Rambles
Over the County

J. W. L. COOK
The Leader's Rambling Editor

Well, the fair is over and everybody went home happy. All three days were nice and fair. The attendance was good every day—but Saturday was the big day. It is said there were more people on the grounds than was ever there at any time before. Every one seemed to enjoy the day and were pleased with the exhibits. We heard several remark that they did not expect to find so much good farm products on account of the dry weather. One man said the exhibit was the finest we ever had at any fair in the county.

* * *

There were six communities competing for the community exhibit prizes—Lillie, Fresno, Quail, Dozier, Lutie and Lone Mound. All the displays were fine and it put the judges to their best work to decide who would win. Lone Mound wont first prize, Lillie won second and Lutie won third.

The Rambler put in his time shaking hands with friends and acquaintances and writing subscriptinon to the Welligton Leader. We find from our notes we took quite a list of renewals and new subscribers, both in the city and out over the whole county. Each one that was taken this week received a History of Collingsworth County and Other Stories.

* * *

H. Lacy of the Buck Creek district was at the fair. He and his family seemed to be well pleased with the fair this year. Mr. Lacy was one of the first men to set up his subscription two years and take advantage of the present of a History.

* * *

There were several others during the week that took advantage of a two year subscription to get a free History of the County. We give a full list of those who subscribed for the Leader this week:Dr. F. V. Walker, H. Melton, Dr. F. C. Murray, A. W. Atkinson, T. B. Starkey, Judge P. W. Myers, Claudge Savage, F. O.

PICKERS FOR . . . COTTON CROP NEEDED NOW

Collingsworth oCunty Needs Many Pickers to Take Care of Opening Crop

Collingsworth County is in need of cotton pickers. Although the heavy rains may make the need less urgent for a week, they will only increase the demand when the weather does clear up. Over ten thousand bales will be ready to pick by Oct. 1 if pickers can be secured. The nominal estimate of thirty thousand bales is beginning to look too small to many people since the reports from the crops in the northern part of the county have started coming.

There are hundreds of farmers who need pickers right now. They have cotton that offers excellent opportunities to any picker who wants good patches and good wages. Due to the intensive plowing to pull the cotton through the dry weather practically all the fields are clean and this is another advantage to the pickers. Efforts are being made to get the pickers into the county and it is believed that plenty will be here in time to gather all of the crop while it still is in good condition.

The passenger train each day as it pulls into the station yards is met with throngs of people, looking for cotton pickers, there are many white people coming to this country to work, as well as the negro. One farmer states that his force has gathered three bales, and have several more open, if we can only get some favorable weather, the cotton will open very fast and with the number of pickers in the community the ten gins will soon be running day and night, for there is plenty of cotton.

HAS COTTON THAT WILL MAKE BALE TO THE ACRE

T. M. Hilt who lives northwest of Wellington between here and Hedley has thirty acres of cotton that will produce a bale and half to the acre, he says. R. K. Hilt who lives nearby has a crop that will average 3-4 of a bale to the acre. W. W. Stewart also of that community has a crop that will make about the same amount. G. R. Cunningham of Plymouth has a crop that will average over half a bale to the acre it is reported. If the weather only permits, Collingsworth County certainly is going to have the cotton this fall.

Bean School To Open October 5

Mrs. Wallis W. Wells, who is a graduate of John Tarleton A. & M. College at Stephenville will open the Bean school October 5. Something over thirty six pupils have already enrolled. The trustees of the Bean school figure on having a seven months school according to Robert J. (Bob) White. Mrs. Wells is the daughter of W. I. Wilkins who is now located at Ralls as superintendent of the public schools there and who was formerly professor in the John Tarleton College. She was married last July to Mr. Wallis Wels who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wells.

The trustees of the Bean school feel that they have been very fortunate in securing a teacher of Mrs. Wells' ability to conduct their school for them during the coming term. Mrs. Marvin Somerville, who is teaching at Grassburr this year was in charge of the Bean school last year. She made an excellent record, and it is thought that the high standard of work will be cont inued and even bettered this year.

Collingsworth County Fair is Success

Officials Estimate Attendance at More Than 14,000

Lone Mound, Lillie And Lutie Have Best Community Exhibits

Collingsworth County's Fifth Annual Fair was a great success in many ways, according to the concensus of opinion of visitors who attended it. Fair officials state that the fair was a success financially and that a bigger and better fair will be held next year.

The greatest thing the fair did was to bring the 14,000 people of the county together to see the handiwork of their friends and neighbors and to encourage them to improve their products.

