Dividend Checks Amounting To $12,000 Distributed To Members

I. E. Emmert was re-elected to head the Farmer's Co-operative Society No. 1 for the coming year in a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night, April 16. This followed a meeting of the entire membership of the co-operative Saturday in which directors for the year were named, a report of the past year's activities given, and $12,000 in dividend checks were handed out.

R. W. Duke will again serve as vice president and F. W. Thompson was re-elected secretary. B. W. Boardman was named assistant secretary to succeed A. N. Wiseman. Jack Watson was renamed manager, J. M. Dickson bookkeeper and cashier, and Jap Smith engineer.

Directors of the society, elected Saturday were Mr. Emmert, Mr. Duke, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Boardman, F. O. Masten, Mr. Wiseman, and J. C. Hartman.

The annual meeting of the co-op was considered by officers and members as one of the best in the history of the organization, with approximately 250 members attending.

Guest speaker for the occasion was J. L. Beard, superintendent of the Wellington Schools. Mr. Beard stressed the necessity of farmers exercising their strength by voting.

Favors Announces For State Post

Ennis Favors, Pampa Attorney, has authorized the Wellington Leader to announce his candidacy for State Representative of the 122nd District, comprising Gray, Wheeler, Donley and Collingsworth Counties, subject to the action of the Democratic primary July 27.

Mr. Favors in the last election campaigned throughout the entire Panhandle for Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel. He was appointed and began his duties as an Attorney in the Department of State January 17 last year and served until January 15 this year, at which time he resigned and came back to run for the Legislature. His announcement follows:

"I believe it is time to discharge our constitutional obligations and pay our old people, retired school teachers, dependent children and the blind.

"The poll tax payment should be reduced, or abolished as a qualification for voting.

"I am convinced the 7000-pound truck load limit in Texas is unfair and should be raised."

"I will strive at all times to drive the best bargain possible for our people.

"If elected your Legislator I will co-operate with your Governor."

Ennis Favors is a married man with a family. He was born and reared on a tenant farm in Central Texas, and is a licensed attorney, 34 years of age, and has made Pampa his home for 14 years.

Davis Re-elected Head Of Dodson School System

Boyd, Painter And Cornelius Named To Board In Trustee Election

Jack Davis, superintendent of the Dodson School System, has been re-elected for the 1940-41 term, members of the Dodson board announced recently.

This will be Mr. Davis' third year to head the schools at that place.

"Mr. Davis has been doing mighty good work, and we are indeed proud to have him at the head of our system," the board stated.

No other teachers have been named at this time, but this will be done within the near future.

Two trustees were re-elected in the school trustee election held Saturday, April 6, and one new man was named to the board. Re-elected were Fred Boyd and H. A. Painter, while Farris Cornelius is serving for the first time.

Chaudoin Talks On Community Relations At Rotary Luncheon

Carl Chaudoin, superintendent of the Quail School, discussed "Inter-community Relations" Tuesday before the Wellington Rotary Club at its regular luncheon meeting.

Tracing the history of communities in the United States, he pointed out that Quail, Samnorwood, Dodson and Wellington are different units in our community of Collingsworth County.

Stressing the necessity of co-operation, he added to this the need

Paul Jensen Recalls Life In Invaded Country

Local Man Native Of Denmark

Germany's aggressive march into peaceful, neighborly Denmark during the last week has struck a cord of regret and even anger in the minds of local people. But to Paul Jensen, manager of the Wellington Creamery, it is of particular interest, for he was born in Denmark, and his father and a sister still live there.

"I was surprised at the invasion," admits Mr. Jensen. Whether his relatives in Denmark were equally as surprised, he doesn't know. "There has been nothing about the war or conditions over there in any of the letters I have gotten," he says. "For all letters coming from there to America must pass through the British censors, and if there is something in one of them they don't like, it doesn't pass."

Mr. Jensen came from Denmark to the United States when he was 19 years old. He has been back once, in 1930.

Three Amarillons, Five Other Panhandle Men, Are Now In Race

Not since Marvin Jones went out into the cotton and wheat fields to ask the support of the people of West Texas in his first race for Congress 24 years ago has the Panhandle witnessed a campaign opening so electric or intensive as that which last week got under way in the 18th Congressional District.

With only slightly more than a week elapsing since Mr. Jones' appointment to the U. S. Court of Claims, ending one of the most colorful modern Congressional careers, eight men have entered the race seeking the place to be vacated by him at the end of the present session of Congress.

First to announce was Eugene Worley of Shamrock, a member of the Texas Legislature from this district. Mr. Worley's announcement came Friday.

Later in the day Col. Ernest O. Thompson announced that he would seek the post. Col. Thompson is a member of the Texas Railroad Commission, and had been considered a likely candidate for governor of the state. He served as chairman of the Interscholastic Oil and Gas commission until a few weeks ago.

In close succession came the announcements of Lewis Goodrich of Shamrock, E. J. (Dusty) Miller and James O. Cade of Amarillo, Deskins Wells of Wellington, and Tom Ellzey of Ochiltree County.

Mr. Goodrich is a well known Shamrock attorney, who is a former district attorney and two years ago was an unsuccessful candidate for the post of Attorney General. Mr. Miller is a colorful Amarillo lawyer, who has gained wide recognition.

John Templeton In State Race

John Templeton, young Wellington man, this week authorized The Wellington Leader to announce that he is a candidate for the post of State Representative from the 122nd district, which comprises Collingsworth, Donley, Gray, and Wheeler counties.

Mr. Templeton is the son of the late Judge R. H. Templeton and a nephew of the late Judge R. L. Templeton, former district judge and member of the House of Representatives at Austin.

In making his announcement, Mr. Templeton stated:

"In asking the people of the lower Panhandle district to serve them in the state House of Representatives, I have no stock of promises to make. I can only pledge that I will at all times safeguard their rights, and look always to their interests.

"If I am fortunate enough to go to Austin as your representative, I shall at all times favor the farming and laboring people, for I know, just as you do, that it is only when the farmer and laborer

County Music Festival Set For Saturday

Children From Many County Schools Take Part In Event

Boys and girls from many parts of Collingsworth County will sing in the county-wide music festival which is planned for Saturday afternoon at the Wellington High School auditorium.

Featured artist of the program will be S. O. Murdock, deputy state superintendent, from Childress, who will give a group of vocal solos.

All choral clubs, glee clubs and other groups of singers from the rural schools, high schools, and ward schools will be present.

"We extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend this festival. Not only will you derive great pleasure from hearing these children sing, but you will be given an opportunity to see the high type of instruction which the children are given along this line," Logan Cummings, county superintendent, said. The festival will open at 2:30 o'clock.

Deskins Wells Asks Congressional Place

Wellington Editor Pledges Efforts To Help Keep America Out Of War

As the first candidate to come out flatly against sending our American boys to die in a European war, Deskins Wells, country editor of Collingsworth County, announced this week that he was definitely in the race for Congress.

