Suicide Note Genuine, Handwriting Expert Testifies In Trial Of Pastor

POISON FOUND IN WIFE'S BODY CHEMIST SAYS

Telling Evidence Given By Prosecution Witnesses In Murder Case

MINISTER UNMOVED

Accused Man Identified As 'Detective' Registering At Small Hotel

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 19. (UP)—A suicide note, allegedly penned by Mrs. Fannie Berrie before her mysterious death, was introduced in court tonight as attorneys sought to free her 52-year-old preacher husband from a murder charge.

The Rev. S. A. Berrie, unfrocked Cumberland Presbyterian minister, is on trial for allegedly poisoning his wife to marry a 19-year-old Sunday school teacher.

Amanda Morrow, Wagoner, Okla., bank clerk who said she was a handwriting expert, said she believed Mrs. Berrie had written the note, which said "I am tired of life." The state has charged the note was fictitious.

Deathbed Remark

The defense sought to further its intimation that Mrs. Berrie died either from self-administered poison or from an overdose of sedatives by testimony of Mrs. Mary Morrow, also of Wagoner.

"Mrs. Berrie came to my home with her husband a week before her death," Mrs. Morrow said. "She was troubled by convulsions then. Her legs, and hands and head would shake.

"Once, she said to me: 'This trouble is killing me'."

Mrs. Ruth Berrie, the defendant's daughter-in-law, closed the taking of defense testimony tonight, telling how Mrs. Berrie, on her deathbed, had said:

"'My husband has been so good to me'."

Chemist Testifies

The defense, which will present approximately 25 witnesses tomorrow, started its case late this afternoon after the state closed with the testimony of a chemist that "positive traces" of strychnine poisoning had been found in Mrs. Berrie's body in a postmortem examination.

Banking System Draws Attack of Norman Thomas

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 19. (AP)—The nation's private banking system was assailed as "the most corrupt and incompetent feature of American life," by Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, in an address here tonight given out in advance by Socialist headquarters.

Claiming the nation's financial institutions enjoyed an average increase in net income of 16 per cent from 1922 to 1929, Thomas asserted that "despite these huge earnings, the financial institutions have given depositors no protection."

"The immense profits of our banks are not made in ways that older bankers would have regarded as honest," he said.

Early Trial For Slayer Of T-U Student Sought

AUSTIN, Oct. 19. (AP)—Early indictment and trial of John M. Pickett, paroled convict, for the murder of Edgar C. Ariedge Jr., 21, University of Texas senior, will be sought by the state, Henry Brooks, Travis county district attorney, said today. Brooks said he hoped to wind the case up this week.

Pickett last night signed a statement confessing he shot Ariedge while the student and his sweetheart were sitting in a parked automobile near the outskirts of the city. Ariedge's young woman companion was slightly wounded by the bullet. The shooting occurred one month ago.

Brooks said he had agreed to recommend a sentence of 99 years if Pickett would sign a statement accepting responsibility for the slaying. The agreement was made, Brooks said, when he became convinced the evidence that could be presented by the state would be insufficient to warrant a jury assessing the death penalty.

The state's meager evidence consisted of a revolver and the bullet that passed through Ariedge's head.

INDECISION IN LIBBY'S CASE

State Uncertain Whether To Drop Charges

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Oct. 19. (US)—The demand of Libby Holman Reynolds that she be brought to trial for the murder of her young millionaire husband, Smith Reynolds, despite the request of the dead youth's family that the case be dropped, tonight had the state of North Carolina in a quandary.

State Solicitor Carlisle Higgins, who last night received a letter from William M. Reynolds, uncle of young Reynolds and spokesman for the family, asking that the state drop prosecution of the murder indictments against Libby and Ab Walker, the dead boy's closest friend, was still undecided tonight whether he would continue with the prosecution or not.

Declares Innocence

He was faced on one hand by the request of the Reynolds family that the cases be dropped, on the other by the demand of the torch-singing widow of young Reynolds for "complete exoneration," which, she feels, can be obtained by a verdict of not guilty from a trial jury.

In a conversation today with her lawyer, Benet Polikoff, Libby said:

"I want this accusation against me cleared permanently, not temporarily. I am entitled to complete exoneration."

Mr. Polikoff, who talked with the blues singer by long distance telephone, had told her of the request of the Reynolds family that the cases be dropped. Libby's reply to this news was:

"I don't want that. I won't stand for it. It isn't justice. I am innocent and they know it."

Polikoff asked: "Then you want me to demand a trial?"

Libby's reply was definite and to the point:

"That's exactly what I want and nothing less."

Plans for Trial

Polikoff said tonight that he is continuing his plans for a trial, and will follow his client's wishes in demanding one in case the state sees fit to take a nolle prosse.

Solicitor Higgins today was prosecuting a criminal docket in Ashe county court, 100 miles from here, and had not yet replied to the letter of Reynolds.

Polikoff explained his client's insistence on a trial this afternoon:

"Mrs. Reynolds wants only complete vindication. If the indictments are nolle prossed by the

The verdict was returned by Judges John P. Dempsey, Virgil J. Terrell and Homer G. Powell, who had heard the case without a jury.

GUN CHARGE KILLS WICHITA FARM OWNER

Otis L. Stegall Found Dead At Home Near Pleasant Valley School

INQUEST IS HELD

Neighbor Finds Body While Court Hears Plea In Divorce Case

While injunction proceedings filed by his estranged wife were being heard in the 30th district court, Otis L. Stegall, 30, Wichita county farmer, was found shot to death at his Pleasant Valley home at 4:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The body was found by a neighbor woman who moved into the Pleasant Valley school community Tuesday.

Injunction Granted

Judge Allan Montgomery granted Mrs. Lenora Stegall an injunction restraining Mr. Stegall from disposing of community property other than necessary to meet family debts. The injunction was asked in connection with divorce proceedings.

The victim's body was found at the rea of a shed. He had been dead several hours when the body was discovered and county officers notified. Judge O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, investigated with Sheriff Perry Browning and Deputy Pat Allen and said a verdict of suicide would be returned.

Testimony at the inquest revealed the victim had been worried over financial and family troubles.

Mr. Stegall was last seen alive on his farm about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Neighbor children, returning to school at the lunch hour said they heard a shot near the place. The victim had borrowed a single-barrel 20 gauge shotgu from a negro cotton picker on a farm near his place Tuesday. He told the negro he planned to kill a calf.

Weapon Near Body

Mr. Stegall was struck in the stomach by a single charge from a shotgun. The borrowed weapon was found near the body, partly tilted in a discarded automobile rim. The body was powder burned.

Divorce proceedings were filed against Mr. Stegall in state court here Oct. 15. The Stegall place is located on Junction road, seven miles west of Wichita Falls and a half-mile south of the Iowa Park road.

Mrs. Stegall and their two children, Lois and Junior, returned to Burkburnett Wednesday afternoon where they have been residing with relatives.

The body was taken in charge by the Hines mortuary pending completion of funeral arrangements.

54-Hour Labor Law For Women Found Invalid

AUSTIN, Oct. 19. (AP)—A section of the Texas law designed to prevent women workers from putting in more than 54 hours weekly at their jobs was rendered inoperative by the court of criminal appeals today.

The appellate court also voided a law passed by the second extraordinary session of the 42nd Texas legislature which sought to amend the statutes levying an occupation tax on money lenders and loan brokers.

The court reversed and remanded a verdict against E. D. Butcher, convicted in Harris county, for keeping women laundry workers employed more than 54 hours weekly, and ordered the prosecution dismissed on grounds the specific section of the statute applying to the complaint did not fix a penalty.

The law provides that employers shall be subject to prosecution when they require, women employes to work more than nine hours daily or 54 hours weekly.

Butcher had been fined $50 in county court. He applied to the court of criminal appeals for a writ of habeas corpus. Some months ago the court refused the writ, but today it granted Butcher's motion for a rehearing and reversed its former holding.

MILLS ASSAILS RECORD MADE BY DEMO HOUSE

Treasury Secretary Replies To Charges Made By Speaker Garner

CREDIT 'SAFE' TODAY

Cabinet Member Declares Financial Status Was Made Public

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19. (AP)—Discussing Speaker Garner's recent campaign speech, Secretary Mills tonight told an audience here that "in the course of two weeks the Democratic house voted practically to double the expenditures for the fiscal year 1933, to unbalance the budget on a scale which would have threatened the credit of the government."

Mills opened his address by referring to last Friday's speech of the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

"Worst Ever"

"I venture to say, without fear of contradiction," the treasury secretary continued, "that in the long history of American congresses the financial record of the Democratic house of representatives during the last session of the congress is the worst ever made.

"They passed a bill to start the printing presses going; one directing the secretary of the treasury and the federal reserve board to manipulate prices; another guaranteeing bank deposits; another putting the federal government into the commercial banking business. They refused to cooperate in a program of economy. They tore their own revenue bill to shreds. They passed measures which would have undermined the credit of the government, upon which the whole edifice of reconstruction was being erected.

Bonus Bill Passed

"On June 15, the bonus bill, costing $2,300,000,000, was jammed through the house with Democrats supporting it three to one.

"They would now have you believe that they are sound, conservative, and that under their management the government finances will be in safe hands. But the record tells a very different story."

Mills said "today the national credit stands on a firm foundation; the integrity of the dollar has been made secure, our banking and credit structure has been saved from the devastating effects of panc and fear." He said President

Guards Exonerated In Prison Slaying

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Oct. 19. (AP)—Lee Simmons, general manager of the Texas state prison system, said this afternoon an investigation by him had showed guards who killed a convict at Eastham state prison farm last Saturday after a mutiny acted in line of duty.

Charles (Chuck) Wilson, serving 20 years on a Gray county murder sentence, was shot to death and J. R. Hinson, a guard, was injured seriously. Wilson, Buchanan Sloan, serving 15 years for robbery by fire arms from Hall county, and H. G. Daniels, under 20 years robbery by assault sentence from Bexar county, participated in the break, Simmons said. Guard Hinson was knocked from his horse and the three convicts fled.

Wilson, Captain B. B. Monsingo of the farm reported, refused to put up his hands when the posse found him, and consequently was shot, posse members fearing he might have been armed, since Hinson's weapons had been taken from him.

Mercury Drops to 56 As North Winds Hit

Wichitans welcomed the third norther of the current season early Wednesday after several days of Indian summer temperatures. The mercury dropped to 56 degrees. Forecasts for Wichita Falls and vicinity predicted colder weather Wednesday night.

Skies remained clear Wednesday but the southeast breeze of Tuesday changed to the northeast Wednesday and a maximum velocity of 15 miles per hour was reported by the Texas Electric Service company weather bureau. A maximum temperature of 69 degrees was recorded Wednesday and the mercury stood at 68 degrees at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. A high barometer reading of 29.30 was reported at that hour.

Freezing temperatures were reported in the Panhandle by the Denver lines and M-K-T railway reports said the mercury had dropped to 32 degrees in northern Oklahoma.

GOP Pours Millions Into Great Campaign To Re-Elect Hoover

North Texas Democratic Leaders Warn Voters of Party's Need for Funds and of Danger of Losing Victory Through Overconfidence of People

To the Democrats of North Texas:

There is a feeling prevalent that this campaign for money for the Democratic party is unnecessary. The sentiment is that Roosevelt and Garner are assured of election and that the necessary money will be provided from some mythical source to finance the balance of the campaign. Nothing could be further from the truth. The fact is that, at this moment, a very alarming situation is developing.

Funds Needed

In the past few days a decided trend toward the Republican party is in evidence in many parts of the country due to the extraordinary efforts being made to that end. People in this section have adopted a "what's the use" attitude when asked for contributions with the false assurance that all is well and that the battle is over. But on the contrary, we are just now entering the crucial stage in this gigantic campaign, the stage when almost anything can happen over night.

The Republican party has spent huge sums and we are authoritatively informed that they have in the last day or two invested the surprising amount of $2,500,000 for

Al Exhorts Fellow Tammany Braves To Labor For Entire Demo Ticket

TAMMANY HALL, NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (AP)—Alfred E. Smith told Tammany braves tonight that Democrats should not be satisfied without a complete party victory and the election of the entire national, state and city ticket.

He said he was speaking for the "rank and file of Democrats" and that every effort would be exerted to bring about "the election of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket."

Cheers resounded through the packed Tammany wigwam at his first mention of Governor Roosevelt's name.

He explained he would speak little about the national ticket tonight because he would do that in a Newark, N. J., speech Monday night and at "the big wind-up in New York City"—a rally a few days before election.

"Complete victory in the nation," he said, "is necessary to the carrying out of the party declarations of principle, and that means we must control national legislation, because we are a government of laws, not men."

State and national issues should not be entangled, he said.

Accusations Fly As Doak Denies He Suggested Judgeship For Compromise

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (AP)—Senator Norris' assertion that Secretary Doak suggested a federal judgeship for Donald R. Richberg, railroad labor attorney, during discussion of a compromise on the anti-injunction bill was denied today by the cabinet member, reiterated by Norris and confirmed by Richberg.

Doak called the Nebraska senator "a professional character assassin." He termed the allegation "utterly false" and said "there was even no circumstance in connection with any of our conference upon which any such statement could have been based."

Richberg, in Topeka, Kan., said Norris' assertions were "absolutely accurate."

He added:

"As a matter of fact, I told Senator Norris the facts at the time they occurred and since then have confirmed them in a memorandum to him. I felt at the time I might be placed in a false position."

Advised of the secretary's denial, Norris said in Saginaw, Mich:

"Certainly he would deny it. What else could he do in the face of such an accusation."

Norris, who is campaigning as an independent Republican for Governor Roosevelt, said in his speech

La Follette, Progressive Republican, Throws Support To Democratic Party

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 19. (AP)—Progressive Republicans were informed today by one of their foremost leaders, Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr., that he will vote in November for the Democratic candidates for president and for Wisconsin's junior United States senator and governor.

La Follette is not a candidate, his term having two years to run.

The announcement stated the La Follette position on current politics, which was given an upheaval in Wisconsin by the vote in the primary transferring Republican party control from the progressive to the conservative element.

"I do not see how any progressive can vote for President Hoover," Senator La Follette said.

"From the progressive point of view, Herbert Hoover has been wrong on every important issue which has arisen during his term of office. . . .

"Governor Roosevelt has taken a position which indicated a willingness to cooperate with progressives on legislative action to meet the extraordinary (economic) crisis.

"I shall therefore, vote for Governor Roosevelt because I believe

Ford Places Hoover Beside Lincoln In Sacrificial Service To Nation

DETROIT, Oct. 19. (AP)—Henry Ford said in a radio campaign address tonight that "if Herbert Hoover were a Democrat, with his record during the last four years, I should have to support him."

"Mr. Hoover," he said, "is carrying a greater burden than Abraham Lincoln carried—and he is carrying it in a way that places him beside Lincoln in sacrificial service."

Disavowing any intention of making a "party speech," Mr. Ford said, "I suppose I am like most Americans—we never bother about politics until it means something to us. Party politics have never meant anything to me, and they mean nothing to me tonight."

The automobile manufacturer spoke from the engineering laboratory building of the Ford Motor company in Dearborn. He was introduced by Gov. Wilber M. Brucker.

Murray Determined To Force Stubborn Oil Companies To Pay $1.12 For Crude

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 19. (UP)—Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray tonight declared war on two major oil companies which have refused to meet the current mid-continent crude oil price advance.

