Concert Possibility Presented Thursday Night; City Hall

A Concert Association for Coryell County is a possibility. More than that, a probability, that is, if clubs, organizations, individuals, and just plain citizens show enough interest Thursday evening to be at the City Hall at 7:30, when William Z. Rozan of Houston will present the plan.

In his conversations with the News, the Concerts would not be sponsored by any one person, but the community, and with a non-profit organization and memberships in this sold, which would finance the plan.

No guarantee or contract, Mr.
Rozan said, is signed until sufficient membership is sold to secure enough money to "sign".
No body signs a thing, until that is done. In other words, nobody sticks his neck out.

It is the hope of the News, that sufficient interest will be shown in this movement to bring these concerts each season to our county and little city.

Of Mr. Rozan and his work,
John Rosenfield, Amusements
Editor of the Dallas Morning News says: "Municipal Concerts, organized by William Z. Rozan, is the finest practical application of this principle I have seen.
It should enable the citizens of all communities to balance their lives with cultural events." Rousell of the Houston Post says:
"His cultural series for smaller communities meets a definite need in a very practical way-- and he has the background of theatre experience to make it go."

Mr. and Mrs. Short Weaver and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Watson of Raymondville were visitors with Mr. Homer Wilson of Gatesville this week.

WASHINGTON NEWS

FROM OUR CONGRESSMAN

W. R. POAGE

February 28, 1947

Dear Friends:

This afternoon the House passed by a vote of 345 to 56 what is undoubtedly the most important measure yet have had before us so far this year. This bill, H. R. 2157, puts a stop to the "portal to portal" racket which developed following the decision of the Supreme Court in the Mount Clemens Pottery Co. case. In this case the Court held erroneously that an employer was required to pay for any substantial time an employee was required to spend washing up, changing clothes, walking from the gate to his place of work, etc. The Court took the position that the fact that the time was not used to the benefit of the employer had nothing to do with the matter. It also held that the fact that neither party had ever contemplated payment for such time and that it was not payable under either contract or custom likewise did not relieve the employer. On the other hand, the effect was to hold that this time during which the employee making ready to start or stop was in fact "overtime" and should be paid for at premium rates.

Of course, there are circumstances under which workers should be paid for time before they actually begin productive work. Many of these cases are already taken care of by specific contracts like those the railroad men have which provide that the pay starts as soon as the worker reports to a certain spot. Both employer and employee know of these arrangements and, of course, can accept them or reject them as they see fit. I do not question the right of any worker to make an agreement to receive pay 24 hours per day if the employer is willing to hire him on that basis, but the Court's decision in effect imposed obligations which neither party anticipated.

The practical effect of this decision, if left as handed down, would subject practically every industry in America to undetermined obligations running into many billions of dollars,—obligations which were not foreseen and against which no protection could have been secured. While it is thought that a substantial part of these claims would ultimately fall on the Government under the "cost-plus" contracts that prevailed during the war, there is no question but what the payment of these claims would have broken a large part of the industry of this country.

Not only would such payments break most of our large corporations—not only would it set off a cycle of panic—not only would it involve the government with many billions of new obligations it would also necessarily stop production and throw millions of men out of work. In fact, it seems quite clear that, if sustained, these claims would absolutely destroy every possibility of establishing a normal economy in this country for many years.

The House Bill proposes to bar claims of this kind where the employer acted in good faith, and further provides that in the future no one shall have a right to collect for non-productive time unless he is entitled to such payment by the terms of a contract or by established custom. It seems to me that this is fair to all. It lets both the employer and employee know in advance just what wages will be paid. It does not prevent any worker from getting paid for any time that he and the employer feel should be included. On the other hand, it gives the employer a chance to protect himself against unneeded costs and law suits. I, therefore, voted for the bill.

As is generally known, President Truman is going to visit Waco next Thursday morning, and Attorney General Tom Clark is going to speak in Temple that night. This is a distinct honor to the 11th District. I am sure that all of our people are proud of the recognition given to Central Texas. As I extended the invitation to both the President and the Attorney General, I must, therefore, be at home next week to welcome our very distinguished guests. Fortunately, the Lead-

Studebaker's New Luxurious Land Cruiser Arrives

The first public presentation of an entirely new Studebaker model that combines the richest of prewar elegance with the best of post-war styling was announced today by Powell Supply Co., Gatesville.

The model is the 1947 Land Cruiser, available only as a four-door sedan, it carries the now-familiar Studebaker design to even higher standards of spaciousness and comfort.

"Since the Land Cruiser has only recently gone into production at the Studebaker plant in South Bend, Ind. we consider ourselves fortunate in being able to arrange a showing at this early date," said Powell. "The car is longer and roomier than any we have previously shown, but it will undoubtedly become best known for its restful cushioning and tasteful interior appointments."

