Nationwide Rail Shutdown Set

The SDN Column

Mickey Nunley, Snyder's young Chamber of Commerce manager has been getting his introductory knocks and experieneing the ups and downs in the field of courting industry.

Nearly every town with any ambition at all is seeking additional industry these days, and the competition is wide open with no holds barred. Most of the work in this field is done behind the scenes. Community leaders in towns bidding for industry are reluctant to discuss a prospective new industry, let alone speculate on their chances of landing it, until it is literally signed, sealed and delivered.

For one thing, the industries themselves usually are sensitive about having their names mentioned in such speculation. Also, such speculation may alert a competing town that did not know there was a prospect around. And, it can be discouraging if someone beats you out.

But it is a fascinating, if somewhat nerve-wracking activity.

Here, generally, is the way it goes:

Representatives of an industry considering a new plant come to town to look around and talk. This happens, of course, after a written proposal, or invitation, including some general facts about the community, has been submitted. The local Chamber of Commerce or the Industrial Foundation (they work closely here) may have simply heard a rumor that the company involved planned to expand, someone may have tipped them about it, or the company may even have invited proposals.

Usually, many prospective sites are eliminated in the first stage — study of the written proposals.

Then comes the fast talking. On the personal visits the industry usually sends top-flight negotiators who know all about the requirements of their company and what would constitute a good location and a good offer.

On the other hand, the town being visited must have its best negotiators ready and there must be people around the table who can answer questions on a variety of subjects. In fact someone must be able to come up with an answer to any question about any facet of the community, such as city and county government, tax rates, educational facilities, churches, public transportation, and everything else that makes up a rounded community.

Consequently, those representing the town usually are the busies men in town. And it has been confirmed over and over again that the busiest usually give more of their time to such activities and are worth more to the community in such negotiations than any others.

As the session draws to a close, you are tipped off that a choice will be made between your town and one other — all but the two have been eliminated.

The visitors leave. The home town folks go back to work. The Chamber of Commerce Manager gres back to his office to sweat it out.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, Feb. 1, the 32nd day of 1970. There are 333 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date:

In 1587, Mary, Queen of Scots, was condemned to death by Queen Elizabeth I of England.

In 1861, Texas voted to secede from the Union.

In 1862, Julia Ward Howe's "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was published for the first time in the Atlantic Monthly.

In 1956, Autherine Lucy became the first Negro to be admitted to the University of Alabama.

In 1958, it was announced in Cairo that Egypt and Syria had merged, becoming the United Arab Republic.

Ten years ago— An uprising by Europeans in Algeria collapsed, and its top leader was flown to prison in Paris.

Five years ago— Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and more than 770 other Negroes were arrested while demonstrating for voting rights in Selma, Alabama.

Unless UP Strike Ends

By GREGG HERRINGTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railroad industry began closing down its $28-million-a-day nationwide system today in retaliation to a strike by four shopcraft unions against a single line, the Union Pacific.

John S. Reed, president of Santa Fe Railroad, said that railroad would discontinue operations at 9 p.m. Saturday, unless the strike against Union Pacific should be over by that time.

"We deplore such action. We are only using it as a last resort to hold this industry together and protect the public against onerous wage settlements they eventually have to bear the cost of," said the industry chief national negotiator, John P. Hiltz.

It was the first nationwide rail lockout in the industry's history.

Hiltz said at a news conference after the midnight strike against the Union Pacific that the nationwide lockout of some 580,000 workers would go into effect by 10 p.m. EST, but some railroads were already beginning to curtail operations.

"We hope for a quick settlement without drastic effects on the public," said Hiltz, who favors a new federal law requiring compulsory arbitration of railroad disputes.

"Our action was timed to minimize effects on the public," he said.

If asked by the Nixon administration, "We will seek permanent legislation," Hiltz said.

The Penn Central Railroad said all passenger train traffic in and out of Pittsburgh would be halted after the 12:45 p.m. train leaves for New York. Other railroads announcing shutdowns tonight included Louisville & Nashville, Norfolk and Western, Frisco, Chicago North Western, Kansas City Southern, Missouri Pacific Santa Fe, Rock Island and Burlington.

Hiltz said the nationwide shutdown was to prevent the four AFL-CIO unions representing some 45,000 railroad shop workers from picking off one railroad at a time in a "whipsaw" action.

"The whipsaw is to hit you from both sides until they get you bloody," Hiltz said.

Hiltz said shipments of perishable goods would be handled by supervisory crews or delivered to destinations to prevtnt spoilage.

"If requested by the Defense Department to handle special shipments, we would have to give it serious consideration," he said.

In Roanoke, Va., the Norfolk and Western Railroad announced it too would shut down all operations at 10 p.m. EST., unless the Union Pacific strike ends before then.

The company said all passenger and freight trains will halt and the shops and general offices at the railroad's headquarters will be closed except for some supervisory personnel.

Other railroads had not announced specific plans to cease operations but industry spokesmen said shortly after pickets first appeared in three Midwest cities that all the carriers would shutdown.

BRITON CITES US POWER

Browning, Huddleston Receive Top Awards

"Your country has grown larger as the world has grown smaller," John E. Harvey told over 600 persons Friday night at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Banquet, as the Briton emphasized the steady "shrinking" of the world and the fantastic growth of the United States.

Harvey's address climaxed a program in the Scurry County Coliseum that saw Buford Browning receive the award as Snyder's outstanding citizen of 1969, and Wayland Huddleston receive the Outstanding Young Farmer award from Snyder Jaycees.

Bentley Baize, who received the outstanding citizen award for 1967, presented the plaque to Browning. No such award was made for 1968, since the Chamber of Commerce did not have its regular banquet last year. Mickey Nunley, Chamber manager and a State Jaycee Vice President, presented the award to Huddleston.

Harvey said that America has involved itself in many areas of the world and that if its present rate of growth continues, such involvement will inevitably increase. At first, he said, the fighting in Vietnam was to keep the communists from spreading throughout Southeast Asia and even to Australia and New Zealland. Crop failures, unrest at home and differences with the Soviet Union had blunted Communist China's threat, but disengagement in Vietnam is made virtually impossible because of the communists' cynical refusal to negotiate a halt in the fighting.

Harvey said that the United States is involved in such things as the Vietnam war and other world-wide issues because of its power and its size. American industry not only has outstripped the remainder of the world within this country, but American industrialists have invested heavily in ventures abroad, which has put much of the industry in Western Europe under control of Americans. With America's industry holding such interest, it is even more important than ever before that the country assume the position of top power in the free world.

It was Harvey's second address at a Snyder Chamber of Commerce Banquet. He spoke at a similar function in 1957, and he said he noted many changes in the intervening 13 years.

Mrs. Harvey accompanied her husband, her first trip to America, and she spoke briefly after being introduced by Mrs. Glenn Barron, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Committee.

Hondo Crouch, the hill country humorist who appeared at the All-America City Banquet last year, headlined the banquet entertainment. Also greeting the local audience briefly was Norm Cash, major league baseball star whose home is near Justiceburg.

Winners Of Awards Get High Marks

Buford Browning never gave up when the odds appeared hopeless. Eventually, he won a dogged and determined campaign and it was a major factor which led to the presentation of the Outstanding Citizen award to him at the Chamber of Commerce banquet Friday night.

Browning, well known for many years for his civic work in Snyder and Scurry County, probably achieved his greatest success in the field of community development last Nov. 22 when Scurry County voters approved by a margin of 10-1 the creation of a county-wide junior college district. Up to that time, the Scurry voters had not even been permitted to ballot on the issue. Success came on the fifth try, and Browning had been involved in all of them. For several years he had headed the Junior College Survey Committee of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, a panel that on some prior occasions had appeared to be engaged in a futile effort.

Browning kept abreast of the times, however, and he was quick to seize upon any changes in trends and regulations, and finally the project was accomplished. As pointed out by Bentley Baize, the 1967 recipient who made the presentation, Browning has worked on many other community projects during his life-time which has seen him serve as a public school teacher, stock farmer and county school superintendent.

Wayland Huddleston, the Jaycees Outstanding Young Farmer of 1969, also has been identified with community life, as well as making an outstanding success in farming. He has won many other prior awards from the Jaycees, having been active in the organization in Snyder for several years. And, as Mickey Nunley, who made that presentation pointed out, the award is for much more than mere success in a person's vocation. Other factors weighing heavily in the selection are service to the community and to humanity.

Philippine Palace Attack Controlled

By MARIO ROXAS
Associated Press Writer

MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand Marcos said today that those who tried to storm his palace were Communist-inspired men dedicated to overthrowing the Philippine government.

In a nationwide broadcast after eight hours of rioting Friday night and today left five dead, more than 150 injured and at least 300 in jail, Marcos said those who fought in the streets were not the students who have been pressing for reforms.

They were "men who acted in accordance with a well-organized plan to attack the government through acts of rebellion and subversion, "He said, adding that they behaved "in the pattern of Chinese Communists —waving red banners and calling for revolt in their speeches and leaflets."

Marcos assured the nation that the situation was under control and the government was prepared to put down any insurrection.

Marcos decided to go on radio and television after an emergency meeting with advisers. Before he spoke, a government official announced that criminal charges will be brought against those arrested.

Manila residents said the disturbances were the worst anti-government demonstrations in the city's history.

Many of the 1,500 troops and federal police who helped put down the violence Friday night and early today remained outside the palace as Marcos and his advisers conferred. Workers removed masses of debris and burned vehicles from roads leading to the palace.

Display windows of stores in the nearby shopping district of Quiapo, the heart of Manila, were smashed and looted of their contents. Some buildings bore evidence of bullet marks.

Relief Seen For Consumer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's chief economic adviser said today the U.S. consumer should begin to get relief from rising prices this year, but he said he did not think there would be "any large rise in unemployment" as the anti-inflation measures take hold.

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said at a news conference prices this year may be only 4.3 per cent over 1969's level, compared to the 4.7 per cent increase registered between 1968 and 1969. By the end of the year, he added, price increases may be down to 3.5 per cent.

McCracken and his CEA colleagues, Herbert Stein and Hendrik S. Houthakker, discussed their economic report to Nixon, which was released Friday night.

In his own economic message to Congress, the President asserted the economy is slowing and might be ready for a reacceleration in mid-1971.

McCracken said he expected a continued flat trend in the economy's real output and "while I do not want to attach any specific figure for the unemployment rate . . . I do not see any large rise in unemployment during this period."

