Underground Bombs Jerusalem Railway Center Exchanges Slam Shut; Reopening Unknown

Youths Storm Depot In Hail Of Gunfire

Three Persons Missing; Most Flee To Safety

JERUSALEM —(AP)— Three bombs, planted by tommygun wielding youths whom police described as Jews, exploded in Jerusalem's central railway station Wednesday.

The explosions came about an hour after the youths stormed the station from two taxicabs in a hail of gunfire with the explosives.

The station had been evacuated before the blasts.

A road mine which police said was set by the Jewish underground exploded under a military convoy here earlier Wednesday, wrecking two Army trucks, killing two soldiers and injuring 10.

Troops and police launched a search immediately and soon announced discovery of a "fairly large" cache of illegal weapons in the Jewish settlement of Givat Shaul, just outside the city. A curfew had been clamped on the settlement October 9, after a similar explosion on a nearby road.

Another outbreak of violence was reported from the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv, where four armed men robbed two Polish cashiers of $2,000 in a daring street holdup.

Preliminary police reports said at least three persons were killed or missing in the Central Railway Station. The reports blamed Jewish terrorists.

An Arab civilian who grappled with the youths as they alighted from the cars was reported to be one of the casualties.

The three bombs shook the building at about 15-second intervals. Army sappers who had tried to locate the bombs were believed to have been still at work when the explosives went off.

Dozens of government workers witnessed the explosions from windows of the nearby David's office building. Word had been spread that the station was mined.

Plymouth, Et Al, To Dig 5,000-Foot Wildcat 11 Miles West Of Midland

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

The Plymouth Oil Company and McDaniell and Beecher have filed application with the Railroad Commission to start drilling at once on their No. 1 E. V. Headlee, et al, as a 5,000-foot wildcat, about 11 miles west of Midland.

The prospector is 440 feet from north and east lines of section 34, block 41, T-1-S, and is just inside the east line of Ector County, and about one quarter of a mile west of the Midland County line.

It will test the San Andres section of the Permian. Nearest production is several miles west in the Foster field. The prospector is on a block of about 2,900 acres, which was worked up by P. W. Anderson and associates of Midland.

A checkerboard spread in the acreage was turned to Plymouth for the well. Anderson and Anderson-Huffman and Johnson retain a checkerboard spread in the block.

New Kent Discovery

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 O. N. Blair, et al, in Southwest Kent County, is a new wildcat to 8,500 feet to test the Ellenburger. Location is 660 feet from west and south lines of section 44, block 5, H&GN survey.

That puts it approximately one and one-half miles south-southwest of the discovery well of the field. Drilling with rotary will start at once.

Armistice Day To Be Holiday

Commemorating the ending of both World War I and World War II, Armistice Day, November 11, will be observed as an official holiday in Midland, it was agreed by merchants attending a meeting called by the Retailers Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce in the Scharbauer Hotel Wednesday morning.

Thanksgiving Day, November 28; Christmas Day, and New Year's Day also will be holidays here. The holidays previously were set by Midland Retailers who reaffirmed their previous agreement at the Wednesday meeting.

To Contact Merchants
The merchants and businessmen attending the meeting voted unanimously in favor of city-wide observance of the holidays by all business classifications, and adopted a strong resolution requesting all retail firms to cooperate. It was pointed out that a few Midland stores did not close shop on the last official holiday—Labor Day.

A committee, headed by Stanley Erskine, was appointed by the group to contact the firms who did not close on Labor Day to seek their full cooperation in the observance of holidays during the remainder of this year.

Surviving are his widow and three sons, Ralph, Eugene and Frank, all of Wichita Falls. A fourth son, Chester, was killed in an Army plane crash in 1944.

OPA Decontrols Additional Items

WASHINGTON —(AP)— OPA yanked price lids off a host of things ranging from radios to funerals Wednesday as the agency rushed final paper work on its "master" decontrol list.

The emphasis Wednesday was on small items that go into furnishing a home. The next list will apply largely to business and industrial goods.

