SB351 creates county education district

SB 351, the compromise school funding bill which Texas legislators hope will end the battle over school funding, has now passed both houses, and has been signed into law by Governor Ann Richards.

In a nutshell, here is what the bill will probably mean in Mitchell County:

At this point, Colorado City residents pay school tax in the amount of $1.055 per $100 value; Westbrook residents pay $0.67 per $100 value; and Loraine residents pay $1.39 per $100 value.

The new bill will create a single county education district which will cover all three ISD's, and each citizen within that district will pay a base rate of $0.72 per $100 value of personal property for education purposes only.

This base rate will go up $.10 per year until it reaches $1.

At the discretion of the individual school boards involved, a sum of $.45 per $100 can be added to this base rate for further enrichment and debt requirements.

In addition to these changes, SB 351 will lengthen the school year, beginning with the 1991-92 year, from 175 to 180 days. Teachers will remain on a 183-day contract.

Under SB351, three-year-olds may be enrolled in a prekindergarten program and entitled to the benefits of the foundation school program beginning in the 1991-92 school year, and therefore would be included in a school district's average daily attendance. Under this provision, however, the individual school district must have at least 15 eligible three-year-old students in the district to qualify. To be eligible, a child must be unable to speak or comprehend English, or must come from a family whose income is at or below the state subsistence level.

Governor may be interested in project

Texas Yarns and Fibers may be one step closer to becoming reality, according to Maggie Compton, who spoke to the Colorado City Rotary Club on Wednesday.

Ms. Compton said that she has been told that Governor Ann Richards, who has indicated an interest in promoting agriculture and industry in Texas, has mentioned the possibility of asking Ms. Compton and other representatives of the proposed mill to visit with her in Austin and to bring all information and specifications on the project with them.

Ms. Compton, a Mitchell County CPA, has been working diligently on plans to open the mill, which she intends to locate on land she is purchasing just north of Colorado City.

The mill, in its first phase, would employ approximately 80

Local citizen raises rare breed of dog

If you have never had the pleasure of seeing a Small Muensterlaender Pointer, you are probably not alone.

The dogs are fairly rare in the United States, and are not yet recognized by the American Kennel Club.

It is in Europe where they abound, and are known for their hunting and pointing prowess and their fearlessness, as well as for being hard workers and good family dogs.

Frank Ginzel and his wife Adele are staunch admirers of the SMP, as the dogs are called for brevity's sake.

The Ginzels have a happily married pair, Heidi and Ajax, who have just become the proud parents of a litter of girls.

Ginzel tells the story of how he came to be an owner of SMP's. He had gone to Europe, he says, about seven years ago, to see a friend, Dr. Manfred Inkmann, whom he had met on an elk hunt while Inkmann was attending the Colorado School of Mines at Golden, Colorado.

He saw the dogs at their best - hunting, and decided he wanted one for his own. On the spot he chose a female puppy from a litter, and left her in the care of a friend, while he began the long, tedious process of paperwork and quarantine involved in shipping a dog from Europe to the United States.

Once he had returned to the United States, Ginzel said, he realized he should have gotten a pair while he was about it, in order to be able to raise some puppies.

He called another friend in Europe, who was able to locate a male puppy of approximately the same age as the female. Both puppies were shipped to the United States at the same time, at roughly six months of age, arriving at the Dallas/Fort Worth Airport together, with Inkmann as their escort.

Colorado City and Sweetwater "Another Toast to Broadway" cast members rehearse for "Master of the House," a song/performance from "Les Miserables."

Redwine responds to anonymous flyer

Some time between Thursday night and Friday morning, April 18 and 19, reproductions of a record of a court decision involving Colorado City Councilmember Gary Redwine were thrown, anonymously, on various lawns throughout the city.

The reproduction appears to be a record of a trial during which Redwine pleaded guilty to an offense of "sale of a dangerous drug, to-wit: LSD."

The trial, according to the reproduction, took place over twenty years ago, in late 1970.

The Colorado City Record was able to reach Redwine for his comments regarding the matter.

According to Redwine, the trial did indeed take place, and he did, indeed plead guilty to the offense.

