Navy Vessels Reach Cambo dian Capital

(AP WIREPHOTO VIA RADIO FROM SAIGON)

RETREAT FROM 'HELL' — An American GI who collapsed from exhaustion and was swept away by stream's current, is dragged ashore by a buddy at Khe Go Bridge, South Vietnam. They're part of a U.S. infantry company who broke out Sunday from a 43-day siege of Base Fuller—a mountain-top they called "hell." The company was abandoning the base to South Vietnamese troops who were greeted by a 40-round mortar barrage from the enemy.

South Viet Gains Along River Banks

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese navy flotilla of about 30 boats with a half dozen U.S. advisers sailed into the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh today after the first allied river assault across the border, South Vietnamese sources said.

The flotilla, which left South Vietnam on Saturday, completed a 60-mile drive that helped secure an important ferry crossing on Highway 1, in Cambodia.

South Vietnamese headquarters said more than 200 enemy troops were killed in the naval drive along the Mekong River.

The arrival of the flotilla at Phnom Penh was announced by the South Vietnamese, who made no mention of U.S. advisers being behind the boats.

The presence of advisers was reported later by South Vietnamese informants who are in a position to know.

The navy movement was accompanied by gains of South Vietnamese fighting along the banks of the Mekong farther south. South Vietnamese marines seized the key ferry crossing at Neak Luong on the Mekong and then drove on north and linked up today with U.S.-trained Cambodian strike forces.

A dispatch from Cambodia said four Marine battalions drove about a company of enemy troops from Neak Luong Sunday. They moved on about 2½ miles and met the Cambodians at the village of Kompong Phanom. This indicated that the 37 miles between the ferry crossing and the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh was clear of enemy troops.

Neak Luong lies on Highway 1, which connects Phnom Penh with Saigon.

Reports from Phnom Penh said the South Vietnamese Marines seized both sides of the ferry landing. They arrived with an allied flotilla that moved across the border from South Vietnam Saturday.

Other reports from the Neak Luong area said 20 to 30 South Vietnamese boats were maneuvering in the waterway between the two sides of the ferry landing.

The capture of Neak Luong removed the main obstacle on the road to the hard pressed provincial capital of Svay Rieng, 30 miles west of the Cambodian border.

U.S.-trained strike forces of Cambodians, born in South Vietnam and flown to Phnom Penh, are expected to spearhead the drive to clear the rest of the highway to Svay Rieng, about 40 miles southwest of Neak Luong, the Cambodian reports said.

Incomplete reports put allied losses in the Mekong River drive as at least four Americans and 13 South Vietnamese killed and two Americans and 21 Vietnamese wounded.

Thieu said the South Vietnamese can return to Cambodia after the current drives are ended, but implied that the agreement of the Cambodian government would be sought if this was done. Noting that U.S. forces provide support for South Vietnamese operations, he also said continued or future operations in Cambodia "certainly will be coordinated with the U.S. Command."

Allied headquarters said 5,297 enemy troops have been killed since operations inside Cambodia began April 29.

The U.S. Command reported American losses as 84 killed and 314 wounded. South Vietnamese headquarters said its forces have suffered 340 killed and 1,515 wounded.

Informants said that with the coming rainy season it would take the Communist command at least five months to replenish their munitions and supplies.

CANADIANS IN PEACEFUL PROTEST — Upwards of 500 Canadians of all ages, some seen here, and a smaller number of Americans joined in an hour's prayer service at the Blaine, Wash., crossing protesting U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia. This view is from Canada looking toward the United States and the international Peace Arch. The scene was in sharp contrast to Saturday's violence when about 500 youthful Canadians were repelled in a "symbolic invasion" protesting the war in Vietnam.

Major Hospital Building Plan Clears First Hurdle

County Commissioners this morning created a county-wide hospital district which could result in the addition of a $2.6 million building to Medical Center Memorial Hospital.

Howard County Hospital Authority will have no power to tax, County Attorney W. H. Eyssen said, and does not preclude the forming of other hospital districts or units within the city.

The action was taken to enable Medical Center Memorial Hospital to apply for a million dollar Hill-Burton federal grant and sell tax exempt revenue bonds for the purpose of building the addition.

Howard County incurs no responsibility for the bonds, R. H. Weaver, local attorney and member of the hospital board of directors, said. The bonds will be secured by the hospital revenue over a period of 32 years.

Weaver said the hospital has been trying to find a way to construct this addition for several years, and this creation of the authority was a way recommended by a consultant in Dallas.

The authority is a necessary vehicle to apply for the million dollar grant under the Hill-Burton Act. Applications for this grant are due May 29. Weaver said the hospital has a firm commitment on $1.6 million in revenue bonds dependent upon the creation of the authority and the grant.

Weaver said the hospital's total assets, valued at $1 million, will be transferred to the authority and removed from the ad valorem tax roll. The creation of this authority makes the hospital a public agency. He said all doctors in the community had been made aware of the plans to create the authority and none had objected.

Eyssen told commissioners any citizen may petition for a public hearing and election on any proposed issuance of any bonds by the authority.

"For every new hospital facility, figures show that within two years the cost of the construction is put back into the community," Norman Knox, hospital administrator, said. He also said the $550,000 annual payroll of the hospital will be doubled.

The addition will add 70 beds and ancillary units such as laboratories, X-ray units, operating rooms, dietary facilities to the present hospital. The new addition will be built north and east of the present building on land owned by the hospital.

Dr. John E. Hogan said that the hospital is now short of space, and Knox said that placing patients in the hall is common practice.

"Even at best, we're still three years away from what we needed last week," Dr. Hogan said.

Knox said that this addition is part of a long-range plan which will include replacing the present building, part of which was built in 1929. Dr. Carl Marcum said the Malone and Hogan Clinic also intends expansion of its own if the hospital expansion comes about.

Paul Meek, president of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the commissioners to say the chamber will support this move. Additional hospital facilities was third on a list of priorities issued last year by the Chamber of Commerce.

Commissioners appointed the trustees of Medical Center Memorial Hospital to serve as trustees of the authority. They are Clyde McMahon Sr., Clyde Angel, Truman Jones, K. H. McGibbon, Joe Pickle, Rich Anderson, Dr. Jack Woodall and R. H. Weaver.

The motion approving the authority was made by Bill Crooker and seconded by Bill Tune. Approval was unanimous.

Some Students Calling For Continued Protests

By The Associated Press

Thousands of college students were still on strike today and many campuses shut down for the duration of the school year in the aftermath of a week of tragedy and turmoil. Many other institutions officially reopened, however.

Still angry over fighting in Cambodia and the killing of four Kent State students in Ohio by National Guardsmen, students at many campuses continued to strike despite orders from college officials reopening classes.

BOYCOTTING

At New York's City College, for example, classes were resumed but a college spokesman said that "there are a lot of students on campus, but not many are going to class."

Many, like the student body of the University of Maine, were voting today and Tuesday whether to continue boycotting classes or return to their studies.

The students' strike information center at Brandeis University today listed 450 schools on strike, and said it had confirmed that 157 schools will be struck indefinitely. A ham radio network of 150 stations was set up to keep track of campus activities across the nation. George Winne, 23-year-old son of a retired naval officer died early today from burns suffered when he set himself afire Sunday on the University of California campus in San Diego.

END THE WAR

Winne was carrying a sign which read "For God's Sake, End the War."

Columbia University was holding classes, but New York University was closed indefinitely while faculties of each division held meetings to decide on future action.

Classes at 27 units of the Georgia State University system were reported back to normal, including those at the 13,000 Atlanta unit. At Emory University in Atlanta, student leaders were trying to extend a strike but class attendance appeared normal.

The Chicago campus of the University of Illinois and Northwestern University at Evanston remained closed until Wednesday, but other universities in Illinois resumed classes.

CAMPUSES CLOSED

Main campuses of both the University of Cincinnati and Miami University in Ohio remained closed, with reopening indefinite, although some branch campuses resumed classes.

Students from Union Theological Seminary went to Grand Central Terminal this morning, and sang hymns and conducted services while they urged commuters to support the Hatfield-McGovern amendment to the military procurement bill, which would deny funds for Cambodian operations.

A rumored plan by antiwar demonstrators to shut down the New York Stock Exchange this morning did not materialize.

Most of the nation's colleges were quiet Sunday as students from some of them returned from the weekend demonstration in Washington where about 60,000 persons gathered to protest operations by U.S. troops in Cambodia and the deaths of four Kent State University students.

4,000 MARCH

At the University of Wisconsin, however, a crowd that grew to 4,000 marched on the administration building, breaking windows and demanding that the school reverse its rejection of a class moratorium request. Thundershowers helped National Guardsmen quell the turmoil.

In another development, officials of four major universities indicated they favored a proposal, adopted by Princeton last week, to give undergraduates time off this fall to work in political campaigns.

OF RIVER AND LAND VENTURES — Map locates where South Vietnamese navy flotilla reached Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh Monday. South Vietnamese marines seized key ferry crossing at Neak Luong. SEX CRIME

Young Mom Strangled In Her Yard

FORT WORTH (AP) — A young housewife and mother of two was found strangled in her yard today and investigators said she apparently had been raped.

Police said her husband discovered the body.

Medical examiner Feliks Gwodz said Mrs. Linda Joyce Lemons, 23, had been strangled and that teeth marks had been found on the body. He said it appeared she had been sexually assaulted.

Veovia Lemons, 51, told police he awakened about 4:30 a.m. and found his wife missing. He said he found her lying on a grassy strip near the apartment house, a dish towel knotted around her neck.

The husband said the skirt and blouse she was wearing was disarranged. A black leather glove was found nearby, police reported.

Lemons said he went to bed about 9 p.m. Sunday and left his wife watching television. The television set was still on when he awakened, he said.

Mrs. Lemons had two sons by a previous marriage, Jason, 3, and Rodney, 5.

'Blast Off' Time Nears

The countdown has started for the "Blast Off Big Spring" party Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at Cosden Country Club. The event is open "to anyone in Big Spring who cares about news of industrial importance" according to Mrs. Harold Davis, chamber of commerce vice president, who is helping coordinate the affair.

Chamber President Paul Meek has promised "an announcement of great importance to the future of industrialization in Big Spring" and response to the party is increasing as "blast off' time nears, chamber officials say.

Tickets to the affair can be purchased at the chamber offices for $3.50 each and, so far, about 125 persons have stopped by to pick up their ducats.

Along with the industrial news, Big Springers will be treated to "Space Food," "Moon Music" and "Astro Entertainment" at the party.

Two bands will entertain. "The Living Us" will furnish what might be called "moon rock," and Jack Camden's Combo will alternate with more sedate sounds for listening and dancing.

A floor show featuring the "cosmic comedy" of L. K. Gladden is also scheduled.

Legion Post Lands In Hall Of Fame

The Howard County American Legion Post has qualified for the State Department's Hall of Fame.

Henry H. Hill, commander of the Department of Texas, notified local officers of the honor, pointing out the citation recognizes the Post for "membership achievement of the highest order."

The Post had a member goal of 260 and now stands at 309. The certificate award was received today.

Governors, Nixon To Mull Campus Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon summoned the nation's governors to the White House today to discuss campus unrest and Southeast Asia in the wake of student strikes, antiwar protests and sporadic violence that climaxed in a massive weekend demonstration in the nation's capital.

Nixon called the meeting last week after campus violence erupted following his decision to send American troops into Cambodia and the deaths of four Kent State University students.

THE BEGINNING

The state executives arrived as antiwar leaders called for the protest movement to continue its efforts against American involvement in Southeast Asia.

David Dellinger, a defendant in the recent Chicago seven conspiracy trial and longtime pacifist leader, said Sunday "people are going back to their own communities with the theme 'No business as usual.' "

He said the weekend demonstration marked the beginning of a grass-roots movement swelling across the country.

Antiwar spokesmen also said efforts would be stepped up to spread strikes to more campuses and industry in an attempt to cripple the "war economy."

'CAMPAIGN VACATION'

The apparently volatile campus situation also prompted three major college officials to propose giving students time off next fall to participate in political campaigns.

President Kingman Brewster of Yale and Father Theodore M. Hesburgh of Notre Dame said they were considering the idea of a "campaign vacation" next fall so students could play an active role in the November elections.

Princeton University adopted the proposal last week.

WEEK OFF

Duke University President Terry Sanford also announced plans to give students a week off to campaign in November. Nixon was graduated from the university's law school.

Chancellor Albert Bowker of New York City's Board of Higher Education, which runs the 165,000-student City University, said he would recommend a two-week period of free time for students in the autumn.

Dr. Paul A. Bloland, president of the American College Personnel Association, appealed Sunday to the nation's governors, asking them to prohibit National Guard units from carrying live ammunition on campus.

Twisters Scar Areas In Kansas, Missouri

By The Associated Press

A tornado watch was issued early today for parts of Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri after tornadoes, hail and heavy rains caused considerable property damage in sections of Kansas and Missouri Sunday and Sunday night.

In the Wichita, Kan., area, roofs were damaged and windows broken. A transformer was blown off a pole, blacking out a 10-block section of downtown Wichita.

At Atchison, in northeast Kansas, winds up to 110 miles per hour destroyed four planes and a hangar and damaged eight other planes.

A thunderstorm with high winds caused an estimated total $200,000 damage to a manufacturing plant, trailers and homes at Boonville and four mobile homes were damaged near Ashland, both in central Missouri.

From one to two inches of rain fell in places from northeast Kansas to central Missouri, resulting in considerable flooding, which made roads and railroad tracks inaccessible.

It was fair to partly cloudy over most of the nation today, however, except for extensive cloudiness in the northern states.

Temperatures were warm over most of the South and East while cooler weather dominated an area from the Pacific Northwest to the northern parts of the upper Great Lakes.

