British-Owned Port In Spain Is Bombed

(By The Associated Press)

GANDIA, Spain, June 8.—A lone seaplane bombed and machine-gunned this British-operated port on government Spain's Mediterranean coast in a moonlight raid early today, damaging a British dredge so seriously she sank a few hours later.

SEEK TO END ATTACKS

LONDON, June 8 (AP) — Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, today sought an effective way to end repeated air bombardments of British shipping in government Spain's waters.

Lord Halifax' unexpected return to the foreign office during the Whitsun recess of parliament coincided with the bombing of Gandia, a British-operated Spanish port, 36 miles south of Valencia, early today.

This attack by Spanish airplanes raised to twelve the number of foreign ships sunk or damaged by insurgent air bombs in Spanish harbors within the past two weeks.

British protests to Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco have not diminished the bombardments.

The harbor of Gandia, 36 miles south of Valencia, is a small, modern port, owned by a British company.

Drops Thirty Bombs

The plane, believed to be the same one which bombed two British ships in Alicante harbor yesterday, dropped about thirty bombs, five of them hitting the dredger.

Twenty railway cars and a warehouse were destroyed and another warehouse was damaged. Edwin Apfel, British manager of the port, said he believed the plane was German-manned. It carried two pilots and was clearly visible in the moonlight.

Sole Aim To Destroy Port

Flying only a few hundred feet high, the plane circled the port slowly for a half hour, placing bombs wherever it pleased.

"The sole aim," Apfel declared, "was to destroy the port, which British capital established 50 years ago. The harbor was never used for anything except legitimate shipping, mainly fruit and vegetables."

A Madrid dispatch, however, said Gandia had been used for about two weeks as a port of call for British destroyers and cruisers, owing to the frequent air raids on Valencia.

Third Raid Of Day Is Made On Canton By Jap Planes

CANTON, China, June 8. (AP)—A big fire burned furiously tonight after Japanese warplanes in their third raid of the day dropped incendiary bombs on this terror-stricken city, where the air raid toll since May 28 was conservatively estimated at 3,000 dead and 5,000 wounded.

Senate Group Votes 11 To 2 To Acquit

Investigation Started More Than Year Ago Is Ended In Action; Losses Charged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8 — The senate agriculture committee voted 11 to 2 today to clear the American Cotton Cooperative association of all charges raised against it during an investigation started more than a year ago.

The committee adopted a report prepared by Senators Bankhead (D-Ala) and Ellender (D-La) which gave the cooperative a clean bill of health on each of the specifications raised by Lawrence Westbrook and the special staff named to probe ACCA.

Legislation Is Suggested

At the same time the committee accepted a suggestion of Chairman Smith (D-SC) that the secretary of agriculture prepare legislation which would provide a complete government quality rating on every bale of cotton ginned.

Senators Smith and Frazier (D-ND) did not join in the majority report. They indicated they would file a separate report later.

The majority report dismissed charges that cotton farmers had lost millions of dollars on government pool and loan cotton through underclassing of the staple by the cooperative.

No Deliberate Work

"There was no deliberate or intentional over-classing or underclassing of this cotton", the report said, in respect to loan cotton, adding "the committee was unable to discover any motive for the alleged under-classing."

It also found "the evidence does not show that ACCA benefitted in any of these transactions."

Johnston Testimony Cited

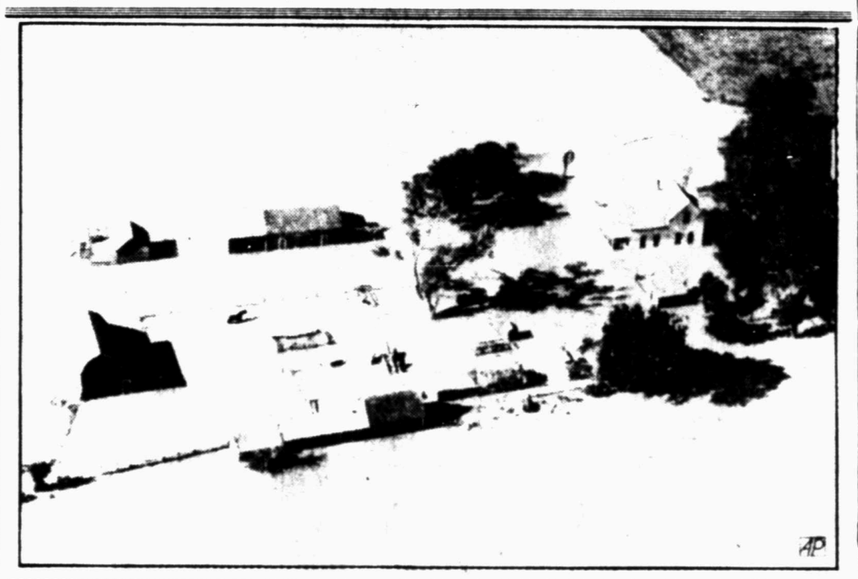

Regarding the pool cotton, the majority report referred to testimony of Oscar Johnston, manager of the government pool, that he "had never seen nor never have had done a nicer marketing job nor more satisfactory job that was done by ACCA

Good Fall Is Received In City Today

Precipitation Ranges From Showers To Two Inches; No Rain To Southwest Area

(By The Associated Press)

Substantial rains damaged ripened grain in the Wichita Falls harvest area today, drenched parts of the South Plains, and fell generally over the Panhandle.

The Dallas weather bureau reported precipitation of 1.16 inches at Wichita Falls, and said rain was still falling. Combines have been kept out of many grain fields there for two weeks by continued moisture.

Farmers also reported that some cotton, already planted three times, was washed up again, and would be abandoned for the planting of feed.

From Quarter To 2 Inches

Rains at Amarillo and other Panhandle points last night and today ranged from a quarter to two inches.

Silverton with 1.50 inches and Plainview with 1.34, reported the heaviest fall in the South Plains. Quitaque and Turkey had heavy rains; Lubbock, Sterley, Dimmitt, Floydada, Lockney, Kress, and Clovis, substantial falls.

Light rains fell at Dallas and Fort Worth.

Creek Waters Up

Creek waters, after a heavy rain in the Paris, Tex., area, flooded the business district of Deport, 16 miles southeast of Paris. The precipitation at Paris was 1.20 inches.

Rainfall, ranging from light showers to heavy downpours spotted the Abilene section. The grain harvest was stopped for several days in several places.

Haskell reported 1.63 inches with generous rainfall throughout the county. Cotton replanting was made necessary on some farms.

Snyder Has Inch

Colorado had .85 inch, Snyder an inch, accompanied by strong winds, electrical display and light hail. Hamlin reported .75 inch. Five to 10 carloads of wheat has been shipped from Hamlin daily since late last week. The rain will halt the harvest a few days.

Light showers fell at Anson and Stamford, a third of an inch in northern Shackelford county, .10 inch in Albany, .25 inch in Rotan, light shower in Munday, light sprinkle at Roby. Abilene received .09 inch.

First Year's Minimum To Be 25 Cents

End Of Seven Years Forty Cents To Be Minimum Unless Wage Causes Unemployment

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8 — A joint congressional committee promised wage-hour legislation today by agreeing to imposition of a universal wage of 40 cents an hour in all interstate industries at the end of seven years, except where such a wage would cause unemployment.

The compromise, adopted with the approval of 12 of the 14 conferees, would provide for a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour, with no exceptions, for the first year. This would be advanced to 30 cents the following year.

Boards Would Decide

After this boards appointed by a central administrator would be empowered to examine conditions in individual industries to determine the minimum wage to be paid by these industries. The boards, made up of representatives of the employers, employes and public, would be charged with the duty of increasing the minimum to 40 cents an hour as rapidly as possible.

At the end of seven years, all wages in interstate industry would go to the 40 cents an hour level, except where these boards found that such action would substantially curtail employment in the industry.

Concesion Granted Southerners

This latter concession was made to Southerners who have been fighting for a wage differential. Senator Pepper (D-Fla) announced that with this proviso he would support the compromise.

Senator Ellender (D-La) told Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) angrily he would not support it. Ellender was the sole senate conferee voting against the compromise.

Representative Hartley (R-NJ) of the house conferees also cast a no

Uncle Sam To Spend $100,000 This Year In 'Dressing Up' Of American Cotton; Plans Told

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Uncle Sam may spend $100,000 or more this year in applying the arts of salesmanship to cotton, the nation's leading agricultural export product.

The money would be used to "dress up" the American bale of cotton so that it might stand on a par in appearance with cotton of competing countries in the world markets.

Plans for the dressing-up program are being prepared by the agriculture department largely as a result of a report of its foreign cotton market specialist, P. K. Norris, that the American bale is a "disgrace" in appearance.

Norris cited letters from foreign spinners saying they were turning more and more to Brazilian, Egyptian, Indian and other foreign cotton largely because of a neater and more uniform bale. The Egyptian bale is considered the model among all bales, Norris said.

May Place Machines

For demonstration purposes, the agriculture department is considering placing high density compressing machines at ten or twelve ginning establishments in various sections of the cotton belt.

These machines, which are being used extensively in other cotton producing countries, put the cotton up in much smaller bales but of the present 500-pound weight.

Coupled with the compressing machines would be mechanical samplers—devices which place in a separate attached package a sample of the cotton from the middle as well as the sides of the bale. The sample would eliminate, officials said, the common practice of cutting a bale every time a sample is drawn—a practice which has contributed to the ragged appearance of American cotton.

Tours Through Battlefields Advertised

IRUN, Spain June 8 (AP)—The Spanish insurgent government announced today it would conduct nine-day tours through the battlefields of northern Spain as its first bid for tourist traffic.

Regular sight-seeing buses with guides and interpreters, it said, would leave regularly from the French and Portuguese frontiers to tour the war-battered regions of the northeast, including Bilbao, Santander, Gijon and Oviedo.

These areas, scenes of some of the severest fighting of the civil war, now are behind the battle fronts.

Relief Agency Will Buy Surplus Cotton

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8. (AP)—The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation expects to distribute between $7,000,000 and $9,000,000 worth of cotton goods and mattresses to needy families during the next year.

Officials said today it was preparing to buy about 100, bales of low grade cotton to be used by WPA sewing projects for mattresses and bedding. It also will buy cloth for clothing families on relief.

Between $75,000,000 and $125,000,000 is expected to be spent during the 1939 fiscal year for FSCC purchase of cotton, wheat, fruits, vegetables, dairy and other agricultural products burdened by price-depressing surpluses.

SENATE PASSES BILL

Lamesa Applies For School Buildings

Lamesa school officials have made application to PWA for loans and grants of approximately $148,000 to complete their building program, W. T. Strange of Haynes and Strange, architects for the board, said this morning.

The program includes two primary grade buildings, a physical education building, a negro school and repairs and improvements to present buildings.

Enrollment in the Lamesa High school the past year was large enough to automatically place it in Class A. Enrollment in the grade schools kept pace with the high school.

School officials some time ago received a large petition from residents of the northeastern part of Lamesa asking for a grade building. One reason, they pointed out, was the fact that it was dangerous for young children to cross the highways.

Officials are hopeful, Strange said, of favorable action on their application as soon as funds for the work are made available.

Navy Ready To Start Building World's Largest War Plane; Original Cost $3,000,000

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8—The navy is ready to start building the world's largest military plane—possibly the largest of any type.

