Reagan assures Korea of U.S. friendship

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Reagan warned Saturday that North Korea is "perched and primed for conflict" but assured South Koreans that "America is your friend and we are with you."

The president addressed the Korean National Assembly shortly after he arrived here under extraordinary security to a tumultuous welcome by thousands of South Koreans lining his motorcade route from the airport. A U.S. Embassy official estimated the crowd at 2 million people.

More than 100,000 security officers were on alert for Reagan's protection during his 2½-day visit to this tense nation, which remains in a state of full military readiness after a terrorist bombing that killed 17 South Koreans, including four Cabinet ministers, in Rangoon, Burma, on Oct. 9.

Huge portraits of Reagan and South Korean President Chun Doohwan hung from the city hall building here, and U.S. and Korean flags more than 200 feet long were draped from a downtown building. Highway archways were decorated with banners reading, "We All Like Ron and Nancy" and "High Regard for Ronald Reagan."

Reagan spoke in a hall just 30 miles south of the Demilitarized Zone separating North and South Korea, which he plans to tour Sunday.

He departed from his prepared remarks to ask for a moment of silence in memory of the people killed aboard the Korean airliner that was shot down by the Soviets on Sept. 1.

"I am fully aware of the threat you face only a few miles from here," he told Korean legislators.

"North Korea is waging a campaign of intimidation. Their country is on a war footing, with some 50 divisions and brigades and 750 combat aircraft," he continued.

"The North has dug tunnels under the DMZ in their preparations for war," he added. "They are perched and primed for conflict. They attacked you in Rangoon, yet in spite of such constant threats from the North, you have progressed."

Affirming the U.S. commitment to South Korean security, Reagan said:

"The United States will stand resolutely by you, just as we stand with our allies in Europe and around the world. In Korea, especially, we have learned the painful consequences of weakness."

Expressing hope for reconciliation between North and South Korea, the president said the United States would participate in talks with North Korea as long as South Korea is included and given equal representation.

The president voiced no criticism of human rights conditions in South Korea or the practice of blacklisting, under which about 300 people are banned from engaging in political activities.

Agreement renews cash flow of government

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional negotiators reached agreement Friday on compromise legislation that would resume the cash flow for much of the federal government, which has been technically penniless since midnight Thursday.

However, it remained unclear whether the measure, including $98.7 million in domestic spending add-ons, would draw President Reagan's veto.

The House and Senate was set to meet Saturday to consider the compromise.

Although Congress missed the deadline for final congressional action on the emergency spending bill for many government agencies, there was no apparent disruption in government operations because of the Veterans Day holiday for federal workers, followed by the weekend.

Negotiators from the House and Senate — meeting in a conference room off the Senate corridor rocked by a bomb explosion Monday — worked through the holiday drafting a compromise version of stopgap money bills passed by each chamber. They adopted the plan on a voice vote.

For a time, the negotiators stalemated over $954.4 million in additional education and social spending that Democratic leaders in the House have insisted on. The Senate stripped the money out of its version of the measure on a 53-36 vote Thursday.

During the negotiations, Rep. William H. Natcher, D-Ky., initially offered to trim the domestic spending add-ons back to $250 million.

Republicans, though, said the president would accept none of it.

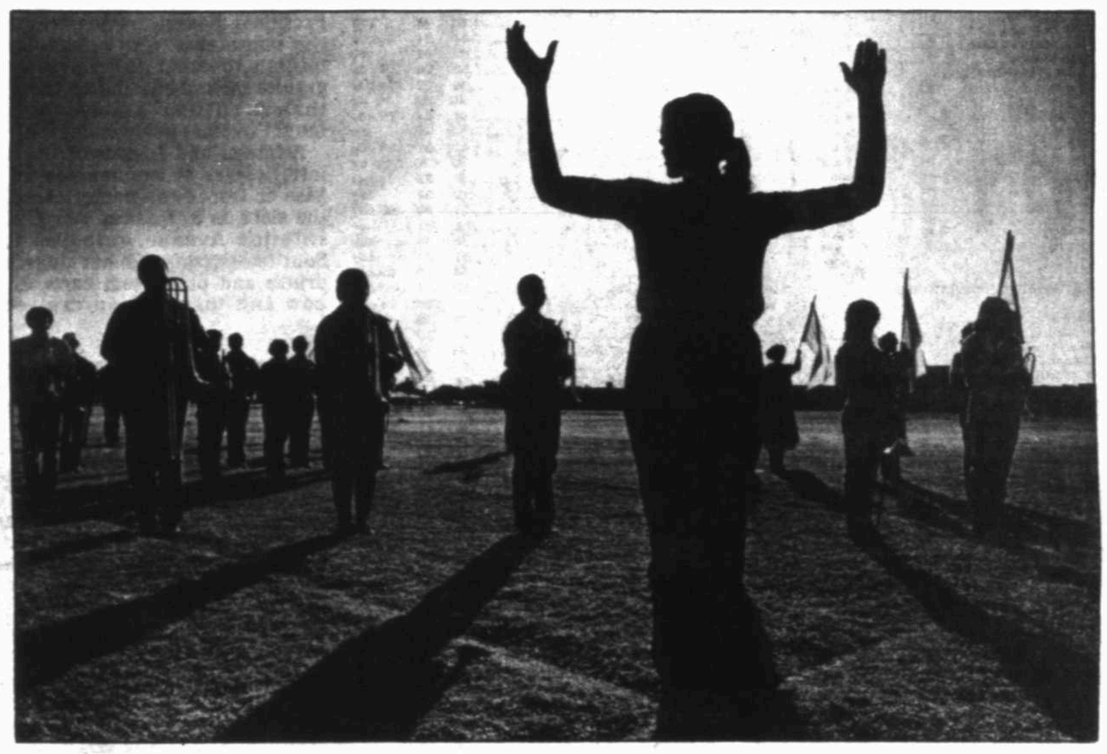

"I am told, by very reliable information, that this is unacceptable to the White House," said Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., said he had discussed the offer with budget director David A. Stockman. "I was told in no uncertain terms, flat out, that if this $250 million is put in the bill" the president will veto it, Conte said.

House Democrats then came in with an offer of a scaled-down package of $98.7 million, and that was the figure that was accepted.

"I have every reason to believe we have a bill that will be signed" by the president, Hatfield said. But it was still unclear Friday evening whether Reagan, who was in Asia, would sign the measure.

Ceremonies honor vets

By The Associated Press

On the day dedicated to the sacrifices of wars past, ceremonies on Friday focused on those who died in the terrorist bomb blast in Beirut and in the invasion of a Caribbean island.

Atlanta's Veterans Day parade had its biggest turnout in years, but few braved the rains in New York to watch old soldiers and sailors march on Fifth Avenue.

Hawaii Lt. Gov. John Waihee offered a prayer "for those in lands like Grenada and Lebanon...May God soon grant a time when they can all come safely home."

"Our people perform their duty without hesitation and with honor, and some pay the greatest sacrifice," said Veterans Administration head Harry N. Walters in the keynote address at Arlington National Cemetery.

One victim of the Beirut bombing, Marine Lance Cpl. Keith Laise, was buried Friday in East Stroudsburg, Pa., with a 21-gun salute and an admonition to the 150 mourners present to "honor his memory beyond this moment."

Veterans Day, once called Armistice Day, is held on the anniversary of the agreement that ended World War I. That was 65 years ago, but the old doughboys who gathered in San Diego for breakfast still remembered the songs that cheered them in 1918.

"Not very many of us are left to do the celebrating," said M.G. "Hap" Clark.

Some of those who fought in Vietnam, and didn't come home, were recalled at the dedication of Michigan's first memorial to the divisive conflict. The inscription read in part, "All they ask is to be welcomed home and remembered...For they have earned respect and admiration with their blood."

Cambodian youngster adapting to American life

ORANGE (AP) — After spending years in the basement of a refugee camp building in Thailand, Lim Cheang is adapting to life in an American home and getting acquainted with his new world.

The shy, 8-year-old boy was introduced last week to the congregation at First Baptist Church of Orange. Next week he'll grapple with English as he starts school.

Cheang and his family were reunited Nov. 2 after four years.

He didn't recognize his mother when he stepped off the plane. But Lim Eng and Lim Hieng, both Cambodian refugees, knew him.

They soaked their son with kisses and tears and coaxed his memory with words of love. He buried his head alternately in the chests of his mother and father.

The talk was lost on him. Spending half his life in Thailand, first in an orphanage, then in a refugee camp, had erased his native tongue from his mind.

The eight days he has been in the United States have begun to restore the language, his cousin, 15-year-old Vang Ay Soan, said Thursday night.

Cheang and his family were reunited through the efforts of his family, First Baptist Church and the office of Sen. John Tower, R-Texas.

When Cheang saw his mother at the Jefferson County Airport, it was their first meeting since she left him with a relative in Bangkok in 1979, Miss Vang said.

"When he got off the plane, he didn't recognize his mother," said Thelma Dowies, a church worker whose labors helped bring about the reunion. "He said she'd lost so much weight."

Mother and son were captured on the border of Thailand as they tried to flee Cambodia four years ago, Miss Vang said. But Mrs. Lim, knowing she would make the long walk to the border again, managed to slip the 4-year-old to a relative, who hid the boy in the trunk of a car.

The relative unaccountably placed the boy in an orphanage, said Miss Vang, translating for Mrs. Lim, who speaks little English. The child was later moved to the Chonburi refugee camp.

Jury acquits seven police officers

By RICHARD ORR
Staff Writer

"The truth triumphed," said Chief of Police Wayne Gideon after a federal jury Friday afternoon acquitted seven officers of using excessive force in the arrest last year of two brothers at Hogan Park.

The three-man, three-woman, all-Anglo jury deliberated 1½ hours in finding that Burt and Marvel Garcia's civil rights were not violated during their May 16, 1982, arrest on charges of drinking beer in an area of the park where alcohol is banned.

An apparent key factor in the acquittal was Burt Garcia's admission in opening testimony Tuesday that he lied under oath when he said in a written statement prior to the trial that he had not been drinking at a family get-together before going "for a cruise" in the park.

"And now you want this jury to believe that these officers did all those things to you for no cause?" defense attorney Charlie Tighe asked incredulously.

Also, both Garcias told jurors they were not intoxicated when they left the house "about dark" and drove "straight" to the park.

But they gave conflicting testimony as to when they arrived and were unable to account for about a two-hour gap between the time they got there and the time of their 10 p.m. altercation with police.

They further testified that they didn't take any beer with them when they left the house. But a police inventory card admitted as evidence in the trial listed four bottles of beer as having been found in their vehicle.

Officer Tommy Holder testified that he and former officer Frank Gonzalez attempted to question the men after Holder allegedly saw one of them drinking from what appeared to be a bottle of beer.

Holder said the Garcias started the fight and that one of them tried to grab his gun during the scuffle, which had begun to draw a crowd.

Other officers who arrived in response to a call for assistance testified that no unnecessary force was used in subduing the brothers, one of whom "fought like a wildcat," according to testimony.

In attempting to demonstrate a pattern of brutality, cover-ups and other misconduct in the police department, Garcia's attorney Bob Evans called several former officers to the stand.

They testified to alleged incidents of prisoner mistreatment, cursory internal investigations, the use of police dogs "to get" suspects who had already been subdued, contests to see who could write the most tickets or make the most arrests and a "common practice" of changing reports to deflect liability in pending or potential lawsuits.

Reagan assures Korea of U.S. friendship

"The United States realizes how difficult political development is when, even as we speak, a shell from the North could destroy this assembly," Reagan said. "The U.S. welcomes the goals you have set for political development and increased respect for human rights."

In the 35 years since Korea was partitioned, South Korea has never changed a government through elections. Chun took power after President Park Chun-hee was assassinated in 1979.

Chun has said he will step down in 1988, but there are no plans for a direct presidential election of his successor. The constitution that Chun wrote calls for his successor to be named by an electoral college of 5,000 popularly elected members.

Reagan said he welcomed Chun's "farsighted plans for a constitutional transfer of power" and said that "other measures for further development of Korean political life will be equally important and will have our warm support.

"This will not be a simple process because of the ever-present threat from the North," Reagan added.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz told reporters he believed "the threats from North Korea, the reality of the murders of the people in the South Korean government, constitute a deep deprivation of human rights in South Korea," Shultz said.

A senior Reagan administration official, speaking only on condition that he not be identified, said that with the threat posed by the North, "you get an appreciation for the need for, call it a higher level of discipline than in other, more tranquil areas. Now that exists in Korea. But what also exists, which justifies it, is a clear and present danger."

Reagan referred to the Rangoon bombing and the loss of the Korean airliner in his National Assembly speech, and declared:

"Let every aggressor hear our words because Americans and Koreans speak with one voice: people who are free will not be slaves, and freedom will not be lost in the Republic of Korea."

Reagan praised South Korea's economic development into America's ninth largest trading partner. North Korea, he said, "does not prosper — it arms."

"The rapid progress of your economy — and the stagnation of the north — has demonstrated perhaps more clearly here than anywhere else the value of a free economic system," Reagan said.

At an airport arrival ceremony, the president offered assurances to South Koreans that "in a tense time of peace, we stand together as we once did in time of war."

Leaving behind largely unresolved trade differences, Reagan flew here from Tokyo after a final courtesy call on Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone. Korea was the second and final stop on Reagan's six-day Asian tour. He returns to the White House on Monday.

During the flight from Tokyo, deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said the president was aware of recent statements by North Korea and aware of "the outrage of the Korean people about KAL."

"We have commended the government of South Korea in showing restraint in what is obviously a provocation of the first order," Speakes told reporters.

"But we feel there is an international indignation being manifested in diplomatic and trade contacts in the region, and perhaps worldwide," he said.

Speakes said the Japanese would take steps "very shortly" in the areas of trade and diplomatic matters aimed at the North Korea. He said Reagan would tell Chun about his discussions on the subject with Nakasone.

Asked whether Reagan had mentioned his own safety in Korea, Speakes replied that he had "never heard the president say a word about it."

But the president's wife, Nancy, was asked about her husband's security in Korea as Air Force One was en route. The first lady, who is known to worry about Reagan's security since he was wounded in an assassination attempt more than two years ago, refused to answer directly. But she paused, looked at reporters and asked: "How do you feel?"

Speakes said the Secret Service "satisfied themselves on his personal safety before they let him go into any situation."

Shultz told reporters that "Korea is a tense place right now" in the aftermath of the Burmese bombing and the KAL incident.

"Obviously we don't want to see a war on the Korean peninsula," Shultz said. "So we want to see restraint. But we also want to see South Korea supported."

"North Korea does seem to be on a campaign to raise tensions to the maximum degree," he said. "But the president will, of course, keep his cool and, at the same time, he is not a person who will be intimidated."

When he visits the DMZ on Sunday, Reagan will meet with U.S. infantrymen. Sixty Americans have been killed along the DMZ since the 1953 armistice.

Ceremonies focus on Beirut, Grenada dead

A wreath was laid on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery and also in Washington, D.C., about 2,000 people, some wearing their medals and remnants of uniforms, attended an observance at the year-old Vietnam Veterans Memorial.

Elliot L. Richardson, a Cabinet member in the Nixon and Ford administrations, read a letter from President Reagan paying tribute to the volunteers who raised the $9 million to erect the stark, black granite monument and to the more than 2 million Americans who fought in "that noble endeavor."

Relatives and friends of the dead left flowers or mementoes at the base or traced the names carved in the slabs as keepsakes. Across Constitution Avenue, refugees from Southeast Asia sold hot dogs, soft drinks and pizza from carts. Every now and then, a man dressed in combat fatigues would stop to exchange greetings quietly with a vendor.

In Atlanta, up to 8,000 people turned out to watch the city's largest Veterans Day parade in "two or three decades," said Jamil El-Shair, spokesman for the Public Safety Department.

He said there was no estimate of those participating in the parade, but "It's easily the largest since before the Vietnam War era."

In Los Angeles, comedian Bob Hope and retired Gen. William C. Westmoreland were among those who saluted Vietnam Veterans on Thursday night at a fund-raiser for a veterans program.

Representatives of Britain, France, Israel, Mexico, Belgium, Italy andithe Philippines were expected at Forest Lawn Memorial Park for a ceremony remembering the sacrifices of servicemen.

In North Carolina, home base of the Marines killed in Lebanon, 700 U.S. Army soldiers returned home from Grenada and 1,800 Marines in amphibious ships steamed toward exercises in Central America.

In a parade in Charlotte, Ronald Thompson bobbed and danced through the crowd, most of his uniform hidden by the big cardboard box he wore like a barrel with a sign proclaiming: "I did it before and I'll do it again — Vietnam Vet."

Spectators and marchers shivered in wind-driven sleet in Indianapolis, while in Dyer in northwest Indiana, a barbershop quartet group shipped homemade cookies and small gifts to the servicemen in Lebanon.

In Chicago, veterans raised a flag to Vietnam's prisoners of war and those missing in action. The flag, reading "You are not forgotten," depicts a captive soldier.

About 2,000 present and former servicemen marched down New York's Fifth Avenue to Madison Square Park. As a bell tolled from a nearby building, Taps was sounded and a three-volley rifle salute fired.

Mayor Edward Koch and the marchers were greeted warmly by those along the curb — no more than one-deep and only a handful on some blocks — and by hundreds more in office windows. Confetti was tossed from one building at 34th Street.

William J. Ahearn Jr., county commander of the Legion, deplored the low turnout. "They should be more concerned about veterans, because the democracy we have today, these are the men who made this democracy."

Veteran Nicholas Ameprano, 86, carrying a flintlock rifle, had tears in his eyes when he said, "Everyone in the United States should be here today."

Agreement resumes government's cash flow

Hatfield said that just over two weeks ago the president signed a domestic spending bill that was $4 billion more than Reagan had requested. Hatfield said this was not the time to come back asking for more.

The other major issue facing the conferees was setting a level for foreign aid. That was resolved by settling on a overall figure of about $11.5 billion, which is about between what the House had sought and the administration requested.

The Senate met through Thursday night and into Friday morning gutting the measure the House had sent it and attaching almost 50 amendments before acting, by voice vote, four hours after the midnight Thursday deadline to send its version of the emergency legislation to the conference.

The Senate, however, did join the House in agreeing to an amendment to the stopgap spending bill that would ban funding for abortions under federal employees' health plans except when the mother's life is endangered.

On its second try of the week, the House passed its version of the measure Thursday, 224-189, including the nearly $1 billion worth of additional domestic spending.

On Tuesday, Democratic freshmen — trying to draw attention to budget deficits and force action on a tax bill — rebelled against their leaders and helped defeat the spending measure, 206-203.

Delay in enacting a new bill, necessary to replace an existing measure that expired at midnight Thursday, could create problems for the affected agencies.

Under a Justice Department ruling made during the Carter administration, federal agencies must cease all functions — except those directly related to health, safety and national defense — when their appropriations lapse.

