Jewish Planes Bomb Arab Concentrations

Attempt Fails To Liberate Hebrew Convoy

Action Takes Place Close To Bethlehem

JERUSALEM, March 27. (AP)— Four Jewish planes bombed Arab concentrations south of Bethlehem in a pre-Easter battle but failed to free a 30-vehicle convoy caught in a maze of Arab roadblocks, it was officially announced tonight.

A government press release said the convoy was abandoned and 60 Jewish survivors took refuge in an empty house a mile south of Bethlehem, the birthplace of Christ. A Jewish informant claimed however that half the convoy fought its way through to Jerusalem.

The battle marked the first occasion when aircraft bombs were officially reported used in Palestine's bitter Jewish-Arab strife. However, there have been previous instances of Jewish reconnaissance flights.

According to the official account the Jews abandoned the convoy after the Arabs had raked the surrounded vehicles with bullets.

One Jewish source said 25 Jews were wounded in the fighting which raged near Solomon's pool and one Jew was killed by an Arab sniper at Ramat Rachel. The same informant claimed the Arabs suffered at least 30 casualties in the convoy battle.

Gunfire swept Jerusalem only a few hours before church bells will ring for Easter Sunday. Bullets whined near the church of the Holy Sepulcher, said to be the site of the tomb of Christ's resurrection.

The planes used by the Jews in the convoy battle were not described in detail. However, military observers said such planes may be fitted for carrying bombs up to 25 pounds under each wing.

One British military armored car sent to the scene was disabled. The Arabs hammered five Jewish armored cars believed to contain reinforcements.

Police said the Arabs manned 17 roadblocks between Bethlehem and Kfar Etzion.

A government spokesman said the convoy travelled southward from Jerusalem to Kfar Etzion before dawn without reporting to British security forces.

Jerusalem and its suburbs were swept tonight by a five-mile line of gunfire in the bitter Arab-Jewish conflict. The line extended from Beit Jala, north of Bethlehem, to the commercial center in midtown Jerusalem.

Prayer And Pagentry

MILLIONS OF AMERICANS WILL SOLEMNIZE RESURRECTION STORY

By The Associated Press

The story of Christ and the resurrection will be solemnized by millions of Americans today (Sunday) when dawn brings the traditional sunrise Easter services across the nation.

From valleys to mountain tops, in churches and stadiums, the story of the risen Christ will be retold in pageantry and prayer.

The service expected to attract the largest group of worshippers — 100,000 — will be held at Wichita mountain near Lawton, Okla.

At Hot Springs, Ark., white-robed choristers will march over a winding trail to the summit of Hot Springs mountain, where a huge cross has been erected.

Ceremonies will be held in the amphitheater at the national cemetery at Arlington, Va., and a cross of white lilies will be placed on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The songs of Christiandom will echo through the Grand Canyon for the 14th time when dawn breaks at the shrine of ages on the south rim of the canyon in Arizona. At the same time the Yaqui Indians will hold their Easter pagan-Christian ceremonies near two other cities in the state — Tucson and Phoenix.

A custom begun 195 years ago will be followed at Bethlehem, Pa., when a trombone choir opens services of the Central Moravian church.

A total of more than half a million persons are expected to attend the various special dawn rituals.

The weather may nip some of the services.

Big Spring has the pleasure of entertaining something like 500 or more Rotarians and their wives for the next three days. Rotarians may kid one another about attendance being a fetish, but even in district conferences the habit is strong. And that's all to the good, for a chance to welcome more of them.

Now that we have worked our way through the line, we feel like issuing a gentle reminder that 1948 tags for your automobiles must be purchased and on your machine not later than Thursday. It's not so vital a deadline as that for poll taxes, for you can, by suffering some inconvenience, acquire tags later. But it's a good idea to have them by April 1.

College Building Trial Is Slated

AUSTIN, March 27 (AP)—Trial has been set for April 23 in the suit which stalled the $60,000,000 college building constitutional amendment adopted at the polls last Auguest.

Trail date was announced today by Attorney General Price Daniel. He said Assistant Attorney General Joe Greenhill would try the case for the state.

The amendment provide means of financing construction at 17 state supported colleges and universities The suit was filed in 126th district court early last fall by three West Texans and one Dallas man challenging validity of the election at which the amendment was adopted. While such litigation exists the attorney general may not approve and bonds authorized by the amendment.

The four contestants who brought suit are Clarence W. Whiteside, Spencer A. Wells and Homer Maxey, all of Lubbock, and H. E. Speer of Dallas. R. Guy Carter of Dallas is attorney for the plaintiffs.

Sixteen of the 17 institutions of higher learning have entered the litigation as contestees or partisan interests. Only Texas Tech of Lubbock has not entered the case. Opposition to the amendment in last summer's election and in legislative debate centered from the Lubbock vicinity.

TO PUSH LEGISLATION

Texans Form Rural Roads Association

AUSTIN, March 27. (AP)—The Texas Rural Roads association was organized here today in a cooperative effort to obtain all-weather country roads.

The association—initiated by the Texas county judges and commissioners association to secure rural road legislation—drew representation at its first meeting from 10 state organizations.

James E. Cantrell, McKinney banker and former county judge, was elected president.

County Judge E. C. Grindstaff of Ballinger, who presided over the organization meeting, commented on past failures to obtain legislation financing rural roads and stressed the need for combined strength to put over a program.

Some form of increased tax on natural resources was favored as a means of financing rural road construction by several of the organizations. They included State Federation of Labor, Texas Farm Bureau Federation and state grange.

Other organizations with representatives present included the Texas Farmers union, Texas State Teachers association, Texas Rural Letter Carriers association, Texas Power reserve, Texas Medical association and Texas Poultryman's association.

Charles Tennyson, representing TSTA, discussed the pressing need for improved rural roads to transport children to school.

Six thousand school buses carried 346,000 rural school children to schools last year, he told the group. The State subsidized buses with $9,700,000 last year and yet some were idle a week at a time because they could not travel the poor country roads, he said.

Other officers elected today included Bun Railey of Valley Mills, representative of the National Rural Letter Carriers association, first vice-president; J. Walter Hammond of Tye, president of the Farm Bureau federation, second vice president; and County Judge Fred B. Glass of Marlin, temporary secretary and permanent treasurer.

Injunction May End Walkout Of Printers

Wage Increase Is Recommended For Trainmen

By The Associated Press

The government Saturday obtained the court injunction it wanted in an effort to end a strike of AFL newspaper printers in some cities.

A presidential emergency board, meanwhile, recommended at 15½ cents hourly wage increases for locomotive engineers, firemen and switchmen, who had threatened to strike.

No important progress was reported in efforts to settle two of the nation's biggest strikes—the nationwide work stoppages of the United Mine Workers and the CIO United Packinghouse Workers.

These were the major developments:

Printers:

Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert issued an injunction at Indianapolis restraining the AFL international typographical union from causing printers' strikes that violate the Taft-Hartley law.

The ruling was a complete victory for the government. It granted all points sought by the National Labor Relations board counsel.

Asked if he believed the injunction would end the printers strike on Chicago newspapers, Robert N. Denham, NLRB general counsel said at Washington: "The only thing I can say is that we'll wait and see. I hope it will have that effect."

Railroads:

The board's report in the railroad case requires that the employes stay on the job for 30 days. After April 26 they will be free to strike if they still want to.

Besides the wage boost, which was identical to increases previously agreed to by the trainmen and conductors, the board recommended some of the 37 proposed changes in working rules.

Heads of the three railroad unions involved in the ruling said at Cleveland they would meet as soon as possible to consider the report. They had sought a 30 per cent wage increase, with a $3 a day daily minimum. They previously turned down the 15½ cents hourly wage boost offer.

Coal:

President Truman's fact-finding board marked time, waiting to see whether John L. Lewis will appear at a board hearing Monday. Lewis boycotted the board's first session Friday. If he stays away Monday, the board is expected to obtain a subpoena compelling his presence.

Local Leaders Ask Early Clean-Up

Appeals for early clean-up action were voiced Saturday by the city and chamber of commerce alike.

H. W. Whitney, city manager, pointed out that the April 19 kick-off date is simply one for the pick-up of trash by the city. That means that actual clean-up operations should start well in advance of that date.

From the chamber's beautification and its health and safety committees came appeals to cooperate in Whitney's request.

Trash should be placed in containers, sacks or boxes, and placed at the property lines—preferably adjacent to the garbage can—for pick up by the city trucks.

As is the custom, the city will pick up the trash free of charge during progress of the campaign. It will facilitate the collection, Whitney said, if the actual clean-up operations are undertaken by residents well in advance of April 19.

Arms May Be Sent With Europe Aid

Administration Considers Move

WASHINGTON, March 27. (AP)— Responsible officials now believe the United States will have to furnish arms as well as economic aid to strengthen western European nations against Russia.

Some authorities speculate that Congress may be asked to revive the wartime lend-lease principle of arming nations whose defense is in the interest of American security.

The whole subject of American military relations with the free nations of Europe is now being studied by top Administration officials.

Presumably decisions will be made in the near future and European governments have been or will be consulted on their own estimates of their requirements. White House and state department leaders constantly stress the urgency of action to "stop Russia" and every Soviet gesture at a western county tends to speed up the process.

Another of these gestures came today. Izvestia, Russian government newspaper, let go with a blast at Norway which some diplomats thought might be the start of the long feared Russian campaign against that country.

The Russians said Norwegian, American and British war departments had agreed on far-reaching military measures such as standardization of Norweigan arms and use of Norweigan territory for American and British bases.

President Truman expressed concern over Scandinavia in his "stop Russia" speech to Congress March 17. Since then there have been two other statements bearing importantly on the situation.

Defense Secretary Forrestal told the Senate Armed Serives committee Thursday that "as a strictly military matter we cannot afford to sit by" when the rest of the European nations fall "one by one."

At a news conference the same day Secretary of State Marshall said that American policy toward a western European alliance is still under study.

Primarily on the basis of these public statements and authoritative interpretations of what they mean it is possible to report how American policy is shaping up:

President Truman deliberately went as far as he could in his "stop Russia" message to pledge assistance to the European nations. But the Administration considers the first need of the United States is to build up its Armed Forces so it can back up talk with action.

In Administration and state department opinion the strongest assurance to western European is a United States able and ready to act against Russia, if necessary. But a major aim of American policy is to strengthen the Europeans so they also will be ready and able to act.

REFUGEES SAY

Fresh Slav Troops Move Into Trieste

TRIESTE, March 27 (AP)—Refugees from the Yugoslav zone of the free territory of Trieste reported tonight the Yugoslavs had moved 2,000 or more fresh troops into their zone.

One report from a business man said 1,500 troops were moved into Verteneglio, a town near the frontier between the Yugoslav and British-American zones. Buildings and homes were requisitioned for billets, the man said.

There was no immediate comment from British-American military officials.

The reports that 2,000 or more troops moved into the zone came from pro-Italian and anti-communist refugees from the Yugoslav zone. None were from competent military observers who might be able to report unit identifications. It was not clear therefore whether the 1,500 at Verteneglio were in addition to the 2,000 reported by other sources. Neither was it clear whether the troops were replacements.

Maj. Gen. Terence S. Airey, British senior civil affairs officer, denied earlier today published reports that additional British troops had arrived in the free territory.

Under the terms of the Italian peace treaty the Americans and British have 10,000 troops—5,000 each—in their zone and the Yugoslavs are limited to 5,000 in their zone.

Gen. Airey said four days ago that no unusual Yugoslav troop movements had been noted around the British-American zone.

The U. S. light cruiser Manchester arrived in Trieste today shortly after departure of the Dayton. Shore leave was given men aboard, including Marines in numbers small enough to comply with the 5,000 limit on American occupation troops.

Easy Passage Seen For Aid

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—House leaders expect to ram the $6,205,000,000 foreign aid bill to passage next week by at least a three-to-one vote.

They are so confident that speaker Martin told a reporter the leadership isn't even polling members on which way they will ballot.

The bill is intended to use American cash and military "know how" to help Europe and China stem the menace of communism.

It is aimed at what Martin, in a speech tonight in Toledo, called the "despots of the Kremlin," the "men mad with lust for power who are determined to overrun the world."

Martin disclosed the absence of a poll on the foreign aid bill before leaving for Toledo.

The top committee democrat, Rep. Bloom (D-NY), said there "won't be 80 votes against the bill."

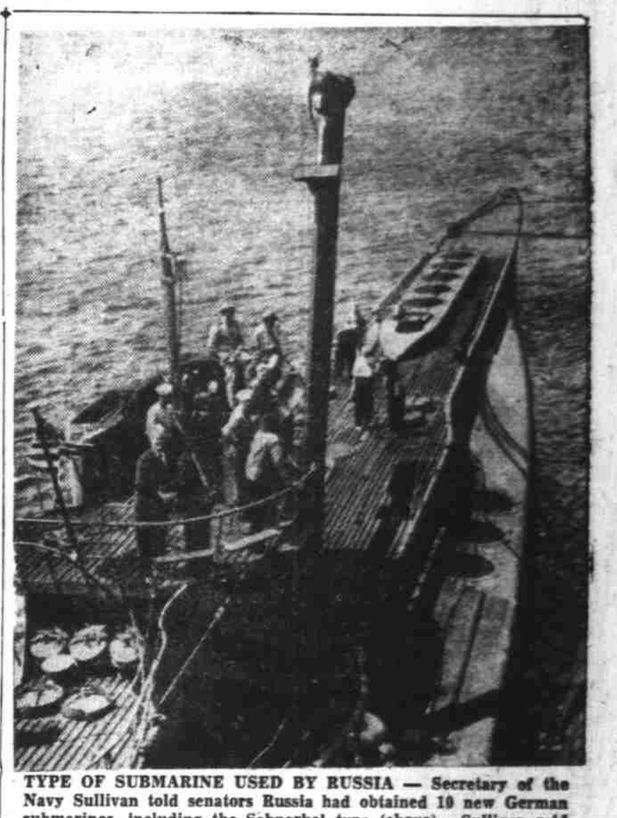

The House has 432 members and three vacancies. But ordinarily fewer than 400 show up for roll call votes.

An amendment bombardment against the bill will start on the House floor Monday. Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), managing the measure, says he thinks it will be over by Tuesday.

Boost Is Talked For Defense Funds

WASHINGTON, March 27. (AP)—Senate republican leaders talked today of boosting national defense funds between two and three billion dollars and earmarking a billion for the Air Force.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) told a reporter that the Senate republican policy committee will review the entire military situation at a meeting next week.

MARCH WEATHER VICIOUS

Twisters Add 23 Fatalities To Toll

CHICAGO, March 27. (AP)— Pre-Easter tornadoes and gales that ripped into eight states have added 23 more fatalities to March's vicious weather rampage. The new deaths brought the nation's eight day storm death toll to 78.

The latest rash of twisters — which struck last night in the South and Midwest — also injured more than 100 persons and caused property damage of several million dollars.

A March mixture of snow, hail, heavy rains and strong winds trailed the twisters in the Midwest. Destructive winds and hail storms hit parts of Alabama and Tennessee.

A stiff northeast wind off Lake Huron pushed ashore a massive six foot wall of ice at Saginaw Bay, Mich. The ice mass, which started a glacier-like advance, damaged four cottages and threatened 100 others. However, a shift in the wind from northeast to north reduced the danger, at least momentarily.

In Chicago, the wind pushed high waves over the Lake Michigan breakwater and flooded the outer drive from 23rd to 47th streets. Traffic was detoured in that section.

Last night's tornadoes killed 19 persons in Indiana, three in Alabama and one in Louisiana. Twisters, or gales, also struck parts of Illinois, Missouri, Georgia, Mississippi, and Tennessee.

The twisters followed by exactly one week a similar series of tornadoes that struck from Texas to New York, killing 42 persons. Thirteen persons also were killed in gales that swept Oklahoma Thursday.

PRICE CONTROLS NOTHING NEW

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 27 (AP)—Discovery of a Babylonian tablet estimated to be nearly 4,000 years old and containing the "oldest system of laws known to man" was announced today.

A joint announcement by the Yale department of near eastern languages and literatures and the American schools of Oriental research termed the discovery "a sensational find."

The ancient legal code, written between the 20th and 19th century, B. C., has at least one modern note. It contains a price control section listing standard prices for such cmomodities as grain, oil and copper.

Housing Protest Ends

DONATION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN TOO MUCH FOR VET AT WALDORF

NEW YORK, March 27. (AP)— Richard Cox moved his family back to its Cold Water flat today after giving up a suite in the Waldorf-Astoria because of a $5.21 contribution from a group of school children.

The 34-year-old former Navy man said when he moved his family into a 88.20-weekly suite at the Waldorf that the city would have to pay all but $40 a month or find him an apartment in a veterans' housing project.

Today after a two-week stay, Cox, his wife and their two little boys went back to their $16-a-month flat in Brooklyn — without the project apartment but with the bill at the Waldorf all paid up.

A San Antonio, Texas, oil man, Mike Jarman, had sent $100 to the hotel to be applied to Cox's bill. Then Rise Stevens, metropolitan opera singer, offered a week's rent.

Bus boys and waiters at the hotel bought a lot of the breakfast for the family of the $63.50-a-week Army civilian employe.

But when the school children of Brookline, Mass., collected $5.21 and sent it to Cox, it was too much.

"Broke his morale," said a hotel official. "It prompted him to leave the hotel."

When the Coxes left, the hotel man said, their account still showed a balance of between $7 and $8. The hotel tried to give it to Cox, but he wouldn't take it.

So the hotel is sending back $5.21 to the pupils of the Kathleen Dell school at Brookline.

And Cox is back where he started, with nothing new but advice to state his case in writing to the commissioner of housing and buildings.

Many Inquire About Paving Extension Here

With approximately 35 blocks of the original 50-block paving project topped and the balance facing rapid action, the city was receiving a flock of inquiries Saturday about extending the program.

City Manager H. W. Whitney said he had recevied several calls for petitions for paving, and E. L. Killingsworth said he was deluged with estimates on cost of proposed improvements.

Several blocks have been signed 100 per cent on a voluntary basis, among them Goliad street between Third and Second.

A half block on Lancaster between 18th and Dallas was signed and as contractors rushed excavation on the spot, equipment struck a gas main and sent a jet of flame 20 feet into the air. It was quickly brought under control and work resumed.

Contractors (Brown & Root) are to top the block on E. 4th between Nolan and Goliad for the city, and Whitney said that if tractor repairs could be made, excavations would be made at once on the city's project on Goliad from Ninth to Eleventh Place. Arrangements may be made with the contractor to top those three blocks.

