

Hospital Board Approves $250,000 Loan

The members of the Fisher County Hospital Board met last Monday afternoon and authorized Administrator Pete Hohon to borrow a total of up to $250,000 from the First National Bank of Rotan over the next five months. The money is needed in order to pay salaries and keep the door of the hospital open. In addition the new influx of funds will allow administrative personnel to 'catch-up' on some old accounts payable bills.

Administrator Pete Hohon, in making the presentation to the board for the need to borrow up to $250,000, informed the board that he had drawn up a 1990 proposed budget (1) based on 6 patients per day, (2) based on the clinic expense averaging $3,000 a month and (3) based on an estimated tax rate of .40 cents per $100 valuation versus the current .3024 rate.

Hohon said that the $250,000, assuming that all was borrowed over the next 5 months, would be paid back with income received from taxes at the end of 1989. The note to the First National Bank would be paid back no later than January 1, 1990.

For 1990, Hohon anticipated spending $789,747 in patient services. The largest expense in the patient services category was nursing salaries and benefits of $350,000.

Hohon said that salaries of all types make up approximately 50 percent of the budget and that he had decreased salaries and cut back on personnel about as much as he felt he could at present.

Hohon estimated spending $312,511 on general services. General services include laundry, housekeeping, medical records salaries and the largest item of $108,000 for hospital utilities.

The administrator ear-marked expenses of $254,441 for administrative under the new budget. The largest item was administrative salaries of $74,381.

Hohon informed board members that the projected 1990 hospital operating costs were going to be $1,356,669. He said that the projected budget reflected a decrease from the 1988-89 budget that was $1,677,920.

A total of $1,954,699 will be needed to meet all funding requirements for the hospital in 1990. A total of $1,365,699 is needed for hospital operating costs; $452,000 in debt services - which represents $202,000 for bond retirement and $250,000 for note retirement; $65,000 is needed for capital equipment and leases; $36,000 for clinic expense and $36,000 for appraisal district expenses. Total expenses for the 1990 year are projected at $1,954,699.

Hohon projected income as follows. $1,256,548 to be collected from hospital operations; a loss of $145,043 in contractual adjustments (Medicare losses); $73,944 in medicare passthrough payments; a loss of 9.4 percent or $103,739 from accounts that would be uncollectable by the hospital and $872,989 in ad valorem taxes.

Hohon was confident that the 1990 proposed budget represented realistic income and expense figures and was equally confident that the $250,000 to be borrowed could be paid back at the end of 1989.

He informed board members that the hospital taxes would probably have to be increased from the present .30¼ cents per $100 valuation to approximately .40 to .42 cents depending upon the valuation.

Hohon said that salaries of all types make up approximately 50-percent of the budget and that he had decreased salaries and cut back on personnel about as much as he felt he could at present. He had trimmed and even cut office personnel, with the exception of medical records personnel, from 40-hours a week back to 32-hours a week.

One final discussed item was in the area of salaries of the administrator by Dave Williams. Williams had taken a mini-poll of salaries of area administrators and reported that Hohon's basic salary of $32,500 was the lowest in the area. Snyder was $60,000 plus; Sweetwater hospital administrator was on a salary of between $50,000 and $60,000; Colorado City - $40,000; Stamford - $40,000; Anson - $38,000; Aspermont - $35,000 and Hamlin $35,000.

APPRECIATION: The folks in charge of MayFair 89 have asked that I express their appreciation to everyone who had a part in the success of the event. Many merchants reported high selling days, food and drink booths did fantastic, the pet parade was wonderful and the bicycle and tricycle races were great fun for the children. Congratulations to the folks who planned the style show, planned the 5K run and worked so hard on the 'Let's Make A Deal' affair. The second annual MayFair Celebration was great fun and bigger than the year before. Thanks again to everyone who helped.

STRANGER IN TOWN: Be on the lookout for a stranger this weekend who will be attending Rotan's graduation. Jorge Montoya's father is flying here from Spain to see his son graduate from Rotan High School. Jorge has been the foreign exchange student living with Coach Weldon Nelms and Casey Nelms for the past 9 months. Jorge has decided to attend college in the United States and plans to attend Steven F. Austin in Nacogdoches in the fall. Jorge's father does not understand any English, so smile and shake hands - unless you can make him understand our version of Spanish.

