Court proposes JP, constable precinct cutback

Following an option offered them by a statewide vote this past Nov. 8, Scurry County commissioners Monday afternoon proposed to divide the county into two rather than four justice of the peace and constable precincts.

This concept was one of the amendments to the state constitution approved by Texas voters during this past General Election.

It allows counties between 18,000 and 30,000 population the option of reducing the number of such precincts to a minimum of two.

Scurry County currently has four JP and constable precincts. Of these eight possible county offices, six are currently held.

As proposed by commissioners, the JP office for Snyder-proper, held by JP Dan Callaway, and the JP office based in Hermleigh, held by R.C. Nixon, would be retained.

This would eliminate two JP precincts with office holders Lynette Patterson of Fluvanna and Mrs. Coleta Layne of Ira.

Regarding constables, the JP precinct headed by Callaway has as its constable Bill Love. This office would be retained.

The Hermleigh JP precinct does not currently have a constable in office.

The only other county constable is Mrs. Chessie Bailey of Ira. Her office would be eliminated under the new proposal.

County officials say the JPs and constables whose precincts will be eliminated would be able to serve out their current terms. Both Patterson and Layne have terms to expire in December of 1986 and Bailey's term expires in December of 1984.

The county is now in the process of having the change approved by the U.S. Justice Department, a step required whenever voting precincts are changed.

According to County Clerk Beverly Ainsworth, the newly created JP precincts would be called JP Pct. 1 and JP Pct. 2. The old JP Pct. 4 — which entails Hermleigh and surrounding area — would be Pct. 2.

The remainder of the county would then be incorporated as Pct. 1 and would be under Callaway's jurisdiction.

Q. — Who won the prize for the family story and why has it not been printed in the newspaper?

A. — A check with representatives for the family history book "Footprints Across Scurry County" turned up no offers of prizes for any of these stories. The only contest associated with writing the SDN is aware of for the past few months related to the "Where the Buffalo Roamed" symposium at WTC. Winners in these categories — all either essay, poetry or fiction — were reported.

In Brief

Seven die in hijack attempt

MOSCOW (AP) — Seven people were shot dead last Friday after a wedding party boarded a Soviet airliner in Tbilisi and ordered it to fly to Turkey, Soviet sources said today.

The dead were said to have included the chief pilot, flight mechanic, a stewardess, three passengers and one of the hijackers. He was thought to have killed himself, the sources said.

The group boarded the plane in Tbilisi, the capital of Soviet Georgia, for a flight to the Black Sea port of Batumi.

The sources, who spoke by telephone from Tbilisi, said the killings occurred after the pilot evidently tricked the hijackers into thinking he had landed in Turkey when, in fact, he had returned to Tbilisi.

Security agents ringed the plane when it landed and stormed the aircraft when shooting broke out on board, the sources said. All spoke on condition they not be identified.

Korean kids due surgery

ROSLYN, N.Y. (AP) — One of two South Korean children brought by President and Nancy Reagan to the United States for heart surgery has been approved for the operation, authorities say.

Hospital spokesman Peter Schaefer said Monday that "extensive diagnostic testing" on Ahn Gi-sook, 7, of Kyongham, determined that she is a good risk for the operation. No date has been set.

Lee Kil-woo, 4, of Seoul, was to undergo a similar test today to determine if his heart can be repaired, Schaefer said.

Passengers subdue man

CHICAGO (AP) — A "very incoherent" man was subdued by passengers who tied him to seats after he seized a Republic Airlines DC-9 and threatened to blow it up unless he could speak to the Rev. Jesse Jackson, witnesses said.

Rasul Ali Shakir, also known as Russell Chappelle, was charged with air piracy and held in lieu of $100,000 cash bond, the FBI said. A hearing for the Detroit bus driver was scheduled today.

Four passengers suffered bruises and abrasions, but no one was seriously injured.

Allies pressure Reagan...

U.S. is resuming talks with Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, under pressure from its allies, is resuming high-level talks with Moscow even though it hasn't received the apology and compensation it was demanding for the shooting down of the South Korean airliner on Sept. 1.

Officials said two recent meetings between Secretary of State George P. Shultz and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin signaled the resumption of high-level contacts. Shultz had refused to meet with Dobrynin for nearly two months, until he invited Dobrynin for lunch on Oct. 28.

They also met again last Friday before Dobrynin returned to Moscow for consultations. The meetings were announced at the time, but officials did not stress their importance until Monday, when they apparently decided to reassure European allies and others that Washington was making a serious effort to reduce tensions.

"It's an effort to get the dialogue moving again," said a senior State Department official who insisted on anonymity. Referring to the Shultz-Dobrynin meetings, he said, "They had a number of sessions before the shooting down of the airliner, and I would cast these as a resumption of that."

The official said Shultz had invited Dobrynin and the Soviets were quick to accept. "They were both ready for it. They both wanted to do it," he said.

Looking ahead, officials say Shultz might meet Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the opening of the European Disarmament Conference in Stockholm in January, if foreign ministers are invited. Moscow is considered more anxious than Washington to have regular contacts.

Child safety ordinance 'no' for now

While noting they agreed with the proposal "in concept," city council members Monday backed away from adopting a proposed "unattended child" city ordinance.

In response to this, a supporter of the measure who first brought it to the council — Randy Davis, chairman of the county's child welfare board — noted he would return at a later date with a reworded proposal.

The measure was designed to place some type restriction on individuals leaving children unattended in motor vehicles.

Strict wording in the ordinance as proposed, however, would make it "unenforceable," according to an opinion offered by city attorney Ernie Armstrong.

As written, the proposal would have prohibited leaving childen age 7 or younger unattended in a motor vehicle for longer than a five minute period.

The measure was drawn from an ordinance passed by the Houston city council in response to the death there this past summer of two children left unattended by their mother.

Setting a time period before police action could be implemented was only one of the problems Armstrong pointed out with the ordinance as written.

This would require either eyewitness testimony that the child had been left alone for a specified length of time, or would require the officer to wait for that period before enforcing the ordinance.

In addition, Armstrong noted that existing state law gives law enforcement officers the right to enter a car if there is a concern that the child might be in danger.

"And if something did happen, and there was an attempt to prosecute, this isn't the type charge you would file against someone," Armstrong said, indicating a criminal charge with a stiffer penalty would likely be sought.

Fire radio due switch

Radio capabilities for the Snyder Fire Department are expected to be greatly enhanced in the near future by the relocation of the department's radio antenna currently located at the Central Fire Station.

The antenna is to be moved to a radio tower in the 2100 Block of 8th St., a change which will add some 131 ft. in height for a total of 250 ft.

The move was approved Monday by Snyder city council members. It is projected to cost some $3,100 and bids for the change were authorized Monday.

Fire officials say the current system gives the department 95 percent coverage for an 18-mile radius. The switch should provide such coverage for a 47-mile radius.

Regarding fumes, hazards...

Parked vehicles due study

City staffers were instructed Monday to research a new city ordinance which would limit business-use type motor vehicles parked in residential areas here.

Specifically, the council asked that such concerns as noxious odors or hazardous materials in such vehicles be addressed.

It was noted that the current state of the oilfield economy has prompted some individuals to essentially "operate their business" out of their homes.

