Navigation Dist. Discontinues Plans for Channel Deepening

The Board of Navigation and Canal Commissioners met in regular session July 5 with Chairman Richard J. Fox presiding. Present were Commissioners David Maguglin, R.W. Landrum, William M. Brown, Jr., and F.M. Rouquette, and Harbormaster B.C. DeForest. Attorney Ellis Clark was absent because of being hospitalized for surgery. Visitors were Mrs. C.E. Bryan, Mrs. B.D. King III, and Kenneth McGary.

Minutes of the June 6 regular meeting were read and approved. Treasurer's report was reviewed and placed on file. Monthly bills were approved.

McGary appeared before the Board and outlined plans for bait stand operation on Navigation District property at Cove Harbor, subleased by him from Jack Sanders. Mr. McGary's plan was approved by the Board. Motion was made by Commissioner Brown, seconded by Commissioner Maguglin, and vote carried.

Application of W.L. Lamb for Snow Cone Concession at Rockport Beach was disapproved. Board felt that location requested, east of Woman's Club building, was already congested.

The following policies were enunciated and put on record: "Reference is made to meeting June 6, 1972, pertaining to the unrecorded discussion of the merits of the proposed channel into Little Bay and letter dated June 8, 1972, from the U.S. Department of the Interior, Southwest Region, enclosing letter of recommendation of the Acting Regional Director, R.F. Stephens, dated June 8, 1972.

"In view of the myriad of insurmountable objections to any further expansion of dredging activities into Little Bay, the Navigation District Commissioners this date have discontinued any further action on this portion of the channel plan as devised by Lockwood, Andrews and Newnam, Inc.

"Further, owing to more pressing and urgent requirements for funds it is agreed that the Navigation District disavows any further responsibility or obligation beyond maintenance of the ingress-egress channel from Aransas Bay into Little Bay. It was further agreed that the Navigation District would not be responsible for signs or any other such support beyond the ingress-egress channel."

Narcotic Cases Unavoidably Delayed

Four cases of unlawful possession of narcotic drugs are pending in District Court here. Juries have been called and then they have had to be cancelled.

The cancellation of the juries has been caused by the fact that Edward R. Chaloupka, a chemist with the Texas Department of Public Safety who is to testify in the cases, has not been available because he has been involved in other cases in the area.

J. David McCarthy Ordered Not to Practice Law In Texas

District Judge John H. Miller has decreed that J. David McCarthy is not licensed to practice law in the State of Texas.

The action was taken after McCarthy had been appointed to represent Bill Martin Etheridge, an indigent, on a charge of unlawful possession of a narcotic drug.

District Attorney John H. Flinn charged that McCarthy "is not a duly and legally licensed and practicing attorney at law in the State of Texas." Flinn further charged that "any authorization of McCarthy to practice law in Texas had expired."

Judge Miller said McCarthy stated that he had been granted a temporary certificate to practice law in Texas on June 23, 1971 and admitted that the certificate had expired on June 23, 1972.

Following Judge Miller's ruling, attorney Dave Connery was appointed to represent Etheridge in the case which is still pending.

McCarthy was an unsuccessful candidate for Aransas County Attorney in the May 6 Democratic primary election. Ellis L. Clark, the incumbent, was the winner.

Schwartz Passes Resolution For Insurance Reform Action

The Texas Senate on July 7 added its voice to the growing discontent with the administration of the windstorm insurance pool in Texas by passing a resolution authored by Senator A.R. Schwartz of Galveston calling for immediate reform action by the State Board of Insurance.

The resolution asked the Board to adhere to the intent of the Legislature to provide windstorm insurance at reasonable rates, as expressed in the bill creating the windstorm pool, which Schwartz authored in 1971. Since the creation of the pool, Schwartz has been sharply critical of classifications and rates adopted by the pool and approved by the State Board of Insurance.

The resolution accuses insurance companies of acting "unreasonably and in bad faith by still refusing to write ordinary risks in certain areas and thereby requiring property owners to pay pool rates." It also notes that owners of ordinary risks are forced to pay a penalty surcharge of 10 per cent in some areas and others must bear rates as high as three times the manual rates in others.

Countywide Sanitary Sewer System Being Considered

Representatives of two more engineering firms appeared before the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District board of directors last week to help the board explore the feasibility of a county-wide sanitary sewage system. Both meetings were in the Aransas County Commissioners courtroom in the courthouse.

Gene Urban of Urban Engineering met with the board July 5. He stressed the desirability of working with the city of Rockport in developing a more extensive sewage system. He pointed out that the capacity of the city's sewage treatment plant is being doubled from half a million gallons to one million gallons a day.

Urban asserted this area is on the verge of a population explosion which will require constantly expanding public facilities in the next few years. He also urged that a decision on a possible county-wide sewage system be made as soon as is feasible because of the constantly increasing costs, which he estimated at about 10 per cent a year.

Urban, who recently handled planning and installation of the sanitary sewage system for the Key Allegro motel-condominium area, as well as that for Unit 4 of the island development, reported his firm already has available much of the data needed for a preliminary study of the county-wide sewage proposal.

On July 7 James Naismith and his son, James, Jr., of the engineering firm by the same name, discussed the sewage project with the board, exploring possible sources of money.

It was the Naismiths' recommendation that the district board discuss the problem with the Council of Governments which already has made a study of needs of the Coastal Bend area. While it covers a large area along the coast, it includes considerable detailed information on the future needs of Aransas County, according to the senior Naismith.

It was decided that Jack Mc-

City, County Officials Consider Incinerators to Dispose of Waste

The City has been notified by the Texas Air Control Board that, effective Dec. 31, 1973, Rockport and all Texas cities with populations over 3,000 will be required to observe a new state regulation prohibiting outdoor burning of municipal waste.

As a result of this warning, the City Council invited members of the Aransas County Commissioners Court to attend a joint meeting to discuss what can be done on a cooperative city-county basis to solve the problem in this area.

The meeting was held July 5 at the City Hall and was attended by Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., Aldermen Murray McMillan, Charlie Garrett and N. F. Jackson, and County Commissioners W. B. Allen, Mrs. Wanda Sparks, Charlie Hale and Raymond Owens.

Present at the meeting was Edward L. Lavine of Houston, associated with Contex Systems, Inc., which installs incinerators manufactured by Waste Control System, Inc., an affiliate of Houston Natural Gas Co.

Lavine said an area populated by 10,000 persons (approximately the number living in the Rockport-Fulton-Lamar area) creates about 15 tons of all types of refuse per day.

He also said that one of his company's incinerators capable of disposing of 12 1/2 tons of waste materials per day would cost approximately $72,000.

Looking ahead with confidence that the Rockport area will continue to grow and knowing that a recent unofficial report indicated that about 100 persons are moving into this area every month, the City Councilmen and County Commissioners said at least two 12 1/2-ton incinerators should be considered, involving a cost of approximately $144,000.

They also indicated some type of sanitary land fill also will be needed for disposal of such things as worn-out stoves, refrigerators, car bumpers and other similar waste that cannot be disposed of by incinerators. The present city dump will disappear when Highway 35 is relocated.

As a result, the city and county officials invited Lavine to return in about two weeks and bring with him two engineers to make a study of the waste disposal needs of this area and make recommendations and give some cost figures.

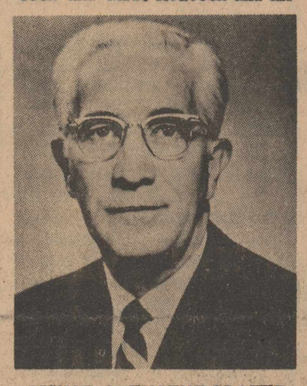

Lavine agreed to do so. He said his gas-fired incinerators, now used in many cities, operate on a combustion process, using intense heat and oxygen to burn wood, glass, plastics, wet garbage and even rubber tires.

"The heat is so terrific," he said, "that soda pop bottles melt down like teardrops. There is no odor, no smoke, no dust and very little labor. One man can run a whole plant consisting of up to four incinerators."

Capt. Dan Flynn Rotary Speaker

Capt. Dan Flynn, member of the Judge Advocate General Corps of the Navy, had some harsh words for the irresponsible and immature segment of today's youth in a talk before a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club July 5 at Corky's restaurant.

Captain Flynn said about 5 per cent of today's young people are presuming to represent and speak for the remaining 95 per cent. He pointed out that the vast majority of young people are responsible and serious in their purposes. However, he added that many of them are unthinkingly adopting some of the irresponsible and even revolutionary attitudes of the minority, as well as their life style.

Of the 5 per cent Captain Flynn said they are loiterers, panhandlers, college rioters and nomads of the highways. These, he said have presumed to be spokesman for all of today's youth. They cry out about pollution and conservation yet their performance belies their words. They have become confirmed destroyers of buildings, monuments and parks. They cry out about the horrors of war yet they know nothing about it. They have made a fetish of boldness and bad manners. They claim to be smarter than the older generation, yet they display none of the accepted marks of intelligence in their words and actions, according to Captain Flynn.

They are involved in a majority of today's crimes of violence. They won't work, but they expect to have an income. Many often, especially in the larger cities, have managed to get on relief thus living off the efforts of a generation they deride and despise.

Captain Flynn decried the attitude of many mature public speakers who are forever finding excuses for the attitude and actions of activists and revolutionaries among the youth.

