companies attended. Representatives of companies manufacturing meters told the oil men meters were accurate to the degree of one half of one per cent.

General Jacob F. Wolters, until recently commander of national guardsmen helping enforce proration orders in the field, said there were not enough men left for an accurate check of production without meters.

Claud Wild, executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum association, said diversion of oil by trucks was negligible in the field.

The committee which will decide technical details numbers Charles F. Roeser, vice president of the American Petroleum institute; J. R. Parten, president of the Independent Petroleum association of Texas; Carl Estes, Tyler editor, and the members of the East Texas pipe line committee.

400 Repair Men To See Movie on 'Brakes'

Arrangements have been made to entertain more than 400 automobile repair men of this city and the Wichita Falls area at the local showing of "Brakes," a talking picture sponsored by the Auto Spring and Supply company at 512 Ohio Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

The talking picture will depict latest systems of serving brakes with details of re-assembly for each type of job. H. T. Leach, Thermoid Rubber company factory representative, and a company engineer will accompany the picture here and will lead a discussion following the movie.

New Business Enterprise Launched In Opening Of United Electric Company

One of Wichita Falls' newest business establishments, a challenge to current economic conditions, will be opened at Eighth and Austin Wednesday. The new business, the United Electric Service company store, will be operated with W. L. Hawkins as president and Sydney A. Gaines as general manager. Both wholesale and retail automobile equipment will be featured.

Mr. Hawkins is an independent oil operator and is connected with some of the leading financial institutions of the city and also prominent in local insurance circles.

Mr. Gaines is well known in auto equipment circles and also to the retailers over the trade territory, as he has been in both the wholesale and retail trade in this city during the past 12 years.

The new firm will distribute the products of United Motors service, which is the subsidiary of General Motors, manufacturing Delco-Remy starting, lighting and ignition equipment; North East electrical products; guide lamps; Delco batteries; Klaxon horns; AC products, such as spark plugs and oil filters; New Departure ball bearings; Hyatt roller bearings; Harrison radiators; Lovejoy shock absorbers and Delco radio. In addition to the above they will retail Conoco and Falls gasoline and Conoco and Quaker State oils and will carry a full line of Goodyear tires and tubes.

All cars manufactured by General Motors are equipped with the products of United Motors Service and about 75 per cent of all other cars are equipped in whole or in part with these accessories.

Eleven in Southwest

There are only 11 direct distributors of United Motors service in the three states of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, of which the local United Electric Service company is the latest addition.

There is a great advantage to motorists in having a direct distributor in this locality, as they can, when purchasing a new car, go to the local company and register their equipment and then, if anything should go wrong within the period of the guarantee they can secure free service and repairs by experts without having to go through the car dealer or manufacturer, it is declared.

In addition to carrying parts for all United Motors service products there will be a machine shop fully equipped with the special tools to take care of repairs on speedometers, gasoline fuel pumps, shock absorbers, auto radios, etc. All of this work is in charge of a specially trained technician, Homer Engel. Mr. Engel is the only man in the city who has had special training on the installation and repair of auto radios.

The parts department will be in charge of R. E. Dawson, who has had 10 years experience with the United Motors service factory branch at Dallas.

The new firm will have salesmen traveling the entire Wichita Falls trade territory, keeping constantly in touch with the various garage and equipment dealers, under direction of E. J. Serpas.

EXHIBIT SHOWS CITY'S GROWTH

West Texas C-C to See 50 Years of Progress

The epic of Wichita Falls' 50 years of progress will be the message of 150 Wichitans who will board the "golden jubilee special train" for Sweetwater Thursday night to attend the 14th annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Members of W. R. Creamer's special train committee were well pleased at a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the local chamber offices in the Hamilton building and were confident the goal of reservations would be reached long before train time. The total of 105 reservations received prior to the Tuesday afternoon meeting included only those who have turned in cash for the train fare plus 30 members of Paul Seeds' Los Caballeros band, official music makers of the regional organization.

A display to be entered in the regional exhibition building for Wichita Falls presents 50 years of progress, 1882-1932, in a miniature booth designed by Assistant Manager Wilburn Page.

Photographs of Wichita Falls—the village of 1885 and a view of the business district of 1932 together with a residential view of 1932—form the background of the booth. The left foreground depicts the muddy prairie trails followed by covered wagons of private and commercial enterprise of a half century past with a rock-walled cabin the goal of a small covered wagon.

The first train entering the city in 1882 is recalled by a small model. The contrast of the years is graphically pictured in a parallel paved road passing a miniature residence with a powerful motor car parked in a drive way. In the most prominent part of the foreground appears an old derrick with pipe lines connected for continued development of the Wichita Falls empire.

MARKET TO OPEN THURSDAY

Public Sales Place Provided For Farm Produce

The formal opening of the Wichita Valley Public Market at Sixteenth and Lamar will be held Thursday, May 19, it was announced following the regular meeting of the Valley Development association board Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was held at the offices of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce at the Hamilton building.

J. E. (Jack) Miller is in charge of the market and the business will be operated primarily for selling seasonable produce of truck farm operators of the irrigated valley. The market will offer the produce on both a wholesale and retail basis.

Joe Meurer, valley association field representative in cooperating with the market plans, announced he would personally visit truck growers prior to the opening date. Each valley produce grower will be invited to make full use of the market in aiding the producer to dispose of his truck most advantageously.

Ernest Birk of Iowa Park, chairman of the farm planting committee of the association, reported progress on the Charles Grimminger place in the valley.

The Wichita Valley market also will afford farmers of the area auction sale opportunities with M. Blank as auctioneer. The initial sale will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Many readers send in questions signed only with initials, asking that the answers appear in the newspaper. The space is limited and would not accommodate a fraction of such requests. The answers published are ones that may interest many readers, rather than the one who asks the question only. All questions should be accompanied by the writer's name and address and two cents in coin and stamps for reply. Send your question to The Record News Information bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Does a redouble close the bidding in auction or contract? Can a player bid who has passed several times?—E. B. M.

A.—In auction and contract bridge, a redouble has the same standing as a bid or a double. It opens the bidding for the other three players. Any player may bid in his turn no matter how many times he has passed.

Q.—How are the members of the house apportioned among the states?—D. A. F.

A.—Generally speaking, according to population. It is done by a rather complicated method known as major fractions.

Q.—How much water does the Ganges river discharge into the ocean?—A. T.

A.—About 500,000 cubic feet per second during the flood season, and 100,000 cubic feet per second during the other eight months of the year.

Q.—What are the principal varieties of rum?—H. N.

A.—Rum is divided into two main classes, Jamaica and Demerara. Jamaica rum is made from fermentation of a wash of scum, molasses and dunder, the latter being a viscous sediment. Demerara is fermented from molasses with a slight addition of sulphuric acid. Water is added to both. These rums may be made anywhere provided the same materials are used; that is, Jamaica rum need not come from Jamaica. Rums have trade names such as Baccardi, which is the name of a manufacturer, not the name of a rum.

Q.—Please tell me about the merchant fleets of Venice.—W. W.

A.—Crowe and Cavalcaselle write: "Every year, six fleets were formed and manned, and convoyed at the public expense. The freightage of the fleet was sold by auction and any one might ship his merchandise at the price of the day. One squadron sailed to the Black sea with goods for Russia and Central Asia; another stopped at Constantinople after touching at ports of Greece and the islands; a third took the Armenian traffic to the harbors of Asia Minor and Syria; a fourth fed the markets of Egypt through Alexandria; a fifth, the Moors of Africa and Spain; the sixth went through the Straits to the Netherlands and British Isles."

Q.—Where is Livingstone buried?—I. McD.

A.—He is buried in Westminster Abbey.

Q.—Is there a difference in the pulse rate when a person is sitting and standing?—M. W.

A.—Normally, there is a difference of about 10 to 15 beats.

Q.—What is a ghost writer?—M. Z.

A.—He is a person who is employed to write an article, a story, or a book, but whose name does not appear as the author. The ostensible author is a person who has won some distinction either in the field of literature or in some other line of endeavor.

Q.—What were the names of the first Elizabethan theaters?—S. A. C.

A.—"The Theater" was the first built by J. Burbage in Shoreditch in 1576 and was soon followed by "The Curtain" in Finsbury. These were the predecessors of "The Rose and the Swan," and "The Globe and the Fortune," the first and second Blackfriars theaters.

Q.—What is a fusee?—G. F.

A.—It is an obsolete device used in spring-driven time-pieces, for rendering constant the impelling force of the mainspring.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Removal of Stains

Removing stains is an essential part of the general care of clothing and household textiles. Most stains may be removed easily at home, if reliable methods are known and a few simple precautions taken. Prompt treatment is one of the important rules, for changes in the nature of the stain, resulting from exposure to the air, drying, washing, ironing and the like, often make it necessary to use stronger chemicals in removing old stains.

This booklet, prepared by government experts, gives complete instructions. Use this coupon in ordering your copy and enclose 10 cents to cover service and postage.

The federal farm board has decided to sell 650,000 bales of cotton it bought at 16 cents a pound. That ought to prove that the bottom of the market has been reached.

