The SDN Column

A spraying program has been stepped up in Snyder to fight houseflies and mosquitoes, and bee keepers around town are being asked to contact Louie Vaughan at the county health unit.

Vaughan is aware of some bees that are kept in the city, but there possibly are other bee keepers and they should make their presence known so that proper arrangements can be made to protect their bees from the insecticide.

The mosquitoes and houseflies from July's rains have become a nuisance.

Dale Walton of the Tucson Daily Citizen writes that Roddy Stinson of the San Antonio Express definitely is all mixed up about the site of the Mars shots.

Stinson, as everybody in Snyder knows, slammed Snyder by saying that he believed that the Viking I Spacecraft's pictures were coming from here rather than Mars, as NASA would have us believe.

"That guy in San Antonio is all wet," says Walton, who used to work for this newspaper. "I'll admit those 'Mars' shots had me fooled at first. Some of the sand looked mighty familiar and I suspected Snyder.

"Not the golf course, although I have seen some rather odd forms of life around there. I also considered a site just southeast of Tucson, but I ruled that out after closer examination.

"Then it hit me, and could have occurred to the San Antonio guy if he hadn't been in such a hurry to get out a column. The Viking site is at Silver. I used to travel that road and know it well."

Before we go any farther, let us pause to remind the people this statement came from Arizona, not from yours truly. So, you Mitchell County people hold your fire, unless you aim it to the far west.

Anyway, it is comforting to note that the Mars photographs reminded someone of an earthly site besides Snyder.

But this has not got Stinson off the hook. We may have to get him up here and present him with an award, such as "bonehead of the year." Bob Clifton suggested something like "golden chip" award, and that grin on his face left no doubt as to the type of chip he was talking about.

Our town just finished hosting a national championship event—the American Junior Rodeo Association Finals, and some of the visitors went out of their way to say kind words about Snyder and its citizens. They were especially complimentary to our merchants and to the people actively involved in staging the rodeo.

There undoubtedly were some visitors who had some unpleasant experiences now and then but happily some of those who really enjoyed their stay here did not hesitate to let it be known.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, Aug. 15, the 228th day of 1976. There are 138 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1914, the Panama Canal was officially opened to traffic.

On this date:

In 1769, Napoleon Bonaparte was born on the Island of Corsica.

In 1935, humorist Will Rogers and aviator Wiley Post were killed in the crash of their airplane near Point Barrow, Alaska.

In 1944, the Allied invasion of southern France began in World War II.

In 1947, the independent states of India and Pakistan were created, ending two centuries of British rule.

In 1948, the independent Republic of Korea was proclaimed.

In 1961, East German workers began to build the Berlin Wall.

Ten years ago: The New York Herald Tribune went out of business, blaming labor trouble.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon ordered a 90-day freeze on wages, prices and rent.

One year ago: A new government was consolidating power in Bangladesh after a pre-dawn coup in which the government of President Mujubur Rahman was overthrown.

Ford, Reagan Showdown Set In Kansas City

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

KANSAS CITY Mo. (AP) — With every vote crucial and every delegate a potential kingmaker, President Ford and Ronald Reagan arrive in Kansas City on Sunday bearing rival claims to the presidential nomination of a Republican National Convention that will prove one of them a pretender.

Ford and Reagan both claim the strength for first-ballot victory, but no one can say for certain which candidate will emerge in triumph and which will see his long quest for the White House fall agonizingly short of the prize.

It will be close, perhaps closer than Republicans ever have seen.

Indeed, it has been a generation and more since the party assembled in convention without knowing in advance who would lead them at the final gavel.

The Associated Press count of publicly committed and legally bound delegates shows Ford 75 votes ahead of Reagan, but 21 votes short of the 1,130 that will make a nominee.

The numbers: Ford 1,109, Reagan 1,034, uncommitted 116.

For the moment, that last group includes America's most pampered housewives, lawyers and politicians, for the uncommitteds hold the balance of power, and both sides are paying them court.

Ford's delegate counter, James A. Baker III, claims 1,135 votes, five more than a majority. Baker said more will be coming aboard in the next three days.

John P. Sears, managing the Reagan campaign, contends the former California governor will have more than 1,140 votes on the nomination roll call. He said the Ford count includes some people who want Reagan but cannot afford to be identified with him until the vote.

One of them is wrong, and the 2,259 delegates will determine which it is on Wednesday night, at the climactic moment of the 31st Republican National Convention.

Then, the sonorous roll call of the states will record at last the real judgment of Republican delegates who have been prodded, persuaded, argued with and analyzed as never before.

Seeking to gain strength in the larger states, Reagan broke tradition and designated Sen. Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania, a liberal, as his running mate in advance.

AT AJRA RODEO

Friday, 13th Is Lucky For Some

Friday the 13th was a lucky night for 11 persons who received awards in the 1976 American Junior Rodeo Association National Finals, but an unlucky night for one man who sustained a broken arm in a fall off a buffalo.

The Miss AJRA award went to Sherry Altizer of Del Rio. Mack Altizer, president of the AJRA, presented her with the award. Anne Tillman, the 1975 Miss AJRA, was on hand to congratulate the new winner. Other candidates for the Miss AJRA were Lisa Neckar, Waco; Becky Lou Meek, Monahans; Kelli Youngblood, Lamesa; Fauna Lee Abel, Ruidoso, N.M., and Teree Teague, of Crane.

Traci Hodge of Midland was named the 1976 National Finals Rodeo Queen. Glenda Gail Chapman, the 1975 queen, presented her with the award. Other contestants for the award were Kathy Shirley, Abilene; Terri Mires, Lamesa; Billie Voss of Snyder and Lorri Springfield.

Rookie of the year award went to Sherry Altizer. Miss Altizer had, just moments before, won the Miss AJRA crown. She was named Rookie of the Year in the girls aged 16-19 division.

Winning the Rookie of the Year award in the age 12 and under division was Sherry Adler of Waco.

Raymond Hollabaugh of Stamford was named Champion Calf Roper of the year in the boys 16-19 age group.

Winning saddles in Friday night's rodeo performance were Candy Watts of Irran; Dena Alexander, Lovington; Fauna Lee Abel, Ruidoso; David Northcott; James Zant, Odessa, and Steve Bland, Trent.

In the buffalo race Friday night, Mickey Nunley was thrown in his ride and received a broken left arm. Nunley was riding for the Snyder National Bank. A hospital spokesman listed Nunley in good condition and said he was being held at Cogdell Memorial Hospital for treatment.

The buffalo race was won by Dub Tubbs who was riding for Thornhill's Hair Designers. Other riders in the buffalo race were Bill Ziske of the American Motor Inn and Hank Adams who was riding for KSNY Radio.

The bareback riding event was a tie between Kenneth Cox and Buddy Reynolds of Lubbock who each received 68 points. Bolting out of the chute into second place was Dennis Howell of Canyon who earned 65 points. Shane Baxter of Sweetwater won 57 points in his ride. Receiving no scores were Steve Ford, Kris Brown and Rode Walker.

In tiedown roping for boys 13-15, Cliff Kirkpatrick won with his time of 12.07 seconds. Billy Haley of Abilene came in next with his time of 13.42. Receiving a time of 16.54 seconds was Jimmy Hodge of San Angelo. Jimmy Adams of Medina managed to place in the competition with a time of 18.74. Stymied in their attempts to rope the elusive calves were Kade Kathman, Russell Leonard and Todd Latham.

Boys 16-19 fared better in their tiedown roping with Raymond Hollabaugh of Stamford achieving a time of 8.24 seconds. Tim Barton of San Antonio came in second with 8.58 seconds. Mack Altizer of Del Rio placed third with his time of 9.12. Mark Ivy was clocked in at a time of 11.09. Olin Smith came in next

Monday Is Decision Day On Boll Weevil Control

Monday will be final decision day for Scurry County cotton farmers pondering participation in the diapause program to control boll weevils.

Morris Light, president of the Scurry County Producers Association, which has been working on the diapause program, said that contracts for spraying must be awarded Wednesday.

"We must have our money in hand before we can enter into any contracts," said Light.

Late the past week, the Producers Association lacked final payment for around 15,000 acres of the pre-paid acreage. Farmers earlier had pledged 87,000 acres for the program and had paid $1 per acre.Since the diapause spraying program will require a total of $6 per acre from each participating farmer, the remaining $5 per acre must be paid by Monday in order for the contract to be awarded.

"I am sure that some of them probably were under the impression that the remaining payment would not be needed until the actual spraying begins," said Light. "But we have got to get our money in for this before the contract is let."

Meanwhile, reports of moderate to heavy infestations of boll weevils were circulated during the past week. County Agent Billy Roach said he had found some cotton fields with as high as 60 per cent damage from the second generation boll weevils now in the fields. The individual farmers must take care of their own control measures for this year's crop. The diapause program is designed to reduce the overwintering population of boll weevils to put the 1977 crop out of danger of significant damage from the insects.

Tentative plans are to begin

Vote Held On Consolidation

Voters in the Fluvanna and Borden County School Districts were going to the polls Saturday to decide whether to consolidate the two districts.

Approval by voters in both districts is required for consolidation.

The Borden County voters also were deciding whether to approve a $1 million bond issue for several construction projects, including additional classrooms, a resource center, a gymnasium, a cafeteria and an underground student activity center.

WTC Faculty Meets Monday

Western Texas College faculty members will hold their first general meeting of the 1976-77 school year at 9 a.m. Monday in the Science Lecture Hall.

Dr. Robert Clinton, college president, will open the meeting and introduce new faculty members. The morning session is to be concluded about noon and an afternoon session is scheduled from 1:30-4 p.m.

Students are to begin arriving on campus on Aug. 29 when dormitories open. Registration for the fall semester opens Aug. 30 and classes begin Sept. 1.

Carter On Fund Raising Trip

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter is putting aside the low profile he has been keeping in his home town for a trip to West Virginia to raise funds for other Democratic candidates.

Carter was scheduled to attend a fund raiser for the West Virginia state Democratic committee in Charleston tonight, then speak to the state's Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner.

The Democratic presidential nominee has been letting the political world come to him this week, receiving pledges of support from California Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr., and apologizing for a staff memo that listed CIA Director George Bush among Republicans who allegedly got their jobs only out of political consideration.

Carter told reporters Friday he has the highest professional regard for Bush, who has been conducting intelligence briefings for Carter and Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Min., running mate.

He said a member of his staff committed a "serious mistake" in turning over a copy of the staff memo to a reporter.

Carter also said he agreed with Mondale that FBI Director Clarence Kelley has failed to gain control of the bureau's operations.

He said this is demonstrated by Kelley's statement on more than one occasion before congressional committees that the FBI no longer used illegal burglaries as an investigative technique. Kelley said a year ago the practice ended in 1966, but he was later forced to acknowledge that so-called "black bag jobs" had continued at least through April 1973. He said that fact had been concealed from him by others in the FBI and, as a result, he could not rule out the possibility that such break-ins were still being carried out.

Korchnoi Says Escape 'Blow'

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — The world's No. 2 chess player, Russian Viktor Korchnoi, says his escape and defection to the West two weeks ago was a "tremendous blow" to the Soviets and has probably made him "a hero among the people of the Soviet Union."

Korchnoi was quoted in an interview with the Amsterdam daily Volksrant on Friday as saying the Russians "will have to put my name in their papers when I play in the world championship next year, and tens of millions of people will know I've escaped. That gives me the most pleasure."

The 45-year-old grandmaster, who requested political asylum in The Netherlands at the end of a chess tournament two weeks ago, has been given a temporary six-month permit while Dutch authorities study his request. His wife, Bela, and teenaged son, Igor, remain in Leningrad.

spraying in mid-September, and several sprayings will be required to accomplish the objective.

Light said that ultimately the Producers Association hopes to get close to 100,000 acres included in the diapause program. This would include well over 90,000 acres in Scurry County and some 2,000 to 3,000 acres near the county line in Fisher County.

"But we must have the final payments in by Monday," Light emphasized. Anyone who needs additional information on the diapause program may call the Chamber of Commerce office. Those making payments should bring their checks there by Monday.

Miller Is Happy At Microphone

By JOHN LONG

Persons attending the American Junior Rodeo Assocation National Finals heard a familar voice at the microphone. It was Jim Miller doing what he does best, announcing rodeos.

Miller calls rodeo announcing his hobby. He's been doing it for 30 years.

Miller also calls Rapid City, S.D., his home. But he was born here in Snyder and was graduated from Fluvanna High School. "I guess that I'm a transplanted Texas who never came back. I just stayed up there," Miller said of South Dakota.

Miller's father, Bill Miller, had been a rancher in the Scurry and Borden County area, but moved to South Dakota to escape soaring land prices following World War II.

Land was selling for $25 an acre here, Miller said, remembering the post-war inflation of 1946-47, but in South Dakota land was selling for about $1.25 an acre. So my father moved to South Dakota and entered the ranching business there, Miller said.

Many of Miller's memories of this part of the country center upon his school days. There were nine persons in his graduation class at Fluvanna High School. And, he could remember when Gail used to have its students bused to school in Fluvanna. Miller displayed a curious interest when told of the current situation involving the Fluvanna School District.

Miller, while he may call South Dakota his home, reflects the heritage of the Southwest. Growing up on his father's ranch, he was exposed at an early age to rodeos. He rode his first steer when he was "4 or 5 years old." His father and uncle sponsored one of the first rodeos in this area in 1932.

Following Miller's graduation from Fluvanna, he attended Tarleton State and Texas Tech University before entering the Navy in World War II.

How did Miller become a rodeo announcer? "I think it was in 1946 that someone decided to have a junior rodeo here in Snyder. He was having trouble finding an announcer. So, since he couldn't find anyone else, he asked me if I would announce for him," Miller said.

It didn't take him long, he said, to discover that he liked announcing.

