

TROOPS MOVING IN — British troops move in on stone-throwing Roman Catholics in the Bogside area of Londonderry, N. Ireland, after the Roman Catholics held a march through the city. Bus at left was hijacked and used as a barricade by the rioters. Nine British troops were injured during disorders in the city Sunday.

Manhunt Nets Five Of Six 'Hot' Escapees

HONOLULU (AP) — Police feared a shootout, but there was none—only meek surrenders as an intense manhunt netted five of six armed jail escapees.

Officers staged a surprise raid on a rented house in Honolulu's posh Kahala area late Sunday afternoon to capture three of the six men who forced their way out of the city-county jail with smuggled pistols Friday.

Four hours later, they arrested a fourth man as he walked along a highway near where another escapee had been arrested Saturday.

One man remained at large Sunday night: Edward Hose III, 32, who had been awaiting trial in the death of his wife.

At the house police arrested William K. Medeiros Jr., 25; Edward L. Silva, 24; and Daniel L. Cuevas, 21. They had all been jailed on murder charges.

Police arrested three young women in the house with them on suspicion of aiding the escape.

Later, a patrolling officer spotted Wendell Kealoha, 18, lying on a highway underpass near Keapuka, on the windward side of the island. Kealoha, who was awaiting action on charges of murder, rape and armed robbery, gave up without a fight.

His arrest took place not far from the spot at which officers Saturday nabbed William C. Brown, 21, who was in jail pending appeal of robbery, burglary and larceny charges on which he had been sentenced to 40 years in prison.

The arrests came as an anticlimax to the intensive manhunt pressed by police, who manned roadblocks and armed beefed-up patrols with M-16 rifles and shotguns.

LOOK OUT, CLOUDS Atmospheric Firm Arrives In Big Spring

Atmospherics Inc., the weather modifier engaged by the Colorado River Municipal Water district in hopes of nudging clouds into giving up some moisture, moved in Monday.

Crewmen got an eyeful of sand and of conditions which have been entirely too prevalent this winter and spring. The wind was whipping it up 20 miles per hour from the southwest, with gusts substantially higher. An early morning high, thin overcast was being dissipated.

The house trailer containing radar and electronic gear to be used by the operator was pulled into place and being activated by Fred Clark, chief electronic technician for Atmospherics. With him were Bob Munn, meteorologist, and Bill Carley, pilot. Munn and Carley will be based here through life of the contract which ends in October.

The radar equipment will scan the area in and proximity to the territory to be covered by Atmospherics in its cloud-seeding operations. The prime area is bounded roughly by US 87 north to the Dawson-Lynn line, east to US 84, south to about 12 miles south of Roscoe, west to US 87 in the Howard-Glasscock line, thence north to Big Spring. According to the original schedule, Atmospherics is due to be ready for operations by the end of the week.

Atmospherics, Inc. also has been retained by the Plains Weather Improvement Association, representing a 2,000-square mile area in Hale County and portions of Lamb, Floyd, Crosby, Castro, Swisher and Lubbock counties.

This will be a modification operation similar to the one for CRMWD. Last year Atmospherics ran an anti-hail program for the Plains association. Contract with the Plainview group calls for a start May 1 and will continue through Sept. 1 — unless there is too much rain. There also is an anti-hail program, which some few complained had stopped rain in the region.

Transit Strike In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bus, trolley and subway lines in the nation's fourth largest city were shut down by strikers today, forcing nearly a million daily transit riders to switch to commuter trains, car pools, chartered buses and taxis.

There were problems and inconveniences, and thousands arrived late for work, but the public seemed to be more prepared than ever for the strike, the city's 13th transit walkout. The last was 27 months ago, and lasted 5½ hours.

Thugs Beat Cop, Steal $10,000

HOUSTON (AP) — Night manager Dave Lasinski told police three gunmen forced him to open a safe and hand over about $10,000 early today at the Holiday Inn on Houston's Katy Freeway.

Officers said an off duty policeman happened by while the robbery was in progress about 4:20 a.m. and was beaten by the bandits. The trio took his pistol and identification as they fled.

Snow Slides Claim Seven

VIENNA (AP) — At least seven people were killed and many others suffered shock or injuries when snow slides hit tourist groups on Austrian ski slopes during the Easter weekend.

Authorities had repeatedly issued warnings, attempting to discourage parents and teachers from letting schoolchildren go to ski areas threatened with avalanches. But at least two groups of students were caught by snowslides, and a 13-year-old West German girl was among those killed.

AIR MAIL LETTERS DELIVERED NEXT DAY Postal Service Sticks Neck Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said today the postal service will begin a program April 22 under which air mail letters would be delivered the next day to major cities within a 600-mile radius.

Outlining what he termed the first national service goal of the reorganized postal system, Blount said the promise to speed up air mail delivery marks "the first time the postal service has stuck its neck out like this."

A secondary goal is to achieve second-day delivery of all air mail letters between most major cities in the continental United States, Blount said.

"We will begin implementing this unprecedented service goal by April 22 and, as we gain operating experience under this new program, I expect a successful performance rate of at least 95 per cent to be achieved by July," Blount said.

He told a news conference that next-day delivery is now achieved for only 24 per cent of the 2.25 billion pieces of air mail sent each year.

The price of an air mail stamp, now a dime, will go up to 11 cents when temporary postage rate increases become effective in mid-May. The postal service has not officially designated a date, but Blount and others have spoken in terms of higher rates by May 16.

Blount said the new goals for air mail delivery are "the first of several major, definitive plans that we have on the drawing board for comprehensive service improvements."

Airlines Get Go Light To Up Domestic Fares

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board gave the scheduled airlines permission today to raise domestic fares as much as 6 per cent early next month.

The board also proposed that within 30 days, if no exceptions are filed, the airlines be permitted coach fare increases up to 9 per cent.

The CAB ruling came at the end of the first stage of a massive fare investigation. Remaining stages, having to do with discount fares and general fare structure, will be decided later.

6 PER CENT LID

The immediate increase of 6 per cent cannot be added on top of recent selective increases granted by the board to various airlines in congested markets.

The airlines will be permitted increases only to the extent that prior increases do not reach 6 per cent, the board said.

Where certain recent increases exceed 9 per cent over the fares that were in effect last Oct. 15, the fares must be rolled back not later than May 14 to the 9 per cent level.

Where previous increases exceed 6 per cent but are less than 9 per cent, the airlines may retain such fares in effect.

The CAB decision thus permits a $2.00 increase in the coach fare between Atlanta and Memphis, from $32 to $34, including tax; a $5 increase between Detroit and Miami, to $86; and a $1 increase between Indianapolis and Washington, to $45.

On the Boston-New York route, where increases were granted recently, the coach fare will be cut back from $26 to $24.

The board also proposed for the first time to establish load standards and seating standards in the calculation of fares.

The board said the 9 per cent fare increase is based on a finding that the average load is 32.5 per cent of capacity.

The CAB noted that this load factor dropped in actual operations from 57.2 per cent in 1967 to 50 per cent in 1969 and 48 per cent for the year ending last September 30.

"A policy of basing fares on actual load factors can only lead to increasing over capacity, with the traveling public being asked to pay higher fares to compensate the carriers for the cost of operating an increasing number of empty seats," the board said.

"This result is virtually inevitable because schedules constitute the major competitive device of carriers in their efforts to preserve and enhance their participation in the traffic markets which they serve."

Peking Commies Welcome Ping Pong Team, Newsmen

Editor's Note: John Roderick of The Associated Press is one of three American newsmen admitted to Communist China to cover the tour of the U.S. table tennis team. It is the first time such permission has been granted to a group of correspondents since the Communists came to power in 1949. Roderick, 34, was an AP correspondent in China in 1945-46 and has served in the Tokyo bureau since 1955.

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

PEKING (AP) — The warm welcome extended by the Chinese to the visiting U.S. table tennis team and three American newsmen admitted to China to cover their tour offers encouraging prospects for wider people-to-people contacts between the Chinese and the Americans.

The table tennis team is the first U.S. group of any kind invited to the Chinese mainland since the People's Republic was proclaimed in 1949.

BIGGEST STORY
Our news assignment is to cover the team. But the biggest story of all — China — is all around.

It is too soon to say that all the barriers which have kept Americans out of China and Chinese out of America for so many years are coming down. But a hole has been made in the once impenetrable wall.

Not that official relations have changed or are about to do so. The Vietnam war and U.S. backing of Chiang Kai-shek bar the way to rapprochement. But the springlike warmth in U.S.-China contacts at this unofficial level cannot fail to melt some of the ice that has congealed in the long winter of hostility.

This is my first dispatch from China in 22 years. And Americans are welcome in the People's Republic—an event which would have seemed incredible only a few weeks ago.

I crossed the border from Hong Kong at 10:30 on a sunny Easter morning with John Rich and Jack Reynolds of the National Broadcasting Co. and two of their Japanese television crewmen, Hiromasa Yamanaka and Masaaki Shihara.

HERE BEFORE
With us were four other newsmen, John Saar, an Englishman, and Frank Fischbeck, a West German, both of Time-Life, and Jose Schlesinger and Bob Whyte from the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

Only Rich and I had ever been to China, and we were here in the years before the Communist takeover.

From the border to Peking, it was all smiles and handshakes.