Adventure

THERE is a pathetic touch to the story of the four little boys from New York's east side who set out to sea on a homemade raft the other day. Police found them as they drifted down the East river. For their own protection the youngsters were ordered off the high seas. They are to be envied because they started, but pitied because there isn't anything that can be done to satisfy the buccaneering spirit that would like to chase a pirate and find some hidden gold.

The restricted areas in which a great many people must live today, due to the present economic system, do not provide much room for boys to go adventuring. Quite often there aren't any woods that they can people with Indians. There isn't a pond that can be magnified into something resembling the blue Atlantic. There isn't even a corner lot where they go to bat more dexterously than the heroes whose balls they follow wistfully on the sports pages.

When the spirit of wanderlust grew too strong the four youngsters chose a real river that led to a real ocean to do their voyaging. They didn't expect to find singapore or Bagdad or Trieste. They were just names on a painted geography map. But they took it for granted that if you went down to the sea in a ship—even a ship made out of boards that were nailed together—something had to happen.

That streak of adventure, buried in every one of us, never quite goes away. Most people wait, day after day, year after year, hoping that something will happen tomorrow, or the day after that. When it is too late they blame themselves because they didn't try harder to make it happen.

The New York youngsters are to be congratulated because they had the thrill of building a ship and setting sail. Most boys don't get that far today. The amateur seaman never reached the ocean, of course, but at least they can always remember that they started.

The Capone Case

THE country is doubtless highly relieved to learn that the supreme court will not hear Al Capone's appeal, and that there is nothing now, to prevent him from serving the prison term that he has so thoroughly earned. But there is no sense in jubilating too fervently about it all.

Through it all, we must remember that Capone is not in Atlanta prison for any of the innumerable high crimes that have been reliably ascribed to him and his agents. He is probably just as much the underworld czar as he has been said to be—but he isn't being imprisoned for that. He is being sent up solely because he didn't pay taxes on his illegal earnings.

That was the only way we could get him. The fact is a terrible commentary on the state of law enforcement in this country. The imprisonment of Al Capone, considering the circumstances, offers us very little to crow over.

A Hospital Case

AN OLD, unemployed man, whose leg has been severed from his body by a train as he tried to "bum" a ride back home, was refused admittance at a Cleveland hospital recently. Indignant protests have been greeting the announcement of this action.

Whether the man could have been saved had he received treatment in this hospital instead of having to be rushed to another doesn't matter. It is the fact that those who could have stopped suffering looked on, callously, and did nothing, that has received criticism.

It should be kept in mind that one such instance by no means can be used to reflect on hospital and medical organizations of the country. As a rule every patient, regardless of age or station, is given the best treatment that medical science can offer. The particular hospital in this instance regrets the unfortunate happening. A specific case is never cause for generalization.

The Fall Case

ALBERT B. FALL, secretary of the interior in the Harding administration, whose prison sentence recently closed, is one of the outstanding examples of a prophet who has lost honor in his own country. Fall, a leader in the nation a few years ago, emerges from jail, branded as a bribe-taker. He has had honor and prestige in his day. But a single careless gesture lost them all for him.

We may talk of the flexibility of modern social codes but the fact remains that honor is more important than wealth or fame. Without it, the others are sounding brass, tinkling cymbals, just so much excess baggage. Loss of it, whether due to one's conduct or to the action of others, is probably the sorriest thing that can happen to a man.

SO THEY SAY!

Our proletarian country was founded on a strong Red army, which is an eyesore to the capitalistic world. . . . Let the world know that the Red army will never threaten anybody but will continue to watch events and be where it should be when necessary.—Klementi Voroshiloff, Soviet commissar for war and navy.

Flea Circus Love!

The love of a flea for a flea
Is a tender and touching affair,
And it's fitting for you and for me
To regard it as hallowed and rare.
When a he and a she want to merge
It's the old biological urge,
For a wee little flea is complex,
Having tenderness, temper and sex.
Oh, the game that a man and a maid
Gayly play when they're single and free
Is the same little game that is played
In the love of a flea for a flea!
—PENPOINT.

Racket Hits Editor!!

"Some bright boy," specials Norman Anthony, "has gone to the trouble of having engraved cards made with my name on them as editor of Ballyhoo and is circlarizing the speaks and restaurants with said cards and notes saying that I am in a jam and please send $35 to 101st St. and Riverside Dr. What puzzles me is why they ask for $35. Also, don't they know that editors never get in a jam and, also, if they knew anything about me they ought to realize I never had a business card in my life."

That's nothing, Norman. I never had a business.

Broadway . . . where bad women get good treatment.—Paul Forrest.

Uhmmm!

Honey Burns fires us with his simile: As modest as Harry Richman singing "Two Loves Have I." And Sid Weiss convulses himself with: As relaxed as a deep sea diver taking a bath.

Wordage!

The April 21st issue of the London Cinema drifts across the Chit-Chatlantic ocean with the following review of "Spirit of the West," a Carl Laemmle opus:

"Knowledgeable directions and breezy portrayal secure fast moving and sustained succession of typical western action and presents neatly blended variety of facile gun-play, spectacular horse-driving and hearty fisticuffs, with acceptable touches of gauche comedy, appealing romance and effective he-man characterizations."

Just one English-speaking country to another!

George Aids

A small East Side merchant told Harvey George that times are so bad he is having a bankruptcy sale and means it . . . that in Hollywood they are calling it a super-depression . . . that gag-men out there are running around in packs . . . and that he knows a resourceful fellow who has trained the wolf at his door to snap at bill collectors.

My Ambition

I've wanted all my life
To foof upon a fife.
—AL KLEIN.

Ye Olde Columne

Art Jarrett prizes a collection of 17th century pamphlets printed in England during the reign of Charles the Second. According to his ancient clips it was the custom of the single men of the era to advertise on the London bulletin boards if they were ready to take a wife. Some of the notices that appeared pack an honestness that dwarfs the modern matrimonial ads into the humbleness of an evening prayer.

Among them are:

"A country gentleman who has a very delicate seat 20 to 30 miles off London, and a very considerable estate, seeks a very proper comely person, but not witty."

"A lusty stout proportioned man who had a good seat before fire.

"For the brewers' daughter: A lace man who loves the smell of malt and good ale, of good height and stature, stomach answerable.

"A young gentleman, now learning to dance, wants a wife to guide him.

"An ancient gentleman, purchasing an estate, wants a rich wife to stand by him.

"A Goldsmith, near the Royal Exchange, a widower of very considerable ambitions, besides a good trade, will make a very brisk husband."

No Complaint

Nowadays when one complains about finding gum on theaters seats, avers Leonard Gaynor, the exploiter, it's usually because there's no flavor left in it.

From Mfr. to Consumer!

There are a few burlesque emporiums on Ballyhood Blvd. lending a new slant to the old ticket scalpers' racket. When you apply at the box-office for seats during the hours when the orchestra is fairly well filled, you are told that the theater is sold out. But before you have a chance to put your money back in your pocket, an unctuous gent approaches you from out of nowhere and proffers "good seats right under the chorus line." With such a sales talk, you pay him an advance on the printed price and hurry in. But what you forget in your haste is to notice that the money you paid for your pasteboards goes right into the management's till. The alleged speculator is just an employe of the house and the scheme adds an extra 50 cents to the gross.

Broadway . . . where they welcome the bird who offers you a penny for your thoughts.—Al Schwartz.

And Mother and Country!

From Capone-ville Bill Morrow forwards the yarn about the screemie star who was in the habit of taking a daily sun bath, much to the delight of males who secreted themselves in points of vantage. One day her super-maid informed her it was cloudy out and therefore impossible to take a sunning. "That makes no difference," stormed the actress. "The sun is unimportant, my public comes first."

Subway Scene

A joy-soup stained lass ambled into a local on the Broadway subway yesterdawning and hurled ginsults at the passengers who disagreed with her huzzahs for Al Smith. In her hand was a bottle of rye and for 10 stations she denounced the dry law. At 110th St. a college student stumbled in with an after-stag breath.

"Charley," yelled the disheveled dame, "I've been waiting for you on thish corner for two hours."

"Well, whatdya expect," he replied. "It aint tomorrow, yet."

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

Waitomo, N. Z., February, 1932.

THE GLOWWORM GROTTO—There are about 100 miles from Auckland to the Waitomo caves of New Zealand, but a most beautiful sight was my reward for the strenuous trip. Before I entered the caves, I donned spiked shoes to avoid slipping on the deep, wet inclines, and after crossing a low, narrow tunnel, boarded a small boat. We sailed on an underground river in utter darkness for a considerable distance. And suddenly we were in a huge cavern which appeared to be a glorious lighted heaven. The millions of lights were glowworms, each one hanging by a slender thread from the stalactites of the cavern. They shed a light by which it is possible to discern things quite clearly. Visitors must observe the deepest silence, because the tiny threads act as antenna for sound, and the slightest sound will cause the glowworms to extinguish their lights. The glowworm grotto is one of the sights that years cannot efface from memory.

