COMMON DRINKING CUP A MENACE TO ALL CHILDREN

The outbreak of infantile paralysis, which in many cities retarded the Fall opening of schools focused public attention on the common drinking cup as one of the means of transmission of this serious disease.

As the inclosed advertisement, issued and paid for by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, quotes from Surgeon-General Hugh S. Cumming, the common drinking cup is a possible agent in the communication in all respiratory diseases. In a previous bulletin the United States Public Health Service enumerated as transmissible diseases from such a cause as this tuberculosis, pneumonia, influenza diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough, cerebrospinal meningitis, smallpox, chickenpox, mumps, German measles, septic sore throat, and last but not least the common cold.

For this reason we are requesting your cooperation in putting the common drinking cup beyond the reach of school children. This can be done by instruction in the class rooms, local publicity and vigilant surveillance of all places in which school children indulge their thirsts.

There can be no question of the seriousness of the common cup situation and the evil it produces. May we therefore ask your assistance in this matter?

We would be grateful if you would inform us of the action taken by you so that we may stimulate others to follow your example.

There is a Sanitarian. By Gosh, he talks his stuff; He smokes back yard demons And sprinkles spoofer dust; He tells us how to protect our water

And keep our milk utensils clean
 By Gosh! He is the Sanitarian

Halloween Party for Sunbeams

Grounds of the First Baptist Church were infested with the spooks and witches and all the land last Saturday morning at ten o'clock when 110 Sunbeams gathered there for their annual funfulness of the party—ages 3 to 9 the pirates feared the seamen the "witch" feared the "Cowboy" and on through the game. Sufficient grownups were present to allay all fear by removing masks and acquainting little friends with each other in every day attire. Mesdames Owen C. Taylor and Eoss Gibson were hostesses in behalf of the Young Women's Circle of the Missionary Society. Games and refreshments prepared especially for the occasion were, provided by the hostess.

Surely Easy for Jury

To Believe One Story
Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway at a dinner in Little Rock laughed about the manifold defenses set up by a politician who had gone back on the farmer.

"All these defenses," Senator Caraway said, "remind me of Lawyer Isaacs and the hog-stealing case. To defend this case wasn't easy, for the hog had told a dozen different stories about the way the hog came into his possession, and of course, the other side showed that this was a very suspicious action on his part."

"Isaac, a funny little chap, wound up his speech for the defense with the words: 'Gentlemen of the jury, it has been proved that my unfortunate client has told no less than 11 stories to account for his possession of the hog. The hog followed him home, a policeman sneaked it into his hog pen as a frameup, he bought it for $19.76, it was given him by his deceased uncle, he found it on the high road, and so forth and so on.'

"Now, gentlemen of the jury, I don't ask you to believe all these stories, plausible as they are. No, that would be too great a tax on your credulity. But I do ask you to believe one of them. One, just one, gentlemen—anyone you choose—believe just one out of the eleven, and I am positive my unfortunate client will be acquitted."—Springfield Union.

Boston Scene of First

Conversation by Phone

It was on October 9, 1876, that the first conversation ever held over a telephone line took place between the Boston and Cambridge offices of the Waltham Manufacturing company. Professor Bell was at the Boston end of the line and Mr. Watson was at the Cambridge end, the distance apart being about two miles. In the early days they used to say, instead of "Hello," "Ahoy," doubtless a relic of New England's familiarity with shipping. The first telephone exchange was opened by Edward T. Holmes. The first woman telephone operator was named Miss Emma Nutt. A year after the discovery of the telephone practically all the telephones in the world were in Boston and immediately surrounding cities and towns.

The New England Telephone company was organized in February, 1878, and was followed in July of that year by the incorporation of the Bell Telephone company, which was the predecessor to the American Telephone & Telegraph company, at present with its associated concerns the largest company from the standpoint of assets in the world.—Boston Herald.

Like a Cheeshire Cat

Once upon a time, it is said, Cheeshire cheeses were made in the shape of a cat, bristles being inserted to represent the whiskers. But people have queried whether it was a cat. It is said that it really was a wolf's head, as the armor of Hugh Lupus, one of the earls of Chester, had a wolf's head on the coat. A cat's face is seen on the arms of the city of Chester, but the old drawing of a wolf, or, as some say, a leopard, in the city arms, might easily have been taken for a grinning cat, hence the saying, "Grinning like a Cheeshire cat."

