

STRONG DEFENSE AGAINST THE ANTELOPES was the order of the night as the Mustangs held the highly touted Sylvester Dunn running back to a mere 53 yards for the night.

Mustangs Top Abernathy In Tough Defensive Battle

By Freddy Stockdale

The Olton Mustangs answered a lot of questions and proved that they are indeed for real as they captured a hard fought 12-6 victory over the Abernathy Antelopes last Friday night in Olton. It was the second upset in as many weeks for the Mustangs, fast becoming one of the surprise teams on the South Plains.

A week before, Olton's big play offense and stingy defense had shocked then state-ranked Hale Center, and the Mustangs walked away with an easy 23-0 win. The big question facing the team as they prepared for the 'Lopes was whether or not the win was a fluke and could they possibly pull it off again?

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal even sent a sportswriter to town to find out what all the commotion was about. No doubt, the sportswriter, as well as the Antelopes, left town mumbling about the impressive play of Olton's defense and the running ability of Danny Garcia.

(Rodney Dangerfield, are you listening? The Olton Mustangs are finally getting some respect.)

Garcia continued to supply most of the team's yardage, gaining 155 yards rushing, including a 21-yard scoring jaunt that proved to be the winning TD.

But the real star was the defense. If you believe in fairy tales and what you read in game programs, then Olton's defensive players would appear to stack up pretty evenly against most teams. However, a quick glance from the sidelines reveals they are not much bigger than a good sized junior high team.

Their problem, if you can call it that, is they don't know they are smaller than their opponents. A much bigger, more talented Abernathy squad was held to 130 yards total offense. Highly-touted Antelope back Sylvester Dunn managed only a mere 53 yards in 18 carries.

With their second win, against no defeats, the Mustangs have already equalled the number of victories racked up during the entire 1979 season. Abernathy fell to 1-1 for the year.

For the first three and a half minutes it looked like the Antelopes would have an easy time of it. After taking the opening kickoff they took off on a 55-yard, nine play scoring drive. On the ninth play, Russell Windham plunged over from the one. Victor Dees' PAT try fluttered off to the right, but Abernathy was out to a quick 6-0 lead with 8:32 left in the first quarter.

The Antelopes never had another scoring opportunity.

Hurt by penalties and an interception, the Mustang offense coughed and sputtered throughout the first quarter and most of the second. Then with five minutes left in the half, and the Mustangs in possession at their own 40, Gregg Smith threw one of his deadly Grim Reaper spirals to Henry Perez across the middle. Perez, miles from the nearest defender, took the pass in stride and trotted into the end zone to tie the game at 6-6. Kenny Smith's extra-point try failed.

The second half resembled two nasty alley cats fighting over a garbage can, with both offenses having to scratch and claw for every yard. Neither team had much success moving the ball until Olton took over at midfield with 2:40 left in the third period.

Runs by Garcia and David Smith carried the Mustangs to the Abernathy 24. Facing third and two, Gregg Smith called his own number and scrambled to the 21, just enough for a drive-saving first down. On the next play, Garcia burst through an opening in the middle of the Antelope line and ran all the way for the TD that put Olton on top 12-6.

Once again Kenny Smith failed to convert the PAT, but it didn't matter because a six-point lead was all the defense needed.

Abernathy never got past Olton's 42-yard line in the fourth quarter as the Mustangs pulled the plug on an offense that had been expected to put a lot of points on the board. Roy Luera's two interceptions killed any hopes for an Antelope comeback.

Olton now faces a close encounter of the windy kind against Floydada Friday at Floydada.

Installation Of Module Feeder Announced By Olton Coop Gin

Olton Co-op Gin is taking a forward step in mechanized cotton harvesting with the installation of a "module feeder".

According to Bill Smith, manager, "It's all over the ground here right now. We hope to get it all together by the 25th. At that time a factory man will be here to complete the job, which will probably take from ten days to two weeks."

The feeder, which is manufactured in Sherman, will sit to the south of the Co-op's Number Two gin plant, on a concrete slab some 140 feet long and 25 feet wide. It will accomodate three modules at one time.

Seed cotton will be kicked off the module onto an endless conveyor belt until it is suctioned off the belt into the gin stands. According to the manufacturer, use of the Feeder will increase the capacity of the gin from ten to fifteen percent.

An added benefit from its use will be a cleaning process whereby a great deal of dirt and trash will be shaken out and augered away before the cotton enters the gin.

When the three modules have been processed, the Feeder will be reversed by action controlled inside the gin. The reversing will take some 70 seconds, and the Feeder will be ready for three more modules.

The gin has also purchased two new trucks to be used in transporting modules from the fields to the gin. The driver of the truck will be able to mechanically load the module, containing from seven to ten bales each, for the trip to the Feeder.

Smith points out that all of this is just a matter of change in farming operations, "Cotton harvest went from the sack to the stripper; from the stripper to the overhead basket; module to the suction; module to the Feeder. Of course, it is expensive for the farmer to make these changes, and it is expensive for the gin to get ready to accomodate the change."

More mechanization, means fewer workers required. One worker can operate the hauling truck, one man operates the Feeder for continous ginning all day long.

Smith also points out that our area is among the last to really go into the handling of modules. In 1978 a few modules were made here and the gin leased a trailer type hauler to bring them into the gin. The gin added extensions to the suction pipes to handle the new type load. The devastating hail of '79 prevented the need of any improvements in tactics.

This year many farmers are buying module makers for handling what promises to be a good cotton crop, and the gin is making the addition to meet the demand.