After celebrating the Apple Blossom Festival last week, Washington's Yakima Valley shivered today in 30-degree weather. The U.S. Weather Bureau said the temperature was low enough to cause damage to the valley's fruit crops.

Reports were made of a tornado touching down near Ames in central Iowa early this morning, and another one sighted. Funnels were reported in several parts of Iowa.

One-inch hail with high winds and rain hit Bennington, Kan., early today.

Rain with snow in the higher elevations, fell across the Pacific Northwest into the upper and middle Mississippi valleys.

Some snow and freezing rain fell in upper Michigan and extreme northwest Wisconsin. Light showers occurred in the Northeast.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms occurred in parts of Kansas and across Tennessee and northern Mississippi.

Warnings of up to 12 inches of snow over the mountain passes and three to five inches in the valleys were issued today for southwest Montana on either side of the continental divide.

Winds of hurricane force swept across the Sierras in central California Sunday morning but caused little damage.

Anarchists Plant Bombs Aboard Jets?

LONDON (AP) — A mass police investigation began across Europe today into attempts to plant suitcase firebombs aboard Spanish jet airliners in London, Geneva, Frankfurt and Amsterdam.

Detectives from the four cities were assembling in Paris for a meeting at Interpol police headquarters.

An official of Spain's Iberian Airlines said the sabotage attempts appeared to be the work of anarchists trying to disrupt Spain's lucrative tourist trade.

The incendiary bombs were planted Sunday on four planes that had a total of more than 100 passengers. But three of the bombs exploded on the ground and one in London was found before it went off.

The pattern of the attacks, with warning telephone calls to empty the Iberian jets before they took off, and the low explosive power of the incendiary devices, indicated that the bombers were trying to spread fear and not death.

But the blasts alarmed airport security officials, because they revealed that safety precautions put into action after Arab terrorists attacked several Israeli airliners were not effective enough to keep bombs off airliners.

Police issued renewed orders through Interpol for tight security checks at all Europe's international airports.

In London, a bomb found aboard an Iberian Airlines Caravelle jet was X-rayed and defused after a telephone call from a woman. Forty-five passengers were preparing to board the plane for Barcelona.

At Geneva, 56 passengers and crew were hurried off a DC9 jetliner bound for Spain after a telephone warning. The plane was towed from the airport building and a blast went off in the luggage compartment 15 minutes after the plane was supposed to be airborne.

At Frankfurt, a suitcase exploded aboard a luggage wagon on its way to an Iberian plane.

In Amsterdam, a firebomb set a suitcase ablaze in the main lounge in the airport terminal.

COL. STUART M. PRITCHARD

Parents Invited To Meet Thursday With Schoolmen

Lt. Col. Stuart M. Pritchard, director of public relations for New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell, N.M., will be in Big Spring Thursday to meet with parents of prospective school cadets. He will discuss enrollment of high junior or junior college students in the institute.

Col. Pritchard will set up his headquarters at the Holiday Inn. Appointments will be made for Thursday between 9 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Persons wishing to discuss enrollment plans for their children may call him after 9 a.m. Thursday at the motel.

The curriculum at NMMI is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the American Association of Military Schools and Colleges. The school offers academic instruction from the sophomore year of high school through the sophomore year of college in a five-year program. Full details regarding the Institute will be available regarding entrance requirements, fees, academic structure and other information.

A major element of the program of education is military training provided by active duty officers and noncommissioned officers of the U.S. Army under the Military Schools Training Program (ROTC). This training is given all students.

Roll By Truck Kills Texas Man

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — An Angelton, Tex., man was one of two persons killed Sunday when a truck-tractor rolled off U.S. 40 in mountainous country nine miles east of here.

The Colorado State Patrol identified the victims as Jimmy Ray Davis, 32, of Angelton, and Robert Adams, 22, address unknown. Davis was driver of the truck which threw the two men. Both suffered internal and head injuries and were taken to a funeral home here.

Israel Is Celebrating Its 22nd Anniversary

TEL AVIV (AP) — Festive Israelis celebrated their nation's 22nd anniversary today while police patrolled the streets on the lookout for Arab terrorists.

The mood of the country, somber in the wake of escalated guerrilla raids in recent days, was lifted slightly by a marked drop in border clashes.

Between Sunday night and early today only one border incident was reported—an Israeli soldier was slightly wounded in a skirmish on the Jordan River.

But Israeli fighter-bombers crossed the Suez Canal twice today to pound military targets, a spokesman in Tel Aviv said. All the planes in the two raids on the canal's northern sector returned safely, he added.

Many Israelis went on picnics. Others watched a paratroop drop into the Mediterranean, an air force flypast by U.S.-made Phantom fighter-bombers, and a naval display.

But police set up roadblocks on major highways and rounded up suspected terrorists. Last year, troops killed 10 saboteurs who attempted to mar the celebrations.

There was no gaiety in the northern Galilee community of Kiryat Shmona. The town of 15,000, close to the Lebanese border, has seen three of its citizens killed by guerrilla rocket attacks in recent days.

Prime Minister Golda Meir captured the country's underlying mood in a Sunday independence day speech addressed to world Jewry.

"To my sorrow," said the 71-year-old leader, "this is still not a day of peace in Israel. It is now almost three years since the six-day war. The war was won in six days but peace has not yet come to our people and our land."

Striking in a conciliatory tone, Mrs. Meir called for direct Israeli-Arab negotiations "without any preconditions," adding that her government would approach talks with "full consideration for Arab dignity and legitimate rights."

Foreign Minister Abba Eban, speaking on Israel's Arabic language radio service, said he was convinced his country would make territorial concessions in return for peace.

In another mollifying gesture, Israel announced it will release 50 of 150 guerrillas seized in a raid on a Jordanian base more than two years ago.

Israeli statehood was proclaimed May 1, 1948, but the anniversary date rotates according to the Jewish lunar calendar.

The holiday did not interupt sputtering fighting on Israel's several battle fronts.

Israeli planes Sunday staged a 2½-hour raid on Egyptian military targets on the Suez Canal. The Israeli command said all its planes returned safely, although an Egyptian spokesman claimed one enemy plane was downed. The Cairo spokesman added that one Egyptian soldier was wounded in the raids.

The Israeli command said one of its soldiers was killed in an exchange of fire with the Egyptians along the canal.

An Al Fatah spokesman said its commandos lobbed mortars for two hours Sunday into an Israeli camp at Himma in the northern Jordan Valley.

Along the Lebanese front, the Israeli command reported Sunday that a farmhand working in a field near the border was abducted Saturday by "several persons" who slipped into Israeli territory.

Israel Defense Minister Moshe Dayan warned Lebanon for the second time in four days to control Arab commandos or face further retaliation.

Award Received By Earl Warren

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl Warren addressed the Anti-Defamation League Sunday night in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, while elsewhere in the hotel an Arab group staged a mock trial of the former U.S. chief justice.

Warren received the America's Democratic Legacy award of the league and told the audience of about 1,000 persons: "We must remember that there are over 20 million Americans, mostly black, who are still denied basic rights of American citizenship."

The Arab group, the Federated Organizations on American-Arab Relations, was unable to enter the hotel ballroom to deliver its verdict on Warren, but instead presented the Anti-Defamation League with a statement accusing Warren of hypocrisy in accepting the ADL award.

The league is a subgroup of B'nai B'rith, a Jewish fraternal organization.

Charter Committee On City Agenda

Requests to review the city charter and extend a construction contract will be considered by the city commissioners at their regular meeting Tuesday at 5:15 p.m.

Bids from three companies to sell the city a new tractor for work at the sanitary landfill and four other items are also set for action at the meeting.

Commissioner Eddie Acri said Friday he would recommend that a committee be named to study the city charter and work to update any provisions which have become obsolete since it was last amended in 1951. He had no specific provisions in mind, he said, but felt charter review was needed because it had been amended only once since it was written in 1926.

Jimmie D. Jones, of J. D. Jones Construction Company, has submitted a request for an extension of the completion deadline on the contract to build lime and aluminum sulfate dispensing facilities at the water treatment plant.

The $44,590 contract was approved by the commission in August, 1968, for completion in February, 1969. Jones said at the last commission meeting the project would be completed by early summer and his request is for an extension until June 1. No penalty has been assessed for the overrun thus far.

Treanor Equipment Co., Abilene, is the apparent low bidder to sell the city a new tractor for the sanitary landfill site for $36,000 including a trade-in allowance for an old tractor of $9,907.

Consolidated Equipment Sales, Odessa, bid to sell the tractor for $38,119. No trade-in was included in this bid.

Plains Machinery Company, Odessa, bid to furnish the tractor for $37,337.20 including trade-in allowance.

Katie B. Schwab, 4200 Wasson, has submitted for a permit to sell beer and wine for on-premises consumption at the Sands Lounge, 2900 US 80 west.

First Federal Savings and Loan's request for a change to light commercial for one block on Wright Street presently zoned residential will be up for second reading. Some opposition to the request was heard at the last meeting and the commissioners decided to give the measure three full readings.

A traffic commission recommendation that a sign informing motorists to form one lane be placed in the 1300 block of Goliad where the street changes from four to two lanes, and a review city vouchers are also on Tuesday's agenda.

School Budget Is High On Tuesday's Agenda

The proposed 1970-71 budget will be the big item on the agenda Tuesday night, but the trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District will have various other routine items to consider.

Trustees will look at a recommendation by Athletic Director Clovis Hale to promote Ronald D. Plumlee to basketball coach, a post Kirby Pugh is leaving.

A request for funds for the Citywide Summer Recreation Program will be studied, and an agreement to participate in the Regional Service and Media Center will be presented.

Representatives of the Band Boosters and the Choir Boosters will be on hand to talk with the trustees. Mrs. Roy Cederburg will present a plan for air conditioning the Goliad Junior High choir room, and Bert Harris will present the board with the final $1,500 installment on the high school uniforms and 160 blazers for use as uniforms by the junior high school bands.

Study of the proposed $5,193,640.12 budget will continue with trustees scheduled to take a look at the salary schedule for instructional aides, clerks and secretaries. These employes are slated for five per cent salary increases, and for the first time will be placed on the base state foundation salary schedule.

Attend Meeting

Mrs. David King, HCJC English instructor, and Mrs. Olen Puckett, Big Spring High School English instructor, attended the executive committee meeting in Midland Saturday of the Texas Joint English Committee for Schools and Colleges, District 18. The group met in the home of Sam Turner, English instructor for Midland College. The main item of business was to change the district meeting date to Oct. 17, in order not to conflict with a TSTA meeting set on the previously scheduled date.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A63 ♡A10873 ◇97 ♣864
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
4 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—What started out as a colorless holding has, in the light of partner's vigorous action, blossomed forth into a thing of beauty. Upon revaluation your hand is worth 10 points at a heart contract and, since partner's bidding indicates about 21, you are in the slam zone. One step is called for and should take the form of a cue bid of four spades.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠84 ♡QJ7 ◇QJ63 ♣K986
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Dble.	1 NT	?

What do you bid?

A.—Double. Assuming partner to be sound, either East or West has exaggerated his values. You have nine points in high cards and partner has at least 13 which gives your side a decided edge in high card strength.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ3 ♡K6 ◇J65 ♣AQ965
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	3 ♣	Pass	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Your partner has no strength or he would have doubled West or made a free bid. The opponents assuredly have their signals crossed, and a double by you will only serve to wise them up. West apparently has the rest of the clubs and from your distribution it is apparent that East's long suit will represent a much better resting spot for their side.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠KJ9763 ♡AJ98 ◇A ♣107
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ◇	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	3 ◇	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Things aren't going your way, and it behooves you not to be stubborn. It is true that you have not yet shown that you have a good rebiddable spade suit, but there is a very grave doubt as to whether you can afford to do any more bidding. If partner doesn't like spades, you may be in very deep water. The better part of valor is to resign yourself to a short loss by passing three diamonds. Incidentally, we would have preferred a rebid of two spades after partner's two diamond bid.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K9742 ♡K103 ◇AJ96 ♣A
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass

A.—With this somewhat unbalanced hand the door should not be shut to a possible game contract in spades and the suggested call is three diamonds. If partner returns to spades, we would accept that suit as trump. If partner returns to three no trump, we relax.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠42 ♡KJ ◇K63 ♣AKQ962
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♠	1 NT	2 ♡

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. Your hand should produce seven or eight tricks and, since you can stop the hearts and partner has indicated that he can take care of the spades, fulfillment of a no trump game should prove routine.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠62 ♡KQ5 ◇AJ95 ♣J1075
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ◇	Pass
1 ♡	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ♠	Dble.	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Do not make the mistake of bidding three no trump. Partner was in position to make that call himself and declined to do so. Showing the heart support at this point will serve to clarify the picture for partner. Since you are giving a delayed raise he will know you have only three card support and will be in a better position to decide on the final contract.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A976 ♡10976 ◇A3 ♣AK2
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Dble.	2 ♣	Dble.

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. A rescue is not to be considered. Had there been a better spot available, partner would not have offered an immediate raise over the double. If his values fit well enough, you may make your contract even against a badly stacked enemy trump holding.

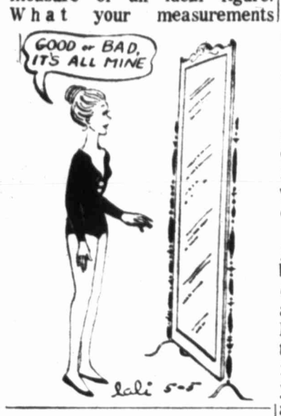
A LOVELIER YOU

Ideal Measurements Are Tailored To You

By MARY SUE MILLER

Individual proportions are the measure of an ideal figure. What your measurements should be is determined by your own height and bony structure. Just so, you must never try to mold your figure into the image of another woman's, however much you admire her endowments.