Without mentioning them by name Murray charged the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the Standard Oil Company of Indiana with conspiracy to defraud the state and threatened to close down their Oklahoma properties if they do not meet the $1.12 price on crude oil, boosted by other companies several days ago.

"Two of the major pipe line companies had an agreement in New York not to meet the price on oil of $1.12 a barrel," Murray said.

"This is to call attention to the public that crude oil is worth $1.12 a barrel in Oklahoma, and the state expects to collect revenue off that amount, and that if it is not worth that to any company or pipe line, then it will be time to shut their wells down in all their fields in the state until it is worth that to them.

"I wish also to call attention to the fact that Oklahoma has verbatim the federal law on conspiracy and such combination as this to defraud the state is violation of that law and that I will use it or any other means to maintain in the production of oil a profit in keeping with the spirit of the law."

Republican Command Elated At Rush Of Big Business Men To Party's Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (US)—The Republican high command is elated over the efforts of industrialists, like Henry Ford, to line up their employes solidly for President Hoover's re-election, Robert H. Lucas, chairman of the Republican executive committee, declared today.

Following a long conference with President Hoover at the White House, Lucas said:

"The greatest encouragement we've had recently is the way business men are aroused and are advising their customers, clients and employes to think seriously before they vote for a change."

Hoover's re-election is assured by a minimum of 270 electoral college votes, four more than necessary, Lucas said. Asserting the president's chances are "rapidly improving," Lucas said Mr. Hoover may get 340 electoral votes.

Lucas declared the president was "sure" of New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Kansas, Iowa, California, Oregon, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Michigan, with 220 votes. He counted on picking up the rest out of Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska, Ohio, South Dakota and Washington. States outside of this list will only swell the margin, Lucas stated.

Aside from returning to the attack on his Democratic rival, Governor Roosevelt, the president will discuss unemployment relief in Detroit Saturday night. Lucas admitted Detroit was a "bad spot" for the Republicans, but added "that is the reason the president is going there."

DEMO NOMINEE RESTATES HIS APRIL STAND

Cash Balance Necessary Before Redemption Of Vets Certificates

PLEDGES BEER VOTE

Beverage Tax and Strict Economy Would Help Erase Deficit

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 19.—Governor Roosevelt tonight declared himself opposed to full cash payment of the soldier bonus until the federal treasury has a surplus of cash.

Speaking before a huge throng, Roosevelt repeated a paragraph from a newspaper interview published last April in which he said:

"I do not see how, as a matter of practical sense, a government running behind two billion dollars annually can shoulder the anticipation of bonus payment until it has a balanced budget, not only on paper but with a surplus of cash in the treasury."

To Work for Beer

He also renewed his pledge to work for immediate restoration of beer in accordance with the Democratic platform as a measure that would help badly undernourished government revenues.

After quoting his April bonus statement, Roosevelt added:

"No one, for political purposes or otherwise, has the right in the absence of explicit statement from me to assume that my views have changed. They have not. So much for another effort by Republican leaders to preach an unwarranted gospel of fear and panic to the American electorate."

He referred particularly to the assertion by former President Coolidge in his recent New York speech to the effect that a word from Roosevelt against the bonus would be a great encouragement to business.

Pledges Economy

Coupled with his anti-bonus and pro-beer policies, Roosevelt added a third one concerning economy in a three-fold pledge to conduct the fiscal affairs of the federal government in a way to protect the budget, the credit of the nation and its obligations.

It was a speech intended, while reiterating his sympathy and desire to aid "the forgotten man," to tell the country that equally important to him was sound restraint of government expenses. Particularly it was intended to take the sting out of the barrage of statements coming from important business men like Henry Ford and Charles Schwab who have within 48 hours said re-election of Mr. Hoover was necessary to preserve business confidence.

High-Speed Campaigning

Coming after a day of high speed automobile campaigning in three states—Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia—Roosevelt's hard hitting speech tonight was hailed by Democratic leaders in western Pennsylvania as certain to make this fighting ground for the first time in years.

Roosevelt was cheered by word that Senator Robert M. LaFollette, progressive Republican of Wisconsin, had endorsed him. He deferred comment, however, until he had opportunity to read the full text of the endorsement.

Roosevelt opened up his Forbes field speech tonight by assailing the Republican party for fostering a campaign of fear. He termed his opponents "panic breeders."

He lashed out at them in one of the most vigorous speeches of his campaign.

Assails Propaganda

"There are some prices too high for the country to pay for the propaganda spread abroad in a presidential election," Roosevelt said.

"That is true when as now the Republican campaign management is guilty of spreading the gospel of fear.

"That is true when in a desperate, futile, last minute effort to dam the tide of popular disapproval that is steadily growing against the administration, they become alarmists and panic breeders.

"This policy of seeking to win by fear of ruin is selfish in its motive, brutal in its method and false in its premise. It is a policy that will be resented as such by men and women of all parties in every section of the land on Nov. 8.

Insult to Voter

"It is an insult to the intelligence of the voter to think that he or she can be fooled by shifting the boast of the full dinner pail made in 1928 to the threat of the continued empty dinner pail in 1932.

"I assure the badly advised and fear stricken leaders of the Republican party that Democrats and those of the rank and file of their leadership, are still American patriots and cherish in their hearts as I do, the safety of the country, the welfare of its people and the continuance of our institutions."

Roosevelt criticized Republican management of government finances. He singled out for mention in this connection, former Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, Pittsburgh's most famous citizen.

One-third of the total American income goes "for the luxury of being governed," Roosevelt said as he laid the foundation for his bonus statement which was to come toward the end of his address.

Burden on Production

"That is an impossible condition," he continued. "That burden is a brake on any return to normal business activity. Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors because they are a burden on production and can be paid only by production.

"Let me make it perfectly clear, however, that if men or women or children are starving in the United States, I regard it as a positive duty of government to raise by taxes whatever sum may be necessary to keep them from starvation."

The Democratic candidate challenged the administration contention that routine spending has been keep on a fairly even keel. He said actual administrative spending in the last four years had increased approximately $1,000,000 or roughly 50 per cent.

"That, I may add, is the most reckless and extravagant pace I have been able to discover in the statistical record of any peace-time government anywhere anytime," he added.

Cites People's Rights

"There is something much more than mere error in this kind of thing," he continued. "Our people and the world are entitled to reasonable accuracy and reasonable prudence, and above all they are entitled to complete frankness. They have a right and a duty to place in retirement those who conceal realities and abuse confidence."

He said that it was a "real shock" to discover that although the administration originally estimated there would be a deficit of $150,000,000 last June, it actually was for the two fiscal years three and three-quarters billions.

"No, I fear we cannot call this budget an estimate—nor even a fair gamble," he said. "I don't know what to call this kind of representative of that kind of fact, but the name certainly is not candor."

Roosevelt then directed his attack to the soundness of President Hoover's economics.

"For my distinguished opponent, 1931 was the year when all his distinctive 1928 economic heresies seemed to come home to roost together," Roosevelt said.

He listed the loans to "backward and crippled countries" which Mr. Hoover said would provide employment and business by stimulating export trade. He said the "monstrous Grundy tariff," had provoked retaliation which set up bars against American goods.

"Debtor nations," he continued, "no longer sustained by our improvident loans and no longer able to export goods were drained of gold for debts, and one by one, were forced to abandon specie payments."

"As a result of these conditions, foreign markets dried up and unemployment began to rise.

Policy Collapses

"To top this ruin of all these seductive 1928 theories (which were to bring the millennium of abolished poverty) came the complete collapse of the 1929 and 1930 administration fiscal policy," he continued.

"I emphasize this history because our opponents have now become almost frantic in their insistence that this entire sequence originated abroad—that no American policy was in the least to blame and that to say otherwise is what they call "hideous misrepresentation." The "foreign cause" alibi is like ascribing measles to its spots rather than to its characteristic germs.

"No, we need not look abroad for scapegoats. We had ventured into the economic stratosphere on the wings of Mr. Hoover's novel, radical and unorthodox economic theories of 1928—the complete collapse of which brought the real crash in 1931. The Grundy tariff accentuated the drop. As hard reality rushed up to meet our fall, this administration did not see fit to adapt its fiscal policies to this inevitable consequence. It is a responsibility which no campaign alibi can avert, and today the day of reckoning is here.

Appeal to Sympathy

"The recent administration strategy in this campaign is a direct appeal to public sympathy for their agony of spirit in the dark hours of 1931-1932, when retribution for our chasing after strange economic gods overtook us. They protect against any assessment of just blame. But they protest in vain.

"I want to say, with all sincerity that I recite this record with reluctance. No man with a spark of humanity can fail to sympathize with our responsible leaders in hours of crisis. Politics or no politics, I pay my tribute to the devotion of the president.

"It is not true to say that he has not been unremitting in his efforts and I for one have never heard it said. But I do indict his administration for wrong action, for delayed action and for lack of frankness and courage. Before the administration partisans complain of this arraignment, they must remember that the American people are now able to exercise their democratic right of self-determination of their own fate and future. They must make a choice. The administration's appeal for sympathy is not based on any frank acknowledgment of the failure of the policies so clearly portrayed by these tragic events. It is, on the contrary, a denial that these principles have failed. Indeed, it persists in the same course and even presumes to ask admiration for the stubborn ruggedness of that persistence.

"I hope that it will not be necessary to increase the present scale of taxes, and I call definite attention to the fact that as soon as the Democratic platform pledge is enacted into legislation modifying the Volstead act, a source of new revenue amounting to several hundred millions of dollars a year will be made available toward the balancing of the budget. I refer specifically to a federal tax on beer which would be raised through the sale of beer in those states and those states only which by state law allow the sale of beer. At the same time I reiterate the simple language of the Democratic platform which opposes the return of the saloon, as follows:

"We urge the enactment of such measures by the several states as will actually promote temperance, effectively prevent the return of the saloon and bring the liquor traffic into the open under complete supervision and control by the state."

Administration "Sleeps"

Roosevelt charged that the administration woke up belatedly to the effect of the depression of the government's fiscal situation.

"Although six weeks had elapsed since the worst economic crash in history, the federal budget of December, 1929, did not even refer to it," he said. "It estimated receipts for the year ending June 30, 1931, at $4,200,000,000, actually more than they had been in the preceding year of economic fantasy—figure which obviously could not possibly be attained without immediate return to the exaggerated speculations of 1929. The administration advised no economy.

"On the contrary, it proposed a reduction of taxes and it blandly remarked, 'Our finances are in sound condition . . . our estimated expenditures . . . are well within our expected receipts.'

"Against those estimated receipts placed at 4.2 billions by Secretary Mellon, the sad fact is that actual revenue turned out to be 3.3 billions—nine hundred million dollars less than the estimate—nearly a cool billion of over-estimating."

"They gambled," he said, on "an economic miracle."

Challenges Claim

Roosevelt directly challenged the administration statement that it had balanced the budget.

He quoted from the daily treasury statement of Sept. 30, 1932, which showed excess of expenditures over receipts, $402,943,002.

"There is strong indication that we are in for another staggering deficit," Roosevelt continued. "The true deficit as of June 30 next year will be over $1,600,000,000.

"I regret to say that the appeal of this administration for applause for its soundness and courage last winter is simply not based on facts," he declared. "The budget is not balanced and the whole job must be done over at the next session of congress." As to who is to blame for this, Roosevelt referred his audience to the review of the record by his running mate, Speaker Garner, last Friday.

He declared that most of the new government credit poured into banks allegedly for agriculture and industry, actually was being used to finance the government's continuing deficits.

He said that Mr. Hoover as secretary of commerce, boosted the cost of his department from $18,000,000 to $39,000,000 a year.

Adheres to Platform

Then he recalled his party's platform pledge for a 25 per cent reduction in government expenses.

"Before any man enters my cabinet," Roosevelt said, "he must give me a two-fold pledge of:

"1. Absolute loyalty to the Democratic platform and especially to its economy plank.

"2. Complete cooperation with me, looking to economy and reorganization of his department."

At this point Governor Roosevelt discussed the bonus.

Newly Formed Progressive Party In New Mexico Fuses With Democrats

SANTE FE, N. M., Oct. 19. (AP)—The Progressive party, formed as an aftermath of the recent Republican state convention by followers of United States Senator Bronson M. Cutting, has withdrawn its ticket in New Mexico and will support the Democratitc party, Maurice Miera, state chairman, said tonight.

The ticket, headed by Prager Miller of Roswell, as candidate for governor, was formed after a split in the Republican convention at Albuquerque last month. At that time Senator Cutting resigned as Republican national committeeman from New Mexico in protest against what he termed the "rule of the few within the party."

The statement said in part that leaders of the party had deemed it wise to join forces with the Democrats "as the most effective way to bring about the repudiation by the people of the methods employed by the old guard leaders at the Republican state convention." The party organization, however, will remain intact.

The announcement came close on the heels of a fusion here Tuesday between Progressives and Democrats at which the Progressives agreed to support the Democratic national, state and county ticket and were given six to 13 county officers.

Similar fusions between Progressive and Democratic forces with similar pledges of loyalty and support to the Democratic party throughout have been made in eight other counties.

$1,250,000 Bet Placed With Broker That Roosevelt Wins

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (US)—The largest bet of the present election—$1,250,000 to $500,000 that Governor Roosevelt will be the next president—was placed today through a well-known Wall street brokerage house.

Both the wealthy bettors willing to risk fortunes on their presidential choices preferred to remain anonymous.

The Roosevelt man has $40,000 more to place at the same odds of 2½ to 1, and $12,000 against $11,000 that Roosevelt will carry New York state.

er, Republican candidate for reelection, to whom he also gave his support.

He said "every act of the president has been in the interest of employment," that he "kept his head when others lost theirs," and that "no act of his has been dictated by panic or politics."

"And the result," he continued, "is that we are now beginning to feel the lifting power of his well-thought-out program."

Ford said "the next big job is to improve the money system. I would like to see it done by a man of practical experience like Mr. Hoover." He said he "supported Woodrow Wilson because I expected that he would devote himself to the improvement of the economic machinery of this country but a sudden change of events compelled him to switch all his energies toward war and international problems."

"It was the same with Mr. Hoover," he continued. "When he was elected he expected to organize the machinery of prosperity. But the sudden turn of events laid upon his shoulders the most terrible depression the world has ever known."

NORRIS AGAIN MAKES CHARGE

Richberg Backs Up Senator In Accusations

last night at Cleveland that the administration had shown "unrelenting opposition" to the bill to prevent use of injunctions against strikers and accused the Republicans of falsely claiming for the chief executive credit for its enactment.

He said Doak had called Richberg, who is attorney for the 21 railway unions and brotherhoods, to Washington and, while discussing the legislation, "suggested he might be able to exert a great deal of influence" to obtain a judgeship for the attorney.

Norris said Richberg quoted Doak as saying he was acting "on behalf and at the suggestion" of President Hoover.

"Being without the immunity which attaches to his libels when he speaks in the United States senate," Doak said in a formal statement, "Senator Norris in this instance had behind what he claimed was a quotation from another individual, namely Mr. Richberg.

"He was careful to state that 'no pledge was made,' 'no direct promise was made,' but then with an adriot play of language he states that I did suddenly flash 'upon the scene a life-tenure upon the federal judiciary.' There was no attempt by the senator to explain what Mr. Richberg could give in return for a judicial appointment but, of course, this is a mere trifle which would not handicap Senator Norris. . . .

