CHARGES HANOI WITH BROADENING VIETNAM WAR

Nixon Mulls State Of World

WASHINGTON (AP) President Nixon today charged Hanoi with broadening the Vietnam war into an Indochina conflict and predicted the United States and its allies will have more hard choices in combatting possible new enemy thrusts in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

In a globe-ranging report officially directed to Congress but aimed at the nation and the rest of the world, Nixon keyed his message to a quest for "a full generation of peace" this century. But, he said, "If winding down the war is my greatest satisfaction in foreign policy, the failure to end it is my deepest disappointment."

He pledged to continue the winding down, the U.S. troop withdrawal from South Vietnam. But in stark contrast to his declared global peace goal his projection for Indochina emphasized the broadened war and increased American aid and air support for allied ground forces.

The 65,000 word report, covering 180 pages and accompanied by a nationwide radio speech, was the second Nixon report on the role of the United States in world affairs since he took office.

Patterned after the constitutionally mandated State of the Union message, this White House overview of the world situation disclosed no new U.S. policy departures.

But details were outlined and it gave Nixon an opportunity to tell the story of his foreign and strategic policies at midpassage between the 1968 and 1972 elections.

Nixon sent the report, which has been in preparation for several months, to Congress under the title, "United States Foreign Policy for the 1970s—Building for Peace."

In discussing the Indochina crisis at considerable detail Nixon gave a deeply pessimistic report about the prospects for a negotiated settlement.

He had "frankly expected" some kind of action from the North Vietnamese-Viet Cong side last year, Nixon stated, when he expanded political principles for a settlement and appointed ambassador David Bruce as peace negotiator.

In this, he indicated, he was completely disappointed. But "We will not give up on negotiations," he said.

"There is the additional fact that as our forces decline, the role we can play on many aspects of a settlement is also bound to decline," he added.

Nixon appealed for trust in his leadership as he seeks to develop what he called a new, more restrained world role for the United States.

But the major concern of the message throughout was with what he called the "most anguishing problem" of Vietnam.

"Hanoi has made the war an Indochina conflict," Nixon stated, with some 240,000 North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos, including a few Viet Cong in Cambodia.

"Enemy intentions and capabilities in Indochina will pose some hard choices about the deployment of allied troops as we pursue our withdrawals," he continued, and North Vietnamese actions (in Laos and Cambodia) could require high levels of American assistance and air operations in order to further Vietnamization and our withdrawals.

The theme of frustration in peacemaking and danger in world conditions pervaded other sections of the massive report.

Noting the Soviet Union's power position in the Middle East, the President said any great nation effort to dominate the area would "increase the danger to world peace."

In the nuclear arms race, he told Congress and the nation that what he termed greatly increased Soviet power could tempt Moscow into bolder and more dangerous probing of the West.

He also said the United States would like to begin improving relations with mainland China, but that nation continues "to cast us in the devil's role."

Nixon told the American people that he was trying to shape a new, less burdensome policy line for the United States in world affairs. He appealed for understanding and perhaps argued against any new swing into American isolationism.

To point up his approach to world affairs Nixon also cov-

Calley Leaves
Two Questions
Up In The Air

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — An Army psychiatrist who followed Lt. William Calley Jr. to the witness stand testified today he could find no evidence that Calley suffered from "any form of mental disorder I could think of" in the massacre at My Lai.

"One could say the entire incident is bizarre," Maj. Henry E. Edwards replied to one question put to him.

He was the first rebuttal witness for the prosecution. The defense rested Wednesday after Calley had spent two days on the witness stand.

Edwards was one of three Walter Reed Hospital psychiatrists that constituted a sanity board for Calley.

A second member of the team, Lt. Col. Franklin G. Jones, followed Edwards to the witness stand.

Edwards' testimony directly contradicted that of defense psychiatrists who said that Calley did indeed have mental impairment that clouded his capacity to premeditate his actions at My Lai on March 16, 1968. Calley is charged with murdering 102 villagers that day.

Edwards answered affirmatively to all questions touching on whether the lieutenant had the capacity to know right from wrong, the ability to do what he knew was right and to form the specific intent to kill.

"That he had the notion and desire to end someone's life," Edwards said.

"My opinion is that there was no impairment to his mental thought processes on that day... the way he performed he was responding to cues and stimuli around him."

After his two days on the witness stand, Calley left unanswered two major questions: How many civilians were killed at My Lai? How many did he kill?

ONE FATALITY
Explosion
Rips Plant
In Longview

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — A tremendous explosion ripped through the polyethylene area of the Texas Eastman Kodak Co. plant here at 7:43 a.m. today. Good Shepherd Hospital said shortly after that one fatality and four injured were brought there within minutes.

The explosion broke windows in downtown Longview, four miles away.

J. S. Witt, general manager of the plant, said that calls for ambulances were cancelled an hour after the explosion.

For a time, ambulances made shuttle runs between the plant and hospital and police cleared the streets to allow the ambulances to travel without interference.

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported at one time that all ambulances and fire units within 25 miles of this East Texas city were called to help.

Manager Witt said that the fire appeared small.

The explosion was felt in Carthage, 35 miles from Longview. Some residents of Marshall, 20 miles away, said the ground shook as in a small earthquake.

Two WT Men Die
In Plane Crash

ANDREWS, Tex. (AP) — Two West Texas men died Wednesday night as a private plane crashed 30 miles west of here and about a mile east of the Texas-New Mexico line.

Chief Deputy Sheriff G. A. Ragsdale of Andrews identified the victims as D. L. Hummel of Andrews, a Sun Tool Co. employee, and Weldon T. Harris of Odessa, a Houston Engineering Corp. employee.

The crackup occurred while they were on a pleasure flight in a Piper Cherokee owned by Hummel.

Ragsdale said watches of the men stopped at 8:50 p.m., indicating that was the time of the crash.

The plane shattered as it struck in an open area about six miles east of Eunice, N. M.

Wholesale Prices
Continue To Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government estimated today that wholesale prices jumped eight-tenths of one per cent this month for the largest two-month increase since 1956.

The February figure, which is subject to later revision, follows January's seven-tenths of one per cent rise for a two-month total of 1.5 per cent, putting severe new pressure on newly moderating consumer price increases.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics blamed the February increase on a 4.5 per cent jump in volatile wholesale farm prices, a rise it said resulted from severe weather that kept livestock from getting to market.

HOG PRICES
For example hog quotations rose more than 31 per cent and cattle prices were up 13 per cent.

"The effect of rugged weather on hog prices is certainly a short-range phenomenon," Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said in an accompanying printed statement. He said he was encouraged by a "tiny rise" in industrial goods and said it is worth noting that wholesale prices have risen only 2.7 per cent in the last year.

Wholesale prices for industrial goods moved up three-tenths of one per cent in February, which Hodgson pointed out was only a one-tenth of one per cent increase on a seasonally adjusted basis.

Because wholesale prices rise somewhat more than average anyway in the month of February, if seasonal factors are taken into account the month's increase would figure to a sixteenth of one per cent and the two-month increase would be 1.1 per cent.

The increase means that it costs $112.70 to buy what $100 bought in 1967.

The sharp upturn in wholesale prices follows last week's announcement that consumer prices rose only one-tenth of one per cent in January, the smallest monthly increase in nearly four years.

FUEL COSTS
The last time the wholesale price index jumped 1.5 per cent in two months was in April and May of 1956.

The BLS said the most important advance among industrial commodities was for lumber and wood products which had been declining. Motor vehicles and furniture rose moderately and apparel was slightly higher.

Fuel prices declined after a seven-month advance and metals and metal products averaged slightly lower.

The restricted supplies of livestock meant higher meat prices that the BLS blamed for practically all of a 1.4 per cent increase for processed foods and feeds.

Her Views
On Movies
'X' Rated

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — "The things they want to show you on the screen these days. I know film when I see it. I know garbage."

That was how Mary Avara, a member of Maryland's movie censorship board, let members of a House committee know Wednesday exactly how she felt about a bill to abolish the board.

She also left absolutely no doubt about her views on sexual permissiveness in movies.

"I had a man, let me tell you," she told members of the Judiciary Committee.

"When you've had a man who is Italian, a full-blooded Italian, you don't need nobody to show you anything on the screen," said Mrs. Avara, a widow and mother of eight.

She objected strenuously to displays of sex on the screen.

"As far as going home sexually aroused, if you're not, brother, you must be dead," Mrs. Avara said.

Students Burn Building
At Prairie View A&M

Dean of Students Dr. T. R. Solomon accused the Black Panthers of instigating the demonstration.

Sheriff's deputies estimated 700 to 1,000 of the almost 4,000 students at the predominantly Negro state school took part in the protest that included an unsuccessful demand that President Alvin Thomas and other officials resign.

OUTSIDERS?

"We feel some outsiders from the Black Panther organization are in on this," Solomon said. "They got it started and the other students participated once it got started."

"We have an organization on campus called the People for Afro American Life. But they really are the Black Panthers in disguise," Solomon said.

A campus store was wrecked, windows of two dormitories were smashed, and a campus security police car was overturned and burned in the wild, four-hour spree.

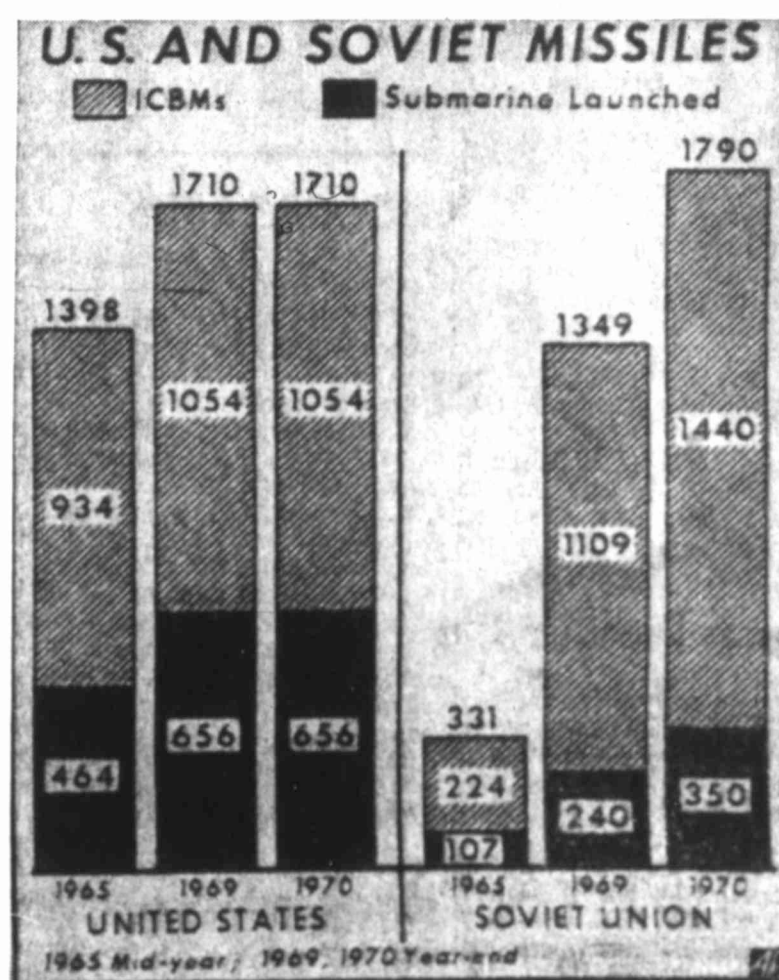

Solomon said the Black Panthers started their attempts to organize on campus at the beginning of the fall semester and "they've been at it ever since."

Solomon said the group had warned in an underground newspaper that Wednesday would be the day for the start of disturbances on campus.

"They said they were going to disrupt the whole college," Solomon said.

Tornado Damage Near Kerrville
KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Department of Public Safety reported that a tornado dipped down and heavily damaged a combination barn and stable on the Patio Ranch about 15 miles west of Kerrville today.

Damage was estimated at $10,000.

MISSILE COMPARISON CHARTED — Chart compares the growth from mid-1965 to 1970 of U.S. and Soviet missile strength — ICBMs and submarine launched. President Nixon made mention of this in his foreign policy report to Congress today.

Tokyo Rose
In Trouble

CHICAGO (AP) — Tokyo Rose has been summoned to a federal hearing March 28 to determine whether she can pay $255 she still owes on a $10,000 fine for treason.

Now 54, Mrs. Iva Ikuko Toguri D'Aquino was convicted in 1949 for her propaganda broadcasts to U.S. forces in the Pacific in World War II. An American citizen, she was in Japan when the war broke out.

In addition to the fine, she drew a 10-year prison sentence. Released in 1956, she satisfied $4,745 of the fine in 1968 by turning insurance policy proceeds over to the government.

Mrs. D'Aquino now works for a small family-owned merchandising firm.

President Advocating Public-Service Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coming full circle under pressure from congressional Democrats, President Nixon is advocating a plan for federally paid public-service jobs more costly than one he vetoed last December.

Announcement of the administration's $800-million-a-year program for 200,000 jobs in state and local government came as five governors and a 12-member caucus of black representatives told congressional committees emergency action is necessary to fight unemployment.

DEAD-END
The President's job plan, however, was billed as an answer to criticism that the work and training requirements of his family-assistance welfare-reform measure are meaningless without adequate employment opportunities.

Broader job plans of Sens. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and various house members now being considered would provide up to $2 billion for public-service jobs not necessarily tied to welfare.

Three months ago the President vetoed a $200-million public-service program. He said "dead-end jobs in the public sector" and "WPA jobs are not the answer for the men and women who have them."

One administration source explained the turnaround: "The time is obviously ripe for such a program and Congress is going to pass one anyway. It also strengthens our argument for family assistance."

$1.20 AN HOUR
The public service jobs would go to employable welfare recipients "for whom no other work or training is available," John G. Veneman, undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare, told the House Ways and Means Committee Wednesday.

The idea, he said, is to fill new needs, such as construction and staffing of day-care centers, rather than augment such customary government services as garbage collection.

The jobs would pay a top of $1.20 an hour. The federal government would supply the recipient's entire wage for the first year, but only 75 per cent in the second and 50 per cent in succeeding years to keep the jobs

WORLD

ered these areas in his message:

Nixon gave Moscow a barely Mid-east concealed warning not to try to dominate the Middle East which he called militarily and economically vital to the Western alliance.

The United States recognizes
"the Soviet Union has important interests" in the region, Nixon said. But he added the U.S. does not seek a "dominant position" and "we cannot allow others to establish one."

Soviet-U.S. Relations
The growth of Soviet nuclear power to parity with the United States "could tempt Soviet leaders into bolder challenges," Nixon said. Errors of judgment by Moscow may have contributed to the Middle East crisis last summer and to Soviet naval actions in the Caribbean last fall.

Apparently Nixon meant that in its support for Egypt in moving anti-aircraft missiles close to the Suez Canal, and in the Caribbean cruises of nuclear submarines, the Soviet leadership was probing U.S. intentions and firmness.

"In our relations with the USSR," Nixon said, "there should be no misconceptions of the role we play in international affairs . . . we prefer negotiation and restraint as the methods to adjust differences. But when challenged the United States will defend its interests and those of its allies."