With exception of moving a high-pressure gas line, Northwest Third street is ready for excavations. Two pieces of property need to be signed to complete the North Second project through from Gregg to Benton.

Cost estimates are complete on the N. Gregg and Lamesa highway curb costs. As soon as these can be signed or assessed, the highway department will pave the street.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 27. (AP)—The parents of "Miss America"—Barbara Jo Walker—announced today her engagement to Dr. John Vernon Hummel early this summer. The date was not set.

She will graduate in June from Memphis State college. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Walker.

LONG-TIME CONTROVERSY

Deaf Group Wants School Under An Education Board

By PAUL BOLTON

(Last of two articles—ED.)

AUSTIN, March 25—Controversy at the Texas School for the Deaf—which will be placed again before the next Legislature—is such a continuing affair that nobody remembers with certainty when it began. Some say it began when the school was established.

However, the strongest and most persistent criticism has always come from the Texas Association for the Deaf, composed in part of former students of the school. Just as consistently, the target of their criticism has been the State Board of Control, which is in charge of all state eleemosynary institutions. (One thing which most rankles the deaf is the fact that the school is administered by the same board which administers eleemosynary units.)

From time to time, members of the TAD virtually demanded the removal of the school superintendent, Roger M. Powell. Some forty days later, the board announced that Powell would not be removed; that all the troubles were due to "outside influences." The officials of the TAD responded that that was a final break; their only recourse was to the Legislature. They want the school placed under a strictly educational board.

Once that is accomplished, the deaf feel that a long range improvement program can be mapped out covering educational methods; administrative methods; and personnel.

As to personnel, the TAD takes the position that the superintendent should be a man of broad experience in the field of deaf education; this, they say, Powell does not have.

As to administration, they feel most of their troubles would be resolved, once an "educational" board was in charge. They have criticized the meager appropriations for operating the school; the inadequate equipment such as libraries, visual aid materials and teacher equipment; and the antiquated plant. Some of the boys are sleeping in a classroom building, and the girls in a building condemned in 1925 by state engineers.

As to educational methods, the debate is hot and furious. It revolves around the two "theories" of teaching deaf—the "oral" method and the "manual" method. The oral method is to teach the deaf student to read lips. The manuel is the sign language.

Even the best known educators of the deaf are not in complete agreement on the methods—how much each should be used, or how little. The TAD's convention, right now, is that neither method is being properly used at the school.

The TAD plan is that lip-reading be taught to every student capable of learning it; but they want the sign language taught as well. It is taught now in the primary grades. The deaf believe it should be taught until the deaf child is proficient—because it will be his only means of communication to others of his own sort in his silent world. This is particularly true in the case of deaf parents, who want their children to be able to communicate with them.

Only a small percentage of deaf persons—at least the totally deaf—can ever learn to speak and read lips. Even those who became deaf in adolesence find it extremely difficult—some of them say, impossible. For those who have never heard a sound, the difficulties are almost insurmountable.

The fact that teaching deaf children is such a tremendous job is one of the reasons the TAD wants an educational board in charge of it, and believe themselves justified in being an "outside incluence."

Texas P-TA Prexy Endorses World Aid

AUSTIN, March 27. (AP)—Endorsement of the national congress of parents and teachers program for rebuilding of education on an international scale in 1948 was endorsed today by Mrs. J. H. Moore of Deport, president of the state parents-teachers congress.

Mrs. Moore said the program will consist of sending staple foods and warm, heavy clothing to teachers in Europe, and extending special courtesies to exchange teachers who are temporarily residing in the United States.

WEEKLY OIL

Vast Reserves Are At Red Back Door

HOUSTON, March 27 (AP)—Statistics indicate Russia has only 11.4 percent of the world's known crude oil reserves but that over half of all reserves are right at her back door.

Max Ball, director of the department of interior's oil and gas division, says the Middle East has 40.8 percent of all known reserves of the eastern hemispnere's 55 percent.

Combining the estimates for Russia and the Middle East would indicate 52.2 percent of the world's reserves are either within Russian borders or only a comparatively short distance away.

Ball's report lists the United States as having 31.2 percent of known reserves and the Western Hemisphere 45.0 Venezuela has 10.4 percent, leaving only 3.4 for Mexico, Canada and other Western Hemisphere nations.

The report carried a recommendation the United States maintain a consistent foreign oil policy and that every reasonable support be given American oil companies operating abroad.

It was pointed out, however, the United States consume 43 percent of the world's output of crude oil and the Middle East only 9 percent.

"If the Middle East had been subjected to exploratory campaigns carried on in the United States for nearly 90 years," Ball said, "its reserves would outweigh those of this nation by a far greater ratio."

The American petroleum institute reports another drop in the United States' saily crude production averages, this time a drop of 24,600 daily for the week ending March 20.

Daily production for the week was placed at 5,240,250, as compared to 5,352,850 for the week ending March 6.

The Oil and Gas Journal published an estimate of 5,262,405 barrels daily for the week ending March 20, a drop of 13,225 from the previous week.

The bureau of mines March demand estimate calls for 5,390,000 barrels daily.

Both API and Oil and Gas Journal listed Texas crude production as unchanged but the state railroad commission hopes to find ways of boosting output.

Starting April 1 and continuing through April 22, the commission will hold hearings to determine if there is a possibility of increasing most efficient rates of production in each of the state's ten proration districts.

Tidelands:

While Federal government officials continue to argue ownership of submerged tidelands, oil companies continue to plan Gulf of Mexico explorations.

Stanolind oil, Magnolia oil and the Texas company last week announced plans for drilling off the Texas and Louisiana coasts.

In Washington, however, Senate and House judiciary committees still hold a states ownership bill. A House sub-committee on Wednesday joined a similar Senate group in stamping approval on the bill.

The participation of Secretary of Inerior Krug and Attorney General Clark in the controversy apparently has rolled to a stop, pending congressional action on the pending legislation.

Clark has ruled the tidelands of the Gulf, Pacific, and Atlantic coasts are not subject to lease under Federal mineral leasing laws.

Krug followed up on Clark's ruling by directing district land offices in the Pacific area and Alaska to reject all lease applications and return fees accompanying the requests.

What is believed to be the first important United States investment in Mexican oil property in 10 years was revealed in announcement of a Fort Worth group paying $200,000 for interest in the New England Fuel and Oil company of Maine holdings near Tampico. The company is one of a few foreign-owned firms unaffected by the Mexican government's 1938 expropriation order.

Here and there

Louisiana's April crude production allowable has been established at 516,755 barrels daily, a new all-time high. The Texas company has extended the Blackfoot field, Anderson county, with completion of the J. B. Bernard No. 1 well which flowed 163 barrels daily.

Help Sought For Social Problem Study

With the prospect that expert help may be available soon for technical guidance in the study, steering committee for the proposed problem demonstration in Big Spring Saturday appealed for help from residents.

Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, chairman of the committee, pointed out that suggestions are needed as to the problem people feel should be considered.

Speaking for the committee, she asked that interested persons answer this question and mail the answer to COMMUNITY STUDY, Post Office box 948, Big Spring, Texas:

What do you think could be done to bind us together in the development of a community in which a more wholesome family life could exist?"

It will be noted that the problem must somehow, ultimately, be tied into creating conditions which would tend to undergird or aid wholesome famliy life.

Suggestions received will be considered by the steering committee, which will make recommendations to the committee of the whole.

Mrs. Sawtelle said it was hoped that thinking could be crystalized in time to present several of the most constructive answers to an experienced social worker who is due here this week or next.

Big Spring is to be aided in the project by the Women's Foundation and the Hogg Foundation, which team to furnish needed technical assistance in selection of the problem and then the means for creating patterns of action to solve it on a community-wide cooperative basis.

Suspect Is Held In Theft Cases

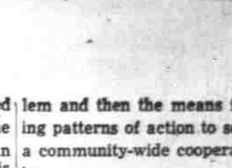

One man was held Saturday by city police for investigation in connection with burglaries, but officers said they did not expect to link him with a wave of thefts Thursday night.

Police said they had a good lead on the cases, but their suspect, apparently wary, reportedly had changed suits twice before he boarded a bus to flee the city.

Hump Friendship Is Renewed Here

Friendship born while they were both in the ATC flying men and material over the Hump between Burma and China were renewed here last week when Jack Rich, owner of the Capital Air Service, flew in Friday to visit Jack Cook, manager of the Muny airport.

• • •

H. E. McDowell, Fort Worth, engineer, was flown over the upper reaches of the Colorado River last week by Cecil Hamilton of Hamilton Flying Service. McDowell, who has been doing considerable work on the Colorado River Municipal Water association project, was on a survey flight to check topography with maps.

A flying visitor here was Charles G. Boice, Arivaca, Ariz., who flew in in his twin-Beechcraft to see his brother-in-law Cecil C. Collings, and Mrs. Collings.

• • •

Clarence Huffman made his cross country flight from Hamilton Field to San Angelo and Odessa last week. Several students at the field have been taking advantage of better weather after sundown and have been getting night flying experience.

• • •

Navy traffic at the Muny continued steady. A couple of blustery days that cut visibility sharply kept the number from climbing noticeably.

• • •

Continental Air Lines has received word that the Civil Aeronautics Board will hear its application on April 15 for several extensions, including one to operate flights from New Orleans through to the West Coast, via Houston, Austin and Big Spring. CAL's terminal manager, Pres Hopkins, took off one day during the week for a friendly visit with CAL personnel in San Antonio.

• • •

A new private pilot's class is being started this week at the Big Spring Flying Service, said Bill Edwards, but all places have not yet been filled. BSFS, incidentally, has completed major overhaul on two of its ships, which are now back in service.

R. C. Bowden has enrolled for a commercial course at BSFS.

A welcome tenant at the Muny hangar is a great horned owl, which fluttered in to take up abode last week. Port workers are hopeful that the bird will clean out the infestation of sparrows.

SEASON ADVERSE BUT —

Tests Of Irrigated Pasture Are Making Good Progress

Despite an unusually adverse season for starting and growing, irrigated pasture demonstrations in this area are making satisfactory progress.

In Glasscock county, where most of the experimentation is being done, reasonable progress has been made on 66 acres of the Steve Currie place southeast of Garden City and the 68 acres on the Marshall Cook ranch. Both plan to add about 150 acres more to their demonstrations.

Grass is beginning to make a good stand on the 40 acres on the Joe B. Calverley ranch northwest of Garden City and J. W. Cox is putting in a five-acre patch of weeping love grass, King Ranch yellow bluestem, and other grasses. Cecil Wilkerson plans to put in a small amount of irrigated pasture, too.

Cox is going to devote most of his land to crops the first year, and if the water supply proves itself, he may shift to irrigated pasture.

In Martin county, Jim and Edmund Tom are retiring 25 acres, formerly in irrigated field, to pasture. Two ranches in Midland county are experimenting with spring planting on 12-acre and 15-acre tracts. In this area, most plantings have been in the fall.

Mixtures recommended by the Soil Conservation Service are perennial rye, meadow fescue, orchard grass, southern smooth brome and some crested wheat among the grasses, and alfalfa, clover and hairy vetch in the legumes.

In practice, a portion of the pasture is flooded or saturated with spray, while two equal tracts are left to grow. The fourth is subjected to intense grazing for a week, then cattle are rotated around the fields.

Mrs. Roosevelt Skirts Politics

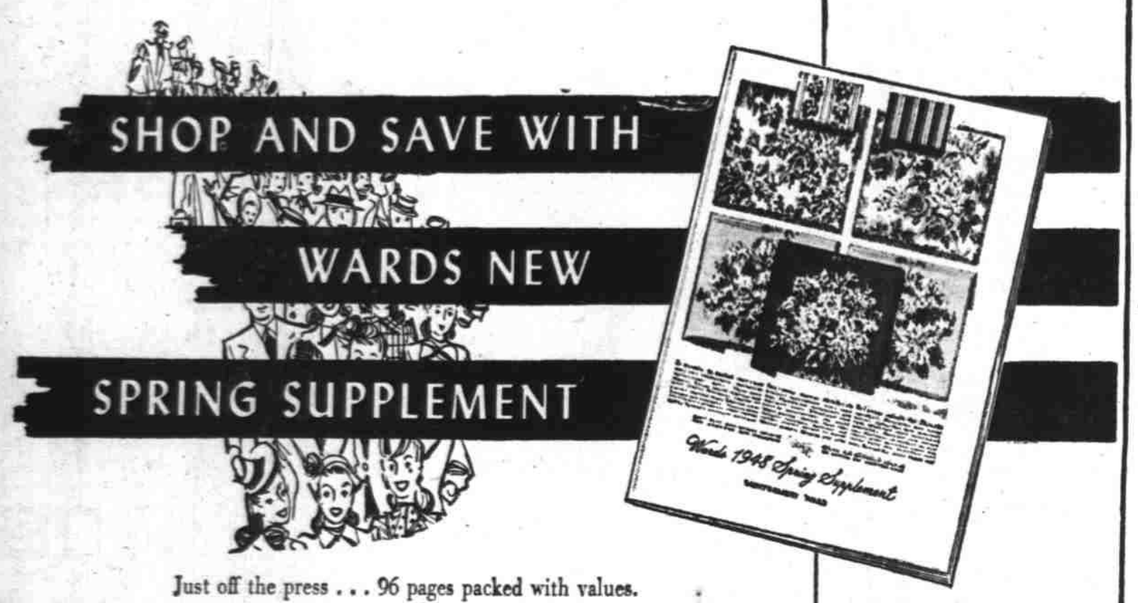

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said today that her children have "a right to their own opinions" but that she did not expect to take part in "partisan politics" while she is an official of the United Nations.

Mrs. Roosevelt, embarking on the British Liner Queen Elizabeth for a trip to London where she will unveil a statute of her late husband, was asked to comment on declarations by her sons, Franklin D. Jr., and Elliott that they favored Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the democratic candidate for president.

"I always let my children do what they think is best," she replied. "I do not believe in interfering with one's children. They are all grown people and they have all been through the war and they have a right to their own opinions."

As for herself, she said, "I am a democrat and have an interest in the democratic party, but I am not taking part in partisan politics."

CROWD OVERFLOWS

Cap Rock Co-Op Reelects Officers

STANTON, March 27—An overflow crowd, one of the largest to attend an annual meeting, re-elected all officers and directors of the Cap Rock Electric cooperative in its eighth annual session here today.

The high school auditorium, in which the meeting was held, was packed and approximately 100 others, unable to get in, milled around in the gymnasium.

Glenn Cantrell, Big Spring, was re-elected president of the cooperative for the eighth time. Other officers returned were J. D. McCreless, Stanton, vice-president, and Arah Phillips, Big Spring, for a seventh term as secretary. To serve with them on the board B. W. McDonald, Midland, C. F. Gray, Stanton, W. L. Clements, Lenorah, W. D. Howe, Lenorah, Edgar Phillips, Big Spring, and Mrs. Lee Castle, Valley View, were returned.

During the year Cap Rock made an advance payment of $10,000 on its loan fund to REA, O. B. Bryan, manager, announced. In addition, the co-op reported a $5,286 earned surplus; showed 1,685 members on 863 miles of lines. Bryan said that poles were up on another 237 miles and that first wire shipments were due to start in April. Application has been made to REA for an additional 100 miles of lime.

A highlight of the meeting was presentation of service pins. Glenn Cantrell, Arah Phillips, Mrs. Lee Castle and C. F. Gray were awarded their 10-year pins; B. W. McDonald, Edgar Phillips, W. L. Clements and J. D. McCreless, five year pins. In the employe groups, O. B. Bryan received his five year pin as did Euel Ferguson, assistant manager, Leo Tucker and Leo Brandt.

Entertainment was furnished by the students from Big Spring high school. Members of the speech class gave a one-act play; Mrs. Anne Gibson Houser presented a group of other girls in songs; and Arah Phillips presented 30-girl couples from her PE classes in a folk dance demonstration.

Following the meeting, hundreds took in an electrical appliance exhibit in the gymnasium, seeing virtually every type of home and farm equipment offered by Stanton, Midland and Big Spring dealers. Several small appliances were given as prizes.

LOCAL OIL

Exploration In Coke Is Expanding

Oil activities in this area centered around expanding exploration in Coke county.

Al G. Hill, Dallas, made location for a 7,300-foot wildcat in northwest Coke county, one and a quarter miles east-southeast of the discovery well in the Jameson pool. The project was to be No. 1 Ralph H. Harris estate, and is 467 feet from the northwest and southwest lines of section 522, V. Homann survey. Algord Oil company of Dallas moved in rotary rig for No. 1 Jack Lassiter, a proposed 7,000-foot wildcat in the center of the SW SE 308-1a, H&TC, two and a half miles south and three-quarters of a mile west of Sun No. 1 J. W. Arledge, the Marble Falls lime strike. The test previously was reported as the Alan Guiberson No. 1 Lassiter.

Meanwhile, Sun No. 1 Central National Bank of San Angelo, trustee of the W. C. Blanks estate in northwestern Coke, recovered 1,260 feet of clean oil and 390 feet of oil-cut mud, half oil and half salt water, on a five and three-quarter hour drillstem test from 6,641-6,717. It is located 1,050 feet from the south and 467 feet from the east lines of the W. F. Benson survey.

Dave Duncan No. 1 Chicken Ranch, Inc., 990 feet out of the southeast corner of section 17-33-2s, T&P, had a hole full of sulphur water at 2,721 feet and was abandoned. It was a north-central Glasscock exploration. Duncan spudded his No. 1 Toney Baker, south of Lees, and set surface pipe at 30 feet to await rotary.

Several Scurry county completions were reported by I. Weiner of Big Spring and Big Tex Oil company. The operators' No. 1-D, No. 2-D, and No. 3-D Murphy in section 115-97, H&TC in southwest Scurry county, and No. 3-B Murphy and No. 2 Rhodes, also Sharon ridge shallow tests in northwest Mitchell county, rated 150 barrels each.

R. F. Townsend No. 2 Holliday spudded 330 feet out of the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 120-97, and Townsend No. 6 Chapman, 1650 feet from the north and 330 feet from the west lines of the northeast quarter of section 100-97, T&P, was rigging up for Sharon Ridge shallow pay.

Weiner and his associates moved in rotary for No. 2 W. P. Edwards, 330 feet from the south and east lines of section 16-33-2s, T&P, a scheduled 2,500 Howard-Glasscock outpost test.

In northern Howard county, Seaboard No. 1 Dora Campbell, quarter of a mile north of the Vealmoor pool opener was at 5,700 feet.

