Along The Waterfront

Mr. and Mrs. Truitt Ellis of Brownwood in two days fishing landed 89 nice redfish and speckled trout fishing aboard Captain Jimmy Greeson's "Shearwater" out of Sea Gun Sports Inn's marina. The scrappy spotted tailed fish, weighed from 2½ to 3½ pounds and hit hard at live shrimp.

Staff Sergeant Claude Ross of Copperas Cove, Texas, caught a 42-pound drum to win the men's division of Sea Gun's weekly weekly fishing contest.

John Harrison of Lexington, fishing out of Sea Gun marina, with Capt. Danny ms, brought in 32 trout d reds. Elmer Gustafson, of Gonzales, fishing in Copano bay with Capt. Herb Mills, caught 43 trout.

Father Beck of Victoria, fishing with Capt. Jimmy Greeson, caught 15 trout and sheepshead, fishing in St. Charles Bay. Allan Dale of WOAI, San Antonio, fishing with Capt. Danny Adams, brought back 24 trout from St. Charles Bay.

Arthur Boone and a group of his salesmen from Frostex Frozen Foods, Dallas, charter fished Saturday with Capt. Jimmy Warrach in St. Charles Bay, Capt. Danny Adams in Aransas Bay, and Capt. Gene Gregory in San Antonio Bay. All brought back good catches of trout and reds in the 2 to 5 pound class.

ACHS Gets 4th In Track Meet

Aransas County High School finished fourth with 62½ points in the District 30-2-A track and field meet at Portland on Saturday. Gregory-Portland won with 139 points. The Aransas County Junior Varsity wound up in seventh place in their competition.

Aransas County winners included:

Tom Lewis, only double winner, who took the shot put with a toss of 51 feet 5½ inches, and the discus throw with a record-breaking 150 feet 10½ inches to eclipse his 1964 record of 141 feet 6 inches;

Domingo Pulido, another record breaker, who got first in the mile run at 4:37.5, beating the old record of 4:39.1 set by Sammy Navy of Aransas County in 1964;

John Walls, tied for 4th in the high jump;

Jerry Hill, 5th in the pole vault;

Aransas County, 4th in the 440-yard relay;

Junior High Band Receives Top Rating

The Aransas County Junior High Band received a I Division rating at the regional level of the University Interscholastic League Concert-Playing contest. The contest was held at Del Mar in Corpus Christi April 16.

Three judges listen to each band as they perform a march of the director's choosing and two other concert type numbers from a prescribed list of the school's classification.

A composite score is taken from the judge's comment sheets. The AC Junior High band played one number from their prescribed list and one from the Class A High School list.

A contest which requires that bands read from sight a new piece of music is held at the same time. The rating for this was Division III.

Aransas County Junior High is in Class C because of enrollment. Other Junior High classifications are CC and CCC for the larger schools.

'Loner' Whooping Crane Still Here

Some call him (or her) "Loner" and some use the name "Scar Neck."

At any rate this non-conformist is the only whooping crane still remaining in the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge. The other 44 still is existence have departed for their summer nesting grounds in Wood Buffalo National Park, Canada.

Scar Neck, so named because its neck feathers are arranged in such a way to appear like scars, always arrives at the refuge ahead of the others and always is the last to head north in the spring. He winters on Matagorda Island.

Goose Island 'Big Tree' In Contest

The "Big Tree" at Goose Island State Park has been entered in a big tree contest being sponsored by the Information and Education Department, Texas Forest Service, Texas A&M.

Bill J. Williams, manager of Goose Island State Park, filled out the nomination form and sent it in with a letter stating:

"Goose Island State Park's 'Big Tree' is a Quercus Virginiana, or Live Oak. It measures 32 feet 8 inches in circumference at 4 feet 6 inches above ground. The smallest measurement I could get was at 3 feet, it was 24 feet 10 inches. This is larger around than the present champion. It does not exceed the present champion in height, or crown spread, but the circumference is much bigger. The crown spread is 89 feet according to your rules and the height is 42 feet 3 inches."

Shrimp Landings Above '65 Mark

Landings of headless shrimp at Texas ports in March 1966 amounted to 1.7 million pounds, which was 163,000 pounds above landings in March 1965, according to Orman H. Farley, of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, Galveston.

Current landings brought the three months' 1966 total to 4.6 million pounds compared to 5.2 million pounds during the corresponding 1965 period.

March 1966 landings were made up of 43 per cent brown, 34 per cent white, and 23 per cent pink shrimp, with Brownsville and Port Isabel accounting for 50 per cent of the state's total landings.

The following represents landings of headless shrimp for specified areas and periods:

Port Arthur-Sabine: March 1966, 75,000 pounds; January through March, 318,600; January-March 1965, 175,400;

Galveston-Seabrook: March 1966, 131,500; January-March 1966, 246,700; January-March 1965, 124,900;

Freeport: March 1966, 125,000; January-March, 1966, 395,600; January-March 1965, 250,000;

Matagorda-Palacios: March 1966, 24,500; January-March 1966, 43,100; January-March 1965, 26,700;

Port Lavaca-Port O'Connor-Seadrift: March 1966, 37,300; January-March 1966, 115,800; January-March 1965, 65,700;

Brownsville - Port Isabel: March 1966, 857,000; January-March 1966, 2,512,100; January-March 1965, 3,564,800;

Totals: March 1966, 1,727,600; January-March 1966, 4,586,500; and January-March 1965, 5,187,400.

Vessels working northern gulf waters made poor to fair catches of brown shrimp beyond 20 fathoms with trip averages of about 175 pounds of large headless shrimp per night.

High School Band Receives Honor

The High School band received a II Division rating in concert playing and II Division in sight reading at the UIL Region XIV contest at Del Mar, April 15.

Aransas County High School participates in all UIL events as a AA school because of enrollment. The band played one number from the prescribed AAA list and feels that they have accomplished much by the challenge.

All the bands and the Junior and Senior choruses will participate in a Spring Musicale for the enjoyment of the school patrons of this community, Friday night, May 13.

All are invited to hear what the school is doing for the musical education of the students and an evening of entertainment is promised.

Bird Watchers Here From Foreign Lands

An indication of how widely known is Mrs. Jack Hagar, renowned ornithologist, can be gained by the fact that during the past week bird watchers from Canada, South Africa, India and Jamaica visited her.

A young man from Canada, a man and his wife from Capetown, South Africa, an English lady from India and an English doctor from Jamaica were among the visitors.

Mrs. Hagar, spry at 80 and shorter than a mature whooping crane, showed the visiting bird watchers where to go to see various types of birds.

During their stay, the visitors saw a few whooping cranes, a migration of mixed warblers consisting of at least 23 species, grosbeaks, fly catchers, vireos and many shore birds.

Water District Launches House-to-House Survey

Representatives of people living in the areas of Fulton Beach, Copano Village, Copano Cove, Copano Ridge, West Terrace and Oak Terrace will soon conduct a house-to-house survey pertaining to water needs.

The survey was planned by the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District which proposes construction of a water line from San Patricio County to this area to meet present and future water needs.

