Along The Waterfront

Fishing news from Palm Harbor:

C. D. Raders of Danville, Ind., fishing with Wayne Lindsley of the Rod and Reel Motel, had a catch of 279 fish, all from 1 to 7 pounds each, for three days. They were fishing the flats using Johnson spoons.

Mr. Chapman of Ft. Worth, fishing the Intracoastal, caught a 4½-pound trout and had a nice catch of flounder, trout and reds.

Mrs. Leon Glascock of Palm Harbor and San Antonio caught a 5½ pound flounder which was 22 inches long. Mrs. Glascock says, "now I've got to catch at least a 6 pound flounder."

Margaret Glascock of Palm Harbor, fishing the flats, got a 5 pound red.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Del Rocco of Rockport had a catch of 40 assorted fish.

Col. McElvoy of Palm Harbor and San Antonio took time out to go into Aransas Pass to check his boat. On the way back had a car accident and ended up in the Lyman-Roberts Clinic with cuts and bruises. His only comment was that it sure ruined a good fishing trip as he had been catching fish.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Gordon of Tyler had a nice catch of reds and trout. Mrs. Gordon got a 5 pound red.

Jerry Nasists of Tyler got a 6 pound flounder and also a 6 pound red. He and Mrs. Nasists caught about 40 assorted fish.

Grace Cook of Palm Harbor caught an 8 pound red, fishing the flats out from Palm Harbor.

Community Chorus Begins Rehearsal

Once more voices will ring out and will herald the coming of the King, the Christ Child. The Aransas County Community Chorus is getting underway again and will present a Christmas Program for the citizens of the community.

The Chorus has not performed during the Christmas Season since 1966, at which time they presented the "Messiah." This year, the Chorus will present a program quite different than those of the past. The performance will be of songs, carols, and choruses specifically written for the Yuletide Season. Popular, classical, spiritual, and religious themes will run throughout and in addition, some of the choruses will feature brass choir as well as solo instruments. There also will be a number of ensemble numbers as well as solos.

The first rehearsal of the Chorus will be held Sunday, Oct. 27 at 3 p.m. at the High School Choir Room. There will also be sectional practices one night a week to be announced at a later date. All full rehearsals will be held on each Sunday afternoon until the performance date, which will be Thursday night, Dec. 19.

According to Bill Christian, coordinator for the Chorus, the director will again be Bob Massey, High School Band Director, and he will be assisted by Letitia Massey as accompanist.

The Chorus has quite a few regular members who have sung in the past but this year the cry is going out for new membership. The Chorus exists entirely for the good of the community and the pleasure gained is for both those who listen to the presentations and for those who are heard. So once again the steering Committee asks that all interested singers, young and old, please come to the first rehearsal this Sunday or to get in touch with Mrs. Massey, Bob Christian, Frances Bailey or Jan Wendell and to express their desire to join.

LeMAY'S NAME NOT ON BALLOT

After seeing sample ballots for the forthcoming Nov. 5 general election, a number of local people have asked why S. Marvin Griffin (ex-governor of Georgia) and not Gen. Curtis LeMay is listed as George Wallace's running mate on the American Party ticket.

The answer is: the Texas Secretary of State had to approve the ballot before Wallace selected LeMay. So the Wallace party in Texas told the secretary of state to put Griffin's name on the ballot for vice president.

It really makes no difference anyway because the voters only elect representatives who, in turn, are bound only by their honor, not by law, to vote for the party which wins in the state. If the party says it's LeMay, it'll be LeMay.

BASS PRAISES LONG RANGE PLAN FOR CITY

Emory M. Spencer recently sent a copy of the tentative report on the comprehensive plan for the Rockport area to Perry R. Bass prominent Fort Worth resident and nephew of the late S. W. Richardson, whose holdings included St. Joseph Island.

Bass returned the copy with the following letter:

Dear Emory: I am returning, attached, your copy of "The Comprehensive Plan," which you were so nice as to loan me. I have read this from cover to cover with a great deal of interest and with the best wishes of the City of Rockport and Aransas County at heart.

There are two points that impress me the most concerning this whole proposal. Both of them have to do with the logical conclusion drawn by the planners that Rockport's future lies in the tourist-recreation dollar.

Rockport's great attraction is all dependent upon the waters of Copano and Aransas Bays. All things that would have to do with polluting these waters must be carefully guarded against anything that could promote the increase in the fish life for the tourist hook and line fisherman should be encouraged to the greatest extent. The tourist will spend many dollars if he can catch some fish himself and send his friends and their families down to do the same thing.

The second thing that I see that is of tremendous importance is the area around what's known as the "Cove," as shown on Plat 6, entitled "Sketch of South Neighborhood."

The marina area should provide adequate water area so that eventually piers and slips can be constructed to take care of 2 or 3,000 cruising size sail and motor boats. We ran out of harbor space once and Rockport cannot afford to have it happen again. If the fishing goes, water sports is the main thing we have got left to sell.

In California, the state is building harbors as fast as they can by putting up breakwaters and all the available slip space is spoken for before they can get them completed. My friends out there in the boat business tell me that it is no problem to sell a boat if you can provide a man a place to keep it once the sale is made.

As Texas becomes more highly populated, we are going to experience the same rush to the sea that has already hit California. In California, incidentally, they must be building ten times the number of cruising size sail boats as they are motor boats. People, primarily, take their boats out during the day on weekends and come back into harbor at night, where they have electricity, restaurant facilities, etc.

If you ever get out to the San Francisco area, drive across the Golden Gate Bridge to the little towns of Sausalito and Tiburon, or in the Los Angeles area, to Balboa or Newport Beach. You will see the Rockport potential twenty-five years from now.

NOTICE

The Greater First Baptist Church, 213 Gagon, will sell fried chicken dinner starting at 11 a.m. Saturday morning, Oct. 26. Pies will be sold for $1.00.

Aransas County has received a check for $30,986.29 as its share for the operation of Aransas National Wildlife Refuge during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1968. The money must be used for road or bridge purposes.

By law, the county is entitled to either 25 per cent of the net receipts for each year or ¼ of 1 per cent of the current appraised value of the land on which the refuge is located, whichever figure is the larger.

The refuge now occupies 52,122 acres of land with a current appraisal value of $4,381,505.50, and ¼ of 1 per cent of this amount was greater than 25 per cent of the net receipts from people visiting the refuge.

After receiving the check for $30,986.29, the County Commissioners Court voted to allocate 30 per cent of the total, or $9,295.89 to Aransas County Independent School District.

Other actions at the Commissioners Court meeting included:

—Approved a retirement system pension program for county employees and officials. The plan calls for 5 per cent to be deducted from earnings and this is to be matched by a similar amount to be paid by the county. Current plans call for employees and officials to be permitted to retire at age 60 with 12 years of service, and at any age after 30 years of service, and receive pensions. Mandatory retirement at age 70 will be required. The program will go into effect on Jan. 1, 1969.

—County approved a two-year contract with M. A. Cagle, tax appraisal service, Corpus Christi, to process tax receipts on IBM machines for 45 cents per receipt. Annual cost is estimated to be between $7,000 and $8,000 per year.