He said, however, that rather than the five years confinement which are shown to be his punishment on the reproduction, he

Playhouse production a sparkling success

A REVIEW

The rafters of the Colorado City Playhouse rang on Thursday night with applause, music, and laughter, from an audience delighted with "Another Toast to Broadway."

In its first production since "Steel Magnolias," in October, 1990, the Playhouse embraced a capacity opening night crowd, and proceeded to present a sparkling night of variety entertainment complete with several high points.

Teaming up with the Colorado City Players were the Sweetwater Players and the Sweetwater Municipal Band. The ranks of the latter, conducted by Frank Swindle, were pleasantly swelled with four of Colorado City's outstanding musicians.

The outstanding performance of the Sweetwater Municipal Band may bring back to life an old dream of Colorado City residents to have a municipal band of our own.

The ensemble which resulted from the combining of the three groups created a major production. Members of all groups worked together as if they were one single, well-rehearsed troupe.

Frank and Gloria Swindle, who have worked with all the groups, quite likely had something to do with the success of the merger. The Swindles, who showed many of their other versatile talents throughout the production, directed "Another Toast to Broadway."

Gloria Swindle's invitation, at the beginning of the production, for everyone to sit back and be entertained, was an easy invitation to accept.

One of the surprises, at least for this reporter, who has never seen a production of the Playhouse before, was Tandy Curlee. He sings, he dances, he has stage presence, and Broadway's loss is our gain.

Watch for Nedra Walthall, too. Even when she was just a member of the cast on stage, her mobile facial expressions made her stand out in the crowd. And she can sing, too! And she's only 14! I first became aware of Nedra when I heard her sing "From a Distance," at the Colorado High School Howl Night ceremonies. I said then we would be seeing her on the Grammy Awards some day. Wait for it.

Another surprise was the subtle trick played on the audience by the directors, of showcasing strong and exciting voices within comedy numbers.

As the audience prepared only to laugh, the subtle trick was played, and the audience instead was awed by the voices of, for example, Marsha Moore, singing about swamps!; Emily Hataway and Jo McCoy, meowing at each other!; Janet Musgrove and Carolee Patterson, insulting each other "lovingly;" and Paul Fritz in that Hat.

Jim Wortham was an unfamiliar face to many of the members of the Colorado City audience when the production began. Now, though, we will all remember him as the Sweetwater troupe member who flew through the air (with no harm done) in "Of Fathers and Sons," and later practically stole the scene with his narration of "The Grasshopper - a Tragic Tale," complete with that wonderful hair and that ongoing interplay with Frank Swindle, which could have been intentional, or could have been ad lib. The fact that we couldn't be sure is one of the marks of good comedy.

"Grasshopper," by the way, was another one of those comedy showcases for surprising talent. Jo McCoy, who played in the band as well as performing in the Sweetwater troupe, can sing like a diva, too!

Kudos to the cast members who teamed up for "A Girl Named Fred." The number obviously took a lot of practice and timing, and Leslie Jones' portrayal of Fred was classic.

There is a lot of talent in West Texas. Much of it appears in "Another Toast to Broadway."

The show will be presented again on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 25, 26, and 27.

Don't miss it.

REDWINE

was actually sentenced to ten years of probation, which was successfully completed.

Redwine said he is certainly not proud of his mistake, but that he has never made any secret of this aspect of his past. In fact, he said, he has spoken of it at length to his own children, and to others, seeking to prevent them from making a similar mistake in their own lives.

"I think most people already knew about it, or at least had heard rumors about it," he said. "After all, it is public record."

Redwine said that his conviction for the crime might have been a turning point in his life. He said that he forced himself to stay here and face his friends and all the people of the town, rather than running away, and that he hopes that people will understand how difficult that was.

"It was hard, but it was something I felt I had to do," Redwine said. "I had to do it for myself, and I wanted to show people that I could do it."

He said he hopes that people now know him as the public servant he is, and as someone who has sincerely tried to make up for a mistake.

"One of the reasons I ran for the City Council in the first place," he said, "was to pay people back for that mistake, by being the best councilman I could possibly be. I want to do the best I can for the people who believe in me."