Arms Limitation
Nixon virtually rejected a pending Soviet proposal to limit antiballistic missile systems apart from all other nuclear weapons systems.

The United States is expected to turn down the Russian proposal when the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks resume in Vienna March 15.

Nixon said meanwhile he would continue building the U.S.
ABM system. "The strategic balance would be in danger if we limited defensive forces alone," Nixon said, "and left the offensive threat to our strategic forces unconstrained."

ruled that Lawrence was not negligent and not liable for damages in connection with the

North Vietnamese Mass Tanks For Knockout Blow

SAIGON (AP) — Eight North Vietnamese tanks attacked a South Vietnamese base in Laos today but the defenders destroyed five of them and beat off the assault, U.S. officers reported. The drive into Laos still made no forward movement.

It was the first enemy tank attack reported in the South Vietnamese drive into Southern Laos to cut the Ho Chi Minh trail, now in its 18th day.

The base, Hill 31 about 10 miles inside Laos, has withstood three days of heavy shelling and U.S. officers said the North Vietnamese massed the tanks for a knockout blow.

PURSUED
The three remaining tanks took flight and were being pursued by U.S. bombers. It is believed they are Soviet-made PT-76 light amphibious tanks.

The enemy first used tanks in overrunning what was the Lang Vei Special Forces camp in the north in February, 1968. The camp is now used as a base for U.S. helicopters supporting the drive into Laos. The only other use of enemy tanks was in the central highlands early in 1969.

As the enemy continued to put up strong resistance in Laos, the U.S. Command reported the highest weekly American death toll in 5 1/2 months.

The increase in American deaths virtually rejected a pending Soviet proposal to limit antiballistic missile systems apart from all other nuclear weapons systems.

The United States is expected to turn down the Russian proposal when the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks resume in Vienna March 15.

Nixon said meanwhile he would continue building the U.S. ABM system. "The strategic balance would be in danger if we limited defensive forces alone," Nixon said, "and left the offensive threat to our strategic forces unconstrained."

SAIGON (AP) — Eight North Vietnamese tanks attacked a South Vietnamese base in Laos today but the defenders destroyed five of them and beat off the assault, U.S. officers reported. The drive into Laos still made no forward movement.

It was the first enemy tank attack reported in the South Vietnamese drive into Southern Laos to cut the Ho Chi Minh trail, now in its 18th day.

The base, Hill 31 about 10 miles inside Laos, has withstood three days of heavy shelling and U.S. officers said the North Vietnamese massed the tanks for a knockout blow.

PURSUED
The three remaining tanks took flight and were being pursued by U.S. bombers. It is believed they are Soviet-made PT-76 light amphibious tanks.

The enemy first used tanks in overrunning what was the Lang Vei Special Forces camp in the north in February, 1968. The camp is now used as a base for U.S. helicopters supporting the drive into Laos. The only other use of enemy tanks was in the central highlands early in 1969.

As the enemy continued to put up strong resistance in Laos, the U.S. Command reported the highest weekly American death toll in 5 1/2 months.

The increase in American deaths virtually rejected a pending Soviet proposal to limit antiballistic missile systems apart from all other nuclear weapons systems.

The United States is expected to turn down the Russian proposal when the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks resume in Vienna March 15.

Nixon said meanwhile he would continue building the U.S. ABM system. "The strategic balance would be in danger if we limited defensive forces alone," Nixon said, "and left the offensive threat to our strategic forces unconstrained."

Jurors Decide For Defendant
Jurors in 118th District Court found for the defendant Wednesday in the damage suit of John E. Nutt vs. C. C. (Red) Lawrence.

Nutt was asking for $60,000 in damages for himself and in behalf of his wife. The jury ruled that Lawrence was not negligent and not liable for damages in connection with the June 11, 1965, auto collision from which the suit resulted.

Pleads Guilty
A Anahuac man was sentenced to two years in state prison Wednesday by 118th District Court Judge R. W. Caton. Charles P. Oldham, 27, Box 361, Anahuac, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of theft by bailee. Oldham remains in custody in Howard County Jail, and Lubbock County authorities have a warrant on him requesting that he be held here until disposition on the Lubbock charge can be made.

COAHOMA — Don Allen filed for the Coahoma school board, becoming the third person to carry a seat on the board. Carroll Choate filed for re-election earlier. The other man seeking election is Joe Swinney. Waymon Leland has not filed for re-election.

Lass Who Finished At Top Pops Fem's Lib Movement

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Susan Blair beat out 301 men to become the first woman to rank at the top of her class in Air Force officer training here. A women's libber? Forget it.

"I still like to be treated as a woman," the pretty Tennessee lass says.

Susan, 21, holds a Phi Beta Kappa key in addition to being the first woman in the 10-year history of the Air Force Officer Training School to take top graduation honors.

"I really didn't expect it," she said after the ceremonies at Lackland Air Force Base this week. "But I think the gentlemen in my flight knew it before I did and were pulling for me."

'DIXIE BELLE'

The shapely new second lieutenant, from Knoxville, Tenn., was one of 27 women among the 328 graduates. Her grade average of 96 was the highest in the class.

"I've had several people come up to me and say, 'Well, that's a pull for women's lib,'" she said demurely, with just a hint of Southern accent.

"And they're rather surprised when I say I do," she believes in it. I still like to be treated as a woman."

Susan, now on leave, next goes to Lowry Air Force Base in Denver, Colo., to attend a 20-week air intelligence officers course, beginning March 10.

A 1970 graduate of the University of Tennessee, where she majored in German, Susan said she hopes to be assigned to Germany, "or some place overseas where I can use my college background."

VERY INTERESTING

The main reason she decided to become an Air Force officer was the "fantastic opportunity for a wonderful and interesting job for all women," she said.

"Once I got here, I became completely wrapped up in the military way of life, which is now a vital part of my entire life."

The officers school has graduated a total of 47,348 students, and until now only men were named top graduates.

So Susan posed a problem for the school—the trophies presented to honor graduates of each class are pre-engraved, with only a space left for the name. Hers had to be specially engraved, since the trophy traditionally cites the top student for "his achievement."

Sen. Tower Not Listed As Voting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lloyd Bentsen Jr., D-Tex., voted Tuesday in favor of invoking cloture to shut off a continuing debate on proposals to limit the filibuster as a parliamentary tactic in the Senate.

The measure failed 50-36. Two-thirds of the 86 senators who voted would have been needed to invoke cloture.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., was not listed as voting.

'Explosive' Quiz Frees Two Texans

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — Two Longview men are free after a state indictment against them was dismissed after a witness claimed police would be endangered if he answered a question on how to defuse a bomb.

Fred Loyd Hayes, 43, Longview caterer and his employee, Kenneth Ray McMaster, 42, were indicted Dec. 9 and charged with possession of a bomb.

Both men are under an 11-year federal prison sentence in connection with the July 4, 1970, bombing of the Longview School district's bus fleet. They are appealing the sentence and the $11,000 fines which each were assessed.

In the case here, Patrolman Charles Miller of the local police force, was asked while on the witness stand, to tell the exact procedure he used in disarming a bomb found in the Negro section of Nacogdoches last May. Miller said he could not answer the question because the information was classified.

Protesting, Dist. Atty. Davis Adams told the court: "This is not the kind of information to be let out to the public. A potential bomber could learn the procedures used by the police and re-wire his bomb so that it might blow up on the officer trying to disarm it."

But Dist. Judge Pierce ruled that Miller must answer.

Adams, however, moved for a dismissal of the case, which Judge Pierce granted.

Hayes and McMaster also face a federal indictment in connection with the dynamite bombing of a house in Longview which had been purchased by a Negro woman.

The Hole Gets Deeper

As his predecessors had to do and as he will have to do again, President Nixon has asked the Congress to raise the debt ceiling. He asked for $40 billion more in borrowing authority. The Congress will raise the ceiling after a decent period of time for grumbling. But nobody will make much of a speech about the high cost of borrowing. After all, borrowing has become a way of life.

At the end of fiscal 1970, the American government owed to the taxpayers and to some of its trust funds $382.6 billion. It paid interest of $18.3 billion (9.3 per cent).

Trouble is all that money is not new money. A lot of it is refinanced loans. Refinancing is one of the biggest "growth" areas of government.

Which leads to the second part of the President's request: abolish the 4.5 per cent ceiling on long-term borrowing. Nobody lends money at 4.5 per cent anymore — except the government. Mortgages, Small Business Administration loans, and other loans are below that figure, so we lose money there, too, charging it off for the "general welfare" of the country. Longer terms at rates lower than 9 per cent seem to make sense and would save money. The Congress has turned that request down every time a President has proposed it, however.

The bothersome aspect of all this business is that in fiscal 1961, interest on the debt was a puny $8.1 billion. Estimated for fiscal 1971 is $19.4 billion.

The hole is getting deeper daily.

Responsible Place

The AFL-CIO executives have taken tough stands against Mr. Nixon's proposals to limit pay scales in the construction industry and to prevent rail strikes.

Construction labor costs are clearly out of line, on a percentage basis. Those laborers argue, with some validity, that their work is seasonal and weather-logged. Yet the pay demands have seriously slowed house building to the point where the administration is contemplating some kind of intervention. On the rail issue, it is folly for AFL-CIO to assume that it can be allowed to whipsaw one railroad against another with impunity. Fairness should allow a line to take a strike, if it chooses. Public necessity demands transportation of vital goods, and that is government's responsibility.

Labor has to have a place in partnerships for public good. This means responsibility, not mere dominance.

GOP Support

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has been beset by Republican as well as Democratic "doves" on the Vietnam war issue, and the country may have gotten the impression that he is not going to have the support of some members of his own party in the 1972 campaign.

BUT SEN. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, Republican, one of the most vocal of the "doves," in a most casual manner told a television audience the other day that he really feels the President had espoused the philosophy of a number of "progressives" and "liberals" in his recent state-of-the-union message. Sen. Hatfield, who was appearing on ABC's "Issues and Answers," was asked if he was "saying that if Mr. Nixon's actual operating policies over the next two years are down the line of the state-of-the-union address, would you support him for re-nomination?" Mr. Hatfield answered:

"I COULDN'T see any reason why I shouldn't support him for re-election. It seems to me that the state of the union set the theme — it set the mood. We have to certainly go into the details of it, but if we can get that implemented, the basic concepts in that state of the union, I can see no reason why moderate, liberal, progressive Republicans and Democrats and independents cannot support the President."

The significance of the Hatfield comment is that heretofore it had been taken for granted the critics of the Nixon administration — who have demanded a deadline on the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam and passage of resolutions prohibiting further involvement in Southeast Asia after a certain date — are irrevocably opposed to the re-election of President Nixon and would fight him in the 1972 campaign.

SEN. HATFIELD'S views are, therefore, a surprise. He himself is up for re-election in November, 1972, and conceivably could run into difficulties in his contest for renomination if he is not on the administration side. But this, of course, has not troubled other Oregon senators — for example, Wayne Morse, who used to take stands independent of his party's administration in Washington.

The probability now is that the Vietnam War will have reached a definitive stage long before November, 1972, and that some form of settlement will have been attained.

THERE ARE other Republicans in the Senate who, like Mr. Hatfield, differ from some administration policies. It is interesting to note, however, that most of them come around to the support of President Nixon on other questions.

The President still doesn't have the solid backing of his party in the Senate, and this frequently causes him trouble in getting certain legislation through various committees. But as the election approaches, it will become apparent to many of the senators who are going to be up for re-election in 1972 that they will need the assistance of President Nixon more than they perhaps have assumed.

Political Trial

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — One thing, unhappily, is for sure concerning the upcoming trial of the Rev. Philip Berrigan and five anti-war colleagues on kidnap-sabotage charges. It is that the proceedings will be conducted in an atmosphere of nasty innuendoes.

ALREADY, suspicions have been circulated in print that the Federal government was "forced" to indict Berrigan and Co. for allegedly plotting to kidnap White House aide Henry Kissinger and blow up heating tunnels serving Federal buildings here. The suggestion is made that the indictments are a vindication of FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover, who a couple of months ago had told a Congressional committee about the "plot."

FORGET for the moment that such commentary implies the Berrigan Six are guilty before trial, although that is an ugly thing to let pass even momentarily. What is almost incredibly damaging is that the suspicions of government motives ignore the methods of due process.

The government, as such, did not indict the Berrigan Six. Neither did Hoover nor Atty. Gen. John Mitchell nor any other Federal or local law enforcement official. The Six were indicted by a Federal grand jury in Harrisburg, Pa., composed of plain citizens, who heard the evidence of government witnesses and concluded there was probably cause to find out, in a public trial, whether the suspects were guilty or innocent.

IT IS A FACT, however, that the Justice Department pressed for indictments — AFTER Hoover let the cat out of the bag on Capitol Hill. Justice probably would have sought indictments anyway; after all the grand jury alleges 22 "overt acts" by the defendants in furtherance of the conspiracy. What makes things awkward, to say the least, is that the indictments followed Hoover's announcement that his agents had "learned" that something called the East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives was planning the kidnap-sabotage operation.

WHEN HOOVER'S testimony hit the headlines, the Berrigan Six quite properly demanded that if the FBI boss had evidence of such a conspiracy somebody should be indicted. The indictments were returned Jan. 13. Predictably, the Six and their camp followers said ha! the government did it just to protect Hoover's integrity, to save him from looking foolish.

THUS, WHETHER the public wills it or not, the trial of the Six already has become a political thing. Oh, the trial will make good newspaper copy and the television people will love it. Lawyers on both sides will have a field day. But at this fun-and-games point, there seems little hope of getting at the incontrovertible, beyond-a-shadow-of-doubt facts.

Federal Funds For Highways

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal highway funds for 1971 total $21.2 billion for improvements to federal, state and local highway systems.

Total receipts for 1971 are expected to be $1.6 billion more than the $21.6 billion total receipts in 1970, according to a report compiled by the Commerce Clearing House, a tax authority.

Highway disbursements will amount to $20.4 billion, plus $1.2 billion for retirement of bonds in 1971.

Capital outlays, including expenditures for right-of-way, engineering and construction, will amount of $12.2 billion or 60 per cent of total current disbursements. The 1971 outlays will be more than 9 per cent higher than in 1970.

Maintenance is expected to cost $4.8 billion or 24 per cent of the total. This is 6 per cent higher than in 1970.

Alternative To Strikes

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Frustration with strikes is now being expressed not only by management and the public, but by union members and leaders themselves, leading to a renewed study of voluntary arbitration as an alternative.

Earlier quests either led to deadlocks or were abandoned, but some authorities now feel that conditions and attitudes have so developed that possibilities are more real than in years.

A study is, in fact, now being made under the auspices of the American Arbitration Association, with the cooperation of such well known names as I.W. Abel, United Steelworkers president, and R. Heath Larry, U.S. Steel negotiator.

This isn't the first time voluntary, binding arbitration has been seriously considered. It has enjoyed vogue from time to time and has attained some acceptance in certain industries. Over-all, however, it's still little used in resolving bargaining deadlocks.