Seniors in graduating classes of 100-399 students performed better than those from smaller schools, but they were still below the state average. Students from graduating classes of 400 or more ranked higher than the State average in all subject areas.

Seniors in graduating classes from Rockport-Fulton High School for the past three years ranked higher than any size group averaged by the Governor's Committee.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

AND THE NEXT LETTER IS "D"

When we went to school one of the first things we learned was our A B C's. Now the A B C's are all right, but the next and perhaps most important letter is "D" — and D, a great big D, stands for Discipline.

There is a smaller d too, that's known as delinquency. But the Big D of Discipline can just about eliminate the small d of delinquency, especially when the discipline is of the do-it-yourself variety. You can call it the honor system if you want to.

Call it what you will, the D of discipline is a life saver in every way. Even the Red Cross Life Saving program, that is so essential to safety in the war, or on the land, involves the knowledge and the understanding and the enforcement of discipline. The driver training program emphasizes discipline on the highway. And don't forget it, discipline, self-discipline, can save more lives, more heartaches and more suffering than any other single factor in our complex life today.

Discipline is the essence of religion the key to education and the backbone of free society. It is the very password of Scouting. Discipline pays off not just for Boy Scouts or in the military service, it is a way of life. It is founded on respect for law, consideration of the rights of others, and a rigid code of integrity.

But to be truly effective, discipline must not be only a restriction placed on the activities of our children or others under our control. But to be truly effective, discipline must not be a whip applied to others. But it achieves its true value when applied as unwritten, even unspoken code for well-adjusted family life.

Discipline can make the difference between humanity and humility. Tempered with humility, self-discipline is the hope of humanity.—Somerset (Mass.) Spectator.

BOOM TO MANKIND; MAYBE BY NEXT FATHER'S DAY

Two New Yorkers have received a patent for a portable dishwasher with an 11-pound transparent cover, a rotating head and an alarm that sounds if the water gets too cold.

The gadget, which operates solely by water pressure, can be produced to retail at about $20 to $30, its inventors believe.

Sorry but it's not in production yet. Maybe NEXT Father's Day.—Anderson (S.C.) Independent.

SACRED WATER

An Indian businessman plans to bottle water from the sacred river Ganges and sell it in Europe, reports the Delhi newspaper, the Statesman. He predicts that this will become a standard drink in England, France and Germany.

Those familiar with the condition of the Ganges, at least along its lower reaches, will view this venture with some misgivings. The least the Ganges bottler could do is season his offering with a liberal dash of chlorine.—Milwaukee Journal.

UP AND DOWN, AROUND AND AROUND

If you're a certain age, you can remember "the Palmer method." It was a system of teaching children how to write beautifully, legibly, developed by a teacher of that name in Cedar Rapids.

The technique of teaching reached its peak from 1915 to 1925, when it was estimated 15 million students were taught the Palmer method.

Now a new advertising agency is handling a campaign to put the method back into the schools. The system had been gradually phased out because school administrators felt that handwriting could be taught in conjunction with other classes. Slowly the number of teachers trained in the Palmer method became fewer and fewer, and new teachers knew nothing about it.

In its new campaign, the agency is using a human interest appeal. For instance, copy in one ad reads: "Eddie liked Susie and wrote her a note to meet him by the swings. But Susie couldn't read Eddie's writing and waited by the gate."

If she couldn't read the writing, how'd she know it was Eddie?—Kentucky Irish American.

DEN 3 NEWS

By Joanne Sanders

Our first meeting was held at the home of Joanne Sanders, Oct. 15, from 4-6 p.m. The flag salute was conducted by Stephen Sanders. We played the game of "Tree Test," which was enjoyed by all. There wasn't any old business, so we went right on to the new business.

It was announced that Bob Smith was not able to be with us this year, (we'll miss you Bob) and that we may have a new scout, Mark Boddie. Since there was no further new business we then had our dues collection.

We then buckled down to our hard carpentry work for the day. The boys all made ant farms and learned how to care for them. We had one hard time catching ants, especially the queen, but we had a ball anyhow.

At 5:30 p.m. we had refreshments of cookies and punch brought by Stephen Sanders. We then formed our "Living Circle" and recited the Cub Scout Promise, Laws of the Pack and gave our Den Yell. The boys were dismissed at 5:55 p.m.

Those present were Jesse Marshall, Brett Ashley, Morgan Ray Brundrett, Dennis Stephen Sanders and Joanne

Sanders, den mother. SOS—I would like to say that we still don't have a cub master. Won't some nice father please help us out? We need you. Don't let our Cub Scouting become a flop this year. Mrs. Walter Hatley gave the "Least Coin Prayer." Five birthday cards were sent to Bayview Nursing Home. Also a card to Mrs. Greene who is ill.

They're friends, these enchanting four-year-olds, and they romp together with the uninhibited delight of puppies and kittens and other carefree young creatures. Though their "playground" is the hospital unit of a research center... though they fall down a lot and can't always get back on their feet... life for them is still fun, still a joyous adventure.

But a shadow hangs over these youngsters—the shadow of muscular dystrophy. In a year, or two, or three, they won't be able to run around any more or even, perhaps, stand up unassisted. Unless a treatment is found for the disease which is slowly, but inexorably, destroying their muscles, the future they face is one of increasing helplessness... and tragically premature death.

Please help to change that bleak prospect. Give—and give generously—to:

Texas trawlers working brown shrimp made only fair catches from southeast of Morgan City, La., to the high seas off Tampico, Mexico. Trip averages of 250-300 pounds per 12 hours' effort were reported at most major ports. The brown shrimp catch totaled 4.3 million pounds and was the smallest September volume catch since 1961 when 3.5 million pounds were landed. Fishing craft working bays and inshore Gulf waters landed a September record 3.2 million pounds of white shrimp. About one-half of this was taken from bay systems from Galveston to the Laguna Madre area. Bay catches were excellent in the coastal bend. Aransas area, however, dominated by small shrimp as in the previous month. The bay white shrimp fishery is making a significant contribution to fishery interests along the entire coast for the first time since 1960.

Blue crab landings totaled 400,000 pounds in September compared with 218,000 pounds in September 1967. Increased landings from coastal bend bays and the Laguna Madre accounted for the current upward trend in crab landings.

Finfish landings from Gulf waters have declined throughout 1968 due to poor red snapper catches and unusually small fish. Fishermen are expressing considerable dismay over the shortage of workable schools of both red snapper and groupers. Texas menhaden fishermen have harvested over 50 million pounds of industrial fish in the past three months—the best volume catch in several years.

Twenty large new vessels entered the shrimp fishery from Texas ports. In addition, about six new, small documented units entered the bay fishery. A phenomenal number of "super trawlers" have made maiden voyages in 1968 and many more are scheduled for delivery within the next 60 days. Three vessels were lost at sea during the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ronquette, son Kevin and Miss Charlotte Hale, spent Saturday and Sunday in Bryan with Mr. and Mrs. Monte Ronquette and children and visited their son, Rocky, who is attending A&M. They also attended the TCU-A&M football game.

HOGLUND'S HAPPENINGS

NOV. 8, 1793—The Louvre Museum in Paris is opened to the public for the first time.

