Officials Say Way Not Yet Clear For Talks

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary John Foster Dulles took a closer look Saturday at Russia's new summit conference proposals, and diplomatic sources said Saturday night the way had not yet been cleared for holding cold war peace talks.

The Kremlin, in notes to a large number of nations, proposed a foreign ministers meeting within the next two months to fix the agenda and the time, place and participating nations in a summit conference.

Reliable sources said Russia suggested that about 30 nations be invited to the foreign ministers conference.

Initial, informal Washington reaction was favorable. Officials called the proposal "a hopeful sign" and "a step forward."

The President studied the note at Walter Reed Hospital, where he was undergoing a physical examination, then called Dulles to the White House living quarters to discuss it.

Both the White House and State Department refused to comment later, except for a State Department confirmation that the note is "under study" and will be discussed with the Western allies. All capitals, including Moscow, kept the text secret.

Western diplomatic sources told the United Press, however, that closer examination of the note shows little evidence of compromise.

Russia, they said, is proposing a foreign ministers meeting which would simply rubber-stamp an agenda prepared in advance through private diplomatic negotiation. In fact, they said, the note contains the outlines of the agenda Russia wants the foreign ministers to stamp approved and the heads of the government to discuss.

One source said this means Russia will continue to refuse to discuss two major cold war issues which the United States considers "musts"—unification of Germany and the future of Soviet European satellites.

In earlier notes, Russia has said the world's leaders should meet to negotiate a ban on nuclear tests and use of nuclear weapons in war, establishment of a "de-nuclearized" buffer zone around the heart of Europe, a non-aggression pact between NATO and the Communist Warsaw Pact, reduction of foreign troops in Germany and similar measures.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov appeared to encourage the compromise interpretation of the note with emphasis on "flexible" approaches to the proposed summit meeting.

Menshikov will follow up the (See REDS, Page 3)

Associate Justice Of Supreme Court Addresses Kiwanians

A two-part program was enjoyed by the Pampa Kiwanis Club at its meeting Friday at noon in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

Joe Greenhill, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, gave an interesting and entertaining talk and a skit was given by members of Thespian troupe 1010 of Pampa High School.

Greenhill told of amusing and interesting incidents which come before the court, highlighting the talk with quotes from unusual wills left by perhaps eccentric persons and often contested until they reach the state Supreme Court.

Greenhill is a graduate of the University of Texas (1936). He was selected to Phi Beta Kappa and Beta Gamma Sigma. He passed the Bar examination and received license to practice law in 1938, receiving his LL.B. in 1939 from the University.

Greenhill is a veteran of World War II, when he served in the Navy.

He became assistant Attorney General on Jan. 1, 1947, moved up to executive assistant, and then first assistant in 1949. He resigned in 1950 to become a partner in a private law firm, where he remained until appointed associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas. He was sworn in on Oct. 1, 1957.

The skit presented by the Thespians was entitled, "The Case of The Purloined Plaque," in which a trial was held to determine who

of three Kiwanians had stolen the "Biggest Liar" plaque.

The skit was unusual and held the close attention of the club members.

James Daley was inducted into the club as a new member by A. C. Troop.

Guests included Ray Fowler, Bob Lemmon of Perryton, Dick Batson, Roscoe Elmore, Homer Johnson, Cliff Braly, Art Teed, Don Cain, Bill Waters, Bob Gordon, Charles Minor and Johnny Ayres, officers of the newly-formed Key Club, and Robert Sidwell, Jr., Kiwanian of the month.

conference, Dr. Wendt was official interpreter of the high level scientific discussions for the 900 newsmen and radio correspondents on the scene of the conference. As chief radio commentator for the United States, he was heard over the country's major networks.

Booked through Associated Clubs, Inc., in Topeka, Kans., Dr. Wendt is the fifth to speak at Knife and Fork dinners this season. "Science Leads the Way" is his title.

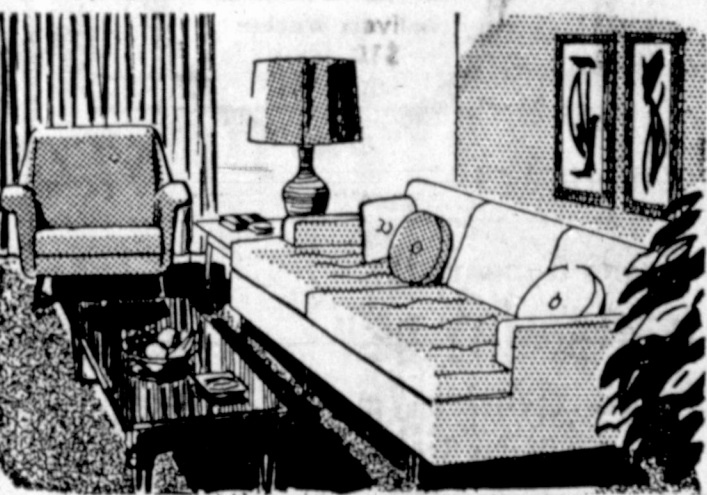

Charles Eagle Plume, American Indian, began the season Sept. 24 with "Making Medicine." Hon. Camille Chautemps, John Metcalfe, Peter Von Zahn and Arthur Webb presented a telescoped version of the Security Council in action Oct. 31. Author and psychologist Dr. Cleo Dawson followed Nov. 19 with "The Achievement of Happiness." Frank Goodwin, called Florida's best humorist, came Jan. 9 to speak on "The Eccentric Predicament."

Wendt has scientific honors enough to satisfy several men. But to his friends he is "Jerry." But for his modern clothing and the fact that no periwig hides his gray hair he might well be a French Ambassador to the Court of St. James during the reign of the "Sun King," according to Associated Clubs.

THE WARMTH OF WOOD

Many folks, when they plan their color schemes, neglect to take into consideration the fact that the wood tones of the furniture are a vital part of the color plan and will have a definite effect on the finished result.

Most wood tones tend toward the brown, and it is well to remember that brown falls into the warm family of colors. If you wish a room to have a cool, serene effect, be sure to provide a preponderance of cool colors to offset the warmth of the wood tones.

On the other hand, if you wish a warm, lively effect, the wood tones will combine beautifully with the bright yellows, bold oranges, and all of the pink and rose shades. Where strong warm colors—vibrant and alive—are used in upholstery and accessories, it is well to plan a background of pale neutrals or quiet whites. This way each acts as a foil for the other.

A soft, sandy beige, definitely on the pale side, has been used for walls and window treatment in the living room sketched. Warm wood tones of tables combine with yellow gold and rich apricot upholstery colors to produce a friendly, yet dramatic, effect.

Choose your coffee tables, lamp tables and occasional with an eye to effective color scheme. We offer you a wide assortment of artfully designed tables in beautiful, subtle wood finishes that will add warmth and charm to your room settings.

There was no immediate formal comment by the White House or State Department. Nor were details of the Soviet note revealed. The note was delivered to an undetermined but large number of nations Friday. Early Saturday the French Foreign Office disclosed the Kremlin's compromise offer—acceptance of the Western idea of a preparatory conference but restriction of its work to deciding what shall be negotiated by whom at the summit.

Informal reaction here varied. Some diplomats said Russia's insistence on only "procedural" discussion by the foreign ministers meant that a summit conference is no nearer than before the note was delivered. Others said discussion of the agenda could bring the foreign ministers into detailed exploration of views which would amount to the sort of diplomatic groundwork which the West has demanded.

No formal U.S. response is likely, officials said, until after the White House meeting.

Toothpaste Business And What The Public Demands

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Americans are the world's greatest merchandisers, and the constant struggle of industry to re-package and re-build its product into a new image of worth every 20 minutes is wondrous to behold.

A recent review in this column on push-button cans and squeeze bottles drew some blithe comment from a big man in toothpaste about the joys and brainstorms of that valuable business.

"The toothpaste industry is great fun," he said. "Somebody told me that leading medical journal, the Readers Digest, an article on ammonium iron as a great tooth-saver. So all of us in the manufacturing business had to rush out an ammonium iron toothpaste whether or not our research showed it did or did not help the teeth."

"Then another writer sold the Saturday Evening Post a piece revealing that chlorophyll really was the priceless ingredient. So we all had to come out with a chlorophyll paste, called 'the greens' in the trade."

Press Discovers Town
Then the press discovered a little town in Texas where nobody had any cavities. The answer: They had fluorides in the reservoir. So we all bought a little fluoride and stuck it in—the public demanded it. This had lasted a couple of months.

"Now you can't sell ammonium iron or chlorophyll or fluoride, just as we suspected. This makes it easier for the druggist too because he doesn't have to carry four variations of each brand. But lately there has been a dearth of articles on new ingredients to excite the public. Guess the writers have turned their attention to rockets."

"The result was, the consumer having returned to the white toothpastes, things got pretty dull I can tell you. So we thought about packaging...some of the boys now are going in for bombs—aerosol cans.

Great Fun
"These are great fun. Give a child a bomb and the little darling can have a great deal of innocent amusement. The best of them will squirt 10 feet. Then you whale the hell out of the bait."

"Confidentially—and don't tell the Blatnik committee about this—we're working on a 20-gallon tank filled with toothpaste. This fits on the outside of the house and a hose runs into the bathroom."

"You simply hold your brush under the hose, turn it on and there you are. Our service wagons deliver the tanks as they are needed. We are also setting up a home service so you can send your teeth in to us and we will clean and return them, painted in stripes or any design you may specify. One day service if you call before 8 a.m."

School Week Program Set
(Special to The News)
MIAMI — In observance of National Public School Week, Miami Public School is planning a program to be held Friday afternoon, Mar. 7, at 1:45 p.m. in the School Auditorium, according to Superintendent Frank Odum.

The first four grades will put on a short program, after which Dr. Hubert H. Bratcher, district superintendent of the Methodist Churches in the Pampa District, will speak.

The parents are invited to visit school during that week, and to attend the program.

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
East's five-club bid was calculated risk. He knew he would be set badly at that contract but hoped against hope that instead of doubling him the opponents would go on to five spades and that maybe five spades could be beaten.

Ira Rubin of New York who sat South doubled. Ira did not want to try for five spades and was satisfied with the sure profit at five clubs. It would have been 700 points by the way.

North wanted the rubber and bid the five spades anyway and East's bid had worked out all right. A club opening, diamond shift and club return would have left Ira no play for his contract but East chose to win the king of clubs and continue with the ace. This gave Ira a chance to make his five spades and he proceeded to take advantage of it.

Ira decided that East's bidding and play indicated that he was the rise of TV and the era of independent producers, have all but destroyed the structure of the major motion picture studios. In the movie heyday of the 1930s, had movies frequently become box office bonanzas. Audiences were willing to suffer through class "C" pictures just to see a favorite siren or two-listed hero.

But the old time idols have passed from the scene. The handful who remain, like John Wayne, Clark Gable, Joan Crawford and Bette Davis, are no longer money in the bank unless their pictures are top-flight.

What has happened to the box office "sure thing?"

Sophisticated modern audiences, spoiled by TV, pay less attention to a film's stars than to the quality of the story. As a result, studios have been unable to maintain large contracts lists of players.

Star Contracts Drop
MGM, biggest studio of them all, now has only 18 actors under exclusive contract. Less than half are considered stars. In the old days, Metro had a star roster of 52—most of them box office dynamite.

Paramount now has no stars under exclusive pact. Fifteen years ago they numbered more than 30.

At one time, 20th Century-Fox boasted 69 contract players, the majority stars. The studio now has 76 exclusive contractees but almost all of them are "new faces."

Columbia refuses to tell how many actors it has, but the list is small. Kim Novak is the sole big star under exclusive contract.

Universal-International had 51 big and little names on its roster two years ago. Today there are 17, with Rock Hudson the biggest.

Any star worth his swimming pool now can demand a percentage of the profits for his movies on a free-lance basis. He is free to pick and choose his pictures. Many have formed their own production companies and are becoming millionaires.

Glamor Rebels
The glamor set has rebelled against restrictive contracts wherein major studios can force them to appear in mediocre films. They also demand the right to appear in television productions. This new set of ground rules has evolved the partial contract—for one or two pictures a year with a major studio. The traditional "long-term" seven-year contract has disappeared except in the case of the young hopefuls who "have nothing to lose."

DO TELL!—Almost all head, this Mola mola draws its mouth up into what looks like a surprised "oh" as it gets its picture taken. Rare in captivity, the fish is the latest acquisition of the Miami Seaquarium in Florida. The Mola mola is of the sunfish genus but is slightly larger than the more familiar kind—being six feet long and weighing 450 pounds.

Why, then, haven't the majors built up new star stables? First, cost of an all-out campaign to build an unknown to stardom is prohibitive. And once a star is established, there is no assurance the newborn glamor girl will perform according to the book.

Marilyn Monroe, for instance, was a product of 20th-Fox publicity genius. But once she reached the top, temperament, contract squabbles and suspensions had the studio reeling—reeling everything but film.

An additional roadblock is the high cost of making successful movies—between one and six million dollars. Movie-makers can't afford to gamble on untied youngsters. A spectacular example is Otto Preminger's failure with Jean Seberg in "Saint Joan." Picture and star laid an egg large enough for a Cinema-Scope omelet.