Following World War II. he bought a ranch in South Dakota, but, reflecting his Texas heritage again, he found that he couldn't stay away from rodeos. Miller said that he continued to be a bull rider in rodeos until the birth of his daughter in 1957 when his wife urged him to quit.

He did quit riding in rodeos, but he continued ranching and rodeo announcing. In 1965, Miller said, he sold his ranch and entered the real estate business. Beaming with obvious pride, Miller went on to say that he is now a co-owner of the largest reality firm in the Dakotas.

Miller said that he continues to announce rodeos as a hobby. He now has an airplane to ferry him cross-country on his announcing jobs and for his business deals.

At his peak, he was announcing about 30 rodeos a year he said, and "that was back in the days when I was driving a car to them." Trying to wean himself off rodeos, he said he now announces "a little less than 20 a year."

Miller has been announcing the Scurry County Rodeo for the last nine years. He was also the announcer for the last Scurry County Rodeo held here last month. In the three weeks between the Scurry County Rodeo and the AJRA National Finals, he announced three rodeos, all in the Dakotas.

Miller, 48, said he had a special affinity for Scurry County rodeos. One of his most prized possessions, he said, is a belt buckle given to him in 1970 by the Scurry County Rodeo Association.

Miller has an optimistic outlook on life. "My attitude about life is that if you don't like what you're doing, quit doing it and move on to something else that you do like. If I didn't like rodeo announcing, I wouldn't be doing it," he said.

"I guess I'm the happiest man in the world," Miller said. "I wouldn't trade places with anyone and I'm not complaining about a thing. I am very happy."

All Figures Of CRMWD Show Gains

Revenues and expenses both are up for the Colorado River Municipal Water District through the first seven months of the year.

Revenues gained about 20 per cent on the sale of about 7 per cent more water, this being due in part to higher rates this year. Virtually all the margin between expense and revenue went to debt service, which is running higher this year because payments on the Lake Spence and Ward County well field projects from 1966-69 and 1970 are falling due.

Through July, revenues amounted to $3,699,973, up about $606,000 for the period. Of this amount, $2,268,455 came from sales to cities, a gain of some $441,000, and another $1,371,382 from sales to oil companies, up $155. Recreation revenues of $52,109 were up by $10,000.

Operating expenses stood at $1,319,427 for the initial seven months of the year, up $306,000. The biggest contributor was energy charges of $665,000, a gain of $180,825 over the corresponding period in 1975.

In the seven months $2,345,000 of net revenues was transferred largely for debt service. Water sales which generated the revenue amounted to 10,844,739,000 gallons, up 673,000,000 gallons.

Mishap, Thefts Are Reported

A minor collision occurred Thursday at the Efficiency Apartments' parking lot.

Involved was Edward Ray Whitehead, Efficiency Apartments. Whitehead was driving a 1965 Pontiac Tempest and hit a parked 1973 Chevrolet Cheyenne Pickup. Light damage was estimated for the pickup, while the Pontiac sustained moderate damage.

Thursday's other police action included a report by Gary Allen, Allen Motors, that two stereo speakers were stolen from a white-over-green 1969 Ford sometime between 7 p.m. Wednesday and 12:30 p.m. Thursday. The speakers are valued at $30.

Mrs. Raymond Valadez reported a White Auto Motocross bicycle was stolen from 2902 Avenue F.

Snyderite's Sister Dies

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Carl Alsup, of Midwest City, Okla. She died August 12.

Funeral services were held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

She was the sister of Ray C. Smith of Snyder.

New Citizen Hoping To Get Her Family To U. S.

By KAY ELLINGTON

Jong Sook Whitley bounces the seven-month-old child on her lap and looks at the 23-month-old youngster, playing on the floor. Slowly, the new American citizen begins to describe her goals for her daughters.

"I wish that one of my children could grow up to go to college and become a lawyer," she aspired. Jong explained she had always been poor and ignorant in legal affairs and would like for her children to avoid poverty and its problems.

"I also would like one of them to become a doctor because my father died with cancer because we couldn't afford to take him to a hospital." continued Mrs. Whitley.

Jong Sook Whitley was awarded American citizenship August 10. Jong received her citizen certificate by "learning American history and the United States Constitution and Texas history and the state of Texas constitution."

The new American first came to the United States in 1974 with her husband, Danny Whitley.

The Whitleys met in Jong's hometown, Seoul. An Army man, Danny was stationed in the Korean city.

Whitley is a Rotan native.

While in Korea, "my husband taught me English and about America" explained the young female.

Currently, Whitley is stationed in Germany and looking for a residence. Jong will join him "when he finds a place to live."

Asked how she liked the U.S., Jong replied, "I like it much better than Korea. I have many more things, but it is so hard to get money."

Jong explained she has no car, but "I am trying to work as an Avon Lady. My husband's niece and nephew have helped me a lot, but they work, too. So, getting around is a lot of trouble."

Jong obtained her citizenship in 26 months; most people wait three years. "I got an emergency citizenship because I have to go to Germany," she said.

Talking about the U.S. further, Mrs. Whitley mentioned, "I think America is much better than Korea; so, I have asked my family to come here."

Jong's family includes five brothers and her mother. Her brothers' ages are 30, 26, 19, 16 and 12.

The Snyderite described her family's living condition. "From about 6 o'clock in the morning to 10 o'clock at night, all day long, they sell fish. My brothers can't afford to go to school. They've had to drop out to make money.

"I'm lucky because my husband educated me, but they have no education." she noted.

Continuing, Jong declared, "I thought when they come, I could help them, but I will be in Germany because they will be here in about a year."

Jong then made a plea. "If anyone could help my family to adjust to America, I would be very thankful, and if any of the oil plants have jobs, I know my brothers would work."

The young woman concluded, "Snyder has lots of good people and I hlpe some of them might help my family."

Jong resides at 3002 Avenue X, and should anyone be interested, "I wish they would talk to me after 8 at night because I will be working until then," explained the new American citizen.

NEW AMERICAN—Newly citizenized Jong Sook Whitley talked about American life's advantages and shortcomings. Shown are Jong and her daughters, Christina (standing) and Shannon.

Snyderites' Daughter Runs A Unique Program

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article on a new career launched recently by Mrs. Judy Allen appeared in a suburban newspaper in Dallas. Ms. Allen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Miller of Snyder.

It's a long way from a serene Casa Linda neighborhood to the frustrations of a penal institution in Seagoville.

When Judy Allen was offered a job directing an educational program at the minimum security correctional facility, the miles between held apprehension.

Could she find a smooth route from the security of her home to the totally new and uncertain atmosphere at Seagoville?

She wasn't sure, but she was resourceful and determined, and her positive attitude has paid off.

The author, pre-school director and mother-of-three is currently bridging the gap between home and job through a road paved with knowledge, understanding and love.

Ms. Allen, of 9317 Forest Hills, is the coordinator of a new tutoring project at Seagoville. She is teaching 20 inmates how to work with some 50 children, all offspring of institutionalized residents, in a three-day-a-week child development program.

And she's discovering that, in some respects, the atmosphere at Seagoville isn't all that new and different.

"The power to love is universal, and there's an amazing amount of love being generated between the tutors and the children through the program," she says.

The pilot project, using materials supplied by the Dallas-based Southwest office of Children's Television Workshop (originators of Sesame Street), was begun by the Federal Bureau of Prisons and the Workshop to provide constructive educational and recreational acitvities for the children of inmates during family visiting hours at the institution. Seagoville and the Fort Worth Correctional Institution are the only prisons in the country involved in the pilot effort.

According to Ms. Allen, "the program was also conceived to find a vehicle that would strengthen family relationships that are often strained because of the incarceration of one partner."

"So far it's been very successful," she continues. "The men are loving and responsive in their teaching. The children are enjoying their visits to Seagoville so much that they don't want to leave."

"And the program is not only showing the men how to be better fathers, but it's opening new doors for them in career opportunities," the White Rock resident adds. "When they leave the institution, several of the tutors would like to go into some aspect of child development as a career."

Ms. Allen also explains that in order to be a tutor at Seagoville, an inmate must be a member of a highly disciplined, selective organization known as the Child Development Association (CDA) - one of several special interest groups at the prison.

To become a member of CDA, a resident must be recommended by a current member, pass a four-week probationary period and be voted in by the entire group. As a member, the tutor is required to work with the children a minimum of 30 hours a month in some aspect of the project.

Sensitive and extremely capable in the area of pre-school education, Judy Allen is well-qualified to direct the program. The West Texas native has attended the University of Texas and North Texas State University where she completed courses in both liberal arts and early childhood education.

She taught in the Fickling Schools for several years before becoming director of the White Rock Methodist Church pre-school.

A co-founder of the unique Learning Tree kindergarten in 1970, she is currently co-director of the school - a multi-cultural educational experience based at Casa View Methodist Church, 9998 Ferguson Rd.

When Judy talks about the Learning Tree, her eyes light up and you sense the pride she feels in being a part of its establishment and continued success.

"The Learning Tree's aim is bring together children from as many ethnic backgrounds as possible to share their cultures," she explains.

Along with Ms. Earldene McNeill, also co-director of the school and Ms. Velma Schmidt, professor of education at North Texas State University, Ms. Allen has authored a new book, "Cultural Awareness for Young Children" which is enjoying sales throughout the United States and in several foreign countries. The book includes chapters on Black, Cowboy-Early Texas, Eskimo, Mexican, American Indian and Oriental cultures and suggested activities to learn more about those cultures.

The talented White Rock woman is also using her expertise in the area of cultural awareness with the educational program at Seagoville.

"It's a perfect place to utilize creative multi-cultural activities because there are children and inmates from many ethnic groups in the program," she says.

On the homefront, Judy is Married to Charles Allen, assistant director of the City of Dallas Action Center. The family circle also includes Chuck, 17, Dandi, 16 and Jeff, 14, all students at Bryan Adams High School

In September when Ms. Allen returns to her administrative post at The Learning Tree, she will continue on a more limited basis as coordinator of the Seagoville tutoring project.

"I was uneasy when I took the job on in May," Judy admits. "But it's been one of the most exciting experiences of my life. I'm committed to its success as the future of the men and their families is very important to me."

For Sunday, Aug. 15, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful today if money is being exchanged between you and a friend. A misunderstanding could arise over something silly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Indecisive people will not wear well today. Don't get seriously involved with anyone who cannot make up her own mind.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have a pal who is always prying into your affairs. Today, her curiosity is at a higher peak than usual. Watch what you say.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're prone to take risks today, not so much yourself but on others. There's a good chance you'll back the wrong horse.

LEO ( July 23-Aug. 22) If you're uncertain about how something you want to do might effect others, it's best you don't try it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It would be a mistake today to pretend you know something about a matter of which, in truth, you know very little.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't let yourself get inveigled into a business situation today with a fast-talking sales type who usually fails at what he attempts.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Someone whose advice you sought will get a little annoyed with you when she sees you do just the opposite of what you agreed upon.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're not overly industrious today. You'll look for shortcuts for tasks requiring time and patience. Bungled projects are likely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19) If you want your friends to treat you with warmth and respect today, you must treat them in the same manner yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you're likely to pack it in just when the end is in sight. To be a winner you'll need more staying power.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You may be asked to relay important information to someone today. Write the message down. Your memory can't be trusted.

Your Birthday

Aug. 15, 1976

This year you will explore new avenues in order to add to your resources. Your prospects look encouraging, provided you don't go off on tangents.

For Monday, Aug. 16, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Things you press too hard for today are likely to be denied you. The key to accumulation is to be grateful, not greedy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Harsh or stern tactics will not be successful in getting others to do your bidding today. A smile and a kind word will, however.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Let bygones be bygones or you'll cause some problems that could easily be avoided. Don't let an old grudge spoil your day.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't expect friends to do things for you today that are beyond their capabilities, even those you went out on the limb to help.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) To satisfy your ambitions today you may be tempted to use methods you'll later regret. Don't lower your standards for temporary gains.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Mentally you have a tendency today to visualize something as being more difficult than it actually is. Think positive.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Use your charm and tact today to soften up one you'll be doing business with. He's not half as tough as he appears to be.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Try not to let a companion's bleak outlook dilute your optimism today. Conditions are more hopeful than he perceives.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be motivated to do a better job today if you dwell on the rewards instead of the problem. They're solvable if you'll try.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A type of situation that you usually manage with ease could cause you some headaches today, but not enough to defeat you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your mate may unearth an old issue today that's been a bone of contention. Pretend you didn't hear it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You'll have the chance today to test your salesmanship when you try to alter another's thinking about something he's dead-set against.

Your Birthday

Aug. 16, 1976

Conditions having an effect upon your well-being are likely to brighten a bit this year. Money won't drop in your lap, but if you'll extend yourself it's there.

CELEBRITIES ON THE COUCH

By Dick Maurice

Ann-Margret credits her parents with giving her a start in show business. Her dad, an electrician, often had to spend whole Saturdays driving his daughter 40 miles to and from dancing school and singing lessons. All the trouble paid off, though. A fine film actress and dynamic club and TV performer, Ann's married to Roger Smith. Her birthdate is April 28, 1941.

MAURICE: Are you really a motorcycle freak?

ANN-MARGRET: You bet. Roger and I have nine bikes. I just got a Harley 100. I've been riding for 11 years. My first one was a mini-bike and given to me by a boyfriend. Then I just got hooked. There's something so sensual and daring about the machine and the motor. I guess that's my attraction for the thing.

MAURICE: Friends mean a great deal to you, don't they?

ANN-MARGRET: Believe me. I know what it's like to be lonely like everybody else. If Roger isn't with me on the road, I make sure I'm always surrounded by friends.

MAURICE: You and Roger resemble one another physically. Have you ever noticed?

ANN-MARGRET: I just noticed the resemblance in a recent picture and it knocked me out. We both wear the same tinted aviator glasses. I got mine in pink; then he got his in taupe. But they say couples begin to look like each other when they are old, not when they are in their thirties and forties. Weird, huh? Could it mean we are really into one another?