So far, eight of the 13 regular annual appropriations bills have passed both houses of Congress and been signed into law. Those still awaiting action provide money for the operations of the departments of defense, state, justice, commerce, treasury and agriculture, as well as the Postal Service and a variety of smaller agencies.

CRMWD board of directors approve budget for 1984

BIG SPRING — A 1984 budget slightly under this year was approved recently by directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Expenditures of $11,735,331 in the new budget are $35,459 or 0.3 of 1 percent under this year's budget. This unusual decline results from power cost estimates which did not materialize in 1983 as anticipated.

It is expected in the 1984 budget that electric energy — the primary cost item for operations — will be $5,832,122, which is $254,507 less than budgeted for this year when power companies projected a higher fuel adjustment than was the case.

Power companies now are considering a request for a base rate increase. O.H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager, told the board that a 25 percent increase in base rate had been calculated into 1984 power projections, plus some fuel adjustment and a small amount for contingencies. This would come out to about 16 percent more than the actual energy costs for 1983.

Of the total budget, $8,206,729 will go for operations, down about $65,000 from this year's budget. Pumping expense accounts for $6,448,854 of operations, about $244,000 less than this year. Source of supply expense is pegged at $912,592, up $50,000; administrative and general $690,382, up $94,000 due to addition of an engineer to the staff and some $61,000 more employee benefits mainly in higher medical protection; recreation $154,901, up $14,000 due to more labor and capital equipment.

Debt service, after interest earnings on trust funds are deducted, will cost $1,800,149, or $9,000 less than provided for this year. Required bond coverage will be virtually the same at $270,022. Directors also included $1,458,431 for helping provide additional water facilities in view of probable Winkler County ground water developments and initial work when the Stacy reservoir permit is cleared.

Revenues of $11,645,331 from sale of about the same volume of water as this year, plus $90,000 from recreation permits and leases, will be down from this year's estimates. There will be a slight shift in the source of revenues because Midland, under terms of a rate contract, will be catching up to the Odessa 1983 rate.

Professional interpreters are being provided by the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, Big Spring. Special rate tickets at $3 each will be available for the 8 p.m. performance.

The theater encourages area deaf and hearing impaired residents to take part in this event.

Cambodian adjusts to America

Cheang's father had been sent to a work camp by the Khmer Rouge in 1975.

Lim and his wife were reunited in a refugee camp near Phnom Penh in 1979 and made their way through the rain forests to a Thai refugee camp. The Thais helped them leave the country for the United States in 1980, but refused to let them search for the child.

The hunt was renewed when the couple met Mrs. Dowies through language classes First Baptist Church was teaching the refugees.

Mrs. Dowies said the family located the boy through the relative who had placed him in the orphanage.

They wrote to him. He replied, usually in Thai, sometimes in broken English with someone else's help, Miss Vang said.

"Hullo mother," one letter said. "How..are you? I am find. I want to go to USA very first. Please mother help me. I want to see mother. Please mother answer my letter very first. See you soon. I love mother very much."

Bureaucratic red tape kept the child in Thailand 1½ years after the family met Mrs. Dowies. But the church worker said his immigration was finally expedited by Theresa Irwin, a staff worker in Tower's office.

"He just kept slipping through the net," Mrs. Dowies said. "I wonder how many other children are in this situation. But I'm so happy for this one."

Jury aquits police officers

During summation Friday morning, Evans pointed out that the charges against his clients had been dropped for lack of sufficient evidence.

He also noted Municipal Court Clerk Jean Jones' testimony that officer Holder had told her the Garcias were arrested "because there was nothing better to do at the time."

"Citizens of the United States have the right to be free of excessive force and the right to be free of being arrested when they've committed no crime," said Evans.

In his summation, co-defense counsel Mark Withrow noted all the conflicting testimony in the trial and argued:

"Five people can see the same event and (give) five different versions of it. But not like this case. These officers put their lives on the line for individuals who lied under oath. If an officer is going to beat up a prisoner, it's not going to be done in public."

After the jury returned the innocent verdict and left the courtroom, U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton heard allegations that Evans had improperly contacted a defendant prior to the trial — a violation of legal ethics.

In finding against Evans, who apologized to the court, Bunton admonished him on the record and said if it happened again, he would no longer be allowed to practice in Bunton's judicial district.

Members of the local bar association grievance committee were present during the hearing, but it is not known if any action will be taken against Evans.

CRMWD expenses less than expected

BIG SPRING — Revenues were close to estimates but expenses fell under projections for the Colorado River Municipal Water District in October.

Revenues were $964,000 of which $784,344 came in sales of water to municipalities and $106,565 to oil companies. For the first 10 months of the year, revenues totaled $10,876,008.

October expenses amounted to $521,564, of which $461,811 went for operations. The prime expense was $325,434 for electric power. For the 10 months, power costs were $4,063,484, whereas the budget estimate was $5,072,390 for the period because projections were based on much higher fuel adjustments to the rate then materialized.

Revenues resulted mostly from sale of 1,313,076,786 gallons of water, of which 1,177,271,600 gallons went to the cities. Of total deliveries, 846,961,016 gallons came from Lakes Thomas and Spence, or 64.50 percent compared with 74.71 percent for the 10 months. Ward County wells supplied 28.90 percent of the water in October, compared to 17.47 percent for the first 10 months. But wells are now being given a winter rest.

Late October inflows increased Lake Thomas slightly to 39,000 acre feet and Lake Spence to 266,410 acre feet.

Japanese study 'ocean city'

TOKYO (AP) - Japanese constricted by the reality of the nation's high land costs can now dream of finding elbow room on the world's largest houseboat.

A group of 18 leading Japanese industrialists has launched a study on a $129-billion project to construct an "ocean communications city" with a population of 1 million, the group's acting director said.

Kiyohide Terai, a special adviser to the government-owned Nippon Telegram and Telephone Public Corp. (NTT), said the first meeting of the group was held recently to discuss the project that includes the building of the four-story deck, each 269,106 square feet, in the open sea.

Terai said he first came up with the idea when he was a professor of Oceanography at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology from 1971 to 1981. "Our aim is to provide Japanese with cheaper occupancy to counter the astronomical cost of land."

A small home on an average 1,076 square feet of land an hour from downtown Tokyo costs the equivalent of about $200,000.

Under the master plan, an international airport operating 24 hours a day will be built on the top deck while housing, high technology-oriented factories, roads and recreational areas will be located in the lower decks, Terai said.

The group will hold 12 meetings over a three-year period until 1986, when it will set up a corporation as the parent body of the development, he said.

"We must consider international laws and other laws concerning dwellers on the ocean when such a man-made island is built," he said.

The first ocean city may be constructed near Tokyo and will have communication links with the Japanese main islands and other cities in the world by a futuristic information network system (INS).

The INS is a concept that NTT is developing to replace the conventional analog telephone network with digital switching and optical fiber transmission systems.

In order to support the four-story platform, 10,000 steel pillars would be placed on the sea bottom, with a "buoyancy adjustment pipe" being installed on the pillars 66 feet above sea level for weight balance, he said.

Terai said a flexible "pressure sensor" would be implanted at the foot of the pillars so the structure can withstand major earthquakes.

The project calls for an investment of 30 trillion yen ($129 billion). He said 60 million metric tons of steel will be used for building the basic structure, costing 15 trillion yen ($64.5 billion). The rest will be used to construct the city.

After the three-year study, the group will make public a model plan.

Terai said that the ocean city can be built by the time Britain's lease on most of Hong Kong expires in 1997.

"By the 21st century, six or more ocean cities will appear in the world," he predicted.

Minnesota tops in environmental protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state of Minnesota is doing the best job of protecting the environment while Alabama is making the worst effort, according to state-by-state rankings by a national conservation group.

The Conservation Foundation released its rankings as part of a national report on environmental quality efforts.

The group was critical of Reagan administration efforts to reduce federal regulation, but it also said complex state and federal laws cause confusion.

Some states are responding by setting up expert teams to help evaluate projects and problems, and special services to help industries meet the permit and review requirements of various bodies, it said.

Miss Liberty Belle once again graces bomber

GRISSOM AIR FORCE BASE, Ind. (AP) — Voluptuous Miss Liberty Belle again graces the nose of a vintage World War II Flying Fortress here.

She's painted in full color, affectionately termed "nose art," as part of the restoration of a B-17 bomber by the Heritage Museum Foundation. The foundation is a group of local military and civilian history buffs who are gradually restoring planes at the base's museum.

"When this plane flew in, it was in no shape to be flying," said Noel Buckner of Kokomo, a member of the foundation.

Foundation members decided to restore the plane as the Liberty Belle, a B-17 that bombed Germany in World War II. The plane, purchased with war bonds of Philadelphia residents, was based in Dover, England. No one knows where the original Liberty Belle is today.

But the B-17's restoration couldn't be complete without Miss Liberty Belle, the re-creation of a World War II pinup girl that was popular with airmen then and was featured on that plane. Perched on the famous bell, with a red, white and blue hat dangling from her foot to symbolize the famous "hat in the ring," she was a favorite among bomber crews.

Death ends baby Ashley's fight for liver transplant

Greg Gossett

FORT WORTH (AP) — Fourteen-month-old Ashley Bailey died Friday, ending a fight for a liver transplant that was aided by President Reagan and friends who raised more than $100,000 in bake sales and baseball games.

The blond, blue-eyed girl from the West Texas town of Clyde died at about 10 a.m. after a 10-month search for a donor liver, officials at Cook Children's Hospital said.

Ashley suffered from biliary atresia, an incurable disease that hardens the liver. She had been in and out of hospitals since May, and despite a plea broadcast nationwide by Reagan, no suitable liver donor was found.

Since she was 4 months old, her parents lived in hospital waiting rooms in Texas and Minnesota. Annette Bailey Gossett, 21, wore a telephone beeper and her 24-year-old husband, Greg, wore a cap emblazoned with Ashley's name so they would be easily found in the event of a development.

Gossett said he hoped attention drawn to his daughter's case would help other parents find livers for their children.

"Hopefully, some other family won't have to go through what we've gone through," Gossett said Friday at a news conference, his eyes filling with tears.

"Some kind of public awareness has got to come from this because that's why Ashley is no longer with us. I don't want to see somebody else go through this because it's pain — pure pain," he said.

Ashley's parents were summoned to the hospital about 2:15 a.m. as her condition worsened. "She reached up and grabbed my cap and pulled it down over her face," Gossett said. "We all knew it was going to happen but we just kept thinking it can't happen today."

Dr. Robert Squires, Ashley's physician, said an autopsy would be performed but it appeared she died from the deterioration of her liver.

U.S. Marines donated blood for Ashley, and Texas Gov. Mark White established a special coordinating committee to facilitate organ transplants and appealed for contributions to a fund for the child in Abilene. Texas House Speaker Gib Lewis of Fort Worth sponsored legislation granting $41,000 toward the operation and the federal government donated another $51,000.

White sent a telegram to Ashley's parents saying, "Please accept my deepest sympathy in your time of grief. I had hoped that the efforts of so many Texans and other Americans on Ashley's behalf would have succeeded in locating an appropriate liver donor. Ashley touched the hearts and sympathies of many people. You and your family are in my prayers."

Ashley's grandfather, Leo Bailey, said Friday that funds remaining from the donations the family had received would be turned over to the Children's Liver Association in Terrell, Texas.

Ashley, who weighed less than 15 pounds most of her life, was readmitted to Cook Children's Hospital on Nov. 2. She had been released and lived with her parents fewer than five days before being readmitted, said Janie Harper, a hospital spokeswoman.

Cook from Amoco boat found alive

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Divers searching the hull of a sunken oil rig crew boat found the boat's cook alive Friday, huddled in an air pocket of the partially submerged vessel, the boat's owners said.

Officials at Citizens Memorial Hospital in Victoria identified the man as Hayes Bonivillian and said the man was alert and in stable condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Five other crewmen still are missing, but Robert Schmidt, Gulf International executive vice president, said divers were searching the hull again in hopes other survivors might be found in other air pockets. He said a search also was under way by both the company and the Coast Guard for a life raft missing from the boat.

"The fact that one lifeboat is missing is a good sign," Schmidt said.

The Coast Guard had six planes and a cutter searching the Gulf of Mexico Friday afternoon for the missing life raft. Coast Guard officials said they would continue searching until dark and would resume Saturday morning if necessary.

The entire crew had been reported missing after the Laverne Herbert sank Thursday in about 60 feet of water about 10 miles off the coast of Matagorda Island, Coast Guard Lt. Cmdr. James Brokenik said.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the boat was "down to the stern in the water, only the bow is sticking up."

It had been dispatched from Port O'Connor to answer a call from an Amoco oil rig whose crew reported that the rig was shifting. The rig lost radio contact with the vessel Wednesday night.

"The crew cook told divers that he had been asleep just prior to the boat capsizing. He said the crew woke him up and said the rest of the crew was abandoning ship, but he got trapped inside," Schmidt said.

Divers found the cook around noon Friday, during a second search of the sunken hull. A preliminary search Thursday had not turned up any crewmen or bodies.

Schmidt said company officials had flown to the Texas hospital where the rescued cook was under observation, and wanted to interview the man about the cause of the accident before the crewman made statements to reporters.

He said the crewman's wife and father in Houma, La., had been notified and "expressed a great sense of relief."

The missing lifeboat was self-inflatable, Schmidt said, so it was not yet clear whether the boat automatically inflated and drifted away or was used by the fleeing crewmen.

Brokenick said it had not been determined why the crew boat sank.

The K.C. Choust, a seismographic vessel, spotted the sinking crew boat and Coast Guard officials were contacted at 7:58 a.m. Thursday, Brokenik said.

Schmidt said crewmen on the seismographic vessel first at the scene Thursday had spotted one crew member in the water and attempted to pull up beside him, but "he slipped from their grasp and did not resurface."

Schmidt said none of the five crewmen who are still missing are from Texas.

Seven charged with arson

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston policeman and a former Houston Oilers assistant general manager were among seven people charged with arson Friday in connection with a movie theater fire.

Officer Roland E. English, a 28-year veteran of the Houston Police Department, and Thomas E. Williams Sr., formerly with the Houston Oilers, were indicted by a Harris County grand jury and accused of setting up the fire last month at the Paris Adult Theater.

Also charged with arson were Raymond M. Brock, 63, of Baytown; Lionel Keith Lane, 22; Edmond A. Eldridge, 28; Clifford L. DeShazon, 22; and Jerry Jennings, 34.

Assistant District Attorney Ted Wilson said the fire apparently was set because the theater refused to use members of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Operators to run the projection machine at the theater.

Father asks son not be tried

EL PASO (AP) — The district attorney's office here says trial will begin Monday as scheduled for a 21-year-old El Paso man charged with stabbing his mother to death, despite pleas from the defendant's father that he not be prosecuted.

In a letter to District Attorney Steve Simmons Thursday, Mark Miles asked that his son, Michael, not be tried for the Oct. 8, 1982, slaying of his wife.

Miles, the former general manager of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce, said his son is not competent to stand trial and promised to place him in a mental institution if trial is waived.

Amerasian boy becomes citizen

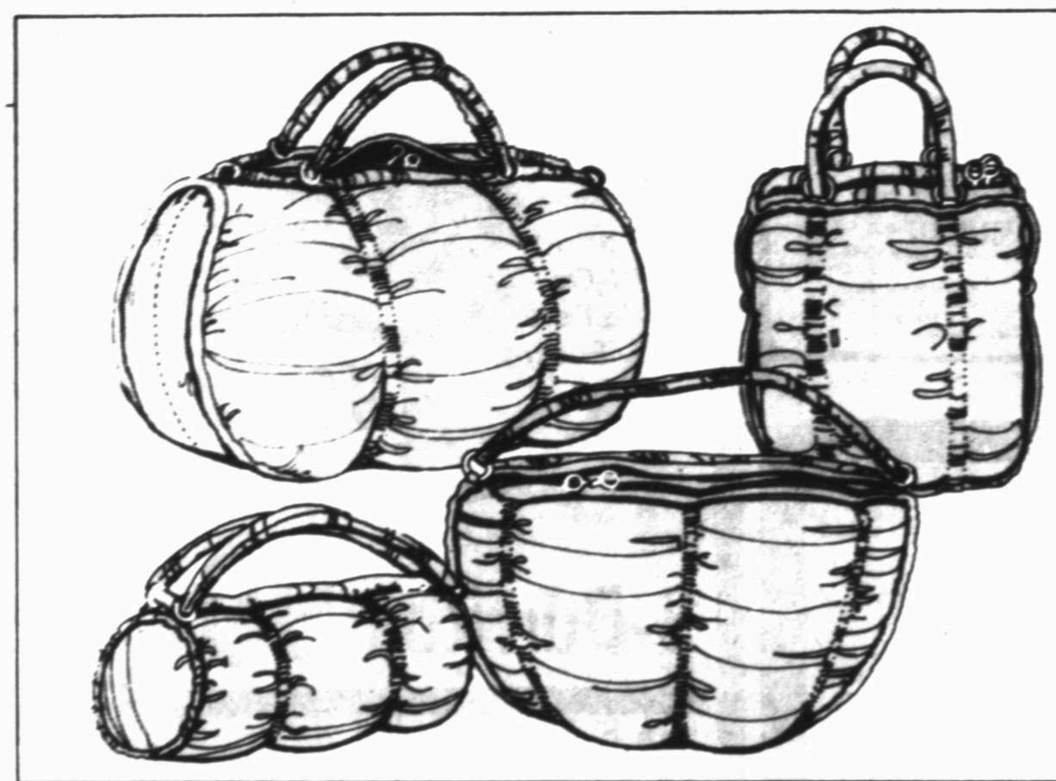

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A 3½ year-old Amerasian boy featured on the cover of Parade Magazine as "the boy with 40 grandpas" has become a United States citizen.

Weldon Howard Jackson Jr., born in South Korea to an American soldier and a Korean woman was abandoned at the Army's Fort Hood in Killeen and wound up at a Temple nursing home, where residents — 40 foster grandfathers and four foster grandmothers — lavished him with love.

The child's application for citizenship was processed by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service office here.

University students cancel mock black mass

NEW YORK (AP) — A group of Columbia University students canceled Friday their annual mock Satanic black mass, including the sacrifice of a "virgin," after three women took their opposition to court.

The student group, M&M Productions, canceled the performance scheduled for Friday night in "a mutual agreement" with Columbia administrators that it was "too hot an issue" and "too many people were offended," said engineering student Chris Niechwiadowicz.

Opponents of the ritual, who protested it on campus last week after it was postponed due to poor weather, had described it as featuring a group of black-robed men "killing" a white-robed woman with spears and then smearing her blood.

Niechwiadowicz said the event was "a theatrical production replicating either the medieval Druid sacrifices or the modern black mass" with "no smearing of blood or anything grotesque like that."

The ritual has been performed around Halloween for the past five years and this year the student group had decided — before the protests — to "sacrifice" a man as the symbolic virgin, he said.

"Substituting one body for another...does not alter its significance as the legitimation of violence," said Jane Bennett, a Columbia graduate student who protested against the event.