The original model will cost upwards of $3,000,000, four times as much as the army's 32-ton "super flying fortress." Its weight may reach 50 tons, compared to the 41 1-2 ton Atlantic Clipper, the nation's largest ocean air transport, now being tested at Seattle.

Some Facts Disclosed

After shielding details for more than a year, the navy disclosed some facts about the flying patrol boat in asking congress to double the $1,000,000 appropriated last year for its construction.

The house appropriations committee included the sum in the second deficiency bill introduced yesterday.

Rear Admiral Arthur B. Cook, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, said the new plane "will be a very great and important advance over airplanes of the flying boat type now in existence and its potential naval value is extremely high."

Could Make Round Trip

Admiral Cook indicated its range would exceed considerably the 5,000-mile range needed for a non-stop round trip from San Francisco to Honolulu. The plane will be partially armored and will carry a crew of 10 to 14 men.

It is expected to be the forerunner of a squadron of 15 or more in the

Loan Of Sixty Cents Hinted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8 — Agricultural Adjustment administration officials indicated today rates for the forthcoming wheat loan would vary as to grade and distance from central markets.

The new farm law provisions relating to commodity loans gives the AAA authority to set the rate between 52 and 75 per cent of "parity" price—a theoretical "fair" price which government economists place at $1.15 a bushel.

On this basis, the loan rate may be between 60 and 86 cents a bushel.

While AAA officials emphasized no decision on the rates had been made, they indicated the base rate would be close to 60 cents.

Dublin Stores Are Burglarized By Trio

STEPHENVILLE, June 8 (AP)—Three men overpowered a night-watchman at Dublin, near here last night, and burglarized a motor company, cafe, bottling works and dry goods store of a new car, clothes and about $135 in cash.

The trio tied up John Ray, the watchman, as they robbed the cafe, then proceeded to the other businesses.

The noise as they entered the motor company aroused L. Sellers, who ran to the scene and grappled with one of the men. Sellers was struck in the head with an iron pipe. The men escaped.

He was in Dublin hospital this morning, but not in a serious condition.

Human Brain Is Like Dynamo; New Discovery Is Reported

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8—New light on the human brain, in the form of long, low-voltage waves of direct electric current flowing from gray matter was discussed by the American Psychiatric association here today.

This direct current is positive during consciousness, negative in unconsciousness and apparently the forerunner of death when it lasts too long.

Its discovery amazed the brain specialists for two reasons. The brain gives off the direct current simultaneously with alternating current. One wave of the direct current lasts ten to thirty minutes while the "A. C." pulsates at an average of ten a second.

The dynamos in the brain appear to be the individual cells of gray matter. According to the discussion here, these brain dynamos are capable of linking up like the stations of a superpower system. They combine into networks which change their size and their voltage in

Death Sentence Is Upheld By Court

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today agreed with a district court jury that Bennie Randall, 25-year-old wood cutter, must die in the electric chair for raping a 77-year-old Colorado county woman last Jan. 21.

The single question presented on appeal was sufficiency of the evidence and the appellate court said the evidence, which included a signed statement by Randall, supported the conviction.

The crime occurred at night on the aged woman's farm where she lived alone.

The court also affirmed a 10-year sentence assessed Reyes Gonzales for conviction of the slaying county, May 23, 1937. The body was found in a ditch near a feed mill and had been beaten with a piece of iron and cut with a knife.

It denied a rehearing for Collan H. Morgan of El Paso whose death sentence previously was affirmed. He was convicted of slaying his wife, Eleanor, by strangling her, Jan. 20, 1937.

Louisiana Bank Robbed Today

(By The Associated Press)

OFFICERS ARE MOBILIZED

BATON ROUGE, La., June 8 (AP) — Gen. Louis F. Guerre, superintendent of state police, said today he was mobilizing a corps of officers to apprehend a band of bandits who robbed banks at Minden, La., and Bradley, Ark.

Guerre said he had a dozen state troopers speeding to northwest Louisiana to block off roads in an attempt to corner the band—reportedly led by Floyd Hamilton.

"We believe the men operate from a hideout in the northeast Louisiana section," said Guerre. "We may be able to find the gang there."

Officers quickly theorized the robbers were Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters, escaped Texas convicts identified as two of three men who yesterday robbed James Meek, cashier of the bank of Bradley, Ark., of 685. Meek immediately pulled police photos of Hamilton and Walters from a group of wanted men.

Loss Believed Heavy

Minden bank officials were unable immediately to estimate the loss but it was believed to be heavy. Secreted in the building, the robbers worked without molestation after trussing up employes.

The bride's wedding ensemble will be in the traditional beauty of white duchess satin and princess lace. The gown, fashioned on sculptured empire lines has long sleeves, fitted at the wrists. A lace-edged, two and one-half foot train of white tulle is fastened to the halo cap of lace which is trimmed with a scroll of seed pearls. Two wax lilies catch the tulle train at either side of the face, creating a true Cinderella bride.

The formal ceremony will be performed in a garden stage setting. The bride's father will present her to the groom.

In connection with the stage attraction, "Stolen Heaven," featuring Gene Raymond, will be shown.

Charlotte Ratliff And Russell F. Redding Are Married At Formal Church Ceremony

Miss Charlotte Ratliff and Russell F. Redding of LaGrange, Ga., were married at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the First Baptist church with the pastor, Rev. C. E. Hereford, officiating with a single ring ceremony.

For the ceremony, a floral arch was arranged of ferns and greenery to follow the contour of the arch above the choir platform. A large palm was used as background for the arch, on each side of which was a modernistic candelabrum with cathedral tapers, and palms. In front of the arch, toward either end, were tall white baskets and large vases of Pickardy gladioli. The center aisle of the church was covered with a white carpet.

Exchange of vows was preceded by a program of music that included: Organ prelude, "Liebestraum" (Liszt), Miss Marian Bullock of Fort Worth; violin solo, "Air" (Goldmark), Miss Beulah Dunn with organ accompaniment by Mrs. Hereford, and vocal solo, "O Fair, Sweet and Holy" (Cantor), Gordon Gaines, baritone who recently returned from a year's study in New York City, for whom Mrs. Hereford played organ accompaniment.

Men Enter First

Miss Bullock played "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" (Wagner) as the wedding party entered the auditorium. First to enter were the groomsmen, Robert I. Lockard and Truman Camp followed by Newton Walton and Earl Heard. Next to enter were the four bridesmaids who approached the altar, two by two.

The bridesmaids, Miss Wilma Redding, sister of Mr. Redding, and Miss Sue Michie, Miss Frances Campbell and Mrs. Cassius M. Stanley, jr., were dressed identically in long, double-skirted, aqua blue net gowns, underskirts of which were decorated with dusty peach, grosgrain ribbon bows. They carried horsehair braid hats filled with vari-colored garden flowers.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Carl Pfluger of Eden, wore a dusty peach silk net dress of Winterhalter design. Her hat, purple and closely fitted, had a halo of flowers, and she carried a bouquet of double larkspurs. Mrs. Pfluger's dress, like the bridesmaids', was double skirted. Bands of shirred net decorated the overskirt and edges of the off-the-shoulder neckline.

Wears Formal Dress

The bride entered with her father, John L. Ratliff, who gave her in marriage. She wore a formal alecon lace, princess style, long sleeved dress with three and one-half-yard train. Her point d'esprit veil was trimmed with Battenberg lace and orange blossoms, the latter being arranged across the top of the veil and tacked intermittently over the entire surface of the veil. She carried a Colonial bouquet of stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Ratliff, who preceded the wedding party in entering the auditorium, wore a long kashmir blue chiffon dress with jacket and matching felt hat. The ushers, James G. Allen and W. Conner Cole, escorted her to her seat.

Paul Redding attended his brother as best man.

During the ceremony, Miss Bullock played "Clair de Lune" (Debussey) as an organ solo, then played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as a recessional. Approximately 500 guests witnessed the wedding.

Reception Is Given

Seventy-five persons attended a reception for out-of-town guests and immediate friends and relatives which was given in the back yard at the Ratliff home, 2413 Nineteenth street, immediately after the ceremony. Members of the wedding party served in the house party.

Mrs. Allie M. Dyer presided at the bride's register and Miss Nell Montague and Mrs. Marcus Halsey, jr., presided at the refreshment table. Decorative features on the table were two large, wedding ring-shaped cakes. Punch and mints were served with the cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Redding left on a trip to New Orleans, Mobile, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla. They will be at home in LaGrange at Render Apartments, Church street, after June 15. The bride's traveling suit was of Italian tan gala wind cloth with powder blue blouse, Italian tan hat, shoes and accessories, and powder blue gloves.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Redding of Punxsutawney, Penn., Mr. Pfluger, Miss Marie Ludwick of Dumas, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Winfrey of Ralls, Mrs. Irving Fields of Abilene, Mrs. James H. Goodman of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Rutledge of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. English of Plainview.

The bride wore a triple sheer navy dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Lubbock guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Germany and Miss Jewell Holt. Mrs. Germany and the bride are sisters.

Total Of Seventy Candidates Have Filed For State Offices In Texas

Fourteen Out For Governor

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 8 — The list of candidates for the governorship of Texas subject to this year's Democratic primary apparently was completed Tuesday as Marvin P. McCoy of Houston, an attorney, filed application with the secretary of the party executive committee for a place on the ballot.

Vann M. Kennedy, the secretary, had been informed by McCoy the application had been mailed. The formal receipt brought to 14 the number of gubernatorial candidates who had filed. Fifty-six others similarly had declared for state office.

Deadline Monday Midnight

Kennedy said he did not expect any more applications since the deadline for mailing them was Monday midnight.

The executive committee will meet June 13, probably in Austin, to make up the ballot and certify the names of candidates to the county committees.

At that time it will consider whether a garage operator of Dallas will be permitted to file as Vernest O. Thompson or as V. O. Thompson. Much interest centers on the situation surrounding this applicant because of the similarity of his name to that of Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Railroad commission and another gubernatorial candidate.

List Of Candidates Given

A revised list of those who had filed follows:

For governor — S. T. Brogdon of Stephenville, Joseph King of Houston, Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo, Clarence E. For lieutenant governor — Coke R. Stevenson of Junction, G. H. Nelson of Lubbock, Pierce Brooks of Dallas, John Lee Smith of Trockmorton, George Davisson, jr., of Eastland, Alton M. Mead of San Angelo.

For associate justice of the supreme court — Richard Critz of Georgetown, Tom Smiley of Karnes City, W. H. Davidson of Beaumont.

For judge of the court of criminal appeals — F. L. Hawkins of Waxahachie.

For an unexpired term of judge of the court of criminal appeals — Harry N. Graves of Georgetown, Charles A. Pippen of Dallas, James A. Stephens of Benjamin.

For attorney general — Lewis Goodrich of Shamrock, Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro, Gerald C. Mann of Dallas, Walter Woodul of Houston, Ralph Yarborough of Austin.

Answering Cry For More Speed

Hoping to revolutionize speedboat racing, Edward Spurr, in collaboration with the late Col. T. E. Lawrence (Lawrence of Arabia), designed this craft of radical form in great secrecy at Slough, England. It is a single seater with the cockpit completely enclosed. The steering wheel must be removed to permit the driver to enter, as Spurr demonstrates, top above. The boat is 16 feet long, six feet in breadth and is powered with a 1½ liter supercharged engine.