The 36-25-35 inch measurements, bandied about as perfect, actually are perfect only if you are over 5 feet 6 inches tall. Those dimensions would make a short woman look overupholstered.

You can get a line on what your own proportions should be by using this rule of thumb. The correct bosom measurement for a woman of 5 feet is 32 inches. If you are taller, add a ½-inch to 32 inches for each additional inch of height over 5 feet. If you are over 5 feet 7 inches, add 1 inch to the total.

Ideal hips measure the same or very nearly so, as the bosom. The waist measures 10 inches less.

In getting and keeping an ideal figure, four factors are involved: diet, exercise, posture and underpinnings. One alone will not create the form divine. Diet trims weight and exercise trims measurements, while posture refines curves and corsetry refines posture.

It's a case of all for one — You!

A LOVELY FIGURE

What's your figure problem? To achieve total attractiveness send for my booklet, "Secrets of a Lovely Figure". It contains easy ways to reduce weight and proportions; to overcome grooming problems, such as fuzz, freckles and blemishes; to move with grace and poise. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 75 cents in coin.

Slate Named By Birdwell WSCS

New officers were recently elected by the Women's Society of Christian Service, North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church. Mrs. Vernon Kent presided.

Mrs. Elra Phillips is the new president with Mrs. Raymond Corley, vice president; Mrs. Oneda Thompson, treasurer, Mrs. Jack Smith, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Jones, Spiritual Life chairman; Mrs. Bob Bedford, social relations chariman; Mrs. Kent, missionary education; and Mrs. R. M. Oliver, program material.

Mrs. Oliver was chairman of the nominating committee with Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Phillips as members. Prayers were led by Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Phillips, and the devotion was given by Mrs. Jones.

Luncheon Program For Big Spring Music Club

Miss Elsie Willis, charter member of Big Spring Music Study Club, installed new officers during a Saturday luncheon at Cosden Country Club.

Mrs. Michael Leinen is president with Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, first vice president; Mrs. Walter Osborne, second vice president; Miss Helen Ewing, recording secretary; Mrs. Carl Bradley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mary Grenier, treasurer; Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodds, reporter-historian; and Mrs. G. R. Robinson, parliamentarian.

A musical program followed with Mrs. Dodds singing two original compositions accompanied by Mrs. Jim Baum, pianist. Mrs. Charles Beil played a Brahms selection on the piano. Six piano students of members performed. They were Kathy Voight, Shelly Greer, Beverly Beil, Cindy Brooks, Paula Meek and Elicia Keele.

Mrs. Leinen appointed committee chairmen and committees. Eight new members were welcomed into the club. They are Mrs. Carl Baker, Mrs. Joe Dawes, Mrs. Robert Lee, Mrs. Ronald Mason, Mrs. James Little, Mrs. Tom Eastland, Mrs. Curtis Compton and Mrs. Leonard Moody.

Mrs. Vera Sawyer of Midland, Mrs. Beil's mother, was a guest.

The club adjourned until September.

Activities In Forsan

FORSAN (SC) — The Roy G. Klahrs and Mrs. Sylvia Beghtol visited in Odessa Sunday with the Phil Moores. Recently, they were in Irving visiting the Bruce Aubuochons.

Guests of the Earl Beesons were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Stokes, Gilmer; the Johnny Stokes and H. G. Greers, all of Odessa; and the Bill Willises, Midland.

The L. D. Parkers, O'Donnell, visited her mother, Mrs. Mary Archer, and the Bob Wash family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cardwell left Sunday to visit her sister in Abilene and the A. L. Hawkinses in Graham.

Weekend guests of the S. C. Cowleys was the Jimmy Hagar family, Pecos.

Mrs. D. L. Knight entertained members of Pioneer Sewing Club in her home Tuesday.

Guests of the B. R. Wilsons and A. D. Bartons were Dennis and Ann Hughes, students at Abilene Christian College.

Visiting their parents, the L. T. Shoults, Sunday were the Jackie Shoultses, Lubbock; the Mack Alexanders, Midland; and the Buster Griggs, Abilene.

Guests of Mrs. L. B. McElrath were Mrs. Al White, Austin; Mrs. Walter Fry and Raymond McElrath, both of Coleman.

The James Craig family of Robert Lee visited their parents, Mrs. Vera Harris and the J. M. Craigs, this weekend.

The Dan Washes, Odessa, visited Sunday with their parents, the Paul Gordons and the C. V. Washes. The C. V. Washes will go to Bayfield, Colo., early this week.

Restore Whiteness

When a white sweather turns yellow after repeated washings, you can restore it to its original whiteness by dipping it in a gallon of water to which two teaspoons of peroxide have been added. This treatment may be repeated as often as necessary.

AFTER BALLET PERFORMANCE — Dame Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev, left, pose together after appearing with the Royal Ballet company in performance of "The Sleeping Beauty" at New York's Metropolitan Opera House.

'Best Of Show' Won By Mrs. Bill Unger

"Forms of Nature," a painting of vivid color and form, was named "Best of Show" when the Big Spring Art Association held its annual spring show Saturday and Sunday in the First Federal Community Room. The artist was Mrs. Bill (Winnie) Unger of Lubbock, formerly of Big Spring.

The show had almost 300 entries and included artists from Lubbock, San Angelo, Midland and Lamesa.

First place in the professional division went to Wanda Hurley of Midland for her painting, "Enchanted Forest." Second and third places went to Floy Friend Hume of San Angelo. The second place winner was a collage entitled "Root Power," and the third place painting was "The Swamp."

Honorable mention was given to "Fall Canna" by Mrs. Ann Black of Big Spring, "Landscape Design" by Mrs. Unger, "Composition No. One by Myrtle B. Nielson, San Angelo; and "Virginia Beach," a watercolor by Jess Bell.

In the non-professional division, first place winner was Mrs. Carolyn Shiel for "Pussycats." Virginia Jones of Lubbock took second place with "Bronze," and third place went to Daryl Hohertz of Big Spring for "Sand Storm."

Honorable mention went to "Self Portrait" by Mike Grafa, "Winter Morn" by Jonnie Linney of Stanton and an untitled work by Mrs. Norma Augustsen of Big Spring.

In the high school division, first place was won by Susie Whitten for a line design on red mat, and second and third places were awarded to Judy Rhymes. Honorable mention went to Denise Teague, Larry Crittenden and two to Miss Rhymes.

In the sculpture division, winners were Marjorie Carlton, first; Mike Randle, second; and Mary Murdock, third. All are students at Big Spring High School.

Alisa Zellars, fourth-grader, received first place in the elementary school division for her painting, "Congo." Second place went to Jennifer Speegle for "African Hunter," and third place was won by Delphino Martinez of Lamesa for "Mask." Honorable mention went to Cindy Miller and Mary Ann Martinez.

Judge for the show was Dr. Bill Lockhart, head of the Art Department, Texas Tech University, Lubbock. Cochairmen were Mrs. Bowden Hampton and Mrs. J. H. Holloway.

The association will hold a social meeting and election of officers at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club.

The Museum of the Southwest in Midland will hold its fourth annual Southwestern Area Art Show May 31-June 21. All artists, over 16 years of age, working in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, are invited to participate and may submit two entries produced within the last two years and not previously exhibited in Midland. There will be cash awards totaling $500. Entries will be received from May 13 to May 16. More information may be obtained from members of the Big Spring Art Association.

Hint For Hems

It is easier when making a rolled hem in any circular cut material, to first make a row of machine stitching on the line of the first fold. And when it is extremely flared the bottom thread may be pulled slightly.

Luncheon Fetes Class Saturday

The home of Mrs. L. S. Patterson, 1410 Benton, was the setting Saturday of a luncheon honoring the Berta Beckett Sunday school class of First Baptist Church. Mrs. Malcolm Patterson and Mrs. Morris Patterson were hostesses, with Mrs. L. S. Patterson serving as cohostess.

Luncheon tables were covered with white linen cloths, and the main centerpiece was a large arrangement of pink roses. The home was accented throughout with spring flowers.

Mrs. J. E. Hardesty gave the invocation.

A program followed the luncheon, with Mrs. George O'Brien, giving a devotional, using as her subject, Anna, the prophetess from the Gospel of Luke. Mrs. Bernice Slater conducted a Bible Quiz, and group singing was accompanied by Mrs. Maude Christian. Mrs. O'Brien led the closing prayer.

Other guests were Mrs. M. S. Warren, Mrs. Dorothy Petty, Mrs. Beatrice Mittel and daughter, Mrs. Corinne Denton of Odessa, Mrs. J. F. Sellers and daughter, Mrs. Inez Dorsett of Crane.

Dirt Can Damage Fibers In Fabric

Pressing dirty garments can damage the fibers. Miscroscopic studies of typical soil, such as dust and sand, show each particle has many jagged edges. These rub against the fibers. If you press them into the cloth, you aid their cutting action and imbed them further. The longer the soil remains in the fabric, the more damage it will do.

Extensive research has scotched the old wives' tale that drycleaning wears out clothes. Abrasion in wear is what does that.

For instance, many trousers wear out first on the inside of the lower leg, though this part is drycleaned and pressed just as much as any other.

Monnie Watkins Is Selected 'Teen Queen'

Miss Monnie Watkins was named "teen queen" of the Teen Ethics class of Trinity Baptist Church Friday at the mother-daughter banquet in the fellowship hall. Miss Watkins was crowned by the Rev. Claude Craven as Leonard Moody sang a song he composed for the occasion.

The program included a skit, "Mothers of the Bible," presented by the girls with music. Miss Lydia Hayworth spoke on "Orchids to Mother", and Mrs. Floyd Williams discussed "Daughters Are Mighty Like a Rose."

Mrs. Leonard Moody, class leader with Mrs. Craven, read the "Teen Ethics Creed" and gave the qualifications by which the group had chosen their queen. Runners-up were Miss Marlina Spargo and Miss Gayla Williams.

Musical Show

STANTON (SC) — The Stanton Choral Department, featuring the "Stanteens," presented a musical production directed by George Walker, band director last week in the high school auditorium. "Up With People" was the theme, and the group presented skits, solos, duets, and choral groups.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Jesus answering saith unto them, Have faith in God. (Mark 11:22)

PRAYER: Our Father, help us when we pray to take Thee at Thy word. On Thee we can rest our entire weight. Forgive us for forgetting that Thy promises made in the past to Thy servants are intended as examples of Thy goodwill to all Thy children in every age. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Walking Defensively

In years past there has been much exhortation to "drive defensively" as a means of avoiding accidents. It is excellent advice, though not a cure-all for the problem of automotive accidents.

A persuasive case can also be made for walking defensively. Skeptics should reflect on the implications of a National Safety Council report that in this country pedestrian deaths account for nearly one-fifth of all motor vehicle-related deaths. The 1969 toll of pedestrians was 9,800, and pedestrian injuries run to about 150,000 yearly.

A large percentage of pedestrian deaths occur outside crosswalks. This means that in many cases the driver of the car that hits a pedestrian is not at fault, or at most only partly so.

The National Safety Council's executive vice president, John D. Lawlor, underscored this as follows: "When a person suddenly emerges onto the street from between parked cars, a driver who is busy watching the whole traffic situation is not likely to notice this one person until it is too late to stop."

Hence, the importance of defensive walking. This includes, among other things, not depending blindly on the fact that pedestrians generally have the right of way. We call to mind the celebrated cartoon in which one of two angels shown twanging their harps on a cloud remarks, "But I had the right of way."

Obviously, the driver cannot be relieved of the entire burden of preventing injury or death to pedestrians. Many of those hurt or killed in so-called jaywalking situations are children, who tend to dart out from between parked cars. Old people also are especially vulnerable. The driver has an abiding obligation to keep an eye peeled constantly for pedestrians.

. . . Or Running

The humble British hedgehog has responded to the machine age by learning to run, the Christian Science Monitor reports.

It seems that the hedgehog, a somewhat distant cousin of the American porcupine, found out that rolling itself into a protective, spiny ball when faced by an unknown enemy didn't work with automobiles. They just got run over.

Naturalists in Lancashire, one of the favorite haunts of the hedgehog, report that the little animals are learning to run from danger. They predict within a generation that running, instead of rolling into a ball will become an instinctive part of the hedgehog's makeup.

That's pretty rapid evolution. It took man almost a generation to learn to run from a car.

How A Candidate Gets Votes

One thing and another:

A local man who projected himself as a candidate for an office in this year's political campaign said he was convinced that thoughtfulness and personality would win far more votes than any discussion of the issues.

HE RECALLED he stopped at one house and introduced himself to the lady who came to the door, then left after passing along his political card.

The woman watched him make his way to the sidewalk in front of her home, then called out:

"I'm going to vote for you. You're the first candidate who's visited here who has stayed on the sidewalk and hasn't walked across my yard."

WHEN I HEAR about the drug bills some Americans pay to ease their body miseries, I sometimes wonder how the Australians get by on so much less.

In the year ending last June 30, 'free' medicine cost the Australian government $9.92 Australian ($11.11 U.S.) per individual.

Many antibiotics and other life-saving drugs are on the 'free' list. They are available only on a doctor's perscription and at a nominal charge of 50 cents (55 cents U.S.) for each perscription filled.

In America, one pill often costs more than that.

POLITICIANS HAVE a polished technique for levelling charges at the opposition about mishandling public funds, then treating themselves to unusual luxuries at the taxpayers' expenses once attaining office.

When Richard B. Ogilvie was campaigning for the office of the governor of the state of Illinois a few years ago, he focused attention on some $96 wastebaskets authorized under the William G. Stratton regime.

After Ogilvie was elected and duly sworn into office, two wastebaskets were authorized for him at a total cost of $590.

