BATEMAN DECLARES OUTLOOK FOR A FAVORABLE DECISION ON EXTENSION OF T. & P. INTO AREA ENCOURAGING
"With practically all West Texas cities aiding in the fight, outlook for a favorable decision by the Interstate Commerce Commission on our application for a 225-mile extension into the Panhandle and Plains is very encouraging," G. O. Bateman, vice president of the Texas and Pacific Northern Railway company said this morning.

Mr. Bateman, together with L. C. Porter, general representative of the road today on a final visit to cities in this section before the I. C. C. hearing which is scheduled to be held in Lubbock on December 2.

"We are very sorry to learn," Mr. Bateman said, "that both Galveston and Houston will intervene against us but we still believe that the tide of favor is on our side. West Texas is almost solidly behind the project while Dallas and Fort Worth both are busily engaged in aiding us and will have representative present for the hearing."

The Texas and Pacific has applied for permission to build a line from Big Spring north to Vega, with a branch line to connect Lubbock and Amarillo.

VARIED WEATHER VISITS TEXAS SECTIONS TODAY
(By Associated Press) Snow, rain and balmy sunshine was Texas' weather combination today, as a cool spell moved in from the Rock Mountain region. Amarillo was favored by the snow flakes, first of the season to cross the Texas boundary, but they melted almost as quickly as they hit the ground. The temperature was 33 degrees at 9:30 A. M., and the same cold wind that was forcing the mercury down had penetrated as far southward as Wichita Falls, where the velocity was 30 miles. Rain was reported in Wichita Falls and Vernon.

Anton Man Hurt When Hit By Car
W. E. Harper, 37, Anton farmer, was probably very seriously injured when he was struck by an automobile this morning about 9:30 o'clock on the highway, one mile west of Anton.

The injured man was brought to the Lubbock sanitarium at noon today and physicians were making x-ray pictures in an effort to determine exact nature of his injuries. From outward appearance Harper is suffering of a deep cut in the forehead, skull and chin. He also is thought to have sustained an injury to his spine and foot. Physicians had not been able to ascertain extent of his wounds at noon.

The accident was said to have occurred this morning as Harper stopped his truck on the highway and stepped from it to put water in the radiator. Another automobile, approaching from the rear, struck him as he moved toward the front of the truck. He was knocked from ground, his head striking with forceful impact.

Identity of driver of the other automobile had not been learned.

MERCHANTS ASKED BY WCTU TO STOP HIP FLASK SALES

(By Associated Press) HOUSTON, Nov. 19.—The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, through action of its executive committee, today appealed to merchants to stop advertising, exposing for sale and selling hip-flask flasks.

The plea, read to the 56th annual convention, said hip flasks "are used in transporting liquors for beverage purposes, hence they are contributing to the violation of the law."

Suggestive of violation "They are suggestive of ways in which the law may be violated, and accordingly increase the violation of the law."

The ease with which they can be purchased is especially to be deplored, because of the temptation to the young people, for their possession means their use. They may be following the example of their fathers and of society leaders, but the practice is in defiance of the law.

"We appeal to all women and especially to all mothers to join in this movement by a personal protest wherever they see hip flasks displayed, advertised or offered for sale by the stores of which they are patrons."

"There is a patriotism of peace as well as of war, and that consists in obedience to the laws of our country and sustaining the government in its efforts to enforce our law."

INJURIES FROM CAT'S ATTACK ARE FATAL

FOUR-YEAR-OLD LAMB COUNTY BOY DIES FROM SCALPING

Scalp wounds inflicted by a pet leopard proved fatal to James Evins, four-year-old son of J. D. Evins, of Littlefield, who died at 11:50 o'clock this morning at the Lubbock sanitarium. Death was hastened by complications of meningitis which set in Monday night, according to attending physicians.

The boy had been in the local sanitarium since last Saturday when he was attacked in a Littlefield drug store by the animal.

Immediately following the attack, Charles (Captain) Howard, owner of the leopard, was lodged in jail at Littlefield together with the beast. From his cell Tuesday, Mr. Howard expressed regret at the incident and stated that he could hardly explain the animal's actions.

Survey Of West Texas Watershed Of Brazos Advocated; Dam Is Proposed
(By The Associated Press) FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—As a step in the development of the proposed $50,000,000 conservation program in the Brazos river district, a survey of the West Texas watershed of the Brazos was advocated here yesterday by John A. Norris, chairman of the state board of water engineers.

The district, comprising the entire watershed of the Brazos, with an area of 30,000,000 acres extending from New Mexico to the gulf of Mexico, was created last year by act of the legislature. A group of 21 directors, selected by the board of water engineers and the reclamation engineer, will make an effort to obtain funds for the survey, Norris said.

COST WILL BE MORE, SAYS REQUESTS

RAISE OF $2,400,000 IN FUNDS IS TO BE ASKED CONGRESS

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Better enforcement of prohibition planned for next year is to cost more than ever, but not so very much more as that.

In contrast to the considerable sums which both friends and foes of prohibition in congress have sought to appropriate from time to time, the government's enforcement officials plan to ask for a raise of $2,400,000.

Total $1,417,000
Appropriation requests prepared by the liquor bureaus of the justice and treasury departments, call for a total of approximately $1,417,000. For the increase they intend to offer the taxpayers 500 new dry agents and 90 more medicinal liquor and industrial alcohol inspectors. And there will be larger staffs of clerks to handle the work turned in by the new agents, which the dry chiefs confidently expect will be more extensive and efficient than ever.

Of the $1,417,000 the justice department's enforcement unit under director Amos W. Woodcock, is asking $11,200,000. During the current fiscal year the unit is getting $9,000,000 out of the $15,000,000 allowed by congress for prohibition.

Woodcock has 2,000 regular agents, plus 290 special men for big conspiracy cases, several inspectors and the 24 instructors who now are teaching the agents just what to do and how not to act.

The treasury's industrial alcohol division headed by Commissioner James M. Doran seeks about $200,000 on top of its current $6,000,000 share of enforcement money. Salaries and administrative expense involved in adding the 90 inspectors will account for that.

RED CROSS TO STAGE DRIVE
CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS TO BE STARTED ON NOVEMBER 22

Plans for a Red Cross drive for funds, to be staged in Lubbock Saturday, Nov. 22, were announced here today from headquarters of the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

Booths and solicitors will be established at vantage points in the business section of the city next Saturday and contributions will be accepted, not to exceed $1. According to the announcement today, 50 per cent of the money obtained from the drive will be sent to national headquarters of the association to pay up dues of the local chapter while the remainder will be kept in Lubbock for expenses of maintaining a dormitory chapter.

DEATH TOLL IS EXPECTED TO BE GREATER

LITTLE TOWN OF BETHANY IS STRUCK BY FURY OF TWISTING WIND; SCORES ARE INJURED AND MAY DIE; 100 BUILDINGS DOWN

(By The Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 19.—An undetermined number of persons were killed in a twisting wind storm which struck the little town of Bethany, seven miles from here today.

Early in the afternoon, the death list stood at seventeen and thirty injured persons had been entered in local hospitals. Reporters at the scene said the death and injured toll would increase.

Telephone lines into the storm area were down, but reporters were rushed to the scene. A number of houses were reported badly damaged.

PLOT AGAINST SPAIN'S RULE IS BARED
MADRID IS PATROLLED BY POLICE; FALL OF REGIME SOUGHT

(By Associated Press) MADRID, Nov. 19.—Armed with sawed off shot guns and sidearms, police patrolled this city today while the government took final steps to break up a communist plot to upset the throne and establish a republic.

More than 60 communist and republican leaders of Madrid have been jailed since Monday when authorities first discovered the plot, and a similar round-up has been ordered in the provinces where general strikes still are in progress.

As revealed by government officials the communist and republican agitators planned to create disturbances here yesterday morning and in the ensuing confusion bring about the fall of the government and the monarchy.

Authorities believe the movement lacked any considerable strength, considering the diversity of character in the elements concerned, and that little coordination could have been expected from leaders of the two cliques. Their arrest is believed definitely to have terminated the threat, but as a precautionary measure guards in the city are being maintained in doubled number.

Meeting On Spur's Eligibility Is Held
Executive committee of class B, district two, of the state interscholastic league, which convened at the Tech this morning to consider the football eligibility of Spur high school, were still in meeting early this afternoon. A decision in the case is not expected until late today.

It is thought that heart of the controversy hinges around the ages of Brode Puckett and Jimmy Hahn, members of the Spur team. Members of the committee include A. B. Sanders, Rails, chairman; V. Z. Rogers, Lamesa; F. O. Bolen, Littlefield; Gene Taylor, Spur; W. A. Patty, Floydada; W. D. Biggers, Lockney; and Tilman Carter, of Otton.

Pro Law Agents Raid Pioneer Still
PIONEER, Tex., Nov. 19 (AP)—Federal prohibition agents, continuing their activities in this section, raided a 250-gallon still which they reported finding in full operation in a post oak thicket near here, yesterday. The charges yesterday ran the total to five lodged after operations in this area.

Charles V. Bob Makes Appearance
NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Charles V. Bob, mining engineer and promoter, surrendered today to the district attorney to answer a grand larceny indictment returned against him yesterday.

He had been missing since October 8, when his disappearance in Chicago led to a belief he had met with an airplane accident, until it was discovered that New York authorities were looking for him in connection with an inquiry into the affairs of companies in which he was interested.

All inspections and examinations will be given at the Lubbock municipal airport. H. P. Mr. Bradley stated that many student fliers from Kelly and Dood fields, San Antonio, are being noted among the visitors here. Three students make the flight from San Antonio to Lubbock and return in a few hours for the purpose of a tid-ing hours to their flying time.

The best way to keep from thinking you're perfect is to write a daily newspaper column. Then every time you pull a bust there are scores of well-meaning, life-cheering souls who'll tell you about it.