School Board Meeting Held

The School Board met July 10 and took the following actions:

1. Approved minutes of previous meeting as read.

2. Approved regular monthly bills.

3. Agreed to purchase windstorm and hail insurance coverage with the Texas Catastrophe Property Insurance Association on the high school building, after it was ascertained that this property lies more than 2500 feet distance from tidal water, the demarcation line as determined by the State Insurance Commission making property beyond that distance eligible for coverage on hurricane and hail damage. This coverage has been fixed at 10 percent above manual rate. The Board determined that the high school, by nature of its construction, is more vulnerable to hurricane and hail damage than any other major building in the school district. The premium rate for this building has been determined to be .558 on an appraised value of $630,000.00. Under present insurance regulations, this will produce an annual premium of $3,515.40. The Board

FIRE AT KEY ALLEGRO — Smoke billows from a new home at Key Allegro which caught fire July 5 and was almost completely destroyed. Gilbert Hill, president of the Rockport Volunteer Fire Department, said the fire started on the second floor but the exact cause was undetermined. The home was being built for Al Mortenson of Houston and was within a week of completion. Hill said workmen were on the second floor doing finishing work when the fire broke out. He said the Fire Department used two fire trucks, including the new one, to fight the blaze. He thanked Central Power and Light Company for providing assistance with its snorkle truck, and Aransas Natural Gas Company for dispatching men to the scene.

SHRIMP LANDINGS SHOW INCREASE

Shrimp landings at Texas ports amounted to 3.2 million pounds valued at $4 million in May 1972. This was 49 percent above the volume and 47 percent above the value of landings in May 1971. White shrimp accounted for the current volume increase. The Brownsville-Port Isabel area accounted for 36 percent of the State's total; followed by Aransas Pass-Rockport area with 22 percent; and Galveston Bay ports, 21 percent. The following table represents landings of headless shrimp for specified areas and periods:

Area	May 1972	January-May 1971	January-May 1972
	Pounds	Pounds	Pounds
Port Arthur-Sabine	107,600	322,400	445,800
Galveston	627,400	1,013,400	1,515,000
Freeport	304,800	1,035,400	1,216,700
Matagorda-Palacios	34,800	196,000	147,400
Port Lavaca-Port O'Connor-Seadrift	253,400	344,100	495,700
Aransas Pass-Rockport	696,800	1,733,900	2,514,600
Brownsville-Port Isabel-Port Mansfield	1,143,900	4,299,500	5,149,100
TOTAL	3,168,700	8,944,700	11,484,300

Trawlers working brown shrimp during the first 3 weeks in May made trip catches of 1 1/2 boxes per night from the high seas off Tampico, Mexico to south of Morgan City, Louisiana. The last week in May the young-of-the-year brown shrimp were moving offshore along the entire coast and many vessels moved into the areas of heaviest concentration and began the destructive cull-and-keep type fishing. Units working the area from east of Baffin Bay to 40 miles south of Port Isabel discarded as high as 75 percent of their catch or for every 100 pounds landed 300 pounds were thrown overboard. This continued through the closing days of May. White shrimp catches were fair at 150-200 pounds per day adjacent to major passes.

Oyster landings were at their normal seasonal low as only private reefs are open for harvesting oysters.

Blue crab landings amounted to 500,000 pounds in May compared with 730,000 pounds in May 1971.

The 1972 crop of brown shrimp looked very good at the close of May. Major bay populations according to commercial catch reports were as follows: Galveston-Sabine systems, good; Matagorda and San Antonio, good; Aransas and Corpus Christi, good to excellent; Laguna Madre, excellent. The heaviest concentration of young brown shrimp was adjacent to the Laguna Madre off both the U.S. and Mexican coast.

Six new large vessels made maiden trips in May. All will work from Texas ports and are owned by Texas interests. One vessel was lost at sea.

Sport fisherman made excellent catches of spotted trout and redfish throughout May. Trout catches were at record levels in both quantity and size of individual fish. All bay and Gulf surf fishing along the entire coast reflected a large population of adult fish. Live bait was plentiful throughout the month. Offshore party boats worked most of the month and made fair to good catches of snapper and ling. The Aransas Pass area reported first catches of sailfish--king and Spanish mackerel catches were fair to good.

Methodist—

H.G. Horton, was sent as its first minister. He remained two years before being transferred to the present Travis Park Methodist Church in San Antonio.

The church has made only one move. In 1914 the original church, built in 1800 of the best pine and cypress lumber from Louisiana, was moved from its original location at the corner of Live Oak and Bay Streets to its present location at 801 Main.

The church was used continuously for 60 years under the leadership of 25 different ministers before the church felt its first need to expand. In 1930 an addition was made to the original building. In 1939 a parsonage and garage was added on the church property. Three years later a fellowship hall was built for the ladies of the church by the minister with help from church members.

The present sanctuary was conceived in 1951, with ground breaking in 1954 and completion in 1955. The old fellowship hall was torn down in 1961 and a new education building, consisting of a fellowship hall and nine class rooms was added on the church property.

Of the 50 known past ministers there are 10 surviving. These are Rev. Troy Hickman, Rev. Leonard Miller, Rev. Calvin Peterson, Rev. Dana S. Green, Rev. Asa Avant, Rev. A.H. Bankert, Rev. B.H. Bohmfalk, Rev. James W. Campbell, Rev. Bill Palmer, and the present pastor, Rev. Tom McClung. All the ministers and their wives, along with Bishop and Mrs. Slater and Dist. Supt. and Mrs. Heacock, will be honored as special guests of the celebration.

Mrs. E.N. Adams is general chairman of the centennial.

Realtors Institutes To Be Held In Dallas

Bud Wise, President of the Aransas-San Patricio County Board of Realtors, announced this week that the Texas Association of Realtors will hold two weeks of Realtors Institutes in Dallas, a Course I, July 16-22, and Course I, II, III, and IV, July 23-30.

The two sessions will be held in the Marriott in Dallas.

Course I, which is open to the public, is often used by men and women who need to meet the renewal of license requirements spelled out by the Texas Real Estate License Act. Other participants in Course I are interested in acquiring more basic knowledge in the field, in order to make their own business judgments. TAR, which saw over 2,000 men and women attend the 1971 Institutes, has carefully planned the sessions to take the student through successfully 90 hours of classroom work.

After successfully making it through the exam for Course III, the student can be proud of having the designation, "Graduate, Realtors Institute." This coveted award demonstrates to the public a man or woman with a wide range of knowledge, from appraising to construction to real estate law.

Beth Carter, the TAR education chairman for 1972, a prominent Fort Worth Realtor, said that the fees for Institutes are $100 for TAR members and $125 for non-members, with both being given a $25 discount 10 days prior to the beginning of class. She also said that four more Institutes are planned after the Dallas sessions.

David, board president, and John P. Mitchell, Jr., vice-president, will discuss the matter informally with Emory M. Spencer, local representative on the board of the Council of Governments.

The Naismiths said the Council was a good source of guidance in the search for money to finance a sewage system. They felt that the local district board was quite capable of preparing a preliminary study which would be effective in getting funds for a formal engineer's study of the proposed sewage project. The preliminary study can be as simple or as detailed as the need indicates, they said.

The pointed out that federal agencies have a standard inquiry form, and it was their opinion that funding for a planning study could be obtained without much difficulty.

Most promising sources for federal funds are the Housing and Urban Development agency and Farmers Home Administration according to the Naismiths. They believe about 55 per cent of the needed funds can be obtained from federal sources and 25 per cent from the Texas Water Quality Board, with the remaining funds to be raised through local revenue bonds.

AIR MARSHAL ARRESTS

eral office skills, including math, is important for those seeking office jobs.

"We will employ people whom we can train to operate and maintain the Corpus Christi Plant," Mr. Evans states. All of our jobs will be classed as skilled occupations."

"Janitorial, labor, and other similar duties will be handled by private contractors. Jobs requiring the services of people in some of the traditionally recognized industrial occupations will also be handled on a contract basis."

"This is possible because of the nature of our particular operation and the design of the Corpus Christi Plant. From this standpoint, we believe our plant will be unique in the Corpus Christi area, permitting us to operate more efficiently and providing more and better opportunities for employment," Mr. Evans added.

Four groups of trainees will be hired during 1973, with the first group of about 50 expected in January. Most of the trainees will learn to operate and analyze plant processes, and to maintain operating equipment. The remainder will be assigned to accounting and office related positions.

The Du Pont officials emphasize the Corpus Christi Plant's position regarding "Equal Employment Opportunity."

the excessive three times manual rate for some areas comes in for criticism in the resolution, which calls the definition adopted by the pool "arbitrary" and "not based upon valid evidence." The definition is so broad that it includes the inland towns of Palacios and Rockport, and uses criteria of distance from "water" elevation and seawall protection which have no relation to windstorm damage. Property owners in Rockport and Palacios and other non-beach areas must pay three times the manual rate, which the resolution describes as "intolerable".

A final criticism offered in the resolution is that the pool is delaying the issuance of policies during the hurricane season, leaving some property owners without the certainty of coverage.

The resolution asks the State Board of Insurance to make surcharges of pool rates applicable only to high risk property, so that owners of ordinary risk property are not forced to pay pool rates. It also asks the Board to eliminate the "arbitrary penalty definition" of certain property classifying non-beach property as "beach" property and to give policy purchasers immediate coverage by establishing an effective date for policies purchased through the pool.

The resolution also asks the Board to take all other necessary action to achieve the goal of making windstorm insurance available to all property owners at reasonable rates, including manual rates for ordinary risks.

In urging passage of his resolution, Schwartz told his colleagues that every problem concerning the operation of the windstorm insurance pool could be eliminated by diligent action on the part of the State Board of Insurance, which can reject every action of the pool.

School Board—

further instructed the Superintendent to ascertain the cost of windstorm and hail coverage on auxiliary buildings at the rear of the high school building to determine the feasibility of coverage on those buildings. The school district presently carries insurance on all school owned buildings within the district covering loss from fire, lightning, explosion, riot, civil commotion, smoke, air craft and local vehicles, vandalism and malicious meschief. Only coverage for windstorm, hail and hurricane was deleted when the policy was renewed in September 1971, and this was due to the excessive and prohibitive cost for such coverage.

4. The Board approved participation in the Education Service Center, Region II, for the 1972-73 school term.

5. The School Board adopted a school dress code after several hours of study. The dress code adopted will be published very soon after it has been edited. It will be edited within the next few days. This dress code was developed after several weeks of research, in which codes of all area schools were reviewed and proposed codes by local constituents were considered plus all other information obtainable was studied whereby a dress code has been developed that is reasonable and neither extremely liberal nor conservative.