National Guard Aiding Fight

SANTA FE, N. M., June 8 (AP) — Gov. Clyde Tingley, acting quickly to aid embattled northeastern New Mexico residents fighting an invasion of grasshoppers, called out 30 national guardsmen for duty in the sector Tuesday.

He also ordered 15 national guard trucks to the area. The troops were headed by Adj. Gen. R. C. Charlton.

The governor announced that orders had been placed for immediate construction of 25 more poison spreaders.

Speed Is Imperative

"Everything possible must be done this week to lick the grasshoppers or they'll lick us," the governor declared. "If we can't get them under control this week they'll spread all over the state."

He also asked Gov. James V. Allred of Texas that Texas cooperate in Dallam and Hartley counties, bordering northeast New Mexico.

The governor told Allred if this were not done the insects in those two counties would spread over the Texas Panhandle and New Mexico.

Tingley also opened ports of entry of the grasshopper counties into Texas for the free passage of trucks hauling sawdust and other armaments of the war.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Allred States Labor Views

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, June 8.—Governor James V. Allred, concerned over his standing with the C. I. O. Oil Workers union, came here Tuesday and made peace with the oil workers at their ninth annual convention.

The governor walked out with the apparent good will of the union men, who took exception a year ago when the governor announced Texas would not tolerate sit-down strikes.

Not Intended At Union

"It has been commonly charged and in some instances believed that when I issued a statement condemning sit-down strikes a little more than a year ago it was intended as a reflection upon the officers and members of this organization," the governor said.

"It was not so intended. The statement did not refer to this organization directly or indirectly, and I certainly did not intend to question your motives or reflect upon your officers or members in any way. As a matter of fact, I did not know then with what national labor group the oil workers union was connected. . . .

Plain Statement Of Principle

"It was a plain statement of principle and applicable to all alike and your own officers and your own actions have convinced me that you do not approve of the practices condemned in that statement.

"I am not in politics and may not be a candidate again for public office, but I want the record kept straight."

The governor said the state was in need of remedial legislation to improve the status of the Texas workmen's compensation law. He said there were too many hazards in oil field labor and the matter of a "real compensation insurance act," should be of more importance to workers in the industry than any other legislation.

Wage-Hour Bill

To Discuss Hour Maxima

Chairman Thomas said the committee would take up discussion of hour maxima at a meeting this afternoon.

Administration forces, worried lest Southerners start a filibuster, swung support to a proposal making a minimum of 40 cents an hour a goal in interstate industry.

Sure To Face Court Fight

But Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) of the senate labor committee declared that if this compromise is adopted, the legislation is sure to face a court fight.

Conferees accepted this constitutional challenge, he said, when they wrote into the rough draft a provision for a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour for all interstate industry. Senator Borah (R-Idaho) agreed with Thomas' interpretation.

The question, Thomas explained, is whether any employer ordered to pay this minimum wage could prove in court that he would be forced out of business, thus destroying his property without due process of law.

Under a compromise tentatively approved by the senate group yesterday, boards would be set up in each industry after the 30 cent minimum had become effective. They would be charged with increasing the minimum to 40 cents as quickly as possible.

The question of maximum hours may be handled in much the same manner as that of wages. Some conferees said the scale might start at a maximum of 48 hours a week, being reduced gradually to 44. At that point boards would be empowered to deal with the subject.

Wage Policy Only Barrier

Senator Thomas said that once a wage policy was approved by the full committee, the remainder of the bill could be completed in one day.

Another conference committee was having trouble in agreeing on the agriculture department's appropriation bill, which would allot more than $1,000,000,000 in federal funds for next year.

The senate had added more than $65,000,000 to the house-approved measure. The biggest increases were $22,500,000 for loans and land buying under the farm security program; $15,000,000 extra for farm benefit payments, and more than 2,000,000 for the forest service.

Deficiency Bill Pending

The agriculture bill was the only appropriation measure—except for a final deficiency bill—which has not been enacted. The house was expected to pass the deficiency bill this afternoon, and the senate will act later this week.

One more major bill must be disposed of before adjournment, which may come by June 15. It is the $3,728,000,000 relief and public works measure, on which a joint committee will try to reach a compromise tomorrow.

Bank Is Robbed

formed four men in a light blue sedan were seen heading south on highway 71 towards Coushatta a few minutes after the robbery.

Hamilton Is Identified

Meek identified Hamilton as the man who entered the Bradley bank yesterday and covered him, while Walters, who recently escaped from the Montague county jail with Hamilton, was named as the one who stood guard at the door. A third man, unidentified, drove the getaway machine.

A money sack taken from the Bradley bank was found in the road in Bossier parish, indicating the robbers had traveled on the Benton road and headed toward Minden, scene of today's raid.

Sheriff T. R. Hughes of Caddo parish said the robbers were believed to have hideouts in the vicinity of Rodessa and the tri-state area of that section, also in the black bayou swamps and probably at some place on Caddo Lake.

Marlene Is HER Name!

No Garboesque recluse behind smoked glasses was glamorous Marlene Dietrich, pictured above as she sailed on the Queen Mary for a European vacation. In fact, spectators with any doubt as to her identity found a hint in the outsize nameplate clip on her blouse.

Lingham university and a Standard Oil storage plant, were struck by bombs in two earlier raids today.

The United States consulate-general here was understood to have protested to the Japanese consul-general at Hongkong against the bombing of Lingham, principal Christian institution of higher education in the South China district.

It was the twelfth successive day of air attacks on Canton or its environs. Tonight's raiders came at 10:30 p. m. (8:30 a. m. C. S. T.) apparently aiming at Canton's old power plant, the only one not yet put out of commission by bombs.

They missed that target, but started a big fire within 400 yards of Shameen, Canton's international settlement.

The Standard Oil tanks hit in one of the two daylight raids burst into flame, spreading fires which destroyed the terminal of the Canton-Hankow railway and a 16-car train just arrived from Hankow, China's provisional capital.

New Discovery

tune with the physical changes in gray matter during health and disease.

The direct current was discovered by Robert Cohn, M. D., and Carl Langenstrass, M. D., of St. Elizabeth's hospital, Wash. It was detected while giving the new insulin shock treatment to patients suffering from schizophrenia.

Under insulin shock, a patient usually becomes unconscious. While the St. Elizabeth patients were conscious, the long waves of direct current were positive electricity. When they became unconscious the electirc current was negative.

The change from positive to negative was not abrupt. The current would swing back and forth, gradually becoming more uniformly negative.

Experiments on cats with insulin shock were tried. Waking the animals up after they became unconscious usually caused the current to swing back to positive until the animals closed their eyes again. To avoid death it was necessary to prevent the current from running negative too long.

Rains Fall In Texas Areas

inch to an inch and a half.

In Lubbock the rain varied considerably. State experiment substation reported .86 of an inch and Texas Technological college, 1.58 inches.

As a result of the heavy fall in the western and southwestern sections of the city, Nineteenth street from College avenue to Avenue Q was a sea of water. The north side of the street at mid-morning was a stream from four to 10 feet wide at places and almost curb deep. By daylight the rain had filled the gutter until the water stretch out into the middle of the street.

Lakes Are Filled

Two large lakes about Twentieth and Twenty-first streets, one west of Avenue Q and the other between Avenue W and Avenue X were filled. Water drained into them from the higher ground on the west side of the lakes and also from Nineteenth street south.

Other low places over the city showed much water. On unpaved streets low places were filled with water making driving difficult.

June's rainfall, according to Don L. Jones of the state experiment station, is 1.77 inches, compared with a normal of 2.5 inches. Falls so far are: June 3, .19; June 4, .43; June 6, .24; June 7, .05; June 8, .86.

Heavy Rains North

In much of the wheat territory there was a heavy rain. It came too late, however, to do much more than fill out some berries on the late wheat, early wheat will not be helped to any great extent it was explained.

The fall was heavy enough in places to wash out growing crops or to cover late planted seed.

Santa Fe dispatchers gave the following reports: Texico, inch; Littlefield, eighth inch; Anton, shower; Canyon, half; Happy, shower; Kress, three quarters; Plainview, 1.34 inch; Floydada, inch; Lockney, inch and a half; Slaton, inch; Southland, inch; Post, inch and a half; Justiceburg, inch and a half; Snyder, eighth; Levelland, shower; Meadow, eighth; Ropesville, quarter; Idalou, quarter; Tahoka, .8; Wilson, half.

Denver Dispatches Given

Denver dispatchers said rain included: Sterley, inch; Dimmitt, quarter; Hart, three quarters; Silverton, one and a half; Lockney, inch; Petersburg, none; Quitaque and Turkey "awful heavy."

Not all sections of the territory were visited by the moisture and not all places received enough rain to do more than settle the dust or stop planting work for any length of time.

Where moisture exceeded an inch, replanting and planting will be stopped for a day to two days, it was estimated.

Little To West, Southwest

To the west and southwest, where moisture is needed to start work, but little fell, Southwest the rain apparently ran out at Meadow, Brownfield and Seagraves reporting no rain. Similarly, Levelland had a shower, but none was reported west of there.

Around Carlisle, west of Lubbock five miles, extending north for some miles and south nearly to Ropesville, is a dry section. Morton, in Cochran county, also is reported dry, as well as many sections of Hockley county.

Terry, Yoakum and Gaines counties need rain to get general plant ing work started. Some has been done, but there has not been enough in recent weeks to make planting possible.

Europe Said Suffering Worst Drouth In Past 100 Years

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Europe, an American farm authority says, is gripped today by a drouth "worse than any in 100 years."

Howard D. Salins of Chicago, managing director of the Flax and Fibre Institute of America, said in an interview "there isn't a country that hasn't been hit hard."

Salins returned Monday from a two-month agricultural survey abroad for the institute. He assailed the New Deal agricultural policy "that scarcity makes prosperity."

If America had farm products to send abroad, he said, "our farmers would be on a high plane of prosperity.

"We are losing business by the hundreds of millions of dollars."

Man Is Injured When Struck By Car Near Idalou This Morning

Struck by an automobile as he walked toward a car that had offered him a ride, Everett McCurdy of six miles north of Ralls suffered fractures, bruises, and lacerations about 9:45 o'clock this morning one mile southwest of Idalou.

He was rushed to Lubbock sanitarium in the automobile that had struck him, with D. O. Wilkerson of the Texas Highway patrol serving as escort on his motorcycle.

McCurdy, about 40, suffered a broken nose and broken cheek bone. His condition was considered satisfactory.

According to report of the accident given to investigators, a car stopped to offer a ride to McCurdy, the driver of a second car behind the other jammed on his brakes, and a third car swerved to the right to avoid striking the others. An approaching car prevented the driver of the third car, Leonard Orstead of Ralls, from going to the left, McCurdy was walking across the left shoulder of the road, apparently not seeing the car that had swerved off the highway.

McCurdy was returning to Lubbock after a visit home. He is employed by a cousin, R. E. McCurdy of 1719 Twenty-sixth street, a carpenter.

NYA Project To Be Extended

Announcement that the National Youth administration vocational agriculture project in operation at Texas Technological college will be prolonged through another four to six-months period was made here today by J. C. Kellam of Austin, state NYA director.

"We are thoroughly satisfied with the proect thus far," said the state director.