About three months ago President Hoover made a speech at Boston. The next thing the Plainsman knew, the chief executive was at King's mountain. Bubbling over with patriotism, and all that sort of thing, the Plainsman wrote a long letter to the President.

I'll be frank about it. I didn't know where King's mountain was—didn't know any more about it than a polecat knows about grapefruit—and don't know much more about it now.

But everything must come to an end some time and I believe the end is in sight. Pinky Lowery has found out about the bust and that's good omen, because I figure if Pinky has caught on to it, so has practically everyone else.

YESTERDAY afternoon, three months after the Plainsman pulled the fatal error, Pinky instructed about 93 of the youngsters in his government class that this writer needs some instruction about Boston and King's mountain.

Only (NOT OWED) TO JOHN D. Lives of rich men oft remind us Wealth can make us seem sublime And keep press men close behind us To report each given dime!

THE fact that Lubbock county's rural schools will receive from the state the total of $17,940—the largest sum it can legally collect—is a cheering one to those who realize that in the rural school system of this and adjoining counties the South Plains has one of its chief assets.

There is a lot to be desired in the Texas method of rural school operation, which by this time has become topheavy and out-of-date. But until the laws can be changed and until policies are forever taken from the schools those interested must do their best to improve with what they have.

That Man on Avenue Q says a good way to travel around the country with a carnival, leading a pet leopard by a leash when the leopard makes a habit of attacking small children.

Then there was the hard-hearted judge, who found out the prisoner was an India rubber man and gave him a stretch in jail.

The Plainsman can't see the percentage in permitting some fellow to travel around the country with a carnival, leading a pet leopard by a leash when the leopard makes a habit of attacking small children.

The Plainsman doesn't know whether the Tidwell shows are coming to Lubbock or not, or whether the leopard will be in the show or not. The fact remains that the leopard was brought to both Colorado and Littlefield along with the carnival and if the shows are coming here proper precautions will be taken on the part of the authorities.

Congress Has Choices Collection Of Lame Ducks In All History And They'll Be There 13 Months, Dutcher Says

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Millions of voters cast their ballots for congressional candidates with the idea that there ought to be a change. No one can guess how many realized that the collective vote of these millions may have no effect on the lineup in Congress until 13 months after election day.

One consolation the casters of the "protest vote" get is that they elected quite a few more of the type of legislators likely to assemble behind the Norris lame-duck amendment which would get each newly elected Congress into its seats within a couple of months.

Meanwhile the House and Senate will have two of the choicest collections of lame ducks ever seen in the short session of the Seventy-first Congress which begins Dec. 5 and ends on March 4. Except for those chosen to fill vacancies for unexpired terms, the new senators-elect and representatives-elect won't get into action before Dec. 5, unless the Senate special session happens to force a special session before that.

The season's champion lame duck appears to be Senator Charles S. Deneen of Illinois. Early last April, in the primary which nominated Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican voters of Illinois decided that they had had enough of Deneen. But the time elapsing between the repudiation of Senator Deneen and the time his successor, James Hamilton Lewis, takes office, is just 20 months, not so far from two years.

A dozen senators who have either retired or been defeated will be on the job in this short session. And four or five times as many members of the House.

Four Republican senators who refused to run for re-nomination and re-election will be with us. Their retirement unquestionably saved them just so much expense. They are lame ducks, too—Sellers of Massachusetts; Cliff of West Virginia; Republicans and Blaine of South Carolina; Simmons of North Carolina and Ramsell of Louisiana, Democrats.

The election losers were Pine of Oklahoma and McMaster of South Dakota, Republicans, and Steck of Iowa, Democrat.

The new blood which will be here for the short session includes Senators Morrow of New Jersey, Davis of Pennsylvania and Carey of Wyoming, Republicans, and three Democrats—Bullock of Ohio, McGill of Kansas and Williams of Kentucky. They will all succeed gubernatorial appointees and finish unexpired terms, hence their early arrival.

There are two principal reasons why progressives and others squawk because so many senators-elect and representatives-elect won't be able to help legislate for another year: 1. The long delay in making the will of the electorate effective.

2. The fact that votes of lame duck members are obtained for measures favored by those who are able to bestow political or other rewards.

Under the Norris amendment to the Constitution, each new Congress and each new president would take office early in January. The short three-month sessions which so often end in filibusters would be abolished and members after being defeated couldn't vote for or against any more laws.

Then there's the flask-toting roofer who cheered the team on with a "Nip, Nip, Hoopay."

It's a surprising young man who finds the most favor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Around the big radio stations, Pete Dixon, the former scribe who now broadcasts the "Raising Junior" program, stops to weep on my shoulder. The act was inspired by the Dixon's own particular Junior and the reticence of sitting in on all their rehearsals. . . . And the child is old and smart enough to know what's going on. . . . A dog and a new baby were introduced as part of the continued story. . . . And the real Junior, having heard about them, demands that they be produced.

"Of course," says Pete, "the dog problem is fairly simple. . . . but . . ."

Bill Robinson, the master of tap dancing. . . . And since the death of Jack Donahue, the king of loafers. . . . Bill sits down in a corner of the ABC studio and coughs about the days when, as a penniless pickaninny, he went about the streets of Richmond, Va., picking up a few dance steps.

The manager of a small traveling show happened to see him. Bill was but eight when he signed up as a "kid dancer" for the show, "The South Before the War." . . . Still a kid he went out with the old Primrose and West minstrels and got his real education from George Primrose, the greatest soft shoe dancer of them all.

A few years ago, Bill contracted the famous "staircase fall," which is the last word in rhythmic slipping. . . . Today he has his own show on Broadway, "Brown Buddies."

And so we move on. . . . Vaughn de Leath. For years one of the "big four" of radio broadcasts. . . . In town for but a few hours on the air from Cleveland, where she is now appearing. . . . All of which is somewhat of a mystery here. . . . Vaughn was on a vacation in Eu when she received three cablegrams from the Ohio station offering her a figure she could not well refuse. . . . More money than the chain book-up she previously had had. . . . And so for the moment at least, she becomes a local headliner.

Off Patten, whose "Frank Merrivell" was hero of many of our youths, stopped to tell me how he came to create this character. Patten, who wrote under the name of Burr Standish, says he couldn't afford to attend college. He wanted to go—yearned to go and dreamed of going. So he created a hero who could go as his proxy and thus get his college education vicariously. . . . And so for the moment at least, Patten would like to have had, but never did.

Incidentally Patten has kept letters from thousands of men who are now statesmen and important financial figures—a veritable treasury of famous folk who have written him about Merrivell.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Soon Scouty grew real curious and said, "Would you folks, please, tell us just what you do with all your grapes. You have so many here. I'm sure that you cannot eat all of those that you pick every fall. Perhaps you make fine grape juice at a mill that's somewhere near."

"Then Clowny loudly shouted, 'Gee! Some grape juice just appeals to me. I hope that Scouty's guess is right. We'll buy some grape juice today. Just tell us where to buy a flask that we can fill.'"

"The Travel Man said, 'There's no doubt that your grape juice plan won't work out. These grapes are not made into juice. They're shipped far, far away. In fact they are sent to every land. Why, even in America folks are buying them today.'"

Poor Clowny promptly heaved a sigh and then he moaned, "Oh, my, oh my! Instead of drinking grape juice, we will eat more grapes, then go." But Copsy said, "Oh, let's not stuff. Of grapes I think we've had enough. It's really very foolish to get tummy aches, you know."

"The Travel Man broke the suspense by saying, 'That's good common sense. Besides, we may find other fruit that we will want to buy.' Then Clowny shouted, 'Say! You're right. Just see what's walking into sight.' Two queer, fruit-loaded donkeys shortly sauntered slowly by."

"'Whop! Apples! Apples! They look great,' cried Copsy. 'My how kind is fate, to bring these donkeys right by us. Well, this will be my treat.' He purchased plenty for the bunch, then merrily began to crunch. And then he shouted, 'Try them, Jads! They're really nice and sweet.'"

(The Tinymite has some more fun in the next story.)

TAKE SHORT, COLD BATH FOR BENEFICIAL EFFECT IF CONDITION WARRANTS

The short cold bath is one of the most beneficial agents, whether in health or in some diseased condition. It must, however, be properly applied.

It cannot be undertaken by everyone. It should not be attempted when the body is cold. According to Dr. W. H. Riley, an authority on hydrotherapy, it is usually a good plan to take a warm bath before taking a cold one. At least the body should be warm.

Never take a cold bath when the body is very tired, as it increases the activities of all the organs and liberates energy. The ability to react to the cold bath is greatly limited when the body is tired.

In infancy and old age, the use of cold water is not beneficial, or if so, only in special instances.

When there is a weakness of the kidneys or heart, or when the blood pressure is abnormal, cold should always be used very cautiously, and in advanced degrees of the disease just mentioned it should not be applied at all.

These things out of the way, it is a splendid form of treatment. In fact, a splendid habit.

A short cold bath increases the circulation of the blood. It is well known that the action of the organs inside the body are changed by changing conditions on the outside of the body. The skin is one of the most wonderful organs of the body. Connected as it is by a billion nerve filaments to the automatic as well as central nervous system, the impulses carried to the entire body, the entire organism.

Especially is this true about the action of the heart and blood vessels. Cold impinging on the nerve endings in the skin, they send impulses to the spinal cord and to the ganglia of the vegetative nervous system which controls the heart and blood vessels. The heart beats less rapidly, but more strongly. The vessels contract, but increase in tone. More blood, and hence more nutrition, is carried to the entire body.

One of the striking effects of the short cold bath is on the muscles. It immediately increases muscle tone, muscle endurance and capacity for work. Since the blood flows through them with greater force, waste products are eliminated. The output of total solids in the urine is increased.

The breathing is deepened and made more rapid. The blood hence receives more oxygen. The appetite is stimulated.

Its effect on the nutrition of the skin is one of its most valuable features. First, contracting the blood vessels of the skin, and hence causing pallor, they later dilate, bringing a rich supply of blood to all its parts.

