Strong Measures Promised To Curb U.S. Oil Imports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Following President Carter's unexplained cancellation of a major energy policy speech, his chief spokesman today promised on Carter's behalf "strong measures" to curb oil imports.

The statement, issued in the name of White House press secretary Jody Powell, added a new element of mystery to Carter's abrupt decision Wednesday not to go on nationwide television tonight to discuss energy and the economy as he had planned.

The added mystery stemmed from the fact that Powell's statement said nothing the president has not said himself.

A White House official, who asked not to be named, said the statement obviously was released so there will be "no misunderstanding about the president's intentions in this matter."

Powell's statement said: "The president has authorized me to state that, pursuant to the agreements reached at the Tokyo summit, he intends to propose at an early date a series of strong measures to restrain United States demand for imported oil."

Deputy White House press secretary Rex Granum said Powell, who was not in his office at the time, instructed him to issue the statement "in exactly this format."

"There's just really nothing that I can add on this matter," Granum said.

Administration sources said earlier that Carter apparently decided to cancel the speech because "either he or it wasn't ready."

Publicly, the administration chose to keep the reasons for the cancellation a mystery. Powell, relaying Carter's decision to reporters Wednesday afternoon, refused to go beyond a two-sentence statement.

Thursday update

Nine Die In Texas

By The Associated Press

Scarcity of gasoline combined with a trend toward slower driving held Texas' Fourth of July traffic fatality count to nine, the Department of Public Safety said Thursday.

DPS Director Col. Wilson Speir had estimated that 13 would die on state highways and streets during the brief, midweek holiday period from 6 p.m. Tuesday to midnight Wednesday.

Speir said the brevity of the holiday also played a part in the low total.

Estes Trial Continues

DALLAS (AP)—Jurors may be asked to decide today if Billie Sol Estes is, as prosecutors say, a paroled swindler up to his old tricks or the desperately poor man defense attorneys claim has been hounded by over-zealous government agents.

Defense attorney G. Brockett Irwin rested his case Tuesday and U.S. District Judge Robert Hill, who recessed the fraud trial for the Fourth of July, scheduled final arguments for today.

Estes and co-defendant Raymond K. Horton of Midland are accused of defrauding investors in oil field steam cleaning equipment the government contends never existed. The pair also is charged with trying to conceal Estes' assets from the Internal Revenue Service.

Bankers Freed

HOUSTON (AP)—Two British bankers, held for a $10 million ransom by Marxist guerrillas in El Salvador, savored the taste of freedom for the first time in seven months when they were reunited with their wives in Houston.

Ian C. Massie, 46, and Michael Chatterton, 47, have been kept secluded from reporters since their arrival in Houston Tuesday for extensive medical examinations.

Usual Crowds On Hand For July 4 Festivities

If the gasoline shortage affected attendance at Snyder's July 4th celebration Wednesday, it was hardly noticeable.

Crowds in Towle Memorial Park and at other events generally were considered as large as in prior years and estimates were that well over 10,000 persons were on hand for the big fireworks display, the closing features in the park.

There were indications that a larger percentage of the crowd than usual was composed of "homefolks," but overall, the results appeared to be normal.

And, it appeared this morning that the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event, "broke even" financially on its expenses for the annual show.

Attendance at the tractor pull, an event with an admission charge, was reported good, and other ticket purchases along with fees for booths in the arts and crafts show and proceeds from the carnival were expected to pay for the cost of putting on the tractor pull, the fireworks display and other expenses incurred during the celebration. The July 4th event always has been a self-sustaining activity.

One factor which indicated that participation from outside the county may have been less this year was the art show entry list. Although there were some outstanding entries from neighboring towns. Entries from more distant points were fewer this year than usual.

Chamber officials were pleased with the turnout and with the cooperation of visitors at this year's celebration.