LITTLE DID WE KNOW: We sure received our share of telephone calls correcting the mis-information we passed along last week about the Watkins' Man. Contrary to what was in this column last week the unidentified man is J.A. Morton not Josia Travis Montgomery. Mrs Irvin Hale called to say she had a copy of the original photograph. She identified him as J.W. Morton, but admitted her late husband Irvin knew most about the Watkins Man. Betty Rivers called to say he was J.A. Morton, her great-great grandfather who worked selling Watkins products for 30 years. Betty's grandfather R.H. Headstream took over from J.A. Morton in the late 1930's and ran the Watkins' route until his death in 1965. J.A. Morton's lone surviving child is W.W. Morton of Roby. Another caller, Merry Lou Fuller, said she could remember running to meet his wagon when she was a little girl because W.A. Morton always had a stick of gum for the little children. One final call, from Mrs Billy Terry in Roby. Seems there was some validity to the information last week concerning the man named Montgomery. She remembers an uncle who was a Watkins man in Rotan in the 1920's who died in the flu epidemic. She said he is buried in the local cemetery. She did admit that the picture in the history book was not Montgomery but was of Morton. We sure stirred some interest, how about sharing some old photographs with the newspaper. We'll make a copy right on the spot and let you take the original home.

Finally: Ol' Whistle Britches from his Shinnery Ridge Ranch out at Rough Creek called with this information.

Peace- Keeping peace in the family requires patience, love, understanding, and at least two television sets.

Repentance- Some people repent of their sins by thanking the Lord they aren't half as bad as some of their neighbors.

Dancing- The dance called the twist created an interesting phenomenon. For the first time in history clothes were worn out from the inside.

Housewives- Most housewives are very careful about money. They're afraid their husbands might lose it, so they spend it as soon as possible.

Nudists- One thing about nudists - you can't pin anything on them.

Poverty- A man is truly poor, not when he has nothing, but when he does nothing.

Hazardous Waste Legislation Is Passed Through Texas Senate

Senator Temple Dickson (D-Sweetwater) and Senator Steve Carriker (D-Roby) succeeded today in passing a measure through the Texas Senate that would give the people of Texas "a fighting chance" to combat flawed hazardous waste site proposals. The Dickson-Carriker Act was prompted by the attempts of a Dallas company to put a hazardous waste injection well in Fisher between Roby and Sweetwater.

SB 1196 passed the Texas Senate with a vote of 31-0. The measure now goes to the Texas House of Representatives for consideration there.

"These dump sites are often targeted at isolated areas where people do not have the financial resources to fight the powerful companies that stand to make a fortune from these wells," Senator Dickson said. "Our bill makes these companies pay the costs that local people incur in providing important information about the sites to the Texas Water Commission."

The Dickson-Carriker Act requires a hazardous waste injection well applicant to post a bond to guarantee payment of certain costs of intervenors. The Texas Water Commission will decide whether the information is "significant" to the application and whether the information would "otherwise not have been provided" to the Commission. Costs can be awarded for technical information such as geologic studies, water use reports, and land use information.

"Local residents and landowners are at a great disadvantage in these disputes," Senator Carriker said. "Hazardous waste applicants who wish to present their applications in the best light sometimes omit information unfavorable to their proposals. Our legislation gives local folks a fighting chance to recover some of their costs for presenting valuable information that sheds light on the true conditions at the well site."

Senator Carriker chaired a special subcommittee that considered the bill. Testimony on both sides highlighted the need for this legislation.

Even though the law clearly places the burden of proof on the applicant, one representative of the chemical and hazardous waste industry said that, "Taxpayers should pay for the costs of more state enforcement. Companies should not have to bear the costs of public opposition."

Austin attorney Mary Kelley, who has represented landowners and citizen groups in their struggles against local waste sites, testified that the Dickson-Carriker Act "does not encourage

State Capital Highlights

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Last week, the differences between 1986 political foes, Gov. Bill Clements and former Gov. Mark White, stood out, clear-cut now as then.

Clements was coming under fire from some Democrat lawmakers for his vow to veto their plan to raise the cigarette sales tax to fund public education.

And White was in Ohio, telling state lawmakers there to raise their taxes for education.

White told Ohioans he led the fight to "raise every tax in sight" to fund such reforms as no pass-no play, abolishing the state Board of Education, and raising teacher salaries.

And he told them that it probably got him defeated in '86 by his old nemesis, Clements.

What White didn't tell them was that he ran hard on a promise of no new taxes, a promise he broke after one month in office.