"Just as Studebaker beat the rest of the field with a genuine postwar car, it has built this model with a determination to excel all others in luxury."

In appearance the Land cruiser is a longer wheelbase version of the Commander and the increased length of the body has enhanced the beauty of the smoothly flowing lines. Conforming with the trend that is expected to become more pronounced in all future automobiles, passenger seats and engine have been moved forward as part of a scientific redistribution of weight. This has resulted in two major automotive achievements. Better chassis balance and lower center of gravity have been reflected in a remarkable advance in riding ease. Secondly, passenger compartments have been lowered and extended to the former fender boundaries. Front seats are full five feet in width.

Exteriors are further marked by the use of curved, one-piece windshields, complementing the overall visibility that is one of the model's most impressive features. Doors are extremely wide and floors are low, assuring easy movement in or out of the passenger compartment.

Color Harmony

Color harmony as well as luxury characterizes the exclusive interiors of the Land Cruisers. Eight body colors and two shades of broadcloth upholstery are available. In addition to the superlative quality of the fabrics, pleats and tufts lend a distinctive custom-built flavor to cushioning. Wrapped cushion spring toppers are another contribution to comfort.

Appointments include adjustable rear compartment ventilation windows, assist straps, leather robe rails, fully carpeted front and rear floors scuff pads and a tasteful application of garnish moulding and stainless steel rim.

Other features frequently listed as extra cost items but included as standard equipment on the Land Cruiser are electric clocks, positive action windshield wipers, hill-holders and oil-filters.

Miss Annie Robinson and her niece, Miss Harriett Robinson were in Abilene for a week end with Mr. and Mrs. Miller Robinson and other relatives.

WITH THE COLORS

Ft. Dix, N. J., Feb. 27—Master Sergeant Elton D. Pollock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Pollock, of Box 201, Coleman, Texas, is leaving the Replacement Training Center here, and will report to the Ordnance Depot Training Center, Atlanta, Ga. to his new assignment.

Prior to entering the service, M/Sgt. Pollock attended the Gatesville High School for four years, and resided with his wife at 710 W. 14th St., Austin, Texas.

M/Sgt. Pollock is a veteran of 16 months in the European Theatre, where he was awarded the Bronze Star Medal; Good Conduct Medal, and the E. T. O. Ribbon with two battle Stars. He also wears the China-Burma-India Ribbon; the Pre-Pearl Harbor Ribbon; the American Defense Ribbon and the World War II Victory Medal.

The young veteran reenlisted in the Army on April 16, 1946, having originally entered the service on June 20, 1940.

Chicago saw its first locomotive in 1848.

Mrs. John Blanchard is Hostess for Meeting of Mountain Ladies Club

The pleasant home of Mrs. John Blanchard was opened on March 4 for an all-day meeting of the members of the Mountain Ladies Club.

For the noon feast there was baked chicken and dressing, delectable and other delicacies.

The group quilted and hemmed one quilt, and another one was put into frames ready for work. Some handwork was done by those not quilting.

Pal Day was observed and each member received a nice gift, and names were drawn for the next month. Three new members came into the club, and fourteen members were present.

The next meeting with Mrs. Bud Cook will be another all-day affair on March 11. Each lady will bring a covered dish. Visitors are always welcome.

Gatesville Methodist Condemn Horse Racing

One hundred and fifty laymen of the Gatesville district of the Methodist Church, in session at Meridian on March 4, passed by unanimous vote a resolution condemning the pending bill that would authorize race track gambling in Texas.

They further called on all Methodists of this area which includes more than 50 Methodist Churches, to lend their every effort to the defeat of this bill.

Twenty-five pastors present passed a like resolution. The Rev. Floyd E. Johnson, district superintendent of the Gatesville district presided at the meeting.

Mrs. J. M. Prewitt is in Fort Worth visiting with her son, Fred G. Prewitt, wife and baby, Patsy.

Large Responsive Group Gave Audience to Gifted Book Reviewer Saturday

Through the hospitality of the Morris Federation a fascinated group of some two hundred Gatesville women heard Mrs. Van Doren Goodall of Clifton in a remarkably entertaining review of "My American Adventure", a delightful book, "often overlooked in libraries". Mrs. Goodall's powers as a reader were given wide scope of exercise in the imitation of the accent of the highly educated, cultured German refugee who mirrored for us American Life in all its freedom, affection, toleration and democratic extinction of class recognition. The audience loved this young German woman and the climax found in the ardent pronouncement that America meant to her "Home! Home, Home!" found a responsive thrill in every heart under the domed roof of the City Auditorium.

