Lt. Fred Harris And Harley Sadler To Be Main Speakers

Harley Sadler, famed showman who has appeared in Dawson County often with his road shows, will serve as master of ceremonies at the big bond rally scheduled to be held Saturday afternoon on the courthouse square at 4 p. m. Many who have enjoyed his shows in the past will want to hear him Saturday afternoon, and are invited to attend the bond rally.

Program Will Open At Four and Stores Will Be Closed Throughout The Rally

With Lt. Fred Harris as principal speaker, and with Harley Sadler as master of ceremonies the bond rally announced for Saturday afternoon, June 23, promises to be one of the outstanding events for the Seventh War Loan campaign. The program is slated for 4 p. m., and every Dawson County citizen is urged to be present for the rally, and to be ready to buy war bonds.

Local stores will be closed in this city for the rally, as 100 Lamesa merchants have signified their intentions to close from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday.

Harley Sadler is already known to Dawson County citizens, having come here on several occasions with his road show. He is now State Representative from the Sweetwater District.

Lt. Harris is a Dallas resident, and is among the survivors of the U.S.S. Franklin, famous aircraft carrier which survived a Japanese bombing, through the efforts of its crew members.

The story of the carrier which was hit by the first Japanese suicide plane, and its return to home port will be described by Lt. Harris. The Franklin's crew which suffered 800 casualties, brought the ship home over a distance of 13,000 miles, damaged and limping.

Lt. Harris, among the survivors of the crew, was formerly a Dallas County Commissioner, and has seen service in the European as well as the Asiatic Theaters of war.

He was among those taking part in the off-shore bombardment preceding the North Africa landing, and also participated in the Italian campaign.

You will not want to miss hearing his and Sadler's messages Saturday afternoon and you will want to participate in the bond buying activities of the afternoon.

The county is still short of its quota, and heavy bond sales are needed to put the area over the top—so arrange to be present at the Saturday rally and be ready to buy your share of bonds.

Lt. Fred Harris, survivor of the U. S. Franklin, which was hit off the coast of Japan by enemy suicide planes, will be main speaker at the Saturday afternoon bond program. He will have many things to tell the audience about the experiences the men on the Franklin had. Be sure to be present at the rally and come prepared to buy your share of war bonds.

Many accept all the conditions of salvation except baptism. But baptism is as plainly commanded as faith, repentance, or the confession. We must take all the Bible says on what to do to be saved. One class of Scriptures mention FAITH, and another class REPENTANCE and so on through all the items. In the commission Jesus said, "GO INTO ALL THE WORLD AND PREACH THE GOSPEL TO EVERY CREATURE, HE THAT BELIEVETH AND IS BAPTIZED SHALL BE SAVED," in the first discourse under the great commission, Peter said, "REPENT AND BE BAPTIZED . . . FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS. Acts 2:38. Paul said, "WITH THE MOUTH CONFESSION IS MADE UNTO SALVATION. Rom. 10:10. Summing it all up we have the fact that all must believe, must repent, must confess and must be baptized. When one complies with these conditions he is added to the church which Christ built. Notice column No. 4 and you will see that baptism is mentioned even more than faith in the New Testament. Baptism is NOT A WORK of man but is an EXPRESSION OF ONE'S FAITH. It is THE SAME KIND OF WORK THAT FAITH IS.

Lamesa I.O.O.F. Entertained Two Visiting Lodges

At the regular meeting on Tuesday night of this week, Lamesa Odd Fellows conferred second degree work on two members, after which time a class of six were given third degree club work. Four of the latter group were from Seminole Lodge Number 47.

A large number of men from both the Seminole and Seagraves Odd Fellow Lodges were guests of the Lamesa organization at the Tuesday night session. Among those present from Seminole were Roy Rhea, F. E. Belt, Ead Reeves, H. E. Barber, R. W. Pittman, Tom Long, E. W. Wilkinson and approximately 10 others whose names were not obtained. W. S. Bennett was among the visitors from Seagraves Lodge.

The groups discussed plans for an intersectional meeting to be held in the near future in Hobbs, New Mexico.