Farmers, over eager to get their cotton wrapped up and under tarp from the weather, are cautioned not to strip cotton while it is too green. The result would be a disastrous heating within the module.

In Week's Contest

Olton Mustang Is Winner

Tie games, upsets and miss-matched teams plagued guessers in the Enterprise football contest's second week. All contestants receive misses for the tie games but everyone gets an automatic point for the incorrect pairing of Detroit and Tampa Bay.

Two contestants were proficient in predictions and missed just six games in a week of high scoring misses. Relying on the Mustangs-Antelopes game to determine the top winner, there was still a deadlock with Ken Smith and Mark Watt each missing the actual score by 17 points. Smith predicted it to be 28-7 while Watt went with 20-15. They will equally divide winner for the week, even someone entering for the very first time. The first and second place monies.

Three persons battled for third place with each wrong on seven games. Cindy Walden came nearest the tie-breaker score, missing eight points with a 14-12 prediction to nail down the third place prize money.

Bobby Williams missed by 13 points with 17-14 and L.H. McAdams was off 17 with 21-14.

Contestants with 22 or more points for the season are listed elsewhere in this issue. Results of games appearing in the contest may also be found within these pages.

Contestants are reminded they should not give up after a frustrating week as the one just past. The one who quits is the only certain loser. Standings are subject to change each week so everyone should continue to seek the grand prize of $50 for the most correct predictions at the end of the season. The game will continue as long as the Mustangs are in competition.

Remember, too, anyone can be a contest is fun and it's easy. Simply select a winner for each of the games listed in the ads of sponsoring merchants on the contest page in the Enterprise. Circle the corresponding number on the entry blank provided there and predict a score in the tie-breaker game. Fill in name and address and deposit entry blank with any sponsoring merchant before 4 p.m. Friday.

Olton High Student Council Plans Big Homecoming Parade

Olton High School Student Council announces plans for a Homecoming parade, Oct. 10.

Tim Franks, reporter for the organization, states, "We want to make this a fantastic parade and we hope townspeople will join the school effort to make it an outstanding feature of the Homecoming weekend."

The gridiron clash with Hart Longhorns at 8 p.m. will be a classic, in that the two teams have never met before.

To add interest to the parade the Student Council expects each of the four high school classes to enter a competitive float.

They are also seeking additional floats from civic clubs, organizations, businesses or individuals. All floats will be judged in a fair and unbiased manner.

To add to the excitement and festivity the Council wants to encourage owners of antique cars to "....bring them out for a run around town". They also promise to reserve plenty of room for golf carts, bicycles, unicycles, go-carts or any curiosity that Mustang backers would like to dress-up for the ocassion.

Making a personal plea the Council Representative says, "If you juggle, walk on stilts, ride a unicycle, want to dress in costume, have a novelty that needs to make a public appearance - call us about an entry."

Entries will be accepted by Kelli Smith, 889-3866 or Tim Franks, 285-2172 or Kerry Jones, 285-2266.

With less than a month to finalize the parade, they urge prompt planning and entry.

Corn Harvest Nearing Completion

Corn harvest has progressed at a very rapid rate, following the rain of a week ago. One grain receiver states that the rain was not damaging "....very little corn went down, and it added very little moisture to the grain."

Farmers and grain handlers alike are grateful for excellent harvest weather and report that with a continuance of dry, sunny days, feed grains will likely be finished within a week.

Food corn, however, demands a lower moisture content, 22 or lower, and by midweek was just going full tilt. Food corn receivers estimate another two weeks of good weather will be needed to get the most of it into the elevators.

Growers and handlers alike state that it has been a particularly hard year for corn. The unseasonably hot weather for prolonged periods has not been conducive to best yields.

Some reports of good yields have been registered, many were disappointing. When questioned about price, one said, "....the price would have been excellent, if the yields had been heavier."

Mrs. Roebuck died about 7 p.m. Sept. 16 in Littlefield Medical Center. She had been a resident of Olton 51 years, moving here from Red Springs.

Born April 12, 1892 in Graham, she was a homemaker and retired school teacher and principal. She had been a member of the Church of Christ since childhood.

Mrs. Roebuck was married to William O. Roebuck June 2, 1912 in Red Springs. He died in 1953.

LYDIA STOUT

Recipe Revue

By Mozelle Trotter

Lydia Stout has no doubts that teaching is the field she was meant for although she has done a bit of changing since college days.

"I definitely wanted to teach high school and I was sure I didn't want any part of junior high," she remembers with a contagious smile. "And now, I love it!"

Lydia came to Olton Junior High out of college. The past two years she taught eighth grade English and seventh and eighth grade reading and spelling. This year she is Title I reading teacher. She is also junior high cheerleaders' sponsor.

A graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, Lydia's bachelor's degree was in English and counseling. She would very much like to continue work in counseling and earn her master's degree in that field.

Lydia was born in Fort Worth. She was just a baby when her parents moved to Germany where her father served as a Baptist missionary. Her eight childhood years in Germany are beloved memories.

Learning to talk in two languages, Lydia says that home was the only place where she and her brother and sister spoke English. Her father can still preach in German but lack of practice has lessened her own fluency. She took German in college and learned how to write German. She had learned to read German as a child.

Lydia's brother, David, is a year and a half older than she; and her sister, Deborah, is two and a half years older. They attended German elementary schools. Lydia attended a German kindergarten. By the time it came for her first grade, the U.S. military schools were accepting non-military students on a tuition basis so Lydia began school with children of military personnel.