While making no excuses for the mistake, Redwine says he is concerned that people might look at the reproduction of the court document and believe that he was a drug dealer. Such was not the case, he said, and he hopes that those who know him, and who know the truth, understand that.

"This was a one-time incident involving entrapment by an undercover agent," said Redwine.

Redwine says he is willing to speak, one-on-one, with any local citizen or local organization regarding the details of this matter.

"The worst thing about what happened," Redwine said, "was what it did to my family. My family had to put up with a lot back then, and they still stuck with me. Now, with all of this happening, with someone bringing up something I have already paid for, I'm just sad that my family might be hurt by it again, and that my kids might be hurt by it. The people who threw these reproductions must not have thought about my kids. Surely they wouldn't want to hurt my kids."

workers, and with planned expansion would eventually employ as many as 1,000.

Ms. Compton says she is guardedly optimistic, but that she has no idea at this time what, if any, the governor's plans might be regarding Texas Yarns and Fibers.

"It will be wonderful if the governor supports the mill," she said. "But our plans for Texas Yarns and Fibers will continue in any case."

A caution Ginzel wants to give prospective owners of the SMP is that the dogs do not like cats. Not at all. That word to the wise should be sufficient.

Also, anyone who might be embarrassed at missing a shot while hunting might do well to think twice about owning an SMP. These dogs are excellent hunters; they expect their masters to be excellent hunters as well.

If a hunter misses frequently or regularly, Ginzel explains, the SMP is likely to become agitated, race to where the game should have fallen, see it is not there, and then race back and bark loudly at the unfortunate hunter, who probably already feels bad enough, just to let him know how she feels about his ineptitude.

Ginzel says that in some cases, however, the owner of an SMP need not necessarily hit his game to have that game retrieved.

He says that his dogs have brought him quail which they have simply caught on the run, and that once Ajax proudly brought him a live skunk.

Nice doggy. Thanks a lot.

New summer youth program begins June 3 at Wallace Center

It's almost time for the Summer Youth Recreation Program at the Wallace Community Education Center.

The program begins on June 3 and lasts through July 25, Monday through Thursday of each week from 8 a.m. until noon.

It features a summer of fun and activities for children who were in kindergarten through the fifth grade during the 1990-91 school year.

Among the activities scheduled so far are games, reading, skating, swimming at Ruddick Park, crafts, and exercises. More activities are being added to the schedule every day.

Donations are needed from individuals and civic organizations to help fund the program. So far donations have been received from the Noon Lions' Club, the Kiwaniannes, the Mitchell County Retired Teachers Association, the Colorado City Garden Club, the Fairview Home Demonstration Club, and Tandy Curlee.

On Wednesday, April 17, the Colorado City Optimist Club presented a check in the amount of $500 for the summer program.

Registration for the program begins on May 1, and costs $25 per child, and $20 for each additional child in the family. Register at the Wallace Center, or call Margaret Trulock at 728-2392.

Webb speaks to B&PW Club

The Colorado City BPW Club met in regular meeting with the chairman of the World Affairs Committee, Christine Cooley, directing the program for the evening. Seventeen members and two guests were present.

Sherry Webb, graduate of Loraine and student in Texas Tech, spoke about her trip to Finland. She was an exchange student this year. She lived three weeks with each of six families. Each of her families were engaged in different types of labor. She told the BPW's about the women who were in her host families. One woman was a social worker, one a teacher, another a cook assistant and another was a dairy farmer's wife. During her visit there she was treated as a member of the family. She did as the children in the family did. If they got up early and went to tend cows, she did that. She was expected to do the chores that the others did. Finland has the reputation for being the most Americanized country in the world.

Sue Lowrance, President of the Child Welfare Board, spoke to the club about National Child Abuse Prevention Month. She contrasted the cost of prevention to the price we must pay for neglect, stating that 4 out of 5 criminals on death row are victims of child abuse or neglect. It seems that "we will pay now, or we will pay later."

A request from the Wallace Center for a donation to their children's summer care program was received and a contribution of $89 was made by individual members of the club.