In announcing Deck Wells said: I intend to make few promises, but to make myself perfectly clear, I do give the people of the Panhandle this pledge: I will vote against the entry of the United States into any European war.

I believe in preparation strong enough to resist any outside aggression, but that our best course is to remain strong and free by conserving our resources and our boys.

I was born on a farm near Wellington over 38 years ago, and lived on the farm until I was 25. As a country editor I have worked with and for the people on the farms and ranches for 15 years. Since Marvin Jones' most important service was rendered in behalf of agriculture, I will strive to continue this service to the limit of my ability.

Not only do I favor the soil conservation program and the farm program, but I will also work for the conservation of human lives. In this district, farmers moving from the land have made worse the plight of workmen who could not find jobs in the towns and cities. For that reason I will support the Farm Security program, the Farm Tenant Act as well as all sound legislation to relieve unemployment.

In my platform, which will be announced shortly, I will be more specific on other important matters and especially the need of enforcing the immigration laws, tightening them if necessary to

BPW To Sponsor Safety Campaign

A city safety campaign will be launched Thursday by the Business and Professional Women's Club according to Mrs. Etha Pruden, club president.

Chief features of the drive for more safety measures will be distribution of safety stickers through sale. These will be available in many different colors. The stickers are to be attached to letters, envelopes, letterheads, packages, statements and windshields of cars or placed in any other conspicuous place. The stickers illustrate many different ways in which people are injured through carelessness.

"Purpose of this form of safety education is to carry out over a period of months that which the state and other governmental agencies are trying to put over with the public in general," the president said.

The campaign fits in well with the public safety campaign by placing safety maxims and slogans continuously in the "public eye," Mrs. Pruden stated.

A group of Boy Scouts will assist with the campaign.

Bean Hill School Closes April 25

The closing program of the Bean Hill school will be given Thursday, April 25, Mrs. Bill Roberts, teacher announced this week.

Speaking on this subject will be Logan Cummings, county superintendent, J. L. Beard, superintendent of Wellington schools, and John C. Harper, secretary of

First Wheat Parity Money Is Received

County Raisers Receive 192 Checks Totaling $3,065 During Week

First of the 1940 Wheat Parity Payments for Collingsworth County were received and distributed from the office of the county A. C. A. last week, C. V. Griffin, AAA administrator, has announced. A total of 192 checks, amounting to $3,065.69 was received. There remains about 200 checks to be received and delivered for this county.

"Although the wheat parity checks form only a small portion of the farm money received here, we are truly pleased with the prompt manner in which it was received here. It is proving quite helpful to those farmers into which the checks are going, although most of the checks are small," said Mr. Griffin.

The parity payment on the 1940 wheat allotments is ten cents a bushel times the allotted acreage times the normal yield, Mr. Griffin explained.

"All farm operators with wheat allotments are eligible to receive these parity payments, except those who have declared their farms non-wheat allotment farms," he added.

These checks were being received considerably earlier than were the 1939 parity checks.

John Puryear Asks State Post

John Puryear, well known Wellington farmer, this week authorized the Wellington Leader to announce that he is a candidate for the place of State Representative from the 122nd District, including Collingsworth, Wheeler, Donley and Gray counties. Mr. Puryear's announcement follows:

To the Voters of Collingsworth County: In submitting myself as a candidate for Representative, I would say I have but few promises to make as I know one man in a body of 181 can not promise what that body will do, but as for me, if elected I will represent the people of my district and not a few special interests. I will co-operate with whoever you elect governor and see that the old-age pension and teacher retirement funds are paid. I favor city school privileges for every rural child.

Economy in government and I would spend the tax money as though it was my own. Being democratic I would favor the voters voting on a sales tax or any other question they so desired and I would abide by their decision by such vote.

I would favor raising the truck load limit and regulating height, length, etc.

I would favor cutting registration of cars to one-half the present.

Trees Distributed For Beautification Of City

With the view of a beautiful Wellington in the future, 2,000 trees and shrubs, to be used in beautifying local homes and streets, have been distributed here during the last two weeks, under the direction of the Highway Beautification Committee.

"We could have given away that many more if we had had the trees," said Mrs. Chester Fires, chairman of the County Highway Beautification Committee. Others assisting in this were Mrs. W. W. McClaskey, county co-chairman; Mrs. John Starr, chairman for Lutie; Mrs. Walter Starr, chairman for Quail; and Mrs. L. A. Manzer, chairman of the town entrance.

These trees were secured by the State Highway Department for distribution free of charge to the various towns in this section of the country through the Highway Beautification Committee.

The trees given out included green ash, Chinese elm, black walnut, and honey locust. The shrubs were flowering willow and Russian olive.

In connection with the giving away of these trees, Mrs. Manzer announced that plans were now under way to secure two markers, one for each entrance of the town. These markers are to be cut from

and "the old gray engine seems more like she used to be"

At birth her cylinder walls were almost like mirrors. The more of that polish you want to keep, the more you want your engine OIL-PLATED by changing now to patented Conoco Germ Processed oil.

OIL-PLATING in your engine, like chrome-plating on bumpers, is a lasting addition. And it's all in addition to oil-film. Germ Processed oil assures high-strength oil-film, all right, but besides it assures OIL-PLATING. Oil-film must go slithering up and draining down. OIL-PLATING must stay constantly PLATED UP. For an apparently magnet-like attraction comes to Germ Processed oil from its man-made extra ingredient, so that engine parts are surfaced with their close-held shield of OIL-PLATING... drain-proof.

Remaining fully PLATED UP in the highest-speed engines, OIL-PLATING plainly keeps Wear from doing Summer "business as usual." Wear once thrived during starting periods, but now before the starter ever starts, your OIL-PLATED engine is ready-lubricated—a positive step toward preserving the old gray engine... or a new one. OIL-PLATED cylinders long keep the roundness of youth, and that makes your Germ Processed oil keep. Change today—to Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

Agriculture Body Opens Drive For Members May 1st

Local Unit To Assist State Organization In Membership Enlargement

An intensive membership drive is due to open, not only in the Collingsworth County unit, but in all county units of the Texas Agricultural Association, on May 1.

Plans for this drive have not yet been announced in this county, but details will likely be worked out in the near future.

The Collingsworth County Agricultural Association, under the leadership of Gibbs Glenn as president, is one of the most active in this section of the Panhandle. Membership during the past year was approximately 150.

Objectives of the Texas Agricultural Association, of which all county units are a part, is to secure for the Texas farmer and rancher his fair price and share of the national income.

To achieve this, the body is advocating the following:

Improvement in production and marketing of livestock, cotton, wheat and all other cash crops.

Increased consumption of meats, cotton, wheat, and other crops produced on Texas farms.

Continuation and improvement of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Soil Conservation Service, and all other governmental agencies working toward the improvement of farm conditions.

To keep informed on all legislative matters and insist that all laws relating to agriculture be on a constructive basis.

Seek a law changing the conditions of Texas whereby 41 per cent of the real property pays 98 per cent of all taxes. We propose that intangible as well as tangible property pay its fair share of taxes.

To use all farm influence toward removal of state trade barriers.