Scars of World War II were still much in evidence when her family lived in Germany. Ruins of bombed out buildings were commonplace. Living midst people who had lost limbs in the war's battles was more ordinary than unusual.

On a visit to the States when she was very little, Lydia still remembers her brother's surprised awareness that almost all Americans boasted two arms and two legs.

"We saw what the war did and could understand the Germans' viewpoint."

During their stay in Germany, Lydia's father saw to it that his family got to see as much of Europe as possible. Some trips, of course, were made while schools were in session so the Stout children took along their books and kept up with their work. Lydia remembers those trips as "the greatest history lessons ever".

Living in Germany during a period of suppressed economy, the family's standard of living was the same as the people they dwelt among and Lydia remembers it as a very happy time.

"Kids in America had so much more. We had no TV - at least not until I was about seven years old. My brother and sister and I grew up as playmates and our family enjoyed each other."

"We listened to radio and kept up with "Gunsmoke" and the "Lone Ranger" on the military radio. When we got TV, we got American programs with the German language dubbed in. We were so surprised when we came home one time and found that "Father Knows Best" and "Sea Hunt" (characters) could speak English!"

Lydia says her family enjoys German foods and her mother became quite proficient at preparing wiener schnitzel.

Since her family had no military privileges and thus could not shop at the U.S. commisaries, she remembers shopping for food in the German custom.

"We bought milk at the dairy market, meat at the meat market and fruits and vegetables at little markets up and down the streets."

"It was such a luxury to us when my dad found a farmer who grew corn and we could buy roasting ears. They couldn't believe we were going to eat it - they just feed it to their pigs."

Lydia says when her family moved back to the States, she and her brother and sister used to beg to "go home".

"When I was about 12, I finally decided that America was home."

Lydia's brother and sister are married. David lives in Bryan; Deborah, in Ponca City, Okla. Their parents are in Killeen. Each of them shares a hope that someday, before too long a time, they may all go together to Germany to visit again the places they grew to love.

As expected for a minister's family, the Stouts moved several times but Lydia says the rest of her growing up years were spent mostly in Oklahoma. She graduated from Bethel High School near Shawnee.

While in high school, Lydia had the opportunity to travel again in Europe when her church's high school choir toured England, Scotland, Spain and Portugal. In Barcelona, Spain, she was thrilled to see sights remembered from one of the family's trips while they lived in Germany.

"I pointed out a beautiful castle-like building was the Post Office and a friend was so surprised when a few moments later the tour guide said, "The beautiful building on your right is our Post Office." I was thrilled at remembering so many things and could hardly wait to tell my family."

Lydia loves to sew and likes almost any craft. She has just recently become interested in ceramics. Although she claims she does not play well, Lydia loves playing the piano.

She is a member of First Baptist Church and active in choir. She has worked the past two years with Acteens and is again this year. She also taught a Sunday School class for college age youth, last year.

A member of ATPE, she served the local chapter last year as secretary-treasurer.

Lydia has two very special pets as her Olton "family". Blotches is a beloved cat of no certain breed. Metu (pronounced "me too") is a Siamese kitten.

Sharing recipes with Enterprise cooks this week, Lydia gives us a different recipe for Spanish rice which she says was a family favorite as she was growing up. She adds it is especially good as a main dish served over slices of fried egg plant ("We learned to eat wierd vegetables in Germany" she laughs) with hot bread.

The recipe for cabbage rolls is one she got from her sister and the apricot dessert is one her mother often prepared.

"The no-bake cookies are something all kids will like."

SPANISH RICE

Brown 1 lb. hamburger, adding onion bits (to taste) and then add and bring to a boil 1-15 oz. can tomatoes, 1 sm. can (8 oz) tomato sauce, bell pepper (to taste) and 1 c water and then add 1 c rice. Cover and simmer 20 mins.

CABBAGE ROLLS

1 lb. ground beef
¼ lb. ground pork
2 t salt
½ t pepper
¾ c cooked rice
1 sm onion, minced
2 (8 oz) cans tomato sauce
12 large cabbage leaves
¼ c vinegar or lemon juice

Combine meat, salt, pepper, rice, onion, and 1 can tomato sauce. Remove leaves from cabbage head by cutting around core with a knife at the bottom. Then set the head in a pan of boiling water long enough for leaves to soften so they will peel off. Place portions of meat mixture in center of each cabbage leaf. Roll up, folding ends over. Place remaining tomato sauce and lemon juice (or vinegar). Pour over rolls and simmer (covered) for 1-1½ hrs. Baste often. Yields: 12 cabbage rolls (4-6 servings).

Olton Garden Club Begins New Club Year Thursday

Olton Garden Club held its first meeting of the year Thursday, Sept. 11, in Woman's Club House. Mrs. Juanita Adams, new president, assumed the chair.

Devotional thoughts were presented by Mrs. M.G. Fisher. Citing as scripture II Pet. 1:3-8 she spoke to the subject: Workers in Christ's Kingdom, (WICK). Comparing the Christian's life to an old-fashioned lamp, she mentioned the need for a freshly cleaned globe for a shining light; charred ugliness trimmed from the wick to produce a clear burning flame. Lives in proper condition will shine through to others.

Program of the day was a preview of programs for the new year, and a presentation to the members. Included in the yearbook are plans for attendance at the 1980-81 State Convention to be held in Amarillo, Oct. 28.

Mrs. Norma Kennedy presented each member a flower that she is to use in answering roll call during the year.

Mrs. Pearl Schreier demonstrated an arrangement captioned "Fall Fling". Made from dried materials, it was mounted in a two-tone green container.