6. A plan for reserved seat football seat administration was approved. This plan will be announced well before the 1972 football season begins.

7. Certain staff members were elected to teaching positions for the 1972-73 school term. This completes the staff except for one position, and there are several applicants for that position. It will be filled within the next few days. New staff members elected are as follows:

William J. Ratliff, Richard A. Marksbury, Jane C. Adams, Betty J. Shields, Eva M. Zbranek, Jo E. Levisay, Barbara J. Jackson, Peter M. Cheaney, Wanda Jean Lynn, Kenneth M. Fowler, Linda M. Schroeder, Robert W. Damron, Celia R. Williams and Hazel Landrum.

Shrimpers to Get Free Chest X-Rays

All persons who work in the shrimping industry in the Rockport area are urged to take advantage of the opportunity to have a free chest x-ray at the main dock near the Shrimpers Co-op Building on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, July 26-28.

A mobile x-ray van is being provided by the State Department of Health, Tuberculosis Control Division, Public Health Region 10 according to Col. Frank Kirk, and County Judge John D. Wendell. Col. Kirk is a member of the Board of Directors of the Coastal Bend T.B. and Respiratory Disease Association which is assisting with the project. Chest x-rays, and any medical follow-up needed, will be available to all shrimpers and to other shrimping industry employees on these days.

The x-ray unit, staffed by technicians and public health nurses of the Region 10 T.B. Control area, will be in operation during the following hours: Wednesday, July 26, from 2:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.; Thursday, July 27, from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.; and Friday, July 28, from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

According to Dr. Nina M. Sisley, Deputy Director of Texas Health Region 10 and Regional Director of T.B. Control Services, Texas recently ranked in the top ten among the fifty states in both the number of new cases reported for the year, and in the population case-rate.

"Tuberculosis is not confined to any particular group of persons nor to any particular section of the State," Dr. Sisley pointed out; "however, some areas do have more cases and more tuberculosis infection than others, and some occupational, economic, and age groups indicate a higher rate of infection or active disease from time to time than do other groups."

"T.B. is an airborne disease, Dr. Sisley explained, and because of this fact, persons living together in crowded conditions, and in poorly ventilated areas where an unknown active case of tuberculosis is present, would be more subject to a T.B. infection." Regional public health skin-testing and x-ray surveys are currently used with priority high-risk groups which may be more subject to infection, she said, or which may have indicated a higher case rate in the past. In addition, contacts to all reported active cases are routinely examined."

Aransas County has experienced a higher-than-average case rate for the past two years. Five new cases were reported in 1970 and seven cases in 1971. The new active case rate for the County in 1971 was 76.3 (calculated per 100,000 population) compared with a case rate of 23.9 for the State and 17.0 for the United States.

State Bar Honors Attorney Caldwell

Attorney Joe W. Caldwell recently was honored by the State Bar of Texas for his 50 years as a practicing lawyer.

He was awarded a certificate "in recognition of valuable and meritorious service."

Lawyers and judges from throughout Texas--about 4,000 persons -- attended the State Bar's 90th annual convention July 5-7 at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel in Houston.

Speeches by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court and a score of other nationally-distinguished speakers featured the convention program.

Tours of NASA and the Astrodome highlighted entertainment. Top social event was the President's Dinner, with Bar president James. C. Watson of Corpus Christi presiding at the Astroworld Hotel. Headliners were noted TV star and recording artist Dionne Warwicke and well-known comedian-impressionist David Frye.

Temple attorney Jim D. Bowmer was installed as president of the 21,000-member State Bar, succeeding Watson at the close of the three-day meeting.

A good meal often changes an individual's entire viewpoint on life and its problems.

Honest

Boss: I wish you wouldn't whistle while working.

Miss O'Flage: But I'm not working.

Fragile

A young woman was mailing the old family Bible to her brother in a distant city. The postal clerk examined the heavy package carefully and inquired whether it contained anything breakable.

"Nothing but the Ten Commandments," was her quick reply.

Keeping In Trim?

"My brother's job as a trimmer in a candle factory keeps him busy every Saturday and Sunday."

"Doesn't he work during the week?"

"Oh no, just on wickends."

Well? Indeed.

His wife began to laugh at him. "You silly," she said; "Fancy being superstitious after all these years! Why, do you remember the first time we met. We walked under a ladder, and you said you were sure something horrible would happen to you."

"Well?" he said.

Taken for Granted---

For most of us the convenience of a checking account is taken for granted. As far back as we can remember many business and personal financial transactions have been handled without the inconvenience of actual money changing hands.

Such was not always the case. Many years ago, right here in Rockport, silver dollars packed in wooden kegs were brought in from the north aboard sailing ships to pay for seafood, cattle and other agricultural products.

In turn, these cumbersome silver dollars were used to pay local workmen and to buy food, clothing and building material.

Today convenient checking accounts have changed all this. They provide a handy and efficient method of transferring funds without risk of loss, and they make it possible to pay bills by mail. In addition, checking accounts preserve a written record of each transaction.

Looking at WASHINGTON

Using Quotas

President Nixon's decision to lift import quotas on meats raises the question whether other quotas should not be lifted--when such action is justified in the national interest. The public is generally unaware that quotas are in effect on a number of other products--to protect American industry affected, to give that industry an assured market and, often, to allow it to charge higher prices. Quotas of this kind cost the American consumer billions annually.

There are oil quotas, sugar quotas, animal feed quotas, fish quotas, wheat, flour and dairy products quotas, etc. In fact, over a fifth of those items in the Consumer Price Index are subjected to quotas, to protect American producers.

While most Americans would agree that domestic industry should sometimes have help, now that wages have been brought under some form of restraint, continuing inflation and rising prices, when not justified, should become the subject of close federal scrutiny and perhaps resulting action, including the lifting of import quotas when justified in the greater interest of the American consumer.

Ceasefire Near?

Indications point to a ceasefire in Vietnam and a victory for President Nixon in his efforts to end the fighting. The likelihood believed near is a ceasefire this summer with American prisoners released at that time.

If such a ceasefire materializes, it will be a major boost to the reelection hopes of President Nixon. It will remove one of the issues now being exploited by the Democrats.

In the event of a ceasefire, the Democratic nominee would, in fact, lose perhaps his most promising political issue. Moreover, achievement of a ceasefire would vindicate the President's decision to mine Haiphong and other North Vietnamese ports and resume the bombing of North Vietnamese targets--steps Nixon's critics were quick to characterize as a futile, hopeless and counter-productive.

Though the ceasefire is not yet a reality, if it comes about, the lesson implanted will obviously be, as some like Senator Barry Goldwater have argued for years, that the communist enemy respects nothing as much as force and determination. And the President's gamble, in risking the mining of North Vietnamese ports, will have proven the key domestic and foreign policy decision of his term.

The New Court

The present Supreme Court is obviously not the high court of Earl Warren, which struck out in new social and sociological directions. But it is not yet a really new court, either. In the recently concluded term the direction and tenor of this court become more clearly established.

President Nixon has appointed four members of the court and these four have now begun, it seems, to vote in somewhat close accord along ideological lines. The five older members of the court, though some have at times deserted the old majority in the last three years, have, to some extent, now coalesced into a slim five-member majority. The Warren Court's five remaining members' dominant power was apparent in the recent decision abolishing the death penalty.

Mr. Nixon's appointees are still in the minority, by one. Thus the next vacancy on the court may well determine the tone and trend of the highest court for years to come.

President Nixon is not likely to choose the new Justice unless reelected four months hence, for even if a vacancy occurs almost immediately, there's little likelihood Congress would act on confirmation this year. Thus the November election is, in a sense, also a referendum on the nation's highest court.

Congressional Pay

Congress recently voted itself a fat pay hike of almost fifty per cent--at a time when the nation was operating in the red and when inflation was a major threat to the dollar and economic stability.

The excessive pay hike fueled the hopes of millions, many in labor unions, who thereupon sought fifteen, twenty or fifty per cent (or more) for themselves. In the end, the President was forced to initiate an economic control program to hold down prices and wage increases. The success of that effort is still to be determined.

In spite of the fact that Senators and Congressmen now receive a $42,000 salary, travel allowances, free mailing privileges, lavish office expenses and many well-paid aides, plus other benefits, some members are quietly maneuvering to bring themselves another fat pay hike, probably in 1973.

Voters would therefore be well advised to put the key question to every one of the nation's 435 Congressmen running for reelection (and to challengers for these seats) in this fall's election--whether he or she favors another pay hike and to vote against it.

Financial responsibility has not been one of Congress' long suits in recent years; the nation's electorate should exercise its proper function and see to it that the record is improved.

Fischer's Antics

Bobby Fischer, though he may be the best chess player in the world, lost many fans and cost America many admirers, with Cassius Clay-style antics in recent days. Fischer created an uproar in Iceland (where the first matches are scheduled) by reportedly asking more money at the last minute and by allegedly threatening to refuse to appear if his demands were not met.

Thus far most Americans have accepted Fischer's immodest boasts and conceit in the hope that an American might at last win the world chess championship from the Russians, who have so long dominated world championship chess.

But rows or repudiation of agreements, constant turmoil and threats, even if a calculated war of nerves designed to affect an opponent, have no proper part in chess play. These are street tactics, in effect, and detract not only from America's challenger but from the nation.

Despite what some have recently claimed, winning is not the only thing, not the most important thing--except perhaps on some occasions in war. The way one plays the game is still and always will be the highest mark of gentility, civilization and sportsmanship.

