Mrs. Travis Rhoades Is Named 'Snyder Teacher Of The Year'

Mrs. Travis Rhoades, fourth grade teacher at the West Elementary School, was named the "Snyder Teacher of the Year" Friday night during a banquet given in honor of past board members and service teachers of the Snyder school district.

Mrs. Rhoades was presented a silver cup and $250 from the Diamond M Foundation by Lt. Mark McLaughlin, president of the foundation. She was one of several nominated by teachers of the school system. Other nominees were Mrs. Betty Lynn Campbell, Miss Vallie Eoff, Tim Dennis, Earl Horton, Mrs. Margaret Key, Ollie Peek, Mrs. Margaret Pilcher, Glen Richardson, and Daniel Johnson.

Holder of a master degree, Mrs. Rhoades has acquired more credit than is necessary for a doctor degree but has not obtained the degree because of college residence required for the degree.

"We note that her classroom is free and smiling, yet well disciplined," teachers of the West Elementary said in submitting Mrs. Rhoades' nomination. "We note that there is no difference shown between the good or fast students and those not so gifted, and that every child shares pride in the work being done, and in membership in the group. We note, too, that students do attempt problems or new situations as individuals, and with extraordinary confidence. Also, it seems easy to find groups who are willing to work on a problem together. We think that there is efficient evaluation of individuals, and efficient assignment of the tasks when such confidence is present. We think, also, that participation by pupils in group activities is preceded by efficient ground work on the part of the teacher."

Mrs. Rhoades, the wife of a farmer, lives in the Lloyd Mountain community.

Dr. John O. Christianson, dean of the school of agriculture at the University of Minnesota, was main speaker for the dinner. Pointing out the serious need for the community's and schools' awareness of children and education of the children in a world with rapidly-growing tension, he showered the Snyder school system with praise, saying it is the kind of school which is actually taking care of the students' needs. He cited as an example the work done by students in arts and crafts work, as the 300 persons attending had seen in an exhibit earlier in the night, saying, "Schools need to teach children to work with their hands."

Christianson said there are now 710 million people in the world between the ages of five and 20 "who will be here when we no longer walk." Out of each 100 of these, 56 live in Asia, 15 in Europe, nine in Africa, eight in the Latin-

SNYDER SPOTLIGHT

By WACIL McNAIR

Don't credit the Weather Bureau with predicting that "wet spell" that changed the complexion of West Texas during the past two weeks. The professionals indicated it was coming, to be sure, but they waited until it was just around the corner before enlightening the public.

The long range prediction came from Paul Keaton, a Snyder man, who made his forecast publicly on April 26. At the time he was at the High School participating in the annual career conference for seniors.

These may not be his exact words, but, if we recall correctly, the forecast went something like this:

"We'll get that rain we've been waiting for on the tenth, and if it doesn't come then rain will fall by the twenty-seventh for sure."

On May 10, Scurry County got its best rain in years (2.39 inches in Snyder) and more rains have followed.

When Dan Eddy, the ace publicist, promotion counselor, etc., suggested that the Snyder Chamber of Commerce issue that membership campaign challenge to Dallas last week, he figured Snyder had an excellent opportunity to win such a contest. His line of reasoning finally dawned on Dallas chamber officials and they called off the whole thing before reports were tabulated.

Snyder had many more potential members per capita than Dallas, and Eddy reasoned that Snyder workers would make their contacts more rapidly than Dallas workers would. That would give Snyder an advantage in a one-day drive.

• • •

One of the "gimmicks" for the contest would have been fact that Eddy was named the "outstanding young man" of Dallas in 1954.

"What will Dallas say about its outstanding young man helping set up a contest to defeat his home town," Eddy was asked.

"They'll probably threaten to run me out of town, but this is too good to pass up," Eddy replied.

Now that general rains have come to West Texas, we can appreciate Lake J. B. Thomas even more than we did before. Lakes all over the country have caught water during the past week, some of them filling to the "brim." However, in volume, a rise of a couple of feet on Lake Thomas amounts to more than the capacity of many other West Texas lakes.

Pravda Raps West On Parley 'Demand'

LONDON, Sunday, May 22 (AP)—Moscow radio today broadcast a Pravda editorial denouncing the Western Powers for making what it called "unreasonable demands about the place and duration' of the proposed top-level Big Four conference.

Just a week ago at Vienna Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov assured the Western foreign ministers that Premier Bulganin would attend the so-called summit conference. Molotov at that time made no issue of where the meeting would be or how long it might last. He suggested Vienna.

As proposed now, the conference would bring together Bulganin, President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Eden, and French Premier Faure somewhere in Europe, probably in August. Stockholm has been mentioned most recently as the probable Western choice of place.

Pravda, the organ of the Soviet Communist party, said the West rejected proposals to hold the conference in Vienna "where all the necessary conditions already exist, and have instead, suggested Lausanne, although it is well known that such facilities are not available there."

Lausanne had been suggested originally by the United States as a choice over Geneva if the meeting was to be held in Switzerland. Stockholm was mentioned in the last few days.

"They have declared that the conference must not last more than two to three days," the Pravda editorial went on," although it is clear to anyone that serious consideration of any urgent international problems cannot be completed in such a short time."

The long editorial also denounced as "absurd" what it described as the ideas of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles on the projected Big Four conference.

Pravda said the two American statesmen had given a "false political evaluation of the present international situation" in their television report to the American nation last Tuesday night.

It added that they had advanced "absurd proposals regarding the contents of the negotiations between the heads of the great powers which were directed clearly at the frustration of such negotiations."

"The United States leaders, trying to camouflage the failure of (their policy) of 'positions of strength,' tried to convince their audience, deprived of truthful information, that the signing of the Austrian treaty was a victory for that policy," said Pravda.

Baccalaureate Service Set Here Tonight

Many of the county's churches—especially those in the Snyder school district—will alter or cancel services tonight for observance of baccalaureate at the high school auditorium.

Ted Norton, minister of the Twenty-fifth Street Church of Christ, will preach the baccalaureate sermon. He will be introduced by the superintendent of schools, Dr. Cecil Yarbrough.

The program will begin at 8 o'clock. The Rev. John W. Reaves, pastor of the First Christian Church, will give the invocation. Music of the A Capella Choir will be under direction of Robert Clinton. Presiding over the program will be the school's principal, T. D. Wiman, Jr. The benediction will be by the Rev. J. Lennol Hester, pastor of the First Methodist Church and the new president of the Ministers Fellowship.

Baccalaureate service is one of two events this week to become lifetime memories of more than 125 candidates for diplomas. Commencement is scheduled for Tuesday night, also at the high school auditorium, where Dr. Gaston Foote will be guest speaker.

Dr. Foote is pastor of the First Methodist Church of Fort Worth and is nationally known as a clergyman, author of religious books, and columnist. He is a native of this region of the state, having been reared in the Stamford area.

The commencement program will also begin at 8 o'clock with Wiman presiding. Dr. Yarbrough will introduce Dr. Foote and will present the candidates for diplomas after the address. E. H. (Ab) Williamson, president of the school system's board of trustees, will present the diplomas. The salutatory address will be given early in the program by Suzanne Houston, and the valedictory will be given by Marjorie Smith.

Nationalists Determined To Take Mainland

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 21 (AP)—The Nationalist Premier said today all Formosa remains determined to recover the mainland, will not accept a cease-fire, will not give up offshore islands and will not be bound by any Big Four agreements "affecting our interests."

Premier O. K. Yui spoke to a press conference of 40 foreign and Chinese newsmen.

Over on the mainland, V. K. Krisna Menon, foreign policy adviser to India's Prime Minister Nehru, took a plane for New Delhi after winding up talks with Red China's top officials believed to have dealt with the Formosan situation. Peiping radio quoted him as saying "we can look forward with hope."

There were unconfirmed reports that Menon had proposed as the basis of U.S.-Red China negotiations that Chiang Kai-Shek waive all claims on the mainland and give up the offshore islands of Quemoy and the Matsus.

The United States has expressed willingness to talk with Red China about a cease-fire in Formosa Strait—a proposal which Red Premier Chou En-Lai also says is unacceptable.

Late today, Red guns fired 10 shells at the Nationalist garrison on Quemoy but caused no casualties, the Nationalist Defense Ministry announced tonight.

At today's news conference, Yui was asked if he expected an easing of international tension or a sellout of Nationalist China to result from the projected Big Four conference of the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France.

British Strike Threat Eases

LONDON, May 21 (AP) — Prime Minister Eden's Cabinet got promise of help from the powerful Trade Union Congress today in efforts to avert two election - week strikes that threaten to tie up the nation's railways and key ports.

The TUC, a giant federation of eight million workers, agreed to use its influence as peacemaker after railwaymen and dock workers wound up a week's dickering with declarations that they were sticking to strike plans.

The dock strike is set for Monday—three days before the general elections on May 26. The National Amalgamated Stevedores and Dockers Union has called about 7,000 workers off the London docks and an undisclosed number from the wharfs at Liverpool, Hull and Manchester.

The 70,000 members of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen are due to go out on strike next Saturday at the peak of the Whitsunday holiday traffic. The strike would knock out all normal railway travel.

C-C MEMBERSHIP ROLL IS NEARING 500 MARK

Twenty-eight per cent of the present membership of the Chamber of Commerce is made up of new members recruited in a drive conducted last week.

The chamber's membership and finance committee, headed by Herbert Feather, reported addition of 147 members in the one-week drive, bringing total membership in the chamber to 491.

Several cards were still out, but the committee decided to call in all cards for regrouping. Businesses and individuals listed for call-back or those not yet contacted will be put back on a list for further work.

Not all committee members had reported complete results by noon yesterday in the report meeting. Several more memberships have been assured, indicating that chamber membership will be over the 500 mark within a few days.

A group of workers headed by Claude McCormick recruited 34 members in the chamber to lead the field in the drive. Members of this committee will receive prizes of $10 each in merchandise. Other prizes are set up for two-man teams, but leading teams had not been determined by yesterday.

Other groups yesterday reporting were those led by L. A. McClanahan, 20 members; J. B. Davidson, 17; Don Hire, 16; Clyde Godwin, 14; Harold Bennett, 12; Stanley Noah, 11; Bud England, 10; and Jim Mixon, seven.

Chamber membership is open to any business or individual. A chamber member participates in the budget, paying dues from a minimum of $2 monthly up. He also participates in the organization's work program by serving on one or more committees working on various projects designed to aid development of Snyder.

Farmers Head Back To Drenched Fields

Rain changes many things in West Texas, and one of the biggest changes now in progress is the farmers' going back to the farms.

Many farmers will begin planting cotton within the next few days. Many of those, after making their way through four years of drought, hope this is the year the drought will break. So far, indications are that it is such a year, and numerous farmers are preparing to get back into fulltime farming operations.

So far, according to a survey made here, the rain has not brought about an acute need for labor, but it appears it may do so within the next few days. Hundreds of farmers are working in jobs other than farming — many of them employed with firms in such oilfield work as construction and service, others driving trucks, some selling gas at service stations, and many in various jobs.

There is no easy way of determining how many farmers are now, or have been until the last few days, but estimates are that probably more than 1,000 farmers were working at other jobs in this immediate area. These farmers are from Scurry, Fisher, Mitchell, Nolan, and in some cases, other counties.

In the survey, numerous oilfield construction firms, trucking firms, and oilwell service companies were contacted. Reports from those companies indicated that a large percentage of them have farmers employed and will lose some who are going back to the farm. Few of them reported, however, that the loss is creating a labor problem yet.

One point which appeared to have come out of the survey is that, while a large number of farmers are holding down other jobs, they seem well-enough scattered. If they quit and go back to the farm, then, there will probably be many jobs open in this area but few firms will be hurt severely, it appears. Indications are that very few companies will lose enough employes to cause work stoppage.

Another labor shortage seems to be coming on the farms. Mrs. Johnny Scott, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office in Sweetwater, which covers this area, said the office has been al-

WHAT IS A SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST?

Believe Return Of Christ Will Be Soon

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the last in a series of informative articles on the role of religion in today's world, written for the Daily News by leading authorities of the various faiths and religions.

By ARTHUR S. MAXWELL
Editor of Signs of the Times, evangelical journal of the Seventh-day Adventists

Do Adventists teach that people must obey the Ten Commandments in order to be saved?

No. Salvation is by grace alone. There is only one way of salvation. That is faith in the atoning death of Jesus Christ.

No one can "work his way" into the kingdom of God. No degree of obedience, no works of penance, no amount of money entitles anyone to any divine favor. Nevertheless, "faith without works is dead."

Keeping the commandments is the result, the evidence, of salvation. It is a matter of love, not legal duty. "If ye love me," said Jesus, "keep my commandments" (John 14:15).

What do Adventists believe about Christ's return?

The word "Adventist" indicates their special concern for this phase of Christian teaching. From their study of the Bible, they have become convinced not only that Christ is coming but that He is coming soon. They believe He will come personally, exactly as He went away (Acts 1:11).

Christ's second coming will climax a sequence of stupendous events — political and religious—which will involve the entire population of the globe and mark the end of the world, or age, as we know, it today.

In that day, when "the Lord Himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the Archangel and with the trump of God," the graves of all God's children will be opened, the "dead in Christ" shall rise, and all true Christians alive at that moment will be "caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air" (1 Thessalonians 4:16-17).

The effect of Christ's coming upon unbelievers is described, Seventh-day Adventists believe, in Revelation 6, where they are pictured as fleeing from His presence, only to be destroyed by "the brightness of his coming" (II Thessalonians 2:8).

Do Seventh-day Adventists believe in a millennium?

Yes. They believe that the followers of Christ who are raised, or translated, at His second coming will live and reign "with Christ a thousand years" (Revelation 20:4). However, they believe this reign will take place in heaven, not on earth, which will remain a desolated, depopulated wilderness throughout this period.

At the close of the millennium, the earth will again become a scene of great activity with the resurrection of the wicked, the return of the righteous from heaven, the setting up of the New Jerusalem on earth and the execution of final judgment upon the unrepentant (Revelation 2:20).

After that, Seven-day Adventists believe, the earth will be purified by fire and re-created at the command of Christ into the eternal home of His redeemed. "The eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped" (Isaiah 35:5). "And there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain" (Revelation 21:4). Then all sorrows will be over, and all man's brightest hopes will be realized.

This will be "heaven on earth" at last, not only for Seventh-day Adventists but for all who love

Defense Has Motion Ready

By MAC ROY RASOR

SAN ANTONIO, May 21 (AP)—A legal battle was brewing today over defense efforts to postpone again the bribery trial of former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles, highest Texas ex-official ever indicted on alleged criminal actions in public office.

Biggest question is an undisclosed motion planned by the defense when the case is called in Judge M. D. Jones' Criminal District Court Monday.

If the motion is for continuance on grounds that a member of the Legislature has been employed as counsel for the defense, it would appear the state would be without ammunition to fight it.

In such an instance, law requires an automatic postponement until 30 days after the close of the Legislature.

On any other basis, the state is reliably reported prepared to oppose vigorously any further delay in the trial originally set for April 11 and postponed once at defense request until Monday.

Giles, sturdy 6-foot-2 wealthy land holder, is charged here on three counts—two on consenting to accept a bribe and one on accepting a bribe—in a veterans land program deal in Bexar County. The amount is alleged at $30,000.

Giles' indictment is the most dramatic development from the far-flung state and county investigations into the veterans land program Giles fathered and administered as its chairman from its creation.

In all, 278 indictments have been returned in eight counties against 18 persons since the investigations flared last November. Eighteen civil suits have also been filed by the attorney general seeking recovery of $2,195,000 paid by the state to 34 individual promoters and three corporations in allegedly fraudulent transactions.

The bribery charges against Giles came two months after he stepped down Jan. 1—amidst the stir of the inquiries—from the land commissioner's post he held 16 consecutive years.

At 54, he left the top land job in much the same atmosphere of scandal and suspicion in which he found it in 1939. Land vacancy "rackets" had rocked the office prior to his election. Cleaning them up had been one of his first major undertakings.

The state has announced it will ask the maximum 10-year penalty in the bribery case against Giles.

The two Bexar County land dealers charged with offering the bribe, C. V. Wynn and Arthur McKenzie, are expected to turn state's evidence in exchange for light or suspended sentences in their cases. Asst. Dist. Atty. James Onion has indicated there has been such an agreement.

A new defense co-counsel hired by Giles, Fred Semaan, said flatly this week Giles will not go to trial Monday.

Semaan said he would have two motions to present the court. One, he said, would be based on grounds the defense is not ready since Semaan has only just been hired. He refused to say what the other motion would be.

The secrecy on the second motion led to speculation the defense had hired or was trying to hire a member of the Legislature for Mandatory continuance.

Another defense attorney, Clint Small Jr., said "several" legislators are "associated" with the case and "might" be used as basis for such a motion.

Nevertheless, the defense took steps apparently to assure having some witnesses ready if immediate trial is ordered. Subpoenas were issued for Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd and Dennis Wallace, chief clerk of the General Land Office, to appear Monday. Wallace was instructed to bring along all minutes of the Veterans Land Board and the School Land Board for 1953 and 1954.

Jet Pilot Sets Flight Record

By JACK STEVENSON

LOS ANGELES, May 21 (AP)—Streaking into Los Angeles in time for dinner, a wartime decorated National Guard pilot today completed the first sunrise-to-sunset round-trip coast to coast flight.

Happy but weary 1st Lt. John M. Conroy, 34, flying alone in an F86A Sabre Jet, nicknamed the "California Boomerang," made good his plan of having breakfast in Los Angeles, lunch in New York City and his evening meal back in Los Angeles again.

"I'm very, very, very tired," Conroy had told the 34th Air Division Radar Flight Following Service at Kirtland AFB, in asking for radar tracking to keep him on course on the final leg from Albuquerque, N. M.

To do it, the World War II Purple Heart veteran had to travel 7½ miles a minute between his takeoff at 5:59:45 a.m. PDT and his final roaring pass over a cheering crowd here at 5:26:18 p.m. PDT.

His average speed for the 5,085 miles was about 445 m.p.h. and the elapsed time of 11 hours, 26 minutes and 33 seconds included six fast refueling stops.

Nation Takes Look At Its Armed Forces

By ELTON C. FAYE

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—The nation, emerging from a barrage of speeches on the mounting menace of Soviet power, took a look today at its own military strength.

Citizens by the millions warmed to parade routes and milled around guns, tanks, ships, planes and weird missiles at the "open houses" of the military establishment on Armed Forces Day.

The purpose of all this—yesterday's somber warnings, today's display of American strength—was to keep interest alert to national defense at a time when there is no hot war.

Many of the speakers yesterday emphasized the swiftly expanding strength of Russia in the air. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, was one. He talked of the "great" bomber force and nuclear weapons possessed by the Soviets, of new faster-than-sound fighters in numbers.

But Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme commander in Europe, said he thought the Red air force is "quite a long way behind ours" in the long-range bomber category.

Such difergent views carried on into today.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo), in an address at San Angelo, Tex., renewed his previously expressed warnings that the United States probably is behind Russia in the race for perfecting "the ultimate military weapon," a missile which can be fire from one continent against a target on another. The Russians, said Symington, have been working on the project for a decade and by now could have them, armed with both fission and hydrogen warheads.

Fair Skies Return Following Wet Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair skies returned Saturday in time for a mild, clear weekend after one of the wettest weeks in years in water hungry Texas.

Streams continued to collect water and pour billions of gallons into reservoirs, wiping out the possibility of a water scarcity in some metropolitan areas.

A few showers were expected Sunday in scattered areas of East Texas and in eastern Central Texas. Not much change in temperature was expected Sunday from Saturday's readings which ranged from 99 at Presidio to 76 at Dalhart.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTIST

the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity.

What makes Adventists think Christ is coming soon?

The signs of the times. Notably, certain developments among the nations and in the social, economic and religious life of the masses —including the invention of the hydrogen bomb.

As never before, a great fear grips the nations — fear of war, fear of inflation, fear of atomic annihilation. And this fear is driving men, in their search for security, to combine into massive confederacies, as foreshadowed in Bible prophecies.

This tragic situation, Seventh-day Adventists believe, was predicted by Christ Himself when, enumerating the signs of His second coming, He said, "There shall be . . . upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity; . . men's hearts failing them for fears, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth: for the powers of heaven shall be shaken. And then shall they see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory" (Luke 21: 25-27).

Seventh-day Adventists believe another striking sign is the amazing multiplication of inventions that have changed man's whole way of life. This unprecedented increase of knowledge, with multitudes running to and fro, was prophesied to occur in the "time of the end" (Daniel 12:4).

Still another sign is the moral collapse so evident in social and political life today. Everybody admits that the moral underpinnings of Western civilizaion are giving way. And while there is still much outward show of religion, there is little inward piety or spiritual power. This too, Seventh-day Adventists believe, was forecast by the Apostle Paul to happen in "the last days" (II Timothy 3.)

Do Seventh-day Adventists set a time for Christ to come?

No. Nor have they ever done so. They accept Christ's statement, "Of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only" (Matthew 24:36). However, they give special force to His declaration, "When ye shall see these things come to pass, know that it is nigh, even at the doors" (Mark 13:29).

What is the Adventist position regarding divorce?

Briefly, it is the Biblical position, enunciated by Jesus Christ when He said, "Whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and whoso marrieth her which is put away doth commit adultery:" (Matthew 19:9). Seventh-day adventists believe that this counsel is very clear and that members who knowingly depart from it should not continue in the fellowship of the Church.

