COWBOYS' DAN REEVES TO SPEAK AT BANQUET HERE

The Burk Burnett High School All - Sports banquet, featuring Dan Reeves, star halfback of the Dallas Cowboys, will be held Friday night, March 31, at the High School Cafeteria, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

This is an annual event, honoring all boy and girl athletes who have participated in sports during the school year. The banquet is sponsored by the Booster Club.

The guest speaker, Dan Reeves, started the past season as a substitute for Mel Renfro at halfback. When Renfro was injured early in the season, Reeves took over and proved to be the spark that ignited one of the most explosive offensive units in pro football history.

This sudden display of offensive power, combined with a strong defense, propelled the Cowboys to the Eastern Division Championship of the National Football League.

Reeves finished the season as the leading ground gainer on the Cowboy unit. He was the "iron man" on short yardage situations near the goal line. He was signed as a defensive scorer on the team with 16 touchdowns to his credit. Eight of the touchdowns were scored on pass receptions.

The story of Dan Reeves has not always been so rosy, however. He came to the Cowboys as a free agent from South Carolina where he's spent 3 injury-riddled seasons at a roll out type quarterback.

Reeves spent his first year just trying to stay on the team. He was signed as a defensive back but Head Coach Tom Landry saw the potential he had and moved Reeves to the offensive unit where he blossomed into a fine running back.

Cost of tickets are $2 and available at: the First National Bank, The Burk Burnett Bank, Texas Electric Service Co., First Savings and Loan Co. and from Booster Club members.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. W. Weaver, David and Kem of Amarillo, Tex. visited Mrs. (Martha) Weaver's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Coats over Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bear are vacationing in Tucson, Ariz.

Florence Pinkston Circle Studies Sermon On The Mount

Mrs. Clyde Taylor, Bible chairman, conducted a panel discussion on "Missions in the Sermon on the Mount," Monday night, March 13th in the home of Mrs. J. C. Gay.

It appears that very early in the public ministry of our Lord, for this Sermon on the Mount seem to have been delivered long before even his sending out the twelve and the seventy, as well as before the giving of any of his commissions to his followers — he defined the kind of life necessary if men would be useful in the world.

Scripture reading from 3rd chapter of John and prayer was given by Mrs. Clifford Willmon, circle chairman, Mrs. R. P. Thaxton, was in charge of all business, Gifts and a cash offering was collected for the Fowler Home in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Abdouch, W.M.U. president, gave the dismissal prayer. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. J. C. Gay to the following.

LETTER to the EDITOR

Editor,
The Burk Star & News
Burkburnett, Texas

We want to say thank you to Burk Burnett.

Perhaps a few have lived here, and known its people, and didn't much care.

We care, and we want the world to know it.

During the 2½ years we were associated with the nursing home, we saw the kindness and friendship of Burk Burnett's people.

To all of the individuals and groups who gave of their time and talents, to those donating gifts and services to the patients, we can only say an inadequate "thank you." Your expressions of love and kindness are not forgotten.

When you visited there, we hope you saw, as we did, the smiles and happy tears in knowing that you cared.

Aged people can be lonely people; too often they are forgotten people.

Burkburnett did not forget. Thank you, and God bless you.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. M. T.
Harrelson

Proper attitude behind the wheel can mean the difference between life and death, says "Texans for Traffic Safety." Driver education in school can help create proper attitudes, yet less than half of Texas' eligible teenagers take the course.

Add food coloring to plastic starch to make fingerprint that washes out of clothes easily.

THE UNCOMMON MAN

"Back in 1942, Henry Agard Wallace said in a speech:
"The century on which we are entering can be and must be the century of the common man."

That "common man" phrase was used as commonly as is the "Great Society" phrase today.

Mr. Herbert Hoover, our 31st President, didn't especially fancy the phrase, and after taking a look at the growing pressures toward conformity in our society had something to say about it. What he said bears repeating today.

"In my opinion," said Mr. Hoover, "there has been too much talk about the Common Man. It has been dinned into us that this is the Century of the Common Man. The idea seems to be that the Common Man has come into his own at last.