Hosting the event Mrs. Tom Smith and Mrs. Adams served refreshments to Mmes. Raymon Carson, H.B. Carson, Jack Estes, V.Y. Jefferies, Doyle Pinson, Freddie Mae Hysinger, Mae Bley, Pearl Schreier, Minnie Melton, Helen Bohner, Ruby Brown and Fisher.

Springlake-Earth Chapter Hosts DKG Society Meeting

The Epsilon Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International met Sept. 6 in First Baptist Church in Earth, hosted by Springlake-Earth members.

An executive meeting preceded a time of fellowship and refreshments at 10:00. Breads and congealed fruit on melon slices were served with coffee.

The program, "Planning the Future", was a planning time for committees.

In the business meeting that followed, reports were given by the Finance and Membership Committees.

Olton members attending were Helen Bohner, Carmaleta Barnett, Neta Gary, Bonnie Gaston, Esther Graham, Barbara Kinnison, Evelyn Maxey, Nancy Nafzger, Lillian Rape and Susie Spain.

Ricky Lawson Makes Plea For Scout Helper

Ricky and Doniece Lawson have assumed positions of Cubmaster and Webelo leader.

Lawson is particularly interested in working with ten-year-old Webelos. He knows several good places to find arrow heads and has learned much about Indian customs and folklore.

He has temporarily taken the Cubmaster position simply to keep the Pack going. Pack 220 has been a healthy part of Olton boy's lives for many years.

Lawson is sincerely urging some interested person to step forward and take the Cubmaster position to release him as a more effective Webelo leader. He states that the Cubmaster's duties are not difficult and no experience is necessary. He adds, "We are all new, but we have experienced people that are willing to advise."

Organized and functioning, Pack 220 is composed of the Webelos, with Lawson as leader; Den I headed by Beverly Huguley and Den II headed by Rita Hamilton, with a total of 29 boys. Plans are being made to attend "Scout-O-Rama, 1980" to be held in Lubbock Saturday, Nov. 8.

Webelos, Den III, hold meetings Monday at 7 p.m. New Scouts, Den I and older Den II each hold Tuesday meetings at 6 p.m.

Homemakers To Observe Week

Olton Chapter of Young Homemakers of America will be observing Young Homemakers Week, Sept. 21-27, giving statewide prominence to this educational group with emphasis on Homemaking.

With 18 members in the local chapter, Olton Young Homemakers are a unit of the 30 chapters in the Panhandle of Texas.

To stress their objectives (1) way to exchange ideas; (2) way to improve personal, family and community life; and (3) way to meet new people, the Olton organization plans special activities for each day of the week. In this manner they hope to touch all segments of community life.

Monday the young ladies will host a "Creative Stitchery Party" in the agriculture building. The event is open to the community. Many stitchery items will be available for purchase for those who enjoy such handwork. Refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

Tuesday, the organization will sponsor a high school assembly at 9:30 a.m. Dr. Stafford of Mental/Health Retardation Center, Plainview, as guest speaker will discuss "Living with Stress". The usual charge made for admission to assembly programs will be given by the OYA to Olton Emergency Ambulance Association.

Also, to honor Olton's teachers, cookies will be placed in the various teacher's lounges throughout the system.

Wednesday Young Homemakers, as a courtesy to the entire community, offer a Community Coffee Break. A general invitation is extended to everyone to call at Community Room of Olton State Bank for coffee and a moment of relaxation.

Thursday noon the young matrons have planned to honor Senior Citizens of the area with a salad luncheon served in the Agriculture Building. All members or prospects of the senior group are invited.

Olton Chapter meets the first Monday evening of each month in the Home Economics building on the school campus. Young homemakers, 18 through 35 are welcome as active members. Interested persons over 35 years may become associate members.

Their motto, "The Heart of the Home", indicates the close bond of fellowship enjoyed by the 580 members of Area I.

Mrs. Wayne Gipson serves as president of the local chapter. She is assisted by Mary Spradley, first vice-president; Sharon Key, second vice-president; Mary Bass, third vice-president; Francine Ramage, fourth vice-president; Jeana Ferguson, secretary-treasurer-reporter; and Pam Roberson, parliamentarian.

Class Of 1940 To Gather For Homecoming Reunion

Members of the graduating class of 1940 will celebrate the homecoming weekend Oct. 10-11 with fortieth anniversary happenings.

Classmates, their spouses and a large number of teachers are expected. Registration will begin at 4 p.m. Friday, Oct. 10 in the PCA party room. An after-game fellowship will be held in the home of Clovis and Peggy (LaFrance) Poteet.

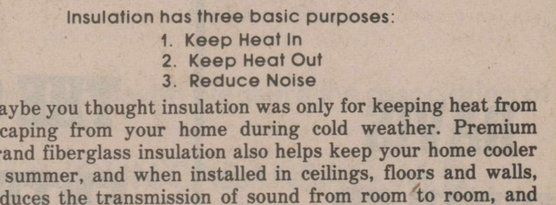

The group will gather for dinner at 12:30 p.m. Saturday in the school lunchroom. Persons wishing to eat with the group should make reservations with Wanda Langford Exter, Box 456, Olton, Texas. Cost of the meal is $5. Graduates are asked to send resumes to Mrs. Exter, also.

Members of the class have received word that quite a few former teachers plan to attend the reunion. Local graduates are especially asked to attend, to help welcome classmates coming from out of town, some from considerable distance.

"Maybe you don't want to see us, but we want to see you," comments one who has not lived in the Olton community since graduation.