MAAURICE: When Ann-Margret looks deeply inside herself, does she know if there's anything you really want to do more than anything in the whole world?

ANN-MARGRET: Yes....I want to have a baby.

MAURICE: If you have a baby, will you retire?

ANN-MARGRET: That depends. If my career disrupts anything in my having a child and raising it properly and everything, then I will stop having a career because I don't want anyone raising my child except me?

MAURICE: What about your career? Has it given you enough? Does it mean a great deal to you?

ANN-MARGRET: Yes, it does because I have a lot of very deep wounds from what people have said about me. I've done 22 pictures in ten years and there were several of them that a lot of people said were bad – and they were right but some of these people went out of their way to be cruel and I feel sorry for them. They're sad. I'm happiest for my parents and for my husband and his partner, Allan (Carr), and for all the fans who've had faith in me through all these years. That's what I'm happy about.

MAURICE: What's the greatest lesson you've learned in life?

ANN-MARGRET: The greatest lesson is to love one man and to be loved by one man. That has made me alive for every single day.

MAURICE: What are some things you've never done that you'd like to do?

ANN-MARGRET: I'm not sure I know what I want to do but let me think about things I've never done. I have never been divorced, made Swedish meatballs, baked a cake, or played on Broadway

MAURICE: How does Roger feel about being married to a sex symbol?

ANN-MARGRET: Roger sometimes has to forget he's my husband. Some of those costumes, you know...or if he's in an audience and people shout out something. A while ago, we were in a nightclub – we were just there, I wasn't performing – and this strange guy came up to me. He was very drunk; he asked me to dance and started touching my hair. Roger got him up against the wall. We had to leave in a hurry. Things like that happen because of my image. We try to avoid situations like that.

FOR 'PLUM' POST

Ching Resigning As Fund Raiser For Ford

By BOB BARR
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — A Honolulu real estate developer whose work for the Republican party helped him win a "plum" government post says he's resigning as a fund raiser for President Ford to avoid a possible conflict of interest with his new job.

Hung Wai Ching, 71, a member of the Postal Service board of governors, said Friday that he has resigned as Ford's finance chairman in Hawaii and is also divesting himself of 1,000 shares in Aloha Airlines.

Aloha Airlines, an intrastate carrier, received $218,399 in 1975 for carrying mail. Ching's brother, Hung Wo Ching, is chairman of the airline's board of directors.

Ching was nominated for the postal board by his high school classmate, Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, the ranking member of the Senate postal committee. He was confirmed by the Senate without debate last week.

"It could be interpreted as a political appointment, since my name was sent to the President by Sen. Fong," Ching said. "But I certainly do not intend to let political considerations dictate my activities as a board member."

Ching said his nomination was also supported by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii.

Fong, who supported legislation intended to remove politics from the Postal Service, said that politics counted in the Ching nomination.

"He has worked very hard for the party," said Fong. "That was one of the things I thought of, along with his other activities."

The Postal governors, whose members meet once a month. They are paid $10,000 a year plus $300 for every meeting they attend.

George B. Gould, staff director of the House Postal facilities subcommittee in Washington, said the governorships are "political plums."

"They fly here (Washington) once a month, meet for a few hours, pick up their paychecks and fly home again," Gould said.

One of the stated goals of the postal reorganization was to remove politics from the mail service. Previously, members of Congress controlled appointments of postmasters in their districts. The job of postmaster geneaal frequently was a reward that went to the president's campaign manager.

In a Senate speech on Aug. 30, 1970, Fong urged senate approval of the reorganization bill. He vowed that the bill would "eliminate politics from the Post Office Department as we have seen it operate." Since then, Fong has acknowledged selecting White House nominees to the board and the Postal Rate Commission.

Snyderite Is In Advanced Navy Program

Mac Wellborn, a 1976 graduate of Snyder High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wellborn, 3003 Thirty-third Street, has enlisted in the U.S. Navy's delayed entry program and will enter the advanced electronics field, Steve Lawhon, local area Navy Recruiter, has announced.

By qualifying for the advanced electronics field, Wellborn will enter the Navy at an advanced pay grade which means well above starting pay and he will have opportunity for quicker advancement in the future.

He has elected to undergo recruit training at San Diego, Calif., and will report for active duty on Sept. 20. Following recruit training, he will study the fundamentals of electricity and the applications of transistors, tubes, magnetic amplifiers and synchro-servo remote control systems. As he proceeds through the program more advanced courses will be taught, including radar, special circuits and analog and digital computer fundamentals.

"The advanced electronics training Wellborn will receive will be equivalent to several years of college level technical studies," said Lawhon. "The advanced electronics training provided by the U.S. Navy costs approximately $17,000 to $20,000."

Band Marching Rehearsal Set

All members of the Snyder High School band will have a special marching rehearsal Tuesday night, Director Don Eiring has announced.

The rehearsal is set for 7 p.m. and all band members, grades 9 through 12, are to meet. Drummers will meet at 6:30 p.m. The rehearsal will be without instruments, and Eiring said it is important that all members of the band attend.

THE COMMITTEE FOR CONCERNED CITIZENS

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM THOMAS WADLEIGH

(Photo by Raun's)

Price, Wadleigh Wed In Garden Ceremony June 26

Miss Karen Kay Price became the bride of William Thomas Wadleigh June 26th at 6:30 p.m. in a garden wedding at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Bobby Goodwin, Justice of the Peace, performed the double ring ceremony beneath an archway entwined with ivy and daisies.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Price, 305 Thirty-sixth Place and Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Wadleigh, 3305 Fortieth St.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown fashioned by her sister, Mrs. Lowell Martin. The bride carried a bouquet of mixed spring flowers.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Lowell Martin, of Odessa, was matron of honor. Her gown, fashioned after that of the bride, was baby blue.

Gary Hicks served as best man.

The bride's brother, Randy Price, played the guitar and sang a song he has written for the wedding.

Following the wedding ceremony, parents of the bridegroom hosted a dinner for the wedding party and guests. The two tiered wedding cake was decorated in blue.

For the wedding trip to the Dallas-Ft. Worth area, the bride chose a light blue pant suit.

The couple will be at home at 3210 Fortieth St.

The bride is a 1975 graduate of Snyder High School and attended Western Texas College. Her husband, also a Snyder High School graduate, attended WTC and plans to continue his education there in the fall. He is employed by Wadleigh Construction.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were from Ft. Stockton, Merkel, Houston, Gladewater and Odessa.

Boley, Harris Vows Solemnized

Wedding vows were exchanged between Miss Karen Elizabeth Boley and Chris Leon Harris July 23 at 7 p.m. at the Avenue D Baptist Church. Rev. George Magner, pastor of Lakeview Baptist Church, San Angelo, performed the double ring ceremony. The altar setting was composed of two seven branch candleabras with baskets of flowers on either side.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie A. Boley of Snyder. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harris of Victoria.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of polyester organza with a ruffled sheer yoke bodice, fitted sleeves and flounce hem in chantilly lace. Full lace panel trimmed the front of the skirt. A triple tiered chapel mantilla trimmed in matching chantilly lace completed her attire.

The bride carried a bouquet of yellow roses, white pompom daisies entwined with English ivy.

Mrs. Keith Arnold of Dallas, was matron of honor. She wore a yellow formal gown featuring a lace capelet and carried a single long stemmed yellow rose.

Trina Baldwin of Snyder, was flower girl. She wore a yellow and orange floral gown with a lace bodice.

Bridesmaids were Pamela Harris, sister of the groom, of Victoria, Vicki Strickland, of Snyder, Sandra Boley, sister of the bride, Snyder. They wore orange gowns fashioned after that of the maid of honor.

Todd Odom, of Snyder, was ring bearer. Candlelighters were Steven Boley, brother of the bride and Curtis Harris, brother of the groom of Victoria.

Keith Arnold, of Dallas, was best man. Groomsmen were Gary Hall, Lubbock, Ricky Fagan, Lake Jackson, and Ronald A. Boley, brother of the bride, of Snyder.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Boley chose a formal length gown of floral print in shades of pink. The bridegroom's mother wore a baby blue sleeveless long formal with matching jacket. Both mothers were presented with a long stem yellow rose by the bride. They wore corsages of pink carnations.

Robbie Guinn, pianist, played traditional musical selections including "Romeo and Juliet" and "Theme From Love Story." He accompanied the groom as he sang "Love Theme From Spirit of '76," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. A memory candle centered the bride's table. The three tier wedding cake was decorated in yellow and orange flowers and topped with two doves. Presiding at the table were Sharon Strickland, Sarah Galleogos and Angel Brumley.

The groom's talbe was centered with a basket of daisies. A German chocolate cake was served.

Kelly Everton registered wedding gueests.

The bride chose a multi-colored striped dress, as her going away outfit for the wedding trip to Lubbock.

The couple will reside at Grand Prairie.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Snyder High School and graduated from Western Texas Vocational School of Nursing in 1975. Harris graduated from Texas Tech University in 1976 with a Bachelor of Music Education degree.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were from Dallas, Victoria, Lubbock, Lake Jackson, San Angelo, Vincent, Freeport, and Aberdeen, Scotland.

CHIVE VINEGAR

Wash the chive spears and pat or shake them thoroughly dry. Cut them into 1-inch lengths and pack them loosely into a scalded wide-mouthed jar. Bruise the chives thoroughly with the handle of a wooden spoon or other wooden implement, freeing as much juice as possible. Bring to a boil enough white wine vinegar (or, if you can get it, Japanese rice vinegar) to fill the jar almost to the top. Pour in the vinegar, let it cool, then cover the jar closely. Let the chives and vinegar stand for at least a week, giving the jar a shake when you think of it. When the flavor is strong enough to please you, strain out of the chives and filter the vinegar into a clean bottle through funnel lined with filter paper. Cork or cap the vinegar, using an enamel-lined or glass lid, and store at room temperature. Helen Witty, who edited "The Garden-to-Table Cookbook" (McGraw-Hill), contributed this worthwhile recipe to it. She uses 1 part of the vinegar to 2 or 3 parts oil with salt and pepper to taste as a dressing for garden lettuce.

Nowadays Lebanon bologna comes in vacuum-sealed packages. Sliced, the bologna makes a good addition to a platter of cold meat to be served for a summer supper.

Home Is City

WICHITA, KAN. (AP) — A sign reads: "Welcome to Kenyon City. Mayor Bill Kenyon. Population: 11."

Kenyon City is not really a city. It's the five acres of land occupied by Kenyon and his family.

The idea of calling the family estate a city came to them six years ago when Kenyon and his family moved into the area.

"Well, we were 11 city folks who didn't know the first thing about country living. We decided to make a fun project out of something that could have been a drag," Kenyon said.

"My daughter and I both wanted to be the mayor," he said, "so I waited until she went on a trip to Hawaii to hold the election. I won 5 to 3.

"We've even got a key to the city," he added. "It's about a foot long and covered with aluminum foil. We present it to all visiting dignitaries. We present it to about anybody who visits."

Since his daughter and her children moved to Wichita, the town's population has stood at eight.

Soft cheese such as cottage and cream should be served cold from the refrigerator. Semi-soft cheese tastes best when served at room temperature.

Make Sauerkraut To Preserve Extra Cabbage

COLLEGE STATION— Making sauerkraut may be the answer for home gardeners with more cabbage than the family can eat fresh.

Sauerkraut is an economical source of Vitamin C and adds a zesty taste to family meals, Mrs. Sally Coble, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

Select firm, sound heads of cabbage. About one pound of cabbage fills one pint of kraut.

Remove the outside green and dirty leaves. Wash well. If worms are present, soak in four tablespoon salt per gallon of water for 30 minutes. Quarter the head shred the cabbage finely.

Put five pounds cabbage and two ounces (three and one-half tablespoons) of salt into a large pan and mix with the hands. Pack gently into the crock with a potato masher. Repeat until crock is nearly full. Cover with a cloth, plate and weight. During the curing process, kraut requires daily attention. Remove scum as it forms and wash and scald the cloth often to keep it free from scum and mold. Fermentation will be complete in 10-12 days, she said.

As soon as kraut is thoroughly cured, pack into sterilized jars, adding enough of the kraut juice, or a weak brine made by dissolving two tablespoons salt to a quart of waer, to fill jars to within one-half inch of top. Put on cap, screw band firmly tight. Process in boiling water bath 15 minutes.

To avoid peeping bra straps under a tank top, wear a strapless bandeau bra.

MRS. RANDY ARNOLD GILL

Cole, Gill United In Double Ring Ceremony At Rankin

The altar of the Rankin First United Methodist Church was a profusion of candlelight, greenery, and white summer blossoms for the formal wedding of Deborah Kay Cole and Randy A. Gill August 14 at 7:30 p.m. David Brown, Church of Christ minister from Garden City, performed the double ring ceremony.

Vows were spoken under an archway interwoven with Lily of the Valley and boxwood garlands, topped with wedding bells and white satin ribbons. The arch was flanked on either side with candleabrum holding tall white Cathedral tapers and accented with Lily of the Valley satin bows. Grecian urns holding sunburst arrangements of white gladioli, emerald foliage and white satin ribbons on pedestals completed the altar arrangement. Family pews were marked with white satin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Benjamin Cole of Rankin. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mary Gill of Fluvanna, and Don Gill, Ft. Sumner, New Mexico.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory silk organza gown with accents of alencon lace, pearls and French crystals. The fitted bodice featuring an English illusion yoke and the lace overlay was encrusted with pearls. The slim sleeves softly flared at the wrists and were closed with tiny covered buttons. Lace, pearls and crystals traced the waist and contoured lace neckline. The back closure featured tiny covered buttons. The A-line skirt flowed softly into a chapel length train and the entire creation was edged in lace and pearls at the hemline and train. Her mantilla veil of Ivory French illusion featured three bouffant tiers framing the face from a matching lace, pearl and crystal camelot. The bride carried a cascade of white rosebuds, rainbow colored carnations, and baby's breath with a removable ivory orchid in the center.