The SDN Column

We were reading an article the other day in another publication that may put our fuel problems in better perspective. It raised three questions: How many of us own large riding lawn mowers (gas burners) to mow a plot of grass that a milk cow could eat bare in two hours? How many of us own at least two gas-drinking vehicles, sometimes three, when we could actually get by with one? How many of us own boats equivalent to a World War II PT board, with an engine that could fly a Boeing 707 just to get across the lake to our favorite fishing spot?

We could plead innocent to the first and third questions, but the fact of the matter is, we had (notice we use the past tense) two automobiles in our driveway, each powered by a 455 cubic-inch, eight-cylinder engine.

We had checked out the mileage and one got around 14½ miles per gallon on the highway and considerably less in town. The other did slightly better.

So, we began exploring the possibility of trading for a smaller car. It was apparent from the beginning that it was no easy chore--the small-engined models are in greatest demand. Also, we had our own specifications in mind, the first and foremost being that it had to be an American-made car. For a time it appeared that we might have to wait out most of the summer to find a vehicle that met our requirements, but suddenly one happened along.

Now, we have only one of the larger cars and a small, four-cylinder job. The latter has improved our gasoline mileage by some 60 percent. And we have been surprised over the refinements they are putting in some of these smaller cars these days -- such things as speed control devices, smooth-functioning automatic transmission, efficient air conditioning, etc., all which seem to perform well with the small engine and still travel many more miles per gallon of gasoline.

On the basis of this experience, we now suspect that America mostly needs to redirect its automotive ingenuity to reduce its gasoline needs substantially. It would not be realistic to expect a 60 percent improvement across the board, but a general reduction of 20 percent would change the situation considerably.

Ask Us

Q--Being in the heart of one of the largest oilfields in the nation, why has little Snyder never grown and progressed like, say Midland or Odessa?

A--The old saying, "Being there first with most," probably has something to do with it. Oil production in the Permian Basin, of which the fields here are a part, was well advanced in Ector and its neighboring counties long before the Canyon Reef discovery in Scurry County, and Midland, Odessa and Big Spring were considered little cities before the "boom" here and most large firms in the industry had their regional headquarters established long before Scurry County became a major producer. However, Snyder, a town of around 3,000, did more than quadruple in size as a result of area oil production and according to the Census Bureau is one for the few outside a standard metropolitan area that hasn't lost ground in the seventies.

Less Oil Used, Statistics Say

PARIS (AP)—The United States consumed 0.7 percent less oil in the first four months of 1979 than it did in the first four months of 1978, while five major European nations consumed 3.3 percent more and Japan 2.5 percent more, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development reports.

The United States and its allies have been quarreling over who uses more oil and who has done more to cut down, and the latest statistics favored the Americans.

The figures, published Wednesday by the organization that keeps tabs on the economies of 24 industrialized nations, showed European oil consumption up in France, West Germany, Britain, Italy and the Netherlands.

The industrialized nations have set a goal of cutting their oil consumption by 5 percent this year to bring world demand back into line with supply and ease the pressure on prices.

The original commitment was made in March and reaffirmed at the economic summit in Tokyo last week.

Showers Postpone Fireworks Show

WASHINGTON (AP)-Thousands of Washington residents and visitors to the nation's capital had to wait a day for the traditional fireworks display that caps July Fourth activities on the Mall here.

Showers throughout the day Wednesday prompted officials to postpone the giant display until tonight.

School Due Bids On Food Service

Snyder School Trustees are scheduled to look over some proposals for school food service contracts at their meeting set for 8 p.m. tonight in the school administration building.

The board and administration have been looking into the possibility of contracting for food service and the board recently authorized the staff to take bids.

However, it is expected that the school business staff will study the bids before any definite action is taken.

Several routine items are on the agenda, including some resignations and new employes, and provisions on the agenda have been made for an executive session to discuss personnel. Supt. Bill J. Hood indicated that this item would deal with some vacancies on the administrative staff. Vacant positions include that of athletic director, principal at Stanfield Elementary School and vice principal at the high school.

