Scattered Rain to Two Inches Falls Monday

Collingsworth's hot, dry weather was punctuated Monday night, July 21, by scattered showers that ranged from a 2-inch downpour in the Arlie community to "just enough to settle the dust" in the west part of the county.

The Wellington area ranged from one to two-tenths of an inch.

A strip east and southeast of Wellington had around an inch. This began a few miels east of town, and in the area where the J. B. Killian, Carthel Lewis, Bob Sessions and Earl Janes farms at Fresno. Farther southeast, Truett Holland reported an inch and a half.

Dodson, however, reecived only one-half inch. The rainfall got heavier south of town until the two-inch downpour was recorded at Arlie, and as much as two and a half inches east of that community. H. R. Mayhugh got a good cotton shower at Loco, but an inch of rain east of there.

Rainfall in the Quail area measured about .10, according to Loyd Langley, and 7 miles north of there the Ross Ranch reported .20.

South of Quail, similar reports were received. L. W. Hartman reported about .15, Travis McGuire of Buck Creek .20, and L. A. Davis at Rolla not more than that amount.

North of Salt Fork River, the Lutie community received approximately .40.

Two miles east of there, Marvin Knoll measured .20, but a short distance to the north,

Growers Get $63,000 in Wheat-ACP Money

More than $63,000 in payments have been made to Collingsworth farmers under the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Program since July 1, Millard Brown, manager, announced this week.

Wheat growers received just over $29,000 last week, part of the amount due on domestic marketing certificates for the 1969 wheat crop, Mr. Brown said.

This is only part of the money to be received and represents payment to growers who participated in the government wheat program only and not in the feed grain program.

Data sheets on farms with both wheat and feed grain allotments are now being submitted to the New Orleans office of the ASCS, where payment is computed and drafts are prepared.

The marketing certificates are being figured on the basis of $1.52 per bushel on the projected yield of the domestic allotment, or 40% of the grower's total allotment. This will make up the difference between the parity price and the loan rate on domestic wheat.

Data sheets are also being submitted on farms with cotton and feed grain allotments, but payments on these will not be made until after Sept. 2, Mr. Brown said.

"We want to encourage farmers to come in and make certification as early as they can," he urged.

Aug. 15 is the final date for certifying cotton and feed grain diverted acres, and this is 15 days earlier than last year.

Additional money received by the Wellington ASCS office is for ACP or conservation practice payments, and these now total $34,278.42. More payments are expected within a few days.

Wellington Band Director, Board Member Resign

The resignation of a high school faculty member and a member of the school board were announced this week by Supt. J. L. Harper.

Neither has been replaced.

Wayne Tucker, director of the Wellington school bands during the 1968-69 school year, resigned to become director of the Lampasas School bands. He came here from Carrollton, where he was an assistant band director.

Mrs. Tucker taught at Estelline.

Eddie Slay, who has been a member of the school board for about four years, offered his resignation at its meeting Monday, July 14.

Mr. Slay was appointed to fill an unexpired term, then was elected to a term that would have expired in April, 1970.

One Month of Hundred Degree Heat Recorded

Temperature this week dropped to the lowest point in a month, when it registered 96 degrees on Monday, July 21 and 95 degrees on Tuesday, according to Clifford Throne of the weather station.

Only two other days of below 100-degree weather was recorded, 98 on June 26 and again on July 11.

The highest temperature recorded this summer was on June 28, when 107 degrees was reached. July 14 saw 105 degrees, and 104 was recorded on June 22, and again July 16 and 17. There were 10 days when the temperature at the City Water Wells, where the station is located, was an even 100 degrees.

Orval Couches Visit Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Couch of Homer, La., were here from Monday until Wednesday morning, as house guests of their former next-door neighbor, Mrs. Lowell Wells, and to visit friends.

Mr. Couch helped to organize the Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, and was its manager for many years. He holds a similar position at Homer, which is in northern Louisiana.

That area is becoming industrialized unbelievably fast in the last five years, Mr. Couch said, and new lakes are attracting many to the area.

Their son, Lynn Couch, now lives in Kansas City, and he and his wife have three daughters, their own daughter, Carolyn, William R. Stoutt, and a small daughter.

Wellington Travelers, Inc. New Name of Mobile Home Firm

Wellington Travelers, Inc., is the new name of the Wellington-based plant manufacturing travel trailers and small mobile homes.

Announcement of the name change came this week from Kenneth Maxwell, president and manager of the company.

Wellington Travelers, Inc., is now 100 percent locally owned and has severed its sales ties with Orbit Travelers, which opened here just four months ago he continued.

The new charter from the State of Texas, designating the name as Wellington Travelers, Inc., has been received, Mr. Maxwell said.

Kenneth Maxwell and his brother, Dean Maxwell, who is sales manager, announced other pertinent facts relating to the amazing growth of the company.

A handsome decal, "Wellingtno Travelers, Inc." will go on the back of all travel trailers and mobile homes, and in the center of a smooth panel at back will be a large "W".

—The twentieth employee has started to work for the company.

—Wellington Travelers, Inc., is operating with a backlog of orders. "We're scheduling three weeks ahead," said Kenneth Maxwell.

—A new model is in the design stage, a 23½ foot travel trailer. The two other models that have been so popular will be continued: the 35-foot mobile home and the 17-foot travel trailer.

—The business, which started in a 50-foot building in the 700 block of East Avenue, has expanded into four buildings with 100 feet frontage, most of them extending to the alley.

"You'd never believe it, but we're having traffic jams around here," said Maxwell. Because of the heavy traffic, the City of Wellington is working with Wellington Travelers to clear a vacant lot north of the plant for employee parking, and in the future there will be parallel parking only in front of the plant.

Wellington Travelers are now sold through the middle west and the southwest. And No. 45 will be completed this week and delivered to Houston.

A new dealer has been picked up at Grand Island, Nebra., and the last unit delivered was number six received by a dealer in Lufkin.

"Several dealers have had four or five travel trailers. Most of our work now is repeat orders, which is what we want," said Kenneth Maxwell.

Falls Bring Broken Bones

Four Women Injured In Separate Accidents

Three Wellington women have been hospitalized for injuries received in falls and a fourth entered St. Joseph's for treatment of an injury received on June 30.

Mrs. Millard Brown silpped on a small rug at her home and fell, breaking her left arm just below the shoulder, Mr. Brown said. The accident occurred Tuesday, July 15, and because of the location of the break, her arm cannot be put in a cast, he added.

Mrs. Grover Hunt received a broken hip when she also fell at her home Thursday, July 17. She was hospitalized at St. Joseph's until Monday, when she was transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo. Surgery may be performed later in the week, a friend of the family said.

Also on Thursday, Mrs. R. B. Lucas fell while buying groceries in a local store, her daughter, Mrs. Billy Gene Williams said. She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital and it is believed that no bones were

Mrs. T. E. Benge Dies Tuesday in Fort Worth

Mrs. T. E. Benge, who came to Wellington in 1902 with her husband, died in Fort Worth at 10:40 a.m. Tuesday, July 22. Only within the last six weeks had she been ill. Her home was 1805 6th Avenue in Fort Worth.

Services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Thursday at Shannon's South, 3015 Merida, in Fort Worth, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lester Benge, told The Wellington Leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Benge moved to Fort Worth 21 years ago, and he died in 1956.

Born in Murphresboro, Tenn., she was the former Irene Jarman. She and Mr. Benge were married about 1900.

They operated the Palace Drug Store here for many years, first on the east side of the square, and later at the southwest corner in the Small Building.

Mrs. Benge was a devoted member of the First Baptist Church and the Domestic Science Club.

Surviving Mrs. Benge are her son, Lester Benge of Fort Worth; two grandsons, Bill Benge of Fort Worth and A. J. Clower, Jr., of Fall Brook, Calif.; and three great grandsons, Brooke and Bret Benge of Fort Worth and Craig Clower of Fall Brook. Her daughter, Mrs. A. J. Clower, died a number of years ago.

Mrs. Joe Hemphill of Oklahoma City is a niece.

Hagan, Qualls

Two SCS Staff Men to Enter Private Business

A staff member of the Soil Conservation Service, and a former member, have resigned and both plan to enter farming or farm-related businesses.

Lynn Hagan has resigned effective Monday, July 28, he said this week.

He and his family will move to Carbon, near Eastland, and he will go into livestock raising, utilizing coastal bermuda and love grass ranges.

During the year he has been with the Wellington SCS office, Mr. Hagan worked with farm and ranch planning and the administration of the Great Plains Conservation Program.

He was a junior Sunday School teacher in the First Baptist Church and worked in other church activities.

He and his wife have two small children, Denise, 3, and Dennis, 1. They came here from Brownwood.

Stephen Qualls, who was transferred from Wellington to the district SCS office in Pampa, was here over the Monday holiday and said he has turned in his resignation but will remain in the office through the remainder of 1969.

His present plans are to enter private business in southern Oklahoma.

He has been with the Soil Conservation Service four and a half years and came here from Seminole.

Qualls was president of the Quarterback Club and coached Youth baseball three years. He and his family were active in Friendship Baptist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Qualls have two sons, Ruben and Richard.

Arnett School Opens 1969-70 Term August 25

Arnett Schools will open the 1969-70 term Monday, Aug. 25, and this week Supt. Bob Copeland announced the schedule of events for the opening.

A teachers meeting has been called for Thursday morning, Aug. 21, and high school students will enroll Thursday afternoon. The schedule by grades will be given at a later date.

On Friday morning, Aug. 22, an assembly will be held, elementary students will enroll, and high school students will have their books issued and receive assignments.

Mr. Copeland also announced the faculty, which includes in elementary school Mrs. Gene Robertson, first and second grades; Mrs. Dennis Anders, third and fourth; Mrs. C. B. Carter, fifth and sixth; Miss Ann Eliot, seventh and eighth grades.

In high school, Mr. Copeland is coach as well as superintendent. Larry Powers is principal, coach and teaches social science; Lloyd Hays, math; Mrs. Hoyt Ellis, English; and Mrs. Lonnie Roberson, commerce.

Charles Seely Dies Thursday of Heart Attack

Charles Richard Seely, 44, of 1106 Haskell Street died at 8:35 a.m. Thursday, July 17, shortly after he was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital suffering from an apparent heart attack.

Mr. Seely had lived in Wellington 20 years and for a number of years had been employed by Gene Bawcom to do farm work.