Harold H. Picton, president of the Conservation District, said the survey will determine how many residents living along the proposed route of the water line would be interesting in becoming water customers.

"It also will help us find out what quantity of water is needed, what size line is needed, and also the exact routing of the proposed line," Picton said.

Named as "surveyors" were Jack Wells, representing the Fulton Beach area group; Col. Frank J. Kirk, Copano area; and Everett M. Perry, West Terrace. Each man will be in charge of a group of residents who will assist with the survey.

Art Contest Here May 27, 28, 29

An outstanding art exhibit and contest will be held at the Rockport School and Gallery of Fine Arts, May 27, 28 and 29, it was announced today by Emory M. Spencer, general chairman of the planning committee.

The works of art will be exhibited outdoors on the spacious grounds of the gallery. With more than 1000 entrants competing, the judging will be on five categories:

It is required that all artists competing are students (or have been) of Simon Michael. Also their work must have been done since the last show here which was held in 1962.

Peter Michael Curry of San Antonio has tentatively agreed to be the professional judge. Awards of $40 for first, $25 for second, and $15 for third in each of the five categories will be given.

In addition, there will be a $100 prize for the entry judged best by the public. Also, the Rockport School of Fine Arts will give a special gold cup award to an artist for outstanding achievement.

Ankele's Store Named Philco Service Center

Ankele's Hardware and Appliance Store has been appointed a Philco Qualified Service Center, according to announcement at Philadelphia by R. E. Nugent, manager of Philco's Parts and Service Department.

"We feel that Ankele's is well prepared through experience and special training for the installation and servicing of Philco consumer products in the Rockport area," Nugent said.

Ankele's Hardware and Appliance Store was founded in 1945 and is headed by Charles Ankele. Philco, a subsidiary of the Ford Motor Company, manufacturers many types of quality home entertainment equipment, appliances and home laundry products.

SOCIAL SECURITY REPRESENTATIVE TO VISIT ROCKPORT

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be at the grand jury room of the courthouse in Rockport on Wednesday, April 27, at 9 a.m.

You may obtain information about your rights and duties under the Social Security Act. Eligible persons can secure assistance in applying for old age, survivors, or disability insurance payments, and for Medicare benefits, from the representative at that time.

U. S., Canadian Officials View Bird Wintering Site

Top officials of the United States Department of Interior and the Canadian Wildlife Service are conferring at the Sea Gun Sports Inn, April 21 and 22, to develop mutual plans for migratory bird conservation.

Fifteen men from the two countries are meeting as members of the International Migratory Bird Committee which was formed four years ago by leading U. S. and Canadian conservationists.

In charge of the sessions is John S. Gottschalk, Director of the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, Department of Interior, Washington, D.C.

"We want to be sure about the adequacy of wintering grounds along the Texas gulf coast for migratory birds," Gottschalk said.

"The committee wanted to see the wintering grounds as they are now, and use this knowledge as a basis for developing long range plans as needed."

The group will inspect the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge and Matagorda Island, among other wintering locations.

Gottschalk said he and the other men are particularly anxious to visit Matagorda Island and see "what we understand is an outstanding job of a private individual, Toddie Lee Wynne, in creating and maintaining excellent wintering facilities for migratory birds."

While in this area, the conservationists will inspect Laguna Atascosa National Wildlife Refuge for thousands of redhead ducks, and Santa Ana National Wildlife Refuge on the Rio Grande.

Those attending, besides Gottschalk:

Dr. Stanley A. Cain, Assistant Secretary for Fish and Wildlife and Parks, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C.

Lewis S. Flagg, III, Associate Solicitor, Territories and

Stellman Golf Classic April 23-24 At Live Oak Club

The fourth annual Stellman Golf Classic will be held Saturday and Sunday, April 23 and 24, at Live Oak Country Club.

Open to all men who are members of the club, this event is sponsored each year by J. T. Stellman, a charter member and past president.

The tournament will be a handicap affair. U.S.G.A. rules will prevail.

Speck Howery, club pro, said that Saturday, the first day of the Classic, also has been set for medal play in the club's annual men's tournament.

No entry fee will be charged for participants in the Stellman Classic but those wishing to compete for medal honors in the club tournament will pay a $3 fee.

The men's annual tournament, starting April 23, will be concluded with championship flights May 15. Scores carded in the Stellman Classic will be used for qualifying scores for respective flights in the annual tournament.

The club anniversary dance will be held Saturday night, May 14, with the anniversary barbecue following on Sunday, May 15. The swimming pool also will be opened on May 15.

ELECTRONIC WONDERS SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Fred Repper spoke on "Hawaii Will Lice Tomorrow—Electronic Wonders of the Future in the Home and for Commercial Uses" at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club.

Visiting Rotarians were Larry McWhorter, Ft. Worth; J. A. Simpson, Racine, Wis.; Sterling McCall, Houston; Charlie Mills, Aransas Pass; George Taggart and Jack Nicks of Corpus Christi, and Paul Kent of Granville, Ohio.

SPECIAL SQUARE DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT

Harper Smith, popular Caller from Celina, Texas, will be on hand to call for a special dance of Paws and Taws Saturday night, April 23, from 8 to 11 p.m. Round dancing, with the Leslies of Corpus Christi conducting, will be held from 7:30 to 8 p.m. and between tips.

This special dance has been designated as the Anniversary Dance of the club since this marks the end of the second year since the Paws and Taws Square Dance Club was formed in April, 1964.

The first class, under the direction of the present Club Caller, Blackie Hardy, completed lessons in April, 1964 and the club was formed. The lessons were conducted in the VFW Hall and the club continued dancing there for a few more months until they outgrew those facilities.

Then for several months, through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Coward, the group danced on Friday nights in the hangar at the Aransas County Airport.

In November, 1964 their own club building was started on a waterfront tract of land on the Fulton Beach Road and though far from completed, they started using this building in February, 1965.

Part of Whale Washes Up

A badly decomposed section of whale was discovered Tuesday on the shore of St. Joseph Island.

Ernest Simmons of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department investigated and said, "It definitely is the remains of a whale."

He said that whales occasionally stray into the Gulf of Mexico and that this one had done so "quite a while ago judging from the decomposed condition and the stench."

He said it was about 80 feet long, three wide and two feet high. "I'd guess that it weighs somewhere between 2000 and 3000 pounds."

Asked what will be done with it. Simmons said it had washed up on a section of the beach seldom traversed by people and that it will remain until it is completely decomposed.

County Rejects Painting Bid

A bid of $6005 by John Beasley to paint the large masonry hangar at Aransas County Airport has been rejected by the county through vote at the Commissioners Court. Beasley's bid was the only one received.

In another action, the commissioners authorized County Judge John D. Wendell to ask for sealed bids to be opened May 9 for 2250 cubic yards of precoated rock asphalt aggregate, grade 3-P (Kover-mix or equivalent.)

Attending the Commissioners Court were Judge Wendell, Commissioners W. B. Allen, J. M. Sparks, Jr., Raymond Owens and Albert Wofford and County Clerk W. E. Beasley.