Several interesting talks were given as a portion of the Tuesday night program, after which an hour of fine fellowship was enjoyed.

At the close of the meeting ice cream and cake were served by the Lamesa Lodge under the direction of Mr. Grayson.

Mrs. Ameral Payne and son Don of Dallas spent this week here visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Kennedy.

This makes the second year Mrs. McCall has filled the post.

The meeting convened at the Settles Hotel June 14, and was in session through June 16.

New officers for the West Texas association, which covers approximately fifty counties, were selected.

Rex Baxter of Amarillo was named president; A. C. Bishop of Stamford, vice president; Mrs. Matt McCall of Lamesa, secretary-treasurer;

According to reports this is the most successful carnival that the Lions Club has had during the five years they have presented them in this city.

Club members state that they appreciate the cooperation of the local citizenry in helping to make this event a success, and report that special thanks are extended to city and county officials for their cooperation.

$12,000 Worth Of Bonds Bought By Men Overseas

According to information received here by Ed DuBose, chairman of the Seventh War Loan Drive, from C. M. Smith, regional manager of the war finance committee, $12,000 has been credited to the local bond quota through purchase of bonds by Dawson County servicemen overseas.

DuBose estimates that Dawson County servicemen both in the United States and at overseas stations, and their wives have purchased $50,000 worth of E bonds thus far in the Seventh War Loan Drive, which is a particularly good showing.

Chairman DuBose further reports that about $550,000 of the $750,000 over-all Seventh War Loan quota has been raised in the county up to this time.

Warrant Officer W. Ridgway Back From Overseas

Warrant Officer William O. (Bill) Ridgway, former employee of the Fair Store and Norets in this city, is visiting here for a few days, after serving for a period of 30 months in the European Theatre of War.

During his overseas service, Warrant Officer Ridgway participated in seven major battles. He holds the Bronze Star, Croix de-Guerre and the Purple Heart for wounds received on the Anzio Beachhead, among other ribbons.

He returned to the States May 30, and arrived in this city Tuesday for a three day visit. He was accompanied here by his wife and child, Billy, of Canton, California, and they are visiting her mother, Mrs. M. D. Rhodes.

Warrant Officer Ridgway is a graduate of Lamesa High School and prior to his entry into the service six years ago, was employed in Lubbock.

Two of his brothers are in service, including C. B. Ridgway, a member of the Seabees who is now overseas, and Pat Ridgway who is stationed in the European Theatre of War.

Ration Applications To Be Approved At Board Meets Only

Dawson County citizens are reminded that their applications for various commodities which are rationed will be approved only by the panels of the Dawson County War Price and Rationing Board at regular board meetings.

Officials of the board state that members on the panels relinquish their time voluntarily and do not receive compensation, and it is necessary that applications be left at the local board for processing.

"Do not ask any paid personnel of the board to take your application for rations to a board member or to contact one for you. Their duties are to issue after board approval," state officials of the board.

W. T. Webb, fire marshal, reminds the local citizenry that parking regulations should be observed by motorists in this city.

He reminds you that vehicles should not be parked on curbs which are painted in red. Persons who do this will be given a ticket. Restricted parking areas were recently repainted in order that they could be easily seen by all motorists.

Judge Kilmer Corbin Meets With District Highway Engineer

County Judge Kilmer Corbin spent Monday in Lubbock conferring with S. C. McCarty, district highway engineer.

They discussed Dawson County farm to market roads, and the possibilities of getting roads to Martin County via Patricia, and the possibilities of securing roads for the Grandview and Harmony Communities.

Judge Corbin stated this week that the local commissioners court will probably go before the state highway commission in Austin during the early part of July, in the interest of obtaining roads for this area.

IT'S EASIER to buy War Bonds than to face bullets. If you had been at Iwo Jima, you'd know that! More than four thousand of our fighting men died to win this stronghold. At least twenty thousand were wounded.

You, too, have a quota to meet in this war. Right now it is more and bigger War Bonds in the Mighty 7th. Invest in them out of savings or over a period of months on the payroll plan. Put your might in the fight!

lastic answer. Men who are in Honolulu for a long stay or only a few hours find recreation spots built especially for them.