So many results from so simple a procedure. No drugs. No magic. No ductless glands. Just cold water. Can be done in any American bathroom.

Then there's the flask-toting roofer who cheered the team on with a "Nip, Nip, Hoopay."

It's a surprising young man who finds the most favor.

SYNOPSIS

Terry Malone and Red Thomas, freshmen, both aspire to Princeton's football crown and the love of Margot Blair, young society girl. Red, a bully, breaks Terry's arm causing him to leave college. A year later he returns. Red, now a sophomore, is Princeton's hope. He is suspended for six months and Terry is substituted on the team. His playing makes him a national hero. Margot loves Terry, but realizes he is no matrimonial catch from a financial standpoint. She decides to give him up.

Terry and Red, striving for the captaincy of the Junior team, control their dislike for one another.

Terry, overhearing Red say he has won Margot back, is stunned.

CHAPTER XXIII

The next morning, Terry entered the large lecture room and opened his note books, the mood of depression still heavy on him. He ignored friendly classmates around him, smoking, and chatting before the professor appeared.

Then down the aisle came the professor, nodding to several students on his way to the platform. He brushed by Terry's bowed head, ruffled his hair. "Good morning, Terry. When are you coming over to see me again?"

"One of these days," replied Terry, smoothing his hair. "Been pretty busy lately with football and all that sort of thing."

"Well, don't wait too long. I'd like to have a chat with you."

Up to the platform strode the professor, putting down his cane, brief case and hat on the desk. In an amazingly short time the large student body was absorbed in his interesting lecture on English literature. The ambition of Professor Martin was to get the feel and appreciation of beauty into the souls of these young men with eyes bright, cheeks glowing and bodies clean and slim who passed in an endless army through his lectures.

Denied the joy of creating in the written word, he wanted them to feel, as he felt, that literature was the key to human understanding, that good reading enhanced in every way the art of living.

The mental development of Terry Malone not only interested him but was considered in the light of a personal triumph. He knew Terry's type. They came to college to play on teams, studied just enough to get by and tolerated faculty members as necessary obstacles of college life. With an understanding of such boys which had survived miraculously the deadening influences of college communities and meanness of little men, he had no greater joy than that of converting these athletes into lovers of literature.

With Terry Malone he had worked hard, struggled. Now, after months of weary effort, the tides turned and sparks of intellectual curiosity had been ignited. Fasting in his lecture, he looked down toward Terry, smiled as he noted the curly head down, with Terry frantically scribbling notes. He concluded his lecture with more fire than usual. The bell rang, breaking the spell of the lecture which was followed by loud and sustained hand-clapping as the professor gathered up his belongings and, amid applause, hurried out of the room and down the steps, delighted with the earnest attention of Terry Malone. He anticipated Terry's visit.

Spirited discussions about philosophy, sex, religion, women, sport and future ambitions were often held during dull months in the rooms of Professor Martin by Sonny Burns and Terry. Like a sheltered harbor in a storm tossed sea, the old professor, who blended classical lore with modern experience, guided the boys in heartening, informal talks before the fireplace of his study.

The snows of many Princeton winters had tempered his values with vision and understanding. He seemed to take on new dignity, new life, as he sat, with hands clasped over his knee, an old pipe in his mouth, looking blankly into the wood fire. Surrounding him were keen eager lads, dreaming, arguing, bickering, while rosy flickers danced on walls covered with pictures of other boys who, in their strong and beautiful prime, one day lingered a while in this book-lined study and dreamed before they were scattered over the world. Down the hall of memory they paraded. The same high spirits, brave hearts. The same thirsting after love and power and stirring action. The same depression over cruelty in the muddy world of man compared with the glory of nature.

And he saw through poses. To everything they said, "What of it? Who cares?" A hard-boiled generation growing up to find all gods myths, all idealism empty futility. They questioned everything, did these youths, for they had been raised on a thousand lies. So they tried to laugh at life, made a joke of it for fear of breaking their hearts on rocks of reality.

Terry went to see Professor Martin after football practice that afternoon. He had played miserably, drew the attention of the coaches for poor generalship, and was in the doldrums. In such a mood he always came to Professor Martin.

The world was all wrong. Everything was a mess. He was sick of study, of football. What was it all about, anyway?

The old professor listened sympathetically to Terry and tried to touch upon his vast body of experience. The desire to convey his philosophy to Terry struggled in his heart; but he could find no adequate words. He wanted to tell him that life was a gorgeous parade immensely worth while; that it might be futile, that it might be hard, that it might be riddled with complications and meanness and deceit; yet it was a good bit of fun if you had the right slant and could bear up under vicissitudes. He wanted to say all these things but just couldn't put them in words; he wanted to warn Terry against heart-breaking disappointments, fearing instinctively that the boy couldn't stand too much disillusionment.

Fumbling for expression, the old professor preached a strange gospel. "Remember this, Terry. The spirit of man, the inner spirit, is the thing. It means everything. We are trying to fortify your inner spirit which expresses the true man. It is the source of your ambitions, of your desires and activities for life. All your ideas, aptitudes, will depend upon your possessions through inheritance, tradition and education. These factors make you what you are or will become. They will be your foundation for life. If they are sound, you go on, if not—you die."

"The other fellow doesn't matter, Terry. The spirit of true manliness, of honor and integrity, of all qualities of the mind conspires to fill out the picture of the real man, whether he be lawyer, actor, ball player, preacher or doctor."

"And remember this, Terry, if the world does not measure up to your standards, if it seems to disappoint your dreams, you can always cling to the stuff within—the inner man."

That's what counts. Nothing can change it. Johnny Poe carried it with him all through an adventurous life up to the day he fell in the fields of France.

"I'm not much of a preacher, Terry, but if you want a philosophy to go by, you have a foundation on solid ground. Build on it. While your inner spirit lives you carry on. If it dies you die."

The old professor spoke with conviction. Disappointment through the years had not discouraged him. He had seen boys that so much was expected of come back to reunions and football games soiled and hardened by contact with the world. Sometimes the fire had gone from their eyes and they looked tired from the greedy struggle for affluence. Their bodies were gross. He had known them when they were slim and gay and debonair.

They naturally rushed down on him with true affection in their greetings, in the slap on the back and the proffered drink. But he would have none of them. He refused to recognize them. They were strangers, ghosts. And somehow he resented their coming back to mock his high purpose, to smother his idealism. So he turned to the new generation of youth, turned to boys like Terry Malone.

Keen, sensitive, finely grained—a flame of his race burning low in despair one minute and emerging the next in a blaze of gaiety—a bright true spark of youth filled with the dreams and sadness of the Celt.

Terry Malone whose gods were Rupert Brooke and Hoby Baker; in sympathy with the two most restless bands in the march of commercial progress, the professional men, scholars and artists on one side and the odds and ends of civilization on the other, unfitted for the mould of respectability. The ball players, aviators, poets, writers, professional athletes and hoboes.

Terry Malone plucking at the heart strings by singing in his rich tenor voice quaint Irish songs. Terry talking and swearing like a sergeant when he was stirred, his words bumping against one another in excitement. Terry laughing at himself.

Generous, easy-going Terry Malone, born to be loved rather than admired, a gay troubadour destined to follow the beckoning finger of adventure on the high roads of the world, light-heartedly tossing smiles and warmth into heaven hearts as he danced to the grave.

Whether Terry Malone followed the changing fortunes of a career on the diamond or not, he had in the old professor a loyal champion. It was Terry who refreshed his spirit with the glow of Celtic charms, and the scholar thanked the gods of chance for dropping this strange Irish lad into the dim and unlit halls of a cloistered life. The "inner spirit" would flame brightly as long as he could help it; the old professor was certain of that.

"Argotane Has Been A Great Benefit To My Wife And I And We Both Feel Fine," Says Abilene Man

Mr. W. M. Wheeler, a well known local man a farmer living in rural route three is enthusiastic in his praise of Argotane the new medicine because he and his wife have received benefits and relief from troubles of years standing.

"It's true," he continued "both my wife and I have been bothered with stomach trouble for quite awhile. It seemed that none of the food we ate digested properly, invariably after meals gas would form and we would experience severe stomach pains and cramps in the pit of our stomach. We took a lot of medicine but just couldn't get to place where we could eat what we wanted to without suffering terribly from gas formation on the stomach and would have a full bloated up feeling. I had a bad case of constipation.