The baskets, let it be said, were electric and actually paper shredders. When politicians can't spend the public's money fast enough, they can always feed paper money into such receptacles.

HAVE YOU EVER tried to figure why wares which go by ship are referred to as cargo but freight traveling by car is called a shipment?

SOMEONE REMARKED recently that if any four Americans were locked in a room for longer than one hour they would automatically elect themselves a president, vice president, secretary and tresurer.

Chances are they would also emerge from that meeting with a decision to make some kind of award.

Many Shouldn't Be In College

WASHINGTON — Why is it that many students in colleges nowadays have no interest in the subjects they are supposed to be studying and would rather give their time to activities outside the classroom? Why do they so readily take part in rallies and "demonstrations"? Why are they willing to go out of town to participate in such events and miss classes?

The answer will be found some day when a study is made for the purpose of reorganizing the whole college system. Not long ago, the dean of a midwestern college, as he waved his hand toward the campus, said to a friend: "Fifty per cent of the students out there have no business in college at all."

THE APTITUDES of individuals are not carefully appraised in advance of college. Parents insist on their sons or daughters taking particular courses. Students themselves don't know for what careers they should currently prepare. Also, it is quite possible that a high-school education, plus two years of post-high-school studies, would be adequate preparation for work. Indeed, a large proportion of students in college today would be happier at jobs — actually starting their working life at an earlier age.

ANOTHER DISAPPOINTING factor is the attitude of some members of the faculties, many of whom should not be teaching. They have taken up the work because they too frequently are themselves unsure of the kind of career they should really be following. They have selected teaching as a convenient way of earning a living, but they aren't happy about it and are restless.

The colleges, moreover, are usually too large to deal with the individual problems of students. Many of them have an enrollment of more than 10,000. Today a college with 1,500 or 2,000 students is considered small, while 20 years ago an enrollment of 5,000 was rare. The universities with student bodies of 20,000 or 40,000 or even 50,000 present a big challenge to the administrators.

THE QUESTION before the country today is whether the colleges are admitting students who should actually be employes in business or finance or industry or agriculture or construction or technical fields. Also, should some of the young people who are being denied a college education be given an opportunity to specialize in studies for which they have inherent qualifications?

WHILE THERE always were rallies on campuses in this country in past decades, none ever reached the point of open rebellion against constituted authority. There was no such mass involvement in American political controversies as is evident now. The colleges seem helpless to prevent it. One solution lies in really examining the work of the students to see whether they are capable and willing to give the attention to their studies that is required.

THE PRESS is presently filled with notices that in many colleges there are to be no more classes for the rest of the term, which means that approximately a month is to be cut off the college year. And why must those students who are not in any way involved with the "demonstrations" be the victims of such arbitrary actions?

Present-day disorders have originated in large part on the college campuses. But the basic causes of the unrest have not been sufficiently studied by persons competent to judge what should be done to make students more interested in their classroom work so that they would have no time for, and no inclination to engage in, outside and irrelevant activities.

Broad-Toed Shoes Good For The Gout

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Young people upon awakening remember their dreams better than do old people. The probable reason: they have happier dreams. Elderly people tend to have more anxious dreams and therefore they subconsciously wish to forget them.

Broad-toed shoes are a fad again, but this style of footwear was first made popular by King Henry VIII of England, who found it helped ease the pangs of gout. Shoes got so broad that finally Parliament passed a law restricting their toe width to eight inches.

Life insurance, it is said, is the only thing a man buys on the installment plan that his wife doesn't have to finish paying for when he dies.

There is no danger of a population explosion among condors, North America's largest birds. These huge scavengers produce only one egg per couple every two years, and the offspring may remain in the nest for a full 18 months before taking to its wings.

Prosperity note: Whatever happened to the ole swimming hole? It moved to town. America now has over 709,000 backyard pools—one for every 32 homeowners.

What has warts and is popular? The cucumber pickle. Americans now eat eight pounds a year each of this delicacy, first brought here by Christopher Columbus in 1494. Cleopatra thought pickles contributed to her beauty; Roman Emperor Tiberius—he lived to be 95—felt they contributed to his longevity. Among U.S. presidential pickle fanciers were George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and Calvin Coolidge who, some say, got his public personality from them.

Apt definitions. "The most rounded person in the world is the average man. He is usually 39 around the chest, 40 around the waist, 96 around the golf course, 132 around the bowling alleys, seldom around when needed, and a nuisance around the house."

Here is good news for teenagers who worry over whether chocolate can cause acne. A study at the Pennysylvania School of Medicine found that students who ate candy bars containing 10 times as much chocolate as is put in most bars developed no more acne than those who ate identical-looking bars that had no chocolate in them.

One of the world's biggest ice cubes—no one yet has thought up a way to put it into a Martini —is the Malaspina Glacier in Southeastern Alaska. It covers an area larger than Rhode Island.

It was artist Robert Henri who observed. "There are mighty few people who think that they think they think."

Economy Takes Baby Steps

NEW YORK (AP) — From this chronological viewpoint, less than five monthsize steps into the 1970s, some widely held notions of the Soaring Sixties seem very worn and aged, as if they belonged further back in history.

Great economic strides were made in the '60s, so large that there often was little time for reflection. Now the economy is taking baby steps, if it is moving at all, and there is time to reflect.

Conglomerate Magic—Maybe there was magic for a time. During the 1960s millions of Americans believed that the conglomeraters, the men who assemble disparate businesss under one corporate roof, were geniuses.

So long as investors believed this to be true the stock of conglomerates continued to rise. Thus providing them with more money to acquire more companies.

Their profits look good too; something about synergism, or the total being greater than the parts. Popularly this effect was described by the phrase: "Two and two equal five." The expanding economy contributed too, of course.

The economy slowed. Profits slipped. Investors wondered if synergism was fact or myth. They sold. The shares of conglomerates dropped in price. No longer did they have the funds to buy other companies.

Unable to continue expanding geometrically, the conglomerates were forced to concede that, for the time being, two and two didn't equal five after all.

Mutual Fund Miracles—When the stock market was rising some mutual funds, particularly new ones, showed tremendous gains. There was a euphoric feeling in the market place for several years, and the funds rode this soaring optimism.

Investing in so-called glamor stocks, some of the funds reported asset gains of better than 50 per cent in one year. Money poured into their coffers, and some of these funds grew to enormous, sometimes billion-dollar size.

The turn became obvious a couple of years ago. Some of the larger funds were shown to be dinosauric. Big and cumbersome, maybe overfed, they couldn't adapt to a changed invironment. Colder economic weather trapped them.

Blount Faces The P.O. Challenge

WASHINGTON — Postmaster General Winton Blount is a nice man, with an easy, eye-crinkling smile, and he sounds like what he is — a highly successful and efficient businessman. But a chat with him about what we use for postal service tends to be a touch discouraging.

For example, Blount admits wryly that New York City, the biggest postal bottleneck in the nation, still doesn't have an automated letter sorting machine (LSM) of the type that was installed in Detroit as an experiment a few years ago. This is a beneficent monster that sorts 36,000 pieces of mail an hour, and New York won't have its first of an eventual dozen machines until next September.

WHEN NAGGED, Blount also acknowledges that it will be five years before the U.S. has a modern, 20th Century postal system — providing Congress okays the postal reform bill.

But a visit with Blount also is encouraging. For one thing, the visitor gets the impression that if anyone can drag the postal service into today, it is Winton Blount. He not only seems to enjoy the dreadful job President Nixon handed him, he exults in what he calls "the biggest managerial challenge in the country."

SPEAKING THE language of the efficient businessman, Blount claims the Post Office now has "Washington's best managerial team." He has recruited some 40 or 50 high level executives, many of them men who earned six-figure salaries with industry.

Blount also talks modern, boardroom sense. He tells of canceling the new $150 million post office planned for downtown New York by the Democrats — "in that jungle of traffic." Instead, Blount is building a facility on the New Jersey flats to handle every last parcel entering or leaving New York, because he was appalled to discover that all mail, including parcels, was on the same production line in that city.

THE PARCEL STATION, first of a network throughout the country, will cost $37 million, and Blount estimates the $700 million network will save the taxpayers $300 million a year in mail handling once it is in operation a few years hence.

In August, the Post Office will install the first mail-encoding program in Cincinnati. It's this bit of automation, machines cut dot-and-dash codes in letters, enabling them to be handled mechanically rather than by hand. Blount says this program will cost $900 million nationally and will save $100 million a year.

BLOUNT IS practical in his approach to his many problems. He says, for instance, "We don't need a lot of research and development. All we have to do is use what we have, from business and industry, and run this business like a business."

As for the complaints of critics that reform will force a union shop on the Post Office, Blount is content merely to explain the bill's provision on this subject. That provision, he says, merely would make the new system "subject to the labor laws of the land, except for the right to know what he's doing and he obstrike."

I DON'T KNOW. Blount seems to know what he's doing and he obviously is qualified for his gargantuan task. But he may talk too much sense for this curious town. For one thing, he is not afraid to suggest that efficiency will save money as well as deliver the mail approximately on time. The only hope is that Winton Blount will get his show on the road before the politicians put him to the rack for doing his thinking above his neck.

Billy Graham

I don't understand the great commandment. Does it mean that I must give up my job and hobbies to love and serve God? W.A.

The great commandment: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind", means precisely what it says. If your hobbies, your job, hinder you from doing this, then proper adjustments should be made.

Paul never gave up his tent-making, but serving Christ was his chief business. Peter still went fishing, but his love for Christ was unfeigned.

The New Testament teaches that Christ is to be first. It does not teach a monastic, detached sort of life. But it does teach that material things, and our interest in them, should be secondary. "Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, nor for your body, what ye shall put on . . . but seek ye first the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you." The words "take no thought", mean, "Do not give them first place". The fact that they are "added unto you", indicates that God wants us to have and enjoy these things, but they are not to be given first consideration.

To Your Good Health

Low Calcium To Avoid Kidney Stones

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Your "Medical Handbook" does not deal in any great detail with kidney stones. I had a stone removed about eight months ago and my doctor put me on a strict low-calcium diet. (For the rest of my life, he says. I am 45.)

I try to stick to it as much as I can, but all my life I have needed calcium and extra iron as I have always been a little anemic. Also love and miss dairy products.

Do I really have to be so strict about this diet? I have never heard of a person getting a kidney stone for a second time.

Also my nails seem to be much weaker lately. Does not this too have something to do with calcium?—Mrs. E.S.G.

If you'll note page 73 of the Handbook, you'll find the warning that "a change in diet can help but must be chosen on the basis of the chemical content of the stones." Not all kidney stones are the same, you see — and since your doctor has determined what particular type of stone you have, you might as well let him prescribe the diet.

Don't fool yourself about not having stones a second time. Subsequent ones are no more pleasant than the first. So since you have exhibited a tendency toward calcium stones, a low-calcium diet will be necessary for the rest of your life.

Your problem is typical of medical therapy. You have to figure out which is the most important — avoiding stones or getting plentiful calcium for your other needs. But you are bound to get some calcium from meat, vegetables, and other foods while you forego the rich calcium supply in dairy foods.

Low calcium does not affect your anemia. That is affected by iron, and you can still eat an iron-rich diet.

Calcium might have some bearing on your nails, but in general, other factors are more imporant. Nail texture is highly dependent on protein intake. Abuse of the nails from polish or other external factors also is important. And manual work (putting strain on the nails) is probably one of the most effective "nail hardeners" known, although it doesn't work overnight, and anyway it isn't easy to get people to change the habits they've had for a lifetime.

However, dermatologists have long been aware that people who do hard work with their hands very seldom have weak or brittle nails.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any connection between hepatitis and yellow jaundice? Are they contagious?—P.M.

Yes, there's a connection. Hepatitis is a virus infection of the liver; yellow jaundice is not a disease but a symptom (the yellowness) which occurs when for some reason or other the liver is not functioning properly. Hepatitis is such a disease.

Yes, hepatitis is contagious, although the principal form of transmission is from food or drink contaminated with the virus.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald, for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Burleson Reports

Postal Reform 'Compromise'

WASHINGTON — The administration's postal reform recommendations have taken on a complexion of a different hue under a "compromise." When submitted several months ago, the President's plan called for a reorganization of the Department along corporate lines. It provided for a non-profit corporation somewhat comparable to the TVA and the Communication Satellite operation to run our mail services with certain limited authority reserved to the federal government.

Since our mail service is not what it should be, coupled with the fact that deficits in the operation of the postal service continue to climb, there has been great appeal for this idea.

THIS APPROACH to make the Post Office Department mostly indpendent from direct Federal control was opposed by the postal unions of which there are seven.

At the time of the strike of postal employes in New York City and a few other large offices, Postmaster General Blount and George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, worked out a compromise. The first part of the agreement was for the Congress to vote a postal pay increase, which it immediately passed and the President signed.

The remaining part of the agreement will be before the Congress in the near future. As introduced, it is H.R. 17070.

THE IDEA of the postal corporation has been abandoned. In its place the Department would become the U.S. Postal Service with "independent status" somewhat like the Federal Reserve and NASA but still a part of the federal government.

The proposal authorizes the unions and the Postal Service to negotiate compulsory "union shop" contracts for all employes. Postal workers would come under the National Labor Relations Board as do unions in the private sector. It would take away an employe's choice of belonging or not belonging to the union. The unions would not be under the so-called Landrum-Griffin Act, which requires reporting and accounting of funds by union officials.

SHOULD COMPULSORY unionism become the law, no employe could exercise his right to freedom of choice nor would he have any say as to what was done with his union dues. Obviously, a federal edict of this kind would override a state's right-to-work law and would cancel binding arbitration of disputes.

There is no question but that changes are needed in our postal operation. From the beginning, the postal service was never intended to be a profit making enterprise or for that matter a break-even proposition. Neither was it ever envisioned to be an agent of those using its services for profit. It was supposed to serve the people as a public necessity and convenience.