History Of Woman's Club

Mrs. S. F. Jackson recently gave a talk on the history of the Aransas County Woman's Club in speaking to members of the Rotary Club. Following is the text of her address:

Realizing the need for a Woman's Club in the community, Mrs. Fred B. Hunt, after contacting a number of women, issued a call to organize such a group, which met at the Fireman's Hall in March of 1948, and the Woman's Civic Club was born.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Fred B. Hunt, president; Mrs. C. C. Fowler, first vice president; Mrs. Roy Rogero, second vice president; Mrs. Byron Baker, secretary; Mrs. Charles A. Roe, treasurer; and Mrs. Fred Booth, parliamentarian.

The president appointed a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws, composed of Mrs. S. F. Jackson, Mrs. Weldon Cabaniss, and Mrs. Joe Johnson.

The club met once a month, sometimes at the fireman's hall, sometimes at Arthur Bracht's warehouse in Fulton, and at other times at the homes of members. At each meeting a permanent home for the Woman's Civic Club was stressed as the most important thing on the agenda—except the money to pay for such a home—so, each meeting found the members exercising their ingenuity to find means to make their dream come true.

The first venture was a cake auction which netted $125, and it was decided to make the amount the nucleus of a building fund. Following in quick succession were other food sales, a barbecue at the home of Mrs. Jack Sanders in Fulton, a Gypsy Caravan at Goose Island State Park concession building, rummage sales, a fish fry, book reviews, a turkey shoot, bridge parties, more and more cake sales, and an antique show at the home of Mrs. Fowler.

Late in 1948 it was found that the Recreational Building for Humble Oil Company employees at Ingleside was going to be put up for auction. The women of the club met at the home of Mrs. Hunt and discussed the feasibility of bidding on the building.

With Mr. Emory Spencer's offer to underwrite the price, Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Fowler were delegated to attend the auction and submit a bid. They were the successful bidders, and so the first hurdle was over. The price was $6,500.00, with the price of moving the building to Rockport $3,500.00 and placing it on a foundation $1,522.75.

The building was brought to Rockport in three sections and located on a tract of land in the larger triangle to the northwest of the water basin, the tract, measuring 200 by 200 by 168 feet, having been leased from the City of Rockport for a 25-year term at a total rental of $1.00, this lease was accepted by the Aransas County Navigation District, upon whose land the building was located.

During the second year of Mrs. Hunt's administration, the name of the club was changed to the Woman's Club of Aransas County, for the purpose of serving the community from a literary, benevolent, and cultural standpoint.

A Board of Directors was elected, so that the club could obtain a charter and incorporate. Named to this board were Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Weldon Cabaniss, Mrs. R. R. Rice, Mrs. Emory Spencer, Mrs. Fred Booth, Mrs. Joe Johnson, Mrs. Fred Christilles, Mrs. James A. Jarboe, Mrs. Arthur Bracht, Mrs. J. H. Mills, and Mrs. C. F. Rozzell. Roberts Rules of Order was named the parliamentary authority, and copies of the Constitution and By-Laws were sent to all members.

Mrs. C. C. Fowler followed Mrs. Hunt as president for 1950-51, and her corps of officers were: Mrs. Charles Ankele, first vice president; Mrs. Steirly Rozzell, second vice president; Mrs. James B. Jackson, secretary; Mrs. Roy Woods, treasurer; and Mrs. Fred Booth, parliamentarian.

All through this administration the benefits continued, and the bank account grew as it was augmented by contributions from local business firms and individuals and also from out of town friends and businesses. Finally the glad day came when the goal had been realized, as the final payment on the club's indebtedness was made.

It was now time to turn their time and attention to redecorating the interior of the building, have water piped into the building, start a program of landscaping, purchase a piano, and furnish the kitchen.

Also, with the debt behind it, the club was able to give time and attention to cultural pursuits, as had been the original plan when organizing, and so the first Yearbook was presented to the membership in 1951-52. The theme for the year was "Aransas County," and each meeting a program was presented featuring speakers from our own community and from neighboring towns, alternating with musical programs and book reviews. Each succeeding year the programs have been planned in advance, and the meetings made colorful and interesting in a variety of programs.

Over the years, as worthwhile projects, the club has sponsored the Girl Scouts, both on a local and district level, by means of financial backing and moral support. Several spectacular meetings at the Woman's Club building, with other Girl Scout Troops and district officers present, climaxed the Girl Scout year.

The Boy Scouts were not neglected, either. For several years they held their monthly Cub Pack Meetings in the building, rent free, as well as their annual Blue and Gold Banquet, the highlight of the Cub Scout year.

For several years the Parent-Teacher Association held receptions honoring the school faculty, through the courtesy of the Woman's Club. It was the meeting place for the "kick-off" for numerous drives in the community service, and each year the building has been made available for a benefit for the March of Dimes. The Blood Bank was sponsored, and films were shown during the Cancer Drive. For some time the Chamber of Commerce held its Annual Banquet in the club building, until the occasion outgrew its surroundings. An Art Show was held, featuring the works of the art pupils of Mr. Simon Michael.

The building was made available for the teen-age dances until the time when they were able to acquire a meeting place of their own.

Tourist game parties have been held during the winter season, where, for a nominal (continued on page seven) fee, entertainment has been provided for the ladies while the men folk were enjoying their fishing, hunting or golf.

For a number of years, a special Christmas program has been presented, featuring representatives from all the schools, churches, and the various service clubs, promoting a spirit of unity at this holy season.

Books, magazines, and cookies were sent to the patients at the Naval Air Station Hospital in Corpus Christi over a long period.

All during the life of the club, Mrs. Paul Reese had been urging the club to sponsor the establishment of a public library, but until things were on a more substantial basis, the members felt that it was too great an undertaking for a relatively small group of women to handle.

But, finally, after becoming more experienced in attacking big projects, a member of the State Library Extension Board and was invited to meet with the club members, along with representatives of the City Council, County Commissioner's Court, school officials, and other interested citizens.

After an enthusiastic meeting, the club once more took a bold plunge and voted to sponsor the establishment of a county library in the fall of 1956.

Arthur Bracht again came to the rescue with a store building in Fulton, and the Aransas County Public Library became a reality.

The first move was a drive for new and used books, with headquarters at the club building. After much publicity in the local newspaper, members canvassed the county, bringing in carload after carload of books, which were then transported to the store building in Fulton, where the library shelves consisted of stack after stack and row after row of orange and apple crates contributed by Mr. Bracht. All facilities were manned by volunteer labor from club members and other interested ladies.

We would be very remiss if we failed to mention the valuable service rendered by Mrs. Everal West, a member who never held but one office in the club, that of secretary, but who gave the fledgling library project here valuable experience gained from helping to organize a similar project in her home town before coming to Rockport.

Several years later, the library, having outgrown its quarters, prevailed upon the County Commissioner's Court to make available a vacant room in the newly completed County Courthouse. After this space was fairly bursting at its seams, the Commissioners were able to swing a deal whereby the present building was constructed, and it is the pride of the county. The Woman's Club is justly proud of its part in its creation.