"Thus, we are in danger of developing a cult of the Common Man, which means a cult of mediocrity. But there is at least one hopeful sign: I have never been able to find out who this Common Man is. In fact, most Americans, and especially women, will get mad and fight if you try calling them common.

"This is hopeful because it shows that most people are holding fast to an essential fact in American life.
We believe in equal opportunity for all, but we know that this includes the opportunity to rise to leadership — in other words, to be uncommon.

"Let us remember that the great human advances have not been brought about by mediocre men and women.
They were brought about by distinctly uncommon people with vital sparks of leadership. Many of our great leaders were, it is true, of humble origin, but that alone was not their greatness.

"It is a curious fact that when you get sick you want an uncommon doctor; if your car breaks down you want an uncommonly good mechanic; when you get into war you want dreadfully an uncommon admiral and an uncommon general.

"I have never met a father and mother who did not want their children to grow up to be uncommon men and women. May it always be so. For the future of America rests not in mediocrity, but in the constant renewal of leadership in every phase of our national life."

AFTER 185 YEARS

Some time back a top official in the Department of Justice in Washington looked down his nose at a convention of lawyers and suggested, seriously, that the time had come for government to establish controls over the amount of money American business might spend for advertising.

We confess to some amazement that no prominent voice was raised in prompt reply to that arrogant proposal. Now Senator Everett Dirksen, the minority leader in the United States Senate, has made a statement, and it was worth waiting for:

"If government," said Senator Dirksen, "is to be able to control the creative aspects of honest and proper American advertising, the ultimate and frightening conclusion must be that all parts of a newspaper would become vulnerable to such control — and the very purpose of the First Amendment would be threatened.

"People dare not forget that advertising is as much a means of informing people as any other part of a newspaper or other news media. If one may tamper with or abridge one portion of the press, then the entire press structure is jeopardized. Among other things, freedom in the market place means the right of the people to be informed of what is being offered for sale and the right of the seller to inform the people of what he has to sell.
It may be an idea, a product, a service — or many things.
But the advertisement is as much a part of the daily news as any other event that is being reported."

Those who drafted the Constitution of the United States put Freedom of the Press in the very first Amendment, and they didn't even set a period to a sentence in that Amendment until they had prohibited Congress from "abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press."

It is a noteworthy irony that the first recorded serious proposal for abridging freedom of the press in 185 years should come from a high official of the Department of Justice, Mr. Donald F. Turner, Assistant Attorney General of the United States. Of course, Mr.
Turner did not specifically propose that Congress should violate the Constitution by enacting a law. He seemed rather to be testing the reaction if he should arrogate the power to himself.

Senator Dirksen has given him the answer, for all of us.

How five little digits are bringing you closer to everyone you know

How long does it take a letter to travel from a man in Portland, Maine, to his grandmother in the Houston Medical Center? From a woman in Oklahoma City to her soldier son in Fort Bragg, North Carolina? From a girl at the University of Michigan to her parents in Smithtown, New York?

Maybe overnight. Maybe longer.

Because every letter must go through many post offices before it reaches its destination. And since the volume of mail keeps growing at every post office, each letter may wait a little longer to be sorted.

But now there's a new way to get the mail through faster—and bring you closer to everyone you know.

It starts with those five little digits you know as Zip Code. With Zip, postal workers can sort mail faster and route it more directly. With Zip, they will use modern electronic machines that "read" Zip numbers and sort mail fifteen times faster than ever before!

Many people use Zip Codes. But those who don't are holding up the mail for themselves and everyone else.

Add Zip Code to every mailing address—and to your return address, too. Then others can easily Zip their mail to you. When you don't know a Zip Code, call your post office or look it up in their Zip Directory.

Remember those five little digits. They're doing a big job.

HOW ZIP CODE WORKS

Suppose the Zip Code is 60635. The "6" says it goes to the Midwest. The "06" narrows it down to Chicago. The last two digits—"35"—pinpoint the local post office. This eliminates many handling procedures. The letter is sorted faster, and sent more directly to its destination.

Mail moves the country—ZIP CODE moves the mail!

MISS CAROL SUE POTTER IS BRIDE OF DANA MATHERLY

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday, March 18, at 4:00 p.m. in the First Methodist Church by Miss Carol Sue Potter and Mr. Dana Gieger Matherly.