In some cases, this has caused the moving into the city of oilfield-related motor vehicles, some of which contain both flammable or explosive chemicals or material associated with noxious fumes.

Two examples of such ordinances from area cities addressed the "size" of such vehicles, for example prohibiting three-quarter and half-ton trucks from parking overnight in residential areas.

In Snyder, however, council members noted this would eliminate "90 percent" of oilfield-related vehicles.

As directed to city staffers, the council indicated its concern was "not size, but rather what they carry."

Adoption of any future ordinance regarding this was tabled Monday pending a further study by the city staff.

In other city business Monday, the council voted to:

—Adopt on second reading a city ordinance outlining procedures to be followed under the City's Emergency Plan.

—Adopt on second reading an ordinance clarifying city policy regarding issuance of electrical wiring permits. As written, the new ordinance directs that whoever is issued the permit is then responsible that all work meets city electrical codes.

—Repeal on first reading an ordinance requiring a $50 "cleanup" deposit for persons planning to move a house from a city lot. City staffers noted that as written, this $50 requirement, when paid, terminated any responsibility the lot owner had once the house was moved. If left undone, however, cleanup of such lots required considerable more expense to the city than $50. By eliminating the ordinance, the city may now give the lot owner the choice of cleaning the area or allowing city crews to do it.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The week starts off bad when you have to have your brain jump-started."

Sunday night TV viewers were faced with the choice of watching the first segment on John Kennedy or the controversial movie "The Day After."

We know one fellow who watched the film about the nuclear attack on Kansas City while at the same time recording the Kennedy movie to watch later.

Many folks who watched "The Day After" were disappointed, saying they had seen worse in space movies. It seemed that many enjoyed the debate that followed more than the movie.

We suspect that nuclear war is something that should concern us, but we doubt that we personally can do much about it.

One coffee shop chap said it was arthritis, not a nuclear attack, that occupies his mind.

Tommy Galyean is a helpful sort of chap, and so it's easy for him to get into situations. Weekends are especially difficult for him.

Also living in Snyder is his mother-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Crockett. She sometimes calls on Tommy to help her with things around the house.

During the recent cold snap, Mrs. Cockett said that her home furnace would not come on. Tommy and wife Sandra went to check on it.

He found that the pilot light was burning, so he looked at all the connections and they appeared to be in good order.

He asked his wife to go turn the thermostat up while he watched the furnance. Nothing happen. He called back to her to turn it down, and still nothing happen.

Gaylean was scratching his head when Sandra called back to ask him, "What's the switch suppose to be set on?"

Now Tommy can attest with authority, the furnace works better when the switch is set "on."

Jarulzelski's might upped in new council

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Parliamentary sources say major changes are imminent in the Cabinet of Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski, whose government has received new powers from the legislature to crack down on dissidents.

Without debate, Parliament on Monday unanimously approved legislation creating a new national defense council with sweeping powers previously confined to martial law.

Parliament's appointment of Jaruzelski as head of the new council was expected today, and sources said the legislators also would approve a shakeup in the Cabinet.

The Communist government's actions come at a time of public displeasure with announced plans to boost food prices. Lech Walesa and fugitive leaders of the outlawed Solidarity trade union have called for protests of the price increases, scheduled for January.

Some Western and Polish analysts say Jaruzelski, who is Communist Party chief, prime minister and defense minister, hopes the Cabinet changes will shift blame for Poland's ailing economy away from the leadership.

The Parliamentary sources, who insisted on anonymity, said Jaruzelski would move the government's top economic official, Janusz Obodowski, to Moscow to represent Poland on the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance.

Obodowski is chairman of the planning commission and deputy prime minister. Goverment and party sources, speaking privately, have criticized Obodowski for mismanaging the economy.

The top party economist, Manfred Gorywoda, would replace Obodowski as planning chief.

In other changes, Zbigniew Messner, an economist and member of the Communist Party's ruling politburo, will be named to the new post of first deputy prime minister, the No. 2 post in the government, the sources said. Messner would take charge of carrying out moderate economic reforms, which Jaruzelski has said are being resisted by party and government bureaucrats.

The bill approved on Monday, which was in the works for more than a month, revamped an existing defense council headed by Jaruzelski, giving it the power to quickly declare a state of emergency and impose broad social and economic restrictions.

Oklahoma teacher fired for refusing to sign loyalty oath

GROVE, Okla. (AP) — A fourth-grade teacher fired for refusing to sign an oath of loyalty to the state and federal constitutions still thinks "this is the best country in the world."

"Legally, they had every right to do this. Ethically, I wonder if it was needed," Russell Turley said Monday night after he was dismissed by unanimous vote of the Grove Board of Education.

Turley, a 34-year-old Oklahoma native who has taught in the state's school system for more than four years, maintains the oath isn't needed and the state law requiring it is an "anachronistic piece of legislation that should be taken off the books." School officials say they would be breaking the law if they didn't require it.

"I've been in the Boy Scouts and in Up With People and I think this is the best country in the world," Turley said. "But I can't believe Oklahoma still has a law like this."

Turley has 10 days to notify the board whether he will appeal the dismissal, which took effect immediately. He said Monday night that he had not decided whether to pursue an appeal.

"Too many people just don't stand up for what they think is right, and this is a legislative thing and it can be changed," he said.

Turley said he wasn't given a chance to speak during the special Board of Education meeting, called after he refused to sign the oath by a Friday deadline.

Asked if he would have signed the oath if given a choice between that and dismissal, he answered, "Well, that opportunity is past now."

School Superintendent Jim Bradford, who recommended that Turley be fired, said Turley could continue teaching without pay until the appeals process is complete.

"You know, Grove public schools did not invent the oath," Bradford said, adding "I'm not going to express my opinion" on the merits of it.

The superintendent said Turley was not allowed to speak Monday night because "he has had over a month now to comply with the law."

The state has had a loyalty oath since 1953. The original was declared unconstitutional in 1968 and a shorter version was written.

The present oath says: "I do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution and the laws of the United States of America and the Constitution and laws of the State of Oklahoma, and that I will faithfully discharge, according to the best of my ability, the duties of my office of employment."

The state attorney general's office has been asked to research the constitutionality of the current version.

Two families are caught in unprecedented court case

HOUSTON (AP) — Ann Kretsinger returned home baffled one summer day in 1982. Her 18-year-old son had called earlier, saying he had car trouble, but she could not find him in the shopping center lot where he said he would be.

Two of Kent Kretsinger's friends, waiting in her living room when she returned, advised her to check her son's room. He was there, with a .38-caliber bullet through his heart.

Kretsinger's death divided two families and left his girlfriend facing trial as the first person in Texas ever to be charged with aiding in his suicide.

In suicide notes to family and friends, Kretsinger said he was happy and offered no reason for taking his life.

But the day he died, he traded his Camaro for an old DeSoto and gave it to his girlfriend, Jean LeeAnn Miller, prosecutors said.

The Harris County District Attorney's office plans to try the 18-year-old Miss Miller on the charge of aiding a suicide. Prosecutors say it may be the first case tried under the new law.