At Shumchun, across the border, we went through the complex of official buildings at an orderly pace, sipping tea, changing our money and lunching on duck, chicken, pork, squid and abalone washed down by Chinese beer.

The 15 members of the team, officials arrived in Peking Saturday night and spent much of Sunday sightseeing about the city's streets.

Sunday night the All-China Sports Federation gave a reception for the team, and expressions of friendship were exchanged.

GOOD WISHES
"The Chinese people and the American people have always been friendly to each other," Li Ching-chuan, a leading member of the sports federation, told the Americans. "We express our good wishes for the American sportsmen and people."

Graham Steenhoven of Detroit, president of the U.S. Table Tennis Association, replied: "On behalf of all Americans, I think you from the bottom of my heart."

Everywhere Chairman Mao Tse-tung beamed on us from billboards on the side of the track, statues inside the public buildings and from the lapels of countless, blue-jacketed Chinese.

S-City Crash Kills Three

STERLING CITY — Three persons died and four more were hurt in the head-on collision of two pickups at 7:30 p.m. Saturday two miles south of here on US 87.

Mrs. Charles (Sue) Adair, 26, of 2801 San Antonio St., San Angelo, and Jesus M. Rodriguez, 58, and Ricardo M. Rodriguez, 21, both of Sterling City, were killed.

Isabel M. Rodriguez, 16, and Maria Medina Rodriguez, both of Sterling City, were reported in poor condition at Shannon Hospital in San Angelo. Alfredo Castro, 54, Sterling City, also was taken there and reported in critical condition. Ysabel S. Perez, 42, Sterling City, was taken to the Sterling Hospital.

State Highway Patrolman H. E. Edwards, Sterling City, and Sgt. Eddie Boyd, San Angelo, investigated.

Landfill Project Wins State Award

Big Spring has been named in the 1971 Conservation Awards Program winner of the waste disposal portion of environmental improvement of municipalities.

The recently completed sanitary landfill project east of town was submitted by the Howard-Martin-Midland conservation district in January for competition in the program.

"We are very proud that our city's sanitary project has been recognized in this manner and we wish to thank all those people connected with the landfill for their cooperation in the effort to update our method of waste disposal," said Arnold Marshall, mayor.

There were two other winners in the awards program from this district. KMID-TV, Midland, was named for the television station state entry and KOSA-TV, Odessa, was named for the television station region entry.

Special state-wide recognition will be given these plus many other organizations and individuals for outstanding efforts in conservation of the state's resources at the 26th annual Texas Conservation Awards Banquet May 1, 1971 at the Texas Christian University Student Center Ballroom, Fort Worth, at 7 p.m.

Walter R. Humphrey, chairman of the program and founder of this event, will be master of ceremonies at the meeting.

Easter Egg Hunt Ends In Tragedy

An Easter egg hunt ended in tragedy Sunday afternoon when Michael Allen Massingill, 7, was killed when a pile of gravel on which he was playing caved in on him. Michael was pronounced dead due to suffocation on arrival at Medical Center Memorial Hospital. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Massingill, Vealmoor.

The accident occurred at James gravel pit about two miles north of Vealmoor. Michael was among a group of children who were in the area with their parents for an Easter egg hunt. Several children had been playing in the area, according to witnesses, but Michael was the only one on the gravel pile when it collapsed. He was under the gravel for about 20 minutes before he could be freed, according to information from the Howard County sheriff's office.

Michael was born Aug. 8, 1963, in Big Spring, and attended school at Gail.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. Tuesday in Trinity Baptist Church with the Rev. Claude N. Craven officiating. Arrangements are by Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors include his parents; one sister, Rebecca Renee Massingill; and one brother, Matthew Doran Massingill, both of the home; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Massingill, Vealmoor; and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Buchanan, Big Spring.

Palbearers will be Ricky Crittenden, Randy Crittenden, Jimmy Buchanan, Roger Lyons, Mark Massingill and Gary Green.

A MONUMENT TO DEATH — A six-car accident on IS 94 west of Wyoming, Mich., Sunday afternoon has so far claimed six lives with as many as 20 others injured. The Detroit police closed this section of IS 94 for a short period to aid in the removal of the wreckage.

'Hero' Faces Counts Of Striking Nurse

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Marine Lance Cpl. Charles Stewart, who lost both legs when he stepped on a mine in the jungles of Vietnam, faces charges of striking a nurse.

Stewart, who has been hospitalized since his Aug. 1 mishap, and the Navy agree he struck a nurse at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital moments before an operation was scheduled to repair his badly damaged right arm.

The nurse holds the rank of lieutenant commander.

Stewart, 19, of Connelville, Pa., said he was being restrained by four corpsmen and accidentally struck the nurse in the eye as she was about to take

He said later he was "real uptight, scared" on Feb. 3, the day of the incident.

The nurse said Stewart directed coarse language at her during the incident, leading her to file additional charges of using reproachful words and behaving with disrespect to a superior officer.

Stewart related his feelings about the incident as he was being prepared for a second operation on his arm.

"I had a lot of operations, 10 I think. They told me not many guys ever survived stepping on a shell like that. Everything was shot but my heart and left lung. My big worry was losing my right arm. Hell, a double amputee and then a triple amputee. That's not good."

The nurse, Lt. Cmdr. Rosemary Geraghty, said she told Stewart she was going to take another blood sample before his operation because a previous sample had clotted.

"His back was turned," she said. "I tapped him on the shoulder. That's when he came out of the bed and hit me in the eye. I wear contact lenses. I was hurt. Not seriously, no. I called the corpsmen to hold him down because I couldn't get to him."

Stewart has hired two Philadelphia attorneys to defend him.

$36 Million Oil Well Fire

NEW ORLEANS La. (AP) — The last tenacious oil well fire flamed on today at Shell Oil Co.'s ravaged offshore platform in the Gulf of Mexico, despite two days of continuous efforts to finally end the 133-day-old fire that has cost $36 million.

Fed by 11 wild wells at its height, the oil industry's costliest offshore blaze had been reduced to the size of a bonfire last week when one of the remaining two wild wells was killed.

Since Saturday, crews have pumped tons of chemical "mud" and water into a relief shaft drilled into the oil pool below the Gulf bottom in hope of clogging the wild well.

The platform, 60 miles south of New Orleans, exploded Dec. 1, killing four men.

Less Than Half Of Young Buying 'American Dream'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A study prepared for the White House Conference on Youth indicates less than half the nation's young believe in "the American dream."

Asked their opinion on the statement, "Everyone has a chance to get ahead in this country," only 39 per cent of 5,837 youths between the ages of 14 and 24 questioned by the Gilbert Routh Research Corp. agreed.

The study is part of 10 task force reports prepared for the conference called next week by President Nixon in Estes Park, Colo., to consider problems of the nation's young.

"We propose that the Indochina war be made the first order of business of the conference and call for an immediate and complete withdrawal from that conflict," says the task force on employment and the economy.

WAR ISSUE

"It has become clear that the Indochina war is an overwhelming issue with ramifications in many areas being explored by the conference," it says. "We have tried to look beyond the war, but we keep coming back to its impact."

The United States must "admit mistakes openly instead of making vain efforts to rectify errors in judgment under the guise of saving the country from defeat," declares the report of a task force on foreign relations.

It also calls for establishing diplomatic relations with every nation in the world.

The task force on poverty hits at what it calls Congress' willingness to knuckle under to demands of local politicians for control of federal antipoverty programs.

WELFARE

It recommends replacement of the welfare system with "an income program which guarantees every person in American sufficient cash income for decent and adequate standards of food, shelter and clothing."

The task force on drugs could come to no agreement on whether marijuana should be legalized. Instead, it calls for "acceptance of unconventional drug programs run and controlled by individuals involved in the drug subculture."

Of 1,400 delegates scheduled to attend the conference, 1,000 are between the ages of 14 and 24. They will base their deliberations on the task force reports.

Conference literature says 20 per cent are college students, 40 per cent high school students, 35 per cent working youths and 5 per cent in the military.

Hoffa Will Return To Cell After Visit With Ill Wife

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — James R. Hoffa will return to federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., Tuesday after a six-day visit with his wife who is hospitalized here with a serious heart condition, their son says.

James P. Hoffa Jr., 30, said Sunday he would accompany his father back to the prison where the Teamsters Union president has served four years of a 13-year term for jury tampering and mail fraud.

A daughter, Barbara Crancer of St. Louis, and a stepson, Charles O'Brien of Detroit, will stay here to be near Mrs. Hoffa, the younger Hoffa said.

Hoffa, 58, and the children made morning, afternoon and evening trips to the University of California Medical Center on Sunday to visit Mrs. Hoffa.

"Because it was Easter we took some colored eggs and jelly beans," said the son.

The younger Hoffa said his mother appeared improved cisco for some weeks after her release from the hospital. Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons has headed the Teamsters since Hoffa was imprisoned in 1967 and is in line for elevation to the presidency at the union's convention in July.

Commissioners Okay Tallies

County commissioners canvassed and accepted the vote tallies of the county trustee election today in commissioners court, and accepted and approved the tax assessor-collector's final statement on state funds collected in 1970.

In other action, commissioners heard a report from Hollis Randall, road and bridge administrator, on his department's operations, and authorized him to designate Hooser Street in Sand Springs as a 30 mph zone. The designation had been requested by Sand Springs residents.