Ask for a law whereby the truck load law in Texas be raised to an equitable basis with other states, in order that through competition, freight rates for products raised on the farm are placed on a fair rate basis with manufactured products.

To work out a program whereby soil conservation and other farm operations may be conducted in co-operation with the government at a lower cost and interest rate to the farmer.

We feel that it is necessary for the farmer to organize and put forth a united effort to compensate for the advantages gained by labor and industry through organization, tariff, patents, copyrights, freight rates, price agreements, monopolies, and other protective measures.

Miss Mary Magee of Lubbock and Misses Geraldine and Charlene McFarland, students at Texas Tech, were week end guests of Miss Lora Mae McFarland. The Misses McFarland are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stuckey were in Lakeview Sunday as guests of Mrs. Stuckey's uncle, Charlie Skinner.

Future Citizens Hold Recreational Meeting At Quail

Liars Contest Highlight Of Evening; Groups Present Stunts

Three hundred young people ranging from 12 to 20 years of age attended the regular meeting of the Future Citizens of Collingsworth at Quail Friday night of last week.

The program took the form of stunt night and each club or chapter put on one or more stunts, after which the Quail F.F.A., F.H.T. and 4-H Clubs put on a circus. One of the most attractive parts of the program was the Liars Contest, in which a representative from each of the F.F.A. and F.H.T. chapters took part. Floyd Aycock of Quail was declared winner by the judges.

This is the biggest organization of young people in any county in Texas and is the only organization of its kind in America. The extension service and the vocational departments are working in perfect harmony in training farmers and homemakers for the future. About 30 parents also attended the meeting.

Salvation Army Worker Explains Present Set-Up

Pointing out that considerable confusion has arisen among the business men in Wellington concerning the collectors for the Salvation Army and other groups collecting funds here, Mrs. Herman Lambrecht, official representative of the Salvation Army Corps in Pampa, recently explained the system under which that group is operating at present in this area.

"We have been told that there have been a number of women collectors in Wellington recently who are carrying tambourines and wearing bonnets similar to those worn by workers of the Salvation Army, and that this has caused considerable confusion in the minds of the people here," Mrs. Lambrecht said.

"In addition to her bonnet and tambourine, a Salvation Army worker can be identified by her dark blue uniform, and by the S attached to her collar for identification purposes. Too, she will be carrying copies of 'The War Cry,' the official Army magazine."

Formerly, Mrs. Lambrecht explained, a representative of the organization came to Wellington once each year and collected funds from the local business men for the support of the Salvation Army work. Since the establishment of the corps at Pampa, however, that group has been given permission to come here at regular intervals, and the yearly collection discontinued.

Captain Herman Lambrecht is in charge of the Pampa Corps.

Well folks, I am in the race for Congress, and I am certainly excited and grateful for the splendid way in which my home people have responded to the first announcement. You folks here can send me to Congress by continuing this great enthusiasm and by working in other counties. I sure will be grateful for your help, and if you do send me to Washington, I will work for you just as hard as I can. Furthermore, it is the only job I want. I won't have my eye on every other place where there may be an opening, but will stick to my task and try to work my way up in Congress so as to be in a position to render a real service.

This will be short this week. There are so many letters to answer and so much to do that it must be short. After this week I won't be at home much of the time, and I am depending on you to take care of things at home while I am seeing the other people like yourselves in other counties. Peace and better times to all of you.

Ella School To Close Work Fri.

Under the direction of Miss Jewell Sanders, teacher, a program will be given by the students of the school. Patrons of the school, and friends from all adjoining communities have been invited to attend this event.

Although this is one of the smallest schools of the county, a number of activities have been sponsored by it during the year.

Folk Musical Is Set For April 25

"The March of Time with American Youth," tracing the history of folk music in America, will be presented by students of the Junior High School Thursday evening, April 25, at the high school auditorium.

This musical program is original, having been built around the talent available among the 190 students who will take part. It is under the direction of Mrs. Ernest Elliott and Mrs. Logan Cummings, and every child in the junior high division of the school has a part in it.

Six scenes have been developed, each one featuring a distinct phase of the musical history of America. These include Indian, Pilgrim, early colonial, southern, pioneer and modern.

Dress rehearsal of the event will be held Tuesday night, April 23, the directors have announced.

A small admission fee will be charged for the program, and proceeds will be used to buy a piano for the junior high music classes.

The program will open at 7:30 o'clock.

This country is the home of the farmers co-operatives, and it is from there that the plans for co-op creameries and other co-op enterprises in America have come.

Schools, likewise are modern, and operated along the general lines of those here, although more practical courses are offered. Following the completion, the boy who plans to enter one of the trades is apprenticed for a period of four years, then sent to school again for eight months before he can work for himself.

Few foreigners are seen in Den they could do," Mr. Jensen concluded.

"I remember when I was a boy a circus came to town and with it was a negro. He went around putting up posters advertising the circus, and all we boys followed him just to watch him. We didn't get too close, though, for we were a little afraid. He was the first negro we had ever seen."

The bravery of the Danes, their democratic ideas and ideals, their progressiveness, and their loyalty to their king has been recognized the world over.

"But this time there was nothing they could," Mr. Jensen concluded.

2 Local Fighters Win North Plains Boxing Tourney

Pampa Meet Ends Brilliant Season For First-Year Rocket Fighters

Two of Wellington's four candidates in the North Plains Boxing meet, held at Pampa Friday, April 12, came out with top honors in the League bouts. This ends Wellington's boxing calendar considered brilliant in view of this being the first year for the sport here.

Leo Thompson defeated Mullins of Pampa in the 165-pound division, while Lavell McKinney defeated Borger of Stinnett in the 95-pound division.

After a draw had been called on the bout between Jimmie Bowen and Caloway of Canadian (145-pound class) judges learned that such a decision could not be given in a tournament of this type, and the decision was awarded to Caloway.

In the fourth bout, Cook was defeated by Ray of Pampa in the 135-pound division.

Winners in this meet were awarded leather jackets, while boys qualifying on the Rocket team will also receive jackets this week.

John Lee, boxing coach, Claude McKinney and Wiley McKinney accompanied the boys to Pampa.

THE DEAD ARE NOT EVEN COUNTED

Life is a precious gift. Men cherish it, cling to it desperately long after all its juices would seem to have been sucked dry.

Yet it is cheap. It is so cheap that men pour it out with thoughtless lavishness when they turn to war.

How many men died in the snows of Finland? Nobody knows. Here the sacrifice to the war god was not even measured as it poured forth. Nobody knows within thousands, within the scores of thousands, how many brave young men, Finn and Russian, died in the brief northern war.

There were tales of the slaughter of Russian divisions, one after another, marched to the shambles like the dumb animals march patiently into the slaughter pens. There is no reason to doubt those stories in details, especially those of trustworthy American eye-witnesses. But it begins to seem clear now that the cumulative effect of those stories did give a distorted view. Little was said of Finnish losses.

Now the war is over, and Mars begins to total up his blood smeared ledgers. How many died?