Somoza Sends Troops To Take Captured Town

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—President Anastasio Somoza, struggling to break the guerrilla hold on two dozen Nicaraguan towns, sent hundreds of troops from Managua early today to try to retake Masaya, 20 miles to the south, a Somoza aide reported.

A high-level military source, meanwhile, claimed that U.S. Ambassador Lawrence Pezzullo did not revive American demands for Somoza's resignation in his latest talks with the Nicaraguan president.

The attack on Masaya would be the first time since the insurgent Sandinista guerrillas opened their current offensive in May that the army has made an all-out attempt to recapture a provincial town.

Somoza aide Max Kelly gave no further details of the operation, but the military source, who asked to remain anonymous, said the attack included bombing, rocketing and strafing by national guard aircraft, and the use of armored cars.

The national guard launched attacks against guerrilla positions around Masaya last weekend, but they apprently were only probing operations.

The guard and the rebels made conflicting claims of success Wednesday in fighting at Rivas, 40 miles south of Masaya and 25 miles north of the Costa Rican border.

The Costa Rican government reported that some of Somoza's troops tried to cross into Costa Rica to dynamite two bridges on the Pan American Highway to trap the guerrillas in the south, but it said the Sandinistas ambushed and killed all but one of the guardsmen.

The rebels launched their attack on Rivas Tuesday after moving north from a strip of territory along the border they had held for weeks. Rivas is 25 miles north of the frontier on the Pan American Highway.

Ambassador Pezzullo returned Wednesday from consultations in Washington and met with Somoza.

Millionairess Visits Athens

ATHENS, Greece (AP) —She's been married to her Soviet husband for nearly a year now, but Christina Onassis finally brought him home for a look at her native land.

The jet-setting millionairess and husband Sergy Kauzov arrived in Athens Wednesday on the Russian's first visit to Greece since they married in Moscow almost a year ago.

Speaking to reporters outside the Onassis villa in Athens soon after arrival from Paris, the 28-year-old Mrs. Kauzov said: "We have come to stay for quite a while. We intend having a good rest and hope you newsmen will let us do so."

A member of the villa staff told reporters the couple planned to spend several days at the Onassis-owned island of Skorpios in the Ionian Sea, where Christina's father Aristotle and her brother are buried.

Here is a hand that decided a team match some 40 years ago.

Both South players arrived at three notrump. Both Wests opened the four of hearts. At table one, East played his king and continued with the jack. South ducked and since West could not overtake South wound up with four spades, four clubs (after losing the club finesse) and two diamonds for a 10- trick total.

At the other table W. Howard Woolworth, the bridge editor of the Buffalo Courier Express, sat East and played the jack of hearts at trick one. No one can blame South for taking his queen right then but the play cost him his contract. He had to try the club finesse in order to score nine tricks and when it lost, Howard produced the king of hearts. West overtook and cashed the rest of the hearts for a total of five defensive tricks.

Howard's play was unusual to say the least, but eminently correct.

West wasn't likely to have a reentry for his heart suit and Howard's only hope was to get that queen of the South hand at trick one. Also Howard could see that without the club suit South could not take more than eight tricks.

Dear Abby

He Ought To Quit This Turkey Cold

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Beverly is a beautiful blonde, immaculate and built like a fashion model, age 53, widowed five years. I am average looking, 59, divorced four years and considered a sharp dresser.

We met four years ago. After an on-and-off courtship, we married. We are both employed, occupy a new apartment and have no family members living with us. I have a meager savings account, which I put into a joint savings account.

The problem: Beverly arises at 3:45 a.m., Monday through Friday, takes three minutes to prepare her breakfast, eats in five minutes and spends two hours dressing for work. She leaves at 6 a.m. for a 15-minute drive to an 8 to 4:30 job. (Clerical, not excecutive.) She arrives home at 4:45 p.m. I usually have dinner ready. We eat together, clean the kitchen, after which she goes to her bathroom and prepares for her next day's work. She retires at 8 p.m., face greased up, lying on her stomach to protect her hairdo and her hands in the air to keep from smudging her freshly polished fingernails. Every Friday evening she allows 15 to 30 minutes for sex because she doesn't have to worry about her hairdo. (Her hair appointment is Saturday morning.)