Why might it be more acceptable now or in the future than it was in the past? Mainly because of the growing resentment of both labor and management, an angry public, and an administration that fears the economic consequences.

If all these factors are not yet fully on stage, says Donald Straus, president of the non-profit AAA, they are least in the wings, and the time for the curtain-raising could be approaching.

The provocateur is inflation, or more precisely, the damage that inflation is doing to paychecks, profits and the economy. And the catalyst that might excite these factors is the clear and present danger to everyone.

"There aren't many villains in this business," says Straus. "They are all people cast in their institutional roles and working to the best of their abilities."

Only if the dangers are clear and present can a statesmanlike attitude be taken by either side. Such conditions existed during World War II, for example, when wages were stabilized with few strikes. But do they exist today?

There is evidence that inflation is a destructive economic enemy, making American goods less competitive abroad, forcing workers to jog on a treadmill, destroying the living standards of those on fixed incomes.

The conditions that lead to acceptance of voluntary arbitration would include a feeling on both sides that there is more to lose than to gain from strikes, that not only would there be lost sales and paychecks, but unacceptable economic destruction as well. Then the parties can become statesmen.

"Anyone would agree that arbitration entered voluntarily is preferable to a strike," Straus believes, but he adds that the emphasis must be on "voluntary." Forced arbitration, he says, has never worked abroad and "I don't think it would here."

But he adds: Even those most opposed to compulsory arbitration would not deny importance of having voluntary arbitration available in the unlikely event they might want to use it."

Would this undermine collective bargaining? "If the two sides agree to arbitration it is in effect an agreement, a successful culmination of collective bargaining," Straus says.

Can't Spell It

Around The Rim

Jean Fannin

When I was in grade school we used to have marvelous little contests called "spelling bees." You could usually win with something like "rhinoceros."

OUR LITTLE spelling bees have grown to immense proportions. Now it is a national contest in which one can advance all the way to the finals in Washington, D.C. I'm talking of course about the spelling contest sponsored locally each year by The Herald.

Of course with its growth the words have also grown. In "Words of the Champions," the practice book, there are lists of various words which a contestant might be called upon to spell.

ON THE BACK page of the booklet there is a list of some 30 words which are termed "winning" words, or words which a contestant has spelled correctly to win the national contest. Some of them aren't so bad. In fact I've even heard of some of them.

I CAN'T even pronounce "propylaeum," much less spell it. Or how about "esquamosae." And there's always good ole "eudaemonic."

Some poor devils didn't quite make it that far. Some of the "losers" (and I use that word loosely — I figure if they made it to Washington they can't be that bad) stubbed their mental toes on words like "aeriferous" and "ochlocracy" and "xylophagous." Some couldn't quite decide on "gneiss." (I don't know how to pronounce that, but I bet there's no relation between the way it's spelled and the way it's pronounced.)

OF COURSE there are a few easy words — like "metonymy" and "osseous" and "fuliginous." But who wants to win a spelling bee with an easy word?

I think I just figured out what's wrong with the younger generation. Anyone who can spell "saponaceous" without looking has got to be on the other side of the gap.

Big Poker Game

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The bullet-seared Indochina Bar and Grill was jammed when the dusty stranger walked up and ordered a straight whiskey.

"You doing a big business," the stranger said.

"Yup," the bartender replied. "We've been expanding at a furious rate."

"What's the crowd doing over there?"

"They're playing poker. The game's been going on for eight years now, without a stop. It started as a little domino game but pretty soon it escalated into poker."

THE STRANGER wandered over to the table. There were six men sitting around the table — Black Jack Hanoy, Tiger Cy Gone, Charlie Cong, Big Sam, Little Louise and Kid Kamboadia.

"Who's winning?" the stranger asked a man named Frenchie.

"Beats me," he said. "I quit playing with these guys 16 years ago."

Big Sam had a giant stack of chips in front of him, and he kept giving chips to Tiger Cy Gone after each hand.

FRENCHIE WHISPERED. "Big Sam says he wants out of the game, but he won't quit until Black Jack Hanoy admits defeat. Black Jack just sits there with a poker face and every time his stack gets low the Chinese guy and the fat guy they call 'The Bear' give him more chips to play with."

"How did it all start?" the stranger asked.

"WAL, WAY BACK before anyone can remember, Charlie Cong and Tiger Cy Gone started a penny ante poker game amongst themselves. Pretty soon Tiger Cy Gone, who was one of the worst poker players around, began losing, and so Big Sam, who was considered one of the great card players of all time, started to give the Tiger advice. Big Sam also staked Cy Gone to a small stack of chips, which the Tiger lost immediately. So Big Sam gave him a larger stack and Tiger Cy Gone, who couldn't get the hang of the game, lost that stack."

"FINALLY Big Sam got so exasperated that he decided to get into the game himself. He put a large stack of chips in front of him hoping to scare Charlie Cong out."

"But instead, Charlie called on his friend, Black Jack Hanoy, who was anxious to get in the game because he had a grudge against Tiger."

"Before anyone knew it, the game escalated from penny ante poker to table stakes with one winner. Big Sam figured that with all his chips he could bluff and Black Jack Hanoy would have to fold."

"BUT BLACK JACK Hanoy was being backed by the Chinese guy and 'The Bear' because they had a grudge against Big Sam."

"So now the stakes are really high, and nobody is going to admit he lost." As they were talking, Big Sam dealt the cards. "Okay," he said, "this is the big hand. If we win this one, we'll win all the marbles."

Frenchie whispered to the stranger, "He keeps saying that every time he gets the deal."

What Others Say

Sen. James L. Buckley of New York, with candor as refreshing as that evinced in his campaign, has voluntarily filed a report with the Senate that shows he received some $400,000 in campaign contributions from committees established in Washington, D.C. He did not have to report those in Washington who donate money or what is done with it. The loophole, which has been used extensively by senators and representatives, offers a special opportunity for special interest groups — or their lobbyists — to remain anonymous.

—BOSTON HERALD TRAVELER

Some politicians in the Nixon administration are worried because certain Republican conservatives are worried about what they term the President's turn to the left.

Others who look after the President's political interests are less concerned about a possible conservative defection. After all, they reason, where else do those of conservation stripe go to go.

The truth is they don't have to go anywhere. All they have to do to make their dissatisfaction keenly felt is to sit on their pocketbooks.

—FORT WORTH STAR TELEGRAM

My Answer

Billy Graham

It disgusts me when people who say they are Christians gossip about people who have made a mistake. This is what really keeps people from attending church.

True Christians do not gossip about people, nor do they condemn them for their mistakes. Jesus said to a very sinful immoral woman, "Neither do I condemn thee; go thy way and sin no more." I take it that you are the one who has made the mistake which people are gossiping about. Let I condone you, or give you comfort in your sins, let me remind you that social condemnation is one of the prices we pay for wrong conduct.

You can't expect people to respect and admire you when your life is all wrong. Remember, God will not judge you by the standard of these people you mention. He will judge you by the standard of His own Son. Is your own life Christ-like? Have you availed yourself of the wonderful Grace of God? Finding a beam in the eye of your critics will not make you one degree better. You may even, by comparison, be as good or better than those who condemn you, but if you haven't accepted Christ, you are under the judgment of God. We would all do well to stop quibbling about the weaknesses of others and settle our account with Jesus Christ.

NEW PROCESS ADDS VERSATILITY AND UTILITY TO THERMO-PLASTICS
Cosden and Welex develop process that fuses different plastics

Cosden, Welex Announce Thermo-Plastic Procedure

In a joint announcement today by Welex Inc. and Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., it was disclosed that the two firms have worked together to perfect a new method of extruding two or more thermoplastic materials simultaneously.

This adds great utility to a material such as the already versatile polystyrene. The fusion of other plastic materials on an economical base like polystyrene imparts to it new and selective characteristics.

For instance, ABS can be applied to high impact polystyrene, the base substrate, to improve the latter's chemical or butler fat resistance. Again, ST can improve resistance to moisture and oxygen; polyethylene will provide a continuous peelable film.

In addition, other applications can provide a general purpose polystyrene for gloss or in different colors. Thus a product can have acrylic for weathering ability or ultra-violet resistance. Actually, the lab has extruded three colors simultaneously, but for practical purposes this has limited use because a person only sees two sides of a product.

How costs can be lowered is illustrated in a refrigerator door liner currently made of 115 mil ABS. Now 111 mil high impact polystyrene is sandwiched between two one-mil layers of ABS. Similar savings can be made in margarine tubs, outdoor sinks, milk or cottage cheese containers, and even in disposable dishes.

Cosden and Welex call this new technique of co-extrusion Polytrude. It is considered an exciting technological breakthrough through which an extrusion firm can put into use immediately. It requires only the adaption of existing equipment. The capital outlay is small in relation to the expanded capability of the extrusion line. Cosden and Welex have several patents applied-for in connection with the Polytrude process and are now in a position to discuss licensing and royalty arrangements in connection with the technology.

Before the Cosden-Welex breakthrough, co-extrusion generally has meant using two flat head dies to cast one material onto another. The lamination of the two sheets was accomplished by careful control of temperature and take-off speed. The degree of adhesion between the two layers varied considerably and uniform quality was a problem. In the Polytrude process, two or more different thermo-plastic materials are extruded through the same die lips. The resultant product is a complete fusion of the two different materials in a manner that allows the developers possible to predict and control sheet performance. The process with ABS, acrylic, polyethylene, provides gauge control of the coating material to meet the tolerances of plus or minus .0005 inches.

At the Cosden application in laboratory here, the developers have extruded such combinations as high impact polystyrene with ABS, acrylic, polyethylene, provides gauge control of the

Vending Machine, Loan Shark Practices Hit

AUSTIN (AP) — A three-man state commission made up of people in the vending machine business should regulate that business, says Rep. Carl Parker of Fort Arthur.

Parker told the House Tax Committee Wednesday that the state comptroller's office "is just not adequately equipped" to regulate juke box and amusement machine companies.

Several members of the committee criticized the bill. The measure was sent to a subcommittee for study.

The 1969 legislature established state regulation of coin-operated amusements machine companies after hearings in which some of those companies were accused of taking over taverns against the bar-keepers' wills.

"We found some loan shark practices, unethical practices and subterfuges," Parker said. But, he went on, "The comptroller's office is not equipped to be a police department."

"I just find it difficult to see the need for the commission," said Rep. Ray Lemmon of Houston.

"Well, if you talk to him (comptroller Robert S. Calvert) privately, he would tell you he is not exactly wild to have this duty and is ill-equipped to do it," Parker said.

Rep. W. C. Sherman of Fort Worth asked why Calvert was not present to testify.

"Well, I didn't ask him," Parker said.

Cotton-Feed Meet Scheduled Friday

An important meeting for all interested in the 1971 cotton-feed programs has been set for 10 a.m. Friday in the county courtroom.

J. G. (Gabe) Hammack Jr., in charge of the Howard County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, urged all farmers and others affected by the programs to attend.

Sign up begins March 1 and ends April 9 for cotton, feed grain and wheat programs. There are important changes in the program including set-aside acreage.

However, considerations of timing can on occasion alter the rule. Today, we have an exception which, paradoxically enough, also happens to offer proof of the principle.

North's jump rebid of three diamonds does not draw our vote. Although he does have a good hand, his suit is too broken to invite a game. South, of course was well within himself in carrying on to three no trump.

The opening lead of the four of spades was taken in dummy, and declarer entered his hand with the king of hearts in order to lead a diamond toward the king. West played the ace of diamonds and, realizing that the defense had no future unless tricks could be developed quickly, he shifted to the queen of hearts in the hope of finding partner with some support in that area.

Declarer held up, but his cause was now hopeless. East was able to get in with the queen of diamonds and after cashing the long heart, he shifted to a club to produce the setting trick for the defenders.

Altho it was essential for declarer to make one diamond play from his hand in order to establish the suit, the lead can be postponed until he has full control of the proceedings. After winning the spade opening, South should play a low diamond from the dummy immediately. This costs nothing since two diamonds must be conceded in any event, in order to establish the suit. No matter which opponent wins the diamond, declarer has time to come to his hand with the king of hearts in order to make his one lead toward dummy's suit. When West's ace of diamonds appears, the suit is now established and declarer has nine tricks.

Uncle Gives His Kidney To Mortician

DALLAS (AP) — An Athens mortician, Fred Thomas, 28, Wednesday became the 40th person to receive a kidney transplant at Parkland Hospital, with surgery by a team from the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School.

The Henderson County man was described in fair condition Wednesday night.

Thomas received the right kidney of his uncle, Clifford Thomas of Dallas. The donor, only a year older than the nephew, is an engineer for Dallas Power & Light Co.

The transplant was supposed to have taken place Feb. 15, but was postponed when the uncle developed fever along with an upper respiratory infection.

The younger Thomas has been a familiar figure at Parkland for several months.

He underwent an appendectomy in December while on dialysis, a procedure using artificial kidney equipment when kidneys are unable to function.

In January, both his own kidneys were removed because of a severe inflammation.

Surgeons removed his spleen at the same time, because of scar tissue which had formed between the spleen and the kidneys. Doctors said this does not incapacitate an individual, adding that it is a common operation because of frequent injury to the spleen in automobile and football accidents.

Mrs. Thomas teaches school in Malakoff, near Athens. The couple has a son, Chris, 8, and a daughter, D'Anna, 3.

His was the third kidney transplant at Parkland Hospital this year. Seventeen such transplants were performed at Parkland last year. The first kidney transplant in Dallas was at Parkland in November, 1966.

Details for the summer driver education program have been announced, and the first classroom phase will begin March 29.

This means that registration must be completed during the period from March 15-19 with study hall teachers at the high school.

Fee for the program is $25 ($10 at the time of registration and the balance on the first day of driving sessions). No part of the fee is refundable, and it does not include the driver's license fee.

The initial phase of classroom instruction will be offered from March 29-May 21 with eight groups meeting for one-hour periods beginning at 7:20 a.m., 3:35 p.m., 4:40 p.m., 5:45 p.m. and 6:50 p.m. Students must attend 32 of the 34 class sessions in order to meet state requirements.

A second series of classroom lectures will be given in 17 two-hour class sessions May 31-June 19. In order to provide 17 class periods, sessions will be conducted on two Saturdays (June 12 and 19). It will not be possible to transfer between the March-May and the May-June classroom sessions.

He Who Sows Will Reap

DALLAS (AP)—A letter from Florida reminded the staff at St. Paul Hospital about the words of St. Paul: "He who sows sparingly will reap sparingly, and he who sows bountifully will also reap bountifully."

The missive came from former patient C. T. Davis, now living in Lake Wales, Fla., and a check was enclosed. Davis wrote:

"Many years ago when I was a young man, in 1915, and a long way from home, the St. Paul Hospital took me in and administered to my needs—a favor I have never forgotten and for which I have always been grateful."

"Now, in a small way, I want to show my appreciation, so I am enclosing my check for $100. I am sure you will put it to the best use possible."