Sportscaster Howard Cosell is also a lawyer.

The Galapagos Islands west of Ecuador were named for the galapago, Spanish for "tortoise," because of the 200-pound tortoises found there that could carry the weight of a man.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

GENERAL ELECTION
NOVEMBER 4, 1980

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 35 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Legislature to permit banks to establish and operate unmanned teller machines within the county or city where the banks are located and to share the use of teller machines on a basis consistent with anti-trust laws, if it finds such operation will serve the convenience of the public. The Legislature has already passed enabling legislation (H.B. 1510) for this proposed amendment.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment permitting the legislature to authorize banks to use unmanned teller machines within the county or the city of their domicile on a shared basis to serve the public convenience."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 97 proposes a constitutional amendment that would grant the State and the accused the right to an interlocutory appeal from the following trial court rulings in criminal cases: pretrial rulings on the constitutionality of a statute; on a motion to quash, dismiss, or set aside an indictment; and on a motion to suppress evidence.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing appeal of certain pretrial rulings of a trial court in a criminal case by either the state or the accused."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 98 proposes a constitutional amendment that would require a single appraisal of all property subject to ad valorem taxation and would provide for a single board of equalization within each county. The constitutional requirement that the county commissioners court sit as a board of equalization would be eliminated, and elected officials of the county or governing body of the taxing unit would be prohibited from serving as members of the board of equalization.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment requiring a single appraisal and a single board of equalization within each county for ad valorem tax purposes."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 18 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the Legislature to authorize the conduct of bingo games by certain specified groups for charitable purposes, subject to the limitations that operation of the games must be approved in local option elections and that all proceeds must be spent in Texas.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize bingo games on a local option election basis if the games are conducted by a church, synagogue, religious society, volunteer fire department, nonprofit veterans organization, fraternal organization, or nonprofit organization supporting medical research or treatment programs and if the proceeds are to be spent in Texas for charitable purposes of the organizations."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 86 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the Legislature to authorize the Governor to exercise fiscal control over the expenditure of certain appropriated funds, subject to any conditions and limitations provided by law and subject to the approval of a budget execution committee that would be composed of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Chairman and Vice-chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and Chairman and Vice-chairman of the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to grant the governor power to exercise fiscal control over the expenditure of appropriated funds as provided by law."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the Governor who appointed a previously confirmed official to remove that official from office subject to the advice and consent of the Senate; and if the Legislature is not in session, to call a special session of the Senate which may last no longer than 2 days for consideration of the removal.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the governor to remove appointed officers with the advice and consent of the senate."

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 121 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize counties with a population of 5000 or less to construct and maintain private roads if they impose a reasonable charge for the work. The Legislature by general law may limit this authority. Revenue received from private road work may be used only for the construction, including right-of-way acquisition, or maintenance of public roads.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing counties with a population of 5000 or less to perform private road work."

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 36 proposes a constitutional amendment that would change the jurisdiction and authority of the State's appellate courts. The amendment would change the name of the Courts of Civil Appeals to Courts of Appeal and provide that these courts have intermediate appellate jurisdiction over both criminal and civil cases. The amendment would change titles for the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court to Justices and would require members of the Supreme Court to be attorneys licensed in this state while holding office.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to change the name of the Courts of Civil Appeals and the names and qualifications of the justices of the Supreme Court and to prescribe the jurisdiction and authority of the appellate courts."

PROPOSITION NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 54 proposes a constitutional amendment which defines separate property owned by either spouse as all property, both real and personal, of a spouse owned or claimed before marriage, and that acquired afterward by gift, devise or descent. Persons about to marry and spouses, without the intent to defraud pre-existing creditors, may by written instrument from time to time partition between themselves all or part of their property. Spouses may exchange a community interest in property owned or to be acquired for a community interest in other community property. The amendment would allow spouses to agree in writing that income or property arising from any separate property is to be separate property rather than as community property as it would be in the absence of an agreement. The amendment proposes that a gift from one spouse to another is presumed to include all income or property deriving from such gift.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment allowing spouses to agree that income or property arising from separate property is to be separate property."

Slides Of Wilderness Trek Shown To Lions Club Tuesday

Olton Lions went backpacking into the Colorado wilderness Tuesday. The excursion, via the non-strenuous way of color slides, was directed by Jerry Wyatt. The local United Methodist pastor shot the slides this summer when he led a Northwest Texas Conference backpacking retreat.

Breath-taking beauty of the unspoiled wilderness near Aspen was pictured in the slides as the group of 13 trekked some 52 miles, reaching an elevation of 9,000 feet.

"We took nothing but what we could carry on our backs," he explained. Packs were equivalent to one-third to one-fourth of the hikers' body weights," he said.

Lion Boss Bill Yoakum called attention to the club's broom sale Thursday.

The group voted to again sponsor a turkey dinner as they have the past two years with proceeds going toward one of the club's major service projects. A date is to be chosen.

Members also voted to invite Students of the Month, chosen by the National Honor Society of Olton High School, as guests of the club the last meeting date each month.

Guests were Miss Kelly McNeeley and Gwen Gillam of Lubbock.

Ambulance Report

Joe Gus Finney was taken by Olton Volunteer Ambulance to Central Plains Hospital in Plainview Saturday. Attendants were Lois Brimhall and Glenda Moore with Leah Muller as driver.

OVA attendants Larry Lopez and Harold Jordan took Mrs. Ora Steele to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock Thursday.