Candelabras and basket arrangements of gladioli and daisies formed the nuptial background. Rev. Melvin Rittenhouse, pastor of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Potter, of Burkburnett. The groom is the son of Mrs. R. E. Matherly, also of Burkburnett.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of white dotted swiss and carried a bouquet of daisies.

Maid of honor was Valerie Matherly of East Texas University. She wore a street length dress of green dotted swiss and carried a long stem yellow carnation.

Perry Ellis of Fort Worth as best man and Jerry Bridges of Burkburnett was usher. A reception was held following the ceremony with Misses Frances Perry and Linda Hodure and Mrs. Tony May assisting.

A 1965 graduate of Burkburnett High School, the bride attended Midwestern University one year and is a 1966 graduate of the Wichita Beauty College.

The groom graduated from Burkburnett High School in 1964 and attended Midwestern University two years. He is now employed at General Dynamics in Fort Worth as a tool and die maker.

The couple will make their home at 4029 Valentine in Fort Worth.

TAXPAYERS ASK IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—Our baby had a bad skin rash last year and the doctor advised us to use a diaper service instead of doing them ourselves. Is the cost of the service a medical expense?

A—No. This is not a deductible medical expense.

Q—I have some income from the sale of a home to report. Where should I do this on my 1040?

A—Gains or losses from property sales should be reported on Schedule D and then entered on Page 2 of the Form 1040 on line 5, Part II. Copies on Schedule D may be obtained from local IRS offices as well as some banks and post offices.

Q—I've heard that you should identify your payments of tax to IRS to make sure they are credited to your account. How do you do this?

A—To identify your tax payment, put your Social Security number on the check or money order. If the payment is in response to a notice of payment due, please enclose the notice with your payment.

Q—My husband is stationed in South Viet Nam with the Marines. What do we do about our 1966 tax return?

A—Military personnel on active duty in a Combat Zone do not have to file tax returns while stationed there. You may therefore wait to file a joint 1966 tax return until 180 days after your husband leaves Viet Nam. This postponement does not apply to the filing of a separate return by the wife if she chooses to file one.

Q—If you want to file your return for 1966 because you have a refund coming, indicate in the space provided for your husband's signature that he is on military duty in Viet Nam.

Q—Do I have to report the interest on savings bonds I bought my son?

A—It depends on how the bonds are registered. If the child is listed as co-owner on the bond, the purchaser is liable for tax on the interest. If the child is sole owner with the parent as beneficiary, the child assumes the tax liability.

Q—My wife and I have always filed joint returns. Can we switch to separate returns this year if it is to our advantage?

A—Yes, you can.

Q—I have to use my car in business. Can I deduct anything for this?

A—Check your 1040 instruction booklet to see whether the use you make of the car qualifies as an allowable business deduction. If it does, you may either deduct your actual expenses in operating the car or ten cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use and seven cents a mile thereafter.

Q—If you use the mileage method, a speedometer reading at the beginning and end of each business trip will establish the amount you can deduct. Tolls and parking fees will be deductible in addition to the mileage allowance.

Q—If you are reimbursed by your company for the use of the car, the amount you deduct must be reduced by that amount. Any excess over the expenses should be declared as income.

Q—We are moving out of the state next month. Should I mail my return to the district office at my new address?

A—No, mail your return to the IRS office indicated in the 1040 instructions based on your address at the time you file the return. However, if you move be certain to leave a forwarding address. One reason many refunds are delayed is that the post office is unable to locate the taxpayer.

Q—When I itemize deductions can I list what I've paid in taxes on wines and liquors?

A—No, there is no deduction for these taxes on individual income tax return.

Q—I was in an auto accident last year and had to pay part of the cost of having the other fellow's car fixed. Is that deductible?

A—No. The deduction for a casualty loss is allowed only to person who own the property.

Q—The statement the bank sent me on interest paid on my savings account last year was wrong. If the banks sends IRS the same information it could mess up my return. Is there anything I can do about it when I file?