He was born June 29, 1925, the son of H. W. and Laura Barns Seely.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Church of Christ with Minister Gaylord Cook officiating. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Leamon Bawcom, Kyle Lindley, Tommy Lindley, Delmer Turner, Gary Thomas and Carl Daves.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Margaruite Seely of Wellington; three sons and five daughters: Troy Seeley, Alfa Don Seely, Mrs. Michael Gilmore, Edith Hicks, Debbie Hicks, Sharlotte Hicks, and Ardia Seely, all of Wellington, and Sammy Hicks of Seattle, Wash.

Also surviving are five brothers and three sisters: Jack Seely, Carrol Seely, Calvin Seely, and Dub Seely of Fort Worth; Clois Seely of Blue Mountain; Mrs. Frances Kittrell of Thatcher, Ariz.; Mrs. G. D. Rodgers of Quincy, Ill.; and Mrs. Nell Fairchild of Amarillo.

Lift Off Seen

Moon Walk Described, Dodson to Cape Town

Two couples, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fires and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Graham, have their own special memories of the Apollo 11 flight to the moon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fires were at Lakeland, Fla., on a cattle buying trip. As he stood at a livestock sale barn Mr. Fires watched the huge Saturn Rocket rise higher and higher. The Rocket itself was visible, but mostly he saw the ball of fire that seemed to envelope it until it went out of sight.

Back at a motel in Laketon, Mrs. Fires tried to find a place where she might watch in the direction of the lift-off — but there were so many trees they hid the view.

Near Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Graham waited Sunday by their television to see Astronaut Neil Armstrong take his first step on the moon —just moments away.

A long distance call came from their son, Grover Royce Graham, in Cape Town, South Africa. After the usual family greetings, he said that he wasn't near a television ... and from a rural telephone, through Dodson, they described to their son on the opposite side of the world the actions of the first man on the moon, as he moved, step by step.

Grover Royce Graham, who is employed by Western Geophysical as a member of a marine seismograph crew, is on board one of the company ships and has surveyed down

Jaycees Host Area 1-B Work Forum Tuesday

Jaycees of Area 1-B were in Wellington Tuesday evening, July 22, for a monthly work forum.

Donald Settle of Wellington, a state director, was the principal speaker, discussing Jaycee activities on the state level.

Presidents of each club present reported on that group's July activities. Billy Wilkerson, Wellington Jaycee president, directed the meeting.

The meeting was held in the Farm Bureau Hospitality Room beginning at 8 p.m.

The Claude representatives were welcomed as that Jaycee organization has transferred into Area 1-B.

Other clubs represented were Clarendon, Canadian, McLean, Shamrock, Pampa and Wellington.

Aaron Monitors Apollo 11 Lunar Landing Mission

HOUSTON.—John W. Aaron, son of Mrs. John Aaron of Vinson, Okla., has an important role in the Apollo 11 lunar landing mission.

He is an aerospace technologist in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

The Center provides control of all NASA manned space flights and will exercise full-time control over the Apollo 11 flight from launch to recovery.

Aaron, a 1960 graduate of Vinson High School, received his BS degree in 1964 from Southwestern State College, in Weatherford, Okla.

His wife, Cheryl, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hart of Vinson.

First Christian Plans Services in Park Sunday

The congregation ofthe First Christian Church will hold a picnic, to be followed by evening services, in Ellison Park Sunday, July 27.

Plans were announced by Marvin Garrison, minister.

The picnic will begin at 7:00 p.m.

Congregational singing will be followed by the evening sermon preached by Mr. Garrison.

This is the first church service to be held in the park during the current summer.

All church members and friends of the church are invited to attend.

Win in District I

Four Will Ride for State 4-H Honors August 14-16

Four girls from the Collingsworth 4-H Riding Club will represent the Panhandle in the State 4-H Horse Show at Sweetwater Aug. 14 through 16.

Pam Patterson, Suzie Lowe, Linda Williams and Leigh Nall won this right through competition in a field of 130 at the District I Horse Show at Dalhart Wednesday, July 16. There will be only 20 contestants from the entire Panhandle, according to County Agent Don Reeves.

Linda, Leigh, and Suzie were among 21 picked for showmanship honors, placing fifth, sixth and seventh respectively.

In the halter division, Leigh placed sixth in the class for registered mares 5 years and older with Pesky Beauty; Pam won second with Dawn's Twinkle in the class for registered mares 5 years and under; Suzie took fourth with Friday, in grade mares, 14-3 hands and over; and Rod White, second with Caesar, grade gelding 14-3 hands and over. All of these are quarter horses. Pam showed for reserve champion mare and Rod for reserve champion gelding.

In the performance classes, Linda was third in pole bending among 56 entries.

Seventy-two boys and girls competed in barrel racing, and of the top 10 places, Collingsworth had four: Pam was second, Suzie fourth, Linda on Boll Weevil was eighth, and Leigh tenth. There was only .7 second difference in time between the first and tenth places, said Reeves.

Four other Collingsworth Horse Club members competed. Teresa Patterson was in western pleasure and the barrel race. She was riding a 2-year-old registered quarter horse gelding, Star Dust Dandy, probably the youngest horse in the show.

Jim Bob Nall, on Prontito Tide, a registered Appaloosa gelding, was in western pleasure and reining.

Rod White went to the finals in western pleasure before he was eliminated. There were 72 competitors.

Riding Dakota, a grade gelding, Bart Patterson had the second fastest time in the pole bending, but was disqualified when he knocked over a pole.

Every boy and girl competing had family present to watch the performance. Going were Mrs. Virgil Patterson, Mrs. Earl Patterson and Cathy; Mrs. P. J. White and Pat; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lowe, Mrs. Billy Williams, Mike Williams, Dedi Williams, Mrs. A. V. Mote, Kelly Cook of Albuquerque, N. M., Richard Nall, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Patterson and Mr. Reeves.

Wellington Team to Play Paducah

The Wellington baseball team will go to Paducah for a double header Sunday, July 27, Manager Earl Shamblee has announced.

On the following Sunday, Aug. 3, the Paducah team will be here for a double header at Marian Airpark.

Starting time for both dates will be between 2:00 and 2:30 p.m., Shamblee said.

Study in Japan

Teaching in Hawaii Ahead for Visitors

After a year of study in Japan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Valliant are visiting in Wellington before they return to their home in Honolulu, Hawaii.

They are guests of his parents, Platoon Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Valliant.

Both will teach. Valliant will be a graduate teaching assistant in the history department of the University of Hawaii, where he is working toward his doctor's degree in that field. His wife, Karen, is an elementary teacher in a school about 25 minutes drive out of Honolulu.

Karen Valliant, born in Honolulu, is of Japanese descent, and the year the couple spent in Japan was a return to the home of her ancestors, although the couple didn't visit relatives. Her husband's interest is in the field of Russo-Japanese relations, and his study was principally in the Japanese language. Part of this was on a scholarship, but he also taught English.

"It isn't hard to get a job teaching English," he pointed out.

They lived away from the area frequented by tourists, in a Japanese house, traditional in style and furnishing, in which they sat and slept on the floor. And Karen added that the Japanese kitchen stove has no oven, so she could bake nothing.

For the first time, she experienced winter, and their Japanese stove would heat only one room, she added.

Together they attended a school which taught the traditional Japanese tea drinking ceremony and became friends of the owners. And that is how Robert Valliant came to appear on a Japanese television program—as a foreigner at a tea-drinking ceremony.

As a child, Karen Valliant attended a Japanese school in Honolulu, learning the language and the customs of Japan. This was in addition to regular public school.

Her husband went to Japan first while in military service in the early 1960's. In their own home, they observe both American and Japanese customs, and their food reflects both countries.

Texas-born Robert Valliant grew up at Carthage and Pecos, attended Panola Junior College at Carthage and received his BA degree from the University of Texas.

He went to the University of Hawaii for his master's degree and the couple met while both were students. He was on an East-West Center Fellowship, sponsored jointly by the United States Government through the State Department, in cooperation with the University of Hawaii.

$600,000 Salt Company Goes in on Elm Creek

Construction has started on a new $600,000 salt plant on Elm Creek in extreme western Oklahoma, J. C. Templeton, president of Western Salt Company announced.

The plant site is approximately 25 miles from Wellington and about seven north of Vinson off Highway 30. It is approximately one-half mile from Elm Creek on the John Birdwell Ranch.

It is in the general vicinity of the Salton salt flats where pioneer Collingsworth cattlemen got pure salt for their livestock for many years.

Mr. Templeton said plans call for the facility to more than double in the next nine months. The plant is scheduled to be in operation in 90 days. Forty-five persons will be employed when operation begins. Western handled all the financial arrangements itself, said Oklahoma Governor Dewey Bartlett.

Mr. Templeton said raw material will come from Greer and Harmon Counties in the North Fork of Elm Creek.

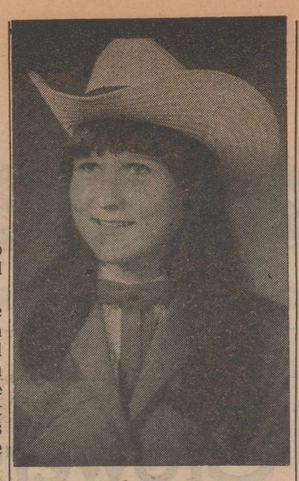

"Chemically, this is some of the purest salt brine anywhere in the world," he said.

The brine will be piped to solar evaporation ponds which will be chemically controlled for quality. There will be 240 acres of ponds. Salt will be harvested from the ponds and then processed into 26 products, including table salt, rock salt, cattle salt, meat packing salt and others.

The products will be marketed in Oklahoma, Southern Kansas and the great Plains area of Texas, New Mexico and Colorado.

Mr. Templeton said Jack Speed of Erick will be vice president in charge of operations.

The operation of the plant is expected to help reduce water pollution because the brine that will be diverted into company ponds now flows into Lake Texoma, it was pointed out.

Cathy Carter Queen of Hollis Rodeo

Cathy Carter, junior in Arnett High School, will reign as Queen of the 31st Annual Hollis Rodeo Thursday through Saturday, July 24-26.

Her father, C. W. Carter, is president of the Hollis Riding Club, which is sponsoring the Rodeo, and her brothers, Charles of Wellington, and Steve, are members.

Rodeo events will include the downtown parade at 5 p.m. Thursday and rodeo performances each evening at 8.

Events will include bull riding, calf roping, bareback bronc riding, bulldogging, ribbon roping, boys breakaway calf roping, girls barrel race, and a calf scramble for boys and girls 12 years and under.