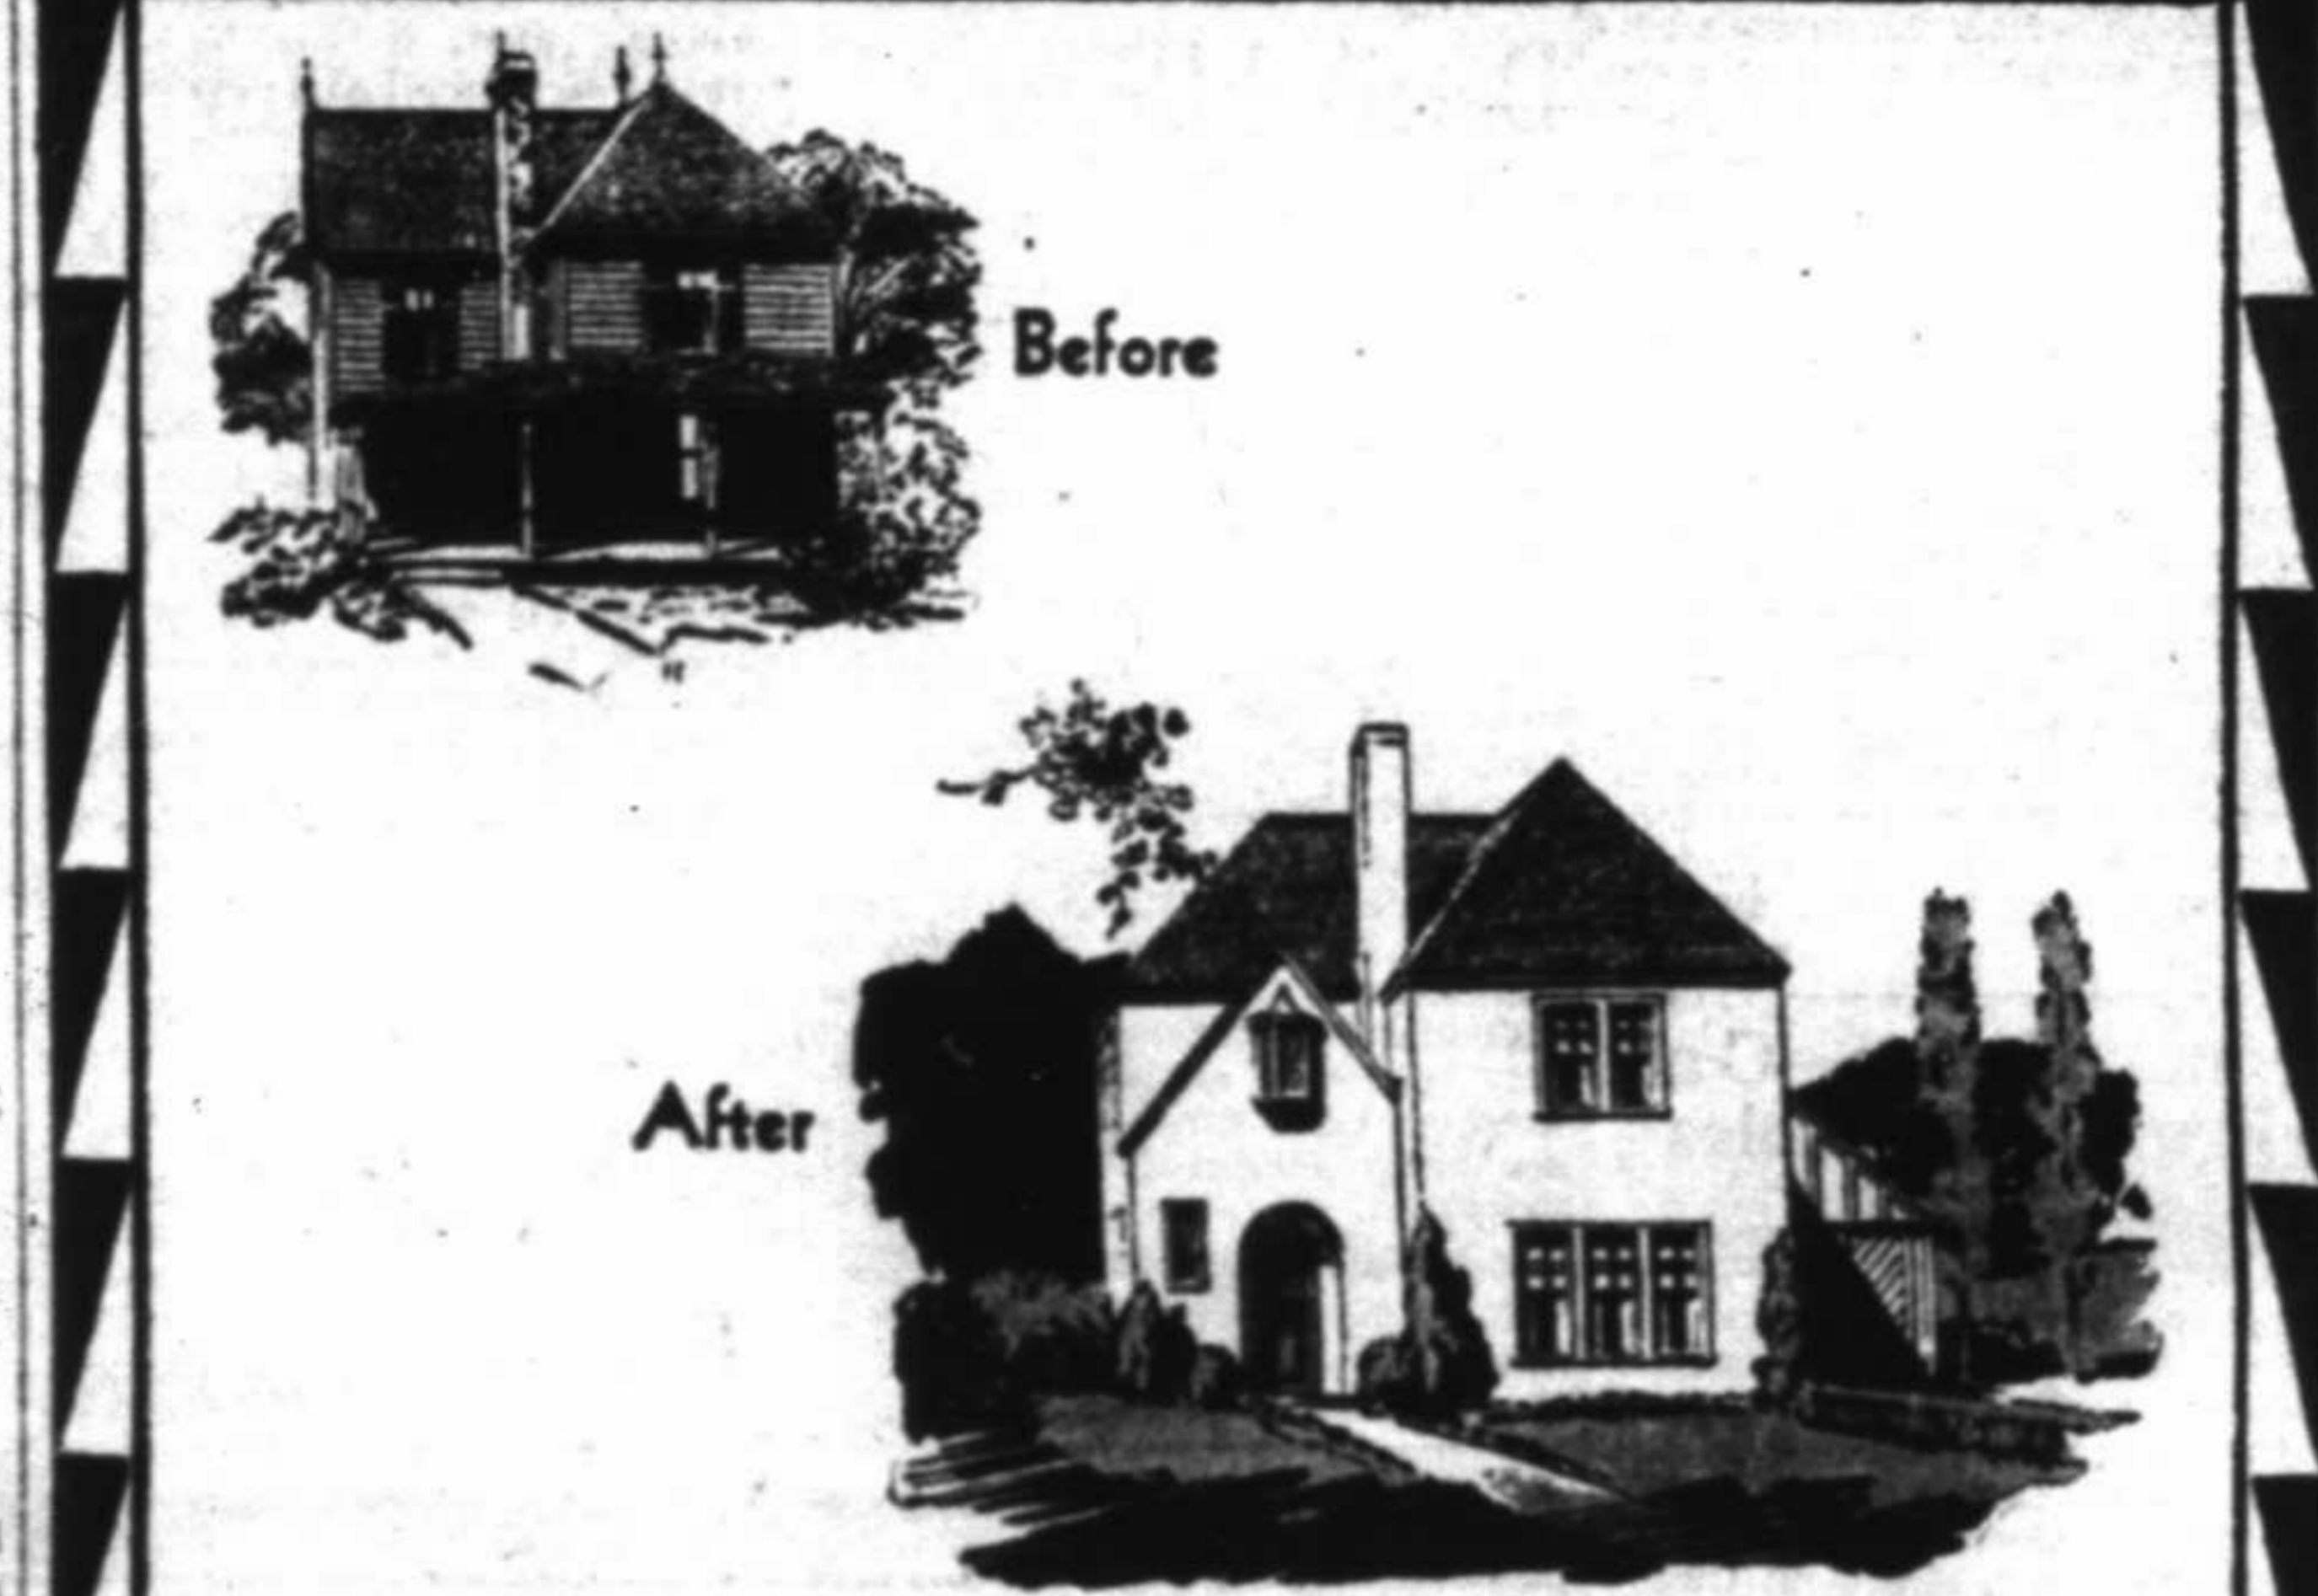

"Argotane was advertised so highly we decided to try it. Well we certainly are greatly improved in every respect since taking Argotane. We both have a fine appetite now and we aren't bothered with cramping or pains afterwards. My wife isn't bothered with gas forming anymore in fact, it has done both of us more good than anything we have ever taken and we feel better than we have in several months. Argotane is a wonderful medicine and has been a great benefit to both of us.