As fate would have it, Clements also signed a tax bill after promising no new taxes, but only after Democratic senators stalled passing the budget until the last minute, forcing Clements to sign or throw state government into the red.

In The Senate

Port Arthur Sen. Carl Parker told colleagues that anything less than $500 million allotted to fund poor school districts is a "gold-plated, engraved invitation to turn the school system over to Judge Harley Clark," the judge who ordered reform of the present school-funding formula.

Some senators renewed their pleas for a cigarette tax hike, and threatened to cut some of Gov. Clements' projects if he continues his veto vow. Later, a conference panel cut Clements' $39 million plan to reward school districts which improve test scores and reduce dropouts.

In another challenge to Clements, senators voted to reject the new pesticide board which the House imposed on Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower. The move dares Clements to veto the bill, a move that would abolish the Agriculture Department right out from under the controversial Hightower.

Senators also approved the Contest and Gift Giveaway Act to reduce fraud using prizes to lure people to sales presentations.

In The House

The House approved stricter regulations for bingo games, putting them under Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission scrutiny, and requiring 35 percent of the proceeds to go to the sponsoring charity, not the bingo hall operator.

House members also voted themselves a raise, from $7,200 to $20,000 per year, subject to voter approval.

In another vote, the House rejected the bill proposing a state lottery sponsored by Ron Wilson, D-Houston. Wilson called anti-lottery lobbyists "hypocritical Christians."

They also approved a ban on driver's licenses for high school dropouts below age 18.

Other Highlights

•The Lt. Gov.'s aide who riled Attorney General Jim Mattox in Capitol halls has been named campaign manager for Treasurer Ann Richard's gubernatorial race against Mattox.

Glen Smith, former bureau chief for The Houston Post, a newspaper Hobby sold awhile back, has never managed a campaign before, and insiders speculate Richards will use him to engineer a media-oriented effort, rather than a grass-roots one.

•Gov. Clements signed into law a bill giving Texas more clout in recovering cleanup costs from spills of oil or hazardous material. The state can now go directly to the responsible party, instead of relying on reimbursement by federal funds.

•Included in some 30 bills the governor signed was one making it a felony to violate college athletic recruiting regulations, a penalty which allows the state to extradite illegal recruiters.

•Clements was also expected to sign a bill giving tax breaks for oil produced through enhanced recovery techniques, from 4.6 percent to 2.3 percent for 10 years.

•Sen. Craig Washington, D-Houston, has repeatedly ripped Clements for not appointing many blacks to state boards, and the governor never has cottoned to Democrats twisting his arm.

Thus, Clements will probably wait until after the session to fill the State Board of Medical Examiners slot held by black physician, Dr. Robert Hilliard.

•Tired of Houston lawmakers airing their city political squabbles in the Legislature, as many as 50 House members signaled "Present, Not voting" on Houston bills last week.

Several joked the governor should call a special session just to deal with Houston's local problems.

CATHEDRALS

Medieval man built cathedrals as monuments to their faith in God. The vaulted ceilings and stained glass windows are wondrous in their beauty.

Today, we still build great churches, but we now believe that our greatest monuments to God are our acts of love and generosity to our fellow men and women. Each time we perform a deed of love for another, we place another stone on our monument to God.

This is our most lasting monument.

Letter To The Editor

The citizens of the Fisher County Hospital district need some information on what's going on concerning the situation at the hospital. It seems the hospital board makes a big event when securing doctors but they don't stay long. The administrator has said in your paper that we should use our doctors rather than go out of town. If there is no doctor, we shall have to go elsewhere for both medical and hospital care. Who's fault will it be? Are the unsatisfactory conditions at the hospital the fault of the board? Is it the fault of the administrator? Is it the fault of the doctors? Is it the fault of the citizen's of this district? We need to know so we can find a way to change things and you are in a position to help us. We don't want the hospital to close. All of us need it at one time or another as well as the doctors who staff it. So please, Mr Editor, print some information so we as law abiding citizens and tax payers may be informed, not learn it later by word of mouth.

A Concerned senior citizen.

opposition -- it only makes the process fair."

A 1984 study by Cerrell Associates of Los Angeles describes the types of communities least likely to resist hazardous waste sites. The profile, developed by Cerrell Associates largely describes West Texas: southern, rural, open to promises of jobs and money, conservative, agriculture base, where residents have often lived in the same area for more than 20 years.

"Testimony by the hazardous waste industry proves that we must make it possible for our communities to stand up for their rights as landowners and residents when a dangerously flawed application threatens their land and water resources," Senator Dickson said.