The Executive Board presented a recommendation that the club set up a scholarship fund as recommended by the Scholarship Committee. The guidelines were presented by Nelda Garrett who encouraged members to consider the matter carefully. She said, "We are setting a precidence in doing this. So far as I know, we have never done a thing like this before." The recommendation passed and the BPW will set up a scholarship that will be available for designated business and professional women in the work place.

The aim of the scholarship is to provide a means for women who need to improve their skills on their present jobs, or to help them prepare for a change in their work status. Anyone may apply but special consideration will be give to members of BPW/USA, to single parents, and to persons wishing to qualify for better paying jobs or for a position in a different field. The scholarship will not be awarded to a person with a 4-year degree. A person who wishes to apply must contact the Scholarship Committee, whose members will have complete control over accepting or rejecting the application and determining the amount of the scholarship.

Superintendent's Report

By Don Nimmo
CISD Superintendent

The legislature birthed it! It's ugly! It's ours! On Monday, April 15, 1991 state District Judge Scott McCown ruled (1) that school districts will continue to receive state funds under the current system at least until September 1, (2) the school finance bill (SB351) is presumed to be constitutional, (3) all parties to the Edgewood lawsuit are to review the plan and submit their opinions and/or motions for rehearing to the court by September 1, and (4) that alternative plans developed for the court by the court-appointed expert be held confidential.

Senate Bill 351 features several changes in financing Texas Public Education. The most sweeping of which comes in the creation of 188 County Educational Districts (hereafter referred to as CED). These districts were established along county lines for the purpose of setting a standard of neutrality which guarantees equal access to similar revenue per student at a similar tax effort. This bill ensures that no CED has taxable property value in excess of $280,000 per student in average daily attendance (ADA). Thirty-one (31) of the 188 CED's are multi-county units, e.g. two (2) or more counties make up one (1) County Education District. Mitchell County is a CED whereas Midland and Andrews Counties compose one (1) CED. Another example of multi-counties equal one CED is the counties of Somerville, Bosque, Erath, Hill and Johnson. The $280,000 figure is important in that it spreads the wealth from the affluent to the less prosperous counties.

Each CED is an independent school district established in order to exercise a portion of the taxing power previously authorized by the voters in school districts. The CED will distribute revenue to school districts within its borders (whether one or multi-county arrangement).

Each CED is governed by a board of trustees appointed by the respective boards of trustees of component school districts. Since there are three (3) school districts in Mitchell County, each will appoint two (2) current board members to sit on the CED board. Counties with more than three schools will appoint one member from each school board. Each member serves at the pleasure of the appointing school district's board of trustees and may be replaced at any time by that board.

CED meetings are to be held in the central administrative offices of the component school district with the greatest average daily membership unless the board designates another location. The board meets at the call of the chairman or at the request of a quorum of the members. No compensation is paid except for necessary expenses by the appointing school district.

All CED's will levy a property tax of 72¢ in 1991-92 with 10¢ increases each year until 1993-94 and $1.00 each year thereafter. A component school district can tax up to 45¢ each year for local enrichment.

Senate Bill 351 also features:

Technology fund allotment
Cost of educational adjustments
Sparsity adjustments
Guaranteed yield program
Facilities/facilities emergency grant
Revenue limit
Tax limitations
Roll back elections: tax notices
Increase of instruction days by 5
Pre-Kindergarten for three year olds
Cost adjustments

It is important to remember that funding (dollars) for SB351 has not been addressed. Yes! We have legislation but no money.

Please be aware of false prophets bearing news of Colorado ISD receiving more money and lowering tax rates. It's really too early to determine. We do have the state's projections. These projections are based on increased enrollment over the next four years. In reality, Colorado ISD is consistently decreasing student enrollment each year. Therefore, until the dust settles, appropriations made, and interpretations delivered, don't expect miracles.

Stay tuned! The Texas judicial system soap opera as related to school finance is heating up.