Miss Miller is accused of driving Kretsinger to his house Aug. 27, 1982, the day he killed himself; providing envelopes; stuffing the suicide notes inside them; and addressing them. If convicted, she could be sentenced to 10 years in prison and fined $5,000.

Kretsinger was a long-distance runner, an aspiring photographer and accomplished saxophone player who was preparing to start college.

Miss Miller, his girlfriend of six weeks, was considered a novelty by students at Klein High School.

A punk rock fan, Miss Miller once went to school with her hair dyed purple and was one among her classmates to rediscover miniskirts. She also wrote poetry about anger, death and suicide.

They seemed an unlikely couple, but Kretsinger was fascinated by her, friends said.

"Jean was his first girlfriend. He thought she was real interesting," said Barry Bramlett.

So much so that Mrs. Kretsinger said she thought the girl "had a power over him, but it was the power of love. Kent died for love. He loved her like you love a person for six weeks."

Miss Miller's family, however, insisted she was only obeying the her friend's last wishes.

"He used her without regard to the consequences to her. Still, she attempted to protect him," the family said in a statement released to the Houston Chronicle and published in Monday's editions.

State District Judge Charles Hearn dismissed the first indictment filed against Miss Miller last May, contending prosecutors were not specific in their charges that Miss Miller aided Kretsinger's death.

But the case went back to a grand jury after another judge took a personal interest in it. Miss Miller was reindicted earlier this month.

Kretsinger and Miss Miller, now 18, met during summer school in 1982.

Mrs. Kretsinger said her son was open about their relationship. "He said more to me than I would have told my parents," she said.

Friends said Kretsinger had talked of committing suicide and once made a half-hearted attempt to kill himself with an overdose of aspirin.

The case lay dormant for several months after the first indictment was quashed.

4 men indicted in triple murder

WACO, Texas (AP) — All four of the men charged in connection with the brutal stabbing deaths of three teen-agers last year were already in custody when capital murder indictments were handed down, authorities said.

The men were indicted by a McLennan County Grand Jury on Monday in connection with the deaths of Kenneth Franks, 18, of Waco, and Jill Montgomery and Raylene Rice, both 17, of Waxahachie, whose bodies were found on the shores of Lake Waco last year.

Mundeer Mohammed Deeb, a 24-year-old Jordanian national; David Wayne Spence, 25; Gilbert Melendez, 28; and his brother Anthony Melendez, 24, could be sentenced to life in prison or death by lethal injection if found guilty.

Deeb was arrested last week in Dallas. Anthony Melendez is jailed in Corpus Christi on a robbery charge. Spence is in the Texas Department of Corrections, serving a 90-year sentence for aggravated sexual abuse of an 18-year-old Waco man. Gilbert Melendez pleaded guilty to aggravated sexual abuse in the same Waco case and is serving a seven-year sentence in TDC.

The indictments allege that the three teen-agers were stabbed to death on July 13, 1982, during an attempted kidnapping.

Police said the bodies of Franks, Montgomery and Rice were found the next day in a secluded area of Speegleville Park, bound and stabbed repeatedly. Both of the girls had been sexually abused.

Tire slashed, money missed

Police were called to investigate a single criminal mischief report and a misdemeanor theft during the weekend.

Nona Cumbie of 2606 Ave. K called police at 10:59 a.m. Saturday to report the vandalism of her car. She told investigators that a tire on the vehicle had been slashed sometime overnight while it was parked at her residence.

No value was estimated for the damaged tire.

Helen Crouse, an employee of Cogdell Memorial Hospital, called city polie at 7:44 a.m. Sunday and filed the misdemeanor theft report. She told officers that an undetermined amount of cash had been taken from the hospital office sometime between 9:20 p.m. Saturday and 6:30 a.m. Sunday.

Investigators report having no suspects in the case.

In other weekend action, officers logged three arrests for DWI, two for public intoxication and one for driving with a suspended license Saturday and Sunday.

At Wit's End

by erma bombeck

Never before have there been so many kids living away from home in the single state.

Traditionally when you left home you got married and your aparment looked like a stripped-down version of the home you just left. You moved in a plastic place setting for four, a few pots and pans, a bed, a second-hand vacuum sweeper and a toaster. (You weren't legally married without a toaster.)

Nowadays, young people are setting their own priorities for the first home of their own.

The first furnishing they buy for their apartment is a stereo.

Humming just doesn't do it for this generation.

If there are no plugs in the bathroom? They don't care.

If the stove doesn't work? They don't care.

If the room isn't wired for heating? They don't care.

If the front door doesn't close? They don't care.

If there are two large walls that will hold the weight of speakers they'll rent it.

The second priority is a roommate, preferably someone of the opposite sex who owns a color TV set. You can have an overbite and legs that belong on a piano, but if you come with a color TV set with a few months left on the warranty, you can write your own ticket.

Close behind the roommate comes an answering attachment for the phone. Heaven forbid you should miss a message while you sleep on the floor.

Young people have a totally unique outlook on the creature comforts of living. An apartment with a fireplace (that doesn't work) takes precedence over one with a refrigerator. A pool table comes years before a sweeper and a tape deck for the car is considered more of a necessity than an alarm clock.

I visited my son's apartment a few weeks ago.

"What do you need for Christmas?" I asked.

He shrugged. "I don't know. I've got everything."

My eyes scanned his room. A sofa with a single sheet and blanket. A card table with four folding chairs. Two cereal bowls, three spoons, a stereo, a phone with a 50-foot cord, and a poster of Lonie Anderson on the wall.

"That's true," I said.

"You know, there is one thing I really need."

My mind raced to an ironing board, a sweeper, a washer, dryer, window...

"I need one of those cassettes with earphones for when I jog."

Two traffic mishaps, one called major, were reported in Snyder over the weekend.

The major mishap was reported in the 3600 Block of Ave. C at 4:05 p.m. Saturday. Police reports indicate that Nancy Walker Cornwell of Snyder, driver of a 1982 Buick involved in the two-vehicle collision, was taken from the scene to Cogdell Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Also involved in the mishap was a 1975 Ford driven by Maxine Hickman Thompson of 2511 30th St. Damage to both vehicles was listed as moderate.

The weekend's second accident was a minor hit-and-run incident reported on the Piggly Wiggly parking lot at noon Saturday.

According to reports, a parked 1981 Ford owned by Tim Farmer of Rt. 1, Snyder was struck by a 1982 Chevrolet which fled the scene.

Tigers lacking height, but strong on desire

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

The Snyder High School basketball team you see on the court for the 1983-84 season may be in slight contrast to previous teams but it will probably be from necessity rather than choice.

"This is undoubtedly the shortest team Snyder has had in a long time," said Coach Larry Scott, whose tallest player is 6-1. "We'll just have to make adjustments with our defenses and things and try not to get into situations where they can work the ball in on us. We'll have to have rebound position and we'll have to put more pressure on the ball. We plan to change our defense a lot so the (opposing) offense doesn't know what to expect," he added.

"Offensively, we've got to make sure we take our high percentage shots. We will use our quickness and speed to try to get the ball up and down the floor, but getting that high percentage shot is the main thing. We may get it up the floor quick, but if the shot isn't there, we'll set up."