Speaking of the necessity of meeting the needs of young people while they are young people and pliable, Lee Milling, YMCA secretary, told the annual meeting of his group the other night that "now is the time for sowing." He may have something there, for youth must be served while it is youth.

If you think the recent price recessions (what became of them, anyhow?) have bull-dozed the meat market, you haven't been following trades here. Last week some of the most spirited bidding on record was registered at sales, and on the whole, prices were stronger than before. And all this without a rain to really give bidding a kick.

City officials are both pleased and puzzled at the demand for paving. They wonder where the end will be, not that they do not want to follow through on all the paving requested, but because there may be a financial problem in meeting the city's share. Nobody's cried "uncle" yet, and somehow funds are due to be provided so long as the demand is here.

Today Toots Mansfield ropes against Zeno Ferris of Las Cruces, N. M. in Pecos. On May 2 he has been booked against Everett Shaw for a steer roping test here. The Sheriff's Posse organization is presenting the show, the first Steer roping encounter ever held here.

Voters will get their first opportunity to unlimber their exemptions and poll taxes before the week is out. School district elections are set for Saturday, the city vote for the following Tuesday.

Story Claims Alaska Hides Big Air Base

DENVER, March 27. (AP)—Existence of a mighty air base near the top of the world in Alaska built to accomodate the giant B-36 bomber, was revealed today in an exclusive story published by the Denver Post.

The hitherto highly-secret base, once known as "Mile 26," has been named Eielson field, and is, according to the Post, so located as to serve for launching air attacks on any spot in the northern hemisphere.

Only three fields in continental United States, aside from Eielson have been previously announced as capable of handling flights of B-36's on a regular basis. These are located at Fort Worth, Elgin Field, Fla., and Wright Field, Ohio.

The story said announcement of Eielson field's existence was approved only today by proper official sources. Prior to this time, its existence had been screened behind a cloak of official silence, and even now its exact location—other than that it is about 26 miles southeast of Fairbanks—is guarded information.

Significance of the announcement was added to the statement earlier this week by Air Secretary Stuart Symington in Washington that our B-29's, based in Alaska and Labrador, could make bomb runs over any portion of the Soviet Union.

The Air Forces have announced that the B-36 could carry an atomic bomb to any inhabited region in the world and return home without refueling.

The plane is designed for a normal range of 10,000 miles with 10,000 pounds, without extra fuel tanks. The Airforces have 100 of the giant six-engined bombers on order.

Grave Digger Is Murder Suspect

CLOVIS, N. M., March 27. (AP)—A 25-year-old grave digger today was arrested on a charge of murder in the slaying of a Crystal Springs, Miss., girl July 4, 1946.

James Shelton, chief of the investigation bureau of the Mississippi highway safety patrol, said Edward Sant had signed a statement that he killed Catherine Rossie, 22, after she resisted his advances.

Shelton, A. E. Crawford, Jackson, Miss., private detective, and Chief Nelson Worley of Clovis told this story:

The Rossie girl disappeared after an auto wreck on a highway near Jackson on July 4, 1946. Her body was discovered 19 days later.

Last August they developed a lead which brought Sant's arrest on charges filed in Hinds county, Miss. After questioning he signed a statement that he killed the girl with a blackjack.

Juvenile Is Back In Custody Here

Ditwiler offered no resistance when taken into custody.

Bill Montgomery will play No. One boys singles for Big Spring while Jean Pearce is so distinguished on the fems' squad.

Driving Range Will Open On Thursday

Foy Fanning, Muny golf pro, announced Saturday he would open the Muny driving range April 1. Tee-box of the range, which was installed in 1947, is the old No. One tee of the original nine at the course and is located just across the street from the club house.

The range will be open until 10:30 o'clock nightly.

SMUGGLERS CAUSE TROUBLE SOMETIMES

'Wetbacks' Play Hide And Seek Game With Border Patrol Along Rio Grande

LAREDO, March 27. (AP)—A never ending game of hide and seek is played in this brush-tangled section of the United States-Mexican border.

The hiders are bedraggled Mexican men and women workers eager for higher-paying jobs on farms and factories north of the border. Once in a while there is a criminal among them.

The seekers are broad-hatted, trim-uniformed inspectors of the United States Border Patrol, a branch of the immigration service.

The base-line of the game in Texas is the Rio Grande, which forms a winding border between El Paso and Brownsville more than 1,000 miles long.

Some of the hiders swim or wade the shallow, narrow Rio Grande. Because of that practice, all illegal Mexican immigrants have come to be known as "Wetbacks."

Others cross in boat provided for a fee by Mexican boatmen. Logs and washtubs pushed by swimmers have been used as entry craft. Some workers cross the international bridges on visitors' permits and fail to return. One Mexican mother used rubber swim fins to ferry her two small children across the stream. The fins are a trophy of the Border Patrol office here.

The odds are against the hiders, although a few get through. The patrolmen have the advantage of training, organization, modern equipment.

The penalty for being caught is immediate return to Mexico, with prison term for a second offense. Unauthorized entry is a felony.

GOOD NATURED GAME

The game mostly is good-natured.

"We are ordered to shoot only in self-defense," says keen-eyed Elmer B. Debrail, chief patrol inspector here.

But there are occasional smugglers and other criminals among the workers who ceaselessly try to cross the border. Hunting of smugglers is the job of another branch—the customs service—but the border patrol encounter them frequently and arrest them when it does.

The last shooting episode in Laredo occurred more than 10 years ago.

More than 30 border patrolmen have lost their lives along the long stretch of border from Brownsville to San Diego, Calif., since the service was set up in the mid-1920's.

MOSTLY PEACEABLE

"The Wetbacks are mostly peaceable, hard-working people," says Fletcher L. Ralls, Chief of the patrol office at McAllen, Tex.

Much of the land on both sides of the lower Rio Grande is a snarled thicket of Mesquite trees, five-foot high cactus and thorny underbrush.

Trailing wetbacks through this nearly impassible territory, the 86 inspectors under Debrail use radio-equipped automobiles, jeeps and horses. They travel by foot when necessary. A small airplane stationed at the McAllen headquarters is used for spotting from the air. Patrolmen working in the brush keep in touch with each other by walkie-talkie radio.

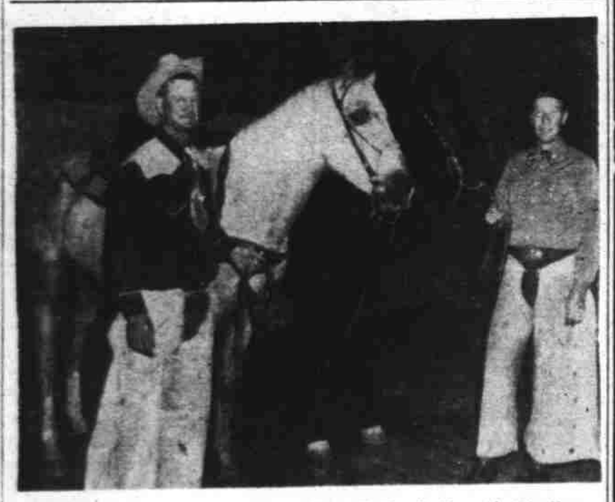

An old frontier trailing method used is "cutting sign." When the "sign" of a wetback is found in the brush, the patrolmen speed ahead to the first crossroad. If tracks are found or "cut" there, the process is repeated. When no evidence of a crossing is discovered, patrolmen return to the last tracks found and follow them into the brush on foot.

BRUSH CHASE

"We sometimes chase men 75 to 100 miles through the brush," Debrail said. "We often find them asleep under trees."

Away from the river, the chase is carried on by inspectors who check trains, railroad yards, highways and cheap hotels. Informers also are used.

Most of the Mexicans who succeed in crossing get work on the citrus and vegetable farms which have been carved out of the brush land and produce richly under irrigation.

Daniel Denies Association With A Spy

AUSTIN, March 27. (AP)—Attorney General Price Daniel today denied an accusation by Radio Commentator Drew Pearson in his last Sunday night broadcast that Daniel and other state officials in the tidelands fight were associated with a lobbyist "who served a jail sentence for being a German agent during World War I."

Daniel labelled the accusations as "absolutely untrue."

The attorney general said Pearson had asked on his broadcast, "Why Mr. Daniel, is your tidelands lobby associated with this man?"

"I have never met anyone by the name called by Pearson," Daniel declared. "I do not know any such person. I have called the leaders of both the governors conference and the national association of attorneys general and find that they have had no contact, association with, or knowledge of any person by that name. If such a person has done anything in favor of state ownership of the tidelands it was without the knowledge of myself and other associated state officials."

Daniel said he had been advised by telegram that the man named in Pearson's broadcast had also denied any contact with or being associated with the tidelands-seeking officials.

"I feel sure someone from the federal departments or someone representing applicants for federal leases managed to plant this propaganda with Pearson to try to prejudice the fight of the state officials for congressional action in favor of continued state ownership of submerged lands," Daniel said.

Naval District Quota Allocated

In order to augment facilities already available for annual training duty for reserves, the Eighth naval district has been allocated a quota of eight officers and 35 enlisted men for each two-week period starting May 2 and continuing through the summer.

Training accomodations also have been announced for 30 officers and 200 enlisted men for two cruises from Norfolk, Va. for six weeks starting April 30 and June 14. Reservists may obtain more information from Wayne K. Williams, local naval reserve training officer, at 114 E. 3rd street.

PLAY NEXT SUNDAY

Stasey Expects 18 Men For Workout Thursday

Manager Pat Stasey take inventory of the baseball situation here Thursday, when his Big Spring professional Broncs, affiliated with the Longhorn league, open 1948 spring drills at Steer park.

Training periods will be from 10:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. daily.

Some 18 athletes will participate in the training program, not including the local boys who would like to try for a spot on the club. Stasey has stated he will not close the gates on anyone, that all are welcome to bid for a contract.

Ten or 11 of the youngsters in uniform will be Cubans. Their number will include Gerry Rodriquez, pitcher; Armando Traspuesto, catcher; and Jimmy Perez, pitcher, members of the championship 1947 club. Orlando Moreno, the brilliant third sacker of last year's team, may return, too.

Stasey, who expects to man the right field post, will be suited out as will Jake McClain, the all-star second sacker who hit brilliantly last year, and George Sifft, a recruit from the Colonial league. Sifft plays the gardens.

At least two players and possibly three are due in from Mobile, Ala.

Stasey will watch his charges go through their training paces for three days before sending them into action next Sunday against the Abilene Blue Box in Abilene. The Big Springs move to San Angelo the next day where they will be the guests of Pepper Martin's Colts.

Local fans can see them in action for the first time Wednesday, April 7, when they play Lamesa at Steer park. Thursday, April 8, they oppose Lubbock here. Saturday, April 10, they move to Sweetwater and Sunday, April 11, they clash with Lamesa in Lamesa.

LABORING MEN — The two fellows pictured here have donned working clothes to rush work on the improvements to the Big Spring baseball field. During the season, they constitute a very important part of the local diamond picture. FORT WORTH, March 27 (AP)—Jim Barnett, big righthander, let the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys down with three hits here Saturday as the TCU Horned Frogs won their fourth game in five starts against collegiate opposition, 6-1.

Tri-County League Managers Hold Last Meeting At Settles Sunday, April 4

Managers of the newly formed Tri-County baseball league will meet with the executive committee at the Settles hotel next Sunday to lay final plans for league play, which gets underway Sunday, April 11. The parley opens at 2 p. m.

Six teams are expected to break the barrier, including two clubs which sought admission last week—the Big Spring Westerners and the T & P Railroaders, made up of shop men and motor transport employes.

Other teams ready for play are Forsan, Coahoma, Coahoma City and Knott. The HCJC Jayhawks, who had applied for admission at the first session, asked to withdraw.

Jack Lamb, Forsan, is president of the league. Other officers are Johnnie Walker, Knott, vice-president, and Boone Cramer, secretary-treasurer.

The teams will post a $10 entry fee. That money will go toward the purchase of trophies at season's end.

One game a week will be played by the teams and that on Sunday, weather permitting.

The schedule will be split and champions of each half will play for the title, provided one club does not win both halves.

Greenberg Buys Into Cleveland Baseball Club

LOS ANGELES, March 27. (AP)—Big Hank Greenberg bought into the baseball business today, and all but bowed out as a player.

President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians announced that Hammerin' Hank, home run king of the American league before the war, is now the club's second largest stockholder. How much stock he bought was not announced, however. The club is valued at nearly $3,000,000.

"My immediate plans do not call for me to play," said Greenberg. "But I will do whatever is best for the club, whether it be as player or coach."

Veeck added: "After all, Greenberg is now a stockholder, and it's a matter of what he wants to do."

Hank explained that he would stay in shape so he can enter the lineup if necessary, but commented: "I hope the occasion doesn't arise. I don't want to be put in the position of competing with any of the boys on the squad for their jobs."

Greenberg, once the pride of Detroit's Tigers, by today's move returns to the American circuit after a year with Pittsburgh. The Pirates, who paid him some $50,000 last year for batting .249 and hitting 25 homers, released him at his own request at the end of the season.

In his best days with Detroit, Greenberg was a terrifying fellow at the plate. He hit his peak in 1938 when he slugged 58 homers, just two short of Babe Ruth's all-time record.

Champ Departs London Today

LONDON, March 27. (AP)— Joe Louis quits London tomorrow some $80,000 heavier but well along in his preparations for his coming bout with Joe Walcott in New York on June 23.

A sports exhibition in which the World Heavyweight boxing champion has starred in a sideshow ends its five week run tonight. Tomorrow Joe will leave for Paris and Brussels. He sails for New York on April 7.

The champion developed a liking for the English custom of tea and crumpets in mid-afternoon. It is believed the extra meal kept his weight up.

Of duty Joe and the missus saw plenty of London's sights. Joe went to the House of Commons twice. He was a frequent theater goer. Twice he went to boxing matches and usually stole the show. But his own show, a main attraction at the Health and Holidays exhibition, was not a financial success.

The Evening Standard reported the exhibition lost $240,000.

Colored Troupe Plays Midland

The Big Spring Colored Sluggers ring up the curtain on their 1948 baseball season at Steer park this afternoon, meeting the Midland Skyscrapers in a game scheduled to begin at 3 p. m.

LeRoy Modkins, manager of the Sluggers, has nominated Harry Dooley to twirl for him. Dooley is also the team's ace slugger.

Charley Merritt will probably catch for the Big Springers.

The Skyscrapers proved a jinx team for the locals last year but Modkins hopes to erase the Indian sign on his troops with this game.

Hawks, Forsan Slate Clash

Howard County Junior college's baseball Jayhawks journey to Forsan Wednesday to play an exhibition game with the Forsan Oilers. Game time is 5:30 o'clock.

Don Henry or Don Clark will toe the rubber for the Hawks. Dave Roberson, Oiler skipper, is undecided on his mound choice.

The JayCees dropped a decision to Coahoma last week.

HOUSTON, March 27 (AP)—Centerfielder Hal Epps, leading hitter of the Houston Buff Texas league and Dixie Champions last year, has rejoined the Houston team.

Crack Field To Run In B'Spring Relays

Many Records Due To Fall

At least a dozen schools will compete in the fourth annual Big Spring Relays, which will be staged at Steer stadium beginning at 9 a. m. Saturday.

The star-spangled show, sponsored by the American Business club this year, is expected to produce more than half dozen new records. Consider the fact that nine of the standards have been on the books only one year, and you have the prospects for a bang-up show.

For one thing, the Relays are being run almost two weeks later than they were in any year before. For another, the classiest field in the histroy of the show will probably be here.

Odessa, which won its own games yesterday, is sending a strong team. Lubbock and Amarillo will probably be down from the Panhandle. Midland, Lamesa, Abilene and Sweetwater will all represent District 3AA, along with the hosts.

Seminole, Andrews, Water Valley, Imperial, Monahans and Coahoma are other schools which will probably be represented here.

Locals fans will be able to get a preview of the district track meet in the local games. They'll also see two of the greatest athletes in this section of the country in Leon Leppard, the local middle-distance star, and Byron Townsend, Odessa's brilliant all-around trackster.

Here are the records the 150-odd athletes will be trying to beat, listed with the year in which they were established:

120-Yard High hurdles—Charles Pinnell, Andrews, 15.8 (1947).

100-Yard Dash—Ted Hardin, Abilene; Ernie Ache, Big Spring, both in 1946, and Byron Townsend, Odessa, 1947, 10.3.

Shot put—R. Daulton, Abilene, 42'7", 1946.

440-Yard Run — Bill Bauman, Amarillo, 51.3, 1947.

200-Yard Low ahurdles—Gerald Campbell, Odessa, 23.3, 1947.

Pole Vault—Duane Hendley, Abilene, 10'8". 1946.

440-Yard Relay—Odessa, 45, 1947.

880-Yard Run—J. Clark, Lamesa, 2:09.4, 1947.

Discus—Townsend, Odessa, 6'1½" 1947.

220-Yard Dash—J. Hall, Odessa, 23.1, 1945.

Mile—Webb, Big Spring, 5:01.7, 1947.

Mile Relay — Amarillo, 3:38.6, 1947.

Amarillo won the 1947 team title, scoring 39 points to 37 for second-place Odessa.

MAXWELL HOT

Local Golfers Will Compete In Tourney

Big Spring high school will probably send a team of four boys to compete in the Lubbock schoolboy tournament, which will be unreeled at the country club in that city Saturday April 3.

The tournament will be 36 holes of medal play.

The Steers open their 3AA league play the second week in April.

* * *

Bobby Maxwell, No. One player of the high school team, putted for a 31 at the Muny course last Thursday. Had he made it, he would have tied the course record.

As it was, the brilliant youngster shot past the cup in his rundown and three-putted the green, settling for a four-under-par 33.

Maxwell broke the barrier with a par three, birdied the second with a three, settled for a par four on the difficult No. three, carved out an eagle two on No. four, had a birdie three on the fifth, had successive birdies four on the sixth and seventh, collected a par four on the eighth before finishing with the bogie five on the last hole.

Bob almost had an eagle on the seventh.

Bears Edge Sooners

WACO, March 27 (AP)—The Baylor Bears bunched 11 hits for a 11-6 decision over the Oklahoma university Sooners here today in an exhibition baseball game.

HENDERSON MAY SPEAK

High School Cagers To Be Banquet Guests Thursday

The Kiwanis club is playing final plans for its third annual basketball banquet, with a colective eye on the Olympic game trials being held in New York City.

The annual feed for the high school boys comes off at the Settles hotel starting at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night and Bill Henderson, coach of the Baylor Bears, has long been committed to serve as general speaker.

However, Henderson's Bears are still in the running for the tournament title being staged at Madison Square Garden and will be until Monday night, at least.