"Had Senator Norris had any desire to learn the real facts in this case he could have done so, but he had no such desire. His desire was to utter libels in an effort at character assassination."

dependent Petroleum Association of America, said today that a new plot to cut oil prices is under way.

"Imports are again being used to drive down the price of domestic crude oil," Franklin said in commenting on the weekly American Petroleum institute reports released today.

From the date the import tax became effective to Oct. 11, the daily average of all imports was 94,000 barrels. Since agitation for a price increas for domestic oil, the daily average of imports has risen the past two weeks to 132,000 barrels.

"In reading reasons assigned by importing companies refusing to meet the domestic price increase, it must be apparent that the reasons constitute no real excuse for refusing to meet the prices set by the great majority of purchasing companies. The apparent reason is that these companies wish to bring in imported oil which can be bought more cheaply than domestic output."

North Texas Demo Leaders Appeal To Voters To Give Aid To Party

radio advertising alone for these last days of the campaign. They have arrayed a splendid battery of able speakers and they will wage from now on the greatest political campaign in the history of this country. We are witnessing a veritable battle of giants and unless the Democratic party is able to equal this tremendous drive, there will be a very serious loss of ground and no man can foresee the final result.

It is imperative that our party match the efforts of the Republicans else we are in very serious danger of losing this election which now seems so surely won. This money must come from the rank and file of the party in whose interest the campaign is being waged. It will not be provided by Wall street or the great financial interests of the East, which are notoriously hostile to the Democratic nominee's candidacy. Overconfidence has lost many a battle and we must not delude ourselves.

DO YOUR PART FOR A 'NEW DEAL' IN AMERICA

Residents of Northwest Texas counties which have not organized Democratic campaigns may secure their Roosevelt-Garner medallions and make their contributions to the Democratic war chest through the Wichita Falls headquarters. Orders and contributions may be made by telephone or mail, by addressing Democratic Campaign Headquarters, Staley building, or telephoning 2-1554.

The Republican party seems to be in possession of unlimited funds, whereas the Democratic treasury is now overdrawn half a million dollars, at the time when the greatest spending is necessary.

There are a great many border line states that one of the two parties will carry by a very small majority, and it is in these states that the principal expenditure of funds is imperative.

This same overconfidence may prevent many people in Texas from going to the polls so that we urge every qualified voter to cast his ballot and what is more important still to strain his resources so that this district can send in its full quota of funds necessary to carry this campaign to a successful conclusion. We must redouble our efforts and we must in no case give up this fight until the last moment has come.

Hall Tax Roll Shows Decrease in Valuations

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Oct. 19.—The 1932 tax rolls, which were completed last week, show that some 3,155 persons in Hall county pay taxes on a total valuation of $8,577,838. The sotal valuation in 1931 was $9,500,275, the total levy being $306,430.31.

The total amount of taxes to be collected this year is $221,264.51, considerably less than the figure for last year. The deduction is due largely to the lowering the valuation and the state assuming the payment of the road bonded indebtedness.

STERLING MAY AID WICHITAN

Governor Likely to Stump For Bullington

AUSTIN, Oct. 19. (AP)—Possibility of Gov. R. S. Sterling taking the stump against election of his recent Democratic primary opponent, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, was seen here today.

Mrs. Ferguson, winner over the governor for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, plans to open her general election campaign at San Antonio Saturday night, James E. Ferguson, her ex-governor husband, will appear at the Alamo City rally with his wife, also a former governor.

Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth, a former United States district attorney, Republican leader and manager of the campaign of Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, was in conference with Governor Sterling today. Bullington is the Republican candidate for governor.

Neither conferee would discuss what the meeting was about, but Governor Sterling indicated he would issue a formal statement tomorrow touching on the political situation.

The governor several weeks ago announced he would not vote for Mrs. Ferguson in the general election. He claims he was the choice of a majority of the voters who were qualified to participate in the run-off primary last August. He sought to contest Mrs. Ferguson's nomination in the courts, but the supreme court held there would not be time to try his case. It decided that Mrs. Ferguson should be certified as the nominee under authority vested in the party convention which recognized her as such.

Asked if he would take the stump during the campaign, Governor Sterling said he had not thought about that.

"There will be a number on the stump, and they probably will not need me," he said.

BULLINGTON ATTACKS 'MA'S' GAS TAX PLAN

NACOGDOCHES, Texas, Oct. 19. (AP)—Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, Republican candidate for governor, in a speech here today criticized proposals of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic candidate, for redistribtuion of the gasoline tax.

Mrs. Ferguson, in her campaign for the Democratic nomination, advocated giving one-third of the tax to the schools, one-third to the highway department and one-third to the general fund, making it possible to lighten other forms of taxation.

Bullington was introduced by A. T. Russell, former county judge and worker in the campaign of Gov. R. S. Sterling for a second term. The audience included delegations from several other counties.

he offers the only immediate hope for the relief of 10,000,000 unemployed men, women and their children and six million farmers, with their families, are threatened with the loss of their entire stake in our economic order. If he is elected I shall feel free to oppose any of his policies which are not in accord with my own convictions."

In the September primary the senator's brother, Gov. Philip F. La Follette, was defeated for renomination by former Gov. Walter J. Krohler, conservative Republican. Senator John J. Blaine, a progressive, was beaten by John B. Chapple, 34-year-old editor of the Ashland (Wis.) Daily Press.

La Follette termed both Kohler and Chappie "the Hoover candidates." Chapple, he asserted, was "hand picked" by the president.

The senator said these candidates were backed by a "slush fund" and were elected through "tactics . . . taken from the book of Samuel Insull," and that the only consistent course he can follow is to vote for F. Ryan Duffy of Fond du Lac, Democratic candidate for senator, and Mayor A. G. Schmedeman, of Madison, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee.

Governor La Follette so far has not commented on his brother's announcement but informed progressive circles said his position would be in accord with it and would be revealed in a public declaration.

Governor La Follette polled nearly 320,000 votes in the primary. The Democrats' total was 132,000. Kohler received 414,000.

Concerning possibility of a third party, the young senator said in his statement he will "continue to work in the senate with the progressive group . . . firmly convinced that ultimately there will be a new political realignment that will afford a definite party organization for those who believe in the fundamental concepts of democracy."

MURRAY CALLS SCHOOL CUTS

Normal Colleges Told To Slash Budgets

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 19.(UP)—The state board of education must demand of state normal schools that they cut expenses 30 per cent, it was informed today by Gov. W. H. Murray and his budget committee.

Murray informed board members that if the schools did not cut of their own accord it would be done for them.

"If they can't cut expenses, we will," said Murray. "When they get through with me cutting budgets they will wish they had done it themselves."

The governor said the schools must cut expenses the full 30 per cent as requested, not the average of about 10 per cent reflected in the budget requests submitted to State Budget Officer Ben Harrison.

"One school which operated cheaper than all the rest last year, cut its budget 15 per cent, the biggest reduction of any. Another school, which spent a third more money during the same period, cut its budget only 4 per cent," Murray said.

The governor declined to reveal which schools he referred to.

Only three members of the board of education attended today's conference. State Superintendent John Vaughan, one of those absent, was in McAlester.

"I guess he's out fixing political fences," Murray commented.

He said a meeting of the full board would be called soon to take the matter up with presidents of the state schools.

Commenting on the two largest state schools Murray said University of Oklahoma authorities had exhibited every desire to cooperate and "go down the line and cut," but that Oklahoma A. & M. college at Stillwater had failed to show the same spirit.

"More money can be saved in these two institutions than in any others," said Murray, "and it will be done whether they like it or not."

Efficient members of the various P.-T. A. units will be on hand to instruct mothers.

It is announced there is not enough used clothing in the thrift exchange to open it and an especial plea has been made for serviceable clothing for school children. Shoes are especially needed and sewing machines are required to go on with the work according to the plans made.

Mrs. John Waggoner, 8337, is general chairman and will be assisted in the work by the welfare chairmen of the city P.-T. A. units or their representatives. Dance At Club To Open Shrine Social Season

One of the most brilliant attractions of the fall social season in Wichita Falls is scheduled Thursday evening for the initial fall Shrine ball at the Wichita club. Arrangements for the party are complete and preliminary reports on attendance indicate an overflow crowd, Shrine officials said Wednesday. Reports from neighboring cities forecast a large representation of the entire area.

The party will be climaxed with the coronation of Mrs. Kindel Paulk as queen to the festivities. The coronation will be in charge of Emil Hermann and will be modeled on the procedure followed when Emperor Charles took the leadership of Austria-Hungary in 1916. The European court festival was attended by Mr. Hermann. A real crown has been obtained for the occasion and will be carried on a red cushion by pages. Guy Rogers will deliver a short coronation address.

Use of the 11th floor of the Hamilton building for serving refreshments was donated Wednesday by W. B. Hamilton in view of the expected attendance. Refreshments will be in charge of the Shrine patrol. Music for the ball will be offered by Doc Ross and his orchestra. Mr. Ross has agreed to play indefinitely and no hour for closing the dance has been set.

Electra Baptist Women Entertain Other Groups

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 18.—The basement of the First Baptist church formed a colorful background Tuesday afternoon for an oriental tea, one of the prettiest affairs given here this season. The Baptist ladies were hostesses to the ladies of other churches. Decoraticus suggestive of China, Japan, India and Russia were used. Gaily colored lanterns were strung about the room with trellises of flowers and greenery—all lent an oriental atmosphere to the occasion.

Those in charge were general chairman, Mrs. Ed Thiele; entertainment, Mrs. E. H. White; decoraticus, Mrs. N. E. Wolf; refreshments, Mrs. W. R. Skinner; general hostess, Mrs. W. A. Gault; registration, Mrs. Mary Jowell. A Russian color scheme was used in the refreshment room where real Russian tea was served as it is in Russia. Mesdames Skinner, Jasper Johnson, Eldin Nowlin and Ed Chesney in Russian costumes served the audience.

During the afternoon the following program was given: Piano numbers, Miss Regilda Kiesker; "Indian Customs and Habits," Mrs. R. D. Cunningham; violin selections, Mrs. F. C. McClung, accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey, both of Wichita Falls; Russian and Japanese song numbers in costume, Miss Eloise Wofford, accompanied by Mrs. Mahaffey; songs, Mrs. E. V. Haltom; chalk talk, Mrs. Edna Ferguson; piano selections, Lila Lee and Jamie Dave Baker in costumes; song, Ernestine Patts; Japanese reading, Chloe Lee Blair; reading, Evelyn Hall; violin solo, Miss Ruth Smith; piano solo, Mrs. J. R. Gilbert; play, "Scat," dramatic class, characters, Mrs. Clara Petty, J. M. Ashley Jr., and Hazel Rippy; drill in Chinese costumes, Mrs. Jodie Smith's physical culture class. Mrs. T. B. Akins played the piano between numbers.

There were 144 guests registered.

Geraldine P.-T. A. Will Serve Brunswick Stew

"Safety" will be the subject of the evening meeting of the Geraldine Parent-Teacher association at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

A safety pageant will be the main feature of the meeting and ribbons will be awarded for the best safety posters in two divisions.

A fathers string quartet will furnish special music and during the social hour the unit will return to an old-time picnic, when Brunswick stew will be served on the school campus from a large kettle.

Inter-County Federation Has Outstanding Program

Wichita county, with 29 federated members in attendance, won the membership prize for the best county attendance in the intercounty federation for the first time since the federation was organized by Mrs. Ben G. Oneal. Call of members was taken directly following the delightful luncheon. Another honor was the announcement of the first prize for the winning essay in the contest sponsored by the T. F. W. C. on "College Education Guaranteed Through Insurance," going to Miss Marian Trevathan of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. St. Andrew Myers of Henrietta, a member of the state welfare organization, who was presented to the audience by Mrs. G. D. Anderson, state welfare chairman T. F. W. C., made the address of the afternoon, speaking of the state board as a clearing house for all welfare organizations in the Texas counties. She stressed their main objective in keeping families intact and their desire to make it possible for every Texas child to attend school.

A constructive program was outlined by the speaker and her talk was illustrated with vivid cases on which she had worked.

Nominating Committee

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, president of the intercounty federation, appointed the nominating committee to select new officers with Mrs. St. Andrew Myers as chairman, Mesdames W. H. Huggins of Vernon and Walter Coffield of Bowie. Mrs. Oneal stressed as a new objective of the federation the development of folklore and appointed Mrs. W. R. Potter of Bowie as chairman of a committee for this work.

The afternoon session was opened with the song, "Texas Our Texas," led by Mrs. Wm. E. Young, with Mrs. M. G. Parrish at the piano. Mrs. C. R. Seals talked on hooked rugs, telling the type of frames to use and showing patterns and displaying beautiful rugs. One rug, made by Mrs. C. C. Burrows of Iowa Park, took one of the first prizes at the Dallas fair.

Miss Houston of the Joy community, the leader of the Clay county federation, presented Miss Derryberry, the county demonstration agent, who talked on the native trees and shrubs of the county, stating there were 56 varieties there. The Clay county report showed that 4,000 shrubs and trees have been planted in that county in the past year and that library and school loan work have been their other objectives.

Wichita County

Mrs. W. E. Lakey of Valley View was introduced to represent Wichita county and presented in turn Mrs. G. C. Hathaway who gave the report. Mrs. Hathaway stressed the market which the county federation expects to establish and paid high tribute to Miss Ethel Luise Webb, county demonstration agent; she stated that 186,000 containers have been filled in Wichita county this year and 48 braided and hooked rugs have been made; water systems have been installed in 16 farm houses and 3,000 trees and small shrubs have been planted in the county.

Mrs. C. C. Burrows of Iowa Park told of the expansion work and of the demonstration club's efforts to standardize their products. Mrs. Burrows announced that the Wichita county federation will be held Nov. 18.

Wilbarger County

Miss Robbie Castleberry gave a report of 16 clubs in Wilbarger county and spoke of the programs and speakers arranged for the coming season. She presented Mrs. Joe Lee Smith who played with exquisite interpretation "Paul's Dream," a number composed by her father, Paul Goetze. Mrs. Bill Coffee was also presented and gave a group of her original poems.

Young County

Mrs. G. H. Watson, reporting for Young county, stressed the aim of the federation as the beautification of the highways; she stated they were planting bluebonnet seed up and down the highways and will place a marker on the old Butterfield trail at the central point where it crosses the highway between Graham and Newcastle.

In the placing of this marker for which the money has already been raised, Young county anticipates preserving landmarks and stressing Texas history. The government in 1850, she stated, established the overland Southern Pacific mail route. The Butterfield stage line, a part of this line, was equipped with 100 Concord coaches, 1,000 horses, 500 mules and 750 men, including 150 drivers. The trail covered 2,732 miles from St. Louis to San Francisco and ran 40 per cent longer than any other stage line in the history of the country.

Mrs. Watson stated also that two women in the Young county federation had sold more than $100 worth of hooked rugs in the past season.

Montague County

Mrs. J. A. Peachee represented Montague county and presented Mesdames Walter Coffield and Yeager. They reported 19 federated clubs and stressed their objectives for the year as the adoption of child welfare and library work. The demonstration work done in the county was told in an interesting manner.