Commissioners adjourned shortly before noon after completing action on the two items on their agenda.

Bentsen Speaker At Dedication

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen Jr., D-Tex., will speak Tuesday at the dedication of $12 million worth of campus improvements at Pan American University.

Bentsen is to speak at 10:45 a.m. at the flag-raising ceremony during the celebration of Pan American Week.

Flags of all nations in the organization of American States will be displayed.

The actual dedication of the buildings will be by Henry Morris, chairman of regents of the Lower Rio Grande Valley school.

The new buildings are the science building, the health and physical education complex, fine arts center, cooling plant and covered walkway, the expanded student center and the remodeled and expanded library.

Bentsen, a native of the Valley and a former Valley congressman, will be making his first public appearance in the area since he took over as Texas' junior senator in January.

Burglars Hit Coahoma Grocery

Saturday's burglary of Bates Grocery in Coahoma is being investigated by the Howard County sheriff's office. Sheriff A. N. Standard said that arrests in the case were expected to be made today.

A radio, watches, cartons of cigarettes and items of clothing were taken in the burglary. Part of the stolen clothing has been recovered, according to Sheriff Standard.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ 7 5 2 ♦ Q J 8 5 3 ♣ 9 5 4 ♠ 10

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Surely game is out of the question. If you bid again, even the most tolerant partner will look for more than a queen and two jacks in your hand.

Q. 2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ K 7 ♦ K Q 9 7 6 ♣ A J 2 ♠ 6 5 3

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass

4 ♠ Pass 4 ♦ Pass

6 ♥ What do you bid now?

A.—Seven hearts. North's bidding is practically the most colossal known to man. Partner is willing to predict that you can win 12 tricks on the basis merely of your hearts and diamonds. Surely he must have allowed for the loss of a trick to the king of spades, and on that basis your grand slam is justified.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable. Partner opens with three no trump. You hold:

♠ A 5 7 6 5 ♦ Q J 10 9 4 ♠ K 10 7 5

What do you bid?

A.—On a basis of simple arithmetic you should contract for a small slam in no trump. You have a count of nine and partner has a minimum of 25.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ K Q 7 ♦ K 4 3 2 ♠ A K 10 8 5

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—There is not much doubt of a slam in the hand. But in order to determine the best contract, there must be some further investigation. The recommended bid at this point is a jump shift to three diamonds, and the subsequent actions will depend on partner's behavior.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ 2 ♦ A K 7 6 4 2 ♠ K 7 ♠ A J 9 5

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Dust Off Family Coat Of Arms; It's New Craze In Decorating

If there's a skeleton in your closet, leave it there. But if there's a family coat of arms in your attic, dust it off and hang it over the fireplace.

That's the advice of interior design consultant Mary Ann Willis, who reports that ancestry is the latest thing in this age of anything-goes decorating ideas.

Pink, Blue Party Held Saturday

Mrs. Don McCown was honored with a baby shower Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Tommy Rutledge on the campus of Howard County Junior College.

The table was centered with a pink and blue ceramic baby bootie, with an arrangement of pink daisies which was given to the honoree. She also received an electric food-warming dish and a baby bathtub.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Tommy Jordan, were both given corsages of pink daisies accented with blue baby rattles.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Johnny Freeman of Denton and Miss Kathy Johnson. Refreshments were served to about 15 guests from white milk glass appointments.

Berta Becketts Hold Luncheon

The Berta Beckett Sunday school class of the First Baptist Church met for an Easter luncheon at the church Saturday with the invocation being given by Mrs. O. N. Green.

After a brief business session, Mrs. Bernice Slater presented a devotion based on the 23rd Psalm. Group singing was accompanied by Mrs. J. E. Hardesty.

Guests welcomed were Mrs. Pearl Rogers, Mrs. Inez Lewis, Mrs. R. L. Heith and Miss Joy Jarvis, the latter of Atlanta, Ga.

Tables were decorated in an Easter motif, with the centerpiece being an arrangement of Easter lilies. The next meeting will be May 8.

Mike Faulkners Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Faulkner, 901 S. Pioneer, Abilene, announce the birth of a son, Michael Stephen H., at 4:23 a.m., April 10. The infant weighed 7 pounds, 7½ ounces. The Faulkners are formerly of Big Spring, where he was employed by KBYG Radio. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Faulkner, 1418 Wood, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Morgan, 406 E. 22nd.

Cut Threads At Laundry Time

Threads may unravel after washing and drying clothes. Keep a pair of scissors handy wherever you fold or iron freshly-laundried garments.

It's a good time to cut hanging threads rather than having to do it when you are dressing.

Golden Age Club Meets For Party

WESTBROOK (SC) — Music and domino games provided entertainment when the Golden Age Club met last week in the club house. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Doug Barber and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shaw, new members, and Mr. and Mrs. Denver Hays, guests from Coahoma.

Sweatt-Ott Wedding Performed In Home

The April 6 wedding of Miss Charlotte Ott to Ronald Sweatt is being announced by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ott of Euless. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sweatt, 3308 Drexel.

The couple was married in the home of the bridegroom's parents with the Rev. Elra Phillips, assistant pastor of First United Methodist Church, performing the ceremony. The ritual was held before an improvised altar accented with white candles and white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

The couple was attended by Miss Audrey Arnold, bridesmaid, and Marcus Sweatt, best man.

The bride, a graduate of John Tarleton State College, Stephenville, is a government teacher at Big Spring High School. The bridegroom, a science teacher at Runnels Junior High School, was graduated from Sul Ross University at Alpine.

A reception honoring the couple was held in the home where the refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth. The tiered cake, decorated with blue roses, was served by Mrs. Larkin Martin, and Mrs. Don Tousley of Austin presided at the punch bowl. Miss Agnes Currie presided at the guest registry, and others in the house party were Mrs. Virgil Smedley and Mrs. Morris Molpus.

Those attending from out of town, other than the bride's parents, were Mr. and Mrs. Mickey McMeans, Gail, Don Tousley, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Fagan Johnson, Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. George Sweatt, Westbrook; Mr. and Mrs. Denver Hays, Coahoma; and Mr. and

Modern Forum Holds Federation Day Program

Mrs. C. R. Moad discussed 22 countries which have international federated clubs for the Federation Day program of the Modern Woman's Forum Friday in the First Federal Community Room.

Mrs. Margaret White was the hostess. In conjunction with the year's theme, "Armchair Travelogue," Mrs. Moad said that the over-all purpose of the international and federated clubs is "peace through understanding, by striving for a better environment."

"Women everywhere are aware of the problems of their people and are eager to solve these problems so that peace may come to all the world," said Mrs. Moad. "The scope of women's clubs extends into every phase of home life and community planning, offering aid and hospitality to foreign visitors and scholarships for youth."

Mrs. Moad also said that foreign clubs now participate in CARE programs and community improvement programs to help create a better environment.

There are 54 countries with and Mrs. White presented her with a potted hydrangea plant. An Easter motif was used for decorations. The next meeting is at 3 p.m., April 23, in the Holiday Inn. Mrs. J. S. Sims will be the hostess.

Wedding Shower Held Thursday

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. William G. Cöcke, the former Valeria (Vee) Iglehart, was honored with a bridal shower Thursday in the First United Methodist Church.

Decorations and floral arrangements carried out the bride's wedding colors of orange and white. Mrs. Jug Rees presided at the gift register, while Miss Judy Chambers and Miss Sue Bell served refreshments. The bride's sister, Mrs. Cleburne Rich, registered guests.

Hostesses were Mrs. Edgar Andrews, Mrs. Frank Oglesby, Mrs. Price Hendrix, Mrs. L. E. Gressett, Mrs. C. L. Rees, Mrs. Rees, Mrs. James Jarratt, Mrs. Floyd Ritchey, Mrs. Sam Oden, Mrs. George Sweatt, Mrs. Clyde Chambers and Mrs. L. R. Messimer.

The couple was married March 6 in Westbrook. Both attend North Texas State University where she will receive a BA degree in English and he an MA degree in personnel management in May.

Odessan Is Speaker For Society

Mrs. Andrew Horn discussed her native country of Scotland, its people and customs, when she was guest speaker Thursday evening for the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring. Accompanied by her husband, she was introduced by Miss Gladys Burpham, second vice president.

Mrs. Horn said the "old" language is Gaelic, but the present dialect is "broad Scots" which was used by the national poet, Robert Burns. She recited one of his compositions, "Poem to a Mouse."

"The staple food of the Scots is oatmeal," said Mrs. Horn. It is used as many things: a cereal food, as a facial mask, and years ago, even as a toothpaste. Water, in which oats have been soaked, is used for medicinal purposes. Other popular foods are venison, veal, lamb, poultry and fish.

The speaker told the history of the kilt, noting that each clan has its own tartan, the same plaid being used on bagpipes. The Highland dress, the kilt, was forbidden by the English from 1748 to 1782. It was during this time that approximately 20,000 Highlanders left Scotland to make their home in Canada and the United States.

Other guests at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne M. Lowry of Michigan, Mrs. Geraldine Dearth, Mrs. Roxie Edwards and Mrs. Bea Davis. New officers will be elected and installed at the next meeting, May 13, in the Howard County Library.