Books will open at 9 a.m. Wednesday, July 23, and close at noon Thursday.

Freddy Cordell and Cliff Campbell are furnishing the rodeo stock.

Finley Moves to Amarillo

After living in Wellington 42 years, Griff Finley moved on Thursday, July 17, to Amarillo where two of his daughters reside and where he owns property.

Mr. Finley recalled that he had built many of Wellington's better homes during the time along with others over the county.

This construction includes the addition to the old First Baptist Church, the First Baptist parsonage, three houses for Howard Riggs, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coleman, and many others.

His daughters in Amarillo are Mrs. John Souther and Mrs. Bill McCue. Another daughter, Mrs. Donald Briggs, lives in Dallas and his son, J. G. Finley, Jr., in Washington, D.C.

Baptist Men to Meet at Lela

The North Fork Associational Baptist Men will meet in the First Baptist Church at Lela, July 31 at 8 p.m.

J. R. Barber, layman from Shamrock, will deliver the message. All men and boys of the association are urged to attend, according to Paul Oneal, president.

Duck Stamp Now on Sale

AUSTIN.—The 1969-70 Federal Migratory Bird Stamp, featuring a pair of white-winged scoters rising from the water, is now on sale in Texas post offices throughout the state.

The art work was done by Maynord Reese of Des Moines, Iowa, and was chosen from 218 entries submitted to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Duck hunters must purchase one of these $3 stamps as well as a Texas hunting license. All money received over and above the cost of printing and distributing these duck stamps is used to acquire wetlands for waterfowl. Last year nearly two million were sold.

ACC Ace

Detroit Tigers Draft Southpaw Bill Gilbreth

Abilene Christian College ace left-hander Bill Gilbreth signed a professional baseball contract with the Detroit Tigers of the American League Monday.

The Tigers drafted the fireballing Abilene native in the third round of last week's free agent draft, making Gilbreth 67th out of more than 1,109 players drafted in the marathon sessions.

It was standing-room only in Detroit scout Buster Chatham's room at Abilene's Thunderbird Lodge as the 21-year-old Gilbreth put his name on the dotted line, for what Chatham called "a substantial bonus."

Present for the signing, in addition to Gilbreth and Chatham, were Bill's wife, Phyllis; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Penn Gilbreth; his coach, Haskell Sinclair, and his wife, Yvonne; and Ron Phillips, Gilbreth's attorney.

Gilbreth led the nation in total strikeouts (134) his junior year at ACC and compiled a career record of 25-9 for the Wildcats. He spent most of the past season recovering from a bout with the flu, however, and wound up with a 4-5 mark.

Because of his sub-par senior year, therefore, Bill had adopted a "wait-and-see" attitude as he gradutaed two weeks ago. But whatever his doubts were, they were not shared by the Tigers.

Gilbreth, who has already won two games for the Abilene Sports this summer without allowing a run, will report to Detroit's Lakeland club in the Florida Instructional League later this week.

SUMMER SEWING

Sewing with cool, summery fabrics like cotton voile, dotted swiss, or cotton eyelet, calls for a little extra care with the seams. They should be as invisible as possible, neat and narrow. The French seam is the best choice. Check sewing books for exact instructions for stitching this seam.

Notes from Your County Home Demonstration Agent

By Mrs. Leta Hill

Flavorful Watermelon

In France they call it "melon de'eau", in China, "si-kwa". Arabs refer to it as "botthik" and if you speak Sanskrit, you can ask for "chaya pula" at your local grocery.

What is it? It is the old Southern favorite—watermelon! No matter what you call it, people all over the world enjoy delicious, juicy watermelon.

And no wonder — the entire watermelon has eating potential. The rind is popular made into relishes and pickles. The seeds can be roasted to crisp goodness, and added to green salads (at the last minute) for a unique flavor. White-fleshed "citron" watermelons provide citron for making conserves and sweet pickles.

Some 92% water, pleasantly sweet, with just enough "meat" to bite into, a well-cooled watermelon can't be beat on a warm day. Iced, on the rocks, pureed, frozen or simply chilled and cut—Americans are finding scrumptuous ways of using watermelon to refresh hot summer days.

Try one of these summer treats for something icy cold and delicious:

Frozen Watermelon Salad

2 t. unflavored gelatin
2 T. lemon juice
2 T. pineapple juice (from drained pineapple)
½ cup whipping cream
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup sugar
¼ t. salt
1 cup well drained canned, crushed pineapple
1 cup sliced fresh peaches
1 cup watermelon balls
1 cup cantaloupe balls
1 cup honeydew melon balls

Place gelatin, lemon and pineapple juice in cup, stir until gelatin is softened. Place cup in pan of hot water and stir until gelatin dissolves. Whip cream until almost stiff, and then beat in mayonnaise, sugar and salt. Add softened gelatin. Stir in fruit.

Pour mixture into loaf pans. Place in freezer until just firm.

Completely frozen melon balls are not as full-flavored as those just slightly frozen—also, they harder to eat. If salad freeze solid, allow thawing time before serving.

Cut salad into slices for serving. Serve on crisp lettuce.

Stain Removal

Immediate action is the secret to removing picnic stains from clothing and table linens.

A large number of common household stains require only a 15 minute cool water soak before clothing is chine washed with detergent.

For bleachable fabrics, chlorine bleach in the wash will remove many common stains.

On unwashable fabrics, use a reliable dry-cleaner to remove stains. Be sure to tell the drycleaner what caused the stain as well as the fiber content of the garment.

Here are some tips on the most common picnic stains and their treatment:

- Soft drinks — sponge immediately with cool water. If stain is not completely removed, soak in cool water and work detergent into stain, then rinse.
- Coffee and tea — soak in cool water for about 30 minutes and wash in detergent suds. If stains remain, use one tablespoon of chlorine bleach to one quart of water. Soak 15 minutes and rinse.
- Grease, oil and fats — soak white fabrics in hot detergent water and rinse. Rub liquid detergent into stains on man-made fabrics and dark cottons. Let stand briefly, wash and rinse.
- Ice cream — remove excess from fabric. Soak in cold water. Wash in hot detergent suds.
- Meat juices — soak in cold salt water. For stubborn stains, soak in ammonia and water solution until clear. Wash and rinse. Substitute peroxide for ammonia in non-colorfast washables.

Low-Calorie Milk

A cup of 2% milk contains 10 fewer calories than whole milk . . . but it has more protein, calcium and B vitamins. Why? Two percent not only means 2%, rather than the three and a half in whole milk, but also that 2% milk solids has been added.

Iron Fortified Milk

Because of the lack of iron in American diets, U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers are investigating milk fortified with the mineral. Their problem is to avoid giving milk a metallic flavor.

Former Dozier Residents Observe 65th Anniversary at Wheeler Aug. 3

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sechrist of Wheeler, formerly of Dozier, will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary Sunday, August 3.

A reception will be given in their honor by their children in the Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church in Wheeler from 2 to 5 p.m.

All of their former neighbors and friends are invited to attend.

It is hoped that all of their nine children can be present. They are Norris Sechrist of Joplin, Ill.; John Sechrist of Hurst; Mrs. Ewell Darrow of Dozier; Mrs. Nolda Bonds of Altus; N. L. Sechrist, Mrs. C. K. Laycock and Mrs. H. L. Laycock of Wheeler; O. L. Sechrist of Bakersfield, Calif.; and Mrs. E. R. Smith of Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Sechrist lived at Dozier approximately thirty years before moving to Wheeler 20 years ago.

Now 85 and 83 years of age respectively, they live alone. Mr. Sechrist still drives, and in fact had his drivers license renewed only recently.

This anniversary is of special significance, for when the time came for their golden wedding anniversary, both were in ill health and a celebration could not be held. Both are now in excellent health.

QUAIL NEWS

By Mrs. G. T. Stephens

• Monday night the Quail community received .1 inch of rainfall. This gave at least temporary relief from the heat and drouth. The farmers report the cotton is doing good, however the feed is needing rain.

• T. B. Johnson is a patient in the Hall County Hospital at Memphis, where he is being treated for injuries received in a motorcycle accident several days ago.

• Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gollihugh visited in Lawton, Okla., Monday with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Squyres.

• Mr. and Mrs. Boss Johnson left Monday to visit with relatives in Elk City this week.

"Little Angel"

Young Quail Soldier Helps Korean Orphan

A small Korean girl, name and age unknown, owes her life, her care, and much of her fun to two young American soldiers, one of them from Quail.

Paul L. Gollihugh, who is stationed with the 21st finance section at Camp Humphrey in Korea, tells the story in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gollihugh. This buddy in assisting the little girl is referred to only as "Bank" in his letter. It is told in Gollihugh's owns words:

"Bank and I have been spending almost all of our free time at the orphanage.

"I signed for the little girl for one day. We took her to the movie and then to supper. When I first saw this little girl, she had big tears in her eyes and was begging for something to eat.

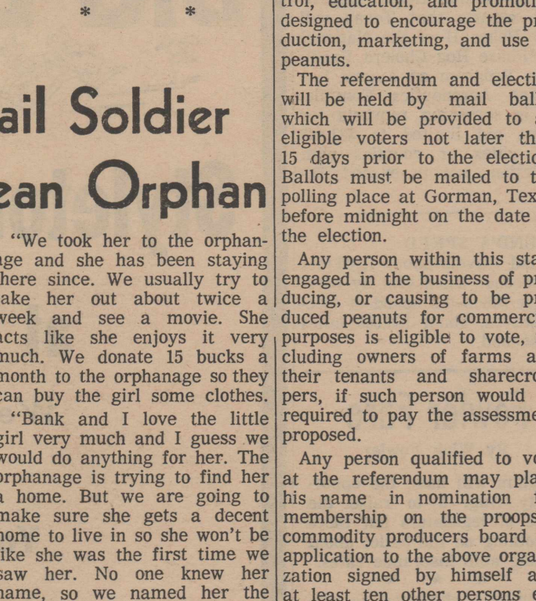

"We took her to the orphanage and she has been staying there since. We usually try to take her out about twice a week and see a movie. She acts like she enjoys it very much. We donate 15 bucks a month to the orphanage so they can buy the girl some clothes.

"Bank and I love the little girl very much and I guess we would do anything for her. The orphanage is trying to find her a home. But we are going to make sure she gets a decent home to live in so she won't be like she was the first time we saw her. No one knew her name, so we named her the Little Angel.