In Henderson's case, time — and the ability of his Bears to continue their winning ways — is the essence.

However, the event will go ahead as scheduled, whether or not Henderson can make connections.

Plates to the event are selling for $1.50 a person and every one is eligible to attend.

Walter L. Read, high school principal who helped dream up the program for the first annual event, will act as master of ceremonies.

Johnny Malaise and 28 of his high school players — members of the A and B strings — will be honor guests at the party.

Texas Relays, Slated April 2-3, To Attract One Thousand Entries

AUSTIN, March 27 (AP)—One thousand athletes from the South, Southwest and Mid-West will assault the glittering records of the Texas relays here Friday and Saturday. The muscle men are expected to lead the way in handing up new marks.

Headed by giant Fortune Gordien, the Minnesota star who throws the shot and discus into the next county, and the Texas A. and M. college mile relay team, the big field is expected to smash at least three marks.

The army of athletes will perform under the critical eyes of Avery Brundage, president of the United Sttaes Olympic committee, who will be the referee.

The record for the discus throw at the Texas Relays is 165 feet 9½ inches, set by Jack Hughes of Texas in 1941. Gordien has hit 179 feet 3 inches. The shot put mark is 52 feet ¾ inch, held by Elmer Hackney of Kansas State and set nine years ago. Gordien has thrown around 54 feet.

Also endangering the shot put mark will be Ralph Davis, brother of the famed Glenn Davis of Army football, who is a member of the army air force track and field squad being trained at Lackland Ar Base near San Antonio by Major Robert I. Simpson. Davis gets the 16-pound ball up to around 55 feet.

The Texas Aggie relay team that set a new record in the university class last year with a time of 3:17.8 is back and likely to crack its own mark.

Men of national championship caliber will show their wares in the pole vault, broad jump and high jump. Minnesota's Loyd La Mois who does over 24 feet, will vie with John Robertson of Texas, the 1946 NCAA champion who was ineligible last year, and Bob Crowley of Kansas, along with Billy Anderson of the Army-Air Force squad who goes over 25 feet. The record here is 25 feet 7 inches, set in 1941 by Billy Brown of Louisiana State.

The leading pole vaulter is Harry Cooper of Minnesota, who can soar 14 feet, and Tom Scofield of Kansas heads the high jumpers with performances of better than 6 feet 6 inches.

Texas' top bids will be Jerry Thompson, great distance runner, and Charley Parker, who last week romped the 100-yard dash in 9.5.

Finals start Saturday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. (CST).

Half Dozen Records Bettered At Odessa

Longhorns Win Runnerup Spot

ODESSA, March 27—Leon Lepard's leap in the broad jump, good for second place, enabled the Big Spring Steers to win second place in the fifth annual Sand Hills track and field Relays here Saturday afternoon.

Up until the broad jump, final event on the program, Lubbock held the runnerup spot behind Odessa but the Big Spring star leaped 19 feet, 7 inches to finish just back of Byron Townsend of Odessa. Lubbock failed to place a man.

Odessa scored 47 points to 28½ for Big Spring and 25¾ for Lubbock. Trailing the Big Three were Midland, with 13 points; Amarillo, 12½; Lamesa, 11; Pecos, 8¼; Imperial, 5; Monahans, 3½; Lamesa, 1.

Eight records were shattered, most impressive perhaps of which was in the 880. Lepard covered that distance in 1:59.9 to beat Jim Lowery's old mark by more than six seconds. It was the first time this season Leon had been able to cover the distance in less than two minutes. The showing enhanced his bid for a state championship.

The Steer mile relay team of R. H. Carter, Jim Bill Little, Delmar Turner and Lepard also set a new standard in that event, despite the fact that it beat the runnerup quartet, Lubbock, by nearly a hundred yards. The Longhorns went the four laps in 3:36, beating the old mark by four seconds.

Other records were set by Val Joe Walker of Seminole in the 100-yard dash—10.2; 200-yard low hurdles by Walker—23.6; Byron Townsend of Odessa in the high jump—6 feet, ¾ inch; Townsend in the discus—142 feet, 10 inches; mile run by Jim Blaine of Imperial — 4:43.1; and sprint relay by Odessa, 45.2.

Townsend was high point man for the show with 21¼ points.

Between 150 and 200 boys competed in the meet.

120-Yard high hurdles—Campbell, Odessa; Patterson, Odessa; Walters, Monahans; Velvin, Midland. Time, 15.8.

100-Yard Dash—Townsend, Odessa; Fairley, Pecos; Campbell, Odessa; Williams, Lubbock. Time, 10.3 (New record set in preliminaries by Val Joe Walker, Seminole, 10.2. Old record, 10.4 set by Partridge, Big Spring).

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Gerardo (Gerry) Rodriquez, who picked up a dozen wins for the Big Spring Broncs in Longhorn league competition last year, is Manager Pat Stasey's choice to open the season against Midland April 21 . . . Stasey will be shooting the curve-ball ace at the Tribe to see if a jinx endures—Roddy put the whammy on the residents of the Wigwam a half dozen times in 1947 and was especially effective in Midland . . . The Hosses don't start spring training until Thursday but Patrick already has a fair idea about his opening day lineup . . . He'll lead off with either Vargas (ss) or Moreno (2b), taking for granted Moreno is coming back, then follow with Mendez (of), J. Perez (3b), himself in right, McClain (of), Azpiazo (1b), with the other infielder filling in just ahead of Armando Traspuesto, the catcher . . . McClain, who winters here, now weighs 185, which is his regular playing weight . . . Mac is wheeling an oil truck about but finds time every afternoon to take a workout at Steer park . . . He had Jimmy Perez, the Cuban importee, throwing batting practice to him the other day and says the wronghander couldn't have had a better curve ball had he been rolling the ball off the end of a table. . . Doc Tuck, the Sherman-Denison club owner, thinks he'll eventually get Jose Cindan, the ace of the Big Spring pitching corps last year. . . Cindan is now on the Havana (Florida-International league) roster . . . Lee (Lefty) Baber, the great pitcher of another era who saw all the Longhorn league manswarm last year, says Rodriquez and Gerald Fahr, the Vernon pitcher, are the two best prospects he viewed in action . . . Baber thinks Vernon will come up with the most improved club in the league this year.

This pillar is indebted to Anna Belle Lovelace of the high school tax office for a rundown on attendance figures at Big Spring high school football games for the past eight seasons...From 1940 through 1948 season, the Steers drew an aggregate paid attendance of 95,701 at home games and lured another 86,765 through the turnstiles on the road...A total of 29,367 saw the Herd in action at home and abroad during the 1947 season, an all-time high...That was only 93 more than saw the Longhorns perform the preceding year, however...It was in 1946 the Longhorns played to 18,783 patrons at home, an all-time high...Biggest crowd ever to see the Bovines in combat turned out in Odessa last Oct. 3...The paid aggregate was 9,712...Odessa also formed the opposition when the Steers enjoyed their biggest home gate, a 4,944-turnout Oct. 4, 1946...Has any one familiarized themselves with the new softball rules?...The most important, in their order, are (1—No player will be permitted to go beyond the playing field limits to make an out, (2—Base lines from home to first and home base to second will be 80 feet, 10½ inches, (3 distance from home base to second will be 80 feet, 10½ inches, (4—The pitcher will be permitted to wear the same color uniform as other members of the team, (5—The catcher will not be permitted to go outside the line of the catcher's box to assist a pitcher in giving an intentional base on balls...The American Business club has spent about $150 for trophies for the Big Spring girls' volley ball tournament and the Big Spring Relays.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Charley Wensloff, right handed pitcher, was sold by the New Yrok Yankees to the Philadelphia Phillies today for a reported $30,000. In a second deal between the two clubs, Pitcher Charley Schanz of the Phillies, was sent to the Kansas City Blues of the American Association. The Blues are owned by the Yankees.

Lamesa Loboes Begin Spring Drills Monday

LAMESA, March 27— Lamesa's baseball Loboes open spring drills here Monday.

George Sturdivant, who has been at the helm of the WTNM league club for the past two seasons, is returning in that capacity and will probably play regularly at first base, despite the acquisition of Jim Prince, the nation's leading minor league hitter, from Midland. Prince will probably play outfield.

The Loboes play their first practice game Sunday, April 4, meeting Odessa here. San Angelo comes to town April 6 and the Loboes invade Big Spring for a game April 7.

April 9, the Lamesans are booked to go to San Angelo for a return game with the Colts.

Big Spring meets the Loboes in Lamesa April 11 and 14 and the Pampa Oilers show up for a game here April 15. Borger makes a local appearance April 17 and Lamesa plays the Big Spring club again in Big Spring April 18.

I. B. Palmer, a third sacker, and Outfielder Jack Wilcox are already in camp along with Jack Garland, who was here past time last year. Garland is a pitcher.

Such operatives as Bill Jones, Walter Buckel, Walt Condon and Parr Fowler will be missing from the Lamesa scene this year.

Besides Prince, who the Loboes acquired by draft, Gil Turner, outfielder, and Leon Hayes, pitcher, are joining the club this season.

Sammy Malvica, infielder; Tony Fiarito, second sacker; Bob Johnson, catcher; and Eddie Skrabacz, outfielder; are other holdovers expected here.

Camping Trip Set For Monday Morn

A group of ten boys will accompany Frank Amos on an all-day camping trip to Water Valley Monday morning, the first of six such expeditions planned as a part of the Salvation Army recreation program for the summer. The contingent leaves at 4 a. m. and plans to return Monday night.

Those making the trip with Amos include Charles Wright, Charles Hale, Melvin Byers, Bewey Byers, Jim Montgomery, J. C. Armistead, Aubrey Armistead, Jimmy White, Belton Brunson and John Masters.

Gophers Romp

DALLAS, March 27 (AP)—The Minnesota Gophers blasted Southern Methodist with a barrage of extra-base hits for the second time in two days today to sweep a 2-game series with the Mustangs, 21-8. The Gophers won the first game yesterday, 17 to 13.

Tag Setto Set For AC Monday

Strong-Boy Walter Stratton of Boston, Mass., returns to the wrestling ring here Monday night when he teams with Eddie Gideon, Springfield, Mo., in an Australian Tag match at the Big Spring Athletic club.

The Stratton - Gideon combine squares away with a twosome composed of Bill (Ace) Abbott of Abilene and Gorilla Pogi, the Wild Bull of the Pampas.

Stratton looked stylish in his few appearances here several months back. Stratton could be called a trial-horse of the ring. He's been around a long time. He's no push-over, however, not for anybody.

He's getting an aggressive, impressive partner in Gideon who has been in action twice and looked to advantage on both occasions.

Abbott and Pogi have probably appeared here more than any of the other tin-ears on the circuit. The former filled in as a referee in last week's matches and experienced a going-over at the hands of the Masked Marvel. He asked for and didn't get the hooded one in a catch-as-catch can duel but agreed to engage in the tag match, which is a barrel of fun.

Two 20-minute preliminary settos open up the show. In one, Abbott will go against Stratton while Pogi meets Gideon in the other.

Dory Detton is returning to serve as third man in the ring for all the goings-on.

Baylor Bruins Move Up In Olympic Tryouts

NEW YORK, March 27. (AP)— Kentucky's wonderful Wildcats spotted Louisiville university a 5-0 lead, then came roaring back to swamp the NAIB champions, 91-57, at Madison Square Garden tonight to reach the semi-final round of the Olympic basketball trials.

Kentucky will meet Baylor university Monday night.

* * *

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—The Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla. qualified for the semi-finals in the U. S. Olympic basketball trials by scoring an easy 74-32 victory over the Prospect Park team of Brooklyn National YMCA champions, tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The Oilers will play the Denver Nuggets whom they defeated for the National AAU championship in the semi-final round Monday night.

* * *

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—Baylor's ballhawking Bears and Denver's towering Nuggets fought their way into the semi-finals of the U. S. Olympic basketball tryouts today, each winning by a narrow two-point margin.

The Nuggets, runner-up in the National A. A. U. tournament, nipped the Oakland Bittners 57-55 in the first game of the hectic double-header at Madison Square Garden. The Bears, who bowed to Kentucky last Tuesday in the N. C. A. A. finals, nosed out New York university 59-57 in the second game.

A crowd of 9,251, the smallest to see a basketball doubleheader at the Garden this season, watched two rousing games which were not decided until the final 45 seconds when James Owens sank a long one-handed push shot to break the 15th tie between the two teams.

The Nuggets forced to stave off a desperate second half rally by Oakland, won their game in the final two minutes on a pair of free throws by Ward Gibson and Ray Lipscomb. These two fouls gave them a 57-52 advantage and mullified the Bittners three-point spurt in the waning seconds.

Vince Boryla, former Notre Dame star, was the big gun for Denver. He tallied 21 points before he twisted his knee with only 20 seconds remaining.

A later examination revealed th Boryla had strained a muscle in his left knee. It is questionable whether he will be able to play Monday night.

The Baylor-NYU contest was a wild and wooly game in which the lead changed 18 times with the issue in doubt until Owen snapped the 15th tie of the contest with his one - hander, a hard, desperate throw which dropped in without touching the backboard.

The Texans then froze the ball, passing up at least two opportunities for free throws to keep possession as the New Yorkers fought unsuccessfully to gain control.

Owen's game-winning basket was his eighth of the game. He also hit five free throws to lead both teams in scoring with 21 points.

The lead changed hands nine times in the first half before a free throw by Jackie Robinson gave Baylor a 27-26 margin at the intermission.

Ray Lumpp, who tallied 14 points to lead the Violets in scoring, shot New York out in front soon after the interval, only to have Baylor knot the count again.

The teams were deadlocked at 40-all midway in the second period. Then New York forged in front, 47-41, for the longest lead of the game. But Bill Johnson and Odell Preston hit long shots and Owen tied the score at 47-47 on the end of a neat play.

They see-sawed back and forth with Owen and Don Heathington doing the rest of the Baylor scoring. Owen broke a 54-54 deadlock with two minutes and 45 seconds remaining and then dumped in a free throw which looked like the ball game.

But Joel Kaufman came through with a tip-in for NYU and Joe Dolhon tied it up with a free throw. That's the way things stood when Owen sewed it up.

Men, Regain Youthful Vigor

Here Is a Vital Message to Men of 40, 60 or Older Men Who Feel That The Years Have Let Them Down

If life apparently has lost its zest, you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is a simple method that may change your whole outlook on life. Don't feel old and worn out at 40, 60 or more. Why not try to regain the pleasures of living you once enjoyed; why be discouraged? Regain the verve and zest of a much younger man. Just ask your druggist for Caltron stimulating tablets. Take as directed on label. There is nothing harmful in Caltron tablets. Take as long as you feel you need them. Added years may no longer deprive you of desired enjoyments. Why be the victim of the "older" years?

Don't Be Discouraged

Goethe finished Faust at 83; Cassis Mack is still managing the Athletics at 85; Titian painted masterpieces between 84 and 99; Clara Barton was an active president of the Red Cross at 88; Verdi was composing, Victor Hugo was writing, Corot was painting long after 80.

So don't let the added years get you down. Why not try Caltron tablets today? Available at all druggists.

Sees New Mexico Win For President

WASHINGTON, March 27. (AP)—Senator Chavez (D-NM) predicted today President Truman will carry New Mexico in the presidential election next November.

Leaving a conference with Mr. Truman, Chavez told reporters

Chavez also said Secretary Agriculture Anderson will be elected to the Senate from New Mexico to succeed the retiring Senator Hatch (D).

It has been estimated that the main underground water level in the United States has been lowered 10 to 40 feet by cutting of forests and cultivation of the land.

Scout Troop No. 3 Now Has New Home

Home for Boy Scout troop No. 3 was announced ready for occupancy Saturday by W. D. Berry, scoutmaster.

The building, a 40x50-foot structure, is located at 10th and Bell streets on a 190-150-foot lot provided by the Kiwanis club, sponsors of the troop. In addition to the hut, the grounds will be improved with playground facilities.

The Kiwanis club will make use of the building occasionally for special affairs, said Berry. The hut is converted from a barracks building and has a stucco front. Ultimately, siding will be placed on the balance. Berry urged friends to visit the hut. New meeting time for the troop is Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

TEXAS POLL

O'Daniel Popularity Hits A New Low, Survey Shows

AUSTIN, March 27—U. S. Senator W. Lee O'Daniel has dropped to a new low in the estimation of the voting public, according to a statewide survey of The Texas Poll conducted early in March.

MRS. BILLY MUREL HUGHES, above, is the former Bonnie Jean Arrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Arrick of Sweetwater. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hughes of Sweetwater. Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Hughes both attended Newman high school, Sweetwater. They are making their home in Big Spring where he is employed at the Waffle shop. Wedding vows were exchanged March 13 with the Justice of Peace, Walter Grice of Big Spring, officiating.

While 50 percent of the eligible voters think O'Daniel has announced for re-election, only 7 per cent now say they will vote to send him back to the U. S. Senate.

More than half the voters are aware that former Governor Coke R. Stevenson has entered the race, and one out of every three think they will support him for the junior senator's seat.

Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson of Austin, unannounced when this poll was completed, held second place. One fourth of the voters were under the impression Johnson had announced, and 11 per cent said they would vote for him. O'Daniel placed third.

To make these measurements, Texas Poll interviewers asked these questions of a cross-section of voters proportionately distributed over the state:

1. "Several persons have announced as candidates for U. S. Senator from Texas. Which ones have you heard or read about?"

Coke Stevenson*	56%
W. Lee O'Daniel	50
Lyndon B. Johnson	24
George E. B. Peddy*	10
F. B. Clark*	2
Miscellaneous others	5
None	27

*Had announced at time of survey.

2. "If you had to decide today, who would be your choice for U. S. Senator from Texas in this year's election?"

Coke Stevenson	36%
Lyndon B. Johnson	11
W. Lee O'Daniel	7
George E. B. Peddy	1
All others	4
Undecided	41
	100%

In this survey, at no time were voters given or shown any names to refresh their memory. In a survey last month, voters first were asked to identify a number of names included those of avowed and likely candidates for the Senate. Results of the February survey follow:

1. "Will you please look over this list of names and tell me which of these people you can identify? Will you please tell me who each one is or what he does?"
2. "If you had to decide today, who would be your choice for U. S. Senator from Texas in this year's election?"