All of this has been accomplished by the dedicated women who served as presidents, assisted by their corps of officers, who followed after the foundation had been laid, and each administration saw accomplishments made by these leaders and by the many members who never held an office, for, over all of these years, the money-making projects went on and on, that the club building might be more adequately equipped to meet the needs of a fast growing community. Will anyone ever forget the style shows, book reviews, and "Breakfasts in Hollywood?"

Following from 1951-52, the administration of Mrs. Jack Hagar to the present time, have been the administrations of Mrs. J. H. Mills, Mrs. Paul Reese, Mrs. Travis Bailey, Mrs. Fred A. Bracht, Mrs. Joe Slocum, Mrs. A. L. Bachman, Mrs. W. N. Sanders, Mrs. Frank Lenoir, Mrs. George Dickey, Mrs. Jimmy Hunt, Mrs. R. C. Naper, Mrs. Arlo Hansen, Mrs. Jones Christian, Mrs. R. L. Eckman, Mrs. Jack Colley, Mrs. Roy Burke, and our recently elected president, Mrs. C. G. Melton.

In closing, I would like to dedicate this club history to the memory of Mrs. C. C. Fowler and Mrs. Jones Christian—the ones who pioneered in this county-wide project, and others whose untimely death cut short her usefulness and ability in guiding this organization in the literary, benevolent, and cultural pursuits for which the club was organized.

The Business and Professional Women's Club held a highly successful "Bosses' Night" dinner meeting in the Sandollar Studio Club Monday night.

Mrs. Virginia Shivers, president, presided. The Rev. Cecil H. Lang, Jr., gave the invocation. Mrs. Ruby Hart, immediate past district director, spoke on the objectives of B&PW.

Mayor Delmar R. Hiller, the principal speaker, spoke on the "Comprehensive Plan for the Rockport Area," which is now in the preliminary stage as prepared by Harland Bartholomew and Associates, to offer a plan of action for growth and improvement for the next 20 years.

B&PW members and their "bosses" attending the affair were:

Mrs. Shivers and Sheriff Joe Earl Hunt; Mrs. Hart and County-District Clerk W. E. Beasley; Mrs. Lois Atwood and Mrs. Barbara Rogers and Junior High Principal Pat Smith; Mrs. Allene Hughes and Ken Windover; Mrs. Mary Lake Segler and Alderman Joe "Pepe" Zambrano; Mrs. Bird Harrell and Principal Albert Griffith of Rockport Elementary School; Mrs. Bernita Kinsey and John A. Lewis; Mrs. Dorothy Knolle and John Kinsey (who really isn't her boss, just a friend); Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden and J. W. Harden;

Gray; Miss Katie Lee Clarke, Mrs. Charlyne Hunt and Mrs. Bona Suttles. Mayor Hiller's "boss," Mrs. Hiller also was a guest.

Mrs. Roy Lee Hart returned Sunday from visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Close in New Orleans.

Dr. Furman Discusses Art Museum of S. Tex.

Last Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. Melver Furman of Corpus Christi visited this area in the interest of the Art Museum of South Texas which will be established in Corpus Christi. They were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Cochran.

A number of local citizens interested in the cultural advantages and growth of the community came to greet the visitors and hear Dr. Furman describe the progress of the Art Museum plans.

The museum, Dr. Furman said, should be completed in 1970. It will be located in Corpus Christi between the north end of Shoreline Drive and the Harbor Bridge, near the recently completed Natural History Museum.

The architect, Philip Johnson, has been described by Look Magazine as "this country's most prolific museum architect." Familiar to many Texans is the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art at Ft. Worth, which was designed by Johnson.

The new museum in Corpus Christi will accommodate a splendid permanent collection as well as loan exhibitions of real significance to all whose lives are enriched by seeing the work of outstanding artists.

Interesting also to the Rockport area people listening to Dr. Furman discuss the project was information regarding an Artmobile which will carry an important part of the Art Museum's works to surrounding communities. This traveling gallery will be modeled after artmobiles owned and operated by the State of Virginia and will be equipped to transport fine paintings to towns where there are no permanent museum facilities.

Another promising function of the Art Museum of South Texas will be to enter an exchange of art with leaders in the field of art in Mexico. This will greatly increase the outreach of the museum to the real benefit of all who participate in this sharing of creative expression.

His Excellency, Hugo B. Margain, Ambassador of Mexico to the United States, is an honorary chairman for the Art Museum of South Texas. "Art and culture recognize no national boundaries," he says.

As another honorary chairman, Dr. Furman has given a great deal of time and thought to the project that will mean so much to the cultural life of the 24 counties it will serve.

Art Guild Gatherings

By
JAN WENDELL

A little known fact to the majority of the citizens of the area is the amount of people who pass through and view the paintings in the Art Gallery.

According to the guest register, which has been kept since the gallery came into existence in April, there have been 2,111 persons to visit the gallery. Of that number 1,320 have been from out of town, and 175 have been from out of state. Adding to that are visitors from Canada, Germany, Libya, Jamaica, Venezuela and Mexico.

The Guild feels that this is a goodly number of people over a six month period with respect to the size of our community. Since we have no criteria to base our comparisons, we wonder how well these figures stack up with other tourist attractions in the area. Nevertheless, the Guild and Gallery is quite proud to have gotten off to this start, and so much of the credit must be given to the wonderful support the local patrons have given the Guild.

Currently being featured at the Gallery is the work of Shirley Farley who is the Artist of the Month until Nov. 15. Shirley has been painting and studying with Kit Dinger for about five years. On display are a number of her still lifes and landscape sketches.

Of particular interest is a bright still life of Mason jars on a shelf. The approach to such a mundane subject is so sparkling it makes one want to take a jar off the shelf and indulge in its contents.

Also shown are her ink and pastel sketches which are done in such a crisp manner and make one feel the intricacies of old homes, filling stations, boats, etc., without actually seeing the architectural line.

Mrs. Farley seems to have a real affinity for ink and pastel pencil, but says that her true love is the flexible acrylic medium. She plans to keep on studying and devoting her leisure time to her painting. Come in and view her work.

Pirates Trample Ingleside 38-0

By Dan T. Oliver

The Rockport-Fulton High School Pirates scored a decisive victory over the Ingleside Mustangs here last Friday night, 38 to 0.

At the start of the game Ingleside kicked off to the Pirates and Johnny Jackson returned the ball to the Rockport 41-yard line. The Pirates fumbled after a few plays and Ingleside recovered.

The Pirates' defense held and Ingleside got off a poor punt. Within a matter of minutes, the Rockport stalwarts advanced the ball to Ingleside's two-yard line and from there halfback Robert Brooks scored the Pirates' first touchdown. The conversion failed.

Rockport then kicked off and Ingleside moved the ball to the Pirates' 36-yard line but, unable to gain ground, the Mustangs punted. The Pirates tried unsuccessfully to move ahead but they, too, had to punt.

Ingleside next fumbled on their own 26-yard line and the Pirates recovered. A pass from quarterback Johnny Jackson to halfback Brooks was good for a touchdown, and Jackson made the extra points on an end run.

Rockport kicked off and Ingleside returned the ball to their own 35-yard line at the close of the first quarter with the score: Pirates 14, Mustangs 0.