What is the attitude of Adventists on drinking and smoking?

No Seventh-day Adventist drinks alcoholic beverages or smokes tobacco. They accept at face value Paul's statement that man's body is the "temple of the Holy Spirit." Believing this, they refrain from all harmful indulgences which might weaken their efficiency and the sincerity of their witness, as workers for God.

They are also motivated by a regard for the example that true Christians should set before others who do not acknowledge Christ, and, in particular, before children and youth.

How many Seventh-day Adventists are there in the U.S.?

At the close of June, 1952, the total number of baptized members in the United States was 265,000; the world total was 807,000. In addition, many thousands have accepted most of the teachings of the Church but are awaiting baptism.

Do Seventh-day Adventists have missionaries?

Yes — all over the world. Their foreign mission budget for 1953 was $18,500,000. They employ 37,000 full-time workers — 17,000 in direct evangelistic service and 20,000 in publishing, medical and educational institutions. They issue publications in 197 languages.

Seventh-day Adventists carry on a large health and medical work alongside their evangelistic activities. They have a chain of sanitariums, hospitals, and clinics in all the principal countries of the world. Patients treated annually total some 2,000,000.

Are Adventists interested in welfare work?

Very much. Most churches have a Dorcas Society, active in caring for local needy and in projects of wider significance. Since the close of World War II, Seventh-day Adventists have sent overseas, to the poor and needy of 41 countries, more than 1,500 tons of clothing and 2,000 tons of food.

An unusual phase of Seventh-day Adventists' welfare work is their interest in prisoners in state penitentiaries. Wherever arrangements can be made, they visit inmates, conduct religious services, distribute literature and generally spread the hope of the Gospel.

Do Adventists believe in religious liberty?

They certainly do. As champions of religious liberty, they fought — and helped to defeat — the calendar reformers before the League of Nations in 1931 and later. They are opposed to all religious legislation such as "blue" laws. They are ardent supporters of the principle of separation of church and state. They publish the quarterly Liberty magazine, devoted exclusively to the preservation and extension of religious liberty.

Do Adventists believe in life after death?

Yes. But they hold that life comes only from Christ, the source of life. No one, they assert, can have eternal life apart from Christ. Man by himself is mortal, subject to death. Only Christ can make him immortal. And immortality, says the Bible, will not be conferred until the resurrection at the second coming of Christ in glory.

Seventh-day Adventists hold that the ancient supposition that people go to heaven or hell immediately upon death is an infiltration of pagan mythology into Christian theology. Bible teaching on this subject, they claim, is clear as day —that the dead are asleep until the glorious return of Jesus Christ as King of Kings and Lord of Lords. Then, but not till hen, will final rewards and punishments be meted out.

FARMERS

most swamped during the past few days with calls for tractor drivers and ranch hands. Many of those calls, she said, are coming from Scurry County.

Henry Burchett, manager of the federal Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office here, said his office had received numerous inquiries concerning tractor drivers during the past few days as farmers prepared to plant cotton.

Burchett said that while some farmers will be able to plant this week, others will have to wait several days because the ground is still too wet. "It is especially wet around the terraces in a large part of the county," Burchett said.

Most of Scurry County and the entire area has had good rains during the past two weeks. Most of the area got from five to 10 inches during the entire period.

Oscar Fowler, county agricultural agent, said that one farmer in the Fluvanna area said about three days ago he had had only about 1.5 inches out of the entire rainy season. That seemed to be the only case of slight rains, however. There was no area in this county which is known not to have enough moisture for cotton planting, and most areas have enough to help the cotton for several days after planting.

American countries, six in the USSR, five in the U.S., and one in Austrialia and islands of the Pacific.

"You can see now why the USSR is interested in getting Asia."

The educator's talk was centered upon America's need for awareness of "those five people." He stressed the need of training them not only in technique, but in tolerance and understanding of each other.

"What has made America is its oneness," he said, adding, "We need more emphasis on the things we have in common, rather than our little differences."

Touching on scientific training, Christianson said Russia has commandeered 100,000 of its top men and women into scientific fields. During the same time, there was need in the U.S. for at least 50,000 persons in engineering or related fields, but the country got only 20,000. "We probably don't get students into those fields because science appears too hard. If all schools had facilities and faculty which inspire students as this school has, there would be many more," he said, predicting that more outstanding leaders will come out of this community within the next 20 years than from practically any community in the country.

Calling communism and other hate-breeding philosophies a disease, he said, "Perhaps this community will have someone who will find a cure for cancer or a cure for hatred." He said recently much money was put into research on how to find cures for hate.

"There is one thing we should stand for — that we may justify the faith we hope the students have in us," he concluded.

During the evening's program, three teachers were awarded service pins by Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of schools, for service at intervals of five years. They were Mrs. Ivan Gatlin for 15 years and Mrs. J. S. Gorman and Mrs. Silas Devenport for 10 years each. Teachers who had already received such awards were recognized in the audience and numbered about 10.

About 25 past members of the Snyder school board or of boards of schools which consolidated with the Snyder system in past years were recognized. Frank Brownfield, former trustee of the Dunn school district, was presented a hat for being the one present who served the earliest. He was on the Dunn board in 1907. He is also a former sheriff. After receiving the award, Brownfield said, "I thank God that he has let me live long enough to see this school."

E. H. (Ab) Williamson, president of the school board here, gave the welcome address. Other board members were recognized. They are Bill Grimmett, Paul Keaton, Clyde Godwin, Wayne Boren, Max West, and J. B. Turner. Hardy Scarborough is secretary of the board.

Lee T. Stinson, immediate past board president, who served as a board member for 15 years and as president for eight of those years, said, "I remember when our schools here were many and none good." Recognizing Yarbrough and his entire staff as that which has guided the board through the last few years of Snyder's growth, he called the school system here the "best in America." Christianson, in his opening remarks, said he had heard this school called that since he had come here and that, after seeing the school and its staff, has come to believe that.

"I have a weekly radio program back home, and my Monday evening radio program is going to be about the schools of Snyder."

Bob Crowell was master of ceremonies for the evening's program. Bob Clinton, high school choral director, sang "Danny Boy" and "Serenade." The high school boys quartet, made up of Kent Fields, Bryan Boss, Herb Portis, and Doug Smith, sang "Ain't That a Shame," "Coney Island Baby," and "Ida." Mrs. James Rosser played organ music during the gathering in the high school auditorium following the dinner.

Also making comments were Hugh Taylor, who served as a school board member several years and is now a member of the county school board, and county judge Edgar Taylor, a former school board member at Ira.

There is about a four million seasonal variation in a typical year in the number of U.S. people at work or looking for work.

Mother Hears Baby Cry For First Time

AKRON, Ohio, May 21 (AP)—Blind and deaf Mrs. Harold Hathaway said today she heard her baby cry for the first time.

Wearing a new type of hearing aid, the 32-year-old mother stood by the crib of her squalling, 3-months-old son Clarence. She clenched her hands nervously.

Then the tears ran down her cheek, and the woman, who stands just a mite over five feet, wrote on the palm of a neighbor:

"I heard my baby cry."

Mrs. Hathaway and her husband, also blind and deaf, were allowed to keep the child in a Juvenile Court decision brought on after welfare officials feared they could not cope with an emergency.

They have been caring for Clarence with the help of the neighbor, Mrs. Kenneth Pipes, and a visting nurse service that looks in on them.

The Hathaways live in a small, frame cottage, and devote most of their time to the baby, who has normal vision and hearing.

Doctors said Mrs. Hathaway's ability to hear the child's cries indicated she could be helped further. She could not distinguish words shouted into her ear.

Johnson Backs Plan For Vaccine Control

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas today threw his weight behind a proposal by Sen. Hill (D-Ala) to give President Eisenhower standby authority to control the manufacture and distribution of Salk polio vaccine.

Hill, who heads the Senate Labor Committee, predicted that Congress will brush aside objections from the Eisenhower administration and enact discretionary controls legislation.

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, said he doesn't want to choose between several bills which the Labor Committee will consider Monday. But he said he personally favors giving Eisenhower "broad discretionary authority and powers in that field."

"I think it would be desirable to vest in the president power to exert control over this program and he could decide whether he needs to do it," Johnson said.

Reminded that Secretary Hobby of the Health, Education and Welfare Department has opposed enactment of controls legislation now, Johnson said that doesn't alter his opinion that the President should have "any authority he may need."

"I am not passing on the question of whether the President now has the inherent power to act," he said. "But we should have such controls as are needed to assure equitable distribution of the vaccine."

The nationwide inoculation program remained virtually stalled meanwhile pending the outcome of a new scientific conference Monday on a possible tightening of safety standards for the vaccine.

There was no official comment from government sources, but some of the vaccine manufacturers said their technical specialists had been called in to the meeting. They reportedly were told that new safety requirements may be in the making.

Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele is due to make a detailed report to the White House soon on the technical and scientific problems involved in manufacturing and testing the vaccine. Press secretary James Hagerty said today he did not know exactly how soon the report would be ready.

Describing the process as "a very complex matter," Scheele said last week:

"The big thing is that we are striving to see that the vaccine released is the safest possible vaccine."

Government experts have virtually completed an on - the - spot check of the five plants making the vaccine but there was no word on how soon fresh supplies will be released to the public.

Of approximately six million children inoculated with the vaccine thus far, the U.S. Public Health Service reported 79 have developed polio. This is an increase of one over the number reported yesterday.

In addition to standby controls over all aspects of the vaccination program, Sen. Hill said he personally favors having the federal government pay for inoculating all children up to age 9.

Eisenhower asked Congress last Monday for 28 million dollars to finance shots for children up through age 19 whose parents cannot afford to pay.

Sen. Lehman (D - NY), interviewed on the CBS "Capitol Cloakroom" program, said he believes every child, regardless of family financial ability to pay, should get free vaccination.

Lehman said the federal government should buy enough vaccine to inoculate every child "regardless of age." He estimated the cost at less than 150 million dollars.

Legislature May Get To Decisions

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN, May 21 (AP)—A get-the-job-done-now attitude on the part of Texas Lawmakers, largely inspired by Gov. Shivers, may bring the Legislature to final decision on its toughest problem within the next two weeks.

The problem—simple to state but difficult to solve—is this: How to raise enough money to cover what the Legislature considers essential spending for the next two years.

Shivers put it squarely up to the senators and representatives this week to decide quickly whether they want to finish the job now or later.

He said he realized they have been working with no pay since May 10, end of the 120-day period for which the Constitution allowed them to draw $25 a day.

If the lawmakers feel it will be too heavy a financial sacrifice on their part to continue without pay, Shivers said they could quit now and he would cooperate in calling a special session later.

A special session would restore the legislators to $25 a day pay status.

Shivers' proposition set off a big ripple of reaction and speculation.

As House and Senate members took off for the weekend, majority opinion seemed to lean heavily toward finishing the legislative job now—not later.

A common reaction was that it might be "political suicide" to force a special session. Lots of members thought such a move would cause eyebrow lifting on the part of the voters who gave their O.K. last November to boosting legislative pay from $10 to $25 a day for the first 120 days of regular sessions.

Members anxious about pet bills still awaiting final passage also are reluctant to vote for immediate termination of this session.

Shivers' special session proposal has other ramifications.

Veterans of both House and Senate interpreted the governor's special message as serving notice on potential taxpaying groups to throw their weight behind the preparation of a tax bill acceptable to both House and Senate.

Shivers still wants the Legislature to boost the gasoline tax two cents a gallon to give the Highway Department 84 million extra dollars for highway modernization the next two years.

The Senate State Affairs Committee is mulling over a bill this weekend to make that increase and to tack on another penny per pack on cigarettes and four-tenths of a cent on beer.

The gasoline-cigarettes-beer combination is supposed to solve the state's money problems for at least two more years, but whether House and Senate both will buy the plan is a dubious question.

There have been suggestions the Legislature might limit the general appropriation bill for state services to one year and end the session immediately if a stalemate on the tax fight becomes pronounced.

Such a move could delay decision on who and what to tax until a special session next year.

Dr. Salk Still Getting Gifts

PITTSBURGH, May 21 (AP) — Gifts and congratulatory messages —including a 208-foot telegram— continue to pour into the University of Pittsburgh office of Dr. Jonas E. Salk, developer of the antiparalytic polio vaccine.

It's been nearly six weeks now since the world got the official verdict that the vaccine had proved effective. But that hasn't stopped the voluminous flow of congratulations and thanks.

A spokesman for the university said today:

"You name it — any offer any celebrity ever had and then some. We've had it out here."

Among the material received was a Western Union message more than 208 feet long from Winnipeg, Canada. It bore 7,529 names prefaced by:

"We send our heartfelt appreciation of your dedicated patience, giving us new hope that our children may grow unhampered by crippling afflictions."

The spokesman cited the case of a plow and a car given by citizens of Amarillo, Tex., as typical of the way Dr. Salk is disposing of some of the gifts.

Dr. Salk sold the car, the spokesman said, and gave the money back to Amarillo, directing that it be used to buy vaccine for children who couldn't afford it. The spokesman said Dr. Salk gave the plow to a boys' home in Texas.

Economic Pact In West Urged

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—The United States should bend its foreign policy toward an economic union of the free, industrialized nations of the West, two nonprofit research organizations proposed today.

The effort to build a world order out of present regional groupings —the several European organizations, the Colombo states, and the British commonwealth group — was urged in a 414-page report, published in book form by the National Planning Assn. and the Woodrow Wilson Foundation.

The report, titled "The Political Economy of American Foreign Policy," criticized present U. S. policy as being a diffuse and futile attempt to recreate a "19th century" global system of free trade and freely exchangeable currencies.

It suggested that this country focus its efforts on the creation of a new Organization for Atlantic Economic Cooperation. The United States and Canada should join as full members, the report said, and Japan as an "associate" member.

Indiana has coal reserves totalling 17,600,000,000 tons.

Camel And The Gnat

What many people regard as a dangerous "calculated risk" is the military cutback which has distinguished the reign of Secretary of Defense, Wilson —a cutback that will weaken the Army, the Navy and the Marine Corps by more than 100,000 men in the next twelve-month, and give the Air Force a mere 5,000 boost.

These cutbacks in the face of world conditions could be justified only if the country had a strong, well-organized and functioning reserve system when and if the blow falls. We have no such system worthy the name now, and President Eisenhower has urged Congress to create a new one to take its place.

One small feature in this overall reserve plan calls for the induction of a stated number of young men for a brief period of training after which they would be made subject to further reserve training. This is at best a pale imitation of the real thing, designed to appease those in Congress and out who denounce all forms of compulsory military service. Their pet peeve is the universal military service plan first proposed in 1944 by the then Chief of Army Staff George C. Marshall, as the most economical and dependable way of building and maintaining adequate reserves.

When the bill was brought on for debate this week Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo), ranking member of the President's party on the House Armed Services Committee, denounced the program as a "foot in the door" for UMT.

Successive public opinion polls at frequent intervals, since General Marshall proposed it eleven years ago have shown overwhelming support for UMT, but various pacifistic organizations and some church groups have bitterly opposed it, and so far their influence has prevailed over Congress. The most astonishing thing is that many who swallow the camel of selective draft gag on the gnat of UMT.

Time Will Tell

With his customary lack of restraint Senator Wayne Morse (D-Ore) lifted his oratorical cudgels and belabored Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of the Welfare Department, for what he called "gross incompetency" in handling the Salk vaccine program and then "trying to bullhead an alibi for an horrendous mistake," in testimony before congressional committees.

It is apparent that blame for mishandling the program cannot be placed on one pair of shoulders, and Senator Morse's effort to pin the blame on her and on Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele is an oversimplification of a complicated situation. A great many other individuals and organizations, including the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, seem to have been willing participants in the big publicity build-up which, in the light of hindsight, launched the program too soon and without adequate advance preparation. And so far as we recall now, the American Medical Association, usually so eloquent and effective in guarding against premature ballyhooing of new products, was strangely silent on this occasion.

The real test of Mrs. Hobby's competence—and certainly Sen. Morse's blast hardly bears on the question—will come when Congress approves the 11-point program she has submitted, and it has been given a chance to work. Mrs. Hobby's program provides for continued handling of distribution of the vaccine on "free enterprise" lines, minus government controls. If that works, well and good; if it doesn't work, but merely adds to the general confusion and inefficiency, the lady from Houston will certainly be on the spot.

Meantime what has happened is so much water over the wheel. The task now is to get on with the program, under careful medical supervision, and minus the unfortunate cricus atmosphere that surrounded the initial launching of this promising ship of mercy and beneficience.

Grass Comes Back

CHICAGO (AP)—Grass offers the only hope for saving the vast dust-bowl area of the nation, says Prof. Milton E. Parker, director of food engineering at Illinois Institute of Technology. He predicts grass will be a top U.S. crop for 1955 because of changes in the government price-support program. He gives these reasons for praising the practice:

It will prepare much of the country's acreage for future demands of an expanding population. Wartime demands and peacetime price-supports have caused intensified farming which has come "perilously close" to exhausting much of the soil. Grass returns vital organic matter to the soil. On watersheds, it helps control floods and prevents silt from ruining hydroelectric dams. It controls erosion. It holds soil where winds can't grab it. The farmer can reap substantial profits from grass by raising cattle.

Farm Price Supports To Figure Heavily In Presidential Nominations For 1956

By OVID M. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP) — Farm price supports stood out today as a potentially powerful factor in determining who will be the presidential nominees next year—particularly on the Democratic ticket.

Democrats appear to be heading toward platform endorsement of a return to the high-level, rigid price supports of the Truman era on major crops in a bid for agricultural votes in 1956.

Republicans, on the other hand, are expected to go on record for the administration's flexible price support system adopted last year. The price support issue might become a factor in the Republican selection of a candidate only if President Eisenhower chose not to run.

But the issue could well stir up a lot of trouble among the Democrats, particularly for Adlai E. Stevenson if he should be a candidate for renomination. The 1952 Democratic candidate is on record with an expression of belief that neither high, rigid supports nor flexible ones are satisfactory for stabilizing agriculture.

Led by influential Speaker Rayburn of Texas, Democrats recently pushed through the House a measure that would repeal the Eisenhower flexible price floor program and reinstate supports at 90 per cent of parity for such crops as wheat, corn, cotton, peanuts and rice. This latter system was put into effect early in World War II to encourage expanded food production. It was retained until this year.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay for necessities.

Action by the Democrat-controlled Senate on the high support bill may come at this session, but more probably just before the elections next year.

Certainly passage of the 90 per cent support measure — even though it were killed by an Eisenhower veto—could be expected to put it in the Democratic platform next year.

Such a plank would not fit four-square with views Stevenson expressed in a speech before a Midwestern Democratic farm conference at Sioux Falls, S.D., last August.

"I doubt," he said, "if we have yet found a satisfactory stabilizing mechanism for maintaining fair farm prices. Perhaps the solution does not lie in just the alternatives of the so-called flexible price supports demanded by the (Eisenhower) administration and the 90 per cent supports. Perhaps there are other partial solutions at least."

He suggested a number of other proposals that have been advanced from time to time.

The speech did not set well with most of the party farm leaders present. They included former Secretaries of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and Charles F. Brannan, Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota and former Sen. Guy Gillette of Iowa.

The conference went on record as favoring return of the high, wartime price guarantees. Some of the participants said they would use their influence to give the party's 1956 presidential nomination to a leader who agreed with them on this issue.

Party leaders liken the situation now to that which prevailed before the 1948 presidential election—a contest won by President Harry Truman in an upset of GOP nominee Thomas E. Dewey. Truman's win was credited by most political observers to a strong Midwestern farm vote.

Coffee Producers Involved In Own Version Of Cold War

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Coffee drinkers may be in for another break.

The coffee-producing nations to the south have been waging a cold war among themselves. Oversupply, stiff competition and unstable prices threaten today to break into an open price war — in spite of denials from the feuding nations.

The price of coffee for future delivery dropped early this week on the New York market as traders received word that attempts of the producing nations to set up a price - controlling agency were running into snags.

Another attempt will be made here next week. Spokesmen for the coffee traders say that 16 producing countries will be represented. Aim: to launch an international coffee agency with power to stabilize prices.

But Brazil, with a large supply of unsold beans on hand, has just dropped its minimum coffee export price. The Brazilian government says this doesn't mean the start of a price war. But traders here note that El Salvador and Mexico are reported to have taken similar action.

The immediate dispute among the Latin-American nations is over what to do about some 10 million bags of coffee which will be left over from the old crop when the new crop year starts July 1.

The Brazilian government has bought 3,100,000 bags (409 million pounds) to hold off the market. The quarrel is said to be over how much more it should buy, and how much other producing countries should hold off the market until prices stabilize.

However, the trouble actually goes back to July 1953 when Brazil had a damaging frost. Prospects of a short coffee crop sent green bean prices spiraling to 95 cents a pound in the New York market. Other producers began to cut in on the market Brazil had built up over the years. At the same time, Americans cut down on coffee drinking.

Declining demand and price cutting among competing producers toppled prices here — the green bean brings about 54 cents a pound here now — and caused considerable economic and political unrest in Latin America.

For several months now the producing nations have been trying to get together on a scheme to stabilize prices by tailoring supplies to demand and also on promotion to increase the drinking of coffee.

Gas Bubbles In Well, But Won't Pay Off

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP) — Samuel S. Shankes new well just keeps bubbling.

Gas! No doubt about that. A driller found this out in an explosion which singed his eyebrows when he tried to light a cigarette. But the state geologist's office exploded any ideas that the gas is in commercial quantity. The scientific fellows said small pockets were not unusual heareabouts.