Snyder opens its campaign tonight, taking on Midland Lee in Midland at 8 p.m. The first home game is Saturday as the Tigers host Abilene Cooper in the high school gym.

Snyder is also lacking in varsity experience this year - the Tigers return only one starter and four lettermen. And once again, the team faces a host of Class 5A schools before District 2-4A play begins.

"We've got the attitude that you get better by playing good people," said Scott. "We've always played well against the 5A schools. They don't schedule us thinking they are getting an easy opponent...and we never go in thinking we're going to get beat."

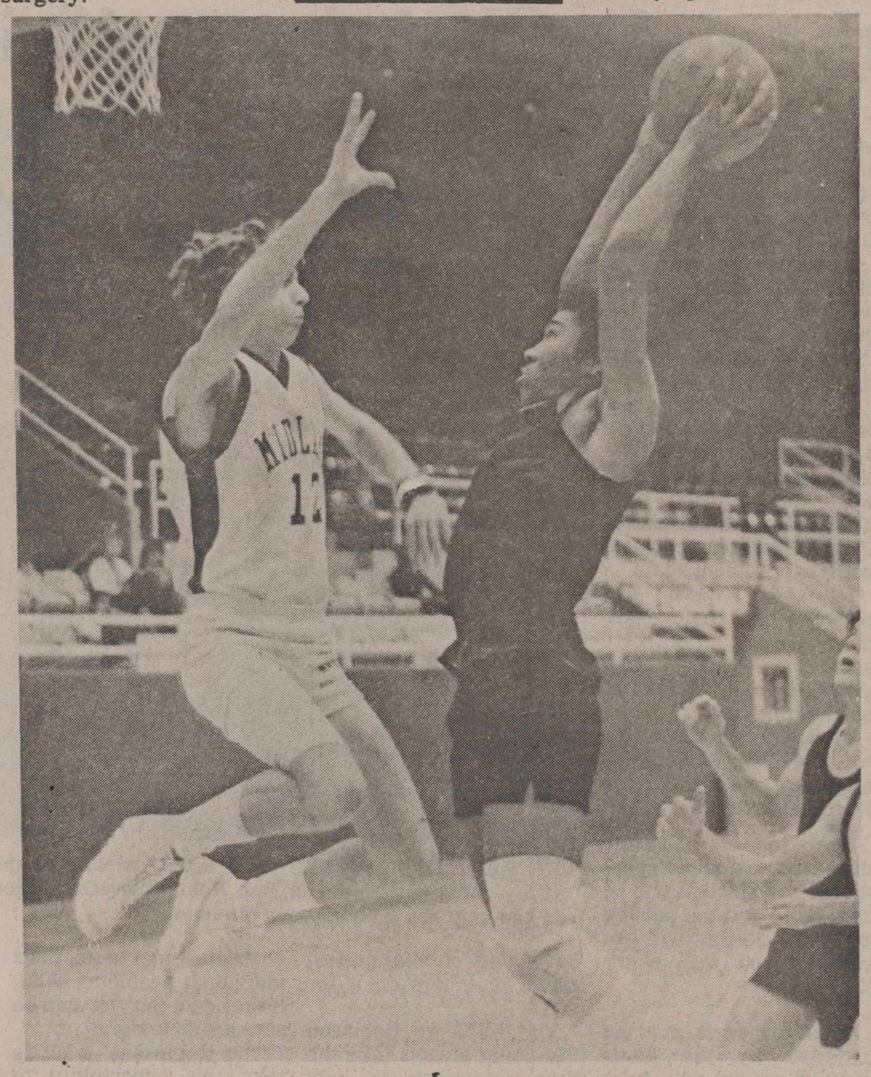

Despite the lack of varsity experience, the Tigers have logged plenty of playing time.

"We've got a lot of game experience. It's (junior varsity experience) different than varsity because you get so many things thrown at you and you face better people in varsity. But we should be able to pick it up pretty easy. There were a number of things we didn't do well when we scrimmaged Monterey that we did well against Midland (a week later)," pointed out the coach. "We've got good outside shooters, good quickness and speed and a good attitude."

Chad Peterson, 5-8 guard, is the only returning starter for the team. Lettermen include Peterson, 6-1 post Marcus McGlouthin, 5-10 forward Paul Tate and 6-1 post John Murphy. Coming up from the junior varsity are 5-9 guard Sonny Cobb, 6-0 post Fred Fleming, 5-9 forward Richard Wesley, 5-9 guard Jerry Comstock, 5-9 guard Wade Lee and 5-9 post Willie Greathouse. Greathouse is a junior. All of the other players are seniors.

One question mark for the team is Cobb, who suffered a knee injury in the scrimmage with Midland High. He has been released to play, but apparently has "slightly torn ligaments", and if the knee doesn't hold up, he will probably undergo surgery.

Dorsett running strong, passes 8,000 yard mark

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Tony Dorsett keeps passing National Football League milestones like an automobile speeds by highway signs.

Dorsett's 108 yards rushing in Dallas' 41-21 victory over Kansas City Sunday gives him 8,051 yards and makes him only the ninth player to reach 8,000.

He also became the first Cowboy ever to get 10,000 combined rushing-and-receiving yards.

Dorsett has rushed for over 1,000 yards in six of his seven NFL seasons.

The strike-shortened 1982 campaign kept him from making 1,000 yards for the first time in his career which dates all the way back to Hopewell High School in Aliquippa, Pa. In nine games, he had 745 yards.

Starting in 1971, Dorsett has rushed for 1,000 or more yards 12 times in 13 years. His lifetime rushing total is 18,100 yards.

"This is the stretch drive, the dash for cash," said Dorsett. "We have to run as well as we pass if we expect to accomplish the things we set out to do in July."

Dorsett ran 28 and 32 yards for touchdowns against Kansas City as Dallas extended its record to 10-2.

"I guess 1,000 yards is still the criterion for a great back in the NFL, but I think for me it's just a mediocre season," said Dorsett. "I'll have to get 1,600 before I can say I had an outstanding year.

"It's my intention to play 10 years and after that I will reassess my desire to play."

He then joked, "Jim Brown's mark just might be in reach, I guess, but haven't you heard, Jim Brown is coming back."

Dorsett has had to live with criticism that he's a fumbler and gets hurt easily.

Actually, Dorsett fumbles only once every 34 carries and has missed only three games in seven years with the Cowboys.

"My whole career has been one of making people eat their words," Dorsett said. "When I came out of high school I remember Ara Parsegian's No. 1 assistant saying I was too skinny to play."

Cagers tip off seasons tonight

Snyder High School basketball teams open their 1983-84 seasons on the road tonight.

The boys play in Midland against Lee High School, while the girls play in Brownfield.

The boys play a sophomore game at 4:30, followed by a JV tilt at 6:15 and the varsity game at 8. The girls will play a junior varsity game at 4:30, followed by a varsity game at approximately 6:15.

The boys return home to play Abilene Cooper on the 26th, a Saturday. A junior varsity game is set for 6:15 and a varsity game for 8. They will be held at the high school because Western Texas College's Dusters will be hosting the WTC Classic at the coliseum.

First home game for the girls is Dec. 6 against Brownfield.