Morning Meeting

An address by Mrs. B. E. Davis of Arlington featured the morning session of the intercounty federation. Taking as her theme "The Average Woman and Everyday Citizenship," she emphasized the fact that the ballot is not woman's greatest part in citizenship, but "teaching growing boys and girls." She spoke of the selfishness of motherhood that cannot bear to have its pride hurt and is unjust to a child by not giving him responsibility and thus preparing him for the best citizenship possible. "There are 100,000 boys and girls who run away from home each year," she said; "it may be for a day or two or for a longer time, but statistics prove that most of them run away from overfond and overanxious parents.

Mrs. Davis urged that women take advantage of suffrage, but become informed on candidates and her indictment of the unconcerned voter was scathing. "World peace will be brought about," she said, "through the education in the home and the schools. Not until a group of citizens who study the worth and fearlessness of candidates has been reared, can we reach that ideal."

Mrs. Frank Patton, extension chairman of the first district made an interesting report from Knox county, telling of the extent of canning work done by various clubs. She gave special advice to home demonstration chairmen and made a plea for helping in homes and training youth. "There are 800,000 boys and girls in the 4-H clubs now," she stated. Mrs. Patton estimated that much more food had been canned in the first district this year than ever before and expects the district to win the silver cup given by the T. F. W. C. in the meeting in November, for the third time. If it is won, it will be a permanent trophy for this district.

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal presided and Mrs. Newton Maer extended a greeting from Wichita county and the Forum clubhouse. A gracious response was given by Mrs. E. A. Trigg of Archer City.

Mesdames O. T. Anderson and W. R. Potter were presented as officers of the state and general federation, then following the report from Wichita county, county work was presented as follows:

Mrs. W. L. Richeson of Mankins, chairman of the Archer county organization reported that demonstration clubs in that county have canned 100,000 cans of vegetables, fruits, jellies, preserves, pickles and jams. That one club alone has canned 6,000 containers of food stuff and has made 80 quilts during the summer months.

A feature number presented by Archer county was the presentation of little Miss Lee Ann Parrish, 5-year-old child, who sang "Little Boy Blue," accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. M. G. Parrish a duet played by the juvenile artist and her mother. Women from the Windthorst community were also presented as a part of the Archer county representation.

Mrs. J. M. Roach of Seymour, known in the county federation as "the bird woman," was presented from the Baylor county group, and Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, presiding officer, stated that Mrs. Roach has been recognized by the national Izaak Walton league for her supreme knowledge of bird life.

Mrs. Mark Russell of the Baylor county federation reported on what the clubs in her county have done, stating that they have bought 76,700 new tin containers this summer; 80,000 dozen glass jars, 156 pressure cookers and 49 sealers.

Monthly Party Given Fowler Bible Class

Mrs. E. R. Lofton was hostess Wednesday afternoon to members of the Fowler Bible class of the First Presbyterian church, with members of her group assisting.

Mrs. I. H. Roberts presided in a brief business session and Mrs. O. B. Maer accompanied while Mrs. Rose Robertson led in a singsong. The very beautiful devotional was given by Mrs. J. W. Crews.

Evelyn Jane Hawkins and Clarissa Blacklock gave a pretty musical program, the former playing "Sparklets," by Miles, and the latter "Homage to Schubert." They concluded with a delightful duet.

Games were played and prizes were awarded to Mesdames L. W. Brewster and I. H. Roberts.

A delightful refreshment plate was served to Mesdames L. N. Jernigan, C. Slopansky, L. W. Thompson, R. C. Sherwood, W. F. Stuckler, E. W. Nicholson, C. W. Beavers, C. I. Weldon, J. M. Bell, J. C. A. & M. ORDERED TO REPAY FUND

Pure Seed Money Diverted For Other Accounts

AUSTIN, Oct. 19. (AP)—An opinion advising George H. Sheppard, state comptroller, to demand immediate payment into the state treasury of the present balance and the moneys said to have been previously diverted from a "pure feed fund" of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college has been rendered by Ralph Yarborough, assistant attorney general.

$60,000 for Athletics

An audit of the fund, included in the request of Meore Lynn, state auditor, for the opinion, shows the following items:

"Transfer to athletic department—advance account, $60,000.

"Transfer to invested surplus, Walton hall, $52,949."

A balance of $10,000 was listed.

The opinion stated the director of the college should have transmitted the money coming into the pure feed inspection fund to the state treasury.

"The state comptroller should demand immediate payment into the state treasury the balance now on hand in what is called the pure feed fund of A. & M. college and in addition demand the payment of the $112,949 shown to have been diverted from this fund," the opinion stated.

Law Authorizes Tax

The fund was established by a law that directed the college to collect a tax for feed inspection. Yarborough stated the transfers as set out in the audit were not permitted under the law and that the director of the college should have remitted all receipts to the state treasury, with the state treasurer to remit back all expenses incurred in the feed inspection work.

Formal demand has been made by Comptroller Sheppard for the amounts. He also has called for an accounting of all receipts and disbursements from the fund since 1923.

Walton Quoted

A letter from T. O. Walton, president of A. & M., was quoted in part in the opinion. It set up the contention that the pure feed fund inspection tax would be unconstitutional if the money was placed in the general revenue fund. Yarborough disagreed with this contention, stating it was "difficult to see how the validity of the law would be established by the procedure followed by the college authorities."

Walton's letter as quoted in the opinion, stated that prior to 1923 the funds were deposited in the state treasury. In that year the legislature abolished all special funds in the state treasury and the college authorities ceased to pay the receipts into the treasury.

Federal Power Commission Official Ordered To Quit Republican Drive

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (AP)—Joseph R. McCuen, secretary of the power commission, was directed today by Chairman Smith to sever his connection with the republican national committee in New York and resume his duties at Washington.

At the same time Chairman Smith made public a copy of a resolution adopted yesterday by the commission limiting the political activities of commission employes.

Referring to the resolution, Doctor Smith added in a letter sent today to McCuen at New York:

"The others of the commission all feel that the spirit of this order would require you to discontinue at once your connection with the Republican national committee and resume your duties with the commission."

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, suggested recently in a statement that the leave of absence granted McCuen be "extended indefinitely" because of political activity.

McCuen applied on Sept. 3 for a furlough without pay to continue until Nov. 3. It was granted by Chairman Smith.

Berrie Calm As Trial Proceeds

Ida Bess Bright, whom he married secretly, after his first wife collapsed in church and died last March 21, sat close beside her husband while Taylor Rogers, state chemist testified he found "positive presence" of strychnine poisoning in the dead woman's body.

Romance Bared

Together, they had heard County Attorney Phillip Oldham, through introduction of 24 witnesses, make public the details of their alleged illicit romance. Berrie, dressed in a grey suit contrasting with his blatant red necktie, listened unmoved. His wife, her cheeks heavily rouged, stared disdainfully at the prosecutor.

A rooming house proprietor, Mary Potts, said Rev. Berrie, who is financing his trial by earnings from hymns and verses he wrote in jail, often registered at her small hotel.

"I knew him as a Mr. Stevens' who represented himself as a detective," the woman said. "I heard a woman's voice in his room one afternoon, but didn't see her."

She identified the preacher as "Mr. Stevens."

Throughout his questioning of witnesses, Oldham interspersed verses of love lyrics Berrie had written the Bright girl, assertedly before the first Mrs. Berrie had taken ill.

Crowd Snickers

"Then I hold you in love's embrace," Oldham read.

The crowd of 400 spectators, which jammed the small courtroom, laughed and snickered. Judge W. J. Crump rapped for order.

"For you alone I live, oh why can't we be free."

Again the crowd laughed. The judge ordered the aisles cleared. Berrie and his young wife looked at each other. She pursed her lips with her fingers.

Berrie admitted to Police Chief John Wolcey that he had been intimate with the young school teacher, according to testimony given by the officer.

"He told me he met her at Mary Potts' rooms and that they engaged in intimacies there—more than once," he said.

Oldham, by presentation of three bankers sought to prove that a suicide note Berrie said he found in the family Bible was not in Mrs. Berrie's handwriting. The defense withdrew the note from evidence when the county attorney said he would have the dead woman's relatives attempt to identify the script.

Strychnine Symptoms

Mrs. Berrie's actions in the last moments of her life, after she became ill at church, were described as "symptoms of strychnine poisoning" by a pathologist, Dr. William H. Bailey.

Mrs. Mary Morrow, first defense witness, related how Rev. Berrie had been tried before the district presbytery at Wagonie on a charge of preaching a "contrary doctrine." He was ousted from his ministry and then organized the Bethel Tabernacle church here.

MILLS ASSAILS DEMO RECORD

Treasury Head Replies To Speaker Garner

Hoover "with the help of the right-thinking men of both parties," had "achieved the victory which brought security to the nation."

Speaker Garner's address, Mills said, "endeavors to establish" that "the panic which swept this country beginning last September was not remotely connected with anything that happened in Europe but due solely to the leaking out of information that our government was confronted with a large deficit."

Austrian Bank Fails

In May, 1931, the treasury secretary said, the largest bank in Austria became insolvent, bringing a critical situation that spread to surrounding countries, including Germany, and making the credit machinery of that nation collapse. Then Mills added:

"From time immemorial London has been the world's financial center. They were the world's bankers.

"From the middle of July to Sept. 15, almost a billion dollars of funds were withdrawn from the London market. In spite of liberal assistance in the way of outside credits, Great Britain, no longer able to stand the strain, on Sept. 21, 1931, suspended the operation of the gold standard."

"Although the Democratic vice presidential nominee "does not even think this event even worthy of mention," Mills said, "it rocked the world from end to end."

Finances Unsettled

It "unsettled all exchanges," he asserted; "drove 18 other countries off the gold standard," shook confidence so that "a wave of panic swept the universe." Then, Mills said, "the same forces of destruction attacked our country."

Many foreign banks, the secretary said, converted their balances and short-time paper in this country into gold, "fearful" of a gold standard suspension in the United States.

That action, he continued "led to an unparalleled run on this country" so that in the five weeks ending Nov. 1, "we lost about $750,000,000 in gold, or 18 per cent of our metallic reserve." At the same time, nearly $500,000,000 was withdrawn from banks by hoarders, he said, bank failures increased, loans and investments of federal reserve member banks decreased.

"Can any sensible men, in the face of this record, believe that the European situation had nothing to do with the wave of panic which swept this country, and whose beginning coincided with the British collapse?" Mills asked.

Contradicts Garner

Garner, Mills said, "admits" that the "banking and credit systems were threatened with collapse." At the same time, the secretary asserted, the speaker "denies that their collapse would have imperilled the maintenance of the gold standard."

"This on the face of it, is self-contradictory," Mills said. "One must necessarily follow the other. There can be no escape from the fact that a further drain on our currency and gold as large, and increasing as rapidly, as the drain of the previous autumn—coming on top of a prolonged period of credit constriction and business demoralization—would have set in motion forces of destruction so great that they might overwhelm any country no matter how strong its financial position might be."

"Under the leadership of the administration," Mills said, steps were taken which stopped the "avalanche." He said the administration obtained measures to impose new taxes, curtail expenditures and defeat fatally-unsound proposals that were vigorously pressed."

FORD LEADS IN AUTO SALES

Registrations for Quarter Show Big Gains

Since June, when volume deliveries of the new Ford V-8 cars began, Ford has led all competitors by a wide margin in sales of passenger cars, commercial vehicles and trucks, according to official figures reported today by C. T. Boone of Northwest Motors, Inc., local Ford dealers.

Ford took the lead in national motor car sales in June, increased his lead in July, as production of the new Fords mounted, and maintained the lead throughout August, according to reports for that month already received from 34 states, Mr. Boone declared. In addition to this, the latest reports also reveal that Ford led in sales in the largest cities during the first 10 days of September.

In June, the first month when volume deliveries of the new Ford cars were available, Ford's share of total passenger sales in the United States reached 38.3 per cent, as compared with 24.9 per cent for its nearest competitor. Ford commercial cars were 50.5 per cent of all such vehicles sold, as compared with 27.6 per cent for its nearest competitor, while Ford trucks represented 38.7 per cent of all truck sales, as compared with 27.6 per cent for the nearest competitor.

Ford sales in July, as revealed by official registrations, mounted over June figures and Ford's share of the business was increased. Ford passenger car sales reached 38.4 per cent of the total business as compared with 24.2 for its nearest competitor. Ford commercial cars were 54.4 per cent of all cars sold, giving Ford a greater percentage of the total business than all other manufacturers combined. The Ford share of national truck sales was 34.4 per cent as compared with 27.1 per cent for its nearest competitor.

The reporting of registrations in August in the various states is not complete, but on the basis of reports thus far received from 34 states, Ford sales again led the field.

Since volume deliveries of the new Fords began in June, Ford has accounted for 40.8 per cent of all new passenger car sales in Texas as compared with 38.4 per cent for its nearest competitor, C. T. Boone added. Ford sold 8,183 of the total of 19,642 cars of all makes sold in the state in June, July and August.

INDECISION IN LIBBY'S CASE

State Uncertain Whether To Drop Charges

state, that means that they may be brought up again at any time."

Richard J. Reynolds, elder brother of Smith, announced today that his uncle's letter represented his opinion also.

The action of the Reynolds family is thought to have been influenced by the discovery of several cablegrams sent by the late Smith Reynolds to his bride, in which he spoke several times of suicide.

"Suicide Preferable"

The following cable was sent by Smith to Libby from Paris, last Jan. 4, while she was touring with a show:

"Why return now? Meet you later—but suicide is preferable. This is the last cable. Goodbye. Love."

On the same day the temperamental young millionaire sent this letter to his songstress wife:

"Darling angel:

"I would gladly come home if you were not going on with the show. I'll gladly give up this trip or anything I have to devote all my time to you, if you would do the same for me.

"If I get to the point where I simply cannot stand it without you another minute—well, there's the old Mauser with a few cartridges in it.

"I guess I've had my inning. It's time another team went to bat."

It was that "old Mauser with a few cartridges in it" that took Smith's life last July 6.

Another letter sent to Libby from London before young Reynolds left for Hong-Kong read:

"I really have been ill without you. I really have been sick in bed for two days. I don't know what's the matter, but I never felt more like dying in a long time."

Bailey Lilpfert, counsel for Ab Walker, when told of the Reynolds letter, said that the request spoke for itself. He added:

"However, I am convinced that the minds of all parties concerned will ultimately be drawn irresistibly to the conclusion that my client is innocent of any wrong-doing whatsoever."

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—President Hoover's remarks to the American Bar association meeting here as to the part lawyers played in the formative period of the republic prompted The Bystander to reinvestigate the part they now have in the government.

HERBERT HOOVER

If there was a greater proportion of men of the law holding federal office in the days of Hamilton, Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Marshall and Monroe than appears today on the congressional rolls there, was very little room for any other profession.

Blackstonian Background

A quick check up of the present senate shows some 70 of its 96 members recording legal training and usually considerable private law practice among the qualifications that carried them into that body.

Vice President Curtis, for instance, is a lawyer by profession, although politics has occupied his time for three decades too extensively for any great amount of practice at the bar.

Almost the same situation prevails in the house. More than 200 of the 435 representatives claim the law as their profession.

Even two of the women of the house, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida, and Mrs. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, have honorary degrees as doctors of law.

The sharp words of President Thompson of the bar association at the same meeting directed at congress for creating tax burdens and authorizing expenditures that "rival the prodigality of the Caesars" served to accent the preponderance of the legal profession in both houses "on the bill." They have an actual majority in the senate and probably a full majority in the house.