Genuine Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen's Drug Store. Adv.

Here is The New Taste Adventure

Have You Tried These Rare Central American Coffees That Women Everywhere Are Changing To?

Twice The Richness—Twice The Flavor
Never "Thin" Or "Flat"

To the thousands upon thousands who are already using Folger's, of course it is an old story. But to you who are not, a brand new experience is in store! Your first taste of rare Central American mountain coffee!

In the tiny spots shown on the map are grown coffees that leading experts the world over concede have the tangiest flavor, the fullest mellow-rich body of probably any known today. They are utterly different in richness and flavor from any other coffee you have ever tasted.

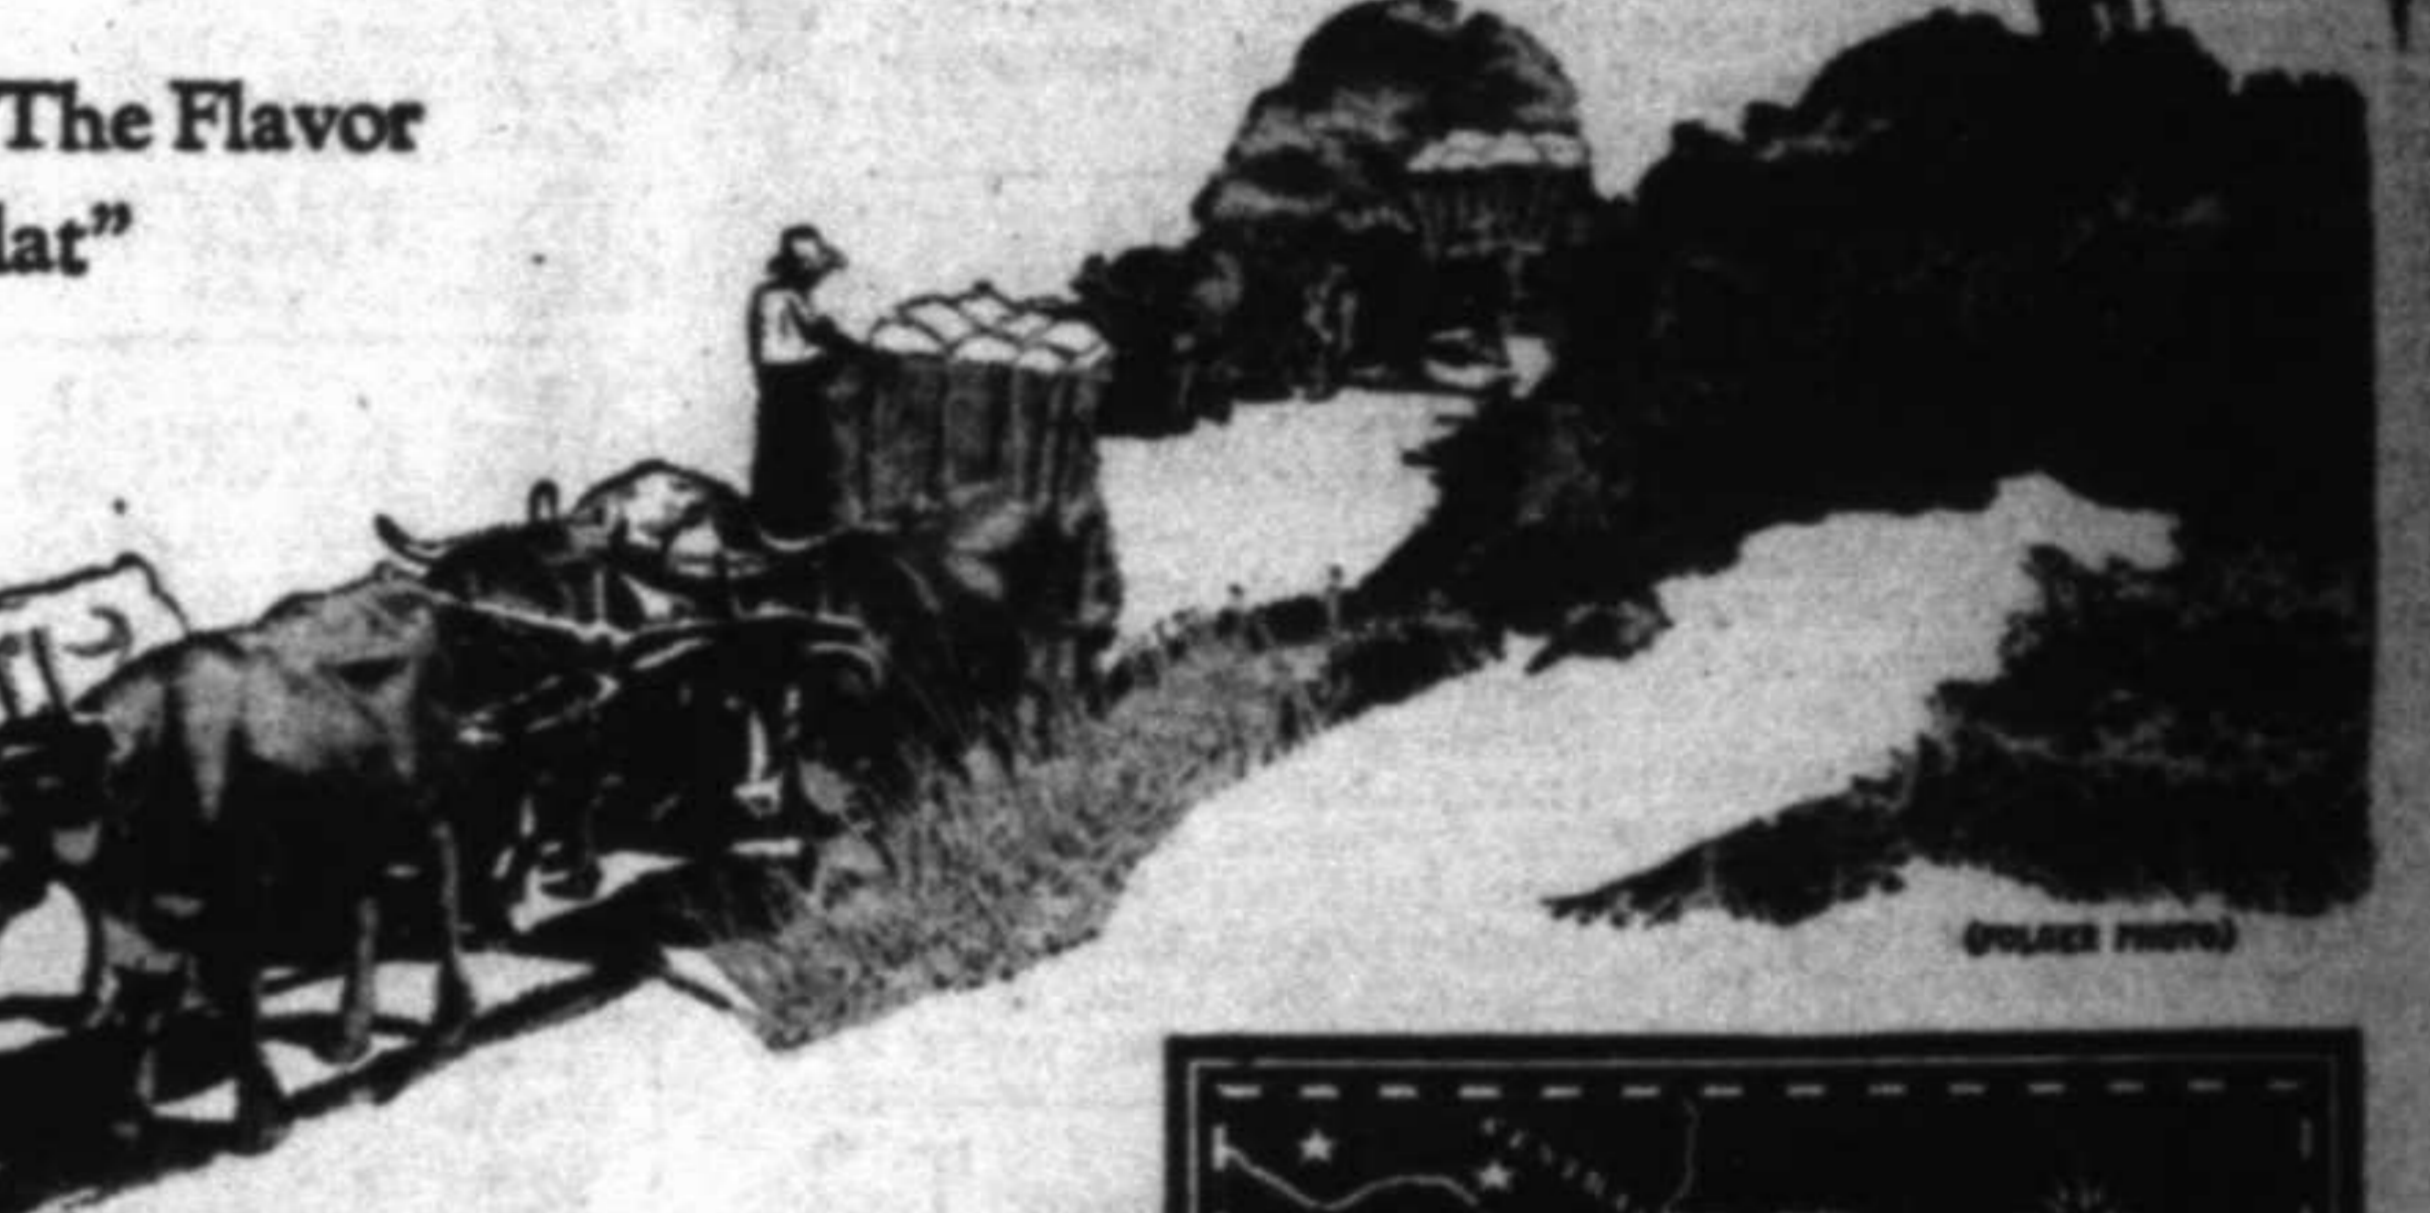

But please don't take our word for this. We want you to try it yourself and see.