Mrs. W. C. Bradley of the Morris Federation greeted the arriving guests of the club at the door, and made a most gracious welcoming address. The guest entertainer for the occasion, Mrs. Goodall was presented by Mrs. Byron Leaird, Jr., whose pleasingly spoken words lent just the right atmosphere of glamour for the appearance of the speaker before an eagerly awaiting assembly of listeners.

During the reception period strangers in Gatesville were given opportunity to meet the longer time residents who will later be their friends and neighbors.

THRILL BURGARS' LOOT

Cameras, rifles, a radio, electric razors and nearly four cases of whiskey, stolen bottle by bottle, was the cache acquired by four SMU students who told Dallas Police they committed a series of burglaries just for the thrill. Looking over the goods is Detective T. S. Connelly, who estimated the value at $3,000. The students are out on bond. AP Photo.

Vinnie Millard Thomas Life Long Resident of Coyell County Dies

A brief illness proved fatal to Vinnie Millard Thomas, who died at his home in the State School colony of officer personnel, Mar. 3, at 9:30 o'clock in the evening.

A native of Coryell county, Vinnie Millard Thomas was born at Levita to Mr. E. C. Thomas and Mrs. Mattie Reagan Thomas May 16, 1884. He followed farming until thirteen years ago when he accepted the responsible place of company commander at Gatesville State Training School for Boys. He served with distinctive recognition, and his influence was inspiringly uplifting to the boys over whom he had command.

Mr. Thomas and Miss Eula Lee Russell married November 16, 1904. He is survived by his widow and a son, Otha Thomas of Gatesville, two granddaughters and a great granddaughter, Mrs. Willis Moore and daughter, Miss Patricia Moore of Timmonsville, South Carolina, and Miss Helen Joyce Thomas of this city.

A member of the Methodist church, Mr. Thomas was a devout Christian, and tribute was paid to him in every sphere of life by Rev. Hubert Crain of Gatesville First Methodist church when the minister officiated in memorial ceremonies held at Scott's Chapel on March 4 at four o'clock.

The grave where the body sleeps in Gatesville cemetery was covered with flowers, offerings of friends and relatives in loving remembrance of his association as they journeyed together through life. Serving at the casket as pallbearers were Irvin Kitchens, R. C. Edwards, Floyd Bell, W. B. Wilson, E. B. Huckabee, and Lawrence Coward.

Dips and Peaks

Practical economists view the business outlook in terms of peaks and valleys. They have come to accept the ups and downs of the charts as interpretation of the myriad factors indicative of trends that may take place in our changing, dynamic economy. But the query is put: How can we avoid depressions? Must we take these periodic back-sets for granted? Is there not danger for America in depressions?

These questions are sometimes honestly asked by critics of what they call "boom and bust" capitalism. Yes, there is danger in depressions. They're full of dynamite. We might wish to avoid the effects of every kind of business recession, but to say that we desire to give up freedom of individual opportunity for a regimentation so thorough that we can avoid depression would be to swap temporary set-back for permanent disaster.

Level Road?

America's economy is a changing economy. It is dynamic. And its direction, always, has been upwards toward the mountain peaks of a higher and higher standard of living for all her citizens. It is just possible that we could stay in the valley, finding a level road that would be smooth and easy. Some folks mistakenly call this "security." But if we would have the mountain peaks of higher and higher standards of living, then we must be prepared for the brief plateaus, or even the dips, of readjustment for the climb ahead.

This need be no bitter revelation. The price of no depression would mean accepting a static economy. We can have "no progress" along with "no depression." A static America, however, would not be a progressive, inventive, virile America. There are freedoms which thrive in the dynamic economy, and not the least of them is freedom of opportunity.

Price Too High

State socialism desires to become your protector. You may have full and continuous protection—if you care to turn over to the state the job of deciding how many jobs there will be, what will be produced, who'll take the jobs, and at what wages. But we know the price of this protectorate is too high.

Almost within our own generation the working man has had his hours cut nearly one-third. Real wages of the "undiscovered" common-man have tripled in many industries. Secondary school enrollments have increased ten times, and college education is available to everyone. The physical comforts and the luxury goods consumed by America's common-man are the envy of the whole world. All this has taken place, despite depressions.

Upward Still

This is not to say that America should accept serious business recessions without making any effort to cushion their effect. A wealth of experience from the uncertain Thirties should enable Congress to meet future emergencies with more success. We shall be able to avoid the mistake of blaming overproduction, for we now know that to admit overproduction is to admit that we can offer a higher standard of living than our people can accept.