Brown considered for Rice position

HOUSTON (AP) - University of Cincinnati Coach Watson Brown has been interviewed by Rice University for the vacant head coaching job, a source has told The Associated Press.

Neither Brown nor Cincinnati Athletic Director Mike McGee could be reached for comment.

Ralph O'Connor, head of the Rice selection committee, declined to confirm Brown's interview but said the committee could be ready to announce its new head coach by Wednesday.

"We've have made a recommendation to our president (Dr. Norman Hackerman)," O'Connor said Monday. "We will let him make the decision. We could have something by as early as Wednesday."

Brown, 33, has been at Cincinnati for one season. In his first game as head coach, Cincinnati scored a 14-3 upset victory over Penn State.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, quoting sources, reported that Rice had been offered a $1.2 million package for five years.

Brown's name was added to a list of prospects that already included Oklahoma State's Jimmy Johnson and Mississippi State's Emory Bellard.

Gun Club to meet

Canyon Gun Club will hold its monthly meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Towle Park Barn.

Members and guests are invited. Anyone who interested in joining the club is also urged to attend.

Strawberry voted best NL rookie

NEW YORK (AP) - After his first month in the major leagues, Darryl Strawberry of the New York Mets was a lot closer to being back in the minors than becoming the National League's Rookie of the Year.

Yet Strawberry, who spent the first month of the 1983 season in Class AAA, overcame his early problems and on Monday was rewarded when he won the NL Rookie of the Year award by a large margin in voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The gangly outfielder was the only player named on all 24 ballots - two from each NL city - and collected 18 first-place votes, five seconds and one third for a total of 106 points. That far outdistanced Atlanta pitcher Craig McMurtry, who got the remaining six first-place votes and finished with 49 points, and Chicago outfielder Mel Hall, third with 32 points.

Strawberry's victory broke a four-year Los Angeles stranglehold on the NL rookie award. Steve Sax won it last season, preceded by Fernando Valenzuela, Steve Howe and Rick Sutcliffe.

Strawberry, 21, finished the season with a .257 batting average, 26 home runs and 74 runs batted in for the Mets, who were last in the NL East. He also struck out 128 times.

WTC cagers challenge respective foes tonight

Western Texas College's Westerners and Dusters both have important contests coming up, but neither coach is overlooking tonight's opponents they say.

The Westerners, 5-3, entertain Angelo State junior varsity at 7:30 tonight in Scurry County Coliseum while the Dusters go on the road to Cisco for a 6 o'clock ballgame.

WESTERNERS

It's a week away, but for Coach Barry Davis' Westerners, it might be tough to forget that conference play begins Monday.

"The only game we're concerned with right now is the one we have Tuesday with Angelo State," he said Monday. "It's an important game for us because we haven't been playing to our ability. We need to play 40 minutes of good, solid basketball."

The Westerners go into tonight's game with a 5-3 record. Keys for the squad will be trying to cut down on fouls, while doing a better job on the boards.

Probable starters for the squad include Richie Fells, Larry Banks, Fred Johnson, Billy Chambers and Robert Mitchell.

DUSTERS

Overlooking Cisco tonight would be easy since the Dusters defeated the squad once already and could have the upcoming WTC Classic on their minds.

But Coach Joe Cushing says no.

"We're going to have to be ready to play. Cisco has renewed confidence after winning consolation over there (in the Hawk Queen Classic last weekend). They are going to try some different things. We busted their zone last time so I look for a lot more man-to-man and more pressing," he added.

The Dusters are expected to be without 6-0 freshman Patti Hayes, who was hospitalized Monday after an apparent attack of bronchial asthma. She may be able to play by the WTC Classic however, which begins Friday.

The women are expected to start Clara Campbell, Karen Kuykendall, Renvy Evans, Mary Nell Clayton and Rhonda Hoelting.

SJS, Inc. recommends the dry method for cleaning carpets

SJS, Inc. has been in business here in Snyder for 18 years since August. Tommy Davis, owner of SJS, invites you to come by 2210 25th and let him show you the large stock of supplies he carries. One of the advantages Tommy has for all you ladies and housewives is the Host Dry Extraction Carpet Cleaner. You can professionally clean your own carpets with Host.

Buying carpet is a major investment that demands special attention. This is why SJS, Inc. is sold on Host because you get the special treatment you know your carpet needs. Dry carpet cleaning is a new method of deep cleaning that is easy—to—use, economical and safe. The dry cleaner is a moist, biodegradable compound made of thousands of tiny sponges impregnated with a blend of water, detergents and grease—cutting solvents.

The compound has the precise amount of moisture built in to remove the dirt. There is no danger of shrinking the carpet, no mildew problem and no waiting for it to dry.

Another plus of dry cleaning is that unlike steam cleaning, in which the entire carpet must be wet, select areas of carpet that become soiled quickly (stairs, hallways and doorways) can be cleaned without causing disruption or inconvenience in the remainder of the house.

The lightweight dry cleaning machine is available for rental at SJS. For tough stains, such as coffee, blood or ground—in—dirt, a pre—clean agent is recommended prior to the use of any dry cleaner. For more information on the Host Dry Carpet Cleaner, see Tommy at SJS or give them a call at 573-3576 and they will be glad to answer any of your questions. SJS is open five days a week to serve you and closed on Saturdays.

BRIDGE

Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

South looked over dummy and made the fatuous remark, "We didn't bid nearly enough." Then he took dummy's ace of hearts, led a trump to his ace, ruffed a heart, a club to his jack, another heart ruff and a club to his ace.

Unfortunately for South, that old devil West ruffed the second club, put his partner in with a diamond, ruffed another club and took his queen of hearts to leave South down one.

"I was on my way toward seven when the hand collapsed. What could I have done?" asked South.

We will give our own answer. (North's was unprintable.)

South could have ducked a spade at trick two and guarded against all 4-1 trump and club breaks. Suits break 3-2 only some 68 percent of the time, so that conservative play had considerable merit. In any event, South should have kept his mouth shut at trick one so that he could have kept his foot out of it.

A duplicate player might have tried the line South had adopted. Overtricks mean lots of match points and the safety play of the immediate trump duck would leave him with a bad score, since all declarers would be in game against that same king of hearts lead.

In Abilene...

Magna Charta Dames meet

ABILENE—Members of the West Texas Colony of Magna Charta Dames met recently at Wyatt's Cafeteria. The November meeting is traditionally a time to recognize and honor the Barons of Runneymede who gave us the great Magna Chata which guaranteed rights and liberties of people within the realm of its influence. Much of the Constitution of the United States is based on this document.

The meeting was called to order by the regent, Mrs. Kenneth G. Whisenant of Abilene. The opening prayer was voiced by the chaplain, Mrs. Smith Bell of Brownwood.

The group stood in honor of the gallant barons whose virtue and courage led them to risk all for the benefit of their convictions that all men should be free. The chaplain read the name of each baron as candles were lit by Miss Nealie Moore of Brownwood. Each member gave recognition to the barons from which her lineage is established.

In the business session new officers were elected for 1983-85 with Mrs. Whisenant accepting the office of regent for a second term.

Plans were discussed for the State Parliament which will convene at the Kiva Inn in March of 1984. The hostess colony includes members from Abilene, Amarillo, Brownwood, Rotan, San Angelo, and Snyder. All were represented at the meeting with the exception of Amarillo.