"Every time we leave her she screams and cries her eyes out. They have to hold her to keep her from following us.

"The building right behind her is where we live. It isn't very nice, but it is a place to sleep and keep warm."

Amendment No. 4 Should be Given a Favorable Vote

August 5 will be a turning point for rural Texans if the public gives approval to Amendment Four.

Many of the state's non-profit rural water supply corporations are being taxed heavily; and if the taxation continues, the systems will be forced to make drastic changes. At the present time, some system's tax bills are ranging to near $20.00 per member per year. In most cases, the system's officers will be forced to raise the normal monthly minimum of $7.00 to $9.00 for that first 3,000 gallons if present taxing continues.

With approval of Amendment Four on August 5, the rural water supply corporations will be given the same tax break as the municipal systems in the state, no taxes.

"Each resident of the state will be given an opportunity to vote on Amendment Four; and if a favorable vote develops, rural Texas will continue to grow," stated Jerry Johnson of Nacogdoches, President of the Texas Association of Rural Water Corporations. He continued, "Approval of Amendment Four will also eliminate double taxation. In some cases, the installation of the rural water system created an increased value of their property and they are being taxed on that increase."

Sign of Summer

Every season of the year has its special features—blossoms in the spring, colorful leaves turning in the fall, the magic of frost in the winter, and the blue skies of summer.

However, summer also brings out something else in greater numbers than any of the other seasons—the litterbug appears in all his glory.

Those who respect and value natural beauty can but watch in helpless outrage as the scum of the human race strikes swiftly and usually unseen — throwing beer cans and pop bottles from speeding cars or vanishing without a trace from ravaged campgrounds and picnic sites.

Often this creature we have dubbed the litterbug passes unobserved in the night, leaving in his wake whole boxes of garbage, as well as cans and bottles.

Here at the Herald office, we often find debris thrown on our sidewalk, and from time to time we find smashed remains of beer bottles on the north side of the building, indicating that some peahead has thrown these at our brick wall from a passing car.

Laws are becoming increasingly stringent against litterbugging, but it takes more than laws to cure the problem. What is the threat of a $25 fine to these despoilers of the countryside that no law can catch, except in the rare instances where their brashness overcomes their natural cunning?

Litterbugging can be cured only from within, when a person has the conviction that compels him to respect property and the rights of others. A person can be cured of throwing a beer bottle on the sidewalk only by a change of heart that prevents him from doing such a thing.

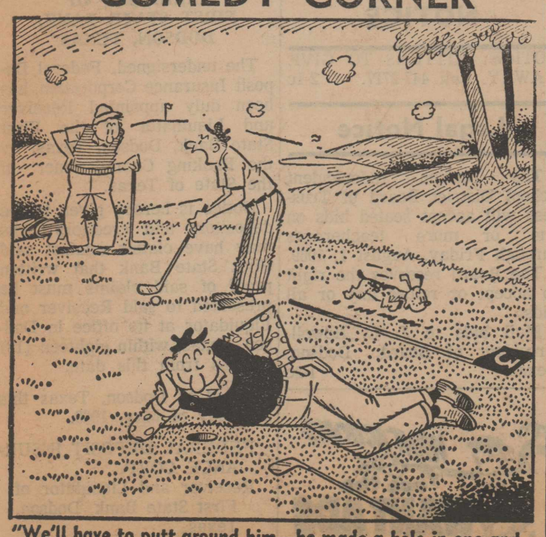

It appears that the situation may get worse. Estimates that put the production of 12-ounce containers by 1982 at a possible 900 million gross gives us some indication of what the landscape will look like if as high a percentage of these are thrown on the ground as they are now.

There are trash cans plenty handy, along public streets and on our highways. There is a crusade by major oil companies to have litterbags for every car. It takes little effort to put trash in a container rather than the road.

The problem is: Why don't more people do it?

Water for Texas

Another state has offered Texas an option to purchase its surplus waters, State Water Development Board Director Howard Boswell revealed recently.

Boswell spoke in answer to criticism of Constitutional Amendment 2 on the August 5 ballot to authorize $3.5 billion in bonds to finance a master water plan for the state.

Campaigns for and against the proposed amendment are heating up as election date nears. Proponents led by the Governor's Committee of 500 argue that its failure would be "catastrophic" for the state and that the bonds will prove to be money makers for Texas as well as permitting orderly development of water resources.

Opponents, sparked by State Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, wildlife conservationists and strict-economy groups, contend that cost of the contemplated program would be tremendous and that delay for a year or two of added study is justified.

Nine amendments will be voted on August 5. Major interest centers on water bonds and a proposal to raise the welfare spending ceiling. Annual sessions of the legislature and higher pay for lawmakers are among other amendments to be decided. A "Nine for Texas Committee" is leading a campaign for the entire package.

Insurance Probe On

Two tough critics of the insurance industry on occasion were named by the governor to his nine-member citizens committee which will investigate auto policy rate increases.

Smith named the panel after State Insurance Board staffers recommended an 11.4 per cent rate increase.

Chairman will be former Gov. Price Daniel, who took on the insurance ocmpanies in 1961 when claims arising from Hurricane Carla damage were being rejected. Another member is former Secretary of State John Hill, a Houston attorney, who frequently handles cases against insurance ocmpanies. Other members include Highway Commission Chairman D. C. Greer of Austin; Harry Hubbard of the AFL-CIO staff (who defends insurance companies); Lubbock accountant Edwin E. Merriman; Austin editor Sam Wood; Dallas television newsman Eddie Barker and Dr. Alford R. Hazzard, an Austin physician.

Oil Allowable Sliced

For the second consecutive month, Railroad Commissioner cut the statewide oil allowable, setting the August figure at 53.1 percent of potential.

Top production would be 3,310,997 barrels a day. Allowable was lowered from 63.5 per cent of potential in June to 54.7 percent in July. Nine major producers requested the same allowable as July, three sought less and only two asked for more oil during August.

Courts Speak

Supreme Court affirmed a farm anti-picketing order which labor unions claimed blunted the strike of field hands in the Rio Grande Valley.

Court also upheld the Ector County District Court's decision that it did not have jurisdiction in a libel case brought by Nathan Curry of Odessa against Dell Publishing Company because a story in FRONT PAGE DETECTIVE said he was guilty of murder after he had been found not guilty by a Palo Pinto County jury.

A former employee of Sears, Roebuck and Company had no good reason to wait 16 months before filing claims for on-job injuries, Supreme Court said.

Third Court of Civil Appeals overruled state cancellation of two Rio Grande Valley water permits (of 1918 and 1928).

Court of Criminal Appeals threw out the conviction of a San Antonio man who dressed as a woman in public because he was tried under an old Ku Klux Klan law prohibiting wearing a mask in public.

- Potter County officials can keep land granted in 1904 for a courthouse and jail though they plan to build on other property and sell the old tract.
- New emendment concerning drive-a-way in-transit license plates applies only to movement of new house trailers, trailers and semi-trailers.

Accreditation Loss

The State Commission on School Accreditation, under Texas Education Agency direction, has overruled appeals by six Texas school districts that have lost accreditation. The six districts' next appeal lies with the TEA.

The districts are: Center ISD, Shelby County, 2,201 students; Crosby ISD, Harris County, 2,108.. Desdemona ISD, Eastland County, 96 students; Liberty Hill ISD, Williamson County, 255 students; and Timpson ISD, Shelby County, 650 students.

MORE BANK TELLER TALES

Sometimes tellers get checks with a conditional endorsement. This is an endorsement which authorizes peyment only on certain conditions.

For instance: "Pay to Frank's garage only if motor is in good condition. It must be as good as it was before the wreck."

Naturally the teller cannot honor such conditional endorsements.

When a payee's name is misspelled the payee must make two endorsements. First — the way the name was spelled despite being wrong. Second — the payee's name correctly spelled.

Most banks certify checks. However, banks are not required by law to certify a customer's check.

Tellers will not cash post-dated or "stale" checks. A post-dated check has an advanced date. Most banks regard a check "stale" if it is 30 days old.

ABM

The Senate is currently in the throes of debate over President Nixon's proposed Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system.

I strongly support this proposal and I would like to take this opportunity to explain why I believe the Safeguard system is so vital to this nation.

Safeguard would provide anti-ballistic missile defense for our nation's land-based deterrent force of inter-continental ballistic missiles. It is important for us to have this defense capability in order to keep viable our existing deterrent to nuclear warfare in the face of an ever increasing attack capability on the part of our potential enemies.

The measure now before the Senate would provile about three-quarters of a billion dollars so that we can begin the initial steps of ABM deployment.

That is all we are talking about at this time. We are NOT talking about an outlay of several billions of dollars, and we are NOT talking about an extensive ABM system designed to directly defend all our cities.

The question whether ABM will actually work is, as yet unanswered. There is a group of distinguished scientific minds who say that the Safeguard system cannot work because it can too easily be overpowered by an offensive attack and because it is too complex to operate at optimum effectiveness.

At the same time, there is an equally eminent group of scientists who say that it will work well enough to provide the necessary protection.

But the Senate is not being asked to commit itself irrevocably to one side or the other. Congressional approval of the Safeguard plan only means that we will go ahead and find out which scientists are correct. I believe it militarily sound to continue ABM deployment until we can know more about its technical effectiveness.

An effective ABM could lengthen the time the President of the United States would have to react to indications that a nuclear attack had been launched on this nation.

Right now, we depend upon our retaliatory capability to keep a potentially hostile nation from launching a nuclear attack upon us. If our radars were to detect an approaching incoming nuclear attack, however, our President would have two choices — he could launch our retaliatory force, or he could elect to refrain from retaliation.

There would be a limited number of minutes in which the President could ponder his decision.

With an effective and workable ABM, the President would be given a third choice. He would be able to chose to attempt to intercept the attacking missiles. If the ABM system then in operation was effective enough, he might not be required to face the choice of nuclear holocaust.

I want to provide the President with that third choice if it is at all possible.

Another reason for Congressional approval of the proposed Safeguard system is that it would improve our bargaining position in any forthcoming arms control negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko made a recent statement which, on the surface at lease, seemed to encourage arms control talks. I am hopeful that we can engage in a fruitful arms control discussion.

But we have seen Russion operations in the field of international relations many times before. If Congress decides to reject the proposed Safeguard, I for one will be very surprised if the Soviets do not harden their attitude towards arms control talks. On the other hand, I believe they will be further encouraged to begin such talks if the ABM system goes forth.