TAPU—The tribal Maori priests were hedged about with religious restrictions which made them tapu. A tapu was debarred from contact with the outside world, on pain of death by supernatural means. The tohunga in my drawing fell under the ban of tapu after he had handled the mortal remains of a tribal priest. Being debarred from touching food and drink, he had to be fed in the manner I illustrated, while his hands were tied behind his back. I drew this scene from life during my stay in Rotorua, New Zealand, the home of the Maori people.

THE COLOR OF THE WHITE ELEPHANT—The so-called white elephant, which is sacred to the Burmese and Siamese, and which is represented on the Siamese flag, may be rare and sacred but it certainly is not white. I saw the sacred specimen maintained in the king's stables at Bangkok, Siam. When I remarked that the white elephant was really brown in color with blotches of pink on its skin, I was informed that the term "white elephant" is a misnomer due to a mistranslation of the Siamese word for "blond," the color of the spots on head and trunk. The blotches are caused by a dermal disease affecting the color of the elephant's leathery skin.

TOMORROW—Siam's solitary hero.

Wanted—Love! The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By ETHELDA BEDFORD Author of "BROADWAY BRIDE"

CHAPTER L

A taxi horn sounded very near. Its shrill sound brought Lillian out of her reverie. She pulled herself free of Barry and backed out of the circle of light . . . off of their island for two . . . into the night of Manhattan.

Automobiles whirred past. Horns screamed, screeched. People walked hurriedly all about her. She tried to hurry, too. She must hurry. She had lost all sense of time . . . all sense of responsibility.

Barry still stood in the circle of light. He did not move. His arms hung at his sides. He was waiting . . . he thought she would come back!

Somehow Lillian climbed into a cab. Her eyes were shining with tears and her heart was bumping. She could see Barry, though, there in the light. He was sort of blinded, it seemed. And not until she pushed her face against the glass panel in the back of her departing cab did he try to reach her. But the traffic was too thick. He stepped off of the curb, his mind beseeching her to wait for him. Her taxi sped ahead. Then rows of cars screamed and screeched between Barry and her.

Lillian tried to be sorry. She knew she should be sorry—but it was impossible. She touched her lips, still warm from the kiss of her love.

When Lillian's gloved finger pushed the bell at the Carlton home it was only a little past 9 o'clock.

She was nervous and almost breathless from the rapid scramble of her taxi through the crowded streets. She had kept telling the driver to hurry, hurry. In spite of that she felt as if they had crawled.

But not until a servant swung open the large, paneled door did she remember about baggage. She had been instructed to bring her bag. And she could have bought a cheap bag, perhaps, at some little shop. . . . Too late, though, now to turn back.

"Mrs. Carlton asked that you be shown to your apartment," the dignified old butler told her. "Is there some baggage, ma'm?"

"No—not tonight," replied Lillian.

She followed his lead up the broad twining stairs to the next floor and then down a softly lighted hall. The door he opened for her had a small plate on the door. The plate was inscribed with "Miss Blaine." Lillian's apartment!

"Mrs. Carlton has gone to the theater. She said to make yourself comfortable. She would see you in the morning, ma'm. Is there anything you'd wish?"

Lillian couldn't possibly wish for anything more. That moment seemed filled with contentment!

As she closed the door behind his departing figure she dropped down on the soft carpet, a sigh of relief escaping her. She lay there for a few poignant seconds, her body throbbing with gratitude.

Never had she been so superbly happy. And so eager to be alone with her dreams.

A pair of lace and crepe pajamas and a peach satin robe to match were across the foot of her bed.

And it was sheer joy to step out of her clothes and into the sunken tub of warm, perfumed water in the tiled and mirrored bathroom . . . like waking from a horrible nightmare and being happy because those dreary, morbid days of job hunting were unreal . . . being cold, hungry, too tired to sleep was only part of the nightmare.

"Will you promise me something?"

Barry! The feel of his arms . . . his serious gray eyes . . . his breath against her cheek.

The thought of him was always bordered with something like fear. "Maybe I shouldn't have kissed him . . . maybe not . . ." she tried to shut away that thought.

But nothing relating to the morrow could marr her first night of rest, the first she had known in so many weeks. That night, comparatively so free of worry.

She dropped off to sleep almost instantly in her beautiful soft bed, canopied with rose and silver brocade, copied no doubt from one of the Pompadour's extravagances.

Suddenly she found herself sitting up in bed, wide awake.

Some one was rapping on her door, softly. She hurriedly pulled the light cord by her bed, got into the robe and went to the door.

"Who is it?" she called, her heart acting strangely, telling her that was a foolish question.

The knocking continued.

She turned the latch on her door and pulled it open a few inches. She risked one eye. And that eye met another eye . . . an amused gray one.

"Miss Blane!" he whispered it. He'd seen the name on the door.

"Barry—your mother—"

"She won't hear . . . doesn't expect me home until morning."

"But—you—you can't stand there—"

"Couldn't I come in, then?"

"No—no, no, no."

"But I have to talk to you . . ."

"Tomorrow—"

"No time like the present."

"You must go—"

"Why did you run away—tonight?"

"Had to."

"Fibber."

"Go 'way!"

"I don't want to—though."

She had to smile. She was glad her hair was long and that her robe was peach. It was just the right shade.

"Won't you come out, then?" he besought her.

"Too late."

"Not even midnight. No one goes to sleep so early."

"No one?"

"You—you're lovely, did you know?"

"I want to be to—you."

"Darling—"

"I'm shivering."

"I want to hold you."

"No—not any more—"

"Lots more."

"No—never again . . ."

"Darling—I—"

"We do know each other!"

"Seems we always have—but I only saw you a few hours ago, Barry."

"Of course," he said it softly. Then: "In the library? I'll be waiting."

She shook her head. He was tempting her so. And he mustn't.

"It's absurd. Your being in bed so early. Get dressed. We can take in a night club for a few dances. Wouldn't you like that?"

"I'd love it. But I mustn't tonight—"

"You haven't a single good reason."

It seemed that way to Lillian, too. Only Mrs. Carlton might find it out and somehow Lillian knew her acquaintance with Barry would seem a little too previous.

Lillian's eyes glowed. She held the door wide enough for him to see her. The soft robe draped about her slimness. Her hair was about her shoulders.

"No girl has a right to look so beautiful—" he said.

He towered over her. He reached for her hand and held it closely, tightly.

Lillian said: "Barry—I'm afraid."

He just looked at her and then he freed her hand and took a step back. He laughed a little excitedly.

Lillian pushed the door a bit, and found she could not close it because of his foot.

"Look," he said, "you don't need to feel that way." And he pulled his foot back.

Lillian didn't close the door immediately. She opened it a few inches more. Leaning toward him she said: "Will you promise me something?" And before he answered she added: "Don't mention to your mother you've met me. She was saving me for a surprise, I think."

He lingered, his eyes pleading a little, while she closed the door with "Goodnight."

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

GILBERT N. HAUGEN

WASHINGTON, May 10.—When the 1930 congressional elections showed a nip-and-tuck race for party control of both houses, it took no great experience to predict trouble for leadership plans when the new congress convened.

Yet looking forward to the next congress, the 73rd, which will be elected next November, even greater uncertainties are clearly visible already. They are written in the primary casualty lists among house veterans and in the added confusion of a new congressional apportionment, taking 27 seats from 21 states to give them to 11 other states—due to population shifts of 20 years.

Leaven of Unrest

Over and above these considerations, marked as the reapportionment is by a decided transfer of federal legislative power from rural to urban voters, is the economic situation, creating popular unrest with things as they are.

And the 73rd congress will come into office under the influence of all these unusual factors. It would take a bold man to attempt to foretell the true significance of next election day.

The 72nd congress had an unusual percentage of new faces. There were some 76 newcomers. All the rest were veterans of one or more terms.

Of the whole 435 not half a dozen, like Mrs. Wingo of Arkansas, Aldrich of Rhode Island, Brand of Ohio and Hull of Illinois, planned voluntary retirement to private life. Ten thousand dollar jobs, even with a prospective salary cut, looked good to the vast majority.

By the time the primaries were half way through, however, disturbed conditions had taken a heavy toll in the ranks of sitting members. Veterans like Chindblom of Illinois, a seven-termer, Igoe of the same state, a three-termer, and eight or ten more, had gone down in the preliminary skirmishing.

More were certain to go the same way, both Republicans and Democrats, for the ax was falling without regard to party.

Some Washington political writers, sensing in votes against men now in office the feeling of popular resentment against economic conditions, believe that as much as half the house membership will be made up of newcomers in the 73rd congress.

"Ins" Easily "Out"

The mere fact that a member is an "in," usually the best promise of staying in, is working in reverse. A blind movement against the "ins" reaches into many states.

There perhaps has never been a congress where such uncertainty of re-election figured so greatly among the house membership, even with the senators coming up this year.

And to what extent that personal uncertainty of the rank and file upset plans of leaders on both sides it would be hard to compute. There are no precedents to go by.

Truck Crops Thrive In Newport Section

Special to The Record News.

NEWPORT, Texas, May 10.—The live-at-home idea that has been preached by farm experts and advocated by farm papers will be carried out in this locality this year greater than ever before. Beans and tomatoes are being planted by the acres not for market but for home use and will be canned by home canners. Many farm homes have canners already and many more will purchase them soon to be ready for the canning season in the early summer.