The project accepts boys between the ages of 18 to 24 years otherwise qualified for places on NYA rolls, trains them in the practical application of vocational agriculture as suited to prevailing conditions in the areas where they live and enables them to earn, while receiving instruction, sufficient for their room, board, laundry and the like plus $3 per month spending money.

Forty-Five Boys Enrolled

Forty-five boys are now enrolled in the present project which will be completed June 30, and have made their home during that period in the barracks building they erected for themselves on Tech campus. The next project will provide for the same number of boys.

Details of the second enrollment were to be worked out at a conference with Dean A. H. Leidigh of the Tech agricultural department and Ray L. Chappelle, head professor of agricultural education, this afternoon.

Boys of the project were hosts at luncheon today at the barracks to Kellam, Leidigh, Chappelle, A. V. Bullock, district NYA supervisor, and several other NYA, WPA and college officials.

While the navy was building up its aircraft division, the army set out to strengthen its anti-aircraft defenses in double-quick time.

Can Triple Cannon

Funds in the $463,651,678 war department appropriation bill which went to the White House yesterday will make it possible to triple the number of three-inch rapid fire cannon now available for defense of cities and troops.

For that purpose the measure includes almost $29,000,000 in cash and contract authorizations. With this as a starter, the army high command hopes to remedy in two instead of four years an estimated $53,000,000 deficiency in protection against air raids

May Obtain 150

Official estimates indicated that possibly 150 of the most modern guns will be obtained within the next year, aside from quantities of machine guns, searchlights, sound detectors and other equipment.

Less well armed against planes than most foreign powers, the army now has fewer than 60 big anti-aircraft guns, and all but a handful of these are obsolete.

Virtually all the guns will be mobile, mounted on special trucks designed to speed them to any threatened point.

Plans For Summer Editions Of Tech Paper Considered

Committee of three faculty members with Fred Griffin as editor are completing plans for weekly summer editions of The Toreador, student newspaper at Texas Technological college.

The first issue will be distributed the latter part of next week. During regular sessions, the newspaper is published semi-weekly.

FDR Says Application Should Be Made Direct; No Lawyer Is Necessary For Municipal Bids

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt declares that municipalities seeking funds under the new Public Works program should apply for them direct instead of hiring a lawyer.

Speaking at a press conference, the president said there was an attempt to convince cities and counties that PWA allotments could be obtained successfully through a lawyer. He declared that this was unnecessary and that applicants would make a better impression if they put their case before PWA without legal aid.

Appropriations Of Present Session To Hit Highest Peacetime Mark

Factors Cited For Increase

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Appropriations in the current congressional session will reach the highest peacetime peak in American history.

Figures prepared by the house appropriations committee on bills pending or already enacted showed today the total probably will be between $11,838,622,468 and $12,281,994,764.

The previous record, except for World war years, was $10,560,833,165 voted in 1936. That included $2,237,000,000 for payment of the soldiers' bonus. Congress appropriated $9,356,174,982 in 1937.

Two factors are responsible primarily for this year's increase:

1. The business recession compelled President Roosevelt to increase more than threefold his original recommendation of a billion dollars for relief of the unemployed.

2. The Social Security program has meant a billion-dollar addition to the government's permanent appropriations since last year.

The legislators already have provided an extra $250,000,000 for relief to be expended by July 1. The relief and public works bill to help the needy after that date carried $2,917,950,000 in outright appropriations as passed by the senate, but the final figure will be determined by a senate-house committee.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt And San Francisco Girl Are Wed

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP) — Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, heir to a $20,000,000 fortune and one of America's most enthusiastic turfmen, was married today to Miss Manuela Hudson, auburn-haired daughter of a San Francisco attorney.

The ceremony, culmination of a romance that began at Santa Anita park last winter and continued through the meets at Pimlico and Belmont tracks, took place at the Sands Point, Long Island, estate of Mrs. Margaret Emerson, mother of the Vanderbilt heir.

The Rev. Vincent A. McCarthy of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, Manhasset, Long Island, performed the ceremony.

Rumors of the romance had been current since shortly after Mrs. Charles S. Howard, of San Francisco, introduced her niece to Vanderbilt in the Howard box at Santa Anita. Miss Hudson, daughter of George Hudson, shares her husband's interest in horse racing.

Vanderbilt, owner of the great handicap horse Discovery, is the son of Mrs. Emerson and the late Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, sr., who lost his life when the Lusitania was sunk by a German submarine in 1915.

Doughtie Family To Leave For Austin At Close Of Summer

He has been appointed professor in mechanical engineering at the University of Texas. He has the same position at Tech. He went to Tech in 1930. Previously, he had taught in Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore and as adjunct professor in mechanical engineering at the University of Texas.

Doughtie expressed reluctance to leave Lubbock.

Cotton Research Scholarship Is Awarded To William Richards

The $250 scholarship offered to a graduate of Texas Technological college by the Cotton Research foundation will be given to William E. Richards, who graduated Monday in chemical engineering.

The scholarship will be used in investigation of cotton by-products. Dr. R. C. Goodwin, director of scientific research and head professor of chemistry and chemical engineering, announced award of the scholarship.

Registered Pigs Presented To Forty Farm Boys Of Area By Sears, Roebuck On Tuesday

Registered gilts were presented to 40 farm boys gathered from five counties at ceremonies here Tuesday.

Winners of the gilts qualified to compete for a registered Jersey heifer to be presented to the champion gilt raiser of the five counties.

Next fall these boys will have their animals judged; the best gilt in each county will be selected and from the five will be selected a boy to receive a heifer.

Luncheon Is Given

There were 120 men and boys present at a luncheon in the Lubbock hotel yesterday noon, guests of Sears, Roebuck and Co., donors of the animals. Most of the fathers of the boys were present, as well as county agents or assistants and vocational agriculture teachers with boys in the group, from Crosby, Hockley, Hale, Lynn and Lubbock counties.

After the meal W. C. O'Mara, manager of the Lubbock store of the company, explained the purpose of his company in sponsoring such a program. It is done through an essay contest on "The Hog, Cow and Hen Plan of Farming." Each county was alloted eight boys; contestants must be registered 4-H club or vocational agriculture students. The company is interested in agricultural development in its territory, he said.

Rules Are Explained

O'Mara explained the rules of the contest, the giving of prizes at a show in Lubbock this fall, when boys who rank highest will be further awarded. Each boy with a gilt must return one gilt to the company next year, when a similar contest for another group will be held.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture at Texas Technological college pointed out that very few commercial concerns had the ideal of Sears, Roebuck and Co., in developing resources of its territory. "This is a wonderful thing for you boys," he added. W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry said the program was "a step forward — something new." A. B. Davis, manager of the Panhandle-South Plains fair and the Lubbock Junior Fat Stock show said he wanted to "see you boys at the fair and the stock show."

Ray L. Chappelle, head of the department of agricultural education pointed out the possibilities of "what one boy can do with a pig." Richard Roberts, of Lubbock Hog and Cattle Co., said this section had been stripped of its hog population in 1934 when the government buying program began and said such a contest would stimulate the improvement of quality and quantity. C. C. Jobson, county agent, spoke briefly.

Homer E. Thompson, assistant county agent, discussed the rations to be fed the gilts, explaining differences between feeding for breeding and for fat hogs.

R. C. Mowery, associate professor of animal husbandry at Texas Tech, emphasized the need of boys learning the proper method of feeding gilts for breeding purposes. He gave the boys concrete instructions on what not to do as well as what to do, in feeding.

Pictures Are Wanted

Among other things, he said, the committee in charge of the contest wanted three pictures of each animal, one taken about June 20, another about Aug. 1 and another Sept. 15.

He introduced several breeders of the gilts to be given away, including: J. R. Boyd, Lubbock; A. Spence, Floyd county; W. A. Williams, Vega; Mr. Wenzel of Slaton; Mr. Sammons, Hale county and Mr. Cox, Floyd county. Some animals came from Tierra Blanca farms, Canyon.

With Mowery in handling details of the selection of the animals, were Lawrence Shipman, New Deal vocational agriculture teacher; J. D. (Buster) Worley, assistant county agent of Hale county; W. M. Boyd, vocational agriculture teacher of Ralls for Crosby county; M. C. Brandon, Wilson vocational agricultural teacher for Lynn and Herbert Davis, Ropesville vocational teacher for Hockley county.

Drawings Are Made

After the meal the party went to the fairgrounds where drawings for the animals were made.

Boys of the various counties to receive animals were:

Hockley, Ralph McBride, Littlefield; R. J. Parks, jr., Anton; Tom Caraway, Levelland; John Lee Smith, Shallowater; Noyle Woods, Anton; James Dickson, Ropesville; Thomas Rollins, Littlefield; Jim Finner, Levelland.

Hale, Gordon Latta, Lee Earl McDuffee and Willard Spraggling, Plainview; Sammie McGill, Adrain Meador and Olaf Earl Senson, Hale Center; Newlin Reddell and J. W. Brooks, Plainview.

Crosby, J. W. Allen, jr., Glenn Mimms, Ralls; Paul Williamson and Billie Hood, Lorenzo; Curtis Coker, Crosbyton; Dewey Wells, jr., Ralls; Lee Edmon McDuff, Crosbyton and Henry Stence, Lorenzo.

Lynn, Glen Bratcher, T. D. Short, Doyce Jennings, Willard Bennett and Lester Adams, Tahoka; Leroy Johnson, O'Donnell; Clyde Ashcraft, Tahoka and Mac Brandon, Wilson.

Lubbock, Henry Kveton, Abernathy; Douthitt Grinstead, Slaton; Burl Medlock, Lubbock; Melvin Johnson and R. C. Hall, Slaton; E. W. Shaw, jr., Lubbock and James Alspaugh, Slaton.

County Superintendent Griggs To Attend Meeting In Austin

Joseph R. Griggs, county school superintendent, left via Fort Worth this morning for Austin to attend a meeting Friday of the committee on classified and registered high schools.

At Fort Worth Griggs will visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Griggs.

Griggs is a member of the committee, meeting of which he will attend.

Dr. A. W. Evans, head of the department of education at Texas Technological college, also is a member of the committee and is expected to attend.

Griggs is the official representative of the county school superintendents of the state and Dr. Evans will represent colleges.

They will return to Lubbock Sunday.

Gas Regulation Is Threatened

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP)—Representatives of the attorney general's department said today that state regulation of gas utilities was in immediate danger of being seriously crippled because of the Lone Star Gas company's refusal to pay the regulation tax without protest.

About one-third of the revenue for operation of gas regulatory agencies comes from the tax on the Lone Star. The company has started paying the levy under protest on grounds it is invalid. Under that condition, the money must be held in suspense until legality of the tax is settled in the courts.

Representatives of the attorney general and the gas utilities division of the railroad commission held a conference with Lone Star attorneys here yesterday in an effort to reach a compromise but nothing was accomplished. Attorney General McCraw said at Bay City he would return here in an effort to raise money to continue the gas utilities regulatory work.

One suggestion was that Gov. James V. Allred advance the agencies some money out of his fund for emergencies but the governor intimated the fund already was so small that such a move would be impractical.

Another possibility was that a special session of the legislature would be held this fall to replenish the gas utilities regulation fund and strengthen regulation. McCraw has said in campaign speeches in his race for governor that he is opposed to special sessions except in "real crises." Governor Allred has repeatedly indicated he contemplated no extraordinary session.