Three women sued in state Supreme Court this week to stop the ritual. Justice Jawn Sandifer rejected their request for a restraining order but scheduled a hearing on the issue for next week, said one of the women, feminist author Barbara Seaman.

"It's disgusting," Ms. Seaman said of the ceremony. "I do believe it encourages violence against women."

The ritual was to have been performed at the Sundial, in the heart of Columbia's Morningside Heights campus.

Parents ask court to allow son to die

MIAMI (AP) — The divorced parents of a 15-year-old boy thrown into a "chronic vegetative state" by a stroke of lightning have asked a judge to allow their son to die.

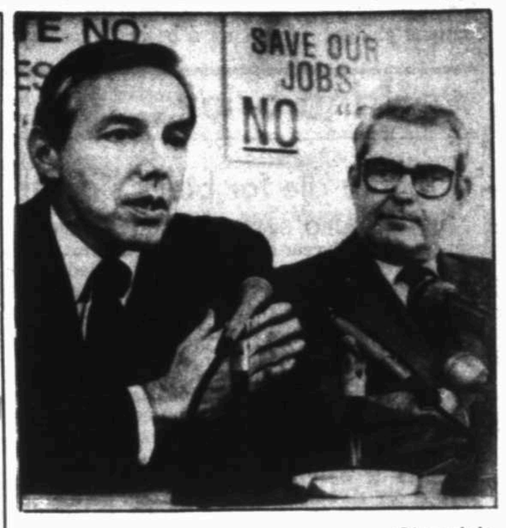

Michael Ismer of Key Largo has been semi-conscious since Aug. 12 when lightning struck a sailboat he and a friend had anchored to wait out a thunderstorm.

Though he is not in a coma, his eyes stare vacantly and he doesn't respond to stimuli. Martin Menkin, one of the boy's neurologists, described the 10th-grader's condition as a "chronic vegetative state," and doctors say he could linger like that for years.

"There is zero chance of recovery," his father, Broward County Sheriff's Lt. William Ismer, told Dade County Circuit Judge Edmund Newbold.

He joined his ex-wife, Vicki Ismer, in asking the court to authorize doctors at James Archer Smith Hospital in nearby Homestead to abstain from extraordinary measures to prolong Michael's life.

Hospital attorney Raymond Reiser said doctors want the protection of a court ruling because Michael is a minor, not in a coma and the long-term prognosis is uncertain.

Harvard University Professor Ernest May, left and Joseph O'Connor, vice-president of Draper Laboratories in Cambridge, Mass., speak out for citizens opposed to a referendum making it a crime to work on nuclear weapins in the city limits.

Residents vote against nuclear weapons ban

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Voters have soundly defeated a referendum that would have outlawed nuclear weapons work in this university city, but its sponsors said Friday they made "a very bold statement" and vowed to try again.

With about 90 percent of the paper ballots from Tuesday's election counted, election officials said the referendum had been defeated by about 59 percent to 41 percent.

The vote stood at 14,848 against the referendum and 10,393 for the measure with 49 of 55 precincts counted. The final count, slowed by the city's use of paper ballots, was expected today.

"We are very pleased," said Joseph O'Connor, a vice president of Draper Laboratory, a Cambridge defense contractor that designs guidance systems for nuclear missiles. "It was a very hard campaign with a lot of emotion."

"WE CAME close to winning, so we actually feel pretty good today," said Rich Schreuer, an organizer at Mobilization for Survival, which led the initiative. "The fact that it really was close really means people are losing faith in the government's efforts to end the arms race."

The campaign to declare Cambridge a "nuclear-free zone" began more than a year ago after hundreds of small communities adopted the idea in Europe, the Pacific basin and the United States. It would have made it illegal to perform research or other work on nuclear arms.

The Cambridge effort drew special attention because of the weapons work done in the city and because it raised passionate controversy in the hometown of Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The opposition was led by an ad-hoc group called Citizens Against Research Bans — CARB — funded by Draper, the local Chamber of Commerce and large defense contractors. It up drew support from local business and labor leaders as well as professors from Harvard and MIT, including Nobel laureate Samuel C.C. Ting.

They argued that the proposed local ordinance would have cost the city thousands of jobs and would have made it a crime to even think about nuclear weapons.

THE KEY section stated: "No person, corporation, university, laboratory, institution or other entity shall, within the City of Cambridge, engage in work the purpose of which is the research, development, testing, evaluation, production, maintenance, storage, transportation, and-or disposal of nuclear weapons or the components of nuclear weapons."

If passed, it would have taken effect in October 1985 and would have provided fines or jail terms for violators.

Supporters defended the measure as a logical extension of the nuclear freeze movement — a legal and practical way for ordinary citizens to influence the superpower arms race.

"There was only one issue that got to us," Schreuer said. "That was the jobs issue. The opposition used emotional scare tactics, saying 70 companies would leave Cambridge — that was just a farce."

Harvard biologist George Wald, a Nobel laureate who supported Mobilization, said the arguments about research and academic freedom were misleading.

"I THINK that no professional politician would have dared to run as disinformational or deceitful a campaign as CARB," Wald said. "The only research affected by this was research and development on nuclear weapons. All allegations to the contrary were calculated misinformation."

His Harvard colleague, historian Ernest May, who chaired the Citizens Against Research Bans, disagreed, saying, "I don't think anything justifies a ban on thinking."

Harvard President Derek Bok and MIT President Paul Gray both opposed the referendum, emphasizing their concern about the law's impact on freedom of academic inquiry. Both schools have formal policies rejecting classified military research.

As for Mobilization, Schreuer said it would push the referendum again in two years, with slightly different wording.

"If I were Draper labs, I'd be worried," he said.

Nicaragua leader claims U.S. will lead invasion

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Nicaragua's leftist leader said here Friday the United States is planning to invade his country soon with the help of other Central American nations.

The accusation coincided with a report that El Salvador, Guatemala, Panama and Honduras were discussing the legality of intervention.

Daniel Ortega, coordinator of Nicaragua's Marxist junta, told Venezuelan President Luis Herrera Campins that the United States was provoking all the "counter-revolutionary" forces in Central America to invade Nicaragua shortly.

"The invasion could come from Honduras. The dictatorship in that country is ready to compromise its people in a war with Nicaragua," Ortega told reporters. He said he and Herrera "spoke frankly of the real possibility of a U.S. invasion, and agreed that this would be a serious mistake."

"Nicaragua is already encircled militarily. There is pressure from neighbors on all sides. There is a concentration of 5,000 troops in Honduras. The U.S. needs only a pretext to invade," Ortega said.

Ortega's fears clearly have been fueled by the Oct. 25 U.S. invasion of Marxist-ruled Grenada, the Caribbean island 1,500 miles east of Nicaragua.

Venezuela is a member of the Contadora Group of four nations pledged to seeking a peaceful resolution of the Central American crisis. The other members are Mexico, which Ortega visited Thursday night, and Colombia and Panama, which he is expected to visit shortly.

U.S. Navy warships have been deployed off Central America's coasts since June and some 3,500 U.S. troops have been holding joint land exercises in Honduras since Aug. 5. The maneuvers are expected to last until March.

The Pentagon also has announced that 800 U.S. Marines will join about 530 Honduran infantrymen in a seven-day amphibious landing exercise on the Honduran coast Nov. 18.

The New York Times reported Friday that the military chiefs from El Salvador, Guatemala, Panama and Honduras were considering whether it would be legal to undertake a joint military action Nicaragua, with logistical support from the United States.

"In case of extreme crisis, direct participation by the United States, with all its resources," would be called upon, the chiefs' recommendations said, the Times reported.

The military leaders believe "a war situation is predictable" because of support of "subversive groups" in the region by the Soviet Union and its allies, and there is "an urgent need" for Central American and Caribbean countries "to join forces and take actions aimed at guaranteeing the security and stability of the region," the Times said.

The recommendation reportedly was agreed upon by the chiefs at a secret meeting Oct. 22-23 in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, of the Central American Defense Council, an anti-communist organization founded with U.S. support in 1963 which was recently revived.

CONDECA, as the organization is known, had been inactive since a brief 1969 border war between Honduras and El Salvador. Nicaragua, a founding member, was not invited to the Tegucigalpa meeting or to an earlier one in Guatemala City attended by Lt. Gen. Paul Gorman, chief of the U.S. Southern Command in Panama.

Rebel exiles of the Nicaraguan Democratic Force, based in Honduras and backed by the CIA, and from the Revolutionary Democratic Alliance, based in Costa Rica, have been intensifying attacks in Nicaragua.

White to die for black's death

PIETERSBURG, South Africa (AP) — A court sentenced a 21-year-old white man to death Friday and ordered his younger brother jailed for 12 years for the murder of three black men. The convicted men said they had shot the blacks in revenge for a sexual assault years ago on their mother by a black man.

Justice H. Grosskopf sentenced Pieter Willem de Beer to death and gave Zacharias Hendrik de Beer, 19, a total of 46 years on several counts. Because some of the terms will run concurrently, Zacharias will serve 12 years.

Pieter de Beer told the judge he harbored a hatred for all blacks after being told his mother, who is now dead, was once sexually assaulted by a black.

U.S. shrimp boats detained

TAMPICO, Mexico (AP) — The Mexican navy says the coast guard detained three American shrimp boats and arrested their crews for fishing illegally in Mexican waters.

The three boatswere registered in Port Isabel near Brownsville, the navy said.

It said the captain and four crewmen from each boat were brought to this port on the Gulf of Mexico on Thursday and are being held pending an investigation. The statement did not identify the crewmen.

Pope appeals to lapsed Catholics

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II on Friday appealed for an effort to bring non-practicing Roman Catholics back into the church.

John Paul, in his comments to members of the Australian Episcopal Conference, said "Needless to say, in the pastoral spirit of our episcopal office we must show a special interest in lapsed Catholics."

A Vatican source said the issue of Catholics who no longer actively practice the faith is "a serious problem throughout the world." Church officials say they have no precise figures on the number of lapsed Catholics but they say regular weekly attendance at Mass has dropped dramatically in the last two decades.

Few Jews left U.S.S.R. last month

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The Intergovernmental Committee for Migration said Friday that 91 Jews were allowed to emigrate from the Soviet Union in October — one of the lowest monthly totals.

During the first 10 months of 1983, the committee registered a total of 1,166 Jewish emigrants from the Soviet Union, compared with 2,700 last year and an all-time high of 51,330 in 1979.

Soviet emigration dropped dramatically after the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan in December 1979, which put an end to a thaw in East-West relations.

Afghans go on hunger strike

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — About three dozen Afghan men, women and children began a 24-hour hunger strike Friday outside New Delhi's Soviet Cultural Center to protest the alleged use of chemical weapons by Soviet troops in their homeland.

Glenda Jackson will be teaching college acting

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Academy Award-winning actress Glenda Jackson will teach acting to 14 carefully chosen students this summer at Scranton University, university officials said Friday.

Miss Jackson, who received an honorary degree in 1981 from the Jesuit university, will begin the five-week course July 23.

"The students in New York have a lot of opportunity to study with first-class actors, but we don't get that out here in the boondocks," said William Zahler, associate professor of English.

Miss Jackson is a close friend of one of the university's teachers, the Rev. John Quinn, and approached him last year about teaching a summer course, Zahler said.

Miss Jackson won an Oscar for leading actress in "A Touch of Class" in 1973 and in "Women in Love" in 1970.

MIAMI (AP) — Eastern Airlines Chairman Frank Borman is defending the sale of nearly half of his shares of Eastern common stock as necessary for personal reasons.

He sold the stock in the financially troubled carrier in August at the same time Eastern was offering $75 million in stocks and warrants.

"I'm not going to do anything around here that even smacks of being improper," Borman said Thursday. He said he needed to raise more than $40,000 to place his mother-in-law in a retirement home.

The 7,538 shares were sold at between $6.87 and $7 a share, according to The Insiders, a Fort Lauderdale-based investment newsletter that relies on filings at the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington for information.

That left Borman with 9,131 shares, SEC records show.

In September, as part of a campaign to win pay cuts from Eastern workers, Borman cut his own pay from an annual salary of $330,000 to $1 a month. He demanded 15 percent wage cuts from his employees in September and threatened to file for bankruptcy if they did not agree to the concessions.

The carrier lost $128.9 million in the first three quarters of 1983.

Eastern stock closed Thursday at $5.37½.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Actor Sylvester Stallone, who has portrayed fighter Rocky Balboa in several "Rocky" movies, watched the Hagler-Duran title fight with about 2,800 other fans via closed circuit television.

He sat in the middle of the crowd Thursday night surrounded by an entourage that included several police officers and refused interviews while Marvin Hagler won a 15-round unanimous decision over Roberto Duran in Las Vegas.

Stallone is filming the movie "Rhinestone" with Dolly Parton in nearby Franklin, Tenn.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and husband Prince Philip laid a wreath Friday at the tomb of Jomo Kenyatta, the founder of independent Kenya whom the British detained during the colonial era.

Hundreds of Kenyans lined the streets outside the National Assembly building to see the royal couple on the second day of a five-day state visit to the East African nation.

They later placed a floral wreath in a Remembrance Day ceremony at the Commonwealth War Cemetery on the outskirts of Nairobi.

Caped crusader fails to save landmark theater

HALEIWA, Hawaii (AP) — A crusader in pink cape, raspberry-colored tights and a fighter-pilot's helmet says "I knew I was right" in trying to save a landmark theater, which nonetheless collapsed under the wrecker's ball to make room for a McDonald's restaurant.

"Captain Haleiwa," as 34-year-old Richard Rogers styles himself, held a demolition crew at bay Thursday while perching on the roof of the three-story Haleiwa Theater in a last, futile effort to save a bit of this Oahu community's history.

Cheered by dozens of spectators, he surrendered only after a police helicopter dropped an officer on the theater roof and a fire ladder was hoisted to bring him to the ground.

"I knew what they were going to do was wrong. The law was circumvented, ignored. I knew I was right," said Rogers, free on $200 bail after his arrest for trespassing and disorderly conduct.

Rogers is president of Save The Haleiwa Theater Foundation, a group created Sept. 19 to fight an attempt by property owner and developer Lee Martin to tear down the 52-year-old theater so he could sell the property to the McDonald's fast-food chain. McDonald's has denied it demanded the demolition as a condition of the sale.

As the theater lay in ruins late Thursday, foundation officials threatened lawsuits, accusing the city and county of failing to uphold building laws in a historic district and of giving in to the developer.

When alerted early Thursday that a demolition crew was beginning work on the theater, Rogers, who is part-owner of a surf-and-dive shop in Haleiwa, donned his bizarre costume and made his approach to the building from the rear so he wouldn't be seen.

"I climbed to the top and poured motor oil on the ladders to keep anyone from following me to the roof. I closed off all the routes up," said Rogers, a flight instructor who served as an underwater demolitions expert in the Vietnam War.

While on the roof, Rogers waved a long stick studded with nails but said it was not meant as a weapon.

"When they (demolition workers) saw me, they stopped work," he said. "I was there quite a while when they came in with the helicopter and put an officer on the roof. He asked me what I wanted and I told him there were two things I wanted to see."

One was a court order saying the demolition work could continue, and the other was authorization from the City's Department of Land Utilization for the work in a special design district, Rogers said. Neither was produced, he said.

After obtaining a building permit Sept. 9, Martin hired a wrecking crew which moved in the following day and began smashing the theater.

Surprised residents immediately notified city officials, and Building Director Roy Tanji revoked Martin's building permit, saying it had been issued in error. Honolulu Mayor Eileen Anderson appeared the following day with a court order to halt the demolition.

In court hearings, city attorneys argued the permit was invalid because the Department of Land Utilization had not approved an exemption for work inside the Interim Haleiwa Historic, Cultural and Scenic Design District.

But courts ruled the permit's validity should be decided by the city Building Board of Appeals, which upheld it last week.

Walter Turner, vice president of the Save The Haliewa Theater Foundation, said, "We have an ordinance that the city-county has chosen to not uphold. It is very clear that the city-county was liable for some large damages if it stopped the demolition," because it had issued the building permit in error, Turner said.

He said the group would try to identify those responsible and "sue them to repay our community for what we have lost."

Laura Bolles, a member of the North Shore Neighborhood Board, said residents fought for seven years to get approval of the special design district aimed at protecting existing structures and controlling new development.

As for Rogers' tactics in fighting the demolition, Ms. Bolles said "each of us has their own way to fight. I had faith in the system and you see what it got me."

Film festival won't be judged

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — There will be no jury or prizes at the 1984 Manila International Film Festival because of the Philippines' economic problems, Imelda Marcos announced Friday.

The announcement from Mrs. Marcos, who founded the lavish festival two years ago, came in a government news release that said judging was scrapped "in line with the president's program of austerity."

The festival is scheduled for January.

Not having competition will save money because the government won't have to pay to fly a jury here or pay for flights and rooms of other foreign guests or for gala parties to entertain them.

Previous festivals included competition among 20 or more films with Golden Eagle awards for best actor, actress, director and film.

Last year's festival brought criticism from President Ferdinand E. Marcos' political opponents for its expense, although Mrs. Marcos said it grossed $5 million in local showings, some of which was donated to social programs.

But Mrs. Marcos came under attack from Roman Catholic Cardinal Jaime L. Sin for showing sex-oriented films from the festival in nearly all of Manila's moviehouses with proceeds going to the festival.

Movie directors said they had been told no pornographic films would be allowed at this year's festival.

Alaskans want time changed

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — Officials of this rainy city in southeast Alaska will meet next week to consider demands that Ketchikan's clock be moved forward an hour.

Many residents are angry that their time was moved back from Pacific Standard Time to Yukon Standard Time when the U.S. Department of Transportation ordered the state to consolidate its four time zones into two on Oct. 30.

The order put 99 percent of the state's population on the same clock — Yukon time — with only the western Aleutians on a different clock. The islands are on Alaska-Hawaii Time.

Many Ketchikan businessmen complain that their commerce is tied to Seattle and it is vital to business that both be on the same clock.

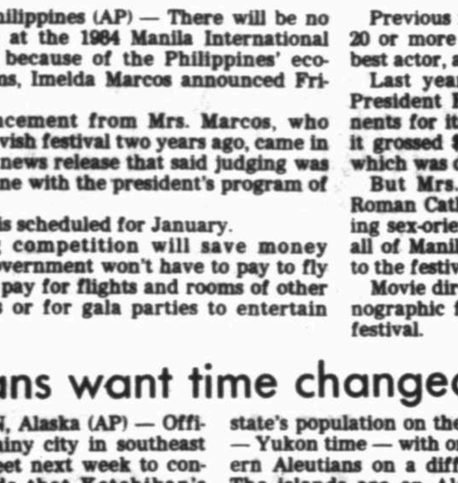

Ann Dale, one of those circulating the petitions, said "I decided to let (people) put their names where their mouths are."

One-man company publishes history books

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Publisher Stan Cohen thinks history should be seen as well as read.