On weekends she does the laundry and apartment cleaning. (I help.) Because of her routine we invite no guests nor do we accept any invitations out. I do most of the shopping and errands.

We've been married six months, and I've suggested a marriage counselor. That's out. Beverly refuses to discuss our problems or make any adjustments.

Do all beautiful women make poor wives? Divorce seems the only solution. What are your thoughts?

E. IN E.

DEAR E.: All beautiful women do not make poor wives, but yours does. If Beverly refuses counseling, won't adjust or even discuss your problem, your choices are obvious. Either put up with her selfish preoccupation with her needs, or end your marriage.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 34-year-old married woman with one big regret. I quit college after my freshman year. I want very much to have a college degree but if I go back now, in four years I'll be 37 years old.

HESITANT IN HAZLETON

DEAR HESITANT: How old will you be four years from now if you don't to back to school?

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I'd be writing to you, but here I am. I have a close relative who has not visited us for some time and I simply must have her visit soon. (She's been hinting for an invitation.)

I rarely invite her because in the past she has inspected my house like the white tornado. I've seen her very carefully examining every nook and cranny. She even puts on her glasses to inspect my oven!

I have three small children and things do get cluttered, but I think I'm a fairly good housekeeper.

I suppose she wonders why I don't invite her more often, but her inspection tours drive me up a wall.

Any suggestions?

SANTA CLARA READER

DEAR SANTA: Sometime bringing a problem out into the open and kidding on the square about it works wonders. Nickname her "The Sanitation Department" or "The Inspector General," and let her know (good humoredly) that her inspection routine irritates you.

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet: "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too, Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

May Step Up Battle Against Rabies

EAGLE PASS (AP)—Officials, battling a rabies outbreak that may have killed a second girl from the area near this Southwest Texas border city, say they'll consider such emergency measures as shooting stray dogs on sight if residents don't vaccinate their pets.

The city council, meeting only hours after an Eagle Pass girl died from suspected rabies Tuesday, decided to monitor response to today's pet vaccination clinic as a gauge for determining if "a state of emergency" is necessary.

"Gentlemen, the problem is here, the sooner we buckle our belts and face it and get rid of it the better we're off," City Manager Roberto Gonzalez told city councilmen Tuesday night.

Marianita Garza, 8, died Tuesday afternoon at the Santa Rosa Medical Center in San Antonio. An autopsy was performed Tuesday night and results will be known today, hospital spokesman Jack Finger said.

Mexican officials reported the death of a 9-year-old girl late last month in Piedras Negras.

The Garza girl's death came only an hour after the announcement by the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta that one of five test results indicated "the child's clinical course was consistent with rabies in its earlier stages."

The child had been bitten by a rabid dog May 31 in Eagle Pass and had completed the series of vaccination shots in late June.

Finger said the girl was not that sick when admitted to the hospital.

"She was not that sick when she was brought in but she went downhill rapidly," he said. "She had six cardiac arrests last night (Monday) and was resuscitated each time."

The girl was one of more than 60 persons who have taken the rabies vaccinations in Eagle Pass and Piedras Negras on the Rio Grande.

Gerardo Castano, 8, of Eagle Pass clings to life in Santa Rosa with a confirmed case of rabies.

Gonzales said it was too early to tell if this latest death will have any impact on the city of 21,000, but added, "I think the council has agreed to declare a state of emergency on Friday if there is not a good turnout at the pet vaccination clinic Thursday."

He said the state of emergency could result in orders to shoot stray dogs on sight.

He said a Piedras Negras newspaper reported that Mexican authorities have shot 6,000 dogs in the past 40 days.

Special Rock Stores Gas

MENTOR, Minn. (AP)—A man-made cavern here is one reason why homes in the Midwest can remain warm next winter.