Hawks Pull Badger Teeth For 9th Win

By TOMMY HART

Late out of the starting gate but overpowering in the stretch run, the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks took Amarillo College here Wednesday night, 117-94, to improve their chances for a first place finish in the torrid Western Conference race.

Amarillo can lend assistance to the HC cause Friday night by defeating the front-running South Plains Texans in Amarillo. That same night, the Hawks wind up regular season play at home against Odessa.

Amarillo, whose coach, Bill McDonald, was very conscious of the HC whammy, scored the first ten points of the game before the Big Spring collegians untracked but HC was in command at half time, 51-46, and never trailed thereafter.

Frank White made two free pitches, Herschel Mitchell connected with a two-pointer from outside, Russell Bailey drove in for two field goals and James Bishop followed with a bucket in the first 2 1/2 minutes of play before Lawrence Young finally scored on a tip-in for HC.

After ten minutes, Amarillo still led, 25-21, but HC was beginning to come on.

McDonald didn't start his All-America candidate, 6-8 Larry Kenon, because he felt sure that the Hawks had their defenses set for him. Instead, the Amarillo team resorted to a full court press and it worked for a while.

Relegated to bench duty through the first four minutes, Kenon was never able to help much once he got onto the floor. He was limited to 13 points, about half his norm, and fouled out with 7:59 remaining in the contest.

On the other hand, coach Harold Wilder of HC got uniform play from all his troops. Archie Myers again led in scoring with 28 points and has now closed to within 22 of Walter Carter's all-time school record.

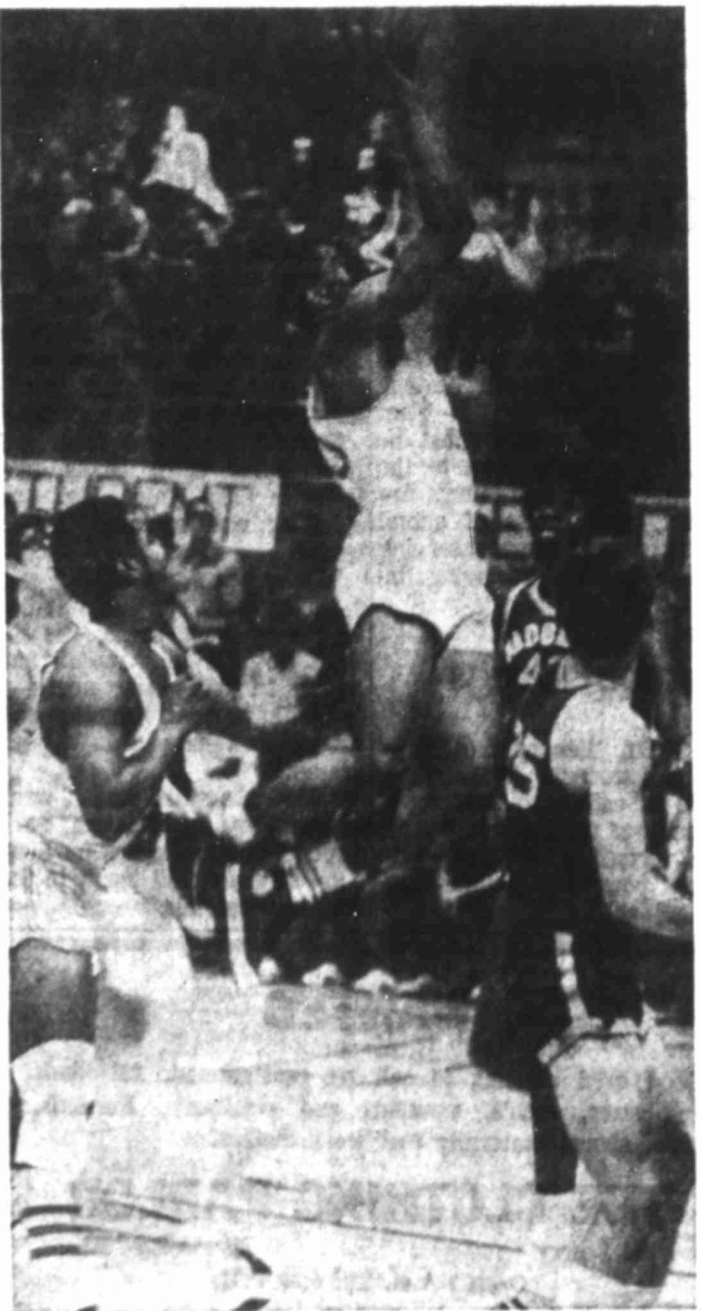

Decell Lewis was awesome under the boards and wound up with 24 points, six of which he hit at the line. Melvin Perez, Young and Kenny Neal also had great nights for the Hawks.

Perez, Steady Eddie with his floor play, zeroed in for 22 points. Through the past three weeks, Melvin has been as good as the best. He took pot shots at the basket 14 times and connected ten times.

Young pulled down 13 rebounds to lead the locals and scored 15 points. Neal often found all signs "go" down the middle and enjoyed target practice from in close and out front. He had 13 points.

The Hawks hit on 50 of 94 shots from the floor for 59 percent and connected 17 times in 27 efforts at the line for 63 percent.

The win was the ninth in 13 league starts for HC while Amarillo dropped back to 8-4. Over-all, HC is a robust 22-11.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

New Orleans was given some assurance it would get a major league baseball team if it built that Superdome stadium. Even without such a tenant, however, officials were determined to piece together the world's greatest sports complex, if for no other reason than to give Houston and its Astrodome that well-known-Axis feeling.

The New Orleans hucksters sold the tax payers a bill of goods by pointing out that much of the loot needed to sustain the American version of the Taj Mahal would be raised by plundering the pockets of tourists. The price they ask for motel and hotel rooms in New Orleans is a caution, especially when the part designated for payment of the domed stadium is figured in.

The bite of the enclosed park will approach $100 million and likely will come to twice that when the interest is figured in.

The Astrodome in Houston set the county back $31.6 million and, at the time, some of the citizenry complained that it was a white elephant that could only compare with the money invested in the Spanish Armada.

The New Orleans showplace, when it is completed, will seat almost twice as many people as will the Astrodome. That is an impressive statistic within itself.

However, the bigger a facility is, the more expensive it is to maintain. Houston people estimate they must keep their domed arena open at least 121 days a year to make ends meet. Think how much more costly it will be to make the New Orleans plant a going proposition.

Some of the New Orleans people have petitioned the NFL to stage the Super Bowl game there each year, once the park is completed. Even though the state keeps re-electing the kind of people that can influence members of the U.S. Congress, there's no way that can happen, not with places like Miami and Los Angeles seeking parity in conference that dictate the site of the post-season play.

New Orleans may have a ravenous appetite for big league baseball but there are those who insist the community isn't big enough to support the game. Without baseball, even its most rabid supporters concede that there's no way the income will meet the outgo.

The Dallas Cowboys have lined up an attractive NFL schedule for 1971, but the road to the Super Bowl won't be easy. In addition to playing two games each with St. Louis, Philadelphia, the New York Giants and Washington, the Pokes will meet New Orleans, Chicago, Los Angeles, Boston, Buffalo and the New York Jets. All those count in the standings.

The Houston Oilers, on the other hand, play single games with Buffalo, Boston, San Diego, Oakland, Kansas City, Detroit, New Orleans and Washington and well as home-and-home contests with Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

The Big Spring track team likely will be stronger in the half mile and the relay races this spring than in other events.

Coach Glen Petty reports his boys were called upon to do about twice what they were doing in early workouts last year and responded beautifully. The Steers are a long way from winning any 5-AAAA championship but they'll probably have a lot to say about who does.

Melvin Durslag, the clever Los Angeles columnist, says the National Basketball Association will not have risen to its crest until it switches to the Utopian schedule of 21 league games, with an 82-game playoff.

NBA players are now collecting $19 a day for meal money in road games — and they don't hit the deck until noon.

Cotton Bowl Film Ready For Groups

DALLAS — It's football, not a travelog, but the 1971 Cotton Bowl Classic highlight film was put together by talent and technicians spread from Los Angeles to — honest — Timbuktu.

The film, "Mayhem Revisited," depicts highlights of Notre Dame's 24-11 victory over Texas in the 35th annual Cotton Bowl Classic last January 1. It will be available for screenings beginning the second week of March.

Groups wishing to show the film may reserve it by contacting the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, Box 7185, Dallas 75209 or by phoning (AC 214) 528-5141. There is no rental fee, although those requesting the film for out-of-Dallas screenings must pay transportation charges.

The 16-mm sound film in full color runs 28 1/2 minutes and recounts Notre Dame's victory in the rematch between the two teams that ended Texas' 30-game winning streak.

The film includes a section showing Notre Dame's man-for-man defense against the Texas Wishbone T and triple option that averaged more than 40 points a game during the regular season. It also features the performances of Texas quarterback Eddie Phillips and Notre Dame defensive back Clarence Ellis, voted the game's outstanding offensive and defensive players, respectively.

Ten cameramen shot the game for Film Associates, Inc., who produced the film for the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association. A special lens was flown in from Los Angeles — along with a cameraman from Minneapolis — to capture unique close-up action from the end zone. The 30-to-500 mm lens is equivalent to a 20-power telescope.

Executive producer Bob Friedman estimates more than $50,000 worth of equipment was used as four miles of film was exposed to produce the final product.

Sands Opposes Cougar Quint

LAMESA — The Lamesa Middle School gymnasium, which seats upward to 2,400, will be the scene tonight of a District 8-B boys' playoff game between Sands and Klondike.

The two bring great records here. Sands has lost only once in 27 starts, that time to Klondike in Klondike by a score of 73-67.

Sands avenged the defeat in a game played at Ackerly by winning, 66-61.

Winner of the contest plays Meadow in bi-district competition either Monday or Tuesday. The winner there qualifies for the Regional meet at Levelland next weekend.

Klondike has won all but two of 24 starts and boasts a height advantage over Sands. The Mustangs depend on the fast break and the ability of its outside player to get the ball through the hoop.

Sands is the defending champion in the race. Capacity of the gymnasium likely will be taxed to the limit for the game.

Pete Rose Isn't Due Raise, Says Bender

By The Associated Press

Pete Rose cut some fancy figures for Cincinnati's National League champions last season: 205 hits, 15 home runs, 52 runs batted in and a sixth straight 300-plus batting average.

But Rose's numbers don't seem to add up to a fat salary raise, according to the Reds' mathematics.

"Pete had an off year," Sheldon Bender, the club's personnel director, revealed Wednesday. "Hitting .316 is not what you would consider a good season for Pete Rose."

The hustling outfielder, who took NL batting titles in 1968 and 1969 with .335 and .348 marks, is asking for a two-year $250,000 contract. He made an estimated $105,000 last year.

"We don't feel that if 95 percent of the club gets a raise, Pete Rose, the team captain, should go without one," said Hy Uline, who is representing Rose in salary negotiations.

Cleveland pitching ace Sam McDowell, bidding for a six figure contract after his first 20-victory season, conceded that his salary talks with the Indians broke down a week ago. His battle cry now is pay me or trade me.

"I like playing in Cleveland and I want to play for the Indians," the big left-hander said in a telephone interview from his Pittsburgh home, "but I would rather play somewhere else than not play at all."

The world champion Baltimore Orioles, meanwhile, brought their 24-game winners, Dave McNally and Mike Cuellar, into the fold for fat pay increases. McNally, 24-9 last season, received about $55,000 and Cuellar, 24-8, about $55,000.

Other signees were first baseman Donn Clendenon and outfielder Art Shamsky with the New York Mets; outfielder Jim Northrup with Detroit and pitcher Wilbur Wood and first baseman-outfielder Tom McCraw with the Chicago White Sox.

Shortstop Luis Aparicio, traded from the White Sox to Boston at the winter meetings, reported to camp with high hopes of another big year batting ahead of Carl Yastrzemski. The 36-year-old bantam hit a career-high .313 in 1970.

Outfielder Matty Alou, who went from Pittsburgh to St. Louis in a recent trade, was another camp arrival. Alou, who dipped from .331 two years ago to .297 last season, said he'll switch from a 38-ounce bat to one four ounces lighter.

Los Angeles newcomer Rich Allen, acquired from St. Louis in still another trade, tangled with the Dodgers' sophisticated new pitching machine and said: "Those things throw better curve balls than most pitchers."

Then he stepped back into the cage and sprayed line drives to all fields, proving that at least one hitter is ahead of the pitchers—mechanical marvels or otherwise.

We have plenty of good car salesmen, but our best one just might be the Vega itself.
That's because Vega is such a great car to drive.
One of the reasons is Vega's 140-cubic-inch overhead cam engine. It gives you peppy performance without taking away from its gas mileage. And since Vega's a little car, it's very maneuverable. It's downright fun.
Yet Vega's not one of those little cars that blow off over the road. It has a wide stance and a low center of gravity to make it stable in crosswinds. So Vega feels very secure on the open road.
Vega also has big 16-inch front disc brakes to make stopping as easy as going.
And very comfortable front bucket seats.
So stop in today. Drive a Vega. Then, let's talk.

Gamecocks, LaSalle Record Easy Wins

By The Associated Press

Maybe it was the altitude that upset Duquesne and Louisville. But South Carolina and LaSalle didn't seem to mind it.

The Dukes, with a height advantage on the floor as well as in the Associated Press college basketball rankings—eighth against unrated Boston College—couldn't keep the Eagles from flying away to a 67-52 victory Wednesday night.

And Louisville, holding down the 15th spot in the poll, was unable to hold down Cincinnati's unlisted Bearcats, who squeezed out a 79-78 triumph.

But seventh-ranked South Carolina had little trouble shattering Wake Forest's zone defense to destroy the Deacons 84-64 and No. 14 LaSalle clamped the lid on American University to win 62-54.

XAVIER DOWNED

In other major action, Miami of Ohio overpowered Xavier of Ohio 86-72. Duke held off North Carolina State 82-78. St. Bonaventure crushed St. Francis, N.Y., 105-65 and Toledo upset Western Michigan 81-66.

Boston College, countering Duquesne's height advantage by keeping the middle clear, rode backcourt ace Jimmy O'Brien's 18 first-half points to a 30-19 intermission lead, then kept the Dukes from getting closer than eight points to snap their 15-game victory skid. O'Brien finished with 22 points for scoring honors.

Sophomore Greg Jursisin scored Cincinnati's decisive point on a free throw with 17 seconds to play while Steve Wenderier supplied the punch with 20 points and 19 rebounds to cut the Cards.

South Carolina retired John Roche's No. 11 uniform and Wake Forest responded by overplaying the Gamecocks' star, who turned playmaker to help his teammates roll up a 46-37 halftime lead on the outside shooting of Rick Aydtlett and Bob Carver.

The SC triumph, led by Tom Owens' 25 points and 18 rebounds, enabled the Gamecocks to finish their season at home undefeated with an 11-0 mark. They're 18-4 over-all.

LaSalle was without scoring leader Ken Durrett, sidelined with a knee injury, so Bobby Fields took over and hit a game-high 22 points.

The Explorers held the ball and rolled up 11 free throws and a pair of field goals in the final 12 minutes of play to clip the Eagles' wings.