BASEBALL * * *

By Pete Fritchie

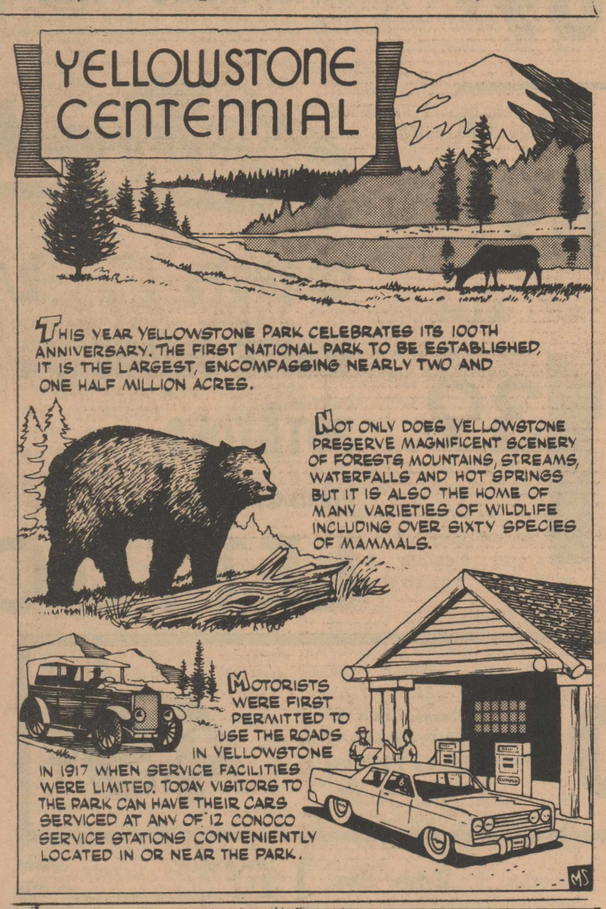

Washington, D. C. -- The July 4th holiday is not the half-way mark in the Major League baseball season but it's usually fairly clear by that time which teams are to fight it out for the pennants.

For 1972 the National League race looks like this: In the eastern division, it's between New York, Pittsburg and Chicago, with the Pirates the favored but with Chicago as a sleeper. In the western division, it's between Cincinnati, Los Angeles and Houston, with Los Angeles favored over the long haul but Houston the sleeper.

The American League race is simpler. In the East, it's between Baltimore and Detroit, with the Tigers the sleeper and the Orioles generally favored. In the West it's a three-way show, with Oakland the betting favorite of practically all and Chicago the sleeper. Minnesota is surprisingly strong.

One of the unexpected turns in the American League is the rapidly-growing strength of its western division, compared to the eastern. Just a year or two ago the eastern division was thought to have much stronger teams. There is little difference today--in fact, western division teams have won far more games thus far and might be the stronger, on the average.

In the National, divisions are more evenly balanced.

S.R. No. 267 By Schwartz

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, The 62nd Legislature of the State of Texas enacted Senate Bill No. 31, the Texas Catastrophe Property Insurance Act; and

WHEREAS, It was the intention of the Legislature that the windstorm insurance pool created by Senate Bill No. 31 would provide Texas citizens in areas prone to windstorm and hurricane damage with a means of obtaining windstorm insurance at a reasonable cost; and

WHEREAS, It was likewise the intention of the Legislature that the windstorm catastrophe pool serve to spread the insurance risk which all companies would not voluntarily share to all of such companies in a fair and equitable manner; and

WHEREAS, The large number of complaints from citizens in coastal counties regarding operation of the pool led the State Board of Insurance to hold public hearings to determine whether the faults of the insurance pool were in fact because the operation of the pool was contrary to the intention of the State Board of Insurance and the Legislature; and

WHEREAS, As the result of the first of such hearings it was clearly displayed that the 50% surcharge originally permitted by the Board in certain coverages which heretofore had been considered as ordinary risks was indeed excessive and had resulted in substantial abuses to the insurance-buying public and such surcharge was reduced to 10% on those coverages which is still unsatisfactory; and

WHEREAS, At that time no change was made in the area of insurance coverage with rates as high as three times manual rates and a subsequent hearing held in Rockport, Texas with all three commissioners present established that the definition and criteria for "beach" property was not based upon valid evidence and that the category of property as defined included the towns of Rockport and Palacios which are in no way "beach" property but carry rates in the pool of three times the manual rate which is intolerable; and

WHEREAS, Many insurance companies have acted unreasonably and in bad faith by still refusing to write ordinary risks in certain areas and thereby requiring property owners to pay pool rates, bearing a mimimum of a 10% surcharge and often a rate of three times manual rate if they are to receive windstorm coverage; and

WHEREAS, The pool is in addition thereto delaying issuing policies during the hurricane season, leaving many property owners without certainty of coverage; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, By the Senate of the State of Texas, that the Senate clearly and affirmatively reiterate its legislative intent that windstorm insurance should be readily available to all coastal property owners at reasonable rates; and be it further

RESOLVED, That in order to implement the intent of the Legislature, the State Board of Insurance should take immediate further steps to assert its administrative authority in the following manner:

(1) To make the surcharges of pool rates applicable only to high risk property, so that owners of property which are ordinary risks are not forced to pay pool rate penalties;

(2) To eliminate the arbitrary penalty definitions of beachfront property which define it as property within 2500 feet of the water and under 20' elevation without an approved seawall since these facts have no bearing on windstorm insurance coverage;

(3) To give policy purchasers immediate coverage by establishing an effective date for policies acquired through the pool;

(4) To take all other necessary action to achieve the goals of Senate Bill No. 31 as expressed in that Act and in this Resolution, that windstorm insurance be available to all property owners at reasonable rates, and that ordinary risks continue to be insured at manual rates; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this Resolution be sent to the Governor of the State of Texas, members of the State Board of Insurance, the Commissioner of Insurance, and the operators of the windstorm insurance pool.

Historical Research Unearths Many Interesting Stories

On the 17th day of February, 1947 in the District Court 36th Judicial District, Aransas County, Texas, before the Honorable W.G. Gayle Cause #2372 styled F. Jansen vs. J.H. Kelley, et al was tried. F. Jansen was represented by J.F. Park, an attorney from Corpus Christi, Texas, and J.H.Kelley, et al were represented by Emory M. Spencer, a Rockport attorney. Involved in the lawsuit were two lots in Fulton, Lots 4 and 5, Block 52.

On November 20, 1890 George Ware Fulton and wife, Harriett Smith Fulton gave the two lots to the Right Reverend Peter Verdaguer, Bishop of the Vicariate Apostolic of Brownsville of the Roman Catholic Church. A confirmation deed was later given to the same grantee by the Aransas Pass Land Company. No church was ever built upon the property and like many other parcels of Aransas County real estate, it lay idle and unused for many years. About the year 1935 or 1936 F. Jansen and wife moved a trailer home on the property and had lived there until the filing of the suit in 1946 at which time they attempted to obtain title to the property as well as the possession they had.

Spencer says, "I knew F. Jansen quite well. His full name was Floor Jansen and he was born in the Netherlands and became a naturalized citizen during the time that such matters were handled by the State District Courts. He was born Floor Iansen but since in Holland "I" is pronounced 'J' he had his legal name at naturalization changed to Floor Jansen. He came here during the depression at a time when Rockport had a free camp ground on the Hirsh property in the northwest portion of the city. Later he moved onto the property in Fulton.

"He consulted me about the legal matter before the lawsuit was filed. I told him to acquire property by limitation is taking something from someone that does not belong to you and by some considered 'stealing'. Actually it is legalized stealing for the law so provides. I told him that it would be stealing from the Church. He said that he was an atheist and it made no difference whether he stole from the Church or not. I told him that it didn't make any difference whether he was an atheist or not, that this was a Christian community and that the people would not put their stamp of approval on stealing from the Church. Jansen was a good friend of mine, both before and after the lawsuit. He later became the Justice of the Peace at Fulton. When I wouldn't take his case, he went to Corpus Christi for an attorney."

In the meantime the Diocese of Corpus Christi was created out of the Diocese of Brownsville and at the time of the filing of the lawsuit the Most Reverend E.B. Ledvina was the Bishop of the Diocese of Corpus Christi and the successor in title to the Most Reverend Peter Verdaguer. When the controversy came up the lovable Irish Father J. H. Kelley was in charge of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church at Rockport. Two lots in Fulton was not a big deal in those days so Bishop Ledvina wrote Father Kelley as follows:

"Dear Father Kelley:

I, hereby, direct and appoint you to be official representative in the matter of two lots which are Church property in Fulton. Please secure the services of Mr. Emory M. Spencer who is at present County Attorney; and have him see that Mr. Jansen, who has been living on the aforesaid diocesan property, in a trailer, vacates the premises immediately.

Yours sincerely,
(signed) E.B. Ledvina Bishop of Corpus Christi"

Spencer continues, "So, when Father Kelley secured my services as he was told to do by the Bishop, I was glad to be of service. At that time I was not a member of any church but I was interested in law enforcement and for hard core law enforcement one looks to the churches. Furthermore, at that time I usually had my choice of either side of any controversy of any importance."

After the usual legal delays and manuevers the case was tried before Judge Gayle, a jury having been waived. The outcome of the suit was "It is accordingly ordered, adjudged and Decreed that the Plaintiff and Cross Defendant, F. Jansen, take nothing by his suit and that the Defendant and Cross Plaintiff, E.B. Ledvina recover of the Plaintiff and Cross Defendant, F. Jansen, title and possession of the premises described in Plaintiff's Original Petition..."

Spencer says: "I had some help from above in the trial of this case and some of it was not so far above. Along near the end of the trial of the case Judge Gayle suddenly announced that the Court would take a 30 minute recess. Along toward the end of the recess the Court Reporter, Harvey Harrell, sidled up to me and told me where my presentation was a little weak, which matter was promptly corrected when court resumed. I have always taken care of men in two professions, waiters and court reporters, for either of them can spit in your soup in the kitchen and you never know it. The case was appealed, but there was no change in the judgment."