By excavating 17,000 tons of zoisite, a nonporous rock that can hold gas so it can't escape, Solar Gas created an underground cavern with 14-million capacity for storing propane.

Every year since 1962, the company has filled the cavern with propane gas during the spring and summer when supplies are plentiful. By fall, a ready supply is on hand for when it is needed.

Half Billion Anthony Coins Already Made

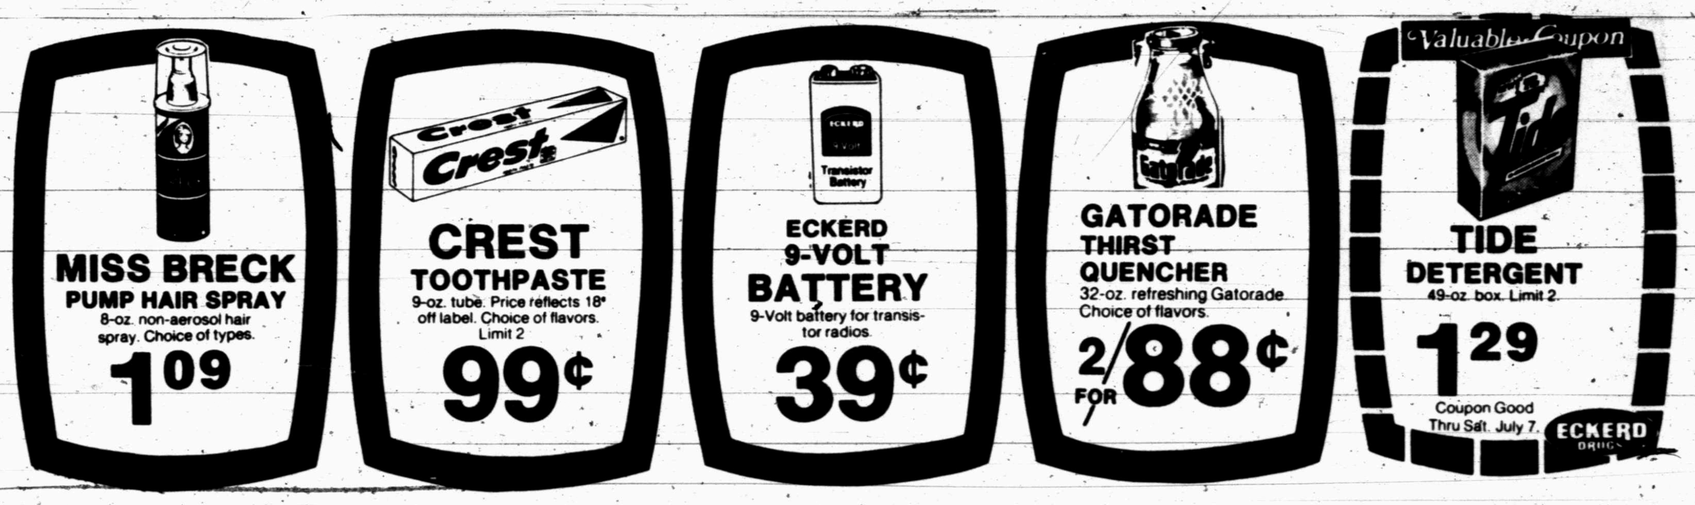

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of the Mint plans to use saturation tactics to persuade Americans to treat the new Susan B. Anthony dollar coin as common currency. It has manufactured half a billion of them and is minting more at the rate of 80 million a month.

The government will consider the coin a success if the average person has one metal dollar for every four paper ones in pockets or purse, says Alan Goldman, assistant director of the bureau.

Led by feminists, Americans seemed to welcome the new coin on its national debut Monday. In some places, bank patrons lined up to trade paper money for dollars of metal.

Near Trenton, N.J., more than 2,500 people waited in line. But a Philadelphia banker said, "People still want the paper dollar."

The Mint thinks it will take three to six months to know whether Americans consider the coin more than a souvenir, to be tucked away.