Molotoff, Russian premier, now says the Russian dead were 48,645, with 158,863 wounded. The Finns, he says, lost 60,000 killed and 205,000 wounded.

Mannerheim, the Finn leader, told a different story, of 200,000 Russian dead, 600,000 wounded, while the Finns were losing 15,000 dead. Swedish estimates doubled that loss for the Finns, guessed total Russian casualties at a half million.

Nobody knows whose figures are correct. By averaging all these claims, however one can make a guess that between 100,000 and

When spring comes to the lake country, when the northern tundras bloom shyly green again, those rows of dead will begin their return to the earth whence they came. Each was a man, each a living, breathing being, with fears and hopes like yours and mine, all merged now in a common oblivion.

Through all northeastern Europe are families whose sons did not return. They know. They remember.

But for the rest, for the governments which sent them to their deaths, for a world which watched helplessly as they died—these didn't even bother to count them.—Wichita Falls Record News.

NEEDED—A NEW ROAD SYSTEM

Texas counties can never hope to build an adequate system of county roads until they dump overboard their precinct road system and substitute efficient organization in the administration of county road affairs. Making the statement in an article on "A Guarantee of Better County Roads" in the April issue of Texas Parade, H. C. Bradshaw qualifies it by pointing to the examples set by the organized efforts of the Public Roads Administration and the state highway departments. Mr. Bradshaw is economist in farm taxation at A. and M. College.

The article, written in conjunction with Bruce Boon, further points out that organization in county road affairs in Texas is conspicuous largely by its absence but cites a few instances in which the county unit plan is proving the value of organization.

"In Harrison and a few other counties in Texas," he writes, "it has been demonstrated that the precinct system of local road supervision is outmoded and archaic. It is cumbersome and wasteful; it is extravagant, in the sense that the greatest return is not being obtained from the tax dollar expended for roads; it has not provided our counties with a system of roads that is commensurate with the huge sums of money invested. Harrison County is making a determined effort to cut loose entirely from the old set-up. It already has effected substantial savings in road work. In the precinct plan each precinct is presided over by a commissioner, who usually is not a man qualified by training and experience to direct road construction and maintenance operations effectively. This is true, regardless of the honesty or sincerity of purpose with which he approaches his task. We find each commissioner with (if his funds permit) a complete set of road machinery which stands idle for a portion of the year; we find each commissioner making his own purchases of materials, machinery and supplies; we find little effort made at keeping an inventory of the material or its disbursement to jobs; we find little or no effort at keeping cost records of operations. In short, lack of organization breeds wastefulness.

"Harrison County thus is instituting a plan of organization and if the plan is not torpedoed, the county ultimately will have a fine system of permanent roads in contrast to counties making approximately the same annual investment but which have roads that are makeshift and inefficient."

Another weakness of our distribution system is seen in the fact that with three million square miles of area in this country it is often impossible to find a parking place.

Dr. Wanda K. Farr, Yonkers, N. Y., has determined the way cellulose develops, and this discovery is a step toward artificial creation of this raw material by machines and chemical reactions.

We read that a certain popular song writer never had but six weeks of schooling; and we can readily believe it.

Having the right of way doesn't help much when there is a fool at the wheel of the other car.

Wanted—Scoutmasters

Here is a job to challenge any man. A job so big that the greatest cannot claim success, yet so full of rich returns for effort expended, that the busiest cannot afford to overlook its possibilities.

A Scoutmaster—what a privilege and honor! In fact one takes the mantle of the Great Scoutmaster when assuming leadership of a group of boys.

Can you pass by this opportunity? Can you—in your heart of hearts—say: I haven't the qualifications? Certainly you can't—and here is the opportunity you have been waiting for. The big chance of a lifetime to teach the growing boy all those wonderful things you know as a man.

Just think of the joy of seeing others doing those things you enjoy—and of teaching all the little tricks you knew so well as a boy.

To you as Scoutmaster will be given the opportunity to mould and form in a new and wonderful way the young manhood of America. Your work will be with material more easily colored than clay, more durable than marble, for it is invested with possibilities for growth and development only short of Divine. Great satisfaction will be yours as a result of this service. Scoutmasters remain young in thought and in body. They possess a continuously renewed outlook on life because of their contact with growing boys.

The thousands of Scout Troops throughout the country will annually "turn out" almost one hundred thousand boys, trained in character and citizenship. In ten years this number will reach a million young men or more, distributed throughout every walk and activity of life. The youth of America, if poorly trained, misguided, and improperly educated, may in later years become a great menace, but if properly trained, they will become the most valuable resource possessed by this great Republic.

If you are interested in this program of leading youth get in touch with some local Scout or call at the Scout office in the City Hall in Pampa and learn more about this exciting game of Scouting.

There will be Training Courses in which you will readily learn how the program works; this not only makes the game easier but more interesting. Many of our Scouters have been registered for years and the challenge of the program is just as great to them today as when they started. Some group of boys is looking for you to become their leader—can you fail them?

What Is Meant By Covered Employment?

All employment except for certain specifically excluded types of work is covered under the old-age and survivors insurance provisions of the Social Security Act. For instance, cooks, maids, butlers, chauffeurs, and gardeners, who are employed by private families, are not covered. If these same workers should obtain jobs in hotels, restaurants, service stations, or in other commercial or industrial establishments, they would be covered by this Federal insurance system.

Covered employment, generally speaking, is a job in a factory, shop, mine, mill, store, office, American ship, national or State bank, building-and-loan association, or other place of business.

Jobs not covered are, in general, as follows: Agricultural labor; domestic service; government work; work for an educational, charitable, or religious nonprofit organization; work on railroads (this is covered by the Railroad Retirement System); work in the fishing industry; work as a newsboy; certain kinds of professional work; work performed for a son, daughter, spouse, or for a parent if the child is under 21.

William Fitting, taxi driver of Riverhead, L. I., sued a utilities company for bodily injury after he tripped on a valve and broke both his wooden legs. He won the suit.

Burglars in Rochester, N. Y., took $75 worth of merchandise from a filling station—and the collar of a police dog left to guard the premises.

Micah's Vision May Come True

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 21.
Text: Micah 4:1-5; 5:2-5.

With the nation's of the world grappling at each other's throats, all hopes of lasting peace seem hopelessly shattered. The dream that Micah had, about beating swords into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks, appears now to be no more than an utopian aspiration.

But it is precisely because the world is at war that this vision is important. It is a long way to look back to the days of this prophet of ancient Israel, the man who saw the vision of a warless world and of a Prince of Peace judging righteously between the nations; and it seems a long way to look forward to the realization of any such dream as this when we think of the international hates and jealousies and the bitter strifes that are manifest in the world today.

Nevertheless, years are slight in the great march of eternity, and time is not long in the accomplishment of God's purposes. With God, a day is as a thousand years and a thousand years as a day; and, though the accomplishment of this vision of peace still seems far remote, even in a war-stricken world we are not without signs of hope and promises that the fulfillment will come.