R. G. Ball Dies; Rites Set Monday

Richard Gaius Ball, 78, of Fluvanna, died at 10:45 p.m. Friday in the Snyder Hospital.

Mr. Ball had lived almost his entire life-time in Scurry County, having moved here from his birthplace in Williamson County. He was married on Dec. 27, 1913, in Snyder to Miss Velma Reaves. She survives.

Also surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Violat Pylant of Fluvanna; Mrs. Juanita Arendale, Mrs. Ima Nell Killenbrew and Mrs. Virginia Paden, all of Dallas, and Mrs. Bobbie Jean Coonrod of Hermleigh; five sons, A. V. Ball of Arlington, Duance Ball of Midlothian, Weldon Ball of Santa Fe, Calif., Dalton Ball of Odessa and Roy J. Ball of San Angelo; a sister, Mrs. Oma Riddle of Devine; a brother, O. Z. Ball of Slaton; 31 grandchildren and 17 great - grandchildren.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Monday at the Fluvanna Baptist Church where Mr. Ball was a member. The Rev. Thomas Hall, pastor at Fluvanna, and the Rev. Fred Boatman of Central Baptist Church in Hermleigh, will officiate. Burial will be in the Fluvanna Cemetery, under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Pallbearers will be Fowler Mathis, Leo Beaver, Wallace Jones, Carlton Daugherty, Bill Love, Bunyon Evans, Pete Beaver, Henry Flournoy, Robert Warren and Mathie Hughes.

New Ruling Set For Trash Piles

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Quality Board is preparing rules for trash piles outside city or county control under new authority given the agency last year by the legislature.

A series of public hearings will be held to receive suggestions and publicize the new requirements, the board said.

The legislature gave the board broad authority for regulating and controlling the collection, handling, storage and disposal of industrial and agricultural solid waste that does not go into municipal disposal facilities.

Included are dry waste, such as sawdust, cotton gin trash, cans, bottles, packing materials and scrap lumber.

Nationwide UNLESS

Her secret may eventually get out!

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I don't know what came over me, but I did a terrible thing. When it was my turn to have my bridge club for lunch, I served a casserole and it made a big hit.

One of the ladies asked me for the recipe and I was ashamed to tell her that all I did was to add an egg to a package of this and a can of that, so I said it was a recipe that had been in my family for years and I promised my grandmother I'd never give it out.

My conscience has been bothering me ever since, but I'm afraid if I tell this woman the truth now, it will spread all thru the club that I lied, and I just couldn't face them. What shall I do?

GUILTY CONSCIENCE

DEAR GUILTY: 'Fess up. It beats having it on your conscience. Besides, it's a small cooking world, and one of your friends is sure to get the recipe sooner or later, and you'll wind up with "a can of this and a package of that, and egg on your face."

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who gets mad when his wife sends pictures of her children [from a former marriage] to her ex-husband's parents? I have three children under 5 who have been very close to their grandparents all their lives. [My parents aren't living, so they are the only grandparents my kids will ever know.]

Now that I have recently remarried, my husband doesn't want me to have anything to do with my ex-husband's family. These people were wonderful to me while I was married to their son and I don't think they should be punished because we were divorced.

Also, I allow my ex-husband to see the kids whenever he wants to. He adores them and sees them at least once a week. My husband is jealous of this, too, and it causes many arguments.

If I am wrong, please tell me. My husband has two children by a former marriage and his wife is so unfair. She has allowed him to see them only twice in the past year. Could this have something to do with his attitude?

NEEDS AN ANSWER

DEAR NEEDS: You answered your own question. Your husband is angry because his ex-wife won't let him see his children as often as you let your ex-husband see his. Your attitude is right. Don't change.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was conceived 3½ months before my husband and I were married. Since I had not yet begun to "show," Jack [made-up name] and I had a beautiful church wedding and kept quiet. Immediately following our honeymoon we moved from the east to Los Angeles. To avoid embarrassment, we told our new friends in L. A. that our wedding date was six months earlier than it actually was. Our friends in the east as well as our parents, believe the baby was born six months later than she actually was.

The problem is that our parents are coming to see the baby for the first time on what they believe will be her first birthday, and I am afraid if they start to talk to our friends, the discrepancy in dates will be brought out into the open.

Who, if anyone, should be told the truth?

DUG MY OWN GRAVE

DEAR DUG: "O, what a tangled web we weave, when first we practice to decejve." Tales such as the one you've told always have a way of being found out for what they are. Set the record straight all the way 'round. Dig?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST WONDERING" IN PALM BEACH: I haven't given it much thought, but it might be fun to "come back" as a buzzard. Nobody envies him, and he can eat anything.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Iowa Coach Is Suspended

DES MOINES Iowa (AP) — University of Iowa football coach Ray Nagel has been given a 90-day suspension from recruiting athletes away from the Iowa City campus the Des Moines Register reported in its Saturday editions.

The newspaper said Nagel had been suspended for allowing a high school athlete to sit on the Iowa bench during the Hawkeyes' game at Illinois last November.

Pleasant Weather Forecast For Texas

Skies were clear in most sections and all of Texas was promised a weekend of pleasant weather on this final day of January.

The only clouds this morning were of the high, thin variety from parts of Central Texas toward the Lower Coast and along the Pecos River in West Texas.

It was chilly again around dawn, with temperatures ranging from 21 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle up to 44 at Corpus Christi and McAllen in the south.

Usually warm San Antonio saw the mercury drop to 30—but that was vastly higher than the Alamo city's alltime record low of zero registered on this date in 1949.

Forecasts called for gradually increasing clouds and a warming trend through Sunday.

The aerial shot and the cat picture previously won honors at the Panhandle Association at Amarillo and will be entered in state competion this spring.

Agnew Says United States Prestige High

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says his 25-day trip to Asia convinced him U.S. prestige is high and "it is time for the American people to stop eating themselves up over the few malcontented words of dissidents who don't know what is going on in the world."

Speaking to 1,000 friends and political supporters from both parties at a testimonial dinner Friday night, the vice president said the trip reinforced his belief that "what we have in the United States is not a prime operating target for national masochism.

"The regard that the United States is held in the rest of the world," he added, "is something that every American should have a chance to see, and something that I would hope more American conveyors of information would see fit to portray."

Agnew took some swipes in his off the-cuff speech at some of those present, including Maryland's Democratic Gov. Marvin Mandel and some 100 antiwar protesters who marched around in 32-degree temperature outside the hall before the dinner.

Auto Is Found Abandoned Here

Highway Patrolmen, Sheriff's Authorities and City Police were looking for a car thief suspect in the Snyder area Saturday morning after a 1965 Model Pontiac — apparently stolen in Tahoka — was discovered abandoned on U. S. 82 east of town here about 10:30 a.m.

The vehicle was spotted by Highway Patrolmen stationed here, and they said the motor was still hot. Officers said someone told them a man wearing a yellow coat had been spotted walking near the place where the vehicle was abandoned.

Commerce, said that "many wonderful things have happened to Snyder in the past year," and he attributed this to cooperation of citizens of the community and to hard work on the part of his associates in official positions in the Chamber of Commerce. He predicted continued development and expansion of the community.

Max von Roeder, the 1970 Chamber President, echoed Coker's prediction for future development and called for continued cooperation in work toward community progress.

Bill J. Hood, Superintendent of Snyder Public Schools, was master of ceremonies for the banquet. Mrs. Wendell Rehm presented dinner music at the organ, and Pat Abbananto, minister of the Thirty-seventh Street Church of Christ, led the invocation and the benediction.

A number of out-of-town guests, including several from out of state, were on hand for the banquet. Many of them were afforded an opportunity to view the art exhibit at the Diamond M Museum Friday afternoon. Works of Melvin C. Warren were on exhibit at the museum and the showing was open to the general public Saturday afternoon.

Car Collides With Utility Pole Here

Considerable damage resulted from a car-utility pole collision in the 2500 block of Twenty-fifth Street at 11:15 p.m. Friday.

City Police said Dennis Kay Carlton, 315 Thirty-sixth Street, was traveling east on Twenty-fifth in his 1968 Model Chevrolet when he apparently lost control of the vehicle. It crashed into a light pole on the north side of the street, they said. Damage to the car was estimated at $800, and damage to the pole was placed at $256.

PLANS SPRING WEDDING — Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Stoltz of Perryton, formerly of Snyder, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda Lorene, to Sgt. Ronnie Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon L. Young of Snyder. Miss Stoltz is employed by the Texas Highway Dept. at Abilene, and Sgt. Young is serving with the 42nd Artillery of the United States Army in Vietnam. An early spring wedding is planned at the First Baptist Church in Snyder, upon Sgt. Young's return. (Photo by Raun)

June Lockhart, costar of television's "Petticoat Junction" series, says she learned much of her acting craft from her father, the late actor Gene Lockhart. "He'd take me to movies and write out for me a thorough analysis of what we had seen and how it was done," she recalls.

Midcalf Vs. Miniskirt Hangover

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — The Paris openings of spring and summer fashion collections end today with Yves Saint Laurent's presentation and one thing is clear: midcalf is most popular for the hemlines although there is a strong miniskirt hangover.

Some designers do not hesitate to drop hemlines to around the ankles. In dressier dinner numbers they look elegant. The young dresses that hit midcalf take on a demure look instead of the aggressive mood of past seasons. They gain in charm and the mood is soft and often tender.

Borders in general are in for attention. On tunics Cardin has a wide white edge, Patou edges his funnel-flared dresses in navy in black or white at the neckline and hemline. Chanel borders her suits and coats at the collarless neckline and wrists in a dark braid. This does not eliminate the many crisp white touches collars and deef cuffs everywhere.

There are innovations n coats at many houses. The ftted redingote at Dior's with its unpressed back peat shares honors with Cardin's straight slender back-slashed topcoats. Many coats are sleeveless and show the dress print. Ungaro does them in every length.

MRS. DAVID FINIS BUGG

Drew-Bugg Vows Read At Odessa

Diana Marie Drew of Brownwood, daughter of Pauline Drew of Snyder, became the bride of the Rev. David Finis Bugg in doublering rites Jan. 11 at the West Park Baptist Church in Odessa.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Finis Bugg of Odessa. Dr. A. B. Lightfoot, former pastor of First Baptist Church in Snyder officiated.

Paul Duane Drew, brother of the bride, escorted his sister. She wore a traditional gown of silk peau and hand-run re-embroidered alencon lace. Lace overlaid the fitted bodice styled with scalloped shallow neckline and seed pearls, and long sleeves that tapered over the hands.