Farm Price Situation 'Bettered'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The farm price situation bettered somewhat during February despite a jump in living and production costs to a new all-time high.

The Agriculture Department's monthly price report shows that prices farmers received for crops and livestock went up 2 per cent in the month ended Feb. 15. "Substantially" higher prices for meat animals, orange, snap beans and potatoes were primarily responsible for the increase. Partially offsetting were lower prices for cotton, eggs, and milk.

Farm prices in February were 8 per cent above February a year ago and at their highest level since May, 1954.

The farm cost of living went up one-third of 1 per cent. The index of prices paid, based on the 1910-14 average, rose to 302 per cent, an all-time high.

Prices paid for both living and production goods advanced slightly during the month, primarily as a result of moderate increases in food prices and further substantial increases in feeder livestock prices. The February farm costs were 3 per cent higher than those of a year ago.

The parity ratio—the relationship between prices received and prices paid—advanced to 83 per cent of parity. Parity is the price needed to put commodities sold by farmers on a par with the cost of things they must buy—theoretically a fair return for their products.

Hogs on the hoof were up $1.30 a hundredweight during the month, to $19.70. Beef cattle were up 90 cents a hundredweight to $20.60.

SAN JOSE, Calif. —Mrs. Helen Cordry, suggesting that son, Thomas W. Cordry III, may have been impelled to the "urge" murder of a neighbor girl because his parents gave him inadequate instruction about sex:

"It was probably much too rigid. We told him you have to take very good care of girls. I think maybe my thinking was too old-fashioned. If we had it to do all over again, I'm afraid we'd do it the same way."

France Is Facing Critical Situation

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

France is facing a critical situation in North Africa.

It is embroiled in a serious dispute with Tunisia, its former protectorate, over the bombing of a Tunisian village near the Algerian frontier.

It has come under severe criticism by the United States because some of the planes used in the bombing were American. The State Department says the planes were supplied solely for use in the North Atlantic Treaty defense area in Europe.

To make things worse, the rebels in Algeria have opened a new offensive and have engaged French forces in four sectors.

The Algerian revolt, of course, lies behind the entire situation and behind most of France's present grave troubles.

France and Tunisia accepted the diplomatic "good offices" of the United States and Britain in the Tunisian dispute.

Murphy Negotiates
Robert Murphy, deputy under-secretary of state, is now in Tunisia negotiating with President Habib Bourguiba.

CLEVELAND — Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the state of the economy:

"Because the economy is basically sound and because of action the administration has taken and is prepared to take, the American people can make their plans for 1958 with confidence rather than fear."

CHICAGO — Dwight Guilfoili, paraplegic president of a manufacturing firm which employs only physically handicapped workers and has had to lay off all but 18 of the normal staff of 80 to 100 workers because of a business slump:

"They'll have a rough time now."

NEW YORK — Dan A. Kimball, president of Aerojet-General Corp., saying his firm has a rocket that can shoot a satellite around the moon in a "short time."

"We are past the point of deciding whether we will do it or not—it has to be done."

way out.

Finally, there is serious division among French leaders in Paris over the extent of home rule to be granted.

Trouble-shooter Murphy is quoted as expressing optimism over his chance of arranging an agreement between Tunisia and France. If he does succeed, he will be a diplomatic miracle man.

GE Abandons 'Fair Trade' Price Fixing

NEW YORK (UP) — General Electric Co. has abandoned fair trade price fixing on its small appliances. The move is expected to bring price cuts by many dealers on radios, toasters, mixers, irons, clocks and other small GE home appliances.

The company, long one of the strongest backers of the policy under which manufacturers set the retail price of their goods, has sent letters to its dealers announcing the policy reversal.

Large home appliances made by GE have not been "fair traded" and the company several years ago gave up even suggesting retail prices on them.

Under fair trade, manufacturers set the minimum legal retail price have laws enforcing the system. For their products in states that have outlawed "non-singer" clauses in state fair-trade laws. The clauses required dealers to sell at prices set by manufacturers even though they had not signed fair trade contracts with the makers.

General Electric's housewares and radio receiver division has been spending $500,000 to a million dollars a year in a losing fight to enforce fair trade through court actions.

One of its biggest competitors, Westinghouse, abandoned fair trade in 1955. Many other firms have given it up. However, Sunbeam Corp., the toastmaster division of McGraw-Edison Co., and Revere Copper and Brass Co. still set retail prices for their appliances.

A spokesman for Sunbeam said it would study the situation before deciding on future price policies.

Ike Gives Nixon Some Protection

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower surely accomplished one solid end when he told this week's news conference that he and the vice president have an understanding about what should be done if the head man becomes disabled.

The end accomplished was to provide Richard M. Nixon with some much needed protection against cruel needlers and snipers.

Nixon has been peculiarly vulnerable to the pot shot marksmanship of his numerous enemies ever since Eisenhower's 1955 heart attack. He has been vulnerable because he has found himself in the uncomfortable position of being unable frankly to defend himself against charges that he was eager to seize and to enjoy the presidential office on some thing other than the provocation of actual emergency. The vice president apparently has considered such accusations better ignored than answered, and he probably is right in that.

His Real Purpose
The accusations have continued, although with diminishing force. Their force probably has diminished by reason of a general acceptance and public approval of Nixon's conduct under trying circumstances.

Now comes the President's news conference statement this week that he has a clear understanding with Nixon as to what should be done in case of the former's disability.

The nature of their understanding was not disclosed, nor was it disclosed whether it was written or merely a conversational pact. It will serve substantially, however, to relieve Nixon of the unfriendly questioning of his motives which has accompanied the President's several illnesses.

That, however, did not appear to have been Eisenhower's purpose in disclosing existence of an understanding with his younger friend. The President was seeking (a) to emphasize again his desire for action toward a constitutional amendment dealing with disability in the White House and (b) to assure the public of the fact that he had done what he could to make ready for the emergency which may come.

Cite It's Importance
It was obvious to the President that his understanding with Nixon was not enough, that it had no legal nor constitutional standing whatever and that Congress should get going on something much more substantial. That should be obvious to anyone.

How necessary that could be easily may be understood by the briefest consideration of the conditions which control the use of A- and H-bombs. Suppose, for example, the radar warning network alerted Strategic Air Command headquarters in Omaha that a hostile missile was on the way. SAC bombers always are revved up, engines hot and ready to go. They're off!

Between the moment of that take-off scramble and a time well before near approach to the supposed enemy target, the President of the United States must act. By secret signal to those winging SAC bombers the President must authorize or forbid the actual dropping of the A- or H-bombs.

The President must do that, not an acting president or a vice president with a friendly and mutually agreeable understanding about what to do in a disability emergency. Such a situation may never come. But it could and it may!

Stars Will Wear Their 'Sack Dresses'

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The biggest fashion show in history hits the nation's televisions this month when 50 movie stars model the latest evening wear in an all-out mutiny against Paris "sack" designs.

The occasion is the 30th annual Academy Awards show, March 28.

Such tinsel town glamour girls as Elizabeth Taylor, Lana Turner, Lauren Bacall, Deborah Kerr, Natalie Wood and Janet Leigh will bedeck their curves in high style gowns—under strict cleavage supervision.

Behind the parade of beauties is six-time Oscar winner Edith Head, who has ruled out such French frivolities as the chemise and the sack.

"We want our models to look like girls instead of bags," the outspoken wardrobe designer said. "I've asked the stars participating in the show not to wear black or white dresses because they don't televise well, and we've advised against wearing too much glitter for the same reason."

"Our big problem will be cleavage. If it comes to a contest of low necklines we'll be ready. A special wardrobe censor...er, consultant will be backstage with small pieces of fabric to tuck into any necklines that plunge too deeply."

"But we can't tell the stars exactly what to wear. They provide their own clothes, and naturally believe they know what is best."

Old Fashions
Baptismal fonts of a thousand years ago were made of stone, lined with lead to prevent absorption, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Causes
Hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure cause about 90 per cent of all heart and blood vessel diseases, according to the American Heart Association.

House Mice
The present mice used in the U. S. House of Representatives dates from 1842. It is a reproduction of the original mice, which was burned in the Capitol in 1813.

Armageddon's Site?
The ancient Biblical fortress of Megiddo, considered by some authorities to have been the site of Armageddon, is 18 miles southeast of Haifa, Israel.

Foot Warmers
Earliest railroad passenger cars were not heated and urchins along the railroad earned small change by selling hot bricks and hot stones to passengers for foot warming.

New York Delinquency Problem Is Big Municipal Headache

By AL KUETTNER
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Take the juvenile delinquency problem in your own home town and then multiply it by the comparative size of New York City's 8 million population.

What does it add up to?

Well, here it adds up to a king-sized municipal headache and everyone is looking for a sedative to ease the pain. A congressional committee is scheduled to get into the investigative act Thursday.

The sidewalks of New York have been the subject of song and story for generations. Its street gangs are legend. But never before have they had the national publicity they do now. For where they once fought with bricks and raw knuckles, they go at each other now with knives and guns.

These are not grownups. They are children, often in tender early teens. Schoolboys, or so they should be. Sometimes they are girls.

There's an idea in some parts of the nation that the city's teen-gangsterism is the result almost purely of racial strife. As a matter of fact the same opinion is not foreign right here in New York.

But listen to this:
"I've lived in New York all my life and I defy anyone to prove this is a racial problem," says Capt. Conrad S. Jansen, a police officer and part-time preacher whose precinct station is in the heart of Harlem.

After a week of roaming the city, including the stamping grounds of the "Dragons," "Devil's Angels" and "Sportmen," I am ready to agree with Jansen—except on one point.

It isn't interracial friction that causes the gang violence. But the gangs are getting their membership from the 41 per cent increase in the city's non-white population in the past seven years.

Membership is made up from many racial groups. But the important thing to a gang is not who you are but where you came from. The fellow from the next street is your deadly enemy, whereas those in your block, regardless of race, are your pals.

Reassured by the broad-shouldered hulkiness of Harrison Lightfoot, a Virginia-born Negro with a master's degree, I toured some of New York's juvenile gang territory this week. Lightfoot is in charge of the youth board's 10 street clubs, the emotional bridge between delinquent children and organized society.

Before the night was finished, I knew that a "diddy-popper" is a non-conformist member who stirs up trouble inside a gang; that every gang has an intricate organization; that "bopping" or "rumbling" sessions are conflicts carefully arranged by warlords of opposing gangs who decide whether fists or bludgeons or pistols will be used.

Gangs Are Mixed
Some gangs are all Negro, some all Puerto Rican, others all white and many a mixture of various races, national origin and religious background.

Gangs do battle for "territorial rights," revenge, out of jealousy, over girls. They often take out city parks or swimming pools for their own use.

Just such an incident brought death last summer to Michael Farmer, too crippled from polio to escape a gang's wrath when he was suspected as a gang member from another territory slipping into the neighborhood pool. Actually, Farmer belonged to no gang.

Seven boys are on trial for his murder and could be sent to the electric chair. They are interracial: Two Puerto Ricans, two Negroes, two whites and a boy from the Dominican Republic.

Race has become secondary to more pressing tensions—satisfying physical needs, getting attention, finding security.

Magistrate Matthew Fagan, a night court judge, puts a great deal of the blame squarely on teachers and on parents who say they didn't realize what was happening.

"Why didn't they know?" he said. "It was their business to know."

'Lionism' Is Speech Topic At Banquet

(Special to The News)
LEFORS — "Lionism" was the topic used by W. Bill Smith of Rails, district governor of Dist. 271, when he spoke at the Lefors Lions "Ladies Night" banquet held in the civic center Monday night, Feb. 24.

Smith, being introduced by past District Governor Boyd Meador of McLean, brought out many points that Lions should be, do, etc., also elaborating on the blind and crippled children's camp at Kerrville which is sponsored by Lions club for nine months each year. The Scouting program and civic affairs in which Lions take part was touched on by the speaker. One interesting fact brought out is that there are 14,744 Lions Clubs throughout the world.

Present also were District deputy R. B. Shultz of Pampa, and Zone Chairman, Bill Lantz of Perryton, sent by Miss Sheila Cable, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," and a trio composed of Miss Cable, June Henderson, and Pat Winegart offered "Sugar Time" and "Wagon-wheels."

The invocation was given by Rev. Wesley Daniel with the Flag Salute led by R. M. Watson.

It was reported that a total of $489.90 was collected by the combined community efforts for the March of Dimes.

It was also reported that the Boy Scout hut is almost completed, $200 more money being given to help toward completion, and all the citizens of Lefors are invited to come by and look at the project. Also, any volunteer help would be appreciated. The newly-organized Boy Scout troop will be sponsored by the Lions also, it was voted at the meeting.

W. R. Combs, president, presided at the banquet.

All Lions were present but two including Messrs. and Mrs. Earl Atkinson, David Robinson, J. R. Sparkman, Bob Bright, R. M. Watson, Jerry Jacobs, D. T. Pfeil, Ray Chastain, W. R. Combs, W. D. McBe, Bernard Johnson, Fred Blackwell, W. C. Breining, Jess Graves, Boyd Beck, John Archer, L. R. Spence, Arlie Carpenter, Walter Elliott, Messrs. Doyle Loye, Charles Parr and Rev. Wesley Daniel.