The Doldrums

When a person is suffering from low spirits or mental depression he is said to be in the doldrums. "Doldrums" is an old English word of uncertain derivation. Some authorities suppose it to be related in origin to "dull" and "doit." "The doldrums" is the popular name for a shifting oceanic zone lying near the equator between the trade winds and noted for its calms and light, baffling winds, which in the old days sometimes prevented all progress of sailing vessels for weeks.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Reveals a New World

The complexity of the diatom forms need be no barrier to the layman who desires to find them for himself. There are a number of very low-priced microscopes that will reveal to him not only the diatom, but also another world of things, the very existence of which he has not even dreamed. A student-type microscope with a power of magnification from 50 to 150 diameters is sufficient for the beginner and, if desired, an additional eyepiece may be obtained later that will increase its power to 250 diameters.

Give Snake a Chance

Students of reptiles find endless fascination in the lives of snakes and strenuously object to the clubbing to death of harmless varieties. To the majority of persons a snake is just a snake and therefore must be killed, but many species are highly beneficial to mankind and clear the country of countless destructive rodents. Death from snake bite is not common in the United States, but in India about 20,000 persons are lost annually by poisonous snakes, largely because the natives walk about barefoot.

Two-Legged Mammals

Normally the limbs of mammals are four in number, but the hind pair are suppressed in whales and sea-cows. The limbs assume the form of legs for terrestrial progression, wings for flight and paddles for swimming. There are about 600 genera and 5,000 species of mammals extant.

Is It Economy?

In such times as these, when the prices of farm products are low and taxes high, there is a strong urge to reduce county expenses. Some of the less productive expenditures and offices are created by state law or by the state constitution and therefore such constructive servants as the county agricultural agent and home demonstration agent becomes a mark for those who seek a reduction in county expense.

Unfortunately in most states the county pays a part of the salaries of these agents and their jobs, therefore, may depend on the whims of local politicians. It is in times like these that the importance of no part of the county agricultural agent's salaries coming from the county becomes apparent.

The services rendered by the county agricultural agent and home agent are of such value in promoting better living and increasing the production of feed and food crops and in lowering the cost of production of all crops that any county agent, even though he did no more than carry the methods and practices of half a dozen of the best farmers to a few score of the less successful ones, would earn many times the salary he gets. That is true as relates to the production side of agriculture, but at this time perhaps the services of the county agents are more needed, in popular opinion, in the marketing of farm products, than in producing crops. We do not grant this, for in economical production the farmers of the South fall far short of the efficiency which the county agent can best help them to attain.

We have not yet scratched the surface of what may be dug out of the problem of economical production in agriculture. But, however, we may disagree as to the relative importance of the problem of economical production and efficient marketing, there is no denying the fact that at this time the marketing of farm products is a problem which the efficient county agent can do much to help the farmer solve.

If economy must be introduced into county expenditures, and we agree that taxes and expenditures should be reduced then without a doubt there are other and better places to economize than in the small amounts paid as part of the salaries of the man and woman county agents. We feel certain, if the county officials entrusted with the conduct of county business and the spending of county funds will look over their budget carefully, they can easily save the part of the salaries of these two employees paid by the county, in places where less harm will result from discontinuing the services of the county agricultural agent and the home demonstration agent.

Anyone who will divest his mind of the prejudices which too frequently exist relative to the work of these county agents, will have no trouble in convincing himself that these people are worth more to the county than any other two employees, if he will go to any county where these agents have been for a few years and with an open mind study the result obtained.

By all means economize in county expenditures, but it is neither good morals nor good business to economize on the productive side of the income of the county. Economy should first be applied to the non-productive departments of the county's business. If ever there was a time when farmers needed help in producing more economically and marketing more efficiently, it is right now and for the reason we ask that county expenditures be carefully scanned for other possible economies, before the services of two employees who do more to add to the comfort of farm life and the crop wealth of the county than any other two individuals in the whole county, are discontinued.

PATRICIA FARMERS POOL ACREAGE

A number of Patricia farmers who have late feed have pooled the acreage and have asked County Agent W. W. Evans, to find men with cattle or sheep to use these crops in the fields, or in feed lots on the ground. Evans has the proposition up with stock men and several trades of this kind are expected to be closed. Dawson County has an excellent feed crop and stockmen will do well to feed here, according to the County Agent.

GOLDEN TORNADOES DEFEAT ANDREWS ELEVEN

In what was probably the easiest game the Tornadoes will play this season, they were victorious over Andrews. The Andrews team was composed of old Andrews players and some players formerly of O'Donnell and Tahoka. The game was as one-sided as the score indicates and the Tornadoes were only forced to use four players during the entire game. Andrews only made three first downs, all due to forward passes.