Area members attending the meeting were Kathleen Hale and Josie and Delila Baird of Rotan and Elizabeth Connell and a prospective member, Mrs. Gene L. Dulaney, of Snyder.

MAGNA CHARTA DAMES—Attending the meeting of Magna Charta Dames were colony regent, Mrs. Kenneth Whisenant, Mrs. Gene L. Dulaney, Kathleen Hale, and Elizabeth Connell.

Art Guild Club hears Robinsons

The Art Guild Study Club met Nov. 15 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club for their annual Thanksgiving dinner meeting. Thirty-six persons attended including 15 guests and three new members.

Invocaion was given by Stanley Noah. The dinner was served buffet style with tables decorated in the Thanksgiving motif by hostesses, Mmes. Myron Roe, Stanley Noah, and Bill Teaff.

Guest speakers for the evening were Rev. and Mrs. Miller Robinson. This past summer they traveled to Africa as missionaries to conduct a revival in Tanganyika.

Mrs. Robinson showed slides of the people and the country. She discussed the severe poverty that exists in this area, stating the banana tree is the main source of their economy. It furnishes them both food and shelter.

The next meeting of the club will be on Dec. 13.

Ruth Fleer speaks to Beta Sigma Phi

"Conduct: Effects of Morals and Customs on Living" was the program topic presented by Ruth Fleer to members of Beta Sigma Phi. The sorority met Nov. 15 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Mrs. Fleer was introduced by Barbara Hamlett. She spoke to the chapter on the history of our American values and customs. She explained that history research clearly shows that America was built on some very basic values that are still in effect today.

Some of the values and beliefs sited by Mrs. Fleer were personal achievement, work ethics, morals, humanitarianism, progress, material advancement, equality, freedom, nationalism, and patriotism.

Members also completed an ethics test on the value of human life. Thoughts were expressed on where the American people are today and where they will be in the future concerning human life.

Mrs. Fleer concluded the presentation with a brief outline of the theory, triage, which is also known as life boat ethics.

Following the program president Dena Ellis conducted the business meeting. Executive officers and standing committee chairman gave brief reports. Special interest reports were heard from Beverly Mitchell on social and Twila Polk on ways and means.

Mrs. Mitchell reminded chapter members of the couple's Thanksgiving social on Saturday, Nov. 19, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bills. Dinner will begin at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Polk discussed the Christmas paper sales project. The last date for holiday gift wrap orders will be Dec. 5. She also told about the upcoming MAWC Bazaar to be on Saturday, Dec. 3, at the clubhouse. Chapter members will have the paper for sale at the Bazaar with proceeds going to MAWC.

Mrs. Ellis adjourned the meeting with the Closing Ritual and Mizpah.

Dear Abby

Congress' Full Hopper May Fill Social Security Notch

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Your readers may be interested in legislation currently pending in Congress to correct the Social Security "notch" problem. Simply stated, the notch problem can cause a person who reaches age 62 after 1978 to receive a much lower benefit than a person with an identical wage history who reaches age 62 in an earlier year. The difference could be as great as $100 a month and could reach a total of $20,000 for some persons over the course of their retirement.

Bills pending in Congress to correct the notch include:

BILL NUMBER — SPONSOR
H.R. 1483 — Rep. Charles E. Schumer, D-N.Y.
H.R. 1964 — Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass.
H.R. 1965 — Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass.
H.R. 3013 — Rep. Fernand J. St. Germain, D-R.I.
H.R. 3859 — Rep. Dan Daniel, D-Va.
H.R. 3893 — Rep. James H. Quillen, R-Tenn.
H.R. 3925 — Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky.
H.R. 3947 — Rep. Don Fuqua, D-Fla.
H.R. 4093 — Rep. Edward R. Roybal, D-Calif.

Unfortunately, correcting this inequity will be very costly. Nevertheless, your readers who are affected by the notch may want to contact their members of Congress.

LAURIE A. FIORI, LEGISLATIVE ASSISTANT,
AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF RETIRED PERSONS,
1909 K. ST. N.W., WASHINGTON, D.C. 20049.

DEAR LAURIE: Thanks for the update. Granted, it will be very costly to correct this inequity, but as I said in an earlier column, that money will be pumped back into the economy because our senior citizens must spend their Social Security checks immediately in order to survive—unlike younger folks who would save it for a rainy day. For our elderly, it's already raining!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I need to know something that I can't ask my mother or anybody else. If a girl goes all the way with a boy before she begins to have her monthly periods, can she get pregnant? Please hurry your answer.

CAN'T SIGN THIS

DEAR CAN'T SIGN: Fertility experts say usually no, but it is possible.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend and I were married secretly. We have not told my parents because they disapprove of him. My love for him is stronger than it has ever been, but I also love my family and want them to accept us as one.

I am presently attending college away from home and it is about to kill me to keep my marriage a secret. I want to shout it to the world, but I'm afraid my parents will not continue to pay for my education if they know I married this guy.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Tell your parents that you are married, and if they discontinue paying for your education, find a way to pay for it yourself. (Many students work and go to college.) To lie about your marital status in order to continue getting financial help from your parents is both dishonest and immature.

Kennedy family gathers at graveside

WASHINGTON (AP) — On this 20th anniversary of that dreadful day in Dallas, the family that shares his name and bears his heritage gathered to honor the memory of John F. Kennedy at his grave, in his church and in his Massachusetts home.

The very public Kennedy family planned a very private visit to Arlington National Cemetery in the early morning before the gates opened to the public. An aide to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said it would be the first time outsiders were excluded from family visits to the hillside where the 35th president is buried. A single photographer was to be allowed to record the scene.

John Kennedy, who was assassinated in Dallas at the age of 46, lies between his two infant children only a few yards from the grave of his brother, Robert, who also was the victim of a gunman waiting in ambush.

An eternal flame, requested by his widow, Jacqueline, marks John Kennedy's grave. On granite, lining a circular walk, are chiseled the most prominent phrases from Kennedy's inaugural speech.

Barring a last-minute change, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis was to spend the day with the Kennedy's 93-year-old mother in Hyannisport, Mass. John Kennedy Jr., 22, was in India for graduate studies.

Daughter Caroline Kennedy, 25, was in Washington for the observances. Planning to join her at the graveside were the former president's brother and sisters, and other members of the large family.

The senator, who is the last of the four Kennedy brothers, was to speak at a memorial Mass to be celebrated by Archbishop James A. Hickey at Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church in the Georgetown section of Washington.

"We hope that this 20th anniversary of President Kennedy's tragic death can also be a joyful occasion, a celebration of his life and legacy," the senator said last week. The Mass, Kennedy said, would be the family's way of sharing the day with people to whom the president had meant so much.

The Mass was to be televised by ABC, CBS and NBC.

Afterward, Kennedy and his sisters planned to fly to Hyannisport for a private Mass with Mrs. Rose Kennedy in the Kennedy compound, returning in time to attend an afternoon concert at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

Memorial services also were being held in Dallas, Boston and New Britain, Conn.