Chief among the twenty-one exhibit booths in the exhibition hall were the community exhibits. Lone Mound won first place, but it was a hard matter for the judges to decide which was the best among the Lone Mound, Lillie and Lutie exhibits. Fine exhibits of grain ,fruit and many other agricultural products were shown. T. R. Braun of Wheeler oCunty and L. T. Hunter of Childress County judged these exhibits.

Next in point of interest was the Home Demonstration Girls booth, which was decorated by Home Demonstration Agent Miss Peggy Hill. In this exhibition Miss Hazel Haralson, 13, won the greatest number of prizes, winning six first prizes and one second prize out of the seven entries made. Misses Katherine and Evelyn McMinn also had outstanding exhibits and will be taken to other fairs of the state, according to iMss Hill. Miss Ollie Terry, home demonstration agent of Wheeler County judged this work.

A whiskey flask that was over 325 years old attracted much attention in the antique deaprtment. A Bible over two hundred years old was on display by Mrs. J. O. Wells, who exhibited the whiskey flask.

Outstanding work in the art department was exhibited by Mrs. A. B. Smith, who showed a number of different pieces. A vase done in enamels won the sweepstake prize. The design for this vase was taken from a tapestry patern by Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Ruth Thurmond, about eighty years old, exhibited two oil paintings of memory scenes in southwest Texas, and attracted much attention and favorable comment. Mrs. C. C. Small exhibited some exceptionally beautiful work in this department.

Mrs. J. G. Gardner was the most consistant winner in the culinary department, winning 10 prizes. Mrs. John Bullington and Mrs. J. C. Hampton also won a number of prizes in this department.

Mrs. E. J. Johnson of Wellington exhibited outstanding specimens in the textile department, all of her exhibits of sewing and needle work winning first places. Mrs. Lee Hayden of College Station, who judged this department, stated that the work of Mrs. Johnson was some of the most beautiful she had ever seen..

The Wellington Leader also put on an exhibition booth that was decorated with the twenty-four page fair edition and with a History of Collingsworth County, which was written and printed by the staff of the Wellington Leader. This history aroused much favorable comment from the many people who saw it during the fair.

A great deal of interest was also shown in the livestock, both by exhibitors and citizens of the county. Although a rather small number of stock were entered, all entries were of fine stock.

In the hog division, Ed Howell showed the finest hog, "Buster's King" a Poland China Boar weighed 830 pounds, which received the grand champion prize. Howell also showed a number of other hogs. Other prize winners in this division were Misch Dukeminier and Arthur Hudson.

R. J. Holland of Dodsonville won prizes in the cattle exhibits, winning grand champion prize on Hoosier-Wilson, 2,000 pound Hereford bull and also on grand champion cow, Lucy. A large number of entries were made in this department in Jerseys in which J. O. Wells won first. Some fine Holsteins, Guernesys and Shorthorns were also shown.

Over one hundrde fowls were exhibited in the poultry department, with honors equally divided between exhibitors in all seven classes of chickens. A fine group of fowls were shown by Leroy Stafford, owner of the Silver Crest Poultry Farm.

The rodeo held at the Collingsworth County Fair was adjudged by popular opinion to be the best ever held here. Some of the best rodeo performers of the country were seen here. Ruth Roberts, world champion woman steer rider, performed on all three days of the rodeo and won her share of applause by her trick riding and steer riding.

Ed Smith of Wellington won fame by defeating the best ropers of the five adjoining counties in calf roping and in winning first money in the free for all roping contests, in which he defeated a number of expert ropers. His best time was twenty-two seconds. Pete Carter won first in the goat roping, tying his goat in 13 seconds.

E. A. Gaston' race horse showed a clean pair of heels to everything that got on the race track during the three days of races. The Gaston horse was brought in with a stock saddle on it in the first race and was allowed to enter as a cow pony in the quarter mile race, in which he beat Calvin Sugg, riding Dan Patch, by a length. Gaston came out with his sleek race horse at his best in the free for all half mile race and won that with Rex Warren second. He also won the three eighths mile race on the second day. Degraftenreid won the relay race easily, winning by a hundred yards on Dan Patch, the cow pony that ran in the quarter mile race.

J. C. Watson of Wellington won first place in both five mile races for Ford stock cars in his Ford roadster. Watson held it wide open all the way and used his head as well as his car in winning.

In the ten mile automobile race Fred Gerlach showed some exceptional bursts of speed in his high powered racer and came out more than a lap ahead of the field. F. D. Gifford won second in this race.

The bull dogging and riding of Beasely of Fort Worth won applause time after time from the packed stands. Beasley showed plenty of nerve and not a little ability in the many events he entered.

Rodeo Director John Loter endeared himself to the sports loving people of this county by the way in which he directed the amusements, which were continuous from 1:30 p. m. until after 5 p. m. eevry day.