Whatever the faults of the present or any recent congress, they hardly can be due to lack of legal training among senators and representatives.

Dixie Favors Them

Incidentally, if there is any sectional aspect to this matter of selecting lawyers for federal legislative posts, the southern states seem to lean upon the legal profession more heavily than do those of the North or West.

There are southern delegations made up solidly of lawyers. Membership in the profession seems to open the door to congress with greater ease.

Sterling Postpones Extradition of Pair

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 19. (AP)—Governor Sterling of Texas has postponed until Nov. 15 an extradition hearing on application of Oklahoma for return of Fred Browning and Roy Hewitt, convicted in 1929 in connection with operation of the fashionable Beau Monde Gambling club in Creek county.

The two, sentenced to one year and fined $500 each, were at liberty on reprieves and failed to return to the state to begin serving their sentences, C. E. B. Cutler, state pardon and parole officer said. When Oklahoma sought to extradite them, they demanded a hearing.

They are believed to be in Fort Worth.

Insull, the Goat

BEWILDERED and resentful, Samuel Insull, one-time big shot of the American utilities world, believes "the American sense of justice" eventually will vindicate his policies as straightforward and honest Mr. Insull also believes, according to press dispatches, there is considerable political significance to the efforts to return him to this country for trial on charges which, to say the least, are somewhat technical.

While this newspaper doubts any immediate vindication of Mr. Insull's methods in the public mind, it can agree with him that there is a decided political odor to the great rumpus which has been raised in the effort to apprehend him. It appears that Mr. Insull is the goat. He is the person selected to "take the rap" not only for his own shortcomings, but for those of other frenzied financiers and for the Republican administration which permitted and assisted them to operate.

As a matter of fact, the financial offenses charged to the former utilities magnate are no worse than those of scores of others. It is true that the collapse of Mr. Insull's financial pyramid caused bitter financial loss to hundreds of small investors. So did the rigging of stocks and the stock market. So did the sale of millions of dollars' worth of foreign bonds by leading financial institutions. All the government's officials, commissions, secretaries and bureaus smiled and kotowed while Mr. Insull built his house of paper, while the stock market lambs were sheared and while American investors were induced to send their savings to foreign countries and into foreign enterprises of which they knew nothing and on which they had not as much protection as they have in the purchase of mining stock from a house-to-house salesman.

Mr. Insull had the fortune, or misfortune, to be at the top of the heap when the collapse came. His fall was one of the most spectacular. He is down and out, and while we cannot say we have a great deal of sympathy for him, neither are we greatly concerned about seeing him brought to trial. The ultimate fate of Samuel Insull, the goat, is of no importance. His role should not divert public attention from the failures and shortcomings of the agents and officials who are now hounding him across two continents.

Campus Snobbery Takes A Fall

COLLEGE youth isn't quite as "collegiate" as it used to be.

A survey made recently in 24 leading colleges and universities shows that the campus has been hit by the depression, just as everything else has been hit. Enrollment, at most institutions, is down. Flashy roadsters aren't as common as they were a few years ago, more students are looking for a chance to earn part of their expenses, and in general there is a more sober understanding of the opportunities and responsibilities which a college education offers.

If all of this results in giving us a different meaning for that word "collegiate," it will be an extremely good thing.

Nothing in the past decade reflected more seriously on the American college than did the common interpretation placed on that word.

When we said a young man was "collegiate," what did we mean—that he was a seeker after knowledge, an ambitious and earnest young man trying to put himself into an intelligent and enlightened relationship with the life of his time? Hardly. We meant that he was a "snappy dresser," Heaven help us; that he knew all the latest slang and most of the latest cocktail recipes, that he was gay and empty-headed and thoughtless and full of wisecracks.

This, of course, was a great injustice to the majority of college students. But it fitted the realities in all too many cases, even so. It was a caricature, but you could recognize the original on any campus.

All of it, of course, wasn't the collegian's fault. He simply was and did what was expected of him. The adult world gave its honors to the go-getter, to the self-advertiser, to the flip chap of the Jimmy Walker type. It gave its admiration to the college which had the best football team, or the greatest number of well-born snobs on its campus. The result was inevitable.

But a lot of water has gone under the bridge since then. We have deflated our sense of values as well as our industry. The sobering-up of the campus is a welcome sign of the times.

Intimidation and Appeal to Fear

THERE is an old saying that everything is fair in love or war and it is evidently on this theory that Republican strategy in the closing weeks of the present campaign is pitched. We refer to the effort of the Republicans to make the voters believe that President Hoover is entirely responsible for the tardy relief measures that have been adopted and the effort to instill fear into those who have jobs or who hope for employment in the near future that their chances will be imperiled by the election of Roosevelt and Garner.

The effort to make voters believe that President Hoover is entirely responsible for the adoption of relief measures may be excusable, for the records in this matter are quite recent and if the Democrats cannot refute the Republican claims they have less ability than we think they have.

But the posting of bulletins in factories saying in effect that unless Hoover is re-elected workers cannot hope for employment is an appeal to fear and an effort at intimidation.

We had hoped that the depression would have its lessons even for the Republican party and that its forced abandonment of "the prosperity" claim would lead it to the adoption and presentation of real issues. But in the very administration that has seen the blow up of the "prosperity" issue we see that party resorting to the psychology of fear and intimidation.

That worked well in the 1896 campaign, but we believe there has been progress in the intervening 36 years and that voters will be resentful of such resort. And it is the resort of desperation in a losing campaign.

And if the masses of the people are resentful against campaign managers who adopt such methods will they not feel contempt for those industrial leaders through whom such a campaign is waged?

SO THEY SAY!

Items I Never Met Before

(Read 'em and sleep)

That Adolph Hitler is a religious fanatic, and that his anti-Semitic politics are not for economic reasons, as he states, but spring from an intense religious fervor fostered in him by his maw.

That Walter Edge cannot speak a word of French. His name sounds familiar? It ought to. He's the U. S. ambassador to France.

That it is much easier to get a divorce in Illinois than in Paris or even in Reno! (What a lotta time you've wasted.)

That New York has 1,300 churches. (And needs 'em!)

That local cops are honest, reliable, etc., we all know. But their expense accounts must be sworn to before a notary.

That mosquitoes never bite Doug Fairbanks Sr.

That Hollywood is overrun by police dogs and others of the canine species brought there by doting owners seeking movie contracts. Even cats! There are about 2,000 of them seeking cinema jobs.

That Havana has two mayors all the time. (N. Y. please copy.)

That you readers who smirk at the seeming simplicity of some of these items will agree you know a straight line when you see one. Sure. But there's no such thing as a straight line, you dope!

That S. Johnson, the dictionary compiler, misspelled woids!

That the Methodist College for Ministers in Hungary cultivates its own vineyards, imbibing of the juices. And they want the wide world to know it—so here it is. (What conceit!)

That Asa Hapgood invented the Pullman upper berth. He ought to be ashamed of himself. (He probably had no sisters.)

That at Waterloo, Napoleon (not the pastry) chirped: "At last I have the English!" (Was his ace read?)

That in the Marquesas—close friends chisel in on honeymoons.

That Lewistown, Wyo., has a population of two. Surprising? Well, for years Bodie, Calif., had a pop. of one!!!

That ancient Celts believed so strongly in immortality they borrowed coin with the understanding it would be repaid in heaven.

That 142,857 multiplied by 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 contains the same numerals in the sums. (If it fails, the fault is the proofreader's)!

That the postoffices in all the larger burgs in the U. S. have peepholes through which trusted employes may be (and are) spied upon. (U. S.—under suspicion!)

That should postal officials resent the above item, I'll remind them that I'm also aware that were they required to enter the service via the current, ordinary postal clerk test—that most of the officials wouldn't pass! (Look, look! He's looking for a fight, again!)

That monkeys are passionately fond of giggle water.

That though airplanes will never make 750 miles an hour (as stated here recently) they will safely go 730 an hour—till they hit a rain. At that speed fine rain cuts the hardest steel to shreds!

That Ripley says that Columbus got a few thousand dollars for discovering America. (He oughta give the money back.)

That a Tarascan (Mexico) who is long ill is choked to death by friends, the custom demanding that while they strangle him with one paw, they pat him on the back with the other, saying: "How terrible this is!" (Ridiculous as it sounds, it is true, nevertheless!)

That Tschaikowsky and Rachmaninoff tunes are barred in Russia.

That in "The Tenderfoot" Joe E. Brown pursues a gang of toughs through the streets of New York which are readily recognized as the streets of Los Angeles. (Oh, that Winchell is too fussy!)

That if you love your little bittie ootsie-tootsie (I mean your pet chow, ma'am) shed a tear. They eat 'em in China—ugh!

That on Tikopia Isle (in the Pacific) custom demands that the girl who asks a man to marry her, and is refused, must drown herself.

That Henry III, of England, roamed the streets panhandling change from the citizens! (A bum!)

That in Germany a man pushing three baby carriages would be subject to arrest. (Here they'd give him a vaude contract.)

That Chase's "Beginning of the American Revolution" devotes 70 pages to the Boston Massacre, though it was the one mix-up that had nothing to do with the revolution. (Haw. He knows better than historians!)

That the saxophone was invented by a Belgian musician named Sax, and was intended for military bands. It was shaped for easy playing on the march or horseback. "Phone" meaning the range of human voice.

That in Italy cab drivers pay their fines to the arresting cop right on the spot. (Where the racket began?)

That the word "punch" (drink) is derived from the Hindu word "panch," meaning five, the number of original ingredients in that brew.

And that among other legends is that gossip writers peep through keyholes. (When almost every door these days has a Yale lock!).

PHENOMENAL HEARING—Esteban (Istvan) Janky, the Hungarian boy, possesses auditory organs so excessively developed that it enables him to hear the proverbial drop of a pin. A pin hitting the floor in the midst of a noisy gathering within 60 feet from where Istvan may be standing will affect him in the manner of an alarm clock. At 150 feet he can distinguish every word of a quiet conversation. At 300 feet he can still distinguish sounds normally indistinguishable.

BABES ON BROADWAY

By JANE DIXON (Copyright, 1932, Jane Dixon)

SYNOPSIS

Tony Brookes was orphaned when she was 18 by an automobile accident in Centerville, her home town. She lost her first job, in a New York dress shop, and one at an art gallery because she was too honest about the wares she offered. Leslie (Lee) Moran, a model, was discharged at the dress shop the same day as Tony. Lee had no money and Tony shared her third floor back room at Mrs. Higgins' with her. Lee became a taxi dancer at El Tango where she met middle-aged Adam Leonard, whom she called Uncle Lenny. While the two girls were at a night club with Leonard and Donald Kemp, a lawyer from another city, Mrs. Leonard saw them and made a scene. Leonard, unhappily married, had Kemp arrange a divorce for him. Lee astonished Tony by telling her she was to pose as correspondent. Tony fell in love with Tom Stewart, a young engineer who was in love with Lee. He waited for Tony at Mrs. Higgins' one night just before he was sent to New Mexico, kissed her and seemed to be about to make a declaration of love when the victim of a "ride" was dumped on the sidewalk at their feet. Tom hurried Tony into the house and disappeared, and Tony waited in vain for word from him. Lee moved to an apartment. Tony had been designing dresses for some time now in the studio of M. Montieu, a client of Kemp's. Kemp had been very attentive and Tony knew he loved her. Lee tricked Tony into accepting Hal Sample's invitation to a week-end party at fashionable Haven Beach. Jock Selden was the other guest. The girls had a beautiful suite at the Lombard. In the evening they went to visit the bizarre beach house of one of Sample's friends.

INSTALLMENT XIX

One of the women guests, with a cloud of fiery red hair, a revealing black gown, and rouged red toes peeping through dull gold sandals sulked in a chair. She barely parted her lips to acknowledge the introduction. Tony did not hear her utter a word all evening. She simply lolled in the chair, sipping wine and staring into space. An evil looking fellow with a vulture's nose and a livid scar across his face, the count something or other, kept refilling the red-headed woman's glass. Tony learned, sotto voce from Hal Sample, that she was a great heiress. Even Tony, unfamiliar as she was with society nomenclature, recognized the name.

As the evening wore on, the guests became as much of a horror to Tony as the house itself. They all drank inordinate amounts from priceless glasses without discrimination as to content. The noisy ones accelerated their noise. The sullen and more belligerent. How Tony wished she had heeded Donald Kemp's advice and refused to accompany Lee on this adventure.

Jock Selden was concentrating on Tony, regarding her continuously with half-mocking, half-avid eyes. He was drinking a great deal but drink had no apparent effect on him except to embolden his pursuit of Tony. Lee, more ribald than Tony had ever imagined she would be, turned the full battery of her wiles upon Seldon. He was deliberately ruthless about rejecting her advances.

"You lay off Selden," Lee warned Tony. "Don't you try to snitch him from me, like you did Tom Stewart." Her eyes were narrow and pale with malice for Selden's rebuffs.

Tony flushed, indignant at the unjust attack.

"I have no interest in Jock Selden," she said. "The whole lot of these people, and the house, too, are repellent to me. If the car is outside, I'm going to ask the chauffeur to drive me to The Lombard."

"Aw, now, m'dear, don't be peeved," Lee begged contritely. "It's the wine I've been guzzling. The way them bubbles boil up in me is nobody's business." When Lee was excited she was likely to revert to the language of her childhood.

"Then why do you take it?"

"I don't know. It gives me a kick. Makes me forget."

The count with the scar across his face came for Lee. They were going to play a game called "murder" and she was to be the victim. Charming game, mademoiselle. Guests assembled in the salon. Lights, pouff! Noir nuit. A scream in the dark. Lights encore—what you call heem—boom! Mademoiselle is found to have been strangled. She reclines on the floor. One guest is then the solicitor for the state, what you call attorney at law. He interrogates. He finds the murderer. Viola!

"Why should I get strangled?" Lee wanted to know. "Say, this game might be on the level."

"Non, non, non." The count was profuse. "It is that we make the game. The victim, she must be beau-ti-ful. For that we choose you, mademoiselle." The coupt was no fool. He knew what brought women to surrender. Lee did, with a triumphant glance for Selden.

"I've a notion you want to cut and run," Selden said to Tony when they were alone for the moment. "So do I. We can slip away without telling the host what a rummy time we've had. The others will never miss us. I'll call the car, if you like."

"Oh, thanks," gratefully from Tony. "I've had enough. But I don't want to drag you off..."

"Please do."

The game of murder was going on noisily up to now so that Tony and Jock Selden managed to depart unnoticed.

Tony thought the drive back to the Lombard seemed longer than she remembered. She did not quite like the way Jock Selden crowded against her; the way his arm across the back of the seat was encircling her. Streets through which they had driven to the beach house were well lighted. This street had lights only at long intervals.

She said, leaning forward and peering out of the window, "Haven't we gone out of our way? Perhaps the chauffeur is lost."

"You never expected he wouldn't get lost, did you, Toinette?" Selden laughed. His arm slipped down, tightened around Tony's waist, drew her to him. She threw her head back, struggled to free herself. Selden went on laughing, triumphantly, possessively. He bent over her, his face close, the vice of his arms tightening.

When Lee threw open the door of their suite in the Lombard something more than an hour after she had been the center of the "murder" game in the beach house, she found Tony packing.