Mrs. Kenneth Boyd of Lubbock, was matron of honor. Theresa Wilson, of Lamesa served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Susan Cole, sister of the bride, of Rankin, and Mrs. Roger Snow of Midland. Each attendant wore a long princess style crepe dress featuring a sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves, and a ruffle at the hemline. Each wore a different color of the rainbow and each wore a natural straw picture hat and carried a natural straw basket with fresh cut clowers in rainbow colors.

Lisa Forde of Midland, was flower girl. Shw wore a pink crepe dress resembling the bridesmaids and carried a basket of natural straw with rose petals.

Steven Cole, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. He wore a charcoal tuxedo with a pink shirt.

Richard Gill, of San Angelo, served as his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Ronald Gill, brother of the bridegroom, of Fluvanna, Mike White, of San Angelo and Jerry D. Franklin of Lamesa. Ushers were Terry Stark of San Angelo, and Donnie Cole, brother of the bride, of Rankin. The attendants wore charcoal tuxedos with shirts in rainbow colors.

Mrs. Glenn Williford, soloist, presented selections including "Love Story," "Twelfth of Never, "Cherish." Mrs. James Goble accompanied.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Serving in the houseparty were Debbie Dahl of Ft. Worth; Sheila Ellingson, Ft. Worth; Pam Riley, San Antonio; Priscilla Halsey, Lubbock; Deanna Ellis, El Paso; Mrs. Larry Miller, Odessa; Mrs. Johnny King, McCamey; Mrs. Ed Harris, Mrs. John Kevil, Mrs. Willis Wooman and Mrs. Jack Garner, all of Rankin.

The bride has attended Midland College, UTPB and Angelo State University. She is presently a senior student at ASU majoring in biology. Her husband, a graduate of Angelo State University, is presently employed as a County Extension Agent for Quay County, New Mexico.

What's new on the market?

THE PRODUCT — An electric stapler for the do-it-yourselfer.

Manufacturer's claim — That this stapler does away with the strong hand-squeezing sometimes required for conventional staplers, yet is rugged enough for remodeling jobs ... that the machine drives staples with a push of a button ... that there are five different types of staples which fit the staple gun ... and that, because of the stapler's nose construction, it places staples more accurately than most hand-powered staplers.

THE PRODUCT — A water-based contact cement.

Manufacturer's claim — That this cement is non-flammable and can be used for bonding decorative laminates, plywood panels, wallboard, wood veneer, plaster board and other materials ... that it can be applied with a brush, roller or trowel ... that it is heat and shock-resistant and unaffected by most household and cleaning chemicals ... and that it contains no volatile solvents and produces no toxic fumes or objectionable odors.

THE PRODUCT — Double-cut metal snips.

Manufacturer's claim — That in addition to cutting flat sheet metal easily, these snips have an extra sharp punching tip for self-starting cuts anywhere you want to make a hole ... that they can be used for cutting square, round or rectangular openings in downspouts and air conditioning units ... and that plastic contoured offset handle grips make the work almost effortless.

(The electric stapler is manufactured by Duo-Fast Corp., 3702 River Road, Franklin Park, Ill., 60131; the contact cement by the 3M Co., 135 West 50th St., New York, N. Sometimes it pays to go after overtricks in match-point play. On other occasions declarer should give the hand the same play that he would in rubber bridge. The test is to compare the possible results at your contract with those that will be attained by other declarers.

South saw that if the heart finesse was on he would make six diamonds. He would win the first trick with the queen of hearts, knock out the ace of trumps, draw trumps, discard two of dummy's spades on the long clubs and eventually ruff his jack of spaes in dummy.

South also saw that irrespective of where the heart and spade kings were located, North could make at least four notrump.

Therefore, South reasoned that his only chance for any match points at all would be to play safe for five diamonds and beat anyone who reached six and found the heart finesse wrong.

So South called for dummy's ace of hearts, went after trumps and made his contract right on the nose. It didn't do him much good, but at least it worked out better than finessing the heart, losing the spade finesse if East shifted to a spade and winding up in the ash can.

Girl Scouts Help National Economy

Twenty-three Girl Scouts have returned to West Texas from summer trips offered as WIDER OPPORTUNITIES. They have come home laden with hundreds of dollars worth of T-shirts, color slides, prints, souvenirs, postcards, brochures, books, and patches. A tentative count tallied 406 T-shirts, 158 rolls of film, and 75 patches. Toss in 88 long distance calls.

Washington tourist trade boomed during the week (July 25-Aug. 1) when 22 of the Scouts on the West Texas Council sponsored Bicentennial Wider Opportunity were visitors. The group stayed at Rockwood, the national G.S. center and from that base took daily trips to see the area attractions - the Capitol, the National Archives, the Mint, the Library of Congress, the White House, the Washington Monument, the Smithsonian, the F.B.I., Ford's Theater, the Lincoln Memorial, the John F. Kennedy Center for Performing Arts, Arlington National Cemetery, Mount Vernon, and many museums, restaurants, and gift shops.

Karen Shepard, Abilene, returned from the Denver Council's Wider Opportunity, CLIMB AND CANOE A MILE HIGH. The event was held July 22-Aug.5 in the Colorado Rocky Mountains at Granby, Colorado. Karen returned with pictures, patches, shirts, "swap" items, and countless (at least 70) addresses of new friends with whom to correspond.

Those going on tour from Snyder were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Voss, Jr., 2266 Sunset, coordinators; Pam Burris, Elizabeth Mijares and Diana Campbell.

MR. AND MRS. TERRY HUESTIS

Josey, Huestis Exchange Vows

Miss Linda Josey and Terry Huestis were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony July 3 at 8 p.m. at the Union Methodist Church. Rev. Cecil Tune, Methodist minister from Rotan, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bobbie Josey of Post. Mr. and Mrs. Gene Huestis of Denver City are parents of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her brother, Randy Josey of Post, the bride was adorned in floor length yellow double knit dress featuring a high necked collar with a lace trimmed yoke, with full sleeves coming to wide fitted cuffs accented with decorative buttons. She wore a cameo necklace and lavaliere belonging to the groom's grandmother. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies and wore the traditional blue garter, a gift of Mrs. Emily Collins.

Mrs. Jaynie Dickson of Post, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Linda Huestis of Denver City, sister of the groom, and Miss Glenda Vaughn, cousin of the groom, were bridesmaids. They wore identical floor length dresses of yellow floral knit, featuring the wide cape collar and empire waistline and trimmed in yellow lace. They carried bouquets of yellow mums.

Gene Huestis of Denver City, father of the groom, was best man with Randy Josey, brother of the bride and Stanley Cozart of Snyder, cousin of the groom, serving as groomsmen.

Mrs. Velma Earl of Guymon, Okla., cousin of the groom sang "Let It Be Me" and Mrs. Jeannie McKinney of Denver City, sister of the groom, sang "Annie's Song." They were accompanied at the piano by Johnny Cozart of Texhoma, Okla., cousin of the groom.

A reception followed in the Union Community Center. The serving table was laid with a white net cloth trimmed in lace over yellow. A yellow daisy arrangement centered the table. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with yellow scallops and roses, featuring a miniature bride and groom in the center tier with bells topping the cake.

Mrs. Emily Collins, Mrs. Alta Lynch, Mrs. Tolley Ramsey, Mrs. Buena Jackson and Mrs. Jackie Chastain, all of Snyder, assisted with serving.

Mrs. Ruth Ann Cozart of Texhoma, Okla., cousin of the groom, registered wedding guests.

Following a wedding trip to Mt. Rushmore and Canada, the couple will reside at Snyder where both are employed as teachers at the Snyder Junior High School.

Mrs. Huestis is a graduate of Post High School and West Texas State University at Canyon. Huestis is a graduate of Denver City High School and is also a graduate of West Texas State.

Out-of-town wedding guests were from Texhoma, Okla., Cisco, Alpine, Denver City, Post, Big Spring, Dublin and Abilene.

Dr. Lamb

Does she read too much?

By Lawrence E. Lamb. M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My husband is 58 years old and has to watch his cholesterol. He also has a tendency to diverticulosis. Many foods that are beneficial for one of these problems are detrimental to the other, making it difficult to provide him with a nutritious and delicious meal.

He takes Atromid-S for the cholesterol and Metamucil to keep his bowels moving, but we would both prefer a more natural and pleasant way of coping. When he asks his doctor about lecithin, bran, vitamins, they accuse his wife of "reading books" and throw the matter back into our laps.

I have been reading books, naturally, trying to respond to solving his dietary problems. But I don't know that I am reading the right books and have several questions that perhaps you can answer.

Should we consult a nutritionist or dietician to help us work out a satisfactory diet?

What about fiber? Salads? Grapefruit and oranges? Bran? Whole grain breads?

Is tongue okay? What about shellfish? Do mushrooms have any food value?

What books should I be reading?

DEAR READER—A diet for diverticulosis can be planned so it will also work for individuals with high cholesterol and high blood fat levels. In fact, the parts of the world free of heart and vascular disease are the same areas free of diverticulosis and cancer of the bowel. The diet is given credit by many for both of these benefits for these "less advanced societies."

Cereal fiber is the most important element in the diet to provide neeeded bulk. The cereal foods are low in fat and contain no cholesterol. A breakfast of cereal with fortified skim milk is a good way to start the day for such a diet plan.

I can't answer all your questions here so I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-6, Diverticulosis, to give you more information on that problem. Others who want this information can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Just address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

You'll need much more information on food in regard to building a diet for the cholesterol problem. My book, "What You Need to Know About Food and Cooking For Health" will give you recipes, food values such as those for mushrooms and shellfish and all other common foods and basic information on foods and menu planning. You should find it in your library.

Yes, I think you should see a dietitian for meal planning. And I do think you can use cereals and whole wheat breads, but you need to watch the calories. Weight control is very important in lowering choesterol. All excess fat must go. Tongue is fairly fat. Oysters and crab are fairly low in cholesterol but shrimp are moderately high. All shellfish are low in fat.

Mushrooms have very little food value unless you add a rich sauce to them. Salads are fine if you don't add a high calorie, high fat salad dressing. The entire fruit group is fine, but the small seeds such as in grapes might be avoided because of the diverticulosis. Keep on reading. Smart patients live longer.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am 15 years old and I am very serious about bodybuilding. My weight lifting book said the recommended daily allowance of protein is 70 grams and a starting bodybuilder needs at least 150 grams and a pro bodybuilder needs at least 250 grams.

I have been lifting weights for about a year and do not feel I am making any gains at all with regular daily vitamins, so I would like to know about protein tablets and if they are good for a person who is interested in building bodies.

DEAR READER—There is a lot to be said for developing a good strong body and proper weight training will help. Many coaches use it to improve the capability of athletes, specifically to develop strength.

If you watch any of the weight lifting competition you will see that a lot of relatively small men are major competitors.

The point is that a person with a small build does not need to, and will not necessarily develop the huge bulging muscles you see in some parts of the bodybuilding trade. Some of those individuals are not strong but rather make a good appearance. Some have considerable fat in the body, directly attributed to unhealthy eating and training methods.

Your book is in league with the cult to sell protein powders and protein supplements. It is not based on facts. A pound of lean muscle, devoid of fat, contains only 100 grams of protein. About 75 per cent of its weight is water. The latest protein requirements show that the most a growing boy of your age needs is about 54 grams of good quality protein a day. If you gained a pound of muscle a week that would mean you would need an additional 100 grams of protein intake a week. That is less than 15 grams additional protein a day to meet your goal. If you doubled that amount to be sure you had enough you would still be well under a 100 grams of protein a day requirement.

Extra protein is used as calories or stored as fat. Those high-calorie, high-fat diets advocated by some bodybuilding cults are dangerous to your health and border on plain fraud. Whenever I find someone in the bodybuilding business recommending large, excessive intakes of proteins I know he doesn't know much about the business or is selling protein supplements. A few well meaning people don't know the mathematics involved.

The trick to improving your muscle strength and muscle size is how you train, as long as you have a good balanced diet with as much as 100 grams of good protein a day. I would guess that may be your problem. Learn to lift weights properly and learn what you can expect out of the number of times you lift your near maximum capacity.

It doesn't do any good to overtrain. You can only grow muscles so fast and beyond that limit the extra exercise will merely increase your endurance. This isn't bad but may slow up the muscle growth.

I'd like you to have a sound appreciation for what you can expect from weight training so I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-4, Weight Training for Energy and Weight Control. Others who want this information can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Address your letter to me in care of this nespaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It also explains why weight training can make it easier to prevent obesity or to correct it.

FBI On Roselli Case Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI will try to determine whether mobster John Roselli was murdered because of his Senate testimony about CIA plots to kill Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi late Friday "authorized the FBI to enter the Roselli homicide case," said Justice Department spokesman Robert Havel.

Roselli's body was found stuffed in a chain-wrapped oil drum in Biscayne Bay off the Florida coast last weekend.

He had told Senate investigators about his role in a CIA plan to use Mafia figures to assassinate Castro. The plot was never carried out. Levi's decision followed requests from Senate intelligence committee members who urged the department to take over the investigation.

Department attorneys had ruled earlier that the FBI had no jurisdiction because there were no apparent violations of federal law in the slaying of Roselli. Murder is not usually a federal crime.

Levi has now decided to launch the FBI probe under a federal law that makes it a crime to obstruct proceedings before congressional committees, Havel said.

Roselli once was the West Coast lieutenant of Chicago mobster Sam Giancana, who also was involved in the CIA plot against Castro.

Giancana was murdered in his Chicago home in June 1975, just before he was to have been summoned to testify before Senate investigators.

The Giacana murder has never been solved.