A CHECK FOR THE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION is presented to D.M. "Bub" Holt, president of the Cemetery Association by Janet LaFrance, member of Alpha Rho Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The sorority sponsored the Buckaroo Rodeo earlier this summer and proceeds went to the cemetery association. Mrs. LaFrance is handing a check to Holt in the amount of $175.

Advised Of ACT Testing Junior-Senior Students

The 1980-81 school year is just beginning, but juniors and seniors at Olton and other high schools across the country are already facing some big decisions.

One of those decisions is what to do after graduation -- whether to go on to school, get a job or try to do both.

Playing an important role in the students' post secondary education and career planning will be guidance counselors, parents, friends and a national service called ACT Assessment Program. Designed to provide guidance information for education and career planning, the widely used program is recommended for use by student applicants at more than 2,700 colleges and universities.

Olton High School students will have five opportunities during the 1980-81 school year to make use of the national program, which consists of four tests and a two-part questionnaire. Students complete the questionnaire at home as part of the registration process and then take the battery of tests at area test centers on any of five weekend national test dates, explains David Grayson, counselor.

The five 1980-81 national test dates and the corresponding registration deadlines are:

TEST DATE	Registration Deadlines
OCT. 18, 1980	SEPT. 19
DEC. 13, 1980	NOV. 14
FEB. 14, 1981	JAN. 16
MARCH 28, 1981	FEB. 27
JUNE 13, 1981	MAY 15

The basic student fee for using the ACT Assessment is $8.50

It takes students about three hours to complete the ACT Assessment's four exams, which cover four subject areas...English, math, social studies and natural sciences. On any of the test dates, most local students will take the tests at Wayland College.

Grayson says the test scores provide an assessment of general educational development, while the questionnaire information focuses on academic and non-academic accomplishments and interests, as well as career and educational plans.

In addition to being used by students and their high school counselors information provided by the ACT Assessment is also used by colleges for academic advising, admissions counseling, course sectioning and placement student services, and institutional research. Students' ACT Assessment reports are sent to only those colleges specifically designated by the respective students.

One of several educational services provided by the American College Testing Program (ACT), the Assessment Program is used each year by more than 900,000 students as part of their education and career planning.

Danny Garcia Selected A-J Player Of The Week

Danny Garcia, Mustang running back, was chosen by Lubbock Avalanche-Journal this week as the Class 3A Player of the Week. He was also cited in Friday's morning edition for his performance in the season opener with Hale Center.

"The question of the hour, ladies and gentlemen, is whether the Olton Mustangs are for real," writes Russ Parsons, AJ sports staffer.

The article continues, "Against Hale Center, the team statistics came out fairly even. The Mustangs ran up 200 yards total offense, they allowed 179. That's not decisive.

"What was the deciding factor in that game - if the stats weren't decisive, the score certainly was - was the running of Olton back Danny Garcia, a 5-10, 155-pound running back named Danny Garcia," the article reads.

"After topping Class 2A power Hale Center in the season opener, a lot of folks figured that the Mustangs had gotten lucky. Heading into Friday night's game with Class 3A powerhouse Abernathy, it seemed for sure Olton would get its' comeuppance.

"Somehow in telling the story got changed around. The Mustangs emerged with a 12-6 win that wasn't as close as the score indicated.

"Leading the way was Garcia. On offense, he rushed 23 times for 155 yards, only 56 less than his team's total. Add in a scoring run of 23 yards, and that's a pretty good night.

"But Garcia also stood out on defense, heading a swarming bunch of anklebiters that limited Abernathy's highly-touted, high-powered offense to a meager 130 yards total.

"For that, Garcia is honored as the Avalanche-Journal's Class 3A Player of the Week.

After two games, Garcia still leads the area's Class 3A rushing chart, averaging 136 yards a game. That's a per-carry clip of 6.8 yards.

OLTONITES' GRANDSON

Monte Hysinger of Muleshoe, grandson of Mrs. Freddie Mae Hysinger and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stewart, was also saluted by the same article.

"With Monte Hysinger at quarterback, the Muleshoe Mules are fast forgetting about last year's South Plains Player of the Year, Mike Northcutt.

"Hysinger, a 5-10, 160-pound junior, completed only two of five passes for 22 yards Friday night but one of those was a scoring toss of 10 yards. He tallied twice more on the ground on runs of 12 and 8 yards and kicked two point-after-touchdowns to maintain his lead in the Class 3A's scoring list with 27 points.

Cotton customers are one thing where there's no shortage of these days. Indeed, a roll call of the countries that make substantial purchases of the cotton produced in the United States reads like a diplomatic reception at the UN. Among the nations that proved to be good cotton customers during the marketing year, were: China, Korea, Taiwan, Japan, Canada, Greece, Spain and a variety of smaller countries in Africa and Latin America. Number one customer, without a doubt, has been the People's Republic of China. The PRC purchased over 2 million bales during the marketing year ending July 31st and has already agreed to purchase well over a million bales of U-S cotton during the year now underway. Total sales to China this year could exceed three million bales.

INSUR-MATION

I have a $100,000 life insurance policy and I am considering making my grown son the beneficiary. As my estate is sizable and has considerable liquidity, is this a good idea?
Based on this information, I think you could reduce potential estate tax substantially by giving your son the policy. If you make him the beneficiary and you still own the policy, the $100,000 will be taxable as part of your gross estate. If you give him the policy ownership, the tax liability will be limited to current cash value of the policy . . . less gift tax exclusion. You can then continue to pay the premiums and each premium will be a gift not subject to gift tax (if within the $3,000 annual gift tax exclusion).