Early in the second quarter the Mustangs punted and within a few plays Ruford Huff streaked for a 78-yard touchdown run for the Pirates but it was called back due to a penalty for Rockport being offside. This forced Rockport to punt.

Ingleside once again failed to advance the ball and had to punt. Rockport ground out steady yardage to reach the Ingleside 11-yard line. Pirate quarterback Royce Itschner then passed to Huff for a touchdown. Johnny Jackson completed the conversion. The half ended with the score: Pirates 22, Mustangs 0.

The Pirates kicked off to Ingleside to open the second half. The ball bounced off a Mustang player and Rockport recovered. Rockport moved deep into Ingleside territory but a Pirate pass was intercepted by Ingleside.

Unable to get a drive going, Ingleside was forced to punt and the ball wound up on the Rockport eight-yard line with the Pirates in possession. Rockport pounded through for one first down after another and found themselves on the Ingleside 35-yard line within a few plays.

Then halfback Brooks scooted for a 35-yard touchdown run, and Johnny Jackson made the conversion to end the third quarter with the score: Rockport 30 and Ingleside 0.

The Pirates kicked off to Ingleside which failed to make a first down and had to punt to Rockport which moved to the Mustangs' nine-yard line. Huff smashed through for the final touchdown and Jackson completed the conversion. The final score was: Pirates 38, Mustangs 0.

Coach Stephenson gave this field report:

J. Jackson ran the ball four times for an average of 13.7 yards.

R. Huff ran 17 times for an average of 11.88 yards.

R. Brooks ran 10 times for an average of 9.3 yards.

D. Davis ran 13 times for an average of 4.46 yards.

Rockport had 375 yards gained rushing to Ingleside's 115. Rockport also led in first downs with 22 to Ingleside's 9.

This and That
JOHN KINSEY

Judge Herman Jones, 53rd District Court in Austin, recently ruled that a high school principal wasn't "arbitrary" in asking a student to have his hair cut before returning to school.

Jones denied a temporary injunction sought against Austin's McCallum High School Principal W. A. Sloan who suspended a young man for refusing to have his hair trimmed in conformity with rules and regulations of Austin schools.

In denying the injunction, Jones upheld administrative rules and regulations of the Austin Independent School District governing "grooming styles" of male students.

In blistering tones, Jones decried the breakdown of parental authority and the "all too popular" opinion that authority is evil because it is authority.

"In a free society, the discreet and fair exercise of authority is a thrilling thing and is not to be flouted or defied just because it is authority," Jones said.

Principal Sloan testified that there was a "correlation between students with long hair and discipline problems." He said the rules were designed to "protect" students whose long hair or bizarre clothing tended to make other students "taunt or ridicule" them.

In his ruling, Jones said that "it should be remembered that this young man is not required to trim his hair."

"But if he wishes to participate in the educational benefits afforded at McCallum High School, he shall trim his hair and comply with all the valid regulations of that school."

Jones noted that a number of rules and regulations were in effect inside a court room, prohibiting smoking, chewing gum, beverages, edibles, reading news papers and magazines.

"This is not to say we think these things are evil; rather, these prohibitions are grounded on the conviction that they promote decorum, dignity and a solemn atmosphere which is deemed to be imperative in the serious and sacred enterprise of trying to administer justice between citizens."

Supt. of Schools J. D. Gray states that the Aransas County Independent School District "takes the exact position that Judge Jones does."

WHAT'S THE STATUS OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY TRUST FUNDS?

"What's the Status of the Social Security Trust Funds?" A new booklet of that title is available at the Corpus Christi social security office, says H. M. Cleveland, district manager.

"The booklet," he said, "explains how social security retirement, survivors, disability and Medicare insurance are financed, and it gives a report on the income and outgo of the four Trust Funds out of which benefits are paid; the amount of cash reserves in each; and the expected operations and status of the Funds in the years ahead."

The 16-page booklet is a summary of more detailed reports on the four funds, submitted to the Congress earlier this year. The reports show that social security continues to be both financially and actuarially sound, Cleveland said.

The law directs the Boards of Trustees of the four social security trust funds to report each year to Congress on the operations and status of these funds, and on expected operations in the future.

Copies of "What's the Status of the Social Security Trust Funds?" may be obtained by calling, writing, or visiting the Corpus Christi social security district office at 1802 South Staples Street. The telephone number is TU 2-5511, Ext. 308.

Fast Cargo Ship For Xmas Parcels To Vietnam Planned

Tons of St. Nick's gifts will be going to members of the Armed Forces in Vietnam by special ship this year, thanks to a joint Pentagon-Post Office venture.

A fast U. S. cargo ship will be designated the "1968 Santa Claus Special," sailing from Oakland, Calif. next month with Christmas parcels.

To meet the sailing deadline and assure pre-holiday delivery of gifts sent with surface postage, items should be mailed during Oct. 14-Nov. 9 period. They should be marked "Santa Claus Special" just below the stamps.

The "Santa Claus Special" will sail during the latter half of November and stop at Da Nang, Qui Nhon, Cam Ranh Bay and Saigon, Vietnam. It takes approximately three weeks for a fast ship to cross the ocean.

All gifts should be packed in strong containers with adequate cushioning and correctly addressed, including APO and FPO numbers.

There are several options available for mailing to the military which can save money. Post offices across the nation have free pamphlets which outline the mailing programs for servicemen and women overseas.

Velma Rinche Seven Years Old

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rinche honored their daughter, Velma Jean Rinche, on her seventh birthday, Oct. 20 at their home.

Games were played, including a pumpkin pinata. Cake, cookies, punch and ice cream were served by Mrs. Beatrice Rinche, Mrs. Margaret Ortiz, Mrs. Ofelia Luna and Mrs. Mary Lopez.

There were over 35 guests attending, some from Robstown and Aransas Pass.

Election Ballot Change May Confuse Some Voters

Two factors may cause some balloting confusion in the November 5 general election, election officials in Texas forecast this week.

The two factors are:
1. A new State law has inserted a new top line on the paper ballots so that persons desiring to vote a "straight party ticket" may do so by making one mark. This new line is expected to confuse not only the "straight ticket" voters, but also the "split ticket" voters.

2. "Split ticket" voters are expected to be more numerous than ever before, especially since there is a third party, the American Party, and it has candidates for only President and Vice-President and no other offices.

Voters are cautioned to be certain that their ballots are properly marked so that their intentions will not be subject to interpretation by election officials.

The "scratch" method of voting, which some people prefer, is still permitted. However, voters using this method are cautioned to be certain to mark through all names in all three party columns for which they do not wish to vote.

There are 19 counties in Texas that use voting machines. As in the past, one lever can be pulled to vote a "straight ticket." To vote a "split ticket," individual levers should be pulled for each candidate of the voter's choice. Persons who are uncertain as to how to operate a machine should contact one of the election officials before entering the voting booth.

Voting machines are scheduled to be used in the following counties: Bell, Bexar, Brazoria, Cameron, Dallas, Ector, El Paso, Galveston, Gregg, Harris, Hidalgo, Jefferson, Midland, Nueces, Potter, Randall, Rockwall, Smith and Tarrant.