	Identified by:	Favored as Senator by:
Stevenson	84%	40%
O'Daniel	90	14
Johnson	30	10
Peddy	10	1

The February and March surveys were taken using different techniques as explained above. Thus it is not correct to compare results of the two polls directly and say that a certain candidate has gained or lost ground from one month to the next. The Texas Poll will continue its series of political surveys until the election; once all candidates have announced it will be possible to measure the trends of strength of the contenders as the campaign progresses. These studies are measurements of popularity at the time the voters are interviewed. Subsequent changes in public opinion will be measured by subsequent polls.

State Studies Possible Price Fix On Bread

AUSTIN, March 27 (AP)—Attorney General Price Daniel said today he is studying evidence presented at a Gainesville court of inquiry covering alleged anti-trust violations on bread prices by bakeries.

Upon complaint of a Gainesville grocer and the city attorney, Daniel said he had sent Assistant Attorney General Pat Peyton and Willis Gresham to Gainesville to investigate. He said it was learned that bakeries in the area refused to deliver bread to a grocery which had advertised a reduction in bread prices from 20 to 18 cents.

Daniel said the court developed testimony which indicated that certain other Gainesville grocers had threatened to boycott any bakery continuing to wholesale bread to the grocer who retailed it for less than 20 cents a loaf.

The attorney general said he planned to complete his study at an early date and that he expected to take immediate action if he concluded that the bakeries and merchants had agreed to fix and maintain the retail price of bread in Gainesville.

Previously, Daniel had filed suits against 12 milk companies and a number of other companies on alleged price fixing. He said he hoped to have the first suit against milk companies ready for trial next month.

DURABLE GOODS KEY FACTOR

Texas' 1947 Retail Sales Resemble Pattern Of 1929

By Dr. John R. Stockton
Professor of Business Statistics, University of Texas
Written for the Associated Press

The sales of retail stores in Texas during 1947 resembled the pattern of 1929 sales for the first year since that date. In 1947 the stores selling primarily "durable" goods represented 34.4 per cent of the total retail sales in the state, almost exactly the same percentage as 1929 when the percentage was 34.5. It is strikingly evident that sales of stores selling durable goods rise in periods of prosperity more than the sales of other stores. Conversely, they fall in periods of declining business more than the sales of other stores.

The classification "durable goods stores" is made up of the stores selling the "hard" line of goods, and includes jewelry stores, furniture stores, household appliance dealers, lumber yards, hardware stores, motor vehicle dealers, and automotive supply stores. The remaining stores sell articles of a less durable nature, such as food, drugs, clothing, and gasoline, and are generally referred to as the "soft" lines.

The prosperity of the twenties was more than anything else a boom in the durable goods industries, with the result that the sales of retail establishments handling durable goods rose to unusually high levels.

The severe depression of the early thirties witnessed a very sharp decline in the production and sale of such articles as furniture, household equipment, and automobiles, although data on retail sales in Texas are not available for the years immediately following 1929.

Bureau of Census data for 1935 showed that durable goods stores sold 30.4 per cent of all goods. Even though considerable recovery had been made from the low point of 1932 and 1933, the percentage of durable goods store sales was still substantially below the 1929 level. The Bureau of Business Research has made estimates of retail sales for the years 1936 to 1938, and from 1940 to 1947. The 1940 census collected data for sales in 1939. According to these data, durable goods stores made 33.6 per cent of all sales in 1936, the highest point this ratio reached between 1929 and 1947. The recession that started in the summer of 1937 pulled the ratio of durable goods stores to total down to 32.1 for the entire year 1937, while the depressed condition of business in 1938 carried the ratio to 29.7 per cent. The improvement in business conditions pushed the ratio up to 31.1 per cent in 1939, 32.1 per cent in 1940, and 32.7 per cent in 1941.

With the beginning of the war, the manufactures of durable goods were converted almost entirely to the production of munitions, with the result that stores selling the hard lines were limited in the goods they had to sell. Motor vehicle dealers were hit the hardest, while jewelry stores were able to find something to sell all through the war. But sales for the whole group of durable goods stores dropped to 20.5 per cent of total sales in 1942 and to 18.7 per cent in 1943. A slight improvement in the supply of durable goods brought the ratio up to 20.5 per cent in 1944, and the ending of the war in 1945 improved the supply enough to bring the ratio up to 23.8 per cent.

With reconversion making progress in 1946, the supply of hard goods moving into the channels of trade increased to the extent that sales of durable goods stores in 1946 were up 29.4 per cent of total sales. For most articles in the hard lines, the only limitation of sales in 1946 was the supply, but by the end of 1947 the supply of most items (automobiles being one important exception; was reaching the point that it no longer determined how much a store could sell.

Roll Call Is Near Its Goal

The Howard-Glasscock Red Cross chapter's 1948 fund campaign Saturday was only about $600 short of its goal, and Drive Chairman Jack Y. Smith said that if those few canvassers who still have out cards would make a report, the effort should be "over the top."

The organization has asked for $8,850, and the fund Saturday stood at $8,284. Outlying Howard county communities contributed the latest boost to the total. C. J. Lamb, directing the solicitation in the Forsan area, turned in $105.25, and reported that employes of two oil companies, Plymouth and American Maricaibo, were 100 percent.

An additional $31 was reported for Coahoma by Ray Echols, to bring that community's contribution up to $374.66.

Smith voiced the hope that final reports will be made so that the solicitation may be closed officially within the next two or three days.

Easter

As we join the joyous Church throngs this Easter, surrounded by loving family, cheering friends and friendly neighbors we can make one simple resolution.

We can resolve to live the spirit of Easter throughout the year . . . and not to shed our "Sunday manners" of tolerance and sincerity when we hang away our "Sunday clothes." And as the meaning of Easter now fills our hearts, let it also guide our deeds day in . . day out.

SOCIETY SUNDAY, MARCH, 28, 1948 EDITORIAL

The Resurrection Told In Song.....

Significant and joyful beyond the bounds of any other religious holiday of the year, Easter is at once the logical moment for anthems and cantatas which swell into hallelujahs and hosannas. Indeed, the Resurrection is the "good news" of the Gospel, the gladsome hope of eternal life through the Saviour who conquered the last enemy.

And so, today in Big Spring churches, voices of choirs and congregations will swell in singing praise for the Risen Lord.

• • •

In an unusual departure, the First Baptist church will utilize both worship hours today for cantatas. The choir of the church will sing Fred B. Holton's compostion, "Redemption's Song," at the 11 a. m. worship. Mrs. Marion Beam, Mrs. Ernest Hock, will be soprano soloists, Mrs. Bill Todd and Marjorie Moore the alto soloists, Wayne Nance tenor soloist, and Raymond Moore, bass soloist. Mrs. C. W. Norman will be at the console, Mrs. S. A Ritter, the piano, and Mrs. J. E. Hardesty will furnish violin accompaniment.

Opening with a soprano obligato, the cantata swells into a men's chorus, then merges into the somber notes telling of Christ's tribulations in the garden, how he bore his cross, and the crucifixion. The choir picks up the gladsome note with "Now Upon the First Day of the Week," and through a series of solos with choir background, the women's chorus, and finally the choir, the story reaches its climax with "Rejoice and Be Glad."

• • •

The Youth choir of the church will be presented in its premiere at 8 p. m. While Wanda Lou Petty, soprano, has had some experience as a soloist, others will be making their debuts. Included are Mary Frances Norman, Jan Masters and Barbara June Greet, sopranos, Peggy Lamb and Jonell Neel, altos. The cantata, "The Glory of Easter," opens on a spirited note of praise before the mood shades into the serious, quiter tones of the crucifixion story. Then "Behold! The Angel of the Lord" will be sung by a soprano soloist and the choir, followed by one other solo and four choir numbers of joyous praise. Ernest Hock, is directing both cantatas. Mrs. Norman and Mrs. Ritter will be accompanists for the Youth choir presentation.

• • •

Members of the choir at the First Methodist church are to observe Easter with special music featuring William Hilgers and Marilyn Keaton as soloists. Hilgers will sing, Hummel's "Alleluia" and Miss Keaton is to do the solo part on the anthem, "Inflammatus" by Rossinni. Roberta Gay and Mrs. Champ Rainwater are to do the anthem in a piano and organ duet.

• • •

Mrs. Noble Kennemur is to do a solo part in the morning anthem, "Now is Christ Risen" by Holton at the Presbyterian church this morning. Other Easter hymns will include "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" and "Christ, the Lord is Risen Today." The anthem for tonight is to be "Easter Song of Praise" by Norman.

At the East Fourth Baptist, the choir is to sing, the anthem, "Hail Him with Rejoicing" at the morning service. Hymns to be sung for the occasion are "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" and "He Arose."

• • •

The First Christian choir is singing "Bells of Easter" in the morning which features a men's chorus and in the evening, "Hail, The Risen Savior" which has a woman's two part chorus.

An Easter cantata will be given at the church this afternoon by the eighth grade Coral club of the high school at 3 p. m. under the direction of Mrs. H. D. Willoughby.

• • •

"Why Seek Ye the Living Among the Dead?" is the anthem which Episcopalians will hear this morning at the St. Mary's church. This anthem is by Williams.

A setting of the Communion Service by Lovelady in the Key of G will be played during the service.

An Easter Canticle, "Christ Our Passover is Sacrificed for Us" will also be heard.

Stewart Smith of Austin is to be guest soloist at the St. Thomas Catholic services. Other solo parts are to be by Mrs. H. G. Talbot and Mrs. F. W. Griese.

Mrs. Omar Pitman, organist, is to play "Vida-Aquam", mass in F no 2, opus 327 by Albert H. Rosewig.

During the offering, "Regina Coeli by L. Cerbi" will be sung by the choir.

Anthems will include, "Alleluia, Alleluia", "Let the Holy Anthem Rise" and "Blessed Easter" by Louis Berge.

WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for a printed diet. Barcentrate is not a vitamin tablet to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Barcentrate. It contains no harmful drugs, but does contain ingredients to make you feel better.

Barcentrate when mixed with grapefruit juice does this: First, cuts down your desire for sweets and fatty foods, but you do not have to FORCE yourself. Barcentrate takes care of your DESIRE. Second, dehydrates and eliminates, so that water is carried away—almost like melting fat. At the same time you feel better, more peppy, more alive, but never starved or hungry.

Lost 22 Pounds

"I lost 22 pounds taking Barcentrate and I feel much better in every way. I eat anything I want and I gladly recommend it to anyone who wants to lose weight."—Gertrude Billings, Route 1, Devine, Texas.

15 Pounds Lost

"I lost 15 pounds taking Barcentrate and can now control my weight. I feel much better in every way and I gladly say, 'It's Barcentrate to control the weight'."—Mrs. Gayle Matthews, 925 Threadneedle Street, Beaumont, Texas.

WEST TEXAS OIL

Wolfcamp Wildcat Discovery Indicated

By JOHN B. BREWER

SAN ANGELO March 27—Indicated discovery Wolfcamp, basal Permian, lime production in a scheduled Ellenburger wildcat in western Upton county attracted most attention in West Texas this week. Anderson-Prichard completed a San Andres lime strike in Cochran county and, with Bay Petroleum Corp., had prospects of a Glorietta lime pool opener in Gaines county.

Wilshire Oil Co., Inc., No. 1 McElroy Ranch Co. in western Upton county unloaded fluid, most of it clean oil, as it pulled drillpipe following a 90-minute drillstem test of the Wolfcamp from 7,922-8,004 feet. Final recovery was 2,040 feet of mud-cut oil and 210 feet of water, which had a chloride content of 10,000 parts per million, about the same as that of the drilling mud. A Schlumberger survey showed a solid porous lime section from about 7,800 to around 8,000 feet.

Drilling continued below 8,102 feet in lime and shale. The test, the first in West Texas by Wilshire, is in the C NE SW 148-E-CCSD&RGNG, 4½ miles east of the McElory (Grayburg) field. On acreage obtained from Standard Oil of Texas, it is projected to 14,000 feet if necessary to test the Ellenburger.

Top of the Grayburg lime at 3,595 feet, 915 feet below sea level, in Slick-Urschel No. 1 W. M. Standifer, diagonal southwest offset to Slick-Urschel and Plymouth No. 1 D. L. Alford, was correlated six feet high to that opener of the Benedum (Ellenburger) field in eastern Upton county. Republic Natural Gas Co. of Dallas prepared to start No. 1-E-A Mrs. Rose Halff Barnett, C SE NW 40-Y-TCRR, 2½ miles northwest of No. 1 Alford.

Anderson-Prichard No. 1 Minnie Slaughter Veal, San Andres lime strike in Cochran county six miles south of Lehman, registered a daily flowing potential of 326 barrels of oil from acidized pay at 4,918-95 feet. It is 440 feet out of the southeast corner of tract 8, league 114, Potter county school land survey.

Anderson-Pritchard and Bay No. 1 Dr. E. H. Jones, Ganies county wildcat five miles south and slightly east of the Jones Ranch (Devonian) field, swabbed 147.16 barrels of oil plus 97.84 barrels of water in 48 hours. It had acidized through casing perforations at 6,105-40 and was to acidize from 6,030-90. Location is 2,200 feet from the south and west lines of section 21-A7-psl.

Atlantic staked No. 1 G. H. McDonald, slated 5,500-foot wildcat in central Gaines county C NW NW 128-G-WTRR, three miles east of Seminole and 3½ miles east of the Seminole (San Andres) field.

Phlilips Petroleum No. 5-M University, discovery or 1¾-mile south extension to the Fullerton Ellenburger field in Andrews county, flowed naturally 1,854 barrels of pipeline oil in 23 hours through a half inch choke and casing perforations at 10,590-645 feet. It is in the C SW NE 31-13-U.

Stanolind No. 1 E. C. Nix, wildcat C SW NE 21-A47-psl, 2½ miles south of the Fullerton field, recovered sulphur water on a drillstem test from 11,499-532 feet and awaited orders.

Texaco No. 11 Ida McDonald, south offset to Gulf No. 20-E-B W. E. Connell, one mile north-northwest extension to the Jordan Ellenburger field in southern Ector county, recovered 6,400 feet of oil and 270 feet of oil-cut mud on a drillstem test of the Ellenburger from 8,841-8,900 feet. It ran 5½-inch casing. Location is the C NW NE 27-B16-psl.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength — and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. An Easter Message Of Perseverance

At some time and place, most of us arrive at that state of near or utter frustration where we are tempted to quit.

This being so, there ought to be a lesson at this season of the year for us. Easter has many messages, and one that is so obscured by the more glorious theme of immortality is that of finishing the task.

In a sense, Jesus had performed the essentials of his teaching. He had established challenging moral and spiritual precepts; he had left a somewhat revolutionary and very definite pattern for living. In a popular sense, it might be said that he had done all he could do. Yet his ministry was not finished. There remained the one supreme task, which seemed not to be so much a part of that which went before it that either was dependent upon the other. Still, the decision to yield to a greater Will and to go all the way was the thing which gave a flavor and distinctiveness to His doctrines beyond that ever attained by any mere moralist. He linked immortality with life.

Although we cannot achieve imortality through mere personal effort we can add more substance to our efforts by finishing our purpose to live the creative and good life.

In the main, people embark upon life with this noble purpose in mind. It is all too easy to become distracted by the exegencies of the moment; to surrender through selfish impulses; or to completely repudiate. While we hold up to scorn the latter two, neither, perhaps, is quite so damning as the first. Unfinished ideals live to haunt us, to shame us for inactivity, to mock us for our lack of courage and initiative. Failing to try and try again to do that which we know we ought to do can be demoralizing.

So it is necessary to keep striving to finish, and it is necessary also to possess the vision and understanding to discern when an experience or an episode has been finished in truth.. We must not relax in smugness over some worthy and pleasant accomplishments when in reality we are attempting to escape the harder and sterner test ahead.

Yes, there is another Easter message today for us, and it is a challenge to individual souls to be able to say with inner satisfaction also that "It Is Finished."

The Real Formula: "Peace Be Unto You"

By FRANK GRIMES
Herald Special Writer

The commercialization of Christmas has distressed a great many people, and enriched many others. But if turning Christmas into a source of profit and volume is deplorable, what can one say of the commercialization of Easter?

Surely, of all the incidents in the life of Christ, this one is commemoration of the Resurrection should be above all sacred, unselfish and seemly.

A great many people who never darken the church door on any other occasion wouldn't think of missing Easter. How else can they show off their new finery to such advantage?

Perhaps this is what the preacher had in mind when he leaned toward his congregation at the close of the Easter service and said earnestly:

"I must take this opportunity to wish you one and all a merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

We imagine people haven't changed much in two thousand years. Jesus and His followers attracted just enough attention in their day to get themselves mobbed by envy and spite. They created scarcely a ripple on the uneasy surface of their time. The lynching of a Galilean reformer was soon forgotten. Had they known the greatness of the character being led away to execution, the business interests of the Holy City would have lined the Via Dolorosa with hot dog stands, penny peep shows and travel posters, and Golgotha itself would have blossomed with the tents of the fortune tellers, the dealers in gimcfacks and the distributors of tracts and amulets. Half the politicians in the place would have set up loudspeakers to keep the crowd entertained.

We intend no irreverence when we say that if Hollywood had been in charge at the Tomb 1915 years ago, it would have been turned into a premiere the like of which the world hasn't seen since.

About the worst act the guards did was to gamble for the Savior's bloody garments. The modern world has crucified His teachings time without number. Peter denied Him thrice, but many professed Christians have denied Him almost daily all their lives. Thomas was doubtful, but finally believed with all his heart. Many eminent churchmen and educators have spent much of their lifetime trying to explain Christ in completely human terms, instead of holding Him up as the veritable Son of God.

Judas betrayed Him for 30 pieces of silver, about $19.50, but many a so-called Christian has turned his back on Christ's teachings for a smaller profit than that.

Pilate washed his hands of the whole affair, but Christians who ignore the plight of the people living like animals in the shacks beyond the railroad tracks have been doing the same thing on week days while singing hymns at the top of their voices every Sunday.

If ever there were a time in history since the Resurrection that people needed humility and brotherly love, it is now. If there were ever a time when they needed to cut out the comedy and the showy parade and the bitter striving for preferment and pelf, it is now when the world teeters on the abyss.

The rationalists have ridiculed the story that Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed by brimstone and fire, but the atomic bomb is a living threat to every human being that inhabits the earth. No man can scoff at that. Perhaps that is one thing even the rationalists can believe.

What were the risen Master's first words to His disciples as they cowered in fear of the mob outside?

"Peace be unto you."

The prescription for peace which He uttered nearly 2,000 years ago remains the only formula by which nations or individuals can live in peace. Men call it the Golden Rule, but seldom get round to practicing it.

ONE WORLD

Washington Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

U. S. Plans Arms To Bolster Europe

WASHINGTON—Vitally important discussions regarding large-scale armament have been going on inside the department of national defense.