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT J. CAVINESS

Reminiscing

By Lily May Silcott

Robert J. Caviness is one of the area's early settlers. He has lived through both good times and bad with a patient, uncomplaining reserve that is one of his chief characteristics.

Born at that point in time when he was required to register for the military service in two World Wars...he was not required to serve in either.

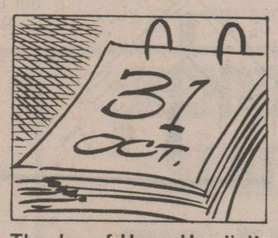

Honored recently at Olton area's first Sandhills Celebration, Rob Caviness was named "Oldest Man Attending", and was presented a handsome plaque. His childhood and early upbringing possibly did much to condition this man for some of the difficulties he has endured before gaining this title.

Born Dec. 23, 1892, in a log house in the community of Caviness, near Paris, Mr. Caviness grew up in a family of five boys and one girl. When he was three or four years of age the family moved to Indian Territory, where his life was flavored by association with members of the Choctaw Nation. His early remembrances include trips to Goodland, Okla., when his family and acquaintances mingled with families of the Choctaw tribe. He recalls squaws carrying papooses in cradleboards, and seeing them propped up against the wall as their mothers rested weary backs or performed necessary chores in the village.

His schooling came in short sessions of four and five months during the winter seasons, in small buildings where one teacher tutored all grade levels. Summers, from June until frost, were spent in trailing the "hay harvest". Equipped with baling apparatus of that day, together with the required wagons and teams and a regular following of helpers, his father directed this hay harvest. The entire company moved from one place to the next as conditions warranted.

The family lived in a big tent that also served as dining area for the harvest "hands". The entire family was involved in the effort. Young Caviness began driving a wagon at a very early age.

Mar. 31, 1913, Caviness and the former Miss Goldie Mae Taylor drove from Burneyville, Okla., 16 miles, to board a train for Ardmore. There they were married in the home of a Methodist preacher. Caviness was of proper age....but his bride was a bit young. Travel to another County made the marriage license easier to obtain. Even though they took the next train back, the trip took the entire day.

The day of Harry Houdini's death (October 31) is National Magic Day in the U.S.

The newlyweds did some sharecropping, and spent the year 1914-15 near Vernon where he worked with Bud Taylor, helping with the crop...freighting...or whatever was needful, for $1 per day. The next few years were spent as farm helper in Cooke County, Texas, in Burneyville and back to Saint Jo.

But December 1928 saw the big move...made to West Texas. The family left Saint Jo on the 27th, Caviness driving his Model-T Ford, his wife and small daughter, Pauline, accompanying. His son, Ray, drove the second Model-T, belonging to the Luther Barnards. Mrs. Barnard and her two daughters were in the car, but Barnard accompanied the household goods, livestock and farming equipment of both families that was being shipped, via rail, to Plainview.

At one point along the way Ray caught sight of the train moving westward, and was thrilled that for a short while at least he was able to outrun it. The travelers reached Vernon the first day and came into Plainview on the second day.

From Plainview, traveling speed was reduced somewhat. The mules were unloaded from the train and hitched to the wagons to bring furniture, farm equipment and other livestock on the westward trek to Olton.

Accustomed to the hills and trees of Oklahoma and Cooke County, Caviness was amazed at the level plain stretching out in all directions. He says, "That was the first time I ever drove all day....and could still see where I started from."

Mrs. Caviness' uncle and foster father, Henry Taylor, had purchased "the old Crozier place", an 80 acre tract of land one mile southeast of Olton, for $45 per acre. It was equipped with a four room house built in 1908 by the Soash Land and Development Company, original developers of Olton townsite and surrounding area.

Uncle Henry had offered the Caviness family an opportunity to farm this land, but the occupant of the house could not move out immediately. Rob and Goldie, Pauline and Ray, stayed in the senior Taylor home until February. Caviness and his son helped pick the cotton then growing on the land in order to speed up the process of getting possession of the farm.

Beginning with his team of mules and his one-row farming equipment Caviness began to raise cotton, grain sorghums, sudan pasture for his two cows, and a little corn to feed to hogs. A summer garden irrigated by water from an earthen tank produced ample foodstuffs. With much canning, food preservation, raising of chickens, curing of hog meat, milking of cows, the family needed to purchase only a few staples through those early years.

Caviness remembers one needful purchase, upon arrival in this western area....a coal cookstove, complete with hot water reservoir on the back. They had used wood burning facilities in the lower climes. This stove he purchased from J.W. Anderson, one of the proprietors of Olton Hardware. The stove was later sold to Roy McFadden, when the Caviness family progressed to a kerosene cookstove.

Caviness recalls that most of the make-up of the city of Olton of that day consisted of a wooden structure in which C.E. Bley operated a general store; Spec Aikman, a barbershop; the Thrustons a drug store; Lindsay Dennis, a garage; Holland and Garrison operated the "picture show" and R.P. Hair had a grocery store and post office. Dr. I.B. Holt Sr., practiced medicine and (Pauline remembers) gave away nickels for ice cream cones. A board sidewalk connected this little block of wooden buildings, as they stood facing Lamb County Courthouse on the square.

A good crop was grown in 1929, but by 1933 drouth conditions existed that continued on through the dust-bowl era. In those days, he says, "....when the strong winds were blowing good sized pebbles through the air, we sometimes felt that we might be better satisfied back in Oklahoma."