America can keep going ahead on the climb upward toward heights now undreamed of, if we rededicate ourselves to honest effort in understanding and using the system that has brought us so much. Recognizing the laurels that belong already to the American way, we may scale heights that yet have never been surveyed. Let us not just take depressions for granted; let's take them in stride.

Young Adults of M. E. Cen-Tex Conference On The March Forward

The Coryell County News is requested to make the following announcement:

A greater conference-wide organization is our goal in order that a fuller and richer young adult program may be carried on in each local church. Therefore, a meeting for all young adults and workers with young adults has been set for 3 p. m. Saturday, March 15 at Glen Rose Lake Methodist Camp, Glen Rose, Tex.

There will be fun and fellowship, with sightseeing, hiking, games and a period when the whole group will meet in one body for planning future activities. This is not a gathering to raise money. Bring a sack lunch for supper and lots of good ideas.

Get with the young adult members in your church, talk the meeting up, and make plans to attend. This is something that you cannot afford to miss. George Tinkle, Jr., 1112 Binkley Street, Fort Worth, Texas, can give you additional information.

Mrs. J. S. Floyd and daughter, Edith Maude and son Jacob S. Floyd, Jr., were visitors this week with Mrs. Floyd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Jones, brothers and their families, Dr. and Mrs. K. R. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Mat Jones.

Mrs. H. Tom Chapman
Home Hostess Friday
For Merry Wives Club

The home of Mrs. H. Tom Chapman afforded inviting environment Friday afternoon for the meeting of the "Merry Wives" club personnel and a few especially invited guests.

There was the usual half hour of arrival greetings and chatting in cozy rooms sweet with the fragrance of white and yellow narcissi filling low bowls set at vantage points emphasizing a charming St. Patrick's Day decorative theme. Partners were matched for games of "84", and following a series of keenly contested games, refreshments were served on the card tables.

Bidden for the afternoon's pleasure were Mrs. F. J. Battle, Mrs. C. F. Caruth, Sr., Mrs. B. F. Cook, Mrs. Tom Davidson, Mrs. W. C. Guggolz, Mrs. Pat D. Holt, Mrs. Ed Melbern, Mrs. J. H. FLY YOUR KITES Safely

Away from Electric Lines!

Kite flying is great fun but danger lurks when kites are flown near electric lines. Many a child has lost his life using wire for a kite string or climbing a pole to get a tangled kite. Play safe by following these rules:

1. Use only dry, cotton string to fly your kite.
2. Do not use metal kite sticks.
3. Do not climb a pole to get a tangled kite.
4. Fly your kite only in open fields away from power lines or busy highways.

If your kite becomes entangled in electric wires, don't risk injury by trying to get it down yourself. Call our office and we'll send a man to remove it for you safely.

CONCERTS A POSSIBILITY!

Thursday evening, the 13th, we of Coryell County and Gatesville will be given an opportunity to satiate our pent up desires for something of a "lifting" aesthetic character, you might say in the modern version, "something out of this world".

William Rozan, of Houston, of the Musical Concerts, will be here that evening at the City Hall to explain in detail the workings of the plans for Municipal Concerts for us.

He has asked that all clubs, civic organizations, schools, and in fact everyone's interested, music teachers, etc., be present.

Gatesville and Coryell County have another opportunity, and it's our candid opinion, a good one to have something besides juke box music, slapstick, hill-billy and western. Not that they're not OK., but, that there IS something else of the finer, brighter, more lasting music and entertainment than these.

Frankly, we're expecting something to be worked out THIS Thursday evening.

MILK THIEVES

Somebody's just plain stealing our milk! We're not alone in this. The dairyman comes around, leaves it on the front porch, and if we're not there in a jiffy for it—it's gone.

We're beginning to not like this. If the "thief" really wants milk, which we don't think is so, if he'll knock, and ask for it, we'll get him all he wants. To the contrary, we understand, the bottles are moved to other peoples homes who don't even take milk from our dairyman.

Now, we've told the police, but they can't follow the milk route and be everywhere at all times.

Isn't there anything else these boys can find to do for pleasure, sport, fun or amusement, than taking somebody's milk? If there isn't, us citizens need to bring in some amusement, or something! Maybe THEY need concerts!

This milk swiping should, and WILL Stop!

Uncle Sam Says

Whenever I hear one of my nephews say he has bought United States Savings Bonds, I feel like nudging him and saying: "Nephew, you haven't really bought anything. That may sound strange at first, but the proof is simple. Ordinarily when you buy something you have to spend your money. What you have actually done in acquiring savings bonds is to exchange non-interest bearing notes for interest bearing ones. You have merely converted your money into a different form, a form in which it will start growing in amount. In savings bonds form your money earns $4 for every $3 invested in ten years.