Inverted pleats fell from the natural waistline and lace inserts to the hemline of the voluminous skirt that had a full chapel train. Tiers of net lined the silk illusion separate face veil which was secured to a head piece of lace flowers with pearls. The crown was of pearl stones nestled in clusters of lace.

The bride carried white sweetheart roses with stephanotis entwined with greenery.

Trudy Kay McCollum of San Angelo, the maid of honor, wore a light pink formal empire dress with pink headdress. Her nosegay was of pink gladioli.

Ronnie Lilly of Odessa was best man, and ushers were Stacy Allen, of Dallas, uncle of the bride, and Jerry Marshall of Odessa.

Vows were repeated before an archway with a spray of pink gladioli and white carnations with natural greenery. The prayer bench was decorated with pink carnations and greenery.

Gloria Bugg, sister of the bridegroom, was soloist.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The table was laid with a white satin cloth with pink ribbon bows. Mrs. Weldon Allen served the three-tiered cake, and Mrs. Paul Duane Drew, sister-in-law of the bride, registered guests.

For the wedding trip the bride selected a light wool, burnt orange costume. The couple lives in Brownwood, where both are students at Howard Payne College. Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from San Angelo, Dallas, Brownwood and New Mexico.

Commission On Women Challenged

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Preston Smith's Advisory Commission on the Status of Women has been urged to fight German measles and investigate the job potentials of women on welfare.

The commission organized Friday evening and planned to hold its first business meeting today.

"I suggest that you investigate the job talent hidden on the welfare rolls," Smith said in an address to the commission Friday.

The head of the typical welfare family is a woman under 40 years of age, with at least one dependent child. She has an eighth grade education or better. She gets less—and in many cases that means considerably less than $200 a month in assistance. And there is ample evidence that she would take a job paying more than that if an employer would take the time and trouble to train her.

"I challenge you to find new ways of recruiting and training these women for self-supporting jobs."

Smith also said the commission might be of help in gaining public support for vocational-technical education programs, air and water pollution control and traffic safety.

He especially called on the women to campaign for widespread vaccination of children against German measles, a major cause of birth defects.

In 1964, he said, a German measles epidemic caused 30,000 miscarried or stillborn babies and 20,000 cases of birth defects.

"Health officials tell me that in 1970 we enter a three-year danger period during which we could experience another nationwide epidemic—a repetition of this national tragedy Smith said.

'Medical science has developed a vaccine, however, and this year you, as mothers and community leaders, can help avoid another tragedy.

"Health officials say that we must attack the disease by vaccinating children between the ages of one and ten. Mothers whose children fall into that age group are most in danger."

APRIL WEDDING — Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ellington, 2217 Fortieth Street, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jennifer, to David Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy F. Fisher, 2900 Thirty-third Street. The bride-elect is a 1969 graduate of Snyder High School and is attending Commercial College of Abilene. Mr. Fisher, a 1967 graduate of Snyder High School, is employed by Furr's. Thee couple will exchange wedding vows at 8 p.m. April 25 at the Bell-Seale Chapel. (Photo by Raun).

Sheila MacRae, who plays Alice Kramden in "The Honeymooners" episodes of the Jackie Gleason television show, says her late father was an automobile designer and inventor in her native England. One of his favorite innovations she recalls, was placing a car's accelerator on the side of the door "so the driver could operate it with his elbow instead of his foot."

Devastating Miniskirts

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Lay preacher Gert Yssel, chairman of South Africa's anti-mini league, has prophesied doom and divine wrath ever since local girls hoisted their hemlines. The drought he predicted failed to materialize. Instead, months later, western Cape Province was rocked by an earthquake which killed nine people and caused millions of dollars damage. Yssel immediately issued a statement blaming miniskirts for the disaster and called for a countrywide day of atonement for "all the sins of the nation."

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Cadette Troop 266 (Mrs. Franklin Pruitt and Mrs. Wesley Graves). The Pathfinders Patrol gave a salad supper for their parents on Monday night, Jan. 19th. Each girl prepared two salads. The menu also included a pickle tray, crackers, and cake. The girls provided decorations and entertainment.

The Sundowners Patrol received its Challange on Saturday, Jan. 17. At 8 a.m., the patrol leader, Annette Young, was notified by the troop leaders to call members of her patrol. They entertained all 6th grade Girl Scouts in Snyder at the Scout Hut at 10 with a brunch. All girls in this patrol will receive Challange pins at a later date. Congratulations, girls!

Friday, Jan. 23, the Cadette Troop in Colorado City invited Troop 266 to a spaghetti supper in C-City. Decorations were very mod! The girls played games and sang. The following girls from Snyder attended the supper: JoAnn Hudson, Deborah Pruitt, Lynn Leavell, Suzanne Peek, Michele Graves, Roxanna Ainsworth, Annette Young, Karen Stewart, Cecile Pruitt, Diana Campbell, and Tyra Elkins.

Gayle Beckham, a former Snyder Scout who is now a student at West Texas State U., gave a Kid-nap Party for members of Troop 266 last Monday night. Gayle and Mrs. Pruitt called for each girl at her home. Then each girl was blindfolded and taken to Gayle's home. The girls played games and had refreshments. Jennifer Brown assisted Gayle and it was a fun night for the girls. thanks, Gayle.

Troop 266 has begun work on My Country badge and My Government badge. Upon completion of these badges the girls will begin work on the Challange of Active Citizenship.

Diane Chastain was appointed troop reporter for the rest of the year. She will write the troop's news for this column. Diane is in the 8th grade at Travis Junior High. She has been a Girl Scout since second grade, has been active in Day Camp, and has attended Camp Boothe Oaks in Sweetwater.

Evening Refresher

Something good to nibble!
Sardine Pate Party Rye Bread
Cheese and Crackers Olives
Cookies Candied Orange Peel

CANDIED ORANGE PEEL
6 large thick-skinned oranges
3 quarts cold water
1½ cups sugar
½ cup honey
1¾ cups boiling water.
Extra sugar, about ½ cup

Wash and dry oranges; cut off a thin slice from the ends of each. Make four equidistant lengthwise cuts through entire peel. With a butter knife, gently loosen peel at ends, then pull off with fingers.

Into a four or five-quarter saucepot turn the orange peel and cold water; boil uncovered until tender—20 minutes, drain. With a tablespoon scrape off white membrane. With kitchen scissors cut into ¼-inch wide lengthwise strips.

Into the clean saucepot turn the 1½ cups sugar, honey and boiling water; boil one minute. Add peel and let bubble gently until almost all syrup is absorbed—30 to 40 minutes; stir often to avoid sticking. Turn into a colander to drain—about 10 minutes.

Spread wax paper with the extra sugar; roll peel in it; let dry—at least one hour. Store in tightly covered container. Makes about five cups—½ to ¾ pound.

Fair Weather Aiding Texas Farmers With Outdoor Work

COLLEGE STATION Tex. (AP) — Better weather over much of the state increased outdoor work by Texas farmers.

Prolonged open and warmer weather would permit land preparation, fertilizer distribution and help the growth of grains and other plants, said Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

He noted that a shortage of moisture for wheat still exists over the Panhandle and in a few other counties in the west and northwest. Moisture is generally abundant in most other areas, he said.

Recent cold caused some damage to oats from Central Texas eastward and kept grain growth near a standstill. Range plants made little progress due to the cold, he said. Livestock feeding was increased in all sections to offset the lack of grazing.

Wheat began to respond to warmer weather in the Panhandle but needed rain. Livestock generally were in good shape and being fed.

Sunny weather on the South Plains (Lubbock) increased field work such as stalk shredding and plowing. Warmer weather has started some regrowth in wheat. Ranges furnished some grazing but feeding was heavy in some areas. Livestock was in good condition and marketing normal.

Only two Rolling Plains (Vernon) counties need moisture. Some cotton is yet to be harvested. Grain has been slow and this has limited grazing. Improved weather have decreased livestock shrinkage but feeding is necessary.

Moisture in North Central Texas is adequate and warmth has been welcome. Grain grazing has been limited but growth will improve if present weather holds. Livestock are holding up well. The cold caused some lamb losses. Ranges were below average for Fannin, Kaufman and Rockwall counties.

Short feed supplies, especially hay, and the lack of grazing has caused some cattle losses in Northeast Texas, livestock are being culled. Moisture is adequate to surplus.

Far West Texas ranges are good and livestock are holding up well with feeding. Grains are providing some grazing and an excellent calf crops is on the ground.

West Central Texas has adequate to surplus moisture in all counties. Some freeze damage hit grains but rapid recovery was expected with warm temperatures. Grazing is adequate and livestock are in good condition. Feeding has been heavy in spots. Calving and lambing are on.

Central Texas weather improved noticeably. Grain growth has been near a standstill and some varieties of oats have been freeze damaged. The lack of grazing has caused considerable feeding. The demand for stocker cattle is strong.

Grains in East Texas made little growth due to cold, wet conditions but should rapidly improve if the warmth holds. Moisture is adequate. Some land is being prepared for tomatoes and watermelons. Pastures were very short; cattle are losing weight; and feeding is heavy. Calving was active.

Warmer weather should help Southeast Texas grain growth and fields are drying enough in some counties to permit grazing. Ranges are average to below and too much moisture has curtailed grazing from this source. Feeding has been heavy and livestock generally are in fair condition.

Grains and flax in South Central Texas need warm, open weather. Moisture was adequate to surplus and ranges were below to above average condition. Livestock are losing some weight and feeding is necessary.

Moisture in South Texas ranges from adequate to surplus and wet fields hamper harvesting of vegetables and citrus. Grain grazing was good but the recent freezes stopped growth of range plants. Feeding is necessary. Livestock were about normal.

Junior Editors Quiz on ALPHABET

QUESTION: How was our alphabet started?

ANSWER: Before writing with letters, people used pictures of things, or pictographs. But the Sumerians, an ancient people who were developing civilization by raising crops and trading, needed something better to record business transactions. They invented simple signs, some to stand for words and some for the syllables in their language. With only a few signs, they could convey many meanings. This system, beginning about 3100 B.C., was man's most important step toward writing. The symbols, made by tools with wedge-shaped points, could be pressed into damp clay for a permanent record. The Egyptians developed a similar system called hieroglyphic; carved in stone or written on reed paper. Other nations borrowed or improved on these systems. Gradually the picture element dropped out of the symbols and they came to stand, not for words or syllables, but for a group of letters called an alphabet. For example, the letter "q" originated from the Egyptian symbol for monkey, with his long tail. The Semitic word "qoph" meant monkey, so this gave the q sound to the monkey symbol. Other letters originated in similar ways, with the Romans giving the final form to the alphabet we use today.