Retiring Tech Professor Has Licenses In Law, Engineering And Architecture In Texas

He studied law when a teacher of architecture—in his spare moments—and now he holds three state licenses.

Edgar G. Shelton, who resigned from the faculty of Texas Technological college Tuesday, may practice law or teach engineering and architecture, at his election.

Member of First Faculty

He leaves the college after 13 years' continuous service, having been a member of the first faculty. The department of architectural engineering was organized and operated under his direction. During those years, he also was engaged in active practice as an architect.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelton and son, Edgar, jr., probably will leave Lubbock late this summer for Austin, in time for opening of the fall term of court. Shelton will become a partner in the law firm of Polk and Emmett Shelton in Austin. That firm was established approximately 40 years ago by his father, John E. Shelton.

While a member of the Tech faculty, he wrote and had published two architectural textbooks now being used by many colleges and universities in the United States.

Losing Your Pep? Feel "Run Down"?

Do you belch and bloat after eating? Is your sleep restless? Do you feel tired; are you losing strength and pep? These are very bad symptoms and, if neglected long, may lead to serious organic disease. They mean that your food is not digesting; your blood is becoming weaker and your body robbed of its nourishment.

Perhaps your trouble is functional and all you may need is a bottle of B-L Tonic. It's a splendid appetizer and aid to digestion, used by millions. Every drug store sells it. You may have friends who can tell you what wonderful things "B-L" has done for them.

B-L Tonic is very economical,—only 10c a day if it helps you; price of first bottle refunded if you are not delighted. Don't you think that "B-L" must be a wonderful tonic to justify such a strong guarantee? Why delay? Try B-L Tonic today!—(Adv.)

Robbery Case Against Rae Is Ended In Mistrial Tuesday

A 72nd district court jury that had heard evidence in the case of J. R. Rae, charged with robbery of S. B. Bardwell, late Tuesday reported to Judge Daniel A. Blair it hopelessly was deadlocked. Judge Blair ruled a mistrial.

Court attendants said they had been informed the jury stood nine to three for conviction.

Two cases of forgery and passing against Jno. W. Thompson, real estate man, were continued on a motion by the defense.

Jurors were dismissed until 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

Installation Of E. O. McIvor As Littlefield C. C. Head Made

LITTLEFIELD, June 8 (Special) Installation ceremonies for E. O. McIvor as president were a feature of the annual banquet and business meeting of Littlefield Chamber of Commerce attended by approximately 115 persons in the First Presbyterian church Tuesday night.

County Judge M. J. Crockett of Lamb county was principal speaker and J. S. Hilliard was toastmaster. Hilliard has been acting secretary-manager since Glen Burgess resigned several months ago.

A plan for building 25 or 30 new homes during the summer to increase local payrolls was presented by J. C. Hilbun. Other business transacted indicated a successful year for the next 12 months.

Other officers elected were Viggo Peterson, vice-president, and Hilbun, treasurer. New directors installed were Peterson, Lester Walters and Jimmie Ware. Homer Hall is retiring president.

Hubbell May Cut Cubs' Lead Today; Tribe Moves Up

Bill Lee Bests New Yorkers On Tuesday

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

In the excitement over this New York-Chicago struggle for the leadership of the National league, don't forget that the Cleveland Indians, too, are engaged in some highly important encounters and coming out of them very successfully.

The Cubs, triumphant in the opening battle of pitching and home runs, have a 1 1-2 game lead today, but they can lose it all in this afternoon's double-header. Carl Hubbell is due to hurl one game for the Giants, and it's not often he gives a rival a chance to pull away.

Bill Lee Is Stingy

Chicago won the opener 4 to 2 yesterday on the combination of big Bill Lee's seven-hit flinging and the four-ply swatting of Billy Herman and Joe Marty.

Meanwhile the Indians, whose nearest rivals in the American league all are in the east, won one the hard way from Boston, 7 to 5. Since leaving home last week, the Tribe has won two out of three each from the Philadelphia Athletics and third-place Washington Senators, and the first from Boston, which is a good fourth in the standings.

A one-man rebellion by Johnny Allen, the fiery flinger, preceded Cleveland's come-back. Johnny was given a two-run lead in the first but lost it when Jimmie Foxx belted his 15th home run. Then he got into an argument with Umpire Bill McGowan after Joe Cronin, Boston manager, protested that Allen's tattered shirt sleeve gave him an unfair advantage. McGowan sent Allen to the clubhouse to change the shirt and Johnny just stayed there. Even Manager Oscar Vitt couldn't get him out, so he handed out a $250 fine instead and sent Bill Zuber to the mound.

White Sox Best Yankees

The second-place New York Yankees went down, 8-5, before the Chicago White Sox.

In the day's other games, the St. Louis Browns smacked four Washington pitchers for 15 hits and won, 11-8, despite a five-run Senator rally in the seventh. Aided by Rudy York's eleventh homer, the Detroit Tigers beat out the Athletics, 5-4, although the Mackmen had the winning run on base in the ninth when Bob Johnson's drive fell just short of the stands and was taken for the last out.

Brooklyn's surprising Dodgers hung up their fifth victory in seven games in the west. A four-run fifth inning, plus brilliant relief hurling by Vito Tamulis after Joe Medwick and Don Padgett had hit for the circuit in the same frame, enabled them to turn back the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-6. The Philadelphia-Cincinnati and Boston-Pittsburgh games were rained out.

River Crest Tournament Opens Minus Its Defending Champ

FORT WORTH, June 8 (AP) — Minus its defending champion and a number of southwestern golfing greats because of the National Open at Denver, qualifying rounds got under way today in the twentieth annual invitation tournament of the River Crest country club.

Don Schumacher of Dallas will not return but the runner-up to Schumacher last year, Walter Benson of the University of Texas, is on hand and shot the best score in warm-up rounds yesterday, posting a 70, three under par.

A hundred golfers were expected to turn in qualifying scores.

BAD NEWS FOR BEAUTIES

SAN MARINO, Calif. (AP) — San Marino, one of the wealthiest cities in the United States has decided to be different. Instead of naming a youthful debutante as queen of its Silver Fiesta, it selected Mrs. Richard H. Macey, wife of the Mayor, to serve as "dowager queen."

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP) — They say the Giants really kicked in with $20,000 cash and Wally Berger to get Alex Kampouris from the Reds. . . . Which makes it a good deal for the "Zinzinnatis," who got back almost as much as they paid for the Greek boy four years ago plus a slugging outfielder. . . . Joe Louis is our spring book favorite to beat Max Schmeling by a knockout. . . . Spot to be the next two afternoons is Wrigley field, Chicago, where the Giants and Cubs will be staging dog fights from away back yonder.

Mike Jacobs plans to have all the 11 present and ex-heavyweight champs go on the air a week before Schmeling and Louis as a ballyhoo stunt. . . . Arrangements are being worked out to have Primo Carnera talk from Italy. . . . Texas A. & M. is getting the cream of this year's high school football talent from right under the noses of Rice and Texas U., which are about ready to holler "uncle" . . . The White Sox have a bird named Myrus, an ouija board expert, along east trying to diagnose The club's ailments via the stars, crystal ball, etc. . . . Its almost a sure bet the Yanks will come up with another starting pitcher before the trading deadline, June 15.

The New York Boxing commission has given John Henry Lewis 15 days to agree to defend his light heavyweight title against "Tiger Jack" Fox. . . . Gus Greenlee, Lewis' manager, countered by announcing John Henry would put the crown on the block against Al Gainer in Pittsburgh next August. . . . Gus says he has not intention of accepting Fox and if John Henry's title is declared vacated, he'll sue the commissioners.

Highest paid front office man in baseball is said to be Ed Barrow of the Yanks (who is supposed to get $25,000 per and is worth every dime of it). . . . Branch Rickey of the Cardinals gets $50,000, but then he is a vice president to boot.

It's Difficult To Stay In Max Schmeling's Camp And Not Get To Feeling Like He May Win

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

SPECULATOR, N. Y., June 8—It is difficult to stay in this pleasant spot for a day and not break out in a rash of predictions about what Max Schmeling will do to Joe Louis two weeks from tonight in the Yankee stadium.

The German's quiet confidence is so contagious, he is so dead certain he will stop the negro champion again, that you begin wondering why all those people are buying $30 tickets to watch it happen.

How's Joe Taking It

At supper last night, between forkfuls of Hungarian goulash, Max gave a wide grin and chuckled:

"You know, the funniest thing is nobody asks me now if I'm afraid of Louis. That's all I heard for six weeks before the other fight. 'Are you afraid of Louis?' I took it good, too. Now I wonder how good Joe's taking it when you ask him if he's afraid of me."

The man who intends to make ring history by regaining the heavyweight title is, as usual, in superb condition. Gene Tunney, a visitor to the camp yesterday, said he thought Max probably had reached his life's peak of skill and physical fitness.

Schmeling attributes his improvement in the last three years almost entirely to road work. Through the years that he was winning the championship and losing it, he never did a lick of road work. He hated running of any sort, but now he loves it so well that Max Machon, his trainer, is having difficulty making him let up somewhat on his long morning jaunts.

Kopecky Will Face Thomas

Old Joe Kopecky is back in town after an extended stay in other wrestling centers and after performing in a preliminary match last weeks gets a shot in the main event. Prelims start at 8:30 at the Auditorium.

Tonight, Kopecky will make the fans very mad by mistreating young Soldier Thomas of Washington. Thomas is a capable little man, but he's a mite too little to make it an even fight physically, and he lacks the power and cunning that marks Kopecky among middleweights. Thomas does his best, is always getting his neck into trouble, and generally he comes out whole.

Pedigo Battles Arizonan

The semi-final tonight should be interesting. Another old head, Blacksmith Pedigo of Louisville, the same who forged the rescue cage in the historic Floyd Collins case, ties into Andy Tremaine in what ought to be a humdinger. The tough old blacksmith plays barefooted these days, or at least that's the way he wrestled last week. He's powerful in his shoulders and arms, and smart enough to make any grappler near his size worry himself half to death.

Gust Johnson and Dizzy Dilly Davis will do a lot of growling, choking and bitting in the preliminary. Davis is favored, because he is a pretty fair grappler along with his meanness while Johnson has yet to learn the rudiments of the game.

Tech's Track Stars To Enter Contests

Approval was given Tuesday by the Texas Tech athletic council for two Raider track stars to compete in the National Interscholastic track and field meet in Minneapolis this month, Chairman W. L. Stangel announced.

Marsh Farmer, hurdle star from Fort Worth, and John Case, distance runner, will be accompanied by Coach Berl Huffman to the Minneapolis meet, scheduled for June 17-18. The squad leaves here June 14.

Following the national intercollegiate, Case will proceed to Buffalo, N. Y., to compete in the National A. A. U. track and field carnival. Case recently won the mile event at the Senior Southern A. A. U. meet in Baton Rouge, La., lacking a tenth of a second of equalling the record time with his run of 4:24.7.

The Tech athletic council has accepted recommendation of Coach Huffman for varsity letter awards to Farmer, Bobby Holmes and Elmer Tarbox for their work during the regular collegiate season.

Golf awards were voted for Manson Allen, Lindsay Telford, Donald Doherty and Ford Sturdivant, and tennis letters to Wilson Chapman, Harry Jordan, Sidney Moore and Aubrey McCarty.