Handiest is the Richardson recreation center, where Sundays see 15,000 sailors using the camp's $20,000 worth of athletic equipment, eating hamburgers, playing baseball, swimming, or just lying on the grass.

This center, named for Adm. J. O. Richardson, former Commander in Chief U. S. Fleet, is located on the east shore of Pearl Harbor at Aiea. From Richardson, recreation or liberty parties of the fleet can be back on their ships in less than 20 minutes in case of emergency.

Next in popularity is the Breakers, huge Navy-run night (and afternoon) beach club, at Waikiki. It handles 5,000 customers on Sundays, 2,000 on week days, and gives three night dances each week (complete with Waves and lady Marines).

"We can usually spot a 'happy ship' by the interest it takes in recreation," Cmdr. Hickey said. "While it is far out at sea, its officers arrange liberty port parties for all men who want them and within a few minutes after the ship docks, the sailors are whisked off to one of the several camps or centers. Some officers even fly in ahead of time to line up recreation for their men."

Dividing popularity honors for the longer-trip spots are Camp An-draws and Nimitz beach, each drawing 2,000 men daily.

Camp Andrews, with neat little cabins for overnight guests, boasts one of the best beaches on Oahu. It's 23 miles from noisy Pearl Harbor and is reached by a tiny cross-island train. The official camp uniform is swimming trunks.

"We've only got a couple of rules out here," Cmdr. Hickey explained. "They're just: 'Don't kill yourself and don't burn the place down.'"

Far from the sound of Pearl Harbor's riveting hammers, too, is Nimitz beach, named after Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, Commander in Chief of the Pacific Fleet, which provides recreation for sailors in port for one day.

Nimitz beach has 30 outdoor charcoal grills on which Navy men broil thick, juicy steaks (no red points necessary). The palm tree grove, where the barbecue pits are located, can accommodate 1,600 persons without crowding. Officers get their recreation, too, at beautiful Camp Erdman, which soon will accommodate 250 overnight and 300 daytime visitors.

Women officers are not overlooked in the Navy's recreation program. A lavish privately owned beach estate, Hale Luana (House of Happiness) has been made available for them. It will accommodate 50 overnight and 100 daytime guests.

No service to cram its recreation down its sailor's necks, the Navy

Pfc. G. Boswell Kills Disturbing Japanese Bugler

WITH THE 27TH (TOKYO EXPRESS) INFANTRY DIVISION IN THE PACIFIC — Described by his company commander as a "big, raw-boned Texas lad with a willingness to obey orders," Private First Class Glenn M. Boswell Jr., 22, of Star Route number 2, Lamesa, gained his company, a shiny, red-tinted bugle and a lot more sleep for the men not on night foxhole guard with a well aimed rifle shot.

Boswell was awakened in the early hours of a chilly Okinawa morning, not long after he had been relieved from eye-straining night vigil. He muttered to himself, "Say, do I hear a hand?" He raised up in his hole. Fifteen yards distant were two shadowy figures, a Japanese captain and his bugler. Boswell shot them both—and went back to sleep.

There was more to the story than that. According to Boswell's company commander, First Lieutenant Oscar C. Vigen of Route Number 3, Thief River Falls, Minnesota, the bugler had been as bad as a plague.

"For three nights and two days while we were near the town of Nakama we were haunted by the noise of that bugle," said Lt. Vigen. "Promptly at 7 p. m. and just as promptly at 4 a. m. that damned bugle would blare out. Then things would really happen. The Japs would cut loose with everything. We just couldn't locate that bugler. He was always either out of range or too well concealed. When he'd call, other buglers in the Jap lines would play the whole thing when Boswell made such an accurate shot."

"By the way—the next morning we went over and picked up the bugle. It's all packed up and stored now with our company equipment. Oh, yes, the bugler was wearing bright blue pants. He was quite a sight, but he won't give us any more trouble now," concluded Lt. Vigen.

Boswell's regiment, the combat tempered Knickerbockers, commanded by Colonel Albert K. Stebbins Jr., of New Jersey, are now in their third campaign against the Japanese, having over run the Jap garrison when they captured Eniwetok Island in the Marshalls. A few months later the Knickerbockers played an important role in the conquest of Saipan, vital Marianas stronghold.