Art Festival In Refugio

Refugio (Sp.)—An invitation is being issued through the press by the Refugio County Art Guild to area artists to exhibit paintings, sculpture or china painting at the third annual King's Park Art Festival in Refugio on May 1.

The show will be held under the shade of the trees in Refugio's King's Park from 2 until 7 p.m. Booths for soft drinks, ice cream, cake and other refreshments will be set up by various organizations in the county.

Mrs. Ted Gray is chairman of the exhibit with Mrs. John R. Walker and Mrs. Jack Kelley assisting.

Shrimp Landings Total 34,600 Pounds

Shrimp landings at Aransas Pass and Rockport during the past week totaled 34,600 pounds, according to Bert Strock, statistician for the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

The Aransas Pass total was 30,200 pounds, consisting of 23,200 pounds of brown shrimp, 3400 pounds of white and 3600 pounds of pink shrimp.

At Rockport, landings totaled 4400 pounds—2300 pounds of brown shrimp and 2100 pounds of white shrimp.

A total of 44 vessels were involved in the operations.

SUE JOHNSON IS BEAUTY FINALIST

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Johnson have been notified that their daughter, Sue, has been chosen as one of the finalists in "Miss SWT" contest at Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos.

The winner will be judged on beauty in swim suit and formal dress, on personality and intelligence.

RABIES VACCINATION CLINIC APRIL 23, 24

A rabies vaccination clinic will be held in the Rockport Fire Station from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 23 and at the Fulton Fire Station from 1 to 4 p.m., Saturday, April 30.

NOTICE

The Sacred Heart Parents Club will hold a rummage sale Saturday, April 23 at the new parish hall from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00.

WILDLIFE TRAVELOGUE ON TEXAS COMING TO SANDOLLAR ON MAY 11

People in this area will have an opportunity on the evening of May 11 to see and hear a travelogue on Texas which has been hailed as a "masterpiece" and which will be shown without charge in the Colony Room of the Sandollar Motel.

Called "The Murder of Silence," this outstanding presentation was produced by the State Parks and Wildlife Department. Unusual depth and realism is achieved through the use of three slide projectors and screens rather than motion picture film.

Music, sound effect and narration create natural beauty and raise questions about conversation, the spread of big cities and the creeping loss of recreation lands to urbanization.

City Planner Hoyle Osborne of Austin called the travelogue "a masterpiece." The president of the Royal Geographic society and the Governor of Nebraska gave it a standing ovation.

Governor John Connally plans to show "The Murder of Silence" to President Johnson.

Announcement of the local showing was made by Ed Harper, general manager of the Jack Sanders Enterprises, Inc.

Canadian Wildlife Program Announced

Representatives of the Canadian Wildlife Service attending a conservation conference at the Sea Gun Sports Inn today announced that their country has developed a new "National Wildlife Policy and Program" as follows:

Its purpose is to translate national concern about wildlife into guidelines for coordinated action by Canada and the Provinces. Demands on wildlife resources by hunters and other recreationists are increasing. Evidence from Canada, the United States and Great Britain indicates that the trend will continue as our population grows. A complicating factor is that wildlife habitat is being lost every day to human demands for space.

The policy and program have been developed to meet needs expressed by conservationists and wildlife officials throughout Canada and in accordance with principles generally endorsed by the Canadian Council of Resource Ministers, the Federal - Provincial Wildife Conference, and the Prime Minister's and Premiers' Conference in July, 1965.

The Federal government will:

—Undertake research on the relationship between wildlife and forests.

—Undertake research on factors affecting the health of wildlife populations.

—Provide research services to the provinces on request.

—Support research and management relater to wider-ranging wildlife populations (problems sometimes cross provincial boundaries).

—Where possible design its formation program on wildlife to serve the interests of provincial and territorial governments.

—Act to improve the supply of professionally trained wildlife biologists.

—Make every attempt to prevent any animal from becoming extinct.

The Program and Policy deal specifically with migratory birds and with wildlife in the National Parks, and in the northern Territories.

The importance of co-ordinating programs and policies across the country is stressed, owing to wildlife's mobility.

CPL ANNOUNCEES—

Coast District Manager will be B. C. Kindel, who has served for the past two years at McAllen as assistant district manager of the Lower Rio Grande Valley district. Kindel is no stranger to the Gulf Coast area, having been CPL manager in Sinton from 1947 to 1961. A CPL employee for more than 28 years, he joined the company in 1937 at Corpus Christi, served briefly as cashier in Sinton before becoming manager, and was manager at Del Rio for about three years after leaving Sinton. He transferred to the Valley in 1964. Kindel is a graduate of Perrin High School and Texas A&M University. He served during World War II as a First Lieutenant in the Marine Corps. Throughout his CPL career he has been active in civic work.

Horine is a veteran of 34 years with Central Power and Light Company. During his 19 years of service as Gulf Coast District manager he has been particularly active as a Boy Scout leader, holding some of the organization's highest offices and rarest honors. He has also been prominent in Red Cross, Rotary, industrial development and other civic activities.

Before moving to Alice as Gulf Coast District manager, Horine served as a supervisor in Corpus Christi and Robstown, and as manager in Robstown, and Sinton. A native of Louisville, Kentucky, he was graduated from Louisville High School and attended the University of Louisville.

EX-FARMER SEES RARE CRANE HOP

Austwell. — The fellow, lucky or not, confirming the first "flying saucer," will be just another celestial observer to the people who know Earl L. Benham, lanky staff member at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge.

Benham, farmer turned wildlife baby sitter, saw something never before recorded—a flight of 20 rare Whooping Cranes begin their flight to the Great Slave Lake nesting areas, 2,500 miles northward.

Benham, quiet, soft-spoken, is known as "Mr. Whooper" by the refuge professionals. He scanned the skyline in the Gult coast area for many years as a hungry farmer, as he put it, before formally joining the staff.

Benham had been assigned by Refuge Manager Bob Shields to check one of the new experimental food areas on the morning of April 6. A strong south wind had been churning the area for almost 24 hours, And it was about time for things to happen. The forecast was for cintinuance.

Almost on the dot of 9 a.m. a family of three Whoopers took off with a great outcry of their shrill call, likened to the trumphet of an agitated elephant. For the next 20 minutes Benham sat transfixed at the historic scene, his powerful binoculars glued to the swarling elite directly above him.

Most of them whipped their seven-foot wings into small clusters but there was one group of seven.

Benham carefully scaled the original mass departure down to those seven cranes, plus two sets of two each and three sets of three each. Twelve other Whoopers became airborne but swerved back to the shallow bay area as the excited monsters spiraled farther upward, flapping faster when they circled into the powerful wind. Twenty minutes later, all turned gracefully northward and disappeared into the overcast at about 4,500 feet.

"Mr. Benham was a good man for that assignment," Refuge Manager Bob Shields told the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

South-Central Texas Ground-Water Supplies

A reconnaissance study of the ground water in the Guadalupe, San Antonio, and Nueces River Basins—an area of more than 27,000 square miles—has just been published by the Texas Water Commission in Austin.