Top O' Texas Stock Show Continues Its Annual Growth

By RONNIE CROSS
Pampa News Staff Writer

The time is once more here for the annual Top O' Texas Stock Show, a yearly event in Pampa. The stock show is one of the "biggest events in the Top O' Texas area" and will be held March 3, 4, and 5.

This Top O' Texas Stock Show started as a county show, and has now grown to embrace six counties: Gray, Roberts, Carson, Ochiltree, Hemphill, and Wheeler.

The first stock show was held in 1908 with only participants from Gray County in it. It has now grown to one of the largest in the Top O' Texas area. The show has always been well supported by Pampa business and professional people, according to show officials, and has always had "excellent support" from neighboring towns in the Top O' Texas area.

The show is sponsored by the Agricultural Committee of the local Chamber of Commerce and is also supported by all local civic clubs in helping to furnish trophies. Cash prizes are furnished by the Chamber of Commerce.

The show is made up of three distinct divisions: Junior livestock show, Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders Association show and sale, and the Top O' Texas FFA livestock judging contest.

In this year's judging show 50 judging teams are entered. There will also be 185 hogs and 50 fat steers in the Junior livestock show, and 48 breeding cattle have been cataloged for the Hereford Breeders' show. The judge for the Junior show is Dr. M. R. Callahan, head of the agricultural department of the West Texas State College. The judge for breeding cattle is H. A. Reeves of Shamrock, and the official judge for the livestock judging contest is Dale Hoover of Perryton.

If any rules or regulations are broken, the executive committee of the president, the incoming and outgoing chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the president of the Hereford Breeders' Association have the final right to interpret these rules and arbitrarily settle and determine all matters, questions, and differences in regard to rules and regulations.

Any exhibitor who violates the rules will forfeit all privileges and premiums already won and be subject to such penalty as the executive committee may order. A few of the rules are: Only boys from 9 to 20 years of age who are members of extension 4-H Clubs or Vocational FFA Chapters of the six counties in the show are eligible to show live stock in the Junior Livestock Show. Club members will be required to show their own animals in the ring in individual classes. Substitutions may be made by securing permission from the Superintendent. Animals entered in the show must conform to the livestock sanitation regulations of the Texas Livestock Commission.

Trophies will be given to the Grand Champion winner, the best group of five, the best pair of calves, and for showmanship. The annual Top O' Texas stock show will begin Sunday, March 2, at 12 noon, with the completion of weighing junior livestock at Recreation Park. At 1 p.m., sifting of fat steers and fat hogs will be done. On Monday, March 3, starting at 9 a.m., will be the judging of the swine division, and at 1:30 p.m., the judging of calves will be held. At 7 p.m., the Top O' Texas Rodeo Association Junior Exhibitors Banquet will be held at Recreation Park. Starting at 9:30 a.m., Tuesday, March 4, the FFA livestock judging contest will take place. At 1 p.m. the judging of Hereford breeding cattle will be done and at 5 p.m. the Livestock Judging Banquet will be held at Pampa High School. At 7:30 p.m. Hereford Breeders Banquet will be held at the First Methodist Church.

On Wednesday, March 5, at 9:30 a.m. the Junior Livestock sale will be held and at 1 p.m. the Hereford Breeders Sale is scheduled.

This will conclude the annual Top O' Texas Stock Show.

Bids To Be Asked On Base Work

Bids will be invited March 12 by the U. S. Army Engineer District, Tulsa, on construction of base explosive storage and segregated magazine storage facilities to be located at Amarillo Air Force Base, Amarillo, and at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls.

Bid opening date has been tentatively scheduled for April 9 and bidders may bid on the Amarillo contract or the Sheppard contract or both.

Estimated cost of construction is under $100,000 but under the $500,000 bracket for combined work at both locations. Approximately 150 calendar days will be required to complete the base explosive storage portion, while 110 calendar days will be required to complete the segregated magazine storage. Specific work to be performed under this contract includes construction of one earth-mounded concrete base explosive storage

When Should You Examine Vision?

The rate vision changes depends upon a person's age. No set rule can be applied to everyone. For the utmost in preventive care, once a year would be ideal for eye examinations. But considering practical and economical factors, the frequency can vary throughout life.

Every child should be examined by the time he reaches the first or second grade. Not all have visual defects, but some 25 percent do. If the child is found to have a visual problem, he should have a check-up every year during the elementary grades and high school, dependent upon the eye specialist's advice.

The rate of change generally slows down during the teens, though a few cases will continue rapid fluctuations. The college student must watch his vision closely as well as anyone whose work calls for intense and critical seeing.

From age twenty to forty the need for visual examination is dependent upon eye usage. If the occupation requires close work, vision should be tested every two years. Otherwise, if the person is alert for symptoms, it is safe to go five years or more before significant change in the refractive condition of the eye is likely to occur. The person who wears glasses, however, should be guided by the advice of his doctor.

The next twenty years is a period of rapid visual change. The need for bifocals is beginning and to avoid trouble, examination should be made every two years in the average case, sometimes oftener. There is no cause for alarm at what seems to be the sudden and increasing need for glasses.

Beyond the age of sixty-five, focus changes slow down, but now the threat of disease or abnormal building of approximately 2,150 sq. ft., one masonry and concrete segregated magazine storage of approximately 540 sq. ft. and 81 cu. yd. concrete apron at each of the two bases.

Stock Dividend Declared By Celanese Corp.

NEW YORK - Directors of Celanese Corporation of America have declared a dividend of 10 cents a share on the common stock, payable March 25, 1958, to shareholders of record March 8, 1958. The Board also voted regular quarterly dividends of $1.124 per share on the Preferred Stock, Series A, and $1.75 per share on the 7 per cent Second Preferred Stock. Both preferred stock dividends are payable April 1, 1958, to shareholders of record March 8, 1958.

Good And Bad Of The Week's News

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

Robert Murphy, United States deputy undersecretary of state, undertook this week to try to settle the dispute between France and Tunisia over the bombing of a Tunisian village by British planes.

France and Tunisia had accepted the offer by the United States and Great Britain of their help in avoiding a threatened complete break in relations. Murphy, a diplomatic trouble-shooter of note, was chosen as negotiator.

Murphy conferred first in Paris, then in Tunisia. His talks with French Premier Felix Gaillard and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau in Paris, and with President Habib Bourguiba in Tunisia, served chiefly to show the difficulty of his task.

Bourguiba insisted that the Algerian rebellion, of which the village bombing was an offshoot, must be taken into consideration in the negotiations. Gaillard and Pineau refused. They insisted that Algeria is a French internal issue.

The North African situation was complicated by an outbreak of fierce Algerian rebel attacks on the French forces.

Dispatches indicated that French losses totaled about 142 killed and rebel losses about 400.

Some of the clashes occurred close to the Tunisian border. Many rebels base themselves in friendly Tunisia, and cross the border to attack the French. The French said it was only after rebel guns had fired repeatedly on French planes from the rooftop of Tunisian government buildings in Sakiet-Sidi Youssef that a local French commandant ordered the bombing.

It was made known that the United States, Canada, Great Britain and France are consulting on the possibility of breaking the deadlock with Soviet Russia on disarmament talks.

Disarmament negotiations had been conducted by the five countries named, acting as a subcommittee of the United Nations Disarmament Commission. Russia broke off negotiations, demanding that the whole 82-member U.N. conduct them.

An agreement to resume disarmament negotiations would constitute a big step toward the "summit" meeting of the big powers which the Soviet government long has sought.

Arturo Frondizi, 49-year-old lawyer, representing the left-center Intransigent Radical Party, was elected president of Argentina in that country's first really free national election in 30 years.

Frondizi won a landslide victory with the help of supporters of dictator Juan D. Peron who was overthrown in 1955. Peron, himself in exile, had ordered his supporters to vote for Frondizi.

In an attempt to embarrass President Fulgencio Batista, agents of Cuban rebel chieftain Fidel Castro kidnaped Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina, world auto racing champion, on the eve of the great Grand Prix automobile race in Havana. Fangio was released unharmed after the race. The race itself was called off after one of the competing cars hurtled out of control into the crowd of spectators, killing 8 and injuring 32.

Harvesters Gain State Berth With 73-58 Victory Over Steers

Sports Roundup

By CHARLES CULLIN
Pampa News Sports Editor

Proving again the fact that they are a perennial state power the Pampa Harvesters are again bound for the tournament in Austin. Coach Clifton McNeely will be taking the Harvesters to Austin for the fifth time in the past six years. Of the five trips the Pampa Harvesters have returned as title holders twice and runner-ups once.

ANOTHER PROOF of the Harvesters' ability is the little difference that graduating seniors have made. Coach McNeely had only Bill Brown returning from last year's starting quintet. In almost every game during the past season the sophomore players have gained experience during Harvesters games.

This year four are graduating from the Harvesters team, including Brown, Ray Stephenson, Barry Ammons and Larry Cruise.

All-District Selections

BILL BROWN and Mack Layne were the 3-AAAA All-District team, and Coyle Winborn received honorable mention.

Brown is a senior and Layne and Winborn are both juniors. Of 24 possible votes Brown received 23, Layne had 13 and Winborn had seven.

PRIOR TO the regional game Saturday night Brown had amassed 412 points for 13.3 points per game. In gaining the top mark he tossed 150 field goals and 112 free

Goal-Tending Foul Hands Aids Victory

DALLAS (UP) — A charge of goal-tending against SMU's Wilbur Marsh on a desperation last-second shot by Texas A&M's Neil Swisher gave the Aggies a 43-42 victory over the Mustangs Saturday night before 9,000 stunned fans.

The fantastic finish threw the Southwest Conference race into further turmoil and wrote a shocking end to an SMU home-court regular season victory that had stretched to 45 games since Jan. 30, 1954.

Confusion reigned during the final seconds of the game when SMU apparently had erased a six

Track Meet Cancelled

FT. STOCKTON — The Comanche Relays, scheduled to be held here yesterday, were rained out early in the afternoon.

The meet was cancelled after only a few of the preliminaries were run off. Pampa's Harvester track team was to participate. As a result of the cancellation, their first meet will be the Possum Kingdom Relays at Graham on March 8.

Cubs Eye New Rookie

MESA, Ariz. (UP) — The Chicago Cubs will wait no time getting a good look at Tony Taylor, rookie they hope can take over at third base or at second.

The Cuban infielder, who reported Friday, will be at third base for the White team in Sunday's intra-squad game.

Mustangs End Spring Training

DALLAS (UP) — The Red Sox ended their 42-14 Saturday as the SMU Mustangs wound up spring football drills with a muddy intra-squad game.

Coach Bill Meek said the spring drills, hampered for a month by bad weather, turned out to be "almost a complete waste of time. We proved we could move the ball well in the mud, but we missed too many days of work."