US Flag To Be Part Of Uniform

BOSTON (AP) — Police Commissioner Edmund L. McNamara issued an order Thursday allowing Boston policemen to wear, on a voluntary basis, a small American flag pin as part of their uniform.

According to McNamara's order the flag pin cannot be larger than a square inch. It can be worn on the left lapel of the outer uniform or on the tab of the uniform shirt.

Texas Cities Show Gain In Business

AUSTIN (AP)—Sixteen of the 20 Texas cities used in judging Texas' economy showed increased business activity during the past year, the Texas Bureau of Business Research reported Saturday.

However, the University of Texas agency noted that some "crosscurrents and conflicting tendencies" reflected in the December reports are "characteristic of an economy that is stalling sluggishly instead of dixing into a recession."

Austin led the state in showing a 26 per cent increase in business activity for all of 1969 over 1968, but registered a 3 per cent decrease for December compared to November.

The only city with a decrease for 1969, Galveston, down 2 per cent, had a 9 per cent increase for the month of December.

Three other cities, Beaumont, Corsicana, and Wichita Falls showed no gain for the year but sizeable increases for December.

Dr. Francis B. May, professor of business statistics at the university, noted that statewide crude oil production, crude oil runs to stills, nonresidential urban building permits and average weekly earnings in manufacturing showed increases during December.

There was no change during the month for nonfarm employment, manufacturing employment and average weekly hours in manufacturing.

Down for December were total electric power use, industrial electric power use, residential building permits issued a total unemployment.

Business activity reported in 20 selected cities for the month of December and for all of 1969 included:

Abilene, up 8 per cent for December, up 5 per cent for all of 1969 over 1968; Amarillo up 18, up 3; Austin down 3, up 26; Beaumont up 15, no change; Corpus Christi up 11, up 3; Corsicana up 25, no change; Dallas up 18, up 27; El Paso up 20, up 11; Fort Worth up 8, up 6; Galveston up 9, down 2; Houston up 14, up 11; Laredo up 17, up 8; Lubbock up 5, up 10; Port Arthur up 12, up 6; San Angelo up 8, up 7; San Antonio up 6, up 5; Texarkana up 17, up one; Tyler up 15, up 12; Waco up 4, up 9; Wichita Falls up 7, no change.

Trainmen Ask Police Protection

NEW YORK (AP) — Long Island Rail Road trainmen have threatened not to work Monday, the first day of a 20-cent-a-ride fare increase, unless policemen ride the trains to restrain enraged commuters.

When 300 trainmen were asked Thursday at a meeting of the AFL-CIO Transportation Union if they had been assaulted by train riders, a third rose and some showed injuries.

General Chairman Harold Pryor sent a telegram to LIRR President Walter L. Schlager saying: "Unless we are afforded police protection and a management observer aboard every train Monday morning to protect members of my union from physical assault by commuters, we will not operate trains."

A spokesman for the railroad, whose 90,000 daily commuters make it the nation's busiest commuter line, said, "We don't have plans to put either on the trains. Our commuters are above the kind of action Mr. Pryor is talking about."

Nader Says Oil Properties Undervalued For Taxation

By RICHARD BEENE
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Ralph Nader, champion of consumer protection, charged Friday that oil properties are "grossly undervalued" for tax purposes.

Nader based his findings on an investigation in Texas' oil-rich Ector County but said the implications of his discovery are "great and national in scope."

Undervaluation of big business property and undertaxation of corporate industries is a "nationwide injustice that has deprived local communities and cities of desperately needed local revenues," Nader declared.

He announced that he will ask state Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, chairman of the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy, to investigate. Congressional hearings may be necessary, he said in a letter addressed to Atwell.

Nader charged that if all property in Ector County (Odessa), including oil properties, had been assessed "at fair market value" in 1969, county taxes for homeowners and small businessmen there would have dropped about 33 per cent.

He told scores of reporters at a news conference Friday that the revenue loss to the county government and school board is "even more striking."

If all property had been assessed at fair market value in 1969, he said, and tax ratios and "the county government of Ector County revenue could have increased approximately $1.5 million last year alone."

Nader continued: "Think what this could have meant over a period of just the last five years, for example, to a community which is now concerned with the financing of a $5.8 million hospital expansion.

"Think what it could have meant to a community whose goals in the past ten years have included developing its county airport, establishing a juvenile court, improved police protection. . ."

Nader, pressed by a newsman, admitted that he felt oil companies probably would raise their prices if forced to pay higher taxes, thus passing on the tax hike to the consumer.

"That, perhaps, tell us how thorough the reforms have to be," Nader said of the possible higher prices.

He said the "proper assessment" of an oil and gas property called the Headlee Devonian Unit in Ector County alone would have meant an additional $2 million for the county school board in just the past seven years.

"But the overall increase to the school board is staggering. If all the property had been assessed at the fair market value in 1969, and the tax ratios and rates had remained the same, the school board budget could have been increased by approximately $7 million," he said.

"Look at the goals this community could have met in the last 10 years with these additional funds: new science laboratories, more classrooms, basic adult education programs . . . and the recommended free hot lunch to every child who needs one, but cannot afford it," Nader asserted.

In a letter to the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy urging an investigation, Nader described Ector County as a "representative Texas County."

In the news conference, he said Ector County is in the heart of the Permian Basin— one of America's richest oil discoveries."

Ector County "ranked second in the state in the value of production in 1968, with a total oil and gas production valued at $214.1 million," Nader said.

The oil companies operating there, Nader said, "owe the people not only the wages they earn, but also their fair share of the property taxes."

Then he gave these and other details which he said two University of Texas law students assisted him in obtaining:

—Ector County taxing agencies, as in "most counties" in Texas, depend on a private evaluation firm to appraise taxable property. Pritchard and Abbott Valuation Engineers, a Fort Worth based organization and the largest such firm in Texas, not only appraise the property, "they compute the tax as well."

—"All the county tax assessor does is mail out the statements and collects the taxes."

—Texas "is one of the few states that does not even conduct a periodic ratio study," which generally involves "comparison, on a sampling bases, of the prices of sold properties with their assessed valuation."

— Nonproducing leases are carried on the tax rolls, "but only at a nominal value, varying from approximately 50 cents to $1 an acre."

—County Tax Assessor Curtis Wynn, Nader said, explained that the reason for this "nominal assessment" is "that the property is just 'not worth taxing.'"

—Earle Bruce, Odessa district manager of Pritchard and Abbott, was quoted as saying that "until a nonproducing property is developed, it could be worthless."

—"Production should not be a prerequisite for an appraisal at fair market value. Lack of production should not be an excuse for nominal valuation, or none at all," Nader charged.

The homeowner, Nader said, "does not stop paying taxes on his home just because it is not earning him any income."

The additional revenue from oil properties which Nader claims could be made available "does not depend upon raising the tax rates, or adding new taxes, or tacking another penny onto the overburdened sales tax."

Oil Well Completions Show Gain

AUSTIN (AP) — Oil completions in Texas are ahead of last year's pace, but gas well completions trail far behind last year, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The commission said 138 oil wells were completed in the state during the past week to raise the total for the year to 447, or 18 more than a year ago. But only 19 gas wells were completed for a yearly total of 100 fewer than last year.

The commission said six wildcat oil wells were drilled during the week, raising the total for the year to 27, or three less than last year. Three were in the Houston District, two were in the Corpus Christi District and one in the Midland District.

Nine wildcat gas wells were drilled—five in the Corpus Christi District, and one each in the Houston District, San Antonio Districts 1 and 2 and Kilgore district No. 6. That raised the yearly total to 44, or 26 fewer than a year ago.

The commission said 86 wells were plugged during the past week, including 36 dry holes.

Minters Strike

LONDON (AP) — The men who strike coins struck work Friday.

Nearly 1,000 walked out of the Royal Mint to protest government plans to switch the bulk of their operation to South Wales.

They want to stay on the site near the Tower of London where coins have been minted for nearly 1,000 years.

The government planned the move to Wales as part of its policy of shifting industry from the crowded capital to regions where jobs are less plentiful.

But the mint men say that all their work can be easily accommodated in London. They say that export orders are falling — Britain traditionally makes coins for many other countries — and that the extra work imposed by the forthcoming change to decimal currency has been completed.

Horace Clarke led the New York Yankees in stolen bases in 1969 with 33, the most by a Yankee since George Stirnweiss led the team with 33 in 1945.

Dick Jauron, a halfback from Swampscott, Mass., paced Yale's 1969 freshman football team in five offensive categories.

Headliners Have New President

AUSTIN (AP) — Dr. H. C. McCuistion, Austin physician, has been elected president of the Headliners Club, Richard F. Brown chairman of the board of trustees, announced Saturday.

McCuistion succeeds Ted W. staffer, as head of the club that has members throughout the state.

McCuistion will take active control of the club Feb. 7 following presentation of more than $5,000 in cash prizes to Texas' top news writers and photographers at the 16th annual Headliners Club's awards dinner.

Honored "Headliner of the Year" at the dinner will be Navy Capt. Alan L. Bean, a native of Fort Worth, who was one of the Apollo 12 moon explorers.

Other new headliners officers are: 1st vice president, Ernest Shromberger, Capitol correspondent for the Dallas Timers Herald; 2nd vice president, Ron Rogers, Austin broadcast executive; secretary, Richard Seaman, managing editor of the Austin American Statesman, and treasurer, Willard Houser, Austin bank executive.

Squirrel Population Decreasisg In Park

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The squirrel population of Capitol Park has dwindled to 36.

That is the finding of a seven-month state study ordered by the 1968 Legislature when it approved a resolution offered by Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, saying, "If these playful and charming creatures should become extinct from Capitol Park, the state would lose a unique resource."

The report delivered Thursday—complete with glossy photographs—said:

"The actual change in the Capitol Park squirrel population is difficult to determine due to a lack of population data or census counts for previous years.

"However, interviews with regular park visitors who are familia with the squiels tend to indicate that there has been a decrease in the population."

It recommended further study.

Belotti recommended trapping some country squirrels and moving them to the city park.