Virginians Typed

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Virginians are of two types, says Commissioner of Agriculture Parke C. Brinkley, those who never had enough push to get out of the state, and those who got out, made a lot of money and came back to enjoy it among people who know how to enjoy life. He gave his views to the National Dairy Council.

Costume Dismays French Dancer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jeanmaire, the French dancer who is credited with putting sex in ballet, showed up for one of her numbers in "Anything Goes" in her own conception of a dance costume.

It took director Robert Lewis, designer Edith Head and Bing Crosby an hour to tell her why the costume wasn't suitable.

"But," protested the highly volatile Jeanmaire, "I don't understand. In France . . . ."

Finally, she put on the Edith Head costume—much less revealing.

Jeanmaire, always the parisienne, sighed. "What will they think of me in this"

Despite Battle Over Words, Chances For Hike In Minimum Wage Law Appear Slim

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of workers are involved in the wrestling match between the Eisenhower administration and some Senate Democrats over the meaning of words.

The words involve a boost in the minimum wage and its extension to workers not now covered. In spite of the talk and the words, there's a good chance there will be no increase.

About 24 million workers in businesses which deal across state lines—such as factories producing goods shipped in interstate commerce—are covered by the federal minimum wage law. It requires that they be paid at least 75 cents an hour.

Another 20 million people working for wages and salaries are not covered. This group includes farm workers, such people as small grocery store clerks, employes of banks, and people employed by theater, grocery, hotel and movie theater chains, and employed in 5 - and - 10 - cent store chains.

In his Jan. 6 State of the Union message President Eisenhower said of the minimum wage: "I recommend its increase to 90 cents an hour. I also recommend that many others, at present excluded, be given protection of the minimum wage."

Congress set the present minimum of 75 cents an hour in 1950. Since then living costs have gone up about 15 per cent.

The big labor organizations want the minimum set at $1.25. The administration sticks to 90 cents. A boost from 75 to 90 cents would mean an automatic raise for about one million manufacturing employes in the South, and 300,000 others.

Just how many of those 20 million uncovered workers did Eisenhower want brought under the protection of the law with a 90-cent minimum wage?

He had left it "many others" in his message. But on April 14 Secretary of Labor Mitchell went before the Senate Labor Committee to explain the administration's views. The committee is considering a bill to boost the minimum.

Mitchell said he knew of no "sound reason" why the minimum wage should not be extended to employes of interstate chain stores interstate hotels and motion picture chains, and some other workers. They'd total about two million.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) a committee member, said he took this to mean the administration was recommending those two million employes be brought under the law. Then the wrestling began.

Douglas says the administration is "weaseling." Mitchell says now the administration wants minimum wage coverage "extended to millions more Americans."

How many millions exactly? That's up to Congress to decide, Mitchell says. He says he hopes the issue of expended coverage will not be "obscured by quibbling about words."

Before it quits in midsummer, the Senate may pass some kind of minimum wage bill.

But it can't become law unless the House also approves. Yet, with summer drawing close, the House hasn't started committee hearings.

Texan Has What It Takes For Brilliant Navy Career

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Navy Capt. Charles Cochran Kirkpatrick, a lean and wiry six-foot Texan, seems to have the right combination of sea and desk experience to insure a glittering service career.

At 47, he's won more than his share of medals for wartime gallantry at sea, and his ashore abilities already have taken him to the staff of Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Since his graduation from the Naval Academy in 1931, Kirkpatrick has lived the life of the usual career Naval man—years of duty at sea rotated with years ashore, living with his family in widely scattered points over the globe.

"But there's just one place that's really home," he grins. "That's San Angelo."

He was born in the West Texas city June 20, 1907, son of Charles and Elizabeth Snyder Kirkpatrick. He played baseball and other sports at San Angelo High School, where boyhood friends called him Chili.

"When I hear someone call me that nowadays," he added with a smile, "I know he is a friend from away back."

Kirkpatrick is ranking Navy officer assigned to Radford. Early this year he made a round-the-world tour of American military installations which included conferences with NATO leaders in Europe.

Although he now sits in the inner councils, Kirkpatrick proudly recalls he also has seen service as an ordinary sailor.

"I got in the Naval Academy the hard way," he says. "When I graduated from high school in 1926 I went over to Dallas and enlisted in the Navy, because I had been told I would then be eligible to take some competitive examinations for appointment to the academy."

Sent to the Naval station at San Diego, he came out ninth among 500 hopefuls seeking an appointment to Annapolis. After graduation from the academy, he was assigned to the USS Pennsylvania, flagship of the commander in chief of the U.S. Fleet.

Prior to World War II Kirkpatrick served in various areas and qualified as a submarine commander while in the Panama Canal Zone in 1936.

After Pearl Harbor he was assigned to command the submarine USS Triton on which he won three Naval crosses and the Army Distinguished Service Cross.

The DCS was for teamwork with that branch of service. On one occasion his submarine surfaced in hostile waters and used its radio and radar facilities to help guide B29 bombers on a raid that wiped out Japanese installations on a Pacific island.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Hobby Proves Handy As Grandchildren Arrive

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. James Dolliver (R-Ia) finds his furniture-making hobby comes in handy with the advent of grandchildren. He has four, has made two baby beds, and most of the childrens' toys.

"It's awfully good for him, especially after a bad day on Capitol Hill," his wife told me. "He can go down in the basement and pound and pound. I don't know what some men do without a hobby to get the kinks out of them."

A one-time teacher of manual training at an Iowa high school, the congressman, who is serving his sixth team, made most of the furniture for the Dolliver summer home at Lake Okoboji, Ia., a lot of small tables, (one of which I bought at a sale at his wife's club) foot stools and waste baskets.

"We have shelves in every conceivable place and some that are inconceivable," Mrs. Dolliver said. "He also makes gavels from wood from the White House, and from mahogany benches he bought when they remodeled the House chamber of the Capitol. We laugh also about the Dolliver children having solid mahogany blocks to play with."

While her husband makes furniture, Mrs. Dolliver knits. She makes baby clothes and things for her church bazaars. Right now, she's knitting a sleeveless blouse, skirt, and tailored jacket for herself.

The Dolliver live in Fort Dodge, Ia., but haven't been able to spend much time there. During vacations the family usually goes to Lake Okoboji, where they rest, fish and swim, and where Mrs. Dolliver watches over the harvesting and preparation of the strawberries, raspberries, fruit, beans and sweet corn from their garden.

"Sometimes I can it, but I can't cart lots of put-up stuff to Washington," she said. "We haven't gotten a deep freeze because we spend half of our time there and half of it here and I wouldn't know where I'd want it."

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for May 22, 1930.)

Dedication of the new Fluvanna High School building, which cost a total of $65,000, was made last night in that thriving small city of Scurry County.

Opening with a fine concert by the Fluvanna High School band, the entire audience joined with one accord in the singing of America, followed by the invocation by the Rev. R. H. Montgomery.

Introduction of the Board of Education so instrumental in building the most magnificent and worthy structure that is in Scurry County today was made by Supt. E. O. Wedgeworth. President J. I. Boren was introduced, then followed Secretary T. F. Koonce, John Stavely, Will Noel, Mert Noel H. D. Sneed and W. P. Sims. . .

Plans for next year at the Fluvanna schools call for the addition of a home economics department and teacher, another grade teacher, piano instruction, band director, and a new art and expression teacher. . .

The Scurry County Band that is entering the band contest of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Abilene will give concerts at the Public Square the first three nights of next week, and the entire county is invited to hear them.

New uniforms to the number of 40 were ordered last week, which will be here in time for the concert. White shirts, navy style trousers and white top caps with patent leather bills will comprise the new outfits, all topped off with gold-color jerseys.

Commencement exercises of Hermleigh High School were held last Thursday morning with 15 receiving diplomas, the largest graduating class ever to come out of that school.

The graduates included: the Misses Claris Harkins, valedictorian; Vivian Beane, salutatorian; Ruby Kimzey, Leola Caffey, Jessie Fae Todd, Oletha Sturgeon, Bessie White, Verda Coston, Virgie Spikes, Lillian Groves, Lois Allen, and Messrs. Bill Teaff, Boyce Jones, Edward Stevenson and Joseph Groves. Rev. M. L. Moody delivered the commencement address, with County Supt. Bullock presenting the diplomas.

Bald Head Doesn't Slow Yul Brynner

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD, May 14 (AP)—To all men who comb their hair with a towel, this column is dedicated.

For, in Hollywood, the male star who is flurrying more feminine hearts than Gable or Brando is a Broadway actor with a head so bald that even a cue ball looks fuzzy by comparison.

A bald-headed publicity man introduced Yul Brynner to me with a reverence seldom seen outside of church.

"Yul," said the publicist, "has done more for us than Max Factor ever did."

Factor, of course, makes toupees.

One female columnist, seldom enthusiastic, wrote of Brynner: "He has more sex appeal than any star in Hollywood or the theater."

A male columnist tabbed him: "Mr. Personality."

The secretaries on the Paramount lot, a true testing ground for any star's appeal with women, sigh when he enters the commissary.

A veteran cop, in charge of studio tours, comments:

"Haven't seen anything like it since Valentino."

Brynner, himself, comments:

"I never could see where hair —or the lack of it—had anything to do with a man's appeal to women."

Oddly, Brynner wouldn't have to be bald if he didn't want to be. He's been that way by choice for the last five years.

"I have a good head of hair but I keep it shaved—every three days as a matter of fact."

Actually, his work has had something to do with it. He played the bald-headed king for four years in "The King and I."

Then Cecil B. DeMille signed him for the role of a pharoah, Rameses II, in "The Ten Commandments."

"I learned that the Egyptian kings shaved their heads every three days just like I do. I am all for it. It's so comfortable."

OFF THE BOOK BEAT — Two new publishing ventures have been announced.

Oxford has set October as the date for the publication of the first issue of a new magazine, Essential Books. It is to be an advance list and description of all Oxford books and selected books from British and American university presses interested in using this service. In effect it amounts to a reviewing journal for scholars, libraries and professional men, covering about 1,000 books a year, and appearing five times annually. First edition will number 180,000 copies, with the first goal set at 250,000.

Taplinger Publishing Co., organized by book publicity agent Richard Taplinger after a trip through the Far East, will bring out Asian writers in translations and adaptations. Scheduled to appear in the next two years are poetry, fiction and nonfiction from Pakistan, Thailand, Korea, Japan and the city of Hong Kong. Taplinger points that he is not reading unsolicited mss.

The best novel of Jewish interest published last year was Louis Zara's "Blessed Is the Land," according to the award made it this week by the Jewish Book Council of America. Best juvenile, the council decided, was "King Solomon's Navy," by Nora Benjamin Kubie. Poetry awards went to Alter Esselin and Gabriel Preil.

Two American novelists, Warren Eyster and George Price, have received creative writing fellowships from the Centro Mexicano de Escritores. Price will finish a novel, already started, about life in the Navy. Eyster, author of "Far from the Customary Skies," will write a novel about Mexico.

Jerry Lewis Still Growing At Age 29

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jerry Lewis literally is just a growing boy.

The other day, director Frank Tashlin accosted Lewis on the set of "Artists and Models."

"You grew some," said Tashlin.

Dean Martin took out a tape measure. Sure enough, Lewis, now 6 feet 1, had grown five-eighths of an inch in the last year.

Lewis said he was only 5 feet 8 when he and Dean first teamed nine years ago. He is now 29.

Reminded that the average male stops growing when he's 25 at the most, Lewis replied:

"I got an active pituitary gland."

"Don't all monsters" quipped Dean.

FOR THE FIFTH TIME, Marine Sgt. A. B. Sealy, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Sealy, 3101 Avenue V, is awarded a good conduct medal. Making the presentation is his commanding officer, Lt. Col. R. M. Wismer. Sealy is serving with a recruit training unit at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego, Calif. He attended Southwestern University before entering the service in 1940. (U.S. Army photograph)

Mild Campaign In Britain Is Near Finish

LONDON, May 21 (AP)—Britain's general election campaign crawled into its last weekend tonight with candidates and voters agreeing it's the quietest and slowest in many years.

Against a background of nationwide lassitude and in the face of public opinion polls and other signs hinting at a Tory victory in the election next Thursday, Conservative party spokesmen warned against overconfidence.

"My greatest anxiety now," croaked Viscount Woolton, chairman of the Conservative party, "is lest our supporters should conclude that the election is in the bag."

Hardly able to speak because of laryngitis, his lordship added in a hoarse whisper:

"I don't believe it for a moment."

Said Lord Mancroft, parliamentary undersecretary in Prime Minister Anthony Eden's government:

"We are becoming ominously smug and starting to talk about a landslide. If we do not drop this complacency and get down to it with a vengeance, there will indeed be a landslide — the wrong way."

Said Labor's Daily Herald:

"This is the decisive weekend. There are five days to decide Britain's fate for five years. Bring out every Labor voter on Thursday to the poll."

Harry Pollitt, secretary of the Communist party, sounded what was perhaps the shrillest warning to the voters, saying:

"This is the most decisive election of our lifetime."

The voters — who've generally stayed away from campaign meetings except those of well-known politicians — continued to rivet their attention on their television sets whenever the party stars went before the cameras.

Find Dentist, Negro Shot

LAREDO, Tex., May 21 (AP)—Dr. Shannon T. Peterson was shot and wounded today in what police described as an attempted robbery in the dentist's fifth floor downtown office.

Also wounded and in a serious condition was James Wilson, 32-year-old Negro, reportedly from New York City. He was shot once in the chest.

Peterson was shot three times in the stomach. He was taken to Mercy Hospital where his condition was reported good.

Police Capt. Tom Gallagher said Wilson called Peterson at home and asked for an emergency tooth extraction. Peterson and his wife, who had planned to go to their ranch, came downtown. Peterson went upstairs to his office while Mrs. Peterson remained downstairs in a drug store.

Exact details were not available as both men were unconscious.

Normal Hollier, a technician who worked with Peterson, entered the office as the two men struggled on the floor. Hollier, aided by a janitor, subdued Wilson.

Police believe Peterson, a big, husky man, resisted robbery after his wallet had been taken from him at gun point. Gallagher said the wallet was found on Wilson.

The police chief said Wilson came here from Mexico City and pawned a watch at a Laredo shop yesterday. He said Wilson had served five years in Massachusetts for armed robbery.

Says Reserve Bill Will Pass

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, House Republican leader, predicted today the House will pass a revised version of its shelved military reserve bill "because we have to have it."

Other supporters were less optimistic, and some said privately the bill is dead for this session although the Eisenhower administration urgently desires it.

Martin said the only alternatives to a new program for expanding the reserves are "doubling the draft or maintaining large standing forces."

"Nobody wants to take either of those steps," he added. "So I am confident we will pass a reserve bill after a while."

The shelved bill was designed to add two million men to the organized reserves in four years. These would come largely from an expected new pool of teen-agers willing to volunteer for six months' training and 7½ years active reserve duty. In addition the bill authorizes the Pentagon to recall, for 45 days of active duty, reservists failing to keep up required weekly drill and summer camp training.

The bill ran into trouble when the House voted an amendment prohibiting the assignment or enlistment of men in National Guard or reserve units where racial segregation is practiced.

Bond Set For Mrs. Estep

DALLAS, May 21 (AP)—The Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans today set bond at $3,000 for Mrs. Dora Estep, 64, wanted by Illinois authorities for violation of the Medical Practices Act, her attorneys reported.

One attorney, Howard Dailey, said the bond will be made Monday in federal court here.

She and her husband, William (Doc) Estep, were convicted in Cook County, Ill., in 1951 and she was sentenced to one to two years.

Litigation followed and the couple moved to Texas. Early in April, Federal Judge William H. Atwell denied a plea to stay her extradition.

Her attorneys filed an appeal and asked bond be set. The circuit court today also set aside the order of Judge Atwell staying extradition.

Estep is in jail while a federal mail fraud conviction against him, plus the Illinois conviction, is on appeal.

WHY CAN'T JOHNNY READ?

Remedial Reading Cases Not Found In Rest Of The World

By RUDOLF FLESCH

CHAPTER 1

THE WRONG SYSTEM

The teaching of reading — all over the United States, in all the schools, in all the text books — is totally wrong and flies in the face of all logic and common sense. Johnny can't read for the simple reason that nobody ever showed him how.

I was born and raised in Austria. Do you know that there are no remedial reading cases in Austrian schools? Do you know that there are no remedial reading cases in Germany, in France, in Italy, in Norway, in Spain — practically anywhere in the world except in the United States?

Do you know that there was no such things as remedial reading in this country either until about 30 years ago? Do you know that the teaching of reading never was a problem anywhere in the world until the United States switched to the present method around about 1925

This sounds incredible, but it is true. One of the articles on reading that I found was by a Dr. Ralph C. Preston, of the University of Pennsylvania, who reported on his experiences on a trip through Western Germany in the April, 1953, Elementary School Journal. Dr. Preston visited a number of classrooms in Hamburg and Munich.

THEY COULD READ

"After the experience of hearing these German children read aloud," he says, "I began to attach some credence to a generally expressed opinion of German teachers that before the end of Grade 2 almost any child can read orally (without regard to degree of comprehension) almost anything in print!"

Of course, Dr. Preston, being an American educator, didn't draw the obvious conclusion from what he saw. The explanation is simply that the method used over there works, and the method used in our schools does not.

We too could have perfect readers in all schools at the end of second grade if we taught our children by the system used in Germany.

Now, what is this system? It's very simple. Reading means getting meaning from certain combinations of letters. Teach the child what each letter stands for and he can read.

Ah no, you say, it can't be that simple. But it is.

AN ANCIENT SYSTEM

Our system of writing — the alphabet — was invented by the Egyptians and the Phoenicians somewhere around 1500 B.C. Before the invention of the alphabet there was only a picture writing—a picture of an ox meant "ox," a picture of a house meant "house," and so on. (The Chinese to this day have a system of writing with symbols that stand for whole words.)

As soon as people had an alphabet, the job of reading and writing was tremendously simplified. Before that, you had to have a symbol for every word in the language — 10,000, 20,000 or whatever the vocabulary range was.

Now, with the alphabet, all you had to learn was the letters. Each letter stood for a certain sound, and that was that. To write a word — any word — all you had to do was break it down into its sounds and put the corresponding letters on paper.

So, ever since 1500 B.C. people all over the world — wherever an alphabetic system of writing was used — learned how to read and write by the simple process of memorizing the sound of each letter in the alphabet.

HOW HE LEARNS

When a schoolboy in ancient Rome learned to read, he didn't learn that the written word mensa meant a table, that is, a certain piece of furniture with a flat top and legs.

Instead, he began by learning that the letter m stands for the sound you make when you put your lips together, that e means the sound that comes out when you open your mouth about halfway, that n is like m but with the lips open and the teeth together, that s has a hissing sound, and that a means the sound made by opening your mouth wide.

Therefore, when he saw the written word mensa for the first time, he could read it right off and learn, with a feeling of happy discovery, that this collection of letters meant a table. Not only that, he could also write the word down from dictation without ever having seen it before. And not only that, he could do this with practically every word in the language.

This is not miraculous. It's the only natural system of learning how to read.

LIKE THE CHINESE

What do we use instead? Why the only other possible system, of course — the system that was in use before the invention of the alphabet in 1500 B.C. We have decided to forget that we write with letters and learn to read English as if it were Chinese. One word after another after another after another. If we want to read materials with a vocabulary of 10,000 words, then we have to memorize 10,000 words; if we want to go to the 20,000 word range, we have to learn, one by one, 20,000 words; and so on. We have thrown 3,500 years of civilization out the window.

You don't believe me? I assure you what I am saying is literally true. Go to your school tomorrow morning—or if Johnny has brought home one of his readers, look at it. You will immediately see that all the words in it are learned by endless repetition.

Not a sign anywhere that letters correspond to sound and that words can be worked out by pronouncing the letters. No. The child is told what each word means and then they are mechanically, brutally hammered into his brain. Like this:

"Quack, quack," said the duck.
He wanted something.
He did not want to get out.
He did not want to go to the farm.
He did not want to eat.
He sat and sat and sat.

OVER AND OVER AGAIN

All the reading books used in all our schools, up through fourth and fifth and sixth grade, are collections of stuff like that. Our children learn the word sat by reading over and over again about a duck or a pig or a goat that sat and sat and sat. And so with every word in the language.

Every word in the language! You know what that means? It means that if you teach reading by this system you can't use ordinary reading matter for practice. Instead, all children for three, four, five, six years have to work their way up through a battery of carefully designed readers, each one containing all the words used in the previous one plus a strictly limited number of new ones, used with the exactly "right" amount of repetition.

Our children don't read Andersen's "Fairy Tales" any more or "The Arabian Nights" or Mark Twain or Louisa May Alcott or the Mary Poppins books or the Dr. Doolittle books or anything interesting and worth while, because they can't.

HE'S HELPLESS

The writers of these classic children's books wrote without being aware of our Chinese system of teaching reading. So "Little Women" contains words like grieving and serene, and "Tom Sawyer" has ague and inwardly, and Bulfinch's "Age of Fable" has nymph and deity and incantations.

If a child that has gone to any of our schools faces the word nymph for the first time, he is absolutely helpless because nobody has ever told him how to sound out n and y and m and ph and read the word off the page.