STOMACHS WIN OVER CLOCK

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S. (AP) — Members of longshoremen's and pier-workers' unions have recorded themselves against adoption of daylight saving time. They contended "fast time" would disrupt meal hours.

Marshall Holds 3½-Game Lead Over Field In East Texas

(By The Associated Press)

The East Texas league, which started out as a backyard argument with the teams bunched as closely as a flock of relatives, had a breathing spell today—that is the leading Marshall Tigers could let up a bit.

Marshall held a three and one-half game lead over the field, the Tigers gaining on second place Longview with an 8-4 drubbing of the Cannibals last night. Marshall scored four times in the Ninth after Kirk Haynes had knotted the count with a homer in the eighth to give Longview hope.

Third place Texarkana also lost ground, bowing to Jacksonville 6-4. Horton Jacksonville outfielder, blasted a single in the twelfth to drive in two runs.

Bob Thomas let Palestine down with four hits and his Henderson mates clubbed the potato for 9 and a 9-1 victory.

Tyler scored five runs in the first inning and eased in with an 11-6 victory over Kilgore. Richardson was tight with his pitching, giving up six hits while Tyler got eleven.

Among fish, salmon are old at 14, trout seldom exceed 30, eels may reach 40, while carp live half a century.

Winford Baze To Give Up Pro Grid For Coaching Position

Decision of Winford (Winnie) Baze, Texas Tech fullback during the 1935 and 1936 football seasons, to give up professional football in favor of coaching has been announced.

Baze has been appointed head coach at Mt. Pleasant, thriving East Texas city, and has been given "three years in which to produce a winner," an unusual contract in that most coaches are hired from year to year.

After completing his work at Tech a year ago, Baze signed a professional contract with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Pro Football league, and played in numerous games. The Eagles offered him a contract for 1938, but Baze turned it down in favor of the Mt. Pleasant position.

Coach Pete Cawthon of Texas Tech yesterday said that Lou Jones, prominent guard and line captain at Tech for the past two seasons, also has passed up an opportunity to play pro ball this season, and would remain at Texas Tech as assistant freshman coach while working toward his master's degree.

Even Hack Miller Pitches As Hubbers Lose To Midland On Tuesday; Clovis Still Wins

The West Texas-New Mexico league schedule reads the same today as yesterday: Lubbock at Midland, Clovis at Wink, and Hobbs at Big Spring.

The latter is only afternoon game, the others being slated for the twilight.

Midland downed the Hubbers Tuesday night, 14 to 8, in a contest of bases on balls between the starting chunkers, Tommy Warren and Lefty Blanchard. Warren stuck the route, Blanchard gave way in the fifth.

Hack Miller Pitches

Manager Hack Miller went to the hill before the game ended.

Clovis evidently means business and is looking for a place to hang the welcome sign because the Pioneers don't plan to be the doormat of the loop for long.

For a while it appeared that the New Mexicans would never get within speaking distance of first place, but an eight-game winning streak last week has put them in position to leave the cellar for good almost any day.

Wink Hurlers Hit

They shortened the time Tuesday night by bombarding three Wink hurlers for 20 hits, which, coupled with eight Spudder errors, produced a 20-to-3 victory. Jake Christie bridled Wink with 11 well separated safeties.

Big Spring took the other first division team, Hobbs, into camp, making it a clean sweep for the lower bracket. The 6-4 win for the Barons and Midland in a virtual tie with Hobbs for third place six and a half games behind Lubbock.

Unknowns Bid For Fame Today In Women's Trans-Miss Play

TULSA, June 8 (AP)—Unknowns of the feminine golfing brigade bid for fame today against nationally known players in the women's Trans-Mississippi tournament at Oakhurst Country club.

For instance, there was Miss Pat Grant, from the little oil town of Cushing, Okla., where her dad runs a golf club. A husky, freckle-faced youngster of 17, Pat has been state high school champion two years but comparatively unknown. Today she had an opportunity to court fame by going into the quarter-finals.

All she needed to do was beat Patty Berg, famed co-medalist the past two years and runnerup for the 1937 title.

Miss Jenny Grout of Oklahoma City, the state champion, had the tough assignment of trying to stop Betty Jameson, Texas university co-ed. Miss Jameson's performance in winning the medal and sailing through the first round made her a great favorite to retain her championship.

Wilmer Allison To Meet Parks Of Denton In Ft. Worth Play

FORT WORTH, June 8. (AP)—Wilmer Allison of Austin, seeded No. 1, met Wayne Parks of Denton today in the quarter-final round of the men's singles play in the Texas sectional tennis tournament.

Allison won his third round match from J. H. Carpenter of Fort Worth, 6-1 6-2 yesterday after gaining a victory by default in the second round.

Frank Guernsey of Houston, Southwest conference champion and seeded No. 2, met Felix McGivney of Galveston a University of Texas student, in today's quarter-finals. He took out J. Cliff Hall of Wichita Falls, 6-0, 6-2, yesterday.

The junior singles entered the third round.

National Open Gets Started On Thursday

BY RUSS NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

DENVER, Colo., June 8. (AP)—America's finest professional golfers, plus a sprinkling of fairly solid contenders from the amateur ranks, fired final practice shots today in the warm-up for the 1938 National Open championship.

The big show gets underway tomorrow. On the basis of practice spins and form-chants, it shaped up as a wide open scramble, with the seasoned campaigners apparently holding no great advantages.

Tougher Than It Looks

Fairways of the Cherry Hills course were a patchwork of divots which only bore mute testimony to the fact the par 35-36—71 layout is considerably tougher than it looks on the surface.

Whether the training sessions should serve as a medium of forecast was questionable however, as most of the entrants obviously were not bearing down. Some played two balls on every shot, such as Gene Sarazen, twice former champion, and Dick Metz, the good-looking young Texan now campaigning out of Chicago. Others hit three or four shots from one spot, seeking the easiest way to master a course which thus far has yielded a minimum of golf prescribed for it as "standard," and which features the toughest three finishing holes any open has known in years.

The 68 produced by Sam Snead, a few days ago, remained as the best practice round as the championship aspirants took their last flings.

Babe Ritchie Is To Enter Pro Boxing

Indication was hinted Tuesday that Babe Ritchie, Lubbock High school athlete, twice winner of the Texas Golden Gloves heavyweight boxing title, would turn professional in the ring when it was announced that Ritchie and Weldon Chapman, high school coach, had left Lubbock for a tour of popular boxing towns.

From here, Chapman and Ritchie were to invade Dallas. Dick Griffin, promoter of professional boxing there, had invited Ritchie to come over and "try out" when he was ready to turn pro, and promised to use him on regular cards.

Chapman, while hesitating to make a definite statement regarding Ritchie's plans, hinted that the Griffin offer would be accepted, and that if Babe "looked good," he might accompany him on a barnstorming trip over the Southwest.

Ritchie won the 1937 Golden Gloves title in Texas and fought in the tournament of champions at Chicago. Although outpointed in the finals of the 1938 state championships, Ritchie was selected to represent the state again at the Chicago tournament when the actual state winner Truett Fulcher of Abilene, withdrew. From Chicago, Ritchie accompanied the team to New York and Washington. He has done little fighting since then due to an injured hand.

Sunny Smyer Draws In Bout At Houston Tuesday Night

HOUSTON, June 8. (AP)—Al Bernard, Jewish 158-pounder from New York, scored a third round technical ko over Charlie Jerome, 158, Memphis, here last night.

The 20-year-old Bernard, who is undefeated after 27 fights demonstrated Boxing Commissioner Fred Nichols made no mistake when he ranked him the No. 1 Texas middleweight.

Sunny Smyer, Lubbock 139 pounder, drew with Bruce Attell, 139, Louisville.

NEW RECORD MADE

CORSICANA, June 8. (AP)—Sonny Poindexter established a new golf record while playing in the Oaks tournament here yesterday when he made a 65, seven under par. He defeated Guy Henry, 6 and 5, in the championship quarterfinals, and finished the round to mark up his unusual feat.

Gridders Going To Work
By Collier Parris

VACATION'S OVER and it's down to the old grind for Texas Tech and other footballers over the country. They've been "playing" since September, off and on, and it's time to buckle down for three months of labor.

Some folks go to college to get a job, some get a job to go to college; the gridders do both. In a way, the gridders are more fortunate than ordinary scholars. The burden of getting jobs for them, if you should slide down a firestation pole and ask Pete Cawthon, Dutchy Smith or Bo Williams, rests upon the shoulders and wits of coaches and graduate managers. There are some exceptions, of course. Approximately one-fifth of the Texas Tech gridders have promised to return to the gridiron next autumn regardless of whether Bo finds 'em a good job this summer.

But Messrs. Cawthon, Smith and Williams have done a great job of "placing" their football talent this summer. It was quite a struggle, and they have been devoting several weeks to job hunting. It was tougher this year than it was last spring. The "business repression" has been jumping up at them at nearly every turn.

Thanks, however, to football minded friends of the institution, most of the boys who really had to have work in order to return to school have been situated, some of them in Lubbock, others in New Mexico, on Texas highways, and in other places.

One Texas Tech star, in particular, is doing all right by himself. He is Elmer Tarbox, the Higgins flash, who for some time has been employed by Lubbock Auto company as a general handy man, has progressed to the state of full-fledged new car salesman. He'd appreciate your calls, we're sure, and he is a most deserving young man, at that.

Captain Frank Guzick and Line Captain Abe Murphy have gone to work for the state highway department. They're due to play quarterback and tackle with the regulars next fall. Thurman Bostick, who hopes to retain his right end post, is giving up his job at the ball park to work for the MeTex company at Hobbs. Big Bill Davis last seen dumping some more troublesome sand in Country club traps, will keep in shape for his tackle job by working for the City of Lubbock. The guards who hope to replace Pete Cwens and Lou Jones, named Holt Waldrep and Dixie White, will toil for Lydick Roofing company and Magnolia Oil company, respectively.

City of Lubbock is also employing E. J. McKnight, who'll be a sophomore end candidate; Tollie McKown, freshman hopeful from Burkburnett who wears a state all-star wrist watch; Eddie Wapp, powerful little Indian backfield candidate, and possibly another one or two. Lydick Roofing is to pay off, in addition to Holt Waldrep the guard, Roger Smith, freshman prospect from Rising Star, and Tyrus Bain of Mexia.

Jodie Marek returns to Hobbs to work for Amerada, and also to Hobbs goes Milton Hill, Durwood Herring, Woodrow Ramsey and Arthur Weber. A couple of fine freshman prospects, Albert Koster of Dublin and J. H. Childs from Cross Plains, are to work with Guzick and Murphy on highway jobs. That pair of last year's freshman stars, Johnny Sims and Jack Wheelis, are to work with the construction gang on Possum Dam near Mineral Wells. West Texas Gas company has hired one Glenn Henicle, a recruit from Morgantown, Penn. Lonnie McCurry and Charles Calhoun are to work for Calhoun's father in the cement business, and Frank Svetlik, another sophomore backfield hopeful, is lined up with Ingle and Sikes, local contractors.

G. L. Webb, Rex Williams, Joe Nelson, Charles Mathis, Robert Duncan and others probably will be with Fields Brothers, contractors, through the summer.

Rest of the gang will be working at their own jobs in their home towns or attending summer school here.

Regarding the summer school situation, Coacher Cawthon is highly pleased over the percentage of "passing grades" turned in by his gridders. The number of failures is smallest in years, and those who did fail to get by will be privileged to "make it up" this summer.