Hunters Should Know Their Target

Austin — "Don't pull the trigger until you identify your target—it may be your best friend," says Robert G. Mauermann, deputy director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"Every year, in Texas and the rest of the U.S., hundreds of persons are killed or injured when they are mistaken for game. The 1967 Uniform Hunter Casualty Report from the National Rifle Association indicated 189 persons were killed or injured in the U. S. because of this mistake," Mauermann said.

According to Mauermann, many of these injuries could have possibly been prevented by the victim himself.

"A blaze orange hunting vest could mean the difference between life and death," he said. "Hunters shouldn't overlook this important piece of clothing when they take to the woods this season. A blaze vest makes it less likely that the hunter will be mistaken for game."

According to the National Shooting Sports Foundation, Inc., four states—Massachusetts, Iowa, Maine and Colorado—have made blaze clothing mandatory for certain types of hunting.

The Foundation says blaze orange stands out better than any other color at the critical times of dusk and dawn when other colors fade. For instance, many shades of red turn to black in shadows or periods of low light.

Nearly a dozen manufacturers have come out with caps, vests, capes, wrap-arounds, Sam Browne belts and even blaze-tipped boot socks to make hunters more visible.

"If more hunters will wear blaze orange," says the Foundation, "hunting accidents can be reduced greatly in two categories, the mistaken-for-game and walking-into-line-of-fire accidents."

The Foundation says some hunters may feel shy about trying such a conspicuous color the first time. "They feel as though they are clad in a neon sign. The thing that really sells them is hunting with a companion all day who is wearing blaze orange. When they see how easy it is to spot him, they are at a sporting goods store the next morning," says the Foundation.

"The final responsibility rests with the man carrying the gun," says Mauermann. "He must be sure of his target. He must realize that there is not game in every bush and that every rattle, every movement is not a target. He should keep in mind that the only time he is justified in pulling the trigger is when he is absolutely positive the target in his sights is the game which he hunts."

Mrs. Mosier Hosts Bridge Club

Mrs. Bob Mosier was hostess to the Thursday Bridge Club at her home last week.

Members playing were Mrs. Benny Bloomer, Mrs. James Bracht, Mrs. T. J. Johnson, Mrs. Harold Picton, Mrs. Tom Rogers, Mrs. Jerry Wendell and Mrs. Lynn Wendell.

Mrs. Johnson won high score, Mrs. Bracht second high and Mrs. Jerry Wendell low.

Mrs. John Albert Ratliff and children, Garvon and Belinda of Dallas, are visiting relatives in Rockport this week.

A TIME FOR DECISION

A Presidential election, the most important one in our lifetime, is close upon us. With three candidates in the race Texans are confronted with such a variety of appeals that some confusion is not surprising. We see some of our top state political leaders urging support of Hubert Humphrey on the self-serving appeal of party loyalty. We see fine Texans tempted to support George Wallace because they like his outspoken position on certain issues and are thus swayed by an appeal of sheer emotion. With full respect for the right of every Texan to make a personal decision, this message in behalf of Richard Nixon is offered as

...AN APPEAL TO REASON!

HUBERT HUMPHREY WILL NOT

change. He has proved consistently anti-Texas. He is famous for his filibuster against Texas owning its tidelands. He has fought our right-to-work laws and sought to destroy our vital oil depletion allowance. On every issue of world importance his position is contrary to that of most Texans. Humphrey, an ultra-liberal founder of the ADA organization, would gain executive authority for radical minority viewpoints should he become president. This cannot happen by popular vote. In view of his vicious attacks upon George Wallace, what a ghastly miscarriage of intent it would be if Wallace supporters themselves should throw the election into the House of Representatives where every Wallace vote in Texas would automatically go to Humphrey!

GEORGE WALLACE CANNOT be denied his impressive showing. A number of fine people heed his third party call. The very least that can be said is that he has dramatized the desires of many people for a change of direction in the affairs of our government. However, the very most his supporters can hope for is to split the popular vote so that all of us would be at the mercy of Washington politicians who would elect our president for us. This is Hubert Humphrey's only hope for election. The more positive way to vote for change is to recognize the many fine merits of Richard Nixon and his program, then vote for Nixon to assure the election of our president by the people instead of by the Congress!

RICHARD NIXON CAN...AND WILL supply dynamic, experienced leadership for an immediate change of direction—at the top—in all our national affairs at home and around the world. Your concerns are his concerns!

- NIXON ON LAW AND ORDER is pledged to help improve local police protection, to appoint an Attorney General dedicated to rooting out crime, to restore balance in our courts strengthening peace forces against criminal elements and to cease freeing so many of the guilty on technicalities.

- NIXON ON VIET NAM will call upon his experience as vice-president during eight great Eisenhower years of peace to reform world alliances now in disarray, to redirect our strategy on new global terms. He will end this war and avoid future ones by dealing with adversaries in the only way they respect—through strength, collective security and patience.

- NIXON ON LOCAL GOVERNMENT is pledged to move control of local schools and all other governmental functions which properly belong at the local level closer to the people.

- NIXON ON OTHER PROBLEMS has solid solutions PLUS solid backing of enough members of Congress to implement those solutions.