In addition to radios of all types, price ceilings ceased to apply Tuesday midnight to electric phonographs, kitchenware and glassware, lamps and small electrical appliances, all clocks and scores of other types of "consumer durable goods".

The agency said all things on the three-page list either were in balance between supply and demand or unimportant to business or living costs.

It emphasized that ceilings still remain on household mechanical refrigerators, washing machines, electric ranges, vacuum cleaners, cooking and heating stoves, floor coverings as well as all major items of furniture and bedding.

Texas Farmer Denies Phantom Killer Rumor

SHERMAN —(AP)— Martin Stover, 32, a Van Alstyne farmer and ex-convict charged with the assault of a young Wylie girl and being indicted for his possible connection with the Texarkana Phantom Killer cases, Wednesday denied he had anything to do with the attack on the young girl Sunday.

He said he was playing poker at the time the attack is supposed to have taken place between Wylie and Plano.

He was charged Tuesday with rape, kidnapping and armed robbery by Criminal District Attorney Dwight Whitwell of McKinney. He is being held without bond in an unnamed jail, pending action later this week by the grand jury.

Auto Sellers Settle In OPA Conference

The settlements involved overcharges on sales of automobiles above ceiling prices.

Three dealers made settlements. One failed to appear.

Nosy Coyote Loses Fur To Furrier

MITCHELL, S. D. —(AP)— The lure of the city and of all places a fur store—brought disaster to a coyote that strayed from his rural haunts.

When discovered, the animal was jumping excitedly at a Mitchell store window in which fur coats were displayed.

A bullet from Policeman Art Newman's pistol made one more fur available for the display.

Wartime Restrictions On Glassware Removed

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Civilian Production Administration, stepping up its removal of wartime controls over industry, ordered the elimination Wednesday of all restrictions on the manufacture and design of glass containers.

The agency announced that it is revoking Order L 103 which has restricted glass bottle and jar shapes and sizes to the patterns made in 1942.

Meanwhile, highly placed officials reported that CPA Chief John D. Small soon will revoke Order L-99 which "freezes" cotton looms to the production of specified minimum amounts of essential fabrics.

CPA said the removal of controls from glass containers was ordered because a reasonable balance of supply and demand had been achieved throughout the industry.

Administrator Small asked at the same time that the industry "police itself" and hold new designs to a minimum.

In addition, CPA aides said Small has created a committee headed by Lucius Foster, chief of the agency's priorities bureau, to decide (1) what additional curbs on industry can be scrapped, (2) when the scrapping should occur, and (3) what agencies should inherit the remaining controls when CPA goes out of business.

Officials emphasized that the industrial decontrol will be no such headlong rush as CPA's assault of price ceilings, but they added that the program will cut the control list to a minimum by December 31.

The agency expires under law on March 31.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Brig. Gen. Myron R. Wood, 54, chief of supply for the Air Forces, died of a heart attack Tuesday night at his home.

Lewis Puts Wage Control Issue Into Soft Coal Dispute

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The coal industry warned Wednesday that if the government negotiates a new wage contract with John L. Lewis it will be "much more difficult" to restore the soft coal mines to private operation.

The warning came from John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, just two days before government officials are scheduled to meet with Lewis, who is demanding a new wage pact for his 400,000 United Mine Workers.

The coal association speaks for the majority of bituminous producers.

Molotov sprang suddenly to his feet and said: "The Soviet delegation calls on the other delegations to express their views on disarmament."

The other delegations were caught off-guard, but Philip Noel-Baker, Britain's chief delegate, objected that there was neither time nor preparation for such a debate.

Molotov was overruled by Spaak.

Four-Point Plan
His insistence on the point, however, left no doubt that pushing the disarmament plan would almost certainly be Russia's primary concern during the remainder of this session. The four points of his plan are:

1. The General Assembly should declare that it considers a "general reduction of armaments necessary."

2. It should particularly call for "banning the manufacture and use of atomic energy for military purposes." This would put the United Nations on record as demanding that the United States stop making atomic bombs.