Large crowds attended the carnival that showed the three days of the fair. Kid Whittington, local lightweight fighter, won easily from the carnival fighter and knocked him down almost a will. Wittington has beaten some very good fighter that he has met and has not been defeated.

Due to the incompleteness of records in several departments a large number of prize winners may not be given in the list below. The Leader will be glad to learn of any prize winner and particulars about the winning exhibit that has not received mention in this story.

It is also agreed that this gas will be furnished users at 75 cents per thousand cubic feet. Piping will be laid by the company to all users, which will make gas a much cheaper fuel than those now in use, and will be available to many homes of the county.

BACK HURT BAD

Lady Had Severe Pains in Back and Got Very Weak.

"I think very highly of Cardui for I have had great benefit from its use," says Mrs. Cora Nicholson, of Ware Shoals, S. C.

"I was in bed quite a while. It looked like my strength would not come back, and I suffered with severe pains in my back whenever I would try to get up. Sometimes I would scream out, my back hurt me so bad.

"My husband got me some Cardui and I took two bottles. Very shortly after I began to take it I could notice I felt better. I began to get stronger. My appetite was improving and I could see that I was much better.

"After I had finished the second bottle I was able to be up and do all my own housework, so of course I think Cardui is fine. It is the best tonic for women that I know anything about, and I am glad to recommend it. Not long ago I told a lady friend of mine about it, and it did her as much good as it has done for me."

Masten, I. T. Goodnight, Mrs. D. M. Dowdy, J. T. Clay, W. T. Cherry, R. L. Wood, H G. Haning, M. D. McInnis, C. W. Roberts, Dr. Ed Beck, Jake Tarter, Otto Buerger, S. C. Sommerville, D. W. O'Briant, A. F. Wischkaemper, R. L. Darrow, B. D. Burden, R. O. Gregory, J. A. Kellar, F. E. Ming, W. L. Cooper, C. H. Caperton, W. A. Parsons. These were taken by the Rambler while other members of the Leader staff were busy taking subscriptions, a list of which we do not have at hand.

* * *

We met many old friends from different part of the county during the fair. It would be impossible to name all, so we will not undertake to name only those that we have noted as subscribers.

* * *

The fair was voted a success by every one we heard express themselves. The stock show was far ahead of last year and the chicken exhibit was fine. In rambling around over the grounds we noticed some very busy people working like trogans at their different jobs. The officers of the fair were kept busy from early morning until late at night. The police were ever on the alert keeping the passways open and things straight generally. The Rodeo managers kept a good program gonig all the time. Everyone seemed to be pleased with the afternoon programs. Everything was good even to the clown. So let's begin now to work for a still better fair next year. We have as good a county as any in Texas. We have good cattle, horses, hogs and chickens, in fact we have as good products of all kind as any place, let's co-operate. Let's everybody do their best to make the 1926 fair better in every way than the one just closed.

* * *

The Rambler will be in the field again before the fall season closes and remember we are the Rambling Editor of the Wellington Leader. We are out after news and while we are are hunting news we are taking subscriptions, renewal and ads of any and all kinds. Remember we are still giving The History of Collingsworth County and Other Stories as a premium with the Leader. For one year's subscription from date of sale we give the History for fifty cents extra or for $2.50 for the Leader and History. Or for two years from sale or four dollars we give a History free.

Is This a Cattle County?

IN AN EXCELLENTLY worded article on the County fair the Star Telegram says that Collingsworth County in a cattle coun try, always has been and alway will be. This valuable item of publicity will not strike the right key for many farmers of east Texas who have been planning on moving here during the coming fall and winter. They have heard of this county as a fertile farming land that never fails to make crops, and it will be disconcerting to learn that this is a cattle country.

Collingsworth County is not a cattle country, and it never will be. Last year over 44,000 bales of cotton were ginned in this county, and only a few cars of cattle were shipped out. Ask Mr. Beggs, Mr. Birchfield, Mr. Loter, Mr. Bailey, Mr. Henard or any of the old cattlemen if this is a cattle country and find out what they say. There may be a good number of cows in the coun ty, but over half of them are stripped of their bucket or so of milk twice daily and could not be used as evidence to prove that this is a cattle country.

The article further says that Wellington still is in spirit the capital of the northern cattle country which it was in fact 50 years ago when it was headquarters for the great holdings of the English land and cattle syndicate headed by Lord Aberdeen. If the genial and prosperous looking writer of that article has viisted The Leader office as he was invited to do—aye there's the rub—he might have learned from "A History of Collingworth County and Other Stories" that Aberdeen and not Wellington was the headquarters for the Englishman's ranch and that it was not established until 1883.