Spencer continues: "Of course I never charged any legal fee in the matter but I received something I treasure more than money. On February 17, 1947 I received the following letter:

' Bishop's House
804 Antelope Street,
Corpus Christi, Texas.

The Honorable Emory M. Spencer, County Attorney, Rockport, Texas.

My dear Honorable Mr. Spencer:

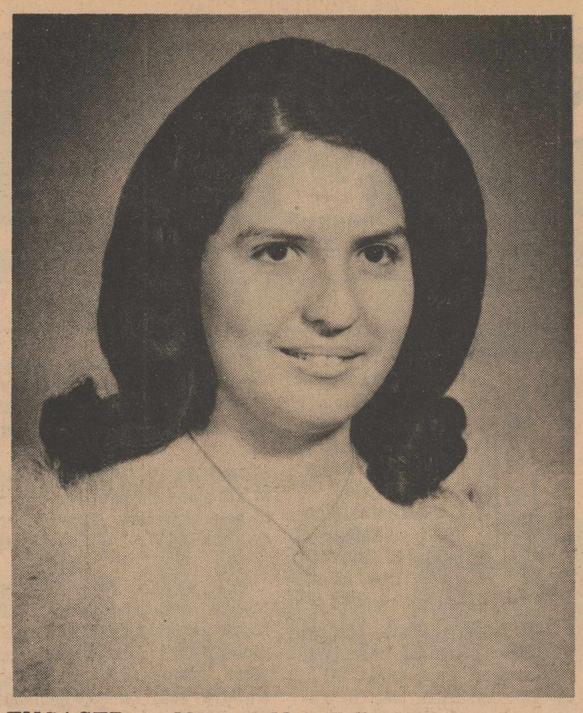

Father Kelley phoned me of the proceedings of the County Court in regard to the case of a certain Fulton man trying to acquire squatters right on a piece of property that belongs to the Church. I appreciate very much your kind interest in the matter, and wish to thank you for all that you have done to help clear the situation. Father Kelley told me that the defendant would probably appeal the case, but that you kindly told Father Kelley to inform me not to feel worried about the outcome.

It is always encouraging to learn that there are honest public officials who adamantly are on the side of justice. It is refreshing to learn of such a consoling attitude of a servant of the people.

Yours sincerely,

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

More emotion than reason and more heat than light are too often brought into play when the matter of alcoholism and alcohol abuse come up.

All too often, people don't have the facts they need at hand or easily available when some of the endless questions about alcohol come up. Thus, many questions go unanswered with myths and misinformation.

To help combat this situation, the new National Instutute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism has just issued a factual and objective publication that constitutes a brief but handy guide through some of the puzzling mazes of the problem.

Titled, "Alcohol: Some Questions and Answers", the new publication brings up 14 of the major questions continually asked about alcohol. It provides succinct but full answers to the questions and is couched in straightforward but popular terminology.

"What is alcohol?" is one of the questions, for example, which seems simple enough, but which can lead to confused argument.

Is alcohol a drug, a food, or what? The publication answers this by saying: "By strict definition alcohol is classified as a food, because it contains calories. However, it has no nutritional value. Alcohol is also classified as a drug, because it dramatically affects the central nervous system."

The rest of the section goes on to define alcohol further and to give pertinent facts about its nature and characteristics, including information on amounts on alcohol in beers, wines, and disstilled alcoholic beverages.

How alcohol works in the body, how fast it takes effect, is drinking dangerous, what is drunkenness, why do people drink, and what constitutes a "drinking problem" are among other questions answered.

A single free copy of the new publication is available. Ask for it by title and number (DHEW Publication No. HSM 71-9048) from the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

TOPS NEWS

The TOPS Club will sponsor a bake sale July 22, 10:00 a.m. at H.E.B. Grocery. On Monday, July 17 they will have a swimming party with weigh-in time at 6:00 p.m. at the church. Everyone is supposed to bring their own dinner. Eva Herrington was queen of the week. New members and old members are welcome.

Fix-It Tip

Keep power tools clean. This is more of a problem with outdoor tools. The accumulation of clippings and dirt not only makes for less efficient use but for rust. Wipe off cutting edges and coat with a light film of oil. Remove clippings from the underside of the lawn mower housing. Keep belts and chains free of dirt and grass clippings.

Clean off any rust as soon as you notice it. Metal surfaces should be sanded and painted with a rust-resistant enamel. Use a coating of oil where the metal cannot be painted.

Plea to Preserve Zachary Taylor Oak

The following letter was received by Roy V. Rogero, Sr., publisher of the Rockport Pilot, from Gordon L. Lewis of Corpus Christi urging support to preserve the Zachary Taylor Oak. Following the letter is an article about the famous tree.

Dear Mr. Rogero:

Because newspaper publishers are traditionally influential in the community and because newspapers seem to be able to get more things accomplished than other organizations, I sincerely solicit your interest and support to preserve the great Zachary Taylor Oak.

I am sure you are familiar with the history associated with the article from "Famous Trees of Texas" published by the Texas Forest Service. I do know that a considerable number of people have driven to Rockport to see this historical and immense tree and I know you will agree it should not be allowed to die due to neglect.

I have been informed your city government has been repeatedly asked to have it properly cared for by competent tree surgeons but have declined because of the expense. This appears to be short sighted because it is one of the real attractions that brings people to your community.

I am well in my sixties now and have been coming to Rockport for most of my life. Your town has great charm and it should try to preserve what nature has given it.

Sincerely,
Gordon L. Lewis

The Zachary Taylor Oak

On July 23, 1845, Brigadier General Zachary Taylor, commander of the U.S. Army of Occupation, left New Orleans on the steamer Alabama with eight companies of the Third Infantry. His orders were to proceed to Texas and wait there until the Texas Convention had accepted the annexation resolution of the U.S. Congress. He was then to proceed immediately with his whole command to the extreme western border of Texas, take up a position on or near the Rio Grande and expel any Mexican force that attempted to cross into Texas.

On July 25, the Alabama dropped anchor off St. Joseph Island, a few miles north of the pass into Aransas Bay near the mouth of the Nueces River. By the following evening, three companies of troops had landed, and a small U.S. flag was flying from the top of a sandhill--the first ever raised by United States authority in Texas.

On July 29, Taylor attempted to take two companies of men with him to the mainland in the lighter Undine, but water in the Bay was low and the lighter ran aground after going a few miles. There the General and his men stayed until sundown, August 1, when they were transferred to the Texas mainland in fishing boats that had gathered about the grounded lighter.

General Taylor and his men are believed to have camped beneath this massive live oak until his return to St. Joseph Island and his subsequent successful trip to Corpus Christi in September.

The Zachary Taylor Oak is located at the southeast corner of South Pearl Street and Bay Street in the city of Rockport. A bronze and concrete marker was placed near the base of the tree by the Scott Study Club in 1933.

Rummage Sale

The Concerned Women of Aransas County add their thanks (to those of Msgr. G.A. Gloeckner, Blessed Sacrament Church, Laredo, Texas) to Mr. and Mrs. E.R. "Bob" Cantwell, Jr., for transporting the surplus clothing from their weekly rummage sales. It was necessary to clear the building at 114 N. Church for summer religion classes.

Msgr. Gloeckner writes:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Cantwell,

Received your lovely letter pertaining to the clothing... thank you so much and the Concerned Women of Aransas County Organization for their generosity and kindness. It is deeply appreciated and may Almighty God bless you all.

The women will resume their weekly sales the end of July on Saturday 9 a.m.-noon. Anyone with donations may leave them on the porch at 114 N. Church or come by Thursday mornings when the ladies are pricing.

The Kinsey Report

With the Public Relations Division of the Chamber of Commerce providing the leadership, the ideas and the follow-through, the Rockport area has been getting some outstanding publicity in out-of-town newspapers.

Bill Cunningham, State Editor of The San Antonio Express, spent the weekend here recently and then published an interesting article accompanied by two photographs. In his presentation he concentrated on waterfront subdivisions that have been developed here and their impact on San Antonio.

Another writer-visitor who spent two days here was Bill Dozier, publisher of the Kerrville Times. Bill and his wife fell in love with our community and Bill devoted his entire column, "The Hilltopper," to the Rockport area recently. The article is reproduced in this issue of the Rockport Pilot.

Scheduled for publication next fall is a glowing tribute to Rockport which will appear in the Ford Times. This beautiful little magazine, as most Ford owners know, is mailed throughout the nation to hundreds of thousands of present and former owners of Ford Motor Company cars. This article definitely should attract many people to this area who enjoy auto trips.

In addition, the local area continues to get good publicity in the Corpus Christi Caller-Times and in the San Antonio Express and the Houston Chronicle on human interest happenings and also on important economic and governmental developments.

All this publicity is free and it does a lot of good for our community.

New Highway Symbol Signs

AUSTIN--A straight line isn't the shortest distance between two points--if it's painted white or yellow and it's on a Texas highway.

New "symbol" signs and pavement markings have been adopted by the Texas Highway Commission from the revised "Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices" released by the Federal Highway Administration.

In many cases, symbols, shapes and colors have been substituted for words. It is hoped that this will give the message to motorists at a glance and remove language barriers.

The new symbol signs that will replace the old word signs are pretty self-explanatory. For example, the new school sign will be shaped like a schoolhouse and will contain black silhouettes of two children on a yellow background.

The new pavement markings are not as dramatic looking, but are equally important.

There is an easy way to remember them:

Yellow lines will be the only color used for centerline markings on two-way highways--for separating traffic flows in opposite directions. Yellow centerlines have proven to be more visible in fog than white stripes.

White will remain on multiple-lane highways--for separating traffic flows in the same direction as well as on one-way streets.

Red will be used on raised reflective markers and will denote wrong-way movement. IF YOU SEE RED YOU ARE GOING THE WRONG WAY.

All broken (dashed) lines will be permissive in character while the solid lines will be restrictive. The combination of broken and solid yellow stripes will indicate to the motorist what is permitted.