3. The assembly should call on the Security Council to carry out those two objectives.

4. The assembly should also call on all member governments to cooperate in the arms reduction and atomic bomb ban projects.

Molotov Demands Nations Reduce Arms Production

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
NEW YORK —(AP)— Fears of new tensions between Russia and the Western powers over atomic controls, disarmament, the veto and other critical issues swept through many United Nations Assembly delegations Wednesday as diplomats from 50 other member countries debated the challenging policy speech hurled into the assembly by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

The Soviet leader topped off his speech with a four-point arms reduction program, including a request for action by the assembly to try to get the United States to stop making atomic bombs.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, had an opportunity to respond to the Russian leader Wednesday. He was scheduled to speak in the mid-afternoon. His aides reported he almost certainly would not revise the main body of his address, prepared before Molotov tossed his oratorical bombshell in a lively session Tuesday night.

Molotov assailed Winston Churchill as a "prophet" of "aggressive, imperialistic circles" in America and Britain and blasted Bernard Baruch, U. S. member of the UN Atomic Commission, for allegedly holding a "militant philosophy" leading toward a "new aggression."

He attacked the American atomic control plan as designed to give this country an atomic monopoly, asserted abolition of the veto would wreck the United Nations, and demanded a UN report on American and British troops in foreign lands. Capping off his address with the four-point arms reduction plan, he urged the assembly to act on it at once.

He said the assembly produced one of the most dramatic incidents in the assembly to date.

Demands Reply
Molotov had spoken in Russian. When he finished he had to wait through two long translations of his 7,000-word speech, one into English, the other into French.

When the interpreters finished, Assembly President Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium asked if there was any more business before he adjourned the session. The hall was already largely empty.

Molotov sprang suddenly to his feet and said: "The Soviet delegation calls on the other delegations to express their views on disarmament."

The other delegations were caught off-guard, but Philip Noel-Baker, Britain's chief delegate, objected that there was neither time nor preparation for such a debate.

Molotov was overruled by Spaak.

3. The assembly should call on the Security Council to carry out those two objectives.

Put Trash Cans Inside
Grown-ups should cooperate by helping the youngsters have good clean fun, Ellington said. He cautioned business men to put trash cans inside their establishments before closing Thursday evening—to get them out of reach of Halloween spoils.

With Halloween spirit in the air again, the grownups will recall the October 31 pranks of their youth and the old game of "trick or treat". The game, largely unknown by the youngsters, operated with a group of children who rang doorbells asking for "trick or treat". If the person came forth with a treat—candy, cookies, or apples—the gang moved on without any pranks. But if there was no handout, a gate or another movable object probably would be found next morning on some building.

Asked about some of the old tricks which were favorites in Midland, Chief Ellington said, "No, sir, I'm not going to tell about what has happened in Midland in years past. The youngsters will have plenty of ideas of their own without my suggesting anything."

And as a final warning, the chief said police will be out in force Thursday night, not to keep the youngsters from having fun, but to fully enforce the law in seeing that they do not destroy property.

The Yucca Theater will provide entertainment for patrons, who may think they are not afraid of ghosts and can stand shocks at a Halloween preview of "She Wolf of London" which will start at 11:45 p. m. Thursday.

Business Hours Remain The Same

Retail merchants of Midland voted Wednesday to continue indefinitely present opening and closing hours.

The Retailers Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce made the decision at a meeting in the Scharbauer Hotel.

Dry goods and variety stores and hardware and furniture stores open at 9 a. m. and close at 5:30 p. m. on week days, and remain open until 7:30 p. m. on Saturdays.

Most grocery stores close at 6:30 p. m. on week days, and remain open until 9 p. m. Saturdays.

Cleaning and pressing establishments are open from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. throughout the week, representatives of this classification announced.

Christmas Program Outlined

Most electrical appliance and service firms observe the 8 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. closing hours.