Rail Facilities To Be Upgraded

AUSTIN (AP) — Railroads will spend nearly half a billion dollars in Texas this year upgrading present and constructing new rail facilities, said William R. McDowell, Dallas, vice president of the Texas & Pacific Railway Co.

McDowell is the newly elected chairman of the executive committee of the Texas Railroad Association which represents 24 lines.

McDowell said that in addition to a minimum of $90 million spent in Texas on facilities and equipment, there will be purchases of about $100 million in diesel oil, ties, steel, building material, vehicles, tools and other supplies.

Sir Laurence Olivier will play Shylock next April in a National Theatre production of "The Merchant of Venice." It is the only major Shakespearean role the noted actor has not performed.

Good Pace Set In Construction

DALLAS (AP) — Texas construction is moving ahead at a good pace despite predictions of a mild recession, says this month's issue of Texas Contractor, a trade publication.

The year started out with a solid construction contract volume of $90,030,860.

The contractor says project awards were strong and varied, indicating that the tight money market and high interest still haven't cut back Texas construction seriously. The contractor does not compile residential building figures.

The bulk of the January total came in several big projects.

Some of the big contracts were $14.2 million to the H. B. Zachry Co. of San Antonio for the Calavaras Plant Unit No. 1 in San Antonio, $12.5 million to W. R. G. Co., Tulsa, Okla., for an Amarillo office building, $11 million to Warrior Contractors, Houston, for an expansion of the Tyler General Electic plant, and $8.5 million to H. B. Zachry for the San Jacinto Dam and Reservoir project near Conroe.

Tornadoes Strike Snyder 75-42, But Kittens Escape

LAMESA — Lamesa — the burying ground of many title hopes for visiting teams — proved again to be an inhospitable place for Snyder's Tigers as they dropped a 73-42 decision to the host Tornadoes as second round action in the District 3-AAA South Zone basketball race got underway here Friday night.

Snyder salvaged some pride from the visit as the junior varsity Kittens took a 55-42 triumph over Lamesa's "B" team.

The varsity contest started out close like the previous meeting between these two talented teams. The score was knotted 12-12 midway in the first period, then the Bengals experienced a cold spell as Lamesa scored 13 points straight before the Tigers tallied again.

The cold spell added up to a 23-12 first period advantage for Lamesa and a 41-20 lead at halftime. Snyder fell further behind in the second half as the hosts posted 13-11 and 17-11 margins in each of the last two periods respectively.

To give credit where credit is due, it was the tenacious defense of the Tornadoes that accounted as much as the poor Tiger shooting for the discrepancy in score. In fact, the smothering defensive effort by the Tornadoes prevented the Bengals from getting off very many good shots. In the end, they had to put the ball up or not shoot at all.

Snyder hit only 28 per cent of its field shots in the first half and 31 per cent of them in the second half while Lamesa posted 34 and 49 per cent shooting accuracy averages from the field in each half respectively.

The other big advantage for the hosts was under the boards where they held a fantastic 53-18 edge in rebounds. Snyder made fewer turnovers, losing the ball only 12 times to mistakes whereas the Tornadoes lost it 16 times on bad passes and violations.

Four Tornadoes hit in double figures, led by Cecil Davis and Floyd Jenkins, who shared scoring honors with 18 points each. Brent Minnix pumped in 16 points, and Loyd Jenkins added 10.

Jim Patrick was the only Bengal in double figures. He netted 13 points total, but he didn't score any the last quarter. The Tornado defenders stuck to Wesley Bishop like glue; consequently, he could sink only two baskets throughout the contest and finished with only seven points total.

Snyder was colder than a bikini-clad Hottentot in Anchorage.

The Kittens fared much better, outscoring the Lamesa JV in every period by slight margins. Dubby Preston paced the Kitten attack with 21 points. David Thompson and Kent Horsley also hit in double figures, notching 12 and 11 points respectively. Vaughn and Jackson paced the Lamesa JV with 13 and 11 points. It was the Kittens' 17th triumph in 20 games.

Next Tuesday, the Tigers go to Sweetwater.

Texans, Travis Vie In 2nd Round

COLORADO CITY — Both Snyder 9th grade basketball teams had a happy time here in the first round of the Colorado City tournament Saturday with Travis thumping Sweetwater 67-36 and Lamar besting Coahoma 48-36.

The 9th grade Blue Devils took a 21-5 lead in the first period and boosted it to 44-19 at halftime. Reserves handled just about all of the action for Travis in the last half. Four Blue Devils hit in double figures, led by Jerry Brooks with 15 points. Gary Brooks pitched in 12 points while Tommy Washington and Kevin Jones each posted 11. For Sweetwater, Shiffiett was high scorer with 12 points.

The victories by the Snyder teams set the stage for a showdown in the second round. Travis was to meet Lamar at 12 p.m. with the winner qualifying for the finals.

Lamar steadily pulled away from Coahoma with 14-10, 13-10, and 11-3 advantages in each of the first three frames respectively, then turned the action over to the reserves and coasted to victory.

Fred Liner pitched in 13 points to win scoring honors while his Texan teammate, Jimmy Don Dyess, meshed 11 points. Kerby and Elmore connected for eight each for Coahoma.

Ira Whips Hobbs 59-51

IRA — The host Bulldogs had to apply the pressure in the second half to put down a stubborn Hobbs Panther team 59-51 here Friday night after the Ira girls breezed to a 55-18 decision.

It started out like the Bulldogs were going to have an easy time of it as they built a 22-9 lead in the first quarter with Rickey Cox and Joe Williams scoring almost at will. However, Hobbs toughened up in the second period and pulled within three points at halftime, trailing only 29-26. Ira held 15-12 and 15-13 margins in the last half to keep command.

Cox and Williams paced the Ira attack with 21 and 15 points respectively. Williams and Pearce netted 19 and 16 points respectively for Hobbs.

Jan Kruse sparked the Ira girls with 17 points.

HOBBS (51) — Williams 7-6-19; Hale 4-0-8; Pearce 7-2-16; Hull 2-1-5; Gordon 1-1-3; totals 21-9-51.

IRA (59) — Williams 6-3-15; Payne 3-1-7; Hester 3-2-8; Cox 9-3-21; Crawford 2-2-6; Sellars 0-2-2; totals 23-13-59.

Berry May Join Hogs

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Raymond Berry receiver coach of the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, said Friday night he is seriously considering an offer from Arkansas head coach Frank Broyles.

"I'm definitely considering going to Arkansas," Berry told The Associated Press. "You might say I'm at the crossroads right now."

Berry said "I've talked to Coach Broyles about being a receiver coach for him but I've come to no decision."

Berry an all-pro receiver at Baltimore has coached Dallas receivers for two years.

The Paris, Tex. native played collegiate football at Southern Methodist University.

Lovell To Talk

HOUSTON (AP) — A physical fitness clinic which opens today at Rice University is expected to draw 1,000 delegates from a five state area, including astronaut James Lovell.

Lovell, a consultant to the President for physical fitness and sports, will be the featured speaker at the public session tonight.

The two-day session is being sponsored by the President's council on Physical Fitness in Sports.

Powerhouses Prevailed

DALLAS Tex. (AP) — Texas and Arkansas rank No. 2 and No. 3, respectively as the winningest football schools in the 1960s.

According to information released by the Southwest Conference publicity office, only Alabama had a greater winning percentage than did the Longhorns and Razorbacks in the '60s.

Alabama had a 90-16-4 record for a percentage of .836. Texas was 86-19-3 for an .810 mark and Arkansas was 82-24-1 for .771. Alabama had a bowl record of 5-4-1, Texas 6-5-1, and Arkansas 2-5-0.

Texas coach Darrell Royal, who coached every Texas game in the '60s, enjoyed a number of distinctions. He won more bowl games than any other coach. Royal was runnerup to Alabama's Paul Bryant in winning percentage in the decade just completed.

In career percentages, Royal is fourth with 125-41-4 for a .747 while Broyles is ninth with 100-36-2 for .732. Bob Devaney of Nebraska is the most successful with a record of 103-28-5 for a .776 mark.

Defensive Backs Are Top Scholars

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The 1969 Southwest Conference All-Academic team is headed by two All-SWC defensive backs Dave Elmendorf of Texas A&M University and Terry Stewart of the University of Arkansas.

The two full offensive and defensive squads, plus eight honorable mention players, represent every school in the conference.

Elmendorf, the Aggie football and baseball standout, holds a near perfect 3.9 grade point average out of a possible 4.0. Stewart maintained a 3.52 average in chemical engineering while playing a leading role in Arkansas' outstanding season that was capped by an appearance in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day. Stewart also won the NCAA District 6 (Southwestern U.S.) scholar-athlete scholarship for post-graduate study.

Arkansas and A&M also had the greatest representation on the 22-man first team with four each. TCU, Baylor and SMU placed three each, Texas and Rice two each and Texas Tech one.

Others who were consensus all-conference as well as all-academic are Bill Burnett, Arkansas' record-setting touchdown producer and the Southwest Conference's leading rusher in 1969; TCU guard James Ray, who maintained a 3.2 average in math; and A&M linebacker Buster Adami, who holds a 3.2 political science average and won the 1969 Kern Tipps Award, given for scholarship, athletics and citizenship.

Other players who averaged 3.5 or better (the equivalent of an "A" average) were Rice quarterback Sthale Vincent, 3.5 in commerce; and A&M tackle Randy Maddox, 3.5 in economics.

Sophomore quarterbacks also proved as adept in the classroom as on the field. In addition to Vincent, his teammate Phillip Wood was honorable mention and TCU's Steve Judy made the first offensive team with a 3.07 average in business.

Texas' national championship Longhorns contributed two players to the defensive unit—architectural engineering major Bill Zapalac, an outstanding defensive end who maintained a 3.3 average, and linebacker Scott Henderson, 3.2 in government.

Business proved the most popular field among the scholar-athletes with eight of the first teamers in that field. There are three math majors, three in the sciences and engineering, and one each in economics, pre-med, physical education, liberal arts, government, anthropology and political science. And one, Dicky Grigg, is a two-way performer off the field, majoring in both math and physics.

1969 SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE ALL-ACADEMIC TEAM

OFFENSE

Guards—James Ray, TCU, 3.2 in math; John Klein, Baylor, 3.01 in business management.

Center—Stan Phelps, SMU, 3.1 in chemistry.

Backs—Sthale Vincent, Rice, 3.5 in commerce; Steve Judy, TCU, 3.07 in business; Bill Burnett, Arkansas, 3.31 in physical education; Randy Cooper, Baylor, 3.34 in linguistics.