Cohen, 44, is the owner and sole employee of Pictorial Histories Publishing Co. of Missoula. The firm produces large, soft-cover books that are about 90 percent vintage photos and 10 percent text, he said.

"We're well aware that people don't read as much as they used to," Cohen said. "They want to see something fast."

The company has published books like "The Ox, Profile of a Legendary Montana Saloon," "Keystone Battleship, U.S.S. Pennsylvania," and "Pictorial History of Civil War Medical Instruments."

Upcoming titles include "A Pictorial History of Dentistry," which will be mostly about dental equipment, "A Pictorial History of Skiing," and "A Pictorial History of American World Fairs."

Cohen researches and writes many of his own books, digs through archives for photos, and does his own distributing, often from the trunk of his car.

A geologist, Cohen stumbled into publishing in 1975, when he returned to his native West Virginia to finish a book on the Civil War in that state.

He printed the book himself, and then took it around to bookstores.

"I sold about 6,000 copies. It wasn't a good book, but it was a success," Cohen said. "It never crossed my mind to have someone else print it. I wanted to do it all myself."

The success prompted him to write another book. In 1976, he retraced the route of the Klondike Gold Rush from Seattle to Dawson City, Yukon Territory, taking pictures along the way.

"In 1977 I hocked everything and got a loan from the credit union to print 5,000 of those books," Cohen said. "I took it to Alaska and Canada, and it was well-received."

Texas lucky enough to have surplus funds

AUSTIN (AP) — Despite all the recession talk, Texas hung on during two trying years to end up its business period with a "surplus" of $630 million.

"Texas is one of only seven states that had a surplus exceeding 5 percent of its general fund spending in fiscal year 1983," said Denise Urs of the State Comptroller's Office.

"The majority of states had balances of 3 percent or less, including 11 states with deficits and 15 states with balances of 1 percent or less," Ms. Urs said.

Texas' year-end budget balance of $630 million on Aug. 31 this year already had been obligated by the Legislature in financing the 1984-85 balance.

However, the favorable year-end balance helped when Comptroller Bob Bullock predicted on Oct. 18 that Texas would have a $15 million surplus on Aug. 31, 1985, compared with the previous estimate of $36,866 at the end of the special legislative session this summer.

By comparison, California had a 1983 year-end deficit of $855 million and Pennsylvania was in the hole by $235 million.

"The state's explosive economy in the 1970s carried through enough to let the Legislature regroup and write a bare-bones budget for 1984-85," said Ms. Urs' report.

"The effects of the national recession, the fall in oil prices, adverse weather conditions in the state and the drop in the value of the Mexican peso combined to slow economic growth in Texas during fiscal year 1983. State tax collections, particularly from the oil production and sales taxes, were down because of the faltering state economy," the report said.

Since the adoption of the sales tax in 1961, the past year was the first time tax receipts have decreased from the previous year.

Total tax collections were 1.8 percent less in fiscal 1983 than in 1982.

Texas received $2.8 billion from the federal government during fiscal 1983, an increase of $415 million or 17 percent more than in 1982. Welfare, the area of greatest federal aid, received $1.3 billion in 1983, a 20.5 percent increase from 1982. Federal funds for education increased by $177 million to $622 million because of a growing student population. Highways got an extra $57 million for road construction.

'Howdy Doody' subversive, says columnist

RADNOR, Pa. (AP) — Social unrest in the late '60s and early '70s has been blamed on many factors, but a columnist is now suggesting the greatest "subversive" influence may have been the children's TV show, "Howdy Doody."

The 1950s program featuring a smiling, respectful puppet taught an entire generation "never to trust anyone over over 30," wrote columnist Jeff Greenfield in the current issue of TV Guide.

"Howdy Doody represents one of the most authentically subversive TV shows in American history."

Although Howdy Doody told children to mind their parents, the characters sent out another message — grown-ups are bad guys, Greenfield wrote.

"The only more-or-less normal adult who was in any way admirable was 'Buffalo Bob,'

"Almost every other memorable grown-up was either a manipulative, evil schemer... or an unbelievable, pompous bore," he said.

Clarabell the Clown, a character with a penchant for throwing pies and squirting seltzer water at authority figures, was the first Yippie, Greenfield said, recalling the '60s anarchist group.

American English far cry from English

NEW YORK (AP)- In a little more than 300 years, the American language has changed in bulk and flavor since the first colonists brought their native English to our shores, says a lexicographer who has written a new book on the fast-changing language.

Noah Webster, the dean of American dictionary makers, defended the independence of American speech on patriotic grounds, notes Peter Davies, author of "Success With Words." And Thomas Jefferson, whose writings had long been attacked for their American "barbarisms," predicted an American dialect as early as 1816.

"Today's American English is a far cry from that of early settlers and even from that prescribed by H.W. Fowler in his classic volume, 'Modern English Usage,' published in 1926," says Davies, who was editor-in-chief of the "American Heritage Dictionary."

"As far back as the 19th century, a genuinely homegrown American consciousness began to appear," Davies points out. "It found its voice in the 'tall talk' of the backwoods, in the speech of men who bragged they could 'lick their weight in wildcats and chew off the ear of a grizzly.'"

The language of the frontier left a mark on American speech, he explains. Such gambling and card-playing terms as ace-in-the-hole, blue chip, feed the kitty, follow suit, poker face, when the chips are down, are all part of the American vocabulary today.

Americans are now using thousands of words not only from Standard English but from American coinage and from a host of foreign countries, Davies says, citing some examples:

Apartment, baking powder, cocktail, sex appeal and boondoggle are all vintage U.S.A. Others have been adopted from many regional dialects and from many languages: carafe and coffee are Arabic; schlemiel, schlep and shtick are Yiddish; macho is Spanish; quiche, omelet, mayonnaise, decolletage and cologne are French; arcade, balustrade, miniature, piano, cavalier and bandit are from the Italian.

Coming into mainstream American usage from Black English are the terms boss (excellent), to dig (understand), dude (male), fat cat (wealthy person), get with it (usually used as a command), hang loose (to remain relaxed or calm).

Another source of new words is the "blends," where two words are run together to form a third word, such as brunch, guestimate, laundromat and motel.

Female gender words have also changed over the past few years, reports gender-treatment writer Alma Graham. "Many of the -ess words such as patroness and princess are still in use, while others such as Jewess and Negress, which imply inferior status, and words like authoress and poetess are usually avoided," she says. "Stewardess is slowly being replaced by flight attendant, but waitress is still holding firm.

Bureaucrats, politicians, academics, professional groups, business and the military have all contributed to the nation's vocabulary. Bottom line, input, outlay and the ubiquitous "parameters" are in current use along with ballpark figure, bargaining chips, cheap shots and targets of opportunity.

"Vogue words are, in fact, 'instant cliches,' and of course, deplorable," says Eve Kirk, the "vogue words" section writer, who adds that in spite of this "they can also sometimes enrich our vocabulary, enliven our conversation and even extend our perceptions. They are rather like uninvited houseguests: however glad we may be to get rid of them, we may occasionally look back on their visits as having been something less than a total loss."

Former welder sentenced to die for killing men met at gay bars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A former railroad worker has been sentenced to die in the gas chamber for murdering four men he met at gay bars and attempting to kill four others.

Donald Miller, 42, had fought his attorneys' efforts for a life sentence, saying he'd rather be executed than spend life in prison.

In ordering death, Superior Court Judge Gerald J. Levie upheld the Oct. 3 recommendation of the jury that convicted Miller. After the jury verdict, attorney Jay Jaffe said Miller reiterated his innocence but threatened to confess in open court if his lawyers tried to fight the death penalty.

Miller, a former welder for Southern Pacific Railroad, was convicted of using a metal pipe to kill four men between July 1980 and February 1981. They four had last been seen at nightspots frequented by homosexuals or were attacked on leaving such bars.

Soldiers return, others ship out

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Seven hundred U.S. soldiers returned home from Grenada on Friday, while 1,800 Marines in amphibious ships steamed toward exercises in Central America.

The troops of the 1st Battalion, 508th Infantry, 82nd Airborne Division flew into nearby Pope Air Force Base in five C-141 airplanes and were reunited with their families.

About 1,800 Marines and Navy men from the 28th Marine Amphiboous Unit left Camp Lejeune on Thursday for Honduras and a joint military exercise with the Honduran army, officials said.

Potatoes will be donated to needy

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A railroad saddled with 100,000 pounds of spuds because a potato chip factory refused delivery has decided to donate the goods to the needy.

Rather than let the potatoes rot, the Providence & Worcester Railroad offered them to the Rhode Island Community Food Bank, and the potatoes will soon distributed in four states, said Michael Morrill, executive director of the food bank.

Morrill said 20,000 pounds of potatoes will be delivered to soup kitchens and food pantries operated by churches and nonprofit organizations in Rhode Island and within the next few days, the remaining 80,000 pounds will be shipped by truck to Baltimore, Newark, N.J., and Philadelphia.

Complaints get vet decent burial

WASHINGTON (AP) — A deceased veteran was finally laid to rest in a service at a national cemetery, following complaints that the Veterans Administration had buried him in a cardboard coffin.

More than 70 people from area veterans organizations attended burial services Thursday for Albert W. Reynolds, 55, at Quantico National Cemetery. He was buried in a metal casket draped with an American flag.

After officials failed to find any of Reynolds' relatives, they put his body in a cardboard casket and buried him unceremoniously at Quantico with only gravediggers in attendance.

Commuter train, truck collide

PORTAGE, Ind. (AP) — A South Shore commuter train, which runs from South Bend to Chicago, and a truck collided Friday at a crossing, and some injuries were reported, officials said.

As many as 23 people may have been hurt, said a fire dispatcher in Portage, in northwest Indiana. There was no immediate word on the extent of injuries.

Railroad tracks in the area were blocked after the 10:30 a.m. CST accident near the entrance to the Midwest Steel plant.

California doesn't want mansion

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The buyer of California's governor's mansion is offering it to President Reagan as a presidential library and museum since the state doesn't want to lease it back.

Matt Franich, who bid $1.53 million for the mansion, said Thursday that he sent a telegram to Reagan aide Edwin Meese III with the offer.

The mansion, a pet project of Reagan's, was completed in 1975, the year after he left the governor's office. His successor, Edmund G. Brown Jr., refused to move in and last year signed a bill requiring the state to sell it.

UAW wants negotiations to resume

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Negotiators for 5,000 striking United Auto Workers may meet with McDonnell Douglas Corp. representatives as soon as Tuesday, company and union officials say.

Aerospace workers who belong to UAW Local 148 have been on strike at the company's Long Beach-based Douglas Aircraft Co. since Oct. 17, a day after receiving the company's only contract proposal.

The union asked that talks be reopened and N.D. Ingebretsen, McDonnell Douglas vice president of personnel, agreed, Doug Griffith, chairman of Local 148's bargaining committee, said Thursday.

Twin Cities to be job-hunter's haven

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Metropolitan Council predicts that the seven-county Twin Cities area may become a job-hunter's haven with jobs expected to grow faster than population by the year 2000.

The council forecasts a population of 2,260,000 million people in 2000 compared with 1,985,873 in 1980 for a 14 percent increase.

The number of people employed will increase 31 percent over the two decades to 1.4 million in 2000, the council said this week.

New jobs will be found in service industries and in high-technology industries and most will be clerical and blue-collar, said council researcher Vic Ward.

Mayor's campaign accused of being racist

Maurice Ferre

Xavier Suarez

MIAMI (AP) — Miami Mayor Maurice Ferre had called a news conference expecting to get an endorsement from a popular city commissioner. But what the mayor got was accusations of a "racist campaign of hate."

"I will not vote for Maurice Ferre," City Commissioner Joe Carollo said at Thursday's news conference as the mayor, who is seeking a sixth two-year term, sat white-faced and silent.

"What I have seen so far is a campaign that's being run completely on demagoguery and completely on racism and this community is going to blow up if this campaign proceeds in the way it is going," Carollo charged.

Ferre, 48, was forced into a Nov. 15 runoff by Cuban-born Xavier Suarez, who finished 201 votes behind the mayor Tuesday in a six-candidate race which drew 53,000 Miamians to the polls.

"We haven't seen this kind of dirty tricks politics since the Nixon campaign," Ferre said after the news conference backfired.

The mayor, a Puerto Rican, said ethnic issues influence politics "in most cities and Miami is no exception."

Carollo criticized Ferre's plans to bring the black mayors of Atlanta and Gary, Ind., Andrew Young and Richard Hatcher, to Miami to campaign for him, calling them "outsiders." Young will appear at a rally Saturday.

The 28-year-old commissioner played for reporters tapes of Ferre campaign spots on a black-oriented radio station, WEDR. One cited the support of Suarez for President Reagan and said blacks must turn out to vote for Ferre "until President Reagan trembles in the White House."

Suarez is registered as an independent and Ferre is a Democrat who heads the Florida presidential campaign for former Vice President Walter Mondale. The race for mayor is non-partisan.

Carollo's attack on Ferre "just reinforces my belief that we are really in trouble in Miami with what appears to be a Cuban-American takeover," Perry said.

Lee's Motley doubtful for playoff game

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Assistant Sports Editor

LUBBOCK — The only thing Midland Lee's playoff bound Rebels had to wait for today was the sun creeping over the horizon. That means the wait is over. It's time for business.

It's been a long week for the excited Rebels. Today's 1:30 p.m. bi-district date with Amarillo High's Golden Sandies at Jones Stadium ends that wait. "This is what it's all about," said Lee coach Spike Dykes.

It has been a week of ups and downs for Lee. The big downer came in Thursday afternoon's practice session when starting quarterback Jeff Motley had to be helped from the field after reinjuring a knee he hurt in the Midland High game last weekend.

That was news no one wanted to hear with game day so close at hand. For most teams, losing a quarterback can be a crushing blow. Lee figures that the game will go on and are holding the optimistic approach.

"We have to list Jeff as doubtful for the game," said Lee quarterback coach Van Tom Whatley. "We'll be fine without him because we have two kids who have a lot of playing time at quarterback. But what I really hate is the fact that Jeff may have to miss the game. He has worked hard and has helped us get where we are."

It has been a curious season for Motley. He missed Lee's first two games and all of the pre-season workouts with a separated shoulder when he had an accident the week before the start of the August workouts while riding a three-wheeler. He came back and rushed for over 200 yards and threw two touchdown passes for the Rebels after getting his first start against Odessa High. He even scored the first time he carried the ball.

"I can tell you that it wasn't much fun sitting out," Motley said after his return. Now the pain of possibly sitting out the glory moments in Lee football history will hurt a lot worse than the knee.

Backing up Motley is Dennis Matta and John Abbott. Abbott started Lee's first three games, all victories. Matta, who also opened the season with an injury, has come back and rushed for nearly 100 yards in limited duty. Both are scrappers.

But for the most part, Lee has been in a light-hearted mood this week. The team is about as loose as you could expect for a playoff date. The smiles came in waves.

Three of the Rebels with the biggest smiles are defensive tackle Pat Stevens, defensive end-tackle David Jackson and defensive tackle Carlos Ortega. All three are transfer students to Lee this year and all three came from teams who are missing out on the playoff experience this year.

Stevens, a senior transfer from South Houston, said, "My old team finished third and didn't make the playoffs. It sure feels good to be a part of this. I still wanted South Houston to make the playoffs though."

Jackson, a senior transfer from Gainesville, said, "Gainesville came close, but didn't make it to the playoffs. I've really enjoyed playing here."

Ortega played as a sophomore at Big Spring and then dropped out of football for a year. He was not eligible to play for Lee until the fourth game of the season due to a transfer ruling by the District 4-5A Executive Committee.

"I missed playing in the early part of the season, but this is great. I could make up those lost games in the playoffs," Ortega said.

But leave it to starting defensive end Eddie Kittle to come up with the quote of the week. "You know this is the first time that a Midland Lee team has ever been the home team in a good stadium," he said.

Don't tell Kittle, but Midland, if it wins, and El Paso officials are to meet following the bi-district game to decide on the date and site for the area contest. Gil Bartosh, Midland athletic director, says that the two have already agreed on a home-and-home flip.

Eddie, that means Lee could either play in El Paso's Sun Bowl or Midland's Memorial Stadium. Is that a real choice. If it were up to Kittle, there would be no flip. The Rebs would agree to play in the Sun Bowl without a flip.

Lee has lost only two road games since 1980 when Dykes became coach at Lee.

ALPINE—As the dust of the football season settles, Sul Ross State prepares to jump into the basketball season against Waylan Baptist here at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

The Lobos, coming off a 2-25 season, hope for improvement with the edition of such players as 6-5 Charles Prescott, Los Angeles, who was the nation's second leading scorer with a 29.1 average for SRU last year.

Coach Jerry Boone also returns 6-4 Edward Davis, a sophomore from Houston, and Burnett Williams, 6-5 forward/post from Houston.

Rangers fall to Klondike

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Assistant Sports Editor

STANTON — Greenwood's first foray into the state playoffs came to an abrupt halt here Friday night as the Rangers dropped a 7-6 District 7-A Zone playoff battle with the Klondike Cougars.

The Rangers made a fourth quarter stab at pulling this one out of the fire when quarterback Chad Longley ended a 15-play drive of 69 yards with a one-yard touchdown with 11:58 left in the game. That made the score 7-6 and that was where the buck stopped in this one.

Greenwood coach Joe Longley elected to go for the two point conversion and the victory. There were two very good reasons for the decision. The Rangers were trailing by a 3-1 count on penetrations and had the wind to deal with in the fourth quarter. It was win now or forget it.

THE RANGERS called Longley's number again for the two-point try, but Klondike's Rolando Juantos, Mitch Mitchell and Ricky Webb strung out the play and never let Longley have a realistic chance of gaining the goal line.

That turned out to be the biggest of several big defensive plays in the game, as you would expect in a 7-6 thriller.

It was a game of two halfs as the two teams played Jekyll and Hyde with each other. Klondike totally dominated the first half behind the brilliant running of monster back Juantos. Juantos had 123 of his 186 yards rushing in the first half while Greenwood's Roger Smith, 1,000-yard rusher this season, was limited to a mere 17 first half steps.

The Cougars scored the first time they held the ball, marching 54 yards in six plays on a stunned Ranger defensive unit. Juantos got the final 18 on a bust up the Greenwood gut and Tim Cope's extra point boot turned out to be the difference.

"I never thought that a score that early would be the difference in the game, but I'm really proud of these kids. It's a great group to work with. We kept field position all night and that was a big key," said Klondike coach Micky Virdell.

BUT THIS was a case of not taking advantage of opportunities for Klondike. The Cougs could have put the game away, but Greenwood's defense kept the Rangers in the game.

Midland, OC meet in finals

By BOB BRUNDAGE

The Midland College Chaparrals looked like they were on their way to a second straight Chaparral Classic basketball tournament blowout Friday night when they took a 50-32 halftime lead and turned it into a 60-36 margin with 16:30 left to play against Garden City Community College.