The Senate is being asked to vote $759.1 million dollars for continued development and initial deployment of the Safeguard ABM system.

For this money we will get a knowledge of the effectiveness of defensive missile systems, and we will get the groundwork for actual deployment of the missiles.

Deployment could provide increased protection against nuclear attack.

It may well be that the Safeguard ABM system will contribute to the prevention of a disastrous nuclear holocaust. It may then have saved the lives of countless Americans.

On the other hand, we could conceivably find in a year or so that missile defense systems do not represent the most effective deterrent to nuclear attack. We might find that we should abandon the ABM.

But we should not do so now when there is ample reason to believe that the Safeguard system will work. If we err, we should err on the side of safety by possibly having too much national defense, rather than too little. The American people, and the people of the world are certainly owed that much.

CROSSROADS REPORT

News is that some citizens of Detroit went into a supermarket, loaded up with groceries and told the cashier to charge it to "reparations" for the store's money - conscious attitude.

But in the Permissive Society, of course, plundering your neighbor is OK as long as you call the proceeds welfare, riot loot, or reparations.

And my strugglist neighbor has about decided to quit work and go on reprations. Figures a lot of people owe him reparations for being richer than he is.

Pheasant Hunting Good in Panhandle

DALHART.—Wildlife personnel of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department checked 354 hunters in five counties during the first two days of the pheasant season in the Panhandle this past season and examined their harvest of 245 birds.

In Dallam, Deaf Smith, Hartley, Moore and Sherman counties, Project Leader Richard DeArment said these hunters, the only ones checked out of the many participating, spent 1,606 man-hours seeking pheasant, and fired 1,350 shells. Each hunter averaged almost five hours of hunting.

Young birds outnumbered older ones at a ratio of about six young to four adults.

To Save Family Farms

Fly-in Group Urges "Crossroads" Decision

Earl M. Hunter of Wellington and W. R. Breeding of Samnorwood were among 125 farm and rural leaders who told members of the U. S. House and Senate in Washington, D.C., Tuesday that there is only one farm policy choice that is acceptable and safe for Rural America and that is to continue and improve the existing farm price and income program.

The farm spokesmen, who came from Texas, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and Illinois made the rounds of all of the 535 offices of House and Senate members to discuss several "crossroads decisions" now before the Congress.

The farmers were members of a Farmers Union "Legislative Fly-In" effort which urged support of the farm bill sponsored by Rep. W. R. Poage, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, to extend permanently the farm stabilization and food stamp programs.

The farmer lobbyists supported the Poage bill as contrasted to the Dirksen-Michel bill that would phase out farm programs over a 5-year period and rely instead on a massive long-range land retirement program.

The Fly-In contingent told members of Congress that except for one well-known exception, there would be virtual unity in farm ranks on support of the Poage bill with some improving amendments. They cited an agreement reached earlier by 17 farm, commodity and cooperative groups to support a list of major farm program objectives in this session.

The Farmers Union spokesmen said that a cropland retirement plan, based on retirement of whole farms, would not only retire farm acres, but farm families and communities as well, sending new waves of displaced rural people into major cities already unable to cope with their problems.

The farm representatives urged the following actions in this Congress:

—A rollback of the latest interest rate increase as a prerequisite to extension of the federal income tax surtax.

—A ban on tax-loss farming by outsiders.

—Retention of the 7% federal investment tax credit on purchases up to $15,000 a year.

—An increase in dairy supports to 90% of parity or $4.70 per hundred pounds of milk.

—Improvement of the G.I. Bill farm training provisions, and an increase in the monthly education assistance rates.

—Broadening of the federal market order authority and the adoption of measures to enhance farm bargaining power.

—Establishment of a consumer safety reserve of cotton, soy beans, feed grains and wheat.

—Rapid expansion and improvement of the federal crop insurance program.

Sharon Daves on TWU Honor Roll

Sharon Daves, who completed her sophomore work at Texas Woman's University, is listed on the second semester's Special Honor Roll for her excellent academic record, she was notified by John D. Williams, vice president for academic affairs.

"You are credited with a minimum of 2.3 times as many grade points as hours of credit," he said.

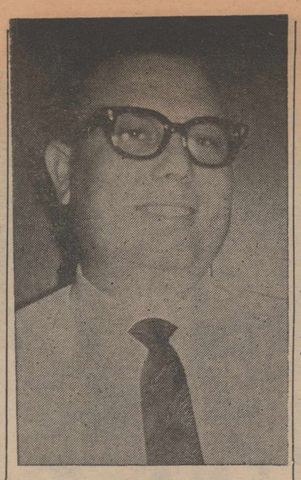

She is the daughter of Mrs. Louella Daves and is spending this summer in Wellington.

Mother of Mrs. Gollihugh Ill

Mrs. W. A. Gollihugh of Quail was called to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. C. W. Squyres of Lawton, Okla., on Sunday, July 20. Mr. Squyres and their daughter, Mrs. W. F. Howard of Mobeetie, accompanied her.

Mrs. Squyres is in critical condition in a Lawton hospital.

Kimbro Wins Sales Trip

A former Wellington man, John R. Kimbro of Wichita Falls, won an expense paid trip for himself and his wife to Cleveland, O., on the basis of his sales record for the Kirby Co., manufacturers of the Kirby vacuum cleaner.

Kimbro has been with the company since January 1968, and has been one of the top dealers in the Southwest Division for the first six months of 1969.

He said the Kirby Company is number one direct sales organization in the nation and Wichita Falls is in the southwest division, which has been number one in the nation for 13 months.

Cleveland is the location of the Kirby factory.

Kimbro is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Kimbro, 1111 Arlington St., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Emmert, 1100 West Ave.

McGuire Families Meet in Colorado

Mr. and Mrs. Travis McGuire went to Denver, Colo., recently to meet their son, Dr. and Mrs. Travis McGuire, Jr., and daughter, Leslie of Pullman, Wash.

The group then visited Estes Park, and to Fort Collins to visit Mr. McGuire's brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Delbert McGuire.

Dr. Travis McGuire, who teaches in Washington State University, went on to Lake Forest, Ill., for a two-weeks course in immunology at Lake Forest College.

Mrs. McGuire and 4-year-old Leslie came with her parents-in-law to Wellington to visit them and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Waymon Moody.

Joe Hams Visit Here for First Time Since Leaving 31 Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ham of Sulphur Springs visited friends in Wellington Thursday afternoon, July 17.

It was their first visit since they moved from here 31 years ago.

Mr. Ham was manager of United Gas Company, which then owned the system. He recalled that he was not only manager, but he was also the service man and read the meters. He still remembers well the streets of Wellington.

When the Hams moved from Wellington, he joined Teneco Gas Co., which has Houston headquarters. They lived in Boliver, Tenn., 22 years before he retired three years ago. They returned to their home town of Sulphur Springs.

Joe and Ellen Ham have a daughter, Joanna, 22, who is a senior in Texas Woman's University, Denton.

At the time Mr. Ham was manager of United Gas here, the local office was located in the building now occupied by the Wellington Leader Office Supply.

Quail Season Later

P&W Commission Set Hunt Seasons, Bag

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission in a regular meeting in Austin last week set the longest deer, turkey and dove seasons possible.

The traditional deer and turkey season in regulatory authority counties begins on the second Saturday of November which this year falls on Nov. 8—the earliest possible date in the month a second Saturday could fall. By the same token, next year's season will begin Nov. 14—the latest date possible.

Dove hunters will get an additional hour of hunting daily because of the Daylight Saving Time. Last year dove hunters could start blasting away at 12 noon Central Standard Time or 1 p.m. Daylight Saving Time. This was eliminated from the Federal guidelines this year and in effect dove hunters can begin shooting an hour earlier.

Several standard changes were approved for all counties under regulatory authority. Of major importance was the postponement of setting this year's quail seasons and bag limits until the September Commission meet. Biologists said July 9 was too early to set the seasons when many factors could still influence this year's population.

The Commission adopted definitions of per season, evidence of sex, final destination and others which would benefit to archers.

Per season, when used in setting bag limits, refers to the period of time for which a hunting license is valid whether or not the taking of wildlife is permitted in one of more periods during this time. As an example, the normal bag limit of turkey is two per season in the Edwards Plateau. However, with the experimental spring season in Kerr, Kimble and Sutton counties, the hunter can take an additional turkey "per season".

The following was added to all regulatory districts: "a deer tag and evidence of sex shall remain on deer carcasses while on storage and shall remain with the carcass until reaching its final destination. Final destination shall be the permanent residence of the hunter or a commercial processing facility where the deer is finally processed. Antlers with tag attached shall be accepted as evidence of sex of a buck deer. A foreleg with an antlerless deer permit and hunting tag attached shall be accepted as evidence of a legal antlerless deer." This does not prohibit a hunter from skinning out a deer in the field and defines evidence of sex.

For the archer, the Commission authorized bow hunters to hunt all game birds and game animals with a longbow and arrow during the season provided therefor. Previously, the bowhunter had been limited to deer, bear, turkey and javelina.

In all regulatory counties where there is a special archery season, the definition of a buck deer is the same as that of the regular gun hunting season in regulatory counties—"any deer with a hardened antler protruding through the skin", except in the southern regulatory district where a legal buck is defined as any deer with forked antlers.

Seasons

Mourning dove season will be Sept. 1 through Oct. 30 in the North Zone. Bag limit will be 10 per day and 20 in possession. Shooting hours for dove will be 12 noon local time to sunset.

Teal season, all species, will be Sept. 13 to 21, with a bag of four per day and eight in possession. Shooting hours for teal will be sunrise to sunset.

This is a special early season. Teal may also be hunted during the regular duck hunting season to be set later.

Below is a wrapup of hunting seasons and bag limits in the Panhandle Regulatory District, which includes all of the Panhandle lying north of a line extending from the south boundary of Cottle County directly west along the south sides of Motley, Floyd, Hale, Lamb and Bailey counties.

Deer season is Nov. 29 to Dec. 14. Bag limit will be one deer, buck or antlerless. Antlerless deer may be taken by permit only.

Antelope season is Oct. 4 through Oct. 7 with a bag of one per season by permit only. There is no open season on javelinas. Turkey season is Nov. 29 through Dec. 14, concurrent with deer, with a bag of one turkey either sex per season.

Prairie chicken season is Oct. 11-12 in Collingsworth, Donley, Gray, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Roberts and Wheeler counties. Bag is two per day and possession of four. Prairie chickens may be taken only by shotgun or longbow and arrow and must be checked in at Department check stations in the cities of Higgins, Allison, Wheeler, McLean and Canadian.