There is hope here on our own American continent. There was a time when, along the borders that have now been peaceful for over one hundred years, men were at war in the bitterest enmity. Recent novels and moving pictures have vividly told the story of these terrible conflicts in which Indian and white man, Briton and Frenchman, American and Briton, fought with the utmost savagery, and in which enemy perpetrated upon enemy the most cruel and horrible torture. Yet, today, we live in a land of peace, and along this border where once horror and terror prevailed now men and governments live side by side in peace and mutual respect.

Is it impossible to believe that such a thing may come in other parts of the world?—that men may yet turn from their unproductive and wasteful strife to ways of life and mutual helpfulness? Is it too much to expect that men will turn from ways of brutishness, and they will see the folly of their mutual destructiveness, and how much better it would be if both men and nations would follow the policy of living and letting live?

Yet, what hope is there of ever achieving this until there is a new heart in men and a new soul in nations? The new peace in the world, the new love of life, and the new way of life, are not going to come just by chance. They are going to come only as men turn from ways of evil and ways of greed and righteousness to the ways of right.

It was Micah who spoke of religion as consisting in loving mercy and in doing justice. Micah saw this new world of peace as a world of regard for law and right. He saw the Lord's house established on the top of the mountains and the nations coming to that house in reverence and devotion. What a world it would be if the nations could attain that vision and could come to the Mount of the Lord!

"Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven."

That old crack about the weather as a topic of last resort in a conversation just doesn't work very well here. We have so much surprising weather, that it really is one of the most interesting things we have. And this time, as it turned from warm to awfully cold and back to warm again, I SAW

Mrs. Bill Turk wondering if she should eat onions on her hamburger, and deciding that while she really shouldn't, she was going to, anyway.

Farmers Coming Back To The "Dust Bowl"

America's ghost lands of the middle west—the Dust Bowl—are becoming less deserted as families pour back to the farms.

Once given up as dead, the soil in Kansas and Oklahoma, in the heart of the 1933-37 Dust Bowl, is beginning to sprout crops again. In some sections of the Bowl, residents are actually enjoying a comparative land boom. Shortages of farms for new tenants have been reported. New life has been pumped into an area that appeared destined to become the nation's graveyard of abandoned hopes.

Recent windstorms in the middle west swirled dust around the Dust Bowl, but they didn't do as much damage as they would have if farmers hadn't been "put wise." Rain would come in mighty handy on the plains, but even the shortage of water isn't going to cause the hardship it once did. Farmers have learned a lot about getting along on a rain supply that a few years ago wouldn't have sprouted a radish. They aren't kidding themselves into believing that all will be honey and roses. They know they've got to fight and struggle, but at least it isn't hopeless. They've learned that with a little subsoil moisture they can coax a wheat crop and with one downpour they can harvest enough feed to tide them over. They know how to conserve moisture by terracing, summer fallowing, basin listing, contour planting.

Also helping to restore fertility is Uncle Sam's Shelterbelt, stretching across six states and serving more than 14,000 farms. The Shelterbelt extends from Texas to the Dakotas, consists of rows of trees, acting as windbreaks and retarding soil drainage.

And so, many families ex from the Dust Bowl by drought are coming back with new hope and new spirit. They're going to give the land another try—and this time they believe they know most of the answers.

Landlord-Tenant Work Off To Good Start Says Griffin

Violators Of Ruling Will Be Given Chance To Cancel Agreement

The recent regulations governing the division of payments between landlords and tenants are off to a good start in Collingsworth County, according to C. V. Griffin, county A.A.A. administrator early this week.

With fifteen committeemen investigating in their various communities, the names of landlords and tenants are being turned into the County office steadily. "All names that are turned in will be called before the County Board and be given a chance to cancel their agreement that is violating the regulations and sign a certification to this effect," he said.

"Every landlord and tenant is urged not to violate this regulation since investigations will be made all during the year and if a party is found violating these regulations in any way all money received from benefit payments will have to be refunded," Mr. Griffin added.

War Shadow Falls On Peaceful Regimes

Mrs. Deral Hollis and nephew, Bura Jo Hollis of Brinkman, Oklahoma, were guests the past week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bura Handley. They left for their home Tuesday.

Official Pan-American Day was observed by local Spanish classes Friday evening, April 12, at a banquet given in the gymnasium of Wellington High School. The chief decorative scheme was carried out in the flags of the 21 different countries which belong to the Pan-American Union. Place cards were done patriotically with miniature flags of the United States. Pan-American highways were cleverly arranged along the table, depicting villages and scenes to be found along there.

Bobby Maddox acted as master of ceremonies and gave the welcoming address. Miss Helen Sue Singley gave a vocal solo of a Spanish song. A quartette of Spanish songs was given by Bobbie Keller, Doris Keller, Christine Boggs, and Wanda Hunter. Superintendent J. L. Beard gave an interesting talk on "Bridging the Gulf Between the Americans Through Cultural Relations." A clever take-off on Ferdinand the Bull was given. Climaxing the program was a movie shown by Miss Mary Magee of Lubbock, who is teaching there. The movie portrayed scenes of Mexico which had been taken there by Miss Magee on a recent trip. "Ask Me Another," a questionnaire, was an interesting game conducted. Prizes were awarded.

EDNA JOYCE GRIBBLE

EUGENE McGUIRE

Wallace Ray Moulton

Wallace Ray—aw, shucks, let's call him Pete—was born on February 3, 1922, in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Moulton put him in China Grove for one year, then found that he just naturally belonged to Wellington, and here he has been for the past ten years, absorbing wisdom, (and other things). He is sergeant-at-arms of the W club, and likes Agriculture and Typing best of his classes.

Pete will leave a gaping hole behind him in the ranks of the Skyrocket line—and no one will ever fill it quite as well as he did. He was captain of the team last year, and he found his way into the hearts of every football fan who saw him go into action. He has also made history in boxing, basketball, track and tennis. He played all-district football three years. Pete will honor the University of Texas with his attendance next year, and major in business administration. He plans to be a cattleman when he finishes his education. Let's play some before then, though, Pete!

Charles Ray Carpenter

A serious young man who is more concerned with his work and education than anything else, Charles was born November 19, 1923, in Vernon, Texas. The Central school in that city furnished him with 2½ years of education and the remaining 8½ years have been spent at Wellington. While here he has been president of the Biology Club, and has found that typing and biology are his favorite studies.

Baseball, track and junior football claimed some of his attention in sports. He entered public speaking also. Charles will attend Southern Methodist University after graduating from high school, and there he will major in some subject of his own choice. After his high school life is finished, Charles will either continue in theatre work, his present occupation, or he will embark on the career of banker. How about a loan in advance, Charles?

Joe Shelby Smith

Joe grabbed his hold on life on Sept. 12, 1922, in Childress, Texas. A likable boy with an ever-present sense of humor, Joe enlivens any group he happens to be with. Childress gave him 10 years of wisdom and one year at Wellington has polished off the good work. He participated in tennis and track in Childress, and no doubt did well in them, too.