However, the Broncbusters from Kansas had a different idea. Over the course of the next 10 minutes, GCCC worked on Midland's lead until it was cut to 78-65 and then added two quick baskets from guards Scott Stegman and Troy Applegate to cut the margin to nine.

The Broncbusters never came any closer, but the opportunities were there. Just seconds after his bucket, Applegate drew a foul in a bonus situation but missed the first shot. On the rebound, Andre Ervin was fouled. He too went to the line for the bonus and missed. MC's lead could have been cut to five.

A five-foot jumper by Chap Teviin Binns followed by a Zeak Williams slam and a Binns free throw punched the lead back to 14 points and Midland College was on the way to a 95-83 victory and a berth in the tournament's championship game against Odessa College, a come-from-behind winner over Barton County Community College.

"Fouls started hitting us and when we were fouled we weren't hitting the one-and-one," said GCCC coach Jim Carey. "We had them in the bonus with 15 minutes to go (in the first half) and missed five straight free throws. We came back and had a chance in the second half when we cut their lead to nine but missed two more one-on-one's that would have cut the lead to five."

Watch out! The sky is falling

Ever get the uneasy feeling that you are riding for a fall, the roof is caving in or it would be better if you had stood in bed?

That's the suspicion here after going 18-4-3 against the spread last week and 38-14-4 over the last three weeks. You just don't abuse the smart money like that and get away with it. I hope they don't fix any games, just to show me.

The SWC...

Texas Tech plus 19 over SMU—Since the Texas-SMU game, Longhorns and Mustangs have been playing like the season ended with that game. Tech has good defense, if the offense does anything at all, the Raiders might keep it close.

Rice plus 23 over Baylor—An emotional farewell for Ray Alborn and Texas coming up next week for Bears combine to keep score within realm of reason.

Arkansas plus 2 over Texas A&M—Aggies don't score much, so I like the points.

The others...

Oregon State plus 29½ over Arizona State—That many points is an insult to any self-respecting team and the Beavers will turn vicious and hold it to about 25...either that or Sun Devils will show 'em mercy...

Southern Miss plus 12½ over Alabama—That's presuming War Eagles are best team in Mississippi, better even than Millsaps.

Syracuse plus 12 over Boston College—This may be best BC team since Leahy, but since Maryland and Nebraska whippin's, the Orangemen have been playing people close.

Kentucky plus 17 over Florida—The question is, how will Gators respond after successive disappointments against Auburn and Georgia. Surely, they wouldn't get mad, would they?

Iowa minus 16 over Michigan State—Spartans coming off wins over Minnesota and Northwestern, still....

LSU minus 11 over Mississippi State—LSU is very erratic, but Bulldogs haven't been playing anybody close.

Oklahoma State plus eight over Missouri—Our upset of the day.

North Carolina minus 14½ over Virginia—Tar Heels should be ready to take out frustrations on somebody and Cavaliers are handy.

Notre Dame plus 2½ over Penn State—It's at State College and that's a defiance of the odds in itself, another upset.

Tennessee minus 16 over Mississippi—Any team that can beat Rutgers 7-0...

Washington minus 6 over USC—Huskies have bowl incentive and home field advantage. USC improving, but not that much...

Rutgers plus 22½ over West Virginia—Scarlet Knights haven't lost to anybody by this much and they've lost six times.

The pros...

Tampa Bay plus 4 over Cleveland—Bucs wouldn't let last week's win go to their heads, would they?

Dallas minus 7 over San Diego—Cowboys must beware of overconfidence.

Miami minus three over New England—Is this stealing?

San Francisco minus four over New Orleans—Only trouble is the Friscos are terrible at home.

Detroit minus 6 over Houston—They aren't the same old Earlers any more.

Washington minus three over Giants—This is a traditional where upsets are common place, but Giants' quarterbacking is so bad that linebacker Lawrence Taylor told Phil Simms, sidelined for the year, if he doesn't get back in the line up he's gonna whup him.

Atlanta minus 1½ over Rams—What! Giving minus points again? With all the points I'm giving away, I'll be walking around in a barrel next week.

Clovis defeats Hobbs to nab playoff spot

HOBBS (AP) — Senior defensive back Anthony Stevenson returned an interception 18 yards for a touchdown Friday night as Clovis took a 9-0 win over Hobbs and clinched a spot in the Class AAAA playoffs.

Clovis, which finished the regular season with a 7-1-2 overall record, finished second in District 4AAAA behind Roswell. Both teams advance to the playoffs with Roswell going as the district champion.

A sparkling defensive effort by Clovis and six turnovers by Hobbs were the key factors in the game. The Wildcats had nursed a 3-0 lead through most of the game. That cushion was provided by a 25-yard Tim Hartley field goal in the second quarter.

Crane kicks foe

Two FGs beat Yellow Jackets

By BRUCE CASTLEBERRY
Sports Writer

CRANE— The Crane Golden Cranes out-defensed one of the best defensive teams around Friday, and rode two field goals from Don Bishop, from 42 and 31 yards, to take a 6-0 bi-district playoff victory over the Kermit Yellowjackets.

The opening-round playoff duel was a classic display of grind-it-out football. Defense dominated throughout, but it was Crane who made the big plays offensively to decide the outcome. The win keeps the Cranes unbeaten at 10-0-1, while the Yellowjackets lost their first in eleven outings.

"They're a very good football team," an elated Crane coach Rickey White said afterwards. "They shut down what we do best, but we played a little better defense than they did."

On the night, the Cranes and Yellowjackets gained only 268 yards of yardage between them.

A key factor in the game was a gusty, 20-mile an hour wind that became a focal point in the coaching strategies of White and Earl Overton of Kermit. Kermit won the toss but gave the decision to the Cranes. Crane elected to kick off and take the wind. It was a move that paid off. Both Bishop field goals came with the wind behind him.

The first one came on Crane's opening possession, but it took some trickery for the Cranes to score. The Cranes began the drive on their 37. On third and eight, Crane made their first big play, and first first down. The play was a 17 yard pass from Todd Rodgers to Jim Vasquez. First downs were rare in the game. Crane finished with nine, and Kermit had only six.

The key play in the drive came on a fourth and ten at the Kermit 44. White sent in a fake punt play, where punter/fullback Junior Sena was to throw to Lonnie Mitchell. Mitchell missed the call, so Sena pump faked and took off down the left sideline. Fifteen yards later the Cranes had a first at the Kermit 29.

Pickin' the Pros

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

New Orleans plays perhaps the biggest game in the 17-year history of the franchise Sunday, at San Francisco. A victory over the 49ers would give the Saints — for the time being — sole possession of first place in the National Conference West.

The Saints never have been in the National Football League playoffs. They've never had a winning season. They've never been 7-4.

They're 6-4 now, along with the 49ers and the Los Angeles Rams, who don't play until Monday night. The 49ers have found San Francisco a most hostile place of late, losing nine of 10 home games over the past 1½ seasons.

Figure the game to be decided by a field goal, or less. In other words, take New Orleans plus 4 over SAN FRANCISCO.

Are the Houston Oilers really that bad? Well, yes and no. They may be the worst team in the standings — but three of their losses have been in overtime.

And the Detroit Lions, visiting the Astrodome Sunday, were hardly impressive last Monday night. So take HOUS-TON plus 6½ over Detroit.

Are the Baltimore Colts really that good? Hmm, let's see. Not one of the teams they've beaten has a winning record. Not one of the teams they've lost to has a losing record.

In other words, mediocre teams can sneak up on bad teams, but not on the good ones. The Steelers are 8-2. So take Pittsburgh minus 3½ over BALTIMORE.

In other games (home teams capitalized), take:

Washington minus 8 over N.Y. GIANTS
L.A. RAIDERS minus 7 over Denver
Seattle minus 3 over ST. LOUIS
Miami minus 3 over NEW ENGLAND
MINNESOTA minus 2½ over Green Bay
Cincinnati minus 2½ over KANSAS CITY
Philadelphia plus 1 over CHI-CAGO
L.A. Rams plus 1½ over ATLANTA

Paul Wiggin gets ax from one-time Indians

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Paul Wiggin was fired as football coach at Stanford University as the team headed for one of its worst seasons in history, it was reported today.

"I was fired," Wiggin told the San Francisco Chronicle. "I was asked to resign and that's what I told the players. You could say I resigned, but that's not true and that's not me."

Stanford has a 1-8 record, with games remaining against Oregon and California. Even if Stanford wins those games, it will finish with the worst record since 1960, when Coach Jack Curtice's team went 0-10.

The Stanford Daily, the university newspaper, said Wiggin's resignation would be announced today. In a copyright story, the newspaper said Wiggin told his players at a team meeting Wednesday that he was leaving and was expected to submit his resignation in a written statement today.

His resignation will become effective at the end of the season, the newspaper reported. Wiggin has one year remaining on a five-year contract.

Wiggin said he doubted that he would stay at his alma mater in another position.

The bizarre play that's become known as the "Big Play" last year against California, might have prompted Wiggin's departure.

SMU, Baylor hope to impress bowl reps today

If Texas Tech has a hope against SMU today, it's in the fleet feet of Leonard Harris, 81, breaking a long gainer on a reverse against Texas Christian.

Steers seek 17th in row over TCU

By Associated Press

The heavily favored Southern Methodist Mustangs and Baylor Bears hope to thrill a few more people than the hometown crowds in their Southwest Conference games against Texas Tech and Rice.

The Sugar Bowl has sent a representative to view the No. 7 ranked Mustangs, and scouts from the Liberty, Sun and Bluebonnet Bowls also will be at Texas Stadium today where Southern Methodist is a 19-point pick over Tech.

SCOUTS FROM THE Bluebonnet and Independence Bowls will be in Waco to see the Bears, who are a 23-point favorite over Rice.

A source has told the Bears that the Independence Bowl "definitely wants" Baylor. And the Aloha Bowl has expressed interest if the Bears defeat Rice.

"We're hoping to go to a bowl game and this game is a key to that," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff. "It's a situation we'll have to handle properly.

"They'll come in here like a bunch of Kamikaze pilots. They'll give it their best shot. All you have to do is look at what they did against SMU to see they can play well offensively and defensively."

SMU, WHICH HAS lost only to second-ranked Texas, beat Tech last season because of a bizarre kickoff return.

With the score tied 27-all, Blane Smith fielded a squib kick and lateraled the ball across the field to Bobby Leach on the left sidelines. Leach raced 91 yards untouched to the goal for the touchdown.

"We've got a lot riding on this game," said SMU Coach Bobby Collins. "It's a big one."

In other SWC games, No. 2 ranked Texas was a five-touchdown choice over Texas Christian in Austin and the Texas Aggies were picked by two points over Arkansas at College Station.

The unbeaten Longhorns will face TCU without guard Doug Dawson, who suffered a leg injury last week in Texas' 9-3 escape from the Houston Cougars.

THE 'HORNS HAVE won 15 straight games over TCU. The last TCU win came in Austin in 1967.

"TCU has been playing with great effort all year," said Texas Coach Fred Akers. "They've lost some tough, close ball games."

TCU Coach Jim Wacker said of Texas: "The Longhorns have the best defensive team in the nation. They are just a great football team, but you never know what's going to happen when you snap that crazy football."

Arkansas hopes to keep its dwindling bowl ambitions alive against the Aggies.

The Razorbacks lost 24-21 to Baylor Saturday, yielding a school record 34 first downs to the Bears.

"A&M's defense held Baylor to 13 points at Waco and we really have our work cut out for us," said Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz.

How close was fight?

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — How close did Marvelous Marvin Hagler come to losing his world middleweight title to Roberto Duran?

Well, it all depends on your persepective.

"I didn't give Duran over three or four rounds," said Pat Petronelli, who was watching Thursday night's fight from Hagler's corner.

"We think Roberto won the fight," said Luis Spada, who spent the night in Duran's corner. "It was a great fight, very close. A one-point fight can go either way. We're not complaining."

ALL THREE JUDGES gave the nod to Hagler, but by the narrowest of margins. He won the last two rounds to overtake Duran on their cards and hang on to his title.

"I don't know what they were looking at," said Goody Petronelli, who, with his brother, manages and trains Hagler.

"I gave him four rounds," said Hagler. "In the 11th, nothing happened and they said I lost the round. Nobody threw a punch. How can you lose a round like that?"

Goody Petronelli said he thought a switch in strategies by Duran, discarding his old toe-to-toe style for a counterpunching attack, had changed the complexion of the fight. "We were waiting, waiting. Marvin had to take the offensive," Petronelli said. "Duran threw a curve at us. We never anticipated that kind of fight."

HAGLER HAS SEEN curves in this town before. He thought he had beaten Vito Antuofermo for the middleweight title here in 1979 and wound up instead with a draw. So he was a little wary of the scoring.

So were the Petronellis. "We've been through this before," said Pat. "At the end of the 12th or 13th, I told Marvin, 'You've got plenty left. Show us some fight. Blow him out. Don't leave this close.'"

Hagler understood.

"I didn't want to leave any doubt in anybody's mind," he said. "You can't leave it up in the air."

So Hagler went out to win the last two rounds, just in case. The irony there was that Duran had the same idea.

"My corner told me I needed to win the 15th round to be sure of victory," he said. "But my arms were very tired and I couldn't throw the punches I wanted to."

Duran also was nursing a sore right hand, injured when he hit Hagler in the head in the fifth round. X-rays Friday revealed no break but he will wear a splint for three weeks.

When the decision was announced, tantalizingly slow with three close cards and no indication by the ring announcer which fighter was getting the votes, Hagler admitted he was concerned.

"I was a little skeptical," he said. "They took a long time."

EVEN THOUGH the decision was close, promoter Bob Arum figures there won't be great public demand for a rematch. Duran would like one and Hagler is willing for the right price but Arum said these two champions must go their separate ways for a while. "In five or six months, who knows what can happen?" he said.

Hagler has a mandatory defense ahead against Juan Roldan of Argentina, who knocked out Frank "The Animal" Fletcher on Thursday night's undercard. Duran will drop back to the junior middleweight division to defend the title he won last June from Davey Moore.

U.S. opens lead in golf

KOBE, Japan (AP) — The United States, led by team captain Hale Irwin, extended its lead over Japan Friday during the second day of the Goldwin Cup golf competition.

The U.S. started Friday with an 8-0 lead over Japan and upped the margin to 13-3 over the 6,960-yard, par-72 Taiheiyo Club course in western Japan.

In the first team match of the day, Irwin and Ben Crenshaw beat Tsuneyuki Nakajima and Saburo Fujiki 64-69. Then, Masahiro Kuramoto and Kikuo Arai tied the score with a 68-66 victory over Lanny Wadkins and Johnny Miller.

The third match between Calvin Peete and Tom Kite and the Japanese team of Toru Nakajima and Teruo Sugihara ended in a 66-66 tie.

Hal Sutton, the top money-winner on the U.S. Tour this year, and David Graham then beat Yutaka Hagawa and Isao Aoki 64-68.

Crane advances in state 3A playoffs

"We've worked on that all year," White said of the fake punt. "We were going to throw it, but the run was open."

Sena, who carried only one other time in the game, for no yards, said "I just tucked it in and ran. I've had bigger runs, but not from punt formation."

The drive stalled, but Bishop came on for his 42-yard try that went through easily. The drive lasted ten plays, and consumed nearly five minutes.

Kermit had the wind in the second quarter, and had two golden opportunities late in the first half, but the Yellowjackets were turned away. After a wind-detained punt, Kermit took over at the Crane 37 with 7:07 left in the half. The Jackets drove to the Crane four, but Jim Sharp's fourth and one dive was short.

Kermit got the ball again a minute later, after another bad punt. From the 24, they ran two plays, with Joe Vasquez making a diving interception at the five to quell the drive.

White thought the biggest turnaround in the game came in the third quarter. "The third quarter was the turning point," said White. "That drive into the wind was the only one all night."

What the Cranes did was power football the way it was intended. Starting at their 27, the Cranes ground out a 13-play, 59-yard march that set up Bishop's final tally from 31 yards.

The first big play was a sideline bullet from Rodgers to Joe Vasquez for 20 yards. The pass came on a third and ten. On third and seven at the Kermit 39, Rodgers hit Vasquez again, on a screen left that went for 11 yards.

When Bishop kicked his field goal at the 11:11 mark in the fourth quarter, the Crane drive had lasted 6:36.

Kermit's last gasp try ended when Mark Velasquez pounced on a James Noiley fumble at the Crane 35. Crane ran another five minutes off the clock, and Sena had aa punt that settled at the Kermit one. Joe Vasquez grabbed his second interception moments later to seal the win

Andrews ends season with win over Lamesa

ANDREWS — The Andrews Mustangs won't make a repeat showing in the state playoffs in 1983, but they did end their season on a good note with a 33-7 victory over the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes.

It was the final game of the season for both teams. Andrews finishes with a 6-3-1 record overall and a 3-3-1 District 2-4A mark. Lamesa finished at 2-8 on the year and 1-6 in loop play. It was the second time this year the Tors have fallen to the Mustangs.

Andrews wasted little time in jumping on Lamesa. Quarterback Bill Morrison hit tight end Ronnie Wallace with a 9-yard scoring toss for a 7-0 lead and Jeff Tidwell scored from four yards out for a 13-0 first quarter lead.

It was 19-7 at the half after Andrews' Mike Carmon scored from two yards out and Lamesa answered with a 69-yard run by Brian Masters.

Earl has no Gunslinging plans

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers running back Earl Campbell Friday denied he was preparing to sign a contract with the San Antonio Gunslingers of the United States Football League and said the team or an agent concocted the story that he was leaving the National Football League.

Gunslingers' owner Clinton Manges said he planned to "make every effort possible" to "finish" signing Campbell and hoped to complete the deal by Saturday.

But Michael Trope, who negotiated Campbell's contract with Houston in 1978, said the three-time All-Pro first heard of the affair early Friday morning, when a Gunslingers official telephoned and asked him to fly to San Antonio.

"That's definitely true," said Campbell, agreeing with Trope about the surprise call.

Ben Armstrong of Scottsdale, Ariz., said he had drawn up a contract to which the Gunslingers said they would sign Campbell Friday.

Armstrong said the contract was based on a pact he had written for another player. He said the team contacted him and asked if he would design a similar plan for Campbell.

He said he was not acting on Campbell's behalf but as a middleman. The San Antonio Express-News, which broke the story that Campbell was negotiating with the Gunslingers, had called him Campbell's financial consultant.

Mavs beat SA Spurs

DALLAS (AP) — Mark Aguirre scored three straight baskets in the fourth quarter as the Dallas Mavericks took control and beat the San Antonio Spurs 112-105 Friday night.

Aguirre, who led all scorers with 32 points, hit his third straight to give Dallas a 97-94 edge with 5:12 to go.

San Antonio, led by Artis Gilmore's 23 points, pulled to within 101-100 before Dallas scored six straight points to seal the win.

George Gervin, the Spurs' leading scorer for the season, was held to 15 points.

Greenwood expelled from state playoffs

Two other times in the first half, Klondike camped out on Greenwood's goal line without having any points to show for it. On a fourth and sixth at the Ranger 12, Cope was nailed for a mere one-yard gain by Joey Branch. Klondike should have gone for the field goal, even against the wind.