Pheasant season is Dec. 13-21 with a bag of two cocks per day and four in possession.

Aoudad season is Jan. 3-7, 1970 with a bag limit of one per season which may be taken by permit only.

Squirrel season is May 1 through July 1 and Oct. 1 through Dec. 1 with a possession limit of five per day and five in possession.

Former County Resident Dies

A former Collingsworth County man, Elmer Schoonover, Sr. 57, collapsed and died shortly before noon Wednesday, July 9 while cutting hay on the Max Rugger Ranch at Westmoreland, Calif. His death was due to a heart attack.

Mr. Schoonover had worked at that ranch 15 years.

He was a brother of Mrs. Lewis Green, who with Mr. Green attended the funeral services held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Fry Chapel at Brawley, Calif. Albert Batts of the Church of Christ officiated.

Mr. Schoonover was born at Shamrock Aug. 12, 1911 and was married to Della Mae Castle Aug. 27, 1937.

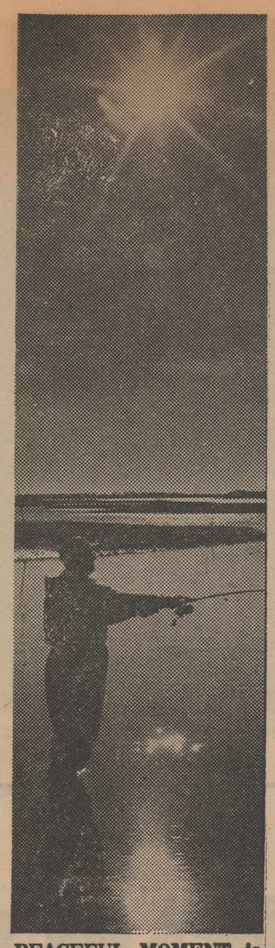

He farmed in the Roundup and Needwood communities.

He moved to Westmoreland, Calif., in 1954.

Survivors are his wife; five children, Mrs. Elma Dean Philips of West Covina, Calif., Mrs. Wanda Hall of Imperial, Calif., Mrs. Sandra Dale Edwards and Elmer Schoonover, Jr., of Rosemead, Calif., and Linda Schoonover of Westmoreland, Calif.

Other survivors are four sisters and three brothers: Mrs. Green; Mrs. Irene Parish of Shamrock; Mrs. Glenn Blackwell and J. D. Schoonover of Amarillo; Arvel Schoonover of Dumas and E. P. Schoonover of Brawley, Calif.

J.T. Baumgardner Dies July 15 in Austin

J. T. (Travis) Baumgardner, 68, 2007 Elton Lane, Austin, died in a hospital there Tuesday evening, July 15.

He and his wife, the former Etta Sledge, had lived in Austin 28 years, and before his recent retirement, he operated the Baumgardner Real Estate and Insurance Co., more than 20 years.

Mr. Baumgardner, who was born near McKinney, came to Wellington with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Baumgardner, in 1917 from Atlanta.

He and Mrs. Baumgardner were married two years later. He moved to Shamrock in 1924 and lated lived at Lubbock.

He was a member of Grace Methodist Church, Shamrock Lodge No. 929, A.F. and A.M., the Austin Scottish Rite bodies and Ben Hur Shrine Temple.

Services were conducted on Thursday at Wilke-Clay Funeral Home, and Ben Hur Shrine conducted gravesides services.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, James T. Baumgardner, Jr., of Tulsa and Joe Bill Baumgardner of Houston; a sister, Mrs. Olean Leggitt of Wellington; and six grandchildren.

Attending the service from here were Mrs. Leggitt and Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Parsons. Joining them were Mrs. Baumgardner's sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Campbell of Lubbock and Mrs. Katie Higgins of Littlefield.

Brock Plays in New Mexico All-State Game

Joe Lynn Brock will leave for his home in Portales, N.M., after spending the summer here working.

He will go to Albuquerque on July 27 to prepare for the New Mexico All Star football game which will be played in Ernie Pyle Stadium on Aug. 2 in Albuquerque.

Brock, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brock of Portales, was an All State linebacker and selected by New Mexico coaches as the all star linebacker to represent the all star south team in that position.

Families Visit Kin at Roundup

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Doug Johnson of the Roundup community over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. Lennis Stwartz and family of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Mays and family of Lenexa, Kan., and Bill Fincher and family of Lawton, Okla.

Mrs. Stwartz will be remembered as Ramona Johnson and Mrs. Mays as Waunetta Johnson, sisters of Doug Johnson.

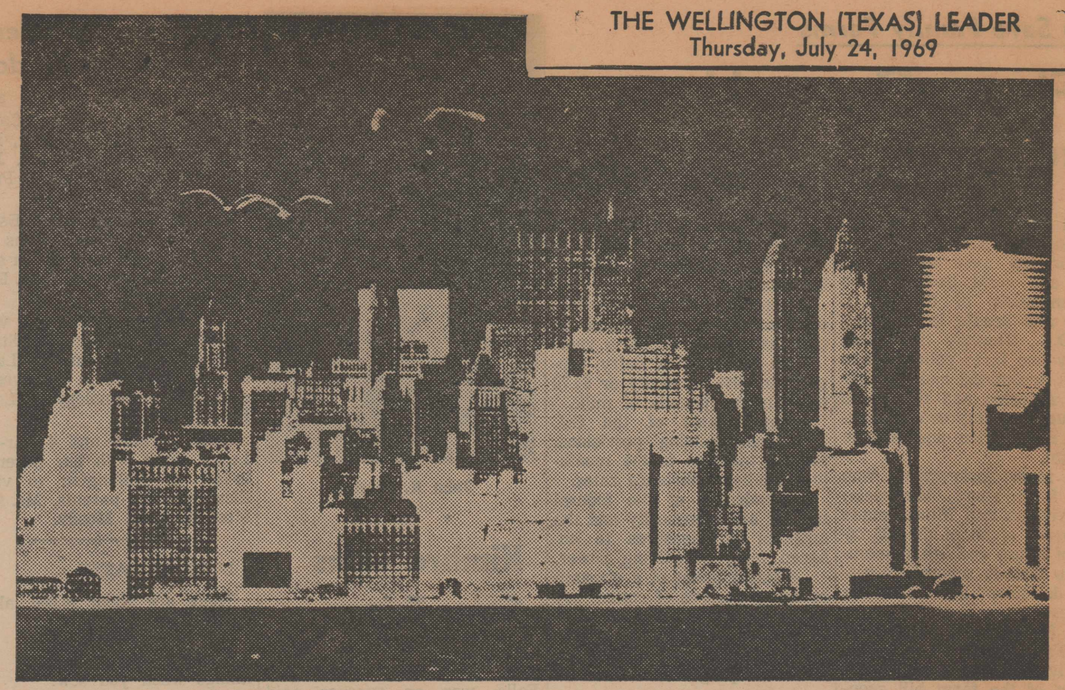

Beef Club Hears of Calf Care

Members of the Collingsworth 4-H Beef Club received instructions in care of show calves during the coming hot months when they met Thursday evening, July 17.

They were told how grubs can be controlled with systemics, and how to keep calves cool and the flies down.

During the remainder of the meeting, they made rope halters.

County Agent Don Reeves and Raymond Ross of Quail were in charge of the meeting.

Clay Coursey Family

Former Pastor Goes to Mission in Kenya

A former Wellington pastor and his family visited friends in Wellington Friday night and Saturday morning, July 18 and 19, one of their last stops before leaving to work as missionaries in Africa.

The Rev. and Mrs. Clay Coursey and their children, Mike, 12, Lora Beth, 10, and Scott, seven and a half, of Fort Worth, leave by air next week for Limuru, Kenya, East Africa. They plan to be there three years.

He is a former pastor of Faith Baptist Church, and the family left seven years ago to establish a Southern Baptist mission in Gooding, Idaho.

Three years later they came to Fort Worth and the Rev. Mr. Coursey entered Southwestern Baptist Seminary to prepare for work as a missionary.

The family will spend their first three months in a language school, Mrs. Coursey told Mrs. Russell Hill during a visit. Later, Rev. Coursey will teach as well as preach. The three children will attend a mission school.

In Wellington, the family were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Scott, and visited a number of other friends.

They went from here to Lubbock to visit members of Rev. Coursey's family.

Californians Visit in Gribble Home

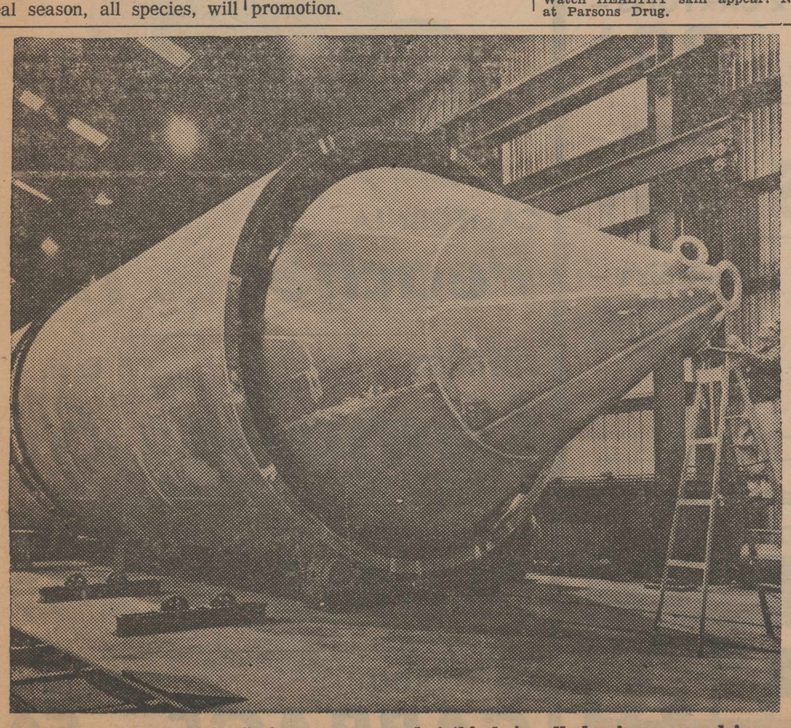

Mrs. Don Hood and children, Caron and Marc, of Huntington Beach, Calif., returned to their home Saturday after a month here with her mother, Mrs. Luther Gribble. She also visited friends in Lubbock a few days.