UNDER THE PROPOSAL, considerable latitude would be given to the new organization but it appears that the "independence" referred to is hardly achieved. It gives certain veto rights to the Congress but there is no doubt that mailing rates will be increased and that employes will have their freedom of choice impaired.

Amendments to the proposed bill could make reorganization of the Post Office Department highly desirable.

Three Correspondents Missing In Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — Three American news correspondents—two men and a woman—who disappeared while driving into Cambodia Thursday are feared to have been captured by enemy troops in the embattled Parrot's Beak region.

They are Richard B. Dudman, 52, of the St. Louis Post Dispatch; Elizabeth A. Pond, 33, of the Christian Science Monitor, and Michael D. Morrow, 24, of Dispatch, Inc., of Washington, D.C.

In St. Louis, the Post Dispatch managing editor, Evarts Graham Jr. said the automobile the reporters had used to drive from Saigon to Cambodia was reported found.

They were seen last by fellow correspondents at the eastern edge of the Cambodian province capital of Svay Rieng shortly before noon last Thursday.

Ten other newsmen have been reported missing in Cambodia since fighting flared up there in mid-March, including two Americans.

Freer World Trade Fuss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress begins considering today whether the nation should veer sharply away from its 35-year course toward ever freer world trade.

The House Ways and Means Committee opens hearings on trade legislation proposals by President Nixon, who is on record for continuation of present policy—and also on bills backed by scores of members for quotas restricting imports.

The opening witness, Carl J. Gilbert, chief trade negotiator, was scheduled to present the administration arguments for a limited renewal of authority to bargain down tariffs, coupled with congressional backing for efforts to lower the non-tariff barriers against U.S. goods which are now a major remaining problem, and provisions for additional help to U.S. industries hurt by imports.

But protectionist sentiment in Congress, higher than it has been in years, goes well beyond such proposals. The Ways and Means chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who for years has successfully resisted quota provisions even when the Senate passed them, now is a principal sponsor of the leading restrictive bill.

Eggers Thinks He Can Score Despite Nixon

AUSTIN (AP) — Paul Eggers, Republican candidate for governor, said today he thinks he can win in November, even if President Nixon's popularity is not at its highest level.

"Nixon's popularity will affect my race some but not as much as it would if I were running for Congress," he told a news conference in his first campaign appearance in more than a month because of illness.

"I can conduct my campaign on the close-to-home issues and not get involved in national politics."

Eggers said he thought Lloyd Bentsen's win over Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., would help him and also Rep. George Bush, the GOP candidate for Senate.

"If Yarborough had been the nominee we would have the problem of voters being told to pull the level to vote a straight Democratic ticket," he said. "Now we don't have that condition. I think some of the voters who vote for Bentsen will vote for me, I think I will get some liberal and some conservative votes from the Democrats."

Eggers said he expected to get some help from national GOP leaders including a probable trip to Texas by Vice President Spiro Agnew during Eggers campaign. Agnew already is scheduled to speak May 22 to a fund raising dinner in Houston for the benefit of GOP political candidates.

Eggers also said he had been told by "some Democratic officials that I will get some Democratic support and some people to work for me, although there is nothing definite."

Refinery Flames Kill At Least 5 In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An explosion and fire ripped a cracking tower at an oil refinery in South Philadelphia today, killing at least five workmen and injuring 23.

A witness said the blast sent a ball of fire 300 feet into the air.

John W. Braun, manager of the refining section at Atlantic Richfield Co.,'s 340 acre north yard, said a crew of eight was on duty at the tower at the time of the explosion.

The cracking unit had been returned to duty last Friday after being shut down for repairs for three weeks, Braun said.

Firemen poured foam over the facility, limiting the flames to the tower.

The cracking tower, which operates 24 hours daily, can handle 35,000 barrels of crude oil a day, breaking it down into about 800,000 gallons of gasoline and 150,000 gallons of fuel oil, Braun said.

Veterans Will Be Honored

Two returned veterans will be honored at the meeting today of the Evening Lions Club. They are Shores F. Turner and Buddy Loynd. The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at the Downtown Tea Room.

ROSE CORDES

Rose Cordes Places Second

Rose Cordes missed first place in the shorthand state finals Saturday in Austin by a whisker.

Her per cent of accuracy was .2 of one per cent less than the first place winner and her transcribing time only three seconds off the pace.

Taking dictation at 100 words per minute, Rose scored 99.40 per cent accuracy and transcribed her notes in 23 minutes and 23 seconds.

First place in the state 4-AAAA finals went to San Antonio on 99.6 per cent accuracy and 23 minutes, 20 seconds transcription time.

The third place winner; from Amarillo Palo Duro, had a 96.2 per cent accuracy and a transcription time of 22 minutes and 55 seconds. In the regional finals at 90 words per minute, Rose had trailed the Palo Duro entry but polished her speed for the state meet, said Mrs. Betty Lou Green, her instructor.

Rose has a twin sister, Jackie, who is just about as proficient, but she had tough luck in the district round. Jackie, however, practiced with Rose to prepare her for the state finals.

Workmen Tearing Down Shantytown

DENVER (AP) — Ringed by police, workmen today started tearing down a shantytown "Woodstock Nation" on the University of Denver campus.

More than 100 officers moved onto the campus of the private university after Chancellor Maurice Mitchell said the campout by about 500 war-protesting youths was "illegal and improper use of facilities."

Twenty-two persons had been arrested by 8:30 a.m. There had been no violence, except for some shoving between officers and students, and classes resumed.

Acting Gov. Mark A. Hogan had been at the scene since 4 a.m. "My admiration grows" for the way both students and police have acted, he said.

Mitchell said many of those camping in the paper, plastic and wood shanties and in sleeping bags were nonstudents.

The youths called their encampment "Woodstock Nation" after a communal rock festival in New York last summer.

The university went to court shortly after midnight to obtain an injunction.

Safety Manager William Koch reported, after officers forced students onto a blocked-off street, and ringed the group of shacks that no more trouble was expected.

Bids Taken On Termite Battle

County Commissioners this morning opened bids for termite extermination at the courthouse and promptly tabled the bids for further study.

Apparent low bidder was Western State with a bid of $950. Other bids were: Orkin, $1,103; Southwestern A-1, $1,190; and Lester Humphrey, $1,365.

Commissioners also took a look at the State Highway Department's plans to widen the Andrews Highway. The county is responsible for securing the right-of-way necessary to the project. This affects about 18 miles from Big Spring to the county limit.

Commissioners also set 9 a.m., June 17, for the meeting of the oil equalization board.

Man Arrested, Theft Suspect

A 20-year-old man was arrested Sunday in connection with the burglary of Runnels Junior High School Friday night after the man's mother reported discovering stolen goods in her house.

Recovered were two 16 mm movie projectors, a tape recorder and a record player, officers said.

A full inventory was to be taken at the school today to determine the total loss in the theft.

NEW BRIEFS

Sen. Byrd Heavily Favored To Win

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)— Sen. Robert Byrd is heavily favored to win Democratic nomination for a third term Tuesday in the only statewide contest in West Virginia primary elections.

The Republicans have no primary candidate for Byrd's seat. The vacancy for the November ballot can be filled by party committee action.

John McOwen of Huntington is Byrd's primary opponent.

The state's five seats in Congress are held by Democrats. The only incumbent not opposed for renomination is Harley Staggers.

McMurry To Honor 3 West Texans

ABILENE — McMurry College will honor three West Texans May 17 as it holds its annual spring commencement exercises in Radford Memorial Auditorium.

Scheduled to receive honorary degrees at the 3 p.m. ceremony are Claude W. Brown, McCamey, prominent businessman and Methodist layman; Rev. J. Weldon Butler, Midland minister; and Rev. William Howard Hardwick, Fort Stockton minister.

Speaker for the commencement will be Dr. Marshall T. Steel, immediate past president of Hendrix College at Conway, Ark. The commencement service will mark the last official appearance of Dr. Gordon R. Bennett, McMurry's president. Dr. Bennett will retire on June 1 after 12 years in the presidency.

Miss Sorghum Contest Slated

DIMMITT — The Castro County Chamber of Commerce has extended invitations to girls 17 and older to become contestants in the Miss Grain Sorghum of the National pageant. The two-day affair will be staged in the Dimmitt High School Auditorium Aug. 7-8.

Any girl endorsed by a civic club or business firm is eligible. Contestants must be single. Top prize in the pageant will be a $1,000 college scholarship.

Not So Lovie Woman Charged

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Lovie Mayfield, 45, of Dallas, Tex., was charged with murder Sunday in connection with the shooting death of a 45-year-old Tucson woman.

Police said the pair argued over a man when the tavern shooting occurred, resulting in the death of Willie Mae Harrington.

Police said the victim was shot three times with a .38 caliber revolver.

MAYO Elects New Leaders

SAN ANTONIO (AP) —Carlos Guerra of Robstown, a graduate of Texas A&I in Kingsville, has been elected national chairman of the Mexican-American Youth Organization (MAYO).

Alberto Luera, formerly of Laredo and now of San Antonio, has been selected state chairman. He also is a Texas A&I graduate.

Mario Compean of San Antonio, present MAYO state chairman, said today that Guerra, 22, and Luera, 23, will take office June 1.

They were elected by 28 MAYO directors Sunday at Garner State Park near Uvalde, Compean said.

Guerra was an active supporter of a Mexican-American public school strike last year in Kingsville. Compean said he was elected national chairman because MAYO now has about 1,500 members in Texas, Michigan, Minnesota and Illinois.

Two regional coordinators were selected and more will be named, Compean said. He said he will be coordinator of chapters here and in Austin, Dallas and Waco.

Gregory Salazar, 19, of Houston, is the Houston area coordinator.

Sock It To'em Agnew, Crowd Cheers In Georgia

STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — Vice President Spiro Agnew, dedicating a Confederate memorial on the side of historic Stone Mountain, said Americans must "set aside the evils of sectionalism once and for all."

Agnew told a crowd of 10,000 gathered at the base of the mountain Saturday that "just as the South cannot afford to discriminate against its own people, the rest of the nation cannot afford to discriminate against the South."

This passage in his 12-minute speech brought the greatest applause from the crowd which was far less than anticipated. Officials had expected 100,000 persons.

Agnew's arrival by Army helicopter was the highlight of the day-long ceremonies dedicating the sculpture, which is the world's largest.

The clattering helicopter bearing the vice president, with the words, "United States of America" on its side, swept dramatically past the carved figures of the Confederacy.

It landed in a secluded, roped off area nearby. Then, Agnew walked through eager crowds to the flag-draped podium, where ceremonies had already begun.

Secretary of State Ben Fortson interrupted his speech to shout, "This afternoon we have audio, video and Spiro." Earlier, waving a Confederate hat, he led the crowd in several Rebel yells.

Agnew paid tribute to Gen. Robert E. Lee, one of the three figures carved on the mountain. He quoted Lee's statement, "Make your sons Americans," as a sentiment which "should be graven in granite and impressed upon the minds of everyone in every region of this land today."

Cambodians May Gain Captured War Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say they are considering turning over to the Cambodian government some but by no means all of the enemy war material captured by the allies in Cambodia.

Some 4,000 captured AK47 rapid-fire rifles were handed over to the Phnom Penh government in the first U.S.-South Vietnamese response to Premier Lon Nol's plea for military assistance, before the allies sent their own troops into Cambodian territory.

Now, by White House account, the allied forces are uncovering such massive supplies in North Vietnamese hide-outs in Cambodia that they have problems disposing of them.

Some 5,000 rifles, five million rounds of small arms ammunition and two million pounds of rice are among the booty reported captured so far in the allied sweep.

Cambodia's 40,000-man army has been armed with a hodgepodge of weapons over the years, much of it of Chinese or Soviet manufacture. So a supply from captured stocks would be compatible with much of the Cambodian army's equipment.

While the current large scale capture of enemy gear opens up new possibilities for helping arm the Cambodians, Washington authorities are against turning it all over to the Phnom Penh government lock, stock and barrel.

The officials voiced doubt the Cambodian army could absorb all the material being captured by the allies. And moving such beckoning supplies elsewhere in Cambodia would invite the marauding North Vietnamese-Viet Cong forces to recapture them, they said.

The allies are also helping Cambodian forces in other ways. A U.S.-equipped contingent of some 2,000 ethnic Cambodians who were fighting in South Vietnam has been sent to Phnom Penh. An undisclosed number of U.S. M1 and M2 rifles has been delivered and other aid is planned.

The Nixon administration has been cautious, however, about Lon Nol's plans for a massive increase in the size of his army.

He was said to have asked originally for U.S. equipment to help him expand his army to 200,000 men. The officials said Washington asked the Cambodian chief to reconsider—which he did, coming back with a request for arms aid for 400,000 men.

Whether the poorly trained and equipped Cambodian army will be able to withstand the onslaught of the large and experienced North Vietnamese-Viet Cong forces is an open question here. Some believe the Cambodians can do it if they will fight.

In other developments over the weekend:

—Pentagon sources said U.S. forces in South Vietnam may be reduced far enough by the summer of 1971—to below 250,000—to start sending only volunteers there. Nixon's current timetable calls for a Vietnam troop reduction from the present 427,000 to 284,000 by next May.

—Ellsworth Bunker, the U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, said it will not be necessary for American troops to go back into Cambodia after the current campaign. Bunker figured it would take the enemy up to 10 months to rebuild its Cambodian bases and "I think the South Vietnamese can handle whatever develops at that time."

Wholesale Prices Did Not Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices did not decline in April as indicated in a preliminary report, but the final figures issued today nevertheless cheered the administration: they failed to rise for the first time in 18 months.

Only farm and food prices declined in the wholesale index, however.