Cold? Turn Color Up

People have long been vaguely aware of how colors can influence their moods. Only recently, however, has much scientific attention been directed to the subject.

One manufacturer of paint and wall coverings, for example, has just completed a study on the psychology of color which it hopes will be an aid to those who make decorating decisions in offices and such institutions as hospitals.

According to United-DeSoto, Inc., the study "shows conclusively" that yellow is cheerful, red is exciting, green is relaxing, blue is restful and violet is just plain depressing - to most people, anyway. Beyond setting a mood, the correct colors can also create the illusion of size in a small room or intimacy in a large room

Color and room decor have other psychological effects. During a series of tests at the Institute for Environmental Research at Kansas State University, scientists noticed that people said they felt colder in a small, white-painted and starkly furnished chamber than they did in a large chamber, even though the temperatures were identical.

When the small chamber was remodeled with wood paneling, a rich red carpet, indirect lighting, pictures on the walls and upholstered chairs, a second test group felt warmer than the first group. In fact, the remodeling was equivalent to raising the temperature 2.5 degrees, estimates Dr. Frederick H. Rholes, director of the institute.

"The people were not actually warmer," he says. "They just felt warmer - a type of psychological warmth."

The finding, he thinks, may have "tremendous implications" in terms of energy conservation.

Space Litter Growing

Satellite trackers of the North American Air Defense Command are marking 15 years of watching things go around in circles.

NORAD's Space Defense Center began functioning in Colorado Springs July 1, 1961, nearly four years after the Soviets launched the first satellite. Since then it has tallied a steady increase in man-made hardware in space.

The center's log currently shows a total of more than 8,000 objects that have been launched. Of these, 3,910 are still in space, while the rest have fallen out of orbit and disintegrated in the atmosphere. Only 862 of the still-orbiting objects are payloads (instrument packages). The other 3,048 are classified as debris, including rocket motors, tether cables and other assorted pieces of junk.

Although orbiting space objects return to earth at the rate of about one a day, the gain in new satellites is greater than the loss, and NORAD analysts predict a continuing boom in space traffic. A satellite population forecast computed by NORAD indicates that in another 15 years, the in-space count will top 7,200 and that by the year 2000 there could be 10,000 objects of all shapes and sizes whirling about overhead.

Doldrums Evident In Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — Evidence that economic growth is in the doldrums accumulated this past week from government and private sources.

"We're getting fairly good inflation figures now but we're doing it at a cost of slow growth," said one economist whose view was widely shared.

A quarterly survey of 1,694 corporations by Citibank showed second quarter profits were 30 per cent ahead of the comparable year-earlier period but little changed from the first quarter. And the sluggishness may continue into the third quarter.

July wholesale prices advanced .3 per cent from June, the third month of small price increases.

But the growth was too slow to reduce the unemployment rate. The government's July jobless statistics showed unemployment at 7.8 per cent, up from 7.5 per cent in June, because the number of job seekers coming into the labor market rose faster than the number of jobs.

The weakest sector appears to be inventories, up $3.33 billion in June. It was the biggest jump for inventories in 18 months and the sixth straight month in which production exceeded sales and goods piled up in the warehouses.

The inventory figure isn't likely to improve much when July figures come out next month unless it is offset by a drop in production.

Retail sales in July slowed 1.2 per cent from June, the second significant drop in three months.

In energy development, the search for oil and gas in the Atlantic Ocean may be slower than anticipated.

Friday, a federal judge temporarily blocked the sale of government oil and natural gas leases off New York and New Jersey coasts.

Illness At Nursing Home Not Diagnosed

BOYNTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Four deaths at a nursing home may have been caused by an affliction as common as a summer cold, health officials said today. But the illness which has stricken 20 others at the home here on South Florida's Gold Coast has not been diagnosed.

After the deaths Thursday and Friday at the Boulevard Manor Nursing Home, the 91-patient facility was quarantined and the ill residents were isolated. Medical teams rushed from the home to laboratories in Jacksonville, West Palm Beach and Atlanta with blood and urine samples, throat swabs and X rays.

Health officials said that the symptoms of the disease — high temperatures, lethargy, sore throats and coughing — were too general to point to any specific illness. They said it might be days before test results establish what disease is involved.

"It's entirely possible that it's something as simple as a cold," said chief state virologist Elsie E. Buff.

Officials also said they doubt there is a connection between the illness and the mysterious "legionnaires' disease" that caused 24 deaths after a recent American Legion convention in Philadelphia.

Dr. James Howell, assistant director of the Palm Beach County preventive medicine department, said the symptoms resembled swine flu, but he emphasized that "one virus is no better guess than any other at this point."

Dr. David J. Sencer of the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, said, "We have no reason to believe this is infectious, but we've been asked to investigate and we are."

"We first have to rule out heat exhaustion," he said.

Howell said the home's air-conditioning system had been working poorly for two months, and that a sanitarian was investigating whether the sweltering rooms might have helped a virus to spread through the residents.

Doctors monitored the vital signs of all residents every four hours. Two aides who were stricken were sent home Thursday.

The dead were identified as Marion Wallace, 75, of Delray Beach; Claude Ross, 69, and Clarissa Richardson, 73, both of Boynton Beach; and Emily Smith, 83.

It was the second outbreak of illness at the nursing home in six months. In March, 19 people were ill with high fevers in what doctors called a flu outbreak. All survived.

Earlier this year, an outbreak of flu hit a nursing home in St. Petersburg, killing 28 patients.

Course Listed Incorrectly

One of the courses scheduled for the fall semester at the Snyder Study Center of Sull Ross State University was listed incorrectly in schedules released earlier.

The course is History 5310, Seminar in American History. It had been listed as Seminar in Southwestern History.

Registration for the classes will begin at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Western Texas College Administration Building and will continue through Sept. 1 during regular business hours.

Trudeaus To Europe, Mideast

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and his wife Margaret are leaving Ottawa on Sunday for a two-to three-week vacation in Europe and the Middle East.

A spokesman for Trudeau said Friday the couple will begin their holiday on an Adriatic cruise as guests of the Aga Khan, well-known jetsetter and head of a Moslem religious order.

A call on the Yugoslavian Prime Minister is on the itinerary before a visit to Amman, where King Hussein and Queen Alia of Jordan will entertain the Trudeaus. The couple will then make stops in Israel and Italy before returning to Ottawa in early September, the spokesman said.

Traffic Deaths Are Down 5%

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas motor deaths and fatal accidents are each down five per cent for the year, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday.

So far this year, there have been 1,867 traffic deaths on streets and highways compared to 1,975 in 1975 for the same period.

There have been 1,605 accidents in which deaths occurred, compared to 1,685 for the same period last year.

NRC Curtails Nuclear Plants

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nuclear Regulatory Commission says it is sharply curtailing operations at new nuclear power plants and banning further plant construction until it re-evaluates environmental dangers posed by fuel reprocessing and handling of atomic wastes.

While the NRC action will not affect those nuclear plants already producing electricity, it places a moratorium on new construction and limits newly constructed plants to producing only 1 per cent of their capacity.

Those restrictions will be enforced until the study is completed, which is expected to be Sept. 30.

If its study finds that present rules inadequately deal with fuel reprocessing and waste disposal, new regulations will be drafted for the nation's 59 nuclear plants licensed for full operation, an NRC spokesman said.

The action announced Friday by Bernard Rusche, director of the NRC's Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation, is in response to a pair of U.S. Court of Appeals decisions last July 21 saying the commission didn't pay enough attention to environmental issues in granting licenses to plants in Vermont and Michigan.

"The whole area of fuel reprocessing and waste management has been looked at for the last few years, and we have accumulated a lot of information since those cases in 1973 and '74," an NRC spokesman said.

"That's why we think we can compile the information in a relatively short time and come up with the answers — whether or not we need a new set of regulations."

Peter Strauss, NRC general counsel, said during Friday's news briefing that the commission had begun examining its regulations when the court ruled. "We did start the review some time ago, but we didn't start it in the particular form that the court of appeals called for," he said.

The two cases involved an operating license for the Vermont Yankee Power Corp. plant at Vernon, Vt., and a construction license for Consumer Power Co.'s Midland, Mich., station.

In the Michigan case, the court ordered the NRC also to consider whether energy conservation programs might be an alternative to building a nuclear power plant.

HEALTH TIP

Few infants at birth have hereditary or congenital defects of the feet. Yet by age 10, 50 percent of youngsters have developed some king of foot defect, and at age 20, we find a shocking 80 per cent with foot disorders or defects. This includes corns, callouses, bunions, hammer toes and fallen arches. A major cause of these foot abnormalities is misfitted shoes. It is surprising how much foot damage can result from only one pair of misfit shoes. Naturally, outgrown shoes, or shoes that are fitted too small are the worst offenders. Parents should use great care to see that children's shoes are properly fitted.

Fifty Black Leaders Arrested

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Police have arrested at least 50 black leaders in a nationwide crackdown on black nationalist groups following rioting in which 29 persons died and 100 others were injured, black sources said.

Police were on nationwide alert for the third day today. Authorities rushed reinforcements Friday to Cape Town, scene of the violence. The minister of police warned black nationalists not to foment trouble and promised a better deal for blacks.

A few small outbreaks of violence were reported Friday after two days of bloody rioting in black townships outside Cape Town. Most of the deaths came as police fired on blacks.

Gen. Jan Visser, head of the 130 police reinforcements flown to Cape Town from Johannesburg, said, "I have been sent down to put a stop to the rioting here and that is just what I am going to do." He said 25 per cent of those who died had been killed by their own people.

Gen. Gert Prinsloo, South Africa's police commissioner, confirmed in Pretoria that a number of blacks were being held under the recently enacted Internal Security Act but declined to give details. The act provides for detention without trial.

Black sources said those arrested were mostly leaders of black nationalist groups, including Mrs. Winnie Mandela, 42, wife of imprisoned black nationalist Nelson Mandela and a member of the Black Parents Association in Soweto. Soweto is the huge black township near Johannesburg were rioting that killed 176 persons began, in June.

Nelson Mandela, now serving a life term in prison, heads the banned African National Congress.

HOME AGAIN, SCARS AND ALL—Dallas Cowboys' Quarterback Roger Staubach, holds his son, Jeff, one-and-a-half years old, on Roger's return to Dallas, Friday. Roger displays bandage over his left eye that covers 9 stitches. The Dallas quarterback was struck by another Cowboy quarterback, Clint Longley, in the dressing room at Thousand Oaks, Calif., training camp Thursday. Longley left camp shortly thereafter. Head Coach Tom Landry said Longley will be accommodated by a trade as soon as possible. (AP Wirephoto)

Longley Staubach Feud Continuing To Simmer

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach and his former backup, Clint Longley, have respect for each other's football abilities.

But that's about as far as it goes.

"I hate the guy," says Longley.

"I'd love to take a lie detector test with him," says Staubach.

The feud came to a boil Thursday when the pair had their second fistfight of the week at the Cowboys Thousand Oaks, Calif., training camp.

Each has his own version of the fight, and each calls the other's version a lie.

After the Thursday fight, Longley left the camp and departed for parts unknown. He was suspended by Cowboy officials.

Friday night, he spoke with the Abilene, Tex., Reporter-News, in a copyright interview from an undisclosed location in Albuquerque, N.M.

His version of the fight: "Staubach shoved a chair in my direction. He was wearing his shoulder pads, but they weren't covering his eyes. We were standinng face-to-face and I hit him. I didn't send out a red flag or anything, but I didn't ambush him, either. The blow cut him." Staubach received a cut over his left eve that required nine stitches.

Staubach's version: "He hit me when I wasn't looking. I was putting my shoulder pads on. He did not say anything. He hit me and I kind of turned my head and hit it on the scale, and that's what caused the cut. There was even blood on the scale. Push chairs at him! He is an outright liar. He is just trying to justify being gutless."

Longley said he was invited to the first fight and provoked into the second. "If Roger wants me, I'll be in Dallas next week and he knows where he can find me. If he wants to go 15 rounds in Memorial Auditorium he can even promote it," Longley said.

Staubach said such a fight would be ridiculous. "It wouldn't even be worth my time. He could have challenged me right there in the locker room and we would have had it out," Staubach said.

"There aren't many guys in the National Football League I could handle," Staubach added, "but I could handle Longley."

According to Longley, the feud is strictly personal. "Staubach is an excellent football player, but we just get on each other's nerves. I haven't been speaking to Roger for a long time. I've tried to stay away from him at camp."

Longley had said that Staubach was "on his case" and acting like a coach.

"I guess that comes from the laps thing," Staubach said. "We're supposed to run two laps before practice and Longley was cheating. I told him that as a quarterback he shouldn't do that. That the guys knew he wasn't running and that he would lose their respect in the huddle."

Longley said he doesn't regret what he did.

"I knew I was taking on a very powerful guy in a very powerful organization," said Longley, "but I had to do what I felt I had to do. Even after the first incident I knew another incident was going to happen, so there wasn't any need to wait.

"If I went back to the Cowboys we'd go at each other again. I have nothing against the Dallas Cowboys. I think they have a very fine organization, but this thing is too personal."

Staubach said the Thursday's whole incident was premeditated by Longley.

"He had his bags all packed and all his money with him," Staubach said. "He once told (running back) Scott Laidlaw, 'the way to get traded is to hit Staubach.' "

Staubach said Longley once told another player 'I'll never beat Staubach out. I hope he tears up his knee.'

Staubach agreed the first incident was probably provoked. Both confirmed that Longley had yelled something at receiver Drew Pearson.

"There's always comments being made that guys don't mean. We just kid around and cut each other down," Longley said.

"I won't even repeat what he said to Drew," Staubach said. "Drew didn't hear it, and I confronted Longley."

Staubach and Longley agreed that Staubach said to Longley: "One of these days someone is going to knock out your Easter Bunny teeth."

