

Ferry With 240 Persons Sinks Off Okinawa; 185 Are Rescued

4 Americans Are Saved

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—A ferry boat believed carrying as many as 240 persons capsized and sank off Okinawa today and 185 persons were reported rescued in an intense air-sea operation.

Two persons were known dead and the remainder were missing. Authorities here said the vessel's manifest listed 190 passengers and crewmen, but Okinawa police reports said about 40 more passengers had boarded the ferry just before departure and were not carried on the manifest.

The rescue included four American servicemen and officials said information presently available indicated they were the only Americans aboard the ferry.

Twenty-nine persons were rescued from waters off an island by U.S. military helicopters and another 156 persons were picked up by surface craft, authorities said.

The ferry, the 300-ton Midori Maru, had left Naha's Tomari port at 11 a.m. local time heading for Kumejima Island, 50 miles to the west. The ferry was said to have capsized about 12:05 p.m., but first word of the sinking did not reach Naha until about 5 p.m.

U.S. military aircraft, including helicopters, joined fishing boats in the rescue operation. Local authorities said they had the last names of Brinkwater, Ostermiller, Brancroft and Nixon for the four American servicemen rescued. They said they had no first names or hometowns immediately.

The survivors who were being brought into the Naha port area appeared to be in fair shape but most apparently escaped with nothing more than the clothing they were wearing.

Shannon McCune, U.S. civil administrator for the Ryukyus, termed the success of the rescue operation "amazing."

One U.S. Army helicopter pilot, Major C.A. Wyllie, brought more than 20 survivors into Naha air base.

Despite the success of the search and rescue work, officials here were amazed that it took more than four hours for the first word of the sinking to be received in Naha. The site of the area where the ferry went down was pinpointed about 18 miles west of Naha in fishing grounds where sea traffic normally is heavy.

The Japanese newspaper Asahi reported the sinking became known when two survivors were picked up by a ship in the area. An earlier report had said that two survivors swam ashore to report the sinking. This apparently was erroneous.

The ferry boat was originally an airplane rescue ship, built in 1943 and used by the Japanese navy in World War II. The Kyushu Yusen Steamship Co., on Japan's southernmost island of Kyushu, bought her after the war and the Ryukyus Maritime Transport Co. in 1953.

SNYDER AREA OIL

Three counties in the Snyder area drew wildcat projects during last week. They are Mitchell, Fisher and Garza.

Orbon H. Tice and R. L. Conson of Abilene spotted No. 1, V. T. McCabe as a 2,200-foot Noodle Creek prospect, 20 miles southeast of Colorado City in Mitchell County and 1 1/2 miles southeast of the depleted discovery and lone producer in the Dixon (Strawn) pool.

It is 600 feet from south and 2,001 feet from east lines of section 3, block 1-A, H&TC survey. Robert V. Walker, Jr., of Abilene No. 1 Sally Dunningan is planned as a 4,200-foot Noodle Creek exploration, 10 miles northwest of Rotan, in Fisher County.

The location is 330 feet from south and 1,863 feet from east lines of J. K. Adair survey and 1 1/2 mile south of the Barbara Moore (Noodle Creek) pool, but separated from it by dry holes.

K. K. Amiri of Midland will drill No. 1 G. W. Connell as a 3,100-foot Giorietta wildcat in Garza County, six miles east and a slightly north of Post.

The location is 729 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 75, block 5, GH&H survey and 1 1/2 miles south of the Arline (San Andres and Giorietta) field.

Apeco Oil Corporation of Oklahoma City, Okla., No. 5 Holladay is slated as a 7,600-foot Pennsylvanian project, one location north of the discovery of the two-well Allen-Holladay pool in Southwest Scurry County, 20 miles southwest of Snyder.

The drillete is 1,850 feet from north and 2,890 feet from east lines of section 75, block 20, Lavaca Navigation survey.

C. L. Norworthy, Jr., of Dallas No. 4 Puryear is slated as a 4,300-foot Noodle Creek project in southeast Kent County, 13 miles southwest of Clairmont.

The drillete is 600 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 361, block 2, H&TC survey. It is 3/4 mile northwest and the same distance northeast of production in the Rough Draw area.

Thomas D. Humphrey, Jr., of Dallas No. 1-D W. F. Martin is to drill to 5,650 feet as a 5 1/2-mile Davan (Strawn sand) pool in Stone wall County, 12 miles southwest of Aspermont.

It is 600 feet from south and 467 feet from west lines of section 4, block U, T&P survey.

The same operator's No. 1-C Martin, 467 feet from north and 2,250 feet from west lines of section 2, block U, T&P survey, and a west outcrop to the producing area, is bottomed at 5,605 feet and is in process of trying to complete from unreported perforations as the third producer.

Schermehorn Oil Corporation of Dallas No. 1 Leslie Brown is slated as a 5,500-foot Strawn project in the Bissett, East area of Stonewall County, 14 miles north of Aspermont. The location is 467 feet from south and 836 feet from west lines of section 42, block F, H&TC survey.

Coastal States Gas Producing Company of Abilene No. 1-A L. E. A. Smartt is slated as a 3,200-foot project in the Westbrook field in Mitchell County, four miles northwest of Westbrook and 467 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 14, block 28, T-N, T&P survey.

More Fiery Suicides Are Threatened

By PETER ARNETT Associated Press Staff Writer HUE, Viet Nam (AP)—Pressure for world intervention in South Viet Nam's Buddhist crisis mounted today with warnings from Buddhist leaders in Saigon that more fiery suicides and bloodshed are imminent.

They cabled pleas to President Kennedy, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and Buddhist organizations for some outside brake to the South Viet Nam government's alleged treatment of Buddhists.

The cables detailed burnings, hunger strikes and demonstrations and claimed "the government ignores all this because President Diem is ill advised by people about him."

They added "other sacrifices are imminent, despite our intercession and other mass demonstrations with bloodshed are in prospect."

R.S.S. Gunewardene, Ceylon's chief delegate to the United Nations, announced that he expects to ask for a special session of the U.N. general assembly to deal with the situation.

His country is principally Buddhist and he himself is a Buddhist.

He told newsmen that he had conferred with Thant, who also is a Buddhist from Burma, and would talk to delegates of other Buddhist countries before he makes a formal request for the session next Tuesday.

In Hue, quiet followed the suicide burning of a 71-year-old monk, the fifth in a series of protest immolations.

The government lifted the martial law it imposed Friday and removed the barricades around Hue's Tu Dam pagoda. Five monks and Buddhist followers quickly packed into the courtyard to contemplate the spot of Friday's suicide.

The charred body lay in a coffin surrounded by barbed wire at the pagoda. It was a precaution against government police snatching the body as they did the remains of the young novice monk who burned himself to death outside Hue on Tuesday.

A SNYDER WELCOME—Among the group of Snyderites who welcomed Exchange Student Michael Konig of Heimselmu, Germany Friday, were several officials. From left are Mayor John Hamblen, who presented the key to the city and punctuated his welcoming talk with German phrases; Konig, Rev. Jack Dean, president of the AFS which sponsors the students; Roy Hanson, SHS student council president; County Judge Sterling Taylor; Rep. Renal Rosson, who presented an honorary Texas citizenship to Konig; and Chamber of Commerce president, R. C. Patton. Konig will live with the Bob Crowell family.

TYPICAL OF THE WELCOMES given Michael Konig was this warm handshake by Roy Hanson who welcomed Konig on behalf of the high school student body.

Tribute Is Paid To Slain Escapee

BERLIN (AP)—Two hundred West Berliners gathered at the Red Wall today and paid tribute to Peter Fechter, a young East Berliner shot down a year ago trying to escape.

The crowd watched as Maj. Gen. James H. Polk, U.S. Berlin commandant, and Mayor Willy Brandt laid wreaths at the Fechter memorial a few feet from where he was shot near U.S. Checkpoint Charlie.

Dozens of East Berliners, living near the spot where the 18-year-old construction worker was cut down by Red submarine gun bullets, peered from behind curtains as Polk and Brandt stood silently for one minute with their heads bowed.

The simple wooden cross was flanked by four, black-draped pylons carrying flaming torches on the top. West Berlin policemen stood honor guard.

A number of East German border guards were patrolling the Wall, while others observed the ceremony through holes in the wall of the bombed-out building just across from the memorial.

In anticipation of anti-Communist demonstrations that could easily turn into rioting, police cordoned off the Checkpoint Charlie area.

Only a few persons at a time were allowed to pass through police lines near the memorial.

Fechter was gunned down by border guards Aug. 17, 1962, when he and a fellow worker tried to scale the wall.

Marker To Be Dedicated

Hugh Taylor, chairman of the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee has announced that the formal dedication ceremonies for the marker commemorating Gen. William B. Scurry, CSA, will be held Wednesday, Aug. 21.

The marker was recently placed on the north side of the Snyder courthouse square by the state of Texas.

Mrs. L. E. Dudley, state president of Federated Women's Clubs will be present at the dedication, and will make a few remarks. Mrs. Dudley has been active in preservation of historical sites in the state.

Other interested persons in the area have been contacted, and may possibly attend. The ceremonies will be held at 10 a.m. and it is hoped that a good number of local citizens will attend, Taylor said.

More Industrial Growth Is Seen

AUSTIN (AP)—The rapid growth of Texas' industry should continue far into the future, the Bureau of Business Research predicted Saturday.

The economic vitality of Texas is reflected in the number of persons gainfully employed within the state, said the report.

The forecast traced employment patterns from 1953 to 1962, stressing the shift from farm to nonfarm activity.

"Nonagricultural business activity has expanded more vigorously in Texas than it has in the United States," the report said. "This is largely because the economy, being largely agriculture-oriented, has only recently, relative to the nation, begun to develop industrially."

"Industrialization should continue in the future." The report showed farm employment declined 18.8 per cent during the 10-year period, from about 400,440 in 1952 to an estimated 325,280 in 1962. Nationwide the decline in agricultural workers was only 11.2 per cent.

THE WEST TEXAS CHAPTER MEETING of the International Association of Electrical Inspectors was held Saturday at the Snyder City Hall. Pictured during a coffee break are T. C. Wier of Tulsa, a member of the organization since 1937; Glenn Moore, chairman of the meeting and chief inspector of the city of Lubbock; and A. M. Roberts, local electrical inspector. This is the first time the chapter meeting of the one-year-old chapter has been held in Snyder. The West Texas chapter covers the area of Texas from west of Wichita Falls, and from the Panhandle south to Del Rio. Twenty-five inspectors from a number of cities were present.

Space Gremlins Suspected

By HOWARD BENEDICT BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Are there gremlins in space who tamper with satellites and then put them back in working order again?

That's the only explanation two scientists have for the mysterious blackout and sudden rejuvenation equipment on four U.S. satellites in the last year.

The mystery was underlined this week when, within three days, it was announced that two of the satellites—the ANNA geodesic sphere and the Telstar 2 communications package—had come back to life.

Scientists closely connected with each program, here for a satellite conference, were asked their opinion of the celestial goings-on.

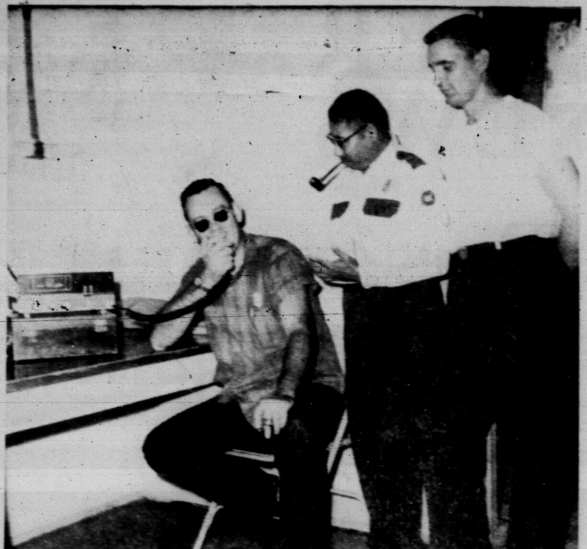

Richard R. Kershner of the Applied Physics Laboratory, Johns Hopkins University, which developed ANNA, reported that after two months of inactivity, ANNA's four flashing lights inexplicably resumed flashing.