Easley, Ross participate in FHA "STAR" events

San Antonio, Texas--April, 1991-- Christy Easley and Sharrilyn Ross of Colorado City recently participated in the STAR Events recognition program at the State Leadership Meeting of Future Homemakers of America in San Antonio, Texas on April 12-13, 1991. Three hundred and ninety young men and women were chosen to participate in this State-level program in eight major categories: all-star chapter, all-star project, Design a Business, child development community service project, family communications, food service, illustrated talk, and job interview.

Christy, who is a sophomore at Colorado High School and is the granddaughter of Ruth and Nelson Myers received 2nd place. Her trophy was presented at a recognition session honoring all participants at the Convention Center Arena on Saturday, April 13.

Christy and Sharrilyn competed in the Little Friends Event. This event encourages members to apply their knowledge of child development in planning and carrying out a community service project for children and their families. These projects were evaluated by such criteria as the extent to which the project applied child development knowledge, the benefits derived by the children, and the quality and clarity of the goals and description of the project.

The STAR (Students Taking Action for Recognition) Events program of Future Homemakers of America is based on the belief that all people can be winners. Competition, evaluation, and recognition all stress cooperation as the basis success. Both youth and adults work together as managers of the events and as evaluators of the participants.

Colorado FHA chapter advisor is Judy Merrell. Angela Biggers also attended the State FHA Meeting.

Future Homemakers of America is a national vocational student organization and has involved over eight million youth since its founding in 1945. It is the only in-school student organization with the family as its central focus and is unique among youth organizations because its programs are planned and run by members.

Recycling program informative

In conjunction with Kelley Elementary's K.A.R.E. project (Kelley Kids Acting Responsibly for our Earth) coordinator Margaret Sparks asked Texans against Pollution members, Maureen Morris and Darlene Hines, to present a program on recycling to the students on Tuesday, April 16.

The purpose of the K.A.R.E. project is to help students and parents become aware of ways we can take care of our environment. By recycling our trash, we reduce the amount of waste going to our landfill, conserve our natural resources, reduce the amount of our community's disposal costs and make new products from old ones. The children learned how easy recycling can be and what items can be recycled, for example - newspapers, glass containers, aluminum cans, tin cans and plastic containers.

The students were also given 25 seedling afghan pine trees from McDonalds and the American Forestry Associations Global Relief program to plant at their school by Texans' Against Pollution as another positive step to help the environment.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

The First Christian Church in Colorado City quietly observed a changing of the guard this past Sunday. The Reverend Walter Barthoff, who has served in his retirement as interim pastor, gives way to 46 year old Dennis Williams. Williams, a former band director, is currently a student at Brite School of Divinity.

He inherits a rich heritage at First Christian. Back in 1988 the church celebrated its 100th anniversary.

It all began in the year 1888. At that time, First Christian Church met in the old K. of P. Hall and members had to take their own chairs, if they wanted to have a place to sit. Later, the church bought its own house of worship, a small one room house which was located where the American Legion building is now.

Later, the one room church was torn down and the materials were used to build "a little white church." When the new house of worship was dedicated, it drew high praise from "The West Texas Stockman:"

> "The congregation now has one of the very best houses of worship in the city and, by far, the most beautifully furnished. This church is a credit to the town and it is gratifying to know that God has blessed the efforts of a small but devoted and enterprising congregation."

That was in June of 1900. By 1926, First Christian was ready for a new and bigger building. And that's when the current site on East Fourth was developed.

The church and its parsonage were constructed for the sum of, want to guess how much? If you said $30,000 you were right!

On Sunday, October 3, 1926, Dr. C.L. Root, Chairman of the Board, was presented the keys to the church and that very evening, the first baptism was conducted. (The honor went to Francis Elaine Price, later Mrs. Johnny Prude).

The first marriage in the new church building saw Elsie Lee Majors, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam L. Majors, Sr., and L.G. Mackey, son of Mrs. P.K. Mackey, become man and wife.

As for the $30,000 note on the church, it was paid off in 18 short years (December 16, 1944).

When the church's 75th anniversary rolled around, a special program was planned. That was on October 16, 1963. Entitled "The Star is You," the production depicted the First Christian Church's history.