President Truman has now approved these plans, and for a time considered including them in his recent message to Congress. At the last minute, however, advisers urged that this part of the speech be cut. It was better, they suggested, not to get the country too aroused all at once.

The basic plan is for the revival of military lend-lease to Europe.

In other words, the United States would begin arming friendly democratic nations just as we did our allies before and during the recent war.

Here are the detailed plans under consideration:

1. Forty divisions of the French Army would be armed with U. S. weapons and equipment. French Foreign Minister Bidault originally asked for enough material to arm 21 divisions, but after the Czech coup d'etat, he raised the figure to 40.

2. The Italian army would get thousands of surplus rifles, maching guns and ammunition, but no new equipment. Later 30 Italian divisions would be armed as fast as new equipment rolls off the assembly lines.

3. Norway would receive surplus naval craft, plus arms for the Norwegian army. This would bolster the Norwegians to withstand pressure from Moscow.

4. British RAF would be swiftly expanded with the help of new American planes. The RAF would be made the most powerful defense and striking force in Europe.

In addition, Truman plans to ask Congress for several billion to make the U. S. Air Force the most powerful striking force in the world. Emphasis will be placed on powerful jet planes and heavy bombers.

The cabinet member who chiefly sold this program to Truman is Secretary of National Defense Forrestal, with support from Secretary of Commerce Harriman. Ever since he served as ambassador to Russia, Harriman has been convinced that the only way to deal with the Russians is to get tough. When he first went to Moscow, Harriman tried the policy of friendly cooperation, but finally decided the Russains misunderstood this as a sign of weakness. He has told Truman that the only thing Stalin, Molotov et al really understand in the present psychological war of nerves is that America means business.

Harriman and Forrestal admit that Russian reaction will be to get tougher still and that there is undoubtedly a risk of war. But the alternative, they think, is "international anarchy."

UNDER THE DOME

After President Truman announced that he would run again, he gave this order to democratic party leaders: "Grab the offensive and keep it; you are too defeatist."...G. O. P. Representative George Schwabe of Oklahoma, one of the house leaders in the drive to abolish the labor department's bureau of veterans' re - employment rights, didn't know that he was grooming political opposition for himself. 32-year-old war vet William Morris of Tulsa, a veterans' re-employment officer, is planning to enter the democratic primary in Schwabe's district next July... Gen. "Wild Bill" Donovan, former head of the wartime supersleuths, OSS, gnashes his teeth at the amateurish way the new central intelligence agency goes about its business. Congressman Karl Mundt of South Dakota has dropped a bill in the congressional hopper requiring all communist-front organizations to register with the justice department. His bill would deny passports to ll members of communist-front groups..Not all southerners disagree with President Truman. The annual session of the Methodist Church Southeastern Jurisdiction meeting at Orlando, Fla., recently passed strongly worded resolutions supporting Truman on civil rights...Randolph Churchill, visiting in New York, was told that many Americans hoped his father, the ex-prime minister, would come to the United States to advise on the current crisis. "Father wouldn't think of coming over here until after the elections," replied Randolph.

REVOLT SEETHES

Democratic Chairman J. Howard McGrath hightailed it up to New York this week in a vain attempt to stem the angry outbreak of New York state democrats against President Truman's renomination bid. Inside fact is that McGrath walked into a burning holocaust.

New York City's powerful democratic organization has been virtually riddled by the Wallace forces, and when McGrath walked into State Chairman Paul Fitzpatrick's hotel room, you could have cut the gloom with a knife. However, he entreated the boys not to desert the ship. He also scolded Congressman Arthur Klein for having denounced the President's switch on Palestine.

"You're lucky," replied Klein, "that the papers didn't print everything I said about Truman."

"What else did you say?" asked McGrath.

Klein's reply made it easy to understand why the newspapers censored his remarks.

At that point ex-Senator James Mead of New York walked into the room.

"When are you going to get that guy off the ticket?" he asked McGrath point blank. "We haven't a prayer of carrying this state with him on it."

Mead had just refused to accept a Truman appointment as Federal power commissioner.

McGrath and democratic publicity expert Jack Redding tried to ease the pressure by pointing out that Truman's St. Patrick's day speech had increased his prestige. But the conclave of democrats only laughed.

Net result of the meeting was general agreement that nothing Truman can do will possibly save New York for the national ticket. New York democrats have decided that if Truman is the candidate, they won't even mention his name unless forced to. To tie themselves to Truman politically would be like jumping off Brooklyn bridge with a ton of rock tied to their feet.

Note—Next Week Congressman Klein will call on all democrats to begin a drive for a new democratic candidate.

Around The Rim—By The Herald Staff

Why Easter Oscillates

All the world knows Easter as the anniversary of the Resurrection, and that since it commemorates the central fact of the Christian religion, is regarded as the chief festival of the Christian year, the most sacred of the Holy days.

And everybody knows about the variance of the Easter date, which requires most of us to consult the calendar every Spring to find out on just what date the holiday will occur.

What probably is not of such general knowledge is the centuries-long controversies that have occurred over the determination of the Easter date. The Encyclopedia Britannica goes into the question at length.

Easter day is accepted now as the first Sunday after the full moon following the vernal (Spring) equinox. It can vary by no less than 35 days, between March 22 and April 25. It so happens that this year we have an "early" Easter.

If this system of fixing the holiday is confusing to you, let it be known that it has been confusing the church and civil leaders all the way back to 300 A. D., and probably earlier. About that time, there were two creeds of Easter observance, one which fixed Easter on a certain day of the month, regardless of the day of the week on which it fell, and another which kept the observance on the first day of the week, Sunday.

A Council was summoned, at Nicaea, by Constantine in 325 A. D. to settle the difference, and it was decided there that Easter was to be kept on Sunday, the same Sunday throughout the world. The correct date was to be calculated at Alexandria, then the home of astronomical science.

Even after that, the variance of the equinox brought further difficulties, and attempt wqs made to fix the correct time of Easter by means of cycles of years, when the changes of the sun and the moon more or less exactly repeat themselves. Various cycles were adopted, with more variance resulting. There was an eight-year cycle, an 84-year, a 532-year, and later a 19-year cycle. At one time, different divisions of the church were observing Easter on different cycles, and thus on different days.

It took a correction of the calendar in 1752 to bring any sort of uniformity on the observance.

Of course, there still is the 35-day spread, and although you recall very distinctly that great experiment to change the American holiday of Thanksgiving, maybe you are less acquainted with the fact that there long has been agitation for a "fixed" Easter. The inconvenience of an oscillating holiday is felt in many quarters, and various groups have from time to time since 1900 passed resolutions in favor of a fixed date for the Holy day.

As late as 1923 an International Chamber of Commerce Congress held in Rome passed such a resolution, addressing it to the Holy See. The matter later was referred to the League of Nations. In 1921, a bill was introduced in the British House of Lords to set the second Sunday in April as the day of observance of Easter. It was argued by some that since—according to best calculation—the Crucifixion took place on Friday, April 7, A. D. 30, the second Sunday in April would be an appropriate time. Supporters of the reform point out that the celebration of the Birth of Our Lord was fixed on Dec. 25 by enactment (in the 4th century) and since this was done, there is no good reason why the celebration of the Death and the Resurrection should vary 35 days in accordance with a fictitious moon.

As late as 1928, the matter came before the British Parliament again, and an Easter Act was passed fixing Easter day as the first Sunday after the second Saturday in April. This was done upon condition of international acceptance. There has been no international acceptance, and the oscillating date still prevails.—BOB WHIPKEY.

Hal Boyle's Notebook

Scared By Ghost Writer

By ARTHUR EDSON
(For Hal Boyle)

WASHINGTON, (AP)— President Daniel Marsh of Boston university has been scared by a ghost.

This ghost is a little man who lurks behind typewriters. He builds speeches or articles to be spoken or signed by someone else. He is the ghostwriter.

In a recent speech Dr. Marsh tore into the man who hires a ghost.

"Dishonest . . . morally threadbare," said the doctor. "Too lazy or dumb to write his own speeches and messages . . . the public is not justified in putting any confidence in what he says."

Ghostwriters get around to all kinds of places.

Take sports. A baseball player hits a home run every three days and hence becames a very important person.

Naturally everyone everywhere yearns to know what he has to say.

But he has nothing to say, or a reasonable facsimile.

So a writer is hired to help him say it. Enough sports writers have been Babe Ruth to start a baseball team, or maybe even a fourth party.

Ghosts aren't only sports minded.

Actresses bubble all in their autobiographies, written by their press agents.

There are some things to be said in favor of ghosts — and I'll say them tomorrow in another of these literary masterpieces.

Right now I'd like to point out that ghost writers have frightened many people besides Dr. Marsh. The late Raymond Clapper summed up their feelings in an article in "Forum" magazine ten years ago.

Clapper wrote:

"If a candidate or a politican can't stand up and talk for 30 minutes or an hour on the issues of this day in his own words and with his own thoughts, then he ought not to fake it by shoving out a speech which has been prepared for him."

Dr. Marsh and Clapper reached the same conclusion:

Pass a law making each speaker or writer swear the work is his own.

Since some lawmakers are among the ghost-users, this idea never has been too popular.

After all, if dogs voted, we'd never have muzzles.

The Nation Today—James Marlow

New Rent Curbs Almost A Certainty

WASHINGTON, (AP)— The bill passed Thursday by Congress to control rents another year is almost certain to become law.

President Truman is expected to sign it into law before April 1. It will coptrol rents from April 1 through March 31, 1949.

Remember—if you're a tenant — that a landlord between now and March 31, 1949 cannot raise your rent unless:

1. You agree to a raise, or —
2. The rent director says your particular landlord can raise you. In that case the director will issue a formal order. Or —
3. The rent in your whole area is raised with government approval.

And — if you're a tenant — remember this

If you have no lease now, or if your present lease runs out between now and March 31, 1949, the landlord cannot put you out for refusing to sign a new lease.

What of the landlord? How can he put a tenant out? He can do it under only six conditions:

1. The tenant won't pay his rent.
2. The tenant has committed a nuisance.
3. The landlord wants the place for the use of himself or his immediate family.
4. The landlord has a contract to sell the place to someone who wants it for his own use.
5. The landlord wants to tear down the place or remodel it — to make more housing room — but can't do it while the tenant is living there.
6. The landlord wants to stop renting althogether.

In every case except Nos. 1 and 2 — refusing to pay rent or committing a nuisance — the landlord must give a tenant 60 days' notice in writing that he wants the tenant to move out.

In the case of Nos. 1 and 2 the landlord can tell the tenant to get out but how much time he has to give him depends upon local laws.

The housing expediter here in Washington — now Tighe E. Woods — wil be top man on rent controls (though there's a special court which can overrule him.)

Most of the local problems — meaning your town — wil be handled by about 600 area rent control offices, each with a director, and an advisory board of at least five local citizens for each area office.

True Stories Of West Texas—N. H. Kincaid

Cow Pony Named 'Flying Machine'

"It was darker'n the inside of out!" explained Frank Mitchell, night rider of the JA herd, as he described a stampede that won for his horse a new name—that of Flying Machine.

It seems that Mitchell was one of the eight or ten cowhands that was helping to trail back the 2000 head from the Palo Duro canyons as they stretched out towards Dodge. Now these cattle were the progeny of Goodnight's new cross - breeding program, which he had started with 100 Durham bulls in 1877—just three years before, when they had moved from Colorado. Their hides were a little darker and perhaps their legs a mite shorter, but that old Longhorn spirit seemed to be with them still. They liked to sniff up a stampede, especially on a dark night.

The night was too still, for one thing; and when the darkness had begun to settle, it hadn't wafted down gently. It dropped like a stuffed shroud. There had been no sign of breeze, and the air was clear as a bell. The least sound cut the night like a whip.

Mitchell began singing to the cattle as he encircled their bedding ground, but he soon found that he had turned in too soon and was in the midst of the herd; he had been unable to see. Then a glimmer of lightning showed him those animals, every head was lifted expectantly, as if awaiting some certain signal.

"Let me out of here and quick!" he muttered as he tried to quietly turn his horse about without frightening them. It wouldn't take much to jump that herd now.

And then it happened. A clap of thunder split the air, and the cattle arose as a unit. The herd swept forward, and so did Mitchell, riding their fetlocks.

"Well, the stampeders headed for a bluff that I didn't know was there," Mitchell continued his story, "and so did I."

"But you know, that horse did not shift a leg goin' down, he was that steady. And when he hit on his all-fours, I was still a-settin' the saddle. But the funny thing was that when he lit, he stayed lit—didn't move; jest seemed to be restin'. And all night long he didn't move, even when I teched him gently like with the spur.

"Come morning, I saw the reason for it all. That Flying Machine horse was bogged up to his knees in solid rock!"

Cheesecake In London

NEW YORK—Leo Lindy, happily waved a cablegram at me as I checked my coat and lid in his famous restaurant. . .It said: "Cheesecake you sent Danny Kaye for my birthday party so terrific that I have held Danny over for two extra weeks at the London Palladium. Regards, Val Parnell (manager)." "I'm getting to be international," Leo said as he trotted delightedly off.

Charlies Mosconi was asked on Jack Eigen's broadcast why he thought the old time comedians were better than the new brand. . . "because they told the same jokes earlier," quipped Charlie, once the star of the famous vaudeville "Dancing Mosconis." . . .James Mason tells me he's a Phil Harris fan. . .At least when Phil hustles through those fast jingles such as "That's What I Like About the South.". . .James wanted to know what I thought of them. . ."Don't ask," I said.

FRANKIE CARLE shot a few scenes of his next picture, "I Surrender Dear," in the Copacabana during the Jack Eigen disk jockey program. . .The gimmick being that it will give a slight excuse for Frankie to play a couple of his famous recorded ditties, "Carle Boogie" and "The Anniversary Song," during the movie. . .Incidentally, Eigen, first of the all-night gabbers who spin their platters in night clubs, is on television, makes vaudeville appearances and generally is cashing in on his dubious pioneering. . .Used to be a novelty, but the clubs on Broadway took to the devise like mad. Now there are mikes set up in almost all of them, and the novelty now is nil.

Monty Woolley writes that he's well again and while he likes Saratoga best of all, will make another picture soonest. . .Ray Milland giving folks at Park and 50th a pleasant pedestrian surprise. . .George Stevens, who directed "I Remember Mama," and Harriett Parsons, Louella's girl, entering Twenty-one unnoticed by the autograph pests who ganged up on a star so unimportant none of us could think of her name. . .Beverley Kelly, Ringling Brothers' famous press agent who announced last year he was through with spangles and circus publicity, apparently didn't say "positively.". . .Tennyrate, he's one of a trio of gentlemen who will produce professional dramatics in Columbus, O. . . Grease paint is like printer's ink: Tough to wash off.

In Hollywood—Bob Thomas

Foy Hops On New Trend

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—The movie makers speak:

Bryan Foy, eagle-lion boss, knows a film trend when he sees one. The man who played the gangster cycle to the hilt years ago is now hopping on the semi-documentary. Now filming the Canon City, Colo., prison break, he is also planning "29 Clues," about a real-life murder mystery, and "Wetbacks," story of the U. S. Border patrol. Says he: "This film cycle is good for 10 years."

Producer Harry Kurnitz was telling his troubles in getting a script for "Banjo Eyes," Eddie Cantor's biography: "The life of a man like Cantor, who rose from orphan to millionaire, is dull screen fare because it is nothing but a chronicle of success." His problem is to inject conflict, but how can he, when millions of radio listeners believe Eddie and Ida have a perfect married life. "Tampering with that would be like changing the ending of the Passion play," the producer added.

Danny Dare, who produced the last "Road" film, says Bing, Bob and Dotty will probably make another, although there are no present plans. "The problem is to find another uncivilized place for them to go," he said. "They aren't as funny when they get too close to civilization."

Robert Montgomery was saying how much he'd like to win an academy award for acting in one of his self-directed pictures. Then in his acceptance speech he could say: "I want to thank my director, without whose magnificent support my performance could not have been possible."

* * *

Madeleine Carroll and Buddy Rogers were a nervous pair at the start of "Innocent Affair." She hadn't made a Hollywood film in five years, he in eight. But they're over their nerves now . . . Bob Hope goes to Phoenix, Ariz., next month to watch his Cleveland Indians train and broadcast with the team . . . Greer Garson is fortified for her rain and mud scenes in "Julia Misbehaves" by a protective oil, plus plastic underwear . . .

Hollywood sights and sounds . . . Lana Turner being welcomed back to "The Three Musketeers" set with an antique wheelchair . . . Don Defore writing a play on a noiseless typewriter in a corner of the "One Sunday Afternoon" set . . . Ruth Hussey acting as crossing guard once a week for her children's school.

WORD-A-DAY
By MICKEY RACH

Affairs Of The World—DeWitt MacKenzie

May Start World War III

A lot of words have been pouring over the dam by way of explaining America's temporary abandonment of the project of partitioning of the Holy Land and call for a truce between Arabs and Jews, but President Truman pinned the thing down for us yesterday.

He pointed out that there will be no public authority in Palestine which can preserve order after May 15 (When Britain bandons her mandate). Then he handed us the meat of the problem.

"Violence and bloodshed will descend upon the Holy Land. Large scale fighting among the people of that country will be the inevitable result. Such fighting would infect the entire Middle East and could lead to consequences of the gravest sore involving the peace of this nation and of the world."

In short, Palestine might easily become the whelping ground for World War III.

The cause of this threat is clear enough. It of course lies in the disastrous clash between the Russian bloc and the democracies. That quarrel inevitably must spread to the strategic Middle East if major conflict should break out between the Jews and the Arabs.

Hence the President's call for a truce and for the establishment of a temporary United States trusteeship for the Holy Land. He said the trusteeship wasn't intended as a substitute for the partition plan and that he still favored partition ultimately after peace had been assured.

And when may we expect peace to be assured? Well, unless the Middle East has changed mightily since your correspondent last was there, it will be a long, long time before tranquility descends amongst the Arabs and the Jews.

Spokesmen of both races at the United Nations hearquarters, Lake Success, stood pat in their first reaction to Mr. Truman.

New Oscar Winner, Loretta Young, Stars In Ritz Attraction

Romance and comedy are blended in Samuel Goldwyn's unique vehicle for Cary Grant, Loretta Young, latest oscar winner, and David Niven, "The Bishop's Wife." The film opens its Big Spring engagement at the Ritz theatre today.