"We have no explanation for the lights coming back on," Kershner said. "We don't like to believe in space gremlins, but we've reached the point where that's a good explanation as any. They're working beautifully now, and we're thankful."

Gremlins, imaginary creatures dreamed up by the servicemen of World War II, were blamed for anything that went wrong for an unexplained reason.

Kershner said trouble with the blinking beacons on the "fretful" satellite began about two months after it was launched last October.

"The space gremlins got into the satellite and started worrying the device which causes the lights to flash," he reported. "The power and frequency of the flashes degenerated until they finally stopped altogether."

Iceland Beauty Cops World Title

By DIAL TORGERSON
LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The most beautiful girl in the world—said a panel of judges here—is a Scandinavian beauty with red-blond hair, a secret love, and an unpronounceable name.
Miss International Beauty of 1964, is 20-year-old Gudrun Bjarnadottir.
When she equaled Miss Iceland in the title in competition with 26 other girls from all over the world, her surprise was genuine. She didn't realize she had won, because she couldn't understand the way the master of ceremonies, actor Lorne Green, said her name when he pronounced the winner.
"It's really an easy name," she says, in nearly fluent English. It is the way she says it—suddenly, like a cascade of pebbles falling into a pond.
A village of 800 in a treeless valley is the hometown of the tall, statuesque girl with a 35-23-35 figure, the pose of a princess and sparkling grey-green eyes.
She has the fresh, dewy-eyed look of an unexpected country girl—yet she came here, she says, from a career as a Paris fashion model.
She has secrets, too.
"Yes, I have a boy friend," she admitted. She described him in flowing Icelandic to her hostess, Alva Swanson. "She means she loves him," said Mrs. Swanson, a former Icelandic herself.
"I love him," said Gudrun.
"What's his name?"
"You just find out," she said mock-seriously.
"He's a very nice boy, an American citizen. I met him in Paris." She won the contest Friday night over 14 other finalists as the four-day beauty spectacular drew to a close. It was nationally televised.
A re-broadcast permitted her to see herself hours later.
"Look there," she said. "I'm crying."
She watched herself parade through Long Beach (Civic Auditorium), her long white, formal gown trailing to the applause of the crowd.
"She said her parents were overjoyed when she telephoned them the news at Vitr-Narvik, where they live with her brother, 21, and her sister, 15. Her father is in the shipbuilding business.
She left there in May of last year when she was picked as Miss Iceland, heading to Copenhagen, London and Paris. She said that in London she studied to be a secretary at Pittman College and that in Paris she was picked as a fashion photographer's model.
And how do you pronounce her name?"
"Let me write it down the way it's said," she said.
It came out this way: Gu-droon Bjarn-doh-tyr.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years, but my husband and I are only good friends. Ten years ago I met a married man. He and his wife had nothing in common, so he courted me and we became sweethearts. He joined my husband and son and me for week-end trips and we were like one big happy family. All my friends knew he was crazy about me but, out of charity, we were careful not to let his wife find out. Well, last week his wife called and told me her husband admitted everything, and if I didn't get out of their lives she would tell my husband and son. If she breaks up my marriage, I'll have nothing left. I never wanted to hurt her, Abby. She wasn't a good wife. I gave up years of my life making her husband happy. I never ran after him. He ran after me. Now when I call him he refuses to talk to me. How can I get him back?

New Mexico Auto Damaged In Mishap

Five persons from New Mexico escaped injury about 1 a.m. Saturday when their 1954 Ford struck a bridge west of Randall Corner on West Highway 180. The car, driven by Glenn O. Virgint, was pulling a trailer loaded with two motorcycles. The group was en route to New Orleans.
The trailer was left at the scene of the mishap, and the car, although heavily damaged, was driven to Snyder. The occupants spent the night in a local motel. The mishap was investigated by the Texas Highway Patrol.

TIPRO Studying Mexico Loophole

BROWNSVILLE, AP — The executive and policy committees of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association looked Saturday at the loophole through which Mexico uses ships to import oil overland. Committee members chartered a bus to tour the 16-mile route Mexico uses to bring the oil under overland regulations. The session prepared reports for the annual meeting in San Antonio Sept. 25-Oct. 1.
"We are here because Brownsville is just a symbol of what we consider a loophole and leaky federal import program," President Johnny Mitchell of Houston said.
The oilmen long have been irritated by the system which allows importation of up to 30,000 barrels of oil daily. Officials of the organization have described the system as a "subterfuge" and "circumvention" of federal regulations.
The Mexican oil is hauled from Tampico to Brownsville by tankers, then loaded on trucks and hauled about five miles to Matamoros, Mexico, just across the Rio Grande from Brownsville. The trucks make a U-turn and return the oil to Texas, avoiding any importation controls because

Jail Fire Is Repeated

A fire at the county jail which was reported shortly after midnight Saturday, sent a woman prisoner to Coquell Hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation.
The woman and the girl were treated at the hospital, and then returned to the fireproof city jail. They were taken to the hospital in a Helicopter ambulance.
Snyder firemen reported that a blanket had been hung over the fire, and that a mattress had been set on fire. The blanket prevented the smoke from being seen until the mattress had been at least half burned.
The woman, Mrs. Bennette M. Turland, 37, was also involved in a mattress-burning episode Sunday night, Aug. 11. At that time she was treated for inhalation and slashed wrists.
Mrs. Turland is being held on charges of forgery and passing of forged instruments.
The juvenile was being held for a juvenile court hearing Saturday morning. She was able to attend the hearing, and was sent to a correctional institution.
The sheriff's office is reportedly making arrangements to hold Mrs. Turland in another jail, possibly Lubbock.

Echols of Dunn, Mrs. Frank Scales and Mrs. Mary Bowers, both of Tenaha; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Street Fair Riot Scene

NEW YORK (AP)—What started out as a gay street fair in the Bronx Friday night erupted into a riot, touched off by the accidental shooting of a girl in the leg.
The activities were held around an Indian theme. The children, aged 4 to 8, were dressed as Indians and did Indian handwork.
Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Smith, who are missionaries to the Indians in Kingston, Oklahoma, showed slides and told of their work among the Indians.
Mrs. Lindy Clark was in charge of the arrangements for this year's camp.

OUR VIEW

Rainmaking Could Become Perilous Occupation

There are plenty of brave, or naive souls still floating und. We refer to the sudden upsurge in the "rainmaker" population.

A cooling act spell ending a long period of hot, dry weather brought them out on many fronts. Claims of responsibility for the rains in specified areas have been prolific. Yet, proof of the claims remains somewhat vague.

For instance, what are the geographic limits of a rainmaker's power? If he is responsible for a rain in San Angelo, to pick a popular example, did his magic also cause the simultaneous downpours around Fort Worth and Las?

Did he tell anybody before the rain that he was going to produce moisture at a specific hour, or even on a specific day? Did his magic cause the clouds to form from a clear sky?

One method of "rainmaking" has attracted a certain amount of solid following. It involves "seeding" clouds with dry ice — the method Land Commissioner Jerry Heller claims to have used with success. This method permits claims to be credited with some logic. Weather scientists have known that sudden temperature change is a factor in precipitation. But someone has to furnish the seeds.

However, desirable as it may appear during a drought, rainmaking, if it exists as some people claim, could be a perilous occupation. Say a rainmaker makes it rain a couple of inches on Farmer Brown's cotton crop while Mr. Jones on the next farm, which is irrigated, has her nifty hanging out to dry.

And what about a rainmaker who lets things get out of hand? Could he be held accountable for flood damage?

Sheriff J. B. Boles has been on the job for three days on a chase of a man accused of horse theft. He came in Thursday with him and lodged him in jail. After a chase of 205 miles, it is said that the man has been arrested for thirteen years, during which time he has been convicted with the revolution in Mexico.

Boles had a pretty easy time of it. Jim Boles got in after him, he knows now the hazard of being about a fugitive when Sheriff of Scurry County gets the game.

Chinchilla Club Meets In Snyder

The quarterly meeting of the West-Cen-Tex Chinchilla Club was held Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stoltz at 3718 Avenue V.

During the business meeting, new officers for the coming year were elected. Mr. Stoltz was elected president and Mrs. J. E. Storey was elected Secretary-Treasurer.

An informative program was presented on the construction and practicability of the perfected automatic watering system that Mr. Stoltz now has in use in his chinchilla unit.

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mund of Clyde, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Boyd of San Angelo, Mr. J. E. Storey of Abilene, Mr. Reuben Hartman of Kerrville, Mr. Bill Johnson and sons of Midland, and Mr. Dawson Moreland of Snyder.

Graham Says Cubans Were Worthy Of Aid

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham says the United States and Great Britain should have come to the aid of 19 Cuban reporters taken prisoner by Communist Cubans from a British-owned Caribbean island.

"They were Christians, armed only with bibles," Graham said. Graham, in the second day of a 25-day crusade at the Los Angeles Coliseum, said: "So-called Christian America someday will stand condemned before the bar of God's justice for our indifference to the suffering of others."

America has entered "the age of the shrug," he said, and the most common expression is "We couldn't care less." But, he added, before God, "we must care."

Six Persons Perish In Wisconsin Blaze

NIAGARA, Wis. (AP)—Five members of one family and one neighbor's child died today in a fire that swept a home in this northeastern Wisconsin community.

The blaze was discovered by a watchman at a Kimberly-Clark Co. paper mill.

The dead were Howard Comstock, 41, his wife, Marjorie, 39, their children, Christine, 10; Paula, 15, and Peter, 7 and Mary Jo Schellbush, 8-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schellbush, also of Niagara. Mary Jo was visiting at the home for the night.

The bodies were found in four bedrooms on the second floor.

One older Comstock boy, Robert, 19, was visiting friends elsewhere in the community at the time of the fire.

Rail Strike Threat Keeps Major Businesses On Edge

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The possibility of a nationwide rail strike looms as the House Ways and Means Committee approved an across-the-board tax reduction but some cold water was thrown on the outlook by statements of influential members that the legislation had a poor chance of getting through the Senate.

As approved by the House Ways and Means Committee, the tax reduction would apply to income beginning Jan. 1, 1964. Two-thirds of the individual reductions and a little more than half of the corporate reduction would come on 1964 income and the balance on 1965 and subsequent income.

The individual cut would average 20 per cent and the corporate cut would be reduced from 32 per cent to 48 per cent by 1965.

Chrysler Corp., which racked up an excellent gain in production and sales during the 1963 model year, kicked off 1964 by showing its new entries in St. Louis.

The firm spent $125 million in preparing its new line but the changes weren't startling. Chrysler appeared to be betting that it could keep its sales gain going without radical departures from 1963 styling.

General Motors completed its 1963 model run the previous week and Ford did so during the week Chrysler, American Motors and Studebaker already were building 1964's. Ford starts its 1964 run Monday and General Motors' 1964 production will begin Sept. 3.

Steel production skidded again for the fourth straight week. It dropped to 1,740,000 tons, an estimated 56.3 per cent of operating capacity.

No improvement was expected until vacations are over and auto makers get their assembly lines running full blast on new models.

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange advanced to 22,798,850 shares from the previous week's total of 18,461,610. Bond sales totaled $29,812,000 par value last week compared with the previous week's total of $23,228,100.

Left Wings Have United In Ceylon

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW
COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Under the impetus of an American action, the squabbling, left-wing political parties of Ceylon have united.

The United States cut off economic aid to Ceylon in February. Anger toward Washington brought together Communists and other Marxists, leading to formation last Monday of the United Left Front (ULF).

Franchises of leftist leaders had encouraged socialist trends within the government of the world's only woman prime minister, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike.