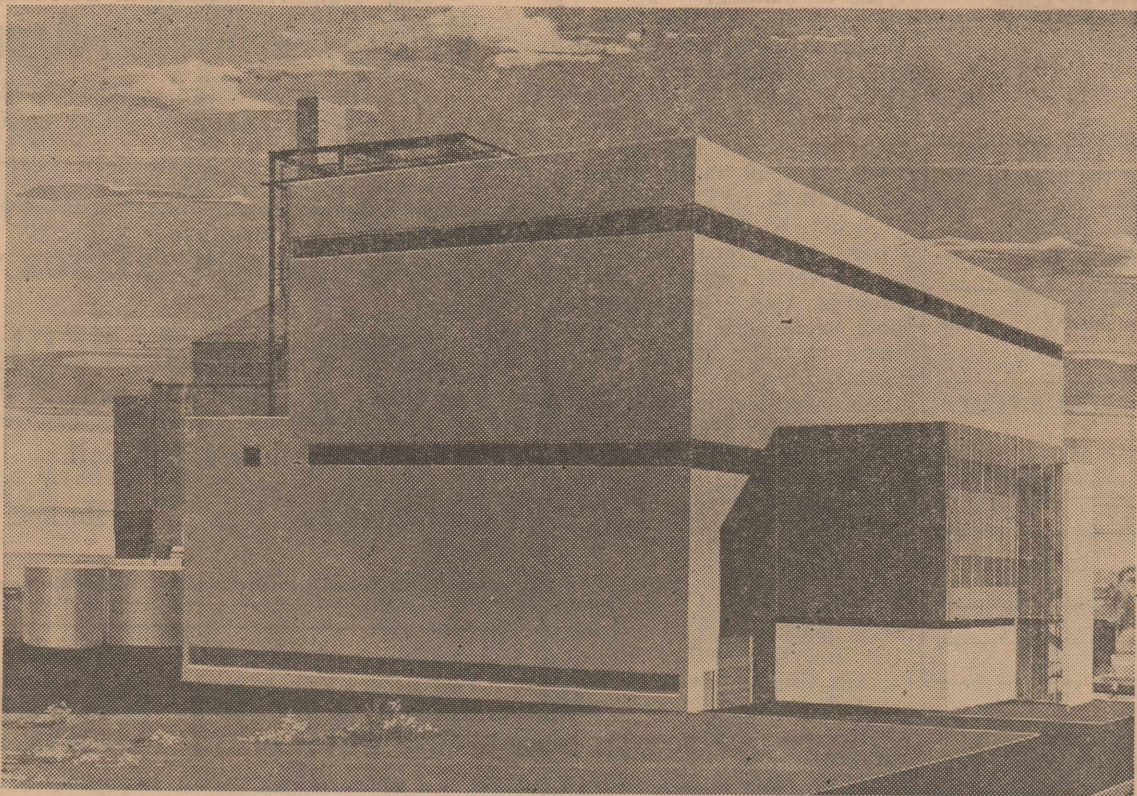

IF YOU REALLY WANT A CHANGE...AND IF YOU WANT TO BE SURE YOU REALLY GET IT...VOTE FOR NIXON/AGNEW

NIXON'S THE ONE!

CP&L to Build Generating Plant Near Point Comfort

Central Power and Light Company today announced plans to build a multi-million dollar electric generating plant on Cox Bay near Point Comfort.

The new power plant, which will have an initial capability of 240,000 kilowatts, may eventually become one of the largest in the company's South Texas system, CPL President E. S. Joslin said.

Construction work on the new plant is scheduled to begin in February, 1969, pending final approval of requests that have been filed with state and federal regulatory bodies. The plant is expected to be ready for operation in early 1971.

The huge new power station will be located on a 200-acre tract of land adjacent to the Aluminum Company of America plant at Point Comfort. CPL has already completed negotiations with Alcoa for the purchase of the land for the new power plant.

In announcing the power project, Joslin said that CPL was planning ahead to meet the anticipated growth needs of the mid-coast area.

"This new plant will provide further assurance of plenty of low-cost electric power for industrial expansion in our service area," he said. "The outlook for industrial growth in this area is particularly bright," the CPL chief executive said, "and this plant is tangible proof of our faith in the future development of the coastal area."

The turbine-generator for the new power station is being built by the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, and the giant boiler for the plant—which will be as tall as a 12-story building—will be provided by the Babcock and Wilcox Company. The engineering firm of Sargent and Lundy, Chicago, has been employed to design the power plant and is already at work on the project.

All major equipment for the new power station has been on order since mid-1967, and preliminary engineering work has been under way since that time.

Joslin said that selection of the Point Comfort site was made after extensive studies by CPL engineers and Sargent and Lundy.

"This new plant fits in well with our South Texas power system and is well located for the efficient transmission of electricity to all parts of South Texas through full utilization of existing facilities," the CPL president emphasized.

The CPL chief executive described the new project as a "salt water" plant, pointing out that salt water from the bay will be used for cooling purposes.

"The conservation of valuable fresh water was one of our major considerations in deciding to locate this new plant along the coast," he explained.

The new plant will have a permanent operating force of about 40 employees. In addition, more than 250 workers will be employed at the plant when construction activity reaches a peak in the summer and fall of 1970. A contract for the construction of the plant building and erection of equipment will be let early next year.

This will be the first all-new power station that Central Power and Light Company has built since 1956, although an almost continual expansion program has been under way at CPL's other power stations since that time. The new generating unit at the Point Comfort plant will be as large as any single unit in the CPL system.

The power company plans to install additional generating equipment at the Point Comfort plant as the load in the area grows.

The initial 240,000-kilowatt generating unit will be the same size as the company's largest generator, which began operation this year at Victoria Power Station. A 240,000-kilowatt unit is also under construction at Lon C. Hill Power Station in Corpus Christi and is expected to be ready for operation early in 1969.

The new power plant is designed to serve a large South Texas area, rather than any specific locality, and will supplement the power output of CPL's six other major power plants located in load centers. The Point Comfort plant is part of a five-year $170,000,000 expansion program announced by CPL early this year. In addition to the project now under way at Lon C. Hill Power Station in Corpus Christi, CPL is also adding a 150,000 kilowatt unit at La Palma Power Station in San Benito. Extensive additions are also being made to the power company's transmission and distribution system which supplies electricity to more than a million people in South Texas.

With the completion of the new plant at Point Comfort, CPL will be able to supply more than 2,100,000 kilowatts of electricity, about three times as much as ten years ago.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—I've just finished college. When will my II-S classification be changed?

A—No doubt soon, as student classification must be reopened when a student ceases to be in the status for which he was deferred.

Q—Who is responsible for notifying my draft board that I am a full-time student in college?

A—If you're registered with a draft board, it's your responsibility. You have the duty to provide your board each year with evidence that you are satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction at your college, university, or any similar institution of learning.

Q—The present Selective Service law specifies that a person may not serve as a member of a local draft board for more than 25 years. A friend of mine claims he has served in that capacity since 1941. Why hasn't he been removed?

A—He hasn't been removed because he has not served 25 years. The current Selective Service law dates from June 22, 1928, when the President signed the Selective Service Act of 1928 into law. This law is now cited as the Military Selective Service Act of 1967. In view of this, no present member can possibly have served 25 years until June 24, 1973. His service in 1941-1947 was under a different law.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Coke" or "coke"?

You wouldn't think mere spelling was that important. Yet, American business firms are spending millions of dollars every year, just to remind the public to start certain words with a capital letter.

Reason: a hard-headed respect for the law of trademarks. According to this law, a valuable brand name may be lost by becoming a part of the language—just another word that anyone may use.

That is what happened to such once-famous trademarks as Aspirin, Mimeograph, Liqueur, Dry Ice, and Kerogen. In each case, what began as a capital-letter private name ended as a small-letter public word. English was the richer, but the manufacturer was very much the poorer—penalized, oddly enough, because its product had become too popular.

How does the law decide when a trademark has fallen into the public domain?

It is mainly the question of fact—whether the public has, in fact, come to think of the name as a description of the product itself, rather than as an indication of who makes it.

For example: a court held that "Cellophane" was no longer a trademark, largely because so many consumers simply knew no other way to describe that kind of product.

It is to fend off this fate that companies carry on their educational campaigns. An editor, columnist, or author who spells "Coke" with a small c is likely to receive a polite reminder from the Coca Cola people that his spelling is wrong.

Just as a company may lose trademark rights in a name that "goes public" so it ordinarily cannot gain trademark rights in a word that was part of the language to begin with. Unless such a word acquires an extra, secondary meaning, it will usually continue to be "free for all."

Thus: a manufacturer of aluminum-covered washboards was denied right in the word "aluminum." And the owner of a market was denied trade-

Crusading Elf

Holly Schmidt

"Elf" is definitely the word for Holly Schmidt, the little girl from Saginaw, Michigan, who has been chosen as 1968 national poster child by Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America. Diminutive, with bright eyes and a sudden enchanting smile, she could be none of the legendary "little people" whose moonlight dances, according to folklore, leave fairy circles in the grass.