Staubach then invited Longley behind a baseball dugout, and the fight was on. Witnesses said Staubach was the clear winner, and Staubach said reports of that probably made Longley angry.

Staubach also says Longley has a "Danny White complex." White is the former World Football League quarterback who is now the Dallas second-string quarterback and first-string punter.

"He (Longley) knew he was going to be the third-string quarterback. Danny White is going to be one of the premier quarterbacks in the NFL," Staubach said.

"I don't want to play with the Cowboys as long as Roger is on the team," Longley said. "They can trade me or waive me. I don't care."

Head Coach Tom Landry said he would try to accommodate Longley.

Oiler Players Are Stricken

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Oilers canceled a scheduled afternoon meeting Friday after several layers were stricken with what was described as a mild stomach disorder.

Among those mssing a brief morning workout were quarterback Dan Pastorini, tackle Greg Sampson, cornerback Zeke Moore and defensive end Albert Burton.

Several other players participated in the drill despite reporting symptoms that included vomiting and diarrhea.

Plager Is Named Kansas City Coach

KANSAS CITY (AP) — St. Louis Blues defenseman Barclay Plager was named Friday as player-coach of the National Hockey League club's new Kansas City minor league team.

Plager, 35, played his entire nine-year NHL career with the Blues where he was a league all-star four times and team captain 2½ years.

The Kansas City team, which will compete in the Central Hockey League, was chosen as a St. Louis farm club after the Blues dropped their Providence team in the American Hockey League.

Plumb Signed By Stingers

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Stingers have signed defenseman Ron Plumb to a new five-year contract, accorrding to officials of the World Hockey Association club.

Plumb, a No. 1 draft choice by the Boston Bruins in 1970, had two years left on his existing contract.

Booster Club Meeting Set

The Snyder Booster Club will hold its first meeting of the new season Tuesday night.

Bill Sikes, president of the organization, said that a meeting has been set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the high school cafeteria. Coach Mike Jenkins and his staff, and the varsity football team are due to be on hand, and all Booster Club members have urged to attend.

Snyder Girls Defeat Dallas

The Snyder All-Stars downed the Dallas Demons, 9-5, Saturday morning in the second round of the State Miss Softball America Minor League Tournament in Sweetwater.

The Snyder team which which drew a bye in the first round, was to face Sweetwater in a semi-final game at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Finals in the tournament are set for 2 p.m. Sunday.

Bunny Roe, Kelly Jones and LaDonna Halford each hit a triple for Snyder's team. Robyn Harlin was the winning pitcher.

Madden Is Pleased, But Doubts Jets Were Ready

NEW YORK (AP) — John Madden, coach of the Oakland Raiders, was satisfied with the result of his team's 41-17 preseason victory over the New York Jets Friday night. But he said he couldn't see what purpose the National Football League exhibition served.

"We were so far ahead at the half (34-10) that it was all downhill after that," Madden said. "It was a matter of just getting the game over with. (Quarterback) Kenny Stabler was given great protection by our offensive line in the first quarter, but did it really mean anything? The Jets had played Wednesday night. They couldn't have been ready."

The Jets, now 0-3, as compared to the Raiders 3-0, didn't use quarterback Joe Namath.

Instead the Jets used heralded rookie quarterback Richard Todd, who hit 18 of 35 passes and totalled 224 yards.

In the evening's only other preseason contest, the New Orleans Saints trimmed the Buffalo Bills 21-14.

Stabler directed the Raiders to two scores in the first period, during which Oakland controlled the ball for almost 11 minutes. The first TD, scored by Jess Phillips on a one-yard run, climaxed an 87-yard, 12-play drive.

The second drive covered 80 yards in 11 plays, with Pete Banaszak scoring on a 16-yard pass from Stabler and made the score 13-0.

The Raiders increased it early in the second period when Mark van Eeghen ripped 62 yards from the fullback slot.

The Raiders made it 27-0, still in the second quarter, when sub passer David Humm hit Mark Bradshaw for 12 yards. The Jets finally tallied with sub quarterback J.J. Jones driving his team 79 yards in seven plays and hitting Lou Piccone for 31 yards and a touchdown.

Charlie Smith got it back for Oakland with a five-yard run, then the Jets' at Leahy kicked a field goal to make it 34-10 at the half.

Saints 21, Bills 14

Backup quarterback Bobby Scott, making a bid for a starting berth, completed 15 of 21 passes for 144 yards and a touchdown to lead New Orleans over Buffalo. It was the Saints' second exhibition victory against one loss. Buffalo has yet to win in three games.

The Bills, trying to find a replacement for running back O.J. Simpson, scored both of their touchdowns in the second half, the final one coming with 55 seconds remaining in the game.

Sunday, Kansas City is at San Francisco and Green Bay travels to New England. On Monday, St. Louis and San Diego vie in Tokyo—the first NFL game played outside the North American continent—and Minnesota is at Cleveland.

Mom Agrees To Schedule Change

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — The Colorado State University junior varsity football team was scheduled to play Snow Junior College in Ephraim, Utah, on Oct. 15.

Snow's head coach telephoned CSU Coach Sark Arslanian to request a one-day delay to acco,modate Snow's homecoming activities.

"It's okay with me," Arslanian told Snow's coach, his son Dave. "But your mother was going to watch the game, then drive over to our game on Saturday. So if you want to change the game, you'll have to call and ask her permission."

Dave Arslanian did, Verlyn Arslanian gave her permission and the game was changed.

Season Ticket Renewals Due

Football fans who had season tickets to Snyder High School games last season have one more week to claim the same tickets for 1976.

Renewals are being accepted at the school administration office. The season tickets sell for $10 each, which is $2 per game for the five home games of the Snyder Tigers. Single game tickets will cost $2.50 each.

School officials have urged that those who wish to renew their season tickets do so as quickly as possible and if they do not intend to renew them, let the school know. There is a waiting list for those which may not be renewed.

Those who have already renewed their season tickets may pick them up at any time now at the school administration building.

Frosh Gridders To Begin Drills

The freshman football players will begin workouts tomorrow, reminds varsity coach Mike Jenkins.

Frosh gridders were issued gear Thursday and Friday.

Other Tiger players are continuing drills. The varsity and junior varsity squads began practicing August 9.

Green Ousted As Loop Commissioner

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — The Gulf States League awoke this morning and found it had a new commissioner.

In a series of post-midnight moves, Terry Ferrell, the owner of the Corpus Christi entry in the Class A league, led a move to oust Commissioner Howard Green and appoint himself as acting commissioner for the final two weeks of the season.

The move came two days after the 17 members of the Baton Rouge Cougars voted to disband for the rest of the season, which ends Aug. 28.

Ferrell made a series of phone calls to officials of the five remaining teams in the league early this morning and was able to get the three votes needed to oust Green and name himself acting commissioner.

"It was the best thing to do at this particular time," said Ferrell. "Howard (Green) lives in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and he is removed from the situation."

All of the remaining teams in the yearling league are situated in Southeast Texas.

Ferrell said he planned to take a plane to Baton Rouge today to personally attempt to reassemble the team that folded Wednesday night due to financial woes.

Ferrell said he, Rio Grande Valley White Wings' General Manager Ken Schnake and Beeville Bees' owner Tom Taylor supplied the three votes needed to oust Green.

He said Victoria General Manager Gary Davis approved of the move, but couldn't officially vote. Ferrell added that he was unable to contact the owner of the Victoria team.

Ferrell's first act as acting commissioner was to reinstate Beeville Manager Bob Leach, who had been indefinitely suspended by Green 11 days ago for striking an umpire.

UNHAPPY WITH PICK

Texas Delegates Loyal To Reagan

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' delegates went to the National Republican Convention still staunchly loyal to Ronald Reagan and still unhappy that he picked Sen. Richard Schweiker as his running mate.

At least some of the 100 per cent pro-Reagan delegation are likely to turn thumbs down on Schweiker for vice president even if he is recommended by the former California governor.

"We really don't know how it will turn out," said Ray Barnhart, Houston, delegation chairman, before departing for Kansas City.

Barnhart indicated a face-to-face talk with Reagan might change some delegates' minds.

The first delegation caucus is scheduled for 4 p.m. Sunday in Glenwood Manor, the state headquarters hotel, before the convention's formal opening on Monday.

Strangely missing from any pre-convention comment by departing delegates was any favorable comment about John B. Connally, who earlier had been selected by 47 per cent of the delegates to be Reagan's vice president in an Associated Press survey.

"What appeal has Connally got for me now that he has gone to Ford?" said one of the delegation leaders. "I put him in the category of Judas."

The delegation is predominantly white male Caucasian, middle-aged. Some say there is not a single black on the 100-member delegation. Barnhart says he has never checked and does not know what races are included.

There are 35 women delegates. Almost 75 per cent have a college eduction or better. Twenty per cent own their own business. Sixty-eight per cent told the AP their household income was more than $25,000 a year.

At least four delegates are in their 20s and one in his 70s. Most are about 50 or just over the line.

But the delegation is 100 per cent Reagan.

"I don't think there is going to be any switching, even if it could be done by law," Barnhart said. "These people who were elected as Reagan supporters made their decision after a great deal of thought back in February. I don't think they are going to be swayed from Reagan by any personality (Schweiker)."

But that does not mean they accept Schweiker

"I don't know of anyone who is pleased with the Schweiker choice," Barnhart said. "His record is unacceptable to us."

Barnhard said "some folks" on the delegation have indicated they do not want to vote for Schweiker "and I'm sure there will be at least a few who do not vote for him. But I do not think that is a concerted move."

Although presidential politics will be the prime topic for all Texas delegates many of them will be thinking ahead to the September state convention when control of state party machinery will be decided.

Reagan's sweep of the May 1 presidential primary left many state party leaders who favored President Gerald Ford on the outside looking in. Reagan's die-hard conservatives refused to let even one of the old guard attend the national convention as a delegate.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex, the state's top elected official since the Civil War, had to resign as a Ford floor leader at Kansas City because he was not a delegate from his home state. State GOP Chairman Ray Hutchison, who tried not to take sides in the primary, will be in Kansas City as a party official but not as a delegate--because Reaganites think he favors Ford. Texas' national committee members Fred Agnich, Dallas, and Mrs. Bill Archer, Houston, are not delegates because the Reagan people did not trust them.

All this will be ironed out at the Sept. 11 state convention in Austin-- and what success the Reagan boosters have in Kansas City will show just how heavy they are in Texas' GOP circles.

GOP Platform Not Built For Either Candidate

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Republicans gathering Monday to nominate a presidential candidate will find a platform built not exclusively either to President Ford's or Ronald Reagan's specifications.

Ford supporters won some mainly defensive battles Friday as the Platform Committee finished its draft after five days and nights of work. The convention has the final say on the party statement and some disputes were expected to be carried to the floor.

Ford committee members turned back a drive to rewrite the plank on the Panama Canal in terms reflecting Reagan's insistence on U.S. "sovereignty" over the Canal Zone. The accepted plank, while insisting on preservation of U.S. rights, recited the treaty provision that the United States acquired jurisdiction as "if it were the sovereign." The distinction was considered important in the eight-year negotiations with sovereignty-conscious Panama over the future of the canal.

Similarly, Ford members were able to hold the committee to provisions on diplomacy in Africa and toward the two Chinas that avoided any implied criticism of Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

The Reagan forces, however, succeeded in writing what they considered tougher language into several planks on defense and foreign affairs.

John Sears, Reagan campaign manager, told reporters "We continue to be very satisfied" with the content of the platform. One of the Ford emissaries who kept in close touch with the committee also said his side is satisfied with the document and planned no fights.

However, some Reagan loyalists and other conservatives were planning appeals to the full convention and all committee members were briefed on the rules for such procedure.

The committee reversed itself on a previous decision and drastically toned down a plank that originally called for consideration of ending federal aid to schools and instead letting the states take over the federal excise tax on tobacco.

Members who hold elective office said most Republican candidates, even the candidate for president, could not run on such a platform. Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said its adoption might inspire the slogan "buy the weed so the kids can read." The committee dropped all mention of tobacco and simply called for a study of ways in which the federal government might withdraw from school financing and substitute other sources of revenue for the local districts.

Hot, Dry Weather Both Good, Bad

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The hot, dry weather that has settled over most of the state is both good and bad for agriculture, Dr. Daniel Pfannstiel, Texas Agricultural Extension Service director, says.

The dry spell has been good for ripening grain, cotton and hay making; he said. However, the high temperatures are rapidly drying pastures and ranges, and rain will be needed soon or early supplementary feeding of livestock will be necessary.

District agricultural extension agents gave these reports:

Panhandle and South Plains: Although some heavy rains fell last week in western areas, most of the district needs moisture. Ranges are average. Cattle are in fair to good condition. Cotton is fruiting well. Sugarbeets are showing excellent progress.

Rolling Plains: Moisture remains short in the west and southwestern counties. Some screwworm cases have been reported in livestock. Cotton is setting fruit in most counties. Fisher County reports boll weevil damage as high as 80 per cent. Grain harvesting is under way in Shackelford County.

North Central: Soil moisture is short to adequate. Considerable hay baling is under way. Corn is about 25 per cent harvested. Sorghum cutting is starting.

Northeast: Dry weather is harming pastures. Livestock market prices are dropping somewhat. Peach picking is nearing completion. Soybeans are making good growth. Sorghum is suffering headworm damage.

Far West: Soil moisture is getting short. All crops are doing nicely, particularly cotton. Onion, cantaloupe and alfalfa harvests are active.

West Central: Cotton is in the bloom and square stage. Much hay is being harvested. Pastures could use rain but they are in average to good condition.

Central: Pastures and livestock are doing fairly well. Hay cutting and sorghum harvesting are active. The peanut crop looks promising despite leaf diseases. Pecan prospects are poor because of aphids and diseases.