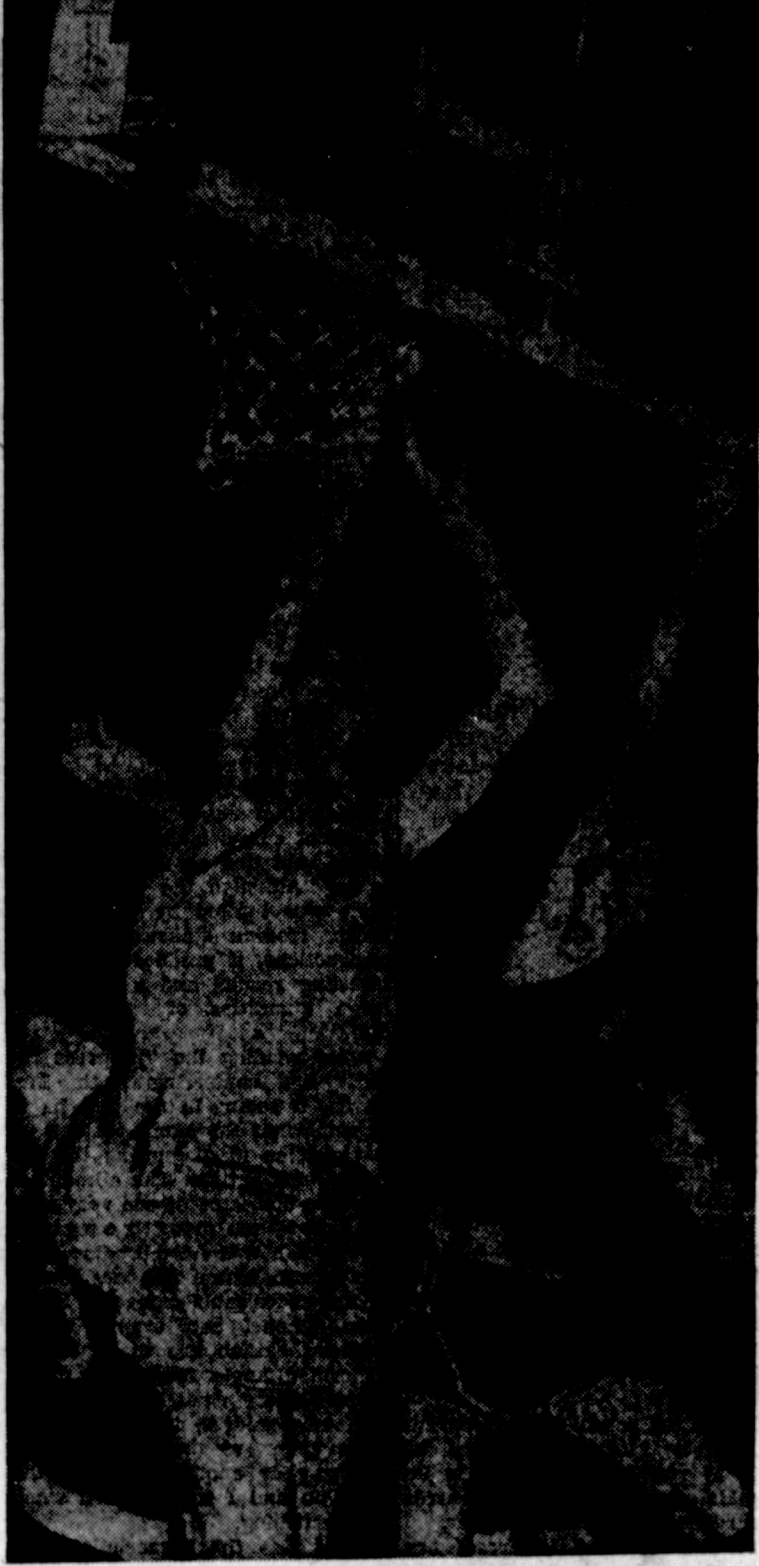

Three Open Champs To Be In CNI

PORT WORTH (UP) — Three former U. S. Open champions, Ed Furgol, Cary Middlecoff and Lloyd Mangrum, were added to the select field for the 13th annual Colonial National Invitation golf tournament Saturday, bringing to 24 the number invited for the April 30-May 4 event.

Brown Named To All-State Team; Layne Placed On All-District

Harvester guard Bill Brown was named to the 1958 All-State Conference 4-A basketball team, which was selected by the Texas Sports-writers Association.

A standout for the Harvesters through the season, Brown has ranked as Pampa's leading scorer, having netted 412 points for 13.3 points per game mark of 13.3 points per game. He has hit 150 field goals and 112 free throws.

HARVESTERS WIN!

Pampa High School Harvester basketball center Mack Layne (32) scores two points for the Green and Gold in last night's game against the Big Spring Steers. Going up with Layne were Preston Hollis (10) and Benny McCreary (18). Layne hit four of five field goal attempts for an 80 per cent average. The Harvesters won the game, 73-58, to win themselves a trip to the State Tournament in Austin next week end.

To Compete In Austin Playoffs March 7-8

By CHARLES CULLIN
Pampa News Sports Editor

Pampa's powerful Harvesters surged to a berth in the state playoffs and gained the regional championship as they roared past the Big Spring Steers, 73-58, last night in Harvester Field House.

Before a jam-packed crowd of 2600 fans, Coach Clifton McNeely's Harvesters fired 42 percent from the field and ripped through a third-quarter scoring spree of 23 points to gain the wide lead they clung to throughout the game.

THE HARVESTERS jumped to a fast lead in the opening minutes of the game, tagging seven points before the Steers could net their first goal. After breaking the ice, however, the Big Spring quintet hit for five fast points and then managed to stay close to the Pampans throughout the period. The initial quarter ended with the Harvesters leading, 20-17.

In the second period the Steers displayed their biggest show of strength, gaining a 23-23 deadlock after five minutes and going in the lead for the first time during the game three minutes later at 25-27. From there until the quarter ended the lead switched several times and Big Spring managed to

Ortiz Demands Bout With Top Lightweight

NEW YORK (UP) — Unbeaten Carlos Ortiz demanded today a fight with one of the leading lightweight contenders because of his mastery of boxing - punching performance that whipped Tommy Tibbs at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

"I want either Kenny Lane or Ralph Dupas," said 21-year-old Carlos, who won a unanimous decision in their TV 10-rounder, the first Garden main event for each. It stretched his unbeaten string to 24 bouts.

Ortiz, favored at 12-5, out-boxed and out-punched Boston Tommy, champion of New England, before a crowd estimated at 3,800. Stubby Tibbs, weighing 132 pounds to Carlos' 135½, made a great fight of it with his rushing, wild-hooking attack to body and head.

COACH R. A. CURFMAN

Indiana Tops Purdue, 109-95 In Close Big Ten Scramble

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UP) — Indiana exploded for 24 points against three in the final 10 minutes of the first half Saturday and then coasted to a 109-95 victory over Purdue in the tight Big Ten basketball race.

The combined score set a new conference mark of 204 points, one better than the old total achieved by the Hoosiers and Illinois Jan. 14, 1957.

The Hoosiers narrowly missed topping their old scoring record for one team in conference play—113 against Purdue in the 1953 campaign.

The loss knocked the Boiler-makers out of a first place tie and left them with one game to go—as host to Iowa Monday. The Hoosiers have two league games to play, ending with top contender Michigan State next week.

Archie Dees, the conference's leading scorer, connected for 37 points, far over his 25 point per game clip, to spark the Hoosier triumph, the eighth in 12 league games, and hand Purdue its fifth loss against eight wins.

Purdue, which defeated Indiana, 68-66, at Lafayette, Ind., this year, led only once, at 3-1 early in the game. But the Boiler-makers fought to a tie five times before Indiana cracked the game wide open with 10 minutes left in the first period.

The Hoosiers moved from a 21-

ACC To Meet Wayland

ABILENE, Tex. (UP) — Abilene Christian and Wayland College play a one-game playoff Tuesday night in Snyder for the West Zone District 9, NAIA, basketball title.

The winner will meet Austin East Zone champ, Thursday for the right to compete in the national tournament at Kansas City. If Wayland wins, the Pioneers will meet Austin College at Plainview; if ACC wins, the game will be at Abilene.

Brown Named To All-State Team; Layne Placed On All-District

Selected By Committee Of Texas Sportswriters Assn.

Harvester guard Bill Brown was named to the 1958 All-State Conference 4-A basketball team, which was selected by the Texas Sports-writers Association.

A standout for the Harvesters through the season, Brown has ranked as Pampa's leading scorer, having netted 412 points for 13.3 points per game mark of 13.3 points per game. He has hit 150 field goals and 112 free throws.

He is a senior this year, playing his last season with the Harvesters quintet.

Rounding out the mythical all-senior team were 6-4 Jim Hammond of Bellaire at the other forward, 6-4 Jan Lodermlk of Big Spring at center, 5-9 Paul Hyatt of Palo Duro and 6-0 Bill Brown of Pampa at the guards.

Hyatt was the highest scoring man on the team with a 28.8-point season average, while Lodermlk, who set a Texas scoring record with a 75-point single game during the season, averaged 25.0, Hammond 19.3 and Brown 15.6.

No Repeaters

There were no repeaters from the 1957 team. Bill Tagel of Plainview, who had a chance to make it twice, was injured much of this season and never reached his 1957 form.

Six players were voted onto the second team because of a three-way tie for the two forward posts between Nolan Richardson of El Paso Bowie, Warren Tipton of Borger and Ronald Durbin of San Antonio Burbank. David Warnell, Galena Park, was named at center, and Louis Gonzales of Waco and Mike Lodermlk of Fort Worth Arlington Heights at guards.

The third team was made up of forwards Jimmy Brown of Austin McCallum and Bobby Grace of Plainview; center Olle Shipley of Austin High at center, and guards Pete Stonestreet of Dallas Sunset and George Hendricks of Corpus Christi Miller at guards.

All are Seniors

All of the first three team honorees are seniors with the exception of Richardson, who is a junior.

The honorable mention list included:

Cleveland Sullivan, Houston Milby; Randy Hurst, Abilene; Joel Bolden, Corpus Christi Ray; Harvey Ray, Alice; Ronnie Mayberry, Amarillo High; Dick Deilke, Lubbock; Monterey; Woody Rasberry, Marshall; Dwayne Key, Lubbock High; Don Graham, Wichita Falls; Robert Wood, Fort Worth Paschal; Curtis Jimeron, El Paso Austin; Bill Moore, Victoria; Graham Bridges, Freeport; Ronnie Lucas, Wichita Falls; Cruz Aguilar, El Paso Bowie; Mutt Heller, Tyler; Carl Egge and Dick Martin, Dallas Wilson; Pat Rieby, Grand Prairie; Ardie Dixon, Lufkin.

Winborn Ranks In List Of Honorable Mention Players

Bill Brown and Mack Layne were the two Harvesters named to the 3-AAAA All-District team, which was selected by the coaches and sports writers of all participating teams.

A third Harvester, Coyle Winborn, received the nod in the Honorable Mention department.

Of the possible 24 votes, Brown received 23 and Layne received 13. Brown is a senior guard and Layne a junior center. Winborn, a junior, gained seven votes in placing on the honorable mention list. All three players have ranked through the season as top Pampa scorers.

In selecting the team, the head coach and sports writer were allowed to vote only on players from opposing teams, with a first team vote counting two points and a second team vote counting one point.

Tipton was the only unanimous choice, while Brown, and Hyatt lacked only one. Also Tipton was the only repeater from the first team in 1957. Bill Tagel of Plainview was placed on the first team in 1957 but was honorable mention this year.

Ranking on the top five along with Brown are Warren Tipton of Borger, Paul Hyatt of Palo Duro, Bob Grace of Plainview and Ronnie Mayberry of Amarillo. With Layne on the second team were Vance Moxom of Borger, Bill Reeves of Plainview, Dwayne Key of Lubbock, and Burt McLain of Amarillo.

California Produces Majority of US's Baseball Talent

United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless
Caley's facts and figures:

California is far and away the greatest producer of major league baseball talent, with Pennsylvania second, but the Midwest still produces the greatest overall number of big leaguers closely followed by the South.

California, major league rosters for spring training show, leads the States with 79 while Pennsylvania is second with 51 and New York third with 38. Ohio paces the Midwest with 35 against 33 for Missouri, 31 for Illinois and 30 for Michigan. North Carolina still is first in the South with 22.

Other major producers are Florida with 20, New Jersey with 19, Oklahoma 17 and Texas 16.
It is interesting to note that eight foreign countries have players under the big top, a least during spring training, led by Puerto Rico's 13.

Midwest Leads Regions
Sectionally, the Midwest leads with 169 players. The South has 162, the East 154, the West 101, the Southwest 37 and the 32 foreign entries run the total to 534.
Of these, 134 must go by the outdown date.

was always careful in that depart-

Brown May Withdraw From Baylor

WACO, Tex. (UP) — Freshman tackle star Charles Brown of Cieburne was reported to be withdrawing from Baylor with the U.S. Military Academy as his ultimate goal.

Baylor Athletic Director George
Sauer said Friday the reports were news to him.

However, the Cieburne Times-
Review quoted Brown's father, the Rev. Pat Brown, as saying his son "will not pursue his higher education or his football at Baylor."

It was expected that Brown would lay out of school until July when the next class enrolls at West Point. He already has passed some of the entrance exams at the academy.

Brown had been quoted earlier this month as saying he was leaving Baylor, but after a conference with Coach Sam Boyd, had issued a statement saying he was "happy" and would remain at the school.

The new term at Baylor starts next Wednesday, and it may be that late before it is known definitely whether Brown remains out of school.

Funk Meets Evans Tomorrow In Winner Take All Match

A winner-take-all match will feature tomorrow night's wrestling
at the Sportsman Club as Doty Funk will oppose Don Evans in the main event match. The two grapplers first met two weeks ago and the match resulted with no decision, both men being disqualified. As a result a re-match was scheduled for last Monday, but was cancelled, and now the two will come together tomorrow. Scheduled for two out of three falls, the tussle will carry a one-hour time limit.

In the second event Killer Joe Christie will be in action against Johnny Barend, a newcomer to the Pampa ring. The semi-final is also marked for two out of three falls, carrying a 45-minute time limit.

For the opener of the evening
Tommy Phelps will go against Frankie Murdoch. The match will be a one-faller, limited to 20 minutes of action.

Held each Monday evening at 8:30, the wrestling is sponsored by the Pampa Shrine Club. Proceeds go to the Shriner's Crippled Children's fund.

Admission is $1.50 for ringside;
$1.25 for reserved seats; 50 cents for general admission adult and 50 cents for general admission children. Sportsman Club is located one mile south of town on the Lefors highway.

NEW STURDY HEAD

BRADENTON, Fla. (UP) — Infielder Felix Mantilla agreed to terms with the Milwaukee Braves
Saturday, leaving the world champions with eight hold outs, as allscale spring training got on the way. Milwaukee's total of eight is high for the majors.

The eight still unsigned were pitchers Lew Burdette, Bob Buhl,
Don McMahon and Gene Conley, first baseman Frank Toree, short stop Johnny Logan and outfielders Wes Covington and Bob Hazle.