So what does he get instead? He gets those series of horrible, stupid, emasculated, pointless, tasteless little readers, the stuff and guff about Dick and Jane or Alice and Jerry visiting the farm and having birthday parties and seeing animals in the zoo and going through dozens and dozens of totally unexciting children's activities that offer opportunities for reading "Look, look" or "Yes, yes" or "Come, come" or "See the funny, funny animal." During the past half year I read a good deal of this material and I don't wish that experience on anyone.

TOMORROW — Factory-produced textbooks. What kind of books do our children use in reading classes? Who writes them and how are they produced? What happened to a famous scholar who said our methods of teaching reading were wrong?

GM Board Chairman Will Be 80 Monday

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT, May 21 (AP)—A one-time electrical engineer and roller bearing manufacturer who became one of the greatest organizational geniuses in American industrial history will be 80 years old on Monday.

He is Alfred Pritchard Sloan Jr., board chairman of General Motors, which he helped build into the world's biggest industrial organization. Last year the corporation did a gross business of approximately $9,825,000,000.

Sloan's life record, say his friends, is one of manifold demonstrations of individual initiative, efficient mass production, the wise and effective leadership of private management and devotion to humanitarian projects of medical research, scholarships and education.

A native of New Haven, Conn., Sloan was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology with an electrical engineering degree. In his nearly 60 years in the automobile industry he saw the automobile change from an iron jack rabbit to an engineering marvel of precision.

A generation ago he remarked: "Progress is measured by the advancement and well-being, socially and economically, of those who work for wage or salary—those who are dependent upon their own individual effort."

A few months ago, expounding much the same thought, he urged business to be bold in expansion and development. A little foresight and courage, he said, will lead to higher standards of living, great productivity and a better America for all."

But for the weight of his years Sloan would be described as a tall man; certainly he is thin. His hair is gray and he gives the impression of being highly nervous. This is betrayed in quick movements, especially of his long slender hands.

But if he is nervous, he is not impatient. His friends have said his patience is vast; that he would rather sell an idea to a worker than fire him.

The Sloan career wasn't a rags-to-riches story like that of many other automotive industry greats. Besides putting him through college, his father was able to help finance the revival of a fading Hyatt Roller Bearing Co. in Newark, N. J., in the late 1890s.

The younger Sloan became president of Hyatt in 1897, when he was 22. Under his direction Hyatt developed from a business grossing only a few thousand dollars annually to one above the 10-million-a-year mark.

In 1916, with the late William C. Durant, Sloan brought about the consolidation of Hyatt and several other accessory companies under the name of United Motors Corp. He was made its president. In 1918 United Motors became part of General Motors. Sloan became a vice president and a member of GM's executive committee.

On May 10, 1923, he was elected president of General Motors. He served until 1937—a period that has been described as one of the greatest developments for General Motors. In every one of the years during which he served as president the corporation made a profit and paid dividends to its stockholders.

Elected chairman in 1937, Sloan continued as chief executive officer of General Motors until June 3, 1946.

Late in 1937 Sloan donated 10 million dollars to the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, which he had established some time earlier to promote education, a better understanding of economic problems and general research.

In 1945 Sloan joined with Charles F. Kettering, General Motors research consultant, in the establishment of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Canler Research.

"The impact of the disease (cancer) on the human race," Sloan said, "is appalling, and, unfortunately, its magnitude too little appreciated. . . . We are convinced the same broad principles of organized industrial research can be adapted so as to bear effectively on this entirely different problem."

Sloan hasn't disclosed what his plans are for the future. If he plans to step down as chairman of General Motors he has not told any of his friends. Of future opportunities he says:

"What the industrialists of the past 100 years have done is a mere beginning. The greatest opportunity for enterprise still lies beyond the horizon. . . ."

Jury Convicts Two Airmen

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., May 21 (AP)—Two airmen charged with riddling a shooting gallery operator's body with 15 bullets before robbing him were found guilty here today and given 99-year prison terms.

The two men—Arthur M. McLain, Jr., 22, Potwin, Kan., and John Preston Beard, 28, Kingsport, Tenn—showed no emotion when the all-male jury returned its verdict at 3:15 p.m.

Kenneth Johnson, a defense attorney, said after the verdict was returned that no appeal was planned.

The jury, which deliberated 1 hour and 40 minutes, found the two men sane at the time the crime was committed.

MUCH IN DEMAND during the school year now ending was the high school boys quartet, shown above with Bob Clinton, left, high school choral director. The group sang at a banquet for past school board members here Friday night. Left to right are Herb Portis, bass; Bryan Boss, baritone; Doug Smith, lead; and Kent Fields, tenor. (Lee Watson photograph)

Boys Quartet In Demand Frequently

One of the most popular groups in Snyder in the field of entertainment is the high school boys quartet.

The quartet, one of several choral music groups under direction of Bob Clinton, high school choral director, is much in demand for public appearances. One of those appearances was made Friday night, when the group sang for a dinner honoring past school board members here.

The quartet is made up of Herb Portis, senior student and son of Mr. and Mrs. John Portis, 701 Sixteenth Street; Bryan Boss, senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Boss, Big Spring highway; Kent Fields, senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Fields, 2408 Sunset; and Douglas Smith, junior and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Smith, 2012 Avenue S.

The group throughout the school year averaged appearing for some event about twice weekly. The quartet made more than 60 appearances this school year, singing for such gatherings as those of civic clubs, women's clubs, and banquets. They have even been out-of-town to sing at such places as Big Spring, Sweetwater, and Midland.

The group has been recognized by being awarded a first division rating in interscholastic league contests at Brownwood, the highest rating available. The group has from 15 to 20 numbers to be used at various occasions. The numbers are already practiced. The group has been in a regular practice period each school day with the high school madrigal singers, a group to which all four of the quartet members belong.

Three of the quartet members, Portis, Boss, and Fields, are graduating from high school Tuesday night. Clinton is conducting tryouts for the high school a capella choir and all ensembles, including the quartet.

Portis is the bass singer of the quartet. President of the choir this year, he has been a choir member four years and a member of the madrigals and quartet two years. He was chosen this spring as choral recipient of the National Arion Award, which is presented to outstanding students in the field of high school music. He has had numerous scholarship offers since that time and plans to attend Texas Tech, where he will major in a field other than music.

Boss, the baritone, has been in choir three years and the quartet and madrigals two years. This year he served as president of the high school student council.

Fields, a member of the choir three years and madrigals and quartet two years, is the tenor. He was one of the high school cheerleaders this year.

Smith sings the lead part for the quartet. He has been in the choir, quartet, and madrigals one year. He has been elected president of the student council for next year.

Diem Strikes More Blows At Bao Dai

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, May 21 (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's government and its Nationalist supporters struck two new blows today at absentee Chief of State Bao Dai. Both moves strengthened the drive for the playboy ex-Emperor's eventual ouster.

The government ordered the arrest and trial on treason charges of two top aides of Bao Dai and four other leaders of the civil war which erupted against Diem April 28.

This action was followed by a National Revolutionary Committee's announcement it had sent telegrams to President Eisenhower and the heads of 42 other nations informing them of the organization's support of Diem and its claim that Bao Dai has been deposed.

Nguyen Bao Toan, the committee's president, told reporters the telegrams were aimed at preparing the way internationally for the proclamation of a republic before South Viet Nam's general elections. This voting is scheduled to take place within the next two or three months.

Deputy Defense Minister Tran Trung Dung announced the treason charges against Diem's enemies. If caught and convicted, they face the death penalty.

The two accused Bao Dai aides are ex - army inspector Gen. Nguyen Van Vy and Col. Nguyen Tu Yen, commander of the Imperial Guard. Vy, who was named last month to replace Diem, staged an abortive coup against the government with Yen's aid May 1 after the Premier refused to accept his dismissal. The coup failed when the national army backed Diem.

European Airbases Vital, George Says

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) said today the United States must not give up European airbases or reduce its military strength there despite any "bold move" by Russia to erect a neutral zone between East and West.

George, who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen there are "no present circumstances under which we can afford to give up our air bases or decrease our forces in Europe."

Replying to critics who have said Russia's prime objective at any top-level, Big Four conference would be to dissipate American military strength in Europe, George said:

"I don't think we can give up anything at this time or rest on our oars in any way. We can't let our guard down now. No proposal Russia makes should affect our military efforts until we have had time to see some real change in the world situation."

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, has contended that the Soviets are aiming at bringing about withdrawal of American troops from the Continent. He has predicted attempts to "neutralize" a belt of countries across Europe from Yugoslavia to Scandinavia.

George, first in this country to call for a "summit" conference between President Eisenhower and the heads of Britain, France and Russia, said he has no doubt the Russians will come forward with "a very bold program" at such a meeting.

"They will probably have a new disarmament proposal," he said. "They are likely to suggest the creation of a neutral zone between East and West.

"They may even propose that the United States, Britain and France on one side guarantee the neutrality of a dividing zone while they guarantee it on the other. We should be prepared for some unusually bold proposals from them."

George said he doesn't believe these proposals need be "disturbing" to the West. But he conceded that any move toward neutralization might appeal to some factions in Western Germany and would be likely to affect East German sentiment greatly.

In this connection, he applauded efforts of the Bonn Government to rush rearmament bills through the West German Parliament before the contemplated summit conference this summer.

Charolaise Cattle Win

COLLEGE STATION, May 21 (AP)—Charolaise cattle took top awards in a 140-day breeding cattle evaluation test at McGregor, Tex.

The test was conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station of Texas A&M College in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Bruce L. Warwick, in announcing the results, said of the 355 cattle, the Charolaise and Charbray showed the greatest gain in weight per day. During the test, all the breeding stock was fed the same amount of the same formula.

Warwick said the Charolaise bulls showed an average gain of 2.9 pounds per day, with Santa Gertrudis and Red Poll tieing for second at 2.7 pounds per day. Charbray bulls averaged 2.6.

Holstein and Santa Gertrudis led in the steer weight gain test with averages of 2.6 and 2.1 pounds, respectively. Brahman, Angus, Charolaise, Red Poll and Charbray were not represented in the steer test.

The breeding cattle test included Charolaise, Charbray, Red Poll, Santa Gertrudis, Brahman, Hereford and Angus.

Warwick said the feed used in the breeding stock tests consisted of 35 per cent concentrates and 65 per cent roughage. The steer feed included 33 per cent roughage and 67 per cent concentrates.

Hospital For Cancer Cases Opposed Now

SAN ANTONIO, May 21 (AP)—Opposition to the proposed three million dollar Southwest Texas Cancer Hospital bill has been keyed by the Bexar County Medical Society on a "first things first" proposition.

The society maintains erection of a 300-bed general hospital, located in San Antonio and for use by Southwest Texans, is currently more important than the proposed cancer hospital.

A group of San Antonians and Southwest Texans are backing the cancer hospital bill in the legislature. An important figure in this group is Dr. Dudley Jackson, San Antonio, noted cancer specialist.

The 300-bed general hospital project is backed by the Methodist Church. The church would operate the hospital along with a nurse training school.

This hospital would cost $5,500,000, one and one half million to be raised by San Antonians and Southwest Texans, $1,500,000 to be furnished by hospital trustees, and $2,500,000 from federal funds.

"If two hospital drives compete for federal funds for hospital construction," said Dr. Robert E. Gossett, president of the Bexar County Medical Society, "neither campaign will succeed and San Antonio will continue to have inadequate hospital facilities . . ."

Dr. Jackson said disease of the heart and blood vessels cause 65 per cent of deaths. He pointed out that a general hospital not only could treat such diseases but cancer as well.

Religious Liberty For All Is Urged

MIAMI, Fla., May 21 (AP)—A resolution urging governments throughout the world to give religious freedom to the people was adopted today by the 15,000 delegates to the Southern Baptist Convention.

The convention noted "with gratitude the developments in various countries (especially in Latin America)" indicating wider recognition of the principle of separate church and state.

Children's Home Is Brushed By Tornado

MACON, Ga., May 21 (AP) — At least one residence was demolished and between 200 and 300 occupants of a Masonic children's home were endangered by a tornado today at this middle Georgia city.

The residence destroyed was that of Albert Fausett in an exclusive area. Members of the family were away on vacation and escaped injury.

The frightened children at the Masonic home lay on the floor during the height of the storm. No harm befell them but the milking barn and chicken house of the home were blown away, with only traces remaining.

Trees and utility poles were blown down, shutters and gutters torn from houses, windows and doors smashed and roads blocked over a wide area. Telephone and power service were knocked out.

No deaths or serious injuries were reported.

WATER PENETRATION has been much deeper on pitted land during recent rains than on land which was not pitted. In the top picture, James Bellamy, operator of the Max von Roeder Ranch, measures depth of penetration, left, on pitted land, while Guy Moore, soil conservation technician, is at right holding a spade at the depth water penetrated on non-pitted land. In the bottom picture, Bellamy is shown using pitting equipment owned by the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District. (Lee Watson photographs)

Pitted Land Aids Moisture Penetration

Eighteen inches of penetration on pitted rangeland compared to five inches of penetration on land which was not pitted was the result of water conservation work on the Max von Roeder Ranch west of here.

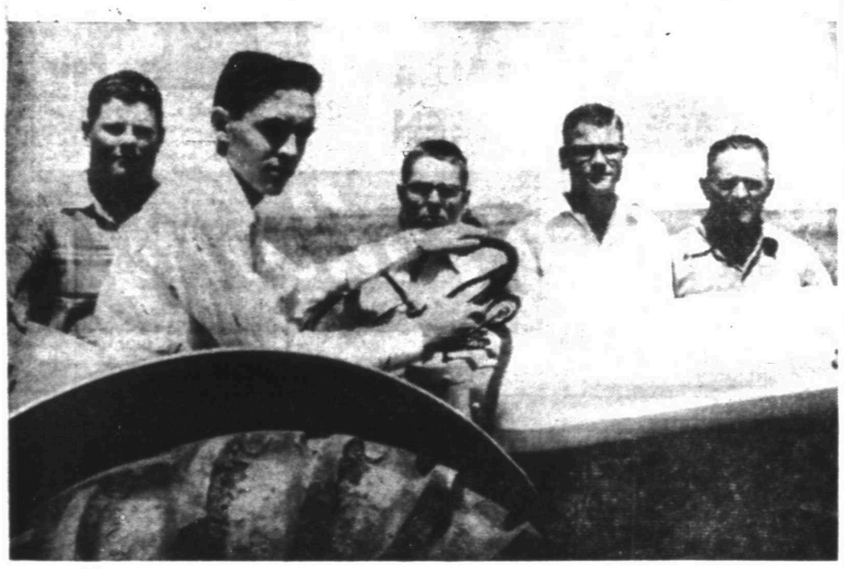
A check on penetration was made recently after a one and one-half inch rain by James Bellamy, ranch operator, and Guy Moore, Soil Conservation Service technician.

More rain has fallen since that time. After that one rain, Bellamy said, "I was surprised that the penetration was so much deeper on the pitted land. The rain fell so slowly that I figured runoff would be small. Those holes made by the machine did a good job of holding the water."

The penetration check was made on a portion of a 320-acre area which Bellamy has been pitting. The work was done with a pitting machine owned by the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District. The pitting conditions the land so water can be caught and stored until it can soak into the soil. It also loosens the soil and does away with the run-together and packed condition of rangeland.

Much of the rangeland here has been overused during dry years. There still remains, in most cases, a seed source to spread grass again if proper range management is used.

Range pitting usually stimulates growth of grass because of its aid in holding water. Deferred grazing of reconditioned pitted rangeland will also pay dividends by an overall improvement of grass growth and vigor.



SCURRY BOY IS WINNER—T. J. Hillis, Jr., Hermleigh boy who last week won the Scurry County tractor operation contest conducted by Scurry County Motor Co., was district winner yesterday in a contest involving 15 county winners. The contest was held here, and Hillis, as district winner will be sent to a state contest at Houston July 19 by Ford dealers, according to Sid Worrell, Ford tractor dealer here. Hillis is shown here, second from right. At right is Johnny Hoyle, contest manager. Others, left to right, are Leon Cohorn of Lamesa, seated on the tractor, Johnny Justiss of Roby, and Raymond Womack of Colorado City. Hillis and Cohorn tied in the first round and went through the contest a second time, with Hillis winning with 296 points to Cohorn's 289. Weldon Rainwater of Anson had 270, Delano Shaw of Knott 258, Justiss 237, Gene Spiser of Eden 213, and Womack 210. Judges were Clarence Wade and Nolan von Roeder, both of Snyder, and J. D. Jenkins of Lamesa. (Lee Watson photograph)

Nationalists Cancel Anti-Red Conference

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 21 (AP)—Nationalist China as the host country tonight canceled an anti-Communist conference of 16 countries, scheduled for Monday, because South Korea objected to Japan being present.

South Korea also insisted on unanimous approval for admission of any new members, a move which would enable it to keep out India. India's role in the Korean armistice has aroused considerable feeling in South Korea.

The Nationalist China chapter of the Anti - Communist League cabled 16 countries and territories notice of the cancelation. Burmese and Turkish observers already were on the way when the notice was sent.

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—Building permits issued in 215 large cities in the first four months of 1955 smashed all previous records with a total of $1,912,891,020, Dun & Bradstreet announced today. This compared with $1,693,-681,837 in the like period a year ago.

South Africa produced 30¼ million tons of coal in 1953, valued at more than the diamonds mined there the same year.

Fertilizer Is Big Help To Pasture Land

By SAM WHITLOW
Texas Editor,
Farmer-Stockman Magazine
Written for The Associated Press

NACOGDOCHES, Tex., May 21 (AP)—Good pastures in East Texas depend heavily on fertilizers. Walter L. Scott, district extension agent at Nacogdoches, said "Fertilized pastures withstood the drought better during the dry weather of 1954, as compared with unfertilized pastures."

Scott believes use of fertilizer will increase in East Texas. Fertilizers are being used heavily on row crops, and he believes pasture fertilization is due to show an increase, also.

In recent years, a heavy cattle population has built up in East Texas. With this, emphasis has been placed on improving pastures. "Some of our better improved pastures have a carrying capacity of one animal unit to 2 or 3 acres," he pointed out.

Fertilizers have been an important factor in building up corn yields. Not many years ago the average corn production in East Texas was hardly 15 bushels per acre. In several counties, averages of 40 bushels and upward have been developed. Occasional yields of over 100 bushels an acre are reported. Use of fertilizers on adapted corn hybrids has been the big reason for this sharp yield increase.

Scott recommends soil tests be made to show the plant food need of the land.

Much of the work in building high corn yields has been developed in East Texas through the experiment station near Lindale.

Scott believes that in the years ahead, use of fertilizers on both crops and pastures will increase. "We see examples every year where wise use of fertilizers has increased acre yield and profits from the land."

The fertilizer also seems to condition pastures better for dry weather.

Convicts Forced To Sleep On Concrete

HOUSTON, May 21 (AP)—French Robertson, chairman of the Texas Prison Board, said today over 400 convicts are having to sleep on concrete floors because of an acute housing shortage.

The Abilene oilman said the make-shift sleeping arrangements result from a steadily increasing population within the far-flung prison system.

This increase, Robertson said, has averaged 664 men the past three years.

With the system's population now totaling an all-time high of 7,910, Robertson sees no indication the number of incoming convicts will decrease.

"The number received so far this year indicates an accelerated trend that will send us over the 664 average increase of the past three years," he said.

The U.S. birth rate which reached a low of 18.4 per thousand in 1933, climbed to 26.6 per thousand in 1947, a record for recent years.

Defense Bond Drive Opens

The "Full Speed Ahead" campaign, a one-week drive designed to promote sales of U.S. Defense bonds to individuals, opens today in Texas.

Lyle Deffebach, chairman og the campaign in Scurry County, said that individuals throughout the state were being urged to increase their purchases of defense bonds, especially during the current campaign.

Deffebach said Snyder and Scurry County usualy meet the quotas set in the treasury department campaigns. However, the current campaign is designed to give particular emphasis to the payroll deduction plan for reguar purchases of bonds. In this way, individuals are able to make an investment that should prove helpful financially in the future, and also aid the federal government by lending them money.

Bond purchases not only serve as a method of savings for individuals, but help forestall inflation as as well, it was explained.

The "Full Speed Ahead" campaign will continue through next Saturday. Throughout this week ampaign leaders in all communities of Texas will urge individuals to participate.

Reserve Productive Capacity At New Peak, Despite Dusters

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, May 21 (AP)—The oil industry's reserve productive capacity has reached record levels despite more dry holes.

American Petroleum Institute last week reported a reserve capacity exceeding 2 million barrels daily, twice that of 1941.

Yet the oil operator is having to drill deeper and more often to find as much oil as was discovered in 1937.

A cost study committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America has released these comparisons:

Operators last year had to drill 16 wells to find a million barrels of proved reserves. Only eight wells did the job in 1937.

Oilmen had to drill 65 feet for each 1,000 barrels added to reserves, compared to only 25 feet in 1937.

Only 15 barrels of reserves were found for each foot drilled in 1954, compared to 31 for the 1937-1941 period.

Average depth of all wells drilled in 1952-1954 was 32 per cent greater than in the five years prior to the war.

Dry holes in 1952-1954 averaged 37 per cent, compared to 22 per cent for 1937-1941.

A National Petroleum Council committee estimates excess productive capacity for crude and natural gas liquids totaled 2,212,000 barrels daily last July. This represents an increase of 1,257,000 barrels in 18 months.

The committee estimates maximum production in July could have averaged 9,556,000 barrels daily, an increase of 937,000 in 18 months.

Fluctuations in demand, inventory changes and the rise or fall of the rate of imports of foreign oil affect the nation's reserve capacity from month to month. An IPAA productive committee has estimated the 1954 daily average was 1,918,000 barrels.