WILL ENTERTAIN COAHOMANS — Don Crutcher is one of the Harlem Jokers who visit Coahoma tonight to meet the All-Star Coaches in a benefit basketball game at 8 o'clock. Crutcher, 6-6, played his college ball at Tennessee A&I. Admission prices will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for students and airmen. The sponsoring organization, the Quarterback Club, will use its part of the income to pay for a seven-man blocking sled.

Louis Forecasts Frazier Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis predicts Joe Frazier will defeat Muhammad Ali in their March 8 bout.

Louis made the forecast Wednesday at a news conference. He appeared as a representative of Concerts West Productions, which is handling the closed-circuit telecast of the fight.

Pickets marched outside Hofheinz Pavilion while the news conference was in progress.

Louis referred to Ali as Cassius Clay, his former name.

"I met him as Clay, he became the champ as Clay and I still recognize him as Clay," Louis said.

"I'm picking Frazier. Frazier's got the only style to stop Clay. Clay must keep Frazier in the center of the ring, and I don't think he can. Joe automatically wears you down the way he keeps coming at you."

"A fighter going in can hit a lot harder than one backing up. It could go the distance, but I don't think it will. Both can take the other out with one punch and Clay has a better chance in the first five rounds."

Titles Elude Austin Carr

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame's Austin Carr appears destined to be a crown prince without a crown in college basketball's all-time scoring parade.

Carr pumped in 122 points in three games last week to become the second-highest scorer in major college history. But the Irish backcourt flash likely will wind up his three-year stint without capturing a single-season point title.

Mississippi's Johnny Neumann remains firmly entrenched atop the scoring list with 906 points in 22 games. Carr, runner-up to all-time point champ Pete Maravich of Louisiana State a year ago, is second again with 821 in 22 starts.

The Notre Dame star passed Oscar Robertson last week to grab the No. 2 spot behind Maravich in the career standings.

Rockets Yield To Milwaukee; Royals Beaten

By The Associated Press

It's a long way from the playoffs and Milwaukee hasn't won the title yet—but the Bucks can still claim they're the best in the National Basketball Association.

The Bucks, going from streak to streak all season, captured their 13th straight victory and 58th in 69 games this season with a 139-104 blasting of San Diego Wednesday night. Thus, with 13 games remaining in regular-season play, they assured themselves of the best record in the league.

New York's champion Knicks improved their second-best NBA record to 44-26 with a 125-105 thrashing of Cincinnati. In other games Boston bounced Los Angeles 116-96, Atlanta tripped Portland 118-107, San Francisco nipped Detroit 117-115 and Seattle ripped Cleveland 123-101.

San Diego stayed within striking distance, trailing only 62-53 at the half, before the Bucks went to work, pulling away by 16 points after three periods, final stanza.

Elven Hayes of the Rockets then bombing in 40 points in the and Low Alcindor of Milwaukee played to a virtual standoff with the Big E winning the scoring battle 23-20 and the Big A outrebounding Hayes 13-11. It was Bob Dandridge's 33 points that made the difference.

New York held a slim 80-79 lead late in the third period before Dave DeBusschere and Bill Bradley went to work with deadly outside shooting as the Knicks erupted for 39 fourth-quarter points. Walt Frazier topped the winners with 26 points and Bradley added 24 and DeBusschere 18 while Cincinnati's Flynn Robinson topped everyone with 29.

Boston held Los Angeles scoring star Jerry West to just one field goal and a total of 18 points while John Havlicek, Jo Jo White and Don Nelson teamed for 72 points as the Celtics buried the Lakers, topped by Wilt Chamberlain's 27 points.

Lou Hudson's 38 points and Pete Maravich's 28 plus a dazzling passing exhibition by "Pistol Pete" and Walt Hazzard enabled Atlanta to turn back the Trail Blazers, paced by Jim Barnett's 26.

LL Backing Applauded

Frosty Robison talked to the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday at the Settles about the Little League program.

It involves from 800 to 900 boys in an early summer program, he said, and possibly twice that number of parents.

The program functions through each of four leagues—the American, National, International and Texas—which are responsible for financing their own operation.

While exacting in some respects, he said that Little League teaches youngsters discipline, sportsmanship, teamwork and responsibility, as well as utmost effort to win honorably. An added virtue, he said, was that parents and children are brought into a participating relationship.

He expressed appreciation to businessmen who serve as team sponsors, adding that the program could not function without them.

Little League, he said, was the only sports organization which has a federal charter.

Brown Is Only Black In PGA

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Pete Brown, the lone black man in the field of 146 pros who began play today in the PGA golf championship, doesn't feel that his cause is completely hopeless.

"Some day a black man will crash through and win a major championship," said the 36-year-old son of a Mississippi sharecropper. "Then things will be different."

"Most of the black kids who are good athletes are going into football, baseball and basketball—even tennis. They've got heroes they can relate to."

"But not golf. There are no stars, so kids are looking elsewhere."

Brown, a strapping 6-foot-1 and 180 pounds with a thick mustache and a row of ivory white teeth, is not so bash as to say he's the man who will do the trick.

"I'm not sure it will come from the present Negroes most active on the tour," he said. "Charlie Sifford, who has worked so hard to break the barriers, is 48. Lee Elder is 36."

"But Jim Dent, from Los Angeles, just came out of the PGA school. He is only 28, a big man about 6-3 and 225 pounds. I think he hits the ball farther than anybody on the tour. He might do it."

"Then there's Curtis Sifford. Charlie's nephew, who is 26. Charles Owens and George Johnson are fine golfers."

Brown's own credentials are impressive. Born in Mississippi, the son of a sharecropper and carpenter, he caddied on a municipal course at 13. His family moved to Detroit and later to Los Angeles.

In 1956, he was stricken with polio. He lost control of his senses and was unable to move or speak for a year. Then he fought back and regained much of his muscular control, although he still must take special exercises.

He started on the pro tour in 1962. In 1963, he won only $920. He won $56,069 in 1970, including first prize in the Andy Williams event at San Diego where he beat Tony Jacklin in a playoff.

Joe Morgan Still Outside The Fold

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Second baseman Joe Morgan remained today as the only Houston Astro player who has not agreed to terms.

General Manager H. B. "Spec" Richardson said he had been trying to reach Morgan by phone but had no results.

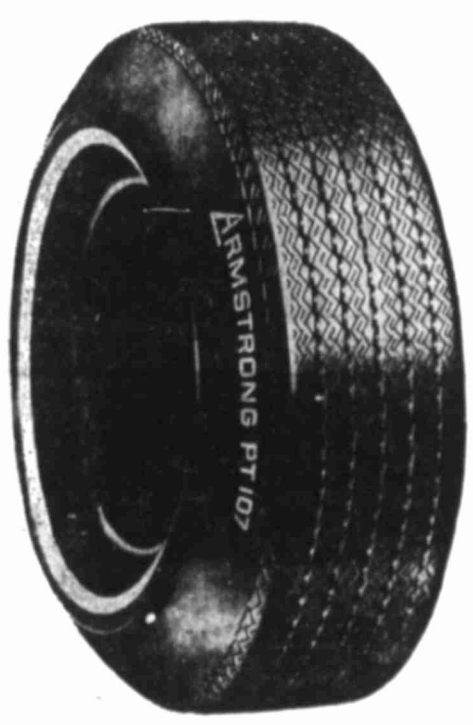

Denis Menke, a shortstop last year, played first base Wednesday as the Astros engaged in their first full squad workout at their spring training camp here.

The Astros obtained rookie Roger Metzger during the winter and are hoping he will be able to play the shortstop position. If he does, Menke will be moved to another position.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married twice and I am not an old lady. Unless you call 49 "old."

After my first husband died, I continued to wear my wedding ring. A friend who had recently lost his wife became interested in me. He said he didn't object to my wearing my wedding ring if it made me feel better. Somehow it did, so I just never took it off. Well, I married this fine man and he put a second wedding ring on my finger right next to my first.

Two years later my second husband died. It's been 14 months since his death and I am again being asked out. Perhaps I should mention that I have never taken either one of my two wedding rings off. Every man who meets me asks me why I wear two wedding rings. Some think I shouldn't even wear one. I tell them the truth. They all think I am strange, but Abby, my hands would feel "naked" without them. What is the correct thing to do?

TWO RINGS
DEAR TWO: The correct thing would be to remove both wedding rings if you are interested in marrying a third time. Your second husband was unusually generous. I doubt if you will find a man who will willingly contribute to a "three ring circus."

DEAR ABBY: Since my divorce a year ago, I have gone with several women, but have not been intimate with any of them.

A few months ago, just for sexual outlet, I picked up a young and pretty girl off the street and took her to my apartment. She was a prostitute, so I paid her. Since then I've seen her several times. I have even bought her dinner. (She doesn't drink and I don't either.) I have grown fond of her, and have even thought of asking her to give up being a woman of the streets and go with only me.

I would even stop my sex relations with her to prove I like her company only because I like her. (Possibly I am in love with her.)

What she is and has been doesn't matter. That can be changed if she wants to change it. My problem is how to let her know how much I care for her.

AWAITING YOUR REPLY
DEAR ABBY: You express yourself very well. Just tell her what you have told me.

DEAR ABBY: I am a grandmother. As one would expect, I am placed in competition with the other grandmother. I don't happen to believe in bringing my grandchildren a present every time I go to see them. The other grandmother does, which is her privilege. This gives the grandchildren the impression that they have something coming every time a grandparent visits them. (We live in the same city.)

What should I say when the little ones come running to greet me and ask, "What did you bring me?"

EMPTY HANDS: FULL HEART
DEAR EMPTY: Suggest to your grandchildren's parents that they ask the other grandmother to cool the gift-giving gambit. It's not good for the kids and it's unfair to you. If that doesn't work, you will have to cultivate the youngsters' affection in other ways, until their values mature, as they will.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Pregnancy Issue

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

The following letter is more common these days than you might think — unless you could read all the letters that come to me!

Dear Doctor: I am 19 and think I am pregnant. I want to have an abortion (I am not married) but friends have told me that I will not be able to have any more children.

My boyfriend wants to give me some pills that will cause a miscarriage but I am afraid to take anything I really don't know about. Can you give me any information, please? — A.M.

be impossible to have children later — unless the abortion is followed by infection that causes physiological damage. Some of the "back-alley" abortions in the past left some women sterile because under such circumstances after-care and prevention of infection were not provided.

What about the boyfriend's "pills"? There are no pills that will cause a miscarriage. Any medication given for this purpose would most likely make you very ill — yet not accomplish its intended purpose.

Where legal and with the proper medical care, abortion can be accomplished relatively simply by surgical means. There is no way to accomplish it by any other means, despite the folklore about sliding down stairs on your stomach, taking various vile-tasting potions, taking hot baths and so on. They don't work, although some of them can endanger health.

There's been a mighty lot of talk about legalized abortion, sexual liberation, and all that.

I am not undertaking to discuss the rightness or wrongness, the legal or the moral implications. I just want to emphasize a couple of facts that seem to have gotten lost in the shuffle.

First, the fact that abortion has been legalized in some places does not make it into a simple little office procedure, and it most certainly does not mean that causing an abortion is something that can be accomplished as a do-it-yourself project.

Second, miscarriages do occur fairly frequently — and when a miscarriage occurs in the midst of somebody's do-it-yourself efforts, it is attributed, quite mistakenly, to the pills or other measures being used. Yet it is still a coincidence, not a result.

Nature, as it goes about its work of creating new life, is not easily thwarted.

Abortion can be accomplished surgically, but to have any degree of safety, it must be done in a germ-free operation room, and accompanied by the same precautions, during and after the surgery, that are required for any hospital surgery.

There is no pill for it. There is no simple home method that isn't dangerous to health and even life.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is nevertheless vital to human life. For this reason, Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly."

For a copy write to him in care of The Herald, enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Introduced by Mrs. Rowland Fryar, Chaplain Butler stressed the importance of home environment while rearing children. He said a child must feel security at home in order to develop as he should and

SAYS MOST WOMEN HELPLESS

'Learn Legal Matters' Advises County Clerk

Mrs. Homer Petty, now serving her fifth term as county clerk, was dinner speaker Tuesday evening for the Business and Professional Women's Club at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Petty enumerated a list of records kept in the clerk's office, told the purpose of each and stressed the importance of keeping a complete and accurate record of legal instruments. She explained filing fees, changes in some laws and related many of her experiences, both serious and humorous, as county clerk.

In closing, Mrs. Petty urged women to acquaint themselves thoroughly with legal procedure. She said many women are "helpless" upon the death of a spouse because they know nothing about his business or finances now how to find out.

"Much money, including legal fees, could be saved if more women knew what is involved at a time like this," said Mrs. Petty.

The program was under the direction of the legislative committee, Mrs. Weldon Nuckolls, chairman; Mrs. Delphia Gordon, Mrs. Fred McGown, Mrs. A. G. Eitzen and Mrs. Onelia Hardy. Mrs. J. B. Apple presided, and the invocation was by Mrs. Hardy.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Robert Smart and Mrs. Johnny Roy Phillips.

TEXAS LEGISLATOR TELLS CONGRESS

He Has Lost Faith In America

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Texas state legislator told Congress today he has lost faith in America, and his wife her health, because the military spied upon him over the past decade.

"I can remember thinking of Uncle Sam as part of the family," said Curtis M. Graves. "But now I think of repression and surveillance and miscarriages of justice."

In testimony prepared for the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights, headed by Sam Ervin, D-N.C., Graves recounted he recently learned from a former agent of the 112th Military Intelligence Group that he was a spying target.

KNIFE HISTORIES

Graves said Walter Birdwell of Houston advised him "Army Intelligence has had me under surveillance since about 1960," and maintained extensive records on him in a "subversive file."

Birdwell also told him, said Graves, others in the 112th's Houston file included Texas State Sen. Barbara Jordan, boxer Muhammad Ali, attorneys Ben Levy, James Hippard and Will Gray, members of the Ku Klux Klan and a number of anti-war activists.

Birdwell reported seeing "a card file on every member of the Unitarian Church in San Antonio," Graves said, and records on Black Muslims included such personal matters as surgical histories.

As for his own case, Graves said he apparently was marked for surveillance while participating in 1960 sit-ins at Houston, aimed at desegregation of public accommodations.

DIAL TONE

Even so, he said, it was six years before he was first tipped by a high official in the Catholic church in Houston.

Thereafter, he said, it became obvious his telephone was tapped, and crudely. Sometimes after making a call "I could not get another dial tone ... for several minutes."

After his 1966 election to the state legislature, said Graves, "I noticed several times too many microphones were on platforms where I was speaking."

In one such case in 1969, he said, the unaccountable microphone had a cord running under an adjoining room, but "we could not get to the other side."

Graves said he suspected the monitoring was conducted by political enemies or perhaps the police until he heard from Birdwell.

"I understand the secretary of defense said that civilians will maintain the surveillance of subversives," said Graves. "My gut reaction is that Secretary Laird is trying to snow the American public."

In any case, he said, the FBI and state and local law enforcement agencies "have been passing on their information concerning private and public citizens to armed forces intelligence for years."