SB 1196 won unanimous approval from the Senate Natural Resources Committee on May 17.

News From South Fisher County

by Bertha Warren

Everyone seemed to enjoy May Fair Saturday. It was good to see so many participating in the activities all over town.

Just a few more days and school will be out for the summer and for a few weeks there will be a lot of happy kids, then the "What can I do now", will set in. Anyway, another school year will come to an end.

Roy and Paulene Kimzey have just returned from Amarillo visiting their daughter and family Carol Ann and Marvin Sartin and granddaughters Roy Jo and Jody Ray. Jody Ray has the chicken pox but about to get over them. Carol Ann graduated with honors last week from West Texas State Univ. in Canyon. She received her bachelor of science degree. The Kimzey's son Paul and Debbie called to say all is well with them. They live in Summerville, South Carolina and are looking for a new baby in mid June.

Jimmy and Verl Bennett spent Sunday with Jimmy's mother Alma Blythe. Alma hasn't been feeling very good the last few days. Hope she is feeling better soon.

Ed and Ollie Ogden's grandson Greg from Midland came for a short visit Monday. He had lunch with them before returning home. Jerry and Betty Fry were in East Texas working on family history and camped at Tyler and Myrtle Springs but it just kept on raining and raining till they packed up and came back to West Texas to dry out. Edward and Joyce (Jameson) Schwartz have moved back to Texas from Sheridan, Calif., settling in Tuscola area. Betty reminded me the Schwartz reunion will be coming up the 10th & 11th of June and they are looking forward to seeing everyone. Mattie Kock of Rockford IL, arrived Tuesday and will visit with friends and relatives until after the reunion.

F.A. and Dot McCain are great-grandparents of a baby girl born Monday the 22nd. The grandmother is Frankie Allen of Salmar, CA and the parents are Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Allen of GA. Jewel Ratliff is great-great grandmother. Congratulations to all concerned.

Pete and Sandy Ratliff of Brownwood spent the weekend with Charlie and Linda Longoria and children in Snyder and on their way home, stopped in Sweetwater to visit Jewel. Owen Ratliff was 7 years old Sunday and one of our granddaughters had a birthday Sunday, also Cody Reed of Big Spring. Happy birthday to both of them. Wayne will be having a birthday about Sunday the 28th. It's tough living with an "older man", but guess I'll get used to it. Call and let us know what's going on in your world.

We had a busy week during National Nursing Home Week. At our Mother's Day party, we had several guests to join us in punch and cookies. The cookies were furnished by Mildred McCullough, Edith Everheart and Yvonne Klepper. Minnie Zimmerman was our oldest Mother. Dottie Reid our youngest and Elsie Daniel is the Mother with the most children. We had our Mother's Day party Monday night. Tuesday the 16th, we honored our volunteers with a party, cake and punch were served to all volunteers that attended, pins were given to the volunteers that had not already received pins, and certificates of appreciation were given to all group volunteers.

Wednesday we sent up balloons with the name and address of a resident on each balloon. We are hoping to hear from them again this year. Thursday, we had a birthday party given for the birthdays in May by the Ladies Adult class 3 of the First Baptist Church. Friday was Western Day, the staff were allowed to dress in jeans; hamburgers were served to the residents and Brownie Troop 206 came and sang for the residents.

Saturday we took part in the May Fair, downtown. David McGrew, Robin Cleveland, Chris Poal and myself, took part in the bucket race and won first place. We were all tired after the day was over but it was a lot of fun.

Visitors in the home last week were Bud Harjis and Hallie Poer of Lubbock visited Geraldine Hartsfield; Carl J. Powell of Rotan and Cynde Powell visited Pearl Price; visiting Nancy Bagwell were Bill and Marie Pyele of Banquet, TX; Dorothy Scifer of Hamlin, Cheryl and great granddaughter Melanie Bishop of Stamford and Austin and Empress Bagwell of San Antonio; visiting Romie Kersh were Amber, Rita, Heather, Nicholas, Melissa, Betty and Ma and Pa of Hamlin and Rotan; Brownie Troop 206, Tracy Martinez, Andrea Carrillo, Anneka Aguirre, Lori Tandy, Jessica Harrison, Shelley Burk, Candi Anderle and Andrea Miranda. Other visitors in the home were Amy Blackwelder, Laura Blackwelder and Josie. We had several visitors that came by but didn't sign our book. We would like to thank all the volunteers that put in time and made cookies to make this past week special.