Coca-Cola To Be More Scarce In City After July 1

The supply of Coca-Cola in Lamesa definitely will be affected by the further curtailment in the supply of sugar after July 1st, because the manufacturer of that popular drink will not compromise with the use of substitutes.

However, an equitable system of rationing will be maintained in Lamesa during the shortage, according to Jack Roden, manager of the Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Company, Big Spring.

The O. P. A. announced today that the allotment of sugar to industrial users would be cut to 50 per cent of the sugar used in the third quarter of 1941, effective July 1st.

"I am informed that this sugar shortage is world-wide and not merely national and is directly attributed to the confusion in the production and distribution of sugar occasioned by the war," said Mr. Roden.

"Sugar is absolutely necessary in the manufacture of Coca-Cola. We can not and will not use sweetening substitutes, and therefore will not compromise with the integrity of Coca-Cola. Therefore when sugar is short, there must be a shortage in the amount of Coca-Cola, but you can be certain that the quality of Coca-Cola will remain unchanged."

"My company is committed to play fair with our Government and obey its regulations in both letter and spirit; to maintain the quality of our drink and to maintain an equitable distribution system to serve all our customers equally and that we will do.

"We still have a war to win and that comes first, but we will attempt still to get you all of the Coca-Cola that is possible and what we have will be available to all. I ask only that if your dealer does not have Coca-Cola available on the day you seek it, ask him another day because we will keep our distribution up on a regular basis although the supply will be curtailed."

Sidelights From Washington

By GEORGE MAHON

Our Committee on Army appropriations, made up of five Democrats and three Republicans, is presenting to the House this week the thirty-eight billion dollar Army Appropriation Bill. In my opinion, another bill of this size will not again be submitted to the Congress during this century—certainly not unless there should be a World War III. And the world need not and must not permit World War III.

The sum of twelve billion dollars for pay of the Army is by far the largest item of the bill. The next largest item is for airplanes and Air Corps equipment, with Ordnance, consisting of weapons, bombs, and ammunition ranking number three.

We plan to pass the bill in the House on Friday, June 22.

Our Committee expects to follow up on the expenditures as best we can, even to the extent of visiting war areas if we can find the time to do so. It is impossible for any human being to be familiar with

A Marine Lieut. Commends Work Of M. G. Echols

Editor's Note: Below is printed a letter received by Milton Grant (Spud) Echols, which was written to him by his commanding officer, Lt. Doherty. Marine Echols, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Echols of 804 North Sixth Street in this city, and Lt. Doherty fought in the battle for Guam together in 1944. Echols has been in the Marine Corps for the past 2 years, and has been overseas for 14 months, during which time he has been stationed in the South Pacific area. He has had a part in the Iwo Jima battle as well as the Guam battle. The letter follows:

August 25, 1944.
Dear boys of SFC Number 3 (Ensign Heyart)

Well you won't hear my bellowing voice any more. I made the mistake of letting a Jap get me. His grenade lit in my foot, devastating my left leg below the knee. Not until gangrene set in did they amputate it above the knee. My fighting days are over and no longer will I bet on some strange tropical island saying, "Set the damned jeep up here. Echols, how's the jeep? Lundquist you and I will take a trot up to our O.P.—wherever the hell it is."

Whether or not I ever displayed my emotions I was very proud to be a Marine, at all times. I thought I worked hard for my gold bars and I was happy to wear them even when some wisecrack might call me a "boot" for having them. Of course I was a "boot" and when we landed together as a team I knew it better than ever. But then who isn't a "boot" in combat? As a team we did not always work smoothly even in combat. We weren't together long enough and we weren't sufficiently trained in the fundamentals. However, what we lacked in teamwork we made up by your (not mine) good hearted cooperation and attention to duty.

I liked you men as an officer. Truthfully, I wanted more men to simply gain the experience of handling men. However, you men gave me all the experience I needed and by your loyalty you made it easy for me.