There will be plenty of peaches and berries in spite of the late freeze that was thought at the time to have killed all the fruit. In many orchards trees are full of peaches. J. W. Broom, leading truck and berry farmer, three miles north of town, reports that his berry crop will be even larger than it was last year when he marketed $400 of the berries in Wichita Falls. Mr. Broom said that the berries would be ready for market about the last of this month or the first of June.

Farmers are sowing hundreds of acres of cane for feed for their stock. One local merchant in Newport reports that he has already sold 10,000 pounds of cane seed to farmers for sowing.

SPUDDERS WALLOP CATS IN 12-INNING THRILLER, 6 TO 3

Tom Conlan Allows Only Seven Hits In Battle With McCabe

Special to The Record News.

FORT WORTH, May 10.—Skipper Hank Severeid's hustling gang of Wichita Falls Spudders made it two straight over the Fort Worth Panthers here tonight in a thrilling 12-inning contest broken up by a three-run Spudder spree in the 12th inning, and featured by a sparkling mound performance by young Tom Conlan of Wichita Falls, who allowed only seven hits over the long route. He was opposed by the veteran Dick McCabe who also pitched splendidly, yielding only 10 hits.

The Wichita Falls victory prolonged the Panthers' losing streak. It was the Spudders' second night victory of the season.

Garms' double to left in the 12th inning played a vital part in the visitors' victory.

Bejma Triples

Garms hit to Wingfield and Bejma's triple over Moore's head along with Fuss' fly gave the Spudders two runs in the first inning. A pair of Wichita Falls errors enabled the Panthers to come back with one run. Moore beat out a hit to second, and went to second when Bejma's throw was bad. He raced home when Euller took Wingfield's grounder and threw the ball into center field in an attempt to catch Eddie in a chase. Wingfield pulled up at first on the error, but was caught on Gribble's double play ball. Jeanes followed with a Texas leaguer back of second, but Bejma made a nice play on Hooks' grounder.

Conlan and McCabe took charge of the game in the second, but the Panthers knocked the former loose in the third to tie the score. Moore drew a walk, went to second on Wingfield's hit to short and scored when Jeanes singled to center. Jeanes stole second and Hooks walked to fill the bases, but Baker forced Tex for the third out.

Conlan Swats One

Badgro and Engle wasted doubles in the fourth. Engle's came with none out, but third was as far as he advanced.

After two were away in the fifth, Conlan doubled to right center, but Engle took care of Garms' grounder. Jeanes walked in the Cats' half when two were away and was caught stealing. After an eventless sixth, McCabe bounced a hit between third and short in the seventh with one down. However, Moore struck out on the three-two ball and Dick was caught going to second. The Spudders had gone out in order.

Wichita Falls moved back into the lead in the first of the eighth inning, scoring one run when Euller opened with a single to left center, went to second on Conlan's sacrifice and scored when Bejma singled to left. However, the Panthers came back to knot the score again in their half. Wingfield reached first safely when his grounder went through Euller, moved to second on Gribble's sacrifice, to third on a passed ball, and scored on Jeanes' long drive to center, of which Garms made a great running catch.

McCabe and Engle made sparkling plays on grounders to turn back the Spudders in the ninth, with the Cats efforts also being limited to the infield.

Extra Innings

After the Spudders had gone out in order in the 10th, Moore laid down a perfect bunt toward third for the Cats with one down. However, Euller grabbed Wingfields' grounder and turned it into a double play.

Wichita Falls gave the Cats plenty of trouble in the 11th but couldn't score. Garms opened with a double to right but was caught off second. Then, Bejma was permitted to take first when Umpire Ballanfant ruled that Krauss interferred with his bat. Fuss flied out but Badgro singled to right, sending Bejma to third. Badgro stole second, but Moore raced in back of short to take Owens' high fly. Hooks was the only Panther reaching first, drawing a walk.

Owens opened the 12th with a single to left. Hooks errored on Scharein's double play ball, with both runners pulling up safe. They advanced when Baker threw out Euller. Conlan grounded to Wingfield, who threw home too late to get Owens and Scharein also scored when Krauss let the throw get away from him. Conlan went to second on the play and scored when Garms doubled to left. Engle took Bejma's grounded and caught Garms at third while Fuss flied to Jeans.

The Cats never threatened.

Hamas Favored in Bout With Loughran Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. (UP)—Steve Hamas, former Penn State athlete, ruled a 7 to 5 favorite to defeat Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight champion, in their return match at convention hall tomorrow night.

Boxing experts contend that Loughran's only chance of victory against the man who knocked him out in New York three months ago is not to mix blows. If Loughran can stay away from Hamas and prevent a knockout, the Philadelphian will have a chance to win a decision on points.

Hamas has won 28 of his 29 fights, 25 by knockouts. He has lost only to Lee Ramage, a Pacific coast fighter. Loughran had 12 victories out of his last 13 fights until he met Hamas in New York.

STEERS TAKE LEAGUE LEAD

Herd Noses Out 4-3 Victory Over Shreveport

DALLAS, May 10. (AP)—The Dallas Steers tonight moved into first place in the Texas league standing by nosing out Shreveport 4 to 3 while Fort Worth was dropping an extra inning thriller to Wichita Falls.

The Herd scored the winning run in the ninth when Willis, young Shreveport southpaw hurler, overthrew first on a sacrifice, and Holman, who was running to second, continued home on the wild throw. Score:

C-C SUPPORTS TARIFF ON OIL

Texas Senators Asked To Vote for Levy

The oil industry of the Wichita Falls area was assured the assistance of the local chamber of commerce in seeking an oil tariff at a meeting of the chamber directors Tuesday in the Hamilton building.

The board authorized telegrams be sent Senators Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard of Texas urging the senate to retain the import tax on crude oil. President Wirt Franklin of the Independent Petroleum Producers of America placed the matter before the board in a telegram.

The board members voted to nominate for re-election local directors in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The group includes Walter D. Cline, W. B. Hamilton and A. E. Kelly.

Orville Bullington, Ray B. Jones and Ed Howard were named to plan for a ceremony marking the setting of the cornerstone at the new federal building after May 15. The committee was empowered to name two additional members of their group.

Olympic Team Needs Donation of $310,000

NEW YORK, May 10. (US)—A favorable hearing awaits any one who happens to have, say, $310,000 available for donations to the Olympic fund.

Ten days ago the American Olympic committee hinted (and quite broadly, too) that it was in dire need of cash, as who isn't? But the results so far have not been overawing. The committee is still in dire need, and the Olympic team still faces a large knife with a razor-keen edge.

Fisk And Rochon Win First Round Matches In Golf Meet

Mrs. Van Wormer Defeated In Upset

By BILL PARKER

FORT WORTH, May 10. (AP)—Satisfying golf featured first round matches here today in the annual Texas Woman's Golf association state championship tournament. It was satisfying because the victorious were contented with their narrow margin victories and the losers scored low even in defeat.

There was only one match that bordered on the upset. It was the elimination of Mrs. M. M. Van Wormer of Beaumont, who faded out of the championship bracket by losing to Mrs. Scott Hill of Waco, former state champion, one up. Mrs. Van Wormer was never down to her opponent until she lost at the 18th green when her approach shot rolled over the green.

Through the parade of 16 first round championship matches today, the galleries saw many shots that again proved that this year's tournament boasts one of the fastest fields of all time.

Wichitans Come Through

Mrs. R. R. Fisk, defending champion for Wichita Falls, scored an 89 and it was good enough to send her into the second round tomorrow by virtue of her 3 and 1 victory over Mrs. Frank McNally of Corsicana.

Mrs. Dan Chandler of the Dallas Brook Hollow Country club, who was medalist Monday with a 42-39—81, defeated Mrs. C. F. McAuliff of Dallas, 5 and 4. Mrs. Chandler was only two up through the 11th hole.

Mrs. R. F. Rochon, who last year won the Texas municipal championship but it is playing this year as a member of the Wichita Falls Country club, scored in the middle eighties to eliminate Mrs. Frank Meyers of Fort Worth, one up, on the 18th green.

The gallery thrill of the day was the brilliant shot making contest between Miss Aneila Goreczyca, Fort Worth's scintillating city champion and the steady campaigner, Mrs. W. A. Grady of Dallas. Miss Goreczyca eventually won, 2 and 1, after playing magnificent golf to square the match at the 13th green with a par 4.

Easiest Match

Miss Hilda Urbantke of Austin enjoyed the easiest match of the day when she defeated Mrs. Jake Hamon of Longview, East Texas Woman's Golf association champion, 6 and 4.

The only extra hole match in the championship bracket went to Mrs. H. R. Stroube of Corsicana who eliminated Mrs. R. F. Sprinkle of Fort Worth, one up, 19 holes.

Other results included:

Mrs. R. E. Winger, Fort Worth, beat Mrs. F. B. Hadlock, El Paso, 4 and 3.

Miss Betty Moss, Dallas, beat Mrs. G. E. Jarboe, Wichita Falls, 2 and 1.