"What's the big idea of sneaking away with Jock Selden?" Lee demanded, standing in the center of the room, arms akimbo, body swaying unsteadily. Her face was scarlet with spleen and the heat of wine.

Tony went on stowing garments in her bag.

"I didn't sneak away with Jock," she said quietly. "I couldn't stand those people any longer. I wanted to come back here and Jock offered to find the car. He said he was fed up, too."

"The h— you say! You get places you've never seen, places you'd never get to poke your nose inside if I didn't take you. And what do you do? Double-cross me, that's what. The minute my back's turned."

Tony was silent. No use arguing with Lee when she was like this. Lee lurched backward. Tony thought Lee was going to fall, leaped forward to help her get her balance.

"Take your hands off me!" Lee cried shrilly. "I told you to let Jock alone."

Tony stepped back, faced Lee. Her eyes were pools of fire. Her face was so pale that even Lee's bleary eyes focused on it in stuttering amazement. "I—I—did—tell you to—I-I-let him alode . . ."

"Understand this now and for all time," Tony said from behind clenched teeth. "Jock Selden is a cad. I loathe him. I never want to see him, never want to hear his name again."

"Yeah, you loathe him! That's a good one. You don't think you can put that over on me, do you? And don't you call the man I love a cad. I love him, do you hear? I'm crazy about him, crazy for him." Lee's voice rose higher and higher.

Tony thought: People will hear. They'll come to find what the row's about. There'll be a scene. It did not matter.

She said, coming so close that Lee again lurched backward, "Jock Selden is a cad. He kissed me in the car coming home, again and again. I tried to fight him off. He tore my dress. He's a madman. I managed to get my foot against the side of the car and I kicked out the glass. It cut my ankle but it stopped the chauffeur. Jock Selden cursed him and ordered him to go on but before he could start I'd struggled out of the car. I wouldn't get back in it. I walked until I found the hotel."

Lee's laugh was wild and derisive, but when she spoke again she lowered her voice:

"You've got a nerve. What did you get in the car with him alone for? Why did you think he asked you to sneak out with him all by your lonelies?"

"For the reason I've told you—because I wanted to get away from that house, from those people."

"Say Brookes," Lee attempted to forestall a hiccough but failed. "that simple country girl stuff you pull is getting stale. Maybe you was born in a hick town and maybe you was raised on cornmeal mush, but you wasn't born yesterday. You wanted a petting party and you got it. Now you're crabbin'."

Lee staggered into the bathroom and banged the door. Tony's bag was almost packed. She snatched the few remaining articles that were hers from a drawer, piled them into the bag, closed it and hurried from the room, shutting the door noiselessly behind her. Scudding along the hall, she decided: I'll try to get a train back to town tonight. If there isn't one, I'll ask the hotel to give me another room. There's almost $6 in my purse. If it isn't enough, they'll have to trust me for the rest.

I can send it to them tomorrow.

She found she would have time to catch a local at 3 o'clock if she could find a taxi. When she had almost given up hope one drove up to the hotel stand.

The train had begun to move, the conductor was swinging onto the steps, when Tony raced down the platform. He shook his head but she held onto her bag with one hand and clutched the hand rail with the other. He pulled her up on the steps, grumbling about everybody being in a "devil of a hurry nowadays and taking a chance on losing their life to save a little time they don't know what to do with when they save it."

It was past 7 Sunday morning when Tony inserted her key in the door at the top of the chipped stone steps and stole up Mrs. Higgins' stairs so that she would not disturb the household. There was coffee on the shelf, a box of lump sugar and some stale crackers. She had cleaned out the cupboard when she went to stay with Lee. Slender fare, after the elaborate dinner in the Winter Garden of the Lombard last evening, and the expensive and unusual foods spread upon the beach house buffet to tempt the jaded appetites of dilettante guests. Tony was not hungry but she drank some of the steaming hot coffee and nibbled at the soft crackers.

This newspaper puts at your disposal a corps of trained researchers in Washington who will answer questions for you. They have access to the government departments, the libraries, museums, galleries and public buildings and to the numerous associations which maintain headquarters in the nation's capital. If they can be of assistance to you, write your questions plainly and send with three cents in coin or stamps to The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—What is the correct way to eat a sandwich? Should fork or fingers be used?—F. I. H.

A.—It depends upon the time, place and company. The general rule for eating sandwiches is to use a fork if one is provided and it is possible to do so.

Q.—What foods contain vitamin G?—F. H.

A.—Milk is the most important source of vitamin G. The list of foods containing this vitamin is so long that it is safe to say that almost every one eats something daily which contains at least some of the vitamin.

Q.—Did Sol Smith Russell, the comedian, fight in the Civil war?—W. H. F.

A.—He was born in Brunswick, Maine, June 15, 1846, and died May 2, 1902. He served in the Union army as a drummer boy.

Q.—How is asbestos cloth made?—H. T.

A.—Asbestos is a mineral and is incombustible. The fibers can be woven into cloth. Usually about 5 per cent of cotton is added to increase strength and ease of manufacture.

Q.—Who were the Saracens?—C. H. E.

A.—The Saracens were a people mentioned by Ammianus Marcellinus as inhabiting the northern district of Arabia Felix. At the period of the crusades the term was employed to designate all infidel nations against which crusades were preached, and in course of time, it became the generic name of all Arabian tribes who embraced Mohammedanism, and extended their conquests to Asia and Africa.

Q.—How does the mango grow on the tree?—H. M.

A.—Konrad Guenther writes: "The mangoes hang from their stalks as though suspended on strings, reminding one of the apples and oranges on a Christmas tree."

Q.—Who started minstrel shows?—C. C. B.

A.—Minstrel is a name introduced into England by the Normans, and which comprehended singers and performers of instrumental music, together with jugglers, dancers and other persons. The negro minstrels are a species of musical entertainment of a quaint and simple kind, which originated among the negroes of the South, United States, and was first made popular at public entertainments by E. P. Christy, the originator of the troupes of imitation negro musicians.

Q.—When was there a wall along Wall street in New York City?—C. S.

A.—Wall street was so called from a wall that was originally erected along its line by Governor Stuyvesant with gates at Broadway and Pearl street. This wall stood from 1653-1699.

Q.—How can the edelweiss thrive in the cold of the Alps?—R. W.

A.—The plant has narrow, white, woolly leaves and flower-heads enveloped in woolly bracts. This covering enables it to thrive in exposed situations by protecting it from drying up through excessive loss of moisture.

Q.—What is the story back of "By the Waters of Minnetonka?"—G. G. P.

A.—What We Hear in Music says: "This is based on an actual Indian theme. The song tells of the interesting old Indian legend of the young lovers of the Sun and the Moon tribes who loved each other against the tribal law and how, to escape, they fled together, and sank into the lonely waters of a tranquil northern lake. There they were united forever, and the skies looked down and smiled upon their love."

Q.—Why is the government willing to advance so much money to the construction industry?—D. E. F.

A.—Claas and Industrial Marketing says: "Construction is the country's second largest industry. Solving the unemployment problem has been accepted as the first logical step in reviving trade. The construction industry normally employs directly five million workers. Half of these, it is estimated, are now out of work. Therefore, a quick rehabilitation of this industry would relieve about 25 per cent of the country's total unemployment. Indirect effects . . . would greatly amplify this direct result."

Q.—What part of the city of London did the Romans found?—T. W.

A.—They built upon two low hills separated by the Walbrook valley in the part of London known as the city.

Q.—Why is money sometimes called lucre?—H. L. J.

A.—It comes from the Latin lucrum, meaning gain.

CONDITION OF KOY BOTHERS STEERS AS RICE GAME NEARS

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Today's Bull-etin

A person who uses the entire municipality of Grandfield, Okla., as his signature, has the following above it:

"Sport Writer, Record News:

"Your writeup on the Coyote-Grandfield game was quite comical. It seems you would like to impress upon the fans that this is to be only a warm-up game for the Coyotes.

"WELL! Take it from me, it probably will be warm. In fact, before it is over the Coyote fans will think it rather hot. We all know you would like to call it a practice game, but we do not wish to let it go at that.

"Don't underrate us. We were badly crippled up for the Vernon game. Five of our men were in bad condition, two of them should have been in bed. We are not offering an alibi. Vernon has a great team, which you will have to keep in mind.

"Also keep this in mind: Your highly touted Coyotes have never defeated a Grandfield football team. The records show this and we don't think they will change Friday.

"Be a sport, though you are afraid of being defeated, please publish this as an officially matched game, and not one for practice. Very truly yours,

"Grandfield, Okla."

Mr. Grandfield has gone to a lot of trouble over exactly nothing at all. In case he doesn't know, a "practice game" down here in Texas means a game that doesn't count in the official averages of the district. And even the collective cogitations of Grandfield ought to realize that the Coyote-Grandfield game has been officially matched. How could it be played if it had not been officially matched?

We give up. But go ahead, Grandfield, bring all your men down here in ambulances and arrange all the other alibis that you can think of, and which you will disclaim just as you disclaimed excuse for your loss to Vernon. Because we confidently expect the Coyotes to mess up that record you're speaking of, even if Grandfield does have a strong team this year.

Another Town Horns In

It seems that the practice of entire towns to take pen in hand is becoming quite the rage. "Electra at Large" contributes a wandering epistle touching-on various subjects, as follows:

"Mr. Al Parker.

"Mr. Fred Thompson:

"I have let you alone several days following our game with Wichita Falls, but now I want to take issue with you on who has the better football team.

"I think we have a team just as good as you, and want you to keep in touch with our team; for we are going to beat Quanah.

"I heard there were quite a few people who got sunstroke at your game Saturday. At our game last Friday night a few people were troubled with moonshine.

"I wish you would take up with Mr. John Gould this night football argument and see if you cannot stop his howl against it. If he would only come up here Friday night to the game between Electra and Tempie, Okla., I think we can change his opinion. If he doesn't want to jar loose with the four bits, I will send him a ticket and have a committee to wait on him with plenty of hot dogs and hot coffee; and should he take a hacking cough, I will have Dr. Corntassell here to give him some of his famous serum.

"Regardless of this line I have given, I want to cordially invite Wichita Falls to our game here Friday night, and hope that you will place these sentiments to your readers, for our intentions are good-will and good fellowship for our neighbors who live in the City that Electra and Faith Built.

"Thanking you in advance for any favors. Yours till Electra is state champion,

"Electra at Large."

The Rambler appreciates the neighboring city's willingness to be "yours until Electra is state champion." But he respectfully declines. That's too much like marriage. We would have a bunch of Tigers on our hands until our last day. Furthermore, they would be a burden, bringing in no substantial reward for our efforts, always losing. The Rambler prefers a wider range on which to graze. Our affections have always been deeply sincere, but greatly distributed. When we get old and worn out and have fired even of winners, we might take up Electra's invitation. The Tigers, in that dim distant day, probably will be losing games to the Coyotes, but they'll be good enough to administer to the limited wants of the Rambler. In other words, we will enter the Tigers' camp as a last resort. And that's pretty close to our attitude toward marriage.

But let's get back to the subject, whatever it is. If Electra thinks it has a better football team than the Coyotes the populace over there is sadly mistaken. Even playing a ragged game we were one touchdown better. And if the Coyotes had played Electra in the form they displayed Saturday against Quanah, it would have been too bad for the Tigers.

Even one of Electra's most solid citizens admits that. We refer to the Moons, sports scribe on the Electra Star. He is pretty solid all right. We sat next to him at the Quanah-Wichita Falls game. He was a little handicapped about it, but even he finally admitted that if the Tigers had met the same Coyote team that played Quanah, the Pack would have won by three or more touchdowns.

We share the noble sentiments of brotherly love that Electra at Large correctly says exist between Electra and Wichita Falls, and now that the Coyotes have beat Electra, we are pulling for the Tigers to beat Quanah.

But though our sentiments lean in that direction, cold hard calculation leads us to the opinion the Tigers won't have much of a chance against the Indians. The only chance we see for the Electrans to even score is by penalties against the Tribe. If the Quanah boys are astride and hold as much in their game with Electra as they did with the Coyotes, they may be penalized a 100 yards at one stretch.

The only team in the district capable of beating Quanah is Vernon, and even the Lions won't be riding a crazy train if they do the deed. If Coach Stallworth can iron the ragged-ness out of his boys' play, the Indians will be plenty tough for the Lions, and will be back in line to win their second straight district title. If they don't show that improvement, the Indians will neither deserve nor win the title.

Our guess is, however, that Dan Stallworth this week is giving his boys helen maria for the faults they showed against the Coyotes, and that he will put a much improved team on the field against remaining district foes. The team not only will have to polish up if it is to beat Vernon, but it will need that polish if it is to go anywhere in the bidistrict, granting that it wins the district title. The Indians were no more than half good in their bidistrict game last year, and Stallworth is not only aiming at another district win this year, but a victory in the bidistrict.

So far as our own feelings are concerned, we repeat that we hope the Indians are defeated by Vernon, in order that Wichita Falls may get back in the race. For if the Coyotes can beat Vernon next week, and Vernon can beat the Indians later on, the race will be tied up three ways and a playoff will be necessary. Venturing into more speculation, we are willing to stake our pot that if Wichita Falls and Quanah were matched in the first playoff game at Coyote stadium, the Pack would beat Quanah and go into the final playoff with Vernon. For the Coyotes haven't begun to develop yet. In spite of the absence of a consistent backfield man, those Coyotes are going to constitute a powerful football team along in November.

INJURIES STILL BOTHER STAR

Texans Must Be Inspired To Win, Say Coaches

AUSTIN, Oct. 19. (AP)—Coach Clyde Littlefield and his assistants, fully cognizant of the general all-around class of the Rice Owls, whom they are scheduled to meet in Houston Saturday, are unanimous in their opinion that it will take an inspired Texas eleven to gain victory in the week-end's Southwest conference classic.

C. J. "Shorty" Alderson, university freshman coach, who scouted the Owls in their game against Loyola last week, described the Rice eleven as a team with a triple threat backfield, a fast and powerful line, and highly capable reserves.

The Longhorns engaged in another light workout today, saving their energy and fight for the game by limiting their activities to fundamentals, timing of plays and signal drills. It was far from an impressive workout.

Considerable uneasiness prevailed in the Steer camp as to the probable condition of big Ernie Koy next Saturday. The Sealy fullback, sparkplug of the Longhorn offense, is still bothered with a sore arm and shoulder, which kept him out of a large portion of the Oklahoma game.

Donald Fagan, reserve back, and Bennie Rundell, end, are still out with injuries and neither is expected to take part in next Saturday's game. Other members of the squad are in good physical trim.

FROGS POLISH UP ON PASSES

FORT WORTH, Oct. 19. (AP)—That the Horned Frogs intend to run up a large score against the Austin college Kangaroos here Saturday was evident this afternoon when Coach Francis Schmidt drilled them at length on passing.

While Line Coach Raymond Wolf tutored his guards, tackles and centers on tackling, charging and blocking Coach Schmidt had his backs off to one side of the field throwing one pass after another.

With their running game almost certain to gain ground against the Kangaroos, Coach Schmidt has decided to take to the air Saturday in an effort to improve the Frogs' aerial game. It was good enough Saturday at A. & M. to score the Frogs' last touchdown when Hubert Dennis passed to Jack Graves and Dan Salkeld for a net gain of 50 yards.