Thoroughbreds Named For Kentucky Derby Nominations

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) —
Churchill Downs today announced the names of 140 three-year-old thoroughbreds nominated for the $125,000 added Kentucky Derby on May 4.

The list includes just about every outstanding two-year-old of last year and all that have been prominent as three-year-olds in winter racing this year. Among them are Claiborne Farm's Nadir, the Calumet pair of Tim Tam and Kentucky Pride, Old Pueblo and stretch-running Silky Sullivan from California, and Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham's Jewel's Reward.

It cost the owners $100 to nominate each candidate for America's best known horse race. It will cost an additional $250 apiece to put their names in the entry box two days before the Derby, and $1,250 more—or a total of $1,600—if the horse gets to the starting gate Derby day.

Only about a dozen of the 140
nominees are apt to reach the post, the rest falling victim to racing luck or revealing a lack of ability in earlier races.

That that made it will be running for $125,000 plus the amount subscribed in nomination and entry fees. The winner is guaranteed $100,000, a gold trophy, a blanket of roses, and racing immortality.

The second place horse will win $25,000; third place $12,500; and fourth place $8,000.

Pineapples are grown from duce seed and the few seeds produced are used only in the development of new varieties.

North's four-heart bid was a desperate attempt to shut East and West out of the spade suit and it succeeded admirably.

Every card lay right for them and they would have made four North's four-heart bid was a desperate attempt to shut East and to make four hearts by fine play.

The queen of diamonds was allowed to hold the opening lead and West played a second diamond. South decided that East was marked with the king of diamonds in which case the chances were that West would have all the other high cards for his takeout double. In that case an elimination play would be necessary and South saw that he could not afford the luxury of even one trump lead.

South played the king of spades and West was in with the ace. He led his jack of trumps and South won in dummy. A diamond was ruffed high, a spade was ruffed in dummy and the last diamond ruffed in his own hand.

Now he played a second trump to dummy, led a club and finessed the ten.

West was in with the jack but could not take another trick. A spade lead would allow South to discard a club from dummy and ruff with his last trump whereas a club lead would be right up to South's ace-queen.

South showed his hand and West conceded.

'Texas Canoe' Safest For Inland Lakes

A United Press Extra
DALLAS (UP) — A new boat looks like a shiny scow on five logs, but one of its designers claims its the "safest thing afloat" on the treacherous inland waters of Texas.

Sudden windstorms whip up waves in the inland lakes of Texas that capsize ordinary boats and drown fishermen and pleasure boaters every year.

The new boat is called the "Texas Canoe," Jim Fontenot, one of the designers, says it also is handy for hunting alligators in the swamps, since it draws only three inches of water.

The secret of the boat's safety is five 20-foot tubes upon which it sits. Each tube is divided into three compartments, for a total of 15.

If a log below the surface tears a hole in one tube, water will get into only one-third of the tube because of the compartments. There is a space in the right tube for a battery and some compartments may be used to store fuel.

Because the boat is made of aluminum, it weighs 1,800 pounds. Fontenot says a 35-horsepower motor will drive it at a top speed of 25 miles an hour.

Peg O' Pampa

WELL HERE WE GO around the mulberry bush again... has anyone ever seen a mulberry bush? Spring is getting into our blood now, and any time we may break out with the fever... noticed some foolish trees and bushes greening out already... lots of the dear old Chinese Elms are flowering madly... a crocus or two coming up to see the daylight... pretty soon forsythia will be active... well, guess it is as it should be, with Easter just around the corner... and Easter should be a real deal this year, with the sack dress and the fashions of the Twenties in style again... we haven't decided whether it will be a sight for sore eyes or a sight to make the eyes sore to go to church on Easter... could it be that we have our doubts about the sack?

WHOOOPS... OUR BIG EAR IS SHOWING... we have alrekeadyf... had it bent for some items of interest... Mary Lane Leshner and her husband have got themselves set up... in Prescott, Arizona. They have bought a rock-shop where they can combine business with considerable pleasure in the rock-hunting field... next time you're out that way, drop in to see the latest in aragonite, serpentine, or wolframite... mineral specimens, that is... the R. T. Smiths are new neighbors in the 1500-block on Hamilton... unfortunately the Science Fair at the High School was not open when this was written... but we would like to say we think it is the greatest idea ever... and some of the exhibits we know of now and will see in person... Charles Jones is exhibiting a collection of prehistoric animal remains... there is to be a diorama of prehistoric animals made of fired clay by Mary Call's fifth grade class... we heard Elaine Ledbetter talking up the Fair on the radio the other afternoon... certainly hope that it becomes an annual affair as the instigators hope... the win-home class at the First Methodist church had a coffee honoring members with February birthdays... Marlon George and Faye Palmer... Matilda Smith has an Imperial... party... heard that Carl and Bubs Lang went to a jazz concert in Borger recently... we also understand that he is quite a jazz enthusiast, and knows a lot about the subject... and did you see, speaking of jazz the television program a few Saturdays ago with Leonard Bernstein and the Philharmonic orchestra... he was talking to his audience... mostly children... about a truly native American music that would be representative of all the many national elements in the U.S... he showed that jazz is our one truly representative American music... and proceeded to show by example how jazz has influenced modern American composers to make a contribution to the whole music world... it was pretty interesting, and gave us some food for thought... we happened to have the radio on last Saturday and heard the radio skit presented by Bernice Larsh's third grade pupils of Sam Houston... they did very well... Tim Gikas and Celeste Duncan... and Mike Noblitt... and Peggy Lee Peebles were in the cast, along with others... what fun to do something like that... at least it would seem so... we hear that the new auditorium in the new Junior High School will be a fine one... hope it will be plenty large.

Henpecked weatherman claims:
"My wife speaks 150 words a minute with gusts up to 180."

WHY DON'T WE TAKE A COFFEE BREAK and come back to this in a minute... did you know it's easy to entertain some people... all you have to do is listen... and what are we going to do with weekend guests if we ever get to the four-day work week?!!!! and did you see recently the cartoon showing the wife and kiddies waiting outside an automobile dealer's window, while inside you can see the salesman and the husband talking over a shiny new model... the poor, naive wife's "famous last words" to a friend beside her go something like this: It will be so nice to have the car all paid for; a boon to the budget... It is too true to be funny.

GUESS WHAT... Gail Herr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Herr, who is employed by Celanese... Gail, that is, was notified that she had won a second-place award for all entries in a recent Dress and Coat Design contest sponsored by The Fair in Fort Worth... Miss Herr's design for a coat and dress will be entered in National Contest competition... top national winners in the two categories (coats and dresses) will receive $500 cash and a weekend for two in New York City... and the first and second national winners will receive national recognition as new designers... the winners will be announced in May, and pictures of the prize winning garments and the designers will be in the July issue of Mademoiselle magazine... we surely hope Gail Herr will be one of the top winners.

Sign on a Music Shop in California:
"Out to lunch. Usually Bach by one. Offenbach earlier."

ANOTHER WINNER of a contest was Sami Sue Cook, who won the slogan contest sponsored by Community Youth Center... she won a Duo-Flex camera... the Pampa Art Club is going to have an all-day work shop next week, in preparation for the exhibit at the Guest Day Tea... and along art lines, too... we hear that George Hepner has been doing a beautiful wood bowl... in cherrywood... and Mrs. Fred Hart is working on a stone sculpture... we hear that a bridge foursome that gets together frequently consists of Margaret Dial... Peggy Palminter... Florence Jackson... and Mary L. Jones... sounds like fun... the last are learning to play the game... with help from Margaret, who already knows how... the O. Ray Hudson's had guests recently... Marcella's sister and her husband, Sgt. and Mrs. Herman Blahock visited on their way through to Altus Air Base in Oklahoma... from Winston, California... the Blahocks have a ten-month-old son, Charles... Mrs. B. is a registered nurse, as is Marcella, and another sister... handy to have three registered nurses in the family! There are some welcome new additions to Pampa now... Carol and Richard Homer... from Amarillo... Leo and Betty Casey, from Kansas... red-headed Ruby Howard and her husband from Tulsa... and Nina Tinnus and her husband... all attended the Couples' Club of the Holy Souls Catholic church... when the club had a chili and cherry-pie supper... also new in town are Peggy and rhedfgwa-nCsqnH... &o Paul Murphy... from Illinois... and seems they have been waiting six weeks for their furniture to come... camping with the bare essentials rented, poor things... they have one child and a baby on the way... yours truly would be clawing the walls by now, but Peggy seems to be calm about the whole thing... guess that is the best reaction... and our reaction now is to say

Bye,
Peg

Miss Loretta Lowry Exchanges Nuptial Vows With Chaplain Richard B. Hughes

Chaplain Harlan H. Hobgood of White Sands Proving Grounds, N.M., performed a double-ring ceremony on February 22 in Tarrytown Methodist Church uniting in marriage Miss Loretta Louise Lowry and Chaplain Richard Bennett Hughes.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Lowry, 6000 Chocals Creek Blvd., Austin, the bride is a graduate of the University of Texas, where she received a bachelor of arts and a master's degree. She also attended Newcomb College in New Orleans. At UT she was a member of Delta Delta Delta. Prior to her marriage, she was affiliated with the Hogg Foundation of the University of Texas.

Chaplain Hughes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Hughes, 400 Harvester, and is now stationed at Elgin Air Force Base, Florida, as chaplain in the US Air Force. He holds a bachelor of divinity degree from Yale School of Divinity and a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Oklahoma. His fraternity is Beta Theta Pi.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over white taffeta designed with a short jacket of lace. The full-cut, waist-length skirt was bordered around the hemline with scallops of lace. A halfhat of lace, reembodyed with seed pearls, held her finger tip veil of imported silk. The bride carried a cascade of white roses centered with a white orchid.

ATTENDANTS

As maid of honor, Miss Carol Hughes, sister of the bridegroom, wore a waist-length gown of powder blue Chantilly lace over taffeta with a matching bolero of blue organza. She carried a nosegay of French carnations with blue satin streamers.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Robert K. Young of Austin, wore a similar dress in pink Chantilly lace and satin. She carried carnations, also.

Don R. Lane of Oklahoma City was best man. Richard Scheig of San Antonio served as groomsmen, and Dr. Robert K. Young of Austin was usher.

Mrs. Lowry, mother of the bride, wore an afternoon dress of Old Rose lace over matching taffeta topped with a bolero. Her dress was complemented with a small rose-covered hat and matching accessories, with which she wore white gloves and a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Hughes chose a waist-length dress of gray lace over pink taffeta, accented around the neckline and hemline. Her accessories were Dove Gray satin slippers and a close-fitting hat of smoke-pearl and pink fridescents. She wore pink gloves and pink camellias. Upon his discharge from the army in August, Chaplain and Mrs. Hughes will go to Edinburgh, Scotland, for the fall term, where he will study towards his Doctorate.

Mrs. Richard Bennett Hughes

If a suit or dress needs alteration when you buy it, have the changes made at once. Many women wear a dress that's too long through the waist or too wide through the shoulders in order to save money. This is a poor way to save since the total effect of the dress is ruined.

It's a tiresome fact but it's true: being well-groomed takes constant daily effort. The first time you let down is the moment you find yourself with runs in your stockings, a dipping hem and grubby gloves when you want to look your best.

The pure linen sheath in vivid colors (tangerine or lime) is a good buy in current resort collections. If you aren't going on a winter vacation, put it away for next summer. Resort collections are advance fashions.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby E. Cochrane

Miss Treva Nan Dean, Bob Cochrane Solemnize Vows In Home Ceremony

Miss Treva Nan Dean and Al-Bobby E. Cochrane were united in marriage on Jan. 16 in a candle-light ceremony performed at 6 p.m. in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. James Wylie in Waxahachie. Rev. T. Hollis Epton performed the double-ring service before an improvised altar flanked with floor baskets of white stock, fern and candelabra holding white tapers.

Mrs. Dean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dean, former Pampans, who are now living in Waxahachie. Mr. Cochrane's parents are Mrs. J. C. Cochrane of Starke, Fla. and the late Mr. Cochrane.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a two-piece silk shantung suit with navy and white accessories. She carried an arrangement of white orchids and carnations atop a white Bridal Bible.

Mrs. Wylie served her sister as matron of honor, wearing a navy blue dress with rose accessories.

James Wylie was best for the bridegroom.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Dean, chose a rose afternoon dress with navy accessories for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother was unable to attend.

A reception was held immediately following the exchange of vows. The bride's table was covered with a satin cloth with an overskirt of white net centered with white stock in a crystal bowl.

The two-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom was served by Mrs. Wylie. Mrs. Donnie Wylie presided at the punch service.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane left for a wedding trip to the eastern states; Georgia and Florida.

Mrs. Cochrane was graduated from Pampa High School and attended Texas Women's University in Denton. Mr. Cochrane was graduated from Starke High School and has served four years in the air force. He is now stationed in Africa.

Mrs. Cochrane will reside with her parents in Waxahachie for a time, before joining her husband in Africa.