A—Enter the correct amount on your return. You should consider the possibility that the bank is including interest which is paid automatically by adding it to your account at the proper time — often at the end of the year. It will not appear on your pass book until the bank has brought it up to date.

If you are sure of the bank's error, you should notify them. An explanation of the error should be attached to the return.

Q—Do I report capital gains on line 8c of Part II of the 1040 where it says capital gains distribution?

A—No. Distributions from certain investment companies, such as mutual funds, which represents capital gains dividends, are to be entered on this line. These amounts are also entered on line 8, Schedule D (Form 1040).

Also reported on Schedule D, in the appropriate sections, are the gains or losses realized upon the sale or exchange of property. For instance, the sale of capital stock which you have held for more than six months is reported on line 5, Part I of the form. Additional information about Schedule D may be found in the instruction booklet and on the form itself.

Unless you honestly think that the world is getting better you can't get very far in business.

Cook-and-Serve Economy: Wiener Marzetti

Here is something to chuck about! It's a cook-and-serve skillet meal that stresses economy. And what economy! Wiener Marzetti is not only easy on the budget, but it is a time and dish saver as well.

What are the requirements? One skillet that can be used for mixing, cooking and serving; five handy food ingredients; and only 25 minutes of your precious time.

This tasty and nutritious skillet meal is a combination of wieners, noodles (which do not require cooking ahead of time), tomato juice, dry onion soup mix and grated cheese.

Of course, it's the sausage that turns the trick, for a pound of fully-cooked wieners goes into Wiener Marzetti. These all-meat, toasty-brown links only need to be heated for serving.

You'll soon find out that this economical dish is a feather in the hat of any resourceful cook!

WIENER MARZETTI

1 pkg. (1 lb.) Oscar Mayer Wieners
4 cups tomato juice
1 envelope (1 3/8 oz.) dry onion soup mix

8 ounces noodles, uncooked
1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese

Heat tomato juice to boiling in medium size skillet and blend in onion soup mix. Add noodles. Bring mixture to boil, then reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes. Cut wieners in half crosswise and add to skillet mixture. Cover and simmer 5 minutes longer. Sprinkle with grated cheese just before serving. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Sheppard AFB To Receive 1966 Outstanding Information Award

By MSgt. Clint Clapp

SHEPPARD AFB, Texas — Sheppard has been selected to receive the 1966 Air Training Command Outstanding Information Program Award according to an announcement by the ATC Office of Information.

The six ATC Technical Training Centers competed for the award with Sheppard coming out on top based on performance in the areas of Internal Information, Public Information, Community Relations and History.

Originally designed to motivate field Information Officers to recognize community relations problems and initiate appropriate solutions, the program was broadened in 1965 to include all areas of the Information function.

A silver-plated engraved plaque will be presented to Maj. Gen. Edward H. Nigro, Center Commander, during an appropriate future ceremony.

In a letter to General Nigro, Lt. Gen. Sam Maddux Jr., ATC commander noted "... (this achievement) reflects exceptional leadership, professional skill and resourcefulness on the part of all members of your command who contributed to the program. Please accept, and pass on to your Information staff, my congratulations for a job well done. I am looking forward to presenting to you in the near future the Outstanding Information Program award which symbolizes this achievement."

Also honored in the ATC announcement was Williams AFB, Ariz., which garnered the 1966 ATC Outstanding Information Program Award for Wings in the command. Williams was judged best among nine Wings in ATC under criteria identical to that used in the Center competition.

For Sheppard, the Outstanding Information Program award follows on the heels of an "Excellent - Commendable Item" rating achieved in last fall's annual inspection by representatives of ATC's Office of the Inspector General. "Excellent" is the highest rating that can be earned during these annual inspections.

Sheppard's Chief of Information during the entire period in which these accomplishments were realized was Maj. R. W. Stephenson, who is still serving in this capacity. Major Stephenson will retire this summer, completing 20 years active military service, of which 16 have been spent in the Information field. He is also credited with six years inactive reserve time.

"Coming as it does near the end of my military career, selection for the Outstanding Information Program award is an especially gratifying honor," Major Stephenson said. "I would like to express my appreciation for the command support which I have received at Sheppard. Without such top-level backing and understanding the award could not have been won."