U. S. aid was halted because the government seized 181 service stations from Western oil companies and dragged its feet on paying compensation.

Now a Unified Left has a better — but still obscure — chance of capturing power to carry out more extreme nationalization plans and possibly orient neutral Ceylon toward the Communist bloc, compared with the previous week's total of $23,228,100.

of Ceylon, an island just off the southern tip of India, spend little time thinking of anyone capturing power. The atmosphere is too relaxed, in a tropical climate that grows anything and requires few clothes. But in Colombo, a modern port city, a sense of politics is strong and confused.

Few can agree on which way the political situation is moving. Even leading politicians disagree on what their parties will achieve.

A new possibility is that ULF might draw enough support from Mrs. Bandaranaike's Freedom party to win an election expected in 1965 or at least dictate coalition terms.

After gaining independence from Britain in 1948, Ceylon was governed until 1956 by the right-wing, Westernized United National Party. S. W. Bandaranaike led a ballot box revolt of rural elements among Ceylon's majority group, the Sinhalese Buddhists, and was prime minister from 1956 until his assassination in 1959.

The government of his widow has lacked strong direction. There is continuing economic trouble. The leftists' solution has been to nationalize foreign investments.

Whoever directs the government of Ceylon in the future, the United Left-wing looks like an important factor.

BATTLE OF THE EXPERTS

Communist Nations Bogged Down In Big Race Of 'Isms'

EDITOR'S NOTE — No wonder the Soviet and Chinese Communists can't get along — they're bogged down in "confusionism" over revisionism in their own factories. What's one commie's progressivism is another's deviationism.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The United States trails to a shocking degree in one cold war aspect—the "ism" lag.

The United States has a handful of isms to its credit—capitalism, for example. Once in a while a politician comes up with a malarkey term. Once in a while a new ism is invented in the West—like existentialism. But the western heart doesn't seem to be in the game.

Now take the communists. They have isms to burn. In any ism contest, they would win hands down. And sometimes they even understand their own isms, or let on they do.

That's why the Communists claim to understand what the Soviet-Chinese battle is all about. They know their isms. A non-Communist type of mind would be staggered by what appeared Nov. 16 in Red Flag, a Communist Chinese newspaper.

It said: "All Communists must work hard to raise their ability to distinguish Marxism-Leninism from revisionism, to distinguish the way of opposing dogmatism with revisionism under the cover of opposing dogmatism, and to distinguish the way of opposing sectarianism with proletarian internationalism from that of opposing proletarian internationalism with great-nation chauvinism and narrow nationalism under the cover of opposing sectarianism."

Any Communist can tell you that if you don't dig that, you've simply "lost touch with the masses."

Communists find the ism a handy instrument. They can, for example, quickly make an adjective out of any ism just by changing "ism" to "ist." This way they can call opponents an almost limitless number of bad names and stay within the rules of the game.

Not all isms are bad. Marxism, to a Communist, is one of the best isms. Revisionism, these days, is pretty bad. On the whole, most isms are bad.

Early isms were both good and bad.

There were basic isms, like capitalism, colonialism, fascism, imperialism, finance imperialism, economic imperialism and so forth—all bad. There were marxism, dialectical materialism, economic determinism, democratic centralism, communism, war communism, bolshevism and leninism, all of them good. There was socialism, too. This was good, if socialism meant bolshevism, but if it meant the sort of socialism practiced by benighted reformers in the West, that was very bad, indeed.

The Stalin era brought a new crop of isms. Mostly, they were bad. There were anti-Stalinist isms like Trotskyism, Bukharinism and Zinovievism. A lot of Communist leaders were taken suddenly dead in the Stalin era and had the dubious honor of having isms named after them, like Traicho Kostovism (Bulgarian) and Laszlo Rakjism (Hungarian). Many of these isms were hanged. They were rehabilitated under Khrushchevism, a Khrushchev way of saying, "Oops! Our mistake."

Isms played an important part in the Chinese-Soviet battle. There were capitalismism, revisionism, modern revisionism (Khrushchev's type, according to the Chinese), deviationism, right-wing deviationism, left-wing deviationism, creative Marxism-Leninism (which means that if Marx ism gets in the way, invent a de-tour) maoism, anti-dogmatism, doctrinarism.

If you believed Communists should try for power through elections, the Chinese held you guilty of parliamentarianism. If you were really stubborn about it, you committed parliamentary cretinism.

If you were a Soviet who wasn't ready to defend Red China, you committed open doctrim. If you were a German who disliked Communists in East Germany, you were, said the Soviets, guilty of revanchism.

You might commit utopianism, which means you want miracles, all of a sudden. If you line up with one group or another, you commit factionalism, also called fractionalism. If you listen to a democratic socialist, you are a reform-

Indonesians Prefer To Flex Muscles

By TONY ESCODA
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The 35-foot statue atop Jakarta's newest monument shows a muscular man, shattered chains dangling from his upraised arms. The man is Indonesia and the broken shackles betoken the bonds of colonialism.

This is the image of itself Indonesia wants to project, as it celebrates today the 15th anniversary of its declaration of independence from the Dutch. That declaration plunged this arc-shaped chain of islands into more than four years of intermittent warfare and led to the United States of Indonesia. The blood spilled for freedom has led at least some people here to feel a touch of scorn for Asian neighbors such as the Philippines and Malaysia. In the words of one Indonesian, these countries had their independence "handed to them on a silver platter" by the United States and Britain.

Today this country of 100 million people boasts the largest standing army in Southeast Asia—400,000 men with modern weapons, including guided missiles. This military force provides the muscle which President Sukarno's guided democracy has flexed from time to time in pursuing its policy of neutralism.

Sukarno's tactics, at least once, have paid off handsomely on his terms. The disputed territory of West New Guinea became the Indonesian province of West Irian May 1.

Sukarno said Indonesia poured 70 per cent of its "national potential and ability" into the military buildup which it used chiefly to confront the Dutch during five years of the West Irian crisis.

The burden includes a debt of close to $1 million for weapons obtained over the years from the Soviet bloc on credit.

The result: A further heavy strain on Indonesia's economy. Inflation has pushed many consumer goods out of the reach of the man in the street. A laborer, when he works, may earn the equivalent of a nickel a day.

There is nothing approaching starvation in this potentially rich agricultural country. But there are shortages. A million tons of rice has to be imported each year.

The government has turned to the West, particularly the United States, for financial assistance. This is under discussion in the American Congress. A proposed amendment to the foreign aid bill would omit this country unless President Kennedy feels such aid is vital to U.S. interests.

Some scientists believe tekites, dark, glassy pebbles scattered over the globe, are chips off the moon or fragments of a long-lost exploded planet. Others say they were formed on earth.

ist (a bad name) or a petty bourgeois reformist (a much worse name).

You can easily commit functionalism. This means, when you're sent to do a job, you do only that job and don't look around for other things to do. Or hooliganism, meaning swing wild and care not.

Suppose you sided with the Soviets in the ideological war with the Chinese. Peking said you committed splittism, or even modern divisionism.

The Yugoslaves put their finger on a brand new ism. These Chinese, said the Yugoslav Communist party, are up to something which might be called "international desolidarizationism."

Junior Editors Quiz on MUSIC

QUESTION: Is a glockenspiel only played in a band?

ANSWER: "Glockenspiel" comes from the German "glocke" or bell, and "spiel," to play. Bells were among the earliest musical instruments, used in China by 600 B. C. and introduced into England in the 7th Century A. D. They were used in celebrations, as warnings, and in churches, yet were also appreciated for the pure beauty of their sound. Groups of "bell ringers" often went around to play Christmas carols, one ringer to each bell.

Soon, bells were arranged as in (A) so that one performer could play tunes from a group of bells each having a different note. In the early 1700's Dutch bell makers substituted metal bars for the glockenspiel bells. In our time, most of us are familiar with the "bell lyra" or glockenspiel mounted on an upright lyre-shaped frame which gives such a gay sound when played in a band.

Composers of classical music, however, often wrote for the glockenspiel. We show the kind of glockenspiel used with an orchestra, the upper row having sharps and flats like a piano. Wagner wrote a famous passage for glockenspiel in the fire scene of "Die Walkure."

FOR YOU TO DO: Get eight glasses, some smaller and some bigger, and make a home glockenspiel by tapping them lightly with a wooden stick. Arrange them in a scale. The smaller ones will have a higher note. You can tune them by pouring in water—this will lower the tone. Then start playing tunes.

(Monica Malkowitz of Wellington, N. J. wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, and you may win a set too.)

Regime Turns Attention To Farm Cooperative Movement

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration, rebuffed in its efforts for production control programs, is turning more and more to the farm cooperative movement.

But farm leaders and politicians say legislation may be required to make the cooperatives more effective. They also cite a shortage of well trained managers as another reason for the somewhat disappointing performance of the marketing and purchasing cooperatives.

Evidence of the administration's new tack was provided recently by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman. In a policy statement, he said his department will do all within its power to strengthen the economic hand of farmers through the co-ops.

The utterance came after wheat growers rejected the administration's program for reducing surpluses while maintaining farm income through tight production controls. About the same time producers of potatoes and turkeys indicated they do not favor government marketing controls aimed at shoring up their incomes.

Ideally, cooperatives serve two purposes. They increase the farmer's income by negotiating better prices for his product. And they cut his costs by providing cheaper farm and home merchandise through bulk and discount buying.

But latest reports show that farm cooperatives market about $10 billion worth of farm products a year, less than one fourth of the total.

Recent figures show about 9,000 farm marketing and purchasing cooperatives claim to represent about 7.2 million members. The latter figure contains many duplications—that is, one farmer belonging to more than one cooperative.

Cooperatives are now pretty well confined to dairying and specialty crops, especially fruits, vegetables, rice and nuts. They operate to some extent in the production and marketing of cotton, poultry, livestock, wool and mohair, dry beans and peas, other grains, tobacco, and sugar products.

But their sphere of influence is not very large in the marketing of larger crops and livestock. This is due mainly to limited membership and such questions as the legal authority of cooperatives to regulate marketings of specific regional or national crops for the purpose of influencing prices. Antitrust legislation may be required to clarify their authority.

But any move to broaden the marketing powers of cooperatives undoubtedly would meet strong opposition on congress, particularly from business groups.

Mother Defending Young Map Maker

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Thirty-one home-made maps of nearby Taylor Lake Village, at 10 cents each, brought 11-year-old Cathleen Wakeland a profit of $3.10 after she discovered that sightseers will pay for maps showing the homes of the nation's astronauts.

But they also got her in trouble with the law, represented by City Marshal A. A. (Red) Lancon. Lancon put a stop to the sale. He said he did it to protect the privacy of the astronauts.

Cathleen, undaunted, is making a new batch of the maps, with the full backing of her mother, Mrs. W. R. Wakeland.

"Newspaper reporters, television cameramen and radio men come out here," Mrs. Wakeland said. "There is a steady stream of sightseers. Yet Cathleen is told she can't sell maps."

"I've told her that if anyone objects to her selling the maps, she should tell them the astronauts know that's part of the price they pay for being famous individuals," Mrs. Wakeland said. "And she can tell the city marshal to come see me."

"People come in and drive through the area looking at all the houses. They don't know which houses belong to the astronauts. They often ask the kids. And the kids sometimes send them on wild goose chases."

Mrs. Wakeland said few sightseers try to intrude on the astronauts.

"Most of them just want to go by and see the houses and maybe take a few pictures," she said. Cathleen said sightseers spend more time in the area when they have to hunt for the homes of the astronauts than they do when guided by her maps.

She said there are no names on the houses or in the yards now that city postal delivery has replaced rural-type mail boxes.

"My maps are made by hand," Cathleen said. "I use a ruler but no carbon paper or mimeograph machine. I use colored and lead pencils, map out the village on white paper, write in the street names and color and label circles marking the homes of the astronauts."