A luke-warm thank-you note or one sounding as though written merely from a sense of duty is a poor thing indeed.

SHERRIED PERSIMMON SNOW
For an exotic dessert, blend Spanish sherry with the creamy pulp of ripe persimmons. This luscious fruit is now available in most supermarkets. First peel 2 persimmons, discarding the stems. Put through food mill or electric blender to make pulp creamy and smooth. Combine 1-3 cup Spanish sherry, an oloroso or cream type, with 2 tablespoons sugar. Bring to a boil and simmer 3 minutes. Meanwhile, beat 2 egg whites until stiff. Combine the sherry syrup with persimmon pulp, blend into beaten egg whites, then pile into sherbet dishes and chill thoroughly. Makes 6 servings. Glasses of oloroso sherry served with it make this truly festive dessert.

SPANISH PICKLED BEETS
Pickled beets become a gourmet dish when spiced with Spanish sherry. Use an amontillado type sherry with canned pickled beets or beets prepared by a favorite recipe, for a delicious hot vegetable; equally good served cold as a relish. Use about 1 tablespoon of the Spanish sherry to each cup of the beets. Wonderful with cold pork. Along with glasses of amontillado sherry this makes a fine midnight repast.

Texas Indians Topic For TC Members Discussed by Mmes Jamieson, Pung

Mrs. Bob Andis, 1710 Mary Ellen, entertained Twenty-first Century Club on Tuesday afternoon. Members present were Mmes. H. R. Thompson, R. W. Stowers, E. Roy Smith, Robert Sanford, Walter Pung, Fred Neslage, Roy McKernan, Lorene Locke, V. J. Jamieson, Ronald Hubbard, Lloyd Hicks, Raymond Harrah, Jack Foster, J. Kirk Duncan, W. R. Campbell, E. L. Campbell, and G. F. Branson.

Business session was conducted by Mrs. Foster. Mrs. Duncan reported that the committee for the selection of an entry in the Pampa Community Youth Beauty Contest had been chosen as Miss Kay Kolasha of Skellytown to represent the club.

The president will also appoint a committee to plan and prepare an entry for the Beta Sigma Phi Table Setting Contest to be held Mar. 15 in the high school field-house.

Mrs. Duncan was selected as a delegate for the District Federation convention to be held in Childress on Mar. 10-11-12. Mrs. Sanford was chosen alternate delegate.

Plans were made to assist the federated clubs of Pampa in a reception for the state president, Mrs. A. J. House, during her visit here on April 23.

The resignation of Mrs. J. B. Massa was accepted with regret.

Mrs. Jamieson and Mrs. Pung presented an interesting program on "The Texas Indian, The Alabama Coushattas" found living under other tribal names in every part of Texas.

Their discussion brought out the facts that the history of migration of these people is not clearly known, but when Columbus discovered America in 1492, they were living in this southwest territory. "Some historians thought they were from tribes in Asia and others that they were from South America. One tribe lived in the piney woods of East Texas where was living was abundant, there being fruits and nuts and plentiful wild life.

"It is said that the women made dresses from black-dyed deerskin that resembled beautiful velvet."

"The last great chief of these Indians was Quanah Parker, who could see the inevitable when Columbus landed the hordes from Europe on the American Indian and changed his freedom and way of life. He advised them to go to the reservation. In 1854, Sam Houston secured 1200 acres and in 1928 the only reservation in Texas was established. Today, there are about 427 Indians on this reservation. Their main enterprise is logging and pulp wood."

It was also presented that Texas is the only state that gives appropriations to the Indians. Among these are the Big Sandy School, near Livingston, which is supported by the state. "12,000 is appropriated for education."

Miss Kay Kolasha

"The state also provides homes on the reservation; gives medical and dental care and mortuary services."

"The Indians buy their own food and clothing; many work outside of the reservation for their livelihood. There is hospital facilities with a registered nurse on duty; a part-time doctor and dentist; also, serve, Mr. C. H. Jones Jr. is superintendent of the reservation."

"The federal government is interested in better educational and economic advantages for these Indians and encourage them to take their places in American life, outside the reservation."

The next meeting will be held on Mar. 1 in the home of Mrs. W. R. Campbell, 1200 Mary Ellen.

Roll call was answered by each member, telling of the flower she can grow best.

"BOSSSES" — Among the Business and Professional Annual Public Affairs Banquet Has Cameron Marsh As B&PW Speaker

Business and Professional Women's Club held its annual Public Affairs dinner on Tuesday evening in the high school cafeteria. Mrs. Hazel Franklin played an interlude of dinner music, while the guests were arriving.

Invocation was given by Mrs. Virginia McDonald.

Mrs. Mattie Crowson, club president, welcomed members and guests and introduced the special guests, Mayor and Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. "Red" Wedgeworth, Mr. and Mrs. John Koonz. Special recognition was given to Miss Kitty Jaynes, who had designed the banquet program cover to depict an enlarged B&PW Club emblem.

Dr. N. J. Ellis, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Hope Rusk at the piano, presented vocal selections, "I've Told Every Little Star," "On The Street Where You Live," and "Twelfth of Never."

Mrs. Crowson introduced Mrs. Mabel Ford, master of ceremonies, who presented Cameron Marsh, assistant principal of Pampa High School, as the guest speaker.

Mr. Marsh's topic was "Dreams in History," as related to communism, nazism, and fascism, and compared these to the American ideology of democracy.

He traced the beginnings of communism with Carl Marx and how his ideas grew from a "Manifesto", written in 1850 to be taken up and distorted by Trotsky, Lenin, Stalin up to the present leaders. Mr. Marsh discussed Mussolini's dream of a "favored nation" and of Hitler's dream of a "favored race." In conclusion, he drew the analogy between these dreams and the American dream of supremacy of the individual.

Among the out-of-town guests attending were Mrs. Thelma Holman, president of the Panhandle Club, with seven members attending; Mrs. Thelma Arendahl, Borge club president, with 11 members attending; and Mrs. Marie Wade, Perryton club president.

God Segregated

Here we are again at that time of the year when public schools are given special recognition throughout Texas so please indulge us a few pertinent comments.

There has probably never been a period in American history when the subject of education has been so actively discussed and written about as in the last several, post-Sputnik months. All of a sudden, seemingly, there is a general recognition that something is wrong with that monolithic sacred cow, government education, and like the victims of all delusions who cherish their delusion with pseudo-religious reverence, remedies are projected in terms of method and technique while the majority still endeavors to hold this false god intact.

What is particularly sad about the situation is that all the tempest is in vain because the government school system just isn't in a position to deliver the goods. The recognition of this fact is for most individuals a painful and bewildering experience for state-operated schools have so long held an unchallenged sway that their necessity has become almost a fixed category of the human mind. Such a circumstance makes the approach to educational deficiencies unusually complicated and invariably gives rise to wrong answers when the question is asked, "What's wrong?"

The very sad state of the traditional disciplines of the three R's and science, of course, merely touch the surface of the problem and we predict the pouring of funds into strengthening these courses is still going to leave the vacuum which makes us not too distinguished from those trained under a pronounced Marxian program. In short, the United States finds itself in a race with an enemy who desires to exterminate us and our leadership has no answer but to follow the enemies' techniques with the hope of excelling. This is a folly, we submit, of the first order for it leaves us without a philosophy and concept of life which can even hope to rival that embraced by a system which has institutionalized a godless atheism and materialism with a religious fervor.

As we have stated many times before, the alternative to a government-operated school system is one ordered by a voluntary market. There is little doubt but that the basic educational system which would develop in the absence of government interference would be directed by religious institutions. This is born out by the fact that the traditions of the West gave impetus to such a system prior to the rise of all-powerful government.

The government school, by its very nature, had in its early stages to separate the concept of God from its secular functions because of the differences which were so marked concerning religion within the community itself. As government grew in power and influence, it became necessary to justify its aggressions with a yardstick and the majority ("The voice of the people is the voice of God") became the rule for determining right and wrong in most human experiences. Any concept of inalienable rights became something very fuzzy in the mind of the average student because inalienable rights stand only as they are supported by a God concept and to explore this position was not in keeping with the very nature of the government school system itself. Obviously, if there were any such thing as inalienable rights, the right to support or not to support an educational system would be an apparent fact which the state could not face.

Roberta Reynolds recently summed up this great intellectual dilemma when he said, "Time was, from the beginning of manhood on earth until only yesterday, when religion was the beginning and heart of human education. . . now there is in our schools a segregation of man from God, and it is not within the power of the Supreme Court to force them back together. Nor do God and wisdom follow money; not billions spent on new schools and on the doubling and trebling of teachers' salaries will earn the spiritual living of a single child. We have made the spiritual cost of education dirt-cheap; and the boredom, stupefaction and violence of juvenile delinquents, in the queasy demoralized anguish of adults, we are getting what we paid for." As the Rev. Hugh Halton recently observed, the great threat to the West is in the apathy born of the moral and intellectual subversion of the God premise in the educational establishment.

One of the strange contradictions of this problem is that there are still great segments of organized Christianity who are seemingly oblivious of the responsibility to their young, so shot through are they with undiscernment as they embrace the nostrums of the welfare state. The desire to be popular and to conform while denying the premise of an espoused morality is not a disease which just laymen need be wary of.

In all life, a basic view of the cosmic order is used to govern and sanction actions. The view of life projected by the government schools is that might makes right via majority vote, that the end of man is to satisfy his material wants, that proper social adjustment is dictated by majority conduct and that the future lies in the results of material progress through scientific know-how. With such philosophy is it any wonder that we are confused in the face of a dedicated enemy? Do we know what we have that is worth defending? Is the difference between what we say we believe in and what the enemy believes in worth girding ourselves for a possible nuclear holocaust?

The reliance on government has spiritually weakened us in facing the challenge of Russia and it is possible that this reliance can mean disaster. Misunderstanding is not a self-curing disease and unless there is an awakening, the atrophying hand of government education can be an education with terrible consequences.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

'Atlas Shrugged'

I have just finished reading Ayn Rand's "Atlas Shrugged." Ayn Rand wrote "The Fountainhead" in 1943. It was a best seller, as has been "Atlas Shrugged" for several months.

Warner Brothers bought moving picture rights to "The Fountainhead" for $50,000.

It is an extremely interesting book. It was interesting to me because she puts a lot of philosophy into the mouths of her characters, just as she did, the architect, the main character in her "Fountainhead."

Ayn Rand was born and attended school in Russia. She thus has a first hand view of what government can do to retard the development of mankind.

"Atlas Shrugged" was especially interesting to me because she draws a picture of what is taking place in America and throughout the world in the growth of government.

I understood she originally intended to call it "The Strike." She had been working on the book for nearly ten years. It was a strike not of the employees, but a strike of the employers, inventors and entrepreneurs.

I have wondered at times whether a philosopher would create $1 billion worth of wealth if he could do so by turning his hand over; whether he would think that the wealth would do more harm than good because it would just perpetuate the parasites and moochers; whether it would not tend to degrade the race rather than develop the mental and spiritual faculties of mankind.

One of her principal characters was a man who had inherited a great fortune invested in copper mines. She puts in his mouth an explanation of money, and, of course, he is talking about real money that has value in itself or redeemable in given units of gold or silver or whatever is the standard, not money as we have in the United States today that is only redeemable in another piece of political money. He is talking about real money. This character puts it this way:

"So you think that money is the root of all evil?" said Francisco d'Anconia. "Have you ever asked what is the root of money? Money is a tool of exchange, which can't exist unless there are goods produced and men able to produce them. Money is the material shape of the principle that men who wish to deal with one another must deal by trade and give value for value. Money is not the tool of the moochers, who claim your product by tears, or of the looters, who take it from you by force. Money is made possible only by the men who produce. Is this what you consider evil?"

"When you accept money in payment for your effort, you do so only on the conviction that you will exchange it for the product of the effort of others. It is not the moochers or the looters who give value to money. Not an ocean of tears nor all the guns in the world can transform those pieces of paper in your wallet into the bread you will need to survive tomorrow. Those pieces of paper, which should have been gold, are a token of honor, your claim upon the energy of the men who produce. Your wallet is your statement of hope that somewhere in the world around you there are men who will not default on that moral principle which is the root of money. Is this what you consider evil?"

"Have you ever looked for the root of production? Take a look at an electric generator and dare tell yourself that it was created by the muscular effort of unthinking brutes. Try to grow a seed of wheat without the knowledge left to you by men who had to discover it for the first time. Try to obtain your food by means of nothing but physical motions—and you'll learn that man's mind is the root of all the goods produced and of all the wealth that has ever existed on earth.

"But you say that money is made by the strong at the expense of the weak? What strength do you mean? It is not the strength of guns or muscles. Wealth is the product of man's capacity to think. Then is money made by the man who invents a motor at the expense of those who did not invent it? Is money made by the intelligent at the expense of the fools? By the able at the expense of the incompetent? By the ambitious at the expense of the lazy? Money is made—before it can be looted or mooched—made by the effort of every honest man, each to the extent of his ability. An honest man is one who knows that he can't consume more than he has produced."