The petroleum council group credits technological developments with permitting productive capacity to increase at a more rapid rate than oil completions.

Pressure maintenance, water flooding and gas injections and formations fracturing were among the techniques credited with stimulating the rate of production in some older fields.

IPAA also estimates drilling costs have increased sharply since pre-war days. Wages and salaries are estimated to have increased 160 per cent, steel goods 70 per cent.

IPAA estimates total depth for 48,000 wells last year approximated 196 million feet. In 1937, some 32,000 wells had a total depth of 97 million.

OIL NEWS

The Snyder (Texas) Daily News, Sun., May 22, 1955 9

Completion Figures 990 Ahead Of 1954

AUSTIN, May 21 (AP)—Oil well completions are 990 ahead of the figure for last year, the Railroad Commission said today.

There have been 5,623 completions so far this year, compared with 4,633 at the same time last year.

The average calendar day allowable increased 11,134 barrels over the figure for last week. As of today the allowable was 3,118,714 barrels daily.

The week brought 214 oil well completions, 21 gas wells and 163 dry holes. Wildcats produced six of the oil wells, one gas well and 90 of the dry holes. Gas well completions for the year were behind those for last year, 413 to 489.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. has completed the No. J. E. Tindall et ux as a new producer eight miles southwest of Sylvester in the Raven Creek-Canyon sand field.

The operator reported a daily potential of 74.76 barrels of 38.8-gravity oil, pumping through perforations at 4,254-260 feet. Casing was cemented at 4,931 feet. Total depth was 5,020 feet, with plugged-back total depth 4,904 feet.

The No. 1 Tindall is in 2-19-T&P.

Dual Producer Is Completed

Honolulu Oil Corp. has completed the No. 8 E. G. Whitaker as a dual producer from the Ellenburger and Strawn formations in the White Flat field 11 miles east of Sweetwater in Nolan County.

From the Ellenburger, the well made a flowing daily potential of 166 barrels of 47-gravity oil, flowing through a 3-16th-inch choke. The flow was from perfrations at 5,546-574 feet, where the pay had been treated with 500 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 1,351-1. From the Strawn, the well pumped 24 hours for a potential of 75 barrels of 46-gravity oil plus five per cent water. Production was through perforations at 5,158-166 feet.

The No. 8 Whitaker is in 35-20-T&P.

Reservoir Expert Speaks To Lawyers

BILLINGS, Mont., May 21 (AP)—Approximately 200 oil and gas attorneys today heard an expert on reservoir mechanics at a Rocky Mountain Oil and Gas Law Institute.

Jack Tarner of Bartlesville, Okla., technical adviser to the production manager of Phillips Petroleum Co., used a plastic working model of an oil reservoir to illustrate his talk.

Other speakers discussed conservation, property rights, oil and gas income taxes and abstracts and oil problems. Theories of ownership of oil and gas were outlined by A. W. Walker Jr., Dallas.

Bass Named Aide For Petroleum Congress

DALLAS, May 21 (AP)—Harry W. Bass, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn., has been named an aide to Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay for the fourth World Petroleum Congress in Rome June 6-16.

McKay, Texas Railroad Commissioner Ernest P. Thompson and U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce are official delegates to the congress.

Red Danger Great, Says Turk Official

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Fatim Zorlu, deputy Prime Minister of Turkey, said today the Western world has reached "the most dangerous moment of post-war history" with the Soviet Union's adoption of seemingly conciliatory tactics.

A move by Russia for a neutral belt across Europe and the Near East—a proposal widely expected if a Big Four conference does take place—could be part of a long-range plan to create more Soviet satellites, Zorlu said in an interview.

Zorlu has been in Washington this week with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council, in which he represents Turkey.

Natural Gas Plant Planned At Andrews

Phillips Petroleum Co. has announced plans to build a natural gas liquids extraction plant in Andrews County.

The plant is to be located about three miles west of Andrews. It will have an initial capacity of 33 million cubic feet of gas per day. The plant will be fed by an extensive natural gas gathering system which will include a remote gas booster station in the Northeast Andrews-Magutex area. The new facilities will also serve the Deep Rock-Ellenburger, Fuhrman-Mascho, Shafter Lake-San Andres pools, and other fields in that area. It will bring to 11 the number of this type of plants operated by Phillips in West Texas and southeastern New Mexico.

Shortage Of Gasoline Due In Strike Zone

LOS ANGELES, May 21 (AP) — Gasoline shortages are expected early next week in many Western states because of the trucking industry strike and lockout.

The California Motor Truck Assn. reported today that "in excess of 90 per cent" of the more than 3,000 for-hire tankers which haul refined petroleum products have virtually ceased operations.

"The gasoline, butane and propane supplies in many areas will be dried up in a few days," an association spokesman said.

Gasoline shortages are expected to be most serious in smaller towns in California, Nevada, Arizona and Utah which depend on trucks for delivery from Los Angeles supply bases.

Fleets operated by petroleum firms and not affected by the current situation can serve areas 30 to 35 miles from refineries such as those near Los Angeles.

Full impact of the strike and lockout is not expected to be felt for several days but it was reported some contractors are beginning to feel a shortage of building materials, particularly rough plumbing supplies.

Foods, drugs and defense material, mail and perishables generally were moving along with other emergency shipments.

The dispute involves wages and health, welfare and pension benefits for 100,000 AFL Teamsters Union members including about 28,000 drivers. Affected are the 11 Western states — California, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico.

OIIC Makes Club Programs Available Here

Programs in the form of talks, films, or filmstrips are available here at all times for civic clubs, women's clubs, schools, and ther groups, according to Jim Kincaid, county chairman for the Oil Industry Information Committee.

These programs relate to the oil industry, Kincaid said, adding that they have always been made available.

Special work has been done, Kincaid said, in relation to providing material to schools. School booklets and teachers' handbooks are available on various subjects in unlimited supplies, he added, explaining that the OIIC can provide materials related to the oil industry which the schools might need in preparing their curricular programs for the next school year.

For example, booklets and teacher's books are provided for such courses as general science, physics, chemistry, social studies, and history.

Also made available to schools are such educational aids as charts, films, and filmstrips. Lectures can also be made on request by men in the petroleum industry, and field trips can be arranged, Kincaid said, inviting any schools or groups to make use of the service.

A part of the OIIC's education program is its annual essay contest, which usually starts in September. The contest will be conducted again this fall on the local basis. Usually, the five best local essay writers receive prizes, and the three best essays are sent on to an area contest.

Serving on the county OIIC with Kincaid are Bob Wilson, excutive vice-president and chairman of the Oil Progress Week program; Walker Dabbs, school chairman; Herman Doak employees chairman; J. T. Hughes, press radio chairman; and Mrs. Dick Roberts, women's chairman.

Spectators Trapped

Americans Capture 14th Walker Cup

By STERLING SLAPPEY

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 21 (AP)—The United States took the Walker Cup for the 14th time today in 15 tries with an almost embarrassingly easy 10-2 golf victory over the British.

Only once before have the Americans won by such a margin in England. That was in 1930 at Sandwich when Bobby Jones, Francis Ouimet and the others of that generation downed the Scots, English and Irish by a similar 10-2 margin.

Of all the American victories today, the two which shocked Britons the most were Harvie Ward's 6 and 5 margin over Ronnie White of Liverpool, and Don Cherry's 5 and 4 victory over Joe Carr of Dublin.

White had never lost in Walker Cup singles. Carr is all but unanimously considered the best amateur on this side of the Atlantic.

Yesterday the Americans swept the four foursomes matches for the first time in Walker Cup competition in Britain. But that did not shock the British half as much as the defeats of White and Carr.

Ward, of San Francisco, has a perfect record in four Walker Cup matches. Cherry, of Wichita Falls, Tex., is unbeaten in two.

Other scores today were: Billy Joe Patton, Morganton, N. C., defeated Phil Scrutton, England, 2 and 1.

Richard Yost, Portland, Ore., defeated John Llewlyan Morgan, Wales, 8 and 7.

James Jackson, St. Louis, defeated Cecil Ewing, Ireland, 6 and 4.

Bruce Cudd, Portland, Ore., defeated Ernest Millward, England, 2-up.

David Blair, Scotland, defeated Joe Conrad, San Antonio, Tex., 1-up.

Ian Caldwell, England, defeated Dale Morey, Indianapolis, 1-up.

American margins were so big and victories so easy, while British margins were so narrow, that the 1955 Walker Cup hardly could be called a competition.

The slim crowd of less than 4,000 Scots—which knew its golf well—was all that turned out today after the British lost all four two-ball matches yesterday. There are no records of a smaller crowd.

The silence was no discredit or discourtesy to the Americans. It just came from a crestfallen crowd. The American team, man for man, had plenty of friends in Britain, and they were described in TV broadcasts as the most popular squad ever to play in this island.

Little Leagues Set To Open Season Here Tomorrow Night

Snyder's two Little Leagues are getting ready to open their summer season tomorrow night.

Both the leagues will start play, with the National League's Quarterback Club Giants to meet the Lions Club Cubs in the 7 p.m. game and the American League's American Legion Yankees matched against the Holder Construction Indians in the second game.

The two leagues will use the same playing field — the one just south of the high school building where Little League has played in previous years.

The regular schedule is to last until July 22. Each playing night, the first game will be held at 7 p.m. The two leagues are alternating so that each league will have the first game three rounds. Pony League Mothers Pick Officer Slate

The Pony League Auxiliary, an organization of mothers of Pony League players, has announced its slate of officers for this season.

The auxiliary, which operates concessions at league games and does other work with the league, will have concession operations open tomorrow night when the Pony League opens its summer schedule. The league was scheduled to open last week, but games for the entire week were rained out. Playing tomorrow night will be the Lions Club Phillies vs. Von Roeder Red Sox in the 7 p.m. game and Courthouse Tigers vs. Scurry Butane Dodgers in the 9 p.m. game.

Mrs. Harold Brown is president of the auxiliary. Other officers are Mrs. J. W. Roberts, vice-president; Mrs. Ollie Burton, secretary; and Mrs. Ben Dennis, treasurer. Team chairmen are Mrs. Homer Ray for the Phillies, Mrs. Lester Gladson for the Tigers, Mrs. R. W. Mahan for the Red Sox, and Mrs. T. H. Boyd for the Dodgers, Bill Morgan, vice-president of the Pony League, will work with the auxiliary as a member of the league.

Mrs. Brown reported that the auxiliary, during the past year, made $400 after expenses on concessions alone at league games. Included in expenses was purchase of equipment for the concession stands and holding a picnic for boys and parents. The profit is being turned over to the Pony League to help in purchase of equipment and operation of the league.

DEADLINE FOR TENNIS TOURNEY ENTRIES NEAR

Only three more days remain for tennis players to register for entry in the annual city tennis tournament, which will start next Saturday and last through the following Saturday.

G. C. Robinson, who is director of the tournament for the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce, urged all persons interested in tennis, whether they are experienced players or not, to enter the tournament. There are several inexperienced players already entered.

Brackets will be announced for the tournament late next week. There will be divisions for junior boys through 15, senior boys through 18, and men, all with singles and doubles. The same divisions will be provided for girls and women, if there are enough entered. Otherwise, the women's division will be altered slightly.

Those entered may enter at the Towle Park tennis courts or by calling Robinson at 3-3987. Entries must be turned in by Wednesday.

Resurgent Giants Nudge Bucs, 3-2

PITTSBURGH, May 21 (AP)—Relief pitchers Hoyt Wilhelm and Mary Grissom went to the mound in the ninth inning to halt a rally aided by an error and a passed ball and gave the resurgent New York Giants a 3-2 triumph over the faltering Pittsburgh Pirates today.

It was the ninth consecutive loss for the punchless Pirates, one more than their longest previous losing streak this season.

PARADE SLATED FOR OPENING

The Snyder Little League summer schedule will be officially opened tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock when 120 Little Leaguers march around the courthouse square.

The parade will gather at the First Methodist Church, going around the square and then to the National Guard armory, where the boys' parents will pick them up to take them to the Little League field for the opening of play.

The parade is being arranged by the Little League Mothers organization. Before games start at the field, Speedy Moffett, Little League commissioner, will introduce all officials and those working with the league.

SPRING GAME — The Snyder Tigers of next fall edged ex-Tigers here yesterday 14-13 in a game which terminated spring grid training. In the top picture, Joe Baxter, second from left, moves almost into the clear with the ball. Powell Berry, left, split time with Jerry Tayor at quarterback in the game. At right is Don McNew, who helped officiate rather than play because of an injury. In the bottom picture, Milton Ham, left, gets ready to catch the only pass completed by the Tigers. It was ruled incomplete because it was caught outside the end zone. Making the unsuccessful attempt to knock down the ball is C. W. Dorman. (Lee Watson photograph)

Tiger Gridders Nudge Ex-Students, By 14-13

The Snyder Tiger varsity grid team barely edged a group of ex-players of the team here yesterday afternoon 14-13.

It was much a defensive ball game for the Tigers, who had the ball for only 19 plays, while the exes got in 45 plays.

While the Tigers had the edge on score, the exes came up ahead on first downs 13-5, ahead on rushing 214-185, and ahead on passes, with three completions for 44 yards to no completions for the Tigers.

The varsity team for next fall looked good in many spots but showed it could stand much more work. The exes team was probably the roughest group of ex-players ever put together for a spring game on the Tiger field, but, as head coach John Conley put it, "I don't know whether it is the roughest we will have to play."

Spring training ended for the Tigers with that game. The group will go back together next fall to prepare for one of the roughest schedules ever booked. They open with Breckenridge, following that up with a game against Weatherford. Then they will go into their district schedule against eight other teams in 3A-1.

What offensive play the Tigers performed looked good. The team opened the game by scoring on the third play when fullback Jack Spikes went across right tackle with good blocking, going over three tacklers himself, to takeup 54 yards for the touchdown. Joe Reaves followed it up by kicking the extra point.

After the kickoff, the exes made little progress, and the Tigers took over again. Moving down to the Exes' 13, the Tigers scored, but it didn't count. Quarterback Powell Berry passed to end Milton Ham, but Ham caught the ball just outside the end zone. That pass, which didn't count, was the only one completed by the varsity. The first quarter ended with the Tigers ahead 7-0.

The second quarter almost belonged to the Exes offensively. That team held the ball throughout the quarter, except for one time when the Tigers took it after a punt, gained 23 yards, and lost it on a fumble. The Exes completed a pass, from Bernie Hagins to Royce Pierce, on the Tigers 10-yard line as the half ended. Hagins, graduating this week, has been starting quarterback for the Tigers for the past four years.

It was early in the third quarter when the Exes first scored. Max Coffee, who last played for Snyder High in 1950 and was one of the finest quarterbacks in West Texas, got the score when he went across a hole opened at right guard by Steve Blair and raced 53 yards for the TD. Frankie Minton added the point on the kick to tie the game at 7-7.

Quickly, just like at the first of the game, the Tigers managed to get ahead. Returning the kickoff to their own 28, the Tigers moved to the 46 when halfback Alan Snead crossed left tackle and went farther on Milton Ham's blocking. On the next play, Snead went through the middle for about four yards and then, when he had almost been stopped, tossed the ball out to Spikes. Spikes took it the rest of the way, 50 yards, to score. Reaves again made a successful kick to make 14-7.

The Exes, taking the ensuing kickoff, ground their way all the way to another score. They started the drive late in the third quarter from their own 31. With Jackie Grimmett, Franklin Woods, Hagins, and Coffee doing the ball carrying and aided by such outstanding linemen of the past few years as Jerry Smith, James Parker, Blair, Minton, and Robert Burney, the crew moved all the way down to the Tiger nine, from where Grimmett crossed right tackle to score. This time, Minton's kick was wide, so that left the Exes behind 14-13.

The Tigers punted out from their own 25 in the fourth but later gained the ball again when Spikes intercepted a Coffee pass and ran it back 20 yards. The varsity lost the ball quickly on a fumble, however. The exes had just completed a 34-yard pass on the Tiger 30 from Coffee to Wendell Autry when the game ended.

Spikes led rushing by far for the Tigers, gaining 125 yards in six carries. Two of those were his long touchdown runs. Next was Snead with 40 yards in six carries, Joe Baxter had 21 in two carries, and Bobby Pollard had five in two.

Berry and Jerry Taylor split time at quarterback. Both of them have shown up well guiding the team, as has Ronnie Smith, who did not play in the game but in a scrimmage held before the game. Outstanding offensive blockers for the Tigers during the game were Robert James, Gary Hill, and Ham, as well as other linemen as various times in the game.

	VARSITY	EXES
First downs	5	13
Yards rushing	185	214
Pass attempts	2	5
Complete	0	3-44
Intercepted by	1	0
Fumbles	4	2
Own fumbles recovered	2	1
Punts, avg.	3-37	1-20
Penalties	1-15	0-0

Defensive standouts included Hill, George Herring, Baxter, Don Savage, Shorty Grimmett, John Partain, and Ham.

In the scrimmage held before the game, the third team of the varsity downed next year's B team 12-0. Ronnie Smith passed to Tommy Prichard for one touchdown on a play which covered about 70 yards, while Lanny Wadleigh plunged five yards for the other score. Pat Fowler was outstanding defensively for the winning team.

Bud Morgan, halfback, was offensive standout for the future B team. Bobby Joines and Bobby Staton quarterbacked that squad.

Cincinnati Captures Fifth Straight Win

CINCINNATI, May 21 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs raced to their fifth straight victory today, clubbing the St. Louis Cardinals 9-6 with a six-run spree in the sixth inning and on excellent relief pitching by little Jackie Collum.

The six runs were tallied on five hits, including Bob Thurman's fifth homer of the season, a sacrifice and an error. It was the second time in two days the Reds fashioned a come-from-behind triumph over the Cardinals with a six-run inning.

Crowe's Circuit Blow Spoils No-Hitter

MILWAUKEE, May 21 (AP) — George Crowe's pinch-hit homer with one out in the ninth ruined a no-hit, no-run game this afternoon for veteran Warren Hacker of the Chicago Cubs. But Hacker ended up with a one-hit masterpiece and a 2-1 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves.

Hacker had faced just 26 men—one over par — when Manager Charlie Grimm sent Crowe in to bat for pitcher Chet Nichols in the ninth. Crowe's four-bagger over the right field fence was his first homer of the year.

Michigan State has had a representative on every United States Olympic track team since 1928.

Dodgers End 'Slump' 6-4

BROOKLYN, May 21 (AP)—Brooklyn's four-game losing "slump" ended today as the Dodgers used homers by Roy Campanella and Sandy Amoros in the fifth and six walks in the sixth to down Philadelphia, 6-4, with only 4 hits.

The Phils had 12 hits.

Dave Cole, making his first start of the season, hadn't allowed a Dodger hit until Campanella belted his ninth homer after Pee Wee Reese walked in the fourth. Amoros followed with his fourth homer.

The Baltimore Orioles used 19 different starting lineups in their first 19 games this spring.

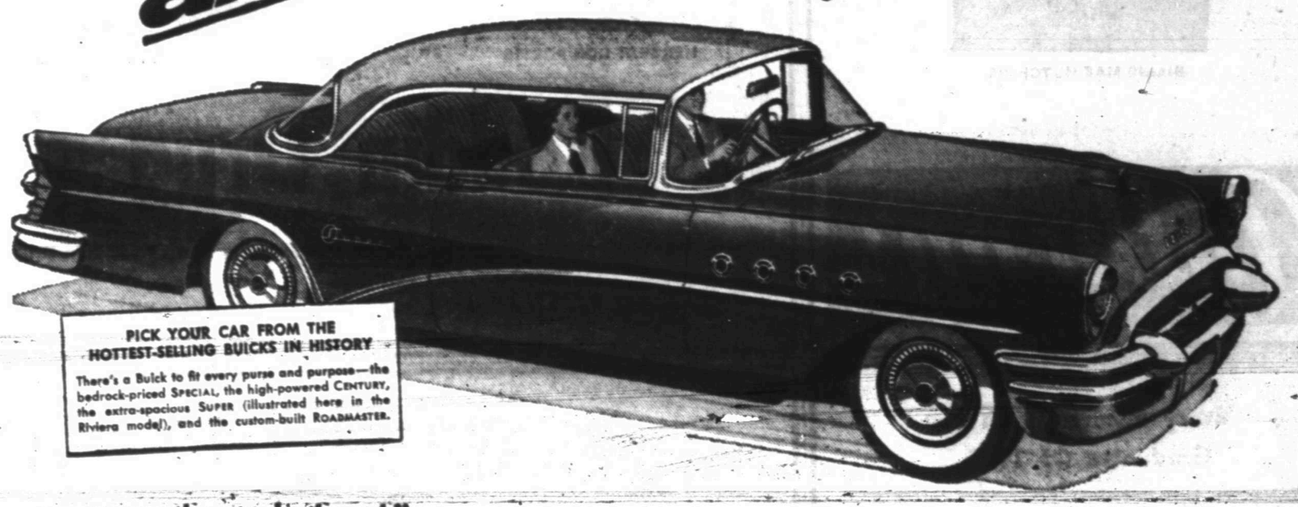
Sales get BIGGER! and BIGGER! and BIGGER!

This '55 Buick must have something that folks just won't do without!



PICK YOUR CAR FROM THE HOTTEST-SELLING BUICKS IN HISTORY

There's a Buick to fit every purse and purpose—the bedrock-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-spacious SUPER (illustrated here in the Riviera model), and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

Two months ago, in the public print, we said that this looks like Buick's biggest year—and we weren't fooling.