TAX PLANNING

Written by Gerald Rodgers, CPA

SELLING A BUSINESS?

Most businesspeople sell only one or two businesses in a lifetime. It, therefore, seems prudent that they seek professional legal and accounting assistance when they sell a business.

There are tax and nontax concerns which need to be reviewed before a buy-sell agreement is finalized. There are many different ways to sell a business as there are businesses for sale. Despite the fact that there is no "normal" buy-sell agreement, there are guidelines which will give you the best tax and financial position when you choose to sell.

The cleanest and safest way to sell is an all cash sale. Assuming you can live with the tax consequences, you'll have a lump-sum of cash to reinvest as you see fit. The buyer takes the business and does with it as he or she sees fit.

More commonly, businesses are sold on some installment method. You might receive a certain amount of cash as a down payment with the balance due over a period of years. If you are relying on the success of the business to help the buyer make the payments to you, you could end up with less cash than planned.

If your company is being acquired by a larger corporation, you may choose to take stock in the new corporation in lieu of cash. There are advantages and disadvantages to this method of selling. Don't be oversold on the benefits of this method by some biased party.

Some buyers may request that you stay on with the new company either as an employee or as an equity owner in your old company for some period of time.

If you have a business worth selling, take the necessary steps to ensure that you do it properly. Selling to someone without the proper experience, without the proper financial backing or to someone who has fraudulent intentions may well cheat you out of some very hard earned money.

TIPS AIRED TO HELP LATCHKEY CHILDREN

Latchkey children, those school-age youngsters that must cope each day with empty homes until parents return from the workplace, are a growing breed, numbering from two to six million across the nation.

These children need special guidance in self-help.

Latchkey youngsters need to learn such self-care skills as how to use their time wisely, how to plan and prepare nutritious snacks, and how to deal with various emergency procedures.

Parents can provide a safer environment for their latchkey children by instructing them on a number of items, including the following:

--Keys. Instruct your child to keep housekeys in a pocket, purse or wallet.

--Schedule. Set up a daily schedule so that the child knows what to do when at home alone.

--Safety rules. Establish and post house safety rules on use of appliances, answering the door and telephone, and play activities.

--Emergency procedures. Post emergency telephone numbers and addresses near the phone, and make sure your youngster knows how to report an emergency. Practice these steps and enroll the child in a first aid or life skills class.

--Check-in. Set up a check-in routine so that a responsible adult knows when the child has arrived home. This could involve a phone call to your workplace or to a neighbor.

--Friends. Do not allow friends to visit your child when he or she is at home alone. Unsupervised play may get out of hand.

--Quality time. Spend time with your child each day. Many children are fearful of staying alone and need an understanding adult to answer questions and listen to concerns.

--Entertainment. Provide some type of safe home entertainment or simple chores to ensure that your child won't be bored this summer.

--Travel. Do not allow your child to experiment with new routes to and from school the pool or where ever he might be going. If possible, have your youngster walk to and from with friends. Emphasize the need to come straight home.

--Alternatives. Keep searching for ways to provide adult supervised care.

A training session for all 4-H Club managers is scheduled for Friday, June 2 at 2:00 in the Annex. All club managers or a representative from their club is encouraged to attend.

Early data from the 1987 Census of Agriculture show that Texas had 188,788 farms based on $1,000 or more in sales of agricultural products.

Of the total number of farms, 68,792 had annual product sales of $10,000 or more.

Census data also showed that land in farms in Texas totaled 130,502,792 acres. Eighty-five percent of this land was on farms with $10,000 or more in sales.

The 1987 census showed that Texas farmers and ranchers sold $10.54 billion in agricultural products and that farms with $10,000 or more in sales averaged $147,748 per farm.

Data also showed that $2.96 billion or 28 percent of total agricultural sales were for crops while $7.58 billion or 72 percent came from the sale of livestock and poultry and their products.

Census information comes from all identified farm and ranch operations in the United States. The Census Bureau defines a farm as any place where $1,000 or more of agricultural products were produced and sold or normally would have been sold during the census year. Sampling is used to collect data for selected items and to account for nonresponding farm operations.

Some experts are predicting that Africanized bees moving north through Mexico will reach the south Texas border by March of 1990. Others believe the first swarm of bees could arrive even later due to current dry conditions over much of Mexico that are slowing their movement. Dr. Anita Collins of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service is supervising a research program that is monitoring the bees.