"I've also fixed up a sign inviting motorists to buy the maps. All I have to do is set up a chair and each table by the village entrance and wait for the sightseers to come along."

Travis twirlers will be Sharlot Rose, Linda Schattel, Barbara Banks, and Diane Lehman. Karen Burton will be the alternate.

The twirlers at Lamar will be Kathy Keller, Janice Cushmanbury, Linda Hall, Barbara Stevens and Leta Ewing. Diane Clemons was named as alternate.

Jerry Pickens is band director at Travis and Don Eiring directs the Lamar band.

BAND MARCHING PRACTICE SET

A call has been issued to sophomore band students at Snyder High School to report for marching practice at 8 a. m. Monday.

Band director Melvin Montgomery said upper classmen who are new members of the band, also have been asked to report for the marching practice sessions.

The sessions will be conducted from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m. daily, except on Thursday of the coming week.

Caution On Control Of Weeds Urged

The County Agriculture Agent warns producers to follow closely the directions on the labels when using weed control chemicals.

Agent reports having received numerous calls concerning Decimate or DSMA as a weed and grass control spray.

Decimate is an arsenic compound used in the control of weeds and grass in cotton. According to the label this material may be applied to cotton from 3 inches high until boll forming stages. It should not be used after boll-forming begins because the product has not been approved by the Flood and Drug Administration for this type of application as yet.

There has not been sufficient evidence presented to the F. D. A. at this time for over the top cotton application of the material to give it an unqualified recommendation. Further research is needed to show that arsenic will or will not accumulate in the seed of the plant. If arsenic will accumulate in the seed and gets into consumer channels this will result in condemnation of some seed. It has also been reported that arsenic will affect germination. This would certainly be detrimental to the planting seed business. Further information is needed before these questions can be answered.

The Agent points out that recommendations for the use of Decimate after boll forming begins cannot be made, neither is it to say that it cannot be used. The producers must decide whether they wish to take a chance on this material at this time. The producer will be responsible for the application and for the final result, since the company so states that "the seller makes no warranty expressed or implied on the use of the product."

School Head Is Picketed

CHICAGO (AP)—Racial demonstrators, who have been protesting installation of mobile classrooms at a South Side location, have turned their attention to Benjamin C. Willis, Chicago's school superintendent.

About 25 pickets carrying signs, Thursday night marched in front of a North Side apartment building where Willis lives. Frank M. Whitson, a board member who lives in the building, also was a target of the pickets.

Earlier Thursday, about 30 hymn-singing clergymen marched at the mobile classroom site on the South Side that has become a focus point of protests against school policies. Several were Negroes.

The Rev. Phillip M. Driggs, of the Ogden Park Methodist Church, said the clergymen were trying to show that responsible members of the community feel the mobile units constitute furtherance of the de facto segregation.

Policemen remained in the area, where one of 18 mobile classrooms being readied for school opening was damaged by fire. Authorities said they were checking a possibility it was arson.

Veteran Attorney Dies In Albany

ALBANY, Tex. (AP)—Andrew M. Howsley, 62, a veteran Texas oilman and Albany attorney, died Friday after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. in Albany's First Methodist Church.

Howsley once served as vice president and general counsel of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

He was a partner in the oil producing firm of Howsley and Jacobs, operating primarily in the West Central Texas region.

He is survived by his widow, the former Mozelle Fancher of Seymour, and one daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Jacobs, and one son, Mr. Howsley Jacobs, all of Albany.

North Texas Cities Eye Sea

By PEGGY SIMPSON

FORT WORTH (AP)—This is jet age but insiders know the key to massive city growth is a water route.

Water routes built such cities as New York, Chicago, Detroit, New Orleans, St. Louis, San Francisco and Houston. Water routes have kept them big.

No one knows this better than leaders of two handicapped cities, Fort Worth and Dallas.

These cities, with sweat and struggle, built themselves enviable industrial and business strength.

For a century or more the city leaders have longed for and talked about the sea.

Their envy grew enormous when Houston cut a path to the ocean and blossomed.

The North Texas cities finally faced up to the hard facts of ecology and turned themselves into prairie ports. To do this they must bring the ocean 370 miles inland.

Can Dallas and Fort Worth do it, using only the sometimes tiny trickle of water that is the Trinity River?

They say they're going to do just that.

A new element has entered the transportation picture. The nation developed 25,000 miles of routes whereby barges can travel between cities without the dangers of ocean storms.

This last spring, a tiny aluminum boat named the Trinity Belle caught the imagination of the 100 or so cities and towns in the Trinity basin.

With a token cargo, a four-man crew struck out from the coast to blaze the trail for barges of the future.

They dodged dangerous shoals and ducked around or over logjams. And they talked about how they'd shown the Trinity is capable of more.

This trip was just a stunt, of course. Serious barge travel is eight to 10 years away, even by the most optimistic talk.

Then there is the matter of $911 million the plan will cost. It is the largest chunk of cash ever seriously proposed for a Texas project.

Congress must first approve the plan. Then it must appropriate the money.

Two thick walls have been breached. The Corps of Engineers recommended the Trinity plan, and the Texas Water Commission approved it.

Such a 370-mile ditch would open for Dallas and Fort Worth a protected water route 25,000 miles long.

There is more to the plan than just the ditch. It is an integrated program with these residual benefits:

A 100-year supply of drinking and industrial water for 2.2 million Texans within the Trinity watershed, flood control and a recreational paradise.

Local governments will pay a small part of the cost, but even a small part is huge. Under U. S. law, the federal government is obligated to finance the waterway itself.

Texas has talked about this canal for nearly a century. A new sense of urgency propelled the current drive through red tape and more than 20 public hearings in six years.

Dallas and Fort Worth form the nation's largest population area without access to a waterway.

The real blow came when the cities, centers of space age industries, learned the area's lack of a water route kept it from consideration for the giant Manned Spacecraft Center, which was established in Houston.

The inland cities look anxiously at bustling Houston and its deep sea channel. They look enviously at Tulsa as that Oklahoma City breaks ground for its own waterway via the Arkansas River.

Many of the most interested proponents live in the 100 or so modest communities stretched out between Houston and Fort Worth. They have about the same natural advantages as the upper and lower city complexes. Fortune and industry largely have bypassed them. They remain agricultural in character.

Perhaps they have the most to gain. They hope for skyrocketing industry, needing only a navigable waterway as a launching pad.

Already, towns like Ennis are reaching out miles to annex riverbank land and assure themselves of port status.

The 370 miles along the proposed canal may or may not emerge as an industrial strip. But the prospect has given the project an extremely broad base of local support. For instance, more than 400 barges showed up at the recent Texas Water Commission hearing in Austin.

Can the muddy, trickling Trinity really become navigable? An emphatic "yes" comes from the Corps of Engineers.

Col. F. P. Koehn of Fort Worth, district engineer, says he has "absolutely no doubt" that the project will be completed.

The Engineers say their studies show there actually is sufficient water, but it comes in spurts. The Trinity project will level out the extremes and steady the water supply.

Barges will be lowered and raised by stairsteps of locks similar to those of the Panama Canal.

Will the project get past paperwork?

The supporters say they have no doubts. The railroads and certain West Texas cities hope it will not.

Congress toyed with the project once before. It shelved it in 1941, months before Pearl Harbor.

The railroads vigorously oppose the canal. Such isn't always the case elsewhere. In Oklahoma, for example, one railroad has gone so far as to apply for a barge permit on the Arkansas River canal.

Many people believe the case for a canal to North Texas is so dramatically clearcut that Congress can hardly ignore it.

Just when is another question. The Trinity Improvement Association, able and vocal private organization backing the project, has set 1964 as target date for breaking ground.

Then watch their dust, say the advocates.

Yankees Up Lead In American League

By MIKE RATH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees, with another American League pennant just about wrapped up have to contend in a race that's still wide open—the battle for Rookie of the Year honors between the club's Pete Ward and Milwaukee's Jimmie Hall.

Ward hit his 16th homer Friday night, but the White Sox fell 4-2 before the Yankees, who broke loose in the ninth on homers by Tom Tresh, Hector Lopez and Clete Boyer after being shutout on four hits for eight innings by Jim Pizarro.

Hall belted his 21st homer and a double while driving in three runs in a 7-5 triumph over Washington that moved the Twins past the White Sox into second place nine games back of the Yankees. The White Sox are 9½ behind.

Ward, a 23-year-old left-handed swinger, is hitting .279 with 64 runs batted in and was the front runner until August.

Since then Hall, a 25-year-old who also bats left, has been breaking. In his last 15 games, he has hit at a .336 clip with eight homers and 22 runs driven in, lifting his average to .300 points to .261 and bringing his RBI total to 38.

Baltimore edged Kansas City 4-3 behind Stu Miller's sharp relief pitching. Boston used homers by Carl Yastrzemski, Lu Clinton and Roman Mejias to forge a 7-4 decision over Cleveland and the Los Angeles Angels handed Phil Rizzuto his first defeat in two months by downing Detroit 9-6.

The National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers, tripped the New York Mets 9-7. Louis Crush shut out Pittsburgh 3-0. Milwaukee edged Houston 3-2 and Cincinnati defeated Chicago 4-2 after the Cubs took the opener of a 10-inning 10-1.

Pizarro, 147, went into the ninth with a 2-0 lead but on an unearned run and Ward's homer off Yankee starter Willie Stargatz. Yankees catcher Phil Rizzuto then Tresh hit his 20th homer, Elton Howard walked, Loper connected for No. 13 and Boyer wrapped it up with his 12th homer in an 8-2 victory.

Two-run homer in the third, then doubled in another run in the sixth. Don Lock and Dick Phillips homered for the Senators.

Home runs by Mantilla and Clinton staked the Red Sox to a 4-1 lead in the first inning against Jack Kraick, and Yastrzemski connected in a three-run sixth that seemed to put Boston safely out front. But the Indians closed the gap on home runs by John Romano and Larry Brown.

Regan, 87, took over for the Tigers in the seventh after they had tied the score 6-6. A double by Albie Pearson, Jim Fregosi's bunt single and a single by Billy Moran broke the tie in the bottom of the inning and the Angels added two more runs, on a run-producing single by Leon Wagner and Bob Sadowski's sacrifice fly.

Candy Spots Favorite In Travers

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Candy Spots, favorite money winning horse of the year, goes after his seventh rich stakes today as the 73-year-old in the 94th running of the $75,000-added Travers.

One of the largest crowds in the country, is expected for the summit meeting of the Big Three consisting of Rex Felling's Candy Spots, John W. Galbreath's Chateaugay and Harry F. Guggenheim's Never Bend. Chateaugay was 2-1 and Never Bend 3-1 in the early odds.

Three others were entered for the 1 1/2-mile Travers, which decided the 3-year-old title last year when George D. Widener's Jai-pur nosed out JGW Stable's Riddan. They are Cretwell, also owned by Widener, Mrs. A. J. Giordano's Hot Dust, and Louis Lee Haggin II's Choker.

Candy Spots finished third in the Kentucky Derby, won by Chateaugay but then took the Preakness. Favored again in the Belmont, Candy Spots ran second to Chateaugay. Never Bend was second in the Derby, third in the Preakness as Chateaugay was runner-up, and skipped the Belmont with a bad ankle.

With six starters the Travers will gross $81,400, the winner getting $25,000. That would send Candy Spots' earnings to $806,100.

Willie Shoemaker rides Candy Spots, who carries 126 pounds and co Chateaugay, and Never Bend, with Manuel Ycaza up.

Pro Football Doubleheader In Cleveland

By The Associated Press
Cleveland's Municipal Stadium, which has had a somewhat deserted look for baseball this summer, may strain under the weight of upwards of 80,000 fans Saturday night for a doubleheader—in pro football.

Prospects are better than average for an all-time Cleveland crowd as the Detroit Lions play the New York Giants and the Cleveland Browns face the Baltimore Colts in a pair of National Football League exhibition games.