Later in the second period, Greenwood threw up another last ditch stand when Rodney Goff, Matthew Benton and Randall Morgan stopped Juantos on a one-yard gain on a fourth and goal at the five. It could have easily been 21-0 at the half instead of 7-0.

But Greenwood survived the Cougar onslaught and began to get things together offensively in the third period. The Rangers, who never crossed midfield in the first half, finally broke the ice as Smith got hot. Smith wound up with 87 yards rushing, guiding the TD effort.

The Rangers gave up only three first downs to Klondike in the second half as Juantos seem to wear down with his double-duty shift. Juantos, a 190-pound junior, also doubled at noseguard and linebacker for Klondike and the Rangers had a tough time stopping him no matter what side of the ball he was on. Klondike's Brent Airhart was another defensive standout.

IT WAS a game of defensive praise as Greenwood's Morgan had an outstanding game.

Klondike will now carry its 6-5 record into a 7:30 p.m. Friday date with Gorman in Sweetwater, a Class A bi-district battle. Greenwood ends the season with an 8-3 mark after compiling a perfect South Zone 7-0 record.

This was Greenwood's first playoff experience in football and the Rangers now have to face the reality of moving on to Class 2A next year with the likes of McCamey, Stanton, Wall and Reagan County.

That will be a big jump for the Rangers, but they can look on the bright side of things. They won't have to face Juantos again next year and the Cougars will have him back.

Chaps gain tourney finals

"I thought we got a little careless, were shooting the ball too quickly," said MC coach Jerry Stone. "But, I'm real impressed with the way they fought back. The could have quit but didn't."

The Broncbusters' free throw shooting was less than spectacular, 27-of-42 or 64 percent, but the real killer was their shooting from the field, only 28-of-74 or 38 percent.

The Chaps, on the other hand, hit 19-of-28 free throws (68 percent) and 38-of-73 from the field (52 percent), including 21-of-29 in the second half (72 percent).

For the first 10 minutes of play the two teams were in a real dog fight. GCCC's Marc Houston hit a 20-foot jump shot to give the Broncbusters a 22-19 lead with 10:25 to play. The score had been tied twice, at 2-2 and 13-13.

RANKIN—Led by Charles Freeman, who gained 106 yards in 25 carries, Rankin's Red Devils defeated Fort Davis, 13-7, here Friday night in the final regular season football game for both teams.

Eddie Templeton gave the 3-7 Red Devils their first score 4:27 before the half on a six-yard run then he kicked the point.

Rankin made it 13-0 when Freeman went in from six yards out with 1:35 left in the third quarter. Fort Davis made it close on Robert Granado's one-yard scoring run 7:33 from the game's end to leave the visitors only six behind.

Luther set for Dallas

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Ed Luther, who has filled in for quarterback Dan Fouts in the past three San Diego Chargers' games, has been removed from the injured list in preparation for Sunday's National Football League contest against the 9-1 Dallas Cowboys.

The Chargers, last place in the AFC West, say Sherman Smith, who sprained a knee against Philadelphia last week, is doubtful for Sunday's game.

It was Smith's injury in the first half of the 26-3 loss in Pittsburgh that sparked a rebellion by running back James Brooks when Coach Don Coryell asked him to step in and play fullback.

"It didn't make sense. How can I block a 235-pound linebacker?" the 5-foot-9, 182-pound Brooks asked after the Chargers returned to San Diego with their record at 3-7.

World Championship at stake

Georgia-Auburn holds bowl-game answers

By Associated Press

Georgia's Vince Dooley says "the world championship" is at stake. Auburn's Pat Dye terms it "what we play for ... what college football is all about."

The rhetoric notwithstanding, when third-ranked Auburn visits No. 4 Georgia Saturday it actually will be for the right to represent the Southeastern Conference in the Sugar Bowl.

A Georgia victory (the Bulldogs are 8-0-1 overall, 5-0 in the SEC) would send the Dawgs to New Orleans for the fourth year in a row. An Auburn triumph (the Tigers are 8-1, 4-0) would raise the possibility of a four-way tie with Alabama (6-2, 4-1), which Auburn plays Dec. 3, and Tennessee (6-2, 2-1). But Sugar Bowl officials have indicated they would invite the Tigers if they beat Georgia.

THE ENIREe bowl picture should become a little clearer Saturday. Fifth-ranked Illinois (8-1, 7-0 in the Big Ten) can make it to the Rose Bowl for the first time in 20 years by defeating Indiana at home. If the Illini win either of their two remaining games, there is nothing ninth-ranked Michigan (7-2, 6-1), which visits Minnesota for a Saturday night game, can do about it.

College Football

In addition, a UCLA victory at Arizona, coupled with a Washington loss to Southern California, would put the Bruins in the Rose Bowl as the Pac-10 champs.

And sixth-ranked Miami of Florida (9-1), which winds up its regular season at night against Florida State, probably can clinch an Orange Bowl bid with a victory.

The latest rumor has four teams scrapping for the three open spots in the New Year's Bowls — Miami, seventh-ranked Southern Methodist, the Nov. 19 Michigan-Ohio State winner, and the Auburn-Georgia loser. However, SMU and Auburn are not in the Cotton Bowl picture since SMU is a member of the sponsoring Southwest Conference, and Auburn played Texas, the likely host team, earlier in the year.

ROUNDING OUT the AP's Top Ten, No. 1 Nebraska (10-0 overall and with a one-game Big Eight lead) entertains Kansas with a chance to clinch at least a tie for the conference title; runner-up Texas (8-0 and with a one-game SWC lead over SMU) entertains Texas Christian; SMU is at home against Texas Tech; No. 8 Brigham Young entertains Colorado State (a win or a tie gives BYU the Western Athletic Conderence crown) and a trip to the Holiday Bowl), and No. 10 Ohio State entertains Northwestern.

In the Second Ten, No. 11 Maryland is at No. 17 Clemson, No. 12 Iowa at Michigan State, No. 13 Boston College at Syracuse, Kentucky at No. 14 Florida, Rutgers at No. 15 West Virginia, Southern Mississippi vs. No. 16 Alabama at Birmingham, Southern Cal at No. 18 Washington, No. 19 North Carolina at Virginia, and Army at No. 20 Pitt.

In the last four regular seasons, Georgia has one loss and one tie marring its record. The Bulldogs have won 23 consecutive SEC games and 24 straight home contests, both streaks starting after a 33-13 loss to Auburn in 1979.

"The most impressive thing about Georgia is their refusal to be beaten," said Dye. "A lot of folks said that Georgia's program would go down after Herschel Walker left, but obviously Georgia has always been much more than a one-man team. Their refusal to be beaten is something.

McEnroe faces Swede in semi

WEMBLEY, England (AP) — Once again, it was John McEnroe against a Swedish tennis star and revenge was on his mind.

No, McEnroe was not facing Bjorn Borg in today's semifinals of the $315,000 Benson and Hedges Grand Prix tournament, but rather 22-year-old Andres Jarryd, who beat McEnroe in Montreal last August.

Besides the McEnroe-Jarryd match, U.S. Open champion Jimmy Connors was to face fellow left-hander Andres Gomez of Ecuador.

Jarryd upset Mats Wilander, the No. 3 seed, in the first round, and demolished Gene Mayer, seeded fifth, 6-1, 6-2 in Friday's quarter-finals.

McEnroe reached the semifinals here by taming big-serving Steve Denton 6-2, 6-3. In the other quarter-finals, Connors beat Vitas Gerulaitis 6-4, 6-2, and Gomez defeated Henrik Sundstrom of Sweden 6-1, 7-5.

Michael Carter having fun

DALLAS (AP) — There were never any barbed wire fences, or moats with alligators, or dragons blocking the way. But for the past several seasons, Michael Carter's cubby-hole in the SMU locker room was not the most approachable.

Carter was quiet, and deadly serious, and any guests — friend or foe — had better have an invitation.

So to see Carter clowning with the coaches, pulling practical jokes on his teammates, and generally having a good time in the SMU locker room these days has more than one Mustang wondering what Carter has been pouring on his Captain Crunch in the morning.

"Last year, there were any number of reasons why he was so quiet," Coach Bobby Collins said. "But now you see the guy smiling all the time, playing practical jokes. And he is generally a whole different Michael Carter than we knew last year. I think he's just having more fun."

The reason for the metamorphosis, according to Carter and his coaches, is contentment with his decision to return to football.

"When I made the decision not to play any more football (last June)," said Carter, "I thought that it was the decision. But as time went on, the urges got worse and worse for me to come back. When they let me rejoin the team (in late August) it was the happiest I've been.

"After I made that decision to come back, I decided I wasn't going to worry about any more injuries, or what would happen if I didn't make the Olympic team. The decision was made and the pressure was off. Now I hear people talking about how Mike seems more loose and less tense, and how they like me that way. So I guess I'll just keep doing it."

"I think he's a lot more satisfied with what he's doing," said Bill Clay, SMU's defensive coordinator. "It's just obvious that he wants to be here, or he wouldn't be here. He was finally pushed to the edge of the cliff as far as making a decision and he made it. Now he's happy with it."

A happier Carter off the field has generated a happier Carter on the field — not a happy thought for the opposition.

"We thought we were seeing the real Michael Carter at the end of last season and the Cotton Bowl," Collins said. "But he started off at that level this year and has just gotten better. He's more emotional on the field, and has assumed a role of leadership. He's not just doing his job, he's encouraging everybody else to do hi."

When Carter, the reigning NCAA shot put champion, planned to skip the '83 season to train for next summer's Olympics, Collins and Clay were deeply concerned over the SMU defense, particularly the defensive line.

But with Carter acting as an anchor, and the emergence of Mitch Willis and Doug Hollie as solid tackles beside him, SMU has built the No.4-ranked defense in the nation this year.

"We just feel so much more confident knowing Michael is out there," Clay said. "With seniors like him out there, we know the defense isn't going to rattle when the situation gets sticky."

Clay said having a good second year of rehabilitation for Carter's knee, which underwent major surgery during the '81 season, also is a big reason for the resurgance. Having survived three knee operations off his own, Clay understands.

Cowboys shoot for new goals

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, owners of the best record in the National Football League, try to equal their best-ever start Sunday against the battered San Diego Chargers, with Tony Dorsett needing 130 yards for a sixth 1,000-yard season.

The 9-1 Cowboys are seven-point favorites over the Chargers, a team with a quarterback crisis. Veteran Dan Fouts may be lost for the season with a shoulder injury and his replacement, Ed Luther, has a sprained neck.

DALLAS, shooting for its fourth victory in a row, sends the NFL's No.2 offense against a green defense which has been burned for 278 points, the league's third-highest total.

A sellout crowd of 52,500 is expected for the 3 p. ... ontest.

If Luther can't play, the Chargers are down to rookie Bruce Mathison and fifth-stringer Pete Holohan, a backup tight end who hasn't played quarterback since his freshman year at Notre Dame.

But Dallas Coach Tom Landry thinks it would be a mistake to take the Chargers lightly.

"Even without Fouts, they are a very gifted team. They have players who can break open games very quickly, regardless of whose throwing the ball," he said.

But Luther, thrown into the breach with little NFL experience, has been able to generate only one touchdown in three starts. San Diego has lost four in a row since Fouts was injured during a 37-21 loss at New England. Last week, the Chargers managed only 218 total yards in a 26-3 loss at Pittsburgh.

"IF FOUTS was there, they'd probably be 7-3," said Landry. "But Fouts isn't there and when you count on one guy so much like that, it hurts you. Even though they have a backup who's not bad, you start to think there's no way you can win without him (Fouts). Then you've got a problem."

The Cowboys are near full strength, with punter John Warren the only question mark.

Dorsett, ninth on the NFL's all-time rushing list, enters the game with 870 yards and needs 115 to reach the 8,000-yard mark for his career. His string of 11 consecutive 1,000-yard seasons, including high school, ended last year because of the players' strike.

Quarterback Danny White, who now ranks No.1 all time in the NFL's passing efficiency ratings with an 84.0 mark, is completing 60.6 percent of his passes this season He has 197 completions in 325 attempts for 2,499 yards and 21 touchdowns and has thrown 16 interceptions.

Chargers' Coach Don Coryell said his team's 3-7 season "hasn't been a matter of something going wrong — it's been a matter of everything going wrong."

Coryell had to resolve an internal problem this week after running back James Brooks refused a blocking back role in the rout at Pittsburgh.

10K runners must enjoy sheer torture

Los Angeles Times-
Washington Post News Service

There are certain things I would not want to be. A cop in Marseilles, for example. A dissident in Moscow. A prisoner in a Spanish jail. A White Hope in the ring. Manager of the New York Yankees. A Democrat in Santa Barbara.

But, I would rather be all of the above than a 10-kilometer runner in America.

First of all, the neighbors laugh. A guy who relies on the same locomotion as the Pawnee Indians in an age and a country with 100 million automobiles is like a guy who speaks Latin. A curio. The kind of guy who would watch stereopticon slides of Niagara Falls instead of television, who would communicate by pigeons or smoke signals instead of telephone.

It's not only the neighbors who get annoyed. It's the dogs, the police, the motorists. They treat you as an unidentified aircraft in their air space.

YOU SEE, to run 10Ks in a race on an oval track, you have to run 150 miles a week around the streets of your home town. It takes a special kind of dedication.

Paul Cummings, of the Provo, Utah, Cummingses, knows a great deal about it. Cat burglars get better treatment from the general public than a guy running down Main Street at 5 o'clock in the morning in his skivvies.

If you're brought up in Kenya, no one thinks anything about it if you are seen running up mountain slopes at the crack of dawn. They wait to see if a lion is after you before they make a judgment. But in New York City, there better be 17,000 other guys around you before the bomb squad lets you go.

Paul Cummings has been cornered by three attack dogs, who bit him in the calf in his innocent rounds of getting ready for a track meet. Passing cars' occupants have thrown chunks of ice at him. A motorist once tried to run him down. Sometimes, he startles real thieves who are not out for medals but for necklaces or purses left on hall tables.

THE SITUATION got so bad that Paul gave up running the mile at one point. But in the past few years the climate for running has so changed that he is no longer harassed by pre-dawn body searches, unidentified flying objects or farmers with shotguns.

Running has become respectable. "It's the running craze in this country," he says. "People understand where you're coming from." No longer do people feel that only Jack the Ripper and international jewel thieves slip out of the house in the morning darkness and start circling municipal parks or the suburbs of the rich.

There is another kind of acceptance: Long-distance running is no longer seen as the obsession of a small band of masochist cretins bucking for cardiac arrest. "I used to go to a race and there would be 10 guys there, one with a stopwatch. Now, they have 70,000 in a race in San Francisco and the 17,000 in the New York marathon make the Verrazano Bridge buckle."

Paul Cummings had to give up the mile race for a reason other than attack dogs and traffic hazards: It didn't pay. "I had a 55-hour-a-week job in a steel mill, laying bricks. I have a wife and four children and, in those days, promoters would pay your way to a meet – period."

As a result, Cummings had a lively career as a "rabbit," i.e., the runner who sets a blistering early pace for the Star (usually Eamonn Coghlan, Steve Scott or John Walker), trying to help them set a world record. It's a job kind of like being Larry Holmes' sparring partner. Or the girl in tights that the Great Magnifico throws knives at.

But it's a fact of our times that road running is getting profitable just as steel-milling is phasingout. For instance, on Sunday at Marineland, near Los Angeles Harbor, the winner of the this race. That would be a lot of bricks to lay.

THE DIFFERENCE between running a mile and running the roads, as Cummings sees it, is the difference in whether the athlete has "fast twitch" or "slow twitch" muscles. This has nothing to do with whether he blinks his eyes when he talks but with whether his muscle fibers respond in three-quarter time or the cha-cha. Cummings believes his twitches now come in stop-action sequence and he hopes to run not only in the 10K but the marathon in next year's Olympics. "I will try to qualify for the team in both events, but I will run in only one of them, probably the 10K."

At the age of 30, Cummings no longer needs to get a rabies shot or suit of armor before he works out, and when he begins before the sun comes up, the neighbors set their watches on him, not their dogs.

Gators, CBS feud over NCAA probe

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — University of Florida athletic officials say they were misled by CBS Sports into thinking the television network planned a profile on the "resurgence of Florida football" and instead broadcast a report on an NCAA investigation.

The piece was aired on "The NCAA Today" Oct. 29 while the Gators, then 6-0-1 and ranked fifth in the nation, were playing No. 4 Auburn.

Florida has been subject to a preliminary probe by the NCAA since last December.

"We feel were were misled. The big thing isn't what came out, but the way they went about it. Even once they got down here they contended they were going to do a piece about Florida football," said Richard Giannini, associate athletic director in charge of television relations.

Kevin O'Malley, executive producer of college sports at CBS, said: "It was a case of the left hand doing something different from the right hand."

'Bama still incensed at War Eagles

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Joe Carter, Alabama halfback, is still incensed over what the Southern Mississippi football team did to the Crimson Tide a year ago.

"They beat us on our own stomping ground," he said, "on the campus at Bryant-Denny Stadium. They broke the streak that we and all the teams in the past had going.

"I think that is the biggest revenge factor."

In defeating the Tide 39-28 at Tuscaloosa in 1982, Southern ended a 57-game win streak at Alabama's home field and handed the Tide one of only two losses it suffered there in the late Coach Bear Bryant's 25 years.

Alabama, 6-2, is favored by two touchdowns over the 7-2 Golden Eagles, who are on NCAA probation and ineligible for bowl consideration. Scouts from five bowls

Sweden ranks second in tennis

WEMBLEY, England (AP) — Sweden now ranks No. 2 in the world in tennis, behind the United States, American Gene Mayer said Friday.

"The Swedes are just churning them out right now. There are no bad ones. They range from great to good," said Mayer, the world's 12th-ranked player.

The 27-year-old New Yorker made his comments after losing 6-1, 6-2 to Anders Jarryd, Sweden's No. 2 player, in the quarter-finals of the $315,000 Benson and Hedges Grand Prix tournament.

It took Jarryd, a baseliner with a devastating two-handed backhand, only 66 minutes to beat the experienced American.

Earlier, Jarryd had ousted countryman Mats Wilander, Sweden's No. 1 player and ranked fifth in the world, while Sweden's Henrik Sundstrom upset American Bill Scanlon.

"In the United States, we are used to producing consistently good tennis players," Mayer said. "Now the Swedes are beginning to do the same."

Mayer said the success of five-time Wimbledon champion Bjorn Borg, now playing only exhibition matches, was the main reason behind Sweden's dramatic emergence in world tennis.

"I cannot think of one tennis player who has had more of an influence on his country than Borg," said Mayer.

"With the exception of Stefan Edberg, they hit like Borg, look like him, dress like him and think like him.It seems they are producing one clone after another.

"Wilander's success has also had an effect, of course, but not as much as Borg's."