Hours will not be lengthened during the Christmas shopping season.

Following a discussion, the merchants voted unanimously to abide by the decision of the majority, and invited the cooperation of all retail business firms.

Harlan Howell, general chairman of the Jay-Cee Christmas activities program, outlined plans of his committee, and said the Christmas shopping season here will open officially December 6. Santa Claus will be invited to head a big parade through downtown Midland that day. Christmas street lights will be turned on and decorations unveiled for the opening of the shopping season.

Howell told of other phases of the program and urged full cooperation of all merchants.

OPA Extends Rent Control Friday

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A wide extension of rent ceiling effective November 1, was announced Wednesday by OPA.

The agency announced that 28 more rental areas with a total population of more than 3,500,000 will be brought under rental ceilings Friday.

The agency said that the new additions bring the nation's rental areas up to 650 and that "few additional areas will require controls because today's list covers those in which rent pressures have been mounting since the war."

Government officials said they had been watching rents throughout the country since the end of the war and that the housing shortage "has been becoming more acute."

They said that action in many of the areas going under ceilings next month resulted from appeals or petitions by local officials.

Included in the new ceilings areas are 23 college towns where the returns of veterans and students has aggravated housing shortages.

Police Call It Operation Hallowe'en As They Plan Patrols Thursday Night

They're calling it Operation Hallowe'en at the Midland Police Department—the hustling preparation for spoofs who annually dump trash barrels, shoot out street lights, and in general raise Cain October 31.

"The full police force will be on duty Thursday night," Police Chief Jack Ellington said Wednesday. "We want the kids to have a good time, but we don't want them to destroy property."

Ellington praised the Hallowe'en parties sponsored by the Parent-Teacher associations and staged at the high school gymnasium for high school students, the football stadium for junior high students, the City-County Auditorium for students of the West Elementary School, and at the South Elementary and North Elementary Schools.

"The parties provide entertainment for the youngsters and keep them busy. They have a good time and at the same time stay out of mischief."

Grown-ups should cooperate by helping the youngsters have good clean fun, Ellington said. He cautioned business men to put trash cans inside their establishments before closing Thursday evening—to get them out of reach of Halloween spoils.

Good Roads Amendment

Almost all farm and ranch products are transported over roads to markets, processing plants, or transportation terminals. Because good roads will benefit farm and ranch people, bring them greater prosperity, these organizations have endorsed the Good Roads Constitutional Amendment which comes before the voters Tuesday: Texas Farm Bureau Federation, Texas State Grange, Texas Cottonseed Crushers Association, Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association, Texas Ginners Association, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, and West Texas Ginners Association.

Oil tank trucks use roads to transport crude oil in serving fields and wells not yet reached by pipe line; they play a major role in the distribution of refined petroleum products. Because good roads will facilitate the transportation of oil by tank truck, the Oil Field Haulers Association has endorsed the Good Roads Amendment.

But the Good Roads Amendment's benefits are not confined to any one group of people or any several groups of people. It will bring benefits to all the people. The list of organizations supporting it is long. But here are a few: Texas Safety Association, Private Truck Owners Association, Retail Merchants Association, State Board of Education, State Restaurant Association of Texas, Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association, West Texas Press Association, and Texas Rural Letter Carriers Association.

The amendment's purpose is to assure that road user revenues are used for roads, with the exception that one-fourth of the gasoline tax would continue to be allocated to the Available Free School Fund. In other words, the amendment would prevent diversion of road user revenues to purposes other than roads.

This is as it should be, particularly in view of the fact that the state road builders now plan to start a vast program of road construction and maintenance, including thousands of miles of farm-to-market roads. This would represent the greatest progress in farm road construction ever achieved in Texas.

The road program stretches over a long period. Road-building agencies cannot start on such an undertaking without the certain knowledge that the financing will be available one, two, five or ten years from now. The only way to provide them the assurance they require is by voting "Yes" on Amendment Number Three, the Good Roads Amendment, at the polls Tuesday, November 5.