As a Protestant bishop in a mid-Western city, Niven has become so absorbed in the problem of raising funds for a new cathedral that he has lost touch with his old friends and has even lost the warm affections of his wife and child. Realizing that the situation is getting beyond him, he prays for assistance, and is dumbfounded when a super-efficient young man, Dudley, immediately appears in his study and promises to help him reestablish himself.

Although the clergyman resents the stranger's interference, the rest of the household speedily falls under the guest's spell. It isn't long before the mysterious visitor has straightened out the financial troubles, won the bishop's old parishioners back to him, and reunited him with his wife again in a sparkling Christmas Eve climax.

Directed by Henry Koster, the RKO Radio release features a notable supporting cast headed by Monty Woolley and including James Gleason, Gladys Cooper, Elsa Lanchester and The Mitchell Boychoir.

'Red Stallion' Is Story Of Ranching Life In Mountains

The story of a youngster's efforts to save his grandmother's ranch from financial failure is the theme of Eagle-Lion's Cinecolor production of "The Red Stallion," which opens today at the Lyric theatre. The cast is headed by Robert Paige, Noreen Nash and Ted Donaldson.

Filmed against the beauty of the Mount Shasta country of northern California, "The Red Stallion" tells the story of a lads efforts to save the ranch by training a stallion for the race course. On the night before the important test race, the Stallion is attacked by a vicious bear, and in one of the most unusual sequences ever screened, the fight to the death is presented with thrills never before filmed.

Ted Donaldson is cast as the youngster and offers a good performance as the boy who proves that his devotion and loyalty to his horse are justified. Paige and Miss Nash are cast as horse trainers and are paired for romantic interest.

The leading players, along with Jane Darwell, Guy Kibbee, Ray Collins and Willie Best, offer a set of fine performances.

Leslie Selander has brought Robert E. Kent and Crane Wilbur's story to the screen with great warmth and understanding. With Bryan Foy in charge of production and Ben Stoloff producing, Eagle-Lion's "The Red Stallion" bids for the attention of film fans.

HIGHLIGHTS ON KBST

First Easter To Be Dramatized On Air

The story of the first Easter will be the theme of the reverent dramatization, titled "The Resurrection," to be heard during the KBST broadcast of The Greatest Story Ever Told at 5:30 p. m. today.

The Easter drama will include the scene in which the Roman soldiers placed a giant stone at the entrance of the Master's tomb after Joseph of Arimathaea had claimed his body from Pontius Pilate. Thomas appears as well, in "The Resurrection" to demand of the Master the proof that He has returned. The program is supervised by Fulton Oursler, and written by Henry Denker.

THEATRE GUILD

Deborah Kerr and John Conte will be starred in the Theatre Guild on the Air production of "Remember the Day," a rueful comedy-drama by Philo Higley and Philip Dunning this evening at 8:30 p. m. over ABC-KBST. Patricia Kirkland will be featured in the cast.

Playwrights Higley and Dunnnig looked back long and reverently to their school days and came up with "Remember the Day," an absorbing play about a teacher who influenced the lives of a number of her pupils. In their tender appraisal, she is almost totally unlike the traditional school marm, being a warm, sympathetic, understanding woman. One of her pupils falls in love with her and believes his sentiment is fully requited until he discovers her in what he imagines is a compromising position. The experience is one that, in different ways, profoundly affects the lives of both.

"THIS IS YOUR FBI"

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will make one of his rare radio appearances to pay tribute to the Boys' Clubs of America on the organization's 42nd anniversary, during the Friday, April 2, broadcast of This Is Your FBI at 7:30 p. m. over KBST.

Hoover, a member of the borad of directors of the Boys' Clubs of America, is of the opinion that the clubs are a tremendously effective force in combating juvenile delinquency and should have the support of every American citizen. Further he believes that far too small a portion of the adult populace takes an active part in the drive to check the activities of bands of young delinquents.

Emphasis On Candor

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (U.P.)— A theater manager here isn't afraid to do a little "editorializing" on his marquees. Both theaters run by H. E. Stevens carried this description of the main attraction: "Katy Hepburn, Robert Walker, in a stinker, "Song of Love'."

Shots Of 'Big T' Are At Ritz Today

Motion picture scenes of the famous battleship Texas, some of them historic action sequences, are included in the newsreel at the Ritz theatre today and Monday.

Of particular interest to Texans are the scenes of their "own" battlewagon, for the old Texas is now on her way to the Lone Star state to become a state shrine. The Texas will be berthed in the Houston ship channel at the San Jacinto battleground, to become one of the monuments to the state's part in the nation's various fights for freedom.

Philadelphia Is Getting Texas Gas

PHILADELPHIA, March 27. (AP)—Philadelphia was getting natural gas today from Texas oil fields 1,280 miles away.

The Federal power commission authorized the flow for a 36-day emergency period. The gas, transmitted though the Big inch pipe line, is expected to reach the rate of 4,300,000 cubic feet a day. It will enable the city gas works to reduce its use of fuel oil by 43,000 gallons daily.

Welcome
To Big Spring
Fellow Rotarians and Rotary Anns

SWARTZ'S

Welcome Rotarians of the 127th District for Your Conference in Big Spring, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

VOL. 20. BIG SPRING, TEXAS, HERALD, SUNDAY, MARCH 28, 1948 NO. 237

Big Rotary Conference Crowd Is Due

CONVENTION LEADERS — These three men had important roles in the planning of the 127th Rotary International district convention which opens here Monday, and they will have key parts in its conduct. At left is J. F. (Jim) McCulloch, Stamford, district governor, who has been an almost constant visitor in Big Spring since the first of the year as he conferred with Otto Peters, Sr., center, president of the host club. Peters, together with Dave Duncan, right, conference chairman, named committees and have supervised arrangements for the area gathering, which will be the last for the district as now exists. Plans have been accepted for its partition.

District Divides After This Meet

Big Spring was set today to entertain more than 500 Rotarians and their wives at the 11th annual conference of the 127th district of Rotary International.

First of the visitors began arriving Saturday evening and the influx was due to reach great proportions by mid-afternoon today.

Registrations at hotels and tourist courts approximated 450 Saturday morning and there was good prospect of large numbers coming from clubs in proximity to Big Spring.

Besides the appeal of a strong slate of speakers, and contested governor's race, this year's conference has a special attraction in that it is the last one for the 127th district before it is partitioned. Two slates of officers will be named and two conventions sites chosen to cover developments in the new 127th, which will be the west half of the present district, and the 126th.

Monday is expected to be a banner day, what with the election for governor nominees coming up during the afternoon. The Canadian club has advanced the candidacy of Harry S. Wilbur, Sr. and the Littlefield club has proposed Dr. Ira Wood as governor of the 127th district. W. B. (Bill) Todd is unopposed as governor nominee of the 126th district, which is the eastern division of the current district.

Keynote for the conference will be sounded Monday morning by Delbert Downing, Midland, and a number of other talented speakers will be heard during the two day's of activity before Dr. M. E. Dodd, Shreveport, La., climaxes the series with a message on international opportunities of the organization in "Rotary Around the Wrold."

Representing the president of Rotary International will be Fred Haas, Omaha, Neb., who has served in many capacities of Rotary, including those of president of his club, international director, and others. Mrs. Haas is to be honored at a breakfast Tuesday morning. Haas is the featured speaker at the governor's banquet Monday evening in the Settles ballroom.

A variety of panel discussions are on tap Monday noon and afternoon, with balloting for governor slated to begin at 2:30 p. m. Announcements of results may be made at the Governor's banquet.

There will be a luncheon for women at noon Monday at the First Baptist church for Rotary Anns. They also will be special guests at the all conference ball that evening in the Settles.

Registration begins officially at 2 p. m. today at the Settles. Many Rotarians will attend evening church services at 7:30 p. m. There will be a Fellowship Hour observed from 5 p. m. to 9 p. m. on the Settles mezzanine.

Otto Peters, Sr., host president, said Saturday that all preparations were complete under direction of Dave Duncan, conference chairman and that an enthusiastic and orderly development of the conference was in prospect.

Fred Haas Will Speak At Banquet

Fred L. Haas

Fred L. Haas, a key figure in his home city of Omaha, Neb. and an outstanding one in Rotary International, will address the featured Governor's Banquet on Monday at 6 p. m. in the Settles ballroom.

Haas will sit in on conference functions as the personal representative of the president of Rotary International.

A member of the Omaha Rotary club since 1926, Haas has served as president of that club, as a Rotary International director, as district governor and as a committee member. For 1947-48, he is a member of the Rotary Foundation Committee of International.

His civic aetivities are by no means confined to Rotary, for he is a past director of the Omaha YMCA, and is active in Boy Scout work and the Omaha chamber of commerce. He is a stewart of the First Methodist church in his city. In the past he served as Nebraska state chairman of the American Cancer drive during 1946, was a member of the mayor's planning committee which has achieved national publicity for its constructive work, and is a member of the greater Omaha Aviation committee.

Haas is a leader in his profession, too, serving as president of the Fred and Clark Haas Women's Apparel retail company in Omaha. He is a past president of the Associated Retailers of Omaha and has been a director of that association since 1927.

Rotary Anns Will Be Given Round Of Social Events

Wives of Rotarians here for the 127th district conference will be entertained at a round of social events including a musical program and luncheon, theatres, the all-conference ball and a breakfast for Fort Worth visitors and wives of past district governors.

First item on the program is set for Monday noon with the luncheon in the First Baptist church basement. Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. Obie Bristow will be hostesses.

The musical program will feature Paul Ricker singing and playing on his guitar Western ballads and songs. Mrs. Omar Pitman and Mrs. Harry Hurt are to play piano selections throughout the social hour. Mrs. Charlie White is to act as mistress of ceremonies.

The Rotary Anns are also invited to be guests of the hostesses at the Ritz theatre Monday afternoon.

Members of the hospitality committee of which Mrs. M. K. House, Sr. is chairman are Mrs. A. V. Karcher, Mrs. Fritz Wehner and Mrs. Otto Peters. They are to meet the Rotary Anns at the hotel and escort them to where they are to stay.

Rotary wives will also attend the all conference dance at the Settles ballroom Monday evening.

Wives of the Fort Worth delegates and wives of the past district governors will be guests at a breakfast given by Mrs. O. B. Sellers, Fort Worth, past district governor's wife, in honor of Mrs. Fred Haas, wife of the personal representative of the international president of the Rotary club, from Omaha, Nebr., this breakfast will be held in the Settles hotel Monday morning. Mrs. Jim McCullouch of Stamford is in charge of arrangements.

FROM THE MAYOR

Official Greetings

In the spirit of neighborliness and brotherhood, Big Spring today extends the handclasp of greeting and fellowship to Rotarians and Rotary Anns of the 127th district of Rotary International.

The occasion of the annual conference here is a source of pride for all citizens, for we look upon this gathering as one which brings to us the best in ideals of service and ethics as well as men who match in character these lofty aims.

Thus, this is more than a mere convention. We are indebted to Rotary for visiting with us because we inescapably will be beneficiary of dynamic ideas loosed in unselfish spirit during the progress of the conference. Ours is not just a welcome to, but an appreciation of the conference as well . . . GEORGE W. DABNEY, Mayor, City of Big Spring.

Delbert Downing To Keynote Meet

Delbert Downing, Midland chamber of commerce manager, will keynote the 127th district Rotary convention here in the opening session at the city auditorium Monday morning.

After Downing filled in as a last minute substitute at the conference in Fort Worth last year and scored a smash hit with delegates, there was little doubt as to whom the honor of being keynoter should go. His address, "This is Rotary," will be heard at 10:35 a. m.

Before he speaks, a series of formalities attendant upon the opening of the conference will be heard. They include songs, a call to order by Dave Duncan, Big Spring, conference chairman, the invocation by the Rev. Howard Hallowell, Midland. Otto Peters, Sr., host club president, will extend the address of welcome, and Harley Sadler, Sweetwater, will respond.

Presentation of District Governor J. F. (Jim) McCulloch, Stamford, will precede that of presentation of past district governors, the president's representative and special guests. McCulloch will then submit his report, followed by announcements by Marvin K. House, Sr., conference secretary. After Downing's address, Dr. E. H. Hereford, Arlington, will speak on "Service Unlimited." Nomination of district governor candidates will conclude the first general session.

A series of luncheons and panels on club service, vocational service, community service, international service and club publications will be in progress from 12

DURING SCORE OF YEARS IN BIG SPRING

Rotary Club Partcipates In Many Civic Activities

There is almost no field of wholesome endeavor which Rotary has not touched in its 20 years of history in Big Spring.

Aid to crippled children—Rotary Institute Speakers—war chest contributions—student loans — support of baseball park and horse show projects—these and many more are packed into the annals of the club.

Interest in organization of a Rotary club in Big Spring first was shown by the Sweetwater club in 1926, but at that time possibility of enough classifications was not encouraging. But by January of 1928, the nucleus of a club here was formed and on Feb. 23, 1928, Rotary International recognized the new club.

J. Fred Phillips was the first president, and these were the other charter members: R. H. McNew, Fred Stephens, Paul C. Cayton, Harvey L. Rix, George L. Wilke, Dr. E. O. Ellington, Edward W. Hamberger, J. M. Morgan, J. W. Ashley, J. L. Thomas, Max S. Jacobs, R. F. Shoemaker, Bruce Frazier, J. B. Worthy, Rev. Dow H. Heard, D. E. Cook, F. E. Keating, B. Reagan, James T. Brook, Albert M. Fisher, J. C. Douglass, Edwin A. Kelley, E. E. Fahrenkamp, Dr. G. T. Hall.

One of the first projects undertaken by the club was purchase of trees for the fledgling city park, trees which have since grown into large living memorials. The club also assumed sponsorship of Boy Scout troop No. 1 in its early days.

In Dec. 1934 the Rotary club voted for construction of a squirrel cage at the city park and in April of the following year financed more trees for the park. Funds also were provided to the Junior Hyperion club for juvenile library books. Still interested in trees, the club voted to provide 65 trees to be planted along highway entrances.

Besides constantly replenishing its student loan fund, the club also kept its crippled children's fund active. For several years the club had only sandwiches on one day out of the month, putting half the meal cost into the crippled children's activity. At one time the club furnished milk for underprivinoon to 2:30 p. m. From 2:30 to 5:30 p. m., balloting on governor nominees will be in progress.

The next general program development on the agenda is the traditional banquet honoring the district governor. This will be highlighted by an address by Fred L. Haas, Omaha, Neb., personal representative of the president of Rotary International. An announcement from the election committee also will be heard at this session.

As soon as the ball room can be cleared, the all conference ball will begin with Jack Free and his orchestra furnishing the music.

Following a round of sectional breakfasts Tuesday, the general session will be convoked at 9:30 a. m. Trent C. Root, Lubbock, assistant to the president of Texas Tech, will speak on "New Fronters in International Service." His address will be followed by a report on the district foundation fellowship and presentation of a fellowship candidate.

J. Ed McLaughlin, Ralls, a past district governor, will inform the conference of international convention plans for Rio de Janiero together with explanation of proxy voting. Fred Wemple, Midland, state highway commissioner and a past district governor, will explain some of the enactments to be considered at Rio. Past District Governor Linton H. Estes speaks on "Rotary Builds for Tomorrow" at 11:05 a. m. Invitations for the 1949 conference (two sites will be chosen) will be heard before recessing at noon to the all conference luncheon at the Settles ballroom.

Reports will be heard, awards presented and district governor nominees introduced before Dr. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church in Shreveport, La. since 1912 and a world wide figure in religious fields as well as a widely known Rotarian, closes the conference with a ringing challenge for "Rotary around the World."

Activities

leged children in four ward schools.

Among the many other things the club supported over the year were a $250 loan for baseball construction, a like guarantee (which had to be paid) for support of a horse show in 1941, contribution to a high school band uniform fund, sponsoring Rotary institute speakers, rural-urban activities, backing 4-H club calf projects, war chest contributions and war bond purchases. Inter-club meetings have been held and Rotarians even tangled with Kiwanians in a benefit softball game in 1938.

The Big Spring club succeeded in organizing the Lamesa club in January of 1937, and entertained the district conference here in 1939.

Those who have served as president, other than Fred Phillips, were W. T. Strange, Jr., B. Reagan, R. T. Piner, E. J. Mary, Dr. M. H. Bennett, James A. Davis, M. K. House, Sr., Elmo Wasson, Tom Ashley, J. T. Brooks, A. S. Darby, Ira Thurman, Dave Duncan, Pat Kenney, William T. Tate, A. V. Karcher, Ira Driver, Fred Keating and Otto Peters, Sr., the current president.

Many Discussions Before Conference

At most conventions considerable portions of discussion schedules and speaker programs go hand in hand with the knife and fork, and the district Rotary conclave here is no exception.

Some of the outstanding speakers booked for the session will appear at various luncheons from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m. Monday.

Fred Thompson, Cleburne, past governor of District No. 129, will address the Club Service Group Luncheon on the Mezzanine of the Settles. His topic will be "Club Service, 'Making It Work'." On the panel for that session are Rex Webster, Lubbock, chairman; Hiram Arrant, a past district governor from Abilene, vice-chairman; Luke Archer, Crowell, secretary; Jack Norman, Stamfrod, song leader; Spencer Campbell, Spur; H. S. (Benny) Benjamin, Borger; Ray Evans, Pampa; Lawrence Barber, Seagraves; Grady Graves, Crowell.

L. D. Ratliff, Spur, will speak at the Vocational Service Group Luncheon in room No. 5 on "First an Individual Service." The panel is composed of W. Aubrey Stephenson, past district governor from Abilene, chairman; Glen Wilson, Nocona, vice-chairman; Sumner M. Clayton Jr., O'Donnell, secretary; William A. Cassidy, Snyder, song leader; Orvel Kelly, Stamford; L. G. Maund, Dublin; Sam Harbison, Graham; L. C. Haney, Tahoka.

"Know Your Community" will be the subject of an address by Benny Butler, Cisco, at the Community Service Group Luncheon in room No. 1. Panel members include Bob Cooke, Arlington, chairman; Charlse E. Five Cities Have Been Rotary Hosts

Only five cities have had the pleasure of entertaining the 127th district (which previously was part of the old 41st district) since the first conference was held in 1926.

Big Spring is in that group by reason of being host this year. Others are Amarillo, Abilene, Fort Worth and Lubbock, the latter being the only city to entertain the conference three times. Lubbock had the conference first in 1928, again in 1941 and in 1944. Amarillo entertained in 1926 and 1946, Abilene in 1934 and 1943, Fort Worth in 1936 and 1947. Big Spring was host originally in 1939.

Pinball Machine Is Photo Research Aid

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 25. (AP)—An electronic pinball machine in the Eastman laboratory comes close to seeing certain things as the human eye does.