But Holly cannot dance. She can barely walk. To make locomotion possible at all, her fragile legs must be supported by heavy steel braces. Her hands and arms are weakening, too, so that she sometimes finds it difficult to keep hold of the lively kitten, Samantha, who accompanies her on all her travels for the Association. The disease which is wasting her muscles is known as peroneal muscular atrophy or—after the physicians who first identified it—Charcot-Marie-Tooth disease. It is one of the many crippling disorders of the neuromuscular unit for whose conquest MDAA has mobilized a worldwide army of scientists.

Roving Ambassador

It is to gain public support for that massive research program, and for the extensive services the Association makes available to patients and their families, that Holly is "on the road." Or, rather, in the air. Though she had never been on a plane before she became MDAA's roving ambassador, she has developed into a seasoned jet traveler, ready to take off at a moment's notice when the call of duty sounds.

Of all the cities she has visited—more than most Americans see in a long lifetime—New York remains her favorite "because it's so exciting." Here she and Samantha were introduced to the press, a confrontation which brought nationwide publicity for both. "I guess," Holly says proudly, "Sam's had her picture in more papers than any other cat." Here, on a subsequent trip, she had her first meeting with MDAA's national chairman, Jerry Lewis, with whom she romped in Central Park after a joint call on Mayor Lindsay at City Hall. Here, too, she made a tour of the Institute for Muscle Disease, the MDAA-sponsored research center which has become a "tower of hope" to millions afflicted with muscle-wasting disorders.

Reception At White House
Everywhere she goes, Holly

mark rights in the phrase "food center."

In both cases, courts found the expressions merely descriptive, without any secondary meaning to be protected.

As one judge pointed out, if companies could freely carve out exclusive rights in common words and phrases, there would be a danger of "depleting the general vocabulary available for description of articles of commerce."

wins friends and influences people, including top people in government, labor, business and the professions. The high point of her career to date was a reception at the White House, where she charmed President Johnson and gained his endorsement of MDAA's fund raising campaign, the March Against Muscular Dystrophy.

Returning home to Saginaw between trips, she picks up the threads of what had already been a remarkably full life before she became national poster child. Her youthful and energetic parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore D. Schmidt, encourage her to ignore her handicap as much as possible. Besides maintaining an excellent record at school, she is a member of the Camp Fire Girls, plays the drums with enthusiasm and participates joyously in all family activities.

There are times, however, when the reality of her plight casts a shadow on Holly's blithe spirit. Like her five brothers and sisters, she has a bicycle of her own. But, while they are pedaling around the neighborhood, she has to place it on its side and sit quietly, watching them ride past.

Research Holds The Answer

In moments like these, Holly can only dream wistfully of the day when "her" Association will have achieved its objectives, when the braces can be removed from her legs and she has the freedom of movement other children have. She knows that research holds the answer to her problem, and that the more research there is the sooner will the answer be found. That is why—with faith, hope and courage—she has embarked on her great crusade.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

This is the time of the year when we begin to look for news about the fall waterfowl situation. Right now it looks bleak for a good season in Texas. Word comes from the prairie provinces in Canada that the country has suffered another drouth.

Water conditions in most of the nesting grounds of the ducks and geese have been very poor. Transects run by field men and others reveal a significant decline in the number of waterfowl on the prairies.

From all indications Texas sent a heavy migration back up the Central Flyways, particularly to Alberta and Saskatchewan. But as unseasonable warm weather hit during the latter part of May, and a drouth gripped the area, the situation has become precarious.

In Canada the drouth is more severe this year than in 1959, as far as pond numbers and water levels are concerned.

It is well for Texas hunters to understand this problem. This state is at the extreme end of the main flight down the Central Flyway from Canada. Many ducks and geese stop a long way as they travel down along the east side of the Rockies. Some of them settle in the Texas Panhandle on the lakes and potholes. Others stop off at Lake Texoma to afford good hunting for both Texas and Oklahoma.

Still others take time out to visit a little at Texarkana, Lake O' Pines, Caddo and Dam-B before moving on to the rice flats of southeast Texas or the salt grass along the lower Texas coast.

The Texas coast, along Laguna Madre and in the vicinity of Padre Island, definitely is the winter home of the red heads. We get some 77 per cent of the total red head population of the United States along that lower Texas coast.

That's why it is hard for many hunters, who see these tremendous rafts of red heads to believe there is a shortage of any kind of ducks. But the few thousand we get along the coast in Texas represent so close to the total that they must be preserved at all costs.

Although there has been a slight increase in nesting in Texas waters it is too small to have any appreciable effect on the population. Mainly, however, Texas has the responsibility of protection of the birds while they are in the state. The Parks & Wildlife Commission has taken some radical steps along this line, in providing resting areas.

First of these was setting up Sheldon Reservoir, east of Houston, as a resting area for both ducks and geese. Later the state bought Big Hill Bayou near Port Acres and developed it as a refuge, with areas of it closed to hunting. Other parts are open to limited public hunting under a permit system.

Still later, the state developed a green tree refuge on Lake Texarkana. Here the water level is controlled so that in the winter months, there will be sufficient water for the ducks and geese. In the summer the native vegetation is left intact.

Other protection has been provided on Matagorda Island, and along the Upper Laguna Madre.

King Ranch also provides thousands of acres of duck haven because no shooting is allowed on much of its shoreline.

Fortunately, Texas has an abundant feed crop for waterfowl. Ducks and geese feed on the cutover rice lands along the coast, and go far back into the pastures. Also, along the coast there is considerable marine life to provide them food.

There is a concerted program of improving all the wetland area to help the entire situation. This work is being developed with the money we pay for the duck stamps—now $3 a year.

At the same time the Commission is using state license money and money received back from the arms and ammunition excise tax to develop its waterfowl resources. This year Ducks Unlimited is spending another half-million dollars in Canada. In other words, funds seem to be forthcoming. The natural elements are hard to beat, however, and along with heavier gun pressure the waterfowl situation seems hard hit.

Letter to the Editor

The downtown merchants are to be commended for the planting of the palm trees. It is a pleasure to come to town now and see a spot of green. It is unbelievable how much this has done to change the dreariness of the cement. It was a wonderful way to add beauty to Rockport.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Dove McGuire

'Breathalyzers' To Begin Operation

Col. Wilson E. (Pat) Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, has announced that 62 breath analysis instruments will be placed in operation over the state on Friday, Oct. 25.

The "Breathalyzers" will be utilized in the State Highway Patrol's driving while intoxicated enforcement program. The 62 instruments going into use Friday are the first of 90 purchased by the DPS for use in 80 of the state's most populous counties where the DWI problem is greatest. The remainder will be placed in service when delivered by the manufacturer.

The Corpus Christi area the instrument will be installed in Corpus Christi, Victoria, Alice, Harlingen, McAllen and Sinton.

Driving while intoxicated suspects who consent to the test will accompany the highway patrolman to an office where an instrument is located. There, the suspect will blow into a tube attached to the Breathalyzer and the percentage of alcohol in his blood will register on an indicator.

"Drivers who drink contribute significantly to the traffic death toll in Texas," Speir said. "We believe that use of the Breathalyzer will enable us to more effectively enforce the state's traffic laws," he added.