The report, the eighth in a series of ten that will cover the entire state, provides information on the availability, quality, and use of ground water in the south-central portion of Texas.

In this area, only three cities and a small part of the irrigated land depend on surface water for their supplies.

Cadette Troop No. 63

Cadette troop met at the Girl Scout Little House April 5. Dues were collected. Refreshments were served by Ellen McElveen.

We worked on badges, then sang "Girl Scouts Together" as closing. Present were Parkie Ledbetter, Annette Ledbetter, Junie Ledbetter, Ellen McElveen, Pam Griffis, Tina Boone, Lynn Lang and Mrs. Ledbetter.

On April 19 the Cadettes met for regular meeting. Cynthia Gurley served cookies and punch to Ellen McElveen, Parkie Ledbetter, Pamela Griffis, Junie Ledbetter, Tina Boone, Lynn Lang, Annette Ledbetter and Mrs. Ledbetter.

We worked on our child care badges and our challenges. Parties for requirements were planned.

'Food-o-Rama' Event To Be Held April 24

Groce-Wearden Company has announced sponsorship of their 20th Annual "Food-O-Rama" Exposition and Banquet to be held in Corpus Christi, at the spacious air conditioned coliseum, Sunday, April 24, 1966, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Groce-Wearden Company is dedicating this year's closed show, (attendance by invitation only,) to its sponsored "G-W" Voluntary Group Members featuring Foodcraft-Rainbow supermarkets doing business throughout 50 South Texas counties.

This company sponsored food industry meeting, recognized as the largest and most constructive held by a voluntary group wholesaler in the nation, will be considerably expanded in comparison with previous years. The over-all program is designed to acquaint Groce-Wearden's Voluntary Grocery members with the latest product introductions and advances in food merchandising so as to enable them to keep abreast of the ever-changing methods of giving better quality and service to their consuming public.

This creates greater demand for ground-water supplies and future planning, the bulletin states. It explains that more than one million persons, or 10.4 percent of Texas' population, live in the tri-basin area.

Total discharge of ground water in the three basins in 1961 was estimated at 890,000 acre-feet. Natural springs furnish about half of this discharge, and wells furnished the remainder.

In the Edwards Plateau portion of the report area, covering part of Central Texas, the primary aquifer was found to be the Edwards and associated limesstones. Reportedly the pumpage from this aquifer in 1961, used for domestic and livestock purposes, was 2,000 acre-feet. The water in the limestones is generally of good quality, though hard, and is under water-table conditions except locally where artesian conditions have been reported by drillers.

South of the Edwards Plateau, across the Balcones fault zone, large quantities of water in these same limestones is under artesian pressure in all three basins, the report relates. Discharge from the limestones in this area was estimated at 680,00 acre-feet in 1961, artesian springs accounting for nearly two-thirds of the total discharge. Because San Antonio is located here, the public-supply discharge from wells was heavy, the report pointed out. This discharge averaged about 130,000 acre-feet per year.

In the Gulf Coastal Plain, two groups of sandy strata are described as primary aquifers in all three basins. One of these is the Carrizo Sand and the sands in the Wilcox Group, an interconnected underground water system that supplies the fertile Winter Garden irrigation district. Pumpage from this aquifer in 1961 was given at 180,00 acre-feet, of which about 95 percent was for irrigation.

Investigators determined that this Carrizo---Wilcox aquifer can yield as much as 8.3 million acre-feet of water from storage without unduly lowering water levels below 400 feet, and the available water is distributed over large areas in the three basins. After this large amount of water is pumped from storage, the aquifer will still be a primary water source because of natural recharge, the report points out. The continuous yield was calculated to be about 52,300 acre-feet per year in the Guadalupe River Basin; 33,500 in the San Antonio Basin; and 62,650 in the Nueces Basin.

In coastal areas, numerous interconnected sand horizons in the Catahoula Tuff, Oakville Sandstone, Lagarto Clay, Goliad Sand, Lissie Formation, and Beaumont Clay form a primary aquifer from which 18,000 acre-feet of water was pumped in 1961. The aquifer extends to depths as great as 1,900 feet, and is especially notable for the large volumes of water it contains in storage. Field studies indicated that more than 30 million acre-feet of usable-quality water can be withdrawn in the report area without lowering water levels below 400 feet. After this, the natural recharge will still supply a continuous yield of about 21,000 acre-feet each year, the report relates.

Climate of the three basins ranges from semiarid to dry subhumid. Because of the climate, agriculture is limited mostly to ranching or irrigation farming.

Notable in this study are the numerous maps included, showing the areal extent of the aquifers, their approximate depths, and the geologic patterns that control groundwater occurrence and movement.

Published by the Water Commission in cooperation with the U. S. Geological Survey as Bulletin 6409, "Reconnaissance Investigation of the Ground-Water Resources of the Guadalupe, San Antonio, and Nueces River Basins, Texas," the report may be obtained without charge from the Commission's office, P. O. Box 12311, Austin, Texas 78711.

It was written by W. H. Alexander, Jr., geologist; B. N. Myers, hydraulic engineer; and O. C. Dale, engineering technician—all with the U. S. Geological Survey.

Similar reports have been printed by the Water Commission on six major river basins in Texas north and east of this area, and for the Gulf Coast region. Publications on the Colorado and Rio Grande Basins will complete the series later this year.

EASIER TO GET INTO BUSINESS THAN TO GET OUT

There is an old saying among businessmen that it is easy to go into business but hard to get out.

It is completely easy to take a sum of money, lease a store building, set up a corporation or a partnership, and go through the red tape of obtaining permits, licenses and so and then one day open for business with fond expectation of a prosperous income.

But it doesn't always work out that way.

Fred Dorsey, owner of a small Manhattan gift shop, found it out.

He said he didn't know he had to obtain a permit to erect going out of business signs. When he put them up in his window he got a cold summons ordering him to appear in court. True, he should have been aware of the law, for this is one that is common in many cities. It is designed to curb fraudulent going-out-of-business sales. It's a good law.

After getting the summons, Mr. Dorsey photographed it and posted this in the window.

This brought a second summons.

Hailed into court, he was assessed a fine of $200, or 20 days in jail.

He didn't have the $200. So he was taken to jail.

Perhaps it would have been better had officials given him a warning before issuing a summons. Then he might have had a chance to correct his error. Sometimes officials are too quick on the trigger, especially on the little fellow.

As small businesses become fewer and fewer, sooner or later we are going to have to do something to encourage them to stay in business. The Small Business Admistration has been a miserable flop in this respect.

Small businesses are needed. If there ever comes a time when only big business companies exist then we're headed for the dump heap. One way to encourage them is for our governments, both local and national, to be more cooperative and less dictatorial.

HOW TO MAKE TITLE NINE WORK!

Title 9 of the Civil Rights Act is the one that provides equal job opportunities. It is causing some headaches and some laughs, too, as businessmen try to comply with the complexities of the law, which Washington now admits was thrown together in a haphazard fashion.