Time Limit For Peace

Viscount Rothermere, the London newspaper publisher, doesn't feel that there's going to be war for 20 or 25 years, he told New York reporters after his arrival aboard the Queen Elizabeth on a business trip.

Perhaps the publisher meant his observation to be comforting. But we hope that his countrymen who arrived on the Queen Elizabeth on United Nations business have set their sights a little higher. Likewise their aspirations and their hearts.

Their assignment, and that of their UN colleagues, is to draw up an airtight lease permitting mankind to occupy a peaceful world permanently and perpetually. We're afraid that mankind has no disposition to sign an agreement for any shorter period.

Looking down on everybody doesn't help anybody get up.

Negro Sentenced To Death For Murder

HOUSTON — (AP) — Elijah Pearson, Negro, is under death sentence Wednesday following his conviction Tuesday on a charge of murder in connection with the August 29 roadside slaying of Harold Frank, five-battle war veteran.

While on the stand Tuesday, Pearson offered an alibi for the night of the murder and asserted that a confession introduced in the trial was beaten out of him. He had signed the statement with an "X".

The jury deliberated approximately one hour. Frank was shot to death on a country road, 11 miles north of Houston while he was in the company of Mrs. Mary Teresa Frank, who was divorced from Frank's brother.

The number of U. S. semi-skilled workers rose from 15 per cent of working force in 1910 to 21 per cent in 1940.

Robbers Use Clever Ruse On Houston Bank

HOUSTON — (AP) — A well planned robbery, that included a telephone call to a bank teller, resulted in three men taking $6,750 from the First National Bank here Tuesday and calmly walking away.

City Detectives H. C. Case and C. J. Woodman said a man, apparently a confederate on the outside of the bank phoned the bank's switchboard operator and asked to speak with Teller Irvin Blackman. Blackman left his teller's cage unguarded as he went into the adjoining cage of Teller Robert J. Runnels to answer the call.

Meanwhile, a second man approached Runnels' window to change a $5 bill and engaged Runnels in conversation. While this was taking place, a third member of the gang sauntered up, unobserved, to Blackman's vacant cage and in some manner fished $1,500 in $50 bills and the rest in $100 bills from the cage.

As Blackman ended the telephone conversation, both men walked from the building. Description of the man who changed the $5 bill was given to police by Runnels, as was the $5 bill. The description and bill are the only clues aiding police and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

Annual Father-Daughter Box Supper Sponsored By Midland Girl Scouts

"I've got six bits, six bits, six bits, who'll make it a dollar! Six bits, six bits, and the gentleman on the back row bids one dollar!"

Rites Scheduled At Fairview For Retired Rancher

Funeral services for James M. Andrews, 80, who came to Midland in 1870 in a prairie schooner and who died Sunday at his home in Carlsbad, N. M., were scheduled at 1 p. m. Wednesday at Fairview Cemetery here.

The Masonic Lodge of Monahans was to conduct services.

Born in Missouri, the retired rancher came here in 1870 and in 1908 moved to Jal, N. M. He was retired 12 years ago and lived in Carlsbad.

Andrews was a trail driver on the Chisholm Trail before taking up ranching.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. J. M. Andrews of Carlsbad; two sons, Clyde and George of Carlsbad; two brothers, Jake of Monahans and Pony of Lubbock; and two sisters, Mrs. W. H. Williams of Monahans and Mrs. J. M. Frame of Ruidoso, N. M.

And so to the tune of the auctioneer's chant the Girl Scout's annual father-daughter box supper got underway in the City-County Auditorium Tuesday evening.

Norris Creath mixed sentiment, poetry and threats with his auction chant to keep the bidding lively. Dad paid from $1 to $7 for Sissy, box to add $222 to the Girl Scout building fund.