Industrial raw materials rose three-tenths of one per cent, but this too was a hopeful indicator, because it represented a 3.6 per cent annual rise instead of the 4 per cent rate of increase at the start of the year.

The index stood at 116.6 per cent of the 1957-59 average in April. That compared with 111.9 per cent a year earlier.

This meant that it cost $116.60 in March and April, on the average, to buy the same assortment of wholesale goods which would have cost $100 in 1957-59.

For all commodities represented in the index, the price average was 4.2 per cent above a year ago, down from a 4.8 per cent rate of annual rise in January.

An even better showing had been hoped for when the tentative index figures were released on April 29. They showed a decline of one-tenth of one per cent in the wholesale index, the first drop in 20 months.

However, the final figures showed that farm products, despite a 2.4 per cent dip in the month, did not decline quite as far as had been estimated in the earlier report.

The farm and food sector of the wholesale index is less valuable than the industrial commodities sector because it is more susceptible to wide fluctuations owing to market conditions and weather.

The increase in industrial raw materials was broad; there were increases for almost all the commodities except rubber and plastic products, textiles and apparel, and transportation equipment.

Increases were recorded for fuels, chemicals, metals, machinery, furniture and household durable goods, lumber and leather.

SEVEN DROWNINGS, FOUR SHOOTINGS

Texas Violence: 34

By The Associated Press

Highway accidents over the Mother's Day weekend claimed the majority of lives lost in violent incidents in Texas.

The Associated Press began counting violent deaths at 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

By late Sunday night, the grim toll stood at 34 dead with 21 deaths recorded in traffic accidents, seven drownings and four fatal shootings. Two more lives were taken in a plane crash and an industrial accident.

Mike Boer, 17, of Fort Worth drowned in Benbrook reservoir Sunday in Tarrant County.

Two men, Allen Curtis of Kilgore and Don Branson of Barksdale Air Force Base, La., drowned at Lake O'the Pines after rescuing a girl who almost drowned.

STOMACH CRAMPS

Jo Ann Washington, 21, was shot to death in Dallas. Police were questioning a man in connection with the shooting.

Three persons were killed and one seriously injured Sunday near the Houston Intercontinental Airport when two cars collided at a farm road intersection. Dead were Doris Billingsley Nutt, 47, and Sharon R. Stewart, both of Houston, and Ronald Leeroy Wright, 19, of Austin.

Hansel Dean Lee, 23, of Tyler drowned Saturday night while swimming in Dodd Lake about two miles west of Troup. Officers said Lee apparently suffered stomach cramps.

Mrs. Minnie L. Brown, 81, of San Antonio was killed Sunday when her car missed a curve and plunged into Cibolo Creek. The accident occurred about three miles south of Bulverde in Comal County.

STRUCK BY TRUCK

John Edward Gray, 38, of Dallas was killed early Sunday when he was struck by two or three automobiles as he walked along Texas 34 about four miles west of Ladonia. The Fannin County accident followed a minor mishap with Gray's automobile, officers said.

Mrs. Maria Carbahal, 26, of Alice was killed Friday in a two-car collision on Farm Road 796 near Beeville.

Mrs. Herman Short, 43, the wife of Houston police chief Herman Short, was killed Friday when struck by a truck as she crossed the street in front of her home.

A two-car smashup on a Dallas expressway Friday night claimed the life of Edbert J. Schultze, 45, of Irving.

Paul Bella, 45, of Houston was shot to death Friday night on the city's southeast side.

Robert Byrd, 21, of Corpus Christi, drowned Friday in Sam Rayburn Lake when he fell overboard during a fishing trip.

TRIPLE CRASH

A car struck and killed Chris Kelly, 10, of Houston Friday night as he and his brother were riding a bicycle on Interstate 10 north of Baytown.

A car-truck collision just outside the Houston city limits killed Michael Martini of Houston Saturday.

Three young persons died Friday night in a three car smashup in Wichita Falls. Dead are Robert Lee Huff, 17, Sandra Lee Henderson, 17, and Stephen Lammers, 21, all of Wichita Falls.

CROP DUSTING

Thomas Dalton Frazier, 26, of Liberty was killed Friday when his crop dusting plane crashed in a rice field south of Dayton.

A two car crash on an Austin city street Saturday killed Paul Gil Jr., about 37.

Clyde Eugene McCarter, 38, was killed Saturday in Portland when his car struck a palm tree on a median strip.

The bodies of a boy and a woman were found Saturday in eight feet of water in Barton Creek in Austin. The boy was identified as Oscar Hernandez, 17, and the woman was Alice Chagoya, 20, of Austin.

Two teenagers were killed and three others injured in a two car collision in San Antonio. Dying in the accident were James Folsom, 17, and Philip Neill Blood, 16.

Archie Smith, 44, and his son Wilber, 26, were shot to death Saturday during an argument at their home.

Rodney Wayne Killian, 14, of Seymour died Saturday of injuries suffered Friday when his motorcycle went off a bridge east of Seymour.

DISABLED CAR

A piece of heavy construction equipment, a front end loader, overturned on Larry Alton Adams, 23, of Fort Worth, Saturday, killing him. Adams was working near the new tennis courts on the Texas Christian University campus.

Charles B. Richardson, 54, of Houston died Saturday when an automobile struck him on U.S. 59 eight miles south of Corrigan. Richardson was standing beside his disabled car in the traffic lane.

Police said Herbert Milton Brown, 35, apparently fell asleep at the wheel when his car went off the road and struck a bridge abutment, killing him, Saturday 11 miles west of Hughes Springs.

Two men were killed Saturday night in a head-on collision about a mile south of San Marcos on Texas 21. Killed were Jose Delgado Rodriguez, 22, and Valentine Gutierrez, 22, both of San Marcos.

Divorcee, Husky Female Charged In Girl's Death

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A 29-year-old Augusta divorcee and her husky female companion were being held in the Richmond County jail today in connection with the beating death of the divorcee's 7-year-old daughter.

Named in the murder complaints filed Sunday were Viola Bryant Moore, the mother of the dead girl, and Mary Ellen Meadows, 31, officers said.

Larry M. Hendrix, an investigator for the Richmond County sheriff's office, said the two women were arrested about five hours after 7-year-old Kathy Moore was pronounced dead on arrival at a doctor's office.

Hendrix said Miss Meadows first told the doctor—and later officers—that the child had been found tied and gagged under a pile of boards in the back yard of the Moore home.

He said, however, that officers "have been able to discount this story."

Hendrix said the child's body was "nothing but one big bruise" and that his investigation has indicated the little girl had been mistreated and severely beaten over a period of several weeks.

"There were signs of burns—probably cigarette burns—on her hands and feet," he said.

Richmond County Coroner Nathan F. Widener said a preliminary examination by him and the county physician indicated the child had been sexually molested and severely beaten.

An autopsy was scheduled today.

Widener said the child was first taken to a private doctor's office in Martinez, Ga., about eight miles northwest of Augusta in adjoining Columbia County.

"The doctor called me into the case from there," he said.

Hendrix said the physician also notified the Richmond County sheriff's office after noting the apparent condition of the body and that an extensive investigation began immediately.

Cancer Group Names Officers

STANTON (SC) — President Tom Ed Angel presided at the meeting of the Martin County Unit of the American Cancer Society last week. It was noted that the goal, set at $1,500, had been exceeded by $8, raised by the house-to-house campaign, business campaign, and memorials.

Guest speaker was Dr. P. J. Parker, associated with the Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital in Big Spring. Dr. Parker emphasized early detection of cancer, and also cures, such as surgery, X-ray, and drugs.

New officers elected as included: president, Mrs. Marvin Standefer; vice president, Mrs. Glenn L. Prown; secretary, Mrs. P. M. Bristow; treasurer and membership chairman, Mrs. John Roueche; service chairman, Mrs. Howard Jenkins; education chairman, Mrs. Jimmy Sawyer; publicity chairman, Mrs. George V. Dowden. Fifteen members and guests attended.

Perot Honored As 'Patriot'

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — Vietnam war veterans, wives of war prisoners and college students turned out about 1,000 strong to honor H. Ross Perot of Dallas as "Patriot of the Year."

A student group calling itself VIVA—Voice in Vital America—named Perot for his efforts to obtain the names of prisoners of war held by Hanoi.

Among those attending the dinner Saturday night were Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., and Gen. Jimmy Doolittle of World War II fame.

Perot told the gathering he approved of the United States' move to destroy North Vietnamese sanctuaries in Cambodia.

The Dallas computer magnate said he did not object to war dissent, but he added:

"We've put our President in shackles so that he has to make a list of what he's doing, where he's going to go and how long he's going to stay."

District To Honor School Employes

The Big Spring Independent School District will honor 44 employes who have worked a combined total of 580 years for the schools here.

Pins will be presented to the employes May 21 at a 7 p.m. dinner in the high school cafeteria. The dinner is sponsored jointly by the local chapters of Texas State Teachers Association and Classroom Teachers Association.

Mrs. Celia Lilley, Bauer Elementary teacher, is the only person receiving the 25-year diamond pin.

The emerald pins presented for 20-years service will be given to Mrs. Mary Hefley, reading coordinator; Mrs. Blanche James, Goliad; Mrs. Opal Newton, College Heights; Mrs. Martha Fielder, Washington; Mrs. Eulalia Mitchell, Washington; and Mrs. Gene Harrington, auxiliary personnel.

Teachers who have served 15 years will receive sapphire pins. They are Mrs. Ruby Wood, tax office; William Gray, business office; Carlos Humphrey, Runnels; Mrs. Doris Gambill, Runnels; Mrs. Marjorie Morris, Airport; Gilbert Schattel, Bauer; Mrs. Thelma Williams, Bauer; Mrs. Gladys Archer, Gay Hill; Mrs. Rosetta Brown, Lakeview; Mrs. Rena Yandell, Park Hill; Mrs. Lavelle Hill, Washington; and Don Payne, custodian.

The largest number of pins will be the 24 ruby pins presented to those who have worked 10 years for the school system. Recipients are John F. Smith, high school principal; Mrs. Jo Hazel Dawson, elementary music; Pat Lawrence, senior high; Mrs. Wanda Wickline, senior high; Mrs. Lynn Calvert, Goliad; M. Schwarzenbach, Goliad; Paul Sweatt, Goliad; Phil Wickline, Runnels; Mrs. Anna Sweatt, Boydstun; Mrs. Mattie Browder, Marcy; Mrs. Mary Fortson, Marcy; Mrs. Ola Mae Robertson, Marcy; Margie Newbrough, Park Hill; Mrs. Oma Anderson, Washington; Mrs. Dorothy Smith, special education; Gerald Wilson, special education; Mrs. Ruth Budke, auxiliary; Mrs. Dorothy Dunnam, auxiliary; Mrs. Jerry Dietz, auxiliary; Elizabeth Whatley, cafeteria; Mrs. Lorene Jones, cafeteria; Frances Cochran, cafeteria; C. Women Bankers Seeking Charter

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Nine women who say their sex for too long has gone untrained in matters of finance are seeking a state charter to establish and operate a bank.

The First Women's Bank of Florida would be near the retirment center on the southern end of Miami Beach.

"We hope our bank would be used as a proving ground to train women to take care of their financial matters," says Mrs. Mal Englander, a 45-year-old grandmother and chairman of the board for the proposed facility.

"We realize that all women would like to predecease their husbands but the facts of life are that we don't. And whether women handle any of the financial matters or not, we would like for them to be able to face it calmly and with knowledge.

"Many women fear just the word 'bank.' We would like to make bank a household word."

In Tallahassee, state Banking Commissioner Fred O. Dickinson Jr. said the application for a charter listed capitalization of $1 million. He said the women's request would be handled routinely, with a decision later this year.

"If this application is approved," Dickinson said, "it would be to my knowledge the first such bank in the country."

Mrs. Englander, wife of a former Miami Beach city councilman, and eight other women were listed as directors.

"We've had limited banking experience," Mrs. Englander said, "but I believe you will find that most men who establish banks also did not have prior banking experience."

The directors range in age from the late 20s to the early 50s.

"We have lined up women with intensive backgrounds who will be in charge of the bank itself. All the top officers will be women," she said.

Men also will be employed by the bank, and their accounts would be welcomed, Mrs. Englander said.

Director Phyllis Cole, 32, and a divorcee, is vice president of the Florida Consumers Association, Inc.

'METER MAIDS' WITH WHISKERS

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee has appointed its first "meter maids" and four of them are men.

Their job will be to patrol streets for parking violations.

The official designation of the job is "civilian parking checker" and both men and women were recruited for the job.

The term "meter maids" was unofficially applied during several years of discussion in the City Council over whether to create the jobs.

The challenge of being the only.

As any wise husband knows, no woman likes to be taken for granted. It's the little things that count, like remembering anniversaries, or bringing home flowers for no particular reason.

Like the wise husband we try not to take you, our customer, for granted. Being the only phone company in town, we make a special effort to be courteous, kind, considerate, and understanding.

The fact that we are the only phone company in town is a challenge. The challenge is "not to act like it."

HOW SWEET IT IS — Gibby Gilbert, the 29-year-old pro from Florida, beams with his $23,000 check for first place in the Houston Champions International golf tournament Sunday. He tied with a birdie on the 18th and won on the third hole of a sudden-death playoff over Bruce Crampton.

'That Other Guy' Scores First Victory At Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Gibby Gilbert was, for four days and 71 holes, lost in the shuffle. He was the other guy playing with Bruce Crampton and people in their sparse gallery kept saying, "Who's he?"

But Gilbert had a lifetime of obscurity behind him, was used to the feeling and followed his own formula to score his first professional golf tour victory:

"Just keep plugging."