Mr. Hood, who could not accompany his family, recently joined the staff of Central Laboratory in Anaheim, Calif., where he is doing research in the field of microbiology.

Visiting in the Gribble home from Friday until Monday was L. E. Gribble, of Newport Beach, Calif., who was en route home after a business trip to the Eastern United States.

Brush Control Research— A Long-Range Effort

Brush control is an area of major concern to many West Texas ranchers, landowners and businessmen, and Texas A&M university scientists are making an all-out effort to solve this problem.

They hope to develop feasible means of economical and effective control that will mean increased dividends to landowners through more abundant forage for increased livestock production.

Brush control research is other range research, cannot be carried out overnight. Many research tests cover a five-year period during which studies are made, compare treated and untreated areas to determine the effectiveness of control and the overall benefits in terms of dollars returned.

The important thing to remember is that researchers are trying to develop methods of control that will fit a wide range of conditions in order to increase forage and lower the cost of livestock production. Improved ranges are the ultimate goal. Brush control in itself is a starting place and not the end.

Brush coitrol research is slow and expensive and to assist in furthering this research, the Brush Control and Range Improvement Association was organized last November by a group of prominent Texas ranchers to provide funds to support research and education on brush control and range improvement. Immediate goal of the Association is to obtain 1¢ per acre from each cooperating landowner each year for five years. To date, more than $70,000 has been contributed by land owners in Texas being taken the rest of 1969.

The overall brush control research program takes on two major efforts — mechinical control and chemical control. Root plowing has been the chief method of mechanical control used on two entire sections of highly productive rangeland on ranch locations near Vernon and Dumont.

One of the major objectives of this study is to determine not only how to control brush but when and where mechanical means of control can be used successfully to establish palatable grasses and forage plants that will permit more efficient and economical production of livestock.

As part of the overall goal of range improvement, reseeding follows root plowing to hasten the establishment of the more palatable and nutritious forage plants. And here researchers are checking different methods of seedbed preparation, different seeding equipment, seeding rates, and experimental strains and promising new grasses and forage plants.

In reseeding rangeland, the goal is to keep costs as low as possible.

Chaining, roller chopping and heavy duty tandem disking are some of the methods being used in seedbed preparation following the root plow. Reseeding by airplane, heavy duty range drills, special brush drills and standard grass drills followed by a roller chopped, a combination of chaining and seeding, and an exhaust seeder on a root plow or caterpillar tractor are being tried. Seeding rates are varied at three, five and seven pounds per acre.

Other areas where mechanical means of brush control will be tested include root plowing highly productive sites of Tobosa grass heavily infested with mesquite. Here we will attempt to establish a more palatable forage cover along with the control of mesquite, again emphasizing the joint effort of brush control and range improvement to increase land productivity.

A tree dozer has been obtained and will be used with different attachments where it is considered effective and economical. This includes brush in open stands and small plants often in the seedling stage that are widely scattered or areas where chemicals cannot be used safely. Further development of ground spraying equipment is also being studied.

Chemical brush control takes on three phases, according to scientists. These include large test sites of 640 acres or more for long-term evaluation of effectiveness and benefit, 10-acre plots for checking aerial spraying equipment, rates and volumes of herbicide application and greenhouse studies including small plots to screen new chemicals and determine residues of these materials.

Recently established sites where various methods of chemical control will be studied over a five-year period in cooperation with ranchers include representative types of mesquite and environmental conditions at the following locations: Monahans, Menard, Barnhart, Childress, Sterling City and Albany.

Other tests sites established last year are at Matador, Vernon, Vega and Colorado City. The treated areas consist of approximately 640 acres of land broken down into 40-acre blocks. A comparable area is also left untreated to obtain information on forage production and livestock performance.

These sites were selected in cooperation with county Extension agents, soil conservation service personnel and ranchers to compare the response from various chemical treatments. These responses are expected to vary with the amount of rainfall, type of soil, type of growth and other environmental conditions. The most promising chemical combinations that have been found to date that are included in the tests at various locations are 2,4,5,-T and picloram (Tordon) and 2,4,5-T and dicamba.

Numerous five to ten acre tests are set up at the Pitchfork and Four Sixes Ranches near Guthrie to study different types of spraying equipment and rates and volumes of application. At present four different spraying rigs are being tested. These are the microfoil boom, micronaire nozzles and two standard type nozzle systems.

At these test sites, rate of chemical application ranges from ⅛ to 1 pound and volumes from as little as one pint up to four gallons per acre. Swath widths vary from 21 to 84 feet. Purpose of this research is to determine the minimum amount of chemical and carrier that can be applied without reducing its effectiveness. Reducing drift is another important consideration.

Much of the meticulous work involved in chemical brush control research takes place in the greenhouse. Here new materials are screened and their effectiveness for control of various kinds of brush is checked at different stages of growth during the season.

Furthermore, the fate of the different chemicals must be determined after they are found to be effective. Do they stay in the soil or in forage or do they appear in runoff or do sunlight and bacteria break them down? These questions must be answered and therefore intensive record keeping is a must. Studies are under way on watersheds on the Spade Ranch near Colorado City, the Pitchfork Ranch and Spur Headquarters Ranch near Dickens.

The whole purpose of brush control is to find areas of potentially productive rangeland and select those methods of control that will pay dividends to the rancher or landowner. All of the treated and untreated plots in the long-term study are supporting livestock. Thus, animal gain and performance plus improved range conditions and cost of working and handling livestock can be checked.

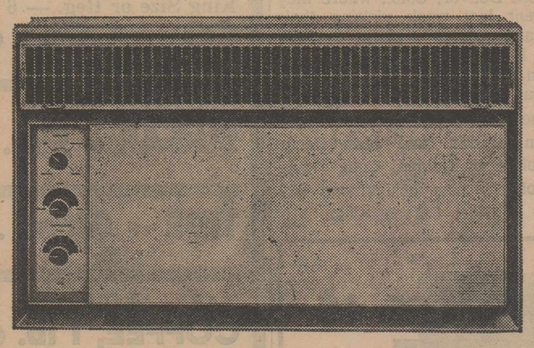

In this manner, we will let the cow help evaluate the various methods of control.

Traveling Checks BUY LESS

Do you habitually take a 25 or 30 per cent discount on the personal checks you write?

Many people do . . . without realizing it. It's the hidden penalty they pay for the privilege of taking their trade to some other city or town.

Take a moment to consider the facts: Only about 70 cents of each dollar we spend goes to pay for the actual goods or service that we get. About 30 cents of that dollar has to cover the expenses of the community where the sale is made . . . to pay the people who work there . . . to return something on the capital invested . . . to help support the civic facilities such as churches, schools, fire and police protection, road and street maintenance, etc.

Of course, when we spend our money away from home we get no personal benefit whatever from the 30 per cent of it which goes for community business and social improvement.

Doesn't it follow, then, that when we give checks or money for out-of-town purchases, nearly one-third of the amount goes for something we don't get? Isn't that very much the same as discounting our checks or money?

The spirit of adventure will never die in man as long as the beneficent atmosphere of the earth and the warmth of the sun give him life. Nothing could illustrate this fundamental urge as clearly as the successful flight of Apollo 11 to the moon.

Paul Guthrie, making no bones about his reluctance to make such a trip, asked Buddy Yarbrough if he would like to go to the moon. After a thoughtful silence, Buddy said: "Yes, I would like to go to the moon if they would let me. I have lived a good part of my life so there would be no great loss to my family. Yes, I think I would like to go to the moon." What he did not say was that there would be an excellent chance of returning to the earth alive.

★ ★ ★

Earl Keller, the realistic pragmatist, had his head far in the skies and his imagination working overtime when he said: "I heard the voices of the Astronauts coming through space, saw them walk on the moon, and then I went outside to gaze at the filling moon a long, long time."

★ ★ ★

The old were the children and the children were the adults as the real and marvelous events unfolded before their eyes and within the sound of their ears. My next door neighbor Susan Kimbro, who is in the 4th grade, was excited about the men jumping around on the moon. It was real, interesting and understandable to her. "Putting up the flag meant as much to me as anything I can think of," she said.

★ ★ ★

Young Scott Cochran was definite in his answer when asked if he would like to take a trip to the moon: "No, would you?" He had seen all he wanted to of that bleak landscape and he liked the green earth. Another neighbor, Janet Daves, age 7, believed in the success of the mission and watched the historic events with confidence. She said: "I went to sleep as soon as they walked around on the moon."

★ ★ ★

In the beginning there were 24,000 different sets or movements that must be performed to insure the successful completion of the flight of Apollo 11. At this writing, 23,000 of them have been executed, and everyone seems assured that the remaining 1,000 will be performed with the precision of all those that have gone before. The adults have confidence and high hopes that the reentry into the atmosphere of the earth and the splashdown will be as correct as those of Apollo 10. Susan and Janet are certain and perhaps Scott will be later. That is the difference between the young and the old.

★ ★ ★

The old can still wonder while the young accept the flight to the moon as a matter of fact. To a child it is no more a mystery than how a water-living tadpole changes into a frog, an egg becomes a bird or a tiny seed grows into a tree a hundred feet tall.

★ ★ ★

It should be noted that it was man, Neil Armstrong, who made the adjustments that guided Apollo 11 over a dangerous crater to land four miles farther than the computerized site on the Sea of Tranquility. It should also be remembered that another man, Mike Collins, made the adjustments that overcame the malfunctions and enabled the Eagle to dock with Columbia A-OK. Without the guidance of man at a critical time this momentous trip to the moon might have been as fruitless as the Russians' ill-timed blast of Luna 15.

★ ★ ★

The Astronauts left the earth July 16 and will return July 24. Less than 70 years ago it required three weeks for my uncle to drive a covered wagon from Wise County to Swisher County.

It is time to take our eyes from the sky and consider some of our problems on the earth. There is a sample ballot in this issue that you might save until August 5 when it will be time to go to the polls and vote on the constitutional amendments. This week let us consider amendment No. 4 which will exempt non-profit water supply corporations such as the one serving the northern part of the county from taxation. This should pass. Remember this applies only to non-profit water supply corporations.

Glenn Shelton, writing in The Wichita Falls Record-News laments the fact that so many drug stores have been bought by the chains and the soda fountains have been eliminated. He says: "Few kids today have the thrill of dropping by the local drug store for an ice cream soda. Yet this was the supreme thrill of youngsters 30 and 40 years ago."