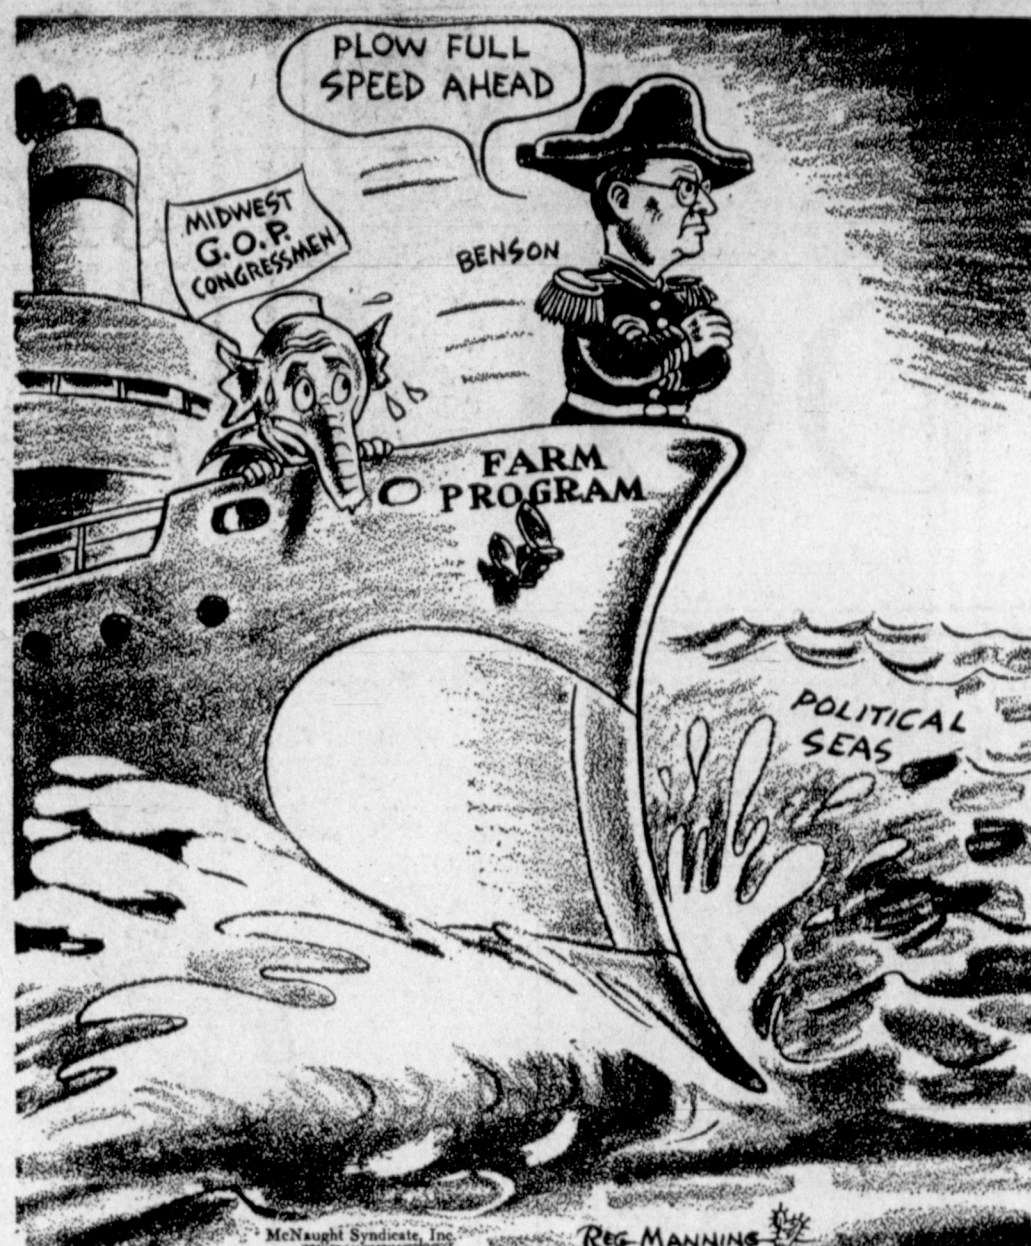

All these unsavory details will tumble out if Speaker Sam Rayburn or Senator Wayne L. Morse presses for a searching and non-political investigation of the so-called independent agencies.

BID FOR A SMILE

A gentleman visited the house of an old friend where the butler, a Irishman, paid him every attention, and finally saw him into his carriage. The gentleman, who was miserly, did not tip him. As a delicate reminder, the butler said, "Faith, sorr, if you lose your purse on the way home, remember you did pull it out here. Virtue which paralyzes, is near a surrender."

Man—What are you raising in your garden this year?
Neighbor—Johnson's Plymouth Rock, Brown's Leghorns and Smith's Wyandottes.

National Whirligig

Ike Record Jeopardizes A General Belief

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower record so far tends to jeopardize the general belief that the nation's affairs — the Government — should be entrusted to businessmen trained to operate great industries rather than to the Roosevelt-Truman type of "politicians." The "Madison Avenue boys" seem to have lost out to Tammany Hall, or to its more decent equivalent.

This seemingly academic question has suddenly become a political issue, and one on which the Democrats will assume the offensive in future campaigns. They will compare and contrast the two Republican Administrations since World War I, which were dominated by businessmen, with the Roosevelt-Truman regime, when the clubhouse boys ruled the roost.

This ancient debate has been revived recently as a result of the ineptitude and naivete of the Texas Republicans in staging a $100,000 dinner for Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr., in the hope of winning — the Democrats refer to it as "buying" — his support for the Natural Gas Bill.

Previously, the oil-gas interests had shown their heavy-handed attitude by offering to "contribute" $2,500 to Senator Francis Case's campaign funds in return for his support of the measure, when he was already committed to it. In both instances, they embarrassed legislators already in their corner, and killed the bill they want so dearly.

REFLECTIONS ON COMMON SENSE — The scandals surrounding the investigation of the Federal Communications Commission also reflect upon the common sense of businessmen when they dabble in public affairs. They should have known that their fees and favors to officials charged with regulating their operations would eventually become known, to their detriment and discredit.

Another agency where businessmen have rushed in where politicians fear to tread is the Civil Aeronautics Board. With childlike naivete, a few great airlines have showered kindnesses upon their monitors. They have entertained them lavishly at sunshine resorts. They have flown them around the country to swanky convention sites. They have maintained expensive hotel suites at Washington for entertainment and lobbying purposes.

All these unsavory details will tumble out if Speaker Sam Rayburn or Senator Wayne L. Morse presses for a searching and non-political investigation of the so-called independent agencies.

FED-UP WITH POLITICIANS — The Eisenhower Administration, like Hoover's, was advertised and elected as a businessmen's organization. It was entrusted with national responsibilities because the voters had become disgusted with the "politicians" of the Roosevelt-Truman era, and they suspected that Adlai E. Stevenson would play along with them.

Yet two of the Cabinet members charged with partial responsibility for our present plight, economic and military, were the leading representatives of industry. They were former Treasury Secretary

George M. Humphrey, and former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

TIGHT CREDIT POLICIES — Humphrey, according to bankers and businessmen friendly to him, applied a deflationary squeeze to the economy too severely and for too long a period. He is held partially responsible for the current decline on the ground that his tight credit policies curtailed expansion, production and purchasing.

Moreover, he was so intent on penny-pinching and budget-balancing that he held down national defense expenditures. He contributed to our lag behind Russia, especially in the research and scientific fields. He had the complete cooperation of Wilson, who admitted that he had no use for the kind of basic research that produces Sputniks, Explorers and intercontinental missiles.

EXALTED BUSINESSMEN — In this connection, it is noted that Herbert Hoover and Calvin Coolidge exalted businessmen more than any Presidents in history. "The business of the United States," declared Coolidge, "is business." Yet he encouraged a boom bound to wind up in a crash. And Hoover refused to resort to unconventional remedies that might have softened the disastrous effects.

Rightly or wrongly, the record suggests that business executives are too unyielding, too inflexible, too uncompromising, too dedicated to "classic" theories of economy. They show a contempt for public opinion, although this feeling is frequently mingled with a fear of the masses of Americans.

FLEXIBILITY OF POLITICIANS — By nature and need, the politicians are more responsive, more flexible, more compromising, and more attuned to the demands and pressures of changing conditions. They are more daring, more pioneering, and more willing to experiment. F.D.R. drew his advisers from politics and the professions rather than from Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Detroit.

Partially as a result of these contrasts, the politicians will probably return to power in 1960. Every prospective Democratic Presidential candidate knows more about the ballot box than he does about machinery or counting houses. And Vice-President Nixon, the GOP's leading entry, is neither a titan nor tycoon!

THE NATION'S PRESS

DESTROYING OUR COMMON HERITAGE

Christian Economics

A Concerned Presbyterian has sent us a copy of a magazine, December, 1957, containing a marked article, advising young people to organize study groups to analyze hymns and to pick out references in them that are critical of social conditions.

The purpose of the articles is obviously to emphasize the welfare state concept. The young people are asked "to list the social conditions which seem to have called forth the protest of the hymn writer." One bit of advice is as follows: "When your list is completed, be sure they have noted—Corruption and dishonesty in government and business."

"The pain and suffering attached to labor."
"Unlimited profiteering."
"Breaking faith in national agreements ('tarnished honor')."
"Capitalistic greed and selfishness."

This is as good an example as we have seen of the judge instructing the jury what verdict it shall find. Note the criticism of business in such terms as "profiteering," "greed" and "selfishness." Note the absence of any acknowledgment of the debt we owe to free enterprise, to capitalism and to businessmen who have made possible the standard of well-being we enjoy.

Must it always be that so many of our religious magazines shall be edited by individuals who have no understanding of the importance of freedom in the market place, and so much faith in socialism as a means of improving society? These people operate on funds made available by free enterprise to propagandize for its destruction.

COMMUNISM IN PANTS

By DR. ALFRED P. HAAKE

American labor is reasonable and patriotic. The men and women who work in shop, office and factory, as well as those who function as investors or management, are American citizens, interested in the preservation of their country as the best place on earth to live.

They are sometimes misinformed and misled by leaders who abuse their power in quest of personal aggrandizement. It is fair to say that nearly all of the difficulties in industrial relations grow out of short-sightedness, lack of understanding, distorted versions, or deliberate misuse of the truth.

That is why it is so easy to organize opposition to communists who openly threaten our freedom, while at the same time even good Americans can be seduced to accept communism under some attractive but deceptive label.

A pertinent example of such a package is the recent impractical proposal made by Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers, to split the profits over and above what amounts to interest return between workers and buyers. Actually, Mr. Reuther is offering a package of adulterated communism with a quick label, promising prosperity for all by removing what he calls the imbalance between production and purchasing power.

This may sound good to people who do not realize that profit is a "result" rather than a "cause"; people who do not yet see that, in an industry as highly competitive as the making of automobiles, higher prices are the result of higher costs, and that profits are the result of high managerial efficiency.

Perhaps many people do not even suspect that Mr. Reuther is pulling another impossible stunt out of his hat, trying to do in 1958 what he did in 1946, when, as he later confessed, he tried to "get G.M. over a barrel" by demanding that their books be made public.

When we grope through the tortured and twisted economics by which Walter Reuther reaches his bland proposal, it becomes clear that such a scheme would help materially to bring about the very inflation and "imbalance" which its ingenious advocate says it would prevent. The proposal is a phony.

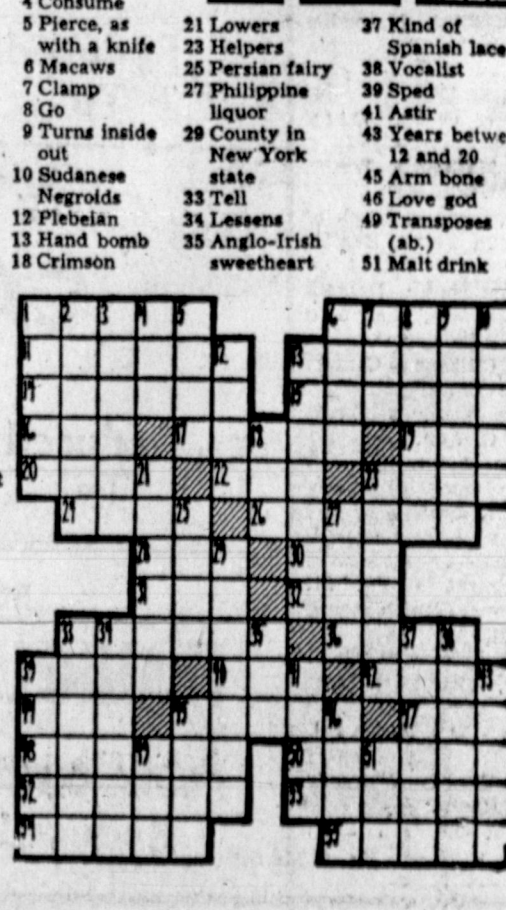

If and when Mr. Reuther proposes that labor share losses as well as profits, that further increases in wages must be accompanied by actual increase in productivity resulting in reduction of cost, with labor as well as management accepting responsibility for doing all they can to insure a fair and adequate return on capital and fair prices to the public — it will be easier to accept him as a sensible and intelligent citizen and leader. Perhaps then we could forget his once fervently expressed hope for a "Soviet America."