Mayer said Swedish coaches were among the best in world, the courts excellent and the national tennis federation very progressive.

He stopped short, however, of predicting a Swedish victory in next month's Davis Cup final against Australia.

"It's just not their surface. I could not think of a worse situation for Sweden than playing on grass in Melbourne," said Mayer.

Jarryd obviously did not agree.

"I think we have a good chance," he said.

Asked about the Swedish tennis revolution, Jarryd — who reached the final of this year's Canadian Open in Montreal, upsetting John McEnroe of the United States along the way — said:"It all started, of course, with Bjorn. But since then, a lot of good work has gone into developing the clubs and we have a number of good juniors."

Army Ranger sees combat in Grenada

CORSICANA (AP) — Army Ranger Mike Corley was enjoying a three-day weekend on Sunday, Oct. 23 when his unit was put on alert. Forty-eight hours later, in his first combat mission, he was parachuting onto the Caribbean island of Grenada.

Corley, a 1980 graduate of Corsicana High School, said he and other Rangers at Hunter Army Air Field in Georgia, part of a rapid deployment force, did not know of the decisions being made in Washington at the time of the alert.

The Marine barracks in Beirut had been bombed that Sunday and earlier that weekend the United States had received a plea from several Caribbean nations for military intervention in Grenada.

"The alert was a total surprise to us," he said. "But we went ahead and got ready."

Corley, a rifleman with Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, came home this week for a month's leave before starting a tour of duty in Germany.

He declined to tell when the planes lifted off for Grenada but did say that about 5:30 a.m. the following Tuesday, he was one of the first U.S. soldiers to land on this island.

"We were third chalk," Corley said, meaning that his plane was suposed to be the third of about eight or nine planes in line scheduled to drop paratroopers. But the first of two planes passed the Port Salines airstrip, at the southern tip fo Grenada, without making their drops.

So the third transport became the first to unload.

Corley said he was the sixth man out the door.

"There was no one from the main group on the ground until we got there," he said.

The young soldier said his first combat jump was quite different and much more dangerous than those he and his fellow Rangers had practiced in training, he said. Their parachutes had to work right the first time because there was no time to open a reserve.

In training, jumps are not made below 1,200 feet, which allows for at least 250 feet for a reserve chute to deploy, he said.

The jump on Grenada was at 450 feet.

Corley said the Rangers were to meet at predetermined platoon link-up points, and from there check out various airport buildings.

But plans changed suddenly when snipers in the air control building opened fire on the Rangers.

Although they had been detected soon after they hit the ground, Corley said the invasion force had maintained enough element of surprise before landing to prevent large initial losses.

The men took cover on the left side of the field and called for air support to knock out the tower.

"After that we kept on pushing toward the barracks," Corley said, all the while being fired upon from gun emplacements on top of the buildings.

As snipers on one ridge fired at the U.S. soldiers, the Rangers took control of another ridge about 700 meters away and began firing back.

They opened up with machine gun fire to provide cover for a C-130 transport plane attempting to land reinforcements on the air strip.

Eventually the Rangers were able to take over the barracks, and he estimates about 250 men were captured. Corley said he suspects that almost all of the prisoners were Cubans, because they spoke only Spanish and he knew that all Grenadans spoke English.

"At first, about 10 people came out. They were really scared. Then the rest of them lined up."

The Rangers spent the next three days mopping up resistance in the surrounding area, Corley said, while native Grenadans watched anxiously as the soldiers made their rounds.

IS SUNDAY WORSHIP REALLY RELEVANT TO MONDAY LIVING?

Why be concerned about attending church on Sunday when nothing happens to help me on Monday? Can't my time be better spent resting or with my family? If you don't worship regularly anywhere, see how worshipping with us on Sunday can make a difference in the rest of your week.

You can't help loving this little pup. Maybe it's because he seems so out of proportion. If he somehow were able to flup those ears he might fly away.

Perhaps there is a little fellow in your home who is "all ears" in another sense . . . a youngster who takes in everything that's said, including some things he isn't meant to hear.

Most children are eager to listen . . . hungry to learn. That is why the early years are so important in the molding of a child's character. The things he hears, whether right or wrong, make a deep impression on his mind. They are soon reflected in his actions and words.

Wise parents take advantage of the Church's program of religious education in implanting those early impressions. They know there is no surer builder of character than religious faith.

NOW . . . while your child is eager to hear and to learn, bring him to church . . . and support the Church in its great undertaking.

First Christian Church gets new organist

John Roberts assumed the position of organist-choir master at First Christian Church this fall.

Roberts comes from Montgomery, Ala., where he served four years as music director for the First United Methodist and chorus master of the Montgomery Symphony Orchestra. He was also founder and director of the Children's Opera in Montgomery and cantorial soloist for the Reform Temple there.

Prior to that, Roberts was organist and choir director for Collingwood Presbyterian Church, Toledo, Ohio. He served 10 years in that capacity and was also chorus master for the Toledo Symphony Orchestra. In Toledo he was also organist and choir director for a Conservative Temple and music director and cantorial soloist for a Reform Temple.

John Roberts

Roberts has a master of sacred music (with a major in organ and a minor in choral directing) degree from Union Theological Seminary, New York City. His baccalaureate degree is from Boston University where he majored in music history and theory and minored in French.

He taught organ at Mary Grove College, Detroit, Mich., choral conducting at Mary Manse College, Toldeo, and courses in aesthetics of music for the honors program at the University of Toledo. He also conducted the chorus at the University of Toledo.

Roberts has been guest summer organist for nine English cathedrals and has played for services and festivals in several English parish churches. He has given organ recitals in 14 states.

He studied at the Royal School of Church Music at Addington Place near London. He studied choral music with David Lumsden at New College, Oxford. In addition, he attended choral conferences given by David Willcocks and George Guest at King's College, Cambridge and did private research on 19th and 20th century organs in Paris.

Roberts has worked for Trinity Parish, New York City, and for the archdiocese of Detroit as choir developer, organist and instructor at the Palestrina Institute.

He is active in the American Guild of Organists and served on its executive board in Detroit. He was an AGO dean in Toledo and a sub-dean in Montgomery. He also served as the representative of the Royal School of Church Music for the state of Alabama.

In Midland, he is active in the American Guild of Organists and the Midland-Odessa Symphony Chorale. He is also a member of the Museum of the Southwest.

Bishops caught in the middle

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

U.S. Roman Catholic bishops are caught in a squeeze these days between pressures from the pope and rising insistence by women for greater rights and voice in the church.

But the bishops, rather than backing away from the issue as some had expected, are tackling it head-on.

They're meeting with Catholic women leaders this weekend in Washington to hear their case, prior to the bishops' agenda-packed annual meeting Nov. 14-17.

That meeting also is to consider a proposal for drafting a pastoral teaching letter on the same emotion-charged topic — the role of women in church and society.

The issue has intensified lately in the wake of Pope John Paul II's recent admonition to several U.S. bishops in Rome to "withdraw all your support" from any groups favoring ordination of women to the priesthood.

Nevertheless, about 85 bishops have registered to meet this weekend with Catholic women's groups, some of them pressing for that cause and for an end to other alleged church discrimination against women.

The papal statement "makes this meeting all the more urgent," says Francine Cardman of Weston School of Theology in Cambridge, Mass., one of three scheduled women speakers at the meeting with bishops.

Referring to the pope's Sept. 5 admonition that "exclusion of women from priestly ordination is extraneous to the issue of discrimination" and is "Christ's own design for his priesthood," Ms. Cardman told the National Catholic Reporter:

"The essential premise of the pope's argument is wrong."

Leaders of the Women's Ordination Conference and some other groups favoring women's admission to the priesthood are among ll Catholic women's organizations being represented at the weekend workshop, sponsored by the bishops' committee on women.

That committee, which also is asking the bishops to authorize preparation of a pastoral letter on women, is headed by Bishop Joseph L. Imesch of Joliet, Ill., who recently succeeded Bishop Michael McAuliffe of Jefferson City, Mo.

McAuliffe says the committee has always been careful to "uphold church teaching" on the priesthood.

Three Midlanders elected to Texas Baptist positions

AMARILLO — Three Midland residents were elected to major positions on Texas Baptist boards during the annual meeting of the 2.2 million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas held this month in Amarillo.

J.C. Whitaker, dentist, was elected to the board of trustees of Hardin-Simmons University. Elected to the board of trustees of Baptist Memorial Geriatric Center was E.D. Dorchester, engineering manager, Texas Electric Service Co. The Rev. Daniel G. Vestal, pastor of Midland's First Baptist Church, was elected to the Baptist Standard board of trustees.

BGCT owns and operates eight colleges and universities, an academy, eight hospitals, four children's homes and five homes for the aging.

This work is supported by the convention's 4,700 churches and missions which will give more than $50 million this year through the Cooperative Program, a unified effort for mission work at home and abroad.

Besides the institutions, the convention helps support the work of more than 6,000 missionaries in the United States and more than 100 foreign countries.

In Pittsburgh, he and two pastors, one of Methodist background and the other of Lutheran background, formed Three Rivers Fellowship, a non-denominational church. Garlington served there as senior pastor.

Garlington has spoken and performed at churches, on college campuses and for retreats and conferences across the United States and in Canada, the West Indies, England and South Africa.

New code expands annulments

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An expert says the new Roman Catholic code of canon law expands the grounds for annulments to include deception among reasons for a marriage being declared invalid.

The Rev. James Cuneo of Bridgeport, Conn., told a convention of the Canon Law Society of America that the new code adds deceit as a basis for nullity when it was used to get the other party's consent to wed.

'How Great Thou Art' most sung

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Surveys have found that the most sung and favorite hymns among United Methodists are "How Great Thou Art," "Amazing Grace," "O For a Thousand Tongues," "Holy, Holy, Holy," "Old Rugged Cross," "A Mighty Fortress," "In the Garden" and "Come Thou Almighty King."

The denomination is considering a new hymnal to replace the last revision of nearly 20 years ago in 1964.

Reporting survey results, the Rev. Ron Patterson, book editor of the church publishing house, said "The church is ready for a new hymnal."

Veteran to speak at Kelview Heights

Patrick Cleburn McClary III will speak Sunday at 10 a.m. at Kelview Heights Baptist Church, 407 W. Alta Ave.

A high school teacher and coach, McClary was about to accept a position with the University of South Carolina, when he decided "he had not done enough for his country" and enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps instead.

McClary

While on his 19th reconnaissance patrol March 3, 1968, he and his men were attacked and he was seriously wounded. He was presented with the Bronze and Silver Stars for his bravery under fire and his demonstrated concern for his men.

A short time after he returned to the States, he and his wife, Deanna, attended a revival. They feel this was the turning point in their lives.

Kelview's pastor, the Rev. Frank Johnson, invites the public to hear McClary speak.

Episcopalians send 12 to council

St. Nicholas Episcopal Church has sent 12 representatives to the 1983 annual Council of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas. The two-day council closes today.

Representing St. Nicholas are the Rev. Joseph H. Schley Jr., the Rev. Malcolm F. Slayter, James J. Bell, David W. Dennis, Edwin E. Aldridge Jr., Mrs. W.H. Gilmore Jr., Mrs. William M. Hibbitts, Mrs. Robert G. Holt, Les R. Honeyman, Jerry Speck, Mrs. Dean Wolf and Max E. Wright.

Delegates from throughout Northwest Texas will elect members to diocesan committees, vote on a budget of some $739,692 for the work of the church in the coming year and discuss matters of concern to Episcopalians.

The Women of the Church held their annual meeting, also at Abilene Center, Friday. Friday evening the Rt. Rev. Sam B. Hulsey, bishop of Northwest Texas, celebrated a festival choral eucharist at the Church of the Heavenly Rest. Dinner and a party for delegates and visitors followed.

The diocese is composed of 43 congregations with approximately 12,000 members extending from Perryton to San Angelo.

Priest has been called 'gift of God'

VATICAN CITY, Italy (AP) — The newly elected master general of the Roman Catholic order of Dominicans, the Rev. Damian Byrne of Ireland, was asked at a news conference what he thought of the noted Dutch Dominican theologian, the Rev. Edward Schillebeeckx, often criticized by the Vatican. Said Byrne:

"Father Schillebeeckx is a gift of God to the order."

Woman to talk on listening to God

Betty Ann Ridley, a Christian Science lecturer, characterizes the Bible as "the ultimate book on communication." "Listening to God — Is That Really Possible?" will be discussed by Mrs. Ridley in a free lecture Thursday at 8 p.m. at Theatre Midland, 2000 W. Wadley Ave.

"Was there ever a greater book written on the subject of listening...teaching us a spiritual concept of listening...listening to God?" she asks.

Listening to God, Mrs. Ridley says, isn't so much a matter of something we do as who we are. Listening is possible because of man's "inseparable" relation to God. "This oneness relationship of man with God insures our ability to hear God."

From Oklahoma City, Mrs. Ridley has had a varied career including educational television work as a puppeteer since graduating from Scripps College, Claremont, Calif. For the past decade, she has given full-time to Christian healing and is currently serving on The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Her talk is sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist of Midland. The public is invited to attend. She will be introduced by George Resley.

Anchorage copes with poverty

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — They're known as the "cold people" and in the frigid winters here, some of them die.

Last winter, icy cold claimed three of them.

They're refugees from the state's tiny rural villages, dreamers from the lower 48 who trekked to oil-rich Alaska seeking work and city residents who have lost their homes.

The "cold people" — so dubbed by an Anchorage newspaper last winter — have a common and compelling need. Each is looking for a place to stay warm now that arctic air and snow have blown into Alaska's biggest city — population 230,000.

There have been no deaths this winter, despite temperatures in the teens and a foot of snow in the past few weeks. A handful of people have hammered up shelters of plastic sheeting and wood near a railroad yard on the city's outskirts.

Harry Rice, a welder from Groton, Conn., says he came to Alaska in August in a futile search for a job. Now he lives with four others in a shanty of wood and plastic by the railroad tracks. Rice says he can't stay at one of the shelters operating in the city because none will let him keep his dogs.

Meanwhile, as many as 140 families may be forced to look for new quarters if the Anchorage Planning and Zoning Commission reaffirms its decision to close camper parks for the winter. The commission plans to make a decision this week.

Because campers are designed for temporary dwellings, their electrical and heating systems may not stand up to the rigors of long-term use, said Joe Stimson, city zoning officer.

"I don't have any money to go anywhere. There's nowhere for me to go," said Peggy James, who lives in a 32-foot unit near her mother and grandparents.

There are fewer than 10 other camper parks in the city, Stimson said. Most are allowed to remain open year-round because they were built prior to regulation or they have long-term permits, he said.

Harry Rice, a welder from Groton, Conn., adds dirt to the base of the flimsy shelter in Anchorage, Alaska he shares with four others. Rice, like many homeless in the city, came to the state looking for work. While some stay in shelters, most, just barely survive on their own.

However, some who make it their business to find shelter for the homeless say things are better this year. There are five shelters in Anchorage with a total capacity of about 500. Some are free while others require small payments if the guest can afford it.

"It isn't as bad this year," said Jim Huguley, a spokesman for the Brother Francis Shelter, a heated warehouse where men and women are handed two blankets and sleep on the floor.

Transmitters to be used in river otter research

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Within the next year and a half, Paul Polechla hopes to use radio transmitters to find out where and how far Arkansas river otters roam.

Polechla, a graduate research assistant in the University of Arkansas zoology department, is trying to learn more about the fur-bearing animal as part of a study being conducted with the state Game and Fish Commission.

River otters, he said, were thought to be endangered in the mid-to late 1970s. The animals, who are related to the weasel, have higher-quality coats than minks, he said.

"The fur of the river otter ... is used as a basis for comparison with other furs," Polechla said in a telephone interview.

Dog treated with dialysis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A canine named Bo has survived the past month on a kidney dialysis machine at Ohio State University Veterinary Hospital on after lapping up some discarded auto radiator fluid.

It's a common but deadly accident, says veterinarian Dennis J. Chew, because it has a sweet taste that animals like.

Bo, a 4-year-old mixed breed, has survived a record 27 days, undergoing several surgeries, five blood transfusions and 14 dialysis treatments. Healso requires intravenous feeding.

Student manages other people's money

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Jim Lavelle, 20, is usually on the telephone these days, managing from his Princeton University dormitory room the mutual fund he founded with $100,000 invested by seven clients.

The college junior began investing other people's money in January, and his portfolio grew 51 percent by July, when he formed Pin Stripe Investments Inc. Now his only complaint is that he doesn't have more to invest.

"I'd love to have a million dollars to manage," he said Friday. "I could do so many things. I'm missing out on so many deals."

The young financial wizard began playing the stock market on paper when he was 11 years old. He started using real money — his parents' — the next year.

When he was 14, he turned $1,000 into $4,000 in nine months.

"My dad's a New York City fireman," Lavelle said. "He's an avid investor and very knowledgeable about the stock market and he turned me on to investments."

Lavelle now is handling investments for his parents, grandparents, a fellow student and two other people who he declined to name. The largest investment is $40,000.

His dealings combined with his full course load in the university's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs keep Lavelle busy. But he said he's able to maintain "a very nice grade average" and wouldn't mind more customers.

Stone significant to past

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — It's smaller than Plymouth Rock and visited by far fewer people, but surveyors and engineers understand the significance of Ellicott's Stone.

The stone is the only remaining marker placed by Andrew Ellicott on the 31st parallel line that he surveyed between 1797 and 1800, according to historians.

It is the point of origin for all land surveys in southern Alabama and Mississippi and all townships in the area are numbered from Ellicott's Stone.

It's a landmark surveyors and engineers worship and try to protect. The 2-foot-high rough sandstone marker has been shot at by vandals who even once futilely tried to dig it up and haul it off.

Since then, the stone has been anchored in concrete, covered with a wire cage and fenced. A plaque detailing the stone's significance was stolen. The American Society of Civil Engineers plans to replace it.

Part of the vandalism problem results from the stone's isolated location, 23 miles north of Mobile, about a mile from Bucks off U.S. Highway 43 in Mobile County.

Each time a vandalism report surfaces, as one did recently, talk resumes about the stone's future. Some would have it removed to a museum, but engineering purists believe it should stay put.

"It's a big stone and can take a lot of abuse. It would be nice if it could stay where it is," said Billy Wilkinson of Mobile, president of the local civil engineers society.

"It would lose a lot of its significance if it was moved," said Malcolm Beasley, another Mobile civil engineer. "The stone has as much significance to land surveyors."

Moving the stone to a museum and replacing it with a facsimile might call for a summit meeting of surveyors and engineers, Beasley said. "If the stone is really being destroyed, if it continued to be vandalized, a facsimile monument might be a good idea," he added.

The stone is on a small portion of land deeded to the City of Mobile, which has cleaned the area in the past. But Boy Scouts camping nearby are also credited with cleanups.

Earl Joiner, a city engineer and an Ellicott admirer, said vandalism worries him. "It tears me up that people would do that. It's part of our history. I don't know if enclosing it in a building wouldn't be a bad idea."