Schmeling Starts Training Today

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—The master minds of the ballyhoo dusted off Jack Sharkey's act today and put Max Schmeling through the old scenes as a preliminary to the opening of the heavyweight champion's training campaign tomorrow.

Just as the Boston challenger visited the scene of the 15-round title duel out on Long Island a couple of weeks ago and went through his paces for the press, so did Schmeling parade to the battle ground today and trot through a similar scene.

Schmeling stood in a temporary ring and had pointed out to him the spot where Sharkey predicted the German would land about the 10th round the night of June 21. For his benefit the very words Sharkey used were repeated, a crowd of 2,000 that gathered on the lot cheered, and he gave his version.

"Let Sharkey do the talking," he announced, "I'll do the fighting."

Schmeling, tanned and in fine fettle, appeared to need but little of the six weeks he will spend in training at Kingston, N. Y., starting tomorrow. He said he weighed 192 pounds, only three above his weight for his successful title defense against Young Stribling in Cleveland last summer.

Big Crowd Attends Lakeside Opening

Wichitans by the thousands thronged Lakeside park at Lake Wichita Tuesday night to welcome the formal opening of the 1932 pleasure season at the amusement center. The turnstiles clicked to allow more than 2,500 adults to pass into the park grounds and excited juveniles added to the horde of pleasure seekers.

Applause greeting the amusement circus, inaugurated for the first time this season, justified the management's arrangements for a high type of theater act for the park.

The stage show offered a cast of versatile performers that gave pleasure seeking Wichitans a variety of entertainment. The cast included Chappie Chapman, Jerry Durant, Joe Betty Sell, the Anderson sisters, Elmer and Elmer, Four aces, Bernice Kelly, Smiles Maison, Orpha Kent, Iris Tinsley, the Rockets and Wesley's Californians, veteran music masters.

The Californians appeared in the newly decorated ballroom to open the season for hundreds of dancers. A feature of the dance floor attractions this year is a floor show by members of the stage cast at 11:30 o'clock.

New board walk attractions have been installed for the comfort of patrons and new devices are offered. All rides will be ready within a few days. The pony riding track is operated by Pat Kelly, also in charge of the miniature zoo.