"I would also be remiss if I did not pay special tribute to the professionalism of the personnel of the Information Office, both military and civilian. Their dedication and ability made this achievement possible."

Major Stephenson also singled out the excellent community relations existing in this area for special praise.

The importance of the solid feeling of empathy exhibited at all times concerning the Air Force presence here which has been shown by civic leaders and others in the civilian community with whom I have dealt on almost a daily basis cannot be over-emphasized," he said. MOR MOR MOR MOR MOR

Discussing the Information Office's staff, Major Stephenson commented "... while all of our assigned people have specific jobs it is policy that personnel in the Information career field be able to successfully carry out any of the varied functions with which we are charged. Versatility is the key word and the officers, NCOs, airmen and civilians assigned to the Information Office here have been truly exceptional in this respect."

Assistant Information Officer duties are handled by 1st Lt. George Hobbs. Lieutenant Hobbs was in charge of special projects and took over the role of Information Officer during Major Stephenson's absences on temporary duty or leave.

Assigned to the "front office" portion of the IO shop were Mrs. Joe Keesee, secretary, and Mrs. Bill Edwards, clerk-typist. The importance of the jobs performed by these ladies was pinpointed by Major Stephenson "... (they) combine efficiency, devotion to duty and pleasantness. They have been directly responsible for creating an atmosphere of know-how and friendliness."

Statistics released by officials concerning Sheppard's Information Office activities in 1966 underline the contribution made in support of Air Force, command and Center objectives.

The Public Information section, headed by Miss Billie Burrell and staffed by Mrs. Van G. Anderson, A2C Fred Robertson and A3C Robert Curry, made 13,996 releases concerning Air Force activities and people to newspaper, radio, television and trade publications during the period.

In addition, 20,043 hometown news releases-stories pertaining to personnel stationed at Sheppard for use in their hometown newspapers — were forwarded to the Hometown News Center, Tinker AFB, Okla. Similar information on 132 foreign students attending school here was also released as were 22 radio-taped interviews with USAF members.

The number of hometown news releases prepared at Sheppard during the April - June quarter last year represented more than 25 percent of the entire ATC output.

In the area of Community Relations, the Information Office conducted 58 tours involving 1,330 people. Assisting in the tours were First Lieutenants Andrew (Horace) Greeley and Tibor Mazar, and 2nd Lt. Tom Morris.

The visitors received escorted tours of various base activities designed to document Sheppard's role in the defense of the nation.

The carefully-planned tours have been credited by local civic officials with playing "a significant role in enhancing the citizen's awareness of, and appreciation for, Sheppard's contribution to the achievement of national goals."

In addition to the tours, the Community Relations section coordinated 113 speeches by Air Force officers to area groups and organizations. The establishment of an up-to-date "Speaker's File" in the Information Office insures the highly qualified officers are available for speaking engagements to various segments of the civilian populace as the need arises and as requests are received.

Under the supervision of Walter Splawn, Center historian, the History section wrote four historical narratives last year—one each six months for Sheppard Technical Training Center and one each six months for the 2630th Flying Training Wing.

Mr. Splawn assisted by staff members, Norwood McLendon, Mrs. Phillip Fulk and A2C Mark Holthaus, increased the section's productivity from three to four volumes. There was also an increase of approximately 25 percent in the narrative portion of the histories.

In addition to the written histories, the section was also responsible for researching and preparing a wide range of reports in support of the Center Commander's activities and programs. Special projects put together by History included a brochure commemorating Sheppard's Silver Anniversary last fall.

Mr. Splawn declared that

THE FIZZLE FAMILY

"... the excellent job performed by unit historians around the installation was of the utmost importance in enabling us to maintain our high standards."

The Internal Information program was highlighted by the surge of the base newspaper, the Senator, to a position as one of the top-ranked publications in the Air Training Command.

Critiqued monthly, the Senator started 1966 on one of the lower echelons of the command-wide totem pole. Steady and sustained progress throughout the year saw the Sheppard paper rated at the year's end in the number five position among 17 command newspapers.

In addition judging at the end of the year by a panel of civilian experts, the Senator was selected as the runner-up in its category for command-wide laurels.