East: Pasture growth has slowed. Livestock are in fair to good shape. Good hay crops are being cut and stored. The pecan crop is only fair beiause of bugs and diseases.

Southeast and Upper Gulf Coast: Dry weather is pushing cotton to maturity. Pastures could use rain. Soybeans are blooming. Sorghum yields are generally good. Rice yields are average to excellent.

South Central: Pastures and ranges and cattle are holding up well but rain would help. Peanuts need moisture. Pecans are suffering insect infestations.

Southwest: Ranges and livestock are average to above. Considerable trouble stems from screwworms, ticks and internal parasites. Sorghum and hay harvests are strong. Early peanuts are being harvested. Pecans are dropping.

Coastal Bend: Soil moisture is disappearing. Screwworms and ticks are bothersome in cattle. Corn is 30 per cent harvested, rice about 40 per cent and sorghum about 98 per cent. All yields are good. The pecan crop is light.

South: Soil moisture is adequate. Livestock conditions are good but ticks and screwworms are causing problems. Sorghum harvesting is about complete. Land preparation is under way for fall vegetables. Pepper fields are showing up well in Starr County.

BOLL WEEVIL POPULATION INCREASING:

The second generation boll weevils are out now and the population and damage to cotton in Scurry County is causing concern. Due to the three weeks of rain and cool weather in July, much of the cotton has not loaded as it might have, and more bolls must be set now to insure a good crop.

Each field is a little different and each producer must decide on his own when damage is bad enough to begin control measures. Every field in the county may not experience boll weevil populations high enough to warrant a control program.

Each producer must also decide the level of damage he can stand before beginning treatment. In most of the county, moisture is available to produce a heavy load of cotton. Some fields already have a good crop set, some have not. These are some of the things to consider before deciding to apply control measures.

In determining percentage of damage, a producer should walk across the field and examine approximately 100 squares at least one-third grown (about the size of a pencil eraser). These squares should be gathered or examined at several paces in the field and at various places on the stalk. The "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Cotton" recommends that when 15-25 percent or more of the squares have weevil punctures, control measures should be started. Insecticides should be applied at five-day intervals.

At this point in time, producers should not be concerned with forms on the ground. These are already lost. He should be most concerned with the forms on the plant and try to protect these.

A boll weevil puncture is a wart-like protrudence, usually located on the lower portion of the square. Inside this puncture the weevil has deposited an egg. Punctured squares usually flare open and drop to the ground within a week.

During the past week, weevil damage has increased tremendously in many fields. Damage has ranged from 10 per cent to 60 per cent and this will probably get higher in the weeks ahead.

In our proposed diapause control program, it is felt it can lower the over-winter population to a level that will allow us to produce cotton economically. If this program, or some other type of control program is not started, or too many producers do not participate, then we will continue to have this boll weevil problem year after year.

We have seen areas east and south of Scurry County go completely out of production of cotton, mainly due to this insect. This will cause an agriculture economy shift from cotton and livestock to something else and livestock. I firmly believe that cotton production in Scurry County is directly related to the control of the boll weevil. And this opinion is shared by many others.

Dangerous Drug Recalled

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the third time this week, the Food and Drug Administration is urgently recalling a prescription drug that could be lethal. Two of the drugs were involved in labeling mixups and the third was found to be unexpectedly dangerous.

More than 29,000 bottles of Pyribenzamine hydrochloride, an antihistamine prescribed for allergies, are being pulled off the market because some may mistakenly contain the powerful stimulant Ritalin.

The FDA said it could prove fatal if a patient accidentally took Ritalin at the maximum dosage recommended on the antihistamine bottle's label. To date, no injuries have been associated with the mixup.

The bottles containing a total of 2.9 million tablets were distributed east of the Rocky Mountains between Jan. 16 and April 4. The manufacturer, Ciba Pharmaceutical Co. of Summit, N.J., is alerting the nation's doctors and pharmacists of the recall.

The Pyribenzamine tablets are light blue and stamped with the number 33. The Ritalin tablets are peach colored and carry the number 34.

Directions on the Pyribenzamine bottles call for a maximum daily dosage of 12 50-milligram tablets. One bottle was found to contain 20-mg. tablets of Ritalin. Twelve such tablets would constitute eight times the average daily dosage for the stimulant drug, the FDA said.

Earlier, the FDA had announced that Cooper Laboratories of Wayne, N.J., was recalling 5,153 bottles of the heart drug Quinaglute Dura Tabs because of a similar labeling mixup.

One bottle was found to contain Aminodur Dura Tabs, a drug used to treat bronchial asthma and emphysema. The Quinaglute tablets are white and smooth, while the Aminodur tablets are pale yellow and scored so that they can be split in half.

The mixup could be fatal to a heart patient who took the wrong drug for several weeks, the FDA said, but no injuries have been reported.

The Cooper drugs were distributed east of the Rocky Mountains between March 26 and 29. The manufacturer is alerting doctors, pharmacies, hospitals and other health professionals, asking them to return supplies coded R60978 and to notify patients.

The third recall, listed as a public warning because of imminent hazard, involved the drug Triazure taken by patients suffering from extremely severe cases of the skin disease psoriasis.

The FDA said the drug causes blood clots in the veins and arteries, and has been associated with one death, one patient whose leg had to be amputated, and six other injuries of varying degrees of severity.

The manufacturer, Parke, Davis & Co., agreed to remove Triazure from the market, recall all existing supplies, alert doctors and pharmacists, and advise doctors to monitor patients closely for the next month after Triazure therapy has been discontinued.

Europeans Buying Corn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eastern European countries, once again this year cut off from their usual supplies from the Soviet Union, already have purchased more than 2.4 million metric tons from the bumper 1976 U.S. corn crop, Agriculture Department reports show.

USDA said Friday it expects those drought-stricken countries to buy a total of more than 12 million metric tons of U.S. feedgrains in the coming year, up 1.5 million from earlier predictions.

East Germany has led the way so far, with 1.6 million metric tons of 2,204.6 pounds each, or 13 per cent more than it has bought out of the 1975 U.S. crop. The East European Communist-bloc nations last year bought about four million metric tons from American sources.

BEEF-PROMOTION LAUNCHED

Estimates On Livestock Feeding Officially Cut

By BRIAN B. KING
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has officially reduced its estimates of how much grain livestock producers will be feeding their animals in the next year.

The department also has announced the first steps in the process of setting up the national beef-promotion program passed by Congress in May.

An anticipated reduction in feeding projections contained in Friday's new agricultural supply and demand estimates was directly related to the lowering Thursday in the crop-production report of the estimates of the corn crop, from 6.55 billion bushels to 6.19 billion, which is still a record.

That 6 per cent equalled about 366 million bushels less than projected a month ago.

So the Outlook and Situation Board met Friday and dropped the estimate of how much corn domestic livestock producers would feed their animals by 4 per cent to 3.9 billion bushels, give or take 200 million.

The July 30 estimate was 4.12 billion.

In another report, based on information supplied by cattle feeders in seven states that maintain monthly estimates, USDA said the number of cattle and calves on grain on Aug. 1, headed for the slaughter market, was up 12 per cent from last year's record low.

But, more important for the long term, farmers in those states placed 1.15 million "new" animals into the feedlots for fattening — only 1 per cent above a year ago and 240,000 less than in June.

The cattle industry has said its members have lost money on every headmarketed since late January, and many are contacting Washington officials to demand help in boosting the market.

Another report Friday showed that for the week of Aug. 7, the national average market price for the greatly demanded choice-grade steers was $35.51 per 100 pounds on the hoof. That's a drop of $2.67 in two weeks and $15.9 from July 1975.

The Outlook and Situation Board said the slicing down of the still-bumper corn crop, which supplies livestock feed's principal ingredient, implies fewer cattle going into the feedlots early next year.

USDA officials have been saying that would occur in the fall and winter but rates would not fall below last year.

The corn-feeding reduction "has been partly offset by prospects for increases in wheat feeding," it added.

Projections for corn exports also were raised 50 million to 1.55 billion bushels out of the 6.19 billion.

The board said the stocks to be carried over into October 1977 should be about 566 million bushels, more than double the 313 million expected at the end of this corn year.

The higher carryover should still dampen feed-price increases next year, USDA officials said, even though it's 200 million below prospects a month ago.

The bottom fell out of the live-cattle market because beef production this year, in the wake of last year's record corn crop, has been running at least 10 per cent higher and consumer demand for red meat has not caught up, USDA and industry officials explained.

Beef production is up because of the "slug of cattle in the feedlots last fall that came to market," staff economist J. Dawson Ahalt explained. More cows were being slaughtered, too, as ranchers sought to cut back numbers to strengthen their prices. Older, heavier cattle means more meat, however.

Then the number of grass-fed cattle being slaughtered has been higher than forecasters predicted, yet another factor compounding the other developments' pulling down of prices.

Cattle producers "are going to be hurting until this cycle works itself out," he said.

Another top official commented, "The ones doing the real squawking are those who didn't cover their feed needs and now face a price rise" because of pockets of drought that have nibbled away at the 1977 supplies.

But because producers of other meats — pork and chicken especially — are expanding, and the dairy business is picking up, the demand for feed still is predicted to be 6.5 per cent higher than a year ago, Ahalt noted.

A month ago, the board foresaw a 9 to 10 per cent rise.

One additional factor complicating the consumer beef picture is that informaion USDA has on nationwide retailing indicates that supermarkets are discounting the more expensive cuts of beef in an effort to move them. But the price of hamburger, an American staple, still is about the same as it has been.

The retail average, however, of all cuts was 24.5 cents a pound cheaper the week of July 31 for choice beef than it was in July 1975, the Friday price report showed.

The imminent beef-production program must be approved by a national referendum among producers.

Variety Of Journalism Courses Set At WTC

Would you like to learn how to take better pictures, and process and print them yourself? Would you like to improve your writing skills, and at the same time learn the tasks of the journalist who communitcates daily with you through the mass media? Would you like to explore the fascinating world of advertising, creating and evaluating your own ads in a small-group setting?

Answers to thse questions are possible in three courses offered for credit this fall semester at Western Texas College. Designed for resident and commuter students of all ages, the classes provide academic credit, specialized enrichment experience, and pre-professional training, depending upon student need.

Introduction to Photography, Journalism 130, will meet from 1-2:20 Tuesday and Thursday, but may be taken on an individualized basis for those unable to meet at that time. A new self-directing textbook will be used to cover such topics as camera types and operation, exposure, composition, developing and printing, filters, and flash pictures.

Students may use college cameras and accessory equipment as well as college darkrooms for completing individual laboratory assignments. For the first time at WTC, students will be able to process and print color pictures, as well as color slides, in one unit of the course.

Principles of Journalism, Journalism 131, will meet from 9-10:20 Tuesday and Thursday, but may also be taken individually. The class will emphasize new writing and reporting, but interviewing and note-taking tasks are included.

"Learning by doing" is stressed while students study various types of published articles, gather information, and write their own. The class is intended to enhance journalistic skills as well as acquant the non-journalist with the role of the media in the public domain.

Principles of Advertising, Journalism 233, is offered only once every two years and will meet from 10-10:50 Monday, Wednesday and Friday, or on an individual basis.

It is recommended as elective for management and business majors and minors.

Students will study media, research and budgeting in advertising, and will create practical ads – getting and channeling ideas to eventually create the finished product. Career opportunities in advertising will be explored, and writing and producing radio television commercials is included.

For those pursuing the Associate in Arts degree, any course will satisfy part of the 12-hour communications requirement. Also, enrollment is open in either Journalism 111 or 112 for any part-time or full-time student interested in contributing to college publications. No experience is necessary. For further information, contact Mike McBride, associate professor, in the Student Center, or call (915) 573-8511, ext. 273.

SHS Group In Workshop

Students from Snyder High School attended session II of the annual Texas Association of Student Councils leadership workshop at Trinity University in San Antonio.

Attending the workshop were council sponsor Edgar Williams of 3505 Irving and students Patti Ayers of Box 63 Route 3, Carol Eiland of 2807 Thirty-fourth Street, Lee Allen Jarrell of Route 3 Box 511, and Valerie Wilson of Route 1 Box 37.

The workshop drew students from high schools all over Texas for two week-long sessions. Under the leadership of consultant Mary McKinnon and director Sid Langhart, students studied problem solving, organizing activities, preparing activities calendars, budgeting, and group dynamics. Each session included recreational activities such as athletics, a talent show, and a singsong. The week climaxed with an achievement banquet in the university refectory. Workshop students stayed in the Trinity dormitories.

Entomologist Is Assigned

David H. Kattes, a native of Garland, has been named County Extension Entomologist for Mitchell and Scurry Counties effective Aug. 10, states County Extension Agent Bob Benson.

Kattes is a 1974 graduate of Texas A&M University with a B.S. degree in Entomology. He received his Masters degree in Entomology also from Texas A&M University in 1976. While attending Texas A&M he was president of the Entomology Club and a member of the Entomology Club and a member of the Entomologist Society of America. He is a member of the Baptist Church.

He is available to assist producers in both Mitchell and Scurry counties with insect problems in all agronomic crops. He will be in charge of a full season scout program to check producers' fields on a weekly basis beginning with the 1977 crop, states Benson.

Of Guatemala's 42,042 square miles, the lowland of the Peten region makes up about a third. This area is half jungle, half savanna and is rich in timber and wildlife.

Eagle Refuge Is Acquired

SAULK CITY, Wis. (AP) — The National Wildlife Federation has taken a major step toward guaranteeing the survival of one of the few remaining winter roosting spots in the upper Midwest for the bald eagle.

A 150-acre refuge stretching along the Wisconsin River near here was acquired by the conservation group with the help of a $47,000 donation from a St. Louis firm.

The refuge, which will be known as the Ferry Bluff Eagle Sanctuary, was selected by the group because it offers ample food and contains roosting areas for the eagles.