A dashed yellow centerline will be used where passing is permitted. Two yellow lines, one solid and one dashed, will mark sections where passing is permitted in one direction (the solid yellow line will be on the side restricting passing).

Two solid yellow lines will be used where passing is prohibited in both directions.

With yellow as the only centerline color on two-way roads and streets drivers will have a continuing color reminder that they should expect traffic in the opposite direction.

Other uses of yellow will include the marking of obstructions and islands which must be passed on the right. Additional uses of white will include the marking of crosswalks and the edge lining of Interstate highways and other types of roads.

Know the Weather

Is it true that hailstones sometimes get as big as oranges? What makes big hailstones and why does hail fall during a thunderstorm?

The answer to the first question is yes. Many of the so-called tall tales one hears about big hailstones are probably closer to the truth than the listener realizes.

Hail is usually formed in thunderheads because these storm clouds contain very strong up-drafts and down-drafts. Rain droplets begin to fall, are caught by an up-draft and suddenly carried to an altitude where the temperature is below freezing. The rain droplets freeze into hail.

They fall again, picking up moisture as they reenter the rain area, but are sent aloft by another up-draft where the moisture added since the first freeze is frozen to the center core. The process of fall and ascent is sometimes carried on several times; the hailstones growing larger with each trip upward.

The stronger the up-drafts in the thunderhead; the larger hail is likely to be.

TV COMMENTARY

By John Smiley

AFTER a lame duck TV summer, viewers are curious about fall video fare. It appears the new season will be keynoted by a discreet steering afar from violence. Action-adventure shows are challenged to tone down violence enough to satisfy the FCC, without losing viewers.

PRODUCERS are searching for ways to hold audiences as closely as they were held by the demon of violence. Hopefully the powers that be will not resort to an increased play on melodramatic emotionalism, soap-opera style.

FRESH CHARACTERS and good, well written stories would be quite welcomed. Following the trend set by the silver screen, one suspects the viewer can expect greater explicitness and frankness in previously taboo areas.

SINCE documentaries have done surprisingly well in the ratings, the airwaves should be loaded with this type of programming, when fall arrives. The situation comedy will have a secure slice of the time-slot pie.

ONE NONACTION, nonviolent series which will be aired is "Spencer's Mountain," on CBS. The story deals with life in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia during the depression. Edgar Bergen and Ellen Corby will star in the series.

COOL MILLION will be a 90 minute NBC show seen on Wednesdays. James Farentino will star as an international investigator who takes no assignment for less than one million dollars.

Highway Signs Have 'New Look'

AUSTIN--Although the "new look" in highway signs is not as revolutionary as the mini-skirt--Texas Highway Department engineers hope it will be as eyecatching.

In many cases, symbols, shapes and colors are substituted for words. It is hoped that this will give the message to motorists at a glance and remove language barriers.

The new symbol signs and pavement markings adopted by the Texas Highway Commission are from the revised "Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices" released by the Federal Highway Administration.

The new prohibitive signs are probably the most important. These signs all have a red circle with a slash cutting diagonally through the center which means "DO NOT" or "NO". The symbol inside the circle shows what is prohibited.

For example, a sign showing a black left turn arrow with a superimposed red circle and slash designates "NO LEFT TURN."

The yellow diamond-shaped signs still stand for a warning, but some of the symbols showing hazards are new. In addition, most warning signs continue to have a word message, but the message is located under the sign on a plaque.

For example: The word message " MERGING TRAFFIC", is replaced by a black arrow being joined by a smaller black line. A plaque under the sign will have the word "MERGE". It is hoped this will minimize confusion as to which stream carries the merging traffic.

School signs are shaped like a schoolhouse, containing the silhouettes of two children on a yellow background.

Color is a key in the new system. Red indicates stop or prohibition; green shows movement permitted or gives directional guidance; blue signifies motorist services; yellow indicates general warning; and black on white is used for regulatory signs such as those for speed limits and for most guide and destination signs.

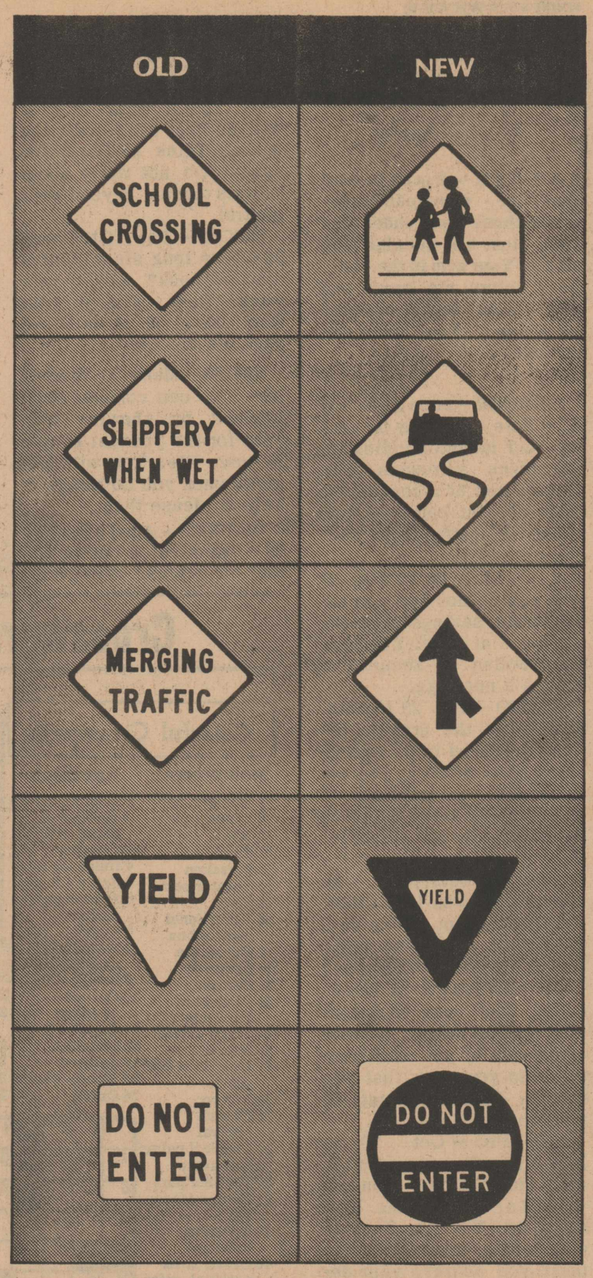

In addition, orange (a new color in the Manual) will convey construction and maintenance warnings.

The shapes of the new signs are important. Diamond shaped signs signify warning; rectangular signs with longer vertical dimensions provide traffic regulation; rectangular signs with longer horizontal dimensions contain guidance information. An octagon always means stop and an inverted triangle means yield.

In addition to the new signs, there are major adjustments in the use of color lines for pavement markings.

Yellow lines will be the only color used for centerline markings on two-way roads and white will remain on multiple-lane highways--for separating traffic flows in the same direction.

A broken yellow centerline will mark the division of the road where passing is permitted. A solid yellow line to the right of a broken yellow centerline will mean no passing is allowed for traffic in that lane. Double solid yellow lines will denote areas where no passing is permitted by traffic traveling in either direction. Similarly, double yellow lines will mark the center line of multilane divided highways.

Rebekah Lodge Installs Officers

The Rebekah Lodge held its regular meeting last Thursday evening with Nobel Grand Bonnie Cloberdants presiding.

After a short meeting, Neva Sorenson acting as District Deputy President installed the following new officers: Noble Grand, Mary Lou Ashley; Vice Grand, Dean Mackey; Warden, Janet Mayes; Conductor, Ora May; Chaplain, Dorothy Leslie; Color Bearer, Ira Coats; Inside Guardian, Pearl Wright; Outside Guardian, Mr. McMahan.

After the installation, Bonnie Cloberdants presented each member with a gift. She was presented a corsage and gift, all expressed their appreciation to her for her faithful attendance and entrust in each member. A lovely gift was presented to Neva Sorenson after which all enjoyed cake, sandwiches, coffee and punch. It was reported that Joyce Bailey is home and doing fine. Mr. McMahan took photos of the new officers.

SOCIAL SECURITY REPRESENTATIVE TO VISIT ROCKPORT

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be at the Courthouse in Rockport on Tuesday, July 18, 1972, at 9:00 a.m.

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kresta are the proud parents of an 8 pound 3 ounce baby girl born July 5 at Spohn Hospital. She has been named Emily Marie.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Henry of Lansing, Mich., have returned home after a ten day visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Setterbo and family. John has recently graduated from Michigan State University. While here they spent a week-end in Mexico.

ORIENTAL INFLUENCE which has been all the rage with American designers since the rediscovery of China also shows up in Italy, but combined with the unique Emilio Pucci touch in this silk print in gray, blue and turquoise to be worn over a matching bikini.

Fix-It Tip

Treads (the part of the step you put your feet on) on an outdoor stairway are attached to the stringer by cleats fastened to the inside of the stringer or by grooves cut into the stringer.

Loose cleats can be tightened with new screws. Badly damaged or decayed cleats should be replaced. If the wood around grooves has started to splinter or decay, reinforce with cleats.

Treads should be replaced if badly worn. If a tread is worn slightly at the center, get extra wear out of it by turning it over.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

I am seventeen years old and I had been going steady with this boy for two years. To be truthful I had begun to be tired of seeing just one boy all of the time and never having a date with anyone else so I decided we should date someone else every now and then and my boy friend agreed.

Now my problem is this--John is dating another girl all of the time and has stopped calling me. This burns me up and its not that I am so crazy about him but who does he think he is to pass me up for some little nobody who is not as nice looking as I am or not as popular. How do you think I can get him back?

Ella--Mich.

Answer:

Your letter sounds to me like one from a selfish person who is eaten up with jealousy. I think it was a very good decision for both of you to begin seeing other people and having dates with others, for several reasons. One is that judging from your letter, your principle interest in this boy was in having an escort and that you were really not too fond of him. Your pride has been hurt by realizing that you couldn't keep him dangling on a string and now you are taking your resentment out on the girl he has chosen to date.