Return Home

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harrell and son, Timothy, have returned to their home in Longview following a weekend visit with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Anderson.

A LOVELIER YOU Spring Is Upon Us; Feet Go On Review

By MARY SUE MILLER

If a lovely is on her toes, she's giving some thought to her feet. Open platform shoes and sling-backs follow fashion's paths. The foot just cannot go unnoticed. The more open a shoe, the more foot on view.

Better turn in those pump bumps, calloused spots and ridged toenails. Remember, spring shoes are merely a prelude to the bare foot of a beach belle.

There'd be an immediate improvement were pedicures more frequent and expert. Since a good pedicure follows the same general procedure as a manicure, we girls should be adept. The only departure is clipping or filing toenails straight across, even with toe tips. No long ovals! At the finish line, either buff or apply enamel following manicure techniques. The preferred shades for the toes are clear, or opaque pale pink. Another scheme, new again, is to use a deep color that blends with the shade worn on the nails. Deep colors are a fine camouflage for ridged toenails.

Stubborn callouses or pump bumps respond to a nightly soaking at bedtime and then a massage with a toilet pumice or lotion. An electromagnetic pumice wheel also does an effective job.

Take such problems as corns and bunions to a podiatrist, lest you limp along fashion's path. To your foot comfort and health, a professional pedicure right now would pay dividends.

Have a happy — feet, that is!

YOUR GROOMING

Put aside your grooming doubts and worries! Send today for "Your Grooming — A to Z," a booklet that covers every step in achieving smooth looks. It tells how to manicure and pedicure, use deodorants and depilatories, bathe for beauty, tend feet, hands, teeth and eyes, polish skin and hair, care for clothes, apply perfume, overcome personal posers. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Grand Jury Is Recalled

The 12 members of the January term of the Grand Jury, which is the current term, will be recalled to serve Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. in 118th District Court. Approximately 30 to 35 cases are expected to be presented to the panel.

Newsman Take To City Streets

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Nearly 500 employees of a Mexico City newspaper, from editors to accountants, took to the streets Friday to sell their product.

Arnulfo Rodriguez, assistant director of La Prensa, said the newspaper executives and editors also took to the streets because the local newsboy union decided to take Good Friday off. Good Friday is not a legal holiday.

"It was a great experience," said Rodriguez, who sold more than 30 newspapers.

"In a way it is a bit frightening. It is one thing to insult the reader from a safe room and behind a typewriter," he said. "It is another to insult him and then go out and face him."

Bickering Counsel 'Cuffed Together'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Tempers had flared frequently in Circuit Judge Joseph J. Jasper's court and he warned the opposing lawyers there would be a time of reckoning when the murder trial ended.

When it did, Jasper called defense attorney William Robertson and Deputy Dist. Atty. John DeCarlo forward and had the bailiffs handcuff them together, saying he was trying to decide whether to sentence them to 24 or 48 hours for contempt, or leave them together for 72 hours. Later, he released.

Both men apologized.

FLIGHT ACROSS THE GANGES — Bangalese cross the shallows of the Ganges River to escape the West Pakistan army in fighting near Goaladogath last week. Meanwhile, the Indian Foreign Ministry Monday denied a Pakistani claim that two companies of Indian border forces crossed into East Pakistan, and that the Pakistani army "wiped them out."

Considering Basic Overhaul Of Democratic Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic party officials are trying to decide who should be handed the potentially explosive job of considering a basic overhaul of the Democratic National Committee.

They also have to decide if such changes should be submitted to the committee or to next year's Democratic National Convention.

National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien is expected to meet later this month with Reps. Donald M. Fraser of Minnesota and James G. O'Hara of Michigan who chair panels on party structure and party rules, respectively, to work out a way to proceed.

One possibility: a joint task force of members of the two commissions and other interested parties, including governors and state chairmen who recently demanded a bigger say in party affairs. The National Committee consists of 110 members—two each from the 50 states, the District of Columbia and four territories. Thus, the Canal Zone has the same voting strength as New York or California.

One possible proposal would be to restructure the national

Corpus Leads In Gas Wells

AUSTIN (AP)—Corpus Christi led in the number of gas wells drilled this past week with six, the Railroad Commission said.

A wildcat well was also drilled in San Antonio District 1 and Houston, for the weekly total of eight. This puts the annual tally at 137, compared to 169 last year.

Eight wildcat oil wells were also drilled, making 78 for the year in comparison with 118 in 1970. San Antonio District 1 had two, District 2 one, Houston one, Abilene one and San Angelo three.

The commission said 85 oil and 38 gas wells were completed. This brings the total since January to 1,534 oil and 496 gas, compared with 1,499 and 549 for 1970.

committee in the same way that the O'Hara Commission recommended convention committees be set up next year.

That would provide a 150-member committee with each state having one vote and the remainder being allocated according to a state's convention strength. Instead of each state having two votes as in the past, the range could be from one to a dozen or more.

Party leaders, however, are thinking in terms of an even broader national committee than the party has had, possibly including governors, congressmen, state chairmen and representatives from each state.

Engines Taken

Two starting engines were reported stolen Saturday from the Texaco Oil Lease at Vealmoor. Paul Malone reported the loss to the Howard County sheriff's office. No value on the engines was listed.

Oil Re-Entry Is Completed

Linehan and Stollenburg No. 1-B Hodnett, a re-entry venture in northeastern Howard County near Vincent, has been completed for 158 barrels of 43-gravity oil per day in the Strawn section. It is in the vicinity of a Canyon Reef producer in the Sara-Mag field.

Vote Canvassing, City Bank On Commission's Agenda

The canvassing of the April 6 city commissioner election votes will kick off the city commission meeting Tuesday at 5:15 p.m. in the commission room at city hall.

The two new commissioners, Jack Watkins and M. R. (Frog) Koger, will be sworn in at the meeting and the election of a new mayor pro tem will take place. George Zachariah, mayor pro tem, was not re-elected.

Also on the agenda for the regular meeting is the awarding of the city bank depository. Security State Bank has been the depository the past year for the city.

A claim for damages to the windshield of Charles Barbee's car will be presented to the commission. Barbee's car was hit by a golfball March 28, as his daughter was driving through Comanche Trail Park. The commission will consider approval of members of the city and school board of equalization. Jack Shaffer, Bill Estes, and Billy T. Smith have been nominated for the positions.

A request for permission to allow archers to bag fish in Moss Lake will be examined by the commissioners and vouchers paid by the city through April 13 will be up for approval.

The traffic commission recommendations to the city will be studied by the commission, including an ordinance setting speed zones on US 87 from the north city limits, south through town to Hearn Street. Two ordinances also will be read in the meeting Tuesday. An ordinance providing that the alley in the 1600 block between Gregg and Scurry streets be closed for the construction of a 25,000-square-foot building for White Stores Inc. will come before the commission for first reading.

An ordinance calling for a change in zoning from "SF-2" to "Single Family Dwelling," to "SF-3," Single Family Dwelling with a specific use permit, to allow the construction of a mobile home park in Wasson No. 2 Addition will be up for second reading.

Seeks 15-Member Panel To Simplify Tax Forms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Charles McC. Mathias proposed today a 15-member commission to simplify Internal Revenue Service tax forms for Americans haggard and worn from the annual struggle with 1049.

In a speech prepared for the Senate, Mathias said purpose of the "advisory" commission on federal tax reforms would be to make "common, everyday American English" the official language of the IRS.

The Maryland Republican introduced legislation requiring IRS to submit to the commission any individual or joint tax forms issued after Jan. 1, 1972.

"This month, millions of Americans are emerging, haggard and worn, from the labyrinth of Form 1040, Schedule T, line 15 (b), Schedule R and related forms, schedules, declarations and instructions," he said.

"Although the Internal Revenue Service—contrary to popular belief—does not deliberately make its forms obscure and its instructions baffling, I believe that substantial improvements are badly needed."

His bill would limit the commission to a maximum of two attorneys or accountants and bar federal employees. It would represent all tax brackets, age groups, job categories and regions of the country.

CRMWD Board Meets Tuesday

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the district headquarters to hear reports on progress on the Ward County well project, and to review the over-all water supply situation.

The district is pushing a program of development of 17 wells southwest of Monahans and laying a 45-mile 33-in. supply line to the west end of the district system at Odessa. Operation target is May 15. The well field has the potential of 24 million gallons per day in sight.

Yarborough Thinks About Running For Governor

AUSTIN (AP) — Former Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., says a so-called stock scandal is causing him to think seriously about running for governor in 1972.

He added Sunday in a radio and television appearance that a thorough investigation of the quick-profit dealings alleged by the Securities and Exchange Commission would benefit state officials linked to the transactions, provided they are innocent.

Yarborough answered questions from newsmen on the weekly show "Capital Eye." Concerning the state officials named in the stock deals, the former U.S. senator said: "I've had a personal experience with this. I was one time falsely accused of having received a large sum of money from Billie Sol Estes at the time he went bankrupt and was tried in federal court."

"The FBI sat in my office for days. The Senate had a committee, headed by Sen. John McClelland, to thoroughly investigate. The House had a committee, headed by Congressman Fountain of North Carolina. They found there wasn't a word of truth in it."

"It's a laughing matter over Texas—I say that not critically, but just as a matter of news because I'm traveling around."