He did, and the 29-year-old club pro from Hollywood, Fla., on the pro tour for just a couple of months, made up two strokes on the final hole, caught Bruce Crampton and then beat him on the third hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday in the $115,000 Houston Champions International Invitational Tourney.

"I didn't deserve to win," Crampton said. "Gibby played very well, made only one bogey and that's good on this course. He's a worthy champion."

Gilbert, who decided to go on the tour only after playing the Doral tournament in Florida—he was the 36-hole leader there—was in third place most of the warm, muggy day, but finished with a 72-hole score of 282, two-under-par on the 7,166-yard Champions Golf club course. He had a final 70.

Crampton with a two-stroke lead over Bert Greene going into the last round, had a 73, also for 282. Greene, who knocked himself out of it with a double-bogey six when he hit into a creek on the 17th, had a 72 for 283.

Most of the drama concerned the stretch duel between Crampton and Greene. Lean Bert, a drawling Georgian, moved into the lead when he holed a 60-foot putt for an eagle on the ninth.

But he three-putted the 16th and then took the double bogey on the 17th.

Crampton stayed close all the way and Gilbert was a shadowy, obscure figure, never closer than two strokes. He birdied the 13th from 15 feet and then bogeyed the 17th from the water.

The lean, dark one-time student at the University of Chattanooga was two strokes down going to the final hole.

Both he and Crampton drove the fairway, but Crampton put his second far to the left, chipped short and missed a 10-footer. Gilbert, plugging away, put his second on the green and two-putted for the ninth playoff this season.

They both parred the first two extra holes, but Bruce put his tee shot in the water on the third. The rock-steady Gilbert played it in regulation for the $23,000 first prize.

Most of the attention early in the day was centered on the incredible Ben Hogan, playing his first tournament in three years.

Cards Batter Opposition For Pair Of Shutouts

The red-hot Cardinals pounced on the opposition in both ends of a double-header here Sunday, allowing no runs while bombarding opposing pitchers for 27 runs and 22 hits. Both ends of the double-bill were mercifully cut short.

Tony Fierro allowed but one hit in routing the Lamesa Eagles in the opener, 13-0. This tilt went but three innings after the Cards opened with a nine-run first inning, then added a pair in the next two frames. Tony Martinez, Jesse Zapata and Billy Pineda each had two hits, both of Pineda's being doubles.

In the second game the big bats were busy again but no such devastating inning until the fifth when five runs came in. Zapata got three for four, two of the doubles. Al Mendoza had a double among his two hits, while Benny Marques had three for four. James Pope gave the Colorado City lads only one scratch hit while striking out 13. He whiffed the last seven batters to face him.

This Sunday the Cards are due to go to Lamesa.

Petty Treats Fans To Headline Crash

By The Associated Press

Parnelli Jones and David Pearson picked up the major victory checks but it was stock car racing king Richard Petty who treated the auto racing fraternity to a spectacular crash that grabbed the headlines this weekend.

Jones, a former Indianapolis winner, won his second straight victory in the Sports Car Club of America's Trans-Am series for small sedans at Lime Rock, Conn., bringing his Mustang home a lap ahead of Ed Leslie, driving a Camaro. His payoff was about $10,000.

Pearson, 34-year-old three - time NASCAR Grand National champion, won the wreck-marred Rebel 400 stock car race at Darlington, S. C., finishing three laps ahead of Dick Brooks and picking up $16,575.

The Darlington race, during its early stages the most hotly contested in recent years, drew 42,000 spectators and was carried live to millions more by the ABC television network.

It was before this audience that Petty, at 32 the all - time money and events winner on Southern tracks, did his "thing."

Coming off the tricky fourth turn at weatherbeaten old Darlington Raceway, Petty rammed his blue Plymouth into the concrete retaining wall, then skidded down the homestretch broadside before glancing off another concrete barrier that protects pit road from the track itself.

The car then flipped several times in the air directly in front of the main grandstand before coming to rest upside down, still spinning around like a top.

Miraculously, Petty escaped with a slightly dislocated shoulder, a few minor cuts and some aches and pains that will keep him out of action at least four weeks. He was released from a Florence hospital Sunday.

Elks Hang On For Victory

The Elks started strong and then warded off the Steers to hang on for a 12-9 victory in the American Little League minor game Saturday. Fraley and Brown had two of the hits for the Steers, while Sayers, Stockton and Morse hit safely.

Hayes, Holland, Touchstone, Holmes, Vernon, More and Overton each had hits for the Elks. Vernon and Sinder allowed only seven hits for the Elks, while Stockton and Vick, pitching for the Steers, gave up only seven.

Heroics Win Crown For Boston Bruins

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins drank champagne from the Stanley Cup as expected Sunday, but it took some late heroics by old pro John Bucyk and young superstar Bobby Orr to get the celebration going on schedule.

Trailing most of the way, the Bruins gained a tie on Bucyk's goal with less than seven minutes remaining in regulation time. Then just 40 seconds into the sudden death overtime period, Orr banged home the winning tally.

That did it. The Bruins had beaten the St. Louis Blues 4-3, sweeping their best-of-seven National Hockey League final playoff series and winning the coveted cup for the first time in 29 years.

Bedlam broke loose in Boston Garden as fans raced onto the ice. NHL President Clarence Campbell presented the cup to the winners, and Bucyk was given the honor of skating it around the rink to a deafening ovation.

The tumultuous celebration continued in the jam-packed dressing room, with players pouring champagne on everybody in sight for more than an hour.

Boston's Rick Smith and St. Louis' Red Berenson traded first period goals, but Gary Sabourin put the Blues on top early in the second session and they held the 2-1 lead until Esposito scored at the 14:22 mark to knot the count again. It was Espo's 13th goal and 27th point of the playoffs—both records.

Morton Gets Shutout Pair

Morton Food blanked Lamesa Merchants in both ends of a double-header at Lamesa Saturday evening.

Big blows at the right time brought the first victory. Al Oldfather tripled to drive home Sorley in the fith, then Jim Miller singled him home. He was nailed on Arista's triple. New homered in the sixth and Miller in the seventh to salt it away. Limmer got a double for Lamesa in the sixth but died on third.

In the second game Miller doubled in Oldfather in the first to win the game, although Arista's single brought in Oldfather, who had doubled, in the fifth, and Oldfather scored on New's double in the seventh. Utley was the winning pitcher in the first, allowing four hits, Cotton Mize the winner in the second with only three safeties allowed. The box score:

Tigers Defeat Scorpions, 10-3

The Tigers used 13 hits to defeat the Scorpions 10-3 in an International Minor League game here Saturday night. Catoe and Wallace led the Tigers to victory by each going two for two.

Robert Smith was awarded the victory while Meismer absorbed the loss. The win puts the Tigers record at 2-1 and drops the Scorpions to 1-2. Smith's pitching was the key to victory as his steady arm gave up only two hits. Meismer got both of those hits.

Snyder Clinches Tie For Title

LUBBOCK — Snyder clinched a tie for first place in the District 3-AAA baseball standings by defeating Lubbock Dunbar, 14-5, here Saturday. The Tigers can wrap up the crown by defeating Brownfield at home Tuesday.

QUARTERBACK CORNER

Steers End On High Note, Sports Banquet Thursday

By PAUL SHAFFER
QBC Co-Captain

The 1970 edition of spring sports ended on a very fine note Saturday in San Angelo with the Steers finally beating the Bobcats and thus knocking them out of the zone title. Although Bob Milburn of the Standard Times contends that the game was "given" to the Steers, those who were there know differently. It was a highly contested game in which the real potential of our team, for the second time in a row, finally realized. Abilene High, the zone winner, is most fortunate that the season doesn't last three or four more games because the Steers had arrived. Our congratulations to the coaches and the team.

Our Herman Evans ran a 6.9 hundred, (by his coach's clocking), at Austin Saturday in the state meet only to be relegated to sixth place (with official time of 10.1) instead of fourth by some inadequate judging. Many's the time in the past few years that a 9.6 would win state hands down. Congratulations, Herman, we're very proud of you.

With the end of the spring schedule, we now can look forward this Thursday to the first annual spring sports banquet at the High School cafeteria at 8 p.m. Each athlete will be introduced, will see his sport's outstanding athlete presented a trophy and will hear an address by the great Randy Matson. We sincerely hope that each of you will be there to honor these fine athletes. Please understand that the public, as well as all students, are not only invited, but are strongly urged to attend.

The old familiar sound of pads cracking could be heard all week from football spring training drills at the practice field. If you think you've lost the fever until September, just amble by and take a look for yourself this week. You'll see a very determined and high-spirited bunch of coaches and players working hard to represent you well next fall. If we sports fans put out one one-hundredth of the energy in fan support that these coaches and players do in training, we'd have the State Quarterback Title all wrapped up. You really do need to drop by and boost the spirit by your interest. These young men will do far more for you than you will ever be able to repay and you will see first hand, the sacrifice they make to represent you well. Do you really care? — then be there.

Cash Pulls Boner, Misses Two Plays

By The Associated Press

For seven innings Sunday, Norm Cash wa smoney in the bank for the Detroit Tigers and the toast of a Mother's Day crowd of 31,500. Then he pulled a rock that only a mother could love.

Cash's two homers and four runs batted in had the Tigers locked in a 7-7 tie with the Kansas City Royals.

But in the eighth inning, with runners on first and third and one out, first baseman Cash fielded Ed Kirkpatrick's grounder and stood paralyzed as Jo eKeough raced home with the winning run.

He compounded the felony by failing to make a play at first, either, and two walks forced home another run.

Kirkpatrick stopped running to first for a moment and stood motionless in front of Cash.

"I wanted to distract him so the run could come across," said Kirkpatrick, who sparked the Royals with a homer and four RBI. "Then I looked at the umpire and when he made no out sign I ran to first."

Detroit's Dalton Jones and Kansas City's Amos Otis smacked sol ohomers.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore swept the Chicago White Sox 7-2 and 4-2, Cleveland shaded Minnesota 5-4, Milwaukee took two from Washington 6-5 and 7-6, the New York Yankees nipped California 4-3 and Oakland downed Boston 7-4.

After Baltimore's Don Buford tied the nightcap 2-2 with a seventh-inning homer, Brooks Robinson and Chico Salmon stroked run-scoring singles in the eight as the Orioles boosted their winning streak to seven games.

Pitcher Sam McDowell also homered for Cleveland but needed relief from Rich Hand after Minnesota scored twice in the ninth. Leo Cardenas homered for the Twins.

Milwaukee tied the club record of five straight victories set last year as the Seattle Pilots.

Sunday's sweep of the stumbling Senators featured ninth-inning uprisings in both contests. In the opener, Ted Kubiak tied the score with a leadoff shot in the ninth and Wayne Comer won it with a bases-loaded pinch single.

The Brewers blew a 6-0 lead in the nightcap as Washington scored five runs in the eighth, featuring homers by Mike Epstein, and Rick Reichardt, and tied it in the ninth on Frank Howard's 11th. But a pinch single by Ted Savage, two walks and Gerry McNertney's two-out pinch single won it in the Brewers' half. Reichardt also homered in the opener.

The Yankees belted Rudy May for three quick runs in the first inning on Roy White's RBI double and Danny Cater's two-sun single, but needed Thurman Munson's bloop double in the sixth, which scored White from first, to beat the Angels.

Oakland, trailing the Red Sox 3-0, exploded for six runs in the fourth inning, three on Dave Duncan's fifth homer.

Olympics Panel Blasted By Kebler

AMSTERDAM (AP) — The International Olympics Committee, which selects the sites Tuesday for the 1976 winter and summer games, has been accused by the president of International Sports Federation of "not providing the type of competent leadership and foresight that would be needed to keep the games balanced."

The blast from Thomas Kebler, ISF president, was aimed Sunday at Avery Brundage, the 83-year-old IOC president.

"Time and time again we have expressed our willingness to cooperate but have gotten very little response and understanding from the IOC," said Kebler.

A day earlier Brundage said Alpine skiing, ice hockey, soccer and basketball "should gracefully withdraw" from the games because of what he called the breaking of Olympic amateur rules.

"You are attacking different federations because of amateur scandals," Kebler told Brundage. "Yet this state of affairs has been known for a long time but it has been tolerated by the IOC. Why now suddenly such drastic action?"

Brundage's call for the elimination of Alpine skiing—he said, "This poisonous cancer must be eliminated without further delay"—could cause havoc with the winter games. Skiing is one of the prime attractions of the Winter Olympics.

Tampere, Finland; Garibaldi, British Columbia; Denver, Colo.; and Sion, Switzerland are bidding for the 1976 Winter Olympics. The 1972 Winter Olympics will be staged in Sapporo, Japan.

Astros Stop Bucs, 9-2

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates out-hit the Houston Astros Sunday but the spacemen scored the runs' dropping the Bucs 9-2.

The win gave Astros' pitcher Larry Dierker his sixth victory against two losses and saw outfielder Doug Rader extend his hitting streak to 14 games.

The Astros used 13 hits in getting those nine runs. The Pirates connected for 14 hits off Dierker, but the Pirates only managed to put them together for two runs.

Dierker must have thrown 150 pitches in the game, striking out nine and not walking a single man as he went the distance.

NIXONITES

Fail To Dig Discontent?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says the Nixon administration misreads the extent of national discontent with the Vietnam war but last week's massive student protests will help convince it to change policies.

"I don't know how they can ignore it altogether," the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said in an interview with The Associated Press.

The interview was conducted before Saturday's massive demonstrations and before President Nixon told his news conference Friday night that "I have not been surprised by the intensity of the protests."

The Arkansas Democrat also said "events would indicate" the United States is sliding into a commitment to support the new government of Cambodia. And he charged administration officials "have been less than candid in informing the Congress what their intentions are all the way."