"I literally have lost faith in this country as a result of the information that I have found out in the past several weeks. My wife grew seriously ill following the disclosure that the Army had us under surveillance," Graves said.

"If this country does not have faith in its public officials, then just where are we?"

Officials Fail To Cast Stones

HOUSTON (AP) — County commissioners have postponed the Houston-Galveston Area Council's request that the legislature pass a law allowing abortions by licensed physicians during the first half of pregnancy.

Commissioners W. Kyle Chapman, E. A. Lyons and V. V. Ramsey expressed full support for the resolution, which was proposed by commissioner Bill Elliott.

Lyons, presiding Thursday in the absence of County Judge Bill Elliott, suggested, however, that action be postponed until all court members were present.

Posthumous Honor For Negro Teacher

Dr. Ervin Sewell Perry, a Texan who died last month at the age of 34 after rising to become the first Negro faculty member at the University of Texas and a leading scholar in the college of engineering, was given a posthumous honor as the Young Engineer of the Year at the January Winter Meeting of the 66,000-member National Society of Professional Engineers.

It was the first such award to be issued by NSPE. Dr. Perry's selection was announced prior to his sudden death. He was a professor of civil engineering at the University of Texas at Austin. Dr. Perry's wife, Jean, received the award from NSPE President Harry C. Simrall (dean of engineering, Mississippi State University) and Melford E. Monsees, chairman of NSPE's

Young Engineers Committee.

Dr. Perry rose from a rural cotton farm in Coldspring, San Jacinto County, Tex., to become a full-time faculty member — the first of his race — at the age of 28. He graduated from Prairie View A&M College in 1956, served two years as an officer in the U.S. Army and began his teaching career in civil engineering at Southern University in Baton Rouge, La. He later received a master of science degree from the University of Texas at Austin and his doctorate in civil engineering from the same institution in 1964.

He was named Young Engineer of the Year by the TSPE and received numerous other awards during his academic career.

Interest Rate Told On Mobile Homes

The Veterans Administration has announced that the rate of interest on GI loans to buy mobile homes has been set at 10.75 per cent.

Purchase of mobile homes under the GI loan program was authorized for the first time by the Veterans Housing Act of 1970, and Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said that 20,000 veterans are expected to make purchases during the first year of the program.

VA will guarantee up to 30 per cent of a loan for a mobile home, up to a maximum of $10,000 for the loan. Once the loan is paid the veteran is again eligible for a guaranteed loan on a conventional house, a guarantee that may go as high as $12,500. Two-thirds of the loans will be granted to Vietnam veterans.

'COPING WITH YOUR INCOME TAXES'

Balm For 'Poor' Homeowner

By BILL NEWKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Owning a home may mean putting up with more expenses and with more bother others don't have to worry about, but it can be a bonanza at income tax time.

Hidden in that mortgaged hunk of land and house are a wealth of tax deductions that renters can't claim.

It usually means that a homeowner can itemize his deductions and beat the standard deduction allowed by the Internal Revenue Service through claims directly related to his residence.

INTEREST PAID

Every penny of interest included in the monthly mortgage payment is deductible, as are real estate taxes and some other state and local taxes.

For the new homeowner just beginning to pay on his mortgage the advantage is even greater because the interest paid in the early years is much higher.

In addition to the deductions for interest and taxes, there are dozens of other deductible items related to your home that can help shave your taxable income. Many homeowners, for example, can claim deductions for casualty and theft losses but often forget to include them.

THEFTLESS

If your residence was damaged by fire or a burglar takes jewelry from your home, you can claim a deduction for casualty or theft.

But they're only deductible to the extent they exceed $100 after subtracting insurance payments, if any.

In addition, the $100 rule must be applied to each loss. You cannot bunch a group of small losses together and treat them as one.

If you live in an area where a hurricane or tornado did heavy damage to your home, it would be to your advantage to read up on the amounts you can claim.

By sending a postcard to your nearest Internal Revenue Office, you can get free publication 547, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses, and Thefts" for a thorough discussion of such losses.

If you are required, as a condition of your employment, to use your home as a place of business, you may deduct a reasonable percentage of home maintenance costs such as heat, light, cleaning and decorating bills, as well as depreciation.

HOME REPAIRS

Repairs to your home normally are not deductible, unless you have to use your home for business or rental purposes.

But there are times when fixing up your home can be an advantage at income tax time.

If you decided to move last year and hired someone to paint your house or fix a loose board to get a better price, you may be able to adjust the sales price of your home.

Although these fixing-up expenses are not deducted in figuring the profit you may have made on the sale of your home, they can be subtracted from the final sales price to get the "adjusted sales price."

The adjusted sales price is then compared with the purchase price of your new home to find out how much gain may be postponed before being taxed.

However, before fixing-up expenses can be considered, repairs must be made within 90 days before the sale contract is signed, must be paid within 90 days after the sale, be non-deductible, and not be permanent improvements.

Most sellers get more for their homes than they paid, but this doesn't always mean you have to pay taxes on the profit.

INVEST PROFIT

The test is whether you invest the profit in another home costing at least as much within a year before or after the sale.

If the house is being built for you, but construction started neither before the sale or no later than one year after, you have up to 18 months after the sale to move in.

If you have borrowed money to make repairs, improvements or additions to your home, the interest on such debts may be claimed.

New Owners Plan Changes For Bank

SWEETWATER — Stockholders of the Texas Bank and Trust Co. will meet March 22 to discuss changes to be made at the bank, according to Paul Cain, bank president.

Controlling interest in the bank was recently purchased by 17 local residents, he said. The group purchased the interest previously owned by R. E. Roberts and Charles Baker of Cleburne for $1.5 million.

Cain said there will be some changes made at the bank, but the changes will not affect the personnel there now.

New owners are Leon Goswick, Gerald E. Kent, Don W. Hensley, Paul Cain, J. B. Cooper Jr., Fred Hupp, Allen Compton, Maurice Reich, Joe Williams, C. F. Bacon, Claude Ater, Dave L. Ridley, Dr. Robert W. Hampton, Don McDorman, Louis Brooks, P. Edward Ponder and James Pearson.

Texas' Obscenity Law Reinstated By Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas' obscenity law has been reinstated by the Supreme Court.

An immediate effect of the 8-1 decision was to enable Dallas authorities to prosecute the operator of an underground newspaper called "Dallas Notes."

The Supreme Court said a three-judge federal court in Dallas should not have held the state law unconstitutional in 1969 because there was no evidence of "irreparable injury" to the publisher of the paper, Brent Stein.

There was vigorous dissent from Justice William O. Douglas, who said Dallas police staged a "search-and-destroy" raid on Stein. He added that the Texas statute clearly was unconstitutional.

Using a search warrant that authorized them to seize "obscene articles and materials," the policemen took two tons of the "Dallas Notes," a photograph enlarger, two portable typewriters, two electric typewriters, a camera and $5.34 cash.

Returning two weeks later with a second warrant that authorized a search for marijuana which they did not find, the policemen seized cameras, a three-drawer desk, a drafting table, two telephones, a poster of Mao Tse Tung, credit cards, five cardboard boxes containing documents, a brown sweater and other items.

"Thus," said Douglas, "the newspaper 'Dallas Notes,' a bi-monthly, was effectively put out of business."

The majority's brief unsigned opinion "stressed the rule that federal intervention affecting state criminal prosecutions, either by injunction or by declaratory judgment is proper only where irreparable injury is threatened."

The three-judge district court which struck down the state's law and prohibited Stein's prosecution "made no findings of any irreparable injury," the majority opinion said.

Pupils Lose Pants Suit

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Four pupils who challenged a high school ban on pants suits lost their case in federal court.

A judge dismissed their suit, saying his court had no jurisdiction in the matter.

The four were among about 70 pupils suspended last month for walking out in protest over the McCollum High School dress code.

Dozens of girls staged the walkout, chanting, "Give us a chance, let us wear pants."

U.S. Dist. Judge John Wood found that the state has provided adequate means "for administrative processes involving school matters, and plaintiffs have attempted to bypass the administrative process."

Many Youngsters Denied Drivers Ed

AUSTIN — Children of less affluent Texas families are being denied the advantages of driver education, the president of the Texas Safety Association, George William Perry of Dallas, charged today.

Perry said that because driver education is not part of the foundation school program, the cost of the driver training program is often prohibitive for lower income families. Fees range from $5 to $50, he said. "The size of the fees currently charged could well be one reason why only 56 per cent of eligible Texas teens take driver education," said Perry. "Is it any wonder that traffic crashes are a major killer and crippler of teenagers?"

More Murder In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Murder was on the increase in Lebanon last year, with 232 killings reported, 20 more than in 1969.

Statistics show guns, knives and machineguns were the most common weapons. But one murderer killed his victim by pushing him into a blast furnace, and another killed a father and his son with a booby-trapped Christmas package.

The youngest murderer was an eight-year-old girl who poisoned a three-month-old baby. There was one killer animal, a donkey who kicked and bit his owner to death last summer.

One hundred persons were killed and 400 wounded by stray bullets from guns fired at marriages, funerals, election victories and other occasions where it is customary in this country to shoot off guns.

SHE'LL BRING WOMAN'S TOUCH — Marilou McCarthy Hedlund, who won a seat as one of the first two women aldermen in Chicago, lights up a cigar by way of proving this symbol of political victory is no mere male prerogative. Running as a Democrat, she defeated Republican Alderman Robert C. O'Rourke.

Leaders Listen For Reaction To Proposed Sales Tax Boost

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas House leaders sat back today and awaited the public's reaction to a sales tax-heavy revenue plan announced a week before it will be debated.

The House Tax Committee planned a Monday hearing on a "better than $600 million" revenue package. The measure probably will be scooped to the House floor immediately afterward.

BILL BALANCED

House Speaker Gus Mutscher and tax committee chairman Ben Atwell of Dallas called the bill "balanced," although only $26 million would come from a direct business tax.

The rest would be from sales taxes on consumers. Mutscher said business pays about a third of all Texas sales tax collections.

Atwell was imprecise Wednesday about when the full House might consider the tax bill.

"The speaker would like to run next Thursday—whether we can get to it then, I don't know," Atwell said.

"Each of us recognizes we have to raise between $600 million and $700 million at least, because we can't open the doors of the penitentiaries and close the schools," he told his committee.

$600 MILLION PLUS

Atwell told newsmen his bill would raise "better than $600 million" over the next two years to finance increases in state spending.

Gov. Preston Smith's recommendation to boost the sales tax from 3.25 to 4 per cent, for $300 million, and the motor vehicle sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent for $70 million is the heart of the plan.

Atwell told an informal news conference the package included these other items: a corporation franchise tax increase, $26 million; extension of the sales tax to repairs, laundry, dry cleaning, haircuts and beauty shop treatments, about $100 million; sales taxations of amusements, including professional sports and tourist attractions, about $35 million; raise the hotel room tax from 3 to 4 per cent, about $4 million, and impose the sales tax on telephone and telegraph bills, about $40 million.

REAL ROUGH

Some of the estimates were rough, he said, because the comptroller had not completed his predictions.

In floor action Wednesday, the House passed, 142-1 and sent to the Senate a bill giving injured workers a better choice of doctors. The measure, by Rep. R.C. Nichols of Houston, requires the posting of lists of doctors from which hurt employees could choose. The industrial accident board would decide how long the lists should be.

High Court Starts Move To The Right

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court at mid-point in the 1970-71 term is moving right, away from the liberalism of the Warren years and toward the conservatism of President Nixon.

The trend is not entirely uniform. Women have won some measure of equal job rights and last Wednesday the court lifted the shadow of libel judgments from newspapers that delve into the personal backgrounds of political candidates.

But even if there are exceptions, the point to keep in mind is that Nixon has the capacity to accelerate the rightward move if a vacancy occurs while he is in the White House.

Presidents have been disappointed with the men they put on the court. Theodore Roosevelt was astonished at the liberalism of Oliver Wendell Holmes and Dwight D. Eisenhower was equally surprised by Earl Warren. Nixon is keeping his own counsel, but it would be hard to imagine him but pleased with the way Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Harry A. Blackmun have turned out.

The greatest single force in the court's rightward shift is the implacable conservatism of Burger and Blackmun.

In 47 decisions this term the two Nixon appointees have been on the same side 45 times. Their two votes often have carried the day.

Had they given their consent, Massachusetts would have had a hearing on its suit attacking constitutionality of the Vietnam war.

Without them, the court could not have authorized welfare officials to cut off aid to women who refuse to admit caseworkers to their homes.

Still, there is evidence that while conservatives are gaining control their hold is not yet firm. Twelve decisions were decided by 5-4 votes.

And while it is not too early to discern a trend the term has four long months to run. A large number of big issues remain, among them school busing to achieve racial balance, death penalty procedures and the status of conscientious objectors to the Vietnam war.

Woman Back In The Army

Jan Dickerson, Stilwell, Kan., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dickerson, 607 W. 15th, has been recalled to active duty with the Army for a 90-day tour starting Monday, March 8, at the Pentagon, Washington, D.C. Miss Dickerson, who is a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve, will be in the office of the Chief of the Army Reserve as an action officer on congressional and presidential inquiries. She previously served in the Pentagon as a press officer on the staff of the Secretary of Defense.

She was on active duty for many years, and subsequently was on the editorial staff of the Kansas City Star. She is a graduate of Big Spring High

Promotion Drive Is Beefed Up

The Texas Grain Fed Beef Promotion Committee is working with restaurants and retail grocers to identify and promote Texas grain-fed beef.

Don Workman, vice president of The First National Bank, Lubbock, and the representative of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was elected chairman of the group.

"Many people here in Texas are not aware that the excellent beef they are eating is produced here in the state," said Workman. "With the unified action of the organizations represented on the committee, we hope to establish a program that will make Texas beef recognized and appreciated."

The committee has adopted two major slogans for promotional purposes, "Tenderness is Texas Grain-Fed Beef" and "Real Eating Pleasure... Texas Grain-Fed Beef."

"Beef coming out of Texas feedlots and processed by packers here in Texas is the finest beef that can be bought," said W. Price Jr., executive vice president of the Texas Restaurant Association.

Lloyd Bergsma, executive vice president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association added: "Texas now ranks second in the nation in the number of cattle on feed and we are rapidly gaining on Iowa, the number one state."

Cops Haul In 500 Persons After 'Charity Affair' Raid

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Police took more than 500 men and four Houston strippers into custody in a gambling raid Wednesday night but released all but a handful two hours later.

Vice squad officers said they seized about 15 poker tables, six dice tables and several black-jack tables in the raid on a hotel meeting hall—where one man said a "charity affair" was being held.

Buses, squad cars and other vehicles streamed to the scene to haul the whooping, hollering crowd to police headquarters.

There the prisoners were told that they were free to go home and that they would not be booked.

FREE TO GO

Vice squad Lt. Javier Moreno told the crowd, "If you want to blame anyone for the police raid, there are 900 of us (police-men on the force). If you want to demote anybody, then I'm Javier Moreno. You are free to go."

The cheering throng erupted from the building.

Police said the four women gave ages ranging from 23 to 42 and identified themselves as strippers from Houston.