Art Cole conducted a quiz program. Four Girl Scouts competed with their fathers in a question-and-answer game which ended with the Scouts winning with a perfect score. A close observer might have contended the question man showed a little partiality when he asked the girls such questions as "how much does a three-cent stamp cost?" as compared to the question her dad got "what is a klipspringer?" But the audience loved it. The four dad's were then given a dress-making kit, composed of a few pieces of crepe paper, a pin or two, and a piece of string. They were given 60 seconds to fashion a dress and hat for daughter. The results would have sent a fashion expert to his grave, but again the audience approved, as evidenced by its combined shrieks and applause.

The affair, which highlights the local observance of National Girl Scout Week, was under the general direction of Mrs. I. A. Searles. Approximately 200 fathers and daughters attended.

Texas Tech Club Schedules Supper

The Texas Tech Club will entertain with a Mexican supper at 8 p. m. Saturday at the Log Cabin Inn.

XXXIII
WHEN Gayle and Mrs. Mays packed the car once more, strapped Kent, all brown and scratched and bruised, into his little seat, and headed east again, Barney in his gray Ford coupe followed. They thought they knew where they were going and what they were going to do, and they had Barney to thank for the idea. Gayle had been teasing him when she asked one day, "Where would you like me to settle, Barney, when we go back east? You'll still be on the job, won't you?"

"I think so, ma'am. I sure hope so."

"So do I. Now, where would you like me to be? It might as well be some place satisfactory to you."

Taking her seriously, as he always did, Barney wrinkled his forehead and considered the problem. Finally he said, "Well, ma'am, I'll tell you. My mother lives in Bedford Village, up near the Connecticut line. I gotta support her. That's why I ain't been home."

"You mean you could live at home?"

"Yes'm. My sister's workin' now in a plant in Norwalk. It usta make gadgets, but now it's makin' parts for planes. Maybe if you were around there, I could get a job at the plant, too, and make some extra coin. I sure need it. The way you help me out, I could keep track of you easy."

"Of course," Gayle agreed, smiling at his simplicity and trust. "Maybe I could get a job in that same plant, and then everything would be perfect, wouldn't it?"

Gayle had meant to be amusing, but before Barney's last gurgle of laughter had died away, she was considering the idea seriously. It had merits, great merits. For months she had taken it for granted ed she would teach, but she had been too tired and confused to begin hunting for a position. Now it was too late; the schools had already opened. And why not a war plant? And why not Bedford Village or some small place near there? She would maintain her residence in Westchester County, in New York state; she would be near Mr. Godfrey when, and if, she needed his assistance; and she would be completely out of the orbit of people with whom she had associated for the past three years.

EVERYTHING worked out so smoothly that Gayle said she was sure Fate itself was oiling the wheels for her. With Barney to guide and advise, she and Mrs. Mays found a satisfactory cottage in two days' time. It wasn't in Bedford Village, but it was in Poundridge, only a few miles away, and Barney assured her earnestly that it was close enough for him to keep continuous watch over her.

It was a pretty little white cottage with three bedrooms, and both Gayle and Mrs. Mays were delighted with it. For a week they shopped as if driven by all the Puries, seeking bargains in furniture and rugs in Norwalk, Stamford, and White Plains; and by the end of the week they were able to declare themselves adequately settled.

Barney's sister took him and Gayle together to the factory in Norwalk and left them with the personnel manager. He turned Barney over at once to a foreman, and then considered Gayle's problem.

"I think you are probably just what we are looking for," Mrs. Bartlett," he said, studying the questionnaire she had filled in. "We're having great trouble getting satisfactory forewomen. You'll have to be trained, of course, but the work's simple. You ought to catch on to it easily."

To Gayle at times it seemed unbelievable that by moving a few miles away from her old home she could leave her old life completely behind. By driving 10 miles in almost any direction she could reach the home of someone she knew, but she came in contact with none of those people. They moved on one plane, and now she was moving on another plane far below. Those planes were parallel; they touched nowhere. The name Gayle Bartlett meant nothing to the villagers or to the factory workers, and Gayle's activities isolated her almost entirely from anyone else. She was busy and almost contented.