Byrd, Brezhnev Meet To Discuss SALT II

By SETH MYDANS
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd and Ambassador Malcolm Toon explained the Senate ratification process to President Leonid I. Brezhnev and the Soviet public in an attempt to ease fears that the Senate will kill the new SALT treaty.

Byrd met with Brezhnev Wednesday in the Crimean resort city of Yalta, where the Soviet leader is vacationing. Aides said the senator did not plan to comment on their talk until after a meeting today in Moscow with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Before going to Yalta, Byrd said he would discuss with Brezhnev the process by which the Senate shares responsibility with President Carter for enacting the new arms limitation treaty.

"The Senate and the president are equal but independent partners in the process of concluding international agreements, a fact which you must take into account in the weeks to come," the West Virginia Democrat told Soviet officials at a luncheon in the Kremlin Tuesday.

Brezhnev has warned that the Soviet Union will accept no Senate amendments to the treaty which he and Carter signed in Vienna, Austria, on June 18. Gromyko has said amendments would mean the "end of negotiations."

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said Brezhnev during his meeting with Byrd "pointed out that good prospects were opening in the relations between the U.S.S.R. and the United States as a result of the recent Vienna negotiations.'

"It is the duty of both countries to make these prospects a reality," Brezhnev said. Tass added that he "expressed the hope that the entry into force of SALT II at the earliest date would open the way to elaboration of new, more far-reaching measures in limitation and reduction of strategic armaments."

Toon made his pitch to the Soviet public in a July 4 address on Soviet television, given during the 9 p.m. news broadcast in a time slot reserved for remarks by ambassadors on their national days.

Speaking in Russian to an estimated 200 million Soviet citizens, Toon cautioned against over-reacting to the Senate debate on SALT II. He said the debate is intended "to scrutinize all aspects of the treaty so that the Senate, representing the American people, can be certain the treaty is in the U.S. national interest.'

"Open debate of this sort is fundamental to our political system," Toon said. "The ratification process should be understood in this light."

Houstonians Carpooling More Now

HOUSTON (AP)—Like an electronic dating game, a computer matches up the willing eligible in and around the city.

Willing and eligible, that is, to carpool. And the game is getting bigger, with 86 or more calls a day to the matchmater - the CarShare program within the Mass Transit Authority.

The record was set June 20, the day after Gov. Bill Clements announced the odd-even sales plan, with 150 calls.

The daily average in June was about 86, MTA officials say. In April it was 34 calls a day.

Sharon Hagan, CarShare manager, says the gas shortage prompted up to 90 percent of the calls. The program's "batting average" for ride-matching is 80 percent, she says, with 50 percent ultimately forming carpools.

A computer program new this spring supplies ride-matching lists to applicants one day after they contact CarShare. Formerly applications took a week to process.

Gas Shortage Forces Close-To-Home Holiday

The nation starts its 204th year of democracy today after a close-to-home Fourth of July that saw citizens skipping rocks on a Michigan lake, smoking marijuana near the White House and marching against nuclear power in Maine.

People were also scrambling for gasoline and sunlight on Wednesday, a day that will be remembered in some areas for its lack of fuel and abundance of rain.

The day had its tragedies:

More than 115 persons died on the nation's highways between 6 p.m. Tuesday and 12:01 a.m. local times today, the National Safety Council reported.

A Maryland man was killed when he fell off a float that was heading home from a rained-out parade.

Four persons in Illinois were injured when a test rocket at a Jaycee fireworks stash exploded.

A third person died from injuries resulting from an explosion in a Philadelphia house where police say illegal fireworks were being made.

And in Boston, ailing 83-year-old maestro Arthur Fiedler had to sit out the Independence Day concert on the banks of the Charles River-an event he originated in 1923.

Speeches on the state of the union came from the Rev. Billy Graham, who deplored the nation's energy crisis from the Capitol steps in Washington, D.C., and from recently-retired NATO commander Gen. Alexander Haig, who told Philadelphians the U.S. is in "the most challenging period in the history of our great nation."