Most of the men were dressed in business suits and newsmen said they included some civic leaders.

Officers indicated they would hold a few men but said the rest were released.

Moreno, the first officer to enter the hall, said someone struck him on the forehead as he walked to a dice table, dis- played his badge and grabbed a cigar box containing money. He said a man would be booked for aggravated assault.

Several people drank beer while waiting for the trip to headquarters and some were quite indignant.

Asked if any pressure had been placed on him, Moreno replied, "I've been fired about 35 times since I've been here (at the scene)."

Put SS Numbers On Tax Payments

DALLAS — To be sure your tax account is properly credited, put your Social Security number on all checks or money orders sent for payment, Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for North Texas, said today. It also helps if you write on the payment what it is for.

Then, if your check or money order is separated from your return during processing, your Social Security number on the payment will quickly identify it.

Grant To Hospital Confirmed Today

A $50,000 grant to Medical Center Memorial Hospital in Big Spring, previously announced, was confirmed today in the summary of the year's grants by the Moody Foundation of Galveston.

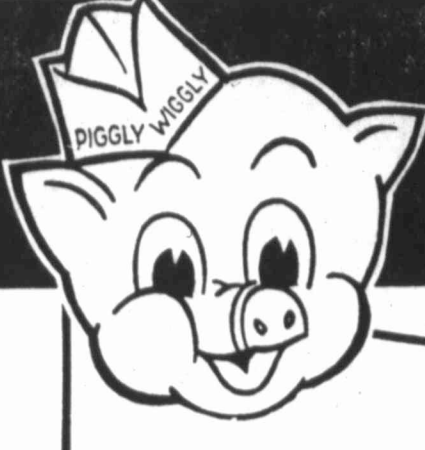

The grant is to assist in the development of matching funds to construct a new major ex- pansion of the hospital.

It was one of 81 awards totalling $6.8 million approved by the foundation for 26 differ- ent metropolitan areas of Texas.

Other West Texas area grants included the Concho Valley council of Boy Scouts of America, $40,050, and Lubbock Christian College of Lubbock, $275,000. The Concho Valley award was to finance "Project Outreach," designed to interest low-income boys in scouting by taking scouting to them. This allowed the purchase of a mobile van equipped with everything necessary to hold a scout meeting on wheels. It travels from town to town on a continual basis through the council and attracted 300 boys the first month it operated.

The Big Spring grant is to be used in connection with plans to provide 70 conforming beds for Medical Center Memorial Hospital, which is seeking a million dollars in Hill-Burton funds, which must be matched by funds supplied from other sources.

Awards by the foundation ranged from health care and educational facilities to the development of highly sophis- ticated inter-disciplinary demonstrations programs aimed at improving the quality of services for Texans in areas of community life. Human service grants were varied, including $100,000 in emergency aid to victims of Hurricane Celia.

'Money' Panel Goes Public In Big Blaze Of TV Lights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee, traditionally most secretive of Congress' law-shaping panels, has gone public in a blaze of TV lights.

Reaction to Wednesday's 2 1/2-hour session, with members swapping witticisms and philosophy with administration fiscal chiefs as the cameras whirled and the hot floods beat down, was mixed.

Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., was heard to remark as he left a bit early, "If they televise a few more of these hearings, the revolution will come real fast."

The committee, which had never admitted public or press to its sessions—with one possible exception, someone thought, about 13 years ago—borrowed a handsome hearing room from the Government Operations Committee.

The administration part of the cast contributed some eye-catching props. One three-color chart displayed by Chairman Paul W. McCracken of the Council of Economic Advisers looked at first glance like an aerial photograph of a busy full-employment level, and general administration policies aimed at dampening inflation while stimulating employment.

It had all pretty much been said before. The counterpoint by committee members was just as predictable.

There was no indication whether the committee, after the budget session that continued today, would revert to its old closed-door habits.

Opening the historic televised session, Mahon said: "This committee is 105 years old. We thought a little experimentation might not be out of order."

Rabbi Kahane's Expulsion Splits Soviet Jewry Meet

BRUSSELS (AP) — Menachem Beigin, opposition leader in the Israeli parliament, plunged the world congress on the plight of Soviet Jewry into an uproar today by refusing to condemn Rabbi Meir Kahane's militant Jewish Defense League.

Kahane's expulsion from Belgium Wednesday night cast a shadow over the final session of the congress. Most of the delegates oppose the tactics of harassment and violence used by his organization against Soviet diplomats, citizens and offices in the United States. But there was considerable feeling among the delegates that he should have been allowed to speak to the congress.

APPLAUSE, BOOS

The session erupted with applause, boos and shouts when Beigin said he dissociated himself from a statement by the congress condemning the Jewish Defense League as a "handful of reckless men whose actions do serious harm to the courage and dignity of Soviet Jews."

"No Jewish organization stands condemned, including the Jewish Defense League," said Beigin.

Some delegates were particularly angered by the Israeli leader's comment that "the era in which Jews denounce other Jews to the police has passed forever." They took this as an accusation that leaders of the congress had inspired Kahane's expulsion.

PEACEFUL SIEGE

About half the audience of 800 enthusiastically applauded Beigin. But there were shouts and boos from the other half, and it was 10 minutes before he was able to go on. When he continued, he called for a month of peaceful siege of Soviet embassies all over the world, a tactic of the Jewish Defense League.

Rabbi Kahane arrived from New York Wednesday to speak to the congress but was barred from the hall. Within 12 hours the Belgian government put him on a plane for London, saying he was threatening public order.

BACK TO NEW YORK

Kahane stayed overnight in London and took a plane back to New York today.

Film director Otto Preminger, one of the American delegates, told the congress Wednesday night the treatment of Kahane was "exactly as contemptible and wrong as what the Nazis and the Soviet Communists have done."

Paddy Chayefsky, the American playwright, supported Kahane's plea for more action and fewer words to protest the treatment of Jews in the Soviet Union. He said: "We should put together something more than a cry of pain and an appeal to the conscience of the world, which never has worked very well."

LINDA KASABIAN

'Why Don't You Tell Your Part?'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sandy-haired Linda Kasabian, whose testimony six months ago helped convict Charles Manson and three women followers of the Sharon Tate murders, has testified again amid shouted accusations from the defendants.

"You only got off by putting it off on Manson. Admit it!" shouted defendant Susan Atkins. The two other women joined in yelling, "Why don't you tell your part?"

"I have," snapped Mrs. Kasabian from the witness stand. "Why don't you tell your part?"

The women, in confessions at the penalty phase of the trial, said they killed but labeled Mrs. Kasabian as a key plotter of two murder missions.

She denied Wednesday that she helped plan any "copycat killings" in an attempt to free a member of Manson's hippie style "family," Robert Beausoleil, who had been arrested in the murder of a Malibu musician. Beausoleil was convicted and is on death row.

The 21-year-old Mrs. Kasabian, once a clan member, admitted Beausoleil had been her lover but said though pregnant at the time of the killings, she didn't know who was the father of her child.

Mrs. Kasabian, during 18 days on the stand last August, said Manson ordered the seven Tate-LaBianca slayings and went along on the second night of murder. The three women testified Manson was not involved.

1/2 tsp. baking powder
3/4 tsp. soda
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1 tsp. vanilla
1/4 cup buttermilk

Sift flour, salt, baking powder and soda together. Cream the shortening, sugar and vanilla at high speed, and add buttermilk. Add flour and mashed bananas alternately to the milk mixture in small portions. Mix well. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes, in a greased and floured pan.

BANANA CAKE FROSTING

1 large very ripe banana
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. vanilla
1 pkg. confectioners sugar
1/4 cup soft butter

Dash salt

Mash the banana, lemon juice and vanilla together. In a mixing bowl blend the confectioner's sugar, banana mixture, butter and salt. Mix at low speed until sugar is moistened, and at medium speed until smooth. Scrape bowl often. If too stiff to spread easily, add a few drops of water. Cover cake.

FROSTY WINTER BARS

1 cup melted butter

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1 egg, beaten
1 can flaked coconut (3 1/2 oz.)
1 cup chopped pecans
25 graham crackers (approx.)

Cover bottom of a 9x13 inch baking pan with a layer of whole graham crackers (about 15). Combine butter, sugar, milk and egg, and cook over low heat until mixture boils. Stir constantly. Remove from heat and add coconut, pecans, and 1 cup graham cracker crumbs. Spread mixture over the layer of crackers and frost.

FROSTING

1/2 cup soft butter
6 tbsps. evaporated milk
1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups powdered sugar
1/4 cup nuts

Beat all ingredients except nuts together until fluffy. Frost the bars and sprinkle finely chopped nuts on top. Refrigerate 24 hours. Cut to desired size for serving.

DUD'S SALAD

1/2 cup sugar
1 cup crushed pineapple
2 pkgs. gelatin (any flavor)
2 cups hot water
1 cup grated processed cheese
1/2 cup nuts
1 pkg. prepared topping mix

Mix sugar and pineapple, and bring to a boil. Remove from heat, and add gelatin and hot water. Let cool. Add grated cheese and nuts. Put in refrigerator and let set until thick. Blend in prepared Dream Whip and chill.

ITALIAN SPAGHETTI

1/2 lb. ground beef
1/4 cup chopped onions
1 tsp. shortening
1/4 cup chopped green peppers
1/2 cup diced celery
4 cups tomato juice
1 can tomato paste (6 oz.)
1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1 tsp. salt

1/2 lb. uncooked spaghetti
Brown beef and onions in hot shortening. Add green pepper, celery, tomato juice, tomato paste, and salts. Bring to a boil, and add uncooked spaghetti. Cover and simmer for 25 minutes.

MEXICAN CHEF SALAD

1 lb. ground beef
1 can pinto beans (15 oz.)
1 chopped onion
1 head lettuce
4 tomatoes
1 bag Doritos (small)
1 large avocado
8 ozs. grated cheddar cheese
8 ozs. French or thousand island dressing
Salt to taste

Brown meat. Drain the beans and add to meat. Simmer for 10 minutes. Cut other ingredients as for a salad. Put half of tortillas chips in salad, and save the rest to line the bowl with. Add meat and beans to the salad. Toss, cover with dressing, and place remaining Doritos around the side of the bowl.

OVEN GREEN BEANS

1 large can green beans
1 can condensed mushroom soup
1 can onion rings
Salt and pepper to taste

Drain half of the liquid from the beans. Add mushroom soup and salt and pepper. Stir 3/4 of the whole onion rings in with soup and beans, and top with remaining onion rings. Place in oven at 350 degrees until hot throughout.

COFFEE CAKE

1 pkg. yellow cake mix
1 pkg. instant vanilla pudding
3/4 cup vegetable oil
3/4 cup water
3 large eggs (or 4 small)
1 tsp. butter flavoring
1 tsp. vanilla
1/4 cup sugar
2 tbsps. cinnamon
1/2 cup finely chopped pecans

Blend cake mix, vanilla pudding, vegetable oil and water until moist. Add eggs, one at a time. Beat at high speed for 6 to 8 minutes. Add butter flavoring and vanilla. In a small bowl, mix sugar, cinnamon and pecans. Grease a bundt pan well, and put in alternate layers of batter mixture and cinnamon mixture, ending with a batter layer. Bake at 325 degrees for 45 minutes. The cake falls very easily so don't look at it for the full 45 minutes. Cool on a rack for 8 minutes. Take from pan and glaze while warm.

GLAZE

1 cup powdered sugar
2 tbsps. milk
1/2 tsp. butter flavoring
1/2 tsp. vanilla flavoring
Mix all ingredients and spread over coffee cake.

CRISP GREEN SALAD
Various greens add varietyTake The Boredom
From Drab Salads

Few things add so much to eating enjoyment as a crisp salad, fresh, green and aglow with nature's goodness. Are you getting variety in your salad bowl? Everybody loves head lettuce. It's the classic salad green. But do you add other greens, too? Mix and match a number of leafy greens in season to make salad its exciting best.

Consider escarole, slightly frilled at the edges, with a flavor quite different from other greens. Escarole is sometimes called straight-leaved endive, which gives a hint as to its flavor. Belgian endive comes in elegant, ivory spears, a wonderful addition to the salad bowl. Romaine has all the dignity of tall green plumes. This green is crisp, handsome, and a great blender with other types of greens, or use it alone, as a salad variation. Follow your own good taste to vary salad dressings according to what goes into the bowl. Many people like fresh lemon juice for a change when making a French dressing for a tossed salad. The creamy dressings are delicious with tossed salads that contain hard-cooked egg. Fresh fruit combines very well with greens in the salad bowl, and a whipped cream dressing sweetened with honey is very good with them.

For extra color in salads, call on carrots cut in curls or sticks, on green pepper rings, both red and green, onion rings and a scattering of bright red radishes. Now is the season to enliven your salad bowl with a variety of the good fresh greens and vegetables so attractive at your market.

Desserts Are Her Favorite
But All Cooking Is Fun

By BARBARA LORD

"I love to cook just about anything," said Mrs. Clovis Hale. "I especially like desserts, and anytime I go anywhere and am served a new cake or some other different dessert, I have to get the recipe."

Mrs. Hale almost always has something baked. She doesn't particularly like to make pie crusts, but other than that, pastries are her first cooking love.

"Any kind of cooking is fun," she said. "I've always enjoyed it, and I like to experiment. I use a recipe once and ad lib from there. Recipes are good for the basic meal, but every family has different tastes. We like our food spicier than most recipes suggest, so I usually add extra or new spices."

The Hales have lived in Big Spring for almost three years. He is head coach and athletic director at Big Spring High School. They were both born and reared in Lorraine, and since their marriage seven years ago they have lived in Abilene and Lubbock.

Mrs. Hale's favorite type of main course cooking is the one-dish meal. They all enjoy casseroles.

"If I have a specialty of any kind, I guess it would be my Italian spaghetti," continued Mrs. Hale. "Everyone comments on it because it is all done in one pan. You don't even boil the spaghetti separately. I don't know where the recipe came from; it's just the way my mother always made it. It really makes for an easy meal, and there's very little cleaning up to do afterwards."

"I like to collect all recipes but especially cake recipes because I can never make a box cake. I always bake them too much or too little and they never turn out. So I make all of my cakes from scratch."

Italian and Mexican foods rate high on the list of Hale favorites, but other than that foreign dishes have no place on their regular menu. Meals, of course, are planned around Hale's schedule, and the night meals are eaten anywhere from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. In the summertime, they like to cook outdoors.

The Hales don't entertain a lot, and when they do, they prefer small groups of close friends for a very casual get-together. In the summertime they sometimes have friends in for a quick meal cooked outdoors.

Each year they try to have the coaching staff from the school over for a fish fry which results from their enjoyment of fishing. Every weekend possible they take off for a fishing trip. "I love to catch them, but actually neither of us really care about eating them," said Mrs. Hale. "I'd like to catch one large enough to get stuffed and mounted. Clovis and I have a contest going now to see who catches the first seven-pound bass."

Mrs. Hale also likes to sew, and now that she is no longer working she has more time to enjoy it. Until about six months ago she worked for Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital as central supply clerk.