Bart, of course, was not forgotten, and Barney was ever present to keep her reminded that Octavia Bartlett had not forgotten her. There seemed nothing to worry about, however, not even when a letter came from Nate Kent late in November. He had written from Hawaii.

The third paragraph of his letter brought Gayle up sharp; and as she read, her heart began to pound. "Bart is here," the paragraph began, "and I'll admit it was embarrassing to bump into him. But we're in the same service, and so the meeting was unavoidable. I don't know quite why, but he seems like a kid to me. Even at first when we were pretending you didn't exist, I felt as if I were talking to a kid. But then you were mentioned and everything blew up. He's just the way he was when he got into a mess with a girl when he was in college, bitter and hard as nails. Everything's your fault. He hasn't done a thing. All you want is a lot of dirty publicity, and so on. Look out, Gayle. He wants revenge."

"One thing surprises me. He's always been awfully popular with everyone, but he doesn't stand well with the other officers. He trained with some of them, and they haven't got much use for him. They admit he's a marvelous pilot, but they say he's a rotten soldier. He doesn't know how to take orders..."

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

At all tournaments of the American Contract Bridge League there are pickup messengers to take the score cards from the bridge tables to the scorekeeper. We recently lost two of the most popular members of the pickup staff, the Roth twins, Marie Claire and Claire Marie, daughters of Harry J. Roth of Brooklyn, N. Y. They have entered Georgian Court College at Lakewood, N. J. Their bridge interest there will be centered on the fine card party given each year by the music department of the college, in which the twins are freshmen.

I recall kibitzing today's hand several years ago during the summer nationals at the Convention Hall at Asbury Park, N. J. Marie and Claire were youngsters then

♠ 63	♥ 732	♦ 10	♣ 94
♠ 752	♥ 10	♦ 8764	♣ 5
♠ 10	♥ 8764	♦ 5	♣ 1097
♠ 642	♥ 5	♦ 1097	♣ 85

and were playing on the huge balcony of the Convention Hall. I think that the noise they made was responsible for a nice defensive play executed by East and West on this hand.

West cashed the king and ace of spades, and then at most of the tables, West shifted to the diamond—and declarer made his contract easily.

But just as trick two was turned at this table, one of the twins knocked over a box which came tumbling down step after step from the balcony. Now West continued with the ten of spades and was horrified when he realized that he was giving declarer a sluff and a ruff.

However, as the sluff and ruff was of no advantage to declarer, he trumped in dummy with the seven of hearts. East overtrumped with the jack and South had to trump with the queen.

Then there was no way to prevent West from making both the ace and ten of hearts, defeating the contract.

West could have reasoned that his correct play was the ten of spades at trick three. He could tell from the bidding that East did not have a trick in his hand, and therefore his only hope was to make two trump tricks.

A "first Thanksgiving" was celebrated in Maine, not Massachusetts, 15 years before the Pilgrims.

Bulldog "B" Pups Travel

The "B" Bulldogs of Midland High School and the Bullpups of John M. Cowden Junior High travel to Seminole Thursday night where they play a double-header of football.

Tuesday both elevens got spirited workouts.

Coch Ken Kearns had the Pups putting out all they had in scrimmage. He was aiming for harder tackling and crisp blocking.

Coch Aubra Nooncaster worked the "B" Bulldogs scrimmage under game conditions. He was developing Thomas Friday, a fleet wing-back, who runs with a burst of speed, into a tailback.

The Bulldogs "B" promise to tear into Seminole with fury because they are smarting from a narrow margin defeat which Odessa tacked on them here last week.

The Pups have been idle three weeks and are anxious for action. Due to a mixup on schedules Odessa did not show here for a game with the Pups.

The two teams will leave Midland about 3 p. m. Thursday for Seminole.

Checker Cab won two from Hoover Body Shop, Tull's Drug nabbed a couple from Petroleum Drug, Steak House trimmed two from Ted Thompson Agency, and West Texas Reproduction snatched two wins from Hughes Jewelry, in matches of the women's bowling league Monday night at Plamor Palace.