Joe's favorite studies are bookkeeping and typing. His choice of a college lies between Lubbock and Oklahoma City, but in college he will major in his chosen life work—bookkeeping. We'll bet you sow a lot of wild oats before you take up that life work, though, Joe!

William Herbert Langley

Bill entered this universe on May 17, 1923, and probably immediately scratched his head to think of the proper remark for the occasion. He also assumed a sense of humor and a grin that won't wear off, and these three habits are second nature to him.

He has no school but Wellington to count credits for him. He likes mathematics best in subjects, and in sports he entered junior track and football. Bill will go to Bryan Aeronautical Engineering college (say, we're going to have to look up that word, "Aeronautical" yet!) and major in aeronautical engineering for his chosen career in that field. Happy landings, and don't get lost in that field, Bill!

Alvin Rote Roy

Alvin was born on March 20, 1921, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Roy. He has gotten all of his school education in Wellington. A sturdy student with a sense of humor, Alvin has done his share in baseball and as a Skyrocket footballer for one year. He is usually seen wearing a grin, and his serious moments are not many.

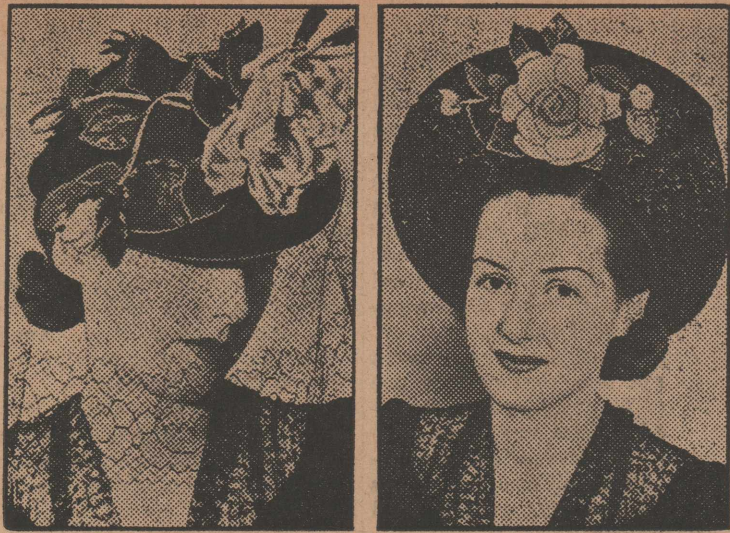

John Tarleton Agricultural College is Alvin's next Alma Mater, and there he will major in Agriculture, so that he may become an instructor in that subject, as a career.

Roy Keith Smith

Keith swung onto this planet on April 20, 1922, in Childress, Texas, as the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill

Flowers Trim Daytime Bonnets

Flower-trimmed spring bonnets created by Nicole, New York's famous modiste, are for wear with silk day dresses. Spray of pale pink roses with green leaves or little black straw cloche, left, looks very much the real article from a backyard garden. At right is an off-the-face hat of navy straw with a white rose and two buds placed squarely above the forehead.

R. W. Cunningham

Born May 17, 1921, in Whitesboro, Texas, R. W. is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cunningham. Quail, Rolla, Wilnolcer and Wellington have all donated to his education, and his parents have reason to be proud of their senior son.

History and geography are R. W.'s favorite studies, and he participated in sports for one year in Wellington. Maybe R. W. is just bashful, or maybe he's too busy getting an education to bother with the girls. Anyway, he will major in typing in a college of his future choice, and decide later what career he will take up.

Hunter Lewis Peters, Jr.

This blond student began life on December 30, 1920 in Linden, Texas, as the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Peters. Midway gave him nine years of schooling and three at Wellington have polished off the good work.

Vocational Agriculture and typing are his favorite studies, and he has stuck to them with determination. At Midway he entered track and basketball but in Wellington he has ignored sports, being instead a loyal booster of others in school sports. H. L. will attend A. and M. and major in agriculture for his chosen future of farming.

Robert William Belew

Robert became of this world Aug. 5, 1921, in Sherman, Texas. A black-haired gentleman who has a talent for football and an eye for the girls, Robert attended Loco school five years, Whitesboro two years, and four at Wellington have "seniorized" him.

Agriculture and physical education are Robert's favorite subjects. He played baseball, basketball and entered track at Loco; at Wellington he has gone to town in football and basketball. The Skyrockets will miss him sorely in the future, for he gave the Rocket line that certain something. He will in the future attend Texas A. and M. college and major in Agriculture for his chosen life work, farming.

Sam Lindley

Sam was born on August 20, 1921, in Wellington, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Lindley. Rolla, Houselog, Arlie, Loco and Wellington have all contributed to Sam's education. He finds agriculture and typing are his favorite studies.

While in school Sam has participated in track, basketball, and football. He entered the county meet while attending Loco. Sam will go to W.T.S.T.C. at Canyon in the near future, and prepare for a career either as a basketball coach or an aviator. Smooth sailing, Sam!

Calvin Vernon Adcock

Quiet, he-man Calvin was born June 28, 1920 in Quail, Texas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Aycock. Fresno and Bean Hill contributed seven years to Calvin's education, and Wellington has added four more. Agriculture and mathematics are his favorite subjects, and he is editor of our well-edited activity bulletin.

Calvin played baseball in Fresno, and he really shone in track in Wellington. He will go to Texas Tech to major in engineering. His chosen career lies in the field of petroleum engineering.

Cloice Mode Roberts

This serious-minded student was born in Chillicothe, Texas, on July 22, 1921, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roberts. Chillicothe, Wichita Falls, Fort Sill Military Academy, and Wellington have contributed to his education, and his parents have reason to be proud of their son, who is a senior this year. Cloice has engaged in practically all gymnastic sports including boxing, baseball and track.

He is chairman of the Campus Improvement committee of the Boys' Service Club, vice president of the Sky-Hi Club, and president of his home room. He has done school paper work in Wellington and has entered public speaking and debate. He is uncertain as to which college he will attend, but he will major in art. His chosen future is theatre and art work, in which he is much interested.

Edna Joyce Gribble

Who in high school does not know and love Edna Joyce? Born on November 11, 1923, in this city, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Gribble. Wellington claims all of her school days, and is proud to do so.

Edna Joyce's favorite studies are chemistry, English and shorthand. She excels in all her classes, and was secretary of her Junior Class. Tennis is her favorite sport. She has studied piano eleven years, violin two years, dramatics one-half year, and she played the drum in the band three years. Wellington is proud of Edna Joyce as a drum major, for who else can combine such pep with the dignified pride that arises from a fine football team to support?

Edna Joyce will major in journalism at Southwestern University, and in the future she will take up either government work or newspaper work. Who knows but that Edna Joyce will be a real Jane Arden in future life? All Wellington High joins in wishing her a long life filled with happiness.

Robert Lee Porter

R. L. was born on November 24, 1921 in this city. Five years of Shinnery education plus six years of Wellington wisdom have yielded R. L. Porter, the senior. A jolly student, liked by all, R. L. likes band and bookkeeping best of his studies. Basketball and baseball have claimed some of his attention in sports, but where R. L. really steps out is when he gets in the groove with his clarinet. He can send some toe-tapping music when he's in the mood. He has played in the band three years.