First Introduced By Folger
Years ago these coffees were first served in the old Bohemian restaurants of metropolitan San Francisco where they were brought by Folger. Travelers tasting them there were captivated. They wrote back for shipments. Connoisseurs among the European nobility, it is said, even purchased private plantations in Central America to secure these rare coffees — first for their own tables, and later to exploit commercially in Europe.

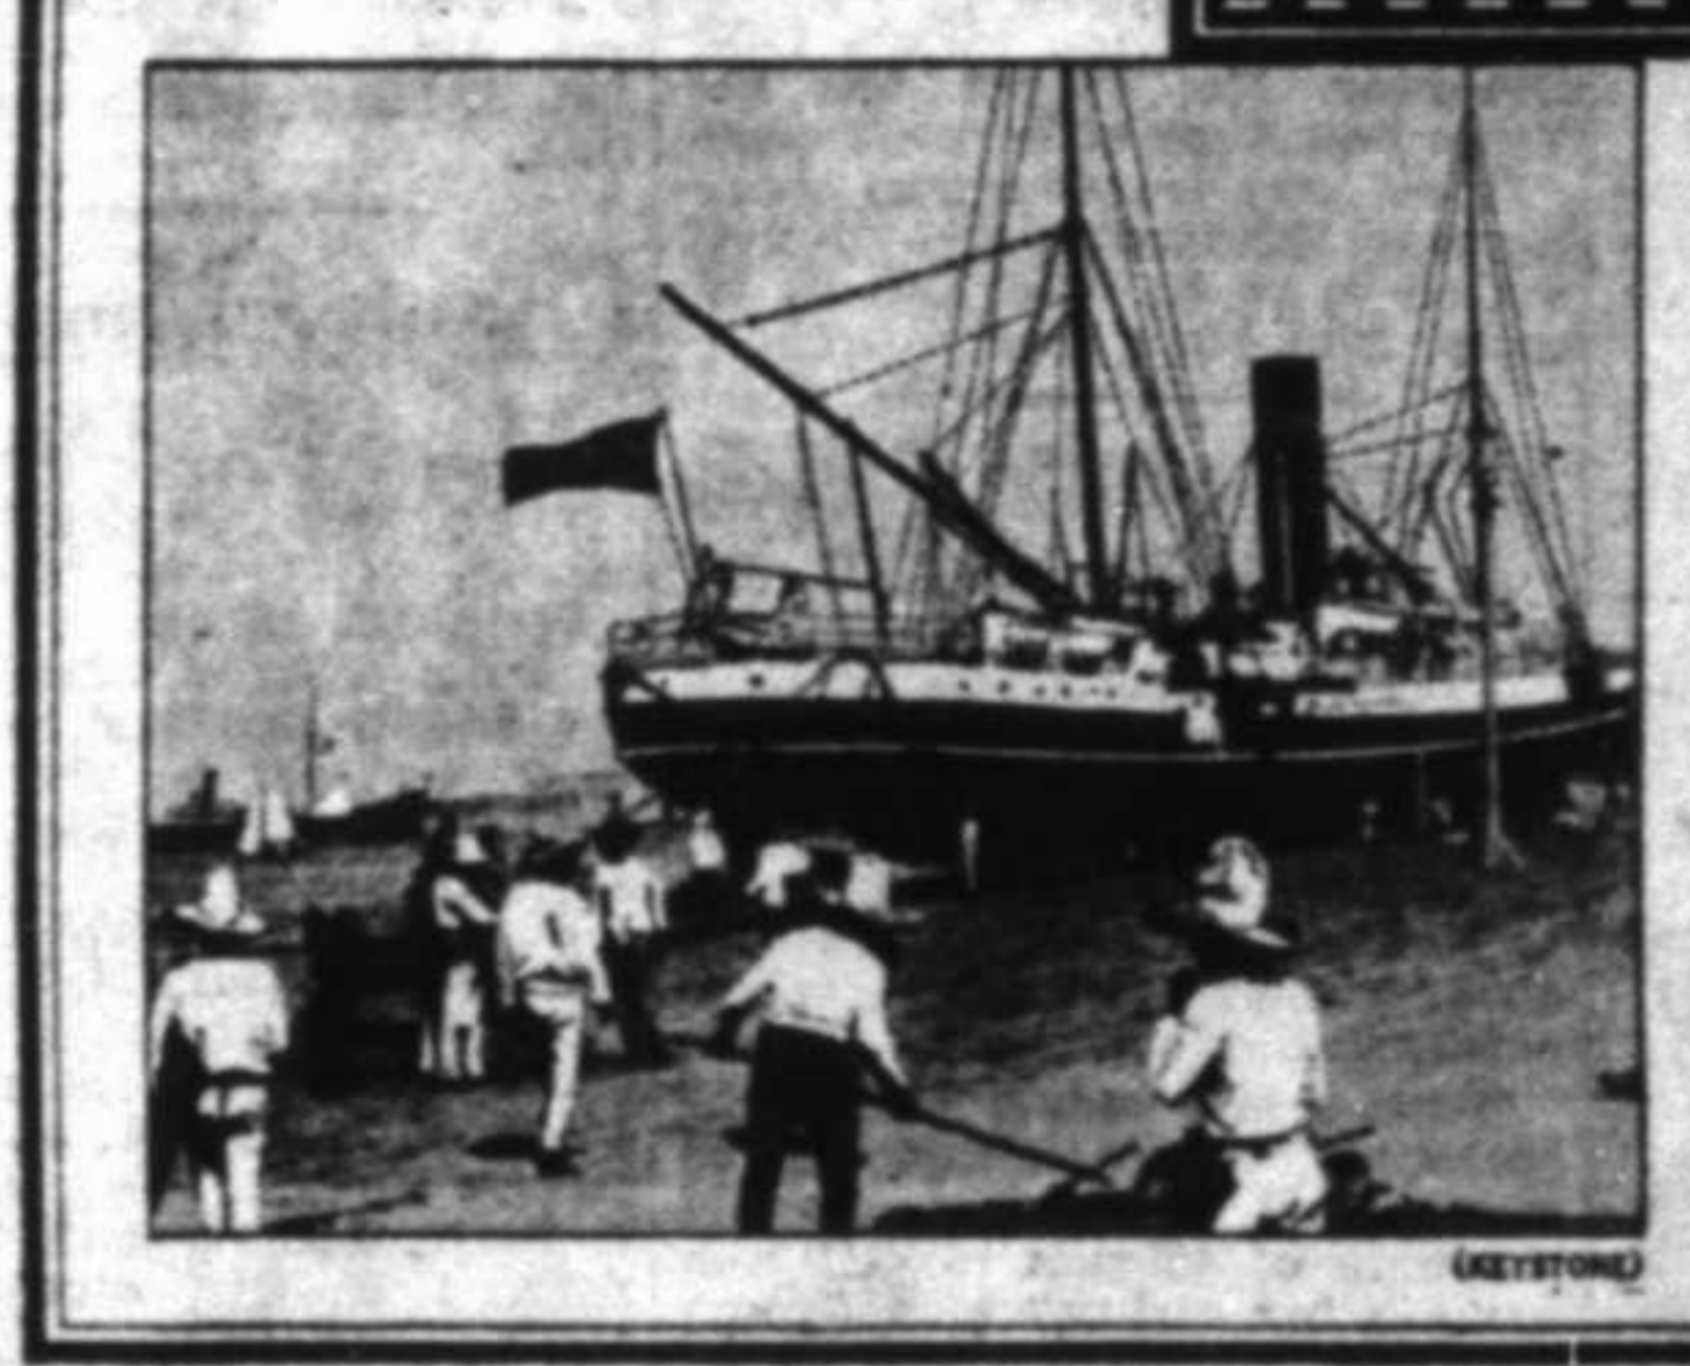

Through your grocer, Folger now brings you these coffees packed in flavor-sealed vacuum tins, always as fresh as they left the roasting ovens.

Accept A Pound To Try
Just go to your grocer and buy a pound of Folger's. Drink it tomorrow morning.

Next morning serve the coffee you have been using. The third morning serve Folger's again. Then choose between them.

If for any reason you decide against Folger's, your grocer will refund your money. We'll pay him. That's fair, isn't it?

Former Lubbock Girl Learning to Fly

(By Staff Correspondent) HOBBBS, N. M., Nov. 9.—Allie Slaton, a former resident of Lubbock, who has been living here for several months, has gone to Ardmore, Okla., where she is taking lessons in flying and has hopes of becoming a licensed pilot.

Miss Slaton was a waitress here. While living in Lubbock she became interested in flying, her mother, Mrs. L. D. McCurdy, said. "I used to hear about her air plane trips but she never told me what she did," Mrs. McCurdy said. "I knew she used to take trips from Hobbs to Dallas, Fort Worth, Lubbock and other towns in airplanes."

"While I was visiting a daughter in Klawas, Okla., Allie went to Ardmore. She had been taking lessons all along but I never knew it. She wrote her expected to be able to get her flying credit soon."