All 67,000 reserved seats have been sold and 13,000 unreserved seats and some standing room tickets will go on sale 2½ hours before the first game starts at 6:30 p.m. EDT. The Cleveland football record is 82,872, set by the Browns and the Giants in a regular season NFL game in 1960.

The big doubleheader, a repeat of an attraction that drew 77,683 last year, is the feature of a packed Saturday pro football exhibition program. Four other games are scheduled, with Green Bay at Dallas and Minnesota at Los Angeles in the NFL, and Kansas City vs. Oakland at Seattle and San Diego at Denver in the AFL.

The heavy weekend program was kicked off Friday night with three games. In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals made their preseason debut, a happy one, edging the San Francisco 49ers at Salt Lake City, 24-22; and the Pittsburgh Steelers whipped the Philadelphia Eagles 24-13 at Bethlehem, Pa. In the lone AFL game, the Buffalo Bills overpowered the New York Jets at Buffalo, 23-8.

Good Fishing In Sight At Lake Thomas

Lake J. B. Thomas should provide excellent fishing during the next few months, according to the Game and Fish Commission.

Over 30 per cent of a sample recently secured by the commission at Lake Thomas were excellent game fish of keeper size, said Henry Burkett, San Angelo, regional director. He said that general condition of these fish indicated rapid growth. This was particularly true of the yellow cat and channel catfish. There was an abundance of smaller game fish, and Burkett added that white bass should be running by September and white crappie fishing should be good in the autumn.

In running nets recently, commission agents found a good ratio of game and forage fish to rough fish. For instance, there were 16 carp, an undesirable rough fish, caught in the nets. On the other hand there were 24 crappie, 123 shad (a forage fish), 22 yellow cat weighing 142 pounds and ranging from 2 to 21 pounds, 28 channel cat, 5 large mouth bass (running around four pounds each), 8 white bass about 1½ pounds each, and 9 bluegills.

Doug James To Coach In Coleman

Doug James, a 1955 graduate of Snyder High School, has been named junior high coach and a social studies teacher in Coleman, Texas. He was elected in a special session of the Coleman School Board Thursday.

James will succeed Grady Stiles, who was elevated to a post as line coach for Coleman High School. Kenneth West, former line coach, resigned to accept a post at Brownwood.

James attended McClure College, and is married to the former Nancy Ingram of Abilene. They have one son, Rusty Lee.

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm James of 1012 Twenty-seventh Street in Snyder. A brother, Robert, who graduated from Snyder High School in 1956, will be coaching in Temple High School.

Wright Gets Hole-In-One

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Mickey Wright boomed a 222-yard hole-in-one and toured the long and tough Paradise Hills Country Club course in three-under-par 69 Friday for the first-round lead in the $10,000, 36-hole Albuquerque Swing Parade Women's Golf Tournament.

The 69 gave her a two-stroke edge over Peggy Wilson, a former Austin, Tex., physical education instructor who slipped around the course in obscurity.

"It wasn't a very spectacular round," long-hitting Mickey commented afterward, "I struggled until the 16th."

It was there that she belted a two-iron shot which bounced twice and rolled about four feet into the hole. Mickey and her gallery did not know it was in because the cup was out of sight behind a mound on the green.

Two others scored in even par with Jackie Pung. Pung, bitan, led the back nine in 34 for her 72 while Lucille Wardell did it in the conservative 36-36 manner.

Tables Turned In Davis Cup Play

By JAMES BACON
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mexico, underdog before play started, goes into Saturday's doubles match of American Zone Davis Cup competition as a solid favorite—proving that a difference a scorching day—and Rafael Osuna—can make.

The handsome Osuna Wimbledon champ Chuck McKinley on Friday 6-2, 3-6, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3. That gave Mexico a 1-1 split with the United States as Dennis Ralston easily bested Mexico's Antonio Palafox 6-1, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Around the Los Angeles Tennis Club, McKinley had been regarded as a sure winner over Osuna—although the Mexican, a student at the University of Southern California, calls the club his home court.

The Mexican doubles team of Osuna and Palafox is the 1963 Wimbledon champion and must rate as favorites over McKinley and Ralston.

Nominations for the doubles are made an hour before the match but it is assumed that both captains will name their first stringers.

If the Mexicans win, the deciding match will be the opening singles Sunday afternoon when Osuna meets Ralston.

Should Osuna win—he is favored—then the final singles between McKinley and Palafox would be meaningless.

All Arkansas Home Games Near Sellouts

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas appeared on the way to sellouts of all its home football games this fall.

No tickets are available for the Arkansas-Missouri and Arkansas-Texas games at Little Rock and they are months away. Only end zone seats are left for Arkansas-Oklahoma State and Arkansas-Texas A&M, also at Little Rock.

Three games will be played in Fayetteville. Only east side seats are available for Arkansas-TCU and Arkansas-Texas Tech are "well down the line."

For Championships

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—For the second straight year, the team title of the National AAU Senior Women's Swimming and Diving Championships is going down to the final events as a two-way battle between a pair of California giants, the Los Angeles AC and the Santa Clara Swim Club.

Going into today's final events, the defending champion Los Angeles crew led by the 1964 women's Olympic coach Peter Daland, holds a slender one-point lead over its Northern California rival.

Libel Suit Should Go To Jury Monday

ATLANTA (AP)—The trial of Wallace Butts' $10-million libel suit against the Saturday Evening Post is expected to go to the jury on Monday.

An attorney for Butts argued before a federal court jury Friday that the Post ruined Butts' reputation with charges that he rigged a football game.

Butts is suing Curtis Publishing Co. for a March 23 article charging that he and Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama rigged the 1962 Georgia-Alabama football game.

Welborn B. Cody, Curtis attorney, told the jury Butts had not lived up to the standard of conduct required of him as coach and later as athletic director.

Baptists Set Conference

WACO (AP)—Meetings of the Baptist World Alliance executive committee at Baylor University, Aug. 19-23 are expected to attract about 135 representatives of 13 countries.

The conferees will work Monday through Wednesday in a series of study commission meetings. Annual business sessions of the executive committee will be held Wednesday through Friday.

Dr. Josef Nordenhaug, general secretary of the Baptist world alliance, said the executive committee will have a "full" agenda but he did not indicate the nature of business to be discussed.

Among those expected to attend is Harold Stassen of Philadelphia, president of the American Baptist Conference.

The Baptist World Alliance is an international fellowship organization representing more than 25 million Baptists in 135 countries.

THE HALL OF FREE ENTERPRISE being erected for the 1964-65 New York World's Fair, is the first exhibit ever built to dramatize the benefits of free enterprise.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

SAN CRISTOBAL, Mexico — Dad, it's cold outside. And it is practically freezing inside for that matter. The thermometer in my room at the Hotel Espanana says 60 degrees F. but this is a big bit. I keep a sharp lookout for snow storms that might sail through the transtorm while I am tossing another log on the fire.

San Cristobal de las Casas is the oldest Spanish-type city in the State of Chiapas. It is more than 7,000 feet up in the green, pine-studded mountains and nobody ever suffers a heat stroke here.

Early this morning in Tuxtla Gutierrez I perspired copiously in a flimsy shirt while sitting in the shade swilling an ice-filled lemonade.

The trip by road is spectacular and winds up more than 6,000 feet in something like 50 miles.

But what with the chronometric ticking away, I hired me a Cessna 180 and hopped over in less than half an hour.

We landed on a smooth, grassy field and a collection of Indians from a half dozen tribes watched us the way they would gaze at a cow walking across a pasture. Bundled in thick, woolen blankets and undisturbed by such foolishness as flying machines.

The State of Chiapas has eleven different languages which are more or less official. And according to the figures of the National Indian Institute, about 90 per cent of the Indians do not catch the conversation unless they belong to the same tribe.

For your edification, they speak Spanish, Tzeltal, Tzeltal, Zoque, Tzeltal, Chol, Chontal, Mam, Quiche, Lacandon and Nahuatl. The Institute investigators are currently checking up on a Cakchiquel community so maybe it's twelve languages.

The big municipal market is filled every morning with Indians from the various tribes trek in barelegged and blanketed to bring their wares. Maybe they deal with one another in sign language.

They are generally camera shy unless you have a five pound bill in sight. Then you get a cooperative smile and the angle you prefer.

The city of San Cristobal has a short population but sprawls across a green valley walled by the pine slopes of mountains. Streets are full of Zinacanteas, Chamulas and an assortment of other Indians.

After touring around to be sure none of the 400-year-old churches and buildings had been trimmed with neon lights, I checked in at the Hotel Espana. And started some neat going in the ancient but effective fireplace in my room.

The maids keep a woodbox filled for you and bring more logs when you get to shivering. So sitting there in my sheepskin coat with the fire roaring, I could scarcely suppress a chuckle at the idea of summer heat and air conditioning up home.

After a while I stuck my hands in the fleece-lined pockets and ventured out to visit the shops.

San Cristobal has a number of places where you can buy native items at very reasonable prices. Everything from trunks, hats and blankets to machetes and fiber or leather bags to carry merchandise in. Colorful locally made cloths and unusual cloths.

The indigenous gentlemen made a strong effort to explain all these languages to me. In Tzeltal, water is "Ha." Water being the most complicated thing I could grasp. The Pantelno's say "Ho" for water. In Chamula it is "Vyo." And the Mitonics call "Wo." If a Mitonic says, "Wo is me," it probably means he was caught in a heavy rain.

You have to be very alert with this variety of languages. For if I should ask somebody in Tzeltal what time my Cessna will be ready to leave, I may miss it in Tzeltal.

TOP TV TONIGHT

By BUD EVANS

9-00 NBC "Show of the Week" Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Greer Garson and Lois Nettleton are starred in "The Shadowed Affair," an original love story with a strange background. Set in sophisticated New York literary world, the focal characters are a prize winning novelist, a young magazine reporter who comes to interview him and the novelist's emotionally disturbed wife. COLOR.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS
12-25 CBS "Game of the Week" again covers the challenging San Francisco Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals.

12-30 NBC "Major League Baseball" The New York Yankees continue their series with the Chicago White Sox.

5-00 CBS "Twentieth Century" presents the award-winning documentary about the freeing of a group of Peruvian Indians, after centuries of bondage, by an American anthropologist who taught them self respect and how to run their hacienda.

6-30 NBC "Walt Disney" Professor Ludwig Von Drake lectures on "Inside Outer Space," spanning such subjects as man's past attempts to reach the moon, future space tourists, what the well-dressed space traveler should wear, cocktail hour in space and whether or not the moon is made of green cheese. COLOR.

7-00 CBS "Ed Sullivan" Joan Sutherland, Della Reese and Stan Kenton top the guest list of the show taped earlier this season.

8-00 CBS "The Ed Sullivan Show" cording star Matt Monro, singing "Georgia on My Mind"; Norman and Dean, comedy team; Bob Bramson, hoop act; Thelma Lee, comedienne; Charles Carroll, slapstick clown; and the Gimma Brothers, acrobatic tumblers.

Only Memories At Hal Roach Studio

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—All the props and supplies have been auctioned off. Soon the bulldozers will do their work and nothing will be left of the Hal Roach Studios but memories.

"It's a shame," says Stan Laurel. "Who would ever have thought that it would happen?"

Stan, a driving member of the great comedy team of Laurel and Hardy, has plenty of memories and he lives surrounded by them in an apartment overlooking the Santa Monica Bay.

There are cartoons and posters of Stan and Ollie in their prime. Stan's honorary Oscar stands—ironically—on the television set. Above his desk is a signed portrait of President Kennedy, which came to Stan after he was given the Oscar.

The veteran comedian strays little from the apartment. A stroke a few years ago paralyzed his side and he moves with some difficulty.

He lives quietly with his Russian-born wife, answering correspondence and receiving a few friends and fellow workers. When I paid a call, three comedians were leaving—Dick Brown and Martin, Gary Morton and Jack Carter.