R. L. will gain even more perfection in music at Hardin-Simmons University. His chosen profession lies in the field of music. Who knows but that our R. L. may be Artie Shaw the second?

Odis Warren Killingsworth

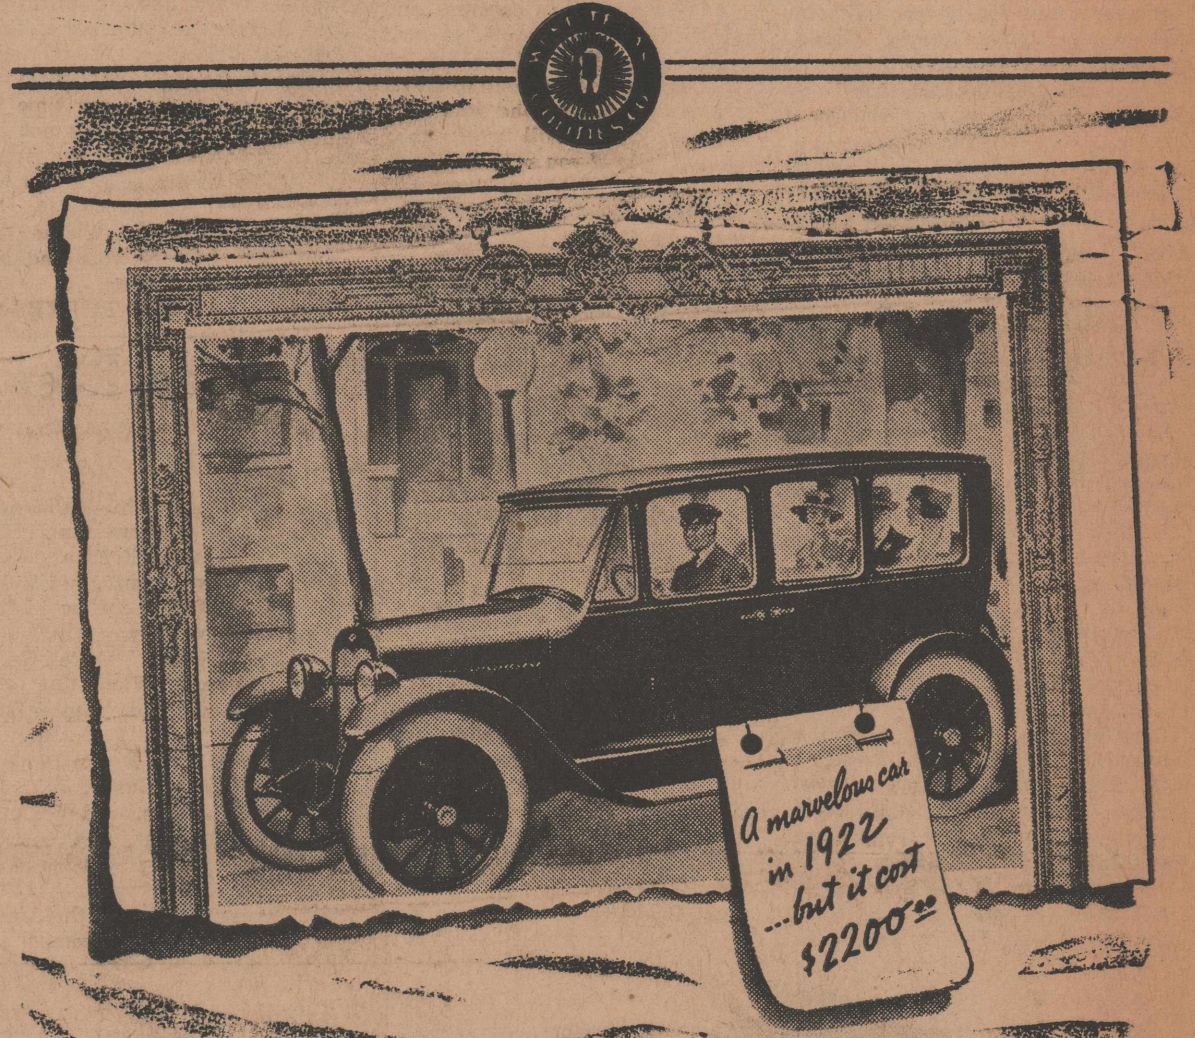

The life of this serious young man dates back to May 17, 1921. Odis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Killingsworth, and was born in Salt Fork community. Quail and King are the only schools besides Wellington that have had the privilege of instructing Odis. Odis has ignored sports in favor of getting the most out of his education, and biology is most interesting as a subject to him. But where Odis mounts his place in the sun is when he picks up that melodious guitar and sends out his soul moving music. Odis has spent two years in guitar and music, and it is a real treat to hear him. He will major in music at Hardin-Simmons University, and his profession will be either in music or an electrician. His greatest desire is to go as high in music as a guitarist may go. Our best wishes go with you, Odis.

Friday Is Unlucky Day For Quail Man, —His Horses, Too

Friday wasn't the thirteenth, but it was an unfortunate day for Wayne B. Mitchell, who lives on the Wilson Ranch near Quail. First a team of four horses ran away, but Mr. Mitchell was only slightly injured. Later he got out of the wagon to open a gate, and as he started to get back in the wagon, the team jumped and jerked Mr. Mitchell to the ground.

The wagon passed over his right leg. Mr. Mitchell was uninjured, although the horses were badly cut.

...but what has this automobile to do with your ELECTRIC SERVICE!

FRANKLY, it has nothing to do with your electric service. We use it here to illustrate a point.

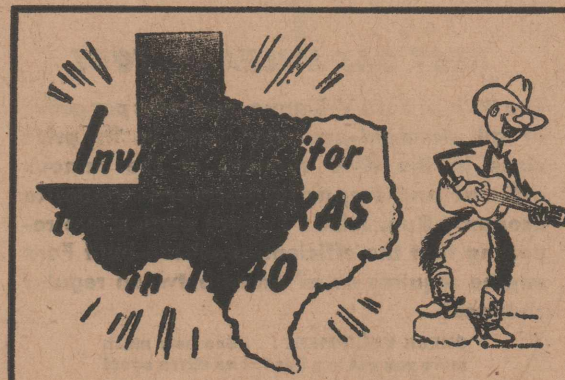

Automobiles were "rich man's toys" not so many years ago. They cost a lot of money and they cost a lot to run. They were gas-eaters and oil-eaters. The hills they could climb in high were few and far between. If you got them up to fifty miles an hour, the noise and vibration were terrific.

Today millions of American families can afford beautiful, powerful cars that outsmart, outshine and outperform the best models of the Twenties in every way, yet cost less than half as much.

This progress has not been confined to the automobile. Time was when electric service provided only your light. Today you can use more lights, a radio, refrigerator, vacuum cleaner, washing machine and other appliances, and the electricity to operate all of these costs very little more than you used to pay for light alone.