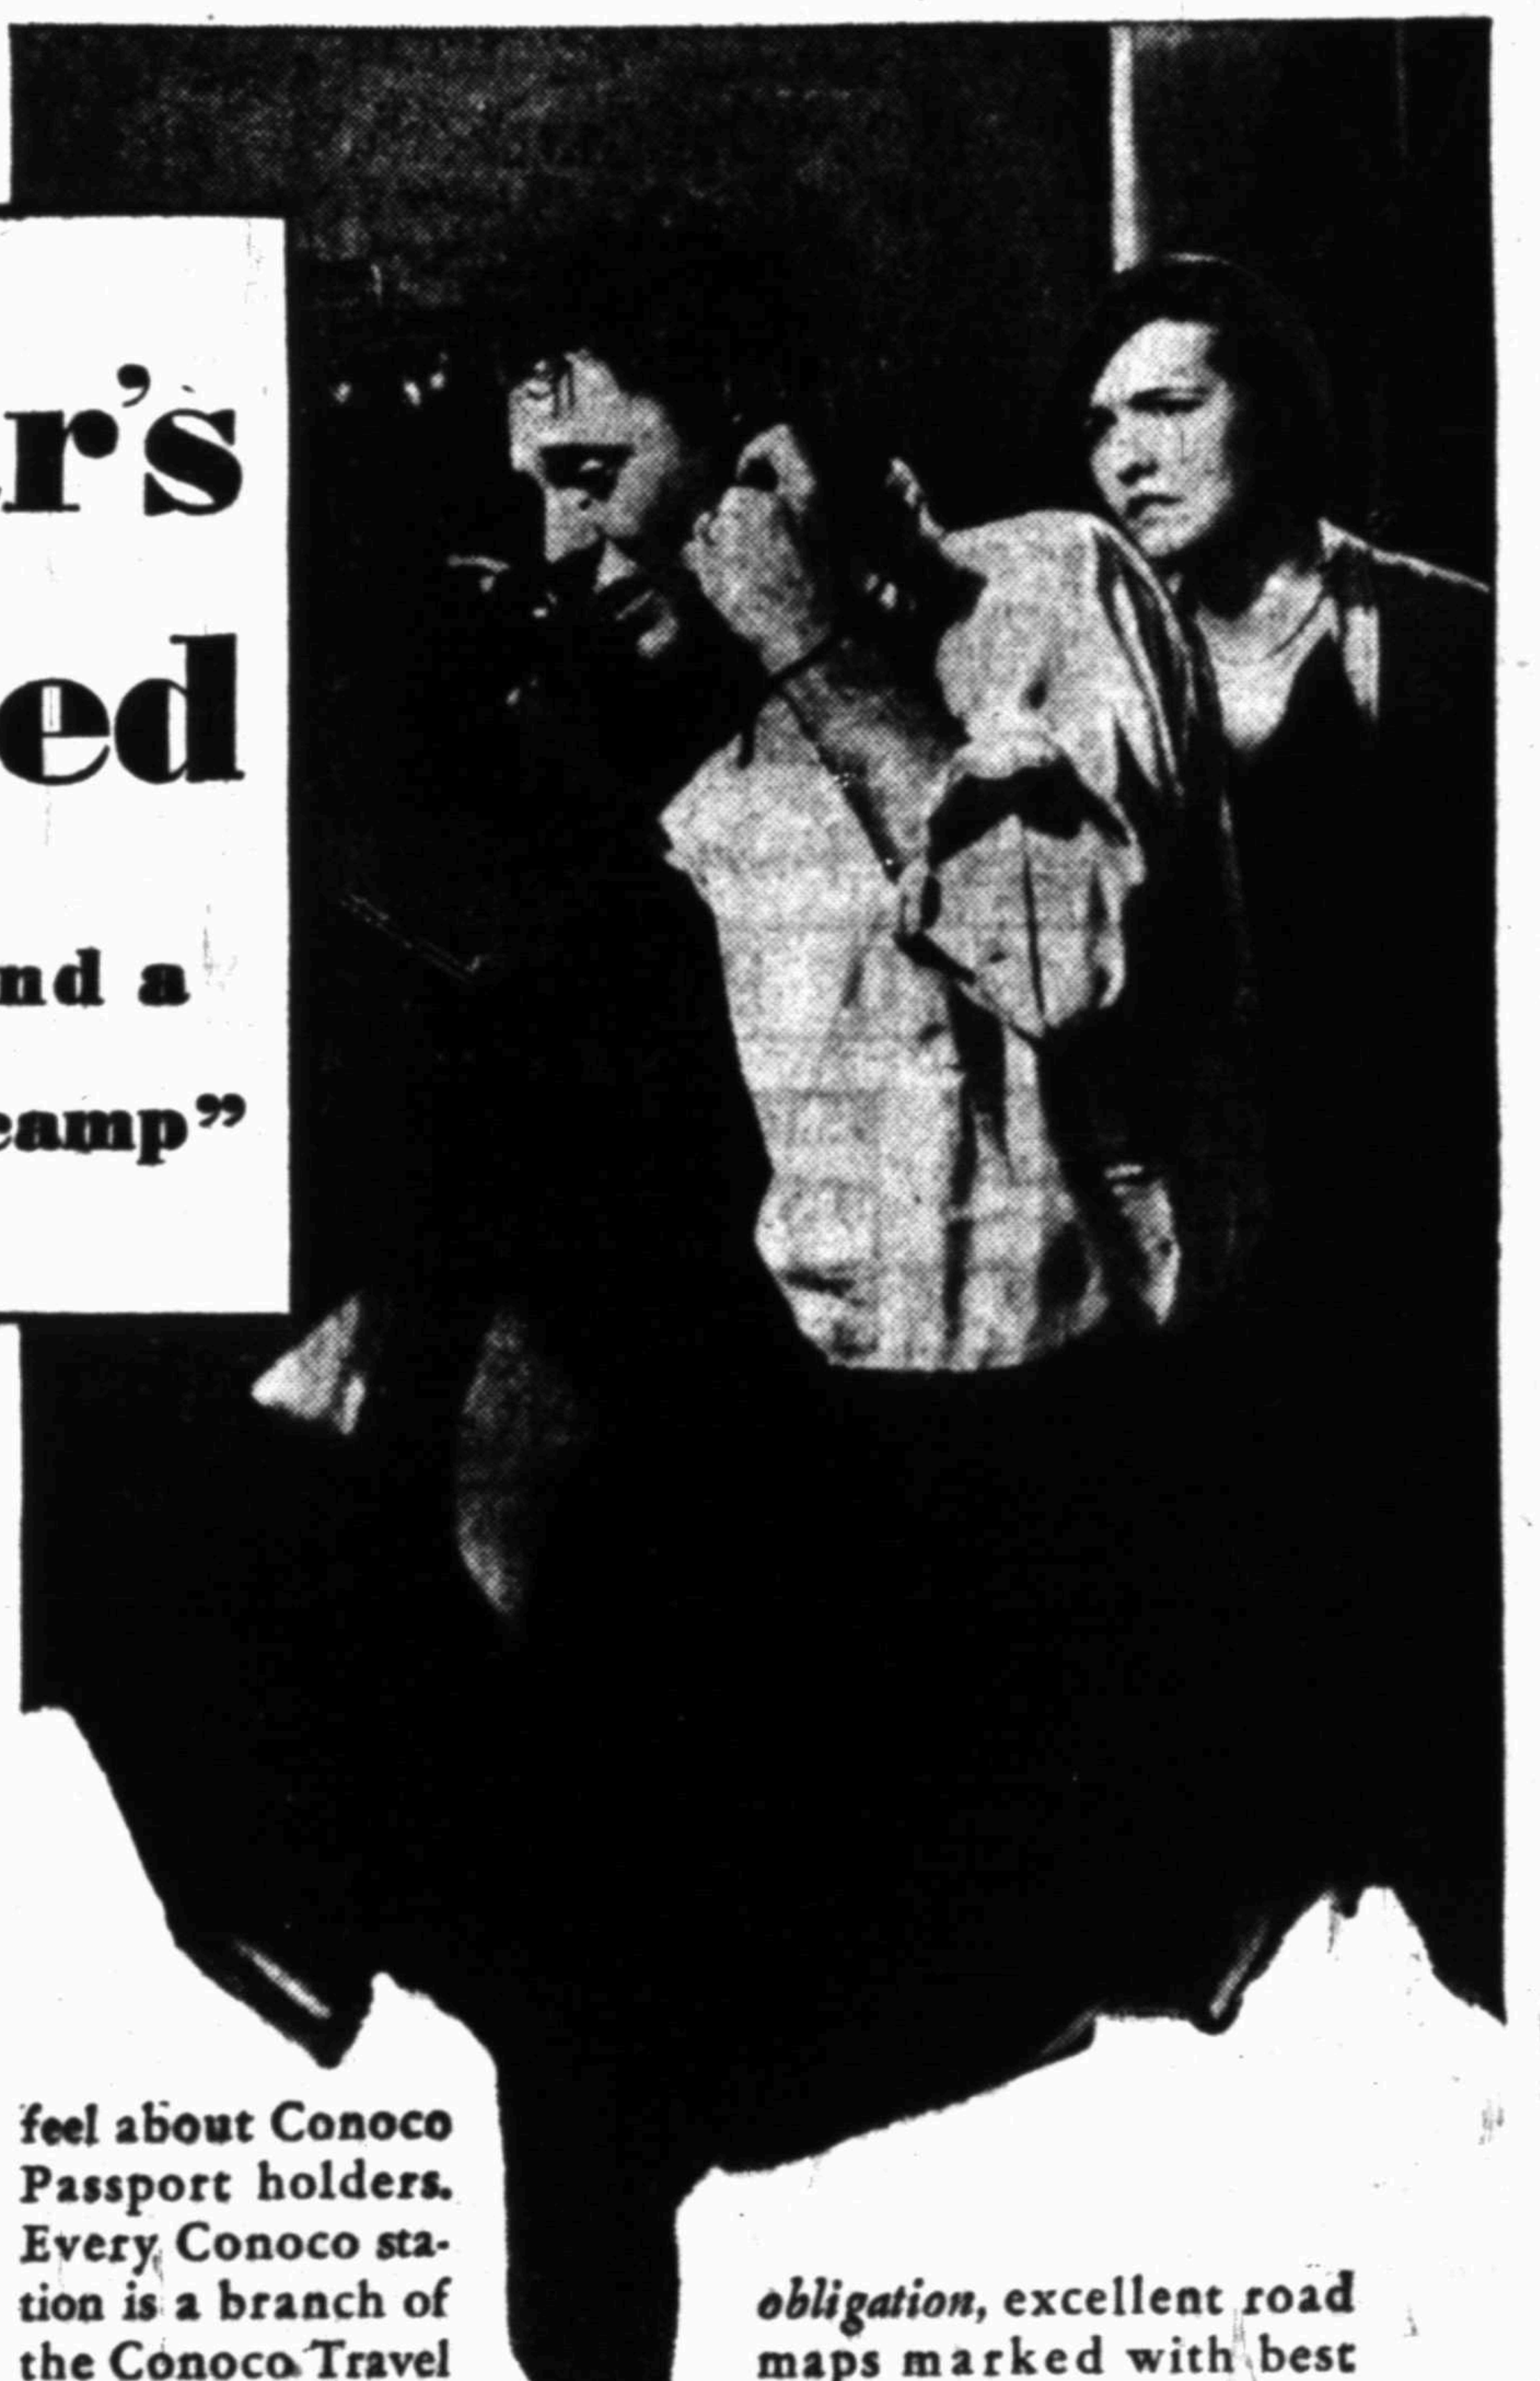
Netters Practice for Davis Cup Sessions

NEW ORLEANS, May 10. (AP)—Practice sessions preliminary to the Davis cup matches starting here Friday found the United States team today polishing rusty strokes while the Mexican players continued working to overcome handicaps of sea level conditions.

Both teams took turns about on the New Orleans Country club courts where the matches will be held. The Mexicans were less troubled today by the heat but still were adjusting their strokes to what Captain Ernesto Lopez termed a "heavier" ball. He said the high altitude of Mexico City gave a lightness to the ball. Other than that they find the playing conditions similar to those at home.

"Our Car's Wrecked and we can't find a hotel or tourist camp"



When Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Sagert of Omaha set out on a 3,000-mile trip through the Black Hills and Yellowstone last July, loose gravel piled on the road near Ainsworth, Nebraska, caused their car to turn over. Repairing the damage would take several days.

With night approaching, they hunted high and low . . . but nowhere could they find a place to spend the night. They finally enlisted the aid of a Conoco station attendant, Glenn Masters. Failing to locate a room for the Sagerts, Masters took them to his own home, where they spent three days.

An unusual predicament . . . but it shows how Conoco men feel about Conoco Passport holders. Every Conoco station is a branch of the Conoco Travel Bureau, and every Conoco man looks upon Conoco Passport holders as friends to help however he can.

If you're planning a trip, write us, telling where you're going and when. We'll send you, absolutely free of charge or obligation, excellent road maps marked with best routes, and furnish information about accommodations and what to see along the way.

The Second Fruit Day

This is the second day of the fruit diet for those who started the spring tonic diet course yesterday. Whether you are using oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit or apples, your system has begun to eliminate a large amount of accumulated toxins from years past, principally through the kidneys and bowls, but also to some extent through the liver, skin and lungs. Those who are decidedly overweight may wish to remain on the fruit diet a few days longer, but those who are simply taking this diet for the tonic effect should continue with the fruit they selected the remainder of today and should continue to use the shower baths and enemas in the morning and evening. It is also well to use deep breathing exercises several times a day whenever you think of it in order to assist the body in absorbing more oxygen and eliminating carbon dioxide gas.

Tomorrow will be the third day of the spring tonic diet course. You were to use only fruit yesterday and today in order to speed the elimination through the kidneys, but tomorrow in order to provide plenty of bulk to speed intestinal elimination I am going to suggest that you change to a non-starchy vegetable diet. The idea of using vegetables for breakfast may seem a little bit strange to you, but you can use these non-starchy vegetables and still continue with the elimination of toxins from your system. You could not do this to the same extent if you used ordinary meals.

Three times a day use as much as you care to of one or more of the raw salad vegetables and one or more cooked non-starchy vegetables. From the following list choose your raw salad vegetables: Celery, spinach, asparagus, cucumbers, tomatoes, parsley, small beets, small carrots, small parsnips, small turnips, lettuce, oyster plant, mallow and endive. If you are not overweight, you may also add alligator pears or avocados and ripe olives. From the following list select the cooked non-starchy vegetables: Celery, spinach, small string beans, asparagus, summer squash, egg plant, oyster plant, beet tops, cucumbers, turnip tops, small beets, small carrots, small parsnips, small turnips, pumpkin, lettuce, okra, chavotes, kale and zucchini.

As an example of a meal from these vegetables, the following could be used: Small grated carrots, chopped celery and tomato salad; cooked small beets, asparagus, and egg plant. It is all right to use a little butter, cream and salt for seasoning the vegetables. The salads are better without dressing except a small amount of oil or cream. Those who are overweight should not use much butter, oil or cream.

If you are employed while taking this course and find it necessary to carry your lunch, you will find that one of the wide-mouthed thermos bottles will keep the cooked vegetables warm. Raw vegetables may be wrapped while moist in oiled paper or packed in a glass container.

Make three meals a day of these vegetables, not using fruits, bread, meat, beverages or other foods during this time. It is a good plan to drink an average of a glass of water every half hour during the day. Use plenty of these vegetables; actually stuff yourself. This will provide plenty of bulky materials for your intestines and at the same time satisfy your hunger. Continue with the enemas and sponge baths morning and evening.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Anonymous Letters NG

Question—B. H. P. asks: "I have watched the paper every day expecting my question to be answered, but have not seen it. Now please tell me why I am not as good as anybody else and answer the question: I asked you " . . . .?" Now, I expect an answer in your column, or I will know your answers and questions are all made up by yourself."