Despite his incapacity, Stan is bright and cheerful, and his hearty laugh sometimes resounds through the room. He was able to laugh despite his sadness at the passing of Roach Studios.

"We had a lot of fun there," he reflected. "Hal and I used to have our fights. You see, I was a 'no' man.

"Hal would say, 'You know what I mean,' and I would say, 'No, I don't know what you mean.'"

The comedy team finally left Roach in 1940 and went on to make features at 20th Century-Fox.

"During none of their career did they receive a share of the profits. Hence when television brought their greatest fame, they received only the glory and none of the money that was coined from reruns of their comedies.

TV Shows Go In For Integration

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A survey of the fall season's television programming discloses that viewers will be seeing more racial integration.

Mildred of continuing pressures from Negro organizations, producers, appear to be planning greater employment of Negroes, both in speaking roles and atmosphere players.

Some shows are being written about matters of race.

A recently filmed "Ben Casey" segment concerns a Negro baseball star, played by Sammy Davis Jr., who requires an operation to save his sight. Dr. Casey (Vincent Edwards) comes into conflict with a white-hating neurosurgeon who is Negro.

"I was thrilled with the script," said Davis. "Intolerance should be attacked, no matter which side it is on."

CBS' historical series, "Great Adventure," has filmed a drama titled "Go down, Moses." It concerns the underground railroad of pre-Civil War days and stars Ethel Waters, Ruby Dee and Brock Peters.

Several new series have cast Negroes in continuing roles. A hospital show, "Breaking Point," will feature a dietician played by Virginia Capers. "Mr. Novak," concerning life in a big city high school, will have Vince Howard as a history teacher. Bob Williams will be a factory cut-up in "The New Phil Silvers Show."

Amanda Randolph continues as maid for the Danny Thomas (am. ly.)

David Janssen as "The Fugitive" has filmed a show in which he takes a job as handler of a prizefighter, played by James Edwards. Ruby Lee also is in the cast.

Torrential Rains Hit Kyushu Island

TOKYO (AP)—Torrential rains lashed Japan's Kyushu Island Friday night, leaving five dead and three persons missing, police said.

Police said 329 persons lost their homes and 828 houses were flooded. Railway and bus services were disrupted by landslides and floods.

GREETED IN BELGRADE — PFC John M. Roberson, above, was greeted with shouts of "Long Live the Americans," when the Seventh U. S. Army Support Command's 8th Evacuation Hospital landed in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, late in July. Roberson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Roberson of Snyder. The hospital is the first American military unit to visit Yugoslavia since World War II. Roberson and other members of the 254-man unit are providing victims of the earthquake disaster at Skopje with emergency medical relief.

Hermligh Is Set For School Term

HERMLEIGH — Hermligh Independent School District has set its teacher orientation for the 1963-64 term for 9 a.m. Aug. 26 in the high school auditorium. Supt. Ted Averitt has announced. All bus drivers will meet at 1 p.m. the same date in the superintendent's office.

School will begin for all students at 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 27, in a general assembly in the high school auditorium. All buses will run at 2:30 on the first day of school. All first grade parents have been urged to attend an important meeting on the opening day of school at 9 a.m. in Mrs. Cliff's room.

White Lightning Fades From Scene

By NORMAN RICHARDSON, Shreveport Times Staff Writer
MAHSHALL, Tex. (AP) — It's getting so a man can hardly make a dishonest gallon of whisky in Texas anymore.

Government agents slowly are winning the war against the moonshiners, bootleggers and white lightning boys. Using cars, planes, radios and some secret gadgets, the internal revenue agents — also called "feds" — have been driving the bootleggers and branch walkers — moonshiners — are destroying stills that flourish in the back woods of East Texas. That, of course, does not prevent new ones from being built.

The ancient art of distilling illegal booze still costs the government more than $100 million a year because each gallon of white-corn and tobacco Tax Division produced illegally means the loss of $10.50 in taxes. The Internal Revenue Service has pointed up one way of decreasing the flow of moonshine, it called it the "raw material squeeze."

Col. Kincaid Takes Course

James L. Kincaid of Snyder is a graduate of the distribution phase of the Associate Army Supply Management Course of the U. S. Army Reserve at Fort Lee, Va. The course was two weeks in length.

Kincaid, a petroleum engineer, manager in civilian life, is a lieutenant colonel with the 422nd Logistics Command in the U. S. Army Reserve. The Associate Army Supply Management Course is one of 14 offered at the Army Logistics Management Center. Other courses in the curriculum are in the areas of procurement, general supply, maintenance, surplus property disposal, requirements and distribution management.

Taylor Schools Set Integration Plan

TAYLOR (AP) — A grade-a-year integration plan will go into effect at the start of the 1964-65 school year here. The plan, calling for voluntary integration starting with the first grade, was unanimously adopted Thursday night by the school board. Taylor has about 300 to 400 Negro pupils and about 2,300 whites.

This squeeze long has applied to the sugar supply, a major ingredient in distilling. Now the agents are after the men who sell desperately-needed jars.

The bootleggers constantly moans about the shortage of containers for his product. One East Texas sheriff said, "Six years ago, every fourth or fifth drunk we picked up had some moonshine on him, but we haven't seen one in the past 12 months."

The sheriff adds, "Moonshining is on a low limb up here." A gallon of white lightning sells in the Louisiana-Texas-Arkansas area for $8 to $10 as compared to $2.50 a gallon in southern Mississippi, says Sheriff Earl Franklin.

Dwight Avis, director of the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division recently said more than 93 percent of the liquor violations occur in 14 Southern states, among them Texas where Harrison County with its 21 stills destroyed last year led the state.

In 1963, almost 20 stills have been knocked out, so this may be a peak year in Harrison County. Why so many in that county? "For one thing, it's the good water we have around here in this area of East Texas, plus the wooded areas for concealment," says Sheriff Franklin.

Other stills destroyed in East Texas last year included Marion County eight, Bowie two, Cass one, Nacogdoches one, Panola two, Smith three and Tarrant two. The spotters on planes look particularly for plumes of smoke where there should be none. Radios, particularly walky-talkies, help in precise timing in surrounding a still.

"It's easier to win a conviction if the moonshiners are caught in the act," Sheriff Franklin said. The revenue's job occasionally has its light moments. One recently told of a man who had been in the moonshine business for 50 years. He saw a newspaper report of a delicate chemical analysis that showed which ingredients give whiskys their distinctive taste.

The man, a Texan, wrote the research men a letter and wanted to buy "some of that bourbon flavor. I have the rye problem pretty well in hand." Such concern for taste is a little unusual in East Texas. Normally a moonshiner puts together cracked grain, sugar, water and yeast and waits for it to ferment. After five to seven days, the result is distilled. "The product sometimes runs from 90 to 100 proof," says Franklin.

Give Some Status To Indian Music

BY JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK — She may be fighting mad, but you'd better not suggest that Hote Casella, a half-Cherokee concert singer, is on the warpath. It makes Indians sound like savages, and that's one of the things she's stirred up about.

"I want to correct the erroneous impression of Indians as marauders, always attacking cowboys and settlers," says Hote (pronounced ho-tay).

"They have a wonderful culture; it's part of the American heritage and yet it's so played down. Our native art should be fostered, and on a professional basis."

By that she means no more of the wigwag, wampum-war-whoop approach, in which Indians act like Stone Age hillbillies.

"Hote is a tall, regal woman with a coronet of black braids. For concerts she lets her hair down, and puts on tribal regalia.

Her dark eyes flash in indignation when she talks about Indian culture.

"I'm sick of all that whoopee stuff," she sniffs. "The Russian Moiseyev troupe can come over and do folk dances on a professional scale. So why can't we have Indians performing their culture as art? Their dances should be choreographed, their songs should be on the concert stage.

"People in other countries are fascinated by the true American arts. So what Indian music do American groups take overseas? Ethnic type records. Not art. What are the only American Indian records found in the Library of Congress? Ethnic type records. Everybody seems to expect Indians to do things on an amateur basis, as on a reservation."

Indian music, Hote insists, compares favorably with other folk music.

There are songs of work and play, melodic love songs, so many lovely lullabies, songs to the wind, rain and sun. They are beautiful in the natural setting of the reservation, but they can be transported with professional know-how to the stage.

For years she has been doing her bit for the cause by interpreting Indian songs and legends on the concert stage. With a mezzo soprano voice that one ecstatic reviewer called "beautifully true and magnificent," with a power of such vivid description as was trained in German lieder as well as in French and Italian music. But Indian songs are her first love.

She has done promotional work on Indian films for motion picture studios. But she drew the line at "How the West Was Won."

"I don't know if I approve of it or not, considering whom the West was won from." She isn't smiling either, as she says it.

Born in Texas, the youngest of seven children, she was brought up in California. Her Indian name she thinks is appropriate: Ho-Ta-Ma-We, meaning Mocking Bird.

"I always wanted to be a singer," she says. "When I started to go to concerts I noticed that artists from other countries always included a group of their own folk music. I decided that was what I was going to do.

"At first on the concert stage I had an accompanist, but now I perform alone with drums and rattles. I've worked with symphony orchestras — New York's Little Orchestra Society, NBC Symphony, Saginaw, Mich., Symphony — and lately I've done a lot of work in schools where I correlate art in the stage settings with the music I sing."

At least one concert she plans for this fall will be given in New York's Town Hall, where she has appeared several times.

Once married, Hote wants to try matrimony again when the right man comes along. I'm not all career," she admits, and for a moment she doesn't sound mad about anything at all.

Furniture Washable

Are American homemakers "compulsive" housekeepers? Are they working too hard trying to clean wood furniture?

A series of questions compiled from adult study groups, by Home Furnishings Specialists at the University of Illinois indicate women worry more about cleaning furniture than other housekeeping details.

The answer, the group was told is so simple. Occasionally wash wood furniture with a mild soap or detergent. This advice was based on recommendations of nearly every important furniture finish producer.

Extensive research and development has gone into the perfection of wood furniture finishes that never need polishing.

ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dove of Ira have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Cheryl Kay, to Mr. Marlon McWilliams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollis McWilliams of Stephenville. Vows will be exchanged in the Ira Church of Christ on Sept. 6.

Tips On When Seclusion On To Pick Garage Roof Vegetables

When to pick their vegetables is one of the problems that often perplexes home gardeners. When are they at their very best? That is something else. Still, it isn't hard, says the Gardeners' Advisory Council. Here are a few tips that will come in handy.

Beans (snap or string): best when pods snap readily.

Beans (lima): pick while still green and end of pod is spongy.

Beets: small to medium ones are best. Large, rough roots likely to be tough and woody.

Broccoli: pick before the flowers show color, although an occasional opened flower does not mean overmaturity.

Cabbage: heads should be firm and heavy for their size.

Carrots: ready any time that roots are firm and brittle. Remove tops to preserve moisture and sugar in roots.

Celery: best when medium-sized, snap easily. If allowed to throw up seed stem, stalks are likely to be bitter.

Corn: sweetest just as silk blackens. Pick in afternoon and cook immediately.

Cucumbers: harvest before they lose their firm, crisp look. Yellowing indicates age.

Lettuce: use before seed stem appears, becomes bitter then.

Peas: lose sweetness and flavor early. Pick when pods are fairly well filled and bright green.

Peppers: best when mature, firm and of a good green color.

Radishes: use while still firm, before a slight squeeze shows them to be spongy or pithy.

Squash (Summer): harvest before shell hardens.

Squash (Winter): rings should be hard enough so they cannot be dug into readily with the finger nail.

Spinach: pick leaves while still crisp and tender, with no signs of yellowing.

Tomatoes: best when firm, vine ripened, and fully colored.

Turnips: dig when moderately large, firm, and heavy.

Seclusion On Garage Roof

If your garage or carport has a flat roof, this might be the perfect place to put a secluded sundeck.