But what has happened—and continues to happen—is almost beyond belief.

People buy up these stunning new Buicks practically as fast as we get them from the factory. Buick production—already revised upward several times—keeps forging ahead to new highs every month to meet the mounting demand.

And Buick sales keep soaring higher and higher—outstripping by far the phenomenal success of last year—the success that moved Buick into the "Big Three" of America's best sellers.

What is it about the '55 Buicks that folks by the hundreds of thousands just won't do without? It's many things.

It's styling that's boldly distinctive and fresh as tomorrow. It's beauty of line and beauty of interior décor. It's a ride that's level, firm and steady. It's a new sweetness of handling. It's great power—walloping new V8 power of record might.

But above all, it's a new kind of performance, from a new kind of automatic transmission that was born of flight thinking.

It's Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—engineered from the principle of the modern plane's switch-pitch propeller—and what it brings you in the way of pure thrill, mere words can't describe.

Just you drop in on us this very week and try it. That way you can see what a terrific automobile—and a terrific buy—the hottest-selling Buick of all time really is.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Thrill of the year is Buick

Man Treated Here For Gunshot Wound

Leroy Glover, 20, of Fluvanna was receiving treatment Saturday for a gunshot would he received late Friday night.

Officers from the sheriff's department said Glover told them he accidentally fired a .32 caliber automatic. The bullet hit Glover in the left side of the chest and passed completely through his body. Although he was weak from loss of bood when found, he was conscious when officers and an ambulance arrived, and is expected to recover.

Officers were called by three unidentified boys who discovered Glover in his car about five miles west of Dermott.

Buddy Norris, deputy sheriff, said Glover told of firing at some rabbits.

Aid To Tito To Continue For Present

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—U.S. officials today ruled out any interruption in U.S. aid to Yugoslavia pending the outcome of a visit of Russian leaders to Belgrade.

This Soviet diplomatic mission, Washington officials now believe, may intensify Tito's avowedly middle position between the Russians and the Western powers, but probably will not substantially alter his basic relations with the West.

What its impact on Soviet satellite states will be is a matter of the most intense interest. Secretary of State Dulles thinks the Russians are in for trouble in Eastern Europe when they pull their troops out of Austria in accordance with the independence treaty signed in Vienna last Sunday.

Any trouble from that cause could be made worse for the Russians by their forthcoming demonstration of forgiveness for Tito, who broke with Soviet Communist rule seven years ago and had been denounced repeatedly in Moscow as a traitor.

It was announced a week ago that Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulanin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev would soon journey to Belgrade. Diplomats expect they will make the trip next week.

The announcement set off all kinds of speculation in Western capitals about the purposes and possible results of the mission. It also started urgent consultations among the United States, Britain and France as well as between the U.S. State and Defense departments.

After Tito's break with the Kremlin in 1948 the Western powers stepped in to provide the economic assistance necessary to keep his country going. Tito's move had lost him all trade ties with his Communist neighbors in Eastern Europe. The Western powers also gradually developed a program of military aid so that Yugoslavia, though not a member of the Western alliance, could defend itself.

Ten women were among the venire. Dist. Judge Thomas C. Ferguson of Burnet will preside.

Hearing Set For Soldier

WINTHROP, Mass., May 21 (AP)—A curly-haired Brooklyn, N.Y., soldier—object of a 13-hour police siege at Ft. Banks yesterday—was back at his post today awaiting hearing next Thursday on a charge of indecent assault on a 16-year-old girl.

Pvt. Charles Schmidt, 20, was taken from the police station this morning for a brief arraignment in East Bodisttrict Court. He pleaded innocent.

Police demanded heavy bail. Judge Augustus Loschi refused, explaining it was customary to turn servicemen over to their commanding officers pending hearing.

Schmidt was taken back to Ft. Banks where Armed Forces Day observances were in progress. The scene was in sharp contrast to yesterday when a squad of police stood outside the main gate stopping all trucks and personnel.

The blockade was directed by Police Chief William F. Pumphret who insisted civil law was on his side regardless of Army regulations. The Army had refused all day to release Schmidt unless Pumphret worked through proper channels.

A telephone call from 1st Army Headquarters in New York resulted in the Army relenting and the police got Schmidt late last night.

Ask Probe Of Negro's Death

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP) — The Justice Department said today it has asked for the FBI to investigate the death of a crusading civil rights Negro leader in Belzoni, Miss.

Arthur Caldwell, chief of the civil rights section of the department's criminal division, disclosed the inquiry. He said he could not comment on the case until the FBI report has been made and studied.

The case is that of the Rev. G. W. Lee, 51, who was found dead in his wrecked car May 7.

The death first was considered a traffic fatality but a Negro dentist and physician said the body had evidence of wounds that may not have been inflicted in the accident. A coroner's jury yesterday turned in a report that Lee died of a wound "the cause of which is not clear."

The National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People has claimed the minister was murdered because of his efforts to get Negroes to register and vote. He was a leader of the association.

Jack Jouett of Virginia is called the "Paul Revere of the South" because of his night ride of 40 miles in 1781 that gave warning of a Britsish plan to capture Gov. Thomas Jefferson and the Virginia legislature.

Cashword Remains Without A Winner

Cashword went without a winner again in Snyder last week, although there were 3,321 challenges. The prize, of course, will increase again for the next Cashword puzzle, which will be published in Monday's Daily News.

Here's the explanation of some of the more difficult clues in last week's Cashword:

CLUES ACROSS:

1. Bad is the best choice since it includes Bed. Bedtime is a Bad time, of course, to ask Dad to play a game of ball particularly.

6. Train is preferred. The quotes are most important for they indicate that we are considering "though" as a word, and not as the mental process itself. The Brain is connected with thought. Train is connected with "thought" —as in the phrase "train of though".

14. Pot is more apt. The clue says "it might be." Obviously it certainly is every man's ambition to win a Lot; why shouldn't it be? There is no question of "might be". But there may be certain men whose ambition it is to win a Pot, that is, poker players, etc., Cot. Jot, Tot, etc., are too farfetched.

16. Dad is best. The clue says "pleasing". This word pleasing is much more applicable to Dad than to Lad. In other words, it is Dad to whom the examination results are pleasing, and this is why he buys Lad a bicycle.

25. Den is best. Men are so often better out of the way at spring cleaning time. But a Den — which is generally ruthlessly tidied up at that time — more aptly fits this clue.

27. Clarity fits best. Even though some Charity did suffer, contrary to the man's intentions, it would be due to a lack of Clarity, which, of course, a lawyer's advice might wll have prevented.

CLUES DOWN:

1. Bolts is more apt. The clue refres to "replacing". Defective Belts would be more likely to be repaired; Bolts are replaced when defective. This is not necessarily the case with Belts. Thus Bolts fits the clue better.

2. A great Dancer will certainly not be ignored. Some great Danger can easily be ignored, and frequently is, by a person or persons unaware of its existence.

3. If a Rung in a ladder comes loose, an unfortunate accident may occur. If a Bung merely works loose, the slight leakage from the barrel will, in most cases, be noticed and the matter remedied. Also, the barrel might be an empty one! Ring is too vague since there are hundreds of types and uses for Rings.

5. The study of Diction may well improve your command of the English language. You read Fiction, and study literature.

15. Side is preferred. The Tide will affect each crew equally. The Side of the river can favor one crew over the other.

17. Bower is the surer answer. Why her Tower and why languish there anyway? Bower is the more likely place as she would have to have a castle to have a Tower and certainly there were many more ladies than castles.

Say Lincoln Brigade Is Communist Front

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—An examiner for the Subversives Activity Control Board recommended today that the veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade be listed as a Communist-front organization.

If the full board approves the findings, the veterans of the brigade, which fought with the Loyalists during the Spanish civil war of the 30s, would be required to register under the McCarran Internal Security Act and inform the government of its officers and its financial affairs.

Graham Still Draws Big London Crowds

LONDON, May 21 (AP)—About 25,000 Londoners flocked to Wembley Stadium in chilly, threatening weather today to hear evangelist Billy Graham.

The handsome American preacher held an "overflow" meeting to accommodate those unable to obtain admission tickets for his final session tonight.

Graham's week-long London crusade has been plagued by rain and unseasonable cold, but the meetings have been heavily attended. Nearly 350,000 have heard the evangelist and 18,000 have come forward to make "decisions for Christ."

Civil Defense Boss Unhappy

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—City, county and state governments got a verbal spanking today from the nation's Civil Defense boss.

They aren't always "working as effectively in this field as the seriousness of the threat to America requires," said Defense Administrator Val Peterson.

But at the same time he in effect gave the back of his hand to the federal government, too.

"The national government has not set as fine an example in the field of Civil Defense as needs to be set," Peterson said.

The administrator, addressing the U.S. Conference of Mayors, said the Civil Defense Act of 1950 is partly to blame.

It was written with a backward glance at World War II and it "sets up an ideal buck-passing situation," he said.

Peterson emphasized that Civil Defense is a job "way too big for the military"—that cities, counties and states have got to shoulder the big part of the burden.

But if they fail, he said, then the public will demand that the national government "come in and take over."

The mayors unanimously elected Mayor John B. Hynes of Boston as their new president. Roy Hofheinz, Houston mayor, was named chairman of the Board of Regional Directors.

Farm Lake's Supply Of Water Is Cut Off

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky. (AP) — The lake on a farm near here probably will be drying up. For years, it was believed an underground spring fed the lake. But recently workmen replacing an old water line discovered the lake's true source:

A hole had been drilled in the pipe to assure an ample and free supply of water.

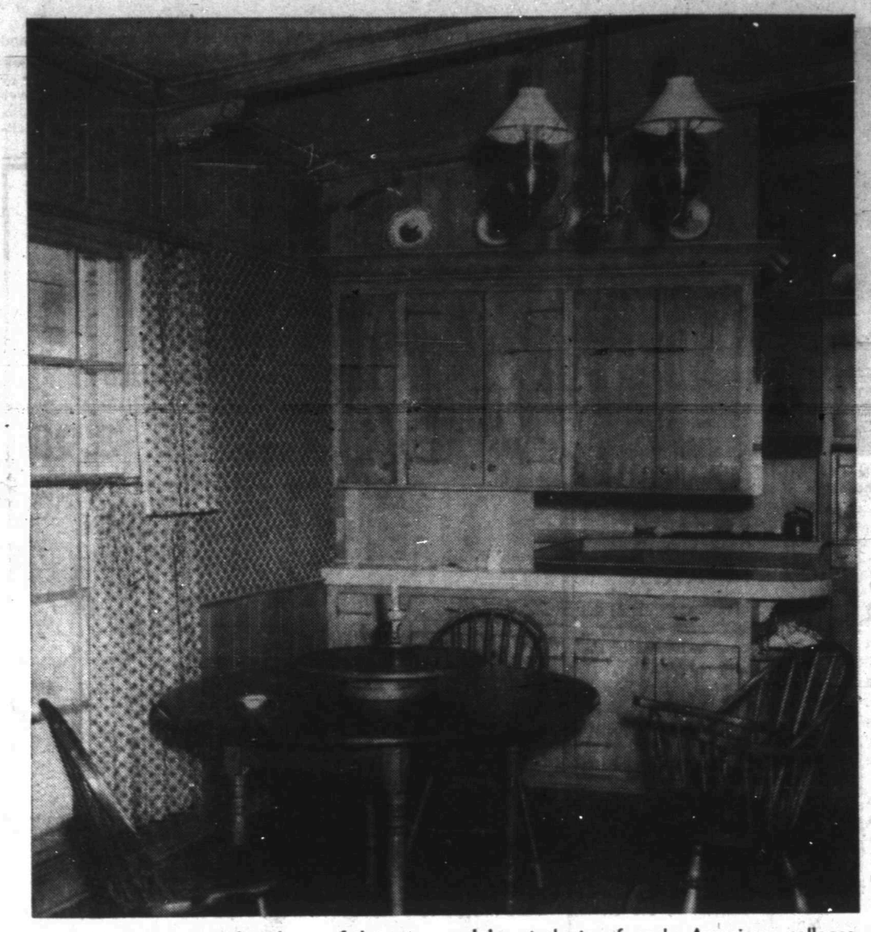
Early America With Modern Touch



A double hanging student lamp of the type used by students of early American colleges above the breakfast table above is one of a collection of early American lamps used to light the Boren home. The breakfast table and chairs date back to the 1700's, and although more than 200 years old the Captain's chair and other chairs and the table are still sturdy and as usable as when newly made by the hands of early American wood craftsmen.

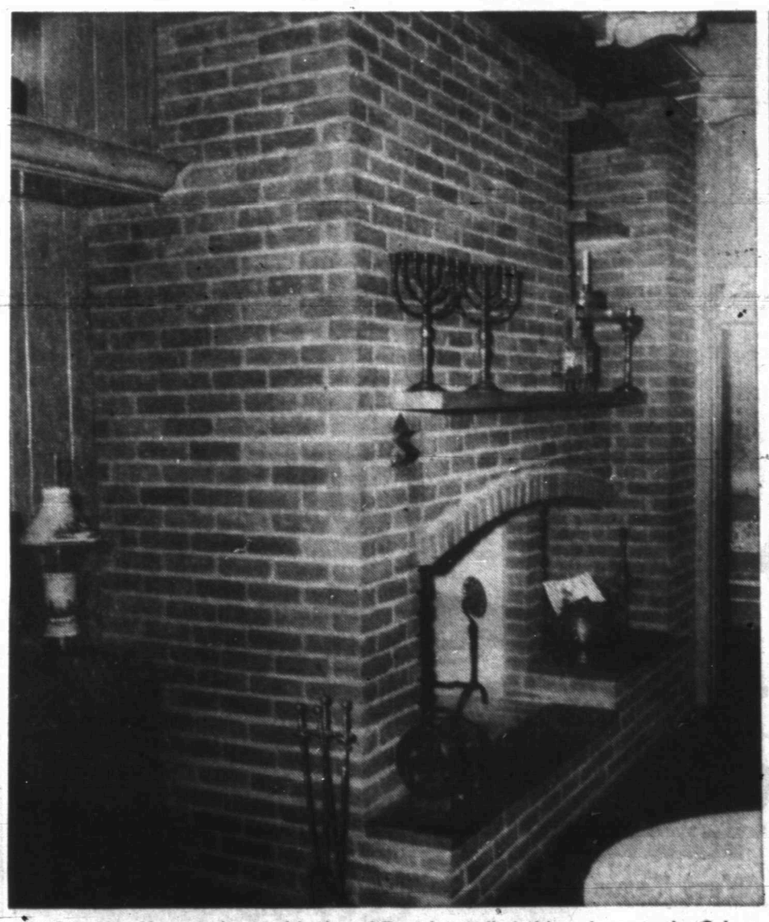
Early America, with a modern touch, is featured in the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Boren, 2901 Thirty-second Street. Practicality and utility have been deftly incorporated into the house which serves as a setting for early American and period furnishings, yet provides the ultimate in ease and comfort of living for the Borens. Aztec brick was used in the exterior of the house designed by Fred Buford of Dallas. (Lee Watson photographs)

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

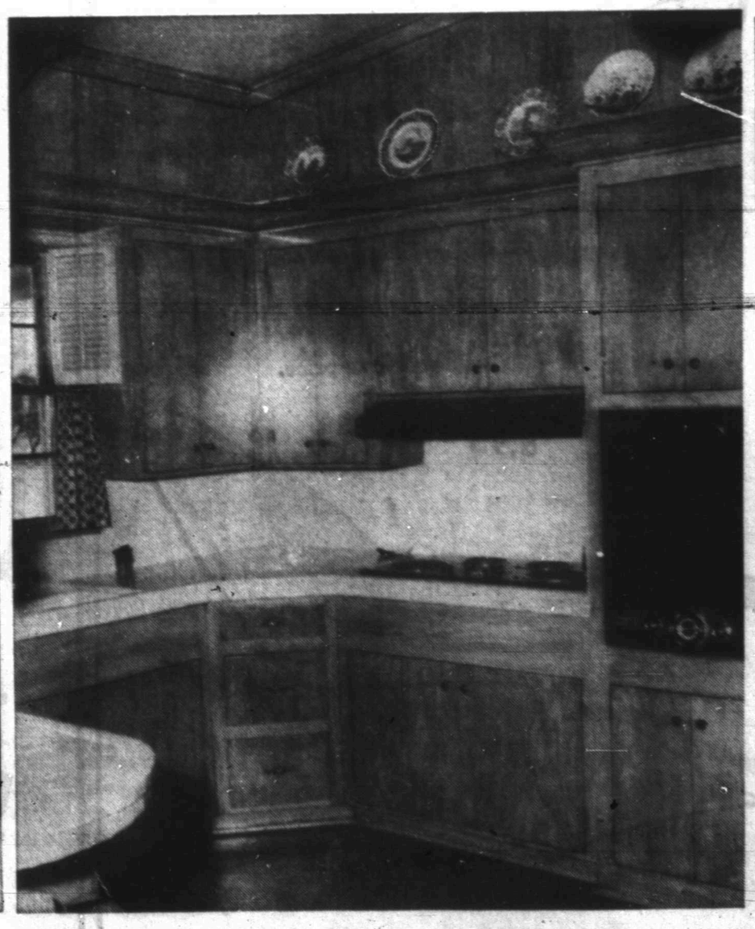
VOL. 6, No. 13 | SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MAY 15, 1955 | SECTION B

The main dining room of the Wayne Borens' new home features a long table with the early American design, and louvered folding doors from old New Orleans can be folded back to enlarge the living room area, or used to separate the living from the dining area.

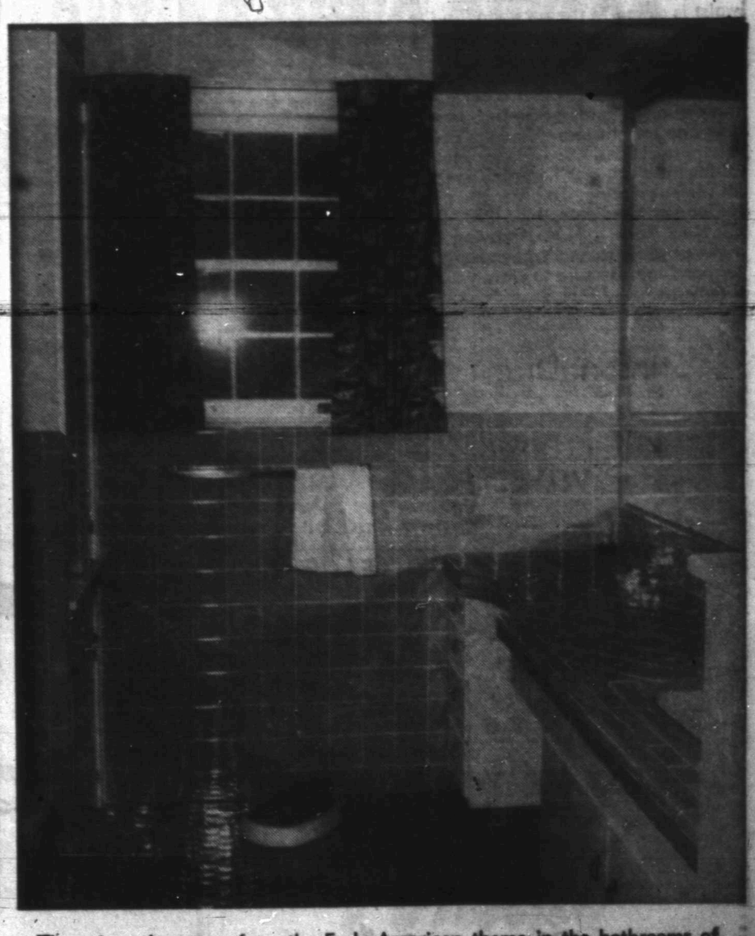
Plain walls, drapes and carpet in the living room of the Boren home are used as a neutral setting to make the colorful early American and French provencial furnishings more outstanding. Pot plants and other flowers also help add color to the room. One of the featured pieces of furniture in the living room is a solid brass Etagere, or whatnot table, which has marble shelves.



An old coffee grinder, coal hod, and French candle holders decorate the Colonial brick fireplace in the Boren home. Gas replaces wood as fuel in the fireplace, and magazines replace coal in the antique brass hod. Woodwork in the kitchen and den area is ash hardwood panel finished in the natural color with wheat stain filler to give it an aged look.



The kitchen of the Wayne Borens' new home is a modern version of early America, which features a cabinet top range with oven built into a wall cabinet, and a ledge around the room at cabinet-top height to provide a place for Mrs. Boren's collection of antique china.



There is a departure from the Early American theme in the bathrooms of the Wayne Boren home. They are distinctly modern, as displayed by the master bathroom above which has a long dressing table and mirror along one wall.

YOUTHFUL CHARM—This simple gown of white Swiss organdie is typical of the choice of many of today's young brides, combining the beauty of a formal gown with youthful design.

Wedding Gowns Get Simpler As Brides Grow Younger

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Woman's Editor

As brides grow younger, wedding gowns grow simpler and prettier.

The statuesque bride who goes up the aisle in ancestral lace and antique satin is becoming a rarity, outnumbered by the bright - eyed young brides who choose an inexpensive dress cut on simple, youthful lines for the most important occasion of their lives.

Though there are many new miracle fabrics available for today's bride, the old favorites remain in high demand — fabrics such as cobweb-sheer organdie, veil-like batiste, old-fashioned eyelet-embroidered sheer cotton — all as well-loved in grandmother's day as today.