Q. Do you think the Nixon administration understands the extent of discontent with the war in the country?

A. No. I think they misread it. Their own reports all indicate that, saying their telephone polls are 10 to 1 in favor. I think that they're wrong. I agree with George Reedy's observation that presidents, not just this President, his predecessor and others, are so surrounded with what used to be called the palace guard, the royal court, it insulates them from reality.

Q. Will the events of this past week help convince them?

A. That's what it's designed to do, and I suspect it will have an effect. Because they are so obvious, and the physical evidence is so great, I don't know how they can ignore it altogether.

Although presidents have ways. They go off to Camp David, and there are other mechanisms. President Nixon has four homes. He can go other places and isolate himself from the presence of students and others. I'm not trying to be petty about it. This is a very small aspect of it. All presidents are isolated.

Q. If they don't understand the opinion in the country, what makes you think that even approval of a restrictive amendment by the U.S. Senate will have an impact?

A. The vote of the Senate—these are representatives. He was once a senator. If the Senate takes a strong position, and that's brought to his attention—they don't isolate him from all news. I didn't mean to make that absolute, that he doesn't know anything that's going on. A vote by the Senate is one of those things that cannot be concealed, or cannot be really misinterpreted.

Q. If the Senate fails to take action, can those who feel strongly influence it by working in next fall's election campaigns?

A. I've seen that done. I know you can do it. In other words, you can change the sentiment of the Senate by electing people who feel as they do. If they don't succeed, in the final analysis, it's a representative government.

Q. Do you get the impression the Nixon administration is as interested in propping up the Lon Nol government in Cambodia as in protecting U.S. troops?

A. Yes. I don't think the invasion of Cambodia was reasonably designed to protect the lives of American troops. On the contrary it exposes them to greater casualties.

Q. If we are sliding into a commitment, rather than making it by the normal processes, what can be done about it? Block funds?

A. Theoretically that can be done. It would seem to me that a majority of either house would cause any president to re-evaluate his policy. Now of course any president that is determined and wishes to, subject to those pressures I think, could continue to do it, so long as the Army obeys it.

Q. Has there been any deception in not stressing the need to prop up this government?

A. It would seem to me they have been less than candid in informing the Congress what their intentions are all the way.

Q. Do you think Secretary of State Rogers knew what was going on when he appeared before your committee April 27?

A. I cannot assume that the secretary of state did not know.

Standing Ovation For Pearl Bailey

DALLAS (AP) — "Hello, Dolly!" star Pearl Bailey received a standing ovation here Sunday at the beginning of her State Fair Music Hall performance following an overnight stay in the Baylor University Medical Center.

Miss Bailey became ill during a Saturday matinee performance and was unable to finish because of what doctors called "extreme exhaustion." Birdie M. Hale, who has filled in for Miss Bailey several times in the past, picked up the Saturday performance.

Miss Bailey returned for Sunday's matinee and received a standing ovation when she made her entrance on stage.

Texas Split By Wet-Dry

By The Associated Press

Texas is divided by a wet-dry line today with isolated precipitation in East and South Texas and dry, clear conditions in West Texas.

Light rain and drizzle was reported early today at Houston and San Antonio with cool temperatures and clear skies in the Panhandle and western sections.

Temperatures ranged at dawn from the high 70s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley to the low 50s in the Panhandle.

Weathermen expect clear skies in the west and cloudy to partly cloudy conditions in South, Central and East Texas with a few isolated showers in southeast and central areas today.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't laugh, but my problem is a generous husband. On every gift-giving occasion (my birthday, anniversary, Mother's Day, Christmas, etc.), he buys me wearing apparel. The thought is very much appreciated, but Abby, his "taste" is terrible and nothing he selects looks good on me. The salespeople must see him coming, and unload their hard-to-sell merchandise on my husband because everything he brings home is just too ugly for words. Each attempt to tell him or take back what he has bought always ends up in a fight.

Abby, I haven't bought a thing to wear in four years. He spends a lot more on my clothing than I would, and we can't afford to buy things and not wear them.

He's really a good man, but how I wish he'd quit buying me things! Can you help me?

DRESSED ALL WRONG

DEAR DRESSED: Tell your husband that you appreciate his "generosity," but since you have to wear the clothes, you'd like a voice in selecting them. If he insists on buying you wearing apparel after that, take it back. Your husband's stubborn insistence that you shall wear what HE selects shows more selfishness and immaturity than "generosity."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: In your answer regarding how one addresses women in the professions, I wish you had gone on to explain titles for women, generally. Many people are often confused as to the use and meaning of the English-language "MRS." which is a corruption of "mistress of," designating a wife. Perhaps you could print the following, for clipping and reference by secretaries, editors, etc.

Mary Jones is "Mary Jones" or "Miss Mary Jones."

When she marries, she is: "Mrs. John Brown," "Mary Brown," or "Mary Jones Brown."

When widowed, she is EXACTLY the same!

When divorced, she is: "Mary Jones Brown" or "Mrs. Jones Brown."

There is no such entity as "MRS. MARY BROWN."

ROSEMARY IN N.Y.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are the parents of an only child, and we are a very happy family. For years we have been annoyed by people who ask us why we have only one child. Then they proceed to tell us how "unfair it is to raise a child alone, blah, blah, blah . . ." We hardly even know some of these people. Are they too stupid to realize that there is usually a good reason why a couple has only one child?

So please tell these so-called, well-meaning people to keep their advice to themselves and to keep their big mouths shut!

HAD ENOUGH ADVICE

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am all for abolishing MOTHER'S DAY. You break your neck from the time they're born trying to make your children happy, then they grow up and break your heart with word and deed.

Come next May I'm going to throw my gushy Mother's Day card into the wastebasket as fast as I can get it out of the mailman's hand.

DISILLUSIONED MOM

DEAR DISILLUSIONED: The mistake most parents make is in striving to make their children "happy." Happiness is a product of other things which must come first. If a child is taught honesty, integrity, unselfishness, humility and respect for the feelings of others, he will then be "happy."

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. K.: No, it isn't necessary for a writer to sign his name in order for his letter to appear in my column. And I NEVER use a name and location without permission from the writer.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Music Critic Whitlock Dies

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—E. Clyde Whitlock, music critic for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram for 41 years before his retirement in 1967, died Sunday.

He would have been 85 years old in July.

Whitlock took his first violin lessons from his father, a self-taught violinist, and later studied at Kansas City, Chicago, New York and Berlin.

He moved to Dallas in 1907 and taught there and in Fort Worth for two years before settling in this city in 1909. He taught at various colleges and universities, including Texas Christian University and the Texas State College for Women (now Texas Woman's University).

He was a permanent director of the Texas Music Teachers Association which he helped organize and for which he served as president and vice president.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Hogan of Fort Worth, and a brother, C. Glenn Whitlock of Culpepper, Va.

Burial was to be in a family plot in McCune, Kan., following 10 a.m. services here Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church.

Hanoi Plans Countermove In Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist high command for Vietnam will attempt to counter the continuing allied destruction of its long-established border sanctuaries by organizing a "war of liberation" in Cambodia similar to the conflicts that have torn apart South Vietnam and Laos for 17 years.

That is the instruction being passed down from the Hanoi government. At least 10 documents captured inside Cambodia in recent days refer to this new war.

Detailed directions have been fed to field commanders and political cadre on techniques of recruitment and organization inside Cambodia. The instructions are in effect the same that built the Vietnam conflict from an insurgency problem into a full-blown war: swim like fish in the sea of population, create a people's army.

Allied experts who have been studying the captured documents believe the Communist high command is aiming less to take over Cambodia than to insure the continued use of that country to fight the Vietnam war.

While Cambodia was neutral under Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Communist-led forces kept a generally low profile along the border sanctuaries and did not meddle in internal Cambodia politics. Sihanouk's overthrow in March and the resultant Saigon army thrusts into the sanctuaries seriously alarmed the Communist high command, the captured documents show.

One dated in late March said, "It can be assumed that a plan to drive our troops from the border areas has been devised by the Cambodian government and the U.S. and Vietnamese army in South Vietnam."

The answer was to instruct Communist leaders in Cambodia to organize a new war.

A notebook belonging to a member of a Unit 3 was captured the first day American troops crossed into Cambodia. An April 18 entry said the owner was assigned to activate guerrilla elements and "to motivate the Cambodians in any area of responsibility to join the liberation front of Cambodia."

Another diary entry said the mission of the front was to overthrow the Lon Nol government in Phnom Penh and fight the Americans.

Another document passed down orders to "consolidate liberated areas and develop a liberation army."

UAW ENTERS CONTRACT TALKS IN MID-JULY

Reuther Dies In Plane Crash

DETROIT (AP) —The United Auto Workers, who go to the bargaining table in mid-July to hammer out new contracts with the automotive giants, have lost their leader of 24 years, Walter P. Reuther, killed with five others in a plane crash.

Under Reuther, a giant in the American labor movement, the UAW had grown to 1.6 million members, the nation's largest industrial union.

Reuther had been the UAW's president since 1946 and was a vice president of the AFL-CIO until he broke his union away two years ago in the climax to a feud with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

ORGANIZED POOR

He then formed the rival Alliance for Labor Action in an amalgamation with the Teamsters and International Chemical Workers "to organize the unorganized and the poor and get the labor movement moving again."

Those who died Saturday with the red-haired, 62-year-old Reuther were his wife, May, 59; Oskar Stonorov, 65, a Philadelphia architect; William Wolfman, 29, Reuther's bodyguard and Mrs. Reuther's nephew; the pilot, George Evans. 48; and copilot, Joseph Karaffa, 41, both of Columbus, Ohio.

They were en route from Detroit for a weekend visit to the UAW's $15-million education center, which Stonorov designed. It is nearing completion on Black Lake in northern Lower Michigan.

NO ONE SURVIVED

No one survived the flaming crash of the union-chartered twin-engine, executive-type Lear jet as it approached the Pellston airport through rain under low-hanging clouds at 9:33 p.m.

The charred remains were taken to the University of Michigan Hospital at Ann Arbor for identification. A doctor said Sunday night the bodies of Reuther and his wife were positively identified by dental charts.

A six-member team from the National Transportation Safety Board flew to Pellston to try to piece together what happened in the minutes between Evans' radioed request for landing clearance and the crash 1½ miles from the airport.

In his sometimes stormy career, Reuther had survived an assassin's shotgun blast which crippled his right arm and had thwarted an attempt to take him on a no-return, gangland-style ride.

SIT-DOWN STRIKES

He was a participant in the then sensational sit-down strikes of the 1930s in which his fledgling union took over auto plants and held them to force its recognition as bargaining agent.

Reuther realized a long-time dream in 1967 when he won a guaranteed annual income from General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

In his tenure he also had seen the average wage at the Big Three rise to $4.02 hourly, with fringe benefits estimated to be worth another $1.75 an hour.

The union's other eight top officers, shocked and grieved, described Reuther in a statement as the UAW's "conscience, its heartbeat and its soul," and called upon other unionists "to observe with us a week of mourning in his memory."

They left unanswered the question of who will lead them at the bargaining table.

'DEEP LOSS'

Under the union's constitution, Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey takes over temporarily, A president to serve until the 1972 convention will be chosen by the remaining 25 members of the international executive board. Its next scheduled meeting is June 2.

Claimants to succession may include Mazey and Vice Presidents Douglas Fraser, Leonard Woodcock and Pat Greathouse. Fraser, Reuther's administrative assistant for eight years, was elevated to a vice presidency only last month and was viewed as being groomed for succession.

President Nixon said Reuther's death was "a deep loss, not only for organized labor but also for the cause of collective bargaining and the entire American process."

"While he was outspoken and controversial," the President continued, "even those who disagreed with him had great respect for his ability, integrity and persistence,"

George Meany also was among the leaders of labor, industry and government who expressed regrets. Meany said, "We had disagreements, but we worked together as well and . . . it is the latter that stands out in my memory." He credited Reuther with "a unique and lasting contribution" to "labor and the nation."

CHALLENGED TWICE

Reuther had supported Democratic presidential candidates since Franklin D. Roosevelt. In breaking with the AFL-CIO he blamed what he said was its failure to get involved in social endeavors such as civil rights.

He had flown millions of miles throughout the world to champion labor and liberal causes.

Vote On Blackmun Expected Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — An apparently friendly Senate turned to the Supreme Court nomination of Judge Harry A. Blackmun today with no obstacles in sight to President Nixon's third try to fill the vacant seat.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who said he expects to back Blackmun "unless evidence to the contrary is forthcoming," indicated the vote might be delayed until Tuesday, however.

Asked if he thought the nominee would be confirmed, Mansfield said, "I hear he will be."

Blackmun, who lives in Rochester, Minn., and has served on the 8th U.S. Court of Appeals since 1959, won a 17-0 vote of approval from the Senate Judiciary Committee last Tuesday after no one testified against his nomination.

President Nixon submitted Blackmun's nomination April 15 following the Senate's rejection of two Southern judges—Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. of South Carolina and G. Harrold Carswell of Florida—for the Supreme Court vacancy.

The court has been one member short since May of last year when Abe Fortas resigned in the midst of a furor over his ties with jailed financier Louis E. Wolfson's family foundation.

After Carswell's rejection, Nixon said he had reluctantly concluded the Senate as presently constituted would not confirm any Southern judge "who believes as I do in the strict construction of the Constitution.

"As long as the Senate is constituted the way it is," he said, "I will not nominate another Southerner and let him be subjected to the kind of malicious character assassination accorded both Judges Haynsworth and Carswell."

The President said that, in line with a campaign pledge he made to restore to the court "the balance that it genuinely needs," he would pick as a third nominee a strict constructionist from some other section of the country.

Senators who were active in the fight against the Haynsworth and Carswell nominations denied any regional discrimination and denounced Nixon's statement as politically motivated.