Jealousy and resentment can destroy the person who nurtures such feelings and by dwelling on this and thinking and saying unkind things about others you are harming yourself.

Forget this old attachment and learn to enjoy other people.

Louisa.

ABOUT YOUR HOME

Choose plants for window-box gardening with care. If your window is shaded most of the time, don't use plants that require lots of sun. Try tuberous begonias instead. If your window is sunny, use California poppies, petunias, marigolds or ice plants. For window-boxes that need a trailing plant, use inchplant, variegated euonymous, German ivy, vinca or creeping fig.

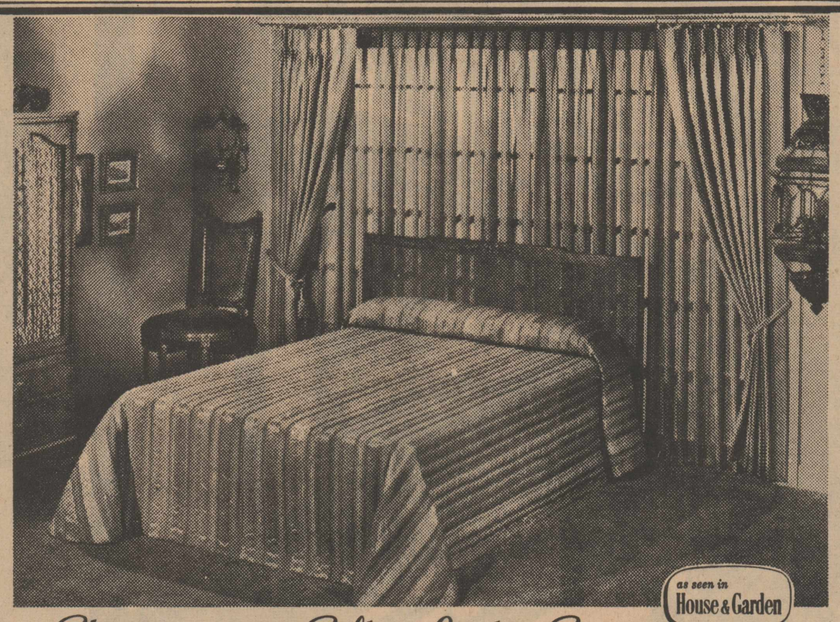

For top results use a good garden soil and mix in twenty to thirty per cent of peat or other rich humus. Use plant food occasionally, but be careful not to over feed. It's a good idea to keep boxed plants well mulched to prevent too rapid drying.

It's possible to do away with frequent waterings by using "self-watering" planting boxes. These have a false bottom which acts as a reservoir to be called on when needed. Another method of watering that can be used successfully when you plan to be away from home for several days is to use glass wicks which bring the water slowly to the plants.

Save your skin. It could save your life.

The sun can do more to your skin than burn it. Overexposure to the sun can also lead to skin cancer. If you work in the sun, or are a sun-worshipper, be sensible. Avoid prolonged exposure. Cover up. Cut down on the chances of skin cancer. It's your skin. Save it.

Kerrville Newsman Praises Rockport

Bill Dozier, editor and publisher of the Kerrville Daily Times, recently devoted his column, "Hilltopper," to high tribute to the Rockport area. Here's what he said:

We took a couple of days off to relax a bit early this past week in the Rockport-Fulton area.

That pretty stretch of Gulf coastline is well known to many of you here, but it was our first visit to that particular area. Most enjoyable it was, too.

We stayed at the Sea Gun Sports Inn on Lamar Peninsula, up the coast eight miles or so from Rockport proper, and visited around the entire area Monday and Tuesday for a relaxing and enjoyable time. Not only did we not go fishing — we didn't even set foot in a boat. But if you're an avid fisherman, you might like to know that the catches were running big in the whole area from Rockport to Aransas Pass while we were there.

Had a nice visit with Col. John Heard, the general manager of the Sea Gun. He took over his present post a couple of years ago upon retirement from the Air Force. He had spent his final four years of active duty as base commander of the 4004th Air Base Squadron at nearby Matagorda Island Air Force Base.

The Heards are natives of Indianapolis, but they fell in love with the Matagorda area during their Air Force tour, and decided to make it their home. Mrs. Heard joins right in the affairs of the resort, and they do an outstanding job of running the attractive inn.

The Sea Gun has both a sizable motel unit and a large number of one-and two-bedroom housekeeping cottages, its own swimming pool and tennis courts and other entertainment facilities. It also operates the famed "Whooping Crane" tour boat that, in fall and winter months, tours visitors through the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge to see the whooping cranes and other exotic birds. Summertimes, the Whooping Crane can accommodate up to 200 people on fishing trips.

The Sea Gun is owned by Toddie Lee Wynne of Dallas and the Wynne interests which operate hostelries in a number of widely separated areas around the world.

The Wynnes bought the property, which some of you longtime Gulf fishermen may recall as a place once named Mills Wharf, in 1962, and have developed a lovely, self-contained resort area on its 28 acres at the foot of the Copano Bay causeway east — or north of Rockport.

The Inn is host to fishermen and vacationers in summers, duck and goose hunters in the fall, and to people interested in visiting the wildlife refuge between October and April.

"The Smithsonian Institute people from Washington have gotten to be regular visitors," John Heard told me. "They called the other day to confirm reservations for January for several of their people who are coming down to study the migratory birds."

The Sea Gun is so self-contained, in fact, that when Hurricane Celia hit Rockport and Fulton and Aransas Pass and Corpus Christi two years ago, the Inn provided food facilities and a working headquarters for miles of the coastline.

We enjoyed simply sitting around the swimming pool or on the back porch of our cottage and watching the weather changes over Aransas Bay. And the road to Goose Island State Park is adjacent to the motel.

The state park includes the old Lamar Oak, largest liveoak in the United States. That gnarled specimen is a real beauty, almost worth the trip down and back to view all on its own.

The unique thing about the Rockport-Fulton area to us was the almost Monterrey-Peninsula look of its bent liveoak trees, and the rise of some 15 feet of the land immediately behind the beach. The area is booming, with quite a number of canal-equipped subdivisions going in along the coast similar to the big development of Key Allegro, a few feet offshore, which has boomed into a cluster of expensive waterfront homes.

We had lunch with Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsey, who are regular visitors to Kerrville to see their daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Herbort, and family. John is editor of the Rockport Pilot and also manager of the Chamber of Commerce there. The Kinseys moved down from Chicago some years back to Corpus Christi, and happily settled then in Rockport to enjoy the relaxed life.

Rockport, like Kerrville, has developed into an arts and crafts center. We visited several art galleries, and were particularly impressed by the Simon Michael Gallery of Fine Arts. Michael, a well-known artist, conducts classes there and in Mexico on a regular basis.

His Rockport headquarters is a Mexican hacienda style house on five acres of beautiful oak trees just a couple blocks from the beach, in a residential area. Its grounds look like a particularly well-tended park, and Michael and his staff are most hospitable folks.

It was a pleasant two days. But one question I asked of several people drew blank looks — how did the town get the name of Rockport?

John Kinsey had the best answer I got. "Maybe," he said with a twinkle, "it was named for the Rockport Indians?"

CENTRAL POWER AND LIGHT COMPANY

Building for tomorrow costs a lot today.

Unlike some industries, CPL cannot put off expansion or simply cut back production in hopes that the cost of building new facilities will eventually come down. Thousands of new customers are added every year. And present customers are increasing their use of electricity. This growth must be met. When you flip a switch you expect results.

During the next ten years we will have to double our production of electricity. In the power business that means you start building now.

And just as your building costs have increased, so have ours. The amount of money we have invested per customer has gone up 60% since 1960. Every nut, bolt and washer costs more each passing year.

What won't change, of course, is our desire to serve you — and respond to your needs for electricity. Our generation is for you. But the cost of generating those kilowatts keeps going up and up.

CPL Our generation is for you.

Art Guild Gatherings

By JAN WENDELL

Overhead at the Art Festival--or better entitled, "My Lawd, What a Mornin' ". Actually this year's Festival was a painting of opposites. One artist said Sunday, "I've never been hotter in my life!"--another said, "What a lovely breeze you have here to keep us cool." A returning artist who showed in '71 said, "I've never seen a bigger crowd, but they're not buying a thing." From another returner, "I've sold twice as much this year as last." And still further, "What a lovely setting--perfect for an art show!" to "I had heck finding this place and my parents haven't found me yet." And also, "This is the smoothest and best run art show in Texas!" compared to, "You must not like artists on the west end much, you forgot to turn the lights on in our booths tonight so we could pack out." Oops!

Last year in the concessions stand, people were begging for sandwiches instead of the hot dogs and tamales we were serving. So, naturally, this year we were heavy on sandwiches and--what did the hungry ones want? You're right! Hot dogs and tamales!

I'll tell you, you never can predict people; they are just like the weather. For instance, before the show, a San Antonio artist called and asked me, "What sort of paintings will sell at the Festival, seascapes or wild life?" What a question to answer! I told him that we could get the spectators to attend the Festival, but only the Lord knows what they'll buy, if anything.

Our Service Wagons, "Ecology Units I and II" were an innovation in art shows. We had two tractors with trailers that hauled artists' gear in and out for them, carried spectators who didn't want to walk, and picked up garbage bags to help keep Rockport and America beautiful. It seems that no other art shows are that kind to participating artists. The exhibitors who made use of the wagons (and this was nearly all of them) told me that at other art shows the poor artist has to lug in with from 100 pounds to a ton of works, with no assists from Festival Hospitality. So, "Ecology I and II" was a good idea, whoever thought of it.