Answer—I cannot agree to answer anonymous correspondence. If you had sent me your name and address, I would have given you a personal reply by mail. Your question contains words which are not suitable for being published in a newspaper although the question is quite suitable for a private answer.

Bread and Milk

Question—Mrs. Iva D. writes: "Please give me your opinion of bread and milk, either hot or cold, for luncheon."

Answer—If you will use melba toast in place of plain bread with the milk, you will find it more palatable and wholesome. It may be used either hot or cold, as you prefer.

Too Muscular?

Question—Miss W. writes: "My question is: 'How may I keep my flesh solid without becoming any more muscular?' I am too muscular already and have stopped playing basket ball on that account."

Answer—Do not worry about being too muscular. It is healthful to be muscular, and as you grow older the muscular condition will be rounded out so that it will not be noticeable. Keep right on with your athletics. Women athletes do not seem to be deformed by muscular development. Take Helen Wills for instance.

WORLD OIL MEN CONFER TODAY

Foreign Executives Arrive For Meetings

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—International oil executives will begin tomorrow a series of conferences regarded by them as having a direct bearing on the economic recovery of the world.

While declining to forecast the probable outcome of the conferences, J. B. A. Kessler, managing director of the Royal Dutch Shell group, said upon his arrival from Europe today that favorable action might have far-reaching consequences.

"The present crisis," he said, "is exclusively the result of a loss of confidence by the world in itself. An example of cooperation in the oil industry that would bring back prosperity to that industry and to its workers and shareholders, would, I am sure, be such an eye-opener for other industries as to what can be done by cooperation, that the result might well be the turning point in the present crisis."

American interests, particularly Socony-Vacuum and Standard Oil of New Jersey, are to meet with the Dutch Shell group in an effort to reach an agreement that would stabilize the export markets.

If a tentative agreement is reached, it is expected Soviet Russian executives will be asked to join the conferences.

Kessler emphasized, however, the agreements sought are in the nature of business contracts and not an attempt to control or regulate international markets.

Oil men point out that competition exists not only with the Russians but also between the American and English interests, and assert it will be no easy matter to adjust differences.

"What is needed," said Kessler, "is constructive cooperation instead of the desrtuctive dog-eat-dog method which is aggravating the crisis, and which must end in a reduction of the standard of living for everybody."

attend the Maskat temple open house at the close of the program. Mr. Boswell spoke on highway matters in the absence of Chairman J. S. Bridwell of the local chamber highway committee.

Junior C.-C. Entertains

Claude W. Stone of Oklahoma City was introduced as chairman of the visiting delegation and in turn presented Mr. Singletary, Dan Hogan, Dr. E. C. Moberly, Carl Magee and Emmett Barbee, members of the Sooner troup.

The entertainment was in charge of the Junior chamber of commerce of this city with the president, Don T. Haynes, presenting Bert Ripley as manager of the floor show.

The program offered Hal Hoffer in piano numbers, introduction of Miss Patrica Ward, Wichita Falls' "gypsy sweetheart" for the West Texas chamber convention this week, Sullivan and Ward in a clog dance act; Miss Margaret Fleming with a vocal solo and "Little Brother" in a dance routine.

The program closed with Mr. Ripley and assistants offering the stag party his interpretation of a carnival sideshow.

The Sooner delegation, including the Central High school band, brought a holiday spirit to Wichita Falls Tuesday afternoon with a parade through the business area while representatives of 61 Oklahoma City firms presented novelties to school children and their parents.

Kelly Greets Visitors

The novelties included small bells, pencils and whistles. The parade was marshalled by four motorcycle policemen of the local department and headed by the visiting band. The official West Texas Chamber of Commerce band, Paul Seeds Los Caballeros, followed in the line of march with the business men falling in line. Scores of Wichitans thronged the seven-block route.

The parade was climaxed with concerts by both musical organizations at the City National bank corner. President Albert E. Kelly of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce introduced Mayor C. J. Binn of Oklahoma City and Claude W. Stone of that city. Mr. Stone responded to Mr. Kelly's welcome address.

Mr. Kelly, Harry Hines, Horrace Robbins, and J. L. Jackson Jr., met the Sooner special train at Burkburnett, welcoming the visitors to the Wichita Falls area and accompanying them to this city. Headquarters of the visitors were set up in the Kemp hotel.

Impromptu concerts by the visiting band followed the parade ceremonies with The Record News office favored by several selections as the musicians toured the business area.

The Sooners were guests of Maskat temple, following the banquet program at the Shrine auditorium on invitation of Potentate Sydney A. Gaines. Musical numbers offered included violin and piano selections by Mrs. J. E. Hall and Miss Annette Walsh. Misses Dorothy Nolen and Marguerite Fisher were in charge of other entertainment acts.

LABOR MEET HEARS GRAGG

Industrial Structure Wrong, Says State Official

FORT WORTH, May 10. (AP)—The present industrial structure of this country is wrong in principle and must be razed in an orderly fashion and rebuilt to include a social conscience and industrial morality providing for the welfare of the worker as well as the industry, R. B. Gragg, Austin, state labor commissioner, told the Texas State Federation of Labor convention today.

"Until industry is placed on a basis which will provide for the mutual welfare of all concerned instead of its present single motive of profit, we will continue to have the sort of economic trouble from which we are suffering at this time," Gragg said.

The 200 labor delegates began the second day's sessions this morning and it became apparent, from the large volume of business yet to come before the convention, that the sessions will continue through Friday.

Besides Commissioner Gragg the speakers included Pat Doyle, Dallas, national representative of the stereotypers and electrotypers union; John B. Schulte, Dallas; A. Gordon, Baltimore, Md., general organizer for the United Garment Workers of America, and Mrs. J. T. Williams, Denison, representative of the garment workers.

In his address, Gragg urged the enactment of the proposed law to provide a minimum wage for women and children and advocated revision of most of the present labor laws to strengthen them.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, May 10. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Sluggishness of eastern dressed beef trade continues to lend a depressing influence to the liveweight department and values at most centers were quoted as weak to 25c lower. Majority of fed steers and yearlings were of medium to good quality and sold within a range of $5@6.25 with a few loads of better grades at $6.50@7.35. Heifers and mixed yearlings moved at steady to 25c lower figures with a range of $4.50@5.25 taking the bulk and a few up to $5.50. Values on stockers and feeders were little changed. Accumulated arrivals at 11 markets numbers 83,600 as compared with 97,019 last week.

Increased receipts, together with a slow outlet for dressed pork at eastern markets, influenced a general 10-20c decline in hogs.

Even though receipts of sheep at 11 markets was some 12,000 under a week ago, the supply proved burdensome and values for lambs declined 25-50c. Desirable wooled skins moved at $5.25@6.50 while clippers made $5@5.75. Springers bulked at $6.75@7.75 with a few up to $7.85.

CHICAGO, May 10. (INS)—Hogs—Receipts 23,000; 10c lower. Top $3.70; bulk $3.20@3.60; heavy $3.20@3.50; medium $3.40@3.65; light $3.45@3.70; light lights $3.40@3.65; packing sows $2.50@3; pigs $3@3.50. Holdovers 4,000.

Cattle—Receipts 8,000; steady. Calves 2,000; steady. Beef steers, choice $6.50@7.50; medium $4.50@6.50; yearlings $5.25@7.50. Butchers: Heifers $3.50@6.50; cows $2.50@4.50; bulls $2.50@4.00; calves $4@6.50; feeder steers $4.50@5.75; stocker steers $4.00@5.50; stocker cows and heifers $3.00@4.00.

Sheep—Receipts 10,000; steady. Lambs $6.[illegible]; common $4@5; spring $7@8; yearlings $4.50@5.50; feeders $4.50@5.75; ewes $1@2.50.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 10. (AP)—Cattle—Receipts 800. Calves—Receipts 100; steady; stronger prices asked; top yearlings $5.60, good choice beef cows, grain finish, $3@3.50; mixed and heifer yearlings, $5@5.50; bulk butcher heifers, $3@4.50; good vealers, heavy calves, $5@5.50; in-between calves, $3@4.50; plain kinds, $1.50@2.50; stockers and feeders slow.

Hogs—Receipts 2,500; major killer account to new low peak of $3.10; extreme top, $3.20; bulk $2.85 up; sows and stags, $2@2.50.

Sheep—Receipts 800; spring lambs 25c off to $6.15 top; clipped and wooled lambs off 50c to $5.00 top; yearlings off 50c to $4.00 top.

FORT WORTH, May 10. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Hogs—Receipts 800; truck hogs 10 to 15c lower; no rail hogs; truck top, $3.25 to small killers; bulk good to choice 180 to 240-pound truck hogs, $3.10@3.25; packing sows, $2.25@2.50 or steady.

Cattle—Receipts 2,000. Calves—Receipts 400; about steady; some weakness in slaughter steers with packer demand quiet; good fed yearlings, $5@5.40; part load to $6.75; good strong weight steers on order, $5.40; part load to $5.50; fat cows, $3@3.25; butcher grades, $2.50; heavy butcher bulls, $2@2.35; good stock cows, $3.00; heavy fat calves, $4.75@5.00; very good medium weights, $5.50.