This is not meant to find fault with the splendid article in the Star Telegram, for a newspaper writer on a daily, probably is supposed to be allowed a certain license in order to give a news story the proper color. This is written as an advertisement for "A History of Collingsworth County and Other Stories." A copy of this book has been mailed to the Star Telegram.

Pickers Needed

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY needs cotton pickers. The cotton is opening earlier this year than usual, and the farmers are facing a labor shortage. The county will produce over thirty thousand bales this year, and it will take considerable more pickers than the county has at present to gather the crop. Next week the pickers will be needed urgently.

Impressions Without Comment

THE COLLINGSWORTH County fair has come and gone—a credit to its promoters, a financial success, and a revealation of the prosperity of certain communities.

The fair conveyed different impressions to different people, and the time of attendance had a bearing on the sensations of the fair attendants.

Smiling farmers and their eager faced wives arranging exhibits, clean inviting booths of sorghum, maize, corn, watermelons, beans, cotton, jelly, eggs, and everything else from the farm snuggled against attractive backgrounds, neat and useful exhibits of the clubs, beautiful paintings, dainty fancy work, appetizing looking cakes and candy, the gaudy but surely enticing booth of the Wellington Leader, the lifeless carnival grounds, the grazing rodeo horses, peace and the feeling of something good to come—that was the Collingsworth County Fair Thursday morning.

A sweating mob, dust, automobiles, bucking horses, cowboys with their shirt tails out, a box full of money at the gate, the smell of hamburgers, a girl in a purple dress wearing a ribbon with a sign, sticky faced children, the voices of the carnival, a pop corn hawker, a woman of the carnival enticing more than middle aged men to throw at stuffed dolls, girls, a man with a leather neck that twisted in folds when he turned his head, a cowboy covered with dirt and stained with sweat on a horse far more beautiful than he, tired gentle eyed women of the farms, joyous faced prize winners, an eager jam around a Ford car, loose mouthed women, hungry eyed men, ten thousand people spending fifteen thousand dollars—that was the Collingsworth County Fair Saturday afternoon.

Old Age—

Norma Talmadge, who lives a whole lifetime in one film for the first time in her varied experience, is all of these in "Secrets," a vehicle that calls for the most difficult characterization of her career.

And if we are to believe the preview accounts, and that isn't so hard in view of past performances, the emotional Noma is just as charming in the one age as the other.

The story starts in England, goes back of the heroine's diary to the romantic days of the 1860's, moves to the frontier of Western America, and winds up where it began in the London of modern times.

Thus it is that four different Norma Talmadge's, in four different periods, appear in the First National picture coming to the Rialo Wednesday and Thursday, September 23 and 24.

There is Norma the London school school girl in billowing crinolines, a capricious young peeress, who elopes with her father's clerk on a high wheel bicycle in 1865 and sails for America.

There is Norma, the young wife and mother, pioneering in a far-off Wyoming cabin—a fighting Norma who takes pistol in hand and aligns herself with the men who battle to save her husband and babe from an outlaw band.

Next there is the Norma of middle age, back in London in the 1870's. This time the little mother, who lost her first born in the bleak foothills of the Rockies, is seen in the settings of luxury as the matron of a growing family. She is still the fighting mother, but fighting this time to save her inconstant husband from disgracing himself in an intrigue with a notorious beauty. Just as she fought for her infant in far-away Wyoming, so Norma battles again for her home and her children—and her husband's love.

And lastly ,there is Norma, aged, wrinkled, white-haired, marked by the battles of life but withal still beautiful, who sits at the bedside of husband, doing her best to help him fight off death—and succeeding.

The whole story is splendid glorification of the steadfast love and unshaken loyalty of a good wife, and of all the pictures in which she has appeared Norma says she likes "Secrets" best.

"It's a story of the days of our granddaddies and grandmother with such an appealing theme," says the star. "At times, while working on the set, I imagined I was really the little mother of the story and had a good cry then and there. And with an orchestra playing old time melodies it isn't so difficult to cry as one would think."

Eugene O'Brien, last seen with Norma Talmadge in "The Voice From the Minaret" is again her leading man in "Secrets". Prominent in the cast also are Gertrude Astor, Patterson Dial, Emily Fitzroy, George Nichols, Alice Day, May Giraci, Percy Williams, Frank Elliott, Clarissa Selwyn, George Cowl, Charles Ogle, Harvey, Clark, Florence Wicks, Winter Hall and Clyde Tracy.

Frank Borzage, director of "Humoresque," directed "Secrets," which was adapted to the screen by Frances Marion from the successful Sam Harris stage play in which Margaret Lawrence, Rudolph Bessier and May Edginton wrote the stage play.