Lawyers are now referring to it as "full employment act for lawyers." It is keeping the barristers busy telling clients how to meet the requirements and stay out of trouble. And the lawyers themselves generally admit they don't know all the answers.

Then there is the stipulation that an employee cannot be discriminated against, not only for race, but also sex. Everyone, including Washington, has about decided they wished they never had seen this one.

It seems this sex angle was thrown in at the last minute as an amendment and it has provided so many conflictions with other sections of the Act that Washington is unable to tell which way to go in enforcing it.

Theoretically, at least, one is not supposed to advertise in the want ads for a worker by sex. However, it is permissible to have the ad placed in the male or female classification. Just don't say you want to hire a male stenographer.

A Texas rancher had the answer, perhaps. He wanted to hire a cowboy. So he advertised: "Wanted —Cowperson. Must be proficient in profanity. Must sleep in bunkhouse with three wranglers who don't believe in taking baths."

Then, to show again how tricky Title 9 is, a company may not have a rule requiring that when a woman becomes pregnant she must give up her job. This, it was held, is discriminatory. However, the ruling said, if the company had stated in plain language that any person—male or female—upon becoming pregnant would have to resign it would have been non-discriminatory.

JOHN KINSEY

Things I don't like: TV commercials that use the same theme week after week after week, such as, "Show me a filter that does so-and-so, and Ill eat my hat," or young hubby saying to wife on honeymoon (of all times and places), "Honey, we agreed to be honest, right? Well, you make the lousiest coffee I ever tasted."

People I don't like: Bridge players who say such things as, "Well, I guess I'll bid a weak diamond." Also women who have hair-do's that pile their hair so high they look almost as tall as Wilt Chamberlain.

Also, people who say, "Is it hot enough for you?"

Turning to the positive, as Normal Vincent Peale recommends, here are things and/or people I like:

Service stations where the attendants look under the hood without asking, clean all windows as well as the windshield, and when they offer to vacuum the floors, have the vacuum hose in hand, and check your tires—all without the customer requesting anything.

TV commercials which give you credit for having just a bit of intelligence.

Husbands who open doors for their wives—even after many years of marriage.

Wives who don't interrupt.

I always am intrigued by the wording at the start of the minutes that Mrs. Thelma Barber prepares as a record of Commissioners Court meetings.

Mrs. Barber, secretary to County Judge John D. Wendell, always begins:

"Be it remembered that on this — day of the (month), (year), there was begun and holden . . . (etc.)"

That word "holden" (archaic for held) created (at least in my mind) a picture of an assemblage of British dukes, earls and viscounts perhaps two centuries ago.

Can't you just imagine our County Commissioners wearing white wigs, short pants, long stockings an the other regalia of English peers, entering the Commissioners Court room, each sniffing a bit of snuff.

That's s'nuff of that kind of nonsense.

Turning to something that is not imagination, I think the newly formed Junior Chamber of Commerce deserves a "pat on the back" from the entire community.

Almost as soon as the Jaycees organized and signed up 25 young men, they all agreed immediately on a worthwhile community project — cleaning up vacant lots where all sorts of debris has accumulated.

The Jaycees pitched in last Saturday, worked all afternoon, and by the time it was dark, this area looked a darn sight nicer than it had.

Congratulations, men. Keep it up!

Smokey Yunick, America's greatest mechanic, advises:

"KEM-TRUE YOUR TIRES TO STOP VIBRATION"

Steering wheel shimmying in your hands? Trouble with thump at low speed or vibration at high speed? Probably due to out-of-round rims or tires, new or old. Get your tires trued to their rims with Big Four's KEMSWAY TIRE CONDITIONER. Take the advice of an expert.

KEM-TRUEING: Rotating razor-sharp cone-knife shaves off high spots only, without reducing tread.

Smokey Yunich, America's miracle man with stock cars, his cars winning all NASCAR's big ones and the Indianapolis 500 in 1960, strongly endorses trueing: "We've used it to stop vibration in speeds from 20 to over 190 MPH, and trueing also makes the car much more stable." Follow the lead of the man who knows: stop your vibration problem, lengthen your tire and car life, improve your ride with KEM-TRUEING. Let us true your tires this week.

SHRIMP LANDINGS—

ing waters on the high seas off Mexico caught about 200 pounds per night, whereas vessels working pink shrimp in Campeche Bay experienced another poor month with trip averages of about 250 pounds per night's effort.

Fishing craft working adjacent waters made only fair catches of small white shrimp from Aransas Pass to Cameron, La. Trip averages of about 300 pounds per 12 hours effort were reported in all major ports.

The ex-vessel value of shrimp reached a record high in March. Machine grade prices ranged from 74 cents per pound for 51-65 count to $1.18 for 10-15 count.

In addition to poor catches from the distant winter fishing areas, the ever increasing cost of maintenance, fuel, ice, food, insurance and interest will undoubtedly necessitate seasonal record prices throughout 1966, though lower than the present level.

The previous record monthly value was in September 1962, when fishermen received about $1.08 per pound for the top two counts and 60 cents for 51-65's.

Landing of oysters amounted to about 32,000 barrels yielding 700,000 pounds of good quality meats. Current landings were down 211,000 pounds of meats compared with March of 1965. Public reefs in Galveston Bay were closed on March 31; however, private reefs are still being worked.

Blue crab landings amounted to 110,000 pounds in March, slightly higher in volume than March 1965. Galveston Bay produced about 80 per cent of the current crab landings.

Finfish landings totaled 550,000 pounds in March as weather conditions permitted red snapper vessels to complete extended trips. Finfish landings were slightly higher than in March 1965.

A shipyard for fishing vessel construction was completed in late March. The new yard is located on the Brownsville Ship Channel about two miles west of the Brownsville Shrimp Basin. This new installation is a subsidiary of the Rockport Yacht & Supply Co., and will make the Brownsville-Port Isabel the state's leading area in fishing vessel construction. Three firms in the area build steel hull trawlers, whereas one uses wood exclusively.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT
In Memory of

Mrs. Fannie Townsend, who passed away March 7, 1966.

The Death Angel has visited our Chapter and taken from our number one of our beloved members. This one, once met with us here and shared our joys and sorrows, is now awaiting us in the Grand Chapter above. We shall join them when we, too, have completed life's labyrinth.

WHEREAS, the Heavenly Father has called our respected and beloved sister home, and, having been a true and faithful member of our beautiful Order, therefore be it

RESOLVED, That Rockport Chapter No. 479, Order of the Eastern Star drape its Charter in memory of this departed member, and that we tender to the family of our deceased sister our sincere condolence in their sorrow and bereavement, and that a copy of these Resolutions be sent the family.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord . . .
They rest from their labors . . .
And their works do follow them."

Old Paper Tells of Life Here in the Early Days

The first newspaper published in Aransas County was the Rockport Transcript, which started publication in 1869. What the first issue was like there seems little way of knowing, but recently the 25th labeled Volume 1, No. 25, and bearing the date of Feb. 12, 1870, has been unearthed. It contains some interesting comments on this area.