DEFENSE

Ends—Bill Zapalac, Texas, 3.3 in architectural engineering; Jim Johnson, SMU, 3.1 in marketing.

Tackles—Dicky Grigg, Texas Tech, 3.01 in math and physics; Steve Bradshaw, Rice, 3.25 in math.

Guards—Rufus Cormier, SMU, 3.1 in anthropology.

Linebackers—Buster Adami, Texas A&M, 3.1 in political science; Scott Henderson, Texas, 3.2 in government; Steve Luttenhagen, Texas A&M, 3.1 in finance.

Backs—Dave Elmendorf, Texas A&M, 3.9 in chemical engineering; Terry Stewart, Arkansas, 3.52 in chemical engineering; Dennis Berner, Arkansas, 3.45 in pre-med.

Honorable Mention—Ted Fay, TCU; Larry Tunnell, SMU; Pat Walker, TCU; Terry Don Phillips, Arkansas; Terry Brackeford, TCU; Ricky Lester, SMU; Wayne Martin, TCU; Phillip Wood, Rice.

Bruins Beat Cal With Fast Break

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

For a few fleeting minutes it seemed the Golden Bears of California were on the verge of the college basketball upset of the season.

They led the unbeaten UCLA Bruins, the country's top-ranked team, by five points midway of the second half and with their home court advantage at Berkeley appeared to have the situation in hand Friday night.

There was an abrupt about-face as the Bruins went into a fast break and scored an 87-72 victory, their 15th of the season and 19th straight since losing to Southern California a year ago.

John Vallely tied the score at 55-55 on a three-point play, then followed with four straight jump shots and three free throws as the Bruins went on a 26-7 burst that broke the game open.

Vallely scored 23 of the 47 points UCLA tallied in the second half. He finished with a total of 28. Ainsley Truitt, whose shooting gave the Bears their lead, tossed in 27 points.

Southern California, No. 15 in The Associated Press poll, also won on the road. The Trojans shaded Stanford 71-68.

The Jacksonville Dolphins, sixth in the AP poll, rebounded from their defeat at the hands of Florida State earlier in the week. Playing at home they whipped St. Peter's of New Jersey 124-101.

Artis Gilmore, Jacksonville's 7-foot-2 star, scored 46 points, grabbed 30 rebounds and blocked seven shots. Rex Morgan added 24 for the Dolphins. Ted Schfester and Gene Rinaldi paced the Peacocks with 27 each.

In other home court victories Yale beat Harvard 86-75, Brown toppled Dartmouth 74-66, Long Beach State whacked San Jose State 94-75, Oregon State humbled Hawaii 76-56 and American U. downed Catholic U. 77-65.

Jim Morgan, with 23 points, paced Yale over Harvard. Arnie Berman, with 28, led Brown over Dartmouth.

The Penn at Columbia game, originally scheduled for Friday, was switched to Monday night.

Travis 8th Wins 1st Round 67-19

COLORADO CITY — Travis Junior High's 8th grade basketball team smashed Ballinger 67-19 in the first round of the tournament here Friday afternoon in perhaps its strongest showing of the campaign.

The Blue Devils from Snyder led 12-5 after one period and 21-14 at halftime. But they really came alive in the second half, outscoring Ballinger 22-1 and 24-1 in the last two frames respectively. A tenacious defense really decided the issue in favor of Travis.

All of the Travis lads got in the game and all but one of them scored. Three boys hit in double figures. Robert Braziel netted 12 points. Gilbert Ramirez scored 11, and Widgeon Emerson posted 10. For Ballinger, nobody scored more than five points.

The 8th grade team from Lamar Junior High drew a first round bye and was to tangle with Sweetwater at 12 p.m. Saturday in the second round. Travis was to meet Stamford at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the second round.

TRAVIS 8TH (67) — Emerson 3-4-10; Gonzales 2-0-4; Braziel 5-2-12; Ramirez 3-5-11; Moser 3-0-6; Robinson 2-1-5; Welsh 1-0-2; Archie 0-1-1; Watts 1-4-6; Price 3-2-8; Smith 1-0-2; Diaz 0-0-0; totals 24-19-67.

BALLINGER (19) — Arott 0-1-1; Johnson 1-3-5; Lewis 2-0-4; Henry 0-2-2; Watkins 2-0-4; Williams 1-0-2; totals 6-7-19.

Diamond Stars Shine

HOUSTON (AP)—Baseball figures collected a heap of awards Friday night as the local chapter of the Baseball Writers Association held its annual dinner.

The setting was appropriate, in the new Astroworld Hotel grand ballroom, hard by the Astrodome where the National League Astros play their home games.

Picking up awards were players like Harmon Killebrew, Steve Carlton and Johnny Bench.

Carlton received the Dickie Kerr award as pitcher of the year for his work with the St. Louis Cardinals. Bench, Cincinnati Reds catcher, got the Eddie Dyer award for competitiveness and sportsmanship.

Home run slugger Killebrew, first baseman for the Minnesota Twins, was honored as player of the year.

Detroit Snaps Long Losing Streak At Baltimore 129-117

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Streaks are made to be broken and a couple of long ones were shattered in the National Basketball Association Friday night.

First, Detroit ended a 15-game losing streak against Baltimore which dated back to the 1967-68 season by whalling the Bullets convincingly, 129-117.

Then John Havlicek ended a personal ironman string of 352 games played when acute gastritis kept him out of Boston's 108-103 victory over Cincinnati.

In other NBA games Friday, New York topped Philadelphia 104-100, Milwaukee whipped Chicago 121-105, Los Angeles trimmed Atlanta 102-87, San Francisco downed Phoenix 125-118 and San Diego edged Seattle 119-117 in overtime.

In the American Basketball Association, New York ripped Denver 115-98, Carolina defeated Pittsburgh 117-98 and Dallas topped Los Angeles 127-121.

Dave Bing threw in 28 points and Jimmy Walker added 25, carrying the Pistons past Baltimore.

The victory snapped a Pistons' losing streak against Baltimore which started with the final four games of 1967-68 season. Baltimore won all seven games between the two teams last year and the first four meetings this season.

Jo Jo White, Havlicek's replacement with the Celtics, scored 22 points, sparking Boston to a big third period lead.

Then Emmette Bryant staved off a late Cincinnati comeback with a couple of key field goals that sealed the Celtics' victory.

The Knicks also built a big lead and then had to hold off a Philadelphia rally to score their sixth straight victory. Dick Barnett's 26 points led the balanced New York attack. Archie Clark topped the 76ers with 22.

Milwaukee, six games back of New York, kept pace with the Knicks by rapping Chicago. Lew Alcindor poured in 27 points, blocked seven shots and made nine steals for the Bucks, bottling up the middle against the Bulls.

Keith Erickson's 23 points led Los Angeles past Atlanta. The Lakers, down by one point at halftime, outscored the Hawks 33-6 in the third period to take control of the game. The victory moved LA within one-half game of first-place Atlanta in the Western Division.

The Warriors won their first game under new coach Al Attles, whipping Phoenix. Clyde Lee led the way with 28 points. Lee and Jeff Mullins put the game away after Phoenix reduced a 17-point third quarter deficit to five points.

John Block poured in 10 of San Diego's 11 overtime points as the Rockets shaded Seattle ragged, scoring 49 points for Elvin Hayes ran the Sonics San Diego but it was Block's overtime shooting that proved the difference.

Houston Golfers Best

HOUSTON (AP) — The University of Houston swept to the team title and Corker DeLoach of UH won the individual honors Friday in the 5th annual Associa Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Houston took the team title with a 1,781, followed by Texas at 1,803 and Texas Tech at 1,894.

De Loach shot a 73-71-71—215 for the 54-hole tournament, to give him a one stroke lead over the first day's leader Dean Overturf of Texas. Overturf and Tom Jenkins, a Rice golfer, both shot a 216, tying them for second place.

Other individual scores included John Mahaffey, Houston, 217; Tom Kite, Texas, 219; Bruce Ashworth and John Grass, Houston, 224; George Machock and George Tucker, Texas, 225; John Mills, Houston, and Steve Holmsley, Texas, 226; Joe Stenick, Houston, 227; Joe Aderson, Texas, 228; Brad Wilemon, Tech and William Cromwell, Texas, 229, and John Whittaker, Tech, 230.

McGrady Beats Record Holders

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Marty Liquori, never a loser in New York, won as expected. So did John Carlos, who had never won here. But the big surprise was Martin McGrady.

Most of the track world knows of Liquori and Carlos, both Olympians, but the unheralded McGrady virtually ran away with the Mel Sheppard 600-yard race at the 63rd annual Wanamaker Millrose Games Friday night at Madison Square Garden, beating three other world record holders and winning the meet's top performer award.

While Liquori, the 20-year-old Villanova ace, regarded as the United States' top miler, defended his Wanamaker mile title before 17,079 fans in 4 minutes, 2.6 seconds for his sixth straight victory here, Carlos made it five in a row this season, taking the 60-yard dash in 6.1 seconds. McGrady came from behind to upset Olympic champion Lee Evans.

In one of three meet marks that toppled, another was tied. McGrady streaked to a 1:10 flat clocking, snapping his own Millrose record by one-tenth of a second. McGrady of Sports International, and the world record holder at this distance, trailed in last place, 10 yards back with 100 yards to go before spurting past Evans of San Jose State to win by nearly five yards.

Behind Evans, the 400-meter Olympic and record holder, came Villanova's Larry James, the 500-yard record holder and Curtis Mills of Texas A&M, the 440-yard outdoor record maker.

Other meet standards which fell were the 880-yard run, broken by Australia's Olympic champion Ralph Doubell, who ran 1:49.2 and the 1,000-yard mark, which fell to Tom Von Ruden of the Pacific Coast Club. Von Ruden, clocked in 2:07.1 also snapped the American record of 2:07.9 held by Ernie Cunliffe in 1961.

Mills In Big Race

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—World champion quartermiler Curtis Mills of Texas A&M University will be on hand for the 38th annual Border Olympics Track and Field invitational meet March 6-7.

Texas A&M, Texas, Texas Tech, Houston and Lamar Tech are confirmed entries.

Meet director Luis (Doc) Novoa has sent out invitations to college division teams Stephen F. Austin, Dallas Baptist, Hardin-Simmons, Howard Payne, McMurry, Sam Houston, St. Edwards, Pan American, Southwest Texas, Sul Ross, Texas A&I, Texas Southern, Trinity, Wayland Baptist, Angelo State and Mexico Poly.