Its job is to do some objective seeing, not influenced by human minds, that will help make better photographic negatives. Especially, the goal is to overcome graininess, the "sprinkle of pepper" look, in enlargements.

The pinball machine was designed by Drs. Loyd A. Jones and George C. Higgins. It is based on knowledge that scientists and physicians have learned about the miracle of sights.

In human sight, much depends upon the retina or inner screen of the eye. The retina is composed of two different kinds of reviewing cells, the cones and rods.

In the center of the retina, the cones are tightly packed. They do the seeing of fine detail. These cones are so small that 20,000 side by side would equal an inch. Farther out from the center, they become three to four times larger. The outside part or periphery of the retina is composed only of rods, which are used mostly in night vision or for seeing when there is very little light. These rods are useful in seeing shape, but not fine detail.

The cones that do detect fineness of detail are the ones Dr. Jones and Dr. Higgins are most interested in. Many of them are used even in seeing things that are barely visible. Tests have shown that about 87 are employed in seeing a tiny black square, and about 1,440 in seeing a just-visbile long thin line.

The eye is never still except for the briefest moments, and the vibration or movement brings many of the cones into action, building up the perception of differences in the brightness of an object being viewed.

Grains of silver particles on a photographic negative stop more light than portions where there are no grains or deposits.

Using human observers watching a screen, Drs. Jones and Higgins have made many tests of how much different kinds of negatives can be magnified before graininess is noticed by the eye. This system uses a concealed projector that travels on a kind of railway track to give different degrees of magnification of a tiny portion of film.

But this is still a subjective or human measurement. The electronic sight machine is designed to eliminate the human element.

This machine sends a tiny beam of light through an infinitesimally small portion of a negative, and then forms an enlarged image. One tiny spot is compared with another adjacent spot.

By a system of mirrors and electronic controls, the machine detects any difference in brightness between the two areas. The difference is recorded by little metal balls, like BB shot, that are dropped automatically into slots, depending upon the degree of difference. A whole strip of film can be examined closely and the number of balls in each slot gives a graph of the variation in brightness. This chart can be translated into the amount of graininess perceptible.

The results correlate closely with those obtained in human tests, they said.

TREASURER — Ira Thurman, veteran member of the Big Spring Rotary club and who has served as treasurer of his organization as well as head of the club, will be treasurer for the 127th District conference here Monday and Tuesday. All registration and other funds for the parley will be handled by Thurman. It should be natural, for Thurman is cashier of the First National Bank.

Trinity Watershed Soil Losses Told

DALLAS, March 27. (AP)— Soil-losses in the Trinity river watershed are affecting every town and city in the region, State Conservationist Paul H. Walser of Temple said here Thursday.

He spoke at a joint meeting of the Dallas chamber of commerce and the Dallas citizens council.

Head of the sprawling Rotary International organization is S. Kendrick Guernsey, a life insurance company executive of Jacksonville, Fla.

President Guernsey is a native Floridian, having been born at Orlando, where he was engaged in the real estate and investment business for a number of years. He was a charter member of the Orlando Rotary club, and in addition, at various times he served as president of the chamber of commerce, chairman of the county school board and director of the Boy Scouts and the YMCA. He is now a member of the Jacksonville Rotary club and has served Rotary International as vice-president, district governor and committee chairman. He served as an officer of the Army during World War I.

MILWAUKEE (U.P.)—Mrs. Carlos Gerlach, who baked an angel food cake with pancake flour instead of cake flour, reported the cake "turned out fine and tasted wonderful."

Look Mussolini!

ROME (U.P.) — Reconstruction of Italian railways will be completed in 1950, with better rolling stock, more streamlined trains and greater comfort than Mussolini's transport ever boasted. Guido Corbellini, transport minister, said the next two years should bring "considerable technical improvement in all sectors."

Rare Frogs

SAN FRANCISCO (U.P.) —The California Academy of Sciences now has 33 rare frogs, called lechriodus fletcheri, formerly found in only two other museums in the world. The academy received its collection from Joseph R. Slevin, its curator of reptiles, who found them in the jungles around Ulong, New South Wales.

LAWYER'S IDEA

Rotary Born Of A Yearning For Friendship In Business

One day in 1900, Paul P. Harris, a young Chicago, Ill., attorney, dined with a lawyer friend in Rogers Park, a residential section of the city.

After dinner, the two strolled informally, interrupting their conversation regularly as the friend led

Paul P. Harris

Harris into stores and introduced him to the proprietors. They were the lawyer's clients—and his friends. This put Harris to thinking, and the first faint concepts of Rotary were born.

Harris pondered over this for five years until in 1905 he had formulated a definite philosophy of business relations — a philosophy which reasoned that some of a man's business friends could also be his social friends. So he put the idea to Silvester Schiele, a coal merchant, Gustavus Loehr, a mining engineer, and Hiram Shorey, a merchant tailor, three of his clients, and they decided to organize a club.

On Feb. 25, 1905, the first meeting took place in Chicago, the nucleus of thousands of Rotary clubs to come had been formed. Harris gave the organization its name of "Rotary" because the club rotated its meeting place among the places of business of the various members. Because most of the men who were taken into the fellowship were small town boys who welcomed intimate relationships they had sacrificed in a big city, the movement proved popular.

When Paul Harris became president of Rotary in its third year, he looked for means of expanding the movement to other cities. Accordingly, the second Rotary club came into being in San Francisco in 1908, and by 1910 there were 16 clubs.

Only two more years were required before Rotary jumped the borders into Canada and Rotary National gave way to the International Association of Rotary clubs in 1912. Ten years later the name was shortened to Rotary International, and by that time the organization was well on its way to its total of 6,000 clubs and more than 293,000 members in 70 countries.

Harris, the founder, was honored by being made the first president of Rotary National and then of the international association. He was peculiarly equipped for the task, for he too had a small town background, plus a wide acquaintance with people and countries.

Born in Racine Wisconsin in 1868, Harris was taken to Vermont to live with his paternal grandparent when he was only three. He eventually was schooled in the University of Vermont, Princeton University and the University of Iowa, obtaining law degrees from the former and latter.

But before entering upon practice, he resolved to spend five years in getting to know his fellow man better. Harris' bold venture took him into the roles of orange picker in Louisiana, granite salesman in the South, actor for a Denver stock company, cowboy on a Colorado ranch, newspaper reporter in San Francisco, teacher in a Los Angeles business college, worker in a California raisin-packing factory. Then he spent two years in England, Scotland, Ireland, Belgium and Italy as well as other European points. By 1896, he had married a Scotch lass and returned to the states to enter upon his practice.

But his regard for his fellow beings, his high concepts for ethical conduct between individuals as well as members of business and profession were just taking shape. When they emerged, they blossomed into one of the most purposeful and popular movements in the world. It must have given him pride even to the day he died in 1947 . a revered and honored man.

J. F. McCulloch To Be Last Head Of Old District

J. F. (Jim) McCulloch, Stamford farmer, has the distinction of serving as the last governor of the old District No. 127 of Rotary International.

Simultaneously with expiration of his term, the district will be divided into two units, with the eastern section forming new District No. 126 and the remainder continuing as District No. 127.

McCulloch is a member and past president of the Rotary club of Stamford, the place of his birth, and since 1919 he has been engaged in farming there.

He is president of the Stamford Livestock Association, a director and chairman of the agriculture committee of the chamber of commerce, and is also an active leader in Boy Scout work. He is chairman of the board and supervisor of his Soil Conservation District.

Since 1943, McCulloch has been vice-president and a member of the executive committee of the Production Credit Association, a cooperative credit organization operating in the State of Texas.

District 127 To Be Split

Some Rotary clubs are sending delegates to their last convention of District No. 127 today, as the territory of four present districts is to be divided into seven separate units.

Part of the clubs in District No. 127 will be in the new District No. 126, while others will remain in 127.

Foxes Outfoxed

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (U.P.) — The "block system" for catching foxes is paying off for a group of people in Marshall County. They establish a series of "blocks" about which the hunters station themselves. Sooner or later the fox runs through a block line. If one group misses him, those in the next block probably will get him.

No Rooster

LINDEN, N. J. (U.P.)— Neighbors complained that Frederick R. Hewitt kept a rooster that awoke them early in the morning. When police investigated, they found the rooster was the call of the Australian kookaburra bird heard over Hewitt's short-wave radio. The kookaburra's nickname is the "laughing jackass."

Otto Peters Is Well Known For Service

In Big Spring, the head of Rotary International has something of the international background in his make-up—and an abundance of the ideal of service.

Otto Peters was born in Germany, but he came as a child to New York city, where he was reared and educated.

Although he cannot remember too much of his early background, since he became a man, he has been almost always engaged in some service project. First it started with church work, and later it broadened into welfare and Red Cross work, and ultimately into Rotary.

In 1915 Peters entered the natural gasoline business as assistant to the construction engineer for Ohio Fuel Oil company. He worked in West Virginia and Oklahoma, and in 1932 was made chief engineer for Chestnut & Smith Corp. Three years later Peters was named superintendent of the comapny's operations of plants in Breckenridge, Texas.

He joined Cosden in 1934, operating the oil absorption plant and upon its discontinuance was made warehouse supervisor and then in 1941 was promoted to the position of purchasing agent.

That was a significant year for Peters, for with this classification, be became a member of the Big Spring Rotary club. From the very first, he has been active in the affairs of the club.

His field of volunteer service has by no means been restricted to Rotary, for he has been a longtime member of the Big Spring chamber of commerce, the Big Spring Safety council, local Red Cross chapter, the Veterans of Safety and the National Purchasing Agents' association. He has received many citations for his work in the field of safety and first aid, having taught more than 600 persons in Red Cross first aid courses. His company recently presented him with an engraved watch in recognition for his services in this field.

Peters was married in 1913 to Miss Jean Dorward of Deleware, Ohio, a graduate of Wesleyan University. Their three sons, Otto, Jr., Eugene and Huff are all graduates of Big Spring high school.

Few men preside with more pleasantness and dignity than Otto Peters, the man who greets the district convention here on behalf of the host club.

SERVICE UNLIMITED — Whatever else a Rotary Club may be. it is inescapably devoted to service, and in his talk, "Service Unlimited," Dr. E. H. Hereford, dean of the North Texas State Agricultural College at Arlington, will develop the opporunities for service. Dean Hereford is to speak on the Monday morning ganeral conference program, immediately following the keynote.

Cinch Boys Foiled

STILLWATER, Okla., (U.P.)—The Oklahoma A. and M. College Experiment Station has announced discovery of a new strain of sorghum, which resists attacks of the chinch bug, and also yields a satisfactory grade of syrup.

SECRETARY—One of the most exacting jobs of the Rotary district conference falls to Marvin K. House, Sr., who is to serve as conference secretary. In addition to keeping the records of the conference, seeing that announcements are made at the proper time and place, House will be responsible for permanent chronicling of the meet. A long time member of the club here, House is a past-president and at one time held a 10-year perfect attendance record.

Surprise For Editor

ALBANY, Ga. (U.P.)—City Editor Don Kimsey of the Herald newspapers was literally on top of the job. He called the fire department to ask where the fire was and was told it was in his own pressroom.

Few Remember To Report Tax On 'E' Bonds

WASHINGTON, March 27. (AP)— Uncle Sam has a tax stake in the more than 50 billion dollars worth of "E" bonds which have been issued to date.

However, the government's income tax "take" on these bonds is probably smaller than you think. Interest on "E" Bonds is fully taxable, but three things tend to reduce the tax revenue from these popular bonds. They are.

1. Many persons cash their bonds before interest is payable on them.
2. Mony bonds are bought and cashed by persons whose annual incomes are so low they do not have to pay a federal tax.
3. Numerous bond owners probably don't know that the interest is taxable and fail to report it in their tax returns.

Even the government doesn't know how much revenue it gets from the income tax on the interest on "E" bonds or other federal securities. To find out would require a special check of millions of tax returns, costing considerable money and time.

Actually, interest is not paid on the bonds. Instead their redemption or "cashing-in," value increases periodically. This value increase is called interest for tax purposes.

There is no increase in redemption value until the end of the first year after the bond is purchased. So if the holder of an "E" bond cashes it before the end of the year after he buys it, he doesn't owe any income tax on it.

A table of redemption (interest) values is printed on each "E" bond. This tells how much to report as interest income. If bonds are held to maturity — 10 years — the interest is a maximum of about 2.9 per cent a year.

The income tax law permits holders of "E" bonds to report the interest each year or to wait until the bonds are cashed and include all of the interest as income in that year.

Some $19,350,000,000 worth of "E" bonds, out of a total of $50,-071,000,000 issued, have been redeemed. It is estimated interest paid on the redeemed bonds averaged about 1.3 per cent.

Even if it were the maximum 2.9 per cent, the annual interest on small bond holdings would be very small. Some tax authorities believe that many little bond holders have a tendency to forget to report interest income of 50 cents to three or four dollars a year.

The total "forgotten" probably is a sizeable sum.

Rotary Clubs Have Expanded Rapidly

Expansion required during the last quarter of a century should provide ample proof that Rotary is an active and aggressive organization especially in the Southwest

In fact, no better example probably could be produced than that which exists in this particular area.

Rotary clubs in this section of the state have been required to divide districts with the passing of each decade since pioneer local clubs of the area were established. The 41st district came into the picture in 1925, covering a wide expanse of Central and East Texas. In about 10 years, however, the number of clubs and individual members had increased to such an extent that a new district was required. That brought in District No. 127, which is finishing its last operation with its original territory with the current conference. A slice of 127 wil be taken to help form new District No. 126 at this session. Consequently, two slates of officers are to be elected here, and next year clubs east of Nolan county will be attending a conference farther east.

Vote Confidence

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. (U.P.) — Parents of students at Horace Greeley high school recommended that formal dances and basketball games last longer into the night and approved all-night graduation parties. They said the move was an expression of confidence in the graduates.

Easter Buying Gives Some Hope For Better Pace

NEW YORK, March 27. (AP)— An upsurge in Easter trade throughout the United States this week gave retail merchants some hope Friday that the year's slow buying pace is quickening.

Consumer reaction to goods and prices is the key to the future, and Easter trade is a traditional barometer. Dollar volume is higher; unit volume is lower. Main question for the merchant is how low can unit sales go before dollar volume and profits suffer?

The buyer has the answer. Starting last Saturday the public began its belated Easter purchases with a rush. There are indications from most sections of the country that the high level continued well into the week.

The familiar pattern of higher prices was indicated by Dun & Bradstreet: "Total dollar volume was slightly above that of a year ago while unit volume was fractionally under that of the corresponding week in 1947."

People paid more money for less goods.

Favorable weather was given credit for increased volume in most areas. Price reductions and pre-Easter sales were not in evidence as a buying stimulant.

After Easter it is customary for merchants to offer special merchandise stressing better values. They are planning to bring the public into their stores in steadily increasing numbers through the entire month. Thus they hope to make March-April as a whole superior to the previous year.

Trade attention still was focused on shoes for an indication of public reaction to lower prices. During the week International Shoe company, the largest producer, cut prices 5 to 50 cents a pair on unfilled orders for spring delivery. Fall prices have not been announced. Some other large manufacturers previously lowered prices. Cuts have not been substantial.

Medical Board Moves To Waco

DALLAS, March 27. (AP)— After 20 years in Dallas, headquarters of the Texas State Board of Medical Examiners today were being moved to new offices in Waco.

The examination board by state law investigates the educational background of prospective Texas physicians. The twelve doctors on the board are empowered to grant licenses for the practice of medicine.

Lloyd Rhode, board investigator, said the offices' new location was selected because Waco is the home of Dr. H. F. Connally, newly-elected board secretary. Dr. Connally replaced the late Dr. T. J. Crowe, secretary in Dallas for 20 years.

Applicants of prospective medical practitioners hereafter must be addressed to the secretary of the board at Waco, Rhode said.

Director Named For Forest Service

COLLEGE STATION, March 27. (AP)—F. L. (Jack) Frost Friday was named acting director of the Texas Forest service.

The director, until his recent resignation because of illness in his family, was E. W. White.

The announcement was made by Gibb Gilchrist, president of Texas A&M colege.

Gilchrist stated, "a thorough study of the organization and future plans for the forest service, particularly with reference to research, is to be made by A&M within the next few months with Mr. Frost's help."

Frost takes office March 31.

The new acting director has been chief of the division of information and education for the servcie since 1940. He has been an assistant forester since 1935.

He received a bachelor of science degree in forestry from Connecticut state college in 1931 and his masters degree from Yale in 1933.

Although all age-groups of women in the United States had a lower death rate in 1947 than in 1946, only the men under 45 years old had a lower rate.

CCC Reports Show Shortage Of Fine Wool

BOSTON, March 27. (AP)— A shortage of fine wools in demand is indicated by CCC reports, the comercial bulletin says.

"Business in wool here has been narrow this week, but buyers continued to look for good length fine worsted or woolen types, albeit with little result in finding anything choice. The continued demand for such wools, which are in negligible offering here, was reflected in strong prices at a sealed-bid sale in Roswell, New Mexico.

"Another token of such demand was the report of some recent selling here in average fine Texas at an estimate clean basis of $1.28. The CCC reports of sales, moreover, indicate serious or alarming scareity of the fine wools wanted.

"Although several months ago the remainders in CCC supplies were largely mentioned as inferior or over-valued, the sales officially reported this week for the period from Jan. 1 to March 13, amounted to the rather astonishing volume of 71,900,000 lbs. That left an estimated 262,300,000 lbs. presumably of unattractive type, but ideas of what is usable have steadily changed.

"Available supplies of pulled wool in the longer types have had continued turnover here. With new production well sold as the strike in packers' plants started, however, the market has been interrupted to a large extent the past fortnight."

M. M. Donosky Heads Publishers

HOUSTON, March 27. (AP)—M. M. Donosky, treasurer of the Dallas News, was re-elected president of the Texas Newspaper Publishers association at Friday's concluding session of a two-day annual meeting.

Delegates from 26 Texas metropolitan newspapers selected San Antonio as their 1949 convention city.

Other officers re-elected were Millard Cope of Marshall, vice president; A. E. Clarkson, Houston, treasurer, and C. W. Tabb, Dalas, secretary and labor commissioner.

Named to the Association's executive committee were Charles K. Devall, Kilgore; D. A. Greenwell, Dallas; Louis N. Goldberg, Austin; C. A. Schulz, Temple, and Frank Huntress, Jr., San Antonio.

In resolutions passed at the final session the association urged Governor Beauford Jester to take steps to preserve the state's forest reserves as an essential source of wood pulp for production of paper.