In 1936 there was no crop..."...there were about two bolls per stalk on the cotton, and there was no money to be had. I worked at putting some culverts in for the County road system. Don Bryant was then County Commissioner, the pay was twenty-five cents per hour."

To alleviate the severe economic conditions, the Federal Government instituted a new program called Works Progress Administration (WPA). Caviness reported with his wagon and team for a share in the pay checks...then going at $2.25 per day. Ray Slatten and X.A. Austin were operating a machine used to load dirt into the wagons. Digging in frozen dirt, on the lot presently owned by Mrs. Helen Bohner, to haul to Main Street to fill in some low muddy spots, Caviness took his place in line and eventually pulled his wagon in to be filled.

When the big load of frozen dirt was dumped into his wagon...both rear wheels collapsed. With his hopes of outside work being dashed in this manner Caviness states, "I quit the WPA...got somebody to pull my wrecked wagon home...and I don't think that I ever got any pay for my wagon nor my part of that days work." He later traded with Ira Bridges for some misfit wheels to restore his wagon to use.

During these bitterly hard days he states they received ten cents per dozen for the eggs they had to sell, and about twelve cents for pure cream. One particularly hard year, he was unable to "buy tags for his car, and was using his wagon for transportation". August Hyman, (father of Elbert Hyman) asked him and his son to come over and pull cotton. Upon learning of the Caviness need for license plates for the Model-T, Hyman advanced $5 to buy the needed $4.30 car tags.

Threshing and other farm work that required more than a one-man effort was done by neighborhood farmers getting together and helping each other. Bringing all of their wagons together, they'd finish work at one farm and move on to the next, with never a thought of money changing hands...."except Old Dad Carpenter, who could not work, felt that he should pay his friends...but such payment was never accepted."

But better years were in store. Caviness explains, "One-row equipment meant a little farmer. Four-row equipment was a big farmer. I was a little farmer, but in 1941 I swapped my mules for a two-row Model 12 International tractor. And in 1950 I got a two-row H tractor. In June, 1947, I had my first try at irrigation. Three of us neighbors all put down wells at the same time. I can still remember waiting to "bring-them-in" much as people speak of bringing in oil wells. Of course, it was a little late to do much good that year, but they were ready to make rain for the next crop."

From the 1940 era Caviness has preserved a rumpled little receipt, written in pencil, signed by B.M. Nelson, dated 11-19-42 in renewal of a one year subscription to The Olton Enterprise, for $1.

Shortly after his arrival in Lamb County, Mr. Caviness made a profession of his faith and became a member of First Baptist Church by immersion in a watering tank at the home of C.B. Turner. He relates, "Church attendance was begun by going down (into the basement), then going up (second floor) then down again (ground floor sanctuary) but all of that time, at whatever level....that fourth row from the front has always been our place." Always supportive of his church, he was giving his part of the donated labor when the upper portion of the church building was being erected. By some circumstances a brick wall fell. The horrified workmen began throwing bricks indiscriminately... "looking for little Jackie Miller (son of the Bill Millers) who had been playing there shortly before with his little wagon. Someone finally thought to go across the street to his home....and found Jackie safely playing there."

He recalls that with Ira Bridges as the carpenter, he and Wallace Hackler carted all the cement mixture to build the high steps leading to the upper floor...via wheel barrow.

On a memorable day, May 24, 1957, as Mr. and Mrs. Caviness were ready to sit down for the noon meal, a deadly tornado swept through the country. Seeing its approach, the couple took refuge in the small dirt cellar near the home and thereby their lives were spared. The 49-year-old house was badly torn apart and unroofed, making repair impractical. A new house had to be built and moved to the site. During the interim the couple lived in a small rented place within the city. Although they did not lose all of their possessions in the big blow, things were badly scattered and damaged. The recall that, "everything was mud plastered. The chests of drawers were so covered with mud that it was difficult to open them. Everything was water-soaked and mud stained." Pauline states, "Some of Mother's quilts still show stains."

A small brooder house, filled with young chickens "about frying-size" was completely swept away. In direct path of the tornado as it tore in from the dump grounds, debris was scattered all over the farm. Tin cans were driven into the house so deeply they could not be pulled out. Litter all over the land created a hazard for tractor tires for a year or more.

Replacing his home made it necessary for Caviness to borrow money for the third time in his lifetime. His first time to ask for big credit came about when he was new in the area. He had to borrow $75 for feed for his teams to make a crop. L.E. Silcott, then cashier of Olton State Bank, was determined to keep the young bank solvent when others were closing doors. Therefore, he required a chattel mortgage covering the Caviness teams, two cows and two-thirds interest in 10 acres of sudan. For his second need for cash, D.M. Granbery then at the helm of the local bank, allowed him $500 on an open note. But when he had to borrow to replace the home...it required a mortgage on the land.

The Caviness children, a son, Ray, of Carlsbad, N.M. and a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Landers of Hereford, have spent a great deal of time in recent years assisting in the care of their mother, who died June 5 after a lingering illness. Since that time they have been helping their father as he makes necessary adjustments. The four grandchildren have also been thoughtful in assisting the grandparents.

As he views changing times, Mr. Caviness laments, "The "good" times we have enjoyed in recent years... seems to have made "bad" people. When times were hard...we never thought of locking a door. Now we never dare leave one unlocked."

When asked if he had any particular way of summing up beliefs by which he lives, the octogenarian quickly responded, "Yes...two. I've had an irrigation well since 1947 and it has never yet been operated on Sunday; and I certainly believe that you should do for the other fellow....just what you'd want him to do for you."