It is shielded from public intrusion by a 34-acre "buffer zone" along the river acquired by the Nature Conservation Agency and by another 20 acres to the north controlled by the Eagle Valley Environmentalists (EVE), a Midwestern affiliate of the Wildlife Federation.

Altogether 204 acres provide an ideal roost for about 300 eagles from December to March each year, according to Terrance Ingram, president of EVE.

THE PASTORAL COUNSELOR

By JOHN ZELL GASTON III

ON EXPECTATIONS

A few years ago, a four year old boy was watching TV. He was attentively watching an ad: "Make friends with Koolaid, make Koolaid with friends." The picture showed children happily drinking Koolaid together and then running and playing happily together. This little boy wanted friends, so he made up a pitcher of Koolaid and set up a little stand in front of the house. He wanted friends very badly. He sat there all morning in the hot summer sun, waiting. No friends came by. He dragged into the house and watched TV for a couple of days, really studying that ad. He saw some big boys playing baseball in a vacant lot nearby. A light dawned. He knew how, now. He took a pitcher of Koolaid and a stack of paper cups to where they were. "Do you want some Koolaid?" The boys came crowding around. One grabbed the pitcher out of his hands and started pouring. The big boys drowned the drink as fast as only thirsty boys can, laughing and talking to each other. They dropped the empty cups and the pitcher on the ground and ran back to their game. The boy trudged sadly back to the house, and sat staring into space for a long time.

This event taught the boy, and the rest of his family, something about advertizing and realistic expectations. Koolaid is a refreshing drink, if that is all you expect of it. But if you expect it to bring you friends, you are doomed to disappointment. A few days later the boy's father discovered why he had never had a car that really satisfied him. He was watching TV when he had a sudden attack of "New Car Fever." This time, instead of rushing out to buy, he sat down to think about what was happening. He watched the ad very carefully, and suddenly noticed that what he wanted was not the car, but the cute little girl in the ad! Then he realized that he had bought cars before on the basis of the promise of love and romance and pretty girls. No wonder he had never found a car that satisfied him! All this time he had been buying romance, and all he had gotten for his money was a reliable form of transportation! With this realization, he had a good laugh at himself, and went to bed.

All too frequently we are fooled by advertising. One place we are fooled most frequently is in marriage. The movies and TV help there. From them we get the impression that the rosy glow of newly awakened love will last forever, always getting deeper and stronger. Actually, we are extremely lucky if it lasts as long as the honeymoon.

Every now and then we run across someone who has been married for twenty or thirty years and we see that they really do enjoy each other. Not realizing how much hard work that couple did to get to know each other on every level, we look at our own marriages and see what is lacking, and we tend to get disappointed in our partners. Marriage is not giving us what we expected. When we get that kind of feeling, it is time to begin to wonder just what we are expecting of marriage. Are we like the boy who tried to make friends with Koolaid? Are we like the man who bought cars for romance? Or are we able to look and see what we can get and give, on a practical, realistic basis?

Marriage can be a very good thing, but if we expect the wrong things of it, we are doomed to disappointment. It is like owning a car: we can get a lot of satisfaction out of owning a reliable form of transportation, but if we expect the car to bring us romance and adventure, we are doomed to disappointment, and we will never really be able to enjoy the thing. An important question is, "What do you really expect of marriage?" and then the next one is, "Can any marriage actually give you that?"

(These columns are presented as a public service by the Pastoral Care Center, 1804 Twenty-sixth Street, in the hope that readers will find in them hints on how to live happier and more effective lives. If you have a question you would like Mr. Gaston to consider in a future column, you may write him in care of this newspaper, or phone him at 573-8222).

Dancer Disappears

LONDON (AP) — Soraya, the Turkish dancer who claimed a world record for continuous bellydancing by gyrating for 31 hours several months ago, has disappeared during a trip to Istanbul, her husband says.

Thomas Ravensdal said Thursday that his wife went to Istanbul on July 15 for a two-week holiday with a friend. He said the friend returned at the end of last month and said Soraya had disappeared.

Mematode Enemy Of Mosquitoes

BELTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — A Department of Agriculture scientist says that a tiny parasite, a nematode called "Reesimermis Nielseni," is the deadly enemy of many kinds of mosquitoes, including those that carry encephalitis and malaria.

Dr. William Nickle has been raising the nematodes in enormous quantities in his laboratory at the Agricultural Research Center here and watching them go to work on hundreds of thousands of mosquito larvae.

The parasite, a worm-like creature a fraction of an inch long, swims on the top of water where the mosquito larvae are growing. Once the parasite touches a larva it emits a glue that sticks to the larva.

Then, Dr. Nickle says, the nematode bites a hole in the larva and crawls inside it. The glue hardens and seals the hole.

Inside, the nematodes thrive on the larva in typical parasitic fashion. After a few days, the parasite cuts another hole in its host and emerges into the water. The second hole does not harden. The essential fluids of the larva drain out and the larva dies.

The parasite, which is harmless to humans, might well prove to be the logical alternative to DDT and other pesticides for the control of mosquitoes, Nickle said.

Country Cousins Suffer From City Vultures

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am wondering if other farm families have this problem with city relatives. We almost have to put locks on everything when they come to visit.

The city folks are so antique-crazy, they tear the boards off the barns, pick up fence posts and go snooping through the cupboards to see if maybe we've got some old, beat-up brass or copper pots they can make into lamps.

They are always asking how old things are and if we know where they came from. We wouldn't mind if they waited until we discarded something, but I can be sitting on a rocking chair, and they'll ask if I'm ready to throw it out.

They think everything they see at a farm house is an antique. We try to tell them, "Maybe so," but that some things we still use ourselves, and if not, we might want to save them for our children.

They make fun of their country cousins, but I wonder what they's think if we came to their homes and stood over their belongings like a bunch of vultures.

FROM IOWA

DEAR FROM: They'd probably think you were grasping hayseeds with bad manners, when in fact they are grasping urbanites with no class.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law must have at least 200 pictures standing around. They're on her mantle, piano, television and every table in the place. Her walls are also covered with them. All are pictures of her children when they were babies and in various stages of childhood. I have never seen such clutter in my life.

Should I tell her that no one cares to see a baby picture of her 35-year-old son naked and on a fur rug? (The "baby" is my husband.)

Don't tell me that if I don't like the looks of her house I shouldn't visit her, because my husband is one of those devoted sons who thinks he has to run over there nearly every night, and he drags me with him.

How can I tell her it's time she updated her collection?

ANONYMOUS, PLS.

DEAR ANON: It's your mother-in-law's home, and apparently she enjoys the collection, so if you don't, keep your eyes closed. And your mouth as well.

DEAR ABBY: John and I were married in 1970. It was the second time around for both of us. Because of interfering relatives, including eight children and in-laws on both sides, who did everything they could to break up our marriage, we were divorced three years later. The problem is, we still love each other.

Despite all the unpleasantness, we forgave each other and continued what has always been a wonderfully loving relationship. We are in our mid-50s and feel ridiculous sneaking around to be together.

John says, "Let's say to heck with everything, sell our houses, move 1,000 miles away from all the relatives and enjoy the years we have left!"

Neither of us has to work, and our financial situation is good. Should I put myself first for once in my life and remarry John? Or keep up a house for my remaining unmarried daughter?

TORN

DEAR TORN: Your John is a man after my own heart. Remarry him and move away from both your families. Don't worry about your unmarried daughter. She's probably due to leave the nest soon anyway. Enjoy your lives. It's always later than you think.

Policeman Is Clown For A Day

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sgt. Edward Malloy, a Cleveland policeman for 18 years, performed as a clown in a circus recently.

Malloy got the chance to play a clown when he made a successful bid on a clown-for-a-day job offered in a fund-raising campaign on local television.

"It was just something I thought I'd like to do," said the 41-year-old bachelor. "There was no special reason."

Malloy went all out for his night in the spotlight. He received six free tickets for the circus, but bought 27 more, spending a total of $142. And that's in addition to $95 he paid for the bid.

Will Rogers Is Not Forgotten

By DAYTON BLAIR
Associated Press Writer

CLAREMORE, Okla. (AP) — And still they come, by the thousands...the hundreds of thousands in a year.

Sunday is 42 years since humorist Will Rogers and his friend, Wiley Post, were killed in a plane crash at Point Barrow, Alaska. Even though it is mostly another generation now, people still flock to the Rogers Memorial atop a hill here, where he had planned to retire. About 600,000 persons will have visited the site by the end of this year.

The ranch-style memorial, built of native limestone quarried from this area, is open daily. It was constructed on land donated by Rogers' widow at her death. Will, his wife Betty and a son, Fred Stone Rogers, who died at less than 2 years of age, are buried there.

Thirteen miles away, near Oologah, the white frame house where Will was born has been renovated and the site made a state park. The house was built in 1875 and has been moved a short distance from its original location to make room for Lake Oologah.

The old home is one mile north and two east from Oologah,. Okla. "I usually tell people I was born in Claremore, for convenience, because nobody but an Indian can pronounce Oologah," Rogers used to quip. Rogers was part Cherokee.

But it is the memorial, which was deeded to the state by Rogers' widow after his death, that draws the most visitors.

They drive up a hill to enter the memorial grounds between stone pillars of the gateway on the west. In front of the low, rambling structure is a figure of Rogers on his favorite horse, "Soapsuds."

The equestrian statue was made by Electra Waggoner, sculptress, and was the gift of the late Amon G. Carter of Fort Worth.

Inside, under a vaulted ceiling, is a heroic size bronze statue of Rogers, sculptured by Jo Davidson. It shows him in an everyday attitude, hands in the pockets of his double breasted coat, as many people remember him from movies.

The museum is filled with many of Rogers' intimate personal effects. There are grim reminders of the airplane accident in which he and Post died.

The clothing Rogers wore that day is displayed, as is the typewriter he was using on the trip.

Besides the thousands of visitors, there is a constant flow of requests by mail and telephone.

Dr. Reba Collins, curator of the memorial, spends much of her time answering inquiries from news people and other individuals across the country on the life of Rogers.

She feels that a key project ahead of her is restoration and preservation of thousands of artifacts. Anti-acids will be needed to preserve handwriting.

The Oklahoma Legisature gave her an assist this year, a $20,000 budget hike, for personnel to help.

Dr. Collins presently is working on an Indian heritage story for a California publication that may lead to a book on the Indian link in Rogers' life. Rogers was actually 9-32nds Cherokee.

Besides compiling a genealogy on the Rogers family, originating in Georgia, the curator is working with the Will Rogers Commission and Oklahoma State University on publication of 16 volumes on his life and writings. Five volumes have been published so far.

Postage Stamp Said Good Value

CINCINNATI (AP) — Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar says the 13-cent stamp is "a remarkable value."

People in other countries pay nearly twice as much to mail a letter, Bailar said Wednesday at a Chamber of Commerce economic forum.

"The plain, unvarnished truth is that the average citizen, in purchasing and using this stamp, is receiving more than 13 cents worth of service," Bailar said.

Water, Gas Don't Mix

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — About 25 motorists discovered during rush-hour traffic recently that water and gasoline don't mix.

The motorists were stranded when their engines conked out within a mile of the station where they had bought gas.

Apparently water had leaked into one of the station's underground gas tanks when a new shipment was unloaded during a heavy rain a few days earlier.

The stranded cars were towed to nearby service stations where their gasoline tanks were drained and engines flushed.

A spokesman for the watery gas station said customers were reimbursed for their expenses.

Second LULAC Group Undecided

Officials of a group considering the possibility of forming another local chapter of the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) said they have not decided whether they will incorporate themselves with the already-chartered local 629 LULAC organization.

Martin Pena, president of a group of about 20 persons, made the announcement. Pena said that following a meeting Thursday night, his organization had not decided whether to incorporate with the local 629 chapter. He said they had made no formal decision.

Pena cited differing operational ideas separating the two groups.

GRE Exam Set Here Oct. 16

The Graduate Record Examination (GRE) will be offered on the Western Texas College campus in Snyder on October 16.

A minimum of 10 students must register by September 1 in order to have the examination administered at WTC. Registration forms are available in the Sul Ross office in the administration building at WTC. Completed registration forms and checks for payment of fees are to be returned to the Sul Ross office as soon as possible.

Guidelines For Grooming Issued

With the beginning of the new school term, students of the Snyder Public Schools are being reminded of the local dress and grooming guidelines.

The clothing for boys should be clean, neat, and in good taste for school wear. Shirts should be standard length and have sleeves, thus no tank type styles are acceptable. Shirts tailored to be worn inside the trousers should be worn inside the trousers at all times.

When boys register for school each year, their hair shall be neat, clean, well groomed and styled so vision will be not obstructed. Thereafter, each boy shall maintain a clean well groomed look throughout the school year. Mustaches and sideburns, if worn, must be neatly trimmed, otherwise students should appear clean shaven.

Guidelines for girls' clothing include being neat, in good taste, and styled for school wear. Dresses and skirts should be a length that presents a well groomed and suitable appearance. Low cut dresses and blouses, tank tops, shorts, and similar fads of wearing apparel are not accepted. Girls hair should be neat, clean, well groomed and styled so vision will not be obstructed.

Students are reminded that they are expected to be dressed according to these guidelines when they appear at school for registration.

Substitute Teachers Apply Now

Persons who are interested in substitute teaching in the Snyder Public Schools during the 1976-77 school year who have not received an application form should call the school administration office, 573-5401, and request an interview.

Requirements for placement on the substitute list for those who have not previously substituted in Snyder are a minimum of 60 semester college hours and to be at least 21 years of age. A college transcript is to be presented at the time of the interview.

Applicants who do not hold degrees and those not certified to teach in Texas will be required to have applications on file in the school administration office by Sept. 1 in order to be approved by the Texas Education Agency for the school year.

Those persons holding a degree and a Texas Teachers Certificate may apply at any time during the school year but preferably by Sept. 1, the same date as non-certified persons.