Sharing profits as an incentive, initiated by management and made possible by reduced costs, as used in industry today, is something very different from the undifferentiated split of profits through collective bargaining as proposed by Reuther. For that matter, there is already a sharing of profits in higher wages and competitive prices to buyers.

Senator Goldwater was neither fool nor knave, as in effect Walter Reuther called him, but was probably conservative in pointing to the verbose young man as a worse menace than Sputnik. One wishes that this energetic young leader might discover how far he has already gone in clothing communism in labor pants.

Men Develop Into Fairly Good Cooks

By GAY FAULEY

United Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—One veteran home economist says we women are losing one of our housewifely virtues to the men because of modern gadgetry.

They are developing into better cooks than we, said Miss Ruth Hatheway, who has been in the food field for 43 years.

"Cooking nowadays is all done with timers, thermostats and electronics," she said. "And the husband often is as good a cook as the wife, or better, because he is more mechanically inclined."

But Miss Hatheway said we women haven't changed much from grandma's day. A wife still considers it her duty to prepare the family meals. Letting her husband cook gives her "a vaguely unhappy feeling, a guilty conscience."

The home economist, head of Continental Baking's experimental kitchens at Rye, N.Y., for 20 years, suggested any female interested in saving her conscience should return to "organoleptic cooking"—the art of judging quality by senses.

"Add to a dish; taste as you go," she said. "Bring imagination back to your kitchen. Be daring. Use herbs freely, make exotic sauces and gravies. Use different garnishes. . . These will remind your husband what a lucky fellow he is that he found you."

She said "organoleptic" cooking called for some of the techniques grandma took for granted.

"Putting your hand in the oven to guess the temperature is one of them," she said, in an interview.

"Or shaking drops of water in a skillet to test whether it's hot enough for the griddle cakes. The bubbles will jump around the pan if it is. Or, pulling the stem of a pineapple to test its ripeness. Thumping a watermelon. . . a hollow sound indicates it's ready to eat. Pinching a peach in a supermarket."

On plunging a clean toothpick into a cake to see if it is done. If it comes out without any dough clinging to it.

"Our mothers and grandmothers poked a fork into a roast turkey or chicken to see if it was done. Now we rely on what the oven temperature and timer say."

LOS ANGELES—Convict-author Caryl Chessman, winner of countless legal reprieves from a death sentence, answering question as to whether he was giving up after a new setback at the hands of a Los Angeles judge: "I'm not noted for that."

CHICAGO—An airline spokesman, telling how an evasive rat that stowed away on a United Airlines plane met his final doom, after experts had suggested killing him with poison gas or lead bullets:

"It was an apple that got him. That, and a plain old-fashioned rat trap."

A total of $2 wildcat wells were reported. Six were producing oil, two were gas wells. The remainder were dry holes.

The total rose to 342, slightly ahead of last year's figure of 296.

The Railroad Commission reported that during the last week 261 oil wells were completed in Texas. This pushed the cumulative total for the year to 2,643, well under the 3,221 tallied during the same period last year.

There were 66 gas well completions.

Texas Oil Allowable Takes Cut

AUSTIN (UP)—Texas' oil allowable took a whopping 505,128 barrel cut Saturday.

The slash marked the start of the 2,544,362 average calendar day allowable for March. This compared with total average calendar day production for last Saturday of 2,049,490 barrels.

The Railroad Commission reported that during the last week 261 oil wells were completed in Texas. This pushed the cumulative total for the year to 2,643, well under the 3,221 tallied during the same period last year.

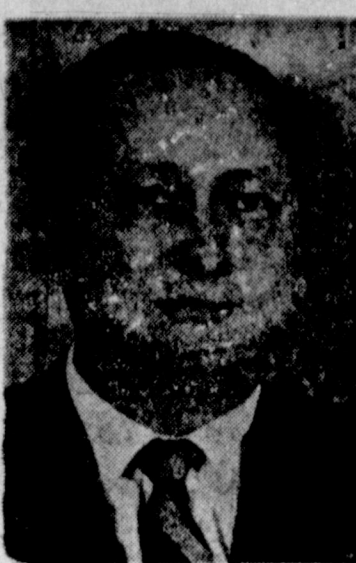

There were 66 gas well completions.

Albert Anastasia Got What He Deserved In TV Show

By WILLIAM EWALD

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Albert Anastasia, a bum and no-goodnik in life, got what he deserved Thursday night: a bum and no-goodnik TV drama based on his death.

Anastasia, of course, was the adult delinquent who worked as the chief executioner of Murder, Inc. He was gunned down in a Manhattan barber shop last October.

CBS-TV's "Climax" took up the threads of Anastasia's life and wove the thinnest and most transparent of fabrics, a clumsily didactic piece, heavy in the telling and stiff in its attempt to tie up the ends neatly.

A Most Primitive Device

The dramatic device used in telling the Anastasia story was of the most primitive kind—a TV performer decides to build a program on Anastasia after the hoodlum's death and then details the life of Anastasia in a series of flashbacks.

Out of this nonsensical play-within-a-play game the sketchiest possible account of Anastasia's life with the crudest kind of devices used to further the action—newspaper headlines, radio broadcasts and conversations between the TV performer and his associates.

And naturally, "Climax" fell into the usual pit when it stuffed Hollywood-type gangster phrases into the mouth of Anastasia. Examples:

After the death of a talkative witness—"Ah, the canary could sing, but he couldn't fly."

Or, of other gangsters cowed by the law—"Da moment da heat goes on, everybody gets da chill."

I wonder if in the history of the world anyone has ever really walked like that except on paper?

I should add that Edie Walsh, an actor I much admire, labored hard and believably in the role of Anastasia, but he simply didn't have much to do. Don Ameche, Ted De Corsia and Doc Avedon also labored hard, but not as believably.

Another Crime Binge

CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90" also went on a crime binge Thursday night and I would say the most remarkable thing about it was the performance turned in by Tab Hunter. It was, to put it simply, a very good performance.

The play itself, "Portrait of a Murderer," was based on a real murder case, something about a nice young man who conked lady lovers over the head and filched their purses. It was pretty chilling for a while, particularly in its opening moments when the camera moved into the gas chamber where the young man was executed.

But 90 minutes worth of tortured young man got to be pretty tedious after a while.

Hunter had a romp-type part and made the most of it. Geraldine Page as his girl friend turned in a smoothie, too, happily free of those fluttery bird-like mannerisms she used to tote into roles.

The Channel swim: ABC-TV's "Make Me Laugh," set for a March 20 debut, has signed on comics Henry Youngman, Frank Fontaine and Sid Gould for its opener. This Sunday's "Wide World" will be carried over 38 stations of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

Railroad Stocks Decline Shown

By ELMER C. WALZER

United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—Poor earnings reports including a January loss of nearly four million dollars for New York Central put railroad stocks down during the past week on the stock market.

Other sections managed to move up slightly so that on average the market barely changed. And volume sank to a new low since last Oct. 4.

Losses outnumbered gains by 651 to 523 while 196 issues held unchanged out of the 1370 traded. A total of 44 managed to set new highs while 42 made new lows.

A series of dividend reductions, particularly in the copper and steel groups, the poor rail reports and some lower corporate earnings statements plus business declines brought many to the sidelines. The market was never under any pressure and at times it showed strength despite the adverse news.

This adverse news included another sharp year-to-year drop in car loadings, lower soft coal output, and a year-to-year dip in auto output although the weekly auto figure showed a rise. Electricity output dipped slightly but held above a year ago.

Steel shares had a good week except Wheeling which had a dividend cut. Youngstown Sheet rose more than 3 points and gains of more than 2 each came in Inland and Lukens. U.S. Steel rose nearly 2 points.

Chrysler lost a point and other autos dipped fractions on the news from that industry which wasn't particularly bright. Chemicals moved irregularly with Du Pont losing nearly 3 and Dow and Eastman rising more than a point.

A rise in the cost of living to a new record high produced little change in the market even though it was seen as an indication of inflation still is here.

A Most Primitive Device

The dramatic device used in telling the Anastasia story was of the most primitive kind—a TV performer decides to build a program on Anastasia after the hoodlum's death and then details the life of Anastasia in a series of flashbacks.

Out of this nonsensical play-within-a-play game the sketchiest possible account of Anastasia's life with the crudest kind of devices used to further the action—newspaper headlines, radio broadcasts and conversations between the TV performer and his associates.

And naturally, "Climax" fell into the usual pit when it stuffed Hollywood-type gangster phrases into the mouth of Anastasia. Examples:

After the death of a talkative witness—"Ah, the canary could sing, but he couldn't fly."

Or, of other gangsters cowed by the law—"Da moment da heat goes on, everybody gets da chill."

I wonder if in the history of the world anyone has ever really walked like that except on paper?

I should add that Edie Walsh, an actor I much admire, labored hard and believably in the role of Anastasia, but he simply didn't have much to do. Don Ameche, Ted De Corsia and Doc Avedon also labored hard, but not as believably.

Another Crime Binge

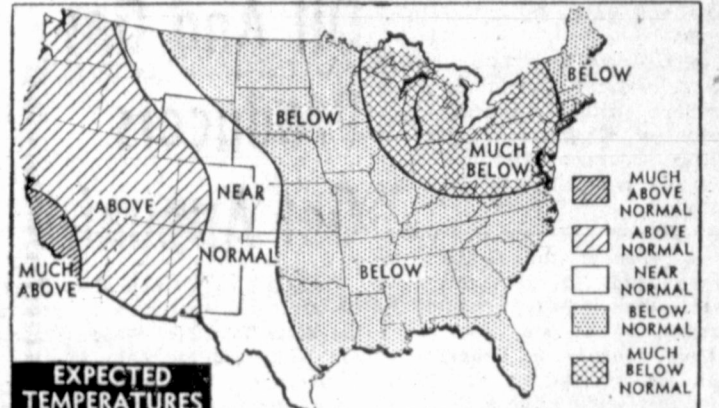

CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90" also went on a crime binge Thursday night and I would say the most remarkable thing about it was the performance turned in by Tab Hunter. It was, to put it simply, a very good performance.

The play itself, "Portrait of a Murderer," was based on a real murder case, something about a nice young man who conked lady lovers over the head and filched their purses. It was pretty chilling for a while, particularly in its opening moments when the camera moved into the gas chamber where the young man was executed.

But 90 minutes worth

SOCKS ALIVE!—The washday chore being performed by Brenda Sue Redding, 8, left, and her sister Gloria, 7, gives these pups a hand. The 10 Irish setter puppies don't seem to approve of the stocking feat.

EXPECTED TEMPERATURES
Temperatures from now until mid-March are expected to average below seasonal normals east of the Continental Divide with greatest departures over the northeastern quarter of the nation. A warming trend is indicated during the first half of March over the Southeast where it has been abnormally cold. West of the Divide above normal temperatures are predicted.

"Sure, I like you coy, Janie, but Dad wants the car in by 10 o'clock!"

HORSE OF A DIFFERENT COLOR—A veteran cortege mount, left, watches new equine recruits as they're trained to pull a caisson at the Army's Third Infantry Caisson Section headquarters, Fort Meyer, Va. Black horses are slated to replace the traditional gray animals for some ceremonial duties at Arlington National Cemetery.

New Hosiery Shades Due This Spring

United Press Women's Editor NEW YORK (UP)—The hosiery industry makes it hard for women to remain neutral this spring. Hoping to lure us girls away from selecting stockings "to go with everything," they've come out with 450 shades for the new season.

The shorter skirts (as high as 19 and 20 inches in Paris) put the emphasis on the legs, so they might as well be prettily covered, says the National Assn. of Hosiery Manufacturers.

In the pink-red family alone, there are 70 stockings shades. One manufacturer dubbed a couple of his "Rocket Red" and "Moon Mad."

The association listed 50 shades in the peach and orange family, from a pale pink peach tone to a bright coral. There are 50 blues, 25 greens, 20 grays and more than 50 taupe and spicy brown shades.

New color name: "String," the term the fashion industry has coined to describe off-white and creamy white. The hosiery industry is matching the dress collec-

Card of Thanks
The Rose Still Grows Beyond The Wall
Near a shady wall rose once grew
Budded and blossomed
In God's free light,
Watered and fed by morning dew,
Shedding its sweetness day and night,
As it grew and blossomed fair and tall.
Slowly rising to loftier height,
It came to a cradle in the wall,
Through which there shone
A beam of light.
Onward it crept with added strength,
With never a thought of fear or pride;
It followed the light
Through the cradle-length
And unfolded itself on the other side.
The light, the dew, the broadening view.
We were found the same
As they were before;
And it lost itself in beauties new,
Breathing its fragrance more and more.
Shall claim of death cause us to grieve
And make our courage faint or fall?
Nay, let us faith and hope receive;
The rose still grows
Beyond the wall,
Scattering fragrance far and wide,
Just as it did in days of yore,
Just as it did
On the other side.
Just as it will forever more.