Looking back--and it seems nearly a year ago when it was only last week--I guess I could say the Festival was a success from the standpoint of smooth operation and attracting the public. The count on spectators Sunday was over 5,000 and on Monday, over 2,000. This was determined by the number of participating artists lists given out, and, about half the spectators I saw did not have one.

Most of the working Art Association members gave their usual pound of flesh to 'Ole Sol, but there was delightful relief in all the lovely trees that provided shade.

Personally, there was one thing that shone like a bright star about this year's Festival and it really has nothing to do with selling, buying or displaying art. At about 3:00 p.m. Sunday, when the great crash of people had all gotten into the Festival grounds, looked around and settled down, I went over by the concession stand where Bongo Joe was beating it out on his steel drum and playing on his piano. There, on the grass, in the shade of the oaks, were hundreds of children and adults, completely mesmerized by the music--all of them lounging in the grass, smiling, napping, clapping hands, beating out the rhythm, and each one of them drinking in a little of the old "Sunday afternoon in the park bit." That was it for me--a small part of Americana recaptured into my life. And for you that were there--I hope yours, too!

Oldest Art Show Participant

Participant in the Palm Harbor art show now in progress at the subdivision's marina is Mrs. Mollie Kelly, age 86, shown displaying a hand-made quilt which she completed recently. Mrs. Kelly also entered a colorful afghan. She is believed to be one of the few persons still practicing the almost-lost art of hand quilting.

Most of the other 75 entries in the art show, which continues until 7 p.m. Saturday, are oil paintings, all by residents of Palm Harbor.

Private Clubs

The Supreme Court has ruled private clubs may limit their membership, even if they have liquor licenses. The vote was 6-3 and the decision relieves many Americans of all races and creeds because to force private clubs to accept anyone who demanded admittance would mean chaos. Worse, it would mean restricting the rights of citizens to form private clubs.

There is obviously no right, enjoyed by any citizen, to force himself into any private club. The legal approach which the Supreme Court has now checked and which was designed to break down membership rules in some fraternal orders, country clubs and other social clubs, was tied to the liquor license, seen as government sanction.

It is true that some have been prevented from joining private clubs by membership rules. But all races and creeds have such clubs. And the court has held that the government has no constitutional right to rewrite or regulate the membership rules; it is always gratifying to see such judicial common sense.

MIRACLES DO Happen

By MICKEY CASTERLINE

Another name for astrology is "stargazing." Long ago it was the custom in some countries to call in an astrologer when a baby was born. The astrologer "read the stars" and from them told the baby's fortune. He told whether the child would grow up to be brave or timid, strong or weak, rich or poor. Astrologers predicted such things as wars and famine too. For centuries there was an astrologer in the court of almost every king. Astrology is not a science. The stars, scientists agree, have nothing to do with the fortunes of people or nations. The astrologers of old predicted many things that never came true. But even now many people believe in astrology.

Historical News

A meeting of the Civic Improvement League was held at Beachhaven Jan. 19th 1911.

The president being absent on account of illness, the treasurer, Mrs. A.L. Bracht, acted as president pro tem.

The minutes were read and approved.

As there was no continued business, some new ideas for consideration of the members, was presented.

The first was that of a public library. The growing needs of our city schools, the references required by club study work, and light reading demanded by visitors seem to indicate a step in that direction. Mrs. Grewe and Miss Dorothea Taylor were appointed a committee on location.

Dr. Bailey suggested that the boundary lines of the park next to the home of C.A. Hall be located in the near future. Also that some improvement of the park be made by the members which would be little or no expense.

This thought was well received and Dr. Bailey was appointed to see Dr. Percival and have the park lines surveyed.

The probability of having a naval school established here by Prof. Peacock of San Antonio, was discussed. But it was evident that the gentleman estimated his value to the community at too high a rate. The matter, however, was in the hands of the Board of Trade.

Dr. Bailey reported there had been some damage done the Beach Park during the late freeze. He was in hopes to continue the improvement soon and would announce the date of his next entertainment at an early date.

The meeting then adjourned and the members were invited to the dining room to do honor to our absent president. May she live long and prosper!

The Civic Improvement League met April 20th at Beachhaven.

The minutes were read and approved. The president reported that 8 oleanders had been planted in Beach Park Hol. and $25.00 had been paid on Mr. Johnson's account. Also that 3 palms had been ordered and set out in same park. They had cost $2.00 each. Dr. Bailey had collected on payment of same $1.00 from D.R. Scrivner. $1.00 from C.G. Johnson and Dr. Bailey had contributed a dollar. The $3.00 were turned over to the treasurer, also 20cts. received from sale of postal cards.

As the weeds are again appearing in the park it was decided to employ a man for a couple of days, and Mrs. Bracht volunteered to superintend work during Mrs. Hoopes absence.

It was reported that by some curious process of reasoning, Mr. McCown had declared he was in no wise indebted to the League for rent of the studio. However, as a testimonial of high esteem and charming disregard of facts, he had left a bunch of assorted postal cards of uncertain age and value. These, after careful and anxious consideration, it was decided to distribute equally among the League members to use in judiciously advertising the attractions of Rockport.

A motion was made and carried to authorize Mr. Clevenger to answer the Montgomery and Sartain letter to the effect that we are improving parks and expect to advertise our town in various ways. Money sent will be used in this way or as they may wish to direct.

Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Hoopes paid dues to date--70cts.

The meeting closed.

The Civic Improvement League met with the secretary May 18th 1911.

The minutes were read and approved with the correction--Mrs. Hoopes had contributed one of the palms in Beach Park, making four in all.

The advisability of advertising Rockport was discussed, and Mr. Clevenger submitted some "stickers" that he had received sales on per hundred or thousand. It was thought best, however, to save our money and pay the final indebtedness on the park before taking up any new schemes.

A motion was made and carried that entertainment be given in the park as soon as school was over, and the wind and weather would permit.

A motion was made and carried to authorize Mrs. Hoopes to hire a man to get grass burrs out of the park.

A social hour followed and the meeting adjourned.

Gertrude B. Grewe

The Rockport Civic Improvement League met at Beachhaven March 9th 1911.

The minutes were read and approved. Mr. Clevenger, representing the advertising committee, reported that the local press had given him a rate of $30.00 for 5000 leaflets. On the recommendation of Mr. Dewey, he had written to San Antonio for rates on leaflets with cuts, or illustrations, maps, etc. No answer had as yet been received.

Mrs. Hoopes reported that the electric light bill at the pavilion was $5.60. Mr. Davis acknowledged a light bill of $1.02.

Our bank account showed a remainder of $72.80.

A letter from Mr. Henion was read in which he requested a settlement or statement regarding his share of the pavilion proceeds. A motion was made by Mr. Hoopes that the League pay Mr. Henion 25 per cent of the net proceeds for Jan. and Feb. This was carried and the amount figured out was $11.

25cts. was received from Mrs. Harwell for postal cards of Mrs. Hoopes oranges.

Dr. Bailey read a statement received from the Johnson Lumber Co. to the effect that the materials for the park fencing had cost $123.51. Against this was $35.41 to our credit, leaving a balance of $88.40 still due.

It was announced that the musical talent of Rockport, would after Lent, give a light opera in connection with a few vaudeville acts, at the pavilion for the benefit of the city library. As this is in line with civic improvement, the plan met the approval of the league and will have its hearty support.

A motion was made by Mr. Hoopes to hire a man to dig up some good oleander roots for the park, with the proviso that volunteers of the League superintend the work. Carried. Dr. Bailey offered to select the trees if Mrs. Hoopes would see to the planting.

A motion was made and carried that $25.00 be paid Mr. Johnson on the park account.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

Gertrude B. Grewe, Sec'y.

The members of the Civic Improvement League met with the secretary Feb. 16th 1911.

The minutes were read and approved. Dr. Bailey reported that his Stunt Party netted $10.00 after deducting Mr. Davis commission of $4.05, and a printing bill of $2.25.

Mrs. Hoopes reported having paid a man $2.00 for cleaning weeds in the park 3 days.

Other bills paid were $2.00; stationery $4.25; electric light $2.30; piano rent for Jan and Feb. $5.00; Total $13.55.

Further that the park committee had only been out one day, citizens near Traylor park had not all been interviewed. Col. Traylor said he would give one palm but if the improvement was thorough and satisfactory he would give $50.

Mr. Clevenger submitted specimens of new stationery which were duly admired and approved.

Mrs. Hoopes reported a postal card exchange whereby $2.00 had been paid on the studio rent.

A motion by Mrs. Bailey that we give a detailed account of all money derived from use of the pavilion, dates of entertainments, names of shows, etc. that he might make a suitable report to Mr. Henion. This was carried but reconsidered on motion from Mr. Hoopes that Mr. Clevenger first have a settlement with Mr. Davis this week and report to the League. Carried.

Mrs. Bailey donated cost of stationery during the term of her office.

J.W. Hoopes and A.L. Bracht asked for further time to confer with school board about park improvement.

The cor. secy. read a letter from a man in Mt. Carmel Pa. asking for information about this part of Tex. Also reported having received a letter from Oregon on same subject. Dr. Bailey said he had a letter from a man at the Panama Canal inquiring about the coast country. Thus our fame spreads abroad to all parts of the compass.

The necessity for new advertising matter in the way of leaflets or circulars was discussed and Mr. Clevenger, Dr. Bailey, and Dorothea Taylor were appointed as committee.

Receipts from the Words Sisters Entertainment $17.80.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

Gertrude B. Grewe
Secy.

The Civic Improvement League met Feb. 23rd 1911.

The minutes were read and approved.

Mr. Clevenger read report of pavilion receipts and expenditures.

Mr. Hoopes moved that the report be held over until next meeting when electric light could be deducted. Carried.

A motion by Mr. Clevenger--that we notify Mr. Henion that we had discontinued use of pavilion and held keys at his disposal--carried.

Mr. Clevenger made a partial report on advertising leaflets, and asked for further time.

Receipts of Halls entertainments $17.00.

On motion the meeting adjourned.