New finishes and treatments make these traditional wedding-gown fabrics even more beautiful and durable today. The new Swiss organdies come in many versions —embroidered, embossed or plain, in snowy white or a range of delicate pastels. Eyelet-embroidered batiste also is newly popular, and even old-fashioned lawn is staging a comeback.

Many of today's bridal gowns are so designed that they may be transformed into summer dance dresses after the ceremony, by such expedients as removing a bottom tier of ruffles or train, subtracting a bolero or switching skirts or tops, as in the case of the increasingly popular wedding separates.

The short circular veil of nylon tulle attached to a simple headdress, is the choice of most brides today rather than the long veil of priceless lace.

Since so many current brides are still under 20, youth charm rather than ostentation has become the new fashion in wedding gowns and veils.

Teacher's Prediction Comes True

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A few years ago, Ernest Borgnine, a 10-year Navy man who was trying his hand at acting, told his dramatic teacher he thought he would seek another line of work.

His teacher rapped him across the knuckles with a ruler.

"How dare you talk that way!" she exploded. "You, who could be another star like a Jimmy Cagney or Wallace Beery."

Ernie thought she was off her trolley. But she startled him so that he forgot his ideas of quitting.

It's a good thing he did. Otherwise Hollywood would have been deprived of its newest star.

Yes, star. Ernie is a paunchy 37-year-old with a face that will give Tony Curtis and John Derek no cause for concern. But he is now being hailed as a starring personality, all because of a little picture called "Marty."

"They showed the picture to people for two months in New York before it opened," said Borgnine (he pronounces it Borg-9). "Everybody said, 'It's a wonderful picture — too bad it won't make money.'

"When it opened, there were lines around the block. The 20-year record at the Sutton Theater was broken." United Artists quickly changed its ideas of aiming the film at the art circuit and booked it for big theaters.

The crowning triumph came in Cannes last week when "Marty," filmed in 18 days at a cost of $360,000, walked off with top honors against pictures costing millions.

"I guess that was about the nicest thing that ever happened to me," said Ernie when he heard the news.

Nice things have a habit of happening to Ernie, a pleasant, easy-going fellow despite the dastardly villains he has played in the movies.

It was inevitable that Ernie would get typed as a heavy after playing Fatso Judson, the fiend who fatally beat Frank Sinatra in "From Here to Eternity." He followed that with a number of villainous roles.

Then he was cast as "Marty."

CHICKEN IN FOIL
. . . bake and serve in foil

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers," Snyder Daily News, or call 2-5486.

Cooking in foil is a trick smart cooks learned long ago. The foil holds in juices and flavors, and makes the cleaning-up simpler. You can also serve many foods in the same foil in which they were baked. For example, here is a chicken dinner in foil.

You can assemble the packets early in the day and store them in the refrigerator. An hour before meal time, place them in a hot oven to bake. They can remain in the oven as long as two hours if the heat is reduced to 250 degrees after the first hour.

CHICKEN IN FOIL

2 cups water
1 cup uncooked rice
1 teaspoon salt
1 frying chicken, cut in serving pieces
About 12 small mushrooms
12 small white raw onions
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
Top milk or cream

Cook the rice in the two cups of water. At the same time, brown the chicken in hot fat. In the same skillet, brown the onions and mushrooms.

To make the individual serving packets, tear a piece of foil 16 inches long from a 12-inch wide roll. In the center of each piece, arrange the chicken, rice, mushrooms and onions. Sprinkle with the salt and pepper. Pour three tablespoons top milk or cream over each arrangement. Bring the edges of the foil together and seal with a double fold over the top and sides. Place the packets on a cookie sheet or other pan for baking. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for one hour. To serve, just turn back the edges of the foil and provide whatever other foods you wish. This recipe makes four to six servings.

4-H Club Meets

Mrs. Roy Staton was hostess for the Plainview 4-H Club at a meeting Thursday afternoon. Ruby Butts gave the demonstration on electrical awards. Betty Hillis, club president, directed the business session. Mrs. T. J. Hillis is to be hostess for the next meeting.

Circle Holds May Breakfast

The Young Matrons' Circle of the First Christian Church met for a May Breakfast Thursday in the fellowship hall of the church.

Circle members assisted in preparing the meal, which consisted of a fruit cup, scrambled eggs, bacon, biscuits and jelly, and coffee.

It was decided that because of the business meeting the program would be postponed until next Wednesday morning. Mrs. Malven Stevenson will present a book review at that time. Circle members are to bring cookies to be sent to the Juliette Fowler Home in Dallas.

Guests for the breakfast were Mrs. David Harlin and the Rev. and Mrs. John Reaves.

The United States used 445 million pounds of potato chips in 1954.

When you want to sprinkle the top of a casserole with buttered fresh bread crumbs, prepare the topping this way. Cut away the crusts from three slices of fresh bread; crumb the bread with your fingers or a fork by pulling small bits away. Don't use a heavy hand or you'll have hard little wads. Melt three tablespoons of butter or margarine in a small skillet over low heat; add the bread crumbs and toss the crumbs in the melted butter.

Toni Owen

Toni Owen cuts this fashion deal three ways, and each one comes out a winner. Ideal for the career girl with an important date after office hours, it can go to work with the short-sleeved blouse and appear at five in the square-necked, button-shouldered alternate. The collar of the shirtwaist is sewed to the neckband in the authentic manner and top stitched. The flared, four-gore skirt flatters any figure. Make it in polished cotton and match the tops or choose pique or linen as a contrast. For fall, try the skirt in wool as a base for many other blouses. Size 12 requires one and three-quarter yards of 36-inch material for the blouse style one, one and three-eighth yards of 36-inch material for the square-necked blouse style two, four yards of 36-inch material for the skirt, and five-eighths of a yard of 35-inch material for interfacing. To order the pattern, No. 1220, send $1 to Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P.O. Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. S-13, New York 1, N.Y. If paying by check or money order, make payable to Spadea Syndicate, Inc., and add four cents for handling. Be sure to state your bust, waist and hip measurements.

Mr. And Mrs. O'Rear Observe Silver Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. O'Rear, 2258 Sunset, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Thursday night with a reception in their home.

Receiving guests with Mr. and Mrs. O'Rear were L. C. Carmichael, Mrs. O'Rear's father, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Holmes of Abilene. Mrs. Holmes is a sister of Mrs. O'Rear.

On display was the wedding veil which Mrs. O'Rear wore at her wedding. The Wilhelmina headpiece was of ivory satin trimmed in seed pearls. The floor-length veil of ivory tulle was eged in seed pearls. At 8 o'clock, the original wedding hour, Louise Crook sang "I Love You Truly." Following her song, Mr. and Mrs. O'Rear exchanged wedding gifts, new wedding rings.

The service table was laid with a champagne l ce cloth over blue. The centerpiece for the table was a blue and silver flower arrangement flanked by tall blue tapers tied with silver tulle. A three-tiered cake was decorated with white orange blossoms and silver leaves, and topped with a silver bell ornament from which hung the numerals 25. Favors for the guests were double wedding rings tied with champagne marquesette and blue ribbon. Names of the couple were printed in silver on the napkins along with the two dates, 1930 and 1955.

Mrs. Doyle Pogue and Mrs. Nolan von Roeder served the cake. Punch was served by Patsy Pogue and Carolyn Holley. Assisting at the table were Sharon Hughes of Abilene, Suzanne Houston, Nancy Jordan and Bata McPherson. Mrs. Joe Cargile presided at the white and silver guest register, while Mrs. Bill Teaff greeted visitors in the room where gifts were displayed.

Pianist for the first hour was Kay Watson. Kaye Weber of Abilene read Elizabeth Barrett Browning's Sonnet XLIII and Jenny Cargile sang "At Dawning." This was sung at the wedding reception in 1930. Mrs. Landis Lee, painist for the second hour, accompanied Pat Taylor as she sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." Mrs. Forrest Beavers read two selections, "We Have Lived and Loved Together" by Charles Jefferys and "Our Silver Year" written by Mrs. O'Rear. Both Miss Taylor's song and "I Love You Truly" were sung at the wedding.

Mrs. O'Rear wore a formal gown of champagne marquesette over matching satin, trimmed in gold sequins and oat pearls. The long sleeves of the waist-length jacket came to points over the hands. Her gardenia corsage was attached to a white Bible, and served as decoration for the registry table. Mrs. Holmes' gown was of blue-gray nylon organza, and her corsage was also of gardenias.

About 70 guests called during the evening.

When you are broiling lamb chops for company, have the chops cut about one inch thick and allow two for each portion. Cut the fat in several places around the edges of the chops to prevent curling. Roll ends of chops up into tight whirls and skewer together with toothpicks. Tastes good, looks neat.

A bottle of capers on the refrigerator shelf. Add them to a sandwich spread of tuna, salmon, crab meat or hard-cooked eggs Gives piquant flavor.

Here's why PONTIAC WINS BUYERS FROM EVERY OTHER MAKE

It's a king-size luxury car—
Biggest at its price!

Pontiac is a big, roomy car. Here it is: A car with 122" or 124" wheelbase—longest in its price field, even longer than some models in the top price range—and with true big-car stability to match. Luxury is in key. For quality of fabrics, conveniences and appointments, Pontiac compares with the costliest cars.

It's a 200-horsepower performer—
Most powerful at its price!

As the only car with the Strato-Streak V-8, Pontiac has a big performance advantage. This newest and most efficient V-8 enables Pontiac to provide more power than any car has ever delivered at Pontiac's price—a full 200 horsepower with the four-barrel carburetor, an extra cost option; 180 H.P. is standard.

It's a future-fashioned beauty—
Most distinctive at any price!

Style-conscious motorists turn to Pontiac for true mode-of-tomorrow design, beautifully different from any other car on the road. Exclusive Vogue Two-Tone styling, Twin-Streaked hood and low, rakish lines give you a car that you know will remain a prideful possession for many years to come.

It's America's topmost value—
Greatest buy of any year!

Pontiac is selling at the fastest rate of all time for this simple reason: America agrees—when you can get the size, power, beauty and luxury you want at Pontiac's easy price, that's the place to put your money. Come in and get all the facts.

You can buy a big, 200-horsepower Strato-Streak V-8 Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars and for much less than stripped economy models of higher-priced makes—none of which equal Pontiac in combined power, size and future-fashioned beauty.

CAN YOU SEE, STEER, STOP SAFELY? CHECK YOUR CAR—CHECK ACCIDENTS.

Federated Clubs Are Urged To Help On Project

Mrs. L. E. Dudley of Abilene, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, has issued an appeal to all Texas clubwomen for cooperation in promoting the construction of a Little League baseball diamond in the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation near Livingston.

The federation, in convention early this month, contributed $250 for the entrance fee for these Indian Little Leaguers. The federation has sustained a scholarship at A&M College during the last year for Wyman Bartise, the first student from the reservation to enter this college.

Mrs. Dudley will attend the 64th annual Convention of General Federation of Women's Clubs in Philadelphia, Pa., May 23-27. Other members of the general federation board of directors going to the convention are Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland, Mrs. J. Howard Hodge of Midland, Mrs. Van Hook Stubbs of Wortham, and Ethel Foster of Sterling City. Miss Foster will fly to Geneva, Switzerland, on May 29 to attend the first international session of the GFWC on May 31. Several other Texas club leaders also plan to attend both sessions, and will tour Europe after the Geneva convention.

Hand facts to remember about sugar measure when you are baking: a pound of grandulated sugar yields 2¼ cups, a pound of firmly-packed brown sugar 2½ cups, and a pound of sifted confectioners' sugar 4 cups. In some parts of the country confectioners' sugar is called powdered sugar.

SETS WEDDING DATE—Mr. and Mrs. Garland B. Parks, Clairemont route, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to Garland Wayne Newman. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newman, route 3. The wedding date has been set for June 24, with Ted Norton to officiate at the rites in the Twenty-fifth Street Church of Christ. (Wolfe Studio photograph)

Here's how to stew a whole chicken. Place the bird on a rack in a kettle and add enough water to half cover the chicken. Add a little salt to the water. Simmer the chicken in the covered kettle until it is tender, turning the bird occasionally. Cooking time will be three or four hours, probably, if a stewing chicken is used.

Here's a treat small frys like—and it's good for them, too. Put some spoonfuls of diced fruit in a tall glass; add a scoop of vanilla ice cream and a generous amount of orange juice. Add a little sparkling water for a fizz! Serve with an iced teaspoon and straws to your delighted youngster.

Scholarships Will Be Awarded Here

Several scholarship awards will be made Tuesday night here when graduates of Snyder High School are in commencement exercises at the school.

The scholarships number six. Recipients of two of the awards have not been announced. Those are the students who will receive a $200 one-year college scholarship from the Lions Club and a similar $200 award from the high school Parent-Teacher Association.

For both of these awards, students are chosen on the basis of scholarship, character, dependability, and their need for financial aid in attending college.

Also not yet announced is a tuition scholarship from any church-related school in the country to go to the class's highest ranking boy.

Already announced are scholarship awards which will go to Margie Smith, Suzanne Houston, and Harriet Redwine.

Miss Smith, as valedictorian of the graduating class, has her choice of a tuition scholarship to either a state-supported or church-related school. As salutatorian, Miss Houston will be awarded a tution scholarship to a church-related school.

Miss Redwine is being awarded a scholarship from McMurry College, Abilene. She has made nothing but A's on her courses for her entire school career.

Another scholarship student is Frankie Minton, who will not receive any award for this Tuesday night, since it was not one awarded through the schools. Minton has been chosen for a athletic scholarship to San Angelo Junior College. He was outstanding through high school as a tackle for the grid team.

One other scholarship award, designed as an annual affair, will not be awarded this year because of lack of a student who qualifies. It is a scholarship by the Classroom Teachers Association to a student who intends to become a teacher. Last year, when the association set up the scholarship fund, it established as one of the requirements that the students applying be members of the Future Teachers of America chapter in the school. Since no senior student is a member this year of that organization, there was none to qualify.

Snappy Exhibition Proves Embarrassing

OMAHA (AP) — It was a snappy exhibition of how to handcuff and chain a dangerous prisoner that U.S. Marshal William Raab gave the Kiwanis Club yesterday.

Embarrassing too.

When Raab looked for the keys to free volunteer Lyle Remde he didn't have them. He had left them at his office.

And that was where the pair went to get Remde free.

Woman Leaves Fortune In Safety Deposit Box

DETROIT (AP) — Executors of the estate of Mrs. Emma McKenzie were surprised yesterday to find a fortune of $300,000 upon opening her safe deposit box. The 75-year-old widow of a tailor had lived simply in a flat here.

Mrs. McKenzie, who died March 27, willed her estate to the Michigan Humane Society and the Detroit Institute for Cancer Research. There are no known relatives.

Braising meat? Take your choice of seasonings. Here are seasonings you can choose among catchup, chili sauce, bay leaves, curry powder, garlic, Tabasco sauce, soy sauce.

Want an interesting appetizer to serve with a first course of tomato or mixed vegetable juice? Soften cream cheese with a little cream or milk and add a dash of grated onion; make sandwiches of the cream cheese and slices of bologna, refrigerate. Before serving, cut each "sandwich" into four small wedges. Chopped chives may be substituted for the grated onion.

There were 2,072,333 bathtubs sold in the United States in 1954.

MODERN SWIVEL-TOP TELEVISION TABLE is Bill Baker's new do-it-yourself design. Hollywood TV actress Jean Carroll is shown here with the easy-to-build item.

THIS TELEVISION TABLE WON'T WRECK A BUDGET

By BILL BAKER

Are you happy with the location of your table television set

Have you been wishing that you might find a better stand for it?

But have your plans for adding a new TV table been blocked by the fact that your budget can't stand a strain at this time?

If these have been your problems, you'll be pleased with the do-it-yourself project I'm going to tell you about today. I've got the smartest TV table you've ever seen, and you'll be able to own it for just a few hours of workshop effort.

Take a look at the above picture. This is now your TV table will look. Notice that it features a wide swivel top that will hold the largest table model set. Sturdy, smartly designed legs give you the assurance that your set is firmly planted, too.

A unique feature of the table is the shelf below the set. Deep sections will give you a place to store magazines, art objects or books. Additionally, the shelves gives a smart look to the finished product.

The swivel-top feature is one of the best things about this table. With this you'll be able to turn the set to any part of the room.

Acting as your assistant in this do-it-yourself project will be my pattern package number 122. Easy-to-follow instructions, a full material list, and exact-size pattern pieces duplicating each section of the table make worskhop efforts easy.

And you'll need only a few tools, too, when you build the TV table. Because the modern lines are straight, no fancy tricks or unusual skill will be needed.

The completed unit can be finished in any way you like. Natural wood, varnished or stained to pieces in your home, might be the method you select. Or perhaps a bright color of paint might be chosen.

I used an inexpensive three-quarter inch plywood in making my own swivel-top TV table, and perhaps you'll choose this material, too. It is easy to work with, and it can be finished very nicely.

Naturally you can go into other wood, if you like. You might like to try clear pine, fir, maple, birch, gum or any other solid wood. A trip to the lumberyard can help you make the final decision.

You'll enjoy having this modern swivel-top TV table in your home. And I'm sure you'll also enjoy building it.

To get your swivel-top TV table pattern, send your name and address (clearly printed) together with only one dollar ($1) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, Snyder Daily News, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California. Remember to ask for pattern 122.

Tight Budget Due At A&M

AUSTIN, May 21 (AP)—Rep. B. H. Dewey Jr. of Bryan said today the general revenue appropriation proposed for Texas A&M College will require the school to maintain a tight budget.

Although funds in the bill now awaiting final House and Senate approval would be increased over the present operating level, the rise results primarily from a boost in student volume, Dewey said.

The lawmaker, in whose district the college is located, made his analysis of the two-year spending bill in a prepared press statement.

He noted that teaching salaries are figured on a standard formula and said the bill makes no allowance for expanded programs or for increasing the pay scale of the faculty.

The general revenue appropriation for A&M would total $20,373,398, an increase for the two-year period of $1,643,000.

The entire expenditure for the school will amount to about 40 million dollars, Dewey said. The added money comes from tuition, fees, federal grants, and other funds.

Dewey, member of the House Appropriations Committee, said $1,877,866 has been included for teaching salaries, compared with $1,800,337 in the appropriation bill for the current biennium.

'Shortage' Is Heard Often These Days

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—The word "shortage" popped up with increasing frequency on business news pages this week.

Activity in most lines was still at or near historic peaks. Wildcat strikes put a slight dent in automobile and steel production; other key indicators—freight carloadings, check clearings, electric power output, heavy construction contract awards—were mostly higher.

But it was abundantly evident that manufacturers of consumer goods were chewing up some basic industrial materials faster than producers could supply them.

Top Washington officials, worrying out loud about threatened shortages of materials needed for defense, singled out copper, aluminum, nickel and certain kinds of steel for special mention. Said Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming:

"We cannot go on diverting materials from the stockpile indefinitely. Unless there is improvement in the fall, we will have to consider further expansion of activity."

Orders on manufacturers' books indicated little likelihood of any major slowdown in demand for scarce metals. Builders, meanwhile, complained about growing shortages of cement. Many forecast still tighter supplies if Congress approves President Eisenhower's multibillion dollar highway program.

New car sales continued to smash records—at latest count retailers were selling more than 28,000 cars a day—but there was increasing reliance on such artificial stimulants as sales bonuses and price discounts. The latest inventory estimate showed a record total of 757,856 new cars in dealers' hands—and sales lagging well behind production.

New evidence of the spring boom in factory output could be found in the Federal Reserve Board's latest index of industrial production. The index for April—at 136 per cent of the 1947-49 average—was within one percentage point of the all-time record of July 1953. The low point for the 1954 recession—123 per cent—was reached last August.

You could see the signs, too, in the government's newest estimate of "gross national product"—the total dollar value of all goods and services produced. Gross national product during the first three months this year was at a record yearly rate of 370 billion dollars—in the same quarter last year it was down to 356 billion. Biggest factors in the rise: The home building boom, and unprecedented consumer buying of automobiles. Farmers, coal miners and textile workers did not share in the new prosperity, however.

Briefly over the business scene: Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. lifted the wraps from a gas-turbine racing car that can rocket from zero to 140 miles an hour in five seconds. It will be used for testing tires.

IRA'S HONOR GRADUATES—Carolyn Smith, left, 18, who has attended Ira High School for the past four years is valdictorian of the graduating class for 1955. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Smith of Knapp, she is graduating with an average of 91 for the four years work. Joyce Brown, right, 18, is salutatorian of the class with a grade average of 90. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim W. Brown, Cuthbert. At Ira Carolyn has been a cheer leader, member of the Future Home Makers, and was elected best all round girl last year. She also won first prize of $10 for a theme on "How Can A College Education Help A Girl Accept Her Role In The Modern World." Joyce won second prize of $5 in the contest, was a member of the pep squad, FHA, and is senior class favorite. Both received scholarships to any religious college in Texas, and Carolyn plans to attend Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene. (Lee Watson photographs)

Market Has Strong Rally

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—The strongest recovery move of the current four-week reaction developed this week in the stock market.

The recovery was nothing like the two previous rallies this year but, of course, the present reaction is nothing like its two predecessors.

The market has been backing and filling with brief advances and retreats that have carried the price level down gradually. The pace of trading has been slow, whereas exceptionally high volume accompanied the previous market moves.

On the final three days of this week the market advanced, the best sustained strength it has been able to muster. The rise wasn't a runaway affair, but it did break the pattern of the decline.