A POPULAR VISITOR in town for the past few days was L. L. Steele, Mexia, one of Texas Tech's directors and one of the institution's most loyal friends and supporters.

It has been largely through the efforts of Mr. Steel that Texas Tech has become prominently mentioned as a possible Southwest conference member. At his own expense, Mr. Steele has traveled thousands of miles and carried on hundreds of long distance telephonic conversations in his campaign to put Tech in the big league. His labors have borne fruit in that Texas Tech has been "put on the map."

One of the most optimistic souls you ever met, Mr. Steele is just as "hot and bothered" right now over Tech crashing the conference as he was last fall before the sad blow fell at the conference meeting. He has not given up. Although disappointed by most recent action of the league, Steele has been running his campaign harder than ever. He told us that he still had high hopes of being instrumental in getting the deal over, and that things might be different at the next conference confab.

If Texas Tech had two or three more industrious "workers" like Steele, you'd really see some goin' to town around here. Others have been doing their best, and their efforts have not gone unrecognized. If Tech gets in the Southwest league any time seon, we will have such men as Steele to thank for it.

Baby Arizmendi Is Apple Cart Upsetter

LOS ANGELES, June 8 (AP) — Baby Arizmendi upset many an apple from the cart last night when he battled Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers to a draw in a wild 10-round non-title fight before 10,000 screaming fans at the Olympic auditorium.

Today the bellicose baby, veteran of a thousand and one nights in a prize ring, came out flatly and predicted that Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong would knock Ambers out when they meet in New York July 26.

Arizmendi should be an authority on the subject. Two months ago he took a beating — but never a knockdown — from Armstrong in a vicious ten-rounder at the Olympic.

"Armstrong is stronger than Lou and throws too many punches. Ambers is easy to hit. I staggered him and while I took my best shots at Henry, I couldn't phase him," Arizmendi declared.

Ambers, a three to one favorite over the Baby, said after the fight that he felt sluggish and couldn't get started.

"I hope to do better against Armstrong," he said.

Beaumont's Hustling Exporters Hold Full Game Lead In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

Beaumont's hustling Exporters, riding a winning streak that carried them from third place to the top in three days, held a full game lead over the Texas league field today.

The Shippers beat Fort Worth, 3-2, in thirteen innings last night to gain a half game on the Tulsa Oilers, current runners-up, who were idle.

San Antonio edged up on Tulsa with a 6-1 victory over Dallas that broke a three-game losing streak. Incidentally it halted a three-game winning drive for Dallas. Harlan Pool, pudgy Dallas outfielder, recaptured the league batting lead with two hits in three tries, boosting his average to .344.

Shreveport, Oklahoma City and Houston joined Tulsa as idlers, none of these teams being scheduled to play.

Dutcher's News Of Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 8—So much of the new tax law is argumentative, or not generally understood, that few laymen knew just who was right when Senator Pat Harrison blasted President Roosevelt's criticisms of the act as made in his Arthurdale speech.

As far as his generalizations went, a case might be made for Roosevelt. But in his one specific illustration of the new capital gains tax, where he said that "if you or I" sold stocks at a profit of $5,000 after holding them a few years "you and I" would have to pay 15 per cent on the profit whereas a man who made a profit of $500,000 on stocks would only have to pay a 15 per cent tax on it, the President was off base.

Rodney Dutcher

Actually, tax experts point out with amusement, F. D. R. would have been correct only if he had been speaking to folks whose individual ordinary incomes ran to $50,000 a year or more. He probably was the only one in Arthurdale at the time.

Half of capital gains may be figured for tax purposes as ordinary income at normal and surtax rates and until his ordinary income reaches about $50,000 a taxpayer can save money by doing that and paying the 15 per cent on only part of his capital gains. Above $50,000 the surtax rates make such saving impossible.

Roosevelt neglected, however, to point out that the tax revision saves the small gains taxpayer 50 per cent and the biggest gains taxpayer a maximum of 80 per cent, since the latter would pay maximum normal and surtax of 79 per cent if his profits were figured as ordinary income.

Top treasury experts, most of them experienced as private tax lawyers in aiding big taxpayers to pay as little as legally possible, wish Roosevelt had vetoed the bill. They fear the deflationary effect of big new corporate savings. And they wonder why Roosevelt waited until the tax bill passed both Houses before publicly expressing himself.

Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky, after a full session as majority leader, has made a discovery and an admission.

"We went along this afternoon with practically no attendance," he said during debate on the recovery-relief bill. "There is no way of keeping senators here either in the daytime or the nighttime."

Roosevelt's spectacular success as an insurance salesman will appear in a national weekly magazine around the end of this month.

It will be revealed that President Roosevelt, when governor of New York, once castigated "political insurance men" and relatives of public officials who sold insurance.

Organized Goose-Steppers

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is nursing a hot report on Nazi activities in America which may or may not see daylight. Although near-violations rather than actual violations of federal law are alleged, G-Men have learned much about the movement's funds, plans and tie-up with Berlin.

They also found that many patriotic Americans had joined up simply because they liked to goose-step, sing and associate with others of German descent.

Octagon House

BY PHOEBE A. TAYLOR
Copyright, 1938, Associated Press

The Story So Far: Asey Mayo, Cape Cod detective, is investigating the murder of Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office mural has aroused Quanomet. She was killed by a left handed blow from her sister's knife. Suspected Pam Frye disappears after hiding $50,000 worth of ambergris she found. Asey learns that someone smoking Turkish tobacco was trailing Pam to learn where she hid it; Roddy Strutt's plane crash is a suspicious alibi; and agreeable Tim Carr, a boarder at Octagon House, is left handed, smokes Turkish tobacco, and hated Marina. Asey overhears Tim's grandmother ask him, "Where did the girl put it?" And also discovers that their movie alibi is a bluff. He talks with Pam's father.

Chapter 21
Queer House, Queer People

"Have you any idea what Pam found on the beach yesterday afternoon?" Asey asked.

Aaron Frye drew in his breath sharply.

"There is only one thing," he said, "that Pam hunts on a beach. Did she—ah. I think I see. Yes. I see. And somehow Marina entered into it."

He took the information, Asey thought, with superhuman calm.

"You don't need to tell me any more," Frye said. "Pam found the—"

"Stuff," Asey interrupted swiftly.

"That might be best. Stuff. I've always hoped that Pam might find some, she wanted to so badly. But I feared the consequences. I've a notion, which time has never disproved to my entire satisfaction, that sudden wealth is a rather awful thing."

Asey nodded. "What's goin' on in Quanomet right now is a swell example of quick money," he said. "Look — what I want to know is, where can the stuff be? Where could Pam have put it? Here, I mean."

"Nowhere in this house," Frye said promptly. "The police combed this place last night, hunting for Pam. They would have been sure to have uncovered it. And—"

"An' these boarders of yours," Asey said. "Where were they last night, an' yesterday evenin'? I thought that you three went to a clambake an' the movies."

"We did go to a clambake, and then Tim parked the car up in the square, and we set off for the theater," Frye said. "But I got sidetracked. Main Street was dotted with antimural groups, and some of the discussions interested me. I told the Carrs I'd drop into the movies later, but I never got there. Some of the talk was violent. Pam and I had already talked over this ugly undercurrent—"

"She told me."

"Did she? Well, I listened, and when I heard one eager handful planning to burn the post office, and to tar and feather Jack Lorne as a side issue, I decided to stroll rapidly home and warn Jack. In fact, I thought of suggesting that he and Marina might possibly be happier if they took a brief vacation elsewhere. I foresaw difficulties, for I knew they were broke again. Jack had been around in the morning, trying to borrow from me. He—"

"Any special problems?" Asey asked. "Or was it more in the line of general brokeness?"

"Marina's bills, as usual. She had a talent for bills. Anyway, as I came out of the woods behind the house here, I saw the crowd, and the Carrs. I joined them, and the police assumed I'd been with them to the movies. The Carrs—they're very quick witted — they rather led the police to believe that—what did you say, something about the Carrs?"

"Go on," Asey told him.

Due For A Shock

"Well, I saw no reason for disillusioning the police, under the circumstances. I had nothing to do with the murder, but if it hadn't been for the Carrs, I should have been dragged into it, I know. I'm really very grateful to our boarders for giving me that alibi, although I suppose it's quite wrong on my part. They're charming people, Timothy and his grandmother."

"Uh-huh," Asey said. "Now, you come home by way of the woods, out back, I don't suppose you happened to bump into anyone lurkin' around there? I'm sure you didn't, because if anyone was lurkin', they'd take care not to be bumped. But did you notice anythin' that didn't seem to be quite as usual?"

"Nothing but that elaborate roadster of Roddy Strutt's, parked near the entrance to the old foot path. But I didn't see Roddy." Aaron got up and walked over to the window. "I don't suppose you could fix that window lock, could you?" he asked. "I spent last night sitting beside the phone here, hoping that Pam might call, and—oh, probably it was my nerves, but I thought I heard someone outside. It wasn't the police, and I couldn't see anyone—"

"Have they tapped your phone?" Asey asked.

"I wouldn't know. They apparently haven't given up the hope of getting Pam, through me. But they're not as adhesive about the idea as they were last night. Oh—here are Mrs. Carr and Tim. I'm sure they'll want to see you."

"I want," Asey said truthfully, "to see them, too. But you let me choose the time. An' while I daily with this window lock, will you keep your eyes on the Carr family, an' tell me where they walk to?"

"They're just strolling around," Frye said. "Why are you interested in—"

"It's their intense charm," Asey said. "It's got me. Will you watch 'em, while I fix your window lock?"

He was a little annoyed when Aaron Frye, a few minutes later, went out and joined the Carrs in their walk. That was, of course, one way to find out the Carr family's destination, but he doubted if it would be the same destination they originally had in mind.

In one sense, Asey thought, it didn't matter very much. If the Carrs were contemplating any dirty work, their plans were due for a rude shock. Timothy and his grandmother were very shortly going to be put through a wringer, and he intended to apply the handle with considerable force.

And Aaron Frye was going to come in for a bit of wringing, too. That pose of indecisive absent mindedness was going to be chased right square out of the picture. He could be decisive enough when he wanted to.

Frye must have known, Asey thought, about the ambergris. He must have known. He did know. Any man whose nervous system reacted to loose window catches would have reacted with considerable violence to news like Pam's finding her long-sought-for ambergris. But Frye hadn't even asked how much she found. He hadn't even displayed ordinary curiosity. He'd taken the information as casually as though ambergris grew luxuriantly on the trees outside Octagon House, and it was his custom to pluck great hunks of it every morning before breakfast.

Not The Only Odd Thing

Frye was an odd duck anyway, Asey thought, as he finished with the window. He'd once been some sort of college professor—Bill Porter always called him "Doctor," and so did lots of other people. But why a college professor should choose to bury himself in a place like Quanomet, Asey couldn't imagine. People said he had come for his health, which was very possibly true. And Pam had attributed his lack of interest in breadwinning to her sister's actions. Perhaps Marina's goings-on had done something to Frye's pride and ambition.

Perhaps. Asey thrust the screw driver back in his pocket. Perhaps. Anyway, Frye was odd, and he wasn't the only odd thing in the mess, either. And it was high time, Asey decided, that he personally got down to work. Whatever painting, puttying and tinkering around he did in the future, he would do as Asey Mayo. He'd diddled long enough.