Charles Root was the Producer while Willis Jones and Virginia Warren served as Directors. The all-star cast included Margaret Trulock, Joyce Butler, Maurine Carver, Orine Edison, Margaret Lipps, Don Latimer and Mark Majors.

Credit for the story idea was given to Charles Root, Maxie Lee Root, Jim Edison, Joe Bell, Bob Carver and others.

Pete Warren was in charge of ticket sales and Virgil Stone Construction Company was responsible for the stage setting.

Curtis Latimer gave the benediction.

The applause for that hometown production has long since faded from memory. The church, of course, has gone on, albeit with reduced membership (as have many other local churches).

But Dennis Williams becomes minister of more than a "small but devoted congregation." He assumes the leadership of an important part of our county's religious history. A church that is still "a credit to the town."

And we welcome him and wish him well.

Steers horn in on Wolves, 11-5

The Colorado City Wolves fell victim to the "long ball" in the late stages of the baseball game with Big Spring on Monday, April 15. Although the Pack picked up two home runs of their own, the Steers' offense earned home runs in the fifth, sixth, and seventh innings for the victory, 11-5.

Kevin Green and Robbie Smith initiated the Wolf attack as Green homered deep over the center field fence to put the Wolves in front 1-0 early in the first inning. Smith then a sent a line drive three run home run of his own to increase the lead, but the Steers did not back down as they came up with three runs of their own to cut the lead to 4-3.

In the third, Wendell Iglehart got on base with a double to start things off for Colorado City. Smith then earned another double to bring in Iglehart. By fielder's choice, Smith was eventually brought in for the 5-3 lead.

With no one picking up any runs in the fourth, Big Spring earned its first two run shot to tie the game at five all while holding the Wolves to only three batters.

In the sixth inning, again the long ball came into effect as the second two run HR just carried over the left-center field for the 5-7 lead.

In the final inning of play, Big Spring got their last of their two shot home runs, and to put the non-district game out of reach, the Steers earned two more runs on a couple of base hits for the 11-5 victory.

"Basically, the long ball hurt," said Coach Jerold Epperson, "We left a lot of pitches up high, and with the wind blowing, the balls carried for them."

Robbie Smith pitched the first three innings in which he gave up three hits and three runs while Jason Lawson finished the contest in which he gave up six hits and eight runs.

Bearcats win, score 8-1

The Ballinger Bearcats handed the Colorado City Wolves a disappointing loss on Saturday, April 13, to continue district 7-AAA play,1-8.

Ballinger started the game with a single run in the first inning, but picked up three in the second to lead 0-4 by the end of the third.

Picking up two more runs in the fifth, the Bearcats looked to shut out the Wolves, but in the top of the fifth, Greg Parker reached base on a pitcher's error. Stealing second, Parker was ready for Adrian Martinez to drive him in, and Martinez did just that with a single to earn the only Wolf RBI, 1-4.

The Bearcats were not ready to give up though, as the offense picked up to gather four more runs to diminish the Wolves' hopes of a comeback.

"We didn't make a lot of errors," said Coach Jerald Epperson, "we just didn't have any offense."

Colorado City could only muster four hits while leaving eight runners on base.

Jason Lawson pitched three innings as he recorded 4 KOs, 4 BBs, 4 runs on 7 hits. Filling in, Robbie Smith gave up 4 hits and 4 runs while striking out 3 and walking 3.

In addition to her missionary work in Thailand, Mrs. Allison has spoken for ladies' classes and retreats in Pine Springs, Ruidoso, and Cloudcroft, New Mexico; Denver City, Snyder, Lubbock, and El Paso; and Singapore and Thailand.

Sharon Small of Abilene will be leading our singing.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

City Councilman Gary Redwine has recently been made the target of an underhanded and vicious mudslinging printed flyer which was hand delivered by unknown persons in the middle of the night to the front yards of local homes.

Councilman Redwine has worked very hard for nearly two years along with the rest of the city council to insure accountability from past and present city employees. That type of disgusting personal attack is a precise example of the need for close scrutiny of those persons who operate in the dark in their attempts to intimidate our elected public servants or embarrass their families.