"Of course, I wasn't flattered to be investigated," he said. "But when I was falsely accused in the 1964 campaign of having taken the money, I was terribly happy that they had dug into everything and showed this was an absolute lie, because if people had believed it, I would have been defeated."

The President's Plea

President Nixon has made an impassioned plea for patience with his plans for getting Americans out of Vietnam. The content was familiar. The degree of passion was a bit stronger. Otherwise he defended the thesis that he is right and that time will prove him so.

Two points in his defense of his disengagement policy deserve sober reflection. He believes this country owes South Vietnam "a reasonable chance to survive as a free people." He wants to avoid "a nightmare of recrimination" in America if "abandonment" of Vietnam brings on a bloodbath there.

Both these goals are tenuous. Saigon belatedly organized to defend itself. It has not yet returned to the first reforms that had a workable chance to build a free society: the election of district officials. That was done early in the history of South Vietnam but President Diem ousted all the elected officials and installed his hand-picked chiefs. Popular government lost its big chance. It has not recovered it yet.

Prospects of a bloodbath have been frequently forecast. The assumption is that Hanoi's troops will sweep southward when the American forces leave and wholesale slaughter will follow. That is an awesome outlook. Should it happen, there would be a clamor here almost certainly. The American mind is not a monolith, by any means.

The critical decision of the President rests on his faith in Vietnamization and his reckoning of American tolerance for pursuing a war that the polls show has rapidly dwindling support in the U.S. To reinforce that tolerance, the President made his appeal this week.

Mr. Nixon is entitled to remind Americans that he inherited a war in a turn-around stage but at its peak involvement for this country. His administration has steadily reduced the numbers of Americans in combat there and the resulting casualties.

He remained ambiguous as to a terminal date. The "light at the end of the tunnel" that he suggested he would indicate in this week's speech was not visible to the naked eye. His ambiguity may be defensible on the ground that a prisoner swap may yet be a bargaining point that he shouldn't throw away.

Meaningless Exercise

Dallas juries simply refuse to be outdone in dealing out "record" but meaningless sentences.

Odessa briefly took the lead with a recent 1,800-year term for a man convicted of selling heroin. Before that, a Dallas jury had issued a 1,500-year sentence in a narcotics case.

Now another Dallas panel has regained the "lead" with a 2,500-year sentence for a convicted murderer. While these sentences may express community outrage and are within the jurors' discretion, they are pointless.

Under state law, the prisoners will be eligible for release within a maximum of 20 years, with possible time off for good behavior and blood donations. The "record" sentence business is more

One thing and another: There are hotels and there are hotels — and you can have the luxury hotels. Who needs them?

I stayed in one recently, at a cost of $32.05 a day, and stared at the ceiling most of the night wondering how much it figured out a minute.

The accommodation offered little more than a moderately-priced room other than a color TV set and an extra towel. The view I got overlooked an excavation for another building.

THE $2.25 NEEDED to park the car came extra. It took two bellhops to carry three pieces of luggage, which I was quite capable of handling myself. One lugged it from the sidewalk to the middle of the lobby, the other one saw that it got up to the room. Each fellow, I do believe, was born with his palm up.

When I checked in, I thought the painted doll behind the registration counter was going to demand that I get clearance from the FBI — and make sure that I had my anti-perspirant with me. She demanded that I produce a credit card, even though I offered to pay cash.

THERE WERE far more employees scurrying about than customers. One could have run a herd of buffalo down the hallway of my floor and I would have been the only one disturbed. The utter lack of neighbors was almost eerie.

There's little wrong with our economy that a little more realistic pricing wouldn't cure. Or maybe it's better to have one customer and treat him like an interloper than it is to host a dozen and make them feel appreciated.

ONE MAY call that drinking friend who beats his wife and kicks stray dogs many things but don't call him an ape.

Biologists say simians prefer orange juice over vodka. The chimps which do develop a taste for the hard stuff, however, have a far greater capacity for handling the stuff than do humans.

I LIKED the story about that little girl who went with her mother to an amusement park. Given a couple of dollars, she was asked by her maternal parent:

"Now what are you going to do with this?"

"Well, replied the child, 'I'm going to buy an ice cream cone, a candied apple, some peanuts, ride the ferris wheel and,' catching an expression in her mother's eye, 'a green vegetable.'"

Vietnam Strategy

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has told Congress and the people that, while he hopes for a withdrawal of almost all American forces from Vietnam within the next year and a half, he doesn't intend to fix a date now for total withdrawal. The President's speech to the nation last week indicates clearly that he would expect the war to end during 1972 if the decision was to be that of the United States alone. But if the North Vietnamese refuse to return prisoners, a "residual" force will remain to help the Vietnamization program until there is a change in the attitude of the enemy.

THE PRESIDENT insists that "the American involvement in Vietnam is coming to an end," that the day the South Vietnamese can take over their own defense "is in sight," and that the goal is "total American withdrawal." But he tells those who have advocated a fixed date now why he can't agree with them. He says:

"Let me turn now to a proposal which at first glance has a great deal of popular appeal. If our goal is a total withdrawal of all our forces, why not announce a date now for ending our involvement? Well, the difficulty in making such an announcement to the American people is that I would also be making that announcement to the enemy. And it would serve the enemy's purpose and not our own."

"IF THE United States should announce that we will quit regardless of what the enemy does, we would have thrown away our principal bargaining counter — the release of American prisoners of war; we would remove the enemy's strongest incentive to end the war sooner by negotiation; and we will have given enemy commanders the exact information they need to marshal their attacks against our remaining forces at their most vulnerable time."

THIS IS AN argument which those members of Congress who favor setting a date will have a hard time answering. Mr. Nixon declares that there is very little risk involved in delaying the goal of a final withdrawal of troops until North Vietnam has done something about the prisoners of war. He is insistent that he will not bring back all of our forces without an agreement on the part of Hanoi to the "immediate and unconditional release of all prisoners of war throughout Indo-China." The President undoubtedly believes that North Vietnam cannot justify a prolongation of the war with the United States simply because it wishes to continue to hold the prisoners.

EVIDENTLY Mr. Nixon feels that the stationing in South Vietnam of such a small number of servicemen — hardly any of them likely to be engaged in ground action — will not evoke much criticism in this country. The United States has maintained an army of 50,000 men or more near the armistice line between North and South Korea ever since a ceasefire was declared in 1953, and only now is it being reduced in part.

THE OBJECTIVE would be again to show North Vietnam, Red China and the Soviet Union that the United States, by its military presence, will retain an interest in South Vietnam and doesn't intend to brush aside all the sacrifices that have been made in the last six years. Mr. Nixon declares:

"In a deeper sense, we have the choice of ending our involvement in this war on a note of despair or on a note of hope. . . . We have it in our power to leave Vietnam in a way that offers a brave people a realistic hope of freedom. We have it in our power to prove to our friends in the world that America's sense of responsibility remains the world's greatest single hope for peace."

My Answer

Billy Graham

I was given a ticket for double parking. I have been thinking about it — who gave the policeman the authority to give me a ticket and the judge the right to fine me? Are such laws approved by God?

I believe you already know the answer to your own foolish question even though the experience may have befuddled your judgment for the moment. The Bible, in Paul's epistle to the Romans, says: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. . . . For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to evil. . . . For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil." The authority and power of the law are derived from God. By them we are enabled to lead lives in relative peace. This does not mean that all who enforce the laws are themselves perfect. But it does mean that God has ordained that man shall be protected and governed by laws and that there must be people to whom this authority is delegated. In your own case double parking blocked traffic and caused inconvenience to others. If every man did that which pleased him and which seemed right in his own eyes anarchy would result. Laws are necessary and Christians, of all people, should respect and help keep and protect them.

Can't Trust Reds

Omar Burleson

WASHINGTON — Happenings in Washington a week ago were without precedent.

First, there were actions by the Democratic Caucus of the House of Representatives on proposals to withdraw our troops from Southeast Asia. The following day the conviction of Lt. Calley was announced in the midst of the debate to extend the draft for another two years.

All these taken together created strong positions, mixed sentiments and emotions.

THE ORIGINAL proposal in the Democratic Caucus presented a reasonable approach to expressing a sentiment and intent in the withdrawal of our forces from the Vietnam conflict. It simply said, "Resolved, That it is the sense of the Democratic Caucus of the House of Representatives that in the 92nd Congress the House of Representatives should work to end the United States military involvement in Indo-China and to bring about the release of all prisoners in a time certain; and resolved, further, that in pursuit of these objectives, the Democratic Caucus urges full support wherever possible by both House Democrats and Republicans of the initiatives of the President, the House committees and members, and the Senate, which may be pertinent to these ends."

IN THE COURSE of debate on the above resolution, the following was offered as a substitute: "Resolved, that it is the sense of the Democratic Caucus of the House of Representatives that in the 92nd Congress the House of Representatives should work to bring about the withdrawal of all United States armed forces in Indo-China and the release of all prisoners of war by December 31, 1971; and be it further resolved, that the Democratic Caucus of the House hereby urges the appropriate House Committees to take prompt legislative action on such legislation as might contribute to the accomplishment of the aforementioned purposes."