Junior college teams on the invitation list include Blinn, Cisco, Henderson, Howard County, Lee of Baytown, Lubbock Christian, Navarro, Odessa, Ranger, San Antonio, San Jacinto of Pasadena, Schriener, South Plains of Levelland, Victoria, Temple, Tyler and Wharton County.

BUFF BOYS, CARDINAL GIRLS ARE VICTORIOUS

HERMLEIGH — The Fluvanna Buffaloes socked Hermleigh's Cardinals 96-70 here Friday night after the visiting Buffalo gals dropped a 53-41 decision to Hermleigh's girls.

Both games were interesting if one-sided. Alex Ynguanzo with 36 points and Joe Turner with 27, paced the Buff boys attack while Ward canned 16 to lead Hermleigh.

Fluvanna held only a 45-39 lead at halftime, but a 22-15 edge in the third period and a closing 29-16 margin turned the tilt into a rout.

Sharon Pieper was outstanding for the Redbird girls, netting 31 points. June Stansell posted 24 for Fluvanna.

FLUVANNA (96) — Ynguanzo 16-4-36; Turner 13-1-27; Patterson 8-1-17; Gill 5-0-10; J. Bilano 1-1-3; Landrum 1-0-2; Jr. Bilano 0-1-1; totals 44-8-96.

HERMLEIGH (70) — Ward 7-2-16; Rutherford 7-1-15; Roemisch 6-2-14; Hess 3-6-12; Peterson 4-1-9; Vineyard 2-0-4; totals 29-12-70.

ABOUT THIS QUESTION:
"Most everyone has auto liability insurance, but think of the equal risk of injuring someone in sports, on trips, or of visitors being injured around the home or on the premises. Even if it doesn't result in a $100,000 liability award, it's nice to have personal liability insurance to pay the medical costs of injuries to others. Does the Deffebach Agency have liability policies for individuals, homeowners or landlords?"

Trudeau Losing Some Of Magic

By MAX HARRELSON
Associated Press Writer

OTTAWA (AP) — There are increasing signs that Canada's prime minister, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, is losing some of his magic after 18 months in office.

His critics have become progressively larger in numbers and less restrained. Ottawa observers who have followed his day-to-day activities feel that despite his majority in Parliament he hasn't made a very spectacular record of achievement.

Critics argue that virtually no concrete action has been taken to carry out his 1968 campaign promises for a "Just Society." There has been a sparsity of legislation on such problems as housing, poverty and urban transportation.

The 50-year-old bachelor prime minister apparently has lost the support of some of the youth who did much to spark national enthusiasm during the campaigns that won him the liberal party leadership and later the election. In economic matters, he has turned out to be much more conservative than they had expected.

Many older people are annoyed by his frequent vacations, and by some of the unorthodox people he sees, such as John Lennon.

One letter writer told a Toronto newspaper:

"I have had it up to here with pictures of our charismatic prime minister, on vacation, it seems every two weeks, smiling affably and beningnly in his impeccable ski suit at some invariably exclusive and expensive spa; somersaulting into a warm pool at some invariably exclusive resort, or dancing with some invariably rich chick after dining on squab, or phesant under glass, with rare wine or champagne."

Another described him as "the most reactionary statesman of the Western world, a spoiled, little rich kid, afraid of national growth and modern economics."

He was criticized widely for the use of a government plane to fly to a party meeting and to the Caribbean for a skin-diving vacation. He also was attacked as heartless and inhumane for declaring that he would not halt anti-inflation measures even if it meant increased unemployment.

His relations with the news media have been poor since he took office. Dalton Camp, a prominent Conservative, said in a newspaper column that Vice-President Spiro Agnew "has much in common with our prime minister." He noted that Trudeau had threatened to shut down the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. if it failed to express objective views.

Opposition leaders in Parliament say one reason for slow progress on legislation is what they call Trudeau's tendency to seek confrontations rather than cooperation with the opposition.

"Mr. Trudeau simply does not understand the House," said Gerald W. Baldwin, leader of the Conservative party in Parliament.

The Montreal Gazette says Trudeau's record is one of es."

"In Canadian politics," the Gazette said, "Mr. Trudeau's chief achievement has been the reassertion of federal power. Such a change was necessary after the long ebb."

Trudeau supporters blame a legislative lag on the fact that up to now he has devoted much of his time to trying to streamline parliamentary procedures and reviewing almost every phase of policy.

"He spent his early days in office reorganizing the Cabinet and the prime minister's office," the Toromto Globe and Mail said. "Since then he has hardly ever been without a task force—or several of them—whose job is to examine existing systems and to recommend improved structures."

Rockets Misfire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Denver Rockets misfired one short of a tie for the American Basketball Association record for consecutive victories.

Denver, bidding to tie the mark of 16 straight set last year by Oakland, was defeated by the New York Nets 115-96 Friday night.

The Nets clinched the victory with a 10-0 spurt midway through the fourth quarter. Levern Tart scored 26 points and Walt Simon added 23 and Bill Melchionni 20 for the Nets. Spencer Haywood topped Denver with 23 points.

Carolina trounced Pittsburgh 117-98 and Dallas took Los Angeles 127-121 in the only other ABA games.

In the National Basketball Association, New York nipped Philadelphia 104-100, Milwaukee mauled chicago 121-105, Detroit drubbed Baltimore 129-117, Boston edged Cincinnati 108-103, San Francisco downed Phoenix 125-116, Los Angeles topped Atlanta 102-87 and San Diego edged Seattle 119-117 in overtime.

Bob Verga connected for the game's first 10 points to start Carolina to its romp over Pittsburgh. Verga finished with 26 points, and teammate Larry Miller scored 25. John Brisker and Mike Lewis hit for 21 each for Pittsburgh.

3 Killed, 4 Injured n Car Accident

CORSICANA, Tex. (AP) — A two-car collision killed three persons and injured four others seriously Friday night on Texas 31 seven miles east of Corsicana.

Officers identified the victims as Sylvia Jean Lynn, 18, of Athens and Sandra Henderson, 9, and Keith Henderson, 7, both of Dallas.

Highway patrolmen said the crash occurred when one car attempted to pass a truck and collided headon with the other vehicle.

VISITING WITH ARTIST — Hondo Crouch, left, and C. T. McLaughlin, center, visit with Artist Melvin C. Warren during a special showing of Warren's work Friday afternoon at the Diamond M Museum. Crouch was the entertainment headliner at the Chamber of Commerce banquet Friday night.

RCA Building Elegant

By JOHN BARBOUR

NEW YORK (AP) — The building is gray and imperial, a 70-story monument, an elegant tower, the centerpiece of Rockefeller Plaza, crossroads of a city within a city, the swirling vortex of 200,000 people a day.

Exciting. Glamorous. Sophisticated. The RCA Building. Elevators so fast they cover 65 floors in 37 seconds. By day an 850-foot-tall melange of carpeted offices; television studios; barber shops; jewelery, cigarette and pet stores; rooftop gardens, murals, marble columns and bronze doors.

By nightfall, it's a housekeeper's nightmare. All that's left of excitement and glamor are the crumpled packages they came in. The wastebaskets are full of the nervous jottings of a thousand hurried meetings, the folded fingered remains of yesterday's newspapers, the stale sandwich crusts and half-eaten bagels leftovers of 20,000 coffee breaks.

In short, a mess.

It takes 1,100 men and women to clean up Rockefeller Center, 200 of them for the RCA Building alone.

The vanguard of the night crew comes in at 5 p.m. In the seven hours ahead, the porters and maids of the RCA Building have a cleaning job roughly equal to tidying up 2,000 six-room homes after 2,000 kindergarten birthday parties.

Multiply that by four to measure the job of cleaning up Rockefeller Center. It takes 62,000 pounds of cleaners, 18,000 pounds of wax and polish, 44,000 pounds of rags a year.

The bags of trash average nearly 400 a day from the RCA Building alone. Before it leaves the floor where it was born, the trash in each bag is tagged as to where it came from. It is then held for from one to three days just in case something important was thrown away. If a tenant thinks there was, he must pursue the trash to the incinerator company in New Jersey and have someone mull over it to find the missing item. This emergency procedure has been put into play to recover everything from false teeth to diamond rings.

The image of the old leaning woman polishing doorknobs and carrying mops and pails of soapy water down the corridors is gone. Porters now do most of the heavy work. One special crew polishes bronze and other metal surfaces. Another works only on marble. Most floors are carpeted and porters do the sweepng and vacuuming. Outside contractors wash the 6,000 windows in the RCA Building and 25,000 more in the Center.

For the porters, the work is more varied. The worst of it? When it snows, when it feezes. While tractors and lifters do most of the snow removal, loading trucks for East River dumping, some of the work falls to men with shovels.

By 1 a.m., most of the maids are finished, and the porters are lugging the last of the carefully tagged and burlaped bags of trash to the sub-basement. By 7 a.m., the last sign of a busy yesterday is on trucks bound for the New Jersey incinerators. The lights are turned out, and the building at 30 Rockefeller Plaza, ready for excitement and glamor again, looks east into the rising sun, dusted, polished and vaccumed for another day.

Tokyo Has Heavy Rains

TOKYO (AP) — Heavy rains late Friday and today ended a record 53-day dry spell in the Tokyo area, but national police said the high winds and floods that came with the storm caused eight deaths.

They included six dead and nine missing when a 11,643-ton Japanese freighter sank when its anchor chain snapped outside Onahama harbor in north Japan.

Tokyo reported two inches of rain overnight and some areas in western Japan reported as much as eight inches.

Nixon Stands Pat On Supreme Court Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says his choice for the Supreme Court, G. Harrold Carswell, has a judicial record that is "impeccable and without a taint of any racism" regardless of what the nominee may have said in a political speech in 1948.

At his news conference Friday night, Nixon was asked if he would have nominated the judge for the high court if he had known about a speech Carswell gave 22 years ago advocating white supremacy.

"I am not concerned about what Judge Carswell said ... when he was a candidate for a state legislature," Nixon said. Carswell was running for the Georgia legislature when he made the 1948 speech.

"As you know, he had six years as U.S. attorney and 12 years as a federal district judge —a record which is impeccable and without a taint of racism ..." Nixon said that Carswell, a judge on the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals, is a strict constructionist and this should give the Supreme Court "the kind of balance that it needs."