In Dallas, Texas Democrats were sponsoring a noon service at the Kennedy memorial, just a few hundred yards from where Kennedy was shot to death on Nov. 22, 1963.

Uric acid stones

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 53-year-old man and I discovered, with the help of a urologist, that I have uric-acid stones. I have been experiencing kidney attacks approximately two times a week.

The doctor took a blood and urine test and he prescribed allopurinol (Zyloprim), which I have to take every day. He tells me that I have to take this for the rest of my life. How do you feel about this?

He also prescribed a low-purine diet for me, which probably means low on fat and more carbohydrates. Should I get a second opinion on the diagnosis?

DEAR READER — Uric-acid stones are not the most common form of kidney stones, but they certainly do occur in untreated gout or high uric acid conditions. Since the stone is easily analyzed — and I presume, if you passed a stone, that it was analyzed — it is fairly easy to be certain about the diagnosis.

The major source of an increased blood uric acid is from your own body cells. Some people are born with the mechanism to produce an excess of uric acid. We all produce some.

If you have that characteristic, allopurinol is a good medicine to take. It prevents your cells from producing an excess amount of uric acid. And since you will continue to have the tendency to produce excess uric acid, it is usually necessary to take it for life.

The type of kidney stone a person has also determines whether it is important to keep the urine alkaline or acid. And regardless of what type of kidney stone you have, almost all physicians agree that it is important to have diluted urine. You can accomplish that by drinking lots of fluids around the clock. At least half of the fluids should be water.

I am sending you The Health Letter 11-2, Kidney Stones: Treatment Has Changed. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 72 years old. For two years I have had fingernail problems. They break and the edges are rough, like the teeth of a saw. The cuticles are dry even though I use gloves when washing dishes.

Is there something lacking in my diet? My husband is on a low-sodium, low-cholesterol diet for congestive heart failure and I eat the same diet. I cook everything fresh, with plenty of fruits, vegetables, whole grain cereals, meat, poultry and fish. I have used gelatin and nail hardeners with no success.

DEAR READER — Your letter suggests that your diet is quite good. You need plenty of the protein that you get in meat, poultry and fish. Gelatin is an incomplete protein and is of no value if you have a good amount of protein in your diet.

You may need calcium if you are not using milk to avoid sodium in your diet.

Otherwise, you may be having a moisturizing problem. Try using petroleum jelly on your nails before going to bed and put on a pair of rubber gloves for the night. Also use petroleum jelly during the day to keep your nails mositurized.

Fingernail polish often is hard on nails and nail polish remover is even worse.

Texas judge has freed aliens held 10 months

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A federal judge has set a Dec. 20 deadline for attorneys to devise a plan for handling illegal aliens needed as material witnesses and ordered the release of four Mexicans held as witnesses for almost 10 months in South Texas.

U.S. District Judge Fred Shannon of San Antonio ordered the four aliens returned immediately to Mexico.

"Let those people go; it's almost Thanksgiving," the judge said.

The aliens were being held to testify against the Mahard Egg Co. of Ponder, 25 miles northwest of Dallas, which was charged with conspiracy to smuggle Mexican aliens into the United States.

Helen Mahard, who owns the company with her husband, Ernest, pleaded guilty Monday to a single count of conspiracy to smuggle aliens. Shannon ordered the release after the guilty plea was entered.

Mrs. Mahard could be sentenced to up to five years in prison. Under a plea bargain agreement, charges against Ernest Mahard are to be dropped. The company still faces charges that could result in a fine of up to $46,000.

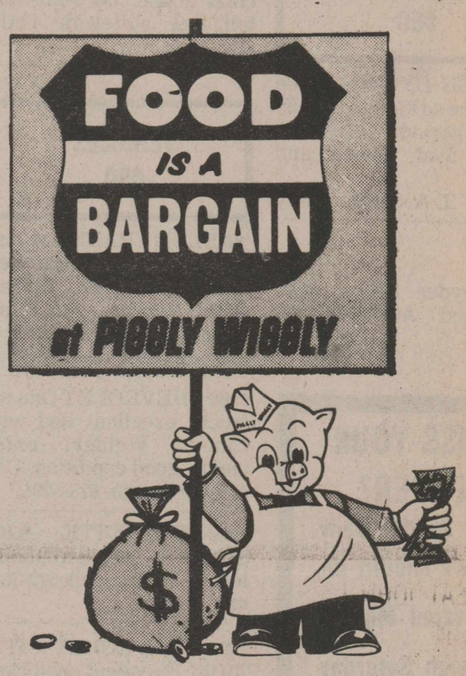

The illegal aliens had been held in jail since last winter except for about one month when they were placed in jobs for 85 cents an hour under an agreement worked out between a Uvalde business and the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Shannon said the four illegal aliens will be compensated at the rate of $1 a day for each of the approximately 250 days they were held in jail under federal prosecutors orders, pending the trial of the egg company.

Shannon ordered U.S. Attorney Ed Prado, who had refused to let the illegal aliens testify against the Denton County egg company by deposition, to come up with a solution to the problem of what to do with illegal aliens whose testimony is needed against a U.S. employer.

TCU's Oswald files open to daughters

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The daughters of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald have been granted permission to see the collection of material on Oswald compiled by his mother, officials at Texas Christian University say.

Dr. Paul Parham, TCU librarian, said Monday that he invited the daughters of the man accused of killing President John F. Kennedy to see the collection after June Oswald Porter, 21, wrote in a People magazine article, "No one, not even my sister and I," has been allowed to see the collection.

The collection, given to the school by Oswald's brother, Robert, consists of "about 30 or 40 boxes of materials."

"The Porter girls may examine the collection in my office if they want to," Parham said.

Easy ways to save.

When the temperature starts to drop, here's what you can do to help hold down your heating bills and save money. Set your thermostat at 68° or lower.

Remember, the lower you set your thermostat during the winter, the lower your electric bill will be. At night and when you're going to be away, set it at 55° or lower. Open drapes during the day to let sunlight in, and close them at night to help hold in warm air.

These easy ways to save can help you use less energy this winter. And you can learn more ways to help hold down your electric bill — winter and summer — with a TIPS booklet from Texas Electric. For your copy call us or ask for it on the comments section of your electric bill.

Nuclear winter very possible scientists say

NEW YORK (AP) — For those who were shocked and disturbed by "The Day After," it will be no comfort to learn that some scientists believe the movie was overly optimistic.

The aftermath of a nuclear attack would in all likelihood be much, much worse, they say.

In the television movie, shown Sunday night on ABC, the survivors of nuclear explosions over Kansas City emerged into bright sunlight.

A more accurate depiction might have had them stumbling blindly through a black, frozen world, as smoke and dust blocked the sun and temperatures plunged — a "nuclear winter," experts say.

According to a report to be published next month in Science magazine, the nuclear winter might be triggered by as few as 100 1-megaton blasts, only a tiny portion of the 15,000 megatons in the arsenals of the United States and the Soviet Union.

These nuclear fireballs would suck smoke, debris and vaporized matter into the atmosphere, the report said. Temperatures might drop to about zero degrees Fahrenheit for at least a month or two — longer, if more bombs were exploded.

"People who didn't receive any radiation or fallout might be dramatically affected by the nuclear winter," said Richard Turco, one of the authors of the upcoming report.