AFTER LONG and heated discussion, the date of December 31, 1971, was deleted by another amendment in its stead which provided that the Democrats of the House of Representatives should speed withdrawal of all U.S. Armed Forces in Indo-China and the release of all prisoners of war during the 92nd Congress.

In other words, withdrawal and the release of prisoners should be accomplished by December 31, 1972.

The latter proposal was adopted by the Democratic Caucus.

THIS ACTION does not have the force and effect of law by directing the President to withdraw all American forces at a specified date but simply gives notice of the prevailing sentiment that such should be accomplished. Unfortunately, it also gives notice to the enemy of our intentions. It gives the enemy notice that he need only wait and conserve his strength until a better time for full-scale invasion throughout Indo-China. There is not the least indication that he is willing to release our prisoners of war on conditions of withdrawal. He need not negotiate peace terms in Paris but just wait, anticipating that we will pull out before the so-called Vietnamization is achieved.

THERE IS NOT the slightest reason to trust the Communists that they would release our prisoners of war if we had every soldier out of South Vietnam tomorrow. There is no obvious solution to this terrible problem. Our government has made the release of prisoners a matter of the highest and most urgent priority and yet no progress has been made. Complete Vietnamization of the war is no guarantee that Hanoi will relent in its determination to use American prisoners as political pawns.

'LIKE THEY SAY—THERE'S A WHOLE NEW SET OF VALUES'

More Insurance Frauds

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Healy can't prove it, but it seems to him that the incidence of big policy insurance frauds is running higher this year than last, "maybe because of the state of the economy."

Healy is a top investigator for CNA Financial Corp., which operates eight insurance companies. It is his job to determine, for example, if a fatal crash into a bridge abutment was accident or suicide.

"Sixty to 70 per cent of our suicides are one-car crashes," he said. "Very few people go out the window today. It's the one-car smashup instead, and it's very difficult to prove."

One of the difficulties is that the insurer sometimes receives word of the situation one or two months later, and by then many of the bits of physical evidence, such as skidmarks, are gone.

The skidmark can be very important, Healy notes, because it might suggest suicide rather than accidental death, which often pays double the face amount.

Some accidents result in skids 200 feet long, but the intentional crash often leaves only a 5-foot-long mark, evidence that the victim may have driven into the obstruction and, typically, hit the brake only in the last split second of panic.

In many cases of suspected fraud, all Healy can do is accumulate a preponderance of circumstantial evidence that convinces the beneficiary that a compromise settlement should be reached.

The insurer could, of course, try to push its case in the courts, but "there is a natural and moral presumption against suicide," he says, adding that if there is a reasonable doubt it is decided in favor of the victim.

Suicide and murder aren't tors such as Healy, whose work also keeps him on the road in search of fake drowning victims, health insurance fraud rings and self-mutilators.

Accidental loss of a limb or eye means half the face value on many policies. "I have a man who has hit me twice," says Healy. "He lost an eye first and then a foot. I'm expecting another call any day."

Understandably, self-mutilation is rare. "We get 10 or 12 a year," says Healy. Again, the evidence is often circumstantial. A man may, for example, remove his wristwatch before "accidentally" discharging a shotgun into his arm.

Sometimes the insurer is willing to compromise despite the evidence because, says Healy, the same jury that can believe an individual would kill himself can't bring itself to believe a person would mutilate his own body.

It's Spring—With Hope

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Curly comments of a Pavement Plato:

It seems to me that spring is more oratorical than usual this year and that the present Easter season has had more than ordinary impact on people.

Perhaps this is because for some time now the American spirit has been flying at half staff. We have been sick in soul, ashamed at heart, confused of mind, distrustful of our national purposes.

We have bragged for a number of years now about our generosity as a people and our high moral goals, but today those brags sound tinny to our own ears. It is not necessary to spell out the reasons why we are not happy with ourselves. They are apparent to us all.

That is why, it seems to me, there was more warmth than usual this year in the traditional greeting, "Happy Easter!" In our mutual distress we have felt deeply the need of one another and the consolation provided by Jesus Christ's example that nobility of both dream and conduct are possible to man, no matter the price. We can be more than hypocritical.

Nature is ever at hand, too, to help us cure ourselves. Spring right now holds out the promise of regeneration, as did Jesus.

There has never been a lovelier spring. Each opening green bud is a pulpit preaching the veracity of renewal, that sadness will pass and gladness come again. Now is the time for us all to take a walk in the nearest woodland and share the enchantment of its vast rebirth and the faith and optimism implicit in birdsong.

There is hope for us yet. Much, much hope. If we can believe in the message given by growing trees, we can believe in ourselves as well. We still have another chance.

Wedding Problem

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I plan to be married this summer and my problem is what to do about my parents who have been divorced for four years.

I have always wanted an elegant church wedding, which will cost a lot. My mother can well afford it, and says she will gladly give it to me, but I can't have my father there.

I want my father to give me away, but mom says if she makes the wedding her father will give me away. I love my grandfather, but I would rather have my own father give me away.

My father is broke. The divorce took everything he had, and now he has a new wife and family to support. Mom is single, and she hasn't spoken home with their grudges.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Hoodwinked," and all the other nice girls who were fooled by married men who posed as bachelors. First of all, Abby, your answer was a dud. You said, "Be a little more fussy. And if you don't know the man, know the fixer-upper."

Some of the fixer-uppers mean well, but they, too, have been fooled. And how can a girl be "more fussy," when some of the biggest liars even go to church with you?

Here's my answer: Girls, demand proof. If a man says he's divorced, ask to see his divorce papers. If he tries to tug at your heart strings by telling you he's a widower, ask to see his wife's death certificate. If he's over 25 and says he's never been married, ask to meet his mother. If she lives out of town, tell him you'd like to call or write to her. Also, ask him where he works, and tell him you would like to call the personnel department to check his status.

I lived in Alaska for five years and I have seen many hearts broken by married "bachelors." I have been shown divorce papers and death certificates and am now married to a man who not only showed me his divorce papers but told me he admired my spunk and respected me for my principles.

"FUSSY" IN OAK PARK, ILL. DEAR FUSSY: For girls who want to impress men with their "spunk," your answer was better than mine. Thanks for writing.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Canker Mystery

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For almost a year I have been bothered with canker sores in the mouth. The dentist put something on and two doctors gave me prescriptions, but I still have them. Is there any cure? Is there any danger that they could develop into anything serious, cancer maybe?

They do not hurt me. It is just a funny feeling to know they are there. I am 72 and my doctor says it is nothing to worry about. What do you think causes it? — Mrs. A.W.

Like the common cold, canker sores keep bothering us and a cure eludes us. (A canker, inside the mouth, is not the same as "cold sores" outside the lip.)

With differing causes suspected, a variety of "cures" have been tried. Each person — and each doctor! — seems to have his own pet remedy. Since cankers tend to disappear in seven to 10 days, the various pet remedies get the credit.

If a canker is painful (sometimes it is, sometimes it isn't) the doctor can give you something to relieve the pain, but he can't guarantee that the trouble won't recur.

For the painful ones, holding some tea leaves in the area of the sore seems to help — probably due to the astringent action of tannic acid in the tea. Touching the spot with alum, or with a tiny amount of silver nitrate, can be effective.

Antibiotic lozenges have been used — but are effective only if some bacterial action is at work. Steroid ointments that will stick to the membrane also have been used.

Tablets containing lactobacillus have their devotees. Another thing that has been tried is a flavored solution of urea to swish around in the mouth.

A few years ago some wag sent me 16 remedies for cankers that he had obtained from dentists, doctors, friends, and relatives.

What it proves is that there's no specific remedy — and quite possibly no single cause — for these annoying spots.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Toplessness Is Not 'Redeeming'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Topless dance performances offer "redeeming social value" for nightclub patrons, Dr. Vincent Court heard.

"It turns on the imagination," the psychiatrist testified. "The average individual needs some visual stimuli to excite his imagination."

Grim Talk About Nuclear Menace In Nikita's Letter

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Lyndon Johnson had been President of the United States a little more than a month following the assassination of John Kennedy when he received a chilling letter from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on thermo-nuclear war.

Khrushchev discussed Taiwan, Korea and South Vietnam and said the United States should get out of those countries.

The letter is among 31 million documents and other objects to be housed in the Lyndon B. Johnson Library on the University of Texas campus. The magnificent building will be dedicated May 22.

WORLD WARS
The 17-page letter from Khrushchev blamed imperialism for two world wars in which tens of millions of lives were sacrificed.

"It cannot be doubted," the Soviet premier wrote, "that if, because of a local collision of states striving to resolve their territorial disputes by force of arms, a world thermo-nuclear war should come about, no one will be spared, no one will be able to protect himself against it."

Johnson replied to the Dec.

Poor Richard Clipped Again

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., proved that stock car king Richard Petty isn't unbeatable by winning the Greenville 200.

In fact, Petty finished seventh in his 1971 Plymouth Saturday after the car developed trouble.

Second in the 200-lap race was Ford driver David Pearson, who was the pole winner.

In third was Richard Brooks. Both Pearson and Brooks are from Spartanburg, S.C.

Isaac won $1,430 for the victory, his first on the NASCAR Grand National circuit this season. He averaged 78.195 miles per hour in his 1971 Dodge on the half-mile paved Greenville Pickens Speedway.