Nixon said "any individual may find instances where he has made statements in which his position has changed."

Carswell, a 50-year-old Tallahassee, Fla., resident, has renounced his 1948 speech and told the Senate Judiciary Committee this week that he is not a racist.

Backers of the nomination will try to wind up the hearings Monday so they could possibly vote on Tuesday. But opponents could cause a week's delay.

Republican Senate Leader Hugh Scott said Friday Carswell will win approval by the Senate by a vote of at least 80-to-20.

Only two lawmakers—Sens. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., and William Proxmire, D-Wis.—have announced they will vote against the nomination. Sen. Birch Bayh, the Indiana Democrat who led the successful fight against confirmation of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., has not announced how he will vote.

Meanwhile, the Washington Post said in today's editions that a Justice Department Lawyer, Norman C. Knopf, would be summoned to testify at the Carswell hearings. Knopf worked in a summer drive in 1964 to enroll black voters in Florida.

A dispute developed Friday over an extra-judicial action Carswell was accused of taking in connection with that drive.

Rutgers University law professor John Lowenthal told the Judiciary Committee of his experiences while a volunteer lawyer in 1964 for seven voter-registration workers who had been jailed in Gadsden County, Fla., on trespassing charges after urging Negroes to register.

Carswell was U.S. district judge in Tallahassee, and Lowenthal said he sought a new trial for the group and filed a habeaus corpus petition to win their release from jail.

He testified judge Carswell was extremely hostile and, although the petition was granted, Carswell refused to have the court marshal serve the writ on Sheriff Otho Edwards. Lowenthal said he had to do it himself.

Lowenthal said the sheriff released the prisoners but then immediately rearrested them because Carswell had the marshal call ahead and tell the sheriff he was sending the case back to the county for trial instead of hearing it in federal court.

Committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., quoted Edwards as saying by telephone Friday he "got no such word" and as saying that he had talked to Carswell only once in his life —Friday morning.

"I had Judge Carswell call him," Eastland said.

Lowenthal, in testifying Carswell had tipped off the sheriff that he could rearrest the voter-registration workers, said he could not recall whether he heard this in the judge's chambers first-hand or heard it second-hand through another volunteer lawyer.

Detroit pitcher Denny McLain and outfielder Paul Blair of Baltimore led the American League in sacrifice hits in 1969. Both had 13.

Tricia Has Measles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tricia Nixon, who went to Florida to recover from a bout of flu, is now ill with German measles as well, the White House said today.

Her mother has flown to Florida to be with her 23-year-old daughter at their Key Biscayne home, where Tricia was staying alone, except for staff.

Mrs. Nixon made the flight Friday night after the President's news conference. But her trip and the illness were not announced until this morning by Mrs. Nixon's press secretary, Constance Stuart.

Tricia has been tutoring in a Washington, D. C. elementary school, and last November she helped launch a District school drive for immunization of youngsters against German measles.

Mrs. Stuart said Tricia, herself, had taken a shot at the White House in early November.

Mrs. Nixon expected to remain in Florida for a day or two. She was to accompany the President today to the wedding of two Cabinet children—Douglas Rogers, son of the secretary of state, and Nancy Hardin, daughter of the secretary of agriculture.

The White House said the President and Julie and David Eisenhower would attend without the first lady.

Tricia became ill with a sore throat around Jan. 17 and it was diagnosed as flu by the White House physician, Dr. Walter Tkach. Tricia flew to Key Biscayne last Saturday to recover in a warmer climate. She last tutored her elementary school students at Burroughs Elementary School about two weeks ago.

Shop-By-Phone Supermart To Aid Busy Housewives

in 3 col 16 — Shop-By Phone

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The push-cart supermarkets of today will become obsolete in the 1970s, says the head of a new shop-by-phone firm. Housewives can cut shopping time in half by placing grocery orders with a talking computer.

A.G. Bill Bailey, chairman of the board of newly formed Telemart Enterprises, Inc., unveiled plans for a San Diego pilot program at a news conference Friday.

The shop-by-phone supermart facility for home deliveries is scheduled to open July 4. It is a 44,000-square-foot food distribution center that "should do the business of 10 supermarkets," Bailey said.

Citing Supermarket Institute Research, he said the average woman spends three hours per week at supermarkets. "We are convinced that Telemart can cut this time in half."

"What Telemart has done is to use the home-delivery concept of the 1920s, endow it with the vast variety of modern supermarket products and go a step farther by utilizing present-day and advanced computerization methods for selection and delivery," Bailey said.

He announced that Rohr Corp., a Chula Vista aerospace firm, has a $167,000 contract to provide computer-oriented system, a talking computer and programming for the new food marketing concept.

"Clara, the talking computer, will be handling over 2,000 food and nonfood items for Telemart member-customers throughout San Diego County," he said.

Bailey said the computer fills an order this way:

When a customer calls, a live operator patches the line to Clara, which says, "Hello, this is Clara speaking."

The computer system responds to a customer's voice and is programmed to act on grocery list items available in the store, quoting updated and current prices, specials and volume discounts.

"When a shopper asks for soap, Clara will be able to say whether we have a special on any particular brand," Bailey said.

Clara will compute subtotals and final totals for customers. After a customer confirms the final total, the computer instructs personnel at the Telemart distribution center which items to pick out and how to route them through automated conveyance systems to the delivery truck depot, and informs the dispatcher of delivery scheduling.

At the same time, Clara will note the amount of warehouse depletion per order and make entries on the customer's account for month-end billing.

A similar marketing concept called Hemkops has operated successfully in Sweden since 1954, he said, starting with a $50,000 gross that rose to more than $9 million in 1968.

But Hemkops does not have a computerized operation and does not utilize mass media for customer orientation, said Bailey, who owes personal success to television advertising. He's the voice in Volkswagen and Kentucky Fried Chicken commercials.

Telemart will use print and broadcast advertising, but will also have its own quarterly merchandise publication for customers who pay $3 membership fees.

Deliveries will be free for large orders but a minimum charge of $1 will be made for small orders, he said.

4½-Day School Week Proposed

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — A 4½-day school week has been proposed by Waukesha teachers.

Grade school children would have a half day holiday on Monday mornings and teachers would use the period to prepare for the week's instructions.

A decision on the suggestion will be made by the school board.

ASU Student Killed In Collision

LAMESA, Tex. (AP) — A 19-year old Angelo State University co-ed died and three others were injured in a car-truck collision Friday afternoon near Lamesa.

One of the injured is the daughter of former football star Sammy Baugh.

Deborah Gail Waddell, 19, was killed and her husband, Bobby Joe Waddell, 24, was injured.

Frances Edmonia Baugh, 18, of Rotan, Baugh's daughter, suffered a broken nose and lacerations. She is a freshman at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

The accident occurred 7.8 miles south of Lamesa on U. S. 87 in Dawson County.

Fire Erupts At Columbia Studios

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — A lot of nostalgia went up in smoke when fire broke out in an old sound stage at Columbia Studios and swept through sets used for "Lost Horizon," "High Noon," "Cat Ballou" and the old "Blondie" movie series.

Studio officials estimated damage at $2 million.

Part of the old "Lost Horizon" set had been used in filming "The Flying Nun" television series, but a spokesman said this would not hold up production on the series.

Robert Brown, Joan Blondell and other cast members of television's "Here Come the Brides" were filming when the fire started. That set was unharmed, but a newer, secondary set for the series was lost.

Cause of the fire was under investigation.

Policeman Killed In Shooting

McKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — A policeman was killed and his partner wounded Friday night while investigating a disturbance at a residence, police said.

The slain patrolman was Milligan Ray Burk, 30, of the Melissa community. He was dead on arrival at Collin Memorial Hospital with a gunshot wound in his chest.

His partner, Tommy Ashley, 22, of McKinney, was shot in the abdomen and underwent surgery early this morning.

Ohio Univ. 13th-ranked and only other team in AP Top Twenty to see action, beat Western Michigan 91-81 at Kalamazoo behind John Canine's 28 points.

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Miss Lain: You have asked readers for their second-career ideas for retired military men and women – here's mine.

For the larger majority, civil service is the only answer. Military retirees are achieving a certain measure of success as parole and probation officers, social workers, correctional officers, youth counselors and vocational instructors.

Unfortunately, many employers in industry are reluctant to hire us because they feel our retirement income gives us a certain flexibility to move on to better jobs when the opportunity arises. Many prospective employers resent our having a supplemental income. In my own case, I turned down a good position with a broadcasting network when I learned the company intended to subtract my yearly retirement income from the salary that the job paid!

I am presently employed by the Texas Department of Corrections which welcomes released military personnel with open arms – in a variety of locations. Tell your retired military readers with employment problems that civil service is an all-around "equalizer" – cut and dry – no strings attached."

William J. Brundage, Midway, Texas

Civil service jobs are available at the local, State and Federal level. A new 37-page pamphlet, "Working for the U.S.A." contains helpful information on how to apply for a civil service job and what the Government expects of Federal workers. Explains how job applicants are handled, how to get on the list of "eligibles," and other items of interest. For a copy, send 20 cents and a gummed return mailing label to me at this newspaper. Write "USA" on your outside envelope.

However, like horse races, there's a difference of opinion about the Government track too, as this next letter shows.

Dear Miss Lain: Please send me your job interview tips . . . I'm a 39-year-old government secretary (GS-7), and after five years I'd like to switch to private industry. I'd prefer a one-girl office near my home. The Government is large and impersonal, and I'd like to feel that I've accomplished something each and every day. I should be satisfied with this good job but I feel I'm capable of much more! Well, I had better save all this for the employment office and spare you.

Government Girl, Washington, D.C.

Dear Miss Lain: I am a teacher trying to help 75 teenagers evaluate their aptitudes and interests and find a suitable career. Your column is very helpful. I have sent for Prudential's "Choosing Your Life's Work" and it is great. If you can send me other guidance booklets, I promise to get them into eager hands.

Mrs. D.P. Billingsley, Timpson, Texas

The Prudential Insurance Company has another good 31-page booklet of special interest for high school students who aren't college-bound. It's "Facing Facts About Career Opportunities for the High School Graduate." You can have a free copy by sending me a postcard at this newspaper.

A point of clarification: Whenever I say any booklet is free, I ALWAYS mean a single copy. Multiple copies may be available but there is usually a charge for quantity orders. Since the object of guidance material is to get it into the hands of those who really want it, nothing prevents each student from writing for a single copy.