The asphalt roofing of the flat-topped carport can be covered with wood decking to provide a cool, comfortable surface for the outdoor room. Using hardy Douglas fir lumber, build the decking in squares of four feet. Deck boards should be 2 x 4s, installed either on edge or flat; and run-ners underneath should be 4 x 4s to life the deck well away from the asphalt. The decking can be built in the home workshop, then transported to the rooftop.

The squares of decking will not be permanently attached to the rooftop, but rather will be movable. This permits easy removal for any needed future repairs to the roofing underneath.

Screens can also be added around the edge of this rooftop room to provide privacy or to control wind, and of course, an outside stairway will be needed to reach it.

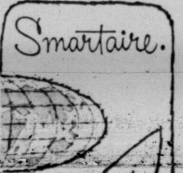

If you want to get sophisticated, add a garden to the rooftop sundeck with planter boxes of greens and flowers. Imitation river rock—actually lightweight plastic—can be also used to create gravel beds. The "rock" should be contained in shallow boxes and may be alternated with squares of decking for natural appearance.

Orange-Sugar Toast

2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening or cooking oil
8 slices enriched bread
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind

Combine beaten eggs, milk and salt in a pie pan. Melt shortening in a large skillet. Dip each bread slice into egg mixture, turning it to coat both sides. Brown in hot skillet on both sides. Combine sugar and orange rind. Sprinkle a teaspoon of this mixture over each slice of hot toast. Serve immediately.

MRS. JAMES ROBERT BROWN

Janet Mabel Bell Becomes Bride Of James R. Brown

Janet Mabel Bell of Lubbock became the bride of James Robert Brown of Ira in the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Lubbock on Saturday, Aug. 10.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. William S. Smith. The music was furnished by Miss Pat Crozier, organist, and Mrs. Joe Kelly, soloist. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Bell of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Jim W. Brown of Ira.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza over taffeta, featured a portrait neckline, encircled with scalloped re-embroidered alienon lace and studded with pearls. The same floral motif was around the edge of each bracelet-length sleeve and extended down the front of the bodice onto the controlled bell skirt that flowed into a full chapel train. A large fabric bow accented the center-back waist. The headpiece of matching fabric rose petals was accented with lace and pearls, and held the tiered veil of imported silk illusion.

The bride's bouquet was of cascading white roses, centered with white orchid trimmed with French lace and pearls.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth Snyder, who wore a street-length dress of cornflower blue silk chiffon featuring a draped neckline, cap sleeves and a full bouffant skirt, with a soft fabric belt.

Bridesmaids were Miss Anita Bell, sister of the bride, and Miss Peggy Brown, sister of the groom. They were dressed in similar fashion to the matron of honor. All of the bride's attendants wore matching headpieces of horsehair braid petals and fabric roses with circles of maline.

Ronnie Holt served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were De Wayne Bauman and Eddie Black. Ushers were Robert M. Miller and Charles M. Miller, cousin of the bride, and Tom Middleton.

Miss Juanita Carrell and Miss Lynne Hutton lighted the candles, and Miss Judy King was the flower girl.

A reception following the wedding was held in the church Fellowship Hall.

For the wedding trip to Colorado, the bride chose an iridescent navy blue cotton costume suit with cranberry accessories. She wore an orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Monterey High School and attended Texas Tech. She has taught school for three years. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

The groom is a graduate of Ira High School. He attended San Marcos State Teacher's College for two years before transferring to Texas Tech, where he will receive a B. S. degree in agriculture this month.

Vinyl Upholstery Is A High Home Fashion

Vinyl upholstery is now so fabric-like in texture, and so successfully decorator-styled that it is accepted as a high home fashion—and not simply a durable cover-all for office and other "public" furniture.

The "weaves" which resemble slubbed silk and matelasse are suitable for upholstering or re-upholstering furniture in the most formal of rooms. All plastics have the advantage of taking hard wear, and need only the intensive upkeep of anti-spill-water sponging. For textured patterns, scrub gently with a well-lathered brush to wheedle soil from crevices in the design.

Stamps In The News

TO HERALD the founding of the University of East Africa on June 28, the governments of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika have issued two new stamps. The 30c and 1 shilling 30 have an identical design showing three silhouetted figures in caps and gowns together with an open book bearing the legend "University of East Africa, 28 June, 1963."

The new school will be a federal university composed of Makerere University College in Uganda, the Royal College in Kenya and the University College, Dar es Salaam, in Tanganyika.

The United States Post Office Department announced five new commemorative postage stamps to complete the remainder of the 1963 schedule. One stamp, designed by Norman Rockwell to mark the 100th anniversary of city mail delivery, will feature a humorous drawing of an 1863 letter-carrier walking in the rain.

The other stamps will honor Sam Houston, hero of Texas independence; Cordell Hull, secretary of state under Franklin D. Roosevelt; and John Muir, American naturalist. Also announced was notification that a new stamp in the fine arts series will depict a John James Audubon painting of birds.

The only date and place of issue revealed was Oct. 5, at Cathage, Tenn., for the Cordell Hull stamp.

A new international post card will be issued by the United States Post Office Department in the early fall. The 7c card for surface mail cites the United States as "World vacation land" and will be an invitation to attract foreign tourists.

To commemorate the first anniversary of its independence, the kingdom of Burundi has issued a series of four stamps.

The stamps depict His Majesty Mwami Ntare IV, and the map and flag of Burundi. The series was prepared by reissuing four of the original Independence series of last year in new colors, inscribed "Premier Anniversaire." The kingdom of Burundi is a constitutional monarchy which gained its independence last year, following the widespread free legislative elections held in September of 1961 under United Nations supervision.

Brazil has issued a new 10 cruzeiro stamp to mark the 15th anniversary of the Organization of American States Charter. The design features the letters "OEA" with an outline map of the North and South American continents, superimposed.

First-day cover collectors who wish to join the American First Day Cover Society will receive an official First Day Cover of the 1958 3c Liberty postcard, unaddressed, with cachet and slogan cancellation if they fill in an application blank to the AFDCS during the months of July and August. For information, write to: Post Card, 512 South 89th East Avenue, Tulsa 12, Okla.

Protect Kneeling Pad

A sponge kneeling pad will wear indefinitely if you protect it with a removable slipcover to keep the edges from fraying. Make this of terycloth or other sturdy cotton fabric which can be machine-washed repeatedly.

For Back-To-School

A two-piece shirt dress by PRISSY MISSY like you dream about — made of Wamsutta Oxford cotton. Short cuffed sleeves, button-down collar. Full unpressed box-pleated skirt. Ideal for the coked set. Colors: Camel, Light Loden. Sizes: 7-12.

COMPATIBLES FOR FALL include three matchmates. Each designed to coordinate with other of the season's key styles. The sweater, an Italian import, hand knit in Mistra Tweed picking up a range of misty tones in a new blend of feathery mohair with wool and vinyon for warmth and body. Turtle-neck shirt is long sleeves, stretch knit. Pants are lined flannel; smarter than ever this season.

Non-Woven Fabrics Used More And More. More and more uses are being found for the new, non-woven "fabrics" which are actually made like paper. One such material, blended of nylon and Dacron, is used as backing for a new type of vinyl-coated wall covering said to have remarkable strength without excess weight or bulk. Other advantages of this type wall covering are safe washability with soap or detergent suds, stain- and scuff-resistance, and inherent breathability which permits moisture from the wall to escape without blistering the cover.

Paris Couture Gets American

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer
NEW YORK — If your figure is less than perfect, be consoled that at least one couturier in Paris prefers you that way.

You're the sort of challenge which Miguel Ferraras says brings out the best in him, and his resulting designs are always more individual and far more rewarding.

And if you despair that you could never do the justice to the French creations that the those venerated professional clothes horses, do, change your mental viewpoint on that score also.

"Clothes never look as good on the manikins they do on the clients I have intended them for. On the manikins they are much too impersonal."

Switched Careers
For Ferraras anyway the personality of the weaver should dominate the clothes. If the costume overpowers the wearer, "they're contrived and that's not good fashion."

bullish build, intense brown eyes and an Orson Welles haircut shakes his head at this horrible thought. And his pretty size 10 Irish wife, the former Oonagh Guinness, smiles in quiet agreement.

In his native Cuba Miguel studied architecture, but his interests soon turned from putting concrete and steel together to arranging fabric in a pleasing fashion. Coming to the United States in 1948, he worked with designer Charles James briefly before venturing into a swank Fifth Avenue custom design venture.

Another Goal
"Starting out was terrifying," he recalls, but his clientele soon listed so many celebrated women that in 1960 (after getting that American citizenship of which he is very proud) he decided to storm the world's fashion capital.

"The designers in Paris are almost always from someplace else - Spain, Belgium, Italy," Miguel says. "But there hadn't been an American in Paris since the Cuban-American with a Mainbocher."

With only four French collections thus far, he has already attracted an impressive list of internationally renowned style-conscious women.

During his brief visit back to his chosen America, he was already forgetting about the shape his collection will take by his July opening.

False Start
Unlike other designers who isolate themselves for weeks of intensive, solitary creation before the show, Miguel likes to be part of the hustle and confusion of his workrooms.

"I start out emotionally enthusiastic. Then I destroy these things right away, calm down and start all over. It is very difficult in the beginning when one is looking for the silhouette of the season to emerge from the imagination."

jected some ideas about Paris fashions for fall.

"For daytime clothes will be very classical. For evening the silhouette will be long, narrow and elaborated. The short evening dress is very, very passé. A small waist is unimportant in France. The concentration is towards the face. Bosoms are higher, shoulders round and wider.

Tailored shoes for day with no distortion. I like the completely rounded shoe with the 18th century shape. I was the first to urge low heels for evening.

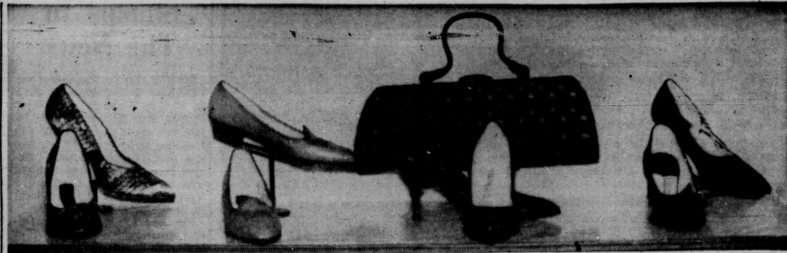

"On the beach you'll see ensembles, jackets complimenting the suits. Hats will be made to belong to the clothes, without overwhelming the woman. All in all more importance must be attached to the woman herself than her clothes."

WIFE'S POINT OF VIEW . . . Paris designer Miguel Ferraras gets some advice from his best customer, Oonagh, for whom he likes to create pastel suits.

THREE DIVERSE DESIGNS . . . Cape suit, beaded dinner gown, and bare back dress with lingerie built in are by Miguel Ferraras.

Home Buyers In America Best Informed

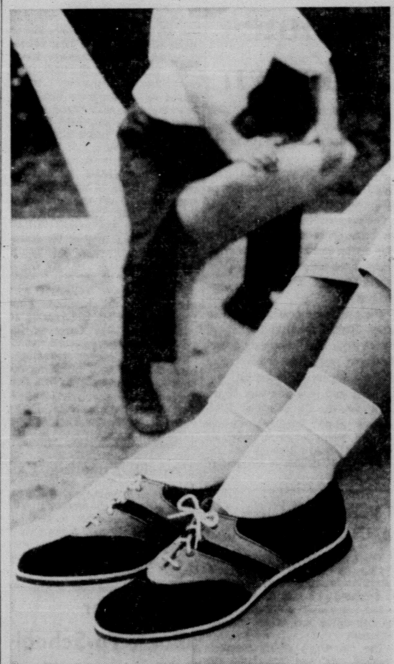

American home buyers are the best informed in history, a west coast lumber spokesman believes. When a prospective home buyer, says Arthur W. Friaux of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, starts looking at a new home with object to purchase, he is as canny as an old time horse trader who could tell a lot by looking at the horse's teeth, legs, withers and eyes.