Like the automobile, your electric service improves steadily year after year. At the same time, its price comes down. This is possible because of the constant effort of the people of your electric company to improve service and reduce rates. It's an effort that goes on and on. Because of it, your electric service will be better and cheaper in the future than it is today. The credit belongs to a group of people who are never content to rest on their laurels, who strive to do their job just a little better today than they did it yesterday. They're the people of your electric company.

REDDY KILOWATT is singing the praises of West Texas, "the Land of Opportunity." We have many things of which to be proud—opportunities for agricultural and industrial growth; sites of scenic beauty and historical significance; great natural resources; fine highways; splendid educational institutions; and a delightful all-year climate. When you write friends in other states, invite them to visit West Texas on their 1940 vacation trip.

More for your money

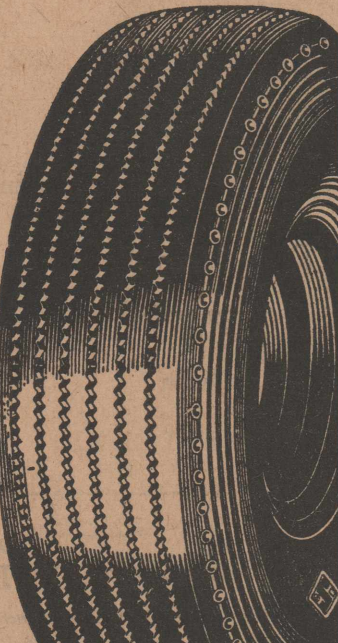

In the last 10 to 15 years, the engineering improvements and operating economies of your electric company have made it possible to cut the average price of household electricity just about in half. Many customers now using more household appliances, like a radio and refrigerator pay very little more to operate all of these than they used to pay for light alone.

keep down un-American activities.

I am strongly in favor of social security including pensions for the old, and I will work to create jobs for the young people.

I do not intend to try to fool the people into believing that I know wall there is to know about being a Congressman, but I do know enough about the workings of the Congress of the United States to realize that any new man you may send to Washington will be a freshman in Congress, and that he will have to work as such at first regardless of his age or how long he has been in politics. I am new to politics and will be to Congress, but I will work hard and faithfully if you send me there.

I am making this statement in order that my friends over Collingsworth County may know for sure that I am in the race. I will appreciate greatly the opportunity of going to Washington and working my way up in order to be in a position to continue the splendid work that has been done by Marvin Jones, whose place cannot be filled but whose sincerity of purpose can. Your task is to judge the candidates and select that sort of a man regardless of whether it be Deck Wells or someone else.

Chaudoin To Talk At District P.T.A.

Carl Chaudoin, superintendent of the Quail Schools, will speak on "Guidance in Health and Safety" at the Thursday morning session of the 17th Annual conference of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers. This meeting will be held at Memphis.

Mr. Chaudoin has made an extensive study in the field of guidance in the public schools. The Quail school has a well organized guidance program throughout the school.

Other speakers on guidance at the Memphis meeting will include Charles Dameron, superintendent of schools, Childress; C. M. Rogers, superintendent of schools, Amarillo; and Dr. A. M. Meyer of West Texas State College, Canyon.

As I have lived in this county for some 37 years and as this, the 122nd District, is composed of Collingsworth, Donley, Gray and Wheeler counties, I will have to spend a good part of my time in the other counties, I may not be able to see all voters in the county, but will do my best to see all voters.

I therefore take this method of asking you for your vote and influence in this election.

Mrs. Evans Riley -

Wellington.

Mrs. Riley died in Dallas at 11:25 o'clock Friday morning. She had been sick since February 1.

Rev. Andrew Quante, priest of Our Lady of Mercy, conducted the funeral services. Hymns included "Lead Kindly Light," "After Communion Hymn," "What Can My Jesus Do More," and "Nearer My God To Thee."

Pall bearers were Bryan Denley, Bill Sims, Donald Curry, John D. Glenn, H. S. Riggs, and Johnnie Wallace. Interment was in the Wellington Cemetery with the Ellis Funeral Home in charge.

Mrs. Riley was born in the Aberdeen community on November 5, 1907, and at the time of her death she was 32 years, 5 months and 7 days of age. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clem B. Boverie, widely respected early day settlers of this county. She spent her childhood and girlhood in Wellington. During this time she made many friends and was beloved by all who knew her. She graduated from the Wellington High School in 1924 and the following year she completed a business course. In 1930 she received her degree from Texas Technological College at Lubbock.

During a part of her time in college she was employed in the office of W. P. Clement, Registrar of the college, and immediately after her graduation, she became a permanent member of his staff. She held this position until February 1938.

On February 26, 1938, she was married to Evans Riley of Dallas, since that time they have made their home in that city. She was a member of Sacred Heart Cathedral and auxiliary in Dallas.

Surviving Mrs. Riley are her husband, and these brothers and sisters, Miss Katherine Boverie and J. E. Boverie of Wellington, J. A. Boverie of Olton, Mrs. Constance B. Shulz of New York City, Edward Boverie of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Clement Hendricks of Flying H, New Mexico, Clem B. Boverie of Lubbock, and Dr. R. E. Boverie of Cleveland, Ohio.

Festivities began Tuesday night when the King, Queen and Duchess of Wellington, along the the representatives from other plains towns, were introduced over an Amarillo radio station. Following this, they were presented at a reception.

They were scheduled to appear again on a radio hookup Wednesday evening and at a banquet, while the band was to give a 15-minute radio broadcast.

for those measures by which they might better themselves. Telling the group that he was strongly in favor of the co-op movement, he added that he believed the trends in industry in this country were more and more toward co-operation.

He was followed by Jack Watson pointing out, "The Co-op Gin is yours—it's your business, and up to you to take care of it."

B. W. Boarman, chairman of the auditing committee, gave the report of that committee, and informed the group that F. O. Masten, director, had loaned the society money during the last year to pay for repairs, and that no interest had been charged by him.

Mr. Boarman concluded by recommending that as soon as the capital stock of the society is paid off, that an emergency fund be set aside to be used "on some rainy day."

The report of the auditing of the books was given by Clark Anderson, auditor, who pointed out that during the year 4,383 bales of cotton were ginned in their plant, that the clear profit of the gin for the season was $12,409, and that under present plans, the entire capital stock would be paid off at the end of the 1940 ginning season.

Final speaker on the program was Mr. Dickson, who discussed the need of education in co-operation, and urged that each member work toward securing new members for the organization.

The meeting closed when Mr. Masten filmed approximately 150 feet of motion pictures of the membership.

My grandfather, Newt Gresham, was founder of the Farmers Union, which is still flourishing, and striving for the betterment of farm conditions. "Primarily, I am asking this office because I feel it is an opportunity to work for this section of the country. But in addition, I want to take advantage of the opportunity it will give me to attend law school that I may further follow in the footsteps of my late father and uncle, and that I may also assist my mother and brothers."