"Even countries way out of the war zone, in the Southern Hemisphere, would be considered possible victims," he said.

Thus the advice to the movie's farmers — that they could scrape off a few inches of topsoil and plant again — was hopelessly in error, according to the report. "There would be no hope of having any crops at all, I would think," Turco said.

The theory of the nuclear winter was publicized last month by Paul Ehrlich of Stanford University and Carl Sagan of Cornell University, among 100 scientists involved in a two-year study of the effects of nuclear war.

Peter Sharfman, who in 1979 directed a study called "The Effects Of Nuclear War" for the Congressional Office of Technology Assessment, also found "The Day After" rather tame.

"Given that weapons were used against population centers rather than silos, the movie was optimistic," he said.

Turco found only one area in which the movie overstated its case, and that concerned electromagnetic pulse — the powerful jolt of disruptive electrical energy released in a nuclear blast.

"They had all electricity stopping," Turco said. Although communications would certainly be impaired, he said, the overall effect "wouldn't be quite that dramatic."

Indict nurse in death

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A vocational nurse facing trial in the death of a Kerrville child, who died after shots of a powerful muscle relaxant, has been accused by a Bexar County grand jury of injuring an infant boy with drug injections.

The indictment was the first stemming from a lengthy investigation into suspicious infant deaths at a San Antonio public hospital, but prosecutors said more charges were possible.

Nurse Genene Jones was charged Monday with injecting 4-week-old Rolando Santos with heparin, an anti-coagulant drug, on Jan. 9, 1982, causing excessive bleeding.

"That's all we decided to go forward with right now," said Chief Deputy District Attorney Nick Rothe. "What can you prove in a courtroom? What can you make stick? That's what counts."

Ms. Jones, 33, was indicted in nearby Kerr County in May on one murder charge and seven counts of causing injury to a child.

The nurse was accused of injecting the children with a paralyzing drug, succinylcholine, while employed at a Kerrville pediatrics clinic.

Ms. Jones, who has been transferred to the Williamson County jail to confer with her attorney, joined the clinic after working at the pediatric intensive care unit of San Antonio's Medical Center Hospital.

A Bexar County special grand jury has been investigating suspicious infant deaths that occurred at the pediatrics unit during the period of Ms. Jones' employment, 1978 to early 1982.

More than 120 infants died in the unit during the three-year period, but only a handful of the deaths are considered suspicious.

Rothe said he was "somewhat frustrated" at not being able to prove what he believes happened to the other infants, but that his investigative efforts were stymied by the time lapse between the infant deaths and the sheer size of Medical Center.

"It comes down to being able to develop hard, admissable evidence," he said. "I didn't want to go forward with anything I didn't think was winnable in court."

Rothe refused to comment on the similarities between the two cases, but Kerr County District Attorney Ron Sutton said, "I can't say that there was not some correlation."

"When you're dealing with one person and one person's actions, those actions don't change much from county to county," Sutton said. "We've (he and Rothe) been working very closely together on these investigations."

Bexar County grand jurors still are investigating whether hospital administrators "responded in an appropriate fashion" when first learning of the unexplained deaths, Rothe said.

"We'll continue to investigate the actual deaths and the response by the powers-that-be, and we'll continue to aid in the Kerr County investigation," he said.

Jeff Duffield, a spokesman for the Bexar County Hospital District, which operates Medical Center, said it would not be appropriate to comment on an ongoing investigation.

The attorney representing Ms. Jones on the murder charge, Jim Brookshire of Georgetown, said Monday's indictment probably would make it harder to pick a jury.

Rothe said the Santos child had been admitted to the pediatrics unit for treatment of pneumonia.

"A hospital is a place to get well," Rothe said. "This whole thing is a contradiction in terms."

Bombardment ends brief lull in fighting

TRIPOLI, Lebanon (AP) — Palestinian rebels and their Syrian backers bombarded neighborhoods around PLO chairman Yasser Arafat's headquarters today, ending a brief lull in the fighting.

The prolonged pre-dawn artillery bombardment set several buildings on fire, and state-run Radio Beirut said the rebels mounted hit-and-run assaults on the loyalists' shrinking defense lines in this port city.

However, a spokesman for Arafat said the situation was "more or less quiet" at mid-morning, when shops were open and some traffic trickled onto the streets despite sporadic sniping.

Police in Beirut, 50 miles to the south, quoted reports from Tripoli as saying 30 people were killed and 60 wounded in the bombardment, which tapered off at daybreak.

Arafat's loyalists in the Palestine Liberation Organization fired volleys of rockets from truck-mounted launchers deployed in Tripoli's seaside slums, but incoming barrages were much heavier, according to the radio.

In Beirut, Lebanese troops battled anti-government Shiite Moslem militiamen early today in three southern neighborhoods of the capital in what police called a "grave breach" of Lebanon's often-violated Sept. 26 civil war truce.

As a compromise, council members suggested some type ordinance specifying that proper safety measures have been taken — such as ventilation or location of the motor vehicle — before a child could be left alone.

The proposal was tabled Monday pending further study.

Under an existing city ordinance making lot owners responsible for keeping such areas clean, the city could then bill their expenses to the owner or initiate a lien against the sale of the property. The measure must be passed on second reading before it goes into effect.

Alleyn's Ride With A Message for the Prince

Helotes Creek

Museum gets 2 new prints

A bloodied rider in medieval costume is the central figure in an N. C. Wyeth painting recently acquired by the Diamond M Foundation for the collection of the Diamond M Museum in Snyder.

Painted in Wyeth's dramatic action-filled style the painting shows a powerful black horse bearing the wounded rider at tremendous speed through a romantic mountainous landscape.

Titled "Alleyn's Ride With a Message for the Prince," the painting was done as an illustration for A. Conan Doyle's The White Company, published by the Cosmopolitan Book Corporation in 1922. Captioned, "He was dizzy, sick, faint, but he must not die, and he must not tarry, for his life meant many lives that day," it illustrates a point in the story at which Alleyn must get help for his comrades in the wake of a fierce battle.

The painting has been added to the museum's Wyeth exhibit, containing 15 other paintings by the famed illustrator. The Diamond M's Wyeth collection is an unusual one, both in size and in depth. The museum recently discovered that one of its paintings appeared in the first book illustrated by Wyeth. Others in the collection were used for magazine and book illustration and for advertizing. A large landscape was not done for illustration, but was the result of Wyeth's desire to be known as more than "just an illustrator."

An autumn landscape by Robert Wood, titled "Helotes Creek," is the museum's second new acquisition. The painting depicts brilliant gold and deep red foilage surrounding a tranquil stream in the Texas hill country. This painting joins a Wyoming mountain landscape by Wood, said to be one of C. T. McLaughlin's earliest acquisitions for his collection of art that became the Diamond M Museum.

Visitors are invited to see the two new paintings and to see "The Contemporary Cowboy," an exhibit of paintings, drawings and prints by artists who use imagery of Western art in a contemporary vein. "The Contemporary Cowboy" will be an exhibit through Nov. 27.

The museum, at 909 25th Street, will be closed for Thanksgiving on Nov. 24-25 but will be open the following weekend. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.