AGGIES TAKE LIGHT DRILL

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 19. (AP)—After a signal drill, Coach Mattie Bell sent his Texas Aggie football players through a light scrimmage with the freshmen today in preparation for the game with Baylor Saturday.

At least 1,000 cadets were expected to follow the team to Waco on a special train Saturday morning.

OWLS WORK ON OFFENSE

HOUSTON, Oct. 19. (AP)—Coach Jack Meagher and his assistants sent the Rice Owls through a lengthy workout this afternoon, paying particular attention to the offensive angle. After the backs and ends were sent through a forward pass drill, the first and second teams were put through more than an hour's dummy scrimmage.

Indications are that the team will have no scrimmage prior to the important battle here Saturday afternoon with the Texas university Longhorns. Rice coaches wish to take no chances with injuries.

In the passing game the team looked only fair. "Monk" Adams, end, and Vic Driscoll and Henry Clore, quarterbacks, showed flashes of form in the receiving of tosses, but the Rice aerial attack as a whole looked none too promising.

The eleven expected to start Saturday is Adams and Strong, ends; Hassell and Lauterbach, tackles; Michelson and Dickey, guards; Harris, center; Vic Driscoll, quarter; McCauley and Thrasher, halfbacks; Captain Tom Driscoll, fullback.

HOGS GET READY FOR LOUISIANA

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 19. (AP)—Head Coach Fred Thomsen today sent the Arkansas university Razorbacks against the freshman team, which had been coached in Louisiana state formations.

The practice was part of final preparations for the game Saturday with Louisiana State at Shreveport. The contest will be the 27th renewal of the Razorback-Tiger gridiron rivalry.

Ralph LaForge and Joe Biddie, halfback and fullback, respectively, are expected to figure greatly in Arkansas' passing and running attack against Coach Biff Jones' team.

Crowell Plays Megargel Next

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, Oct. 19.—The Crowell Wildcats will play their second conference game of the season here Friday afternoon with the Megargel Bluebirds. The contest will find the Wildcats in good condition and Crowell is a heavy favorite to take an easy victory.

Following this game Crowell should find the district sledding somewhat tougher with successive engagements with Burkburnett, Chillicothe, Seymour and Archer City.

Local fans are looking forward with great interest to the game here with Chillicothe on Nov. 4.

Triple Main Event On Wrestling Card

A Big triple main event wrestling card has been scheduled for Friday night's wrestling show with Cyclone Fox, the Dallas fireman, meeting George Craig, the Tulsa blacksmith, as the feature event of the three. The second event on the card will call for Sheik Marraiah to tangle with Otis Hedrick of Shreveport. The third event will bring Silent Rattan, the undefeated leader of the junior middleweight wrestling championship tournament now in session here, against Gus Hudgins of San Antonio. The last two will be tournament matches and will count in the tournament standings while the Fox-Craig battle is a special attraction as both men are light-heavyweights.

Bowling League Race Under Way

The City Bowling league opened its 25-week schedule last night at the Spudder Bowling alleys with the Golden Dragon, Texas Electric Service company and Noble-Little Hardware company teams each winning two out of three games.

Although many of the bowlers are not yet in shape, several scores of 200 were posted. Louis Riesen of Texas Electric had the high three-game total with 588. Score:

PONIES PLAN NEW OFFENSE

New Plays Perfected For Centenary Game

DALLAS, Oct. 19. (AP)—Coach Ray Morrison of the Southern Methodist Mustanga plans to spring a few new plays against Centenary college here Saturday night. Morrison gave his cohorts a set of new formations today and drilled them until dark. The Mustangs stressed a forward passing offense today in scrimmage against the "fish" aggregation. Unless injuries crop out during practice this week, Morrison will have his boys at the pinnacle of condition by Saturday night.

Happ Morse 'Shocked' At Proposed Salary Cut

DALLAS, Oct. 19. (AP)—Happ Morse, 1931 and 1932 manager of the Dallas Steers of the Texas league had not signed his 1933 contract tonight although it was offered him yesterday. Morse was not satisfied with a reduction in salary since his teams the last two years finished in the first division, and won the second half of this year's pennant race. Morse asked for time to think over the new one-year contract and it was granted by Sol Dreyfuss, club owner. Questioned during the progress of a golf match today in which George Murray, ace Texas league pitcher, was his partner, Morse said the salary cut in the new contract was shocking, and in his opinion, unfair.

QUANAH TEAM DOWN TO WORK

Tribe Corrects Faults Of Wichita Game

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 19.—Emerging from their first conference game barely victors, the Quanah Indians are training for a practice game with Duke, Okla., which is to be played on the Quanah grid Friday.

The Braves got a big scare in the game with the Wichita Falls Coyotes, Oct. 15, and they are trying hard in scrimmage and skull practice to prevent any more such faults as those which cost them 110 yards in penalties Saturday. Most of these penalties were caused by experienced men who knew better, but violated rules through overeagerness.

Although the Indians expect no extreme difficulty in adding another victory to their list for 1932 in the game with Duke Friday, there will be no let up in the driving practice and tactics of Coach Stallworth, as Oct. 29 they will play the scrapping Electra Tigers on the home field at Quanah. This game is expected to be as hard as the Wichita game, as the Coyotes only beat Electra by one touchdown.

The shift Coaches Stallworth and Washam made in the lineup last Saturday proved very efficient in the Coyote game. Buddy Mitchell, shifted from second string fullback to first string end played a stellar game, and scored the only touchdown of the game. Gregory, playing at both guard and end, also played the best game of his career thus far. Captain Bolton, Blue and Barnett played their powerful game in the line, while the tall Richardson at right tackle was poison to the Coyotes' passing system. Hall and Jones were the only ball carriers able to gain, Jones alone advancing the leather farther than the Coyotes' backfield. Willis, quarterback, directing a team for the first time in conference play, gave orders like a veteran.

Coyotes Brush Up Stock Of Plays

After warming up in charging, passing and punting, the Coyotes yesterday resumed the scrimmage grind, but it was lighter than the rough and tumble workouts of Monday and Tuesday as the coaches started tapering off the drills so the team will be in fine shape for the tussle with Grandfield, Okla., here Friday afternoon.

The team brushed up on its entire stock of plays.

Charlie Hurd, star first year end, was still troubled with a bad leg that developed in Tuesday afternoon's practice, and although he saw service in the scrimmage, there was some doubt that he would be on the starting line Friday.

Contrary to some notions that seem to prevail here and at Grandfield, the Coyotes are not underrating the Grandfield bunch and expect a hard battle in the Friday engagement. Assistant Coach Bill Morris, who scouted the Vernon-Grandfield game recently, made a verbal affidavit that the Grandfield outfit is no slouch of a team.

"I didn't pay much attention to the Grandfield attack because I was busy seeing what Vernon had, and at that time we had not scheduled a game with Grandfield," quoth Bill, "but I saw enough to convince me the Oklahoma boys are tough. They build their attack around Creighton, who plays the left wingback position in the backfield. The main reason Vernon beat Grandfield 39 to 0 was that Vernon knocked Creighton out in the second period. After that, the Grandfield team seemed to wilt and Vernon just piled the scores on."

SOMETHING WRONG

Convicts Charge Football Leaders With Theft Of Signals

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 19. (INS)—There's some crooked work going on in the intramural football series at Stateville penitentiary, according to charges lodged with Warden Frank Whipp today.

Managers of the teams of cellhouses F, D, B and C alleged that the players of cellhouse E, which is leading the league, are stealing signals. Cellhouse E, it was pointed out, is the home of the more intelligent convicts, such as con men.

"Cellhouse E fans," declared the disgruntled managers, "have been too ready to bet candy and cigars on their team. And remember Saturday's game? E had two secret spinner plays, never seen in this league before, yet E broke them up easily. Something funny is going on."

Warden Whipp denied a request for secret practice sessions.

"None of my boys," he declared, "would stoop to such depravity as stealing signals."

FISH RELEASED IN HARDEMAN

Crappie and Bass Stocked In Lakes and Streams

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 19.—A truckload of bass and crappie were brought here recently from the state hatchery in Wichita Falls. They were released in various streams and lakes of Hardeman county. It is expected a second and possibly a third consignment will be distributed in the county within the next several months, if the requests of sportsmen in this section are granted.

Lake Pauline, four miles east of Quanah on highway 5, is one of the few large bodies of water in the Panhandle, and affords good fishing at all times. Greesbeck creek, four miles north of Quanah on paved highway 16, is also a fisherman's paradise, especially for channel catfish. Local nimrods make every effort to prevent seining and other violations on all waters of Hardeman county, and occasional arrests have been made and violators required to pay fines.

DALLAS GOLFERS DEFEATED

FORT WORTH, Oct. 19. (AP)—The Meadowbrook Country club women's golf team defeated the Cedar Crest players of Dallas by 13 points here this afternoon.

TIGERS GROOM FOR TEMPLE

Team Shows Improvement In All Phases

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 19.—The Tigers have been hard at work this week grooming for the game with Temple, Okla., Friday night under the arc lights. Little is known of the strength of the Temple squad, but it is thought that the Tigers will emerge victors from the affray. Practically every one but the pep squad saw service in the game with Henrietta Friday night as Coach W. W. Gibson took advantage of the situation to try out his substitutes.

A new backfield combination of McCracken, Foy, Smith and Boutwell worked to perfection. The fullback position which has been filled by Menard Stroud will be determined this week. Stroud received a twisted knee in the Henrietta game and will be out for at least three weeks. He was one of the powers of the Tiger backfield and will be greatly missed.

The Tigers have improved on their driving and power on the offensive. The Tigers are still belaying the fact that a bonehead play in the Wichita game disheartened them but after the entire squad watched the Wichita-Indian game the Tigers have been pepping up and there is yet a chance for them to come out of the kinks.

The passing of the Tigers is weak and the coaches are putting special emphasis on this part of the game. The punting of Lambdin, Curfman and Smith has been worked on this week.

New plays were given to the Tigers the first of the week and the team is busy learning them. The backfield is speedier than in past games and the line is strong enough to turn back any team in the district. Leonard Foy, a second string man, showed up well in the game last week and he will probably see service in future conference tilts. Smith and McCracken are the ace ball toters.

Sarazen to Give Talk Before Exhibition Match

Gene Sarazen, internationally known golfer who is to appear in an exhibition match here Friday, will give a 20-minute lecture on golf and demonstrate fine points of the game preceding the exhibition, it was announced Wednesday.

The exhibition match proper will start at 2:45 o'clock instead of at 2 o'clock, as had been previously announced. Sarazen will pair with L. T. Burns against Bill Strahan and Polly Gebert, local golf professionals, in an 18-hole match.

GINS RUSHED IN ALTUS AREA

Ginnings Rapidly Mount As Season Advances

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 19.—Ginning in Altus during the past week progressed the most rapidly of the season thus far when an average of 411 bales were handled each day by the local ginners.

The total ginnings for the season in Altus have reached 6,162 with 1,556 bales having been ginned during the week just closed.

Many of the gins are now working regularly until late at night in an effort to clear all cotton wagons which are brought here each day.

With continued fair weather the operation of gins will be equally active the coming week.

Cotton picking is in full swing in all sections of the county with practically all schools dismissed for students to assist in the fields.

Ginning in Duke reached a total of 1,847 bales for the season this week when all gins reported full work throughout the past several days.

A total of 2,450 bales of cotton have been ginned at Blair and Warren, showing an increase of about 830 bales since the report received one week ago.

Dry Agent Tells Of Boast About Child's Drinking

HOUSTON, Oct. 19. (AP)—Jesse Banes, tried in federal court today on liquor charges, was quoted by a government witness as having said that his 6-year-old son could "drink more whisky than any man in the country."

Banes was sentenced to 190 days in jail and his 73-year-old father, Jim Banes, to 90 days, suspendid for five years.

C. H. Kellogg, deputy prohibition administrator, told of visiting the Banes home and buying liquor.

"When I drove up and had a few words with Jesse Banes I noticed his child was chewing tobacco. I commented on it and Jesse told me: "'He's a real man. He can drink more whisky than any man in the country. He also can dance.'"

Smutty Wheat Shipped From Jackson County

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 19.—Fifty-three carloads of wheat which showed smut were shipped from Jackson county during the past season, according to a report from the grain supervisor's office received by W. B. Forrester, Jackson county farm agent.

Thirteen cars of smutty wheat were shipped from Elmer, 11 from Duke, eight from Altus, eight from Blair, seven from Olustee, three from Eldorado and one each from Martha, Victory and Headrick.

A cut of from one cent a bushel up to as much as seven cents a bushel is made on smutty wheat depending on how badly the smut is, according to a local grain dealer. Most of the smutty wheat shipped from this county showed only a slight smut.

Farmers in this county are urged to treat their seed before planting in order to prevent smut occurring again this year.

J. C. R.—Would greatly appreciate full information on Louisville Gas and Electric "A" stock. Is it a safe investment at present prices?

Answer—Company has withstood the effects of depression in excellent fashion, last year's net income amounting to $3.95 per share of class "A" stock, established a new high record; by reason of close control of costs, together with better than average maintenance of revenues, it is now indicated that 1932 profits will approximate $3.75 per share. This would equal more than two times the current $1.75 rate of dividend payments, and be 2.5 times the rate ($1.50) to which the "A" shares have preference over the "B" stock. The latter issue which carries control, is largely owned by Standard Gas and Electric company. Latest report showed the company to be in possession of more than $1,800,000 of cash, with no bank loans, and no funded debt maturities prior to 1937. The "A" stock participates equally with the "B" shares in dividend payments made in excess of $1.50 per share, thereby being situated to benefit from any future growth of earnings and disbursements that may occur as general business conditions are righted and the scope of operations is enlarged. Medium term, uncertainty surrounding the outcome of litigation over the collection of back franchise taxes and penalties appears to have been taken into account in the present prices of the shares. The "A" stock is regarded as a good speculative investment.

W. E.—Are the Commonwealth Edison 4s of 1981 an attractive investment at current prices?

Answer—Commonwealth Edison First 4s, Series F, 1981 are rated as a high grade investment and are selling at 86½ to yield 4.77 per cent. This company, formerly under Insull, is one of the most important distributors of electricity in the country providing such service in Chicago. It has had an excellent operating record although in recent years the expansion policy of the Insulls involved the company to some extent. The new management, however, evidently intends to confine the company's business entirely to utility service and has reduced dividends, retired notes and otherwise improved the financial structure. Earnings in recent periods have registered moderate declines but protection for requirements continues strong. Position of bonds now appears satisfactory and the 4s of 1981 are quite attractive at current levels.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (AP)—Cotton advanced moderately today on trade buying and covering which were evidently stimulated by the late advance in the stock market and firmness of grains.

December contracts after selling off from 6.38 to 6.26 rallied to 6.46 in the late trading and closed at 6.40, with the general market closing barely steady at net advances of 9 to 15 points.

The opening was 6 to 8 points higher but after the close of Liverpool prices sagged back to about yesterday's finals. Prices rose about 16 to 20 points net higher on active positions, but closing quotations were several points off from the best on realising.

Attention during the early trading centered on the adjustment of New York-Liverpool differences to the changes in sterling exchange. Some Liverpool buying here again was attributed to arbitrages between the two markets.