"When I was working I didn't have much time for a lot of the things I enjoy doing, like sewing, but now I try to make most of my own clothes," Mrs. Hale said.

The Hale home at 2611 Larry is attractively decorated with modern furniture and accessories, but her tastes also include the antique.

"I have just recently gotten where I admire antiques and can see the beauty in them enough to appreciate their age," Mrs. Hale said. "I have a chair which has been in the family for 90 to 100 years which I want to refinish and re-upholster, and we also have a desk that needs redoing."

"But I don't really collect antiques. We have so much stuff around here now that I don't know where I'd put them if I did. Occasionally I'll see something I really like and buy it."

"People wonder why I bought the old desk when our home is done in a modern decor, but I just liked it. Someday maybe I'll have a home with a room decorated in early American."

The Hales have two sons. Joe Bill, 4 1/2, is by his mother's description, "either a fixer or a tearer-upper." She says he likes to take things apart and used to be pretty good about putting them back together. Lately, however, he just takes them apart and leaves them. Their other son, Dusty, is five months old.

Hale graduated from McMurray College with a major in physical education and a minor in speech. Mrs. Hale attended Texas Women's University in Denton, studying home economics. Besides fishing, their hobbies include snow skiing, bridge and 42.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Any fresh dill in the house? It's delicious added to cooked white turnips that have been mashed with butter.

Add a finely sliced red apple to shredded green cabbage that you are frying. Great flavor! Leave the skin on the apple.

A suspicion of sugar added to cooked snap beans perks up flavor.

Ever add pignoli (pine nuts) to a bread stuffing for poultry?

For an epicurean dessert, heat maple syrup with a little butter; stir in some cognac. Serve over rolled very thin French-type pancakes. This dessert makes a great ending for a soup-and-salad lunch or supper. The pancakes may be made ahead and heated in a little orange juice in a big skillet.

To extract the most flavor from a fresh herb that is being added to a dish, you may need to mince the herb.

Know how to score a cucumber. Pare the cucumber, then run the sharp tines of a kitchen fork down the length of the cucumber. After the cucumber is thinly sliced, the slices will have a pretty scallop-type edge.

Store potatoes away from light; even though potatoes are exposed to light for only a few days they may develop green spots.

Chocolate milk is milk to which sugar, a stabilizer and flavoring have been added; it must contain some butterfat.

If a fresh fruit pie looks as though it would run over in the oven, place a piece of foil on a shelf well below the one holding the pie. Cut the foil about an inch larger all around than the pie pan and turn up the edges of the foil. The foil will catch the drip without interfering too much with the browning of the bottom crust.

Egg whites that are beaten "until soft peaks form" should have peaks that tilt downward slightly when the beater is slowly withdrawn. Whites beaten to this stage should still slide out of the bowl.

If you have leftover raw egg yolks (after using the whites), you can hard-cook them by simmering them in salted water for 10 minutes or so. The hard cooked yolks may then be used in sandwich fillings or they may be sieved and used as a garnish.

When a recipe calls for "green ginger," use fresh ginger root.

Don't remove that thermo control cord from an electric appliance until the appliance has cooled.

A pound of confectioners' sugar, when spooned out of the package, measures three and one-half cups.

Kitchen arithmetic: a pound of cheddar cheese when grated and spooned loosely into a measure yields four cups.

Orange segments, bananas and all sorts of berries are delightful served — each fruit by itself or all together — with soft custard sauce. But here's something unexpected: honeydew or cantaloupe balls also take to custard sauce if they are coupled with one of the above fruits.

When you are preparing boiled meat and vegetables you'll find that parsnips — added along with the usual onion, carrot, turnip and cabbage — makes a fine flavor addition.

Pound Cake Is For Tea Time

A new version of pound cake adds cream and is mixer-made.

MIXER POUND CAKE

2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
1 cup (1/2 pound) butter
1 1/3 cups sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1/4 tsp. mace
4 large eggs
1/4 cup light cream

On wax paper sift together flour, baking powder and salt. In a medium mixing bowl, cream butter, sugar, vanilla and mace. Add eggs one at a time; with electric mixer at medium speed, beat 1 minute after each addition. Add flour mixture in 2 additions, alternately with cream; with electric mixer at low speed, beat 1/2 minute after each addition. With mixer at medium speed, beat batter 2 minutes. Turn into 3 inch loaf pan. Bake at 325 degrees until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 60 to 70 minutes. Place cake in pan on wire rack for 10 minutes; turn out on rack; turn right side up; cool.

THAT'S THE WAY IT LOOKS NOW Solons To Make 1,000 Changes In State Law?

By GARTH JONES
By The Associated Press

Some Texans may be staggered by a prediction that the legislature may make 1,000 changes in state laws.

That's the way it looks now. The 1969 legislature introduced 2,555 bills and enacted 940 of them into law.

The Legislative Council, which writes 70 per cent of the bills and resolutions changing state law and the Constitution, already has in hand more than 2,600 requests for such proposed legislation. At this time last session they had received only 1,500 requests.

If the 1971 legislature should pass the 1,000 mark, the result would come close to doubling the number of law changes made by legislatures 10 or 12 years ago. The 1959 legislature only passed 592 new laws out of the 1,792 bills proposed.

WATER CODE
Some legislative bills or resolutions are only half a page. However, the changes proposed in Texas water laws, a complete new water code, are included this time in a bill that contains 530 legal size pages. The controversial revision of the penal code is a mere 202 pages. The basic general appropriations bill, prepared by the legislative Budget Board, has 385 pages and will be used only as a model in the preparation of at least three other spending bills, each one likely to be longer and heavier.

The work of preparing proposed legislation for senators and representatives has become such a mammoth chore that the council has turned to the computer for help. Any bill passed by the legislature, along with attorney general's opinions on such measures, is now stored in a computer and ready for instant retrieval. If this legislature approves, and furnishes the money, the computer library will be augmented by vast amounts of research and statistical data for use in preparing legislation of the future.

WELL PAID
The council has a nucleus of 15 highly professional bill drafters, all legally trained and well paid, that do most of the legislative proposals. The council is directed by Robert E. Johnson, former legislator-lawyer who also is the House parliamentarian.

Another essential service in preparing proposed legislation comes from the legislative reference library. From its files, which includes one of the largest collections of state documents in the nation, the council and other researchers get the facts to feed the computer or include directly in a bill.

Library director James Sanders says 60 filing cabinets hold the original bills passed by Texas Legislatures since 1920. Still earlier bills can be obtained from the state archives. If this legislature approves, and furnishes the money, these original bills will be placed on microfilm at a tremendous saving of space.

LOBBYISTS
About 40 other filing cases in the reference library are filled with newspaper clippings, various booklets and reports put out by state agencies or legislative groups, and other material associated with state government and the legislature.

The library also furnishes references on U.S. laws and the statutes of other states and territories, along with their available governmental studies and reports.

The Legislative Budget Board, headed by Thomas Keel, normally is involved with the general appropriations bills pending, but also helps out individual members with single shot appropriation measures.

Another source of reference and information on proposed legislation comes from the various lobbyists in Austin, particularly specialized legislation that applies to one phase of business or profession.

"The help furnished by lobbyists generally is more than the author of a bill wants to admit but it's generally less than opponents of the bill claim, too," says one veteran lawmaker.

GREAT SCOTT, WHAT NEXT?

'Star' Credits Rescue To AA, His Third Wife

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can an actor talk himself out of an Academy award? Perhaps so if the actor happens to be a fiery rebel like George C. Scott.

Scott kicked Oscar in his golden pants this week by requesting for the second time in his career that his name be withdrawn from the list of nominees for the Academy awards. On Monday he was nominated for best actor for his performance in "Patton."

"I simply do not wish to be involved," the actor told newsmen in Spain, where he is making a film.

'REAL' REBEL
"Peculiar as it may seem, I mean no offense to the academy," he previously had said it would take too long of an explanation to outline his opposition to the awards, but "the whole concept and voting process could stand a little overhauling."

In his telegram to the academy, Scott said: "I will not attend the awards ceremony nor will any legitimate representative of mine attend."

Said a longtime colleague of Scott: "Isn't that just like George? He could have won the Oscar in a walk. . . But George couldn't leave well enough alone. He was born a rebel and he'll die a rebel."

Rebellion has marked the 43 years of George Campbell Scott and appears to be the well-spring of his immense acting talent. He was born in Wise, Va., went to high school in Detroit, where his father was a corporation executive. George was a tough lad to handle, even for the U.S. Marines. He enlisted at 17, began drinking heavily and acquired his broken nose during one bender.

HE'S HOOKED
After four years as a Marine, he enrolled under the GI Bill in the University of Missouri School of Journalism. It didn't take. "The deeper I got into journalism, the more I realized I wasn't right for it," he said later. "I was terribly embarassed asking questions of other people."

He drifted toward the drama department—"That did it; I was hooked."

Just before he was scheduled to graduate, Scott walked off the campus to marry a Stephens College student, Carolyn Hughes. He never went back.

The next years were marked by vain attempts to support a wife and baby by acting in theater stock. The marriage failed, and so did Scott's attempt to avoid alcoholism. He bummed around the country, living off friends and relatives.

Finally he began to click in the New York theater. "My drinking got worse. The more successful I got, the worse the drinking became. I'd suffer blackouts and loss of memory. Life became a sort of hazy charade."

13-YEAR BENDER

His 13-year bender ended in 1958, when he was starring in his first Broadway play. He woke up in jail. "I realized then I had fallen into an abyss of alcoholism from which I had to pull myself."

He credits his rescue to Alcoholics Anonymous and his third wife, actress Colleen Dewhurst.

But if Scott's alcoholic excesses diminished — he once destroyed a film set on "The Hanging Tree" — his combativeness seemed little affected. That quality contributed to his effectiveness in such films as "Anatomy of a Murder," his first Academy nomination; "The Hustler," the first nomination he tried to decline; "Dr. Strangelove," "The Film-Flam Man" and "The List of Adrain Messenger."

NO 'WALKER'

His qualities made him perfect for the role of Gen. George S. Patton Jr., the eccentric, hard-driving master of swift tactics in World War II.

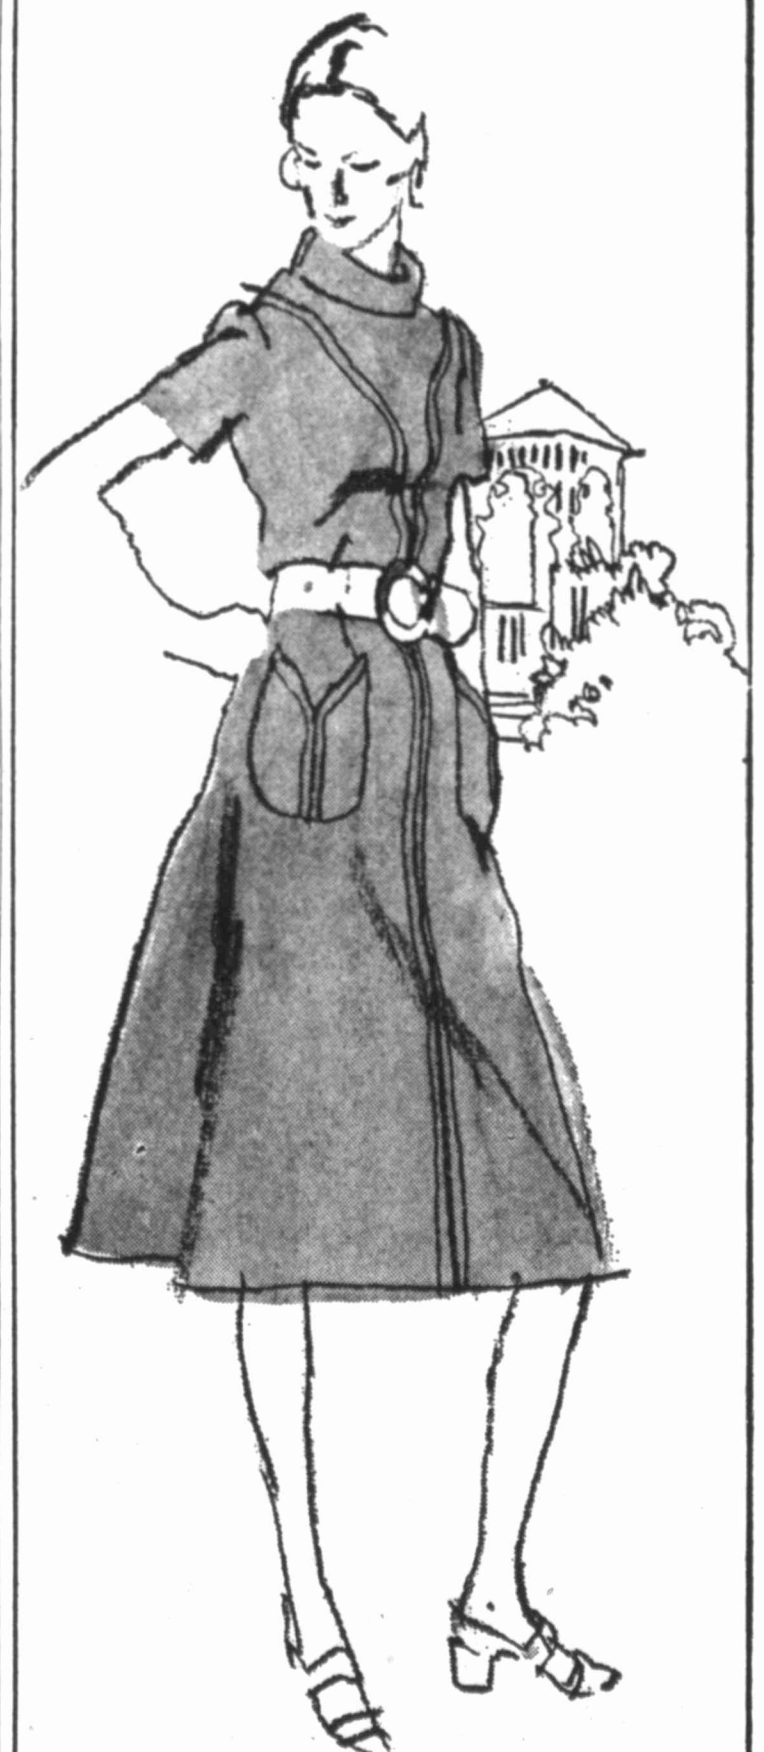

Like Patton, George C. Scott believes in taking chances: "There are only two kinds of actors, in my opinion: Risk actors and safe actors. Safe actors hold back, experiment not, dare

Prince Visits Remote Island

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Britain's Prince Philip has paid a visit to remote Pitcairn Island, peopled mainly by descendants of the seamen who staged the mutiny on the Bounty.

Tom Christian, the island's radio officer, said by radio Tuesday the prince arrived in the royal yacht Britannia Sunday and had most of the 93 islanders aboard for a buffet dinner. He later visited ashore.

Christian keeps in touch with a Glendale church organization. Philip was the first member of British royalty to visit the island, which is five miles square. The 10 mutineers arrived there 181 years ago.