The Senator, published weekly in an eight-page "folio" format is printed without cost to the government by the Times Publishing Co. of Wichita Falls.

The newspaper staff consisted of Bob Arnold, editor, and MSgt. Clint Clapp, SSgt. Jim Jarrell and Mike Kinchen, and Airmen Third Class Richard Mika and Richard Yake. Sergeants Jarrell and Kinchen have been reassigned overseas.

In addition to the activities listed the Information Office has the responsibility of monitoring the Commander's Call program, coordinating performances by the 761st Air Force Band, and working with the local Squadron Adoption Program.

How Precious OUR CHILDREN

In telling us of the heritage of the servants of the Lord, the prophet Isaiah says, "And all thy children shall be taught of the Lord; and great shall be the peace of thy children." Isaiah 54:13. We want our children to be taught the ways of love for God, for their neighbor, and for their fellow man. We know that if they are educated in the ways of love, great will be their peace and happiness, creativeness, and productivity.

What other agency is assigned by our Lord the task of teaching love of God and man than the church? Take your children to church this Sunday and claim His promises.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.—Three pieces of major legislation passed by the House now have landed on the Senate doorstep.

These include:
♦ Local option authority for financially-distressed Texas cities to levy a one-percent sales tax. (Vote: 85-63)

♦ A stiff code of ethics for legislators and other state officials and employees. (Vote: 140-6)

♦ Repeal of "emergency purchase" provisions to put teeth in Sunday closing laws. (Vote: 132-14)

Before passing the city sales tax bill, sponsored by Rep. John Traeger of Seguin, the House spent nearly three hours of continuous debate and waded through more than 30 amendment attempts.

Advocates predict a majority in the Senate, too. But no action is expected across the rotunda until after rules suspension eases with passage of the session's 60 day mark.

Code of ethics bill, by Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville, made its third trip through the House. Substantially the same bill has been approved by representatives in two prior sessions but died in the Senate. Same fate is anticipated this time for what advocates term "one of the strictest codes in the United States."

Measure would require lawmakers to disclose personal interest in legislation, force legislators and state officials and employees to reveal substantial interests in private businesses and require identification of relatives on the state payroll.

Surprisingly, the strengthened Sunday closing law, introduced by Rep. Willis J. Whitley of Houston, cleared the House in seven minutes. Only on comment was made. Smooth sailing also is anticipated in the Senate. (What this law will do to tourist spending has never been mentioned.)

Time Out

First big break in one of the session's closest-fought contests — over whether Texas should go on Daylight Saving Time — came when the Senate state affairs committee approved the exemption bill.

Theater owners, restaurant operators and farmers backed the bill, by Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso, to continue Texas on Central Standard Time. (After April 1 the new federal Uniform Time Act goes into effect everywhere except where state legislators vote otherwise. Only one state, South Dakota, so far properly transporting animals has passed an exemption act.) Panel was unimpressed with arguments of television broadcasters, railroad and airline spokesmen that the state must stay in time with the rest of the nation.

Same bill, heard in House state affairs committee, was referred to subcommittee and has not yet emerged.

Veterinary Laboratory

Bill to create a Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory for Texas farmers and ranchers at Texas A&M University has been sent to the Governor for his signature.

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria and Sen. Bill Putman of Ganado, sponsors of the bill, said the laboratory will be located on property which will be given to the State by the A&M Board of Regents. Purpose of the laboratory is to give speedy and accurate analyses of samples from possibly diseased animals to help local veterinarians diagnose and treat the animals.

Migrant Living

House Public Health Committee — considering a bill to set up state standards for farmworker housing — heard testimony last week from state officials of the insanitary living conditions of the 162,000 migrant farm workers in Texas.

Committee sent the bill along to a subcommittee, after such officials as Col. Egon Tausch of the migrant section of the Texas Good Neighbor Commission gave case studies of migrant conditions and pointed out that cases of infant dysentery often range as high as 30 per cent among the children of farm workers.

Feed Lot Bill Moves

A feed lot license bill was approved by the House agriculture committee. Sponsor is Rep. Tom Holmes of Granbury.