The editor, C. F. Bailey, grandfather of Travis Bailey, and Mattie Bailey Bushart, both of whom still live in Rockport, says:

"The Transcript is published at Rockport; situated on Aransas Bay, the natural outlet for the great trade of Western Texas; and is destined soon to become the commercial center of this section.

"We have commenced the publication of this paper to assist in building up this trade and shall use out best endeavors to that end; and we hereby call upon all interested in this matter to lend us their liberal support; we have placed the rates so low as to bring the paper within the reach of all, making it one of the cheapest newspapers published in the state. We shall also endeavored to pay due attention to the stock-growing interests of this, the greatest stock region of Texas, and look for those engaged in that occupation to hand us in their brands for publication."

The paper was published weekly, its mast head says, at $2.50 per annum, by C. F. Bailey, whose office was on the east side of Austin Street, near Dr. R. A. Nott's Drug Store.

Indianola has 5,000 inhabitants, the paper says, or at least that is the number the Indianola Bulletin recently referred to as contained in the city.

Ogsbury of the Indianola Bulletin and Maltby, of the Corpus Christi Advertiser, are quoting Shakespeare to prove that Indianola and Corpus Christi are not jealous of one another. We also quote as follows: "The last shall be first," and "The least shall be the greatest."

Mr. Thomas Dennis returned Thursday night from New Orleans, and brings the good news that he will soon have a large lot of lumber on hand. Many of our citizens will be pleased to hear this, and some of those from abroad who have delayed moving here for want of lumber will hasten on.

Mr. J. M. Mathis, of the firm of Mathis and Company, we learn departed for New Orleans on the last trip of the Alabama. As they are agents for the Morgan Line, we hope that he will succeed in having one or two more steamers placed upon the line. We need them badly.

Rockport will soon have to do as Corpus Christi has done establish a regular line of schooners to New York and New Orleans, if the steamers do not increase their accommodations for freight. Already, several large schooner loads of wood, hides, and tallow have been shipped from this place direct to New Orleans, and there is yet freight here to load many more.

We have noticed lately several large shipments of fat hogs from this place to New Orleans.

Editor Bailey continues: The Steamer Albatross on her last trip brought us no papers.

Notice. To capitalists and others. Mr. A. H. Reed having forfeited his contract on the 16th day of June for the building of a wharf on my land; this is to give notice that I am willing to enter into any equitable arrangements with other parties to have a wharf built, and I am also willing to sell a four-fifths interest in 2436 acres of patented land or a few building or farm lots, at General Smith's landing on Aransas Bay (it being the southern part of Rockport) on reasonable terms. James M. Manning, January 1st, 1870.

J. Friend, with D. Alexander and brother, Indianola and Rockport, will keep constantly on hand, and continue to receive by every boat, all descriptions of staple and fancy drygoods, clothing, gents furnishing goods, notions, hats, caps, boots and shoes, cloths, cassimers, etc., which he proposes to sell at New Orleans prices. Call at Atkinson's new store building.

Moorhead Company's column. New goods! Moorhead Company, Rockport, Texas. We have received by Morgan Line of steamers, the newest style of goods, embroideries, cloves, hosiery, notions, etc., flannels, hoop skirts (latest style), domestics, sheetings and shirtings, blankets and counterpanes, twills, jerseys, jeans. Ready made clothing, boots and shoes, (a great variety), and direct from the manufacturer. Hats of every style, hardware. Cutlery.

Moorhead and Company. J. M. Moorhead, J. M. Mathis, J. M. Doughty, T. H. Mathis, dealers in dry goods, groceries, etc., and commission merchants. Rockport, Texas. Hides, wool, tallow, etc. Bought or taken in exchange for goods. Refer to Wallace and Company, New Orleans; Slocumb, Baldwin and Company, New Orleans; McQuoid-Mehle and Company, New Orleans. PENNIES ARE REALLY BIG
Walgreen Agency Drug Store

A penny may have the value of dollars at the Roaten Walgreen Agency Drug Store during their big ONE CENT SALE. The Sale is on for 10 days, starting Thursday, April 21st and running through Saturday, the 30th of April. "During our big Spring ONE CENT SALE folks will be able to stock up on many of their drug and toiletry needs at just half of the regular everyday prices", said Shelley Roaten, owner of the Roaten Walgreen Agency Drug Store. "By adding a penny to the regular price of any item included in our ONE CENT SALE you get two. That means one penny can be as big as $6.94 on the purchase of the second item. Here's a typical example: 100 tablets OLAVITE-M Therapeutic Vitamin and Minerals, regularly $6.95 each . . . on sale at two for $6.96 . . . the customer saves $6.94. This Sale is our way of saying "Thanks" to our customers for their past patronage and of winning new friends for our store. We know that they will want to make a list of all the items on sale that they need and turn their penny purchases into dollars of savings."

COY CRANES STYMIE BID BY SNOOPER

Austwell. — The extreme ambulatory opposite of the rare Whooping Crane could be Herbie Habitat since its regal plumage contrasts with the shoddy sports attire of a 1966 model homo sapien.

The Whooper carried the torch for mounting millions as it struggles successfully to conquer civilization's pyramiding pressures. Now numbering 44, highest since its decimation prompted extensive aids 30 years ago, the huge white bird enjoys enormous privileges unmatched by either bird or man.

It's self-appointed Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biographer conquers nothing but does have the extraordinary privilege of getting paid one day each month to meagerly sustain his Animal Kingdom monitoring routine.

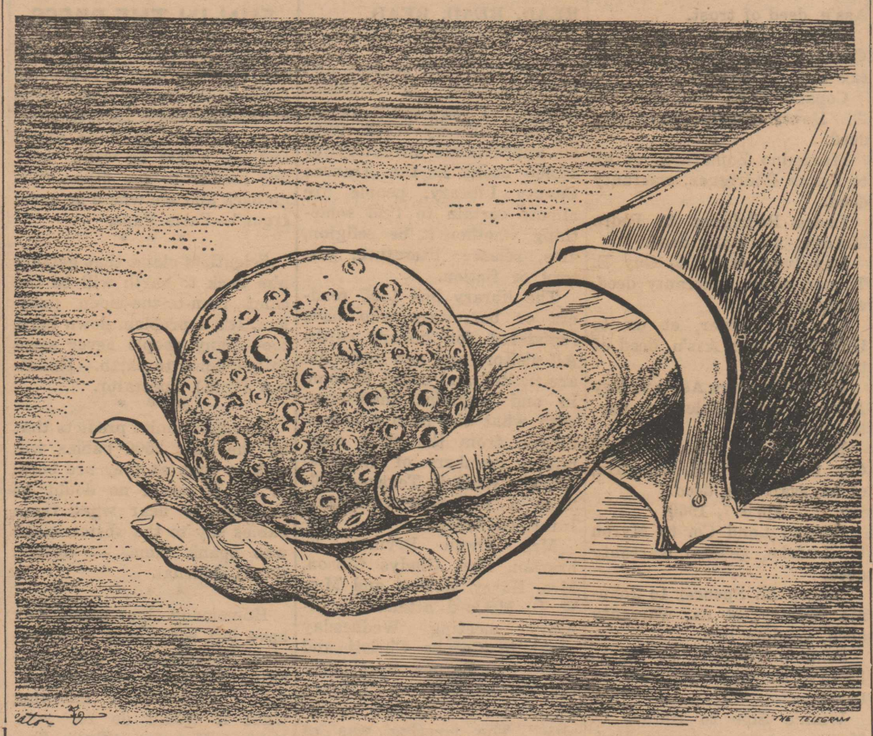

Through all the relentless key-hole reporting, the Whooper maintains an intriguing aura of mystery, even beyond the reach of probing radar and other scientific stool pigeons. This is proved by the uncharted routes followed on the spring hops to the Great Slave Lakes area from Blackjack Peninsula on the Texas Gulf Coast, and back again in the fall.