Squaring his shoulders, Asey started for the back porch. When he came through the strange circular hallway with Aaron Frye, he had not noticed anything but its shape, in the dim light. But now as he stepped out of the study, he stopped short and stared at the clocks lining the walls, and wondered how he had missed them before.

There were 12 angular sides to that hall, not counting the doors to the kitchen, the dining room, the study, and the parlor, and every available inch was covered with clocks, cr shelves with clocks on them. Asey had never seen so many clocks in such a limited space—and no one, he thought, ever saw so many queer clocks anywhere, outside of a bad dream. There were clocks like cats whose eyes moved, clocks like cats whose eyes didn't move. There were clocks like dogs whose tails moved. Clocks with ship pendulums that swooped groggily over painted waves. Clocks with moon faces, clocks with human faces. Cuckoo clocks—any number of them. And one whole fall was devoted to a collection of frying pan clocks, of all sizes.

Asey blinked. They were enough to make a man blink. They were enough to drive a man crazy.

"Huh," he murmured. "I wonder how many cartons of soap an' oatmeal was bought to get them things originally. It's certain sure that no one bought 'em for themselves alone—ow!"

The hour struck, and for the next five minutes there was pandemonium in the hallway. Asey gritted his teeth. No wonder things happened in Octagon House. It just wasn't sane.

He found the back porch deserted. The trooper with the tired voice had gone. There was no sign of Aaron Frye, or of the Carrs.

He walked around to the front of the house. To his surprise, not a single person lingered behind the barbed wire barricade. A lone trooper, sitting on an overturned bucket, munched a hot dog and sipped orangeade from a paper container.

"What happened?" Asey asked.

WHERE'S THE SATISFACTION?

By far the most devastating blow which has been dealt the hopes of perpetuating the Roosevelt dynasty in the White House was that in Tuesday's primaries in Iowa. It is difficult to see how the administration can profess to extract even the smallest measure of satisfaction from the outcome.

Let's consider some of the reasons:

Running a poor second and nearly 2 to 1 behind in the Democratic senatorial primary was the candidate whom the president had so fondly addressed as "my friend," for whom Crown Prince James Roosevelt had campaigned and to whom the Administration threw its hearty support.

The defeat was administered in the Mid-west, the nation's breadbasket, where the farmers are "typically American" if there is such thing; it also is typical of the region which is more likely than any other to swing the next presidential election.

Then, despite the fact that the Republican primary lacked the "heat" manifest in the Democratic fight, the total vote in the Republican two-man senatorial contest was nearly twice that in the five-man Democratic scrap.

It, of course, is true that Iowa is normally a Republican state, but it is equally true that it is typical of states the administration must hold if its power is to be preserved.

Germany's national salvage plan, which even utilizes garbage, calls for the saving of old movie film which will be used in making bombs. This also will give critics a chance honestly to describe some of their so-called comedies as "devastating."

Of foreign pictures shown in the United States during the 1937-38 season, only German-made films suffered a setback. Numerous French and Russian pictures are being bought to help meet the shortage caused by the long production slump in Hollywood. Another expedient is the reissuing of a lot of old favorites.

'Smart' Ones Are Blamed

(By The Associated Press)

HUNTSVILLE, June 8.—Smart convict leaders, who stay in the background but urge other felons on, were blamed today by General Manager O. J. S. Ellingson for recent indications of unrest among Texas' 6,000 convicts.

Ellingson said he had issued numerous bulletins to guards and prison officials to take precautions against attempted prison breaks as a new rule affecting the overtime allowed prisoners went into effect. The rule adds two hours a day to the "overtime day" of convicts—a system that permits the deduction of an extra day from a convict's sentence for every 12 hours overtime that he works.

Blamed On Agitators

The recent breaks were blamed directly by Ellingson on agitators who spread rumors the new rule would take away previous overtime earned by convicts.

"We are taking all precautions against any demonstrations," Ellingson said, "and all officials have been advised to watch their men closely."

Several days ago an unexploded home-made bomb was uncovered in the central prison here.

Impressive--And Impregnable--Is Newest Federal Prison

Spick and span—even rather attractive to the eye—yet as escape-proof as modern engineering can make such a building, is the new Terminal Island federal jail at Los Angeles, pictured above. And illustrative of the firmness with which the federal government treats its prisoners is the superimposed picture of the guard, with sub-machine gun grimly poised. Built at a cost of $1,380,000, the prison will accommodate 600 male and 24 female prisoners whose sentences do not exceed 18 months. It is the 20th unit to be completed in the federal prison system, and will be used principally to hold prisoners from the southwestern area.

Meager Subsistence In Hovels On Fringe Of Civilization Has Been Lot Of Farmers Who Sought Promised Land In Oregon

(By The Associated Press)

PORTLAND, Ore., June 7—Meager subsistence in hovels on the fringe of civilization have been the lot of scores of weary men, women and children who left the nation's dust bowls in dilapidated automobiles to seek a promised land in Oregon.

For every farmer resettled with money and land from the government, a dozen others have drifted to the back roads, scratching out pitiful garden patches in the timber, working for subsistence in the fields and living in makeshift homes.

Desolation For Majority

The records of the Farm Security administration are filled with happy interviews from families who qualify in money, implements, stock and intelligence. For the majority of others, unheard of and unknown, there is only desolation.

Deep in Oregon's rich farm, dairy and orchard region, a middle aged man with a tubercular wife, two sons and three daughters took precarious refuge in their flight from eastern Colorado.

The environment shocked a hardened relief investigator.

The mother and father slept in a trailer more like a boxcar. It teetered on its rusty jacks when the wind blew. Chickens wandered in and out the flapping door, at home on a soiled, untidy bed or hopping from broken chair to grubby table.

Collie Slept On Bed

Two boys of pre-school age slept on a bursting mattress in a packing box hut. The chickens had been there, too. A flea-bitten Collie slept on the boys' bed.

The girls—one of them went to a distant high school in the county bus—had a shack a few yards up the slope. It was tidier.

Three goats provided milk. The only cow was dry.

A few vegetable plants pushed through soil around fir stumps.

A ragged, sturdy Kansas plain family had set up a half-tent, half-shack home on another hillside. From the canvas covered doorway they looked out upon fertile orchard and clover fields sweeping westward to the cool coastal mountains.

The father toiled on a seven-acre tract felling fir and hewing and sawing it into cordwood. His labor was the price of his tenancy. The fuel will be sold in town and the slim revenue may provide a crop among the stumps next season.

"It's green and cool here and there's not so much dust," said the mother. Two children, a boy and a girl, clung to her tattered skirts.

Has Lots On Ball

Smacking one back with plenty of the old zing, Ginger Rogers who during working hours does right well as a movie star, proves that she also knows her way around the tennis courts. Ginger and Solly Falano beat Actor Charles Farrell and Virginia Cook in the mixed picture tennis championships held in Los Angeles.

First Bale Of Cotton Sold At Auction Tuesday At 13 Cents

NEW ORLEANS, June 8. (AP)—The first bale of the new season's cotton crop was sold here Tuesday at auction and brought 13 cents a pound.

The bale was received from Corpus Christi, Texas, and weighed 473 pounds. It was said to be the second earliest bale received locally since 1866 and was grown by E. P. Lorenzo of near Rio Grande City, Texas. The proceeds of the auction were to be distributed between New Orleans and Corpus Christi charities.

The cotton was bought by Tullis, Craig and company, New Orleans commission merchants.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

Informal

PELHAM, N. Y.—Members of the congregation of 106-year-old Christ's Protestant Episcopal church may attend Sunday services in picnic and beach costumes now—and bring along their golf clubs and tennis racquets, too.

Permission to come to church in sports attire was granted by the rector, the Rev. Edward Thomas Taggard.

"It cannot be considered a desecration of the Sabbath to include in wholesome recreation," he observed.

Fireball Water

PORTLAND, Ore.—Give Freddie Hutchinson, Seattle's 18-year-old pitching marvel, a drink of water and he's a new man.

Freddie weakened in the eighth inning yesterday to give Portland two runs. Then, while 6,000 amazed fans looked on, Freddie called time out, casually walked off the mound and took a long drink.

Refreshed, he stopped the Beavers cold and won his ninth Pacific coast league victory this season, his first in professional baseball.

Argyria is a peculiar disease which turns the skin a grayish-blue; long continued use of medicines containing silver salts bring it on.

Judge Upholds Cardenas In Seizure Of Oil Companies

MEXICO CITY, June 8. (AP)—District Judge Manuel Bartlett late Tuesday upheld the constitutionality of President Lazaro Cardenas' expropriation of the $100,000,000 foreign-owned oil industry.

His decision denied an injunction asked by the British and American companies whose property was taken over March 18 in a drastic move that resulted in severance of diplomatic relations with Great Britain.

The judge ruled, however, that the Mexican government was at fault in seizing bank deposits, archives and correspondence of the companies and ordered that the cash and records be returned.

MAKE USED CAR A MINE

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Harry Roberts has a weather-beaten jalopy. As a car it isn't worth much, but for income it's a gold mine. Roberts rents it to Romeos for $1 from 7 to 11 p. m. (current running expenses to be paid by the Romeo). Each hour after 11 p. m. costs 50 cents extra. Rates are doubled when the moon is full.

Seven Persons Are Injured As Two Automobiles Collide

NOCONA, June 8. (AP)—Seven persons were injured, two seriously, when two automobiles collided 14 miles west of here late last night. The accident occurred in a driving rain.

Geraldine Goolsby, riding in an automobile driven by Raymond Robbin of Spanish Fort, suffered a fractured skull when her head crashed through the windshield.

"Shorty" Scroggin of Nocona, driver of the other car, suffered a possible fracture of his back. His brother John received a broken collar bone. Other occupants of the Scroggin car suffered minor hurts.

Two Alcatraz Convicts Face Indictments After Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8. (AP)—The federal grand jury Tuesday indicted James C. Lucas, 26, Texas, and Rufus Franklin, 24, Alabama, both bank robbers, for murder of Royal C. Cline, senior custodian at Alcatraz federal prison.

Cline was fatally injured May 23 when three prisoners attempted to escape from the rock-bound penitentiary in San Francisco bay. He died of a fractured skull.

The Mauser rifle was invented by Paul von Mauser, German mechanician, in 1872.

Man Overboard From The 'Hurricane Deck'

Full of pep and vinegar after a winter on the open range, this sun-fishing South Dakota bronc is giving his rider a taste of some bad medicine to start out the spring rodeo season. With all four feet off the ground, hooves flying, body twisted in a devilish spin, the horse has disengaged the rider from the saddle and tossed him in the air, his boots still entangled in the stirrups. The unusual action picture was taken during the trial rides preliminary to the 21st annual Black Hills Round-Up at Belle Fourche, S. D., to be held July 3-4-5.

Oklahoma City Neurologist Found Beaten In Her Room

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 8. (AP)—Dr. Julia Seifert, 45-year-old Oklahoma City neurologist was found in a critical condition in her bedroom Tuesday, victim of a beating by an unknown assailant.

No motive was immediately apparent to police who discovered no clues other than footprints leading from the back door. Valuable jewelry and $47 in cash were left untouched.

Conscription for military service was first introduced by the Chinese during the "Period of The Warring States" (470-370 B. C.).

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else. —Adv.