It sets standards of sanitation in livestock feeding operations under authority of the Texas Animal Health Commission and fixes these annual licensing fees: $25 for lots that feed under 1,000 head; $100 for 1,000 to 3,000 head; $150 for 3,000 to 10,000 head; and $200 for over 10,000 head. Licenses are optional for lots feeding under 1,000.

Under amendments, the Commission would have to act in 30 days on license applications. Water Pollution Control Board and Air Control Board regulations would prevail in "matters falling within their jurisdiction." Committee also approved a bill to raise fines and penalties (up to $200 per head) for import fever tick quarantine areas.

Local Officials' Raise

County auditors and precinct officials would make substantial monetary gains under a pair of bills being sponsored in the House by Reps. Vernon Beckham of Denison and Dick Cory of Victoria.

Beckham's bill would let county commissioners courts pay mileage reimbursement to county auditors for travel in their line of duty. House Committee on Counties referred that measure to a subcommittee for further consideration.

Cory's bill would allow commissioners courts to raise the salaries of justices of the peace and constables up to 20 per cent over what they now earn. Committee favorably reported this one back to the House floor where it now is awaiting action.

Livestock Markets

Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville and Rep. Charles Jungmichel of La Grange have introduced legislation to place greater emphasis on encouraging the construction, development and expansion of services and facilities of livestock markets in Texas.

Connally's bill would establish a charter-fee system to govern livestock markets and to create a seven-member Public Livestock Board in the state government to grant charters and supervise the markets livestock are auctioned.

"We have seen in the last 10 to 15 years a vast improvement in bank facilities and an expansion of their services," the Senator said. "The same results can be obtained by providing the proper basis for establishing and developing livestock markets."

Movie Regulation

Every incorporated city and town in Texas would be required to set up a "Motion Picture Classification Board" to preview every movie to be shown in that city and classify it as "suitable" or "not suitable" for persons under age 18 by a bill introduced in the House by Rep. Cordell Hull of Fort Worth.

Hull said that cities now have the authority for such regulation, but his bill would make the board mandatory and would provide guidelines for classifying movies. Board would be composed of nine members appointed by the city's governing body for two-year terms.

Teaching Of Spanish

Rep. Ralph Wayne of Plainview has introduced a bill requiring public schools to offer courses in Spanish to students in the second, third and fourth grades.

Wayne's bill, now in the House Education Committee, would require that within five years after passage of the bill, every elementary school in the state begin teaching Spanish to students in at least those three grades.

MR. AND MRS. FLOYD THOMPSON OBSERVE 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Thompson were honored Sunday, March 12 with a reception from 1:00-5:00 p.m. in the National Room of the First National Bank in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Hostesses for the affair were their two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Garrett of Denver City, Tex. and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Fluesche of Electra and Mrs. Thompson's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Glen C. Miller of Altus, Okla.

The Thompsons were married March 17, 1917 in Grandfield, Okla. They have resided in Burkburnett since 1925. Mrs. Thompson is the former Nettie Holt.

Floral arrangements were used throughout the party room. A buffet lunch and punch and cake were served to approximately 50 guests who attended during the appointed hours.

It also provides that the State Board of Education furnish textbooks and recorded Spanish exercises to the school districts without cost to the students.

Courts Speak

U.S. Supreme Court rejected a challenge of the Texas law which provides penalties up to $1,000 a day for operating slant hole oil wells.

High court wrote no opinion in ruling that it would not hear arguments on the state law dealing with violators of the prohibition against angle drilling across another property owner's or lease holder's boundary.

A total of $304,800 in fines are involved in appeal. But petitioners claimed the state is seeking fines and penalties ranging into millions of dollars in 100 similar cases.

Attorney General Speaks

A $5,000,000 appropriation for the Institute of Texas Cultures of San Antonio's HemisFair '68 can be spent any time up to February 19, 1969, and may be used for operating expenses, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin held in an official opinion.

In other opinions, Martin concluded:

♦ Legislature may authorize a grant or loan of state funds to a governmental entity for sewer facilities and water quality control program planning and facilities.

♦ Board of Registration for Professional Engineers does not have the power to amend rules to permit the licensing of persons with degrees other than engineering.