Contrarywise, the only thing even approaching mystery about Herbie Habitat is how he survives chronic curiosity about staff scientists for the benefit of the folks picking up the tab for exploring the fascinating wildlife management field.

Frustrations don't always end there. This was aptly demonstrated when time came for the majestic cranes to titillate the jaded populace by beginning their 2,500-mile spring aerial sprint.

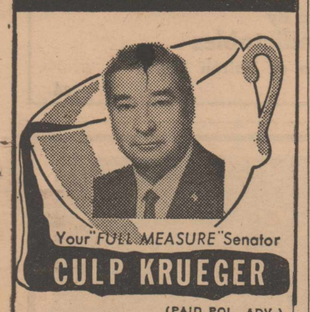

Herbie, himself, arrived in VIP splendor to observe where the Whoopers had been at 24 hours earlier. Yes, he missed the greatest observed mass takeoff ever.

His problem could only match something that happened airwise 40 years earlier. A London cameraman bungled the photo of an early-day trans-Atlantic flier's triumpant arrival. But he forwarded to Herbie's New York wire service news desk a tremendous shot of the aircraft pontoon's fluffy wake.

FANNIE TOWNSEND CIRCLE MEETS

Mrs. Lulu Clymore was hostess to the Fannie Townsend Circle last Thursday at her home in Fulton.

Mrs. Matt Scott, president of WSCS will be hostess to all Circles at her home May 12, at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Jim Straley, chairman, presided and conducted the business. Final pledges and world banks were turned in for the year to Mrs. W. B. Allen, treasurer.

Mrs. Lee Roy Young gave the program, "What Happened at Pentecost." Readers were Mrs. Tom Dannelly, Mrs. H. A. Warren, Mrs. Winnie Ovenden, Mrs. W. R. Allen and Mrs. Matt Scott.

Mrs. Clymore served coffee, orange juice and fresh apple cake to the following:

Mrs. Tom Dannelly, Mrs. Jim Straley, Mrs. Lee Roy Young, Mrs. Winnie Ovenden, Valarie Ovenden, Mrs. H. A. Warren, Mrs. Matt Scott and Mrs. W. B. Ballou.

The meeting closed with the WSCS benediction.

MRS. CLINGMAN DIES

Funeral services for Mrs. A. B. Clingman, Sr., 83, of Keithville, La., were held April 13 at Osborn Funeral Home Chapel, Shreveport, La.

Mrs. Clingman, a native of Shriveport, died April 12 in the Louisiana Nursing Home, following a long illness.

She was the widow of A. B. Clingman, Sr.

She is survived by two sons, A. B. Clingman, Jr., and J. F. Clingman, Sr., of Keithville; and a daughter, Mrs. Sallie Matt Bush of Shreveport, 15 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren and a number of other relatives.

Pallbearers were grandsons: Bryne E. Bush, Jr., Arthurs C. Bush, J. F. Clingman, Jr., Arthur B. Clingman, III, Leonard B. Morgan and William M. Morgan, Jr.

CIRCLE 4 MEETS

Circle 4 of the First Presbyterian Church met April 14 at the home of Mrs. L. C. Clark with 13 members present.

After a brief social hour, Mrs. Walter Hatley opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. A report was made by the treasurer.

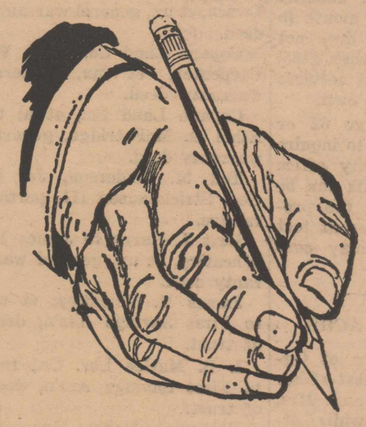

Mrs. Bushart gave a report on the library committee and asked for workers, after the committee collected mending and cataloging materials.

Mrs. Hatley donated three books for the library. Mrs. McCord and Mrs. Cavitt made eight Kleenex bags for the nursing home at Easter.

Envelopes were given to each member for the Women of the Church birthday party on May 5. Forty-four cards were sent and 46 calls made by Circle members since the last meeting.

Mrs. James Little moderated the lesson, "A Bold and Daring Church." The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. James Maher. The meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFICIARIES ABLE TO EARN MORE IN 1966

An important change in the Social Security law will mean more cash in the pockets of many people in this area, according to Larry Sharpless, field representative of the Corpus Christi Social Security Office.

The change concerns the amount a worker can earn and still receive Social Security benefits. Beginning this year, a person may earn as much as $1500 in a year without losing any checks. If he exceeds this amount, at least part of his benefits must be withheld depending on the amount of his total earnings.

The general rule is that $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $2 of earnings from $1500 to $2700. In addition, $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $1 of earnings over $2700 a year, Sharpless explained. Regardless of total earnings in a year, benefits can be paid for any month in which a beneficiary does not earn wages of more than $125, or render substantial services in a business of his own.

All persons of age 62 or over are encouraged to inquire at the Social Security office to see if any benefits can be paid to them under the provisions of the retirement test even though they may continue to work.

READ, READ, READ, KEEP GROWING, READ

Thus read the posters and pennants now in evidence throughout the library during National Library Week. With an approximate inventory of 16,300 books in the Aransas County Library, people are almost certain to find something whether it be religion, arts, science, literature, history or fiction.

The library has 1495 readers or borrowers who have registered for library cards. All visitors and new residents are invited and urged to come in and acquaint themselves with what the library offers. Slogan from the state committee members of National Library Week in Texas—1966: "For a Better-Read, Better-Informed America."

Mrs. Owen Brymer, librarian, Mrs. Gladys Gibson, Mrs. Harry McDow and Mrs. F. L. McCord attended a library meeting Wednesday night in Corpus Christi and heard Ben Barnes, Speaker of the House, speak on "Library Excellence — Today's necessity." The meeting was at the Parkdale Plaza Library and was a post conference following the Governor's Conference on Libraries.