In a lighter vein, T. Willard Hunter of Claremont, Calif., claimed to have set a record for the longest speech ever given on the American Revolution. He spoke three hours to amused passers-by.

The Fourth was observed as far away as China, where touring comedian Bob Hope led a celebration at the U.S. Embassy in Peking. It was the first Fourth commemorated here since relations between the U.S. and China were normalized.

In Tehran, Iran, the U.S. Embassy grounds served as a private picnic site for Americans, while a park in Aalborg, Denmark, filled with an estimated 15,000 Danes and Americans for the annual celebration.

President Carter and his family spent the day in seclusion at the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md.

Seclusion was not always possible on sunny beaches along the Gulf of Mexico and West Coast, but officials reported few problems with the crowds that poured to the shorelines.

Easterners weren't so lucky. It rained, resulting in cancelled events and disgruntled resort operators with empty rooms.

But rain didn't prevent an estimated 5,000 marijuana advocates from lighting up in Washington's Lafayette Park, near the executive mansion.

A similar demonstration was staged at the Oregon state capitol in Salem. State police gave citations to 50 puffers who got stoned to live music and urged legalization of their favorite weed. Inside the capitol, legislators labored to wrap up their 1979 session.

Rangers Bomb Baltimore Again

ARLINGTON (AP)—Jim Kern struck out nine and allowed only two hits in four innings of relief, but Baltimore manager Earl Weaver was unimpressed.

"Anybody who takes a four-run lead into the ninth and allows the first two runners on base, I'd say you're not doing your job," Weaver said after Texas' 9-5 victory Wednesday night that gave the Rangers a sweep of their three-games series with the Orioles.

"The tying run could have gotten on base, and the only reason it didn't was because of (plate umpire) Larry Barnett," Weaver said.

Weaver and several Baltimore players thought Barnett called strikes on several of Kern's pitchers that should have been called balls. Weaver went to the plate in the ninth to argue with Barnett after Al Bumbry walked and pitch hitter Patt Kelly doubled to lead off the ninth.

Kern struck out Ken Singleton with the help of strikes the Orioles disputed.

Kern, whose 10-1 record and 1.38 earned-run-average are among the best in the major leagues, picked up his 14th save in relief of Danny Darwin, 2-0, who struck out four and allowed six hits over five innings.

Bump Wills went four for four, scoring three times and driving in two runs to lead a 15-hit assault on four Baltimore pitchers.

"Cooled off their heels a bit," said Kern of the Orioles, who came into this Texas city with 22 wins in 25 games.

Willis singled and scored in the first two innings and added an RBI single in the third.

WINNER--Todd Mitchell of Kermit, edged local talent Jeff Wesson 6-3, 6-2 to win the 16 Boy's Singles event during the annual 'Players' Tennis Tournament which concluded here yesterday. See future editions of The Snyder Daily News for more tourney action shots. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

'Players' Tourney A Success

Snyder's 'Players' Tennis Tournament witnessed good weather for three days, allowing contestants to exhibit some of the best racquet talent in the area this week.

The annual event concluded late Wednesday afternoon with finals in the adult division.

Highlights of the tournament included 40 and over men's singles, where 62-year-old veteran Harry Jordan of Big Spring outlasted Snyder's Bob Womack 6-3, 7-6 with a 5-2 tie-breaker. Snyder's Neal Paige won 18 boy's singles in quick fashion, trimming Don Jones of Colorado City in the finals 6-1, 6-1. Karen Wesson of Mullins defeated Gena Faught of Brownfield 6-4, 7-5 in 18 girls singles.

"The tournament went real well," noted Snyder High School coach Bill Boles, tourney director for the past several years. "We didn't have any problems, and everyone enjoyed some good tennis.

Tennis players from Wichita Falls, Kermit, Denver City, Big Spring, Lamesa, Brownfield, Nazareth, Union, Santa Ana, Sweetwater, Ira, Hermleigh, Brownwood, Crosbyton and other West Texas cities competed in the tournament which began with junior division play on Monday.