The weekly weather report said that picking and ginning had made rapid progress in Texas but in eastern belt sections had been checked by bad weather in the latter part of the week, also that there was considerable complaint of damage to open cotton in many localities east of the Mississippi river.

Southern selling in small lots appeared to be coming here in spurts during the day and was reported quite active in the late trading. Exports today 73,796 making 1,721,350 so far this season. Port receipts 83,101. U. S. port stocks 3,930,644.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19. (AP)—After minor fluctuations in quiet trading which prevailed most of the day, cotton turned active and lower in the last hour today in sympathy with an upturn in stocks and final prices were the best, showing net advances of 10 to 17 points.

The market opened unchanged although Liverpool cables were steady in 13 to 15 points better than due, with sterling lower. Private cables said Bombay bought and shorts covered on weakness in sterling. Manchester cabled there was fresh cloth buying by India and China, and a fair demand for yarns. Despite the firmer cables, the market eased off 2 to 3 points after the start on hedge selling but soon rallied on a firm opening of stocks and December traded up to 6.36 and March to 6.48 or 5 to 7 points up from the early lows and 3 to 4 points above yesterday's close.

Later in the morning prices turned somewhat easier in sluggish trading due to absence of buying power and further hedge selling and December dropped to 6.26 and March to 6.41, or 4 to 6 points under the previous close.

After ruling quiet and a shade easier most of the afternoon because of a reported lower basis for spots, the market rallied sharply in the late trading with active buying power in the spot months and new highs for the day with December at 6.44 and March to 6.58 or 17 to 18 points up from the lows and closed at the top with December showing a net gain of 13 points and March 13 points.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 7 to 8 points higher.

Port receipts 70,456, for week 227,127, for season 2,948,823, last season 2,700,352. Exports 73,796, for week 466,350, for season 1,721,350, last season 1,173,489. Port stock 3,877,663, last year 4,146,122. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 1,371,316, last year 154,306. Spot sales at southern markets 80,204, last year 51,979.

Railroad Shares Continue To Furnish Leadership As Prices Rise On Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (US)—Stock prices recovered further today, railroad shares furnishing leadership. Relative strength in the rail list the preceding season apparently inspired the optimists to attempt a further rally extending through the list.

Grain quotations also advanced, from reports that the most publicized automobile magnate would publicly promise purchase of a substantial amount of the commodity if his political favorite is elected in November. Bonds held firm in quiet trading.

Stocks were responding chiefly to the more favorable technical situation which had developed from the growing tendency among small traders to trade on the short side. There were no particularly disturbing developments in the news of the day, although additional third quarter statements were fully up to advance prognostications.

The political gospel of fear concerning great dangers in a change of federal administration was further dissipated by the Democratic candidate's declaration he opposes any indiscriminate lowering of tariffs. Then, too, the market was anticipating relatively satisfactory remarks from the same source in the speech scheduled after the market had closed.

Electric output for the week showed a slightly greater decline compared with a year ago, apparently confirming flattening out of this index, which has been fairly favorable for several weeks. Steel production was also reported up modestly, though here too there is evidence of a flattening-out tendency.

Railroad car loading reports continued to furnish distinct cheer, especially as numerous loading systems revealed further gains during the past week, whereas seasonal influences might well result in a downward tendency. New York Central and Pennsylvania were among the lines showing gains over the preceding week, but of course still being behind corresponding period of last year. Other lines reporting larger loadings than a week ago included Missouri-Kansas-Texas

COLLEGES CALL W. F. H. S. GRADS

139 Seniors of Last Year Continue Work

Of 322 students graduated in the January, May and July classes from Wichita Falls High school last year, 139 or 43 per cent are attending senior college, stated Registrar A. K. Presson of the high school and college in his annual official report to the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges. This detailed report of facts about graduates is required from every high school affiliated with the association.

Wichita Falls Junior college this year drew the lion's share of graduates, with 105, or 75.5 per cent, matriculating in the local higher institution. Six went to University of Texas, five to Texas A. & M., four to North Texas Teachers college, and others to Kemper, Gulf Park, Southeastern Teachers at Durant, Baylor college, Rice institute, Oklahoma university, Oklahoma A. & M., San Diego Junior college, Stephen F. Austin Teachers college, College of Marshall, Hockaday, College of Industrial Arts and Southern Methodist university. This list does not include students who have been out of high school longer, but lists only 1932 graduates from high school here.

Wichita Falls Junior college drew many of the best students, including both boy and girl honor graduates of both January and May classes. These are Bill Joe Nabors and Virginia Wiest of January and W. A. Bachman and Addie Val Murrell of May.

According to Registrar Presson, this year the percentage of high school graduates continuing college work anywhere is somewhat smaller than formerly. Last year there was also a decrease. Formerly around 66 per cent of local high school graduates continued work in college the next year, a rather high figure compared with the United States as a whole.

'Show Window' Kindergarten Tribute To Day Nursery

Youngsters Show Value Of Proper Care And Training

A miniature kindergarten conducted in the window of the community chest headquarters Wednesday morning was a visible lesson for the general public of the fundamental good training in citizenship that is being given kindergarten pupils in the day nursery by Mrs. Fred T. Datson, superintendent.

Little faces shining with happiness; children doing their bit of work in content; slightly older pupils assisting in getting younger ones ready for luncheon; these were suggestions that children whose mothers are at work in factories and shops are receiving lessons in one of the most important factors in life, the sense of responsibility.

Complete obedience was shown by Mrs. Datson's class and their attention to her, instead of to the outsiders, proved their real interest.

Milk was served to the group just as it is served in the regular kindergarten school. Eight pupils, making one table, took part. There was not room for the entire class.

One special feature noticeable in the kindergarten demonstration was the feeling shown by the children of being at home with their teacher. There was no suggestion of institutional work.

Mrs. Datson has been teaching the kindergarten class in the day nursery for four years. There are only 20 children in the group at this time, but for two years 32 children attended regularly. They go directly from the day nursery kindergarten to the city schools and the record established in conduct and grades has been outstanding.

Per Capita Cost Of Wichita Falls Welfare Program Lowest In U. S.

The per capita cost of Wichita Falls' welfare and relief program through the community chest is the lowest of a group of 13 communities in the United States. Since the withdrawal of the Salvation Army from the chest program the remaining eight agencies will operate on a budget of $48,649.57. The per capita cost for the population of 43,690 will be $1.12.

The cost will be 25 cents less per person than the 1931 budget of $1.37. Lynchburg, Va., offers the nearest comparison in the population class with a budget of $71,110 to serve a population of 40,661. The per capita cost in that city for 1932 is $1.74. The next lowest per capita cost is offered by Greensboro, N. C., with $1.41. That city raised $75,522 for a population of 53,579.

Other cities in the group include Elmire, N. Y.; Beaumont, Texas; Hamilton, Ohio; Galveston, Texas; Dallas, Texas; Fort Worth, Texas; Columbia, S. C.; Port Arthur, Texas; Waco, Texas; Raleigh, N. C.

The facilities of all the agencies in the chest organization are available to the people only because the participating groups work in cooperation with each other. Complete records are kept and checked, and there is no duplication of service. When a case is brought to the attention of one agency and belongs in the field of another it is promptly referred to the proper agency.

The cost of raising and administration of the chest funds is placed at 8 per cent, but the cost would be 20 per cent more if each of the agencies conducted separate campaigns. These figures are based on the experience of communities all over the nation, drive officials said.

SCHOOL OR PRISON?

Education Survey Shows Comparative Costs In U. S.

It costs $300 annually to keep a man in prison and less than $100 a year to keep a child in school, according to an extensive study of crime in its relation to education. Expense for care of juvenile delinquents is even greater. The offending minors in special schools and reformatories average about $400 a year. A review of the survey was received this week by Supt. H. D. Fillers of the public schools from the National Education association at Washington, D. C.

It is estimated that 25,000,000 persons visit American zoos every year.

FILLERS TALKS TO OPTIMISTS

Training of New Generation Urged by Educator

What the present "younger generation" contributes to civilization during the years of its members' maturity will mean more than all that has occurred in the entire past, H. D. Fillers, superintendent of Wichita Falls public schools, said before members of the Optimist club at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon.

Mr. Fillers stressed repeatedly the importance of training the younger generation to create, so far as possible, the type of civilized society to which we aspire. Solution of all problems of the future lies in building up and training the children, he declared.

"Man has improved his being and the world in which he lives by improving civilization, and the institutions of civilization," the speaker said. "But to further improve and to continue the world and man in a proper state, the problems of the future must be solved by the younger generation, whose contribution will mean more than all that has occurred in the past."

Miss Lucille Snyder was unanimously selected "Optimist sweetheart" after Miss Mary Sue Elliott resigned. John Kilgore asked members of the club to assist in every possible way to quick completion of the community chest drive. Walter Ehlert was introduced as a new member. Rev. James Gregory, pastor of the Highland Heights Baptist church, was a guest.

History of Lions Club Discussed by Bruce

Activities, principles and the history of both Lions International and local clubs were discussed by H. J. Bruce, charter member and past president of the local organization, at the regular weekly meeting Wednesday at the Wichita club.

Members of the Lions club were urged by Dr. O. T. Kimbrough to give all possible aid in putting over the annual community chest campaign. Contributions to the chest are solid investments in community growth, he said. By request, he sang "Ole Man River."

Jack Taylor was admitted to membership in the club, and Stormy Morgan was admitted by transfer from the Davidson, Okla., club. Guests included C. C. Hudson of the Iowa Park club.

Martin to Attend Meeting of Judges

Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court will go to Abilene Thursday in order to attend the regular annual meeting of the state judicial council which meets there Friday and Saturday.

Judge W. R. Chapman, senior jurist in the Abilene judicial district, invited members of the council to meet at Abilene.

Salvation Army to Open Campaign Nov. 7

The Salvation Army in Wichita Falls will open its annual budget campaign on Nov. 7 with $10,500 as the goal, according to Adj. A. Shultz, local commander.

W. L. Tortwood, a financial secretary from divisional headquarters, is to conduct the campaign here, it was announced.

Serum inoculations against diphtheria continued Wednesday in increasing numbers, with local physicians generally as busy as City Health Officer Dr. R. B. Wolford making many injections during the day, according to information given The Record News.

Two new cases of diphtheria were reported and quarantined Wednesday morning, Doctor Wolford said, bringing the total of known active cases in this city to 16. Eight of those were discovered last week, and three cases each on Monday and Tuesday.

One new case of scarlet fever was reported Wednesday, but the total number of such cases is but few, it was stated.

Doctor Wolford provided serum injections against diphtheria to about 35 persons Wednesday.

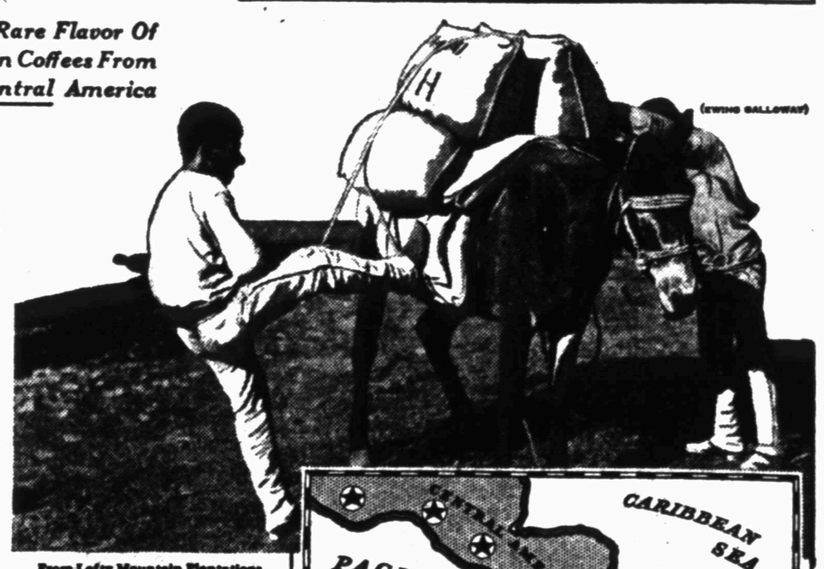
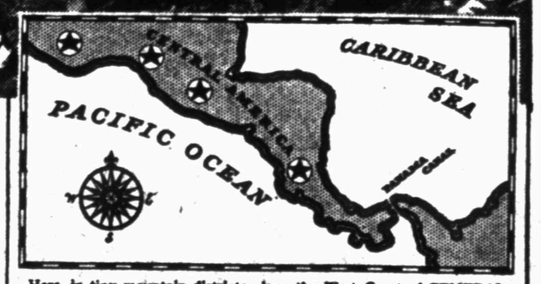
Does Your Husband Brag About the Coffee You Serve?

Here's a Simple Way to Make Him Do So...

Just Let Him Try The Rare Flavor Of These Mountain-Grown Coffees From The West Coast Of Central America



From Lofty Mountain Plantations, Mules Carry These Rare Coffees Down Steep Trails To The Outposts of Civilization.



Here, in tiny mountain districts along the West Coast of CENTRAL AMERICA, are grown rare coffees whose rich and mellow flavor, experts concede is not duplicated anywhere else in the world.

Twice The Richness— Twice The Body

HERE is a coffee that forever ends the age-old complaint of husbands that "coffee usually tastes better away from home." A coffee of extra richness that especially appeals to men.

Not merely another "brand" or "blend." But the flavor of rare coffees from a totally different producing region. With a mellow, winey tang unlike that of any coffee you've ever served before.

It is grown chiefly in remote districts, along the West Coast of CENTRAL AMERICA. Is raised in a few tiny plantations which have been accorded world fame due to the super-coffees they produce.

It differs from ordinary coffees because of the fact that it is mountain-grown. Because it is nourished in an odd type of rich volcanic soil where high altitude and steaming tropical rains produce a flavor which experts concede is not duplicated anywhere else in the world!

Rare and Different

These rare coffees are comparatively hard to get. For only a limited amount is grown each year in the small districts that produce them.

Exclusive clubs and hotels make special arrangements to get them. But, because of their relative scarcity, many people have never had a chance to taste them.

Today—with increased growing facilities—their rare flavor is being made available in Folger's. Brought to you with all its mountain-freshness faithfully preserved in the latest type of key-opening, vacuum tins.

And in order that you may try it without risk and without delay—we make the unusual 3-day test offer at right.

Test At Our Risk

Just go to your grocer and get a pound of Folger's today. Drink it tomorrow morning.

The following morning serve the coffee you previously used. The third morning serve Folger's again. Then choose between them.

If, for any reason, you decide against Folger's, your grocer will refund your money. We'll pay him. That's fair, isn't it? 150

NOTE: Folger's is particularly economical. Because of greater richness and body, you may use 1/5th less! Get a can today!

STANDARD SERVICE
The "Standard" is our finest service, the most complete and thorough that modern scientific methods enable us to give. This service includes the making of minor repairs, and is as near perfect workmanship as it is possible to give. We recommend this service for your better garments.

ECONOMY SERVICE (Cash Only)
You must request this service. It is a service maintaining far better standards of cleaning than many people have been receiving elsewhere. Minor repairs at no extra cost. We recommend this service for your everyday and street wear. Cash only.

THRIFTY SERVICE (Cash Only)
You must request this service. The "Thrifty Service" receives the same Dry Cleaning but does not receive the same attention in the spotting and finishing departments. We recommend this service for garments you are not particular about. This service for cash only.