Neely Spikes Rumor

HOUSTON — (AP) — When Jess Neely, head coach at Rice Institute, was informed Tuesday night that a rumor had Frank Howard, Clemson football mentor, as receiving a $10,000 a year offer to become an assistant on the Rice staff, Neely said: "If there's a $10,000 assistant job open, tell them I am an applicant."

Neely said he did not know how such a report got started.

Neely formerly coached at Clemson. Last week he spiked a rumor that he would return to the southern school.

Midland Gridstar Selected By AP As Outstanding Lineman Of Week

Wendell Williams

NEW YORK—(AP)—Wendell Williams, end of the Rice University football team, injured his ankle in practice a week ago. It didn't look like he would play against Texas.

But he stayed with the team's trainer for hours on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday determined to play. He achieved his objective in such startling fashion that Wednesday he was selected as the "lineman of the week" in the Fourth Associated Press Poll of the season.

able to play only on the offense (his ankle wasn't strong enough to stand battering on defense) Williams caught two touchdown passes. One the first touchdown he ran into a fence and hurt his wrist so badly he had to leave. But later he came back to snare the pigskin for his second TD, a feat that tumbled Texas out of the unbeaten and untied ranks in a major grid upset.

Williams thus joined Walter "Piggy" Barnes, of Louisiana State; Burr Baldwin, UCLA; and Bernie Gallagher, of Pennsylvania, who gained the lineman award in previous weeks.

Williams was a backfield ace and star ground gainer for the Midland Bulldogs in 1938, 1939 and 1940. He entered Rice and played one year at end. He served in the Marines three years before returning to Rice this year to become a strong candidate for the All-America team.

Midland Second Team Gets Much Drill Attention

Midland's second team got as much drill time as the first lineup Tuesday as the Bulldogs prepared for San Angelo.

The boys looked sharp enough in the workout, blocking, tackling and running the pellet, also passing.

For quite awhile Coach Barnes Milam worked the first and second teams on offense. He sent them against the third. Alternating, the first would run a play and then the second would duplicate it. This went on for an hour.

When the workout opened the second team would run San Angelo plays against the defense thrown up by the first team. Running the plays were Dunn, Roripaugh, Cox, Hamilton, Leftwich, Moncrief, Pritchard, Davis, Burrow, Barber, Elvins, Little and Sutton. On the defense were Olliff, Howell, Whitson, Edwards, Mickey, Kidwell, Scrogin, Goode, Drake, Cole and Hightower.

Also getting in on the fun were Davis Kirby and Joe Birdwell, first string reserves.

Coach Jack Mashburn, who has scouted the Bobcats, tutored the second team in its San Angelo plays.

Midland has a dandy or two to pull on San Angelo. At times in the Tuesday workout the Bulldogs ripped off plays with plenty of deception and the defense could not keep up with the ball.

The Bulldogs worked on a pass play or two, which haven't been used since the Austin High game. The pass drill was a short and sweet one with the long and short aerials working perfectly.

Forces of Attraction Keep a Comet in its Course...

and OIL-PLATE Your Engine!

BASIC forces of attraction and repulsion keep a comet in its course around the sun. By ceaseless study of the molecular attraction between liquids and solids, Conoco engineers are able to bring America's motorists new and better oils.

For example, under the laws of molecular attraction, a special ingredient in Conoco Nth motor oil is attracted to working surfaces of your engine. So strong is this attraction that cylinder walls and other parts are OIL-PLATED.

And because molecular attraction holds OIL-PLATING up where it belongs . . . prevents it from all draining down to the crankcase, even overnight . . . you get these benefits:

added protection when your engine starts up

added protection from corrosive action added protection from wear that leads to fouling sludge and carbon added smooth, silent miles

That's why to OIL-PLATE now . . . at Your Conoco Mileage Merchant's. Look for the red triangle. Continental Oil Company