The girl has had enough instruction to make one or two solos, her mother said she was told. She added that she was unable to stop the girl, who is of age, from flying although she did persuade her once not to make a trip in a plane and jump with a parachute, at Amarillo, in a contest.

AMERICAN BAR IS FAVOR OF PRO REPEAL

BALLOTING OF MEMBERS OF ASSOCIATION SHOWS ATTITUDE

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The American Bar Association was placed on record today as favoring repeal of the 18th amendment.

A favorable vote of 13,779 to 6,460 was revealed by the association's headquarters on a referendum proposing: "That the American Bar Association favors the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the constitution of the United States."

To Be Announced
The result of the poll, in which approximately 75 per cent of the membership voted, will be officially announced in the December issue of the American Bar Association Journal.

Two ballots were mailed association members. The first was on proposal whether the association should take a referendum among its members on the repeal of the amendment and the other was on the proposal to repeal itself. The votes on each proposition were cast simultaneously.

The referendum proposal carried 4,782 votes to 5,623. Had the vote been adverse to the referendum, the ballots on the repeal would have been destroyed.

Determined Attitude
It was said the referenda were submitted with a view to formulating policy on possible legislation, but simply to determine the attitude of the membership.

The vote was instigated by petitions filed with the executive committee early this year by a large number of members. In line with the organization's policy, the referenda officially were announced in the June issue of the American Bar Association Journal and ballots then were distributed.

A spirited controversy over the proposed vote arose at the association's annual convention here in August, when opponents of the plan petitioned the executive committee to recall the ballots and abandon the poll. They argued that prohibition was a question of

Thieves Break Into Store In Lorenzo

By Staff Correspondent
LORENZO, Nov. 19.—Thieves some time Sunday evening broke a glass in the rear door of the Jones Dry Goods company store here and made away with merchandise estimated to be worth several hundred dollars.

Monday Manager Weatherly had checked over the stock and had found several good silk dresses, a ladies coat and two men's suits missing. A complete check of the stock will have to be made in order to determine the full extent of the loss.

Entrance was gained by first breaking the glass in the door and then lifting up a heavy wooden bar and unfastening the spring lock. The robbery was discovered about 9 o'clock.