Museum houses many specimens

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — One of Pennsylvania's most unusual and possibly least-known attractions is the National Taxidermy Hall of Fame and the Fin, Fur & Feather Museum of Natural History.

It's in Haneyville, a backwoods town so small that if you're not paying attention, you'll zip right by it on your way through this game-rich forest country on the Clinton-Lycoming county border.

Why is it tucked away in Haneyville? Mainly because that's the home of Paul Asper, who was born within earshot of the museum, outdoor sports shop and gift and souvenir store that he now owns.

This is where Asper began his interest in the outdoors by accompanying his dad on a trapline, catching native brookies in small mountain streams and watching whitetails and whitetail hunters come and go.

Later he attended the Ross Leffler School of Conservation and for several years served as a Pennsylvania game protector in nearby Sullivan and Tioga counties.

Five years ago, Asper sold his snowmobile and motorcycle dealership and ended up with an empty warehouse behind his log-walled sporting goods emporium. He and his wife, Carole, had accumulated a collection of trophies gathered from around his central Pennsylvania home and at wild places all over the world. The couple decided to make a museum out of the warehouse.

At about the same time, the Aspers also contacted the National Taxidermy Association, which was in the process of establishing a Hall of Fame — a place where the works of the country's best-known taxidermists like Carl Akeley, Lewis Paul Jonas and even Theodore Roosevelt could be displayed.

A happy marriage resulted, and now the museum serves double duty as the Fin, Fur & Feather Museum of Natural History and the National Taxidermy Hall of Fame. Specimens from Africa, Australia, Russia, Alaska, Canada, Mongolia, the United States and, of course, Pennsylvania, fill the spacious hall.

"This has been my dream," Asper said, looking over the spread of hundreds of mounted specimens — from ducks to Dall sheep — on display in the museum. "It's not finished yet, not the way I want it to be, but it's getting there."

Government decreasing subway fare

MEXICO CITY (AP) — While subway riders in many parts of the world are paying close to $1 a ride — and fearful of further increases — Mexicans are facing a reduction in Metro fares that already rank the lowest anywhere.

The government plans to drop the price of a single ride from 1.20 pesos to one peso, while maintaining five-ride tickets at five pesos each.

"There is no other system in the world as cheap as ours," said Metro spokesman Jose Conde Mejia in an interview with The Associated Press.

The reason for the single ride price decrease is that Mexico plans to phase out the nation's 20-centavo coins, along with 10- and 50-centavo coins. Inflation has made the coins almost worthless.

In terms of U.S. money, the cost of a subway ride here will drop from .80 of a penny to .67 of a penny.

Guillermo Cosio Vidaurri, director of Mexico City's Collective Transportation System, said the reduction would take effect when the coins are officially eliminated.

No one now knows for certain when that will be.

The Metro is indeed something of an economic curiosity, selling less-than-a-penny tickets in an age of megabucks and reducing fares during a period of hyperinflation.

Conde Mejia said Mexico's cheap ride is a source of pride for Mexicans.

Other countries that charge very little for a subway ride are Budapest, where a fare is a little more than two cents, Peking, where it is about a nickel, and Moscow, where it is about six cents, according to figures supplied by the transit spokesman.

Subway fares in New York, Washington, D.C., Chicago and London range from 75 cents to roughly a dollar.

In case anyone is wondering what fiscal trickery it takes to maintain a sub-penny subway fare, the answer is: huge government subsidies.

Florida : A state with many miles, but only one tunnel

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Florida ranks 22nd in size among the states, has 1,197 miles of shoreline, 11,462 miles of roads, about 9,000 bridges — and one tunnel, an 863.7-foot subterranean passage that takes U.S. 1 traffic under the New River in this coastal city.

The concrete and steel tunnel is one of the safest strips of Florida thoroughfares, although up to 1,600 vehicles an hour in each direction shoot through its tubes.

"There has never been a serious accident in the tunnel that I'm aware of," says Ron Register, the Florida Department of Transportation maintenance engineer for Broward and Collier counties.

Called the New River Tunnel, it took five years to build and was completed in 1960 at a cost of $6.4 million. "It would cost at least three times that much to build today," adds Register.

Maintenance costs run $150,000 a year, including salaries of the two-man tunnel work force — electrician Jimmy Sheehan and his assistant, Wes Becwar.

The tunnel runs north and south; each roadway has a pair of 12-foot lanes. A small pedestrian walkway is located in the northbound tube, although few use it.

There's a 14-foot clearance at mean low water between the top of the tunnel and the river's surface above. Register explains that since the zigzagging New River is shallower in other sections, it's impossible for a vessel ever to make contact with the tunnel.

"We do keep an eye open when pile-drivers are working nearby, though," remarks Sheehan, who has been at the tunnel for a dozen years.

The tunnel's 3-foot walls are covered by 4-inch yellow tiles, faded from years of exposure to carbon monoxide fumes.

Earlier this year, the tunnel underwent a thorough cleaning by a private contractor — the first time since it was opened. New and brighter lighting was also installed. Register explains the tunnel walls are also washed down every six weeks with an alkaline solution.

Safety is the primary concern of those responsible for the underwater roadway.

"We never allow traffic to move in two directions in one tube," explains Register. If both lanes of one direction are closed, traffic is rerouted on streets above.

An electronic device measures carbon monoxide in the tunnel 24 hours a day, and huge fans push fresh air through ventilation tubes to keep gases from accumulating.

Eight phones linked to the Fort Lauderdale police station are spaced out in the tunnel and there are doors at three intervals so in an emergency, anyone trapped below could move to the opposite tube. Fire hose connections are spaced throughout.

Electrical power is supplied from two power stations to both ends of the shaft, and Sheehan has a large emergency generator that cuts in automatically if the normal power supply is lost.

Burns to have 'devilish' time in 'Oh, God' sequel

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Gamblers left the tables at the posh resort to watch a Hollywood version of God in tennis shoes and a tux-clad devil — both resembling the ageless George Burns — square off in a poker showdown for a rock star's soul.

Burns, 87, was in town recently to film sequences for his newest movie, "Oh, God III," and even the power he assumed with the title role wasn't enough to halt the action in the crowded Caesars Palace casino. But he was able to distract hundreds of gawking gamblers who would flit back and forth between tables or slot machines and the brightly lighted set in the middle of the casino.

This is Burns' third shot as the Supreme Being in sneakers. But this time he plays a dual role.

As God — decked out in baggy pants, windbreaker and golfing cap — he'll be seeking to save the soul of actor Ted Wass, who plays a struggling young songwriter who unwittingly sells his soul to the devil.

As the devil — suave, charming, dressed in tuxedo and red-lensed glasses — Burns strikes a deal with Wass to rocket him to the top of the music business in return for his soul.

In an innovative filming process called "Introvision" the two characters square off in a five-card confrontation at a Caesars poker table. The stakes: winner take Wass.

As the sophisticated cameras rolled recording Burns in his God role, his eyes squinted at the cards clutched in his hand. Somewhere in the casino a gambler yelled "Oh, God, gimme a 7." Burns responded in a droll whisper: "Quiet, I'm concentrating."

Script supervisor Marie Kenney huddled with him, then began reading the devil's lines which Burns will read later in a second shooting.

Patrons in a bar next to the filming jockeyed for position to get a better view of the unorthodox movie set.

Crowds jammed around slot carousels that offer the promise of $12,500 for only a quarter.

A director called for quiet as slots continued to clank in the background.

Just off the set a man sat slouched in a chair, asleep, oblivious of the din.

The scene at the poker table was shot numerous times, with Burns portraying either God or the devil. Between takes he shuffled over to a chair at the edge of the casino, slouched down, pulled the bill of his cap over tired eyes, or chatted with casino employees.

When he switched characters, he slipped through a mob of autograph seekers to change to the snappily dressed devil, puffing on his ever-present cigar as he came and went.

In one scene in the movie, Burns shuffled through the casino as God, leaving a trail of clanking jackpots and winning poker hands. Gamblers cheered, unaware of the most unorthodox presence of their benefactor.

Production on the Warner Bros. film began in Burbank, Calif., Sept. 26 and is expected to continue into early next year, with release set for the spring or summer of 1984.

First ultralight built in 1907

A Brazilian, Alberto Santos-Dumont, built a lightweight flying machine in Paris in 1907 that was the forerunner of today's ultralights.

Called the Dragonfly and made of silk and bamboo, it weighed only 2.3 pounds, had a two-cylinder, 20-horsepower engine and could fly 48 mph.

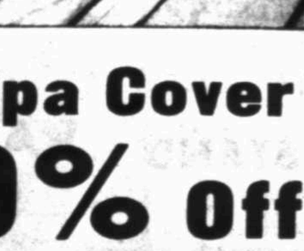

The first modern ultralight was built by a Wisconsin man, John Moody, in March 1975.

Most manufacturers don't act on federal agency's complaints

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Fewer than half the manufacturers notified by the Consumer Product Safety Commission about a complaint respond to the information, says the chairman of the agency who blames a lack of understanding for the problem.

Nancy Harvy Steorts said in a recent interview in New York that she is "really disppointed" in the record. She said, however, that she did not think it indicated a lack of care on the part of industry.

"It may be a non-awareness of what we're doing," Ms. Steorts said. Instead of looking on a complaint as an early warning of a problem that should be tackled and fixed, many manufacturers see it as a threat. Letters wind up in legal departments instead of in the hands of people who can do something about the product.

The safety problem is a serious one. According to the commission, more than 33 million persons — more than one American in 10 — are injured each year in accidents involving consumer products. An average of 29,000 people die.

Ms. Steorts said the figures on the poor response record turned up during a review of the operation of the commission's toll-free hot line. (The main number to call with a complaint is: 800-638-CPSC.)

Consumers who telephone the hot line are asked to put their complaints in writing and Ms. Steorts said 93 percent of them do. The commission then sends the letters to the manufacturers, and Ms. Steorts said only 41 percent reply to the first notice. There was no breakdown of the reasons for the lack of response.

Ms. Steorts said she wants to work with industry, to help companies set up better ways to answer complaints. She denied that the voluntary approach to regulation that has characterized the Reagan administration has led companies to believe they can get away with not acting. "I think the stick is really there," she said, adding that companies realize "we'll go the voluntary route, (but only) if it works."

Like many other agencies, the Consumer Product Safety Commission has faced budget cuts in recent years and Ms. Steorts said she would like to see an increase in the number of inspectors. The commission now has 150 inspectors in the field, operating through five regional offices in 27 cities.

Ms. Steorts refused to say how many inspectors she thinks she needs, but said: "I would like to see the commission in every state." She also said she would like closer cooperation between the commission and state and local agencies, so that local authorities could initiate more investigations.

With the Christmas season approaching, Ms. Steorts said the commission is gearing up for the traditional round of reminders on toy safety.

The biggest problem, she said, remains the mismatch between toys and children. "People buy the wrong toy, for the wrong child, who's the wrong age."

Ms. Steorts said the commission is trying to encourage manufacturers to expand the labeling on their toys. Listing a recommended age is not enough, she said; the label should explain why the toy is not suitable for children below a given age. Parents otherwise may think the age limit refers to intelligence.

New vaccine may potentially fight herpes, hepatitis, flu

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A new vaccine to prevent herpes, hepatitis and influenza could be a financial gold mine for the New York State Health Department which plans to enter the growing commercial biotechnology market.

The development of the genetically engineered vaccine, which its proponents say has the potential to protect against a limitless variety of diseases, is unusual for a public health agency. Equally unusual is the agency's decision to turn its vaccine, which cost nearly $4 million to develop, into a profit-making venture.

"Theoretically, this research could blow the current vaccines off the market," said Michael Barth, director of the department's non-profit, capital-seeking corporation, Health Research, Inc."It certainly could be worth millions of dollars."

The new vaccine was developed by state research scientists Enzo Paoletti and Dennis Panicali in the department's four-story complex beneath Albany's Empire State Plaza. The laboratory, founded in 1913, received a big push in the 1960s when Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller spent $100 million on its new facilities.

The vaccine is made by inserting genetic material from a disease organism into the cowpox virus, which has been used to protect against smallpox for 200 years.

The researchers are initially concentrating on vaccines against hepatitis, influenza and herpes. Last month, they announced the first successful animal tests for their herpes vaccine.

Human tests are at least two years away. But the health department, seeing the potential for great monetary rewards, has already taken steps to protect its rights to any profits from the discovery.

Barth said Health Research set up a company called Virogenetics, Inc., in 1981, about the same time the health department applied for patents for the vaccine. The company is wholly owned by the health department, with Health Commissioner David Axelrod as its chief officer.

Peter Slocum, Axelrod's spokesman, said Virogenetics could lease the patent rights to a drug company which will develop and market the vaccine, or else set up a new company jointly owned by the state and private investors to produce the vaccine. Either way, the state and the inventors will get a cut — the amount has yet to be determined — of the profits.

The first profits to the state will be used to repay $70,000 in patent fees, said Slocum. The income is also expected to save taxpayers some $7 million needed to develop the vaccine. Any leftover money will go toward other research, Slocum said.

The only other state known to have set up such a commercial venture to reap profits from state patents is Michigan, Slocum said.

"The most attractive idea, and the one we are exploring first, is a jointly owned company," said Slocum. If the state has part ownership, he said, it can insure that the vaccine will be produced and benefit the public, even if the profit potential appears low.

"If the patent rights were simply leased to a private drug firm, they could later decide to sidetrack the vaccine to concentrate on a new eye makeup or other product that might make more money," Slocum said.

"You've got to put this in perspective — we're not interested in this endeavor solely because it could make money," said Dr. Herbert W. Dickerman, deputy director of the research complex.

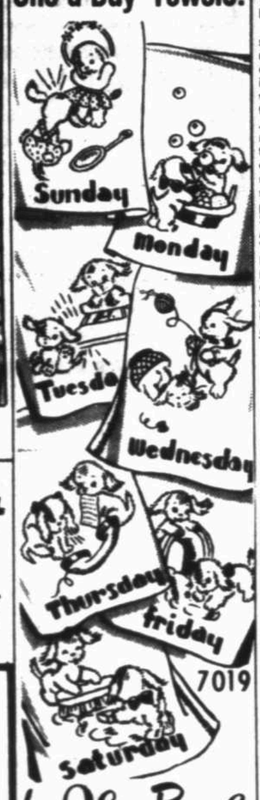

"I have said in the past that if we didn't make a nickel out of this — and we've spent an enormous amount of money developing it, $3.5-$4 million dollars so far — we're interested in it because it's a major contribution to public health science," Dickerman said.

The New Car is here.

Newly arrived: the Honda Civic CRX. And Civic CRX 1.5.

They sweep away all preconceptions. Just as the original Civic did a decade ago. With innovative aerodynamics. A two-seater design. And, for the CRX, the best gas mileage in America.*

The Civic CRX 1.5 blends performance and fuel efficiency* with an ambitious 1.5 liter 12-valve engine.

It also offers an optional automatic transmission with torque converter lock-up. And both the CRX and CRX 1.5 provide torsion bar front suspension, a 5-speed manual transmission and a lockable stowage compartment behind the seats.

The 1984 Civic CRX and Civic CRX 1.5. Totally new cars from Honda. But then, that's nothing new.

"The quality of the apartment is much better than any others I've seen in Midland."

Mary and Perry Nelson talk about The Clusters:

"The extras included seem like a real bonus. We're former homeowners, so it takes a really nice apartment complex to satisfy us."

"I have a lot more kitchen appliances than I ever did in my own home. Dishwasher, trash compactor, garbage disposal, side-by-side refrigerator, built-in microwave, washer and dryer."

But that's not all. You also get French doors to patios/balconies, mini-blinds, ceiling fans and your choice of wall coverings.

Plus unmatched amenities such as luxurious clubhouse, two pools with Jacuzzis, lighted tennis courts, 4-station jogging trail, aerobics classes and exercise room.

Come and visit and you'll see why the Nelsons' say, "There have been many days we've come home and said, 'They've really done it again, they've gone first class.'"

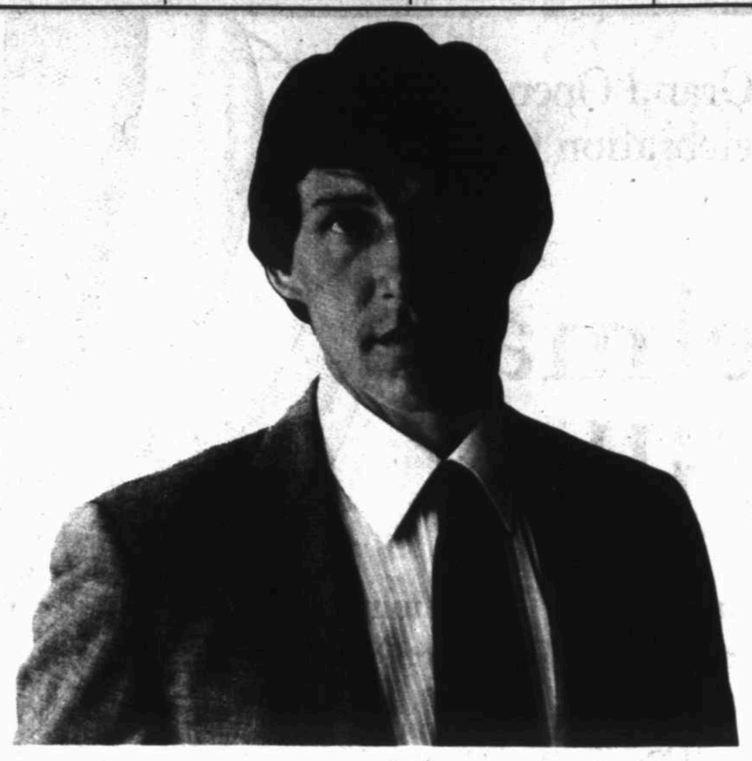

The Clusters. Midland's finest adult community. Special pricing now available.

"COMPROMISE HAS NEVER BEEN MY STYLE..."

"...So when I moved to Midland, Oakridge Apartments was the only logical choice. As far as I'm concerned, there's not a better community around. Oakridge is brand-new. It's in an ideal location. It's very well-managed. Plus, it has the extras other communities don't. I love the indoor spa and sauna, and the community clubhouse and pool. And the custom kitchens with built-in microwaves, woodburning fireplaces and great storage are features I simply don't want to be without. The quality, of course, is uncompromising. Like me!"

1- and 2- bedroom and 2-bedroom studio apartment homes are available now. Take Loop 250 to N. Holiday Hill Road and look for the giant American flag.

How Safe are They When You're Gone?

You're gone. They're home alone. A problem? Who would be there to help? At a planned community like Buckingham Place secured estates this wouldn't be a problem.

A six foot six inch solid cedar and brick fence offers privacy and prohibits trespassing. The security gate and guardhouse limits unauthorized access to the estates, while ample lighting in the common areas provides safety and peace of mind.

An unsecured community is like an unlocked door...A mistake.

Open Weekdays 5pm-7pm; Saturday and Sunday 10am-7:30pm