Other finishers included Davis Maris, fourth and Benny Parsons, fifth.

great mass of historic material to be lodged in the new library and shown last week to newsmen include:

—A handwritten letter dated Aug. 19, 1968, from Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin on a proposed visit by Johnson to Russia in October, 1968. The Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia, the day after the letter was written, killed plans for LBJ's visit.

SAD TIME

—A card from which Johnson read at Andrews Air Force Base after Kennedy's assassination showed repeated editing. The opening line first read, "This is a sad time for every American." But it was changed to read, "free men" and finally "all people" instead of "every American."

—A note from Mrs. Johnson after the 1964 Democratic convention opened, discussing whether he should seek the nomination. It concludes: "...I can't carry any of the burdens you talked of—as I know it's only your choice. But I know you are as brave as any of the thirty-five. I love you always. Bird." She referred to the 35 previous Presidents.

Rome Still Dirty

ROME (AP) — A six-week campaign to clean up the Eternal City ended today. And the city is still eternally dirty.

Officials blanketed Rome with posters urging cleanliness. The match boxes everyone kept on throwing on the streets read: "Rome is also yours. Keep it clean."

All mail processed in the city was postmarked with the slogan. Newspaper, movies and television trumpeted it.

The Romans didn't change. And more than 100,000 visitors descended on the city for the Easter weekend, leaving behind their litter for this last day of the campaign.

Said the afternoon newspaper Paese Sera: "The cleanliness of a city depends on the character of its population."

"We can appeal and campaign," said Mayor Clelio Darida, "but only Rome's residents can make it clean."

But Romans are incorrigible and traditional litterbugs. They start the New Year by dumping any thing they want to dispense with—pots and pans, sinks or furniture—out of the window.

They carry on in the same spirit the rest of the year. Bus riders drop their tickets the moment they get off. Children hurl confetti at carnival time. Demonstrators of all hues flood the large piazzas with leaflets.

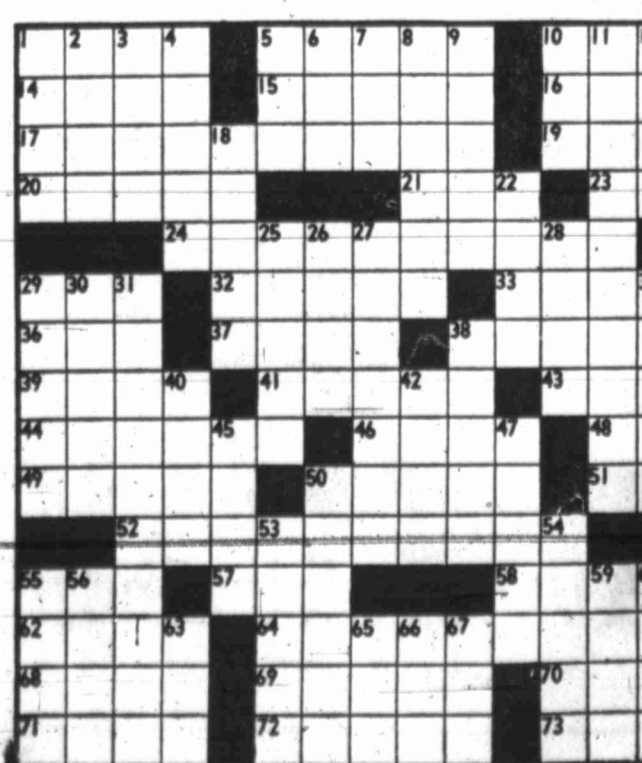

EASTER EGG HUNT — Approximately 200 local youngsters turned out Saturday afternoon for the Jaycee-Eltes sponsored citywide egg hunt in Birdwell Park. The youngsters searched for about 350 pounds of candy eggs. Jaycee-Eltes distributed four dozen prize eggs and 30 packages of records.

More Than 330 Stations Seek Lawrence Welk Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jean Shepherd, who has been reminding about his Midwest boyhood for years on New York radio, now is doing it on a national television network.

"Jean Shepherd's America," on the public broadcasting line-up, had its premiere Sunday night, a half hour in which the narrator, off camera, recalled sights, sounds and experiences when at 17 he worked in a steel mill. As he talked, the screen was occupied by the operations of a contemporary steel mill.

The star talked of the excitement of buying a pair of safety shoes and getting a new hard hat. He recalled a fall, dislocating both shoulders, from a stair high above the mill. Meanwhile, the viewer with a color set saw fascinating film, ribbons of molten steel flowing in designs that often looked more like art than industry.

It was a novel approach—a commentary used as counterpoint rather than explanation of the pictures. And it was very interesting.

NBC's Edwin Newman, who seems to handle well all sorts of odd jobs around his network's news department, has in recent months been presiding over an early Sunday evening show called "Comment," a sort of guest editorial spot.

Last week there were some assorted viewpoints on Vietnam. This week, former presidential press secretaries and Herb Klein, president Nixon's communications director, presented views on White House press relations.

Pierre Salinger, John F. Kennedy's press man, talked of the credibility gap and touched on problems created by pictorial coverage of news. George Reedy, President Johnson's aide, suggested that presidents tend to blame the press for bad news, citing the legend of Peter the Great strangling the messenger who brought him news of a defeat of his troops. Klein defended President Nixon's policy, approved an "adversary relationship" between government and press and maintained the public is getting more news today than ever before.

Don Fedderson, whose production company is syndicating the Lawrence Welk show next fall, reports that more than 330 stations across the nation have asked for the program. Welk's fan mail has jumped from five or six thousand a week to around 80,000, Fedderson said. He estimates that more than a million letters, wires and phone calls have been received by Welk or ABC since the network announced the cancellation of the long-playing musical hour.

Seek Volunteers For Peace Corps

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A Peace Corps recruiting team will seek volunteers this week on campuses of Texas Southern University and the University of Houston.

Frank Rodriguez, regional director of the Peace Corps in Texas, said the recruiters are looking for volunteers to teach mathematics, science and English in the Philippines and Ghana and nurses to fight communicable diseases, malnutrition and poor hygiene in Honduras.

Two Suspects Booked On Theft

Two suspects have been arrested by sheriff's officers and charged with felony theft in connection with the theft Sunday of $240 worth of items from the Tucker and Kerr Salvage Yard three miles south of Coahoma on McGregory Road.

Manuel Cantu, 19, Box 259, Coahoma, and Jaquelin Cantu, 25, Box 88, Coahoma, are charged in the case. They were in custody in the sheriff's office shortly before noon today, undergoing questioning. Bond has been set at $2,000 each by Peace Justice Walter Grice.

Home Is Man's Castle — No Bull

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A bull tried to break into Joe Zucha's home.

Zucha said he heard a racket and when he opened the door he saw a large bull in his driveway.

He said the bull charged onto the porch and then tried to get in through a window after the door was slammed.

"I was terrified," Mrs. Zucha said.

A former cowboy, Zucha went outside and bulldozed the bull. Then he led it into the street where he found the owner who had been searching for the escaped animal.

The Zucha home was not damaged.

Adam Powell Quits As Pastor

NEW YORK (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell has announced he is resigning as pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist church.

Powell, 62, had taken over the pulpit from his father in 1957.

He said Sunday he will make Bimini, in the Bahamas, his permanent home.

Powell has lived there almost exclusively since his defeat in last year's Democratic primary by Charles Rangel for the 18th Congressional district seat which Powell had held for 12 terms.

OFFICER IN CHARGE OF POLICE POST SAYS:

'We'll Be Killed Tomorrow'

KEGALLA, Leylon (AP) —

"We'll be killed tomorrow," said the policeman in this district center 40 miles from Colombo, Ceylon's capital. He chuckled, but nervously.

The police post at Kegalla is the only one in a district of 700 square miles that hasn't been burned or abandoned since young ultra-leftists went to war against the government a week ago.

Nearby a few officers rolled out a single strand of barbed wire between the post and a rice paddy over which officials said they were sure an attack would soon come. In front of the post were a few sandbags and an ancient decorative cannon rooted in cement.

DOZEN DESERT

Twelve of the 120 policemen have deserted. Another 180 soldiers were in the district also.

The rebels, called the Che Guevarists for the Cuban revolutionary, occupy hills across the length of the island. They are estimated to number about 80,000, while the government's forces are believed to total about 25,000.

The rebel positions are in temples and schools running from Anuradhapura, the ancient Buddhist capital 134 miles northeast of Colombo, to Galle, the old Portuguese stronghold 70 miles south of Colombo.

They attack at night, fighting government forces by day only when attacked, as in a pitched battle Saturday in which they lost an estimated 200 men.

Total deaths range near 1,000, according to the best estimates available, running perhaps 10 to 1 against the insurgents.

WELL FED

Villagers report the insurgents are well fed by rural dwellers, either voluntarily or at gunpoint. Some say rebel leaders have raided villages and have taken every youth between 14 and 16 to join their ranks.

Intelligence sources say the rebel movement began in 1964 but was not uncovered until two years later. The youths trained secretly in the jungle with homemade weapons and bombs.

When the insurrection started, they had lists of civilians with gun permits, went around to each and seized thousands of weapons.

They overran some police posts, taking ammunition and then setting fire to the posts. A number of police burned to death.