Director Fined For Cocaine

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP)—Stan Dragoti, director of the film hit "Love at First Bite" and husband of supermodel Cheryl Tiegs, has been given a 21-month suspended sentence and fined $55,000 for smuggling cocaine.

The 46-year-old Dragoti told a West German court Wednesday, "I am guilty in the sense of the charge" and said he became dependent on cocaine last September after learning his wife had begun an affair with another man during filming in Africa.

Two Wounded In Fourth Incidents

A shooting, a stabbing, and a traffic accident involving a police patrol car marked the Fourth of July holiday in Snyder.

A 23-year-old woman was listed in fair condition this morning at Cogdell Memorial Hospital after having been shot once in the stomach with a 30-30 rifle. Police reports show the shooting occurred at 1908 Coleman St. about 4 a.m. Wednesday.

The injured woman was identified as Donna James. Her spouse, David James, was picked up and booked as a suspect in the shooting on a charge of aggravated assault. He has been released after posting a $1,500 bond.

No one has been arrested, however, in a Tuesday night stabbing that sent Johnny Fuentez to Cogdell.

Police said Fuentez, 19, was stabbed no fewer than 10 times about the stomach, back, and arms. Fuentez told officers he was jumped by several subjects late Tuesday night as he was walking through North Park. The incident is still under investigation.

Fuentez was listed in fair condition at Cogdell.

Police came out on the losing end of a high speed chase Wednesday morning.

Reports show a patrolman began the pursuit about 7:40 a.m. in the 400 block of Ave. W after witnessing an alleged traffic violation of another car.

The pursuit ended minutes later out in the county when the patrol car failed to negotiate a curve. The wreck occurred about eight to nine miles outside Snyder on the Ennis Creek Road. The patrol unit, a 1978 Ford, was towed from the scene. Moderate damage was listed.

In Towle Park activities the Fourth, a purse snatching was reported.

The complaint was made by Cassie Crownover of Snyder and Shebi McKinney of Shallow Water. The two women told officers they left their purses in a car in the park. When they returned to the car, their purses were gone.

The incident was reported about 5:40 p.m. Wednesday. Value of the purses was pegged at $70.

In minor traffic accidents, a one vehicle collision was reported Tuesday morning.

The wreck occurred in the 2100 block of College Ave. at 9:54 a.m. and involved a 1978 Ford pickup driven by Rene Garza. Reports show the vehicle struck a telephone pole, causing an estimated $200 in damage to the pole.

At 1:49 a.m. Wednesday, a two-vehicle wreck was reported in the 400 block of East Highway. There, a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Cris Rains was in collision with a parked 1977 GMC owned by James Abraham Childers.

Also Wednesday morning, a 12:23 a.m., a two-car collision occurred at Allsup's. A 1972 Oldsmobile driven by Ennis Powell and a 1974 Buick driven by Linda Mae Proctor collided.

The third wreck occurred in Towle Park about 6:20 a.m. Wednesday. Involved in it were a 1969 Pontiac driven by Yolanda Carrisalez, a 1973 Chevrolet driven by Lucio Solis Jr., and a parked 1976 Chevrolet owned by Robert Grametbaur of Roby.

Skylab Forecasts Made By Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)-Skylab, revolving around the Earth every 88.97 minutes, is still expected to plunge from orbit next week, with July 12 the most likely date, the space agency says.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Wednesday the spacecraft's orbit had an apogee, or high point, of 141.9 miles above the Earth and a perigee, or low point, of 139.7 miles. The spacecraft is expected to re-enter the atmosphere between July 10 and 14, with July 12 most likely. NASA's forecasts are based on information supplied by the North American Air Defense Command.

Free On Bonds

Two persons have been released after posting $1,500 bonds on felony charges of driving while intoxicated.

Charged were Asencion Rios Jr. and Lawrence T. Thamez. Both were picked up July 1 by officers of the city police department.