Sheep—Receipts 6,500; spring lambs steady, aged wethers weak to 25c lower; medium shorn lambs steady to weak, bidding 25c lower for good lambs; good spring lambs, $5@5.25; medium shorn lambs, $4@4.50; good aged fat wethers, $1.50. Late Monday, good shorn fed lambs sold at $4.85.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—Cotton fluctuated within a range of 8 or 9 points during today's trading with an early decline in response to relatively easy cables followed by rallies on some trade buying and covering.

After selling at 5.59 early, July advanced to 5.67 and closed at 5.63, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 1 to 3 points.

There was not much comment on the weather news which indicated some further light rains or showers in Texas, and traders evidently found no particular inspiration in that direction, although there may have been a little selling early on talk of favorable crop progress in most sections of the belt. Advices from Texas, said the demand for spot cotton was quieter, except for certificated cotton at the ports which came largely from Japanese interests.

Futures closed steady, 1 to 3 points lower. May, 5.53; July, 5.63; Oct., 5.87-88; Dec., 6.02; Jan., 6.10; March, 6.26-27. Spot, quiet; middling, 5.70.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 10. (AP)—Cotton was moderately active today and prices fluctuated narrowly developing no special trend, and closing at net declines of 1 to 4 points. Traders seemed disposed to hold off for the action of congress and business was confined to evening up with some trade buying and a little hedge selling.

Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 2 to 3 penny points up.

Port receipts 8,150, for week 20,471, for season 9,527,931, last season 8,757,459. Exports 13,066, for week 28,947, for season 7,487,973, last season 5,976,373. Port stock 4,028,259, last year 3,458,554. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 83,267, last year 46,941.

Spot sales at southern markets, 4,137, last year 6,011.

Futures closed steady at net declines of 1 to 4 points.

Stocks And Bonds Assume Better Tone As Stability Rules Markets

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 10. (US)—Stability ruled both in bonds and stocks today. Price changes were modest and trading was on a restricted scale.

The markets were thoroughly satisfying to the genuinely constructive forces, those who are willing to exercise patience at this stage of the readjustment in order that lasting stability may be achieved. Absence of heavy selling was quite in keeping with the desires of those who have been insisting that dullness would discourage unnecessary liquidation, while permitting the orderly completion of necessitous sales.

Fluctuations throughout the day were extremely limited, but the net result was impressive if viewed in the light of the day's developments.

There was, for example, the disappointing steel corporation unfilled tonnage report, disclosing a decline during April of larger extent than had been anticipated.

The weekly carloadings figures also failed to show any change in trend, even though the decrease was below preliminary guesses.

Turnover in stocks amounted to 700,000 shares.

Drop of 145,000 tons in the unfilled orders of U. S. Steel emphasizes the intensity of the depression as affecting the heavy industries. It also suggested to important interests the entire possibility of still another wage reduction in the steel trade. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem and other units in the industry have just made their second cut in less than a year's time, lowering wage scales from the 1931 peak about 23½ per cent.

This question of further wage adjustments was further enlivened by the remarks of the Delaware & Hudson's president. He characterized not only railroad wages as too high "but also all prices, and freight rates, too." Various railway officials have publicly conceded the probability they will seek to lower the wages and salaries of unorganized employees. The 10 per cent wage reduction for organized railway labor was to last a year, but unless conditions change for the better it is very obvious that the railroads not only will resist any attempt to re-establish former higher rates, but may make every effort to effect another reduction.

The wage readjustment movement has gone further than is publicly realized, since many cuts are never announced beyond the confines of those immediately affected. Banking powers have right along insisted that wage scales must be reduced in conformity with commodities and other costs of production. The securities markets are not at all frightened by these prospects; in fact, they are pleased with the possibilities.

Bonds remained firm, and this was far more satisfactory to the long term viewpoint than the calmness in stocks.

The latter market was prepared for further unfavorable dividend actions, such as omission of the New York Central dividend at tomorrow's meeting of its directors, and probable reduction in the Union Pacific payment and perhaps in the Eastman Kodak distribution.

As the stock exchange closed, the government's wheat forecast appeared, estimating a smaller crop than had been expected a month ago.

Perhaps the outstanding item of the day was the estimate by the bank for international settlements that $6,000,000,000 of short term international indebtedness had been liquidated during 1931.

This represents 60 per cent of the total international short term debt estimated to have existed at the beginning of last year.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 10. (AP)—Enlarged export business in North American wheat, together with broadening of famine advices from parts of Russia, had a strengthening effect on grain values today.

United States government crop estimates issued after trading was over were construed as decidedly bullish, the 1932 yield of winter wheat forecast, 440,771,000 bushels, being far less than the average private estimates, 463,000,000.

Russia bought three new cargoes of Canadian wheat for immediate shipment to Vladivostok, making eight cargoes from Canada since Wednesday and three cargoes from Australia. It was estimated 1,500,000 bushels of North American wheat were taken today for overseas, including some hard winter wheat from the United States.

With evening up operations in progress to prepare for the government crop report this afternoon, wheat closed irregular, ⅛@¼c off to ½c up compared to yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to ⅜c higher, oats ⅛@¼c advanced, and provisions varying from 10c decline to a rise of 12c.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, ay 53⅛, 56⅛; July 55¼@⅝, 59⅝; Sept. 57⅝, 60⅝@⅝; Dec. 61, 63⅝@64. Corn, July, 31⅞@32; 33⅛; Sept. 34⅛@35⅛@⅝; Dec. 34⅝, 35⅛.

Shriners Hear Lecture On 'Dental Hygiene'

Dr. V. E. Wratten presented a detailed discussion of "Dental Hygiene" at the Tuesday meeting of the Shrine Luncheon club at the Wichita club, declaring dental defects ranked second in causes of rejection of men for the army in the world war.

Dr. Wratten urged the importance of careful supervision of dental care in the public schools, pointing out that children should be reached while young. Over 40 diseases of children may be traced to bad teeth, the speaker said.

The luncheon was announced as "politicians day" by Dr. W. B. Adams, president, and members of the club offered proxy campaign pleas for local candidates. Sheriff Perry Browning was presented by K. C. Spell; George Lawler, candidate for justice of the peace, by Kindel Paulk; Wayne Somerville, candidate for district judge, by Guy Rogers; and Judge W. L. Bass by Sydney A. Gaines.

Recorder Al Ellis discussed plans for the spring ceremonial on May 31 and Mr. Gaines announced a bridge tournament for women Tuesday afternoon.

Loot Valued at $35 Recovered by Police

Activity of Detectives Luke Hart and O. A. Roberson Tuesday resulted in recovery of radio tools and equipment, valued at $35, from a second hand store on Seventh street, police reports said. The property was taken March 10 from the parked car of George Bohanon. No arrest was made in connection with the case but officers were continuing an investigation.

The uninsured 1930 model Ford sedan, reported stolen by L. C. Fickland, 2012 Garfield, was recovered burned and stripped seven miles from Wichita Falls on the Seymour road Tuesday. The car was taken from 2011 Elizabeth early Monday afternoon.

Loss of two automobile tubes from a car parked in the 700 block on Scott was reported to police by H. W. Fillmore, 1709 Speedway, Tuesday afternoon.

Milk Grades Will Not Be Lowered, Official Says In Controversy Here

There has been no intention of lowering the rating of any grade of milk produced in Wichita county dairies, Dr. R. B. Wolford, city physician, said Tuesday night. Dairies producing grade A milk without the use of running water in dairy barns still have the grade A rating, Dr. Wolford said.

"In an announcement April 24, I advised dairy owners of Wichita county to comply with the state health law requiring running water in dairies in getting ready for a visit by a state inspector," Dr. Wolford added.

A committee was named by directors of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce Tuesday morning to confer with city officials and to request leniency on any laws concerning dairying, not enforced in the past. E. M. Crump was named chairman.

The action was taken following an announcement last week that the Retail Merchants association would aid farmers in the situation created when attention was called to the law on running water.

Lou Gehrig Wins Verdict In Auto Accident Suit

NEW YORK, May 10. (INS)—Lou Gehrig, Yankee first baseman, today won a $40,000 damage suit filed against him by Mrs. Anna Stelze, who was injured four years ago when Gehrig's automobile, driven by his mother, crashed through a fence. A jury in supreme court rendered a verdict in favor of the ball player.

HERE'S THE QUALITY TIRE
within reach of all!

Of course you want quality when you buy tires. You want all the safety, all the sturdy strength, all the long life and trouble-free mileage a dollar can buy.

And you get quality in Goodyear Pathfinders — millions of people like yourself know that from happy experience. Because it has always been "the quality tire within the reach of all" — Goodyear Pathfinder is one of the big reasons for Goodyear popularity.

Now look what these tires cost today. There's no need to tell you that quality has never been so low-priced — the figures shown here make you ask yourself: Why be satisfied with second-choice tires when first-choice tires cost no more?

SIX PLIES?
You can count six layers of cord fabric here, but the first two under the tread do not run from bead to bead. Some tire-makers count these as "plies," but they are really "breaker strips," so we call them that