The game started with Lamesa receiving on the South end of the Tornado field. Then with Cox back in a punt formation he run sixty yards for a touchdown. This was the first play for the Tornado. Then with Andrews receiving and a series of plays Cox again ran 34 yards for a touchdown. Then again in the second quarter Cox made 16 yards for a touchdown making him easily the star back of the evening. Also must we add that Moore made three touchdowns with Treadaway one and Marr one, however none were as spectacular as the running of Cox. One of Moore's being for 31 yards, Gable had hard luck on his kicks for extra points kicking at five and making one. Treadaway also missed one.

Some playing of Wilkes and Addison are due mention. They were nice players in the line and are expected to do much against Brownfield. We must add that Marr acted Captain last Friday and was the only Tornado to play the entire game. We expect much of him next Friday against Brown field.

The starting line ups were:

Lamesa		Andrews
Lowrimore	Left End	Captain Price	Left End
Addison	Left Tackle	Summerhill	Left Tackle
Jordan	Left Guard	C. Beatenbogh	Left Guard
Womnnaek	Center	Chipman	Center

 Substitutions were, Andrews:

Improved Uniform International Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for November 1

WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY

GOLDEN TEXT—And he not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit.
 LESSON TEXT—Gal. 5:13-28.
 PRIMARY TOPIC—The Danger of Strong Drink.
 JUNIOR TOPIC—The Peril of Strong Drink.
 INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Reasons for Total Abstinence.
 YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Progress of Temperance Reform.

This lesson is taken from the portion of the Epistle to the Galatians which has to do with the application of the doctrine of justification by faith. By faith the believer is linked to Jesus Christ. As a result of this union with Christ, the believer experiences a new birth, and thereafter lives a new life. The divine way of freeing the world from the curse of intemperance is to secure the regeneration of the individual.

I. Christian Freedom (vv. 13-18).
 1. It is not an occasion to the flesh (v. 13). Liberty is not license. The notion that when one is free from the law he is free from restraint is wickedly erroneous. License of the flesh means not merely the indulgence of the flesh in actual material sins, but in the expression of a self-centered life in bickerings, etc. (v. 15).
 2. It is by love serving one another (v. 13). Freedom from the Mosaic law means submission to the law of love. Love thus becomes the fulfillment of the law, (v. 14).

II. Walking in the Spirit (vv. 16-18).
 This discloses the secret of how a life of love and service to another can be lived. Walking in the Spirit results in victory over the flesh (vv. 16, 17). By "the flesh" is meant the corrupt nature of man expressing itself in the realm of sense and self. When the Christian chooses the evil, the Holy Spirit opposes and when he chooses the good, the flesh opposes.
 III. The Works of the Flesh (vv. 19-21).
 The one who chooses to live according to the desires of his natural heart will be practicing the following sins:

- Sensuality (v. 19). The sins enumerated here are practiced in the sphere of the body and are:
 - Fornication (the word "adultery" is omitted from the best manuscripts). Fornication includes all sexual sins in the married and unmarried state.
 - Uncleaness, which includes all sensual sins, open or secret, in thought or deed.
 - Lasciviousness—wanton indulgences in the shameful practices of the flesh.
- Irreligion (v. 20). These acts take place in the realm of the spirit and are:
 - Idolatry, which means the worshiping of idols.
 - Witchcraft or sorcery—all dealing with the occult such as magical arts, spiritism, necromancy, etc.
 - Sins of temper (vv. 20, 21). These take place in the sphere of the mind and are:
 - Hatred. b. Variance, which means strife and contention. c. Emulations, which expresses itself in jealousy. d. Wrath—bursts of passion. e. Seditions—actions in the state. f. Heresies—actions in the church. g. Envyings. h. Murders.
 - Sins of excess (v. 21).
 - Drunkenness—indulgence in intoxicating liquors.
 - Revelings—acts of dissipation, under the influence of intoxicants.

Those who are under the sway of the flesh, who practice such sins, shall be excluded from the kingdom of God (I Cor. 6:10).

IV. The Fruit of the Spirit (vv. 22-24).

The Holy Spirit, who is the source of all life indwelling the believer, will bear the following fruits:

- Love to God and men.
- Joy—glad-heartedness because of what God has done.
- Peace with God and men.
- Long suffering—taking insult and injury without murmur.
- Gentleness—kindness to others.
- Goodness—being good and doing good to others.
- Faith—believing God and committing all things to him.
- Meekness—submission to God, the spirit of humility before him.
- Temperance—self-control in all things. The one who is thus ruled by the Holy Spirit will totally abstain from all intoxicants and do his best to keep his fellows from its destructive power.