JOSEPHINE WARD CIRCLE MEET

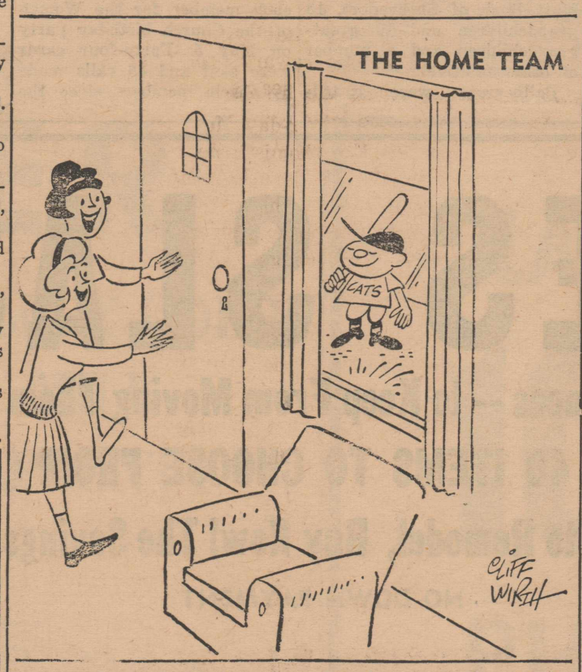

The Josephine Ward Circle of the First Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. R. F. McKnight for Royal Service Circle meeting.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. McKnight reading Isa. 40:31 and the names of the one on the calendar of prayer for the day, also led in prayer.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Ray Kuykendall program chairman, who led the program on, my family, "Witnessing to each other," with everyone participating.

There were six present: Bernice McKnight, Josephine Cox, Clara Dervage, Marie Kuykendall, Eva Lutz and Lillie Calvert.

Cake and coffee were served by hostess Mrs. McKnight.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

MINING HAIPHONG

It probably would be comparatively easy for the United States Navy to carry out General Taylor's advice to mine Haiphong harbor. The question before the Administration is not military capability but political risk. Would the destruction of shipping to North Vietnam make more likely a direct confrontation with the Soviet Union or with China? The Soviet Union has been relatively restrained in action about the Vietnamese war, even when Soviet technicians have been killed in American bombing raides. We cannot be sure of the reasons; but they undoubtedly derive more from apprehension about the Sino-Soviet quarrel than from any sympathy with the American position. It is conceivable that even if Soviet ships were sunk the restraint still would apply.

Similarly, the Chinese have talked a more militant line than they have followed in practice. If China has in fact been signalling that she does not want a direct clash with the United States, as some analysts believe, it is possible that she too would avoid a military reaction to interference with her shipping to North Vietnam.

But the risks nevertheless would be substantial, and they would be worth taking only if the effect would make a major difference to the outcome of the war in the south. One need not subscribe to the other views of Senator Fulbright to agree with him that the world would interpret the mining of Haiphong as a substantial escalation of the war. It would be different from the bombing of Hanoi (which the Administration has resisted) in that it would tend to spare civilians. But at a time when the United States is increasing its troop commitments, the psychological effect would be expansion of the war.

Essentially the Johnson Administration has been steering between its critics on both sides in continuing a limited war. The objective is to secure South Vietnam for the day when its people must have the right of choice; to afford political and economic reforms a climate in which to work; to show North Vietnam and the Vietcong that they cannot hope to conquer South Vietnam; and to persuade them, if they will not agree to negotiate, at least to de-escalate the war in their own interest. The mining of Haiphong is hardly needed to demonstrate American determination. Thus the only real justification for mining Haiphong would be if it were military imperative in order to permit American and South Vietnamese forces to carry out their own objectives.—Washington Post.

THERE IS NO EASY WAY

It's pretty difficult to quibble about a good word like "society." It's not easy to criticize a happy expression like "great." But the trouble with the Great Society is that it seeks to place everyone on one rung of the ladder, on the promise that there's plenty of room at the top.

There's always room at the top, for the reasons that not everyone wants to climb that far, or put forth the effort that is necessary to reach it. It's always crowded at the bottom, because the bottom is easy to reach. When the rewards for hard work, and plain old-fashioned "plugging" are no greater than the benefits derived for indolence, there will also be a great deal of room in the middle.

It is said that the Scottish people are frugal, industrious, and determined, because their land is such that it is difficult to extract a living from it. The inhabitants of the South Seas, on the other hand, are not notably aggressive, because in these latitudes, it is easy to eke out an existence of sorts. The result is that when a Scotchman finds himself in the South Seas, he often ends up owning the island, for the reason he does know how to "take it easy."

No great societies have been built on giveaway programs. The road into the land of milk and honey is uphill all the way. There is absolutely no method by which a people can accomplish nothing constructively. Where one can do as well without exertion, it is certainly a mistake to strive toward any goal. The great basic error here is that when the benefits of indolence approach the rewards for toil, society begins to come apart at the seams.

We trust that each latter-day Moses who offers to lead his people into the promised land will be able to part the waters, but it is not likely. The first Moses, who did indeed cause the water to part, was notable for promising nothing except the opportunity to make an effort.—North Kingston (R.I.) Standard.

WATCH STEP IS CAUTION FOR SNAKES

Austin.—Now that the stop-everywhere passenger trains are becoming less in vogue, safety authorities are borrowing a standard train step alert for still another potentially fast-moving field.

That is "Watch Your Step."

And if the populance does ignore the old walking admonition to "keep you head up" for a few months the safety officials will be happier.

It's all because the snake season in full bloom, along with the wild flowers and the safe and pretty natural accoutrements.

In fact, a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department spokesman cautioned that trips afield to explore enticing tracts of bluebonnets and other flowers very often means contact with snakes.

If and when a person, without his snake leggins or flak vest, finds himself face to face with a big bad snake, here's what the Department's official snake guide suggests:

"If a poisonous snake is discovered close by, the best protection is to remain as still as possible until the snake has moved away. It should be remembered that a snake is quick to strike at a moving object, so to quickly step away as such a moment may be disastrous.

"If a rattlesnake is heard nearby but cannot be located, do not begin a wild dash for safety. Location of the snake may be misjudged and by taking a step you are likely to walk into, rather than away, from it. Again, remain still until the snake is sighted and, when it is certain the snake is at least five or six feet away and no others are nearby, slowly back away. If you must move away, do so as slowly as possible."

In other words, Brethren, retreat to prepared positions. And don't even say "boo!" May be an onery pooch around and if they see your teeth, somebody said, that means "charge."

For Springtime the year-round
Keep your home in the Comfort Zone

Building or buying a new home? Planning to air-condition your present home? Then here's a tip from CPL: Don't settle for HALF TIME COMFORT! Plan now for year around climate control . . . with electric cooling and heating. It's more economical when you do it all at one time . . . and you'll find electric heating and cooling combine to give you ideal indoor climate every day of the year. On hot summer days, your home will be cool as Springtime . . . free of dust and pollen . . . humidity perfectly controlled. When winter winds blow, your home will stay in the comfort zone . . . silently, efficiently. Full-time electric air-conditioning is clean, fresh and worry-free. And it's easy to install . . . economical to operate. Whether you're building, remodeling, or simply making a few changes, consider the wide variety of space-saving ways to assure all-season comfort with electric cooling and heating. You'll live in springtime the year around.