♦ McLennan County commissioners court may permit an applicant for a county depository contract to replace a cashier's check (required in bidding) and award the contract to the applicant.

♦ No exemptions from an inheritance tax on bank accounts in Texas where account belongs to a non-resident citizen can be allowed under the unconstitutional retroactive provision of a 1959 law.

Museum Fund Raised

A $200,000 private contribution was turned over to Governor Connally for a museum at Washington State Park near Brenham. This releases $500,000 more previously appropriated by the legislature under a matching arrangement.

Museum plans will begin immediately at the state's first capitol site.

Sponsors hope to completely restore the old city of Washington-on-the-Brazos as it was in 1836.

SHORT SNORTS

Governor Connally has appointed Sherman Birdwell of Austin as chairman of the Governor's Committee on the Status of Women and Mrs. Mary Ann Faust of Beaumont as vice-chairman.

Department of Public Safety is reminding Texas motorists that only six weeks remain before the April 15 deadline on the 1967 vehicle inspection stickers.

House Parks and Wildlife Committee favorably recommended a bill introduced in the House by Rep. Leroy Wieting of Portland authorizing the Parks and Wildlife Department to negotiate with the federal government for the eradication of vegetation in Texas streams and lakes.

Water Development Board withdrew a $15,000,000 bond offering because of an "unsatisfactory" market.

Lindsey Enderby of Gainesville has been designated chairman of "Opportunities, Unlimited," a career-political education conference set for April 22 on the UT campus. Sen. John Tower and GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss are sponsors of the conference.

Sen. V. E. (Red) Berry of San Antonio has proposed constitutional amendments to take Texas either "all wet" or "all dry" for liquor sale.

Bills by Rep. Joe Allen of Baytown would ban the use of oyster shell in road construction and restore the old shell dredging line at 1,500 feet from live reefs; Allen also recommends enlarging Parks & Wildlife Commission from three to six members.

DIET AND HEART DISEASE

The increasing number of deaths from heart diseases and related conditions, such as stroke, has stimulated many varieties of research into possible causes, measures of prevention and means for treatment.

Diet, naturally, has come in for a great deal of attention, as it always has when an explanation is sought for a biological phenomenon. Thirty or more years ago when the longevity of the Bulgarian people was much in the news, it was commonly attributed to their use of a fermented milk, and there was a great vogue in this country for Bulgarian milk, which was no better or no worse than our own well-known buttermilk. Today, we can conclude that in addition to the irrefutable benefits of milk in their diet, there were at least two other factors—heredity and hard work—contributing to Bulgarian health.

Inherited Factors
The inherited structure of the tissues determines their maximum efficiency; short of this, which cannot be exceeded, there is room to exercise such useful influences as may be controllable. Some families show a trend toward early development of high blood pressure and arterial disease, and this trend is generally regarded as inherited.

The heart and the arteries are living tissues, and therefore require good nutrition. Excess weight is a known factor in heart and arterial diseases; weight control is a matter of food intake versus energy output. Therefore diet is a factor. But so is activity. A sedentary life is more conducive to the currently important types of heart disease than an active one. Infection, formerly a serious menace to the heart, has been greatly minimized by antibiotics and other drugs.

Fat in the diet, and particularly animal fat, has been held responsible for arterial plaques and deterioration of circulation with consequent heart (coronary) and brain strokes. Some physicians, and many non-medical people, have become apprehensive about animal fats in the diet, and there has been some trend toward the unsaturated vegetable fats.

But there are divergent opinions. Population groups, particularly in Asia, who ate large amounts of mutton fat, had little or no heart or arterial disease, and the investigators attributed this fact to their living pattern of hard physical labor.

Authorities Not Committed

Two principal American authorities have not committed themselves to the theory that animal fats are the main determining factor in heart diseases. One is the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council, a federal advisory agency, and the other is the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association. As far as they are willing to go is a recommendation for a reduction of all varieties of fat in the American diet, mainly in the interest of better weight control.

For the non-medical person seeking a way out of this dilemma, the best advice is that which comes from his attending physician, who really knows him and his health and dietary needs.