This week the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was ahead $1.00 at $163.50. The April 26 peak was $166.80. That's not very far away. On the other hand, the low of the year was $148.80 on Jan. 17.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were General Dynamics up 3⅝ at 61⅛ on 160,100 shares, Electric & Musical Industries up ¾ at 4½, Boeing up 2⅜ at 61, Textron-American up ⅞ at 19⅛, and Sunray Mid-Continent Petroleum Preferred "A" up ⅜ at 25⅞.

Quick Correction On Introduction

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 21 (AP)—The U. S. Army tells this on itself:

At a reception in Berlin, the host introduced Brig. Gen. Raymond E. Bell, 5th Corps chief of staff, to a Russian officer as "Gen. Bell of the 7th Corps."

"I beg your pardon," the Russian said. "But Gen. Bell is with the 5th Corps."

Island Survey Set

OTTAWA, May 21 (AP)—Canada is sending a 30-man geological party to survey the Queen Elizabeth Islands in the Canadian arctic this summer for oil and mineral resources. The party sets out June 10. Among the islands to be studied, aground and from the air, are Somerset, Devon, Bathurst and Melville.

Training Dept. 'Outstanding'

The occupational training department of Snyder High School has been awarded a certificate of excellence as one of the five outstanding chapters in Texas this year, and four students received special certificates from the Texas Education Agency.

The occupational training certificates were issued by the Texas Education Agency to senior students who completed 2,000 or more hours on-job training in a skilled occupation.

Receiving the certificates were Venitta Jo Terral, who completed 2,371 hours of work as a dental assistant in the office of Dr. D. K. Ratliff; Garland DeLoach, who completed 2,218 hours as an auto mechanic at Lamb Chevrolet; Ronald Bratton, who completed 2,538 hours as an electric motor repairman at Southern Electric; and Sophie Zeck, who completed 2,287 hours as a laboratory technician in the office of Dr. Harry Ward.

The Snyder chapter of vocational and industrial training completed the year as one of the five outstanding chapters in Texas and received the Texas Education Agency's certificate of excellence.

In pre-enrollment for the courses next year 68 students have indicated that they wish to be in the program, J. C. Jackson, director, said.

"But because of an insufficient number of training stations, only about 34 of the students can take the course," Jackson said.

He added that other businesses who could offer such on-the-job training are urged to participate in the education program. Any businessman interested can obtain information by calling Jackson or T. D. Wiman at the high school.

"We wish to express appreciation for the persons who have provided training stations this year and for their help in making this a chapter which could win a rating of excellence in the state," Jackson said.

Summer Term Opens May 30

Plans for summer school were still incomplete this weekend but were rapidly taking shape.

Classes will begin Monday, May 30 with registration at 8 o'clock that morning at the high school, T. D. Wiman, Jr., principal, said.

School will be held five days a week for six weeks, ending Friday, July 8, and classes are to be held from 7 o'clock each morning until noon.

Subjects to be offered are mathematics, English, and history. The two teachers had not yet been definitely chosen, Wiman said. The selections will be made late this week.

Last summer, 40 students attended summer school, and 36 attended the year before.

Tuition is $10 for each half-credit sought, and the maximum each student may earn is a full credit. Seventy hours of ihstruction are scheduled for each half-credit.

Promotional Exercises Slated Thursday For Eighth Graders

Promotional exercises have been scheduled for 8 o'clock Thursday night in the high school auditorium for 211 eighth grade students in the junior high school here.

Herman Trigg, junior high principal, said, "This is not a commencement program. It is a strictly informal affair, actually a night assembly, conducted merely to recognize that the students have done a prescribed amount of work which entitles them to enter high school."

Trigg said the promotional exercises will be held to present diplomas and several special awards. The school is discouraging formality, urging girls not to buy dresses they cannot use for other occasions, wearing instead party dresses or Sunday school dresses. He said boys are encouraged to wear sport shirts, or ties and coats, if they prefer.

The program will open with processional by Jane Shaw, followed by posting of flags by Jerry Surratt and Jimmy Guy. Invocation will be by Linda Hester. Trigg will present special awards, including those to the class valedictorian and salutatorian, a boy's and girl's citizenship award, award to two students selected by students working in offices, awards to two elected by librarians, awards to cheerleaders, and those to the junior high student council's president, vice-president, secretary, and fire chief. Those to receive awards will not be announced until the night of the program.

T. D. Wiman, Jr., high school principal, will then welcome the students into the high school. He will be aided in the welcome by Douglas Smith, president-elect of the high school student body, and Alan Snead, who will be a senior student next fall. Jackie Eades, member of the junior high student council, will give the response.

The junior high choir, directed by Mrs. Landis Lee, will then present several members, followed by presentation of diplomas by Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of schools. Benediction will be by Glenn Dixon, president-elect of the members of the junior high stu-

Ushers will be seventh grade members of the junior high student council. They are Glenda Holloway, Linda Pearl Page, Bobby McChesney, Ronald Brewer, Pat Cary, Carolyn Goodlett, Don Martin, and Barry Walker.

Arrangements for the program are being made by a committee headed by Mrs. Dan Martin. Other members are Miss Helen Carr, Ralph Laswell, and Miss Margaret Miller.

General Says Soviet Planes Underrated

DETROIT (AP) — A high-ranking Air Force intelligence officer says the Russians have fighters and bombers equal in performance to the best U.S. planes, and more of them.

Brig. Gen. Woodbury M. Burgess, deputy chief of staff for intelligence of the Continental Air Defense Command, said in a speech last night, "The Russian air force is currently at least as good as ours, possibly better."

Speaking to an American Legion post at Selfridge Field, Burgess said he also feared "the Russians are ahead of us in the effort to perfect the guided missile."

"One of our troubles," he said, "is that we have been underestimating the Russians."

He said the Russians have two new bombers equal in size and performance to the Air Force's new eight-jet B52, but that the Russian aircraft only have four engines.

A medium bomber comparable to the U.S. six-jet B47 and yet having only two engines is being flown by the Russians, he said.

He said the Russians also have more supersonic fighters, similar to the U.S. F100, than this country has.

Burgess departed from a prepared speech in giving this information. He said the Defense Department had authorized its release only yesterday.

He reported that Russia's new aircraft were shown in strength near Moscow during April as they practiced for the annual May Day show of military strength. The air show was called off because of bad weather, but reports of the aircraft have been forwarded to Washington from observers in Russia.

The big intercontinental bombers similar to U.S. B52s were seen in two versions, he said. One was powered by four jet engines, and the other by four turboprop engines.

The turboprop model, in which a jet engine turns propellers, has no equal in this country, he said. He said each of the four engines turned two counterrotating four-bladed propellers.

Many people, especially those over 45 years old, have 20-20 vision but need glasses for close work.

FATAL BLAZE—Firemen are seen attempting to battle an early morning house blaze which took at least two lives in Tacoma, Washington. The entire insides of the four-story structure was burned out.

School Calendar For 1955-56 Set

The calendar of school events for the 1955-56 fiscal year has been approved and released by the Snyder school board.

School for the current term is to end when students return to class Friday to receive their report cards, but training for the term will actually end at noon the day before.

Then there will be relative quiet for the first month of the new fiscal year which starts July 1, and the first event on the calendar is registration for "pre-school." This date of Aug. 1 is for children who are to begin school next term and who have never before attended public school anywhere.

After the Aug. 1 registration, parents will have a couple of weeks in which to dread sending the little tots off to pre-school on Aug. 15. Pre-school lasts through Aug. 26 and is for the purpose of getting the children accustomed to leaving their homes for a few hours and to make a sort of transition for both the parents and the children.

Pre-registration for high school students will be held on Aug. 15, 16, and 17.

Pre-registration of all elementary school children will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Aug. 22-24.

On Aug. 28, an afternoon reception for all new teachers will be sponsored by the administration staff.

An orientation program for all Snyder teachers will be Aug. 29-31.

Junior high school students will register on Sept. 1, and buses will run at noon on that day.

Sept. 2 is the first full schedule of classes in all schools.

All students not registered prior to starting of school may register at that time, but school administrators will urge all to pre-register if possible.

There will be 178 teaching days in the next school term. By months, the teaching days and holidays scheduled are:

Sept. 1-30, 21 days; Labor Day on Sept. 5 will be observed.

Oct. 3-28, 20 days.

Oct. 31-Nov. 25, 18 days; Thanksgiving holidays Thursday and Friday, Nov. 24, 25.

Nov. 28-Jan. 6, 23 days; for Christmas holidays, school will dismiss at close of day Dec. 16 and re-open on morning of Dec. 27.

Jan. 9-Feb. 3, 20 days.

Feb. 6-March 2, 20 days.

March 5-30, 19 days; March 9 has tentatively been set for district meeting of Texas State Teachers Association at Sweetwater.

April 2-27, 18 days; Easter holidays March 30-April 2.

April 30-May 25, 19 days; work day for teachers on May 24.

Davy Gets Attention

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Maybe it's television — or the son, but attendants at the Alamo here are getting more children as visitors than ever before. "And they all want to know about Davey Crockett," Mrs. R. G. Halter, of the Alamo staff.

Qualifications Are Outlined

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Neal Gross, head of the Harvard School of Executives Studies, says an "ideal" school board member is a sort of King Solomon who does everything quickly and cheaply, even when he knows nothing about it.

Gross told a conference for school board members, school officials and laymen the ideal school board member should have:

1. A heart of gold, a mind of steel and a nervous sytem of elastic.
2. A built-in telephone holder on one shoulder and a tear absorber on the other.
3. The ability to make wise and penetrating decisions on subjects he doesn't know anything about.
4. The desire to be hooked by educational jargon.
5. The ability to tell parents that a straight line for a school bus is not necessarily door to door.
6. The connections to buy aspirin at a 50 per cent discount.
7. A notion of how to increase salaries, build new buildings and lower the tax rate — all at the same time.
8. The wisdom to steer a course between the horse and buggy and space ship schools of education, without splitting the personality of the child.

Injury Liquidated By Investigation

DENVER (AP) — Four traffic patrolmen were assigned to an accident. They found an unconscious woman in the back seat of a car, where witnesses had placed her.

One witness insisted the woman had been struck by a car; another said she was the victim of an assault; hospital attaches believed she might be suffering from shock. After all the confusion police found she merely was drunk.

In 1953, Japan produced 302 full-length motion pictures, only 58 less than the United States.

New York, Ohio, Tennessee and Pennsylvania each have at least four places called Summit.

Traveling Salesman Builds Safety Mark

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Here's a tale about the traveling salesman that you can believe.

State police say he is the safest driver on the highways. Not a single traffic fatality occurred in an accident involving a traveling salesman last year. Police say they are driving every day and stay alert to road hazards.

Over Half Of Snyder Seniors Planning To Attend College

More than 50 per cent of the senior students graduating from Snyder High School this year have said they plan to attend college.

That is a high average compared to normal years in most schools, where about 30 per cent of the students attend college each year.

Not all the students making plans to attend college actually go to the schools each year. Those announcing intention of attending college in a survey made in the senior class by J. Carter Parkes, high school counsellor, numbered 68. There are 128 students in the graduating class.

In the survey, Parkes asked students whether they could attend without a scholarship or some type of aid. Ten students answered that they would definitely need some type of help if they should attend college. Five more said they will possibly need help while four more said they intend to work their way through college.

A few boys indicated they will enter the military service before attending college, while others said they will try to go through college first. Some said they would join the National Guard or have already done so, while a few said they will participate in the Reserve Officers Training Corps in college.

Nineteen colleges were named by the students when they were indicating their preference of schools. Five students said they will attend college but are undecided which colleges.

Texas Technological College at Lubbock is the most popular of the colleges among students here. Twenty-six students said they plan to attend Tech.

Many of the students named more than one school as their preference. First schools named are included in the following ilst:

Texas Tech, Lubbock — Jimmy Bennett, Billy Sellars, Gene Wendland, Paul Nelson, Troy Williamson, Gayle Nail, Bob Rogers, Doyle Sapp, Elwyn Weathers, Tommy Hensley, James Parker, Thomas Rigsby, Phillip Houston, Hubert O'Neal, Sara Clark, Fred Cross, Jim Sealy, Betty Hunt, Herb Portis, Leonard Hale, William Brownfield, Bata McPherson, Norma Edelman, Walt [illegible]ett, Don Beckham, Jimmie Joe [illegible]ey.

Draughan's Business College or other business school — Jan Stacey, Helen Peikert, Pauline Caswell, Emma McMinn, Vernon Lilly, Billie Hutchins, and Susan Wharry.

Jail Is Given Library Unit

DENVER (AP) — A 60-year old cabinetmaker, has been instrumental in establishing a branch of the city library in jail.

William. M. Zenker has been in jail since Feb. 24, 1954, for contempt of court. He was sentenced to an indefinite term for refusing to divulge where he buried $10,000 the court claims belongs to his ex-wife and which he says should go to a daughter he hasn't seen for years and can't locate.

When he went to jail, Zenker immediately devoted himself to taking care of the few paper-back books available. When his own case was publicized, he managed to direct attention to the lack of reading material in the county institution.

With his urging, the county jail officially became a branch of the Denver Public Library. Warden Gordon Dolliver says the arrangement makes 500 books available to the inmates.

With the establishment of the library, Zenker — who can get out of jail any time he tells where the money is — has been named official librarian and Dolliver reports:

"He's so pleased with his new assignment and responsibilities, I doubt now whether he will ever tell where he buried the dough — he likes it here."

Driver Gets Lucky Ticket

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — State Trooper Walter Branch tells this one:

Branch got up to 95 miles per hour before he was able to halt a speeding motorist. Branch said he was just plain mad when he saw that the speeder was accompanied by his wife and a small child. The driver emerged with a scowl on his face, denied he was driving as fast as the troop said, and began to express his opinion of the officer in no uncertain terms. Having developed a thick skin Branch let the remarks fall on deaf ears as he wrote out a summons to court.

Just then a tire blew out on a front wheel of the motorist's car.

"Friend, if I hadn't stopped you I might have been called to help gather up the bodies of your wife and child," Branch said.

The officer said the speeder acted as if he had been hit by a .45 calibre bullet.

"If there ever was a dman fool who needed a traffic ticket I'm one," the speeder said.

Some American schools are now using the abacus to teach children arithmetic.

Minister Will Be Shipboard Cowboy

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — The Rev. Theodore A. Tuenge, will serve as a shipboard cowboy for the Christian Rural Overseas Program of farm aid to Europe.

He will take a cargo of 70 heifers to Germany. Tuenge's congregation of 900 gave him a two-month leave for the trip, and his church joined in a statewide drive in support of the heifer project. The herd he cars for will be known as the "Wolverine Shipment."

The United States has more than 7½ million oil burners in use for central heating.

FACES RARE OPERATION—Maureen Dowd, 2, shown listening to a story read by her mother, will undergo a rare operation on her heart at the University of Minnesota Hospital. The child, who lives in Utica, N.Y., has two holes in the muscles between the four chambers of the heart. While surgeons operate to sew up these holes, the child's father will be giving a direct blood transfusion in which his heart and lungs will provide circulation and purification of the child's blood.

Safety Tips Recommended For Use During 'Tornado Season'

A set of tornado safety rules recommended by the weather bureau of the United States Department of Commerce has been released by the Snyder Disaster Organization, organized recently, in an effort to save lives if a tornado should strike here.

"To know what to do when a warning is received or a tornado is observed may mean the difference between life and death," B. J. Shelley, executive officer of the Disaster Organization, said.

"In the past few days several tornadoes have been reported in this immediate area, but fortunately none caused serious damage," Shelly said.

"However a tornado could strike here at any time," he added.

"There is no universal protection against tornadoes except caves or underground excavations. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave, or underground excavation which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept fit for use, free from water, gas, or debris, and perferable equipped with pick and shovel," Shelley said.

Rules for safety in open country are: 1. Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour and you may be able to get out of its path, and 2. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

Three rules for safety if you are in a city or town are: 1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a steel reinforced building and stay away from windows.

2. In home: the southwest corner of the lowest floor or in the basement offers greatest safety. Persons living in brick or stone homes sould seek other shelter, preferably a storm cellar or the basement of a frame house. If time permits, electricity and fuel lines should be shut off. Windows on the north and east sides of the house may also be opened to help reduce damage to the building.

3. Standing against the inside wall on a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

Safety rules for schools are: 1. in city areas, especially if school building is of good steel reinforced construction, stay away from windows, remain near an inside wall on a lower floor. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums.

2. In rural districts remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

Shelley said that one of the most important rules in any case is to keep calm.

"It will not help to get excited," he said. "People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado, and although a warning has been issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight.

"Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though, 'just in case,' " Shelley said.

Another rule is to keep your radio tuned to a local station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your individual request for information may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio stations for dissemination to thousands in the ciritical area.

The weather bureau information says that tornadoes usually appear as a funnel-shaped cloud, spinning rapidly, and extending toward the earth from the base of a thunder cloud.

"They usually move from southwest to northeast at a travel speed of from 25 to 40 miles per hour, and a wind speed up to 500 miles per hour within the tornado," Shelley said.

"Tornadoes develop from topsy-turvy, greenish-black thunderstorm clouds on hot, sticky days with southerly winds blowing," he added.

A local safety rule for Snyder is to avoid calling the police department in case of a tornado, because the police station at the city hall will be the communications center for the Snyder Disaster Organization, and keeping its radio and telephone channels open is vital to the work of the disaster group.

Former Pastor Wins Contest

The Rev. Clifford Taylor, Jr., formerly minister of the First Christian Church here, won an honorable mention award in a national sermon writing contest concluded recently.

Rev. Taylor resigned his work with the church here to return to Fort Worth to continue his ministerial studies. He has now enlisted as a Naval chaplain, and will go first to Providence, R.I.

Only nine out of all the representatives from dozens of theological seminaries over the United States were selected for the sermons they submitted. Rev. Taylor was the only Christian Church preacher whose sermon was selected, the first to gain recognition from Brite College, and the only person from the area south of Illinois. He delivered his winning sermon, "The Greatest Gift," to a San Angelo church last sunday.

Stamford Jaycee In Charge Of Program

Tommy Cooper, president of the Stamford Junior Chamber of Commerce, was in charge of the program at the meeting of the Snyder Jaycees Friday.

Cooper showed a film on the Southwestern Diebetic Foundation's Camp Sweeny at Gainesville.

Guests were Chuck Wolfe, George Fambro, and Lowell Guy.

Guatemala Gets Corn

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP) — The United States is making about 7,000 tons of corn available to Guatemala to help it over a critical shortage period preceding the harvest of the 1955 crop. The corn will be transferred to Guatemala from Commodity Credit Corp. surplus stocks.

Candidates Switched

TORONTO, May 21 (AP) — The suburban New Toronto Advertiser, a weekly, carried a quarter-page ad this week telling voters they should elect candidate Bev Lewis in the June 9 Ontario election. The ad carried a picture of his opponent, William Stroud.

Rotarians To Hear Bynum

Raymond T. Bynum, director of the McMurry College band and one of five Texans holding membership in the American Bandmasters Association, will speak on the band's recent trip to Europe at the luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club here Thursday.

The band made a 16-day concert and sight-seeing tour of London, Paris, Amsterdam, Zurich, and Rome in March, with expenses paid by the Abilene Rotary Club as that club's project to commemorate the golden anniversary of Rotary International. About 25 Abilene Rotarians and their wives accompanied the 30 bandsmen.

Bynum will discuss the extent to which the trip accomplished its purpose of boosting international good will, friendship, and understanding between the U.S. and free Europeans.

Director of the McMurry band and professor of instrumental music at the college since 1946, Bynum was for a number of years director of Abilene's public school music program

Coming to Snyder with Bynum will be his 18-year-old daughter, Ann Bynum, who will play a flute solo. A senior at Abilene High School, Miss Bynum is a first-chair flutist with the high school band. She will enroll at McMurry next year and play in the band.

Solon Warns Of Surpluses

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La) warned today the government probably must take heavy losses on three to four billion dollars worth of wheat and cotton piled up under price support loans.

"A substantial amount of these commodities are unmarketable, for all practicable purposes," Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said in an interview.

He explained much of the wheat, for example is fit only for livestock feed instead of milling into flour and about one third of the cotton is of short lengths, not suitable for high grade textiles.

"For all practical purposes," he said, "this cotton is unsalable except at much lower prices than present price support levels make possible."

This surplus situation, he continued, is one reason he opposes a drive by some Democratic leaders to push through a farm bill that would junk the Eisenhower flexible price support program and reinstate the high wartime levels.

Ellender said: "I still believe mandatory parity price supports on basic crops are infinitely preferable to the sliding scale, or flexible support program, which the administration forced on us last year."

But he said he favors some system that would put "a premium on the production of salable commodities rather than on those sold to the government and put into storage."

Mayor Nervous During First Wedding Rites

LYON, France, May 21 (AP) — Speaking of blushing brides, the mayor who tied the knot was nervous too at a May wedding in the village of Chalancon.

The mayor is blonde Miss Marinette Roman, 23. She was elected to the office only three months ago to succeed her father. And the wedding was the first at which she ever officiated.

Flood Is Predicted In Louisiana Area

LAKE CHARLES, La., May 21 (AP)—The Weather Bureau today predicted "serious flooding" for sections of Southwest Louisiana, although little change was reported in some rain-swollen rivers and creeks over night.

Meteorologist Paul S. Cook in Lake Charles said a decrease in winds caused waters to stay near yesterday's levels. But winds rose rapidly today.