I liked you men as a man who finds in other individuals good qualities of friendliness, charity and fraternal spirit. To me you seemed as a group a very good example of clean, healthy, American youths with wholesome family background. You were Marines too, every inch of the way and no Marine officer could help but like a man who was a 100 per cent Marine.

I regret the fact that I was hit. I regret the fact that I lost my left leg above the knee. I do not regret my actions. I do not regret being in the PMF. I do not regret my ill fated opportunity to serve my country in the most miserable and unwholy of all wars.

In about one year I will be retired from the Marine Corps. I will leave the Corps with the pride of a kid out of "boot" camp. Then on to Law School and civilian life again with its advantages; then back to my home in Los Angeles where I intend to establish myself and earn a living. Then back to the peacetime conditions of a car, a garage, a house, a back yard, a front porch, a mother's pie, a baby's cry and a sweetheart. Then will I go to church and pray that this bloody program will not have been in vain for all our boys and especially you boys who, when you return to the homeland, will be deserving of a peace that is fair to each and every one of you. I will begin praying today that SFC number 3 continues to be what it has been—a small but happy team, until the war is over and pray let that be very soon.

In closing I wish to thank you all for being such good, obedient men. You helped me in everything. I was well pleased. Good luck and God bless every one of you.

Sincerely,
Lieut. ("peg leg") Doherty.

every phase and detail of our gigantic and far-flung war program. A Congressman, like every one else these days, finds it impossible to do all the things that should be done.

My chief legislative assignment in Congress throughout the war has been on the Appropriations Sub-Committee for the Army.

As a result of dry weather, many questions have recently arisen in regard to crop insurance. It is evident that an adequate crop insurance program has not yet been devised. After consulting with crop insurance officials both in Washington and in Texas, I have responded to telegrams and letters as follows:

"Crop insurance officials advise that if cotton is not planted, premium will not be payable and insurance cannot be collected. They advise that if planting is done under conditions generally considered good farming practice in the area, then insurance would attach. As for example, when farmers generally in the area who are not insured are planting. I realize that this is rather indefinite, and I suggest that County AAA office be contacted for more specific and authoritative instructions forwarded from State office. Am anxious to be of every possible assistance in this highly important matter."

War not only costs money and lives. Surgeon General Norman Kirk of the Army remarked to me the other day that four thousand soldiers who have lost limbs have limbs and returned to civilian life. Seven thousand boys who have lost limbs are still in Army hospitals.

I recently asked a lone American soldier, who, with rifle in hand, was standing guard in front of the Japanese Embassy in Washington, to tell me about his job. It soon became apparent that he was not displeased to have this bit of Jap real estate under perfect control and subjection. He was an upstate New Yorker with overseas service to his credit.

Our country has to have one hundred million more pounds of used fats this year over last. And we're the people who must save it.

We've rolled up our sleeves! We'll save every drop and bit it is possible to scrape—and keep on doing it till the last Jap is licked.

HOW TO DO IT: Save all used fats in a tin can. Keep it handy to the stove. Scrape your broilers and roasting pans, skim soups and gravies, for every drop counts. Keep solid pieces of fat, such as meat trimmings and table scraps, in a bowl. Melt down when your oven's going, add the liquid fat to the salvage can. Take the can to your butcher as soon as it's full. He will give you four cents and two red points for every pound. Your County Agent or Home Demonstration Agent can give you full particulars.

100,000,000 More Pounds of Used Fats Are Needed This Year!

Approved by WFA and OPA. Paid for by Industry.

Westex Oil Co. Features Famous Shell Products

Opening last week in this city was Westex Oil Company, which has its headquarters at 1016 North Fourth Street. The firm specializes in Shell products, and carries a complete line for Dawson County residents and citizens of surrounding counties.

Ted Grobel of Big Spring is owner of the business. Filling the post of manager for the local company is G. C. Broxson, who served as a staff sergeant in the Air Corps attached to the ground crew for a period of five years. While a member of the military service, Mr. Broxson was stationed in Kansas, and prior to that time he was a student at Draughon's Business College in Abilene. He had completed his course when he joined the Air Corps. Upon being released from service, Mr. Broxson went to McCamey, where he opened a bulk plant for the Westex Oil Company, and after establishing the business successfully there, he was transferred to Lamesa.