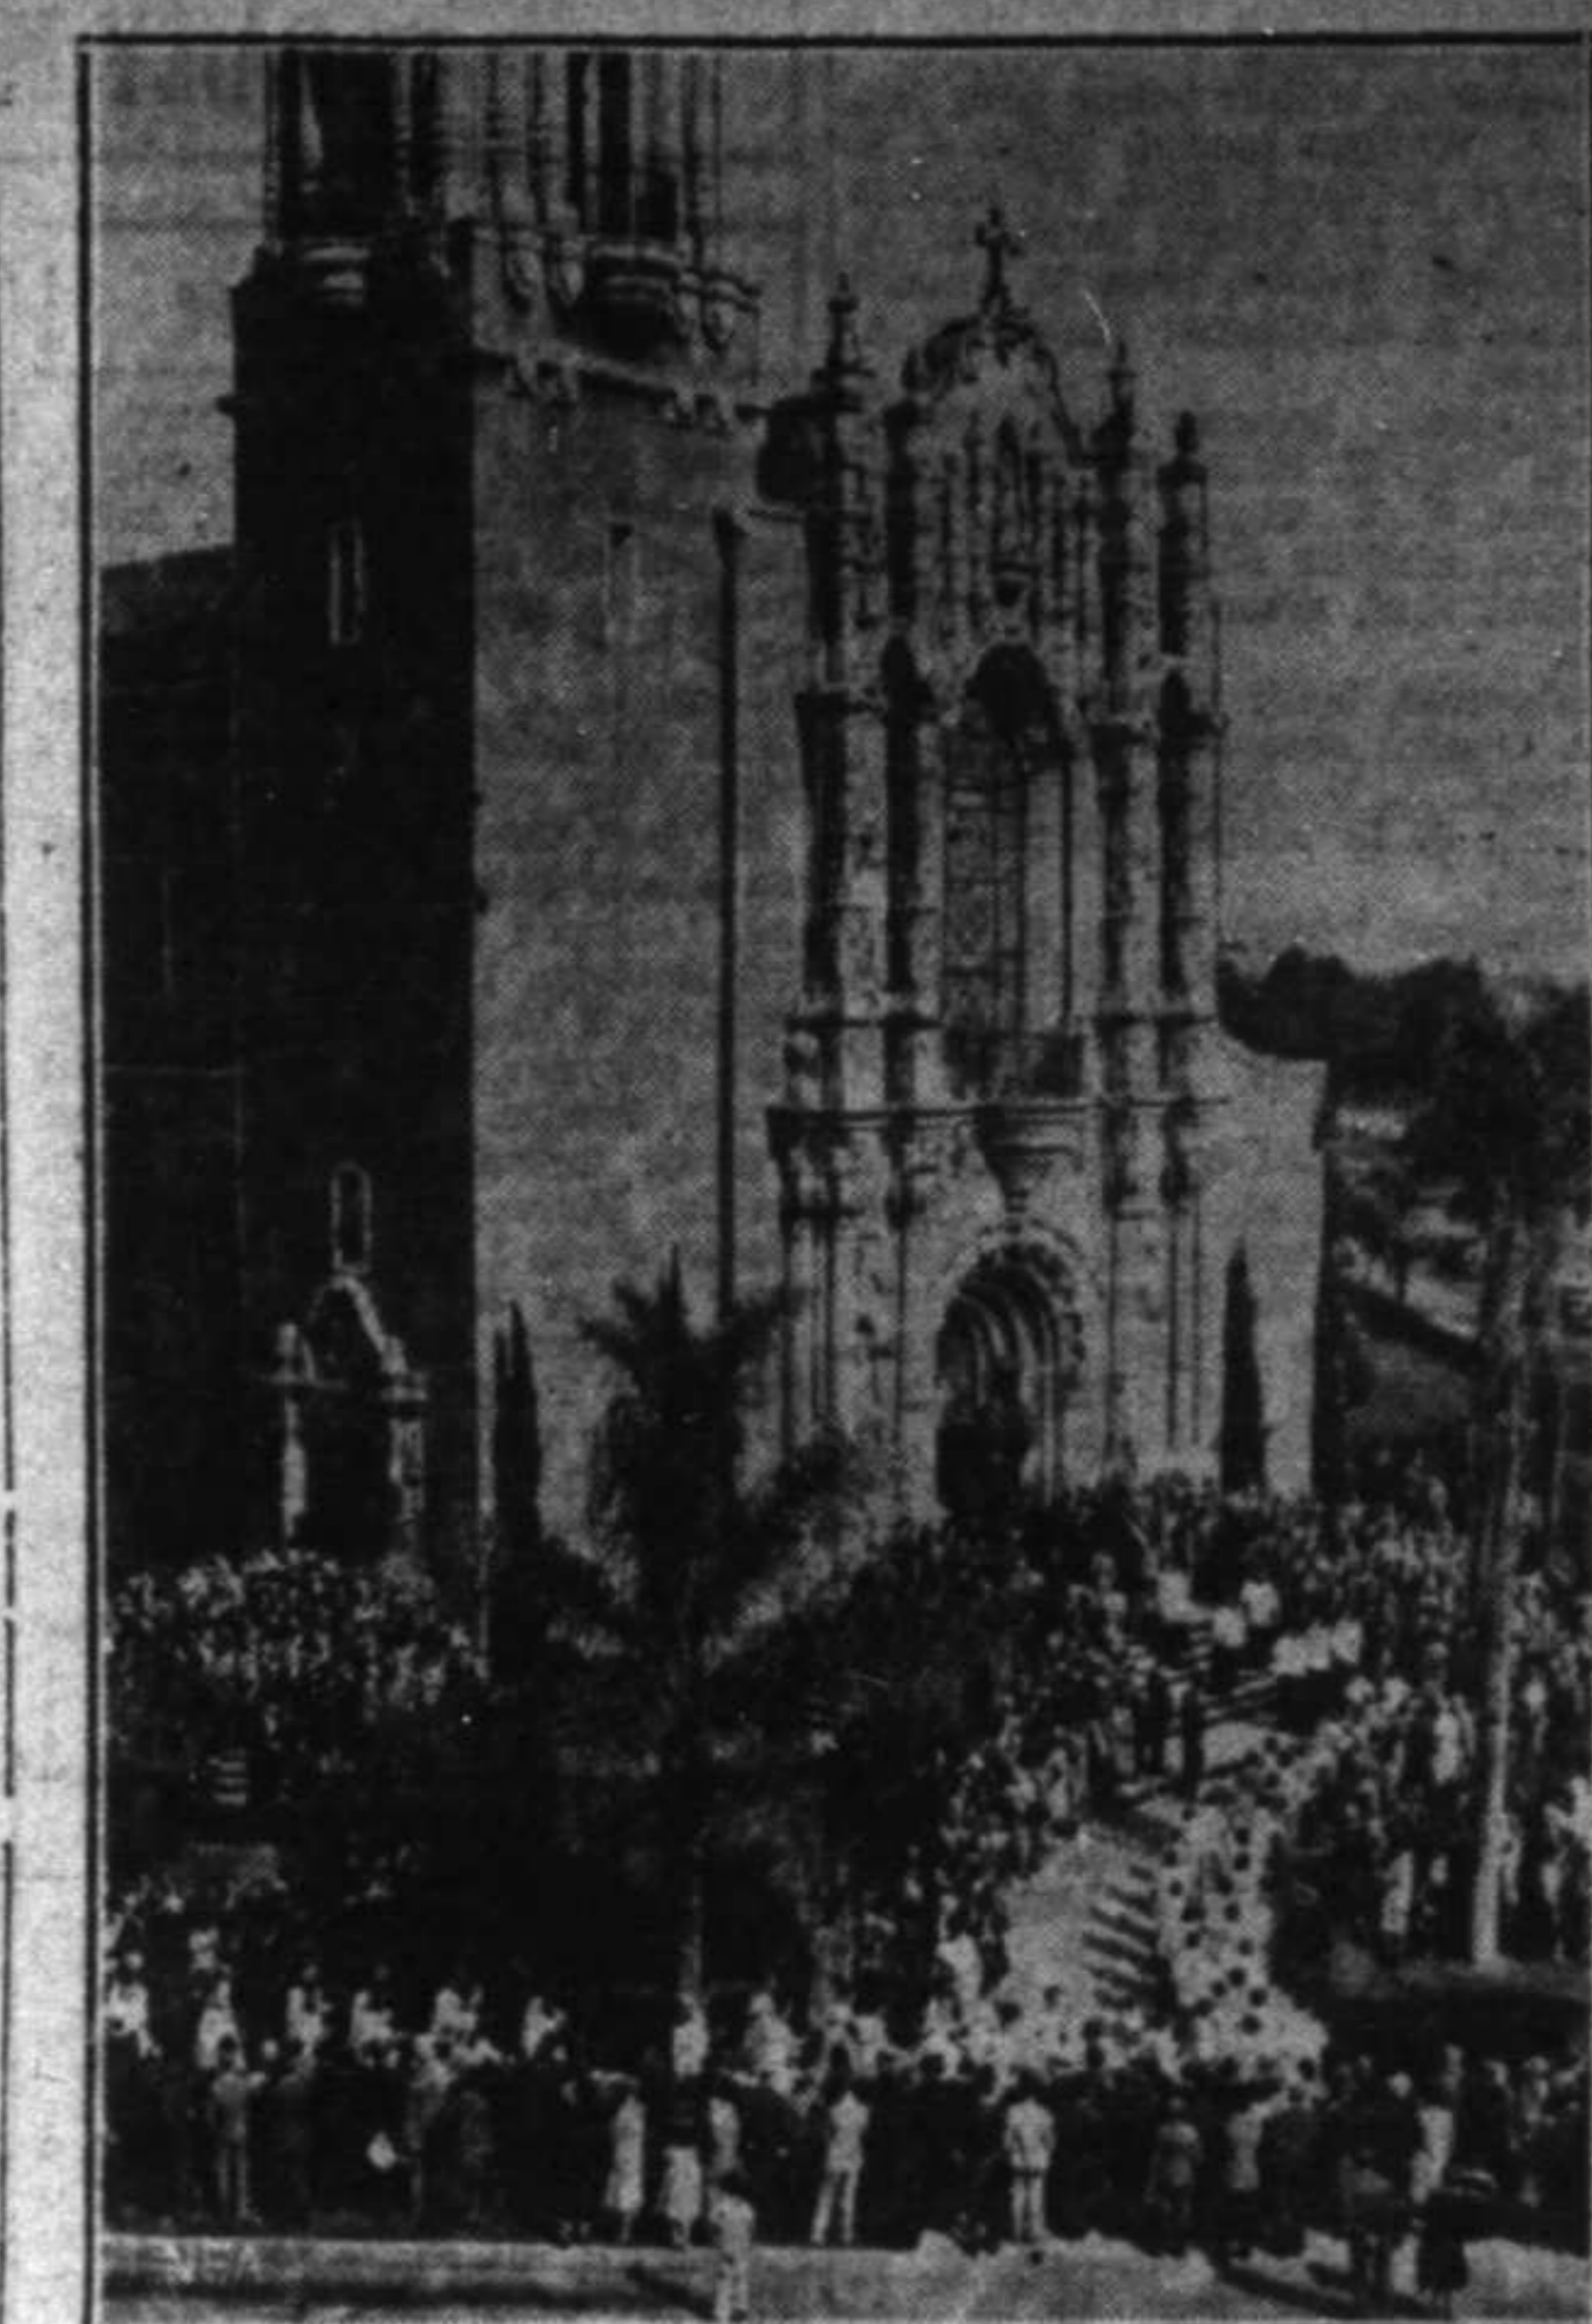

Sheriff Elmer Reed, with John Cook, night marshal investigated the case.

Unidentified Man Killed Near Marfa

MARFA, Nov. 19.—An unidentified man was killed here Sunday when he attempted to board a moving freight train, slipped and fell beneath the wheels. He was about 35 years old, of medium build, with blue eyes and brown hair. The only clue to identification was the name "E. J. Garner" or "Ormer" scrawled on the inside pocket of his coat.

Arizona requires health certificates by an authorized veterinarian from all dogs entering the state.

Doheny's $1,500,000 Church Consecrated

Erected at a cost of $1,500,000, given by E. L. Doheny, multimillionaire oil magnate, the church of St. Vincent de Paul was consecrated in Los Angeles in what was considered the most elaborate ceremony of the Catholic church ever seen on the west coast. Cardinal Hayes of New York was in charge of the rites; this picture shows the overflow crowds about the front of the church during the ceremony.

SCOTLAND YARD MAN RECONSTRUCTS FIRST "TORCH MURDER" IN ENGLAND

(By Associated Press)
NORTHAMPTON, England, Nov. 19.—One of those things for which Scotland Yard is famous in fiction has culminated England's first "torch murder" mystery. Sir Bernard Spilsbury, distinguished pathologist, has "reconstructed" the murder victim from a tiny wad of charred clothing.

Eight Banks Closed Down In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19 (AP)—Eight Kentucky financial institutions with resources totaling more than $70,000,000 were closed today. The largest of these was the National Bank of Kentucky at Louisville, which was under control of a receiver, Paul C. Keyes, of the staff of the comptroller of the currency at Washington. Its resources approximate $60,000,000.

Minority Party In Philippines Proposed

MANILA, Nov. 19 (AP)—General Emilio Aguinaldo, leader of the Philippine insurrection against the United States a generation ago, today was considering suggestions that he head a proposed new opposition political party in the islands.

COMING TO LUBBOCK

DIMMITT, Nov. 19.—(Special)—Members of the Dimmitt Lions club will establish headquarters in a Lubbock Hotel for the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing to be held there December 8 on the Texas and Northern Pacific application. A committee was named by President Charles H. Dean to attend to details of the trip and headquarters in Lubbock.

Body Burned In Car

He was killed and his body burned in an automobile on a lonely road near here on November 6, but that is all the police know about it. The "mystery woman" without which a case like this is hardly complete, made her debut today.

An attorney informed police that he had been retained to represent the interests of a woman who "might be concerned in the case." He did not give her name. Police had found a woman's high heeled shoe in the blazing car, and had at first assumed that it was a woman who had been killed, but Sir Bernard dispelled that theory with his laboratory magic.

Boundaries of Regional C. of C. Groups in Texas are Outlined in Map

For the purpose of more effective co-operation between the three regional chambers of commerce in Texas, and for the advancement and constructive development of the state, the fields of service of the three organizations have been agreed upon as shown by the accompanying map. Signatories to the agreement were Herbert M. Harrison, general manager, East Texas Chamber of Commerce, D. A. Bandeen, general manager, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Ray Leeman, general manager, South Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The All-State Council of Regional Chambers of Commerce, composed of the presidents and managers of the three organizations, meets quarterly in Austin, or upon call of the chairman, to exchange views and to consider jointly policies of action on matters concerning the economic welfare and progress of the state at large. Guy A. Blount of Nacogdoches, president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, is serving as chairman of the Council during the present quarter and Mr. Harrison, general manager, as secretary.

More extensive use of Texas-made products, on a basis of equal quality, price and service, is being advocated by the All-State Council through a campaign recently inaugurated. The council also voted in favor of a "See Texas First" Campaign. Referring to population, the Council of its initial meeting in Austin several months ago adopted the slogan "Texas—Third State in the Union by 1940."

AMARILLO WILL STAGE SHOW OF STOCK

MARCH 2-5 DATES SET FOR FIRST ANNUAL EXPOSITION

AMARILLO, Nov. 19.—(Special)—The Amarillo Fat Stock show was organized November 14 backed by five of the most powerful livestock associations in the Panhandle of Texas and by the Tri-State Fair and automobile men's association of Amarillo. Dates for the first exhibition will be March 2, 3, 4, 1931 and the site will be the Tri-State fair grounds at Amarillo.

The show will be incorporated as soon as possible and will be handled temporarily by an organization the Panhandle Livestock Producers' Association, the Panhandle Hereford Breeders' Association, the Panhandle Baby Beef Club, the Panhandle Swine Breeders' Association, and the Panhandle Boys' and Girls' Pig Clubs. Affiliated with this group will be the Tri-State Fair, the Amarillo Automobile Show association and possibly other organizations.

It is practically assured that the first show will be held simultaneously with the Panhandle Livestock association's annual convention and that the Panhandle Swine Breeders' association will also hold its convention here during the four days of the exhibition. The opening day should be unusual in that it will fall on Texas Independence Day, a state holiday, when all banks, and possibly all business houses, will close.

Temporary Officers Named
Temporary officers are: Wilbur O. Hawk, president of the Tri-State Fair association, president; Grover Hill, secretary of the Panhandle Livestock Producers' association; vice president; Earl Pugh, bank treasurer, and P. C. Bennett, Polk county agricultural agent, secretary. Members of the executive board, one from each participating organization are: W. E. Lish, Bennett, representing the Hereford Breeders' association, R. E. Frowitt, for the Swine men; W. M. Gouley, for the Baby Beef club; Grover Hill, Livestock association; P. C. Bennett, Boys' and Girls' Pig clubs; Ross Rogers, Tri-State Fair; and Roy Cullum, automobile men.

In addition, the secretaries of the various associations were named a sales and management committee, to work out details of the sale and management of the grounds during the show.

The executive board will work out the incorporation structure and permanent organization with the aid of Mayor E. O. Thompson, legal adviser. President Hawk will empowered to name such sub-committees as may be needed meanwhile.