UNDER GUARD

Defenses are high in this lush little tea-growing isle at the tip of India. The security forces were caught by surprise and had little time to organize.

Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike and some of her ministers are under heavy guard at her official residence in Colombo.

Occasional communiques report the situation is under control, with only pockets of resistance left. But informed sources said the government had asked the United States for six helicopters. The sources said Washington had agreed to supply spare parts for four helicopters already owned by the Ceylonese air force but was still pondering the request for new machines.

Conscientious Objector, West Pointer Gets Wish

LT. LOUIS P. FONT

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — A West Point graduate who sought an Army discharge as a conscientious objector because of the Vietnam war is going to be granted his wish, an Army official said today.

First Lt. Louis P. Font, who is seeking to get out of the service had said the "United States government is destroying another country and in the process is destroying itself," will be honorably discharged, according to Joseph J. Hedley, post information officer.

Hedley said the decision was made by the Army alone, but he did not elaborate on the reasons behind it or who in the Army made it.

Previously the military had opposed Font's honorable discharge and had accused him of five counts of willful disobedience of orders for which he could have been sentenced to 25 years in prison. Hedley said these charges would be dropped.

'REAL' CHARGES

He said the action in the case would probably be taken later today.

In an interview Font said he felt the Army had chosen to dismiss him because "they realize they have brought fraudulent court-martial charges against me, yet the charges I have brought against them are very real indeed."

Font, a native of Kansas City, Kan., and a 1968 West Point graduate, lodged charges of dereliction in the performance of duty against Army Col. A. W. Alexander, Ft. Meade post commander, accusing him of failing to maintain minimum health standards at several enlisted men's barracks. The Army dismissed the charges against Alexander, saying they could not be supported.

Font said too, he feels the Army is discharging him at this time to make sure he would not be in uniform when he accompanies Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., on a tour of military bases across the nation this week.

The charges against Font had sprung from a Jan. 21 confrontation between the lieutenant and Maj. Gen. Robert G. Cicciolla, chief of staff of the 1st Army headquartered here.

'DISHONEST'

Font claimed the confrontation developed as he was attempting to deliver copies of a report criticizing Meade housing to Lt. Gen. Jonathan O. Seaman, commanding general of the 1st Army.

Font called the charges against him "dishonest," and said they stemmed from his public call for an official "war crimes" investigation against Seaman and Maj. Gen. Samuel Koster.

Waco Dozen To Make Plea

PARIS, France (AP)—Twelve residents of Waco, Tex., arrived here Sunday to ask North Vietnamese and Viet Cong representatives at the Paris peace talks for release of U. S. prisoners of war and humane treatment of the prisoners.

Harry Provence, Waco newspaper executive, said appointments had been asked by cable of both the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

However, there seemed no quick chance of a reply since both delegations are closed Sunday and Monday in observance of the Easter holidays.

The Waco delegation is a cross-section of the Central Texas city's population and is headed by attorney Cullen Smith.

Provence said the group brought along about 60,000 letters and petitions which he said they hoped to deliver to the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

Rain Chances Are Drying Up

By The Associated Press

it was too warm downstate for the latest cool front to progress past the Texas Panhandle.

Instead, the weak frontal system was reported breaking up across the north part of the Panhandle this morning—and that apparently meant chances for badly needed moisture were drying up with it.

Forecasts called for nothing more than widely scattered thundershowers and a little cooling in parts of the plains sector tonight or Tuesday, with perhaps a slight chance of showers in some areas of North Central Texas also.

It was expected to stay clear to partly cloudy and dry over the rest of the state and generally warm except for somewhat lower temperatures in the north edge of Southwest Texas.

The still approaching cool front triggered some thundershowers Sunday in a narrow slice of the Panhandle from Dumas to Canadian. It was the first rain over the state in five days but still no moisture of consequence.

A warm Easter Sunday sent the mercury climbing to 90 degrees at Amarillo and Lubbock, 91 at Childress and San Angelo, and 92 at Wink. Galveston on the coast was the coolest spot with a high of 71.

GOD FIRST

Font said at the time "the My Lai incident strongly crystallized my belief" that the Vietnam war was unjust.

"I love my God and my country," he said, "but I love my God first."

He said he took a seminar at Harvard taught by Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, now special assistant to President Nixon for matters of national security.

"We discussed Vietnam in this course," he said. "The more I learned about the war, the more I turned to religion."

Malady So Rare It Lacks Name Takes Life Of Baby

FORT WORTH (AP)—Death has thwarted the efforts of doctors to save a Texas infant from a strange ailment which caused massive intestinal bleeding—so rare that it lacked a name.

The child, 17-month-old Kelley Mitchell, died at a Fort Worth hospital Saturday night. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mitchell of Grafton.

Arrangements were made for the funeral service today at Grafton.

Surgeons had performed 13 operations during a battle against the disease which lasted more than a year. Four of those operations were at Children's Hospital in Cincinnati, Ohio, where research is done on uncommon gastrointestinal maladies of infants.

Saying scientists had no idea what could be the cause in Kelley's case, a surgeon at the Cincinnati hospital said last winter, "It isn't a malignancy... It is something none of us or other medical men have seen or heard of."

For lack of better identification, they named it the "Kelley Mitchell Disease."

Her parents were permitted to bring the baby home last February and it was hoped she had overcome the ailment. Bleeding recurred in March and she returned to a Fort Worth hospital.

Sen. Proxmire Challenging Military Spending Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, insisting

"the charge of neo-isolationism hurled at those who advocate reform is badly misplaced," challenged today a wide range of military spending policies.

"In fact, if the military fails to reform, it may so endanger its own credibility as to bring about the very neo-isolationism it claims to oppose," the Wisconsin Democrat added.

GREAT SAVINGS

"By reforming procurement, by reviewing our commitments, by taking a realistic view of the Russian and Chinese threat, by doing away with uneeded and overlapping weapons, and by limiting the expansion of our nuclear strategic terror," he said, "we could make great savings in the defense budget without endangering our security."

In remarks prepared for a meeting of the Coalition on National Priorities and Military Policy, a group of some 30 representatives of various trade unions, church and social action groups, Proxmire called for:

—Halving the size of the American force in NATO: "We should continue to provide the nuclear umbrella for the defense of Europe, but the Europeans should provide most of the manpower. It is time to Europeanize NATO as it is time to Vietnamize the Asian war."

—Reducing spending on strategic nuclear weapons, which he said currently is $18 billion annually. A cut to $14 billion a year could still give some 7,600 weapons, increasing to 19 times the number needed to inflict an unacceptable level of damage on the Soviet Union or to destroy 30 per cent of her industry. Isn't that enough?"

MAJOR WEAPONS

—Reforming the military procurement system: "There is scarcely a major weapons system developed over the last two decades which was delivered on time, performed according to its specifications, and which cost what it was originally estimated to cost."

—Saving $2.4 billion a year he said is being spent on the National Guard and Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force reserves: "If the National Guard and reserve are not ready for an emergency, they should be disbanded... If they are ready for an emergency, then the $2.4 billion could properly be saved from our regular forces."

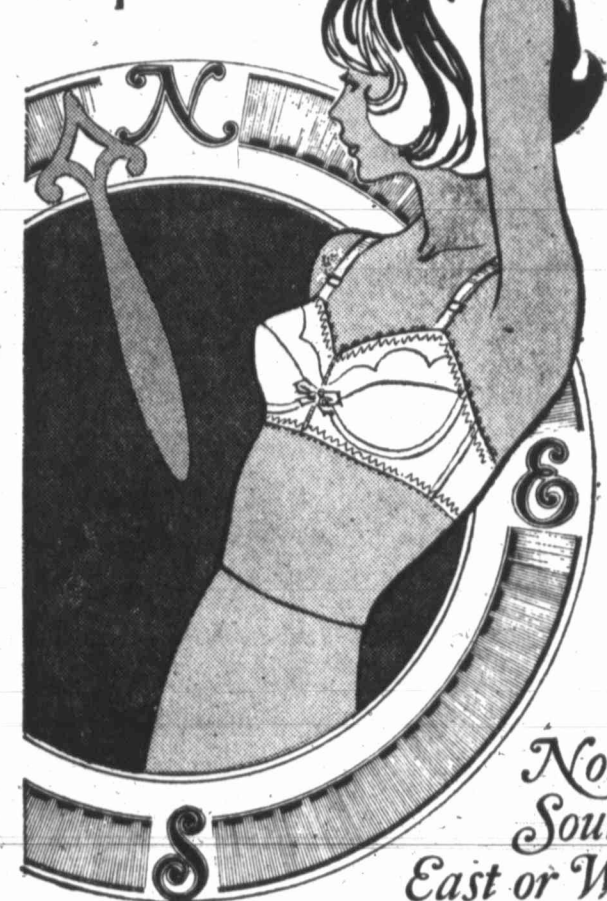

Proxmire questioned the need for the planned B1 manned bomber, saying, "Present aircraft with standoff weapons can adequately perform the same mission."

He accused the Defense Department of waste in its airborne warning and control system, and the antisubmarine warfare program.

Proxmire called carriers "sitting ducks for modern missiles."

Proxmire called for cuts in the Navy's F14 fighter plane and the Air Force's F15, costing an estimated $16.6 billion, and said it may be possible to settle on one less sophisticated plane for both missions.