Assistant manager at the local company is G. G. Dodd, who moved to this city from Abilene, where he had been an employee of the Lone Star Gas Company for a number of years.

Both men reside here and their families will also make Lamesa their home as soon as housing facilities are available.

The local Westex Gas Company was purchased by Ted Grobel from Ed Anderson who operated the Home Oil Company at the North Fourth Street address, and serves as distributor for Shell products for both commercial and industrial use. They wholesale and retail these products, and maintain a truck with a 1132 gallon capacity to deliver them in Dawson and surrounding counties.

The supplies are transported to the local company from Big Spring. Shell products are widely known throughout the country and through their use you will find that you will keep your motors in better shape.

Mr. Broxson states that orders will be filled promptly and courteously at all times. Your orders for Shell products can be turned in by calling 495, or by contacting Westex Oil Company.

Next time you need supplies for your motor vehicles, call on Westex Oil Company and let them serve you with their quality packed products.

So Sorry Please Men Need Souvenirs

WILMINGTON, Calif. (AP)—Even before the fires were out, seamen of the U.S.S. Zellers, destroyer crippled by a Japanese suicide attack off Okinawa on April 12, were busy collecting souvenirs. Common Stomach Worms Cause Cattle Losses

In view of the losses from common stomach worms in cattle which are being reported over many parts of Texas, the A. and M. College

Extension Service has published a new circular, "Control of Stomach Worms in Cattle," by George W. Barnes and A. L. Smith, Extension Animal Husbandmen, and R. D. Truck, Head of the Department of Veterinary Parasitology.

"An understanding of the life cycle and treatment of stomach worms is of dollars and cents value to cattle producers," A. L. Smith co-author of the circular, remarked, "and since the trouble is widespread at this time, a few pointers on symptoms and treatment of the trouble might now be of interest."

The common stomach worm lays an enormous number of eggs, microscopic in size, which hatch and develop into infective larvae within a few days. These are picked up by grazing cattle, and develop to maturity within 15 to 21 days. Animals most seriously affected are calves and yearlings, and symptoms include loss of weight, general weakness, and anemia. The skin and mucous membranes are pale, and the hair coat often becomes rough. In later stages swelling often may appear under the jaw.

While it is reasonable to suspect poor, unthrifty calves and yearlings of parasitism, poor feed or other conditions may also be responsible; for that reason, it is advisable to obtain veterinary diagnosis before resorting to treatment. Caution should be used in the various treatments, as all drugs which will kill internal parasites are dangerous and should be given in doses based on the age and condition of the animal. Directions are included in the circular for administering the three treatments commonly used in the control of parasites, phenothiazine, copper sulphate and tetrachlorethylene.

Pfc. Dickenson's Part In Iwo Jima Battle Related

Editor's Note: The following article which concerns Private First Class Glenn P. Dickenson, Jr., was written by Marine Private First Class Wayne F. Young, Marine Corps Combat Correspondent.

Pfc. Dickenson Jr. is the son of Pfc. Glenn Dickenson Sr., Lamesa man who is now serving in a supply division of the Medical corps in France. Dickenson Sr. was on the front line during the Normandy breakthrough. Both father and son were born and reared in Dawson County and both are Lamesa High School graduates.

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC—For nearly two hours on Iwo Jima Private First Class Glenn P. Dickenson, Jr., 19, of Lamesa, was at the very tip of the Marine advance, alone except for a seriously wounded buddy he was tending.

With a Third Marine Division artillery forward observer team, Dickenson crossed airstrip number 2 with Ninth Regiment troops in one of the bloodiest attacks of the campaign. It was his second day ashore.

The attack was made in World War I style, Dickenson recalled. Marines fixed bayonets, then charged over a ridge south of the airstrip at a given signal.

Shortly after crossing the strip a Jap shell landed in the crater occupied by the four members of another forward observer team, Dickenson's officer left to go to their aid. Dickenson learned later that two were killed and two wounded.

Then one of the three remaining members of Dickenson's team was wounded seriously. The only other able-bodied team member, the radio operator, ran back to get a corpsman.