Place Mats Can Save Kitchen Floors

To spare the kitchen floor from grease and water splashed, spread a "place mat" under Fido's dinner plate. One practical choice is washable, non-skid, and gaily decorated with a design of doggies and vittles. This is also a good gift for a dog who has everything.

frame to endure for generations, the lumberman pointed out, so home buyers check rafters, floor joists and wall studs to make certain they are the proper grade of Douglas fir or west coast hemlock, the nation's premier framing lumber species. Wall surfaces, he said, must be both beautiful and durable and require a minimum of upkeep, and for that reason more wise home buyers are partial to wall paneling of such long-wearing woods as Douglas fir and west coast hemlock.

These woods, he pointed out, have been successfully used in America's homes for hundreds of years, while many substitutes do not have anything more than a manufacturer's guarantee they will last and do the job.

HOBO—Sleek nylon velvet combines with brushed pigskin to give this Buster Brown Hobo a very smart appearance. It's practical, too, because even after lots of wear, it can be brushed to look like new. For school wear or for dress-up on Sunday.

BRIDAL SHOWER—Miss Helen Harlin, bride-elect of Mr. Jerry Proctor, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Thursday at the Hugh Taylor home. At left is Mrs. Daye Harlin, mother of the honoree, and at right is Mrs. G. P. Proctor, mother of the groom. The wedding will be an event of Sept. 1 at the First Christian Church. The table was centered with a bride's bouquet of bronze mums and ivy leaf tied with talisman ribbon. The cloth was imported embroidered ecru linen and appointments were of amber and bronze.

Wood Choice Aids Style Of Furniture

Furniture designers choose woods for certain furniture styles in a way relative to the selection of fabrics by costume designers. Walnut, cherry and mahogany are fine grained hardwoods in comparison to some others. They might be likened to smooth fabrics such as velvet, jersey or tafeta. Oak, butternut and pecan have a more open grain and less flowing, more irregular, pattern. They remind one of tweeds, linens or crepe.

Smooth Woods
Adaptations of 18th Century English furniture styles appear at their best built of the finer grained woods. They were originally made of mahogany, walnut and in Colonial America, cherry.

The straight delicate lines of a Sheraton or Hepplewhite sideboard, for instance gains elegance from the rich smoothness of mahogany. The gentle curves of Queen Anne styles appear best carved as traditionally, of walnut. The great master carver of them all, Chippendale, found mahogany with its hard close grain ideal for his elaborate sculpture of chair back and legs. Early American cabinet makers, copying contemporary English styles found cherry had similar workable qualities and texture and color.

The more textured species oak, butternut and pecan seem ideal for the more informal styles. Provincial furniture from Spain, Italy and France often were made of oak and similar native woods.

Walnut was a favorite in the 17th Century for court furniture. The less formal designs of provincial cabinet makers, so well liked today were made of more textured woods.

For their charming and popular adaptations today's designers find pecan and butternut ideal wood to express the sturdy, graceful lines of European provincial styles.

ALL STAR—The extremely smooth styling of Pedwin's All Star delivers today the up-dated look of tomorrow. A smart idea for today's fashion-minded man.

Spraying Equipment Should Be Cleaned
Equipment for spraying insecticides and weed killers should be scrubbed with soap or detergent after each session—using a stiff brush on any chemical caked inside. Rinse with plenty of water and dry thoroughly before reuse or storage.

Odor Draws Insects
Even the odor, as well as actual traces of food, attracts various insects which you don't want in your kitchen! So be sure to wash all the crumbs and spills from the stove and cabinet shelves after each meal. And give the bread box and canisters a thorough sudsing once a week.

Nectarines Offer Sweet Flavor

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
SUMMER'S NECTARINE has a lot to offer.

Smooth skin (no peeling necessary) and delightful flavor are two of the best attributes of this relative of the peach.

Undoubtedly you serve nectarines to eat out of hand, but there are also other delicious ways to treat this fruit.

Nectarines make refreshing salads. Team them with a cottage cheese or cream cheese and salad greens. Or add them to other summer fruits.

Poach whole or halved nectarines in a vanilla-flavored sugar syrup for a French-style compote. Or concoct Nectarine Melba—scoops of vanilla ice cream topped with halved poached nectarines and raspberry sauce.

Brush nectarine halves with melted butter and sprinkle their cavities with sugar; broil until heated through and serve with bacon and scrambled eggs for breakfast. Or let those broiled nectarines accompany baked ham or pork chops for dinner.

Fold sliced or diced nectarines into gelatin desserts—plain, Spanish, Bavarian or snow-pudding variety.

And consider trying this recipe for Tender Pancakes with Nectarine Sauce. It was liked so much at our house that four of us ate up what is designed for six! We served this dish for a summer evening company snack, but it's also perfect brunch fare.

TENDER PANCAKES WITH NECTARINE SAUCE
6 nectarines
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup and 1 tablespoon water
Pinch of salt
1 cup and 1 tablespoon water
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons butter
Tender Pancakes
Slice nectarines in a saucepan over low heat, stir together the sugar, 1/2 cup water and salt until sugar dissolves; bring to a boil. Add lemon; simmer 8 to 10 minutes. Mix cornstarch and 1 tablespoon water; stir into hot mixture. Cook, stirring gently, until slightly thickened and clear. Remove from heat. Stir in butter and nectarines. Reheat gently just before pancakes are finished.

Spoon some of sauce over each pancake; fold in half. Accompany pancakes with remaining sauce.

NECTARINE SAUCE, made from the fresh fruit, accompanies tender pancakes to which almonds give a delightful fillip.

White Window Shades In Many Patterns

If shopping for window shades, look at the new white-on-white which come in many interesting patterns. The translucent background fabric is lightweight Dacron-cotton batiste, while the screen-printed designs are opaque unusual decorating effects.

These shades are treated with a long-wearing washable coating, but matching patterns are available in equally washable uncoated fabric for those who like to coordinate shades with window treatments.

Laundry Space

Before shopping for laundry appliances, it is a good idea to decide where they'll be installed, then measure the space exactly. You may find it advisable to make some structural changes to accommodate the type of appliances you want. The combination washer-dryer takes about half the space required for the separate washer and dryer.

ing smooth. Stir in butter and almonds. Generously brush a 6-inch skillet with butter and heat; hold skillet off heat and pour in 2 tablespoons batter; swirl off heat so mixture covers pan. Brown rapidly on both sides; turn out. Generously brushing skillet each time, continue making pancakes; keep them warm until batch is finished. Makes about 18 pancakes.

Oak Takes Spotlight In Furniture

The mighty oak has come back on the furniture style stage in a revival of popularity. Holding a leading place in the company of distinguished furniture hardwoods for many centuries, it has been, in the past decade out of the spotlight. There was no scarcity of oak trees, logs, lumber or veneer during that time. Oak was simply a victim of the dictates of Dame Fashion.

Renewed interest in early Spanish design is one factor in the reappearance of oak among several furniture collections.

Oak appears in lighter tones, more nearly its natural amber, tinged with red, than previously. New chemical protective finishes give it a tawny brown or beige tone with just the slightest pink cast.

Oak veneers showing swirls, lacquered and flakedwood are being used for decorative effects on fronts and tops of furniture.

ON THE HOUSE

AP Newfeatures
From various sources come these bits of information of interest to the home owner:
More than 50 leading paint brush manufacturers are now offering sash and trim brushes with tapered nylon filaments. It is said that this type of brush resists water and maintains its resilience through prolonged use with water-base paints. According to one school of thought, the new brushes are said to eliminate "dumpling," the term used by painters for the release of too much paint in the instant a brush touches a surface.

Some home builders are making a discovery: women are yearning for the return of the old-fashioned pantry. A house with a walk-in pantry, with plenty of room for canned goods, jars, etc., makes an instant hit with female home-seekers. This type of pantry can do wonders to offset the space handicaps of a small kitchen, and gets plenty of appreciation, too, when combined with a kitchen of any size.
Ever notice the big difference between the old lumber yard down by the railroad tracks and the modern, one-stop building products dealer? In the old days, you bought your lumber at the yard, your paint someplace else, your plumbing repair materials in a third place, and so on. Today, most lumber yards have a kind of super-market setup, where you can purchase virtually anything you need to repair, remodel or refurnish.

ANSWER: The openings around the top of the bathtub and at corners and floor joints should be sealed with a waterproof plastic or other type of caulking compound. There are many good brands on the market for this specific purpose.
QUESTION: We have moved into an old house and find that there are many openings around the bathtub, the corners and at the floor joints. These openings are at places where there are wall tiles. Some of the tiles are loose, although still clinging to the wall. Appreciate your advice on how to fill these spaces to prevent damage from water.
minutes, then smooth it out with a wooden stick of the type used in ice creama pops or supplies with containers of coffee or other beverages. The tiles can be reset by applying a special tile cement. In both these cases, all loose mortar or other crumbling material should be removed before the new compound and cement are applied. Read the instructions on the tube of the particular compound you buy to see whether painting is recommended.

INSURE WHAT YOU HAVE

Finishing wood siding for homes is now receiving a marketing twist. A major lumber company is selling the material only in the Omaha, Neb., area. The finish coat is a baked, on acrylic resin with a satin appearance. The claim, backed by a written warranty, is that the siding will not require painting for at least seven years and that the factory-applied paint film will not peel or blister at any time. National distribution is planned when demand and production permit.

A recent national survey shows that, when it comes to adding an extra room to a house, the bedroom is the most frequent addition. When it comes to remodeling a room that is already there, the kitchen is the most popular target for modern improvements.

The Gardeners Corner

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newfeatures
THERE ARE TWO versions of the origin of the name of the showy hydrangea. One is that it stems from the fact that the rugged plant thrives on water. The other is that hydrangea is from the Greek for water vessel, referring to the shape of the fruit.
In any event, the hydrangea thrives on water and withstands the damp, salty weather of the coast.
The hydrangea is the official flower of several New Jersey communities. The Atlantic City Hydrangea Club has planted more than 37,000 plants since it was organized 13 years ago. The club has established the Hydrangea Trail, which winds through Atlantic City and into Ocean City where it splits into two routes.
Varieties of common hydrangeas will withstand cold to 20 degrees below zero. Most of these are white or pink, and some turn blue in acid soil. These plants will benefit from chelated iron in the fall, especially if they appear to be yellowing. They prefer partial shade.
In far northern areas they should be heavily mulched, and cut back in the spring to improve summer bloom.
There is a vine variety of white hydrangea that climbs easily and has large flat clusters of flowers to 12 inches in diameter.

and peat moss and set them inside a larger pot.
A five-volume series on U.S. wild flowers is being prepared at the New York Botanical Garden. Nearly half a million dollars have been raised to begin the project with a book on wild flowers of the Northeast.
Each book will describe and illustrate 1,500 to 3,500 plant species, most of them in color. The series is designed to bring the study of wild flowers within easy reach of the do-it-yourself botanist. The books will cover the natural zones of plant association—Northeast, Southwest, Southeast, Pacific Northwest and Rocky Mountain.
Ever add a dash of curry to French dressing? Interesting flavor.

Plastic sheet mulches are making gardening easier, especially in raising vine crops such as cucumbers, squash and melons. The benefits of mulch covers are heat retention, weed control, moisture retention and accelerated germination.
One chemical company has developed a tractor with gadgets that punch holes in the plastic sheet at one-foot intervals, drop three seeds and vermiculite to hold moisture.
Tomato and other seedlings also may be planted in holes punched in the plastic cover, but they must be inserted by hand.
A new, fragrant pink hybrid tea rose named Eiffel Tower has won the large-flower class in the 1963 "Prize of Rome" competition. The hybridizers were Herbert C. Swim and Dr. David L. Armstrong of Armstrong Nurseries, Ontario, Calif. Eiffel Tower has long canes with relatively few thorns and flowers 5 to 6 inches across on 6- to 8-foot plants.