★ ★ ★

Well, if friend Shelton will come to Wellington I will buy him an ice cream soda or an egg malted milk in either one of two very modern drug stores and for good measure I will take him by a third drug store which operates no fountain; but which does have a marble top counter in front of their former fountain. But do brush up on your terminology, Brother Shelton. It is not an ice cream soda—it is a root beer float or a strawberry float. Man, are you behind the times.

4-H DRESS WINNER

Susan Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Peters, was winner of the senior division of the 4-H Dress Revue and will represent the county in the District 1 contest.

12 Delegates

Student Trio Serves at Youth Conference

Three members of the Skyrocket Youth Conference will leave Friday, July 25, for Austin to begin training as junior counselors at the 1969 session of the Texas Youth Conference.

These three, Judy Porter, Susan Oney and Mike Davis, will join Susan Coffee, a staff counselor this summer.

Twelve other Skyrocket members will leave Wednesday, July 30, to attend as delegates. The conference will end at noon Sunday, Aug. 3.

These are Carlos Hatch, Carey Lewis, Linda Orr, Cathy Singley, Kathy Tyler, Stan Parker, Kim Janes of Samnorwood, Betsy Castleberry, Betsy Trapp, Teddy McLain, Bobby Saied and Judy Jones.

Judy Porter, who graduated from Wellington High School this spring, was selected to welcome conference delegates as they arrive and welcome out-of-state delegates at the airport. She will also escort other dignitaries to the conference and assist them through their stay. She will serve at some of the receptions and assist in other ways.

Susan and Mike will receive their assignments when they reach Austin.

Judy, a delegate last year, was a seminar leader at the district meeting in Lubbock. In high school she was Skyrocket Youth Conference president; and was delegate to the state Beta Club and Future Teachers conventions. In That Skyrocket Band, she was selected for the All-Region Band and the TWU All-Girl Band Festival. Here she was selected the Outstanding Band Member and won the Aerion Award. She was active in Junior Hospital Auxiliary.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Porter and this summer she is working at Empire Paper Company in Wichita Falls. She will enroll in Midwestern University in September.

Susan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oney, will be a senior next year. She is 17 years old, vice president of both Ko Shari and the Future Homemakers, and a member of the Future Teachers, Beta Club and Pep Squad. She was chosen to attend Girls State this year and last year was manager of the girls basketball team and a member of the Youth Council.

Mike, also 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Davis. He has been secretary of the Skyrocket Youth Conference and of the Future Farmers. This summer he is receiving his Lone Star Farmer degree, highest on the state FFA leevl.

He will be treasurer of Beta Club this year and in 1968-69 he was chaplain of the Future Teachers and a member of the Student Council.

He has exhibited calves at Houston and Amarillo and showed the champion in the carcass division at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show.

Sponsors accompanying the boys and girls to Austin are Mrs. John Coleman, Mrs. H. L. Jenkins and Mrs. Ernest Harwell.

Men In Service

Pfc. Adam Garcia left Monday night, July 21, for Fort Lewis, Wash., after 17 days leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Saldana. From Fort Lewis he will go to a replacement center in Vietnam.

His wife, Paula, will stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Powers in Childress while he is overseas.

Pfc. Garcia has been in service approximately five and a half months. He received his basic training at Fort Bliss, El Paso, then was sent to Fort Knox, Ky., for training as an Army intelligence specialist.

The young soldier is a graduate of Wellington High School and attended West Texas State University three years.

Williams College, in Williamstown, Mass., became a college in 1793.

Services Pend for Former Wellington Man

Funeral services for Owen West, 50, of Amarillo, a former Wellington resident, are pending with Kelso Funeral Home.

Mr. West was found dead on Tuesday morning at his home.

Survivors are his son, Calvin West with the armed forces in Vietnam; and three daughters, Miss Dianna West of Denver, Colo., and Miss Nita West and Mrs. Janet VanCronkhite of Nacogdoches; his mother, Mrs. Myrtle West of Amarillo; brothers, Oris West of Amarillo and Danny West of Wellington; a sister, Mrs. Gerald Neubauer of Turtle Lake, S.D., and stepbrothers, Drue Wyrick of Amarillo and Joe Bob Wyrick of Ralls.

Rev., Mrs Givins Visit Friends

Rev. and Mrs. B. H. Givens of Live Oak, Calif., former pastor of the Assembly of God Church here in 1939, 1940 and 1941, visited and ministered at services Sunday and Sunday night.

A homecoming dinner was served in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Stallings. Those present were Rev. and Mrs. James Jackson and Charlotte, Mrs. Mary Lou Gardner, Mrs. Frank Moore, Mrs. Nell Poteet, Mrs. Audie Miller, Alton and Cleo Burkhalter of Childress and other friends.

Jaycees Go To Lugert

A group of Wellington Jaycees and their wives had a week-end outing at Lugert Saturday afternoon and Sunday, July 12 and 13.

Water skiing and swimming provided the fun.

Those going were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hernandez, Mr. and Mrs. Duggie Jameson, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Poteet, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Daves, and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wilkerson. Dean Maxwell, Larry Oswalt and Donald Settle and Tank Forrester.

Cartwrights Home From Arizona

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Cartwright returned last week from a vacation at Phoenix and Lindale, Ariz. At the latter, they visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Herman (Doc) Pritchard.

Mr. Cartwright went on to Casa Grande, where the Chickasha Gin Company has gin and mill installations.

Among the employees is Jess Kellison, who was reared east of Dodson.

En route home the Cartwright's picked up their grandson, Michael Caldwell, 4, in Dalhart and brought him here for a week.

John Simpson received a one inch rain.

Gary Tarver reported one-half inch north of Aberdeen, and from .30 to .50 was reported by Fred Walker, Dave Walker and Bill Hill in the Needwood area.

Dozier area was more fortunate, recording 1.70 inches, the heaviest to be reported in the north part of the county.

In those areas with heavier amounts, crops will receive a real boost. While the entire county is watching for more moisture, cotton is not yet hurting badly, County Agent Don Reeves reported, although it will begin to if rain isn't received within a short time.

July 29 to August 2

Students Attend FB Citizenship Seminar

Two high school students from Collingsworth County will travel by chartered bus Tuesday, July 29, to Baylor University in Waco where they will attend a Citizenship Seminar July 29 to Aug. 2, conducted by the Texas Farm Bureau.

They are Pam Guthrie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Guthrie of Wellington, and Darrell Feemster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Feemster of Quail.

The Collingsworth County Farm Bureau is sponsoring the local students at the four-day training school. Some 390 students from 140 counties across the state will be attending the session.

Pam, who is 16, will be a senior and captain of the Rockette basketball team, and historian of the Future Homemakers. She has been a twirler, a member of That Skyrocket Band, is secretary-reporter of Ko Shari, secretary of Beta Club, and a member of Future Teachers and the Skyrocket Youth Council.

Darrell, also 16, is a junior at Quail High School. He was president of the sophomore class, played basketball and baseball and was a member of Future Farmers of America two years each. He took part in FFA contests at Texas Tech and was 10th high individual in the milk judging contest out of 180 boys competing.

Four outstanding, nationally-known lecturers will address the Waco training school, according to Buddy Yarbrough of Wellington, president of the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau.

They are Dr. C. L. Ganus, president of Harding College at Searcy, Ark.; Dr. C. L. Kay, assistant president of Lubbock Christian College; John Noble, Muncy, Pa., author of "I Was a Slave in Russia"; and W. Cleon Skousen, Salt Lake City, author, lawyer, educator and former FBI agent.

In addition, a young former narcotics addict and ex-convict from Dallas will relate the story of his life as an addict and criminal. At the conclusion of the seminar on Aug. 1, 18-year-old Miss Mary Rando of Friona will give her rendition of "I Am the Nation," a patriotic recitation that helped her win the Freedom Foundation's George Washington Honor Medal.

Purpose of the seminar is to give the student a better understanding of the American system and way of life. Emphasis will be placed on the economic, moral and social aspects of the American society. Instruction will consist of lectures, films and panel discussions.

Louisiana Family Visits Kin Here

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Lewis and their four daughter, Nancy, Wendy, Molly and Amy, of Franklin, La., were here recently to visit their parents, Mrs. W. C. Lewis of Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Bogle of Dodson.

Upon returning home, Nancy, who graduated from high school this spring, learned that she had received a four-year scholarship from Cabot Carbon Co.

She plans to attend the University of Southwestern Louisiana at Lafayette.

Rev., Mrs. Porter Arnold

Pastor Comes "Back Home" to Quail Church

When the Rev. Porter Arnold accepted the pastorate of the Quail Baptist Church earlier this summer, it was in every sense a homecoming for him and his wife.

He first came to that community as a 5-year-old boy, in 1905, with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Arnold. His wife is the former Hassie Clay, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Clay.

After 30 years in the ministry, and while he was pastor of the Baptist Church at Logan, N.M., Rev. Arnold suffered a heart attack, then a light stroke last winter. His doctor warned him to move to a lower altitude and it wasn't long after that the Rev. Elvis Pitts resigned as pastor at Quail to go to another church. And a call by the Quail congregation brought the Arnolds home.

The year the family came to Quail, his father broke out the land adjoining the town, now owned by Carrol Blevins.

Two years later, for the family home near Quail, Mr. Arnold dug a half dug-out into the side of a bank, rocked up the wall and built a room on top.

Rev. Arnold has found it still standing.

He and Mrs. Arnold were married in 1922, and four years later moved to Clarendon, and then to Plainview.

After he entered the ministry, he attended Wayland College and was pastor of churches at Spur, Vernon and Hurlwood (Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock).

Then began a series of pastorates in eastern New Mexico —San Jon, Bellview, and Logan.

The Rev. and Mrs. Arnold have three children, Mrs. Roy Walker (Lois) of Silverton; Mrs. Joe Marcus (Voneta) of Lafayette, Ind.; and Clifford Arnold of Hereford. There are eight grandchildren. Two of Mrs. Arnold's sisters also live in the county, Mrs. Pat O'Hair of Quail and Mrs. Howard Crosby of Wellington.

broken, however she had a twisted left ankle and a back injury, Mrs. Williams added.

Mrs. Henry Davidson entered the hospital Friday, July 18, for treatment of a broken arm she received on June 30. According to relatives, she was watering the lawn and slipped on the siedwalk after dark when she started to turn off the water.

It was at first believed that there were no broken bones, but x-rays showed her right arm was broken.