Shortly after the lieutenant and radio operator left, the infantry troops began pulling back across the airstrip unknown at first to Dickenson in his forward position. The troops found they were unable to hold their positions in the face of heavy Jap fire and because of their heavy casualties.

Soon the only Marines on the north side of the airstrip besides Dickenson and his wounded buddy were approximately 20 Marines operating four or five machine guns about 40 yards behind him. They were volunteers remaining on the machine guns while the infantry troops were reorganizing for another charge across the field.

The officer and radio operator went back across the airstrip with the troops. They thought Dickenson was lost until they heard him call for artillery fire on Jap positions beyond the ridge, when he directed three fire missions before the infantry recrossed the airfield and forward observer replacements arrived.

Dickenson's position had been the pinpoint of farthest Marine advance for two hours.

Later in the campaign Dickenson and two other Marines accounted for most of the 20 Japs killed in a night grenade fight on strategic Hill 362.

Still later, about 300 yards beyond Hill 362, he went to the front to obtain information which was used in knocking out three of the four Jap guns holding up the Marine advance.

Overseas 17 months, he also served as a forward observer in the Guam campaign.

Before entering military service, he made his home with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Dickenson, at 506 South Wason Street, Lamesa.

Fanned 42 In One Game

AP Newsfeatures
FALCONER, N. Y. — He struck out 42 batter in 23 innings—but he had to trap a baserunner to save his game.

Hugh Bedient, former Boston Red Sox star, recalling the feat that started him on his way to the major leagues, says the crucial play came in the 16th inning of that memorable contest back in 1908 between the high school teams of Falconer and Corry, Pa.

Corry, the home club, had men on second and third with none out. The score had been tied at 1-1 since the eighth.

"Naturally, our infield was playing in real close," Bedient reminisces, "and the runner on second, taking advantage of this, approached to near third, thinking, of course, no one would make a play for him at second."

"I figured I had a chance of beating him to second. I dashed for second. He started for third and was tagged before he got there. The runner on third was retired before reaching home and the game was saved."

Falconer scored two runs in the

"Our Service Is Not Rationed"

Our service is not rationed but is offered in full measure to keep the essential cars and trucks moving till victory.

Sure you want a new car; but who don't? What's your chance of getting one? Production for 1945 starting July 1—is set at 214,678 cars (based upon 1941 sales). Dawson County should get about 16 or 17 cars of all makes, probably 6 or 7 Fords, and with rationing continued most of us will have to drive our old cars.

So why not take advantage of the fine service we are now able to offer. Your old car will maintain its value if kept in good repair, the market for it will be good too since more than half of the people driving cars have never owned a new one.

Lt. Brad Gilbert Is Now On A Navy Mine Sweeper

Lt. (jg) T. B. Brad Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Gilbert of this city, sends word of his aboard a minesweeper in the South Pacific where he describes some "very tough going" experienced by the U. S. Navy and ground forces in recent invasions.

Gilbert described actions off Okinawa while his ship was in action sweeping mines, as a prelude to the invasion of that Japanese island.

He told of sweeping seven mines and the excitement that runs through the ship as the deadly explosives pop up as the ship passes on, as well as the maneuvering encountered to miss mines released by sweepers just ahead.

Describing air raids by the Japanese, which he says are mostly a nuisance and no great threat, Gilbert says is a "real treat to watch the larger combat ships throw lead at the enemy planes."

Crews of other ships watch with close interest as Jap planes roar in and cheer wildly when they are brought down by "amazingly accurate" anti-aircraft fire, Gilbert said.

Recently promoted from ensign to his present rank Gilbert has seen action in the invasion of Guam and Kerama Retto. He has been in the Navy since July, 1943 and attended midshipman school at Columbia University in New York, where he was commissioned in the late fall of 1943.

Gilbert is a graduate of Texas Tech college, where he was head cheer leader in 1942. He served as business manager of The Toreador, college paper, and was a member of the Tech Chamber of Commerce and the Saddle Tramps. He was in the Division of Commerce, receiving his bachelor's degree in business administration.
